CLEARING FRIDAY

Overcast with snowflurries or rainshowers today. Friday overcast at first clearing by noon, continuing cool.

Temperatures yesterday: Maximum 43, minimum 31. Year ago: Maximum 65, minimum 42.

World News In Brief

Burbank, Calif., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Hope for finding alive the 11 persons, including three Canadians, aboard a missing Western Air Lines plane was virtually abandoned today as search was ordered resumed of a rugged 500-square mile area north of here where the two-engined craft disappeared early yesterday.

Among the eight passengers aboard the plane were Miss Mary la Branch, Edmonton, Mrs. Bridget W. Knight, Banff, Alta., and Miss Florence Henry, formerly of Winnipeg now a resident of Long Beach, Calif.

The search centres on the summit of the Angeles Forest highway where two country road workers, operating a snowplow, told the sheriff they had seen a "terrific flash" at a time coinciding with the plane's disappearance. The spot is in the general area where the craft is believed to have disappeared. The plane lost communication within three minutes of its destination, Lockheed air terminal here.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 14.—(AP)—At least 410 persons were reported today to have lost their lives in a series of earthquakes which began in Peru last Sunday and have crippled communications and caused widespread devastation.

The Ministry of the Interior said that Conchucos, a town of 4,400 north of Lima, was apparently the hradest hit. Three hundred persons were killed and 250 injured there.

Los Angeles, Nov. 14.—(AP)—New downpours, accompanied by brilliant lightning flashes and almost deafening thunder, struck the metropolitan area early today as crews prepared to start mopping up damage from a three-day storm, one of the worst on record this early in the season.

Rain totals in the suburbs rocketed as high as 6.58 inches in fashionable San Marino. Even Long Beach, on the normally dry seacoast, reported 5.56 inches. This compared with a mark of .20 for the entire season to date a year ago. Los Angeles' figure was 4.54 inches.

Winds up to 57 miles an hour whipped beach cities; snow fell to a depth of five feet at the Los Angeles County playground of Big Pines. Mountain roads were buried in snow and slush; highways were washed out and mud-covered; bridges weakened. Hail pelted Hollywood.

Huesca, Spain, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Police, continuing their roundup of radical leaders in Spain, have announced the arrest of the entire committee of a "Communist" organization discovered near the town of Monzon, 40 miles southeast of here. Authorities said a number of members of the organization also were arrested in Murcia and in Huesca province.

Last week the Spanish government confirmed the arrest of Agustin Zora Sanchez, unofficially identified as the head of the Communist party in Spain. Fifteen of Zora's coworkers were reported in custody, including four women. Unofficial sources earlier said about 200 persons had been arrested in country-wide raids.

Veto Issue Is Expected To Provide Biggest Battle Of Present Assembly Session

Battle Looms Among Big-4 On Government For Trieste

Heads for Initial Major Airing Since Big Five Received Extraordinary Power at San Francisco—Connally Has New Proposal to Offer.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

New York, Nov. 14. —(AP)— A first-class struggle was developing in the Foreign Ministers Council today over the issue of who should rule the proposed Free City of Trieste. It appeared certain to put to extreme test the mildly conciliatory attitude which has grown here between Russia and the Western Powers.

State Secretary Byrnes and British Foreign Secretary Bevin already were confronted with 14 Russian demands for changes in a Paris Peace Conference decision that would vest wide powers in a governor responsible to the United Nations Security Council.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, assailing the Paris plan as undemocratic, insisted on limiting the governor's power and shifting more authority into the hands of a popularly-elected assembly and a council of government responsible to it.

Mr. Molotov declared his amendments to be a "minimum essential" of change in the Paris draft statute for Trieste and when last night's Big-Four session ended after three hours of argument his list of amendments, totalling 14, was still incomplete. More were due to be placed on the Foreign Ministers Council table today.

Meanwhile, Byrnes, Bevin and Deputy French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville were studying their next moves, evidently to determine which, if any, of Mr. Molotov's points they might accept and which they would oppose.

The Western Powers were reported strongly opposed to fixing any deadline for the withdrawal of troops from Trieste. They stuck to the argument that during the transition in the new international zone the Security Council should have a free hand to make this decision. Russia argued for a deadline of three or four months.

On another point, Mr. Molotov argued that the Big Four Foreign Ministers should retain direct authority for setting up a transitional government in the Trieste territory, while Bevin and Byrnes held that, as decided at Paris, the Security Council should have this task from the first.

Lake Success, N.Y., Nov. 14. — (CP) — The world's small powers meet the big powers today in a battle to restrict, if not abolish, the veto in the United Nations Security Council.

Billed as the biggest fight of the present assembly session, the veto issue—long a sore spot with the small countries—heads into its initial major airing since the Big Five were given their extraordinary power at San Francisco.

The scene of the battle is the powerful U. N. political committee where United States Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and an American delegate to the United Nations, prepared to offer a proposal which might be acceptable to the small powers.

Before the committee are two proposals. One is by Australia, requesting a complete review of the veto question by the assembly. The other is a Cuban demand for abolition of the veto.

Both Australia and Cuba were expected to be heard today in the committee session. There was some doubt whether Senator Connally would be able to present the views of the United States Government before tomorrow.

Senator Connally, it was learned, would suggest that a recommendation be made that the Security Council itself rework its rules of procedure to effect restricted use of the veto in the future.

Both the United States and Britain believe that Council members should exercise more restraint in use of their power and both are working to that end.

Meanwhile, Canada was on the list of nations prepared to speak in the U. N. trusteeship committee on the delicate situation created by South America's determination not to submit a trusteeship plan for southwest Africa.

In the face of almost certain and decisive rejection of the South African plan to annex the former German colony mandated to the Union after the First Great War, South Africa warned yesterday that she would administer the colony as an integral part of the Union if annexation finally failed.

Russia pointed up the issue with a demand that all former League

UK May Scrap Honor System In Commons

Disciplinary Measures May Be Taken Against Party Dissidents Who Condemned Foreign Policy.

London, Nov. 14. — (Reuters)—The Labor Government's "honor" system, which during the last year has freed its 400 supporters in Parliament from all regimentation, may have to be scrapped if the revolt of 72 members over foreign policy and conscription issues continues.

This view was being expressed today in political quarters which think that mass discipline measures will be taken by the government against the 57 members who have subscribed to a foreign-policy amendment to the reply to the Speech from the Throne. Other members concerned with another amendment against peacetime conscription seem likely to be included in the "court-martial."

Firm champion of the honor system when it was introduced was the Lord President of the Council, Herbert Morrison, who, as leader of the House, is generalissimo of the government's big parliamentary majority.

Shortly after it came into power, the government decided that with 400 supporters of the parliamentary total of 640 members, it need not be afraid of allowing labor members the maximum freedom of expression and action.

Quebec Mine Workers Plan Strike Vote

Negotiations Between Union and Company Ends in Deadlock — Retroactive Pay Increase Demanded.

Noranda, Que., Nov. 14.—(CP)—A strike vote among union workers at the Noranda Mine will be taken Monday by Local 688, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers following a deadlock in negotiations for a new contract with Noranda Mines Limited.

This was announced last night by T. F. McGuire, district union co-ordinator, who said he had been informed by the local management that it had gone as far as it was authorized to go and that the union proposals would be referred to head office of the company in Toronto.

The union is demanding a pay increase of 16 cents an hour retroactive to Feb. 8, when the previous agreement expired. The company has offered an increase of 10 cents an hour. A union checkoff plan demand has been rejected by the company.

Meetings between a union committee and the local management have been in progress for several days. At the conclusion of this afternoon's session, Mr. McGuire said:

"The union committee met yesterday afternoon with a committee of the company. The proposals included in the demands of the union were outlined to the mine representatives. After considerable discussion the company asked for a short recess. After their return they informed us that they had consulted together and that they had gone as far as the management locally could go. They were referring the union proposals to the directors of the company for decision. They would get in touch with us and arrange a further meeting as soon as they had an answer from the directors."

H. L. Roscoe, vice-president and general manager of the Noranda Mine, said: "All I can say is that negotiations are still continuing. We have made our position known to the workers. They have our offer and I have nothing further to add to that."

The union held three business meetings as the men came off shift last night, at which the union said it was instructed to proceed immediately with the strike vote.

Assets Employee Accused Of Graft

Montreal Nov. 14.—(CP)—Mayor Eldege Fortin of Farnham, Que., testified at the preliminary hearing of a former War Assets Corporation employee today that the defendant told him his town's application for war-surplus trucks was near the bottom of a long list and it would be advisable to advance a little money into a general pool.

H. U. Dandurand, 50, is charged with receiving a gift to promote the sale of trucks to Farnham. Mayor Fortin testified he gave Dandurand $45 and that Alderman Campbell advanced an additional $55. Judge Omer Legrand ordered the accused for voluntary statement Nov. 20.

Landmark In Montreal Is Destroyed

Knox Crescent Presbyterian Church Razed by Early Morning Fire—Celebrated 60th Anniversary Recently.

Montreal, Nov. 14.— (CP) —Knox Crescent Presbyterian Church, a Montreal landmark for 60 years, today was a mass of burned timbers and blackened stone after a spectacular three alarm fire last night raced through the structure causing damages estimated at $300,000 and injuring three firemen, one seriously.

The fire of undetermined origin was first noticed a few minutes before midnight and within five minutes the entire building was aflame.

More than 125 firemen from 15 stations battled the flames and ambulances stood by.

An elderly couple who resided in the presbytery were reported safe.

Fireman Claude Tremblay, 23, suffered burns when, while atop an aerial ladder helping install water guns, flames shot through the roof searing him. He was brought down by companions and was taken to hospital along with two of his co-workers, cut when panes of stained glass exploded under the heat.

Situated at the corner of Dorchester and Crescent Streets in west-central Montreal, the church recently celebrated its 60th anniversary and was noted as one of the most imposing Protestant churches in the city.

For a time the fire threatened to spread to adjoining buildings. Firemen scurried over adjoining rooftops to check any possible new outbreak caused by flying sparks. Many residents, aroused from bed, carried belongings to the streets. Policemen kept hundreds of late theatre crowd spectators away from the blaze.

Many firetrucks were delayed in getting to the fire as they made their way through thick theatre and nightclub crowds which jammed neighboring streets.

An unusual incident took place when a man, whom police said was intoxicated, tried to enter the blazing church "to save the women and children." Police dragged him out after he got inside the door.

Built in 1879, it originally had a 217-foot spire but after it was struck by lightning several times, it was decided to remove it in 1937.

CHANGED SCHOOL SCHEDULE SAVED MANY LIVES

Baroda, Mich., Nov. 14.—(AP)—School authorities today credited a new schedule which emptied a first floor classroom 10 minutes before a boiler exploded at the consolidated school with holding the toll of one pupil killed and 18 others injured, one critically.

The blast occurred yesterday while 260 children were in the school, but most of them were in undamaged sections of the two-storey structure.

Walter Ruppel, 13, died less than three hours after the blast.

School authorities said that under a changed schedule, a score of pupils in the classroom directly above the boiler had filed out a half hour earlier than usual.

Bitter Tears

Eleven-year-old James Regan (top photo) can no longer hold back his tears after telling Chicago police how his father, John Regan, had tried to use him as an instrument of suicide. Regan handed James a borrowed shotgun which he said was unloaded and told the child to fire it at him. When James refused, the father grabbed the gun and shot himself. With James (above) is George Sarabinski, 14, owner of the shotgun. A neighbor tries to help Regan (lower photo) who sits critically wounded on the floor of his home awaiting medical aid.

U.S. Treaties With Zog Are Held Invalid

Premier Hoxha of Albania Repudiates Pacts Made by Former Monarch — Will Resist "Stubbornly."

London, Nov. 14.—(CP)—Premier Gen. Enver Hoxha of Albania has informed the United States, according to a Moscow radio broadcast today, that his government will resist—as "stubbornly" as the United States demands it—the honoring of pre-war treaties between the United States and King Zog.

Nevertheless, he said in a note broadcast as the reply to a United States note of Nov. 5 recalling the American diplomatic mission in Albania, his country still is hopeful of friendship with the United States and is willing to re-examine the pre-war treaties with a view to renewal—"but only after the arrival of an American envoy."

"To the extent to which the question of treaties is a question of principle for the American Government—and the American Government stubbornly defends this position—to that extent it is a question of principle also for us, and we also have every right to defend our position in the interests of our people," the Moscow radio quoted Hoxha as saying.

The United States State Department, on Nov. 5, recalled its mission to Tirana because of Albania failure "to affirm its recognition of the validity of bilateral instruments between the United States and Albania."

In that note, the State Department said Albanian Government assurances that it would recognize existing agreements with the United States were "a prerequisite to United States recognition (of the Hoxha regime) in accord with the established practice of this government."

Hoxha's note, as broadcast following publication in the newspapers of Belgrade, Yugoslavia, asserted that even Joseph E. Jacobs, United States Foreign Service Officer in Tirana, acknowledged "surprise" at the "last minute conditions imposed by the State Department" a year ago to recognition of the Albanian Government.

It added that Jacobs had tried unsuccessfuly to dismiss the requirement as a "mere technicality" and contended that the United States had failed to answer a note sent August 13 in which Albania offered to re-examine the pre-war treaties and study the possibility of renewal.

The note declared that while the nine-member United States diplomatic misison had been in Albania a year and had been treated with "amiability" it had done nothing toward reaching a solution of the year-long impasse.

Quebec Welcomes Serious Colonists

Montreal, Nov. 14.— (CP) —Even though available colonization areas in Quebec are not unlimited, there is room for placement of serious colonists and none so far have been refused settlement, Hon. J. D. Begin, Minister of Colonization, last night told the concluding session of the three-day colonization convention here.

Following reports by a committee of experts for which he had called when he took over the Department, Mr. Begin said that the colonization problem in the province divided itself into two categories, namely, creation of new colonies, and, secondly, consolidation of existing colonies.

This preliminary work meant building of roads, drainage works, classification of lands and establishment according to the nature of the soil and its resources.

As regards existing colonies, steps had been taken to hasten them being turned into agricultural parishes by quickly completing roads which had been commenced, by continuing drainage works, and clearing, all such work to be helped by the formation or development of labor co-operatives and popular savings banks.

Spain Issue Is Deferred By Congress

Hope That Franco Regime May Not Be in Existence by Spring Results in Spanish Representation Question Being Put Off.

London, Nov. 14.—(Reuters)—Hopes in British Labor party circles that Generalissimo Franco's regime may no longer be in existence by next spring, and the Spanish Socialist party may be able to operate freely in Spain, formed the background to last week-end's decision by the Internationalist Socialist conference at Bournemouth, Hants., to put the question of Spanish representation on the agenda of the next conference.

The question was raised by the British delegation, which hitherto has opposed Spanish representation on the ground no emigre parties, but only parties freely operating in their home countries are admitted to these conferences. Members of the British delegation denied they had decided to abandon this principle, but at the same time made it clear they had acted in the hope that by next spring the situation in Spain might have changed.

The other factor which has hitherto prevented Spanish representation at these conferences is the existence of two groups, the official party organization represented in Dr. Jose Giral's government-in-exile, whose secretary is Rodolfo Llopis, and the group led by Dr. Juan Negrin, the last Prime Minister of the Spanish Republic.

The Bournemouth conference agreed that there could be no question of admitting two rival groups, and there was a feeling among most delegates that if a choice had to be made, Llopis' organization was more representative and more closely-connected with the Socialist underground organization inside Spain.

But it is hoped that a choice can be avoided because the approach of political freedom may be expected to restore the unity of the party, including also those Catalan and Basque Socialist groups which are at present leading a separate existence.

Ernest Ingersoll Dies In Vermont

Brattleboro, Vt., Nov. 14.—(CP)—Ernest Ingersoll, 94, noted author, editor, naturalist and explorer, died in a sanatorium here yesterday.

Mr. Ingersoll had been a patient at the sanatorium since he was struck in 1942 by an automobile in New York City, where he lived most of his life.

For 39 years, until his retirement in 1938, he conducted a Department on Natural History in the Family Herald and Weekly Star, a Montreal publication. Through this column he answered queries from many parts of Canada for information on animal ilfe, illuminating them with his wide knowledge on science and naturalism.

He went on a number of exploring trips to the far western United States and in 1885 and 1887 explored parts of British Columbia. For a time following that expedition he supervised publications of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Born in Monroe, Mich., he was a friend of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, of Louis Agassiz, painter and naturalist, and of William Henry Jackson, well-known photographer.

Rift In U.K. Labor Growing As 57 Members Rap Policy

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Nov. 14.—(CP Cable)—Government leaders today looked on the revolt of nearly 60 party members on foreign policy as an embarrassing display of disagreement rather than a threat to the security of the Labor administration.

The vast majority of the 389 Labor Members stand firm behind Prime Minister Attlee and Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, who yesterday rebuked 44 Labor Members who at that time had criticized the speech from the throne Tuesday with an amendment to the reply asking for a change in Foreign Secretary Bevin's policy.

It has long been known that at least 30 Labor back benchers had disapproved of policies following in Greece, Java and other territories where Britain intervened. This group also wants strong action to dislodge the Franco Government in Spain.

More signatures to the amendment are being added and informed sources said the total, now 57, may rise to 60. Last year before National Insurance Legislation was introduced nearly 200 Labor Members signed a petition demanding immediate action to raise old age pensions despite ministers' declarations that this was unnecessary.

Mr. Attlee and his colleagues were able to bring agreement then and apart from a few diehards they expect to have the party with them when the vote on the present amendment is taken.

