

BATTLE LINES PREPARED IN STRUGGLE FOR SUEZ

Heavy Attack On Alexandria Held Campaign Start

Intensive Bombing Raid on British Naval Base, Which Claimed Over Hundred Lives, Logical Nazi Move Following Occupation of Crete—Great Britain Places Syria on List of Enemy-Occupied Territories.

London, June 5.—(P)—With a shower of bombs officially reported to have killed more than one hundred persons last night at Alexandria, main base of the Mediterranean fleet, the Axis has delivered the first of its threatened heavy blows at the Suez Canal defences, according to qualified observers.

The assault, on which there was little direct information, well may have been the preliminary for the main event of a struggle for dominance in the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

The British Government declared French-mandated Syria and Lebanon to be "enemy occupied territory" for the purpose of restricting commerce with them. In Axis hands, Syria could have a land drive toward Suez and Alexandria, via Palestine and Trans-Jordan, and would be a wedge between the British Middle East and Turkey, Britain's non-belligerent ally.

Bombing of Alexandria, London's qualified commentators said, is the logical step following German Italian occupation of the Greek island of Crete.

Alexandria is well within 500-mile or two-hour bomber range of Crete, Syrian and Libyan airfields.

Thus, the report of the heavy aerial assault on Alexandria was taken to mean that the air Battle of Suez had started full blast, fulfilling the German high command statement that there would be no lull after the conquest of Crete.

The casualty report from Alexandria indicated that last night's attack was by far the heaviest on that British bulwark. It has been repeatedly bombed, however. So has the Suez Canal.

The ink was hardly dry on London's afternoon press editorials begging for a stiffening of Middle East defences when news of the bombing reached here.

The Evening Standard spoke of the "urgency" of the situation while the Evening News, under a heading, "Action Stations"—the traditional naval order for battle—said that loss of Crete was "grimly serious."

"The Germans are massing for an assault on Egypt and their seizure of Crete puts new power in their hands," the Evening News said. "Their bombers can cramp the movements of our fleet."

The Cairo communique of British Middle East headquarters, which leaves the reporting of air action to the Royal Air Force, said simply today: "There is nothing of importance to report."

PLAN SHIFTING OF OIL TANKER FLEET ROUTES

Washington, June 5.—(P)—Re-allocation of the Maritime tanker fleet of the United States appeared certain today, in a quick Government move to cope with the approaching oil shortage in the East.

Meanwhile, administration leaders sought to get a House vote on the legislation asked by President Roosevelt for expediting the immediate construction of oil pipelines.

Government officials did not indicate, however, to what degree they were hopeful of inducing the president to get a House vote on the legislation asked by President Roosevelt for expediting the immediate construction of oil pipelines.

It was problematical whether the two-fold attack on the emergency would remove the likelihood of such conservation measures as "Gasless Sundays" and lower temperatures in oil-heated homes next winter.

Informed sources pointed out that the pipeline bill held no immediate promise of bettering the oil transportation situation, because new pipelines would require from twelve to fifteen months to build. A re-allocation of tankers would help, they said, but the steadily increasing needs of defence industries might preempt much of this additional supply.

Defence Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes conferred on the problem yesterday with Mr. Roosevelt and said later he would call for wider use of existing tanker facilities.

His plan, it was indicated, would mean the rerouting of a number of tankers from their present runs to utilize oil sources nearest the industrial East.

Apparently anticipating that rerouting the tankers would not solve the problem, oil executives working under Ickes began a study of the application of "Gasless Sundays" during the First Great War.

To alleviate the expected shortage in oil and gasoline, leaders in the oil industry prepared a list of moves that might be taken to ease the deficiency in bottoms.

Most prominent of proposed pipeline Ickes confers on the Texas fields to New York. Its estimated cost was $70,000,000. A twenty-four-inch pipe, it would deliver a capacity load of 250,000 barrels of crude oil daily in the winter and slightly more in the summer.

The report stated that a pipe line from Portland, Me., to Montreal was expected to be completed by January 1st, 1942. With a capacity of 55,000

CLAIMS SEAWAY WOULD BENEFIT PRESENT PORTS

Commerce Department Report Submitted to Roosevelt Seeks to Justify Proposals for St. Lawrence Development.

Washington, June 5.—(P)—The United States Commerce Department, in a report to President Roosevelt, today on the probable effect of the St. Lawrence Seaway upon existing harbors, said New York, Boston and Buffalo "stand to gain much and lose but little" from the waterway project.

Striking at one of the major objections to the seaway—the fear of diversion of commerce from existing harbors—the report concluded that additional port activity stimulated by the seaway would more than offset losses of existing businesses.

Because it is not a trans-shipment centre for cargo originating and terminating in the Great Lakes, Boston Harbor would have the largest net gain from the seaway, the report said.

While the report dealt specifically only with New York, Boston and Buffalo, the Commerce Department said its conclusions shed light upon the direction in which other harbors might be influenced.

The report was the fourth in a series of seven prepared on the seaway at request of the President. Legislation to authorize the President to proceed with the vast navigation and power project was introduced in the House this week.

The report estimated Boston might lose 250,000 tons in foreign commerce, but added "Boston stands to gain a large volume of new commerce. New traffic can be expected in cereals, products, dairy products, automobiles and iron and steel products."

"New harbor activity can be expected also from shipment by water to the Great Lakes of New England products. The conclusion is clear that Boston Harbor will be one of the chief beneficiaries of the seaway."

AUSTRALIAN LIGHT CRUISER DAMAGED IN EVACUATION OF CRETE

Melbourne, June 5.—(P)—Navy Minister William Hughes disclosed today that the 6,980-ton Australian cruiser Perth was damaged by German planes during the British evacuation of Crete.

The Perth was among the ships plying between Alexandria, Egypt and the Mediterranean island's South shore to remove British troops.

On at least one trip when it took aboard 1,200 troops it was steadily attacked for thirteen hours.

Another suggestion was that persons detained under the regulations should, when possible, be held in the nearest jail "under similar conditions to that of a person being held pending trial" until their appeals have been heard or they have indicated no appeals will be made. Only then the Committee recommended, should they be sent to internment camps.

It suggested that consideration should be given to segregation in

Dakar Continues Keystone In German Efforts To Establish Economic Blockade Of Britain

By DON GILBERT (Canadian Press Staff Writer) German plans for welding Continental Europe and French North Africa into an economic unit to serve the Nazi war economy may soon be announced. The intense activity of the Vichy leaders over the past few days suggests that political, as well as military, developments are in the offing.

Territories occupied by the German armed forces as well as countries which have come under German domination more or less voluntarily already are largely geared to Nazi war production needs. A large part of the produce of French African territories also has been going to the Reich. The new plan, therefore, in its economic aspects at least, will merely formalize a situation which has existed in fact for some time.

Then it is for its political and propaganda effects that the German scheme of "continental solidarity" must be judged. It is perhaps the Nazi answer, hollow as it is, to the great partnership in war economy forged by the British Commonwealth, the United States, and the rich Netherlands, Belgian and Free French colonies—a combination Hitler has need to beat quickly, before German products, dairy products, automobiles and iron and steel products.

"New harbor activity can be expected also from shipment by water to the Great Lakes of New England products. The conclusion is clear that Boston Harbor will be one of the chief beneficiaries of the seaway."

MAJOR CHANGES IN INTERNMENT SYSTEM URGED

House Committee Would Increase Safeguards Against Unwarranted Internment Under Defence Regulations.

Ottawa, June 5.—(P)—Changes in the Defence of Canada Regulations apparently aimed at extending the protection against unwarranted internment and simplifying administration have been recommended by a House of Commons committee set up last March under Fisheries Minister Michael.

The committee urged that three-man advisory committees be set up in place of the present one-man bodies which now hear appeals from persons taken into custody under the Regulations with a view to preventing acts prejudicial to public safety or the safety of the state.

Sufficient committees should be set up, it recommended in a final report tables yesterday in the House, to "deal promptly with the cases arising in the different parts of Canada."

Another suggestion was that persons detained under the regulations should, when possible, be held in the nearest jail "under similar conditions to that of a person being held pending trial" until their appeals have been heard or they have indicated no appeals will be made. Only then the Committee recommended, should they be sent to internment camps.

SITUATION IN NORTHERN FIRE AREA CRITICAL

Over Four Thousand Men Engaged in Battling Flames in Chicoutimi Area as Fire Advances Twenty Miles an Hour.

Chicoutimi, Que., June 5.—(P)—Firefighters prayed for rain today as the sole hope of controlling the forest fires which raged over nearly 2,000 square miles in this Northern Quebec district despite efforts of more than 4,000 men to battle them.

Pushed by wind, the flames ate through ever more valuable timber, their flying embers lighting additional fires to swell the damage already estimated at millions of dollars. A heavy black smoke hung over the district as prayers for rain were offered in churches.

No villages were in immediate danger but, with the flames on the outskirts of several, an increase in the wind velocity could see them menaced. Several times, groups of firefighters were forced to flee from encircling flames and aircraft used to evacuate settlers.

The situation was reported getting worse in the Lake St. John district, West of here, where Provincial Lands Minister Cote continued an inspection tour. After surveying the situation around Chicoutimi, Mr. Cote bolstered the firefighting force to 4,500 men.

Reports said fires also were serious in the Dolbeau and Roberval districts and around Lac Chibouga, La Grand Peribonka, Mistassini, Traraco, Coche, Lac des Commissaires and Bouchette.

In the Roberval district, aircraft evacuated settlers from the interior as the flames spread through the bush at twenty miles an hour. However, the village of Roberval on Lake St. John was reported no danger.

In the Dolbeau region five hundred men were forced to leave the timber-yards around the Alex River yesterday, in the Price Brothers Lumber Company forest reserves. About six hundred men were flight.

SIMPLE BURIAL RIGHTS PLANNED FOR FORMER GERMAN EMPEROR

Doorn, The Netherlands, June 5.—(P)—Dressed in a field marshal's uniform of the Imperial German Army he led to disaster, the body of former Kaiser Wilhelm lay today in the small bedroom where he died Wednesday.

The former Emperor will be buried Monday with military honors on Hitler's orders. Rev. Bruno Doehring of Berlin's Protestant Cathedral will perform the burial rites of the Lutheran Church.

