Steel Band From West Indies To Be In Huntingdon

Long Looked For Duck Race To Be Run Off on Monday, September 20, West Indies Steel Band, Native Dancers To Perform Here

By Special Effort Made by "Canada-West Indies Magazine" This Outstanding and Unique Group of Performers Will Give a Performance Similar too That at Toronto Exhibition

A great treat is in store for the people of Huntingdon and district, on Monday, September 20th, commencing at approximately 1.30 p.m. On this day the long publicized Duck Race will be run off on the Chateauguay River on a course from behind the A. L. Sellar residence to the Walker Bridge at Lorne Avenue. It is believed that this will provide a greater opportunity for spectators to view the race. Seats will be set up along the river bank and people will be able to see much of the course in this way. It is further believed that the flow of the river at this point will keep the ducks from bunching together and thus provide a more exciting race. Lessons were learned from the race last year, so improvements are being put into effect with a view to bettering the conditions. This race as must be well known now, is sponsored by the Huntingdon Rotary Club with the idea in mind of raising funds to aid young girls to take nurses' training courses and then to take positions on the staff of the Huntingdon County Hospital. It is a very worthwhile cause and already three young girls are taking training under the plan and a fourth is expected to start soon. It is also expected that the first one will soon have completed her course and thus another girl will be able to start and so on. The Rotary Club sponsors some event each year with a view to augmenting the funds for the above purpose. In this case the Duck Race is the event and tickets are now on sale which carry opportunities for winning splendid cash prizes. It is hoped that the general public will buy these tickets and so help along this very worthy cause. By this time you may be asking yourselves "What is the great treat?" Well, by special effort on the part of the Canada-West Indies Magazine, the Steel Band and Native Dancers from Trinidad, British West Indies, has been invited to come to Huntingdon and they have most kindly accepted the invitation. It is all arranged and this troupe will be coming here direct from the Toronto Exhibition, where they have won acclaim from appearances before large audiences daily. It is a novelty band using instruments made from steel drums which are used to ship oil to distant points. By a special method of tuning these instruments are made to produce a form of music that must be heard to get the full enjoyment of it. The band will be set up on the space on the river bank close to the bridge which will be the finish line for the duck race. There is plenty of space at this point and seating accommodation is to be arranged for. In the event that inclement weather prevails, part of the proceedings will be carried on in the Huntingdon Theatre. The Canada-West Indies Magazine carried a story about this band and the native dancers and we reproduce it herewith together with photographs of the band.

A DREAM COMES TRUE

The accompanying story about the coming to Canada of the Trinidad Steel Band might well be titled, "A Dream Comes True". On several different occasions since he received the Steel Drums depicted here, C. Rex Stollmeyer, Trade Commissioner in Canada for the British West Indies, British Guiana, British Honduras and The Bahamas, has wistfully stated that he hoped to be able to arrange for a Steel Band to come to Canada.

In the accompanying picture are shown (at right) C. Rex Stollmeyer and four of the Steel Drums which were sent to him by the Trinidad and Tobago Tourist Board, some two years ago, for display purposes.

The drums on the desk are, left to right, Alto Pong; 1st Ping Pong; 2nd Ping Pong. On the floor, the Tenor Boom. The fifth instrument of the set, not shown here, is called the Tenor Boom. Two playing sticks are used with each instrument.

The group of statuettes, left centre, on desk, are models of artists which together make up a Steel Band. They are perched on the top of a wooden outline map of Trinidad.

Good-Will Ambassadors

Trinidad Steel Band for Canadian National Exhibition

by M. M. Gardner

Canadians and Americans who are fortunate enough to attend the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, Ontario, between August 27th and September 11th, which is being officially opened by Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Kent, will have an opportunity of hearing a Steel Band and seeing Native Dancers from Trinidad.

The appearance of this unusual group of "Ambassadors" was made possible through the combined efforts of Esso Standard Oil; Imperial Oil Ltd., of Canada (an affiliate of Esso); Saguenay Terminals, Ltd.; Bel Air Hotel, Piarco Airport, Trinidad, and a few public-spirited merchants, also with the assistance of the B.W.I. Trade Commissioner in Canada.

Saguenay Terminals is supplying the transportation to and from Canada; Imperial Oil is providing each member with a certain amount of Canadian money each day for pocket money, etc., and has also made the necessary arrangements with the Canadian Musicians Union in order to allow the band to appear at the Exhibition.

The Esso Steel band will be the top feature of the exhibit of Imperial Oil Ltd. and will perform nightly from 9:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in front of the Grand Stand as one of the feature attractions to a nightly audience of 25,000. It is estimated that approximately 2½ million people will have an opportunity of seeing the troupe perform; at the expiration of the Exhibition they will be heard and seen over T.V. and radio besides giving entertainments in various cities.

This band has been the attraction at Bel Air Hotel, Piarco, for the past two years or more and have been a great drawing card. The members are mostly college graduates who in their spare time earn extra money in this manner.

Unless one hears this Trinidad Steel Band and sees their instruments, it is difficult to understand how such music can be produced from ordinary steel drums that are used by oil companies to export oil.

Now a little about Steel Bands; this form of music originated in Trinidad years ago mostly by people of African and East Indian descent in order to allow some means of expressing their idea of music for they have an inherent fondness for music and used songs and dances to pass down early stories of historical or tribal interest. One might therefore say that this form of musical expression is but the continuance of an ancient custom.

Lack of funds made the purchase of instruments impossible, and so they used their native ingenuity. The first instrument to appear was simply bamboo poles of various lengths which were thumped on the ground and hit with sticks; this, however, did not give them enough scope, and so the next step was the use of ash can tops; these cost little as they were borrowed or pilloined, and with the aid of home-made drum sticks, produced a wider range of the musical scale, if such it could be called.

The next stage in the evolution of Trinidadian music was the use of steel oil drums which again were inexpensive, and gradually by trial and error, they were able to obtain a better type of musical scale and, finally, by heating and indenting the heads of the drums, they produced a musical scale similar to that of the piano, only in a more limited range. By the use of larger drums, they formed the bass section, and so by hitting the various tempered circles, music was created.

With reference to the Native Dancers, they are as old as time itself and let me quote Miss Barney Maurice's explanation of one of the African dances, "The Bongo":

"Trinidad is rich in its cultural heritage with contributions made by many different races. The Amerinds, the French and Spanish settlers, the Negro slaves, the English, East Indians have all contributed. The Bongo is marked by a strong African influence and is a drum dance performed in some of the remote districts of Trinidad. This is an old creole dance of spirit and passion. The drums come across the plains like magic from the hills down the deep valleys. There are the dancers—they will speak to you of drums with a passion hugging the earth with their feet.

"On the death of a peasant in the village, it is the custom for the Bongo to enliven those who mourn at the wakes. Beneath frilly petticoats turning hips of aged folk dance with grace and verve. There is the steady beat of their rhythmic feet and the pulse at its height will be their drums panting and pounding; pounding and panting."

And so on the eve of their departure for Canada, Mr. Sonny Hamid, (Managing director of the Bel Air Hotel) gave a farewell party to whom were invited many Government Officials, the heads of Sproston's, Esso Oil; Saguenay Terminals; Mr. Paul McLane, Canadian Trade Commissioner, and other Canadians. After dinner a dress rehearsal was put on by the Dixie Star Band and dancers which was broadcast for all to hear. Among the pieces played were "The Maple Leaf Forever" and

"O Canada" which were received with applause by Canadians present, and also on board the S.S. "Corono" on Monday another broadcast was made before sailing.

It is only fitting to mention again the Canadian companies, Bel Air Hotel and others who made this trip possible, and agree with Mr. Rex Stollmeyer, Trade Commissioner in Canada for the British West Indies, etc, who said:

"I foresee Trinidad and its Steel Band securing a tremendous amount of publicity in Canada from this engagement at the Canadian National Exhibition. I do not exaggerate when I say that unquestionably it is going to be the very biggest piece of publicity that the Colony has ever received in this country. Being too, as it is, in the hands of two of the largest Canadian organizations (The Aluminum Company of Canada and Imperial Oil Limited) its absolute and unqualified success is assured."

One-day Havelock Fair Next Wednesday, Sept 15

Large and Valuable Prize List Is Offered Also Several Added Attractions

Next Wednesday is the day of another event of great interest to the people of Huntingdon County. It is when the 83rd Annual Havelock Fair will be held at Havelock, Que. Usually this fair follows Huntingdon Fair within about a week, but this year Huntingdon Fair was held quite early. Having a greater period between fairs will probably prove beneficial to Havelock and it will certainly allow more time for exhibitors to prepare their exhibits.