A second "revolt" is in evidence among anti-conscription Labor Members who oppose proposed legislation to continue compulsory military service in peacetime. This, in the end, may prove to be the more serious as many members loyal to Mr. Attlee have opposed conscription through their public careers and they would find it difficult to explain to the electors their support of peacetime compulsion.

An amendment opposing conscription will have the Conservatives against it although it may find some friends among the Liberals and Independents.

Conservatives support for the government is certain when the foreign-policy amendment is discussed as opposition leader Winston Churchill and his colleagues would not back the proposed revision to provide "a socialist alternative" to the alleged conflict between American capitalism and Soviet Communism.

One result of the divisions now indicated may be that leftists critical of government policy and who have been verbally spanked by party leaders will be forced to decide whether they are to stay in the government and accept its policies or seek other affiliation.

Protestant Church Council To Hear Lay Support Issue

Quebec, Nov. 14. —(CP)— The organization of lay support for the Canadian Council of Churches headed today a lengthy list of problems before the 100 delegates of nine Protestant denominations attending a general meeting of the council.

The sessions, which will continue through Friday, began yesterday with devotional services and an address by the council president, Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Anglican Archbishop of Toronto.

The permanent organization of the council—Canadian unit of the World Council of Churches—brought before the conference three reports— prepared by its three departments, evangelism, ecumenical affairs, social relations—covering a score or more vital problems facing the Protestant community.

Gambling, penal reform, civil liberties and industrial relations will be covered by the report of the Department of Social Relations. The Department of Ecumenical Affairs will report on maintaining Christian communications, broadcasting world news, chaplaincy services to prisoners of war, concern for refugees, church reconstruction and relief in Europe, youth conferences, the World Council of Churches and plans for study work.

The Department of Evangelism will submit its findings and recommendations regarding the week of prayer, university Christian missions and efforts in support of the crusaders and advance movements in the churches.

Rev. W. J. Gallagher of Toronto, general secretary, told the delegates that a deputation of the council had called on Prime Minister Mackenzie King last January to inform him of the formation of the council and to make representations regarding Japanese Canadians, laws against gambling, prison reform, religious liberty, European relief and international relations.

Mr. Gallagher said efforts to obtain a satisfactory chaplain service for veterans' hospitals had not been successful "from our point of view."

On the matter of internal organization, Mr. Gallagher said an additional secretary was needed if the work of the council was to be done adequately, and that an annual budget of $25,000 was desirable to maintain effective work in the three departments of the council secretariat.

Mr. Gallagher summed up the purpose of the council as threefold: 1. To give expression to the fundamental unity of the Christian communions; 2. To work for the Christion good of Canada; 3. To contribute to an effective Christian witness throughout the world.

Jewish Camp Raided By US Termed Huge Black Market

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 14.—(AP)—United States military police raided a Jewish displaced persons camp at Zeilsheim today and arrested eight men described by army officers as leaders of one of the biggest black market centres in Germany, operating in the camp.

Lt.-Col. Redmond J. Connolly, Provost Marshal, said the raid followed investigations which indicated the camp, housing 4,000 homeless Jews, was the centre of large-scale black market operations extending throughout the American occupation zone of Germany.

About 50 automobiles, several thousands of dollars in military scrip and forbidden American and English money, as well as hundreds of thousands of German marks were seized during the dawn raid, carried out by 100 army military policemen and 25 agents of the army's criminal investigation division.

No resistance was encountered and no violence was observed by correspondents permitted to watch the raid.

Within 10 minutes 25 American army criminal investigation agents who accompanied the police announced they had arrested the chief black market operator. He was not immediately identified.

Col. Connolly said a bakery shop was the headquarters of the black market activities in the camp and was the chief objective of the C.I.D. agents.

He said the bakery's telephone was "the most used" in Germany and declared it had been carrying a constant flow of calls dealing with black market traffic.

Road blocks to prevent movement of trucks were set up on all roads leading from the camp, which occupies an entire German village about 10 miles from the centre of Frankfurt.

To prevent riots such as have marked raids on other displaced persons camps, Col. Connolly invoked a military government ruling barring German military policemen from the vicinity during the surprise swoop.

The M.P.S. were given authority to search persons on the streets for concealed weapons but were issued strict orders not to manhandle any of the camp occupants, most of whom come from Poland. House to house searchers for contraband were conducted by the C.I.D. agents.

Military police said they staged the raid after receiving reports that many varieties of food were being sold at sidewalk booths in the camp at black market prices—such as oranges at 100 marks each ($10 at the legal rate of exchange).

They said they also had been informed that "operators" in the camp had dealt extensively in automobiles, some built with secret compartments for carrying contraband cigarets to Cologne and other German cities.

Some Controls Held Necessary Through Present Emergencies

Special to the Record

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Recognizing that some wartime controls must continue through the present emergencies, economic controls generally should be under contant review and eliminated when their necessity has lapsed, B. C. Gardner, president of The Canadian Bankers' Association, said here today.

Speaking before the Association's annual meeting, Mr. Gardner, who is vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal, said "I am a firm believer in the system of ordered free enterprise and the free market. I believe that some of the wartime controls must continue until emergencies are over, but I also believe that many such controls tend to become fixed and bureaucratic and that in a democratic country they should be under constant examination, and that the aim should be to eliminate them the moment their necessity can no longer be proved. We welcome, therefore, governmental assurances that such is the present policy."

After referring to the accumulations of money and savings now in the hands of the Canadian people at a time of acute scarcity of consumer goods, Mr. Gardner said governmental controls were only one anti-inflationary factor. The real control of the price level rested on the common sense and thrift of the Canadian people and their respect for law.

"The average Canadian," he continued, "is hard-headed and thrifty; wartime educative methods consolidated his native tendency to save. He balks at high or inflated prices; nor does he hunt or bid omnivorously for goods in short supply. When supply begins to appear, he declines to buy if prices seem to him unreasonable. Educated to value money, he has accumulated something of a 'stake' and is pleased with it. His common sense will not sanction his letting it go except for tangibles at what he considers fair prices."

Mr. Gardner reported that of 8,600 bank employees who entered the armed services during the war, 677 gave their lives and nearly 6,000 have returned to work in the banks. Some await demobilization and others are in military hospitals.

These men and women, now returning to peacetime jobs, are no problem, quite the contrary, said Mr. Gardner. "Their experience in the service of freedom seems to have heightened their competence, broadened the sum of their knowledge and has added confidence to their bearing. Their work, I am sure, will enhance the relations of the banks with customers and public." He also paid tribute to the staffs who manned the banks during the war, working long hours and shouldering many additional duties.

In a general review of economic conditions in Canada, Mr. Gardner expressed hope "that progress in the direction of multilateral trade may not be overtaken or offset by the continuance or emergense of bilateral trading and bulk purchasing and selling through government agencies. Whatever the advantages that may be urged in favor of such devices, their basic weakness is that they build up a wall of government between individuals in the countries concerned.

"Under such conditions, discussions as to price, quality, and terms of sale that would be part of the ordinary course of private trading, all too often become elevated into diplomatic incidents, in which are the seeds of international controversy.

"I am convinced that restoration, not only of world trade but of world order itself, requires a breaking down of these barriers and a reweaving of the fabric of day-to-day transactions between individuals in different parts of the world, governed by the accepted standards of business ethics and practice and at prices determined by the free play of the market."

In his survey of general economic conditions in Canada, Mr. Gardner referred to assets of $7,342 millions, double the pre-war figures, held by Canada's 10 chartered banks at August 31, 1946.

"While as individual banks," he continued, "we sometimes pride ourselves upon our assets, I have often felt that we ought to take equal, if not greater, pride in our liabilities. Most of our liabilities are the deposits. We owe them to depositors—millions of individuals—all over Canada. They constitute impressive evidence of the confidence in which our banks are held by millions of persons. The depositor is satisfied to lodge his money with his bank, knowing that his bank is so operated that he can draw out his money or any part of it, in cash, any time he wishes. Our assets are but the counterpart of these deposits."

Mr. Gardner noted that business volume in Canada has continued to drop from the high levels of war activity, but still is 85 per cent greater than during the five years before the war. Record production has been achieved in some industries but others have been beset by uncertainties, difficulties and changing conditions. The direct loss of productive effort resulting from prolonged industrial disputes during the past six months has been greater than in any previous year and "it will be months yet before the smooth flow of many materials and finished products is restored."

IN HOLLYWOOD

by Erskine Johnson

NEA Staff Correspondent

Hollywood, Nov. 14.—(NEA)—Judy Canova, the Beverly Hills-Billy, will surprise even her most rabid fans next summer. Instead of appearing in a movie, as she has always done during the radio off-season, Judy will make a concert tour of the U.S., singing only operatic and classical songs.

Few people know it, but she studied to be an opera singer.

Alice Faye and Phil Harris were introduced at a late spot the other night as: "One of the few famous Hollywood couples still living together" . . . Which reminds us that the Nick Condos-Martha Raye split-up occurred just a few days before the release of his picture, "The Time, the Place and the Girl." For him, it wasn't . . . As a result of "Easy to Wed," M-G-M is thinking about teaming Lucille Ball and Keenan Wynn in a comedy series.

Dale Evans is hobbling around on crutches. She pulled a couple of tendons in a fall from a horse at a Chicago rodeo . . . Those rumors about Bette Davis' health are awry. She feels fine and will await the spring visit from the stork at her New Hampshire home.

Hide the Matches!

Paul Henreid started a fad by lighting two cigarettes at a time in "Now Voyager." We shudder to think, then, what will happen, especially among the juveniles, after "Duel in the Sun" hits the screen.

As the villain of the piece, Gregory Peck lights matches by scratching them on his teeth.

The idea was inspired by Breezy Edson, who directed the train-wreck sequence for the film. Breezy has been lighting 'em that way for years.

Hollywood's fashion designers will probably go around sticking each other with pins after reading this.

Marsha Hunt, selected as the best-dressed actress at M-G-M, was told to go home and pick out a dress for a photograph celebrating the event. The dress she wore for the cameraman was designed and made by her housekeeper.

Meridian Pictures, a new 16-mm. outfit, will film "Romona," a remake of which is now off the 20th Century-Fox schedule. An unknown will get the title role and will be ballyhooed as Hollywood's first 16-mm. star.

An "Oscar" for Olivia?

Olivia de Havilland's fan mail, which went up 200 per cent after "To Each His Own," is still increasing — "Dark Mirror" being the reason.

And now the drums are beating for an "Oscar" for her.

Sammy McKim, of the juvenile acting McKims, is back in greasepaint after four years in the army as a first lieutenant . . . Aside to the ladies: Lizabeth Scott visiting England, had lunch with James Mason—and discovered that he collects human skulls as a hobby.

Frank Capra has another hit in his first postwar movie, "It's a Wonderful Life." He out-Capras Capra—and that's something.

It's an unusual story about a man who wishes he had never been born—and gets his wish. It's Jimmy Stewart's first postwar picture, too—and he tears your heart out.

WOODEN WALK ON DUFFERIN IS REPLACED

The only remaining section of wooden walk in the City of Sherbrooke, construction of which dates back to before World War I, has disappeared with completion today by employees of the Municipal Roads Department of a concrete sidewalk extending from Dufferin Street Bridge to Abenaquis Street.

This section of wooden sidewalk, repaired several times but never replaced, somehow or other has always been by-passed by the City Fathers when drawing up the yearly public improvement projects. The wooden walk near the bridge has outlived the flagstone walks of twenty years ago and City Hall authorities have not been able to state definitely if there was any good reason for maintaining the plank walk. J. C. Cote, City Engineer, stated frankly that he did not know just why the walk had not been replaced twenty years ago but suggested that probably it was because the sidewalk was "so wide at this point."

Cost of this work is estimated at $1,000 and the total area of the new concrete sidewalk here is 125 square yards.

Now, the familiar clomping of early-morning workers over this section of Dufferin Street will be replaced with the sharper clicking of heels against concrete and while undoubtedly many local residents will miss the change, at the same time an up-to-date concrete walk at this point has been needed for some time.

The French government once sank artesian wells in the Sahara desert, and fish spouted high into the air.

or even a vote against the government would not necessarily be a black mark against the member, but the precautionary note was struck that this test of common sense was not an invitation to mass revolt at the caprice of dissatisfied minorities.

When rules were relaxed by suspension of main standing orders of the Parliamentary Party, no one in the Cabinet evidently anticipated a direct challenge of one-eighth of the government's supporters on one of the most fundamentally important subjects—the announcement of forthcoming legislation.

The revolt is a direct embarrassment to the government which may produce a political crisis.

Veto Issue

of Nations mandates be put under the proposed U.N. trusteeship system and specifically charged South Africa with violating the U.N. charter by not submitting a trusteeship agreement.

Prime Minister Smuts said it would be impossible to submit a trusteeship agreement in conflict with the "clearly expressed wishes of the inhabitants" of Southwest Africa for annexation.

"If, however, the assembly does not agree that the clear wishes of the inhabitants should be implemented," he declared, "no other course is left the Union Government but to abide by the declaration it made at Geneva that it would continue to administer the territory as heretofore as an integral part of the Union and to do so in the spirit of the principles laid down in the mandate."

The United Kingdom has approved South Africa's stand but there are unlikely to be many delegations following suit.

Canada may be given further time to state its position since the committee does not meeet until this afternoon and the Canadian spokesman is well down on the list.

While these issues drew the immediate attention of the delegates, Albania tossed a new bombshell into the United Nations, which was expected to appear soon before the Security Council.

In a cable to U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie, Albania registered a "strong protest" with the United Nations against an alleged American demand that United States warships be permitted to enter Albanian waters to remove the American diplomatic mission from that country.

The protest, which also contained representations against Britain for attempting a mine-sweeping job in Corfu Channel, was filed by Gen.-Col. Enver Hoxha, President of Albania.

Meanwhile, authoritative sources disclosed that the United States and Great Britain fear that drastic United Nations action against the Franco regime might precipitate civil war in Spain and unlock the floodgates of a conflict that would involve other countries.

Both the United States and Britain are at present opposed to any United Nations recommendation for a break in diplomatic relations, economic sanction or a Spanish plebiscite.

IN MEMORIAM

HAND.—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, who passed away November 14th, 1943.
We who loved her, love her yet.
She is ours to remember when others forget.
Sadly missed by husband and children,
WILLIAM, LORRAINE, VIOLA AND HELEN

IN MEMORIAM

PAINTER—In fond and loving memory of our darling baby, Gloria Gertrude Painter, who entered into rest one year ago on November 14th, 1945.
We know you are happy, darling,
In that bright home above,
But dear one how we miss you,
We all send up our love.
Dearly loved and sadly missed by
MAMMA, DADDY, SISTERS AND BROTHERS

IN MEMORIAM

OAKLEY.—In loving memory of a kind and loving dad and grand-dad, who passed away six years ago today, November 14th, 1940.
Years of hardship, little of play,
Loving, giving, smoothing the way,
Our proudest possession Dad,
Is the memory of you.

Violence Features Hollywood Strike

Hollywood, Nov. 14.— (AP) —A driverless bus, set aflame in a new outbreak of movie strike violence, rolled blazing through a service station and into busy Beverly Boulevard today, crashing into three parked automobiles. No one was injured.

Police arson investigators said the bus had been stolen a few hours earlier from a garage which furnishes a number of the 41-passenger vehicles to studios. The studios use them to carry non-strikers through picket lines.

Meanwhile, the bombing of two more non-striking film workers' homes—the fourth and fifth in 48 hours—brought a suggestion from District Attorney Fred Howser that the county board of supervisors offer a $1,000 reward for information leading to identity of vandals responsible for two nights of terrorism. A $5,000 reward already has been posted by the non-striking International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees.

Howser said that combined staffs of all local law enforcement agencies are investigating all strike violence arising from the long-standing jurisdictional dispute between the conference of studio unions and the IATSE.

COUNTRY AND DAIRY PRODUCTS PRICES

Montreal, Nov. 14. — The egg market was slightly easier on grades A-pullet and A-medium and steady on the other grades with receipts increasing and the demand holding good. Disappearance of butter during October totalled 25,831,000 pounds against a production of only 21,511,000 lbs. and compared with a disappearance of 30,276,000 lbs. last year. Potatoes were steady with supplies liberal and demand moderate.

$1,558 Subscribed To Library Campaign, Final Returns Show

Final results of the recent library campaign were presented to the Board of Trustees at a meeting held at the Library last evening by George Sirois, campaign chairman. A total of $1,558.50 was subscribed, which compared favorably with previous campaigns.

This amount, together with rentals and other revenues, will enable the Library to carry on during the coming year. Budgets, however, will not permit the trustees to greatly extend the facilities of the Library. The trustees feel that there may be citizens interested who have not been canvassed and who might like to become members. Particulars as to membership may be obtained from Miss Duncan, the Librarian.

The practice of donating books to the Library in memory of departed relatives or friends is meeting with increased favor. All such books are suitably engraved with the name of the donor, and are shelved in special memorial sections.

The Librarian will gladly assist any person interested in making a memorial donation.

At last night's meeting it was decided to inscribe an interesting volume in memory of the late David Wilson, who for many years was an active supporter of the Library. At the time of his death Mr. Wilson was honorary president of the Library.

Following a discussion on the disposal of old magazines and periodicals it was decided to post lists of the publications available on the library bulletin board, when those desiring these copies can indicate their bids. All such bids must be in by 9 p.m. on December 15th.