The Kaiser's death was attributed to a blood clot entering the lungs. Earlier he had suffered intestinal trouble.

BATAVIA OFFER INSUFFICIENT FOR JAPANESE

Protracted Negotiations Between Japan and Netherlands East Indies Likely to End Tomorrow.

Batavia, Netherlands East Indies, June 5.—(P)—The protracted negotiations in which Japan is urgently seeking quantities of East Indies rubber, oil and tin probably will end tomorrow with Japanese refusal of an offer of considerably smaller amounts than asked, reliable sources said today.

The formal reply to the Japanese trade proposals is scheduled to be delivered to a Japanese delegation tomorrow.

Dr. E. N. Van Kleffens, Netherlands Foreign Minister, after a conference with President Roosevelt in Washington yesterday said the Netherlands Indies were not prepared to furnish the Japanese strategic materials in great quantities.

Although the nature of the reply was not disclosed, it was understood that Netherlands authorities would offer to meet export quotas based on a survey of Japanese imports over the past year and calculated to prevent the shipment of surpluses from Japan to Germany.

It likewise was understood that the East Indies Government would reserve the right to reduce these quotas if necessary to supply the demands of British or United States war industries.

Kenkichi Yoshizawa, special economic envoy from Japan who has been in charge of the negotiations here, said recently he had been forbidden to accept less than the quotas asked in the Japanese proposals.

UNITED STATES DOUBLES SIZE OF ARMY CAMPS

Washington, June 5.—(P)—A surprise disclosure that the United States army is rushing a new $1,000,000,000 camp construction programme led informed legislators to believe today that the War Department had decided to increase the field forces to 2,800,000 men, or double their present strength.

One member of Congress, with close War Department connections said that the new camp programme meant "that the international situation is such that it has been deemed wise to prepare for this new emergency that may be approaching our shores."

The first intimation of the programme was under way came from the Army's Construction Quartermaster, Brig.-Gen. Grehon Somervell, during testimony before a House Military Sub-committee yesterday.

Within the previous twenty-four hours, he told the Committee, he had received orders to rush the award of contracts for construction work totalling "about $1,000,000,000." Declining to provide details, he explained that "in some respects these things are military secrets."

On another defence front, meanwhile, the Maritime Commission moved closer to the 2,000,000-ton goal President Roosevelt set for it several weeks ago when he directed the creation of a special shipping pool in the interest of defence and British aid programmes.

The Commission called upon Atlantic and Gulf coastwise steamship operators to turn over half their tonnage to the pool. Approximately 125 ships with a total tonnage of 750,000 are now in the two coastwise services.

The acquisition of 375,000 tons from this source would put the tonnage earmarked for the pool at approximately 1,875,000. Two weeks ago the Commission was understood to have approximately 1,500,000 tons lined up, counting in almost 500,000 tons of refugee foreign shipping which the Government would take over under terms of the bill now awaiting President Roosevelt's signature.

In summoning the operators to Washington to work out methods for diverting the requested tonnage, the Commission said the diverted coastwise ships would be used to carry strategic materials on both nearby and long voyage routes.

The question of new army camps has been under War Department consideration for some time, it was understood, because of the possibility that changing world conditions might suddenly require the housing of additional troops.

Ottawa, June 5.—(P)—Canadians on Wednesday subscribed $43,155,050 to Canada's $600,000,000 Victory War Loan, running the total for the first three days' operations to $141,962,400, the National Loan Committee announced today.

The total number of individual subscribers on Wednesday was equal to that of the preceding two days combined. G. W. Spinney, general chairman of the Loan Executive Committee, said in a statement.

Wednesday's subscriptions, too, were satisfactorily above the daily average of $33,000,000 required to take care of all loan subscriptions by the time books close on June 21.

City totals reported this morning included: Montreal, $33,285,950 or 28.4 per cent; Charlottetown, $195,400 or 35.4 per cent; Summerside, P.E.I., $109,450 or 48.6 per cent.

Indians on the Branford, Ont., reserve plan to hold a general council meeting Friday night to formulate plans for purchase of a substantial bond.

The National Loan Committee said a $5,000,000 subscription from Imperial Oil Co. Ltd. and its subsidiaries, Toronto, so far was the largest individual bond purchase reported.

Besides that subscription, a partial list of large buyers issued today showed a $2,500,000 order from Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada, and West Kootenay Power and Light Co. Ltd., Montreal; and $2,000,000 orders from Canada Packers Ltd., Toronto, and Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Co., Ltd., Winnipeg.

Canadian National Railway Co. bought bonds worth $1,283,200—$900,000 of the sum being invested by the employees' pension fund. Canadian Kodak Co. Ltd., of Mount Dennis, Ont., subscribed for $1,600,000 worth of bonds; Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., Montreal, for $550,000 worth; and Dominion Stores Ltd., Toronto, and International Power Co., Montreal, for $500,000 each.

Largest loan rally for the night was at Westmount, Que. Montreal suburbs where 50,000 gathered to hear addresses by Air Minister Power and Norma Shearer, the Westmount-born screen star.

Maj. Power said air supremacy is the "essential and fundamental prelude to victory" and Canada needed vast sums to help win that supremacy for the Allies.

"I say that without the money necessary for victory, there can be no economic, indeed no physical success," he said.

increased Civilian Check Urged Over Expenditures Of Services

Ottawa, June 4.—(P)—Increased civilian checks on expenditures of the fighting services, study of replacement of services personnel with civilians in some routine tasks, elimination of duplication of functions and further co-ordination were recommended in an interim report of the House of Commons committee on War Expenditures tabled yesterday in the House by its Chairman, J. T. Thomson (Lib., Selkirk).

The Committee, which Mr. Thomson said was organized to see "that a dollar's worth of war effort was obtained for every dollar contributed by Canadians, reviewed various aspects of costs of war establishments and advocated further studies with the prospect that additional controls would ensure economy of major importance.

The report said proper controls did not lessen the effective power of the armed forces, and that the Canadian establishments did not seem to appreciate as fully as those of the United Kingdom that financial controls had to be in the hands of civilians.

A key to civilian financial control would be establishment of committees in each department, where a civilian financial superintendent

Defence Mediation Board Meets With Fresh Blow In Plane Plant

Washington, June 5.—(P)—A second sudden blow at prestige of the National Defence Mediation Board was delivered today when the C.I.O.-United Automobile Workers' Union said its 9,000 workers in the North American Aviation Corporation plant at Inglewood, Calif., would not report for duty. The company has $196,000,000 in defence orders for Britain and the United States.

The head of the C.I.O.'s United Automobile Workers' Union at the plant accused the board of "stalling the workers." Management and Union officials were in Washington, summoned by the Board in an attempt to compose the dispute.

Company officials, preparing to use American Federation of Labor help to keep up production, simultaneously said in a statement they were "surprised and shocked" at the strike call "while negotiations are still in progress before the National Defence Mediation Board."

This new walkout decision was announced only a few hours after the Board had been denounced by O. M. Orton, President of 12,000 striking Congress of Industrial Organizations Lumber Workers in the Pacific Northwest. Orton accompanied the denunciation with a refusional to abide by the Board's public recommendation for settlement. A closed session of the entire board today was expected to consider steps to counter Orton's refusal to request his Union, the International Woodworkers of America, to resume work at logging and mill operations in the Puget Sound area.

Orton charged that the Board's recommendations for ending the twenty-six-day-old strike did not differ from employer proposals. He called for immediate return to work pending a fact-finding inquiry by the Board, and a 7 1/2 cent hourly wage increase. The Union stood firm on demands for a full Union shop, Union hiring hall, paid vacations and abolition of piece work, as well as the wage increase. Common laborers now receive 67 1/2 cents an hour.

The C.I.O. is demanding of North American an increase from fifty to seventy-five cents hourly in beginners' pay and a general increase of ten cents an hour. Imminent threats of strike action in two other essential ingredients of national defence, coal and aluminum, faced the Board. Postponed from yesterday was a

NEW MONOPOLY CHARGES HEARD IN PARLIAMENT

Regina Liberal Member Claims Prairie Residents Being Victimized by Government-Subsidized Fruit Marketers.

By C. R. BLACKBURN (Canadian Press Staff Writer) Ottawa, June 5.—(P)—Donald McNiven (Lib., Regina City), charged in the House of Commons last night that Prairie Province people are being "pillaged and plundered" by monopolies—particularly by an alleged fruit monopoly in British Columbia.

He spoke just before the House adjourned after making some progress in nearly four hours' consideration of Agriculture Department estimates.

Hon. Grote Stirling (Con., Yale), who said he would not agree with everything Mr. McNiven charged, told the Regina member that "if there were one cent as bad as he has described them," he could raise redress under the Combines Investigation Act.

There was no time for Agriculture Minister Gardiner to make a reply at the moment.

Mr. McNiven said "either one or two companies" set up under British Columbia marketing legislation operated to control the fruit industry in British Columbia and that it was "today the mostly highly protected industry in this country."

He said the Combines Investigation Act had no jurisdiction. In the British Columbia fruit industry "there is a monopoly subsidized by the Dominion Govern-

LITTLE DAMAGE IN RENEWAL OF GERMAN RAIDS

Three Enemy Bombers Reported Shot Down in Series of Widespread but Scattered Raids on Britain.

London, June 5.—(P)—Nazi planes in widespread overnight attack bombed the Midlands, Southeast and Northwest England, East Anglia and London districts. Three enemy bombers were shot down.

A communique said casualties were nowhere large and that no extensive damage was done. The City of London experienced its twenty-fourth consecutive bombless night, although Nazi bombers, striking across the Channel toward the city, caused an air raid alarm shortly after midnight.

It was announced that two enemy fighter planes were shot down and one Royal Air Force machine is missing after air fighting earlier last night five miles above the English Channel.

The Channel clashes followed heavy daylight raids by the R.A.F. on the Nazi-occupied French coast. The port of Boulogne was said to have been the principal target.

Several times Wednesday the rumble of heavy explosions was heard from the French coast. For a time the ground shook on the English side as continual explosions sounded from the Boulogne region.

An Air Ministry communique said British bombers also attacked the harbor at Zeebrugge, hitting the mole and cargo alongside. A supply

Berlin — The German high command today claimed Nazi submarines have sunk merchant vessels totalling 24,400 tons in attacks on British shipping lanes in the North and Middle Atlantic. It was also claimed speedboats attacked a unit of light British naval forces off the English coast and sank an auxiliary warship of approximately 6,000 tons.