The Fair officials have been busy for the past number of weeks getting grounds and buildings into shape for this one-day fair and all will be in readiness for next Wednesday, September 15th. It is one of those few remaining fairs which caters in a quiet way to all who attended and yet everyone seems to enjoy themselves. It has a midway made up from what might be termed local people; it has a horse show under similar conditions. The dinner served in the dining hall has for long been an outstanding attraction and is a tradition of this fair. The exhibits attract much attention and everyone is anxious to view them and know of the winners. For the past few years there has been a larger number of machinery exhibitors and these provide plenty of entertainment for the machine-minded man about the farm. The Fair is just long enough to be able to see everything and short enough not to become boring. It is these latter facts which make this Fair so well attended and spoken of. It is possible to see almost anything that can be seen at larger fairs. The friendly atmosphere is all about and one feels at home whether he be a perfect stranger. This, then, is Havelock Fair. Many added attractions are scheduled for this year's fair and one is a tractor Drawing Contest, Havelock first staged a horse drawing contest a few years ago and last year had a tractor rodeo. This year there will be a tractor Drawing contest and you will have to see this to really tell what is expected. No doubt it will provide many a thrill and something may be learned about tractors that was not known before. There are hundreds of special prizes being offered to exhibitors in the various classes and sections of the fair and they are quite a valuable addition to the money prizes which are offered by the Fair Board. Whether you intend to be an exhibitor or just one of the patrons, you certainly will not want to miss this one last opportunity of an outdoor gathering. It is well worth a visit and you will enjoy this day out in the fresh air and among friends who will welcome you. Plan now to reserve Wednesday, September 15th for a day out at Havelock Fair.

Baptismal Font Dedicated At United Church

Given by the Family Members of the Late Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Miller

Many of the older residents of Huntingdon District will remember one of their most favourite Ministers of the Huntingdon United Church, the late Rev. Dr. J. H. Miller. Dr. Miller was minister of the United Church for the 12 years prior to the Rev. Thomas Knowles, that is approximately from 1929 to 1941. Both he and the late Mrs. Miller were loved by everyone during their pleasant stay in Huntingdon. To perpetuate the memory of these two grand people, the sons and daughters, Ernest, Harold, Sadie and Eleanor have presented a most beautiful Baptismal Font to the United Church of Huntingdon. Thus the members of the United Church received and dedicated the Baptismal Font at their morning service of worship on Sunday, September 5th. The Baptismal Font in memory of the late Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller was given by Mrs. Eleanor Foster and Mr. Harold Miller on behalf of the family and dedicated by the Rev. Robert Beal. The Sacrament of Baptism was administered following the service of dedication to Douglas Alexander, in- (Continued on page 10)

Observations

Written specially for The Huntingdon Gleaner by Robert G. Sellar, Grenoble, France

The Hague, Netherlands.

The Hague is the old city of Holland. It is the capital of the country though Amsterdam is also the capital of the united states. However, the government meets in the parliament buildings which are in the centre of the town. The Royal Palace where her Majesty Queen Juliana and her Consort, Prince Bernard live is also in the city. All the Embassies and Consuls are in The Hague though there are a few consular staffs in Amsterdam such as the British and the Americans.

The Hague is a city of picturesque canals where the flower be-decked barges move up and down the waterways. Nearly all the land near the canals are landscaped into terraces and gardens. The many hundreds of Weeping Willows also add to the beauty of the city as well as the graceful swans and the blustering ducks swimming around. In the older part of the city, the streets are all cobble stoned. The buildings lining these streets are in general, old, substantial houses, neat and quite often be-decked with flowers. Quite often some of these houses are by a canal such that the people in the house can fish from their porches for the little bass-like fish. It seems that everybody from 3 to 93 years old, whether male or female love to fish. I noticed that in the evenings there would be many people fishing along the canals, some with elaborate fishing outfits, others with a cane and switch with some line and a hook. All the policies of government, state, local and anything else are discussed too. I judge that in Holland the porch philosophers and experts are the amateur fishermen. I noticed that when a fisherman hooked a fish, instead of playing the fishing, he would disconnect his fishing pole, section by section, until he was able to reach his quarry.

One of the most prominent and impressive buildings in The Hague, is the International Court of Justice. This large building is set in the centre of a vast park which contains among other things, a very elaborate system of fish ponds that have water plants as well as a number of ducks. The gardens of the grounds are laid out in the French architectural style, that is, many small bushes and hedges are formed into lines and figures, so that the gardens seem to be part of a vast pattern design.

The International Court of Justice building is a large red brick edifice completed in 1913 and given by the Carnegie Trust Fund. It is a rectangular building enclosing a large patio, in the centre of which there is a fountain (running only when a King or a Prince visits the building), having statues of four polar bears and eight seals made of the famous Copenhagen Porcelain. It is a gift of Denmark.

The Chamber for the International Court is a large room of oak paneling and white stone. The Judges' Bench is on a raised platform against one of the walls. The table is covered with green baize and the place mats of a system of trimmed blotter, ink stands, etc. before each of the Judges' places. There are 15 judges on the International Court of Justice. Their robes are a black gown trimmed with black velvet and white fine lace. The judges do not wear wigs, however, the barristers representing the different countries concerned in whatever the dispute, wear wigs. In front of the Bench the right and to the left are the two tables for the Court's scribes or stenographers. There is also the Registrar, who is usually a brilliant woman, who is able to read and translate into a number of different languages, reads back in French all that has been said.

Between the two Scribe's tables, there is a small lecture dais which the speakers use when they are addressing the court. A P.A. system is used in this chamber and all speeches are given to the members of the International Court of Justice before hand.

Behind the Scribe's tables are the tables for the legal experts for the different countries concerned. To the left hand side and behind the tables for the legal experts, are the visitors galleries as well as the gallery for the public which is on the second floor of the room. To the right hand side of the court, there are the press tables for the reporters and photographers assigned to cover the day's proceedings.

The Chamber for the International Court of Justice is to the right of the main entrance of the building. Directly opposite the main entrance is the centre stairway of white stone, covered with thick Indian and Persian rugs. The first landing on the stairs contains a number of stained glass windows representing the toils and tragedies of War. There is also a statue representing the modern conception of Justice. The statue was executed by a young American sculptor, O'Connor, and donated by the U.S.A. The ceiling above the stairway is hand-painted by a young Dutch artist, who did the work at the age of 24.

At the top of the stairs, is the doorway to the famous Japanese Room where some of the meetings are held. The walls of the room are hand-woven Japanese tapestries. The beautiful inlaid woods are the gift of Burma and Malaya. The tall vases and some of the graceful bric-a-brac are the gifts of China. The pretty carpet on the floor is from India, while the pair of white elephant tusks are from Siam.

The members of the International Court of Justice have their own offices in which to work. Most of the offices overlook the back gardens of the Peace Palace. There is also a private court where the judges can meet to discuss the cases at hand on the agenda. There are reading rooms for the ladies and gentlemen of the staffs. These reading rooms have all the latest newspapers and publications in English and French.

The halls of the building have marble floors with rubber sheets over them. The walls and ceilings have pictures in tile, symbolizing different aspects of the conception of peace, democracy, etc.

The building also has a room for the Court of Arbitration but this court is never used as it never meets. However, if and when the court meets, there are five judges on the court.

A few minutes from The Hague, is Leiden, where one of the oldest universities of Europe is situated. The University was founded in 1575, given by the Prince of Orange after the great Spanish-Dutch war. The original building is still standing by an old cathedral which pre-dates the university by a few generations. The old Rhine River flows through the town. Like all the rivers of Holland, the banks of the river are beautifully landscaped. In the centre of the town, there is a large park in which there is statue of the Mayor of Leiden, who helped the Prince of Orange during the Spanish-Dutch war. It is said that this man, as Mayor of Leiden, was instrumental in having the Prince of Orange give the money for the founding of the present University as well as the construction of a number of other buildings in the town.

Beyond Leiden, is the famous town of Haarlem where for many years the great Dutch master painter, Rembrandt, lived and worked. He thought painted their now priceless treasures of the art world. One of the biggest art galleries in Haarlem is the Frans Hal museum which is actually in the original house that the great painter lived and worked. Besides some of the works of the master, there are also some of the works of Van Dyke, Reubens, etc.