It was decided to purchase the latest stamp and coin catalogue for the use of stamp and coin collectors.

The book committee reported the purchase of many new books, scheduled for delivery early in the new year.

The committee in charge of the purchase of suitable books for the proposed French section reported progress.

THREE PLAYS TO BE STAGED AT UNIVERSITY

The Bishop's Little Theatre is presenting at the university this evening at eight o'clock three one-act plays which should please the local public as much for their variety as for the capable restraint shown in the handling of stark realism and the fanciful touch which marks the comedy. The three plays are well cast and the society feels confident that the public will like their choice. There will be two opportunities of seeing the Bishop's Dramatic Society's newcomers, tonight and tomorrow night, November 14 and 15, at eight o'clock.

The society's president, Ben A. Midlidge, along with Miss Mavis Clarke has directed "The Valiant," a choice dramatic vehicle vibrant with realism, which evolves about the valiant central character of the play, a condemned criminal. The play is by R. Middlemass and H. Hall and the cast consists of Miss Nancy Dorian and Norman Barret, James Tiller, Ievan Walcot, Jack Waite and Dale Hibbard.

"The Monkey's Paw," by W. W. Jacobs, is directed by Miss Regina Northridge and Brigham Day, stars of last year's major play, and is another drama with a plot that cleverly uses superstition to draw out some very exciting incident in a London suburban workman's home. The three scenes are quick-moving and vivid from start to finish. The cast consists of Miss Margot Mitchell and Donald Townsend, William Nelles, Edwin Pilgrim and Jervis Read.

The rustic comedy which lightens the evening's entertainment is F. Morton Howard's "Soon to Be Wedded," in which a domineering daughter briefs her family before her beau's Sunday visit for tea. Miss Carroll Legge and Desmond N. Stoker have drawn a good deal of humor, both in cast and play, out of an incident which might happen in any home. The cast comprises the Misses Betty Mackenzie, Louise Macdonald and Judy Smith and Charles Cook, David Rowat and Ray Boutin.

Woman Found Asphyxiated On Apartment Kitchen Floor

The death of Mrs. Gaston Lefebvre, 30 years old, apparently from asphyxiation, occurred last evening in her home at 302A McManamy Street.

Mrs. Lefebvre was found lying on the kitchen floor of her apartment shortly before 6.30 o'clock by Sylva Boucher, a resident in the same building. Arriving home from work, Boucher had been asked by his wife to go downstairs to the Lefebvre apartment to investigate an odour of gas which Mrs. Boucher had noticed during the afternoon. The radio was playing in the Lefebvre apartment but Micheline Lefebvre, aged 6, had been unable to effect an entrance to her home and had accordingly gone upstairs to see Mrs. Boucher.

Accompanied by Adelard Pelletier, another resident in the building, Boucher forced an entrance into the apartment through a back door and saw the victim stretched out on the kitchen floor. A call was immediately sent the Sherbrooke Police and Fire Departments and attempts were made to revive the woman. These proved fruitless and she was removed to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital where resuscitation was attempted by Dr. A. A. Migneault. Death was pronounced at 9.30 o'clock.

An inquest into the death is being conducted today.

W. MONTGOMERY SUCCUMBED TO HEART ATTACK

William J. Montgomery, retired official of the Bank of Montreal and a resident of Penticton, B.C., died yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Fraser, Portland Avenue, where he and Mrs. Montgomery had been visiting for the past several weeks. Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. Fraser are sisters.

Mr. Montgomery had not been in vigorous health for several years past, though he had remained active until his final illness. Tuesday, which was his seventy-eighth birthday, he suffered a heart seizure in the evening and it became apparent that his condition was critical. Death came the following afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery had left their home in Penticton some weeks ago for a visit in the east, and had planned to pass the winter in Sherbrooke. Mrs. Montgomery resided in this city before her marriage and Mr. Montgomery had made visits here from time to time.

Mr. Montgomery was a native of Newmarket, Ontario. He was with the Bank of Montreal for many years and had been manager of various branches in Ontario and the west, the last of these positions prior to his retirement being at Penticton, where he and his family had made their home for many years.

Mr. Montgomery is survived by his widow, the former Ethel Boydell, one son, Boydell Montgomery, of Nelson, B.C., one daughter, Mrs. John Daniels, of Kimberly, B.C., seven grandchildren and other more distant relatives.

The body is being sent to Newmarket this afternoon, where the funeral will take place Saturday afternoon.

Georges Benjamin Alters Plea In Bigamy Case To Guilty

Appearing before the Criminal Assizes Court for the second day of his trial on a charge of bigamy, Georges Benjamin, of this city, changed his plea to one of guilty this morning. The twelve man jury panel was then dismissed by presiding Justice Dalma Landry until Tuesday, November 19.

The trial of Benjamin opened yesterday morning and following the taking of evidence for a full day during which time several Crown witnesses were heard, a number of defence witnesses were scheduled to appear in court this morning. However, when defence attorneys Ashton Tobin and Cesaire Gervais, K.C., discovered that several of their witnesses subpoenaed several months ago did not appear and that no trace of them could be found to continue the case, they advised their client to reverse the plea to guilty.

Albert W. Butler, Clerk of the Court of Franklin County, Vermont, took the stand and verified the authenticity of the signatures on a copy of the divorce decree between defendant and his former wife, now Mrs. Patton.

Considerable enlightment was thrown on the Vermont divorce laws by Mr. Butler, who practiced law in that state for close to 40 years. Questioned by Roland Dugre, K.C., who, with Redmond Hayes, K.C., is prosecuting the bigamy charge, he stated that service on a libellee of an impending divorce hearing does not necessarily have to be made personally but can be done through newspapers. Additionally, publication of these newpapers does not necessarily have to be in the immediate neighborhood of libellee. One year's residence in the state is necessary to file for a divorce, he said, and desertion and great severity, as charged in the instance in question, are considered sufficient grounds.

Mr. Butler declared that all requirements had been fulfilled in obtaining the divorce and that if the court had the slightest suspicion that the claims were not in order the bill would have been thrown out.

A copy of the decree need not be sent to libellee the witness stated, however, in the case of the libellee, the divorce does not become final until two years after issuance, and thus he could not remarry until that period had expired.

When asked by Mr. Dugre if a copy of service on libellee could be obtained, Mr. Butler created some laughter in court by stating that he could not say for sure since court records "were in very bad shape" when he took over.

BRITISH, U.S. CO-OPERATION IS ESSENTIAL

Continuing co-operation between the United Kingdom and the United States is the best guarantee for world peace, John Bassett, Jr., editor of the Sherbrooke Daily Record, said last night in an address delivered at Stanstead College to the Border Villages Community School for Adult Education.

Stating that individual citizens of Canada, Britain and the United States faced the responsibility of making their wishes known through active participation in politics, Mr. Bassett said that world leadership in the democratic world could only be effective if individuals were willing to support their governments even at the cost of personal sacrifice.

"Canada has already refused to face her global responsibilities by the removal of all her occupying force from Europe," said Mr. Bassett. "If we are to play our part in the maintenance of world peace, then individual citizens must be ready to pay the taxes necessary to support Canada's share of any international army that may be formed. We must be prepared to see our young men in uniform for a certain period, so that any such force may be kept up to strength."

World peace could not be achieved by wishful thinking, and cutting down the estimates of the Department of National Defence, as was tried during the years between 1919 and 1939, said Mr. Basset. "But it can be achieved by a realistic acceptance of differences between nations, and the close co-operation between the United Kingdom and the United States. No nation on earth, or any combination of nations, can stand against the United States backed by the British Commonwealth.

PROMOTION OF ATHLETICS IS TOPIC OF TALK

"The best possible means of promoting athletics in the school is to give encouragement where and when initiative is exhibited on the part of the student," Wright W. Gibson, Principal of Sherbrooke High School and President of the Protestant Teachers' Association, Eastern Townships Branch, declared last night in an address given at the regular weekly meeting of the Y's Men's Club in the Chateau Frontenac Hotel.

Speaking on the subject of sports for children of school age, Mr. Gibson first expressed a desire on his part for the public to know more about school activities. He then stated that all programs, including sports, must be well organized to be interesting. "A student," he said, "should be regarded as a citizen and assisted in the development of his cultural activities. If too much is done for them (the students) they will not learn how to do things for themselves."

While paying tribute to the various organizations and individuals who in the past had spent considerable time and money to encourage athletes, Mr. Gibson nevertheless declared that these efforts generally resulted in failure. "When you note the initiative on the part of a group to play a type of game or indulge in some sport, then is the time to step in with coaching, transportation aid and equipment needs," he concluded.

Mr. Gibson was introduced by Vic Newton and thanked by Ernie Chalut. President Frank Sims was in the chair.

Guests present were Mr. Wilf Rosenbaum, Mr. Bob Williamson and Dr. J. E. Hibbard.

SNOWFALL HAS BEEN MEAGRE IN E.T. TO DATE

With Christmas less than six weeks away, there has yet to occur a snowfall sufficiently substantial to be recorded, it was learned this morning from the Dominion Experimental Farm at Lennoxville.

Although on several occasions snowflakes have fallen for a short period of time, the resulting ground total has been infinitesimal and accordingly not recorded at the Farm. A comparison in this respect between 1946 and 1945, however, shows little difference in the total for the two periods, only one inch having been recorded up to November 15th of last year.

Record snowfall total for this period during recent years occurred in 1944, when November 7th showed a total fall of ten inches.

The total absence of snow thus far this season is a source of delight to some and annoyance to others. Average John Q. Citizen, who detests putting on rubbers, overcoats and sundry other articles of clothing when winter sets in, wouldn't mind if the weather remained like this until spring. To sports enthusiasts, however, and those who need a blanket of snow and colder weather in order to earn a living, a good, heavy snowfall would be welcome. Which only proves that even the weatherman can't please everyone.

But snow or no snow, local merchants have, in some cases, begun to decorate their windows for the approaching Yuletide season and when the landscape dons its mantle of white the setting will be complete.

AUTOMOBILE IS STOLEN DURING NIGHT AT MILBY

Patrick Goode, of Milby, this morning reported to provincial police theft of his 1937 blue Pontiac coupe from the driveway leading to his residence.

Mr. Goode said that his car was locked and was noticed outside his home as late as 10 o'clock last night. At 3 a.m., his watch dog was disturbed and it is believed that the theft took place at this time.

The car had a red primer coat on the doors and fenders, a large rust spot on the trunk and the licence plate was held by a temporary wire. Licence is Quebec 65967 and motor W-1959.

WILD WEST IS RECALLED AT TEXTILE TOWN

Life in the Wild West was recalled in Drummondville yesterday, when two youths, arrested in connection with a hold-up, insisted they were Jesse and Frank James and refused to give any other names when questioned by the local detachment of Provincial Police.

The two youths, arrested as they emerged from the woods where they had been driven by a posse of detectives, traffic officers and Drummondville merchants, have no criminal record and as they insist that they are the "James brothers," Det. Captain J. A. Quenneville, of the Provincial Police, said last night that they will be arraigned under those names pending further identification.

The chase began when the two youths, armed with knives and "commando daggers" entered the store of Alpha Genello, 388 Lindsay street, Drummondville. Following threats that "we will knife you," Genello handed $3.75 to the two youths who ran out of the store.

The store-keeper followed them, calling for the police. Soon, the two youths were the centre of attraction for a crowd of storekeeper Drummondville police and provincial police. The two ran into the woods between Drummondville and Arthabaska.

They were finally spotted as they came out by Detective A. Normandin and Traffic Officer J. Lemire who arrested them and brought them back to Drummondville for questioning. Identified by the storekeeper, the suspects maintained that they were Jesse and Frank James.

A Swiss watchmaker, Georges Pellaton, perfected an electric watch that is driven by a tiny storage battery.

YULE SALE TO BE HELD NOV. 30 AT LENNOXVILLE

Members of the Philathea Society of the United Church held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Miss E. Wellman on Prospect Street. Mrs. H. L. Wallace presided and opened the meeting with prayer.

Plans were made to hold the annual Christmas sale of food, fancy work and aprons and chicken pie supper on the 30th of November. An added feature will be a Christmas tree with mystery parcels for the small shoppers. Committees were named for the various work and members were asked to contribute to each booth. A satisfactory report was given on a white elephant sale held at the last meeting with proceeds totalling $21.55. This concluded the business.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the entertaining of four war brides and one local bride. A miscellaneous shower was enjoyed for Mrs. Greydon Sample and Mrs. C. Niells, who received a variety of beautiful gifts and gifts of blankets were given to Mrs. A. Saxtree, Mrs. G. Povey and Mrs. H. Cook. Two of the guests of honor were unable to be present. A salad lunch was served by the hostesses, Miss E. Wellman, Miss E. Taylor and Mrs. H. L. Wallace.

A BRIBE TO SASKATCHEWAN

The great satisfaction with which the Saskatchewan Prime Minister hailed the taxation agreement concluded between that Province and the Dominion Government can be easily understood by the supplementary announcement from Finance Minister Ilsley that Ottawa had agreed to reduce the $80,000,000 indebtedness of the Saskatchewan Government to the federal treasury to $36,000,000 through cancellations and write-offs. In other words, in an effort to conclude a separate agreement with the more needy provinces to the embarrassment of Ontario and Quebec, the present administration at Ottawa is prepared to eliminate $44,000,000 in debts owed it in addition to making annual subsidies to these provinces substantially in excess of the receipts from the taxation sources given up.

The taxation agreement itself provides for a $15 per capita annual subsidy to Saskatchewan from the federal treasury in return for the rights to corporation and income taxes and succession duties. The Dominion also assumes full cost of old-age pensions for all persons over seventy, pays a portion of the pensions to persons over sixty-five and contributes to the medical care and hospitalization program.

The avowed purpose of this agreement was to reduce the duplication of direct taxation and the machinery for the collection of taxes. However, it is apparent to all who wish to read that the Dominion Government, at the behest of the bureaucrats and the social planners which now dominate its decisions, is prepared to take advantage of the need of certain provinces to force agreements upon them which will undermine the position of those provincial administrations which are prepared to carry out their own social legislation program in their own way. Ontario and Quebec, for example, have schemes of their own to meet the particular needs of their people, the expenditures to be financed out of the normal revenues of these provinces. Because these do not fit in with the overall federal scheme for turning Canada into a socialistic state, the federal bureaucrats are taking advantage of every opportunity to pillory these governments.

In this particular case, the people of the remaining eight provinces of the Dominion are being called upon to make a hand-out of approximately $50,000,000 to the Government of Saskatchewan to permit that admittedly socialistic administration to carry out policies which the majority of the people feel are to the detriment of the Dominion as a whole.

Similarly, a bribe of a corresponding nature will be given Manitoba when that province signs on the dotted line, although Finance Minister Ilsley is wisely refusing to commit himself upon the extent of the donation until the agreement is concluded.

THE ROTARY FAIR SUCCESS

To raise over nine thousand dollars for charitable purposes on a three-night effort is no mean accomplishment for any organization and having accomplished this objective the members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club and their volunteer helpers are entitled to unstinted praise for their splendid achievement. The Sherbrooke Rotary Club's fair represents to a degree a community achievement, its success being directly dependent upon the degree of support which it receives from the people of the community. But the fact that each year the attendance achieves new records is a sterling tribute to the character of the entertainment provided and reflects credit upon the members of the committees and their assistants who were responsible for the organization of the various attractions.

The proceeds of the Rotary Fair are devoted to organizations of all races and creeds and the support forthcoming from the public is an effective proof that the people of Sherbrooke and district as a whole fully appreciate the extent of the activities of the Rotary Club.

President Walter Sutherland of the local club and Gerald M. Wiggett, general chairman of the 15th annual fair, have every reason to feel proud of the accomplishments of their colleagues this year.

BRITAIN CONTINUES CONSCRIPTION

In adopting the revolutionary policy of peacetime conscription for the maintenance of the armed forces of the nation at a high level, the Labor Government in Great Britain has taken a realistic view of the current world situation. As emphasized by Prime Minister Attlee, the British policy is still to work for world peace and security and therefore disarmament, but he continued:

"You don't get security by unilateral disarmament. You must get it by building an ordered world. At present we are not making as quick progress as we would have hoped. We cannot afford to take risks with the safety of our country."

Modern weapons have made Britain especially vulnerable to attack and Britain may now be considered part of the European continent, with the result, as the Prime Minister declared: "We must have the trained reserves who can take their part straight away without waiting six months for training."

This practical attitude of the Government found full support from the Opposition leader, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, who emphasized that in the vital matter of the safety of the country it is the duty of the Opposition to support the Government, not only in the House of Commons, but out of doors.

The stand of the British political leaders only serves to emphasize the feebleness of Canada's defensive policy. Not only has the nominal strength of the defence service been reduced to a pitiful level, but there is no apparent determined effort on the part of the administration to obtain the manpower required to maintain even this totally inadequate force. Furthermore, a distinctly cool reception is being given any proposal for co-operation between the Canadian forces and those of the United States and Great Britain. Canada is talking much of its "autonomy" and of its right of "self-determination" but it is neither taking any effective means to guard these privileges nor is it adopting plans for mutual operations with other powers.

TENNESSEE SENATORS AT WORK

How Tennessee's Senators Kenneth McKellar and Tom Stewart try to throw their weight around for the benefit of their particular friends, with apparent disregard for the Federal Administrative Procedures Act, is revealed by a couple of letters which have just come to light. They were written to the Federal Communications Commission after FCC had granted a pair of radio station licenses to two companies which did not have the senators' backing.

