BRITAIN TO EXPAND FLEET FURTHER

Two Hundred Minor Craft Are Ordered

Trawlers for Mine-Sweeping and Anti-Submarine Work, Whalers for Patrol Service and Speedy Motorboats Included Among Vessels Provided for Under Special Supplementary Programme Submitted Today.

London, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Geoffrey Shakespeare, Financial Secretary to the Admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today that Great Britain would add 180 vessels, mostly smaller craft such as trawlers, to the 1939 naval construction programme.

The additions, he said, would include 107 trawlers for mine-sweeping and anti-submarine work. Twenty of these would be specially built and the remainder purchased and converted.

The Government also plans to construct fifty-six vessels of life whale packet type, some for service as patrol vessels and others for anti-submarine work.

Other new vessels would include ten big mine-sweepers, six boom defence vessels and one cable ship.

A floating dock to accommodate small craft up to 3,000 tons already has been purchased, he announced, adding that further additions will be disclosed later and provisions for meeting the cost will be made in a supplementary budget estimate.

The Admiralty has been experimenting with small motorboats capable of sixty miles an hour while loaded with two torpedoes and mines.

Other measures of preparedness in face of the August-September "danger period"—these formally announced yesterday—include:

A comprehensive scheme for rationing oil and gasoline in war time. Introduction of legislation to create a Food Ministry and to finance storage and transport of food.

Government contracts for 2,500,000 bomb shelters to be distributed free to families unable to buy them, with production at a rate of 55,000 a week expected by September.

The Government was reported increasingly pessimistic over possibilities of successful conclusion of the Tokyo Conference and has been communicating with France, the United States and the Dominions on Far Eastern policies.

Consultations with the Dominions and other powers recalled rumors Great Britain might follow the United States' lead in abrogation of her trade treaty with Japan.

Offsetting concern over the Far East was a feeling current in Government circles that the dispatching of British and French military missions for staff talks this week at Moscow was bringing negotiations for a British-French-Soviet mutual assistance front nearer to successful conclusion.

These circles viewed last night's Moscow broadcast of the military mission announcement and sketches of those in the British mission as a hopeful sign.

Illness Forces Finance Minister Dunning To Take Lengthy Vacation

Ottawa, August 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Finance Minister Dunning will take a long rest to recover from a heart condition which has bothered him during the last two sessions of Parliament. Revenue Minister Ilsley, it was announced last night by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, will assume the additional duties of acting Finance Minister in Mr. Dunning's absence.

Following yesterday's cabinet meeting, the Prime Minister said Mr. Dunning had offered his resignation, but that it was not accepted. "I told Mr. Dunning I was sure the people of Canada would want him to remain in the Government, so that when he is restored to health he may return to continue to serve the country as he has served so well in the past," said Mr. Mackenzie King.

The Finance Minister's physicians have advised him that he may expect a complete recovery if he separates himself entirely from all official duties for a long period of rest. He will go to England shortly, visiting, among other places, the section of Leicestershire where he was born on July 31, 1885.

NOTED MEMBER OF DIPLOMATIC SERVICE DIES

Hindhead, England, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Lord Howard of Penrith, whose distinguished career in the diplomatic service won him a peerage, died at his Surrey home last night after a long illness. He was seventy-five years old.

His last diplomatic post was at Washington, where he served as British Ambassador to the United States from 1924 to 1930. Before that he had been ambassador to Spain, Minister to Sweden, and Minister to Switzerland.

During his active years he was known as Sir Esme Howard, taking the title of Lord Howard of Penrith on his elevation to the peerage after his retirement.

Once he quit the diplomatic service temporarily to explore in the Amazon river. In the Boer War he served as a trooper.

Forty-one years ago Lord Howard, while serving in Rome, married Lady Isabella Guinness-Bandini, a descendant of a Scottish family which went into exile with the Stuart Kings. Before the marriage he embraced the Roman Catholic faith.

Lord Howard's barony falls to his son, Hon. Francis Philip Howard, who is thirty-three.

Recovery Of Wounded Girl To Clear Mystery Of Double Ontario Slaying

Cobourg, Ont., Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—A hospital report that twenty-three-year-old Marguerite Moysie is a "little better" led to hope today she would recover from a bullet wound in the head, a wound suffered in a mysterious shooting affray in which her mother and step-father died.

Through the night, hospital authorities kept Miss Moysie under observation and as her condition continued to improve strong hope was entertained she would recover and retain her full mental faculties. Whether an operation will be performed to remove the bullet has yet to be decided.

Miss Moysie's nude form was found in a bedroom of her home at nearby Grafton yesterday. In another room lay her mother, Mrs. Thomas Prestidge, near death but without marks of violence upon her. Inside the doorway of the house was Thomas Prestidge, shot in the forehead. Both Mr. and Mrs. Prestidge, married a month ago, died en route to hospital.

Police and Crown authorities declined to say what theory they are pursuing in the investigation. They had three theories before them: That Prestidge killed his wife, shot his step-daughter and then committed suicide; that Mrs. Prestidge shot her husband and daughter and committed suicide or that a fourth person committed the crimes for $700 believed in the house.

EXECUTIONER'S IDENTITY KEPT DEEP MYSTERY

Man Known as "Mr. X." Replaced Ailing Robert Elliott at Execution of Two Boston Youths—Score Seek Pennsylvania Post.

Boston, August 2.—(C.P. Cable)—At the hands of a mysterious "Mr. X," who required nearly forty minutes for his task, two Somerville youths were put to death in the electric chair today for murdering a storekeeper in a $3.50 robbery.

The executioner, hired to replace the ailing veteran Robert G. Elliott, sent Wallace Green, twenty, and Walter St. Sauveur, 19, to their deaths by the shooting of William Phillips, a middle-aged Somerville Merchant, May 31, 1938. The executioner's name was kept secret at his own request.

Prison authorities said unofficially the time required was long, but doctors explained Green had "an unusually strong heart."

The youths, who had blamed each other for the slaying, were reconciled just before their death by Rev. Ralph Farrell, Catholic prison chaplain.

Green, preceded by Rev. William Whitney, Protestant prison chaplain, entered the death chamber at 12:02 a.m. E.D.T. singing hymns. Five shocks, varying from 1,500 to 2,000 volts, were applied before he was pronounced dead at 12:23.

St. Sauveur, who was captured at Salt Lake City a month after Phillips died, followed Father Farrell into the death chamber at 12:25. The youth kept his eyes closed and was directed to the chair by prison guards. He was pronounced dead at 12:42.

SCORE SEEK PENNSYLVANIA POST

Harrisburg, Pa., August 2.—(C.P. Cable)—A score of men, including a twenty-four-year-old fellow with a "bad foot" who "can't stand what you call hard work," seek to succeed ailing Robert G. Elliott as Pennsylvania's official executioner.

Among other applicants for the job of throwing the switch on the State electric chair are: A discouraged painter, who offers out rates.

A Pittsburgh electric welder and steel brazier whose last job "required the handling of 2,200 volts of electricity." He sent his photograph.

A would-be "electric cutter" and a 170-pound steel worker and a farmer who wants to be "executed."

The job pays $250 per switch throw. None of the applicants may get the job. "Mr. X." an understudy to Elliott, is standing by and probably will send to death the next batch of condemned criminals marked for the electric chair at Rockview Penitentiary, Bellefonte.

Elliott, reported "getting better" in his New York home last night, has electrocuted 110 men and one woman in Pennsylvania since 1926 and also served other eastern states as executioner.

Owner Of Gambling Ship Defies Enforcement Officers' Efforts

Santa Monica, Calif., August 2.—(C.P. Cable)—The long arm of the law reached out to sea today to close three gambling ships, but some 500 patrons of a fourth were marooned for hours while its defiant owner trained water hoses on a boatload of officers, halting efforts to board.

Officers boarded three of the vessels, three miles offshore, arrested more than a score of men, seized some $30,000 in stakes and in one instance indulged in some furniture-smashing.

But it was a different story when the State Fish and Game boat Bonita pulled up beside the Rex, largest and most elaborate of the ships.

ANCIENT SAXON FUNERAL SHIP IS DISCOVERED

London, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Archaeologists are excited over the discovery of a Saxon "funeral ship" buried in the earth at Suffolk and containing valuable gold ornaments.

Coins in the ship-tomb, which was unearthed at Sutton near Ipswich, fix the date at about 600 A.D. One theory is that Raewald, the Saxon king who died in 617, is buried there.

No signs of a skeleton have been discovered, but experts believe the ship would not preserve human remains for thirteen centuries.

The finds have been removed to safety in the British Museum. They include mud-covered gold ornaments and a warrior's equipment, including a shield, helmet, and part of a sword. There are also feasting equipment and domestic utensils.

Richness of the gold ornaments has lent support to the theory that a tomb of a British "King Tut" has been unearthed.

The funeral boat weighed nineteen tons and faced seaward, the sea being only a few miles away. According to ancient ritual this would permit the dead warrior's soul to escape toward the sea.

Another theory is that the tomb may be that of Rainer, eldest son of Raewald, who was killed in battle against Ethelrith, King of Northumbria, in 617.

Midland, Ont., Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Chronicles of human torture and heroism without parallel in modern history will be recalled here this week-end when five thousand pilgrims from many parts of Canada and United States gather at the Martyrs' Shrine to mark the tercentenary of historic Fort Ste. Marie's founding.