Both of these towns are in the tulip belt of Holland. Actually the area of green The Hague and Amsterdam, I was told that in April and May, this area is a solid mass of bloom. When I saw it, there were only the green tulips left, the blooms being finished. However, I was able to see some of the many thousands fields of tulips and other spring flowers.

Mrs. Jas. Curran entertained about 30 ladies to a Shower for Miss Helena Barr, on Saturday afternoon, August 28th. She was presented with a tri-light lamp and an alarm clock. Helena thanked all and invited them to visit her in her new home. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Denise David, of Montreal, entertained at a Tea in her honour; also Miss Lorna Wood and Mrs. Bannion had a tea and made a presentation of Echoware and a few other gifts.

The Anniversary Service was held in Wesley Church, on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Wm. Holmes was assisted by Rev. Frank Gilmore as guest speaker, who gave a very interesting discourse. Miss Davis sang "I'll Walk With Thee". The church was well filled with friends, some who had come some distance. Two of the regular officers were absent, Mr. Albert Curran who remained with Mrs. Curran, who is very ill, and Mr. Aaron Stewart who has been ill for some time and is a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital again. Their many friends wish these two sick folk a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson and family are returning to Montreal this week.

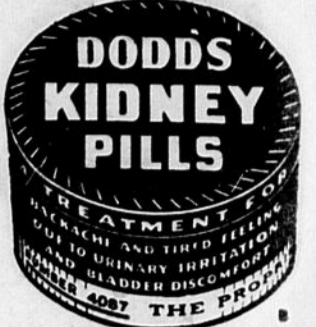

Miss Monique Viau had the misfortune to fall off a tractor and the wagon went over her leg and broke it. No other particulars are available.

The Diotte and Lefebvre families are returning to Montreal this week.

Mr. Bartlett and Mr. Kenneth Bartlett spent the week-end at the Egerton home.

Mr. George Bourdeau went into a drugstore in Champlain, the day of the bad windstorm, and parked his car, a 1949 Dodge, outside. When he came out, a tree had fallen on it and bent the roof in so much that it cannot be used.

Mr. Russel Bourdeau, of Montreal, spent the week at his home here. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henry, of Toronto, are visiting at the Houle home here.

A Special Treat In Store For The Citizens

DUe to the efforts of the "Canada-West Indies Magazine" citizens of Huntingdon and district are to be given an opportunity of seeing and hearing a special type of concert on Monday afternoon, September 20. Presently the Trinidad Steel Band and Native Dancers are appearing at the Toronto Exhibition and have won great acclaim from the daily audiences. They are appearing there through the combined efforts of Esso Standard Oil, Imperial Oil Ltd. of Canada (an affiliate of Esso), Saguenay Terminals Ltd., Bel Air Hotel, Piarco Airport, Trinidad, and a few public-spirited merchants, also with the assistance of the B.W.I. Trade Commissioner in Canada, Mr. C. R. Stolemeyer. As a special concession and just prior to returning to their homeland, this troupe will give the same type of performance as seen at Toronto Exhibition, in Huntingdon.

The unique part of this band is the fact that the instruments are fashioned from the steel drums as used by oil companies in the export of oil. One has to hear the band to be able to understand the type of music that can be obtained in this way. The band has become very popular in the West Indies and there is evidence that this popularity has covered the Toronto Exhibition tour also.

While this is all very well, the performance will aid a very special purpose in Huntingdon and thus the people of this area are indebted to the troupe for their kindness in coming here. The troupe will first attend the luncheon meeting of the Huntingdon Rotary Club before making a public appearance. It has been decided to hold the "Duck Sweepstake Race" on September 20, and for this a number of tickets have already been sold. This race is sponsored by the Huntingdon Rotary Club to build up a fund with which to aid three young girls in training for nurses. When these girls have attained their full nursing status, they will enroll with the Huntingdon County Hospital for a period and thus help to keep this institution supplied with trained personnel. The performance of this West Indies troupe will take place at the time of the Duck Race and everyone will thus be given an opportunity of actually seeing and hearing this unique troupe of musicians and dancers. It is an opportunity that seldom offers outside the larger centres and therefore it is one that no one should miss.

Meantime the public is urged to buy tickets for the Duck Race, for which valuable cash prizes are being offered. Donations for the hospital can also be made at this time whether they be cash or kind. There will be no charge for admission to hear and see the Steel Band, so that any help you can give this worthy cause will be greatly appreciated.

The Canada-West Indies Magazine is particularly anxious that the public shows appreciation by attending this specially arranged concert in large numbers in order that our guests will be made welcome and will take back impressive memories of their visit here. The performance will commence sharp on time due to the fact that the troupe must leave here for Montreal at 2:45 p.m.

September 20 will mean a great deal to this history of Huntingdon and every citizen throughout the entire area is invited and welcome to attend. Make a special effort to be present.

The School Of Business Administration

COMMENCING a week from today, on September 15, to be exact, a school will be conducted in the County Building, Huntingdon, by means of which those deciding to attend will gain much valuable information. There is no charge for tuition fees, it is entirely free and the lessons learned should be of the most value to everyone. The school will be conducted for a period of ten weeks on Wednesday evenings only and those intending to attend should bring with them pencils and paper with which to make notes.

During the course of the school many matters of great importance will be discussed and questions will be answered by a competent person. Six subjects are listed as follows: Municipal Law, Civil Law, Succession Duty, Income Tax, School Law and Insurance. These will be broken down into various other phases of each in order that a thorough discussion may be had on each subject. We venture to say there isn't a single person among the average citizens who knows all there is to know about any single one of these subjects. This school therefore will provide the opportunity of learning more about them.

If a person should wish at any time to become a candidate for election to municipal council, it is well that he should know something of the requirements and be acquainted with what can and cannot be done. The same applies to any one of the subjects. Oftentimes a person is puzzled as to what he can do under certain conditions of civil law. This law explains the rights of the private citizen and governs how he shall live with his fellow men in harmony and peace. There are untold arguments over succession duties and under this subject will be discussed such things as wills and their effects in the speedy settlement of estates. A will is a very important legal document, but so many people leave off making a will and sometimes it is too late. Such delay can cause those who may benefit, serious difficulty in getting an estate settled. This one part of the ten-week course alone could prove of the utmost value. How many people are puzzled when it comes to making out an income tax return and with computing what they pay and how many exemptions they are entitled to. Many a person probably pays too much in tax because they have not deducted for exemptions to which they are entitled. Some may not understand about the refunds for overpaid taxes and so on. School law is an important one and affects nearly everyone in some way. Yet there are not too many who know too much about it. Insurance, there is much in the fine print of the policies which no one ever bothers to read or try to understand. Nevertheless, much can be learned from explanations that will be made of this subject at the forthcoming school.

We recommend that you keep this in mind and plan to attend these weekly lectures, it is an opportunity that once passed by, may not come your way again. It is free, it simply requires you to make the effort to attend and take notice of what is said. It is in the evening, when most people are free, thus there should be no hindrance to an excellent attendance.

The Annual Salvation Army Appeal

ONCE again the Salvation Army "Red Shield Appeal" is to be launched in this area. Many are the evidences that the money raised by these yearly appeals is used to good purpose—for the alleviation of human suffering. Such suffering can take many forms and does not necessarily mean suffering from pain, or ailments.

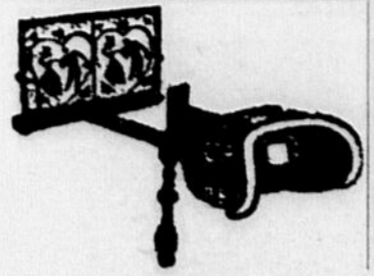

There are many unfortunates who are sunk in misery and want through reasons that are not always of their own making. Even so, the Salvation Army does not stop for the cause, it seeks only to help those in need of it. The Christian civilization demands that brother help brother and the Salvation Army works on that basis more perhaps than any other like body in existence today. The Army seeks out those who are suffering and does its best to help these unfortunate people to regain their places in society and their self respect. The person who drinks and leaves his family wanting for the staple things of life, is taken under the care of the Army in the hope that his mode of living may be changed and his family once more have the things they need. The person who has fallen by the wayside, perhaps been arrested for some crime—minor or major—is given the same helping hand. All people do not react in the manner that is hoped, but they are never turned down because of this. The Army tries to help convert them to Christian ways of living and to return to society as respected citizens. It is not an easy task, for there are the wayward who seem never to learn by their misdeeds, but keep on doing the same thing over and over again. Most people would be discouraged by this and leave such people to tread their way as they will. Not so the Salvation Army. They keep at the task ever hoping that some time such people will turn to God and ask forgiveness for their sins. They do not act as judge and jury on such cases and say that this one or that one has received all that is coming his way. They leave the task to God, while meanwhile they serve in trying to rescue these lost souls that even one sheep shall return to the fold.