The affair goes back to 1940, when two free radio channels became available in the Nashville area, then served by three stations. Five applications were filed with FCC for allocation of the channels.

The war held up decision, and a sixth application was received in 1944. Hearings were held last December, and on August 6 the commission published its proposed decision.

In brief, one channel was given to Murfreesboro, Tenn., about 30 miles from Nashville, because Murfreesboro had no local station and the granting of both channels to Nashville was considered inequitable. The second channel went to A. G. Beaman and T. F. Baker, Jr., operating as the Capitol Broadcasting Co.

Both Baker and Beaman were residents of Nashville, and both proposed to devote their own full time to operation of the station. They were able to convince the FCC that the public interest would best be served by granting them the license.

When the Tennessee senators learned about this, they promptly went to work.

SCATHING PROTESTS

McKellar was the first to swing into action, with a letter to Acting FCC Chairman Charles R. Denny which said, among other things: "It seems that your office takes pleasure in turning down our recommendations. Senator Stewart and I were together in all of these recommendations. Of course, you know all about Tennessee and we know nothing. Very frankly, Mr. Denny, I resent very much your action in the matter."

Four days later Senator Stewart chimbed in, with a letter saying: "I suppose it will do no good to protest this matter now, but I would like for you and the other members of your commission to know that this is about the most contemptible deal I have ever had perpetrated on me since I have been in Washington. It was nothing more than an effort to embarrass my good friend and colleague, Senator McKellar, since the award you made was to a man who had assisted in the fight to defeat Senator McKellar in his campaign for renomination to the United States Senate. I suppose it will be your policy in the future to always penalize our friends."

Washington has seen and is used to politicians trying to use their influence to get favors for their friends. But few cases of such bold and open high-pressure tactics are on record, even from such experienced and expert practitioners as Senator McKellar.

ABUSING A PRIVILEGE

It is generally agreed that the two senators had a perfect right to make their recommendations to the commission. But protesting a proposed decision in this manner carries the question to an extreme which advocates of good government have been trying to do away with.

In 1940, Congress passed the Walter-Logan Bill, intended to require federal administrative agencies to make fair decisions based on evidence in open hearings, and not on the basis of political pressure. President Roosevelt vetoed the bill. The veto raised such a protest, however, that an Attorney General's committee was set up to restudy the problem.

The final outcome was the passage, last June, of the Federal Administrative Procedures Act, which President Truman signed. The law provides, among other things, for the conduct of federal agency hearings by disinterested examiners, protected by civil service from political pressure.

So in spite of protests from the Tennessee senators, FCC went ahead with its proposal, making the award of the two frequencies on October 9. It became final October 20.

Press Comment

Following is the last of a three-part article entitled "Canada the Link—U.S.A. to U.S.S.R." written by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, author and explorer. The article appeared in "The Rotarian," publication of Rotary International, and should be of intense interest to every Canadian who is concerned about the development and protection of his country.

EDITOR.

To service these new Arctic towns and to bring out their products, new avenues of transportation must be developed. In the Soviet Union each of three great rivers—Ob, Yenisei, and Lena — are navigable for 2,000 miles from the Arctic Sea four or five months a year. For another four or five months frost makes them excellent highways for long tractor trains of freight sledges.

Canada has but one river comparable to the Soviets' three. It is the Mackenzie. However, no stream could be more favorably placed, for it flows from the heart of North America toward Asia. Its port, serving Canada's northern seaway, is open as long as Ob, Yenisei, and Lena ports serving Asia's northern seaway.

Railways, too, must expand. Before the war, the Soviets built a 100-mile connecting line from Narilsk to Dudinka, a steamboating town on the Yenisei 200 miles within the Arctic. During the war they constructed at least two others inside the Arctic. Soviet postwar plans provide for east-west railways paralleling the trans-Siberian, and also north-south lines crossing both the latter and the new lines.

Canada has the beginning of such a rail network in northern Manitoba from The Pas to Churchill. Increasing use of that route and building of railways northward from British Columbia, Alberta, and Saskatchewan will duplicate Soviet efforts.

Meanwhile the Arctic is also engaging the attention of the military. In "Exercise Musk Ox" the Canadian Army trekked 3,000 miles across Northern Canada to test men, equipment, and an Arctic airborne supply service.

In the Spring of 1946 the U.S. Navy sent a giant carrier and three destroyers into a cold-weather test between Greenland and Baffin Island as a prelude to full-scale fleet operation in northern waters next year. The U.S. Army Air Forces are planning tests in Alaska. Many wartime U.S. weather stations in the Arctic are being retained, and provisions are being made for the establishment of additional Weather Bureau stations in co-operation with the meteorological services of other Governments.

Co-operation—that's the key to the development of northern frontiers. For as railways, highways, homes, and workshops of North America step closer and closer to those of Eurasia, the people on both sides of the Arctic Mediterranean will come to understand each other better.

As this northern movement unwinds, Canada, in peace, will be a middleman between them, profiting from friendly commerce. If this role should ever be interrupted by another global war, all Canada may become a battleground, because this is an air age and her skyways are now the crossroads of the world.

DOWN 2,300 POINTS! LACKED A STOPPER

George Kennedy, who is well known in bridge in New York, is now associated with the Boulevard Bridge Club in Miami, Fla. He sent me today's hand "just to prove that anything can happen in a bridge club."

Before we go into the bidding, I am going to tell you what happened in the play. Against three no trump East opened the king of hearts, then shifted to the singleton club. West cashed six club tricks and led back a heart. As a result East and West took the first 12 tricks and declarer went down 2,300 points—a nice loss in any state in the Union.

South was correct in opening the bidding with one spade and North certainly was not encouraging with his bid of one no trump. South was justified in bidding two spades, but North's bid of two no trump was slightly dangerous.

However, he wanted to tell his partner that his hand was a little stronger than the one no trump bid would indicate. South figured that if his partner had the heart and diamond suits stopped, probably between them they might have a club stopper, but of course he was wrong to reason in this fashion.

A six-card suit may be bid three times. The first bid shows a four-card suit, a rebid shows a five-card suit, and seldom should it be bid again unless it is a six-card suit.

South should have signed the hand off by bidding three spades. Even this contract cannot be made, as South would lose three clubs and two hearts, but it probably would not be doubled.

Duplicate players often make the mistake, even when playing rubber bridge, of trying to play a hand at three no trump which should be played in a suit. In tournament bridge a hand that will make four no trump or four hearts should be played at no trump in order to get the extra 10 points, while in rubber bridge that difference means nothing.

Letters To The Editor

PALESTINE AND JEWISH IMMIGRATION

Sir:—A recent issue carries an A.P. dispatch from Damascus informing as to a one-hour protest strike in all Syrian cities on Nov. 2, "in connection with the anniversary of the 1917 Balfour Declaration in which the British Government recorded itself in favor of a national Jewish homeland in Palestine."

There has been so much controversy as to this alleged Declaration that I wish you or any of your readers could quote the exact place, time and words used by the late Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour in which he is stated to have made this promise on behalf of the British Cabinet. In 1917 Mr. Balfour was Foreign Secretary in the Lloyd George Administration. It is freely stated that he made this declaration as part of an effort to influence public opinion in the U.S.A. towards participation in the First Great War. I understand that, if he did actually suggest this scheme of settling displaced Jewish persons from the European war zone, it was a tentative proposal and was made subject to development of the project with the approval of the Brtiish Government. Further, that such scheme was never approved by the British Cabinet. The idea was eagerly seized on by the Zionist Party in the United States and elsewhere and has since been fastened on the British people as a definite national obligation. Britain had accepted a mandate over Palestine from the League of Nations at the Versailles Conference and this lends color to the theory that Britain accepted responsibility for the settlement of the Jewish refugees for all time.

The idea of a Jewish National State is only supported by a small proportion of the total Jewish race but they are a belligerent number. Britain has received little credit for all that she has done in Palestine. It is regrettable that a President of the U.S.A. has associated himself, for political purposes, with a vociferous section of Jewish people to cause the British nation to be regarded as defaulters on their obligations.

Yours very truly,
CLIFFORD W. PARKIN.
North Hatley.

PRESS COMMENTS

IN A BAFFLING PREDICAMENT

Montreal Gazette

The editor of the North Bay Daily Nugget finds himself in a most unusual predicament, one that is deserving of the most widespread sympathy. It concerns the mayoralty elections in North Bay and the decision as to which of two candidates his newspaper should support. But perhaps we should let him tell the story himself:

Who should be mayor of North Bay in 1947 . . . my boss or my father-in-law?

That's the predicament which your editor finds himself in today.

It's a very perplexing problem, indeed; no matter which way it goes, we can't win and we can't lose.

The boss, Ald. J. F. Grainger, who is general manager of this newspaper, and the father-in-law, Ald. Arthur Beattie, are both definitely in the field for mayor. And theres a strong possibility that they will be the only candidates. So, where does that leave us?

If we tell the public that Ald. Grainger is a no-good-so-and-so and that Ald. Beattie is the man for mayor, we'll probably get kicked out of our jobs. On the other hand, if we tell the pubic that Ald. Beattie is a no-good-so-and-so and that Ald. Grainger is the man for mayor, we'll probably get kicked out of our home. Baffling, isn't it?

Being editor of this newspaper isn't a bad job at all, but we wish somebody else had it during the next six weeks.

Both Ald. Grainger and Ald. Beattie are very fine gentlemen (what else could we say?) So, take your pick, but don't tell anybody we had a hand in it.

We shall await the result of the election with interest.

THE OLD LAW WORKS!

Windsor Daily Star

News reports from Detroit confirm a common belief that existed in Canada during the meat famine in America.

Since the removal of O.P.A. ceilings, meat prices in our sister city have dropped 33⅓ per cent. They are approaching again the O.P.A. ceiling prices. This evidence points to a strong suspicion that there never was a meat famine in the United States. Packers and producers were apparently withholding their products from the market and hoping by shortage and pressure to get the ceiling lifted.

They got the ceiling lifted and made hay for a few days. Now that conditions have settled down and they have been forced to sell their meat on an open market the prices have levelled off to what people think they ought to pay.

This is an encouraging sign for Canada. Some day we must face the reality of doing without our own ceiling prices. It is encouraging to see that the old law of supply and demand will keep prices at their real levels even in a topsy-turvy postwar world.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

BROMPTON ROAD W.I.

The Brompton Road Women's Institute was very pleasantly entertained at the Community Hall by Mrs. L. Clark.

The president, Mrs. M. Brown, presided over the meeting which was opened with the Salute to the Flag and the Collect.

Twelve members answered the roll call and fifteen articles were handed in for the work calendar.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the financial report given by Miss S. Billing. Money voted at the meeting included $3 to the V.O.N., $15 to the Quebec W.I. Service Fund, $4 to the Christmas treat for the local school and $1 to the publicity convener.

Mrs. L. Clark reported on the ploughmen's luncheon and Hallowe'en party.

Mrs. McLeod reported that hot luncheons were being served at the local school.

Mrs. L. Clark stated that several finished garments were ready for the Red Cross and that the sewing was being continued.

The Branch voted to do their equal share in the county project of furnishing a private room in the New Sherbrooke Hospital.

Further plans were made for the Christmas sale and tea to be held at the MacKinnon Memorial Wednesday afternoon, November 20, from 3.30 to 6 p. m. The members are meeting this afternoon to mark the lovely assortment of stuffed animals, novelties, aprons, smocked dresses and fancy articles.

After the meeting adjourned, delicous refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. S. Billing, Mrs. W. Billing, Miss Shirley Billing and Mrs. H. Clark.

ORFORD W.I.

The Orford Women's Institute held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Andrew Faith, Victory Highway, with a large attendance of members and visitors. Miss K. Thompson, the president, opened the meeting with the salute to the flag, the opening ode, a prayer for the Allied forces, and the Mary Stewart Collect.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary which was followed by the treasurer's report.

Correspondence included several letters of acknowledgment for the gifts and cards sent to members by the W.I.

A letter was read from Mrs. Smallman.

Mrs. B. Turner, convener of Child Welfare and Public Health, read pamphlets on "Health."

Mrs. G. Richards, convener of National and International Relations, gave a report of the elections in the United States, a paper on veteran's housing, and also spoke about the Canadian Saving Bonds.

Mrs. A. Mills, on behalf of the W.I., presented Mrs. C. Spaulding with a gift for the new baby.

Roll call was "Name a Canadian National Park," after which the meeting adjourned.

A Bring and Buy Christmas sale was held, with Mrs. A. Crawford acting as auctioner, and Mrs. G. Crawford as cashier. The sum of $11.90 was realized.

Later the hostess served delicious refreshments, assisted by Mrs. G. Richards and Miss K. Thompson.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: A young man who has been invited to a party at a friend's home decides at the last minute that he would like to bring a girl with him.

Wrong Way: Take her along and explain to the hostess when you arrive.

Right Way: Telephone the hostess and ask her if it is all right to bring another guest with you.

MARRIAGES

MacCOUBREY-RICHARDS

The marriage of Viola Christine, daughter of Mr. William T. Richards and the late Mrs. Richards, of Sherbrooke, to Mr. John Mervyn MacCoubrey, of Sherbrooke, son of Mrs. MacCoubrey and the late John MacCoubrey, of Montreal, took place at the home of Mrs. Goodhue, 133 Quebec Street, October 26, at 4 o'clock, Rev. R. C. Tait officiating. Mr. J. Orchin played the wedding music, and Mrs. Gordon Richards sang "Because." Tall standards of bronze and yellow 'mums were used to decorate.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a model afternoon gown of pencil blue crepe with a draped skirt, and a hat of fuchsia ostrich tips. Her corsage was of Pink Delight roses.

Miss Betty Richards, sister of the bride, as maid-of-honor, wore an afternoon dress of blue mist crepe trimmed in silver, with a matching feather hat and a corsage of Rapture roses.

Mr. Herbert Patton acted as best man.

Mrs. Gordon Richards, the bride's sister-in-law, wore a dress of grey silk crepe, trimmed with black sequins, with which she wore black accessories and a corsage of Pink Delight roses.

The groom's mother, Mrs. MacCoubrey, was dressed in a black silk sequin-trimmed model, with matching accessories and a corsage of Better Time roses.

A reception followed, the bride's table being centred with a three-tiered wedding cake and small vase of Pink Delight roses.

Later the bride and groom left on an extended motor trip, the bride wearing a black and white wool suit, with a white sheer blouse, black fur felt hat and black accessories, and a corsage of Pinocchio roses.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. MacCoubrey, Mrs. L. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. J. Orchin, Mr. J. G. Murray, Mr. H. Patton, Mrs. D. F. McOuat, Miss L. Bradshaw, Mr. H. Vear and Miss O. Jackson, of Montreal, Rev. and Mrs. Guy Marston, of Waterville, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Wark, of Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. John MacCoubrey are at present residing in Sherbrooke.

BLANCHETTE-GODIN

Bedford, Nov. 14.—At the Parish Church of St. Damien, Wednesday morning, October 30, the marriage was solemnized of Mariette, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Godin, of Bedford, to Mr. L. Blanchette, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Hormisdas Blanchette, also of Bedford, formerly of North Stanbridge.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents.

On the return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Blanchette will reside in Bedford.

Prior to her marriage, Mrs. Blanchette was presented with gifts from her felow employees of the Torrington Company and from the members of the Bedford Harmonic Band, of which she had been a member for several years.

DOROTHY DIX

Letter-Writing

Epistles Should Be Brief And Filled With Newsy Items

A group of teen-age girls ask me if I will give them a few suggestions about how to write a letter. Glad to do it, little sisters, for no art is so much neglected as the art of letter-writing, yet no accomplishment pays such big dividends. A graceful bread-and-butter letter, promptly written, is the surest way for a girl to put herself on a hostess' "must" list, while a delayed note of thanks is the quickest way to take her off of it.

DOROTHY DIX

But let's get down to brass tacks. Let's begin at the beginning, which is your letter paper which will be your introduction to your correspondent, so to speak, and by which you will be judged. Let it be of as good quality as you can afford and without any childish pictures or furbelows upon it. Never, never, unless you are stranded on a desert island on which there is not a drop of ink or a single pen point, write with a lead pencil. No one, unless it is your mother, will take the trouble to decipher the pale scrawls that look more like half effaced hieroglyphics than they do a personal message.

In former times it was considered bad form to write a personal letter on the typewriter, but that taboo has gone into the discard. In this busy, rushing, modern age we are so thankful to get a typewritten letter that we can read right off of the bat, that we welcome it with joy and call down blessings on the writer's head.

BREVITY PREFERRED

Bear in mind that brevity is the soul of wit in letters, so don't drag yours out. Make 'em short and snappy. Nobody can be interesting and amusing for more than four pages of note paper. And if you want your letters to be eagerly looked for, confine yourself to home gossip. We all read the newspapers and know about the atomic bomb. What we long to hear about is Mary's new baby and John getting an advance in salary. And answer questions. So few people ever do that it will give you the name of being a brilliant letter-writer if you do.

In dealing with boys never write the first letter. Let Tom, Dick, or Harry open the correspondence. And count letters with him. Never write and ask a boy why he hasn't written to you. And be as careful of what you write to a boy as if you were putting dynamite in the envelope. It is a terrible temptation to a girl, when she sits down to write to a boy, to go romantic and slosh all over the paper with sentimental twaddle that she doesn't mean at all.