Opened and dedicated in 1926 by Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, the modern shrine is a dignified building overlooking the ruins of the old fort, headquarters three hundred years ago of five courageous Jesuit priests, North America's first martyrs, in the Book of Saints, who died by fire and tomahawk defending their post mission fortress from hostile tribes of Iroquois Indians.

Emile Cardinal Gasparri, prince of the Roman Catholic Church, will celebrate Sunday Benediction at the shrine Sunday.

The story of the old fort is one of hardship and torture, bravery and devotion. Commissioned by Samuel de Champlain, founder of New France to bring civilization and the cross among the Hurons, a small band of priests and laymen penetrated uncharted forests in 1639 to found Fort Ste. Marie near present-day Midland on the site of the Huron empire's ancient capital.

Most of the pioneers were to meet martyrdom before a decade was out. Some survived until 1649 only to die then among the charred remains of ten years of work rather than abandon fight. In that year the settlement only permanent fort between Albany and the Pacific, was ravaged and burned by invading Iroquois hordes.

First to die before the triumphant warriors was Father Anthony Daniel. The Iroquois surprised him during Mass in a small out-post mission. Urging all to flee who could, Father Daniel faced the invaders alone. He was shot down, hacked to pieces and burned in his own flaming church.

Fathers Charles Garnier, John de Brebeuf, Gabriel Lalemant and Noel Lacombe met similar fates in their efforts to Christianize the Hurons who were weakened by disease and easy victims for the stalwart Iroquois.

From Virgin bushland the Jesuits had hewn many acres of profitable farm land which provided food during winter for as many as six thousand Hurons, camping near the fort for protection. Organizing and sustaining the Hurons' morale, the priests were historically important in delaying the Iroquois onslaught through Ontario and giving New France a last chance to muster resources to meet the menace.

ANTHONY EDEN DEMANDS BRITISH PEOPLE SHOW TRUE TEMPER

London, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, believes that if Germany and Italy can be convinced of the "true temper" of the British people "there will be no war."

In a letter to his constituents as Parliament neared its summer recess Mr. Eden said:

"We are in a period of a war of nerves and a prolonged testing lies ahead of us. There is only one task for British statesmen today—to convince the rulers and the peoples of Germany and Italy of the unshakable firmness of our determination.

"If we can do this, if we can convince others of what we know to be the true temper of the British people, there will be no war."

British Women Missionaries Subject To New Indignities

Two Returning Missionaries Claim to Have Been Forced to Strip in Presence of Man While Detained by Japanese Troops at Kaifeng—United States Protests Extension of Anti-British Campaign.

Peiping, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Two British women missionaries who arrived at Peiping today reported they were forced to strip in the presence of a man while being detained by Japanese soldiers at Kaifeng.

The women came from Sian, capital of Shensi Province in China's northwest, with a man missionary. They said they were held at Kaifeng for two days and questioned four hours on July 24th and two hours July 25th.

The man in whose presence they were forced to strip, they asserted, was either a Japanese or a Korean. At Peiping, directors of the anti-British campaign opened a new drive by adopting tactics which have driven a number of Britons out of inland cities. Servants in British households were told to quit or face "final action."

Warning letters were known to have been delivered to 516 individual servants, some of whom left their jobs. The letters signed by the "anti-British Picket Corps," said the common obligation of all Asians was to liquidate all relations with Britons.

UNITED STATES ENTERS PROTEST

Tokyo, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—The United States was reported today to have protested to the Japanese Foreign Office that the anti-British movement in China evidently had broadened into general anti-foreign agitation.

Eugene Doonan, United States Charge d'Affaires, was said by reliable sources to have submitted a protest on seven recent assaults on Americans by Japanese in China and to have told Seijiro Yoshizawa, chief of the Foreign Office American section, that it was a "reasonable assumption" anti-British action Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.

Cable)—A fruit stand salesman, Arthur Pappas, fifty-five, faced a ninety-nine-year sentence for murder today because he shot and killed Muriel Campbell, eighteen, after she and a friend dropped and smashed a watermelon while playing catch with it. Pappas testified he fired just to frighten the young people.

Rejection Of Lending Bill Proves Biggest Roosevelt Defeat In Years

Washington, Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—The sudden death of President Roosevelt's lending bill at the hands of insurgents in the House of Representatives sent the United States Congress pell-mell into an adjournment rush today, with confused administration forces trying to stave off a final thrust at the wage-hour law.

As a week-end wind-up of the seven months' session appeared certain, Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic floor leader, said he expected "insistence from some quarters" for a House vote on wage-hour amendments. The administration is fighting most of these proposed changes.

While Roosevelt critics hailed the House's refusal to debate the Senate-approved lending measure yesterday as one of the biggest New Deal defeats since the collapse of the Supreme Court bill, the President calmly told reporters that industry, the unemployed and the taxpayer would be damaged by the action.

Forty-seven Democrats joined 146 Republicans in voting against debating the legislation. Favoring its consideration were 163 Democrats, two Progressives and one American-Labor member. The opposing Democratic votes came from all parts of the country.

The refusal to debate an administration bill was almost unprecedented in recent years.

HEAVY SENTENCES IMPOSED FOR PART IN WATERLOO ROBBERY

Sweetsburg, Que., Aug. 2.—(C.P. Cable)—Magistrate Lemay has sentenced Gerard L'Abbe and Leopold Labelle, of Montreal to three years each in the penitentiary, and Paul Emile Sevigny, also of Montreal, to twenty-three months, for their part in a $20,000 store robbery at Waterloo, Que.

The store of Edouard Pinsonnault at Waterloo was broken into and robbed on July 21, and the following day provincial detectives under Sub-Inspector Massue arrested the three in Montreal. The detectives also recovered practically all of the stolen goods.

BERNARD GROUP WILL DISCUSS FREIGHT SHEDS

Decision of City Council Not to Interfere in C.P.R. Building
Plans Object of Special Meeting.

A special meeting to discuss City Council's decision not to interfere with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's plan to build a freight shed on the corner of the intersection of the railway and the city street, was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of E. A. Bernard, a record reporter.

Whether or not the Bernard group will carry out its plan to appeal directly to the Board of Transport Commissioners asking suspension of the work until the appeal is settled, was not specified by the leader of the movement against construction of the building on the old location.

Yesterday at a special Council meeting the Aldermen decided not to intervene in the C.P.R. plan.

It was specified at yesterday's gathering, however, that the railway would have to leave sufficient space on their property to allow for future construction of a standard-width sidewalk in conformity with municipal by-laws.

British Women Missionaries Subject To New Indignities

British women converted into general anti-foreignism.

The seven assaults were said to have involved six missionaries and a naval warrant officer, R. A. Baker, who was manhandled at Hankow July 24th.

British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie, meanwhile, was said to have threatened to break up the Anglo-Japanese conference on Tientsin unless Japanese placed the anti-British movement under control.

The Foreign Office denied the report and the British embassy refused to comment beyond stating that it had talked with Sotomatsu Kato, Japanese ambassador at large in China, who is here for the conference on Tientsin.

SOCIAL CREDIT AIMS OUTLINED LAST EVENING

Louis Dugal, Provincial President of the Social Credit League, Principal Speaker at Portland Square.

That the Social Credit League of the Province of Quebec is not a political party but an association for the purpose of propagating the knowledge of the economic and social sciences was the statement made last night at Portland Square by Louis Dugal, provincial president of the Social Credit movement.

Speaking before a gathering of about three hundred Mr. Dugal outlined the organization plans, the workings and the future aspirations of the group over which he is head. Revision of the nation's financial system, a more equitable distribution of wealth and control over local representatives in the Houses of Parliament were sought by the League, he said.

"The representatives in Parliament must be the servants of the masters of the people," Mr. Dugal declared. "And the existing relations between the elected and electors must be changed. It is the aim of members of the Social Credit organization not to unseat the politicians but to eventually force them to adopt a workable financial system. Control of the politicians by the people is what is desired."

Repeal of the existing banking laws and transfer of leadership in finances from the "money barons" to the state would remedy many of the ills existing at present, the speaker declared, claiming that a comparatively few men in the Dominion controlled the entire fiscal system and dictated to the Government in power.

Exploitation of the banks for the good of the people and not for the enrichment of a select few is being sought by Social Creditors," Mr. Dugal continued. "As it stands at present we have not got democracy. We are living under the worst form of dictatorship."

In a description of the manner in which the Social Credit movement has been spreading in Quebec, Ontario and New Brunswick Mr. Dugal told his listeners that in less than ten months over 700 committees had been formed in fifty-one different counties and that daily more adherents to the group were lending their support to the move for a redress of public ills.

A plea to the women of Quebec to help in furthering the work of the Social Creditors was made by Marie-Irene Dion, provincial vice-president of the League. Miss Dion spoke on "Misery in the Midst of Abundance."

J. E. Cote, president of the Regional Propaganda Committee, compared living conditions of a hundred years ago with those of today. The meeting was presided over by John Graham, of Sherbrooke.

IRON HURLED IN SUTTON BLAST CAUSES DAMAGE

Sutton, Aug. 2.—Hurled through the air when dynamite exploded suddenly in the mill back of Fred Olmstead's residence here, pieces of scrap iron narrowly missed injuring a number of persons.

A car owned by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was slightly damaged. Miss Audrey Bradshaw, who was seated in the automobile watching a tennis match, escaped injury.

Small pieces of the scrap iron flew all over the village but no one was struck.

Will Recount Ancient Story On Lachine Massacre Anniversary

Lachine, Que., Aug. 2.—The story of the Lachine massacre will be re-told Friday night, the 250th anniversary of the murder of the white inhabitants of the tiny French settlement by the dreaded Iroquois.