If we review the good works done by the Salvation Army, can we justly and truthfully deny to help this appeal? It is a duty to make a contribution in view of the great Christian work that they are doing and if we profess to call ourselves Christians. All Christian are pledged to do whatever they can to help each other and this is one way this pledge can be carried out.

The campaign opens next Monday, September 13. In due course the canvasser will call upon you—be ready to make a contribution to this most worthy cause.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken from Gleaner Files

Huntingdon—The barns and their contents of the farm of Frank Brown on the highway about a mile from here were burned last Saturday. They were threshing and while cleaning up before dinner, the straw in the upper row burst into flames which spread so quickly that it was with difficulty the engine was not out. Within an hour all the buildings were destroyed as well as a separator and blower owned by his neighbour, Arthur White, and valued at $250. Loads of hay, nearly all his small implements and about 600 bushels of oats. Had it not been that the wind was from the N.W., Arthur White's fine barn would have gone also. Mr. Brown intends to rebuild. Of the cause of the fire nothing is known.

An agent of the Food Control Board is visiting the county and finds many grocers have neglected to take out licences. There are eleven in Valleyfield. He says the rules as to the sale of sugar, meat, etc., are to be sharply enforced.

St. Martin—The heavy frost we had Wednesday morning of last week caused much damage especially to buckwheat, beans, corn, potatoes, tomatoes, and tobacco which is a great loss. We have had rain ever since and it is impossible to save the remainder of wheat and oats in stock. Our roads are impassable and farmers away from the macadam road cannot haul hay or grain to the market.

Valleyfield—On Tuesday morning the Fair opened on the Exhibition grounds. The entries have come in fairly well and although not up to previous years the quality of stock is of a high standard. There is an abundance of side shows, merry-go-rounds, etc., while the special attraction was the flight of the Famous French aviator who performed the feat of looping the loop.

Huntingdon—Huntingdon Fair Highlights: The best class on the grounds has been the case for several years was the Ayreshires and they would have held their own anywhere. Holsteins are few and by no means represented the place they hold in our dairies for they are numerous and are in demand. There was an average turnout of sheep, the Leicesters showing a marked improvement and the swine were excellent. The Tamworth, the bacon hog is gaining favor. Horses are not what they used to be, striking proof being that there was not a single aged Clydesdale stallion. Teams and brood mares were the best classes. The small display in poultry was due to the society's cutting off prizes for breeds that cannot be commended either for eggs or the table.

It is to the credit of our women that there was fewer fancy articles than in the past years. The time they devoted to the trifles that charm the feminine mind, they now give to Red Cross work and no more devoted workers for our boys at the front are to be found in the province. There was a corner set aside for the Red Cross exhibit and the judge had naught save praise for the excellent work. Miss Millicent Walker had prepared samples and details of how to conform with the requirements of the Red Cross and they are examined with interest and profit by many visitors.

Huntingdon—Mr. Bicknell thinks auto drivers can be induced to keep the law so far as keeping to the right side of the road is concerned, and to that end, has erected at McCoy's corner and opposite the Bank of Commerce, two guide posts.

Howick—Whilst rainy weather has improved the pastures, it has not benefited the crop where the tops were affected by the frost and it has seriously delayed the harvesting of potatoes, beans and corn as well as stopped the threshing of grain. New oats bring 95 cents for 40 pounds.

There was marked absence of autos running the last two Sundays, here, due probably more to bad roads than to patriotic economy. Mr. Rowan has added several costly accessories to his garage, including a gasoline tank and pump. A few advertised grocery specials: —2 pkgs. Seeded Raisins 25c; bananas 20c dozen; and 2 tins Clark's Pork and Beans 25c.

The Week At Ottawa...

OTTAWA (CP)—The salaries of Canadian school teachers have more than doubled since the Second World War, but a spokesman for the Canadian Teachers Federation says pay still is too low.

George G. Croskey, secretary-treasurer of the federation, was commenting on a report issued by the bureau of statistics which said the average salary of teachers rose to $2,510 in 1953. The 1945 average was $1,207, and the 1935 average $854. It represented a gain of $545 over 1930.

Living Costs Rise
The bureau of statistics reported last week that living costs had risen to their third highest point in history during July. The consumer price index jumped by four-fifths of a point to 117. It was the third increase in a row and the biggest in 33 months. The 1953 low was 114.4 in April last year, and the all-time high was 118.2 in December, 1951. The second highest level was 117.6 in January, 1952. The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

yet consumers had to pay higher prices. There should be government controls, he added, to halt the rent rise.

Trade Controls
Canada has slashed controls on trade with Soviet bloc countries freeing a large group of goods from export permit including such items as synthetic rubber, freight cars, dynamite and low-power diesel engines.

Trade officials said it was the biggest cut in export controls since the Korean war, but they doubted that it would lead to any large expansion of Canadian trade with the Soviet. The revisions, approved by a cabinet meeting last week following cuts by other Western powers, went into effect immediately. The new list of controls was outlined in a special edition of Canada Gazette.

Canadian exporters no longer will require government approval on shipments of such goods as synthetic rubber—except the butyl type which is considered strategic—phenol used in the plastic industry, polychlorinated lower prices for their goods.

Donald MacDonald, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said in a statement higher food prices are a blow to thousands of families whose bread-winners either are not employed or working only part-time. He said the government could no longer disregard the plight of these people.

A spokesman for the Trades and Labor Congress suggested there should be an investigation of food processors and distributors. Farmers were complaining they were being paid lower prices for their goods.

Figures for Quebec are not included in the report because the bureau does not receive teacher statistics from that province's department of education. The bureau estimated there are about 27,550 teachers in Quebec.

In 1953 about 90 per cent of Canadian teachers had training equivalent to at least junior matriculation plus one year of professional training. This was an improvement over the 1945 figure of 88 per cent, but a decline of eight per cent compared with 1939 when 96 per cent of teachers had such training.

The number of teachers in publicly-controlled schools—68,963—was a new high. It represented an increase of 19,418 or 39 per cent since 1945 and compared with 66,397 in 1952 and 63,752 in 1951.

The bureau's figures indicated teaching is becoming more appealing to men. Since the end of the war the number of men teachers more than doubled while women teachers increased by 23 per cent. Last year 30 per cent of Canadian teachers were men, the highest on record, compared with 20 per cent in 1945 and less than 20 per cent in 1939.

Men teachers last year rose to 20,427 from 19,486 in 1954. Women teachers in 1953 numbered 48,536 as against 46,911 the previous year. British Columbia last year paid the highest average salary, $3,510. Alberta average was second at $2,781 and Ontario third at $2,771. Averages for other provinces were: Newfoundland, $1,119; Prince Edward Island, $1,365; New Brunswick, $1,740; Nova Scotia, $1,793; Manitoba $2,136, and Saskatchewan, $2,132.

The report said 6,115 teachers left the profession in 1953 in eight provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec. It also estimated that 2,000 left in Ontario and 1,500 in Quebec for a total teacher loss of 10 per cent.

Maybe you deserve a key to the city

Many people—probably including you too—deserve to be honoured for rendering certain important services to their communities. Very few of these people are celebrities, public heroes or leading dignitaries. Mostly, they're "just plain folks". But together they help create much-needed new public works, homes, building and industrial developments. All of which promote progress and provide thousands of jobs.

How do these people play a part in such big projects? Simply by owning life insurance. For it is money from their premiums, which life insurance companies invest for them, that makes it possible for many of these projects to be completed.

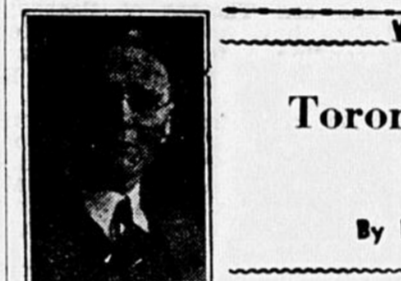

Thanks to these same people, life insurance companies are able to contribute funds to medical research work in a wide range of vital fields. As a result, Canadians may look forward to living longer, healthier lives.

What's more, every life insurance policyholder tries to save his family from ever having to depend on others for their support. This, too, is a service to his community. That's why, if you own life insurance, you deserve "a key to the city".