She kids herself into believing that the lad she is writing to will consider her letters sacred and no eye will see them except his own, whereas, nine times out of ten, he is making Exhibit-A of them to prove what a lady-killer he is. A good rule to make and stick to is never to write anything to a boy that you wouldn't be willing to see printed in the newspapers.

When you are angry and have had a fight with the boy friend, or when you have done some silly thing that you are ashamed of, it is a good thing to sit down and write it all out. Tell him just what you think of him for standing you up and taking that new girl to the party. Confide every detail of your folly to your best friend. Then seal the letter up and put them in the icebox overnight. You will never mail them, and you will save yourself a lot of regrets.

Boiled down to its essence, a good letter, the kind of a letter we like to get, is one that is clearly written so that it is easy to read; that tells news about people and things we know, and that shows interest in us and our affairs and is full of good cheer.

Follow these rules and you cannot fail of being a good letter-writer.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

DEALER PRIZES: Write your grocer's name on the back of your entry. If you win a First, Second or Third Prize he too will receive a special cash award. In the case of chain stores the prizes will be awarded the chain store branch manager.

FOR THE MOST DELICIOUS SOUPS, STEWS AND GRAVIES YOU'VE EVER TASTED—USE OXO!

OXO is the world's best gravy-maker! And whenever you want an invigorating, grand-tasting hot drink, use OXO! Always ask for OXO.

★ FIRST PRIZE $1,000.00

Look at these Sample OXODOODLES!

Making OXODOODLES is easy — fun — profitable! Don't worry if you can't draw — artistic skill doesn't count, originality wins!

RULES

1. Send in as many OXODOODLES as you wish.
2. Each OXODOODLE entered must be accompanied by nine OXO Cube wrappers, or the label from a bottle of Fluid OXO, or reasonable facsimiles of either. Your name and address must be clearly printed on each entry. Age of child under 12 should be shown and certified by parent or guardian.
3. All entries must be postmarked not later than Dec. 3, 1946.
4. Judges' decision final. No entries can be returned. Entries will be judged on originality of ideas. No artistic ability required.
5. Editors of three of Canada's leading publications are the judges.
6. Entries become the property of OXO (Canada) Limited.
7. Winners will be announced about Christmas week, 1946.
8. No employees of OXO (Canada) Limited, or their Advertising Agent are eligible.

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B1, C, D, Riboflavin (B2), and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underpar, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

GIVE IT TO HIS OLD HOME TOWN!

The reason why the town of St. Malo is seeking outside support more so than other European cities is because ninety per cent of the town was deliberately levelled on the orders of the German general at the head of the army in that sector. Incendiary bombs were placed in every house and set off shortly before the arrival of the American liberation forces. For four days and four nights fires raged unchecked, destroying not only the homes but all the possessions of the townspeople and today, more than a year after the holocaust, many of the people are still living in caves which surround the town, without food, clothing, accommodation and as yet no prospects of being rehabilitated for some time to come.

OBITUARIES

MR. DONALD EDWIN YOUNG, OF SOUTH PORTLAND, ME., FORMERYY OF SCOTSTOWN

Scotstown, Nov. 14.—Mrs. N. D. MacIver has received word of the death of Mr. Donald Edwin Young, of South Portland, Me., former local resident, and a stepson of Mrs. MacIver's brother, the late John MacDonald.

Mr. Young who had been in ill health for some time, was for the past three years a member of the State Police Department, and died at the age of thirty-nine, in a Portland, Me., Hospital.

A native of Waterville, Me., and a son of Mrs. Theresa Anderson Young, his early life was spent in Scotstown. Mrs. Young having been united in marriage to Mr. John MacDonald, the family resided in Scotstown until Mr. MacDonald's death several years ago.

Upon his return to Maine, Mr. Young was employed for some years at the Limerick Yarn Mills, going to the New England Shipbuilding Corporation, in South Portland, Me., as a leadman, in 1941.

He became a member of the State Police, in October, 1943. He had resided in Maine upwards of twenty-four years.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Phyllis Sawyer, of Newfield, Me., to whom he was married in 1937, his mother, Mrs. Theresa A. MacDonald, of South Portland Me.; a son, Donald A. Young, of Lewiston, Me.; two sisters, Mrs. Marion T. True, of Cape Elizabeth, Me.; and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Driscoll, of South Portland, Me.; a brother, Austin M. Young, who is a patient in a Lewiston hospital and an aunt, Mrs. Chester Littlefield, of Portland, Me.

The many friends in this vicinity extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

MR. ARCHIBALD MILLOY, OF NORTH HILL.

North Hill, Nov. 14.—The death occurred on September 16, at the Sherbrooke Hospital, of Mr. Archibald Milloy, of North Hill, Lingwick.,

He was born in Cantyre, Scotland, on April 6, 1863, a son of Edward Milloy and his wife, Margaret MacNeill.

Mr. Milloy came to Canada, in 1865, with his parents and infant brother, Francis. The family were among the first to take up land on North Hill, where a daughter, Jeanie, later Mrs. Donald Beaton, was born. She passed away in 1937 and Mr. Francis Milloy in 1941. The untimely death of his father, caused Mr. Milloy to assume responisbility at an early age, which duties he discharged faithfully and conscientiously, to the admiration of all who knew him. His entire life, after coming to Canada, was spent on the old Milloy farm. Mr. Milloy's mother passed away in 1919.

The funeral service, after prayers at the late residence, was held in Chalmers United Church, Gould, and conducted by Rev. C. J. Gustafson, of East Angus, assisted by Mr. Ward, student minister, at Gould. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Ruel Annesley, sang, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me" and "Abide with Me."

Burial took place in the family lot in Gould Cemetery, beside his father and mother.

The bearers, life long friends and neighbors, were Messrs. Neil H. Beaton, Alex MacKay, Daniel MacDonald, Eric Beaton, Gordon MacKinnon and John R. Buchanan.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, testifying to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Mr. Milloy, who was not married, leaves to mourn his loss a niece, Edwyna, Mrs. George MacKay, and Mr. MacKay; a nephew, Byron, and Mrs. Byron Beaton, with their two sons, Archibald and Perry and daughter, Miriam Jean, all of North Hill; a niece, Mrs. Lydia Wood Beaton, R.N., widow of the late Donald Archibald Beaton, who passed away in 1938 at the age of 25 years. Mrs. Beaton, who is on the nursing staff of the Montreal General Hospital, was unable to be present at the funeral. There are other surviving relatives in Scotland and also in the Canadian West, including members of the family of the late Rev. John Milloy, an uncle, and one time pastor at Gould. A host of friends and neighbors also mourn his passing.

His love for little children endeared him to the young as well as the old.

Mr. Milloy was a man of sterling Christian character. An adherent of Chalmers United Church, he was for many years a faithful attendant and worker. Having a most pleasant disposition, a very keen sense of humor and a remarkably clear and accurate memory, he possessed many friends, among whom he was always to be found in time of trouble. Although eighty-three years of age, he maintained his love for reading, and took a great interest in world events sports and politics, in which he was ever an active and loyal supporter of the Liberal party.

Mr. and Mrs. George MacKay resided with their uncle Mr. Milloy, and lovingly cared for him, until three weeks before his death, when he was removed to the Sherbrooke Hospital. Mrs. MacKay remained in the city to be near her uncle and was with him at the last.

Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Stevenson and family, of Bishopton; Mr. and Mrs. John Smith and Miss Edith Smith, of Graniteville, Vt.; Mrs. Percy Catchpaugh and son, Leigh, of Magog; Mrs. Ina Bailey and Mr. William MacDonald, of Milan.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of the S. N. Bishop Undertaking Parlors, with Mr. S. N. Bishop conducting the funeral.

CLARENCEVILLE

Miss Doris Mosher, of Noyan, is staying with her brother, Mr. Gerald Mosher, and Mrs. Mosher, while her parents are spending several weeks holidaying in Florida.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Winch are entertaining his sister, Miss Caroline Fisher, who has arrived by plane from England.

Mrs. Arvide Derby has returned from a visit of several weeks with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cochrane, of Stanbridge East.

Mr. Aubrey Hunter has purchased the farm of Mr. Herbert McCarthy. The latter will remain in the home for the present. Mr. William McCarthy is employed in Morgan's store in Montreal and Miss Kathleen McCarthy will be married shortly.

Mrs. Rowe entertained the Women's Auxiliary and Guild at her home. During the business meeting a card party was planned to be held in the near future. Delicious refreshments were served after the meeting.

JERSEY RAISERS HELD MEETING AT HUNTINGDON

The annual meeting of the Quebec Jersey Breeders Association took place recently at the Huntingdon Chateau. The president, J. F. Desmarais, presided. About fifty breeders were present. Included were Frank Driver, Messrs. Carson and Horan, from Richond, V. Lemay, of St. Hyacinthe, Mr. Bazinet, from St. Hughes and Paul Brunelle, from Batiscan.

A lively discussion took place as to the relative value in dollars and cents of Jersey milk. Members with mathematical minds pointed out that the difference between what the consumer paid for Jersey milk and the price of ordinary milk was not enough from the standpoint of food value, (this, in particular, with respect not only to butter-fat but with respect to other nutrient contents.)

The constant cry of the Montreal housewife for more Jersey milk was, it was said, evidence that their calculations were correct.

It was finally decided to ask the executive to refer the matter to a committee of active Montreal shippers and that this committee also study the question of a Jersey milk trade mark.

The question of an annual Provincial consignment sale was also brought up and was referred to the incoming executive.

The main event was the excellent luncheon prepared by the Chateau chef and followed by a most interesting and instructive address by G. W. Radway, of Franklin County Farm Bureau, Malone, N. Y., on artificial breeding. In this matter the progress during the past years has been very great. W. T. McEwen, the local president, presided at the luncheon. The whole meeting was a great success. Seventy-three persons sat at the table. Donald Black, M. P. also spoke. Dr. Eastman in an entertaining speech brought greetings from Vermont. Robert Reid thanked Mr. Radway.

Two members from the Province are to be elected by ballot as directors of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club and the Quebec Association suggested for consideration the names of four, they are Messrs. Demarais, Rowat, Yates and Winter. Any member however is eligible.

CHILDREN'S OWN RUB

Youngsters will welcome the new Children's Own Rub, Mother, just as much as you will. It's such a pleasant way of relieving the distressing miseries of their colds, without fuss or greasy muss.

White, non-greasy—almost like a vanishing cream, Children's Own Rub penetrates faster . . . its soothing, congestion-easing medications are held where applied to chest, throat and back. Won't smear off on bedding or clothes. So comforting! So warming! — yet never burns even baby's tender skin.

And its head-clearing vapors! Children love their agreeable fragrance so relieving to stuffy little noses and irritated upper bronchial tubes — yet not so strong as to cause gagging or choking.

Give your cold-sick child the extra comforts of Children's Own Rub — avoid the danger of burning skin—the risk of smarting medication being rubbed off and into their eyes — save unnecessary soiling of clothes and bedding. Get a tube of Children's Own Rub, today. Only 39¢.

WAR DEAD ARE REMEMBERED AT NORTH HATLEY

North Hatley, Nov. 14.—North Hatley observed the traditional Remembrance Day on Monday, November 11, at the regular time of eleven o'clock in the morning. Activities inclued a parade, a memorial service and a community gathering.

The events began at 10.30 a. m., when the North Hatley Branch No. 78 of the Canadian Legion B. E. S. L., led a parade through the streets of the town to the Memorial Park. Roger LeBaron served as parade marshall.

At the Cenotaph in the Memorial Park, Rev. Herbert Secord offered prayer and then the entire town was wrapped in silence for two minutes. The "Last Post" was sounded by Ashley Hunting. Wreaths were placed at the Cenotaph in memory of the men of the town, who had been killed.

Laying wreaths were Richard Spriggins, pro-mayor of the Municipality; John Jenina, mayor of Hatley Township; Rev. Edwards, chaplain of the Legion Post; and David McCrea, who deposited a wreath given by the McCrea family in memory of James McCrea. The other wreaths were the result of donations from many of the town's organizations and represented all the honored dead.

Following these activities, the parade continued on up to the Town Hall for a service of dedication. Rev. Albert Q. Perry directed the service. Rev. Herbert Secord offered prayer and Rev. Guy Marston gave the message. Music was provided by a volunteer choir. Programs were donated for this event by the First Universalist Church.

ST. BARNABAS GUILD

A meeting of St. Barnabas Guild was held in the Church Hall. During the business session plans were made for the Christmas sale and salad tea to be held on December 4.

Mrs. Guy Marston introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Philip Robins, president of the Senior W. A. of St. Peter's Church, Sherbrooke. During her address, Mrs. Robins told of the history of the Women's Alliance movement and also of its aims. She said that it was started in 1885 by a group of seven women in Ottawa and has grown until it now numbers ninety thousand members, who have given more than $230,000 to missionary work. Its major aims she said are to study, understand, promote and pray for missions.

After Mrs. Marston had thanked the speaker. Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

DEDICATE TABLE AFTER DANVILLE WAR SERVICES

Danville, Nov. 14.—At Trinity United Church, following the service at the cenotaph at 10 a.m., on November 11, the dedication of a beautiful communion table by Rev. C. W. Foggo, B.A., B.D., took place.

This table is in memory of Douglas Gibbs, who died in a Japanese prison camp, on October 1, 1942, and placed in Trinity Church by Mrs. Gibbs and son, Ronald.

Following the dedication service, two minutes of silence was observed in honor of all those who gave their lives in World Wars I and II for God and country. "The Old Rugged Cross" was sung by a quartette composed of Messrs. George Duffett, Kenneth McNeill, Joseph Batslone and W. Bird.

In the evening an illustrated lecture was held in the church, dealing with the missions of the United Church.

TRINITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Missionary Society of Trinity United Church met at the home of Mrs. R. H. Stevenson, with Mrs. Douglas Riddle the joint hostess.

Mrs. J. H. Boutelle, the president, was in the chair, and conducted the meeting. Mrs. Delight Mathers sang a solo in keeping with the subject, which was enjoyed.

At the tea hour, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

THE LOCAL BOY SCOUTS ASSOCIATION

A meeting was held in the Danville Armory with the object of appointing a committee to further the interests of the Boy Scouts Association of Canada. Mr. Bert Barlow was appointed president; Mr. Clarence Hill, vice-president; Mrs. Enid Richards, secretary, and Mr. Gordon Frost, treasurer.

The meeting was conducted under the chairmanship of Rev. George Robins, who has organized a pack of Wolf Cubs and who has conducted this organization entirely by his own efforts during the past year.

It is hoped that it will be possible in the near future to organize a troop of Boy Scouts to be known as the First Danville Troop to carry on the tradition of a former First Danville Troop, which operated here some years ago, with Rev. E. G. Warren as scoutmaster, and which rapidly became known throughout the province as a crack troop, due to the efforts of Mr. A. J. Taylor, drillmaster.

It is hoped that this newly formed local branch of the Boy Scouts Association will receive the full support of the parents and citizens of this community.

THE HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The seventh regular meeting of the Danville Home and School Association was held in the Danville High School. Thirty-three members of the Association were present and an entertaining and instructive evening was enjoyed. The meeting was opened by the past president, Mr. E. B. Perkins, who instructed the secretary, Mrs. Albert Barrett, to read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The election of officers for the ensuing year then followed. Mr. Bert Barlow was elected president, and Mr. F. G. Smith as vice-president.

The following committees were appointed: Membership Committee, Mr. Douglas MacDonald and Mrs. Gordon Frost; Program Committee, Mrs. Velma Snaden, Mrs. Stanley Hill and Mr. W. J. Smith; School Improvement Committee, Mr. Ralph Perkins, Mrs. H. S. Brown and Mrs. Ralph Perkins.

The School Improvement Committee was instructed to find ways and means to obtain prizes for presentation to children in Grades I, II and III, for added incentive to maintain interest in their work. As one of the younger children had recently suffered a severe fall from one of the higher see-saws on the playground, it was suggested that handles be placed on these to safeguard against such accidents in future. Mr. Wilfred Duperron kindly offered to see that this was done.

The question of the teachers paying for their lunches, when they are required to remain at school during the noon hour was also discussed and was referred to the school board for study.

The attendance banner was won by Grade II, where it will remain for the next month. As Grade IV has not yet had the honor of winning this banner the president appointed a special committee to interview the parents of the pupils of this grade with the object in view of ascertaining the reason for the lack of interest in home and school meetings, which these parents seem to have.

The meeting closed with the showing of two films which were supplied by the Department of Education in Quebec, and which were much enjoyed. The members then adjourned to the lunch room, where hot coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts were served by a special committee.

There seems to be some misconception in regard to membership in the Home and School Association. The idea seems to be prevalent that in order to join the Association one must have children attending school. This definitely is not the case as any adult interested in the welfare of the children of the community is eligible for membership in the Danville Home and School Association.

300 Meet At Granby United Church To Welcome Returning Veterans

Granby, Nov. 14—Approximately three hundred people attended the social held in Granby United Church one evening for "A Welcome Home" party for the returned service men and women of the congregation.

As the guests arrived they were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. H. Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Solomon and were ushered to their seats by the following young men: Robert Clouston, Ian Sadler, Nelson Mitchell, William Flannery and Dawson Neil.

Rev. Neil D. Patterson acted as chairman and a splendid program arranged by Mr. A. M. Sadler, was as follows: "O Canada," a sing song, the address of welcome by the chairman, solo by Mrs. D. Kavanaugh, "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," sing song, solo by Donald Boyd, "Through the Years," an address, His Worship the Mayor, Mr. Boilin; a reading, Mrs. R. Mitchell; piano solo, Mrs. Akhurst; a duet, Messrs. H. Buzzell and Arthur Wade, "The Two Beggars;" a solo by Miss Alice Morse, "The Little Damazel"; an address, Rev. A. J. Monatt, B.A., B.D., of Montreal. The toast of thanks to the speaker was given by Mr. J. G. Fuller. These numbers were heartily received and enthusiastically encored.