By the flickering light of bonfires before the Lachine Convent, Mayor Anatole Carignan will recount the story as the chapel bells toll a funeral dirge. In the background, the Libera, a Roman Catholic Funeral Mass, will be chanted by a mixed choir, accompanied by the muted instruments of a band.

As history tells the tale, more than 1,500 Iroquois raided the St. Lawrence river settlement on August 4, 1689. Men, women, and children were slain in their beds or bound to stakes before bonfires and tortured by "unspeakable cruelties." Others were carried away into a captivity from which they never returned. History fails to record the number slain.

Some two hundred troops, encamped several miles from Lachine, prepared to march to help the villagers, it is recorded, but were ordered by a superior officer to return to the "strong walls of Fort Roland." There also were troops at nearby Montreal but, one historian says, "madness seemed to have fled their leaders."

A few days after the massacre the bodies of the victims were buried in various parts of the settlement. Five years later they were exhumed and given a Christian burial in the cemetery.

Bronze plaques commemorating the memories of the victims are being made and will be placed at various points in Lachine.

COMPANION OF IRISH LEADER IS QUESTIONED

Police Seeking Information as to Whereabouts of Sean Russell, Believed to Have Returned from United States.

Belfast, Aug. 2.—A companion of Sean Russell, when the Irish Republican Army leader was detained at Detroit June 5 was questioned today by police, presumably in an effort to learn Russell's whereabouts.

The acquaintance, Joseph McCarthy, of Philadelphia, was vacationing in County Tyrone when police located him for questioning. He arrived in Northern Ireland two weeks ago.

Scotland Yard has been investigating a persistent rumor that Russell reached Ireland recently in a freighter.

(Ostensibly because he had overstayed his thirty-day visa to visit the United States) Russell was taken into custody at Detroit on the eve of the arrival of King George and Queen Elizabeth at nearby Windsor, Ont., on their Majesties' Canadian tour.

MORE EXPLOSIVES FOUND
London, Aug. 2.—Four Irishmen arrested yesterday by order of the Home Office were transferred today to Elmbridge under guard of detectives. A man held in Cannon Row police station and a young woman detained in Rochester Row station were to be conducted out of the country tonight.

Fifty sticks of gelignite were discovered in Glasgow last night near a dock used by steamships from Dublin. It was believed the explosives had been abandoned hastily by Irish terrorists.

Three men who appeared in Leeds police court today on charges of possessing twenty pounds of gelignite refused to make a statement. They were James Morgan, 30, William Sheridan, 25, and John Patrick Jones, 32.

CLAIMS COW NEEDED SPECIAL ATTENTION

Oxford, England, Aug. 2.—The case history of a cow with an inferiority complex that developed into a record milk producer was related to the London Individual Psychology Summer School here by W. B. Tobey.

He said herdman Malcolm Bradbury topped up the milk production of a Jersey from 350 to 2,000 gallons a year, and quoted Bradbury as saying:

"Cows are like women. They need petting and fussing. I caressed her and fussed over her and changed her diet to things she liked most. Her inferiority complex has gone. Cows need psychological understanding."

RICHMOND MAN INJURED WHEN CAR HITS POLE

Pierre Marquis, Sixty-Five,
Suffers Fractured Kneecap
and Minor Injuries in Crash
—Car Badly Damaged.

Richmond, Aug. 2.—Pierre Marquis, sixty-five-year-old resident of this community, suffered a fractured kneecap and other minor injuries last night when the car he was driving crashed into a pole after he had swerved to avoid running into a spot on the road under construction.

The accident occurred about 10:30 p.m. at the intersection of College street and Dufferin avenue. Marquis' automobile travelled across the sidewalk, grazed a tree and then smashed into the pole. The car was badly damaged in the collision.

Marquis' condition is not considered serious.

An employee of the Provincial Roads Department, the injured man has been a resident of Richmond for many years and is well known in the surrounding district.

GERMAN TROOPS MARK OPENING OF WORLD WAR

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Entry into Conflict Turned into Holiday on Orders of Chancellor Hitler.

Berlin, August 2.—(AP)—Under orders of Chancellor Hitler the German army today celebrated for the first time an anniversary of the outbreak of the Great War.

Special observances of the twenty-fifth anniversary were conducted in all garrisons of Greater Germany, and Hitler's order made the day an army holiday.

The controlled Nazi press took occasion to speak at length of the "Heroic Battle of 1914 to 1918" on the heels of a statement yesterday by Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels' Der Angriff that Germany's military position had improved vastly in twenty-five years.

(It was August 1, 1914, that Germany declared war on Russia and ordered mobilization. On August 2 German troops crossed into Luxembourg.)

Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter cited as a historic coincidence that on August 2, 1934, Paul von Hindenburg, Republican Germany's last president, died and Hitler combined the offices of Chancellor and President.

Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, under the caption, "Holiday of the Armed Forces," said that "as long as Germans live they will remember their heroic sons of the Great War days and hold the memory of their deeds in highest esteem."

Grand Admiral Erich Raeder issued a statement to the German navy recalling the "heroic defensive fight of the German nation against a world of enemies."

THREE INJURED IN LEVIS EARTHSLIDE

Levis, Que., Aug. 2.—Three laborers were seriously injured yesterday when a landslide carried them from Levis heights down the cliffside nearly one hundred and fifty feet.

The workers—Emile Lafrance, thirty-five; Ferdinand Martineau, forty; and G. Grogio, twenty—were at work in a trench being cut up the cliff in the construction of a drainage line.

Lafrance suffered a broken arm; Martineau, foot and leg wounds; and Grogio, severe arm injuries. They were taken to hospital for treatment.

LOCAL FIRM BUYS TORONTO COMPANY

The Canadian Sturdy Chain Company has purchased the goodwill, registered trade names, dies and tools of the American Watch Case Company Ltd., of Toronto, who, for fifty years have been leaders in the field, making pocket watch cases.

It is the company's intention to build an addition to its plant and move to Sherbrooke such machinery and tools as would be necessary to continue to manufacture the product formerly made in Toronto.

This addition will be built by a local contractor and when completed and ready for operation, will offer additional employment to Sherbrooke workmen.

It is planned to have the plant in operation on or about November 1.

PERUVIAN AVIATORS KILLED IN MOROCCO

Casa Blanca, Morocco, Aug. 2.—(AP)—An airplane in which Commander Pedro Canga, of the Peruvian air force, was attempting a trans-Atlantic flight, fell in flames today, killing Canga and his mechanic, Alfredo Icaza, and injuring the wireless operator, Luis Villagueva. The crash occurred near Azemmour, a small Moroccan seaport.

The Peruvians had taken off on Monday from Rome for a flight to Lima, Peru. Canga was believed to have turned back toward Casa Blanca after encountering difficulties. Rescue parties from Azemmour later found the burned bodies of Canga and Icaza in the wreckage.

MORAL REARMAMENT CONFERENCE ENDED

San Francisco, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Delegates from twenty-five countries were homeward bound today after attending the second World Moral Rearmament Assembly, which drew greetings from Premiers of many countries and the Sovereigns of several.

Delegates, many clad in colorful costumes of their countries, took over Treasure Island, scene of the Golden Gate International Exposition, yesterday after closing their ten-day meeting at Monterey.

Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the Oxford Group, and initiator of Moral Rearmament, said in a speech that moral rearmament was "not a new denomination but a new determination above creed, party and point of view."

NEW HIGH MARK SET BY BORDER PORT TRAFFIC

Number of Tourist Cars
Entering Canada Through
Rock Island Over Six Hundred
Ahead of Last Year.

Rock Island, Aug. 2.—With the tourist season now in full swing traffic to and from Canada through the Port of Rock Island is increasing daily and last month the number of foreign tourist cars inward established a record in the history of the port, according to statistics released today by E. J. Struthers, collector in charge.

On June 15 the number of tourist automobiles inward was 395 less than the 1938 figure but by July 31 the number was 616 ahead of last year. Canadian tourist cars outward at July 31 were 423 under the 1938 figures, but the number is increasing steadily. Many of the cars from distant states have been to the World's Fair at New York and are returning via Canada.

Figures of traffic through Rock Island are as follows:

	July 31	July 31
	1937	1938
United States tourist cars inward	12,767	13,402
Canadian tourists outward	9,448	9,625

Cars from every state in the Union, with the exception of five—Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota and South Dakota—entered Canada through Rock Island last month. A total of 1,932 came from Vermont, 1,649 from Massachusetts, 856 from New York, 755 from New Hampshire and 712 from Connecticut. Two cars with Mexican plates entered.

In July 6,494 cars entered for touring purposes, for forty-eight hours, while travellers' vehicle permits were issued to 291. Canadian automobiles exported for touring purposes for twenty-four hours or less totalled 3,900, while those exported for over twenty-four hours aggregated 3,767.

POLICE HOURS LENGTHENED BY DETROIT RIOTS

One Thousand Extra Officers
Made Available for Duty in Strike Area as Walk-out
Enters Twenty-Ninth Day.

Detroit, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Bloodshed and fears of further violence in the prolonged General Motors strike forced police into extra duty today and there was still no great promise of an early peace.

Readjusting work scheduled for ten-hours shifts, police heads arranged to make 1,000 more blue-coats available for service in trouble-stricken areas after yesterday's brief battle with C.I.O. pickets and sympathizers.