(Confirmation of these claims was not available in London.)

Rome — Damage to the Island of Rhodes in a British air raid Tuesday was acknowledged by the Italian high command today. Defence works of British-held Tobruk, Libya, the communique said, have been heavily pounded by Italian artillery and planes.

Ankara — Turkish anxiety over the reported debarkation of German troops in Syria was voiced by Foreign Minister Sikru Saracoglu in a Foreign Office interview with German Ambassador Franz von Papen, responsible sources said.

While all returns from the six counties which comprise the Eastern Township district have not been filed as yet, C. A. Gallagher, joint district organizer, revealed today that to date $491,000 had been subscribed. The objective for this division is $7,000,000.

Following are the amounts and objective percentages of the six counties: Bromie, $32,000, 10 per cent; Missisquoi, $14,000, two per cent; Richmond, $143,000, twenty-two per cent; Shefford, $39,000, four per cent; Sherbrooke, $239,000, eight per cent, and Stanstead, $24,000, two per cent.

It was reported today that a number of other large subscriptions had been made but unfortunately Ottawa red-tape prohibited immediate announcement of the names of the subscribers and the amount which they contributed.

It was learned officially, however, that the Eastern Township Agricultural Association had decided to invest $3,000 of its sinking fund in Victory Bonds. Mayor Joseph Labrecque said that the city had approved of the decision of the Association.

As far as the city itself was concerned, Mayor Labrecque said that no decision had been reached as yet as to what amount the city would contribute but "undoubtedly it will subscribe a substantial amount."

The Board of Trade's action was announced soon after the Australian Government had issued an order classifying Syria and Lebanon as "enemy occupied" territory for trading purposes.

Egypt, Britain's ally, yesterday listed Syria as German-occupied territory in the first such action. Today's Board of Trade announcement also stated that as from July 27 Syria and Lebanon were regarded as "an enemy destination for contraband purposes and all goods originating or owned in that territory will be liable to seizure."

Britain declared all France subject to the blockade last July but French colonies and mandates were all ordered to trade free except with Germany, Italy or Nazi-occupied territory.

Britain brought into use the economic arm against the French mandates even as Britons expected to hear at almost any time that the military arm had been brought into play there.

Forecast was made by military circles that simultaneous German attacks would be made on Palestine, Cyprus and Egypt in an attempt to divide Britain's Middle East forces. Turkish sources said the Nazis had nearly 15,000 men in French-mandated Syria.

The action of the Royal Air Force in bombing an oil depot at Beirut, Syria, was described by authoritative sources as a "natural and necessary development" of British policy previously outlined by Foreign Secretary Eden.

The R.A.F. attack, which was described as vigorous, was directed at gasoline supplies needed by the Nazi planes, these sources said. To meet the situation, which appeared heading rapidly toward a crisis on the wings of developments in Syria, British leaders were reported as speeding military preparations on all fronts.

British troops stationed in Palestine, Iraq and Cyprus were said to have been heavily reinforced during the past few days. (NBC's correspondent in Ankara, Turkey, reported in a broadcast last night that Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Free French, had arrived in Palestine for staff talks with Gen. Sir Maitland Wilson, British Commander.)

There also were unofficial reports that large units of the Royal Navy's Eastern Mediterranean fleet, based at Alexandria, were concentrating off the Syrian coast.

British press dispatches from the Syrian frontier reported that the vanguard of Nazi forces declared already in Syria was being steadily augmented by a process of infiltration by land, sea and air.

Large numbers of Nazis, disguised as Jewish refugees and bearing false Balkan passports, were said to be slipping into the French mandate through Turkey.

Under cover of darkness, it was said, other Nazis were being landed on the Syrian coast from small fishing vessels.

The Turkish radio, which estimated the Germans had accumulated a full division in Syria, said the Nazis were arriving without arms but declared the Vichy Government was understood to have agreed to provide them with war equipment.

Reuters News Agency said German air strength in Syria also was being built up with the daily arrival of a dozen or more planes—mostly fighters. Approximately 150 empty transport planes landed on the Rayak airfield Monday, the agency said.

The British press expressed opinion that Germany was hoping to provoke open conflict between Britain and France over the situation in Syria.

Beebe, June 5.—Fire of undetermined origin starting in a cottage owned by Mrs. J. Lorimer destroyed seven cottages and a barn on the Adventist Camp Grounds about eleven o'clock Monday evening.

The blaze was discovered by Walter Edgerton who gave the alarm. A large number of volunteer firemen assisted the regular firemen and the absence of any wind helped to prevent a more serious fire.

In 1936, fire destroyed a number of cottages and also the tabernacle, which was later rebuilt.

"They have the cash. They are willing to live up to every condition imposed by the monopoly, yet they cannot buy the fruit. The monopoly takes to itself the right to select its own dealers and designates the terms on which its products shall be sold."

Most of the day was spent on a bill to amend the Alberta Natural Resources Act with a number of members opposing a move to permit the Calgary Power Company to raise the water level and generate power at Lake Minnewanka in Banff National Park.

Resources Minister Crerar sponsored the bill which was based on an agreement between the Alberta Government and the Mines and Resources Department and which he said was the most optimistic observed for power for war industries.

The bill was put through all stages of the Senate twice over-riding recommendations of its Banking and Commerce Committee by defeating, thirty-one to nineteen and twenty-seven to seventeen, amendments the Committee suggested in the Bill to amend the Pensions Act, bringing it into line with the requirements of the present war.

Among the various means suggested by the committee for solving the transportation problem were: 1—Easing the load line limitations on tankers. By taking on board ship quantities in excess of the present amount permitted in compliance with waterline regulations, an additional 130,000 tons capacity could be picked up.

The fear of diversion is unfounded, the possibilities of new traffic very promising."

The report estimated New York might lose approximately 1,800,000 tons or eight per cent of its average annual foreign waterborne traffic and about three per cent of its coastwise and intercoastal traffic, but said that new traffic in interregional cargoes between the New York and Great Lakes areas would "more than compensate for all the loss in coastwise and intercoastal receipts and shipments."

The report said analysis of the effect of the seaway "finds there is no real basis for apprehension that Buffalo will lose its pre-eminent position in flour milling."

Balancing a possible loss of 700,000 tons in grain trans-shipment traffic, the report said, would be increased traffic in sugar, fruits and canned goods for distribution in the Buffalo area.

FOOD PROSPECT SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT

United States Government Pressure for Increased Production Removes Threat of Immediate Shortage.

Washington, June 5.—(P)—Government pressure for increased farm production to meet abrupt demands of defence and lease-lend programs appeared today to have removed immediate threats of United States food shortages.

At the same time, Department of Agriculture reports indicated, the drive was not expected to lighten the financial strain placed on consumers by recent food price increases.

Official as well as consumer apprehension over possible scarcity of dairy products has been allayed, at least temporarily, but surveys showing milk production to be running at least five per cent above a year ago, British requests, however, brought a plea from the Department for a further increase of thirty-three per cent in cheese and twenty-five per cent in evaporated milk.

An additional increase of at least three per cent in whole milk production is sought to meet a growing domestic demand arising from widespread defence employment.

Poultry production, reported much improved over the situation two months ago when the Department appealed for sharp increases, figured along with pork prospects in the more optimistic note struck by the latest agricultural surveys. This season's pig crop is expected to equal that of last season.

Further, the Department reported, larger acreages have been devoted to tomatoes and dry edible beans, vegetable items asked by Britain in large quantities.

Barring a severe drought, such as threatened in the East before recent rains brought relief, supplies in all these items should be sufficient to meet all anticipated needs, officials said.

BISHOP POSES REAL QUESTION FOR DEFENDERS

Locking of English Churches at Night May Preclude Use of Bells as Warning of Invasion Attempt.

By EDDY GILMORE (Associated Press Staff Writer) London, June 5.—(P)—A ringing question jarred Britain today amid swelling talk of invasion in high places and low.

"Who," the Bishop of Chelmsford wants to know, "is going to ring the bells which are supposed to tell the populace that invasion has begun?"

Soldiers are busy digging fresh trenches in the parks and are unwinding new barbed wire to fortify almost every bush and tree, but the Bishop's poser is perplexing lots of persons.

It's this way: Britain's churches are locked at night. Comes the invader. What happens? Some one has got to get the key, which usually is kept at the rectory. The rectory often is some distance, perhaps miles, from the church.

Suppose then the parson hasn't got the key. He must refer one to the vergier, who must be found, awakened and asked for it. Some resolutions suggested include: 1—Furnish the Home Guards with skeleton keys to the churches and give them a little instructions in proper bell ringing technique. 2—Substitute rockets for bells.

URGES DEFENCE PLANTS ADOPT LONGER HOURS

Texas Democrat Senator Urges that Defence Production Plants Be Placed on 24-Hour Basis.

Washington, June 5.—(P)—A demand that the United States Government compel the armaments industry to go on a twenty-four-hour production basis was made today by Senator Tom Connally as the Senate Defence Investigating Committee sought further information on operations of the Office of Production Management.

The Texas Democrat told reporters that testimony given by the Committee indicated production is not moving swiftly enough to supply military needs of Britain and the United States. He said he intended to find out why the O.P.M. had not sought to force plants on to a twenty-four-hour basis.

"We ought to have every defence industry running on these shifts," Connally declared. "The O.P.M. officials have told us that we should be producing more, that there is need for speed. Well, let's get it by keeping this war to be going twenty-four hours a day where that is practical."

He said he thought progress might be made in the same direction by relaxation of wage and hour legislation in cases where the President found there was insufficient skilled labor to man three shifts.

Also, he said, the spreading of overtime to smaller firms and the United States. He said he intended to find out why the O.P.M. had not sought to force plants on to a twenty-four-hour basis.

The sub-committee thought further study of this subject should be made before final judgment was passed.

Preparation of estimates for the fighting services should be under jurisdiction of the Deputy Minister of the Department concerned before they were presented to the Minister for approval, the report said. It advocated appointment of a financial superintendent under the Deputy, charged with the duty of gathering, classifying and preparing estimates for presentation to the Deputy.

CITY and SUBURBAN

SHERBROOKE, QUEBEC, THURSDAY, JUNE 5, 1941.

