QUEBEC—The stronghold of military power in British North America, and capital of the Province, is situated on a rock-bound promontory formed by the confluence of the Rivers St Charles and St Lawrence, 180 miles below the city of Montreal. It is very strongly fortified, completely commanding the navigation, and by military authorities is declared impregnable. The city is reputed to have derived its name from the words "Quel bec!" the exclamation of its hardy and adventurous discoverers when first its site broke on their astonished view. Quebec has a very grand and imposing though somewhat confused appearance, quite in keeping with the broken, bold magnificence of the surrounding country, which for natural grandeur is generally allowed to be unexcelled. Whichever side is approached by water, the city has the appearance of a huddled and confused mass, from the nature of the abrupt declivity on which it hangs and skirts, nor is the impression thus obtained at all diminished on landing, as the stranger wends his way to the Upper Town. This portion of the city is more open, regular and better built than the other. It is situated within the gates and walls, and approached by a steep, serpentine street and carriage-way, with long and rugged flights of winding stairs that dip into it here and there, and lessen the distance for the pedestrian. On the eastern end and point stand the Grand Battery, and portions of the fort, barracks and town; toward the north, the Esplanade; and west, the Citadel, which crowns the heights. From Durham Terrace, which overlooks the river and the Lower Town, from the Cape or from the ramparts, a most magnificent natural panorama and amphitheatre unfolds itself, presenting to the eye of the beholder a scene incomparably grand and charming,—a view that never tires and is always surrendered with regret. In the Lower Town, the streets (excepting, as to length, Champlain, St Peter and St Paul, which run along between the bases of the cliffs and heights and the margin of the river) are narrow, short and irregular, by reason of their frequent intersections. Eastward from the city, for some six or seven miles, to Montmorenci Falls; westwards to Cap Rouge, for some nine miles or more; by the St Foye road, which runs along the acclivity that undulates and gently slopes into the valley of the St Charles north of the promontory, with the many handsome villas and tasteful grounds, the drives and views are very beautiful and picturesque. The city has several times been scourged by most disastrous fires but, Phœnix like, has always risen out of its ashes and made great improvements. This has been specially noticeable on the side comprising St Roch suburbs, where the streets have been straightened and made longer and wider, and where most of the old frame buildings have given place to those of brick and stone. A street railway runs from St Roch suburbs to the Lower Town. During the summer season Quebec is largely visited by strangers, especially Americans, who take much interest in viewing the many historical scenes and objects connected with it—the Citadel, with its armory and magazines; the Plains of Abraham, with its humble monument marking the place where fell the illustrious Wolfe; the Governor's Garden, with its monument to Wolfe and Montcalm; the massive walls and five strong gates which surround the upper portion of the city; and last, though not least, the spot where fell Montgomery. There are also other interesting objects throughout the city—the Roman Catholic Cathedral, with its many fine old paintings; the Episcopal, Presbyterian and other churches, the Esplanade, Houses of Parliament, Hospital, new Gaol, "Spencer Wood," the residence of the Governor, Morrin College, the Laval University, erected at a cost of nearly half a million dollars, the beautiful new Custom House at Point à Carey, &c., &c. The Montmorenci Falls, a magnificent sight at almost all seasons of the year, are situated about nine miles from the city. Between them and Quebec is the Beauport Lunatic Asylum, the largest and finest building of the kind in the Dominion. In wealth, population and importance, Quebec ranks next after Montreal in the Dominion, and as a seaport town third, or first after Halifax, N. S., and St John, N. B. She carries on a considerable trade with the surrounding country and with the ports and fisheries below, but her principal business is ship building and the lumber trade. She annually launches a large number of vessels, rigged and equipped, and of varying tonnage (from 1,000 to 2,000 tons and more) and exports millions of feet of timber, besides other produce of the country. The building of the Gosford railway (recently opened) and the construction of the North Shore and Levis and Kennebec railways, will prove of incalculable benefit to Quebec, and add much to her commercial prosperity. The North Shore railway will give her direct communication with the places lying westward between her and Montreal on the north shore of the St Lawrence, as she now has with the south by the Grand Trunk railway and the Levis and Kennebec railway, with the State of Maine, and, perhaps, New Brunswick. Quebec is well lighted with gas and most abundantly supplied with excellent water from Lake St Charles at an elevation of several hundred feet above the highest level of the town. A continuous stream of water can be thrown, by its own pressure, over the highest buildings in the city, rendering next to impossible, with the assistance of a good fire brigade and an excellen tfire alarm telegraph system, recently introduced, the recurrence of any of those serious conflagrations which have acted so injuriously on Quebec's prosperity. Opposite the city are two very important and flourishing towns—Levis and South Quebec. With these there is constant communication by steam ferries. The depot of the Grand Trunk railway is situated in the latter town. From thence trains proceed to all points westward and eastward to Rivière du Loup. Quebec is the summer port of departure of the Allan line of steamers for Liverpool and Glasgow; also of a weekly line of steamers for the Gulf Ports and Maritime Provinces. From April to November, the Richelieu Company's palace steamers ply daily between Quebec and Montreal, and during the hot months the Canadian Navigation Company's steamers make four trips a week to the Saguenay and fashionable watering places. Quebec, with St Roch's, returns three members to the House of Commons, and three to the Provincial Parliament. Montreal Telegraph Co. and People's Telegraph Co. have offices in the city. Distant from Three Rivers 95 miles, from Rivière du Loup 126 miles, from Montreal 172 miles, from Portland 317 miles, from Ottawa 336 miles, from Boston via Lennoxville 410 miles, via Portland 425 miles, from Gaspé 450 miles, from Toronto 505 miles, from New York 578 miles, from Shediac, N. B, 612 miles, from Detroit 736 miles, from Charlottetown, P.E. Island, 800 miles, from Pictou, N. S, 790 miles, from Liverpool 2,070 miles. Mails daily. Population about 75,000.

LAVAL UNIVERSITY.

13½ St. George st.

In 1643 was founded the Quebec Seminary, which afterwards became a regular College, and it had, by successive addition, acquired a high degree of importance, when it was erected by Her Majesty's Royal Charter into a University, under the style and name of The Laval University. By this charter, which bears date December 8th, 1852, no change was effected in the constitution of the Seminary itself; but a Council composed of the Directors of the Institution, and the three senior professors of the several faculties, was empowered to possess and enjoy all the privileges granted to the Universities of the United Kingdom, and especially that of conferring degrees in the Faculties of Divinity, Law, Medicine and Arts. His Grace the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Quebec is, by virtue of his office, Visitor of the University. The superior of the Seminary, for the time being, holds the office of Rector.