Bricks flew and gas guns boomed when a fifty-man police escort accompanied thirty-five non-striking workers from a machine and die unit of the Fisher Body Corporation late yesterday. Several strikers and police were injured.

The bricks, said Police Inspector Arthur Ryckman, "rained like confetti." He said he ordered the discharge of tear gas when the situation began to get out of hand. Windows in several of the non-striking automobiles were smashed and one picket was clubbed with a piece of iron pipe. His head was gashed.

It is the walk-out of the die makers of the C.I.O.-United Automobile Workers reached its twenty-ninth day today, peace conferences continued under Federal Mediator James Dewey. His only statement was that "substantial progress" had been made.

FOUR FAVORITES ARE ELIMINATED

Southampton, N.Y., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The 49th annual Meadow Club invitation tournament wedged itself deeper into its crazy pattern yesterday with the defeat of four seeded players, a show of temper by unranked Wayne Sabin, and various other smudges.

The defeated quartette were Gene Mako of Los Angeles, No. 2; Gil Hunt of Washington, D.C., No. 3; Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore., No. 5, and Frank Guernsey, of Orlando, Fla., No. 7. Even these surprises took a back seat to the really insane happenings of the day.

Sabin started it when he defaulted midway in the second set of his morning engagement with Gardner Mulloy, of Miami. Sabin had won the first set, 7-5, and Mulloy was leading in the second, 3-1. Suddenly Sabin walked to the sidelines and donned a pair of spiked shoes.

The Portland, Ore. player had been slipping and sliding all over the turf, but he knew, as well as the others, that there was a strict rule against spikes on the front courts. The manager of the tournament committee reminded him of the regulation, but Sabin retorted it was either spikes or default. It turned out to be default.

Frankie Parker and Don McNeill, who started an uproar Sunday night by suddenly withdrawing from the tournament, came in for more attention today when the committee announced that they would be allowed to compete in the doubles. Previously their status was in doubt.

125 MEN ARE SHIFTED ONTO PUBLIC WORKS

City Will In Future Have To Pay Maintenance Work Costs

Communication Received Today from Superintendent of Board of Economic Reconstruction at Quebec—None of Men Involved in Transfer Will Lose Employment, However.

About one hundred and twenty-five men, working for the city and being paid by the Provincial Government, will be transferred to public works projects at once, according to instructions received this morning by J. D. O'Bready, head of the local office of the Department of Labor.

During the past six months the municipality has been taking advantage of the relief agreement with Quebec to employ some of the "chomeurs" on street cleaning and other projects of a routine nature. Today's communication from W. T. Hand, superintendent of the Board of Economic Reconstruction, Quebec, specifies that in future if men are needed for this work the city will have to pay their salaries.

Workers at fire stations, municipal garages, forges, paint shops and the crusher plant are included in the number to be placed on the city payroll. In addition to these there are several who were engaged in street cleaning, helping the city electricians, working on city properties and on trucks owned by the city.

Several weeks ago Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque, Minister of Public Works and of Lands and Forests, complained that the city was abusing the agreement regarding the unemployed. At the time he said that "chomeurs" were being used to remove snow from the street and to do other maintenance work not in strict accord with the understanding.

None of the men involved in today's transfer will lose employment, however, for all those that the city does not keep will be sent to Jacques Cartier Park and other projects being developed under the public works scheme.

Whether today's move is a forerunner of complete abandonment of public works in favor of the dole is threatened, is not known although certain usually informed persons declared stopping of the present system might follow very shortly.

NEW MACHINE ACQUIRED BY LOCAL CLINIC

Installs Apparatus to Treat Obstructed Circulation in Limbs—Lack of Apparatus Was Keenly Felt.

To the vast assembly of apparatus operated in Dr. Horn's Medical and Electrological Clinic, 85 Court street, for the diagnosis and treatment of diseases, a new one has been added recently.

The addition fills in the need greatly felt by certain patients whose circulation in the upper and lower extremities is impaired through disease.

The apparatus, devised by two physicians, Collens and Wilensky, is built on the same principle as the Pavex machine, known to the public as the glass boot. The method of the treatment is based upon the scientifically established principle that the flow of blood in the circulating arteries is greatly increased by the production of a sudden pressure and release in the affected limbs, and new channels of circulation are thus built up around the clogged-up blood vessels.

The machine is simple in operation and has the advantage of being portable and can be placed at the patient's bed for continuous or intermittent treatment, as the case may require.

A number of diseases may produce obstruction in the circulation of the limbs. To mention a few of them, diabetic gangrene, frostbite gangrene, hardening of the arteries, etc., etc.

With this type of apparatus less serious affection of the limbs are treated with favorable results, such as chronic varicose ulcers, coldness and numbness of feet, fractures which did not mend naturally and certain inflammatory conditions of veins.

The results of these treatments are published by the medical profession on this continent and abroad.

By the acquisition of a portable Collens-Wilensky apparatus the Clinic is able to provide bedside treatments to patients who are bed-ridden or treat ambulatory cases who for financial reasons cannot afford a prolonged stay in a hospital away from home.

BUSINESS REPLY CARD RATE CUT
Hon. N. A. McLarty, Postmaster General, announces that effective August 15, the rate on business reply cards for delivery within Canada will be reduced from four cents to three cents.

These cards are used by firms who desire to send out letters, enquiries, etc., and to obtain a reply without putting their clients to the expense of paying the postage.

This reduction in the rate on business reply cards should not only be of assistance to firms sending out advertising, paper manufacturers and printers, but should stimulate business generally.

Do you ever wish real hard for something nice to happen? Something you cannot quite define, something you don't know how to go after, and yet something so terrifically desirable that you feel that your wish must miraculously come true! Or perhaps you're just a very hungry man on a fishing trip. You haven't caught a thing, there's a miserable drizzle and you're soaked to the skin. No wonder you get to wishing for something nice to happen! Make your wish come true! Mayor Will Represent City At Ottawa Relief Meeting

An invitation to Mayor Marcus Armitage to represent Sherbrooke at the proposed meeting of Quebec Mayors with Ottawa authorities for the purpose of discussing the relief question, will be extended very shortly, City Hall officials were informed this morning by Col. the Hon. Johnny Bourque.

The delegation of Provincial Chief Magistrates, to be headed by Premier Maurice Duplessis, is expected to meet with Federal officials next Tuesday in order that a satisfactory understanding on the relief question may be reached.

Col. Bourque indicated today that Mayor Armitage would be invited since Sherbrooke is a member of the Quebec Union of Municipalities and there are more than 2,000 residents of the city directly affected.

Council Is Reported Divided Over Plan To Eliminate Street Terrace

Suggestion Made that King Hill Terrace Below Soldiers' Monument Be Removed to Extend Parking Facilities.

Suggestion that the King Hill terrace below the Soldiers' Monument be removed to extend parking facilities has been received with mixed feeling by the City Fathers and has given rise to some controversy among the members of the Council. Ald. J. W. Genest, Chairman of the Municipal Parks Committee, stated to a Record representative today.

Ald. Genest explained that the suggestion had been advanced at a recent committee meeting and that some members of the Council had turned a favorable ear to the proposal, while others had opposed the plan. Ald. Genest himself is strongly against any such undertaking. He stated to the Record he did not believe enlargement of parking facilities on King Hill was warranted, for the present, at least. "The number of cars that could be accommodated," he said, "is too small to justify removal of this ornament to the city."

The Parks Committee Chairman regards the grass plot on King Hill as a decided asset to the city's appearance, being particularly attractive to tourists and visitors. "Few can deny that, placed in the heart of the business sector as it is, it brightens up an otherwise unattractive section," he said.

Ald. Alex Ross, Chairman of the Gas and Electric Committee, is also opposed to the plan. He pointed out that some years ago one of the terraces closer to the summit of the hill had been eliminated for the benefit of proprietors of business houses. Similar reasons did not hold in the present case, he said, and he agreed with Ald. Genest that the additional number of automobiles which would be accommodated would be small.

As the matter stands at present, the Council has taken no definite decision upon the suggestion—which may come in for some lengthy, and perhaps animated, discussion at future session of the municipal heads.

GOODWILL HELD PEACE ESSENCE BY CANON BIGG
St. Peter's Church Rector Tells Rotarians International Friendship Impossible if Mind of Man Filled with War.

Goodwill is the essence of peace and if the mind of man is set on harmonious relationships a peaceful world will inevitably result, Rev. Canon H. B. Bigg, rector of St. Peter's Church here, said yesterday in addressing the weekly meeting of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club in the New Sherbrooke House.

On the other hand, Rev. Mr. Bigg pointed out, if people's thoughts are filled with war continually another world conflict might easily be the result.

"Peace and how to attain it should fill all our minds," Rev. Mr. Bigg said. The aim and hope of all of us should be freedom from war, public tranquility, a state of concord between people as individuals.

"There should be a state of harmony existing in the world, but in the past nine or ten months war has been the general talk. A condition of harmony is thus impossible," he stated.

Rev. Mr. Bigg urged his listeners to keep their thoughts on peace, adding that "the mind of man rules the world and the result would be international accord." He advised the cultivation of peace within oneself, as "goodwill is the essence of peace."

Many news stories written by foreign correspondents tend to direct public thoughts towards war, Canon Bigg believed, as so reports of world events given by radio announcers in commenting on news happenings.

"As a man thinks, so is he," he quoted, adding that minds become filled with any subject which is given cordial prominence. Consistent reading or listening to international friction tended to bring about an increasingly dangerous war mentality, the rector submitted.