Appeal On Behalf Of Victory Loan Made By Dr. McGreer

Reinforcement Troops of 4th and 8th Reconnaissance Battalions Staged Demonstration on Parade Grounds Last Evening—Loan Will Provide Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen with Machines They Need for Victory, Declares Bishop's University Principal.

The husky, tanned Reinforcement troops of the 4th and 8th Reconnaissance Battalions, stationed at the Exhibition Grounds, turned out last night for the third time since their arrival last week-end in this city to do their bit in the big push behind the 1941 Victory Loan.

Enthusiastically applauded by about 1,000 citizens, four specially-chosen platoons performed on the Parade Grounds in a demonstration of physical training, bayonet fighting, protection against gas and precision drill. The five Companies were formed up around the race track while the demonstrations were carried on.

Addresses urging the residents of Sherbrooke to buy their share of the bonds which make up the $600,000,000 loan were made in English by Rev. Dr. A. H. McGreer, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, and in French by Charles de L. Mignault, the speakers being introduced by J. Leo Foley and Emilien Gingras, of the local Victory Loan Publicity Committee.

A large crowd had assembled when the troops, who are under the command of Major W. E. Danbar during their stay in Sherbrooke, marched on to the Parade Grounds shortly before seven-thirty o'clock. The four demonstration platoons marched into the centre of the field and the companies swung around the cinder track to various positions.

Perhaps the most popular of the four platoons was the one which carried on precision drill, but to pick out any one would be unfair since each one performed its duties surely and efficiently. The precision platoon showed great smartness in arms drill on the march and at the halt, and the men carried out the movements for long periods without tiring.

The anti-gas platoon was fully equipped with gas masks and capes, and demonstrated how protection is secured from gas while the men are on the march. The spectators well imagined how Germans would be dealt with as the bayonet platoon drove their bayonets through a series of dummies and attacked with rifles blazing, and the P.T. squad showed how the Army keeps the men in good physical condition by well-planned exercises.

At the end of the demonstration the troops formed up down the centre of the Parade Grounds, the companies marching onto their markers, and then wheeled to the left and marched back along the cinder track to Elizabeth Street, while the spectators applauded warmly.

Text of Rev. Dr. McGreer's address follows:

"The first point to be noted in connection with this Victory Loan is that it is a good investment. Three per cent on a Dominion of Canada Bond is a good rate of interest, and there is no better security in the world. I remember an old friend saying: 'When I have any money to invest, I choose an investment which will enable me to go to sleep at night knowing that when I wake in the morning it will still be there. I buy Dominion of Canada Bonds. So he never had to take a loss in interest or capital, as many a man

E. RIOUX BUYS LORD PROPERTY FOR $15,000

Local Lawyer Purchases Property to Protect Mortgage—Had Municipal Valuation of $25,000.

The property on Dufferin Avenue formerly owned by Forrest W. Lord was bought this morning by Emile Rioux, local lawyer, at a sale held in the office of Sheriff J. P. C. Lemieux. Purchase price was $15,000.

Mr. Rioux was the only bidder for the property, which has a municipal valuation of $25,000, according to City Treasurer Maurice Cormier. He had held the mortgage on the funeral home and property for some time, and told the Record he made the purchase to protect the mortgage.

Some time ago an action instituted in an attempt to force Mr. Rioux to purchase the property for $19,000 was dismissed.

of less sound judgment has had to do. It requires no appeal to patriotism to commend this Victory Loan to an experienced investor.

"But the Victory Loan makes another appeal which must stir us all. It will provide our soldiers, sailors and airmen with the machines which they need for victory. When you see a man in uniform, I know you admire him and are grateful for the spirit which has impelled him to enlist in His Majesty's Forces.

Experience, however, has made it clear that in this war men cannot win unless they have the necessary war machines. Our enemy has made no mistake in his estimate of the value of machines. We must have tanks, planes and more planes, ships and more ships. It is our duty to see that the men who are ready to fight for us have the tools for the job. No man or woman is worthy of these men in uniform unless he or she is prepared to make sacrifices for them. We must spend less on ourselves and more for them.

"Don't think of purchasing war bonds merely as an investment. Think of it as providing at least a part of a plane, a tank, or a ship. We must win this war. We can win this war. But let us win it with the least possible sacrifice of human life. Let us see that our men are equipped with the best machines that can be made and with all the machines they need.

"This is a time for deeds. The whole world knows that Canada is attempting to raise a Victory Loan of $600,000,000. It will be an encouragement to every citizen in the British Empire and to millions of our Empire's friends, and it will be a message of defiance to our ruthless foe if this Victory Loan is oversubscribed. It will be oversubscribed if every citizen does his best. So do your best. Keep the factories and the shipyards humming. Help to turn out the guns, the tanks, the planes, and the ships. Let the enemy know that we are resolved to make the Armies of Democracy mightier than those which he commands. Bring nearer the day when the tyrants who would enslave us are overthrown, and humanity can enjoy the hallowed light of a world at peace."

ANNULMENT OF WILL ASKED BY COOKSHIRE MAN

An action for the annulment of a last will and testament prepared by the late Dame Elizabeth Ellen Hannan making Miss Ephrosine Masson, of Danville, the universal legatee of an estate of approximately $50,000, has been entered in Superior Court by Thomas Barbeau, of Cookshire, and the writ of the action has been served through the plaintiff's attorneys, Gagne and Desmarais.

The plaintiff, who claims to be the nephew and the sole heir by direct descent of Dame Hannan, who died on April 11, 1939, in Danville, alleges that he is entitled to demand the revocation of the will because the defendant had contrived to bring about the death of Dame Hannan and had restrained her from revoking or modifying the will which she had drawn up.

In his declaration Barbeau points out that the defendant, who was a neighbor of Dame Hannan, had under herself through the plaintiff's attorney, preventing all communication between Dame Hannan and her relatives and friends, had given her insufficient nourishment and had caused her a great amount of troubles and worries.

According to Barbeau, the woman had frequently expressed her desire to change her will, and particularly to name her sister, Dame Honoriette Hannan, wife of Philippe Barbeau and mother of the plaintiff, the legatee, and it was in order to prevent her from making changes that she had acted as she did. Barbeau alleges that the defendant actually destroyed a second will Dame Hannan made to make nullifying the first.

No plea has yet been filed.

GUILD PLAYERS SCORED SUCCESS LAST EVENING

"Aunt Abby Answers an Ad" Produced by St. Agnes' Guild Dramatic Society Entertained Large Audience.

The cast in "Aunt Abby Answers an Ad," the delightful laugh-producing comedy so excellently presented last evening by the St. Agnes' Guild Dramatic Society, easily maintained its record as one of the best amateur organizations in Sherbrooke.

Long before eight o'clock the Parish Hall was crowded to capacity, and from the first curtain, which reveals two charming young ladies, Anna Ainsley and Lillian Lorraine, chatting in the living room of Aunt Abby's home at her "Toomerville Tourist Camp," until the final scene in which even "Aunt Abby," a dyed-in-the-wool old maid, succumbs to the persistent persuasion of her heretofore unwelcome suitor, Horace Harter, there was not one dull moment, both action and dialogue keeping the audience in roars of laughter.

The plot of the story centers in a magazine entitled "Love Secrets," which is introduced by Mrs. Purviance, who, in a charmingly affected manner tries to persuade Aunt Abby to try her luck in answering an advertisement by a man who wants a wife.

Of course Aunt Abby scoffs at Mrs. Purviance's suggestion, and rudely turns her attractive tourist away. Later, however, she secretly reads the book and writes a letter.

This letter and the plot suggested by the boys, Billy Barberton and Bobby Barrington, who want to visit Aunt Abby's attractive visitors, Anna and Lillian, to impersonate "Horace Harter," the "lonely widower" she has written to, gives rise to many hilarious situations and almost causes serious trouble between the young people.

The unwinding of the tangled threads in which all members of the cast are involved, the amazement of Lucindy Lovejoy, Aunt Abby's maid-general, at the behaviour of her mistress, whose "love potion" seems to have turned her head and which later affects Lucindy, too, together with Horace Harter's brave defense of the woman he has loved so long, and the pert impudence of Essie Ebersole, a little tattletale, form a general mix-up, but like all true love stories everything turns out happily in the end and poor Horace wins his "Abby" and together they plan improvements for a more modernized "Toomerville Tourist Camp."

The cast of characters, each one of whom contributed to the splendid success of the tout ensemble, her costumes and make up, the latter due to the kind assistance of Miss Evelyn Kinder, who also acted as prompter, follows: Abby Ainsley, a dyed-in-the-wool old maid, Miss Eve Cam; Lucindy Lovejoy, her maid-of-all-work, Miss Doris Price; Horace Harter, her unwelcome suitor, Albert Perry; Anna Ainsley, a lonely widow, Howard Woolerton; Murray; Lillian Lorraine, Anna's girl-child, Miss Irene Bachelier; Billy Barberton, engaged to Lillian, Morris Lemay; Bobby Barrington, Anna's boy-friend, Ronald MacMillan; Mrs. Purviance, a tourist, Mrs. James Wark; Horace Harkwell, a lonely widower, Howard Woolerton; Essie Ebersole, a tattletale, Miss Ruth MacMillan.

The play will be staged again tonight and after last evening's success the St. Agnes Guild Players need have no fear but that their major effort for the spring of 1941, will go bravely "over the top."

Necessity For Organizing Is Recognized By Farmers

"Farmers are in need of a strong organization to bargain for them," stated P. D. MacArthur at a large meeting of farmers held in Lennoxville yesterday afternoon. Three provisional county committees were formed to lay the basis for a study and organization of a farm federation on a county scale. These are for the counties of Stanstead, Sherbrooke and Compton. The big picnic-meeting was held at the Dominion Experimental Farm, to which all the farmers were welcomed by the Superintendent, Mr. Saint-Marie.

"We have been too individualistic," said Mr. MacArthur to a large crowd gathered in the machinery hall. "We have no bargaining power as individuals," he continued. "We must get together and co-operate. Something has to be done about the farm situation, and the farmers are the only people who can do it effectively." He quoted the example of the Montreal Milk Producers Association.

The speaker told how every province had a branch of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture except Quebec. The Federation was started about six years ago as a Western farmers' movement, according to Mr. MacArthur, but during the last two years it has spread out all over the country.