P.S. from your life insurance agent

Weekly Review
Toronto The Great
By LEWIS MILLIGAN

From times prehistoric cities have expanded and grown on top of one another, and they are still doing it. In some instances archaeologists have disclosed in their excavations the remains of several cities beneath the deserted ruins of the last one. Today we can see this process going on before our eyes in Toronto, which is perhaps the fastest growing city on the continent. During the forty years I have lived in Toronto I have never seen so many structural changes and territorial expansions as have taken place in the last ten years. Old massive buildings in the heart of the city seem to have disappeared over-night and gaunt skyscrapers have sprung up as if by magic the following day. In the old residential suburbs, palatial and humble homes, shops and churches are being reduced to rubble. The bulldozers and clawing excavators go into action and the once "quiet neighborhoods", with all their unwritten domestic and social romance, have vanished into thin air.

The little third-floor room in which I am writing this was once a servant's bedroom. The house was built about the middle of the Victorian period by a wealthy city merchant. The spacious parlor and dining room on the ground floor, with elaborate fire-places, carved mantels and Alice in Wonderland looking-glasses, are now occupied by a school of languages attended mostly by immigrants from far countries. The upper rooms are all rented as offices to accommodate the business overflow from the crowded centre of the city. The street on which the house is situated is still lined with elm and maple trees, but the city is already extending its great structural tentacles around this old-time residential area. Only within the last few weeks a row of old but comfortable bay-windowed houses down the street were leveled to the ground to make parking space for the ever-increasing number of motor-cars that swarm into and around the city.

There is something sadly nostalgic in the sight of an old mansion being torn down, watching the wreckers ripping off the roof, tumbling the brick-work and exposing the skeleton interior with the floral decorated rooms, the empty cupboards, the leaded-windowed alcoves and wide staircases—all of which, if they could speak, could tell many tales of old unhappy and joyous things of family gatherings long ago.

This morning, on my way to town, I was watching this wrecking process when a young mother with her small boy paused to look on. Turning to the youngster, she said: "See, Jimmie, they're taking the house apart." That word, "apart," struck me as very descriptive. As a housewife she knew that a home was made up of many parts, and she probably realized for the first time what it would mean if her own home was taken to pieces in that way.

But it is the old, old story of the rise and progress of all great cities. Babylon, Rome and London apart, up out of small villages and were built and rebuilt by succeeding generations over hundreds of years. Modern cities like New York and Chicago have grown more rapidly, owing chiefly to the mass migrations of peoples from the Old World to the New, with their will-to-work and eager individual enterprise. Toronto was founded and built by immi-

CANADA'S NEW BANK NOTES

CANADA'S NEW BANK NOTES will begin to replace the present issue this month. The new notes will be put into circulation from time to time as worn and soiled notes of the old issue are withdrawn. It will thus be some time before the new notes have completely replaced the old. Banks will have a limited quantity for distribution in the introductory period.

As you come into possession of the new notes you will be aware of a number of new features.

- In general the new design is less ornate and this simplicity contributes to easier recognition of the various denominations. It also makes it easier to distinguish a genuine note from an attempt at forgery.
- Other changes include the placing of the portrait of Queen Elizabeth at the right hand side of the note. In this position the engraving of the portrait will not be subject to the wear from the constant folding of notes through the center.
- The allegorical figures which appear on the back panels of the present issue are now replaced by engravings from photographs of various types of Canadian countryside.
- The notes are printed by new processes which give them a distinctive "feel". The colours of the various denominations are approximately the same as at present but close examination will show that the colour on the face of each note results from the combination of two colours printed one over the other.
- These and other changes have been made to improve the appearance of Canada's currency,
- to lessen the risk of counterfeiting, and to reduce the cost of production.
- Many people ask "Is there not some special means of distinguishing genuine bank notes from counterfeits?" The answer is that there are a great many means—singly and in combination—so many that a full description could be confusing and would only help those who might attempt to counterfeit.
- The best means of distinguishing genuine bank notes from suspected notes is the simplest, namely—compare a suspected note side-by-side with one known to be genuine. Even small variations—no one of which might be noticeable by itself—will usually combine to produce an easily distinguishable difference in general appearance. Good notes look "good" because of the skilled craftsmanship behind them.
- As you come into possession of the new bank notes, study them to become familiar with their general appearance. This will help safeguard one of Canada's most important facilities—your currency.

450,000 Smugs Seized By RCMP

Seizure Made at Henrysburg, Que.

R.C.M.P. officials on Wednesday, promised a "continued war" on smuggling of American cigarettes following seizure of 450,000 smugs during the previous 24 hours in the Montreal district.

Supt. E. Brakefield-Moore, chief of the RCMP's Criminal Investigation Branch here, said smug traffic appeared to be increasing but patrols along the border would be tightened.

He reported that the RCMP are holding three men following a seizure of 400,000 smugs and a panel truck in Henrysburg, Que., on the U.S. border. In the city, 50,000 cigarettes were seized in a raid on a Montreal home and three men, Robert Laberge and Morris Soiffer, of Montreal, and Joe Levos, of Outremont, were held for questioning.

Upper left hand corner, a view of the International Court of Justice, The Hague, Netherlands, from the gateway. Upper right hand corner, a view of the polar bear and seal fountain in the centre of the inner courtyard of the International Court of Justice. The fountain is made of the famous Royal Copenhagen Porcelain and is a gift of

Denmark. Lower left hand corner, is a photograph of the Japanese Room. This room is used for certain meetings. The different ornaments in the room were given by Siam, India, Japan, China and other Asiatic Countries. Lower right hand corner shows the three windows facing the entrance door of the International Court of Justice. The white stone monument is a modern conception of peace and democracy—the young woman is not blindfolded, etc. The work was executed by O'Connor, an American sculpturer. The scenes on the windows show different aspects of peace and justice. See "Observations" on page 2.

The seizures came on the heels of two separate raids last Friday, when 89,000 cigarettes were confiscated in the city.

RCMP arrested two Montrealers, identified as Joseph Levos and Morris Soiffer, Tuesday at Henrysburg, near St. Johns, Que. on charges of possessing 40,000 smuggled U.S. cigarettes. The two were ordered to appear in court. Sept. 8. Bail was set at $500.

Salvation Army Band Here Sunday

Special Service, In St. Andrew's Church, Huntingdon

Plans are being made with regard to the annual appeal for the Salvation Army in this area and to this end a special service is to be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntingdon, on Sunday, September 12th, at 7 p.m.

Senior Major T. L. Carswell is bringing a group of singers and the Yvonne Salvation Army Band to Huntingdon on that date and he will preach the sermon, as an opening to the campaign which will commence on Monday, September 13. The drive will continue from then until the end of the month. The objective is $1,500 and in 1953 the appeal went over the top by $169. The officials hope that as well or better can be done again this year.

It is intended to hold a dinner for the campaign workers on the evening of Monday, September 13th, at The Chateau, and all workers will be notified. During this time they will receive their campaign instructions and in due course they will call upon the citizens for their contributions toward the appeal fund. There is perhaps no more worth-while cause to support than the Salvation Army. Everyone is acquainted with the work this group does and is doing all the time. Please have your contribution ready when the canvasser calls on you, or at your home.

Officers for this year's appeal are as follows: Co-chairmen for the campaign, Geo. F. Dixon and Dr. A. A. White; Honorary Chairman, A. A. Lunan; Sec'y-Treas., R. C. Morrison; Local Services Unit Chairman, S. J. Currie.

Everyone is welcome to attend the special service at St. Andrew's on Sunday evening and it is hoped that a very good attendance will be on hand for this occasion. The music and the singing is always enjoyed and Major Carswell will have a message that all will benefit from.

Without any appreciable success. That is probably due to that, in reverse order, Great Britain is probably the Argentine's heaviest customer for its beef and beef products.

In recent years, however, like most other countries the Argentine has been rapidly improving and increasing its dairy cattle herds. Such being so a considerable number of Holstein-Friesian cattle have been purchased by them in Canada during the past several years.

Three natives of the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club area were judges of Ayrshires at four of the largest Canadian Exhibitions during the past several weeks.

Rowland Ness, De Winton, Alta., son of the late Robert Ness and brother of the Hon. R. R. Ness and D. T. Ness, all of Howick, Que., judged the Ayrshire classes at Calgary Exhibition. The Lakeview Ayrshire herd of De Winton, Alta., is now managed by his son, Herbert, Ness, but "Rollie" (to his friends) still takes a very active interest in the Ayrshire breed. In fact he is probably the oldest (in point of experience and service) Ayrshire breeder in Alberta.