Rev. Mr. Bigg, who has addressed the local Rotary Club on four previous occasions, was introduced by Rotarian Fred Briggs and thanked at the conclusion of his talk by Rotarian T. G. Walsh.

President Gerald Wiggatt presided at the meeting. Seated with him and Rev. Mr. Bigg at the head table were George Ewing, immediate past president of the local group and governor of the 195th District of Rotary International, the Very Rev. W. H. Moorehead, Lord Bishop of Fredericton, who was one of a number of guests present, and Rotarians R. N. Ogilvy and Lennox Wilson.

JIMMY DORSEY IS WORLD'S GREATEST

No Other Saxophonist Equals Him, Music Authorities Say.

Jimmy Dorsey, whose "contrasting music" comes to the International Club, Newport, Vt., on Thursday, August 3, is regarded by musicians both popular and classical as the world's greatest saxophonist. When Toscanini added a saxophone to his NBC symphony orchestra for one of his recent broadcasts, Jimmy Dorsey's absence from New York on tour prevented popular music's greatest saxophone-playing maestro from making a guest appearance with the world's greatest conductor.

Almost incredible are the feats Jimmy can perform on his favorite E-flat alto saxophone—on any saxophone for that matter, although the alto is his preferred instrument. For with it he can play notes both above and below the range of the "horn," and play them with a purity and mellowness of tone that would be amazing even if the notes themselves weren't impossible!

Bob "Believe It or Not" Ripley recently memorialized Jimmy Dorsey's feat of playing the 400-note notes of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Flight of the Bumblebee" on his saxophone in two breaths, and it had hardly been printed when Jimmy, on the CBS "Swing Session," played it in one breath. Capt. Charles Scully, head of the Life Saving Division of the American Red Cross, said that Jimmy's performance on that occasion was equivalent to holding one's breath for four minutes under water.

Naturally Jimmy Dorsey was a member of Paul Whiteman's All-American Band in "Collier's," and recently Paul featured his saxophone in Jimmy's difficult composition "Bebe," hard enough for one saxophonist and almost impossible for three. Jimmy writes many saxophone novelties, and it's a summa cum laude for any saxophonist to be able to play them successfully, they're so hard to handle.

His own theme, "Contrast," is one of his saxophone "cours d'force," adapted from his composition "Oodles of Noodles," and displays Jimmy's virtuosity on the saxophone on each of his radio programmes. It goes without saying that he plays a mean clarinet, too.

Capacity Of Weedon Plant Is Being Increased By 500 H.P.

Plans for Further Increasing Production of Weedon Site Being Studied by Engineers—Dam May Be Raised to Add to Efficiency—Thirty Men Now Engaged on $5,000 Weedon Job.

More power for Sherbrooke's future industrial, commercial and domestic use will be realized soon, authorities of the Gas and Electricity Department revealed today when they announced that thirty men were working to enlarge production at the municipally-owned Weedon plant.

Operations at Weedon consist of deepening of the rocky channel into which the waters of the St. Francis flow after leaving the turbines. In this way there will be a greater difference in elevation between the level of the water at the top of the dam and at the "tailrace" as the bottom channel is known, with a corresponding increase in efficiency. It is expected that this improvement to the Weedon plant will result in an increased capacity of at least 500 horsepower, with good possibilities that even more will be developed. Present output of the turbines is about 4,500 horsepower.

Cost of the work at Weedon will be about $5,000. Several weeks ago the city bought for $30,000 the Eustis power plant where 600 h.p. can be developed.

In addition to the deepening of the channel, plans for further increasing the efficiency of the Weedon plant are being studied by Engineers Crapeau and Cole who are at present surveying land above the dam to determine whether it will be feasible to raise the structure one more foot. Practicability of this plan will depend on the cost of floodage rights.

For some time past a leakage had been noticed at the Weedon dam and after investigation it was discovered that a fissure had opened up in the structure. A gang of men is now repairing this and it is expected the breach will be closed before the end of this week.

Obedience is the core of character.

AUSTRALIAN LEADERS AND THE CONSTITUTION

In marked contrast to the attitude adopted by many of the political leaders in Canada on the subject, the Australian chiefs appear united that some revision of the constitution is needed in view of modern scientific and economic developments.

Prime Minister Menzies has announced his intention of introducing a constitutional reform bill when Parliament meets during August, and during the past few days Sir Earle Page, former Prime Minister, and now leader of the Country Party, and Opposition Leader John Curtin have thrown their support to the proposed changes, indicating a speedy passage of the bill.

Speaking at Perth, capital of Western Australia, on the thirty-ninth anniversary of the receipt of the Royal Assent to the Australian Constitution Bill, Mr. Curtin declared that the time had come for the constitution to be revised.

"We don't want the skeleton of a decades-old constitution," he said. "We want a constitution attuned to the times and simply phrased so that the people will not have to go to high court to have interpretations." He declared the Federal Parliament was handicapped by the inflexibility of the Commonwealth Constitution and demanded wider powers for it.

Mr. Curtin added: "Several of the major sides of national life, including the relationship between employer and employee, and interstate and intrastate trade and commerce are now partly or completely vested in the states. These should be controlled by the national Parliament."

Sir Earle Page in New South Wales supported Mr. Curtin's remarks. He said that marketing under changed world conditions provided an illustration of the fetters and obsolescent constitution had fastened on Australia, evidently referring to the difficulties he had met when Minister for Commerce in the Lyons administration.

Perhaps if the Canadian party chiefs would adopt as helpful an attitude, many of the serious problems now facing the country could be solved very easily.

THE U. S. AND ANTARCTICA

The trouble which often originates in some definite statement by public men without proper reservation and qualification is well-illustrated by the current United States position in regard to the Antarctic continent. Some officials preparing the way for the Government expedition to the southern polar regions believe the United States will have to eat a few of the words about Antarctic claims which Charles Evans Hughes set down when he was Secretary of State.

Discussing a possible United States claim to Wilkes Land in the Antarctic, Mr. Hughes wrote in 1924 that "the discovery of lands unknown to civilization, even when coupled with a formal taking of possession, does not support a valid claim to sovereignty unless the discovery is followed by an actual settlement of the discovered country."

This opinion, which has since held sway at the State Department, accounts for the lack of official claims to Arctic and Antarctic territory following the explorations of such men as Rear-Admiral Richard Byrd and Lincoln Ellsworth. Now, as a United States Government expedition prepares to set out for the Antarctic, officials ask:

"Is it possible to have actual settlement in the Antarctic where living conditions are so difficult?"

The expedition, leaving in October, will settle in the Antarctic for possibly a year, and undoubtedly will lay claim to hundreds of thousands of square miles of territory. But the officials continued:

"What is the United States going to do after that? Must we keep Americans in the Antarctic for years to come in order to validate our claim?"

Some would like to recede a little from the position assumed by Mr. Hughes. They would like to substitute occupation—not necessarily continuous and permanent—for his idea of "actual settlement."

FORGET, BELIEVE, HOPE

A man reaching seventy usually has achieved most of his philosophy and wisdom as is likely to be his. Most of life's experiences have by then touched him and made their mark upon him. He has had time to think, opportunity to feel, leisure to reflect. Such men, if natively wise, are worth listening to.

Such a man is Peter Witt, of Cleveland. He is one of those men of whom every town fortunately has one or two, who have devoted a great deal of time and thought to the affairs of men, and to the general well-being, as well as to their own.

"Forget yesterday, believe in today, hope for tomorrow," says Witt. "Live your life in your own way, wholly unmindful of what others think or say."

"Forgetting yesterday means no worrying about the past. What's done cannot be undone."

"Believing in today gets the most out of the present. It is the only thing we can be sure of."

"Hoping for tomorrow is what makes for progress, even though most of the dreams, all born of hope, never come true."

Wise words, and a man who has reached at seventy so simple and so sensible a point of view has not lived in vain. Why does it take most of us so long to achieve wisdom as crystal-clear and eminently sane as that?

EMPLOYMENT IN CANADA

Continued improvement in the industrial employment situation in Canada was recorded at the beginning of July, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The reported increase in employment slightly exceeded the average gain from June 1 to July 1 in the experience of other years since 1920 and was considerably greater than that recorded at July of last year. The figures received from 11,760 establishments whose employees numbered 1,426,216 showed a gain of 26,118 or 2.4 per cent over June 1, while 10,791 firms reporting for July, 1938, had furnished employment for 1,986,773 persons.

The gain in employment was essentially in the non-manufacturing and service industries, as manufacturing as a whole showed a slight slowing-up at the beginning of July. There were important gains over June 1 in food, lumber and pulp and paper factories, together with smaller advances in many other branches of manufacturing. Leather, chemical, textile and iron and steel plants, however, reported curtailment. The contractions in textiles and iron and steel were seasonal in character, but they exceeded the average losses recorded at July 1 in the last eighteen years.

Among the non-manufacturing industries, mining, communications, transportation, services, trade and construction and maintenance indicated substantial improvement, that in the last named being greatest. The increases in mining and communications were above the average at July 1 in the years 1921-1938; that in construction approximated the usual seasonal gain, while the additions to the pay-rolls reported in services, trade and transportation was rather below average, following the exceptionally large increases recorded in these industries at June 1, 1939. On the other hand, there were seasonal losses in logging as river-driving operations were completed, but the losses were smaller than usual in the experience of past years.