"To be really strong," he concluded, "we've all got to pull together and see that proper actions are taken."

Henri Bois, Secretary of the Co-operative Federate of Quebec, was the second speaker. He stressed the fact that agriculture needed a national voice to speak with strength for all Canada. "We can't accomplish much on a small scale," he said. "We must have a large national organization."

"But," he added, "a large Canadian farm federation must have its beginnings in the smallest and humblest local groups."

Professor L. H. Hamilton mentioned the work of Macdonald College in agriculture, and invited all farmers, delegates and others to spend the day at the provincial conference to be held there on Monday, June 9.

Mrs. Donald MacElaiza spoke for the farm forum held in Lennoxville, Kenneth Dean for a group in North Hatley, Weston Orr for a similar group at Milby, and Mrs. Joan Kirby for a forum held in Cookshire. All mentioned the benefits of their winter study and stressed the need for a real vital farm organization.

Said one local leader: "Farmers compose about one-third of the population and yet for the last few years have only been averaging about nine per cent of the national income."

Another person added that farmers should not only be interested in making the extra dollars, but in building better communities. "We need parity prices," he said. "We must make the spending dollar as nearly equal to the buying dollar."

The meeting of over one hundred farmers consisted of persons from Cookshire, Bury, Scottsdown, Canterbury, Sawyerville, Milby, Lennoxville, Ayer's Cliff, North Hatley, Way's Mills, Glouceville, Tomfobias, Massawippi, Dixville, Coaticook and many other places.

The three counties then met in separate units and after an hour's discussion, the large session was reconvened. Each Secretary presented his group's findings to the main body. In every case the findings were the same. All groups recognized the necessity for organization above all else and they made plans for studying and setting up a farm federation.

Smaller meetings are to be called in the three counties, and all agricultural societies, Women's Institutes and other groups are to be contacted. Committees to do this are composed of the delegates to Macdonald College with added farmers.

The meeting was then closed by Rev. Errol Amaron, Principal of Stanstead College, who acted as Chairman for the main session. In adjourning the meeting, Mr. Amaron stressed the need for good study, loyalty and good action.

The Experimental Farm head, Mr. Saint-Marie, considered the meeting a very successful one.

"I think the farmers here are going to do big things," stated Mr. MacArthur after the meeting.

Said Ken Cam, North Hatley farmer, "We don't know very much about organization, but we've been hearing it talked about for a long, long time. We've got to find out and really do things. That's why I'm going down to the June 9 meeting at Macdonald College. I want to meet the other farmers who are thinking and acting about things and I want to hear all about farm organization."

Our congratulations to: Antonin Deslauriers, City Clerk, on the occasion of his birthday.

THE H. M. C. S. SHERBROOKE

Providing as it does the first direct link between the City of Sherbrooke and the Royal Canadian Navy, the corvette H.M.C.S. Sherbrooke just commissioned at an Eastern Canada port will have the special interest of the people of this community, many of whom will seek to carry on the contact established by the presentation by the City of a gift for the wardroom of the vessel.

Naval officials point out that many items to supplement the customary regular supplies issued by the authorities are required for the comfort and pleasure of the men aboard these vessels and suggest that the citizens of the various cities after which the vessels are named might look after these needs. The demands are by no means excessive, being limited to books and magazines, both English and French, games, small radios, survivors' bags, etc.

While individual, direct gifts are by no means frowned upon, the task of supplying these items might best be provided by the creation of a small special committee within the ranks of some existing assistance group to co-ordinate the effort. The call involves no large scale expenditure of money. In fact, actual cash needs are very small, the demand being rather for supplies and materials which many citizens have already on hand. The books need not be new. The mere fact that the magazines are a week or so old in no way detracts from their value and the games can have served their purposes in the home of the present owners. A committee of two or three individuals could co-ordinate the supply and assure its constancy, provided a minimum of co-operation is secured from the majority of the citizens.

The appeal of the naval authorities need in no way hamper any other war activity, while it will prove of inestimable value to the men who operate this vessel which is taking its place in the patrolling of the Atlantic sea lanes to assure the delivery of the needed food and war supplies to Great Britain.

FRENCH PUBLIC COLLABORATION?

Despite the repeated declarations of Vice-Premier Charles Darnley, Pierre Laval and other pro-Axis supporters of the present Vichy puppet-government that French opinion is rapidly swinging around to the German cause, stories coming from both the Occupied and Unoccupied Zones of France tell of increasing passive resistance for the Nazi overlords. One story tells that in the Latin Quarter of Paris, where the students actively demonstrate against the Nazis, the cafes along the Boulevard St. Michel are filled with German soldiers. When the soldiers enter the restaurants they unclasp their belts and bayonets and hang them up. The students copy them by wearing a belt from which a bicycle pump is suspended by a piece of string. On entering a restaurant they make a great show of removing belt, string and bicycle pump and hanging them up in the German manner.

Another story tells of a German officer who walked about Paris for an hour with a piece of paper on his back on which was written "De Gaulle Temm." To the Germans this meant nothing, but to Frenchmen it read, "De Gaulle l'aime"—De Gaulle loves you. Students too are active in Marseille, where a great religious revival is taking place among the young people. They include followers of General de Gaulle who escaped from Occupied to Unoccupied France. Some have been captured and interned in Fort Saint Jean, a former Foreign Legion depot in Marseille.

From Caen comes a report of a new form of punishment the Germans are imposing on the French. If a Frenchman is heard saying the word "Boche" he is taken before the Kommandatur, who as a punishment orders the offender to repeat two hundred times the words, "Messieurs, les Allemands"—Gentlemen, the Germans. Caen is among the French towns which have been heavily fined. There, as in other places, telephone cables were cut and a fine of 10,000,000 francs was imposed.

Certainly these are not signs of any active desire of the people of France to co-operate with the Germans despite the best efforts of their leaders to sell them out.

GREAT CARE NEEDED

The serious forest fires, presently raging in the Chicoutimi area and threatening thousands of square miles of valuable forest lands, should bring home to the citizens of the Province the vital need of exercising every precaution against possible causes for starting fires when necessity compels them to enter the woodlands of the Province. The present spring has been one of the driest in many years and vast areas of timberland are reported to be in a tinderlike condition, requiring but the smallest spark to ignite large areas.

In many districts, the Provincial authorities have found it advisable to close the forests to everybody but those whose business requires them to travel through the woods. While the situation is not so acute in the Eastern Townships, anyone using the woods should see that any matches are completely extinguished before being thrown away, and that any camp and picnic fires are well-doused before being left, as wind and ground conditions might fan the smallest spark into a major conflagration.

The woodlands form a valuable part of the assets of the Province of Quebec, an asset which assumes additional importance due to developments Overseas which place upon the Province the responsibility of supplying many markets formerly served from Norway, Finland and Sweden, and thus improving the foreign exchange position of the Dominion, and any loss through fire correspondingly hampers the war effort of the nation, while the transfer of thousands of men to service in fire-fighting reduces the productive capacity of the country at large.

In addition to the national aspect, forest fires also provide a serious menace to life and property in the affected areas, oft-times resulting in the wiping out of growing and progressive communities in newly-established areas.

Thus from a national and personal point of view, it is the duty of each and every Canadian to take every precaution against the outbreak and spread of forest fires.

PRAYER FOR COURAGE

Why should I long for what I know Can never be revealed to me? I only pray that I may grow As sure and bravely as a tree. I do not ask why tireless grief Remains or why all beauty flies; I only crave the blind relief Of branches groping toward the skies. Let me bring every seed to fruit, Sharing, whatever comes to pass, The strong persistence of the root. The patient courage of the grass. Heartened by every source of mirth, I shall not mind the wounds and scars, Feeling the solid strength of earth, The bright conviction of the stars.

PRESS COMMENTS

THAT FRANCE STILL LIVES

There was once a France, corrupt, betrayed and cowardly, that was saved by a peasant girl. There was once a France saved by soldiers who were not well armed and well trained but who were singing a new song that would not let them go anywhere but forward though all hell was mobilized to enslave them again. There was once a France that lost a war and paid a ransom but nevertheless remained free and free. There was once a France whose soldiers laid down their bodies many thousands strong in front of the fortress of Verdun so that an enemy of the French people and of their civilization might not pass.

There was a France where liberty had sprung in fire and glory out of a long depression; where men wrote, painted and composed in a very ecstasy of new freedom; where, for the humblest, life was an art, decent, civilized and individual; which had in its cities, wedded tradition with a quick appreciation of all that was witty, precise and novel, made itself a place of pilgrimage and a second homeland for all who loved the fine, the delicate, the genial, the penetrating, the mellow aspects of human existence.

That France has been misled, conquered and silenced. Strangers of her own blood and of alien blood may now speak for her in Paris. But that France still lives. She has the allegiance of her people though they cannot proclaim it. She has, as ever, the respect and admiration of the free nations, not least our own. No act or word of her temporary lords of misrule will make us think of her as the less our friend. She will rise stronger and better loved from these days of her tribulation. Our hearts are with her before and here. We are committed to do all we can to help her strike off her chains. For no world in which France is under the heel of an oppressor is safe or kindly for us.

EFFECT OF WAR ON PORT OF NEW YORK

War has by no means carried out its early threat to the commercial life of New York. Though it closed a number of the most lucrative export markets and discontinued several of the major shipping services, it has made generous amends by increasing exports, imports and transshipments.

The 1940 exports, largest since 1920, were nearly $2,000,000,000, a little short of 60 per cent more than those of 1939. Imports last year were about ten per cent more than the year before, and transshipments were up more than 40 per cent. There is not much money, relatively, in transshipment, but when the operation exceeds $193,000,000, as it did last year, there is enough to feed a great many mouths.

Nearly half last year's shipments through the port went to Europe. Those to Central and South America were up $95,000,000, or 25 per cent, and those to Asia, Africa, Australia and Canada made sharp gains. Imports, though those from Europe declined $135,000,000, made a net gain of $90,000,000, with increases from Asia practically balancing the losses from Europe. All the other sources except Central America shared in the upturn.

New York's relative importance as a port may be indicated by its handling 48 per cent of total United States exports, 49 per cent of the imports and 68 per cent of the transshipments.

ALASKA, CANADA AND THE U.S.A.