At this point an address of welcome was read to the returned men and women by Mr. R. Allen and a leather billfold and a copy of the address was presented to each by Mr. M. Bradley. One hundred and five names were read and sixty-nine presentations were made. The remaining gifts will be sent to those unable to be present.

The address which was signed by the minister, Clerk of the Session and Recording Stewards follows: "The United Church of Canada in Granby welcomes you home with much joy for your safe return and gratitude for your devotion and courage, which have brought honor to yourself and your country in the fight for freedom, truth and jutsice.

"Our prayer is that your magnificent contribution to the cause of victory may have its reward in a world, where freedom is faithfully guarded. Where truth prevails, where honor is upheld and where justice is performed in deed as well as word.

"We take this occasion to t er you our sincere and grateful thanks and ask you to accept this gift, trusting that it will remind you in a small measure of our goodwill and genuine appreciation of what you have done.

"May the services you have rendered and the sacrifices you have made receive the honor and recognition they deserve from a grateful country and may you live long to enjoy the blessings of peace fo. which you have fought so bravely and so well. May God richly bless you.

"Signed on behalf of the Granby United Church, Granby."

Delicious refreshments were served by the Women's Assc from a beautifully arranged table centred with a silver basket containing yellow and bronze baby 'mums, while yellow and white tapers completed the table arrangement.

An expression of appreciation was voiced by Dr. W. K. McDonald, on behalf of the guests of the evening and was answered by Mrs D. Fowler, president of the W.A.

The names of seven men were read belonging to the congregation, who made the supreme acrifice, and one minute's silence was observed by those present as they called to mind those who did not return. A "Prayer of Remembrance" was offered by Rev. Neil D. Patterson and the singing of the National Anthem brought the evening to a close.

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. Williams

SWEETSBURG

At the Remembrance Day service at Christ Church on November 10, special prayers were offered for all, who had served in both World Wars and two minutes prayerful silence followed the offertory and then the National Anthem was sung. A splendid sermon was delivered by the rector, Rev. J. O. Peacock, who said that brutalities of war should be forgotten except that by remembering them we might be more persistent in averting another war. He said that young people should be attracted to the church by well conducted social activities. The service begun with the singing of "O Canada."

Mrs. C. B. Jameson has left for Columbus, Ohio, to visit her son, Mr. Harry Jameson, and Mrs. Jameson, for a few weeks. She was accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. D'Arcy Jameson, of Ottawa.

Mrs. Jack Phillips entertained at a birthday party on the evening of November 9, on the ocassion of the seventy-ninth birthday of her aunt, Mrs. Hattie Graves, of Putney, Vt., who is spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. Abner Ingalls, on the Knowlton Highway; and for Mr. Jack Phillips, whose birthday occurred on Nov. 11. Two prettily decorated birthday cakes graced the table. Several gifts were received by Mrs. Graves and Mr. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Widdell and daughter, formerly of Three Rivers, have moved here from Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Widdell will enter the employ of Hibbard and Brock Ford Company and he will also take up the duties of organist at Trinity Church, Cowansville.

Mrs. Boomhour, of Stanbridge East, is assisting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Galt Lomas.

Sunday School will open at Christ Church at 10.30 a. m., on November 17, with Mrs. Grace B Ruiter in charge. Two other teachers are needed and those who wish to assist in this good work are requested to communicate with Mrs. Ruiter or with Rev. J. O. Peacock.

WATERVILLE

Mrs. Carl Ball and Mrs. Lucy Smith entertained very delightfully one evening in compliment to their sister, Mrs. Archie Greenstade, who has been their guest for several weeks and is leaving shortly for her home in Biggar, Sask. Covers for fourteen were laid in the dining-room and very delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Raymond Fowler assisted the hostess in serving. A social evening was enjoyed with a sing-song and recitations. All joined in wishing Mrs. Greenslade a very pleasant journey home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bell and son, David, spent a day in Sherbrooke with Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Harding.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wharram, of Lennoxville, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Vincent R. Holtham.

Mrs. Fred O. Smith and Miss Mildred spent Remembrance Day week-end in Melbourne, with the latter's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvel Smith, of Hatley, were tea guests of Mrs. Fred O. Smith.

CALL ME LIZ

by Rene Ryerson Mart

THE STORY: Red McFan, army pilot, comes home with a chestful of ribbons and a cocky swagger. When Russ Condon, his closest friend asks, Elise Varney to find a date for Red, she invites Sally Clark—beautiful but cold. Red needs deflating, Elise thinks, and Sally is the girl to do it. But before the evening is over, Elise feels an inexplicable attraction toward Red herself. On the way home, Russ makes love to Elise but doesn't propose.

CHAPTER VIII.

Elise woke up slowly and almost her first thought was of Russel. How sweet he was, she thought. And her full lips curled in a soft contented smile.

It would be nice being married to Russel. Having a home . . . a real home again.

Suddenly she laughed aloud. "Silly, he hadn't asked you yet."

But he would. She knew he would.

She got up then and stretched leisurely, throwing her long arms up above her head, stretching her slender body to a lovely silhouette in her sheer gown. Then giving herself a little shake like an awakening playful puppy, she headed for the bathroom.

Russel phoned before she was dressed.

He wanted to know if she felt like going for a horseback ride. "It's a beautiful day," he added enticingly.

"Maybe—after a while," she said lazily.

Russel phoned Red to ask if he wanted to go along but that gentleman was in no mood for a horseback ride. He couldn't think of anything he wanted to do less.

When he moved, the top of his head felt like it was coming off. And he had a rotten taste in his mouth. It was partly the drinks and partly Sally Clark.

He sat there on the edge of the bed for a moment thinking about her and then rolled over and went back to sleep.

It was late afternoon when he woke again and got up and dressed and went out to get something to eat. He was on his way back to his room when a pert pair of feminine legs ahead of him caught his attention.

Red quickened his pace. Blond hair, too, and something familiar about the girl. Just as he caught up with her he knew who she was . . . the blond girl he had seen in Registration yesterday when he signed up at the University.

He said, "Hello."

She turned and looked at him, not too surprised at the greeting, and yet a little uncertainly as if she didn't remember him, or was pretending not to.

"Registration," Red said helpfully. "Remember? You were with some girls."

"Oh—yes. Ribbons," she said, equally cryptic. She looked at the service ribbons on his coat.

"I tried to find you afterwards," Red said. "Where did you go so fast?

"Umm—I had things to do."

"Busy now?"

"No-o-o-o-o." With another appraising sidelong glance.

"Neither am I," Red said. "What about a movie—or something?"

She considered. "I'm supposed to be in by 8 o'clock tonight. House rules for freshman pledges. But maybe—" She paused tantalizingly.

"Maybe what" Red prompted, taking her arm and squeezing it.

She looked up at him through mascaraed lashes. "Maybe I could get my roommate to leave a window open for me . . ."

Red grinned. "Fine. Well, what are we waiting for?"

"I'll have to go over to the house and make arrangements," she said.

"All right, honey. Lead on. Say, what do I call you?"

"Jackie—Jackie Spence."

"Cute," Red observed.

They went to the campus movie and sat in the gallery where it was darkest.

It was nearly midnight when they returned to Jackie's sorority house. The lower floor was dark except for one shaded lamp burning near a window of the long living room. Upstairs a few lights still showed through drawn blinds.

Jackie was suddenly apprehensive. She whispered nervously: "It's a back window—in the breakfast room—that was to be open. Keep your fingers crossed, Red. If the house mother catches me . . ."

"She won't," Red promised. "We'll be careful."

Then went softly across the dewwet lawn. There was shrubbery, high thick shrubbery, under the window Jackie had indicated. Red held the branches back and Jackie, stooping, crowded past him.

Red let the branches sway back into place covering them. He put his hands on Jackie and drew her close against him. He kissed her hard until her head with its shining blond hair fell backward. Her arms came up about his neck. Her lips were warm on his.

Finally he let her go. This was more like it . . . the way Jackie responded to his kisses. He'd thought he was losing his touch, after his experience with Sally Clark and Elise.

He let out his breath softly. "I'll be seeing you around, honey. A lot. Maybe I'd better get you in now."

He put up his hands and tested the window. It slid up easily enough. He waited. There was no sound from the room beyond.

After a moment he picked Jackie up in his arms and swung her off the ground. He held her there for a second and kissed her again, then gave a little heave and set her on the window sill.

"All right, honey?"

"All right," she whispered back.

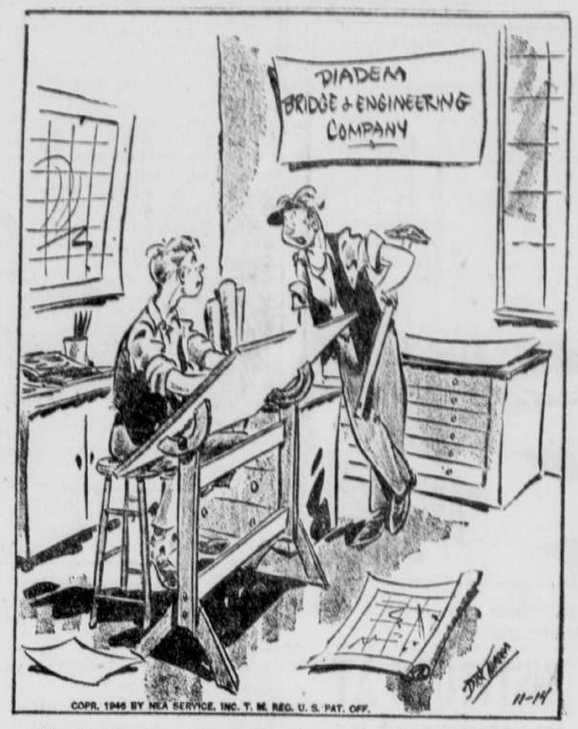

She climbed across the sill and put the window down.

Red went back across the grass. At the corner he began to whistle. He felt fine again. Just fine!

Parents And Friends Entertained At Tea In Bedford High School

Bedford, Nov. 14.—A very pleasant an interesting afternoon was spent at the Bedford High Schoo by the parents and friends of the students on the occasion of a tea held in connenction with the events of Education Week, which opened with a service at the United Church, on Sunday.

Begining at three o'clock four films were shown in the school auditorium, following which the principal of the High School, Mr. Arthur Williams, B. A., gave a brief report of the school activities.

High tribute was paid to the Rev. Thomas Tyson, pastor of the United Church, who this year has kindly undertaken the cadet training for the boys of the school. Rev. Mr. Tyson served for some years overseas during the recent war, as a padre, and also served in the same capacity, for a time at the militray camp at Farnham, P. T. training is given to the girls under the direction of Miss Margaret Hamilton, a member of the staff, in a most efficient manner.

Mr. Williams mentioned that a certificate had recently been awarded the Junior Red Cross Branch of the school, by Mrs. Ruth Shaw, on the occasion of the Branch having celebrated the twentieth anniversary of its foundation.

A table of sewing and knitted articles made by the members of the Junior Red Cross Society, were on display and gave an excelleat idea of the scope of the work done by the young members. The articles displayed included hand knitted sweaters, socks and baby garmets, bath robe, skirt and dress made by the members, as well as a number of other articles.

Credit was given to the clinic through whose efforts hot lunches are served at noon to out-of-town students.

The principal spoke of the excellent work done in the community by Missiquoi Chapter, I.O.D.E., whose members are ready and willing at all times to give of their time and effort in the furtherance of all deserving community efforts, and who in addition to providing prizes in the three town schools and also at Philipsburg, last year in conjunction with the Junior Red Cross Society provided funds to help in the purchasing of a hearing aid for a young girl, and who at various times have provided funds for transportation of patients to and from the hospital, as well as rendered other assistance to deserving cases.

Mrs. Hannibal Sheltus, educational secretary of Missiquoi Chapter, I.O.D.E., the presented the various I.O.D.E. prizes to the recipients. In history, the prizes, which are awarded to the pupils receiving the highest marks in the June examinations were won by the following students. Grade V, Mustapha Mady; Grade VI, Elizabeth Bradshaw; Grade VII, Isabel Wanzer; Grade VIII, Ruth McElroy; Grade IX, Dorothy Van Horn and June Holland; Grade X, James Piche; Grade XI, Connie Carter.

The Gertrude E. Chadsey memorial prize given to the pupils showing the greatest improvement in language; Grade V, Foster Wightman; Grade VI, Rejeanne Mady; Grade VII, Stanley Abdallah; Grade VIII, Leslie Derrick and Betty Deline; Grade IX, Lawrence Yates and Edna Lapointe.

The Frances Corey Memorial prize awarded to the pupil in Grade XI, receiving the highest marks in English Literature in the June examinations was won by Hazen Thompson, of Frelighsburg.

The winners of the other I.O.D.E. prizes, in the Philipsburg School, were Harriet Andrews, of St. Armand; and Patsy Grevatt of Philipsburg.

At St. Damien's College, Bedford, the winners were Denis Messier; Jean Maurice; Pierre Fortin Guy Lussier and Lawrence Larocque.

At St. Joseph's Convent, Bedford, the winners were Isabel Pare; Marie Paule Brault; Rachel Dery; Claire Maurice and Rejeanne Benoit.

The report of Mr. D. J. Reid, chairman of the School Board then followed. During the past year, several of the class-rooms, also the teachers' room have been re-decorated, as well as the furniture recovered in the latter room. An oil burner has been installed, which will add greatly to the comfort of the school. During the 1945-46 scholastic year, the sum of $6,200.-85 had been received in government grants, an increase over the previous year. The entire staff for the past year was re-engaged, and the chairman stressed the importance of retaining from year to year the services of the entire staff, and congratulated the principal, Mr. Arthur Williams, and the members of his staff, Miss Siona Brandt, Miss Margaret Hamilton, Miss Audrey Bradshaw, Miss Gretta Elois, Mrs. Wesley Roy and Miss Doris Huerron for their very excellent work done during the past year.

Mr. Reid then read the following letter received that day from the Bishop of Montreal, which was as follows: "Dear Mr. Reid; May I take the liberty of addressing a word to the Bedford School Board. I am deeply interested in the matter of English education in our part of the Province, both in its general aspects and with an even deeper sense of responsibility for our Anglican children.

Accordingly I deeply appreciate your keen efforts to build up community interest in so great a matter. In no sphere is our church more eager to co-operate in every possible way. We are moved to do so for two reasons. First, we wish to strengthen community life itself and secondly to develop the growing consciousness that education divorced from religion lamentably fails to reach its true objective.

It is because of this sincere interest in the matter that I venture to ask that the Board should not make it difficult for the church to help to the fullest extent.

The church has as her first responsibility the religious life and practice of her people. That life and practice has to have its regular and familiar expression. My sole request is that in your plans for developing the interest of the community you would make it possible for the church to enter into them wholeheartedly without breaking into her long-established practices and well-proven organization. I would add an additional reason, which has great weight with me, namely, that we would regret anything that would prevent us from joining with other Christian bodies in this or any other common enterprize.

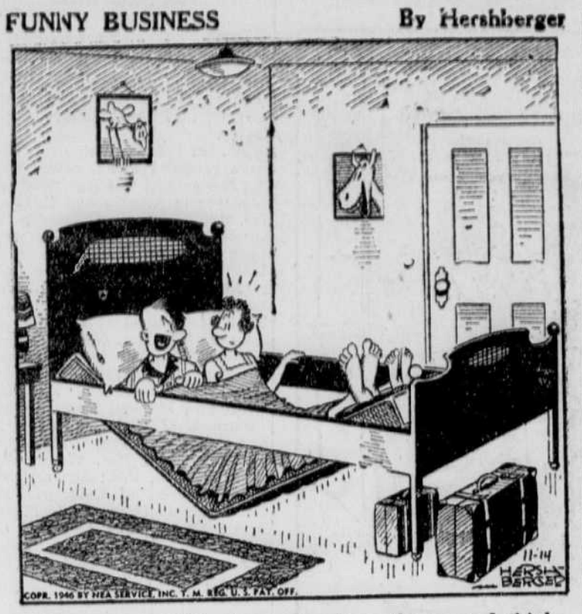

I hope that the Board will recognize the spirit in which I write and accept my sincere appreciation of their efforts to place the education of our children on the highest possible level."

Preceding the serving of tea the class-rooms were thrown open for inspection, and the work on display in the various rooms proved most interesting. The decorations in the various rooms made by the pupils were ver yattractive.

Refreshments were served in the school auditorium at small tea-tables, decorated in red and green, by the members of the household science class of the school under the direction of the teacher of household science, Miss Doris Muerren, and were greatly enjoyed. Presiding at the attractive tea-table, which was centred with the same green and red decorations used on the tea-tables and covered with a lace cloth, together with silver candlesticks, were Mrs. Allan Palmer and Mrs. William Campbell.

In accordance with requests made that the vocal numbers sung at the service on Sunday morning in the United Church, be repeated, the members of the student choir sung the anthem "Sundown," while "A Little Prayer," was repeated by the trio composed of Elizabeth Bradshaw, Dorothy Van Horn and Kathryn Sheltus, the accompanist being Miss Margaret Hamilton.