Statements were tabulated from 832 establishments in the Maritimes employing 83,530 men and women as against 79,982 at June 1. On July 1 last year 791 firms had reported 83,302 workers. The personnel of the 2,907 co-operating firms in Quebec included 353,301 persons compared with 344,849 on June 1; 2,654 business enterprises in this province reported 336,922 employees in July last year. The 3,140 Ontario firms contributing to this survey reported 433,370 employees compared with 431,121 in June; last year 4,711 employers reported 443,081 workers. Data were compiled from 1,667 firms in the Prairie Provinces with an aggregate staff of 134,548 persons as against 130,630 in June; last year 1,312 firms reported 123,312 persons at work. The working force of 1,214 firms in British Columbia on July 1 was reported at 97,267 compared with 93,516 on June 1; in July last year, 1,123 concerns reported 92,392 men and women at work.

EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

Premier Chamberlain doesn't carry his umbrella on morning walks because it frightens birds in the park. Too bad certain men aren't as scared of it.

Admiral Byrd will head an expedition to establish U. S. claims in Antarctica. He may succeed—but he can be sure of a frigid reception.

"Watch us grow," says a highway sign beside some small pine trees. Wouldn't it be a rather tedious task?

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record.

August 2nd, 1909.
Residents of Ayer's Cliff expressed high indignation at the action of certain co-citizens who were in the habit of using the sidewalks as cow paths.

The Federal Government made an initial appropriation of $4,000 for the establishment of the now-famous Battlefields Park in Quebec City.

Automobiles were becoming so common in the vicinity of Lawrenceville that it was not considered unusual for three or four to pass through in a single week.

Officials of the Bell Telephone Company estimated that by 1924, the population of Sherbrooke would be about 24,000.

Employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway started a $200,000 programme of yard extensions and erection of new shops and buildings at Sherbrooke.

The hopes of the residents of Megantic County for the opening of a railway line through the Inverness region were raised when a group of surveyors passed through the district, but the project never passed the blueprint stage.

Spain was threatened with one of its periodical civil wars and King Alfonso in desperation took possession of all the public utility systems throughout the country as a general strike was called.

A sharp decline in the milk production of the Eastern Townships was feared as continued unfavorable conditions offered prospects for the smallest hay crop in years, especially in the Cowansville district.

Hundreds of thousands were rendered homeless when a fire swept through twenty thousand buildings in Osaka, Japan.

There had been an argument in the bar as to who took charge in a ship when the captain died.

"Because I'm the captain," came the reply.

PRESS COMMENTS

FARMERS ARE MEN OF HIGH INTELLIGENCE
(Ottawa Journal)

Objection has been taken by Mr. Farquhar Oliver, M.L.A. for South Grey, to "cartoons which periodically appear in the press reflecting upon rural residents, and to so-called 'rube' programmes sent through the air". He resents such misrepresentations of rural life and thinks it would be better for national unity if there were abandoned.

Perhaps Mr. Oliver takes this too seriously. The stage "rube" is a standard comic character that does not pretend faithfully to reproduce the agricultural worker or rural life, any more than the stage Irishman or the stage Scot or Englishman or American is true to life or mother-in-law jokes or stories about travelling salesmen. Most of us like our humor to follow an accepted pattern, and we laugh at situations and incidents which have done long and useful service. If Pat and Mike are introduced into a story we know what to expect, as we do when we find the principal character a man from Dundee.

Nobody would argue seriously that the farmer as a type is a proper subject for ridicule. No one suggests that those who live in the country, in small villages, are uncouth and unlettered. Certainly their average of intelligence is at least as high as the average of those whose lot is cast in the cities. Mostly they are shrewd and practical people from whom we have come and still come a large proportion of our politicians, our professional men, our scientists and merchants and industrialists, our leaders in every branch of life. They have access to all the means of information available to urban folks, and modern transport has removed the isolation in which once they lived.

WHILE THE PEOPLE PLAY
(Christian Science Monitor)

Armament, like war, rarely accomplishes the purpose to which it is dedicated. The German and Italian Governments have now said that their object in intervening in the Spanish Civil War was to keep Russia out of Europe. But the result of German and Italian war policies has been to cause Britain and France to invite Russia back into the councils of Europe as their equal. Armament in Germany and Italy has been dedicated to improving living conditions of the German and Italian peoples. But there are signs that the achievement is unequal to these peoples. The resultant arms race has in fact produced a sense of insecurity which in turn has caused business the world over to stagnate and those very markets which German and Italian producers need so badly to dry up and disappear.

FARMING BY NEW CANADIANS
(Amherstburg Echo)

Some people look askance at the influx of foreigners to the rural districts of Essex County and wonder if they are a good element to have in the community. But judging by the results foreigners achieve with the farms they have occupied already they will eventually be citizens of which any district may be proud. For instance, it needs only a glance at some of these foreigners' farms to show that they are neat and tidy. You don't see any implements rotting in their barnyards. They believe in taking care of their property and they take a pride in their homes. You can see them, the

FROM THE PEN OF E. T. WRITERS

THE HAPPINESS THEY BROUGHT.

Often at my daily tasks
I drift off to thought
Of the King and Queen on their visit here
And the happiness they brought.

And the Queen with her lovely smile,
Brought to our fair city
A memory to linger awhile.

Their many words of kindness,
To people old and young;
Brought happiness to many,
And praise from every tongue.

To a poor disabled veteran
The King gladly gave his hand,
And with sincere sympathy said,
"I hope you will soon be well, my man."

The kindly words from his Sovereign
Brought tears to the brave man's eyes,
The words of thanks were unexpressed,
His heart was too full of happiness.

To friends and reporters standing by,
Said he, with head bowed and weary sigh,
"I'll never see them or old Ireland again,
But this moment I'll cherish until I die."

"She's a lovely lady, and he's a fine King,
For them I would fight all over again.
With me their kind words will always remain,
It will help me to live and bear my pain."

And Sherbrooke's fair young Mayoresa
Will never that moment forget
When the wind took her bonnet,
The King responded:
"I'm awfully sorry about that hat."

Then a grand old man of Canada
Whom everyone adores,
Said he to our dear Sovereigns:
"For the world, two people could do no more."

To one of England's native sons
Who four long years had lain
Upon a bed, with cheery smile,
Regardless of the pain.

The sight of his dear King and Queen,
Together side by side,
Brought smiles of joy to his pale face
Which told of his great pride.

And I shall always remember
That day as a beautiful dream,
When we all waved our flags, and cheered
The King and his lovely Queen.

And as the stately Royal train
Drew slowly from our view
It left a greater loyalty
For them and the red, white and blue.

And now that my poem is ended
I hope not in vain I have sought
To bring to you a little bit of
The happiness they brought.

Sherbrooke.

SURRENDER TRICKS IF NECESSARY TO TRAP DEFENSE IN SQUEEZE PLAY

West made what looked like the killing lead on today's hand. East, realizing that the short lead was made to get him in to lead clubs through the South hand, properly played the king on his partner's queen of hearts. The declarer saw that if he should take the heart ace at once and bare his two heart losers, there was scarcely any play for the contract, as he must lose two clubs also. He permitted East to hold the first trick, as he was willing to stand the club lead through his hand.

East returned the eight of clubs. South played low and West won with the queen, next cashing the ace of clubs. The king was now established, and the declarer hoped that he could later discard a losing heart from dummy on this card.

West, however, continued the fine defense by leading a third club. It was apparent to the declarer that if dummy should discard, East would ruff and so gather the setting trick at once.

Only one hope remained. Dummy shut East out by playing the ace of trumps. South then cashed all five trumps, North discarding a diamond and a heart.

Next declarer cashed the diamond ace and led to dummy's king. As South had hoped, East was caught in a squeeze by the trump leads, as

Enough water is locked up in the ice of the earth's polar regions to raise the world's sea level about 150 feet. This would destroy most of Holland, flood the lower Mississippi valley and ruin every harbor in the world.

Vacation Hint: Take Two Weeks Off From Yourself

The best kind of vacation for a woman is the one that lets her take a vacation from herself.

If she is a nice, though mousey, little person who does a routine job in a city, she shouldn't spend all of her hard-earned two weeks visiting relatives.

There she will be the mouse she has been all year. But with some new clothes and a little imagination she could enjoy playing at being someone else if she went away where she knew no one.

The very best possible vacation for a woman executive might very well be staying right at home "putting" around her own house or apartment, being thoroughly domestic.

The mother of several children—or even one—ought to manage somehow to take her vacation with her husband and without the small fry.

The woman whose job or way of living calls for a burdensome amount of dignity ought to thoroughly enjoy a dude ranch where she can do as she pleases without stopping to wonder, "What will so-and-so think?"

The woman who leads a cramped, narrow life in a place she feels too small for her, would probably get more out of going as far as she can go, or stopping in a big hotel in a large city.

The woman in business who has become so tired of being pleasant that she would like to scream instead of smile, ought to hunt out a place where she won't have to see anyone unless she chooses.

Most of us never get as tired of other people as we do of ourselves about the time a vacation is due. And the smart woman arranges a vacation where she can be anyone she wants to be—for a while, at least.

One Feature Dramatized Helps All

Is there anything distinctive about my looks? The Woman Who Cares asks herself. If the answer is no, she decides to find out why not.

First, she analyzes herself from head to foot, trying to decide which features are worth trying to dramatize, which have no possibilities at all and therefore should be played down.

Perhaps her hair is thick and golden. With nightly brushings and regular use of a rinse to bring out its highlights, that hair might very nicely become a shimmering crown instead of simply another head of light hair.

Or it may be that her eyes, although large, do not seem particularly luminous or distinctive because they are framed with brows and lashes in light, mousey brown. Intensive use of mascara and now and then a touch of eye shadow may lift her eyes out of the so-so into the dramatic class.