Both East and West Allister McArthur of Cherry Bank Farm, Howick, has earned the distinction of having judged Ayrshires this year at the largest Ayrshire shows in the Maritime and British Columbia. In other words at Canada's largest most easterly and most westerly livestock shows. While Prince Edward Island is located in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and since that body of water is actually part of same it may be said to be on the Atlantic seaboard, while Vancouver is on the Pacific coast. Allister McArthur judged the Ayrshire classes at Charlottetown, P.E.I., his mode of transportation being by air. A few days after his return home he went by train to Vancouver, B.C. to judge the Ayrshire classes at the Pacific National Exhibition. This is the third occasion that Allister has been accorded that high honour by the British Columbia Ayrshire breeders.

Central Canada Exhibition Alex Wallace, son of J. M. Wallace, Atholstan, Que., and now of Smith's Falls, Ont., and a district Field Representative of Swift Canadian Meat Packing Co., judged the Ayrshire classes at Central Canada Exhibition, Ottawa, Ont., two weeks ago.

The Ayrshire classes at Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, Ont., were scheduled to have been judged this year by Douglas A. Ness of R.

R. Ness & Sons, Howick, Que. Unfortunately, however, due to the expected early passing of his mother (she passed away on Sunday) Douglas could not go to Toronto. The reserve judge was Lester McArthur but he was not available, being away in Vancouver. It therefore was that Professor George E. Rathby was impressed into service as judge of the Ayrshire classes at the C.N.E.

Full details of the judging at the C.N.E. are not yet available but we understand that the senior and grand championships in both male and female sections of the Ayrshire division went to Stansell Bros., Aylmer, Ont. The Argentine and grand champion male being Selwood Cora's Burton while Selwood Vesture 2nd, won the senior and grand female championships.

While Douglas A. Ness has had a long experience as a judge, if he had judged at the C.N.E., it would have meant a new forte for him insofar as the Arena in the Coliseum was concerned. Until shortly before World War II, his firm was for long one of the oldest exhibitors at Canadian National Exhibition. Similarly, his firm has been a regular exhibitor at the Royal Winter Fair since its inception, is therefore one of the Royal's oldest, most consistent exhibitors.

Staggering Prices Since Argentinians have been heavy buyers of both Aberdeen-Angus and Shorthorn bulls, at top prices at Scottish sales (as also privately for a long period of years, also since many of the bulls concerned have either been imported from Scotland and England or have been sired by bulls imported from these two countries the reports of the Palermo Shows and Sales of Buenos Aires, Argentina usually make headlines in the Scottish Farm Magazines.

This year was no exception insofar as the August 14 issue of the Scotch Farmer was concerned. According to that report, an astonishing succession of record prices were paid at the recent Palermo sales for both Aberdeen-Angus and Shorthorn bulls. "The most impressive sales were recorded when the 'Blacks' (Aberdeen-Angus) came under the hammer," says the report which then goes on to record a long list of almost unbelievable prices.

The prices quoted are in Argentine pesos, and in that respect 21 Pesos are equivalent at the present rate of exchange to £1 sterling or approximately $2.75 (Canadian).

Record A. A. Prices The senior and grand champion Aberdeen-Angus bull sold for 200,000 pesos or approximately $28,500 or approximately $78,375 (Canadian). The reserve grand champion bull sold for 520,000 pesos, approximately $24,700 or approximately $67,925 (Canadian). The reserve senior champion bull sold for 260,000 pesos, approximately $12,381. Other high prices included 1 at 300,000 pesos; 1 at 180,000 pesos; 2 at 170,000 pesos each; 2 at 150,000 pesos each; while 2 first prize winners from one herd sold at 250,000 and 150,000 pesos each; 10 others sold at over 100,000 pesos each.

High Shorthorn Prices The grand champion Shorthorn bull was not exposed for sale but the reserve senior and reserve grand champion bull was sold for 260,000 pesos (approx. $12,381 or approx. $34,047) while the junior champion bull was sold for 150,000 pesos.

During the first day of the Shorthorn sales 59 bulls sold for a total of 3,774,000 pesos, or approximately $179,715 or approximately $404,358 (Canadian), an average of 63,457 pesos or approximately $2,021 or $5,6307 (Canadian) per head.

Great Meat Producer The Argentine has of course long been one of the greatest breeding and feeding cattle areas in the world. However, its cattle stocks have been built up by the use of sires purchased in Great Britain. For a great many years Shorthorn bulls constituted the Argentinians largest purchases. However, during the past several decades Aberdeen-Angus bulls have been purchased in large numbers, at high prices.

Several attempts have been made by United States Shorthorn breeders to sell bulls to the Argentine but

Well Known Lady of Howick Passed Away on Sunday

The late Mrs. R. R. Ness Howick. The name "Ness" is known far and wide in Canada and particularly so to the people throughout the Chateaugay Valley and to people interested in Ayshire cattle in Scotland, United States across Canada and to many livestock men in other far flung parts of the world. Where the name of R. R. Ness is known, so also was that of his life partner, Mrs. R. R. Ness.

Ayshire cattle breeders at one time or another would send their way to the famous "Burnside Farms" and though they may have come to visit the Ness Men and to see their Ayshire Cattle, seldom did any visitor leave the farm without seeing Mrs. Ness, exchange a friendly greeting, or remain and have a visit for hours or days as the case may be.

Mr. and Mrs. Ness were united in marriage in 1894 and had their first child, a son, in 1895. Mrs. Ness was spared a few more weeks they would have marked their Golden Jubilee anniversary. However, for a long time Mrs. Ness has been a sufferer and her departure from this earth must be lamented. She truly lived a wonderful life, a life that was not spared adversities.

HUNTINGDON WINS SECOND EASTERN DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIP — DEFEAT CHATEAUGAY TEN TO SEVEN

For the second straight year, the Huntingdon Merchants Baseball Club has won the Eastern Division Championship of the St. Lawrence Valley Baseball League.

This year the club played in sixteen league and play-off games and won them all without a defeat. Now the Merchants will meet Valley League Western Division for the League Championship in a two-out-of-three game series. The first game of this series will be played at Alco Field, in Massena, the home park of the Western Division Champs, this Sunday. The second game will be played in Huntingdon on Sunday, Sept. 19th.

With Manager Spencer Gavin having to use his two ace pitchers, the Huntingdon Merchants had to come from behind to win a hard fought victory over the hard fighting Chateaugay Ponies.

Rosie Lacompte pitched the first four innings for the Merchants and gave up four runs and six hits. In the fifth inning Chief St. Denis took over and gave up three runs on four hits.

The Ponies got off to a fast start in the first inning, scoring three runs on four hits, a sacrifice and five Huntingdon errors.

The Merchants picked up two runs in the third inning when Bernardt singled, McCallum walked, St. Denis singled to score Bernardt and McCallum scored on an error by Smith, the Ponies' third baseman.

Huntingdon took over the lead in the fourth when McCallum walked, Lacompte was safe on Smith's error, Senegal walked and McDonald was safe on pitcher Hinerth's error. McCallum tying the score at 3-3 on the play Jon Proudfoot singled to centre field to score Lacompte and Senegal and gave the Merchants the lead 5 to 3.

The Ponies scored one run in the fourth when Sharlow and Smith put doubles back to back.

In the seventh, the Merchants went ahead 8 to 4. St. Denis doubled and scored when Bill Bernardt doubled right behind him. McCallum was safe on Ryan's error and Lacompte singled to score both runners.

The Ponies scored two runs in the 7th when Junior Yando hit the only home run of the game. Ryan was safe on McDonald's error, stole second base and scored on Wally Roach's single.

In the eighth Huntingdon made it 10 to 6. Watson led off with a single, Poupore singled and was forced at 2nd by St. Denis, Watson scoring on the play. Bernardt singled to left field and St. Denis scored from first when the ball got by Jack Clements, the Ponies' left fielder.

The Ponies scored the final run of the game in the last of the ninth when Art Ryan singled and went to second on a passed ball and scored on Wally Roach's single.

MONTREAL — I find it's a pleasure... to talk about something which has been of help to as many people as ABSORBINE JR. over the years... Take, for instance, the ordinary, everyday matter of tired, aching feet. Every one of us has them at times. And the worst of it is that the tenderness and pain doesn't stay in our feet—it shows up in our faces. And tiny pain-lines can deepen in time to wrinkles! That's why those who've discovered the secret, rub cooling, soothing Absorbine Jr. on their feet and find muscle-relaxing relief very quickly. Available at all drug counters for $1.25.