(London Free Press) One of the most important aviation announcements from Ottawa since outbreak of war is that the new chain of landing fields from Edmonton to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, will be completed this summer, that planes will be flying the route before snow falls. The route is to have landing fields every 250 miles. From Edmonton to the United States border there is a regular flying route, so that after this fall, Canada and her neighboring republic will have an established air system direct from the heart of industrial America, into Alaska, last summer's invasion attempt from the north, a hop across the Bering Sea from Russian territory. The new route has the advantage of being east of the Rockies and protected against raids from the Pacific.

Full significance of this is that it opens to this continent to offset any possible invasion attempt from the West, United States Pacific strategy is based on three main points, Hawaii, Southern California and the Panama Zone, and Alaska. Vast sums are being spent to reinforce these points in planes, men and equipment. Washington has a free access to its territories, and Alaska is separated from the homeland by 1,200 miles of the British Columbia coast and Panama needs protection from a base in Peru or Ecuador.

Last year the Canada-United States Joint Permanent Defence Board was set up and later met on the Pacific coast. American experts had outlined a route from Seattle but it was exposed to attack and was abandoned in favor of the inside route through Edmonton. It became Canada's responsibility as her part of the mutual defence programme to construct these fields, many of which were in inaccessible locations. Transportation of materials has been almost on a par with the Herculean efforts of the old miners of 1898 although those rugged heroes had no such thing as a motor boat. The route is primarily a hemisphere defence programme, but it will open up the Northland in many ways and writes a new chapter in the history of Canadian transportation.

AN EMPIRE AT BAY

Morning Herald, Sydney, Australia. We see an Empire, sorely beset it is true, but still in undisputed command of the seas, with great reserves of fighting power, and backed by the immense resources of the United States, an Empire with its central citadel undefended and its belt of islands indefensible. The Empire, now at bay, can survive and conquer if each component part of it puts forth its total strength while there is still time. Here in Australia we must redouble our efforts to arm, especially with the modern weapons which alone can give us victory. We have not yet organized our man-power for the production of all the essentials of war, as we should and must organize it. The danger is clamant; and we dare not lose another moment in mobilizing this nation for total war.

THE MAIN OBJECTIVE

(London Daily Express) We are in a jam. The heroic conduct of the British garrison at Tobruk, which took 800 German prisoners, relieves the situation for a fleeting moment. But the menace to Suez remains. And if Alexandria becomes unusable to us, then the scene on the European mainland is indeed desperate. This is one picture. We do not seek to gloss it over. The blow falls on us so rapidly that the attention of many is wholly engrossed. But do not think that the attention of the enemy is engrossed on that account. He is plotting and planning, working out his strategy, night and day for the main objective—the conquest of this island. Here in England, Scotland and Wales is the heart and core of the British Commonwealth of Nations. A German victory in Egypt, would vastly complicate our problems. But we should not be finished. It is here that we can be finished. And here only.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

McKENNEY DISCOVERS YOUNG BRIDGE STAR AT OHIO MATCHES

As I travel around the country I am always on the lookout for a coming young star and I think I discovered one at the Ohio State Tournament this year.

I played with a young chap, Jack Denny, of Toledo, O., in the Pair event and while we only finished fifth, I predict that it won't be long before you see this young fellow's name on one of the master trophies of bridge.

His bidding has a natural soundness to it and his card playing is excellent as is well demonstrated in this hand.

When dummy went down, Denny decided that East must have doubled on a long trump holding. Hence the proper plan never to lead trumps, but to make as many trumps as possible by cross-ruff.

The opening lead was won by the ace of hearts and dummy led the other heart, the king winning. Next South cashed the ace of clubs and led the six, won by East's king. East exited with a diamond, forcing the ace.

Dummy led a club, West discarded a diamond, and South ruffed. South led a heart for dummy to ruff with the ace. Another club was led, and again East discarded, South ruffing. Denny led his last heart and ruffed with the jack of trumps.

In order to avoid the end-play that ensued, East would have had to discard a small trump under one of the ruffs. But he had let go all his diamonds, saving all five trumps. Now he over-ruffed the jack of spades with the king, and then had to lead a small trump, letting South make the seven.

South exited with the losing diamond, forcing East to lead from his minor tenace and give South the last two tricks. Denny thus made four odd, doubled at three.

FOSTER GROUP MEMBERS HELD BUSY SESSION

Interesting Paper on Growth and Curing of Flax Given by Convener of Agriculture, Mrs. R. E. Allen, at Regular Meeting of Women's Institute.

Foster, June 5.—The Foster Women's Institute met recently at the home of Mrs. Maurice Williams with a fair attendance of members. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. M. D. Hastings, and the Club Women's Creed was recited in unison. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. C. D. Johnson, and approved. A financial report was also given by the Secretary. The roll call was answered by giving timely suggestions for killing and destroying many insects that tend to injure or kill plants and ruin vegetables. These were prepared by the Convener of Agriculture, Mrs. R. E. Allen, who also read a very interesting paper on the growth and curing of flax. Mrs. Allen demonstrated a linen piece that had been grown, cured and spun by a relative many years ago in this County. This article was viewed with much interest. A report of the County Convention recently held in East Bolton was given by Mrs. Maurice Williams. Mrs. C. C. Bradford read a letter in regard to Public Health and a resolution has been sent to the Prime Minister from this branch in regard to this matter. The President, Mrs. Hastings, gave an outline of the Red Cross work being done in this branch in affiliation with Magog Division. There will not be any delegates from this branch attending the Provincial Convention at Macdonald College, owing to lack of funds. This branch has given its full time to war work and therefore have not been instrumental in raising funds to carry on other activities. The July meeting will be held with Mrs. F. G. Johnson and Mrs. C. D. Johnson and will be under the convener'ship of Child Welfare, Mrs. A. L. Chamberlain presiding. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. As refreshments have been banned at these meetings, candy was passed by the hostesses.

LADIES' GUILD ENTERTAINED
The regular meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Bishop Carmichael Memorial Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Dixon, with an attendance of sixteen members and several visitors. The meeting which was conducted by the President, Mrs. L. P. Durrell, opened with the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. J. N. Code, and approved. The next meeting will convene with Mrs. Miles Richard. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. J. J. Dixon, Mrs. M. West, Mrs. M. Beard, Mrs. Arthur Young and Mrs. W. R. Durrell. The meeting was brought to a close with the Mizpah benediction.

W.A. TO SPONSOR PLAY
The regular meeting of the Women's Association of the Creek United Church was entertained by Mrs. Maurice Williams with an attendance of sixteen members and twenty-one visitors. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. G. C. Whitton, and Rev. W. H. Thompson led in prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting, held with Mrs. Sidney Taylor, were read by the Secretary, Mrs. H. C. Salisbury, and approved. The subject of having the drama,

Slimming Button-Front Dress

MARIAN MARTIN

A very practical style is this wonderfully slenderizing matron frock, so perfect to wear "all round the clock and the calendar." Its clean simplicity of line and perfect balance make Pattern 9595 unusually flattering; its few pattern parts and quick stitching are typical Marian Martin features. First, notice how the slimming, smooth effect of the panels is accentuated by the all-down-the-front buttoning that's so convenient for speedy dressing and flatspread ironing. Front and back seams slant in at either side, just over the hips, giving a sleek long-waisted effect you'll like. Those optional revers add a crisp, tailored touch to the whole style; a belt and lace or ric-rac casing would make nice "extras." Send for this style NOW! Pattern 9595 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number. Send your order to Sherbrooke Daily Record, Pattern Department, Sherbrooke, Quebec.

"The Leavenworth Case," which has been put on so successfully by the Young People's Society of St. Luke's Church, Waterloo, was discussed, and it was voted that the players be invited to present the play in the Foster Hall. All arrangements were made for ticket sellers and serving refreshments following the drama. As there was no further business, the meeting closed with the benediction. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Walter Bockus and Mrs. Arthur Inglis. The next regular meeting will be held in the form of an ice cream social. Mrs. A. B. Inglis kindly offered her home for the event.

Crude Speech a Barrier to Making Nice Friends

So attractive looking, but no one leaps to reply to her "I just COME yesterday; is the water AWFUL cold?"

Such a crude vocabulary is hardly an entree to the smart "vocabulary set" who say correctly "CAME yesterday. AWFULLY cold."

Why does such a pretty girl keep on making errors which she could so easily correct?

Sometimes it's a mispronunciation, "rec-a-nize" for "REC-OG-NIZE."

Other times she's guilty of piling on unnecessary words—"INVITED guests" instead of just "guests."

And she adores using high-flown but worn-out phrases like "the proud father of a bouncing baby," "the happy pair"; although in the next breath she'll make some ghastly error like "dark-COM-PLECTED" for "dark-COM-PLEXTIONED."

Such everyday errors, all of them, you may have caught a few yourself, believing them correct!

Our 32-page booklet tells how you can acquire the charming, correct vocabulary that cultured people admire. Has pointers on accepted and condemned slang, gives common errors in pronunciation and grammar.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of How to Improve Your Vocabulary to Daily Record, Home Service, Sherbrooke, Que. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

FOODS THAT ARE GOOD FOR YOU

It cannot be doubted that the greatest evil of our civilization is wrong foods and feeding methods; trying to live upon unnatural constipating foods and ignoring the food-gifts of Nature which come from the farm and field.

I positively assert that if you, well or ill, will eat one full meal daily of any one of my natural whole-grain cereals, Dr. Jackson Meal (formerly Roman Meal) Bekus Puddy, or Lishus; one meal consisting largely of green vegetable salad, or fresh fruit; consume milk and cheese freely, and drink four to six cups daily of my grain-made beverage Koly Sub, choosing the balance of the food intake from simple, sensible foods, you will realize why I, in my 84th year, am younger in mind and more vigorous in body than 90% of men and women in their early forties.

Itching, Burning, Stinging Eczema or Salt Rheum

Eczema, or salt rheum as it is commonly called, is one of the most painful of all skin troubles. The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night, or when the affected part is exposed to heat, or the hands placed in hot water are most unbearable, and relief is gladly welcomed.

"London's not very far away, you know."