Perhaps Skin Needs Attention
It might be that in her complexion lies great possibilities for development. Maybe she is in a rut as far as makeup is concerned and needs to switch to a rosier powder, a more dramatic and more flattering shade of lipstick and rouge, a foundation which gives her skin a dull, rich, matte finish.

Maybe she has been buying clothes which, although not exactly unbecoming, are just plain indifferent.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Alice Fournier, of New London, Conn., wishes to announce the engagement of her daughter, Eunice, to Mr. David Donachie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Donachie of Sherbrooke and Oakland, California. The wedding to take place quietly early in September.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Graham, their daughters, Miss June and Miss Rosemary Graham, are again in residence at "The Manse," Portland avenue, having returned last night after an enjoyable month's holiday spent in Toronto and Philadelphia.

Miss Alberta Cotterell, who arrived yesterday from Montreal, to spend a few days at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cotterell, has just recently completed her training at the Catherine Booth Hospital and will be a member of the class at the graduating exercises which will take place later in the season. Upon her return to the metropolis, Miss Cotterell will assume a position on the staff of the Catherine Booth Hospital, in which she has just completed her course in the nursing profession.

Mrs. C. H. Bowen, president of the Woman's Auxiliary, received the guests who attended the enjoyable raspberry social given in St. Peter's Church hall yesterday afternoon for the benefit of missionary work in the Diocese of Quebec. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Marchant, first vice-president, the table being attractively centered with yellow daisies and baby's breath in a crystal bowl. Mrs. E. E. Kerridge and Mrs. Jackson were in charge of the arrangements and Miss Hunt acted as treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Skinner who yesterday celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding day were the guests of honor at a charmingly arranged dinner party given by their children last evening at Mrs. Clifford Goodhue's beautiful residence on Quebec street. Dinner was served in the spacious dining room where covers for eighteen were laid. The lovely table decorations being artistically carried out in blue and gold with blue delphinium and yellow polyanthus in an amber crystal bowl, and yellow candles in matching amber crystal holders, arranged on an exquisite lace banquet cloth. The dainty place cards, decorated with a bride and groom and bearing the dates 1895-1935, also contained the same color scheme as did the sweetened almonds. Members of the family who were present included Mr. and Mrs. F. A. McLean, their sons, Masters Francis, and Donald McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Skinner, their little daughters, Nancy and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Sheila Callan, their daughter, Miss Sheila Callan, Mr. and Mrs. Skinner, their small sons, D'Arcy and Albert Skinner, and Mr. Hugh Skinner. Before dinner the family party posed for snapshots in various picturesque vantage points which abound in the grounds surrounding Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue's idealized home, which commands a superb view of the city and its environs. Two presentations added to the pleasure of the delightful family party, their children presenting Mr. and Mrs. Skinner with a handsome Sheffield bowl, suitably engraved, while their son-in-law, Mr. Richard Callan, who is quite well known as a writer of poetry and has already published a most attractive book of verse, read a delightful composition written by himself in honor of the occasion, which was suitably printed and bound in leaflet form.

GIRL PLAYS LOSING GAME BY DATING A MARRIED MAN

Leaving any question of morals out of it, it is a mistake for a girl to date a married man. She is almost sure to be wasting her time.

Before she indulges her modern "right" to make life pleasant for summer bachelors, a girl ought to size up the situation and find out just what she is going to get out of it.

She isn't going to get a husband. That's a cinch. Because even though he isn't adverse to being consoled while his wife is away with the children for the summer, the married man who starts a mild flirtation with her gives her credit for knowing it will never amount to anything serious.

After all, though he might not admit it, he is a conventional, responsible pillar of society, who intends to go on supporting his family the rest of his days.

Then, too, if the girl has any young unmarried men on the string they will resent having a married man chisel in, and are likely to step out of the picture.

Wives Begin to Talk
A girl has to remember, too, that wives stick together when their territory is being invaded—and she is sure to be talked about by wives who feel uneasy every time they see a suspiciously excellent husband playing bachelor. That may not hurt her—but there is always the possibility that it might.

Then, too, the married man is not going to be especially interested in her. What he wants is a supposedly excellent husband playing bachelor. That may not hurt her—but there is always the possibility that it might.

When she lets a married man monopolize her evening a girl is just marking time. And marking time is bad business if her goal is a husband of her own.

Miss Rita Greenberg is at Little Lake Magog, a guest of Mrs. A. Cooper, of Montreal, at her country home.

Mr. Justice and Mrs. C. D. White are journeying to Montreal tomorrow to attend the Peters-Taylor wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Ogilvy, "St. Francis Cottage," and Miss Georgina Fraser, who is their house guest, are leaving today to spend a few days in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reid are leaving this afternoon to attend the Weekly Newspaper Convention at Niagara Falls and later will go on to New York and the World's Fair.

Miss Helen Audrey Haggett arrived yesterday from Boston and is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. K. Edwards, and Mr. Edwards, at their home on Dominion avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Elliott, Beebe, Que., announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Ruth Victoria, to Mr. Maurice L. McDonald, of Windsor Mills, Que. The marriage will take place some time in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Richards, of Hamilton, Ont. formerly of Oshesbury, Shropshire, England, are spending two weeks in Sherbrooke and are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Hammond, Portland avenue.

Mrs. R. N. Phillips and her granddaughter, Miss Myrtle Northey, returned home to Sherbrooke this morning after an enjoyable five weeks' visit with the former's son, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips, in Truro, N.S.

Mrs. Graeme Taylor and her little daughter, Judy, who have been in Sherbrooke for the past two weeks, returned to Montreal on Monday with Mr. Taylor who joined them for the week-end at the home of Mr. Justice and Mrs. C. D. White, where they were in residence while Mrs. Taylor's parents were holidaying at The Narragansett, Kennebunk Beach, Maine.

Mr. Neil Tracy, one of Sherbrooke's most promising young composers, is receiving congratulations upon the success of his latest production, "Retribution," a sonnet which won him honorable mention in the last publication of the Montreal Poetry Book. Mrs. C. H. Bowen, who writes under the caption of, Minnie Hollowell Bowen, and whose literary ability has already brought honors to her natal city, also received honorable mention for her patriotic poem, "Welcome to Our King and Queen."

HUNTING JOB? TRY WALKING THE BABY

According to my dictionary, the word "vacation" means a vacuum. Any mother of young children can tell the world it is anything but that. The very fact that family has to have its time filled takes planning and work on her part.

There is the playground, of course, in which they can spend their mornings or afternoons, but she has to get them ready, get herself dressed, escort them to and fro, and sometimes even stay to see that they are safe.

Recently I noticed an ad in a city paper. It read: "Wanted—by a high school senior, through the summer, daily or evening supervision of children. Would be willing to take charges for walks or to other destination. Can direct play, tell stories and take personal care. Please write XYZ."

Best Kind of Offer
That struck me as just about the most needed offer of assistance that any mother could have. To state that one wants a position as "mother's helper" is too indefinite. But to explain that the applicant could do all the extras that a busy woman has no time for, is hitting the nail right on the head.

Of course, mother may prefer to devote herself to the children, employing another to take over the burden of the housework. But too many can't afford the cost of a regular maid.

The other way permits "staggering" time, that is, arranging for the play supervisor to come mornings, afternoons, evenings or every other day. The outlay might reasonably fall within the limitations of the family budget, and mother would still get enough rest. With two or three such contracts, the enterprising helper's time could profitably be filled. It was a girl with the right idea who put in that ad. I hope she found plenty of employment.

MOE'S RIVER
Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rothney were Mr. and Mrs. William Rock, Jr., and daughter, Marilyn, of Sherbrooke. Sunday guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Richardson, Miss Roberta Richardson, of Sand Hill and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Todd and family, of Bulwer.

Mrs. J. A. Lundberg and daughter, Lorna, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gennell.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lucie and son, Adelbert, of Johnville, were guests of relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sage, of Coaticook, were Sunday guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luce.

Tested Recipes

SWING INTO MIDSUMMER WITH A JAM SESSION

Do your jellies jell? Do you get in a jam when making jam? Does putting up preserves get you down? The reason may be that you don't understand the art.

The basic rule is, of course, to follow a tested recipe. But if you know the relation between cause and effect in making your jams, jellies or preserves, you can control your product to suit your individual taste. Most recipes advise quick boiling to avoid caramelization of sugar and a stronger flavor. However, if you like stronger flavor, then boil your fruit slower.

If you are making jam from two fruits and prefer the flavor of one to be stronger than the other, then add more of the fruit you prefer and less of the other. As long as the amount of fruit is the same you have not departed from the recipe and the result will be a jam flavored to your own liking.

Varieties of Preserves
The distinction between jams, jellies, preserves, marmalades, conserves and honeys is not very definite, but the following general definitions may aid in a better knowledge of the art of preserving.

JAMS are made from crushed fruit cooked with sugar until the mixture is thick and more or less homogeneous.

Preserves are jam-like but are made from whole small fruits or pieces of larger fruits cooked in sugar syrup until they are clear.

Preserves are usually of a thin consistency.

TCMORROW'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Sliced oranges, fried pressed oatmeal, bacon, honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: TOMATOES stuffed with cottage cheese, rye bread, applesauce cake, tea, milk.

DINNER: Chopped green salad, veal cutlet, creamed potatoes, buttered beets, apple pie, coffee, milk.

ner and less homogeneous consistency than jams.