INSTITUTE AT WAY'S MILLS HELD MEETING

Way's Mills, Nov. 13.—The November meeting of the Way's Mills Women's Institute was held with Mrs. Hovey, for dinner. There was a good attendance, and several visitors were present, among them Miss Evelyn Walker, of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue. A delicious lunch was served at noon, and in keeping with the occasion, the table decorations were carried out in Hallowe'en colors, with an orange cover and matching

After dinner the meeting was called to order with the usual opening exercises. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. It was reported that eight memebrs had accepted Newport's invitation to attend its meeting to hear the demonstration of "Draperies and Curtains."

Quilts had been presented to two war brides. The members were pleased to hear that steps were being taken to get the Health Unit into operation, it having been held up on acount of the lack of a qualified doctor, nurses and housing facilities.

A letter was read from the A. C. W. W. thanking the Institute for th. package of food-stuffs received and explaining that the proceeds for this sale to help in the organization of their conference to be held in Holland next fall, and expressing the hope that Quebec would be represented there.

Mrs. Smallman's letter was read and discussed. It was reported that the School Fair was definitely postponed for this year. Mr. McMillan had suggested a short course t take its place, and the him that all were in favor of this. him that all were in favor of thies.

A great deal of merriment was caused by the roll call, which was answered by each member paying fifty cents and telling in rhyme how the money was earned. Varied and original indeed were both the means of making the money and the verses. The prizes for the best verses, donated by Mrs. Sargeant, went to Miss Amy Davidson.

Miss Walker, then gave a demonstration on preparing the 'School Lunch," and showed what constituted a well-balanced lunch for thedinner pail. She gave several new and tasty recipes for spreads for sandwiches. Not to be outdone by the others. Miss Walker closed her address with a very fitting and witty verse of poetry. Mrs. Sargeant thanked Miss Walker for her helpful talk, and then plans were made for furnishing school lunches after Christmas.

The articles, which are to be sent to friends in the "Old Country" were on display, also the clothing, which is to go to Marguerite Sigler, the W. I. ward through the Save-the Children Fund, in France. A letter of acknowledgment of the clothing sent to Headquarters in Montreal was read, expressing the thanks of the organization for this donation.

The conveners then gave short items of interest. Mrs. Dobb told of attractive painted articles that could be made of things very often discarded; Mrs. Hovey, reported that the Blue Cross had a new policy. Mrs. Geddes reading an article on the improvements of immunization, also research on the common cold.

Plans were made for each member to bring a toy for the crippled children to the next meeting, which will be held with Mrs. Hanson and Miss Oliver. After a busy and interesting afternoon the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Sargeant thanked those who had helped in the Hospital Campaign, and had made it possible for Way's Mills to reach its objective of five hundred dollars.

Mrs. David Davidson and Mrs. Alvin Smith and son, Lloyd, spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. Weyland Pope, who have recently moved onto the Cleviand farm vacated by Wright Parsons.

Miss Florence Cook spent a few days visiting her friend, Mrs. Ray Merrill, in Ayer's Cliff.

Mrs. Bertha Clement visited Vermont's first antique exhibition, which was held at Newport, Vt.

Miss Walker, of Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Sutton, while visiting the Way's Mills' Women's Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Warburton spent the week-end in East Angus with Mrs. Warburton's mother, Mrs. Hughes.

The Doctor Says:

INFANTS NEED DIPHTHERIA INOCULATION

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

Every infant should be vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria, as well as against whooping cough and tetanus, in the first year of life.

Dr. O'Brien.

As a virulent type of diphtheria is on the increase, every parent should have his child's diphtheria immunity checked now.

Inoculations against diphtheria should be given for the first time between the seventh and ninth months of age, either diphtheria toxoid (Ramon) or alum-precipitated toxoid being used. In infants, the Shick test for diphtheria immunity is not administered until four to six months after the injections have been made.

There is a tendency on the part of many parents to wait until a diphtheria epidemic breaks out before they attempt to protect their children. This is a poor policy, as the unprotected children are the ones who develop the disease and start the epidemics.

Immunity Develops Slowly

Several months are required for immunity to develop following inoculations. This is the important reason for giving the injections early, before the child comes into contact with other children or adults outside the home.

Diphtheria is spread by those who have mild cases of it and by carriers (that is, persons who harbor the germs in their throats without harm to themselves but with the ability to infect others). The disease also is spread by articles which have been soiled with secretions from diphtheria cases or carriers, and by infected milk or milk products.

Infants born of mothers who possess resistance to diphtheria obtain some of this protection from their mothers before birth, but in most cases this disappears before the sixth month of age.

Most diphtheria cases develop in children under 10 years of age, and the majority of deaths occur in the first five years of age. The disease is most prevalent in the temperate zone and in the fall and winter months.

Children previously immunized against diphtheria should receive a booster dose during epidemics and when they enter school. Adults who are susceptible to diphtheria should be protected against the disease, especially if their occupation exposes them to it.

Combined Injections

A combined injection against diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough can be made, but the diphtheria-tetanus combination is more practical. Whooping cough injections should be started between the fourth and sixth months of life, because the danger of infection is greatest at this time.

In diphtheria the germs enter the nose and throat and cause an inflammation producing a dirty white or grayish membrane. It is this membrane which clogs the larynx and strangles the patient in many cases.

In addition to the local inflammation in the nose and throat, a poison which can cause serious heart damage or paralysis is absorbed in the system.

Diphtheria is a preventable disease. It is the duty of every parent to co-operate with his physician in preventing this dangerous infection.

Question: I have bursitis of the knee. What can be done about it?

Answer: The common difficulty in this region is housemaid's knee, which is inflammation of the sac between the skin and the knee cap. It usually gets well if not injured further, although it can be tapped or removed if it continues to cause trouble. Deep bursitis presents a more complicated problem.

Q—What is U.S. Navy's "sofar"?

A—A "sound ranging and finding" device. For rescue work, it enables shore listeners to hear tiny depth charge explosions as far as 2,000 miles at sea. Survivors of plane or ship accidents would drop the charges, and thus enable rescue teams to locate them.

BEDFORD

A very enjoyable and successful Hallowe'en dance was held in the Masonic Hall by the members of the Girl Guides of Bedford. The members of the local Guide Association under the presidency of Mrs. Alfred Nicholson, who were in charge of the evening's arrangements, were Mrs. W. B. Bradshaw, Mrs. Allan Palmer, Mrs. Gordon Jones, Mrs. Hannibal Shultus, Mrs. Clarence Collins, and Mrs. Ralph Van Horn. The hall presented a most attractive appearance with the softly shaded lights, and the Hallowe'en decorations of black and yellow. Refreshments were in keeping with the spirit of Hallowe'en. Cider was supplied through the kindness of Mrs. D. J. Reid. It was a masquerade dance, and among the prize-winners in the various groups were Ashley Sheltus in an evening suit, as the most handsome man; Mrs. Harry Jones in a court dress as the loveliest lady; Margaret Holland as the trucker; and Edward Hughes, a farmer, received the prizes for the most humorous costumes; the prize for the most realistic was awarded to Mr. Ralph Van Horn, in the uniform of an Air Reid Warden; Gerald Corey was awarded the prize for the most realistic costume, that of a hula-hula dancer; Grant Fontaine a cowboy, and Betty Harris, were awarded the prizes for the best costumes for a little boy and a little girl. The judges were Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell and Mrs. M. Short. A number of prizes were also awarded in different dances, in the parcel dance to Ashely Sheltus and Dallas Nelville; in the forfeit spot dances, to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Van Horn, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. George Palmer; in the elimination dances Kathryn Sheltus and James Piche received the prize.

Mr. Donald Peets, of Montreal, spent the week-end in Bedford with Mrs. Peets and young son, Kenneth, at the home of Mrs. Peets' parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Best.

Inflation Comes Even To Paris Second-Hand Mecca

Against a background of engine blocks awaiting parts, like the auto industry is giving a big boost to air freight to speed the movement of critically short items like those being loaded into the plane at left. While cylinder blocks wait for parts, engineless bodies at right wait for steel for fenders and hoods.

Paris, Nov. 14—(NEA)—The days of Paris' picturesque "Flea Market" are numbered. No longer is it a place where dealers and collectors can rummage among the incredible bric-a-brac dumped into packing-box stalls and turn up rare antiques, or an occasional genuine Reubens or Rembrandt for a song.

The world's shortages have made the "Flea Market" a seller's market. Dealers refuse to bargain; they fix their prices and are content to wait because they know that eventually a customer will pay what they ask. They have learned to evalute their "junk." Prices are high, sometimes even higher than those asked in regular shops.

Syndicates control most of the dealers. Rentals for the "stands" run as much as 15,000 francs a month—neary $125.

Seventy years ago the area where the Flea market now stands was a wasteland within the city, inhabited only by rag-pickers living in miscrable hovels. These scavangers sorted the odds and ends of the city's trash cans and eked out a bare existence selling the pieces of junk they retrieved to the poor. A few second-hand dealers began coming to the district to buy. Finally a Parisian named Robert Vernaison built some wooden shacks that he rented to the more prosperous dealers.

Today the Flea Market operates only over the three-day week-end During the rest of the week the dealers comb the provinces for attic remnants which are the market's stock in trade. Once all they found was sold in the market's stands. Today any item of value finds its way directly into the more swank antique shops.

"With the present scarcity of household goods—old and new—and the tremendous rise in values, many of the dealers have stocks valued at thousands of dollars," says Rene Antoine, assistant to the mayor of the district.

Demand for the stands has increased a thousand-fold. Since the liberation the municipality has received more than 2500 requests for stands that it has been unable to fill, Antoine says. Fortunate possessors of the stands available sometimes sublet three or four feet of their holdings to smaller dealers.

Despite municipal supervision, the Flea Market even today is a hangout for thieves and fences, card-sharpers and black market dealers.

That is probably the reason why the city has decided, despite the tourist attraction of the market to reduce its size and purge it of the undesirables. By next year bulldozers will sweep most of the area clean. Over the old market Paris will build a school, a playground and more respectable covered stalls.

SUTTON

The Sutton Branch of the Canadian Legion and the Sutton High School Cadets marched on Sunday to divine service in the United Church of Canada, which was ably conducted by the pastor, the Rev. N. G. HIGH SCHOOL HOLDS OPENING AT EAST ANGUS

East Angus, Nov. 14.—The East Angus High School held its annual "School Opening" in the Parish Hall. The program presented by the pupils was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

After the singing of "O Canada," Grades II and III opened the program with some rythm band selections. Then the principal, Mr. Carr, addressed the audience. He mentioned two changes to be made in the school records, spoke of some of the pupil activities, and concluded by calling on the parents and friends to show an increased interest in the school, particularly in pupil activities.

Grade III returned to the stage to present a series of recitations. These pupils were followed by Eleanor Cillis, who gave a monologue.

Grade VI pupils turned in a fine effort with a French play. More recitations followed, this time they were recited by the boys of Grades IV and V.

At this point, Mr. Ferguson was called upon to address a few words on behalf of the School Board. An amusing play was presented by Grades VI and VII. They were followed by Rev. W. W. Smith, who spoke briefly. Grades VIII and IX presented a minstrel show, which they had prepared themselves.

Rev. C. J. Gustafson then addressed the audience before the final item, which was a medical operation performed by Grades X and XI.

Before the distribution of prizes, popcorn was sold by Grades VI and VII pupils. The proceeds of this sale are to go to aid polio patients. After the prize-giving, God Save the King was sung. The pupils then cleared the chairs from the hall and to round off the evening, they danced for a couple of hours.

Other features of Education Week in East Angus were special church services with an educational theme on Sunday. In the evening, Mr. Carr addressed a gathering at the "Fellowship Hour" in the United Church. This was followed by a short discussion period. On Wednesday afternoon, Parents' Day, was observed at the school. Some thirty interested parents attended the regular classes. After school Grades X and XI girls served tea to the guests and teachers.

KITCHEN SINK

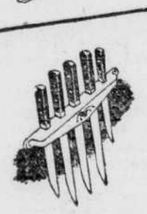

Easy does it on porcelain. Remember, porcelain is like glass and must be treated gently. Don't pound, or drop heavy objects on it. Avoid stains by wiping up spills instantly with a paper towel. Clean it after every meal with safe Swift's Cleanser on a damp cloth.

BROILER PANS

Broiler pans clean easiest if you remove them from oven immediately. Drain grease for salvage. Wipe out excess grease with paper towel, and clean with Swift's Cleanser before the pan is entirely cool. Swift's Cleanser cuts the grease quickly from the surface and doesn't leave a gritty sediment in the pan that must be rubbed away. Rest assured your pan won't be scratched!

KITCHEN CUTLERY

The blades of your kitchen knives will remain sharp longer if you use them only for food purposes. Don't cut paper or string with them. For quick cleaning, polish with Swift's Cleanser on a damp cloth. If there are fruit or rust stains on the blade, dip a cork in water and then in Swift's Cleanser and they'll quickly disappear.

Choice of 3 Colours Radiant Red • Gala Green • Bonny Blue Containers to match your colour scheme

CUTS GREASE FAST! DOESN'T SCRATCH EVER!

It purifies, and actually polishes as it cleans! Saves so much time because it never leaves any gritty sediment that has to be rinsed away. Try Swift's Cleanser now.

You can have the help of one of the country's leading authorities on home economics. Write Martha Logan for help on your special cleaning problems. She'll be glad to advise you. She invites you to: "Send for my new free booklet of cleaning tips."

SCOTSTOWN

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the United Church Hall with Mrs. N. L. Nicholson, Mrs. Philip Boy, Mrs. W. A. Laud, Mrs. Angus A. MacIver and Miss Wilma Scott, the hostesses. The vice-president, Mrs. H. A. Scarth was in the chair, and the meeting opened with the salute to the flag, the Prayer of the Order, and "Creed." Twenty-seven members responded to the roll call with a helpful household hint. Several [illegible] present. The treasurer submitted the financial report, which showed a satisfactory balance on hand, and outstanding bills were ordered paid. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Haines, in England, to whom parcels had been sent by W.I. members. Mrs. S. F. Carey, Mrs. Angus A. MacIver and Mrs. N. L. Nicholson volunteered to be responsible for the next parcel being sent overseas. Mrs. J. D. Cox, convener of education, reported having received a shipment of two hundred books, from Toronto, Ont., for the library, and also stressed the necessity for funds, to purchase new publications. Mrs. Philip, convener of agriculture, reported having distributed slips for a "geranium" contest. It was announced that the W.I. president, Mrs. P. A. Sherman, had been appointed as a representative to the Central School Board. It was also announced that X-ray equipment is to be purchased for the Smith Memorial, as a tribute to the Scotstown boys who made the supreme sacrifice. At the close of the business session, the program was directed by Mrs. E. S. McMannis, home economics convener, the prize for the "recipe jumble" was awarded to Mrs. F. Noble, of Richmond, and Mrs. C. M. Smith, and the prize for "nutrition scramble," was won by Mrs. Boy. Later, refreshments were served by the hostess, and a social period was enjoyed.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Circle of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was held in the Church Hall, with a very good attendance of members and visitors. Following the devotional period, plans were formulated for a chicken pie supper, to be held in the Church Hall, at an early date, and committees were appointed to arrange for the same. Several letters were read from members and friends, acknowledging fruit, sent them during illness. Following adjournment, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. R. MacDonald and Mrs. Daniel P. Murray.

On account of an epidemic of measles, the primary room in the local high school has been closed.

Miss Laura Goodwin, who was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Percy Sherman, and Mr. Sherman, has returned to her home in Canterbury.

The beautiful flowers on the altar in St. Alban's Anglican Church, on Sunday, were given by the family, in loving memory of their son and brother, "Chum," W. O. William Ernest Whittingham, who was killed in action, over Iraq, in 1942. Special music in St. Alban's was a solo, "Spirit of God, Descend Upon My Heart," by Atkin, sung by Miss Jean Scarth.

Friends regret to learn that Lt.-Col. E. S. McMannis is a patient in a military hospital, in Montreal.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. R. MacLeod included the latter's sister, Mrs. W. S. MacCaskill, of Keith; Mr. and Mrs. George Reid, of Montreal; and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bishop, of East Angus.

MELBORO

The "Willing Helpers" Mission Band held a meeting one afternoon at The Melboro Consolidated School. There were ten members present and the meeting was in charge of the leader, Mrs. Lorne Ames. The president, Winnifred Booth, was in the chair and the meeting was opened by all singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," followed by repeating the "Mission Band Purpose" in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The roll call was answered by naming a character from the study book. The offering was taken up by Sylvia Batchelor. A business period followed .There has been 15 scrap books made to date. More cards were given out by Mrs. Ames. The Band wishes to thank all those who have donated used cards for this purpose. It was decided that the next meeting would be held on Saturday November 16, when the quilt, which the members have been working on during the summer will be tacked at the home of Mrs. Lorne Ames. This will be the last meeting of the season. The officers for the year 1947 were elected as follows: President, Noreen Taber; vice-president, Sylvia Batchelor; secretary, Winnifred Booth; Winnifred Barrington, "World Friends" secretary.

The Junior Red Cross Society held a meeting at the school one Friday. The meeting was called to order by the president, Rose Batchelor. The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. Roll call was answered by stating a Health Rule. The stamp box is on hand and the members are asked to save as many used stamps as possible. The Junior Red Cross box was packed and Miss Greta Ewing took it home to Kingsbury the same evening to be mailed at once to headquarters. More J.R.C. work has been ordered by the secretary, Dorothy Smith. The collection was taken up by Greta Ewing and amounted to $1.39. This makes a total of $4.69 collected to date. The meeting was then adjourned. The next meeting is to be held in two weeks time.