That Lively, Yet Delicate flavor of MIRA-CLE WHIP SALAD DRESSING is a haunting one — it's made from a secret recipe known only to Kraft. So it can't be copied! (Makes me understand why our grandmothers were so protective about their most precious recipes.) These are the perfect salad dressings for fruits or vegetables. Always blend them with the "one and only" Miracle Whip, yes, you'll taste the difference with Miracle Whip! It has that extra goodness which makes your family ask for second helpings. Salads are most nutritious... so serve one every day in this lovely month of September. Whether it's a tossed salad... fruit... vegetable... chicken... fish... Miracle Whip always makes it better!

OF NEWS IN COMMENT FORM

The Top Shelf

There have been times when most of us have regarded the weekly newspapers of Canada as a simple means of recording for local interest the social activities of the community. And since no one is quite so interested in early mayflowers and garden parties as the country editor, that is all quite true. But there is something more to the weekly journal than that, and during my summer travels back and forth across this continent, I have observed a tremendous revival in old-fashioned journalism, a kind of moral dedication to the people, which is not always a feature of newspapers on this continent.

The weeklies of western Canada seem more outspoken in this regard, although many eastern papers, like The Canadian Statesman in Bowmanville, N.S., and the Loyalist in St. John, N.B., that have been speaking out with a clear and sincere voice for what they believe, be they right or wrong. In many cases, the daily newspaper has ceased to be the tribune of the people and it is good to see a rejuvenation of editorial courage among the small papers.

The west and the northwest are new. Alberta and Saskatchewan celebrate their 50th anniversary next year, and the north is even newer. The weekly newspapers in this awakened region of prosperity are carrying all kinds of banners. They are not hindered by amalgamation, like some of Canada's dailies, and they are responsible only to their own consciences. Even up in Yellowknife, N.W.T., the cares of the people have been espoused by the news of the north, a sincere though sometimes impulsive medium of expression.

Occasionally an old weekly dies in the west, but a new one takes its place. Kitimat, B.C., has a new paper which may eventually be a daily, and in Grande Prairie, Alta., The Herald Tribune is to come out twice weekly in February. In another two years, as the northwest continues to grow — with oil and gas and aluminum and agriculture — this paper will also be a daily. The editor is Jim Bowes, a native of Saskatchewan and former reporter for the Montreal Standard and The London Free Press.

The Dawson Creek Star is published on green paper. I asked the editor why he did it and said: "Because it's easy on the eyes." And do you know, it is. That's why the blackboards in new schools are green. It's something our grandfathers didn't know.

It is not generally known by the public that most newspapers in recent years have gone to much expense and trouble to make reading easier. They have bought new type and increased the amount of white space between the lines (all at a loss of advertising space), and they have concentrated more on make-up, using pictures and headings to break up monotonous columns of solid type. This has happened without the reader's notice. But it keeps him from going to the eye doctor quite so soon.

Up on the Alaska highway, the editor of the Alaska Highway News is a woman. Mrs. Margaret Murray of Fort St. John, B.C., is one of the real characters of the north. One of her curious possessions is an old Washington hand press, one with a story.

It was the first printing press of the north and on this archaic device — one such as Benjamin Franklin used to launch the Saturday Evening Post — the newspapers of the gold rush of 1898 were run off at a dollar a copy.

This old press recorded one of the most exciting eras of the continent. Some of Mark Twain's stories were first printed on it. This very press printed Jack London's first story when he was in Dawson City, and when Robert W. Service's "Cremation of Sam Magee" appeared in the Whitehorse Star, it was from this press. Some of Walt Whitman's verse came off it, too.

Bad times eventually came to the Washington Press, and the printer who owned it lost it in a poker game. The first printing machine to travel over the Alaska highway, it is pathetic that having played so vital a part in such an heroic epic it now lies broken and unused outside Mrs. Murray's printing shop at Fort St. John.

In Edmonton, I had a chat with Ken McLeod, the author of numerous paper-backed novels. Ken is one of the few Canadians who have made a living at freelance writing in Canada. He admits that people ask him why he doesn't write something more lasting than "A Body for a Blonde" (with the usual bosomy cover). But short of Costain, Hemmingsway and others in that league, what is being written today that will live anyway. Mr. McLeod is a bread-and-butter writer. So was Balzac. So is Mackinlay Kantor.

A novel written for soft cover publication brings anywhere from $400 to $1000 in cash to the author and royalties on every copy after a few thousand. "Chinese Room" a rather notorious paper-back of five years ago, sold for $10,000, and royalties started with the first copy sold. Perhaps Ken McLeod wants to write one of those $10,000 novels (Avon Books alone sell more than 20,000 soft cover a year) and then he'll write the great Canadian novel. Let us hope he will be more successful in this ambition than Balzac was in his great endeavor.

Miss Mollie Masten of Toronto spent a few days recently with her brother, Mr. J. E. Masten.

Word has been received from FT/Lt Lachlan VanVliet of Halifax, N. S. elder son of Mr. and Mrs. David VanVliet, announcing his approaching marriage to Miss Hazel McCoy of Sydney, Cape Breton.

About twelve pupils will be taken by bus to Clarenceville High School.

The W.M.S. and W.A. entertained at the home of Mrs. G. G. McClellan on Friday afternoon with sixteen ladies present. Plans were made for a Turkey supper to be held in the near future in the Church Hall. At the close of the meetings refreshments were served by the hostess.

Dundee

Dundee W. I. The regular monthly meeting of the W. I. was held on Wednesday, September 1, in the Community Hall. Highlight of the afternoon's program was a discussion on the book: "So Little For the Mind", by Dr. Hilda Neathy, professor of History at the University of Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Chas. Smallman led the discussion and her first question: "With more attention paid to the pupils, do you think they are any happier in school life than they used to be?" brought forth several comments. Some believed it depended upon the child while others thought most of the little tots enjoyed going to school. The older child is perhaps no happier today than one who went a generation ago.

"Do you agree that it is foolish to teach grammar in schools as many of us learned it?" The answer to this question was that nearly everyone thought there wasn't enough old-fashioned grammar taught in modern schools. So many youngsters do not know how to write proper English even when finished High School.

Is the question "Extra curricular activities, are they over-emphasized?" came the answer that they were in some of the bigger schools. Sports in particular were mentioned as taking up too much of the pupil's school time.

The last question in the discussion was "What is your opinion as to whether the home expects too much from the school and how?" In some cases it was felt that the home does expect too much of the teacher. In the case of beginners, many youngsters are sent to school before they have been taught at home to do simple things for themselves.

Mrs. Smallman won the household hint by telling members to use the "What is your opinion as to whether the home expects too much from the school and how?" meeting closed and the hostess, Mrs. W. S. Smellie and Mrs. Wm. Arnold served a delicious supper.

The government export controls were imposed immediately to block the shipment of strategic goods to Soviet countries. Recently Britain and the United States agreed on a reduction in Western restrictions and these were approved by other Western powers. The reductions were mainly to help Britain expand her trade with the Soviet and her satellites.

The freeing of some of the goods from controls — such as heavy machinery — will be of little benefit to Canadian exporters since they find it difficult to meet foreign competition, officials said.

New Currency About $40,000,000 of the Bank of Canada's new notes go into circulation this week. An official told The Canadian Press that every bank branch will have a "modest supply" on hand.

It is the start of a changeover of about 180,000,000 bank notes worth $1,500,000,000 usually in circulation. The switch for all common bank notes is expected to take about 1 1/2 years.

The new bank notes are the first in Canada to carry the Queen's portrait. The reverse sides carry typical Canadian scenes, instead of the present allegorical figures. The bills are one-eighth of an inch narrower than present notes, which are six by 7 7/8 inches.

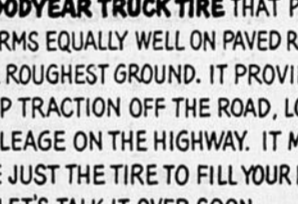

The color of the new notes is about the same as the present notes, although the tints are deeper and richer, especially for $5 notes.

The Happy People

Quite a few of the popular songs give me the heebie-jeebies, but I heard one the other day that really appealed to me. It was a catchy little thing, and the words packed a lot of punch. In short, they advised us to "Be with the happy people".