SYNOPSIS

Seemingly normal, intelligent and attractive Philip Monrell falls in love with Stella Bergen, a beautiful refugee, companion to his mother. Mrs. Monrell must go away for her health. She intimates that Philip is weak and needs a woman's guidance. Out of gratitude to her, Stella marries Philip. They are happy but the erratic, morbid side of his nature appears. He becomes obsessed by the notion that she is secretly in love with his friend Ward Andrews. To confirm his suspicions he offers Ward an engineering job at his Steel Works and then starts to spy on them. Each innocent action he secretly builds up into great significance. Then his behavior causes trouble at the Steel Works. To prove his own importance, he refuses to approve the

Housing Project for the workmen.

CHAPTER FOUR

It was at about ten o'clock the next morning that the workers at the factory began their grim chant. They kept at it for an hour. "We want new roofs. We want new roofs. We want new roofs." As Philip listened to it, something began to happen in his brain. It was all hot and scorching. It seemed to be burning up, killing him. And then the fire went down into his body and almost stopped his heart. It felt like dying. Suddenly he could stand it no longer. He sprang to the telephone and called the police. A few minutes later Ward came bursting in. "Blasphemy!" he shouted. "Why did you call the police? Do you want to start a massacre?" Philip was pale with fury. "Get out of here. I won't be bullied by you or anybody else." He gasped as the police whistles were blowing outside and the men were running into the building. The door opened and Stella rushed in. She had heard of the trouble at home from Eric, the chauffeur. "They're coming," she said in a stifled voice. "They're coming in the front door." Philip's eyes were bulging out of his head. "But the police must stop them. Where are the police?" "Here," Ward shouted, "for heaven's sake, get down the back stairs. There's no telling what they'll do in this temper." Now Philip's face shone with hatred. "I understand. That's what you want, both of you. To see me run away. Well, I'm going to disappoint you. He looked at Ward malignantly. "You can't always be in the limelight you know." He wasn't afraid, he told himself. He'd handle that mob all right. He started down the staircase. The men were in the large open office just below. He faced them. "What are you doing here?" he asked weakly. "Go home." One of the men stepped up. "If you want us to go home, call your coppers off and let us have a straight answer. Will you give us our homes or shall we take them?" Now the other men began to shout. "Silence!" Philip cried shrilly. "How dare you roar in this building? I'll have you all arrested." Quite good-humoredly, one of the young workers said "Ah, shut your big mouth." He threw his cap at Philip, hitting him in the face. There was a roar of laughter. Philip, in a panic ducked toward the back stairs. "After him lads," one of the workers shouted, "don't let him give us the slip." But as the door closed behind Philip, Ward tore down the stairs. Instantly, there was a respectful silence. "What's the matter with you men? Mr. Monrell has already decided to pass the Housing Project. He'd have told you so himself just now if you'd have given him half a chance." "Do you expect us to believe that?" one of the men asked suspiciously. Ward faced them down. "I do if I tell it to you." There was a short pause. Then a cheer went up. Ward stood there grimly. That Housing Project would go through now if he had to ram the order for it down Philip's throat. All day long, Philip was missing and by evening Stella was frantic. Ward was just making telephone inquiries at the police station and the hospitals when Philip came into the house. He was tottering, could barely walk. His eyes were glazed. He brought his words out with difficulty. "No one hurt me. I just ran away and hid." Suddenly he swayed and fell to the floor in a dead faint. The doctor was summoned and all that night long Philip tossed in bed feverishly. It was after midnight when Stella and Ward tiptoed into the room. Philip was very still. What would his wife and Ward do? "What would they say?" "He's breathing so heavily," Stella whispered. "Please," Ward pleaded, "you're worn out. You've got to get some sleep." She looked at him. "Very well." Her voice was soft, obedient. "I'll go to bed." Now, Philip turned and watched them as they left the room. Ward's arm was around her shoulder. How he hated them. He wished they were dead. It was a full week before he was out of bed and on his first day out he went into the library and wrote in his diary. "May ninth. What I feared has happened. It was true. Hadn't he seen them head them in his room together? "I know now. I can't bear it any longer." But when Ward came to see him that day he was his old charming self. Shyly, he apologized for his behavior at the office last week. The only way he could account for it was the fever. It must have been coming on. Fever was like that, a mirror in a lunhouse. It made the whole world look ugly. Now, he readily assented to the Housing Project. He was also terribly concerned and interested when Ward told him about the accident at the Works. Ted Dobson had been standing on one of the platform. The trains kept going past there full of molten slack. He must have lost his balance. Philip shuddered. "I suppose it's a quick death." What a queer end. Gone in a moment and there was nothing left but a bubble in molten metal. Nobody could cry over a block of steel. "Ward," he said eagerly, "I'd like to see the place. I want to show the men that I take an interest in these things. Maybe we should put up some safeguards." Despite Ward's protests that he was still too shaky, Philip came to the Foundry with him that afternoon. Carefully, they walked down the steel staircase to the platform where the accident had taken place. "He was standing just about here," Ward shouted above the roar of the furnaces. His back was to Philip. "We ought to fix up a safety railing and net, running all the way along—" Philip's brain was on fire. His eyes were murderous. He stepped forward and raised his hand to push Ward — a push that would send him into the furnace below. But at that second Ward turned. Philip's hand dropped guiltily. Ward had apparently seen nothing. "Don't you agree with me?" he asked. "Yes—oh yes." Philip passed his hand over his forehead as if he were awakening from a bad dream. He said faintly, "I feel giddy. It must be the heat. Let's—get away from here." At Philip's insistence, Ward came to dinner that night. Over the meal though, they were both so silent that Stella found it necessary to comment. Then she laughed and rose. "Think I'll go into the music room and play the piano for you. Maybe that'll brighten us all up." The door closed behind her and Ward turned to Philip. "Today in the Foundry," he said slowly, "why did you try to kill me?" Philip was holding a glass. It dropped and shattered. "Get out of my house!" Then a horrible stream of abuse came from his lips. Ward had taken his wife from him. What had they been saying behind his back? What had they been doing? Ward faced him steadily. "Philip, your whole mind's distorted by jealousy. Yes, I'm in love with Stella. But she knows nothing of it and she's never going to know." Stella had heard them quarrelling. She flung open the door. "Ward, Philip. What on earth's the matter?" Philip laughed harshly. "Come on Ward why don't you tell her that you're in love with her? It's true Stella, he's told me himself." "Very simply," Ward said. "Yes, Stella and I should have left here long ago." Her eyes were shiny bright with tears as she looked at him but she said nothing. He went to the front door and she accompanied him. "If you ever need me," Ward said, "London's not very far away you know." In the library Philip waited tensely until she returned. Then, as she appeared, he asked, "Has he gone?" "Yes, he's gone." He looked at her with infinite sadness. "And you've gone with him." (Philip is utterly poisoned by his hate and jealousy. His thinking has become strange and warped almost to the point of mania. Will this prove a menace to Stella's safety? Don't miss the next exciting episode.)

TEXTILE FIRM'S PROFITS HANDED TO GOVERNMENT

Provision for Taxes, Mainly Dominion Levies, Totals $4,192,456 for 12-Month Period.

The Dominion Government gets a substantially larger proportion of the profits of the Dominion Textile Company, Limited, for the year ended March 31, 1941, than do the shareholders, it is revealed in the annual report which has just been published.

Provision for taxes, mainly Dominion taxes, totals $4,192,456 for the twelve-month period, in contrast to the usual dividend payments totaling $1,485,842 to preferred and common shareholders.

In addition to taxes provided for the year covered by the report, the company also provided $504,631 to meet the excess profits tax in the first quarter of the 1940 calendar year, which was the final quarter of the company's previous fiscal year, and which taxes had not been announced prior to the publication of the company's financial statement for that year.

With total output greatly exceeding that of previous years in the company's history, operating profits before taxes and dividends, but after provision for depreciation and other items, were $5,885,861, compared with $2,768,041 formerly.

The report, which is signed by G. B. Gordon, President, intimates that the high volume of production is in large part due to the demands, direct and indirect, for cotton goods for war purposes.

Employees of Dominion Textile are currently lending the Government $19,000 per month in subscriptions to War-Savings certificates, a programme which was initiated as long ago as last July.

Mr. Gordon suggests that the next report will reveal a further record of production. However, he suggests that advancing costs of every description will mean a lower gross profit in the year. With regard to prices, Mr. Gordon says: "We are placed in rather a peculiar position as regards price policy, since the stake of our shareholders in profits is secondary to that of the Government. Our duty as we see it is to balance the scales as evenly as possible between, on the one hand, the interest of the Government in large profits, and on the other hand the interest of our customers and of the consumers of cotton goods generally in reasonable prices."

GROUP MEMBERS AT WATERLOO HELD SESSION

Presentation Made to Miss Muriel Pennoyer by Members of St. Luke's Young People's Club Prior to Departure.

Waterloo, June 5.—The regular meeting of St. Luke's Young People's Club was held in the Church Hall, with Miss Muriel Pennoyer in the chair.

Important business transacted included the voting of $25 to the Church Warden towards current expenses, $10 to the Fellowship of the West, and $12 for the purchase of three War Savings Certificates in the name of the Church.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the organization presented their President, Miss Pennoyer, who is leaving in June, with a camera in appreciation of her efficient help in the Club, each member of whom expressed his or her regrets that it would no longer be possible for Miss Pennoyer to be with them at their meetings in future.

Following the presentation and the gracious acceptance of the gift by Miss Pennoyer, games were enjoyed until eleven o'clock when refreshments were served under the supervision of Miss Marjorie McKenna. Over twenty members were present. An announcement was made at the meeting that St. Luke's Tennis Court is ready for use.

W.A. SPONSOR SALAD TEA
Mrs. Sidney Wood and Mrs. E. J. McKenna, President of St. Luke's Parochial W.A., extended a gracious welcome to the many guests who attended the salad tea and food sale, held under the auspices of the organization in the Church Hall.

On entering the hall, one was impressed with the attractive and daintily arranged small tables with their individual vases of spring flowers. Mrs. Charles E. Tenny and Mrs. J. H. Symons did the honors at the large tea table.

Those responsible for the successful administration of the refreshments from the kitchen were the convener, Mrs. W. A. Graves, Mrs. Alvin Hillhouse, Mrs. M. O. Sherwood and Mrs. Harry Kingston. The food sale was convoked by Mrs. W. H. Bridge, Mrs. S. R. Taylor, Mrs. L. Keith Allen, Mrs. John MacIntosh and Mrs. F. W. Jones.