Miss Dorothy Reakes, principal, and Miss Ruth Macdonald spent the Remembrance Day week-end at their respective homes in Asbestos and Scotstown.

SHERBROOKE SWAMP RAPIDES 11-4; TIGERS DOWN SAINTS 6-3

Cote Scores Five Goals And Demers Four As Sherbrooke Wallop Lachine

Lachine, Nov. 14.— (CP) —Sherbrooke walloped the league-leading Lachine Rapids 11 to 4 in a Provincial Hockey League tilt here last night.

Adj. Cote with five goals and Tony Demers with four were the big guns for Sherbrooke while the other marksmen wree Doug Webster and Len McDougall.

Bob Morin, Les Ramsay, Andy Perron and Don Maher tallied for the Rapides.

Sherbrooke started to roll in the first frame when Tony Demers fired his first goal after four minutes of play. Lachine replied with a marker three minutes later when Bob Morin sniped his goal.

Adj. Cote then broke into the scoring column for the first of his five goals and Les Ramsay came back for the Rapides with another tally.

Demers and Webster nicked two more goals before the end of the period to give Sherbrooke a two goal lead.

The Sherbrooke forwards shook loose again in the middle session and piled in four more goals on efforts by Cote, two goals by Demers and one by McDougall. The Lachiners nicked one marked when Perron slipped through the Sherbrooke defence.

The Sherbrooke machine continued to roll in the last stanza and blinked the light three more times while the best the Lachine squad could do was to notch one goal.

P.H.L. RATED SENIOR "B" FOR SEASON

Montreal, Nov. 14.—(CP)—The Provincial Hockey League, an intermediate formation last season, has been classified as a Senior B League this season, Frank Dillio, Quebec Amateur Hockey Association registrar, announced yesterday.

Mr. Dillio announced also that two games Lachine Rapides won from Verdun Eagles have been awarded to Verdun because Rapides had not completed registration of their players.

A game between Lachine and St. Hyacinthe and another game between Lachine and Cornwall have been declared no contest because none of the teams involved had completed registration. Lachine won both games.

Hockey's Big Seven

Billy Taylor, of Detroit Red Wings, continued to lead the National Hockey League sharpshooters although he failed to add to his score as the Red Wings lost to Boston. Taylor has sunk five goals and garnered 11 assits for a total of 16 points.

Maurice Richard, of Canadiens, Taylor's nearest rival, picked up one goal to boost his total to 13 points made up on nine goals and four assists. Adam Brown, of Detroit, took over the third slot with an assist added to his total of 10.

The leaders:

HEADS WEST WARD SPORTS GROUP

BILLY JAMES, who was elected president of the West Ward Sports Association. Billy James, known as "Kid James" to the local boxing fans, was the holder of the Eastern Townships flyweight championship crown for many years. He was also boxing instructor at the local "Y" for a few seasons.

James is well known in coaching circles. Having guided the Racine juvenile baseball club to the city championship. He is also the mentor for the Racine entry in the City Juvenile hockey loop.

AUSTRALIA PICKS DAVIS CUP PLAYERS

Victoria, Australia.—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia has selected a Davis Cup squad of six players. They are John Bromwich, A. K. Quist, D. Pails, G. E. Brown, W. Sidwell and L. Brodie. Others may be added if their form warrants it. Former Australian Davis Cup star Jack Crawford has been appointed a selector. The other four selectors are Sir Norman Brookes, H. Walker, T. E. Robinson and N. E. Strange. No appointment has been made yet of a manager. Likely choices are Jack Crawford, Gerald Patterson or Harry Hopman.

Lionel Brodie, 31, has been prominent in Victorian tennis for some years. Partnered by J. Harper, he won the New South Wales doubles championship last year. They defeated Crawford and Pails in the final.

W. Sidwell, 26, was tipped as a coming Davis Cupper when he won the Australian junior championship seven years ago. He served five years overseas with the R.A.A.F. English critics were impressed with his form when he toured England and the Continent with the R.A.A.F. team in 1945. Recently he won the Victorian hard court singles and doubles' championships.

The doubles match in the challenge round to be played at Kooyong (Melbourne) on December 26, 27 and 28, may well decide the tie and the selectors are planning to give John Bromwich and Adrian Quist every opportunity of reaching their old-time form.

CHICAGO AND PROVIDENCE GAIN IN LOOP

New York, Nov. 14. —(AP)— Chicago Stags and Providence Steamrollers, who have won more games than any other team in their respective divisions of the Basketball Association of America, were still in second place today although gaining on the leaders.

Philadelphia, which has won the only game it has played to date, tops the Eastern Division, while Cleveland, with two wins in as many starts ranks the Western half.

Providence edged near the top in the east by virtue of its 70-68 victory over the Falcons at Detroit last night while the Chicagoans were winning their fifth game in six starts by shading Boston 71-61.

Doug Webster And Cliff Goupille Sign To Play For Sherbrooke Club

Doug Webster, left winger, and Cliff Goupille, hard hitting defence player, have been signed by the Sherbrooke hockey club, according to Coach Dugre.

Webster took part in last night's game against Lachine and picked himself up a goal and two assists in his initial start with Sherbrooke. He played last year for Shawinigan Falls in the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Cliff Goupille, who came from Hull Volants, Quebec Senior League, needs no introduction to local hockey fans. He was injured a couple of weeks ago in a tilt in Ottawa. Goupille played formerly with Victoriaville when they were in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League. Since then he has travelled along with teams in the Quebec Senior League.

LETTERS TO SPORTING EDITOR

Sports Editor,

Dear Sir:—I should be grateful to you for a short space to permit me to express my opinion on a matter of keen interest to local sportemen.

After the hockey game I saw at the Arena Saturday evening, and also the one at St. Hyacinthe, I have come to the conclusion that Roger Dion, Sherbrooke's goalkeeper, is as good as any other goaler in the Provincial League.

Here we have the one local player on the team and instead of encouraging him, fans boo at him, a thing that we do not see done to strangers; on the contrary our opponents' supporters applaud his goalkeepng.

For my part, rather than criticize the local players, I would stay at home.

In future, may our sportsmen learn to accept their defeats in the same manner as the victories.

A CITY SPORTSMAN.

Sports Editor,

Dear Sir:—I was very disappointed by your write-up on the Saturday evening hockey game between St Hyacinthe and the local club.

You mentioned that in the first period our goaltender, Dion, was called upon to make some outstanding saves. I was present at this game and noticed that 11 shots were directed at our local goaltender of which he managed to stop three. Surely this cannot be considered outstanding.

It seems a shame that a good team like ours should be let down by such a poor goalie. It certainly must be disheartening to the rest of the team. If this continues there will certainly be a lack of attendance at our local hockey games.

Yours truly,

A DISSATISFIED FAN.

Dean Griffing And Jerry Searight Retire As Active Grid Performers

By LAURIE GRAHAM

Edmonton, Nov. 14.— (CP) —Two veteran United States imports to Canadian gridiron battles have hung up their football toggery for the last time—but both intend to continue their efforts to aid in the fall pastime.

Dean Griffing and Jerry Searight, two of Western Canada's most colorful grid performers, are expected to coach Alberta entries in the Western football conference next season.

They announced their retirements at Winnipeg following the recent Blue Bomber victory over Calgary Stampeders for the conference's championship.

The pigskin stars say they are getting "too old" to take the bruising punishment meted out by taking an active part in the game—in fact, to listen to them moan and groan you'd think the pair were doddering old men instead of a couple of healthy-looking athletes who still walk with a springy, vigorous stride.

In Griffing Western football loses one of its "top-rate performers. Known as the "bad man" the Stampeder coach even with his consistent ragging of both players and spectators is "tops" with everybody.

The "Dean" came to Canada in 1936 from Kansas State College to take over the reins of Regina Rough Riders. In his first year the starry centre led Riders to the Western title, but owing to several players being ineligible the club didn't go East in search of the Dominion title.

A favorite with Regina fans, he stayed with the Riders for the next five seasons and then went East where he starred with Toronto's Balmy Beach. He returned to Calgary from the East to take over the helm of the Stamps which he has capably handled for the last two years—and will probably head for some time to come.

Searight came to Calgary in 1936 from the University of North Dakota and joined forces with the Calgary Bronks for the next two seasons. From the Bronks, the better than average centre headed East to Montreal where he played with the Royals and other clubs until 1941.

Packing up his equipment, he returned to the States (New Orleans), but returned to Canada in 1945 and once again took up his place with a Calgary club—Stampeders.

Searight says his only souvenir of the game are a "fine collection of broken bones" and a pair of green pants which he has worn since he first played the game.

Ontario Branch Of A.A.U. Of C. Completes Post-War Organization

Toronto, Nov. 14.— (CP) —With extensive plans for encouraging organized Amateur Athletics in Ontario, the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, Central Ontario Branch, has completed its post-war scheme of reorganization, Fred Rowell of Toronto, branch president, announced today.

In a statement Mr. Rowell said the branch was inaugurating a series of projects "designed to return amateur athletics . . . to their former position of respect and legality so that all those who wish may have an opportunity to represent Canada at the 1948 Olympic Games at London." He said this was in accord with an "energetic policy" adopted by the branch to "exhibit a vigorous, intelligent approach" to amateurism.

Two events have been slated for this month, while arrangements have been made for a Canadian entry in the Berwick, Pa., championship road race, Nov. 28. The A.A.U. of C. events are the Gladstone Athletic Club's first post-war road races, Nov. 16, and the Intercollegiate Athletic Union Harrier championships the same day.

The committee nominated Harold Brown of Meaford, Ont., as Ontario candidate for the Norton H. Crow Memorial Trophy awarded at the annual A.A.U. of C. meeting for outstanding athletic performance and sportsmanship. This year's A.A.U. meeting is slated for Montreal, Nov. 28 and 29.

MEXICAN ARMY WINS BROAD JUMPING EVENT

Toronto, Nov. 14. —(CP)— Chihuahua, a black horse of the Mexican Army team, ridden by Maj. Humberto Mariles Cortez, last night won the Military Broad Jump event at the Royal Winter Fair here. His stablemate, "Poblano" also covered the course with no errors to come in second, ridden by Lieut. Victor M. S. Carillo.

Third place went to "Democrat," of the United States Army team, ridden by Col. Franklin F. Wing. He finished the course with half a fault.

A pair of trotters, Sir Laurel Guy and All American — won first place in their class for Jacob Bunn, Jr., of Springfield, Ill.

"Spanish Spear," owned by Richard K. Mellon of Huntland Dawns, Ligonier, Pa., won the $1,500 McKee Hunter Stakes and Mellon's "Sky Glo" placed third. Second was "Portmaker," owned by Dr. Alvin T. Kay of Washington.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—(CP)—G. W. Michael, horse superintendant of the Royal Winter Fair, shares a problem with thousands of Canadians—housing.

"We have had to turn away more than 300 entries because we have no accommodation for them," he said. "Right now, we are forced to double up many horses. We have Clydesdales and Percherons two in a stall and for the ponies there are even more to a stall."

Thus far none of the animals under Mr. Michale's care has been reported sick.

The superintendant said he had greeted many exhibitors who displayed their stock here before the eight-year wartime lapse but newcomers were even more numerous. United States entries had been received in more classes than ever before.

SEEKS BRITISH CONTENDER FOR LOUIS' CROWN

London, Nov. 14. —(AP)— Boxing promoter Jack Solomons has launched a new drive to strengthen Britain's challenge for the world heavyweight title held by Joe Louis.

Solomons told a press conference yesterday he hopes to lure some worthy contenders with £1,000 ($4,000) as prizes in an open heavyweight contest starting Dec. 17.

With only one good heavyweight contender in hand, Empire Champion Bruce Woodcock, Solomons feels there must be some younger swatters in the United Kingdom who might be induced to come out for cold cash.

"There's such a difference between Woodcock and Freddie Mills (British Light-Heavyweight Champion who sometimes fights above weight) that we must encourage youngsters who have learned the rudiments and need a chance to show their prowess," Solomons explained.

"I think that with sufficient money encouragement these boys will come forward and any one, if he wins or not, who shows enough promise will be placed in the hands of a well-known trainer."

The talent hunt, reviving an old British custom that turned up "Phainting" Phil Scott, the "Swooning Swan of the Soho," and Jack London—Both one-time British heavyweight kings, will be open only to novices who have never had a professional bout. Well-known amateurs will be ineligible.

They must be between 18 and 24 years old and weigh more than 182 pounds.

Pike can be kept out of water for several hours without harm.

Victoriaville Trim St. Hyacinthe 6-3 In Wide Open P.H.L. Fixture

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Nov. 14.—Victoriaville Tigers trimmed St. Hyacinthe 6-3 in a Provincial Hockey League fixture here last night.

The teams played to a 3-3 deadlock in the initial period and peppered the goalies with shots in the wide open play. Kenny Hayden opened the scoring at .44 when he broke away on a solo rush to slip the disc past Renaud in the Saints nets.

The Saints came back to tally two goals on efforts by Marcel Despelteau and Paul Hebert and the Tigers offset this lead by retaliating with a pair of markers by Burnett and Leduc.

The Victoriaville team came back stronger in the middle period and managed to keep the Saints forwards at bay while their marksmen notched another two goals. Thibault nicked the first one on a smart passing play with Boyer and Hebert and Wray registered the second goal after picking up a relay from Dussault and Thibault.

The St. Hyacinthe squad battled grimly in the last period to get back in the running, but the Tigers tightened up their defence and added another goal when Dussault fired a shot past Renaud for the sixth Tiger score.

Irish Loom Too Formidable For Colleges And Service Schools

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

This fall's monument meeting between Army and Notre Dame easily could be one of the last of the long and famous series.

The reason is obvious. The Irish henceforth simply will be much too formidable for the service schools.

"Notre Dame is too good for the colleges," says Red Blaik West Point's soft-spoken coach.

Not a few close observers would not be in the least surprised to see the United States Military Academy drop Notre Dame from its football schedule within the next year or two. Similar action by Navy naturally would follow.

Army is already definitely headed back toward the comparative safety of the Ivy league. Relations with Dartmouth and Yale already have been resumed.

The movement against Notre Dame is not confined to Army. Certain Western Conference schools—Michigan, for example—will have no further truck with South Bend.

This no doubt has considerable to do with the resumption in 1948 of a Notre Dame series with Michigan State following a 27-year lapse. For this purpose, the Spartans agreed to increase the seating capacity of their Macklin Field from 23,000 to 50,000.

"With all due respect to Michigan State, this plainly was all Frank Leahy could get in the midwest," says a prominent Notre Dame alumnus who became a renowned coach himself after starring in the Irish backfield, but is now in another football line. "Games with Michigan State are not what Notre Dame men want."

It's no secret that Big Nine athletic officials, especially head coaches, violently object to the ambitious Leahy's high-pressure recruiting and other methods.

"Players do not have to be so closely scrutinized by assistant coaches before being brought to South Bend," asserts the aforementioned alumnus. "Notre Dame draws material from the four corners of the nation. The normal flow of talent rarely has left Notre Dame without sufficient material for a fine team."

As magnetic an attraction as Notre Dame is, the schedule would be far less attractive without members of the Western Conference and the service schools. Earl Blaik cannot understand the colleges taking football-playing prospective cadets and midshipmen from the academies.

"An appointment to one of the service schools is an honor, and used to be considered one by college athletic officials," says Blaik. "When college coaches knew a good football player was headed for one of the service schools, they formerly advised and encouraged him to go there.

"Now they take them away from us even after they are in school.

"That is why we have nothing worthwhile in a football way among our plebes.

"This practice is grossly unfair, for the service schools are the one place where youngsters take a stiff academic course under disciplinary requirements while arising daily at 5.50 a.m."

As Red Blaik stresses, the service schools should be football powers, but can't be without the motors.

So don't be startled if they jump back into their own league—before someone gets hurt.

Joe Carveth Turns On Former Mates, Scores Three Goals For Hat-Trick

From some unknown reserve— now listen closely, Jack Adams— the athlete always seems to draw his greatest strength against the men he once called mates and that goes for the National Hockey League as well as any other sport.

That bit of philosophy, duly delivered, is intended to return a smile to the Detroit Red Wings' mentor. But it won't. The odds are that nothing short of a victory will after the way Joe Carveth treated his former mates last night.

The husky right winger, whom Adams traded to Boston Bruins before this season opened, pulled out all the stops with a three-goal performance that led the Bruins to a 5-2 victory over the Wings at Boston. To make it worse, these three gave Joe a total of four in 10 games and all four were scored against Detroit.

The victory shot Bruins into a first-place tie with Toronto Maple Leafs, idle meanwhile, and opened up a two-point margin between these two and Montreal Canadiens, held to a 4-4 draw by the Rangers at New York.

The point earned by the Rangers hoisted them into a fourth-place deadlock with Detroit, leaving Chicago Black Hawks all alone in the cellar.

A crowd of 13,900 at Boston watched Carveth score a goal in every period as the Bruins took an early 2-0 lead over the Red Wings and increased it snugly. Big Milt Schmidt notched the other two for Bruins while centre Bill Cowley and defenceman Jack Crawford each picked up a pair of assists.

The Canadiens, playing before an audience of 15,543 at New York, twice came from behind and held a one-goal lead in the third period before Leswick knotted the score for the final time. It was Leswick's second goal of the night, with Cal Gardner and Church Russell getting three others.