When the song was over, I shut the radio off and did quite a bit of thinking. The people I know can be divided into two categories — the glum and serious, the gay and pleasant. I asked myself which class I belonged to.

I didn't have to do much thinking to get the answer. On almost every count the happy people were the winners. Their homes were gay and bright. They had friends, eager to see them at all times. Most of them did well financially, and even those who had very little money, got a lot of pleasure out of the little bit they did have.

I made a decision at that moment. From now on, I intend to "be with the happy people." I'm through with gloomy joes. You won't catch me

The Gore

W.M.S. and W.A. Notes

THE GORE — The Gore W.M.S. and W.A. held their meetings on Thursday evening, September 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Willie Graham, with a good attendance. The president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Nelson Anderson, took charge, opening with the singing of a hymn. Several members read portions from the Missionary Monthly. The roll call was answered by a Bible verse containing the word "vine". The meeting closed by a hymn followed by prayer.

The president of the W.A., Mrs. Willard Anderson, then took charge, opening with prayer. The roll call was answered by the members showing and telling about the oldest thing they had in their possession. This proved most interesting, there being shown quilts, cup and saucer, jewelry, salt and pepper, baby shoes, booties, old deeds to farms, handkerchiefs and napkin rings. Some of these things dated back into early 1900. The business meeting followed, plans being made for the Havelock Fair dinner in which the Gore have a share. The meeting closed with a hymn and the repetition of the Creed. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A joint meeting of the W.M.S. and W.A. was held on Wednesday evening, August 25th, at the home of Mrs. Stanley Whaley, with a good attendance. Mrs. N. Anderson and Mrs. W. Anderson had charge of the meetings. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Whaley.

New Fabrics to Be Discussed At Textile Gathering

Montreal — Latest developments in a quiet but far-reaching technical revolution of great importance to Canada will be discussed at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, this week.

Participants will be about 400 delegates and visitors to the Fourth Textile Seminar, a gathering of internationally-known experts in the field of textile technology brought together under the sponsorship of the Textile Technical Federation of Canada.

Overshadowed somewhat by developments in such spectacular fields as atomic energy and supersonic aircraft, startling changes have been going on in the textile industry of the world in recent years. New "miracle" fibres — some from such unlikely sources as peanuts, milk, coal and animal hair — have appeared and new methods of processing and finishing the older fibres such as cotton and wool, and blending them with each other and the newer fibres, have been developed.

These advances have made possible some entirely "new" fabrics — fabrics that are crease-resistant, flame resistant, long-wearing, difficult to soil, easy to clean — and have opened up avenues of research that may lead to even more spectacular advances in the fields of clothing, household and industrial use.

Mining developments in Ungava catch the headlines but any Canadian and family of New York City and Miss Lena Brady, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian O'Reilly are planning on taking a three-week vacation some time soon. They expect to spend some of their leisure time at a summer camp on the Lake of Two Mountains and also at Canton, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McNeil and two boys, Winna and Melvin, Miss Winna Raeburn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred White, son Robert and his friend Douglas Haslam, all of McMasterville, are guests over the Labor Day week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNeil and Miss Eleanor McNeil.

Miss Shirley McNeil left the later part of last week for Quebec where she will hold the position of teacher in one of the city schools during the coming scholastic term.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Steven and Miss Mayred Colquhoun of Massena spent a couple of days last week visiting relatives at Canmore, Winchester and Chrysler, Ont. They also called on Rev. J. H. Woodside who was a former minister at Kensington.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming and her daughter, Louisa, moved to Stuyville, Que., on Monday. Miss Fleming who graduated as Home Economics teacher from McDonald College in June will teach that subject at the new Shawville School.

Mr. Ronald Fleming who is teler in charge of the Montreal banks spent the week-end attending the Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Arthur and two children, Carol and John, were Sunday guests at the MacMillan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Watson, daughter Kathleen and son Richard, of South Hill, Que., also Mrs. A. Houghton and Miss Phyllis Houghton, of Ottawa, visited friends in Dundee on Sunday and Monday. The Haughtons and Miss Kathleen Watson were overnight guests of Mrs. Cora Fraser while the others were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cameron.

Mr. Donald Watson who spent the vacation at his home in Dundee returned to Montreal on Monday to get ready for the opening of school classes. Mr. Watson will be principal of a new school which is presently being built near Dorval.

The name of the new school will be Meadowbrook. Mr. Watson expected to attend a luncheon on Tuesday for school officials, teachers and principals.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Fenner, Leamington, Ont., recently spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Armstrong and Miss Isabella Armstrong. While in Quebec Mr. Fenner attended a convention of Electro-Lux Dealers in Montreal.

During the past year or so Mr. Lyle Currie and his son Jackie have been operating a service station at Hogansburgh, N.Y. One night last week, Mr. Currie's gas station was broken into and a quantity of odds and ends, spark plugs, cigarettes, etc., were taken. Entrance was gained to the building by cutting a heavy wire grating on the back door through which the thieves were able to unlock the night latch and get inside. Apparently they were not expert enough to open the cash drawer nor the vending machines in the establishment. In all about $4000 worth of goods was taken. Police and Insurance officials are investigating the theft. Mr. Currie's station is one of about 100 such places operating in the Esso chain, and he reports business is very good.

New Facilities Cover Plane Inspection at Dundee Port

Some Changes May Be Noted When Coteau Bridge is Opened This Month

Mr. Adrian O'Reilly, Customs Collector at the Dundee, Que., port of entry reports that highway traffic at that point is rapidly on the increase over other years. The Dundee port has been unique in Eastern Canada for many years in that it served three classes, highway traffic, railroad entries on the C.N.R. at Port Covington and boat traffic on the Salmon River only a stone throw from the Customs port. Now with the advent of private planes, commuters who wish to reach their summer camp at Lake St. Francis on the St. Lawrence and other points are to be granted another service, that of local Custom and Immigration Plane Inspection. Mr. John Stewart, of Havelock, Que., who travels considerably and has a winter home in Florida, also has a summer home at Fraser's Point. A few years ago he took up private flying and now has a neat little cabin plane of his own. Up until a short while ago, he and Mr. Harold Gooch of New York City, who also flies his own plane, have been using the airport facilities at Massena, N.Y. This has proved quite a distance by car between points, so lately, Mr. Stewart obtained permission to land at the Cazapri Farm, near Cazaville.

Mr. Stewart's request for inspection privileges at that point rather than flying into Dorval when coming to Canada prompted Mr. O'Reilly to write the Customs Dept. at Ottawa. He received a favorable reply a short while ago and now any plane flying in from the U.S. may avail of this privilege in this area provided that the officers service charge and travelling fee to the landing point is guaranteed.

This service will be of inestimable value to those air-minded individuals who wish to reach their riverside homes in a hurry as Cazaville is only a few miles distant from any of the most popular summer resorts on the west side of Valleyfield.

In connection with highway traffic through the Dundee port it may be interesting to note that 3,700 manifests have been issued to the Provost Carriage Co. trucks since they started to transport supplies from Valleyfield to the mills in Cornwall. Some carry sulphuric acid and others caustic soda and each one carries 15 tons pay load. At $5.00 per truck the Carriage Company has paid the International Bridge authority at Cornwall over $15,000.00 during the past year. With the opening of the Valleyfield bridge late this month this form of highway traffic on No. 3 will no doubt dwindle, when the trucks will have a much shorter route via Coteau and Ontario Highway to their destination. It is anticipated however, that with the opening of this bridge traffic from the U.S. points in the Massena area will flow through Dundee and use the new bridge service rather than cross the International Bridge and pass through Cornwall.

Aubrey - Riverfield

AUBREY - RIVERFIELD — Mr. Win. Templeton left last week on a motor trip to Calgary where he will stay several months.

Master Charles Baker of Vancouver who has spent the past two and a half months with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bunberry, left on Friday for Dorval to fly home.

The regular monthly meeting of the Aubrey-Riverfield W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Easton. 19 members attended and 6 visitors.

President, Mrs. MacFarlane, welcomed the visitors, especially Mrs. Laurie, who was the speaker. She is Supt. of a Division in the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, and told of her work in and around the city.

She had worked in the Children's Memorial Hospital where she enjoyed caring for the children. In a well filled emergency case which she carried were numerous articles that were on display. We very much enjoyed the information given concerning these same articles in such a pleasing and capable manner.

A get-well card was signed by all members to be sent to Mrs. Jas. Orr who had been a patient in the hospital.

With the serving of dainty refreshments by the hostess, the meeting came to a close.