A Chinese auction of a sewing basket donated by Mr. E. J. McKenna, was in charge of Mrs. A. J. Buckland and Miss Janet Slack. The basket was finally won by Mrs. Labelle.

The proceeds of the afternoon were very satisfactory.

WATER SITUATION REVIEWED
Interesting facts relative to the water situation in Waterloo and the per capita debt were given by Mayor LeBrun at a banquet, held under the auspices of the Junior Board of Trade.

It is estimated that 252,000 gallons of water are drawn from the reservoirs every twenty-four hours, that the population of 3,400 citizens use 75 gallons each and that the per capita debt is $23. In considering the possibilities for increasing the town's water supply, springs on Mr. Walter M. Wallace's farm have been examined and prices have been learned.

General Notes
Dr. and Mrs. George Parmelee, of Quebec, are spending a few days at the Canada Hotel. On Sunday afternoon, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Wells at the tea hour.

Mr. Wallace Scott and Mr. Alfred Lunn, of Montreal, were Sunday callers on Mr. and Mrs. George Bresse.

Take Lead By Stalling As Cardinals Stumble

St. Louis Downed 4-2 by Braves for Fifth Defeat in Last Six Games—Slip from National League Peak for First Time Since May 19—32,659 Chicago Fans Honor Veteran Manager of Philadelphia Athletics.

Simply by staying in out of the wet while their chief rivals were fumbling themselves into defeat, Brooklyn Dodgers have climbed back into the leadership of the National League.

Larry MacPhail's "boughten" wonders are a half-game in front of St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a 4-2 decision to the Boston Braves in one of the three games played in the big leagues yesterday and tumbled from the top for the first time since May 19.

It marked the fifth defeat for the Cardinals in their last six games and dropped their otherwise great team to a new low for the season. It was not so much that they lost to the lowly Braves as it was the manner of their losing.

The Cards' infield, regarded by many observers as the one questionable spot in an otherwise great team, committed three errors to prevent the Braves with the same number of unearned runs and the margin to victory. Rookie Frank Crespi made two of them at second base and Jimmy Brown bobbed up with another at third.

Johnny Mize's big bat still is being missed from the Card line-up. They made nine hits yesterday off Art Johnson, the Boston rookie, but probably wouldn't have scored at all if Johnson had covered first more spryly on Enos Slaughter's infield single after two were out in the sixth. The Braves rapped Harry Gumbert for 11 hits and handed him his first defeat since joining the Cards.

All the other National League contests were washed out by a general rain in the East, and only two American League games escaped the downpour.

St. Louis Browns, playing their last game under Manager Fred Haney, walloped the unfortunate Washington Senators 7-4 and therefrom climbed to the dizzy height of seventh place in the American League.

Under the lights of Comiskey Park last night, Chicago White Sox celebrated "Connie Mack" night by walloping his Philadelphia Athletics 6-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Thornton Lee.

A total of 32,659 fans turned out to honor Philadelphia's 78-year-old manager, presenting him with a gold plaque and a watch during the pre-game ceremonies.

Today's guest star: Joe Bieble, Idaho Falls Post Register: "The Reds are losing with such regularity it looks as if the experts had 'em sized up correctly last spring. . . . They told everyone the Reds were the team to beat. . . . And, brother, that's what the other teams are doing."

Ford C. Frick and William C. Harridge, Presidents of the National and American Leagues, are in favor of turning the Cincinnati-Cleveland exhibition game at Cooperstown next week into a memorial to Lou Gehrig.

They figure the Open crown is worth about 20 grand per year to the winner, although Sam Sneed has topped that figure for the last four years without the title.

PAIR OF LOCAL TEAMS IN ARMY SOFTBALL LOOP

Active Service Troops and Lord Sherbrooke Camp Competing in Military League—Training Camp Tops Sorel.

Lord Sherbrooke Training Camp has an outfit playing in a six-team military circuit, as well as a sixteen-club inter-camp loop to provide the troops an enjoyable bit of relaxation from the every-day routine of training.

In the opening game of the military league Sherbrooke went to Sorel and chalked up a 22-7 triumph. Other teams in the circuit have been entered by the Active Service troops at the local barracks, the St. Hyacinthe Training Centre, and the Three Rivers Centre, which has two squads seeking the championship.

The winner of this league, it is expected, will go into Military District No. 4 playoffs against the titleholders of other loops. Sorel will play a return game here on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

Games in the inter-camp league are played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Volleyball, baseball and other sports are also being organized for the men at the camp, through the efforts of Lieut. Laurent Boisvert and officials of the Y.M.C.A. hut at the centre.

IN SPORTING VEIN BY ALLAN BRYCE

"Three bells and all's well" usually a nautical cry, will quite probably resound through Madison Square Garden on June 18 when Lucien and Conn come to grips for the world's heavyweight boxing championship. Some wag in the gallery is almost sure to take up the chant when he notices that there will be three bells at the ringside so that there will be no mistake about the fighters hearing the gong announcing the end of the rounds. Mike Jacobs has wised up since the mix-up in the Louis-Baer brawl and has seen to it that three bells will ring at once. It wouldn't be surprising if the fire brigade from the nearest precinct station barges into the Garden with the hoses at the high port if these bells ring out like good bells should.

Old Johnny Pomorski, who has been pitching ball for years on end in the majors, the International League and finally the Provincial League, is still able to chuck that old apple in pretty crafty fashion. The erratic Dutchman, who used to sputter and fume at the umpires and the fans in his appearances at the local stadium with the Drummondville team, did a smart job last night against Amsterdam to spark Three Rivers to a 11-3 win in a Can-Am League tangle. He worked six and a third innings after relieving the starting pitcher and scattered seven hits. The venerable Charles Small helped him out by hitting two singles and driving in two runs.

The Victory Loan came first, so the City Softball League postponed its two-game bill until Friday night. There was no haggling, no trouble of any kind. The City League was glad to oblige. Officials of the loop could have protested against being asked to vacate the Parade Grounds on such short notice, and might have suggested to the Victory Loan officials that they use Dufresne Park, the baseball stadium or some other suitable field, but they quickly assented to the request that last year the Red Cross were allowed to keep all their silver collection taken in at a number of games on the Parade Grounds. When an organization like this is so helpful and patriotic, it makes one laugh to hear certain people grumbling that sport has no place in the life of a people at war.

Industrial Softball League teams will indulge in a triple-header tonight. Fairbanks meeting Superheater, the Rand clashing with the Carey. Superheater and Kayser should win without too much trouble, but the Rand-"Y" clash should be a toss-up all the way through. The fact that Kayser will be playing in Lennoxville should not make it too difficult for them to emerge on the long end of the score. The other two games are to be played on the much-loved Parade Grounds, which is really coming in handy these days for softball, military drills, demonstration and Victory Loan rallies and proving that the City Council which ordered the levelling of the ground was farsighted indeed.

"Join the navy and see the world" is a slogan that has been famous for years, but the boys in Lord Sherbrooke Training Camp, some of them at least, are getting around O.K. even although they have to be content with the army. The training camp softball team is in a military league, and has to hit the road for games at Sorel, St. Hyacinthe and Three Rivers on the week-ends. No doubt this league is highly popular with the lads in uniform, and small wonder.

Five more games will be played on Sunday in the St. Francis Baseball League, with Sherbrooke performing in Acton Vale in the afternoon and receiving Asbestos at night. Richmond must play two games away from home, at Asbestos in the afternoon and in Plessisville at night, and the Tigers will also perform twice, going to Windsor Mills in the afternoon. If Richmond wins both these week-end games then they really will be the team to beat in the playoffs. Aime Morin has a sneaking suspicion his Sherbrooke Braves are going to sweep their week-end tilts, and a double victory wouldn't hurt the locals' cause a bit.

McKECHNIE IS CONFIDENT OF KEEPING TITLE

Philadelphia, June 5.—(AP)—Don't get the idea that Deacon Bill McKechnie is down in the mouth these days what with his world champion Cincinnati Reds in fifth place 1 1/2 games behind the leading Brooklyn and St. Louis clubs.

Of course his star hitter Frank McCormick is batting a mere .230. His great third sacker Bill Werber is in the hospital for observation because of water on the knee and the rest of the outfit isn't hitting enough to scare a cat off the back fence.

But McKechnie is cheerful—one might even say enthusiastic—over the Reds' chances. Just ask if there's any hope of retaining the National League pennant and hear him go to town.

"I should say we have," declares Bill. "Look back at the records. We always get hot the latter part of the season when the weather gets hot. That's when we play our best ball. After the All-Star Game last year we were in second place and we won the pennant with plenty to spare."

"We'll get started." What about the Dodgers and Cards? "They're two fine clubs but they haven't hit a real slump yet. That's when our fine pitching and tight defence will tell."

Byron Nelson Is Selected To Win U.S. Open Starting Today

Texas Cow Country Golf-Crazy as Starry Array of Golfing Talent Starts Out Over Fort Worth's Colonial Club Course—Lawson Little and Gene Sarazen Get Plenty of Attention.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 5.—(AP)—Golf's greatest extravaganza—the National Open—started today in the cow country of Texas, the links-mad State which produced a band of professionals ranked as favorites to conquer the Colonial Club course.

All records attendant to the tournament teetered as the field cautiously spread over the par 35-35-70 layout, which has had the finest golfers in the United States muttering through practice rounds.

Installed as favorite was lean Byron Nelson, former Fort Worth caddy whose string-straight game appeared made to order for the baling course.

Close behind was Benny Hogan, another local product who is leading in money won this year. The scramble actually appeared wide open, but general opinion held that no dark horse would slip in, because of Colonial's premium on accuracy.

The talk was all about the Texans and Lawson Little, defending champion; Gene Sarazen, the country squire from Connecticut who bred around in two-under-par 68 yesterday; Sammy Sneed, former Canadian Open titlist who is playing well despite an ailing back; Craig Wood and Paul Runyan.

YESTERDAY'S STARS Johnny Berardino, Browns: Trip led in the seventh inning with the bases loaded to beat Washington 7-4. Arthur Johnson and 'Bama Rowell, Braves: Pitched and batted Braves to 4-2 victory over St. Louis. Thornton Lee, White Sox: Hurlled five-hit ball against Athletics for 6-1 victory.

Add Leo Durocher to the list of those who've already counted the Reds out.