MARMALADES are fruit jellies with pieces of fruit suspended in them.

CONSERVES are made from two or more fruits, one of which is usually a citrus fruit, with raisins and often nutmeg added.

JELLIES are made from fruit juices only.

HONEYS are first cousins to preserves, made from soft-fleshed fruits such as peaches, plums, quinces and

Women Expect Courtesy From Men But Fail To Return It

Men are taught, when they are little boys, how to treat women. It would be a swell idea if mothers would put just as much effort into teaching their daughters the courtesies men have a right to expect in return.

Then for an evening, which costs him hard-earned money, a man would be shown some appreciation, instead of having the taxi, the dinner and the show accepted by the girl as her due.

He would be thanked, too, for picking up her gloves, lighting her cigarette, pulling out her chair, helping her with her wrap.

And a girl would feel as obliged to repay his attentions (by inviting him to cocktails or dinner) as she does the hospitality of another woman.

Marriage, too, could stand better woman-to-man manners. Men don't go around saying their wives' looks are cracking up. But it is common bridge table conversation for wives to talk about their husbands' approaching baldness, their newly acquired bad windows, and their terrible taste in clothes.

Not-So-Funny Conversation
It's also common for wives to break into their husbands' stories with corrections, to tell everyone they know that their husbands couldn't get along without them, and joyfully to point out what does they married in the belief that they are making amusing conversation.

Most wives do not seem to realize that a man is just as uncomfortable when his wife talks loudly in public, sasses clerks, or lets her slip show, as a woman is when her husband gets drunk at a party or sits silent as a clam when guests drop in.

It should be every bit as important for women to have special manners for men—as for men to show special courtesies to women.

CORN AT ITS BEST

The sooner sweet corn is cooked after it is gathered from the garden, the better its flavor. But overcooking can ruin the best of corn. Five to seven minutes in boiling, unsalted water, in a covered pan, is enough for young, tender corn. For matured ears, ten minutes should be sufficient and, since matured corn is not apt to be so sweet, add a little sugar to the boiling water.

Ditchfield, August 2.—The St. John's Church Young People held a picnic at Spider Lake where some forty picnickers gathered in time for dinner. Although a thunderstorm threatened the few raindrops were not enough to dampen the holiday spirit.

WILLIAM GARDNER, KNOWLTON. Known to Aug. 2.—In the passing of William Gardner, which occurred on Thursday, July 27, this community lost one of its oldest and most highly esteemed citizens.

Of a cheerful disposition, always seeing the bright side of life, the deceased was a man of sterling character and was held in great esteem by all who knew him.

Born in Liverpool, England, on November 7, 1852, he came to Knowlton when a young boy and made his home with Lee Carter, by whom he was employed for several years. Excepting twelve years spent in Montreal, and Beauharnois and seven spent in Toronto, Mr. Gardner had lived here all his life.

In 1924, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, when they were congratulated and suitably remembered by their friends. The deceased had been a member of Brome Lake Lodge No. 35, A.F. and A.M., for over forty years and was also a Shriner.

Funeral services were held from the late residence on Saturday, July 29, at two p.m., and were in charge of Brome Lake Lodge No. 35, A.F. and A.M., with Rev. A. E. Rolit officiating.

Four brother Masons acted as bearers, William Venables, Ian W. Randall, George B. Dryburgh and Basil Beals. Interment was in the Knowlton Protestant Cemetery.

The floral offerings were both numerous and beautiful and bore testimony of the deep esteem in which the deceased was held. He is survived by his widow, to whom the sympathy of the entire community is extended.

Among those present from out of town were Mrs. Gamble and Mrs. Annie Hawthorne, of Montreal.

MRS. SUSIE ARMSTRONG, OF SAN-DE-FUCA, WASH. Magog, August 2.—Relatives here have been notified of the death of Mrs. Susie Armstrong at the Everett, Wash., hospital on Saturday, July 15, after only a short illness.

She spent several years there and she received her education there and at Magog and Derby, Vt. In 1877 her marriage to John Armstrong took place and a few years they left for the West.

Mrs. Armstrong had made two trips East to visit relatives and it was seldom in the fifty years of her life on Whitty Island that some of her relatives did not receive her usual letter. She was a member of the Methodist Church and a very active worker in the Sunday School, W.C.T.U., Dorcas Society and Thimble Club.

The funeral was held at the Couperville, Wash., Methodist Church on July 18.

Left to mourn her passing are her two sons, Fred and Ed, two daughters, Mrs. and granddaughters, and great-grandchildren, who all lived near her. Her husband and daughter, Mrs. Armstrong, are also deceased.

Fourteen years ago she moved to Randboro with her only daughter, Mrs. Minnie Cleland, and won the love and respect of all who knew her. She had been an invalid for a number of years and for the past eight years was confined to bed, during which time she was cared for by her daughter.

Four Days That Shook The World:

25 YEARS AGO AN ARCHDUKE DIED AND EUROPE MARCHED

Twenty-five years ago . . . German soldiers, bayonets fixed, without gas masks, followed by warriors on bicycles, charge across open ground in mass formation, typifying the warfare of the last World War.

The dog-days of early August, 1914, were just like the dog-days of early August, 1939, hot, sticky, and muggy.

But there was a difference. Twenty-five years ago the nightmare that haunts the world today was coming true. America was slowly realizing that war in Europe could really happen.

It had not believed it before. It had been more than 40 years since the Franco-Prussian War, a short, full-dress affair. America generally believed that, in spite of all the militarization and sword-clanking in Europe, the world had got beyond that point.

All through the hot July days, the crisis following the assassination of the Austrian arch-duke had dragged along, and yet nothing had happened. Even on July 28, when Austria declared war on Serbia, a great New York paper editorialized that Europe-wide war "is too dreadful for imagining and because it is too dreadful it cannot happen."

The Pace Increases

But by August 1, even far-off American could not fail to see the peril. The Four Days That Shook the World were beginning. The Austrians had already bombarded Belgrade, but that had the Balkan aspect of unreality. Russia was already mobilized; the British fleet had already left Portland under sealed orders.

At 3:45 in the afternoon of August 1 French mobilization is ordered; at 4 p.m. the German. Thousands of American tourists, stranded in Paris, look on as crowds stream down the boulevards, singing the "Marseillaise" and the "Internationale." They shout, "On to Berlin!" They wave flags. In France, Germany, the bright mobilization notices blossom on fences and walls. Gesticulating crowds gather around them and read.

At Full Gallop On August 3, the tense situation gallops to a crisis; Germany declares war on France, who declares war on Germany.

The frantic flag-waving of Berlin and Paris is reflected in New York as reservists march through the streets and assemble at their consulates. German reservists march up the Bowery from Bowling Green at 7 in the evening, while crowds press around newspaper bulletin boards, many in tears. The German liner Kronprinz Wilhelm steals quietly to sea from her Hoboken pier, lights darkened, believed carrying supplies to German cruisers off the West Indies.

Stock Exchanges Are Closed In the United States, stocks have fallen from 10 to 25 points, wheat has jumped 10 cents a bushel, the country is nervous and excited. Stock exchanges throughout the world are closed on that August 1.

The German declaration of war on Russia comes realization that this is no Balkan war. A German patrol near Prosten is fired on by a Russian patrol; the first shots of the war have been fired.

Prophetic words are uttered by the New York Times the following day—"the bloodiest war ever fought on earth and the least justified of all wars since man emerged from barbarism" is beginning. German troops are reported penetrating into Luxembourg, and the French order holding her troops 10 kilometers from the frontier is rescinded. Germany demands of Belgium free passage for her troops to attack France; Belgium refuses. The Germans enter Belgium at Verviers.

There is a rush for American citizenship, while plans are hurried for the relief of 20,000 Americans caught abroad and unable to return home. Some sell their watches and rings on the Paris Boulevards to get passage money.

Day drags into night, and in London lights glow in the Foreign Office as the Cabinet sits in an all-night session waiting for a reply from Germany to its protest against the violation of Belgium. Crowds stream up and down Whitehall, and continuous cheering is punctuated by the singing of "God Save the King" and "Rule, Britannia." Big Ben tolls midnight. The answer has not come. In that midnight hour, Britain declares war on Germany under date of August 4.

As that fateful day dawns, all Europe is at war. Congress appropriates $250,000 to bring home stranded Americans, who watch in Paris the wrecking of German shops by the infuriated mob. There are cheers in Times Square as the red-lettered bulletins are posted, telling that "Britain is in."

Glenn Curtiss' project to fly the Atlantic with the "America" is abandoned because his pilot, John C. Porte, is called home as a British reservist. . . . President Wilson issues his neutrality proclamation, laying down rules by which Americans are to govern themselves and their trade abroad. . . . The Senate passes a futile resolution deprecating the war. . . . nobody notices that the Carranzistas are hammering at the gate of Mexico City in revolution. . . . or that the Resolute has beaten the Vanitie in a yacht race. . . . A New York store advertises "War—War—War in Europe—But not here. . . . we are keeping cool and pursuing the even tenor of our business. . . ."

Before Liege, the men are beginning to die. . . .

Trifluvians Climb To Top With Win Over Sox

St. Hyacinthe Falls Half-Game Behind Provincial Baseball Lead by Losing to Drummondville—Prather Stars at Plate for Three Rivers—Quebec Athletics Edge Sorel in Only Other Game.

The Saints, of St. Hyacinthe, led by Dutch Prather, three have fallen from the top of the Provincial Baseball League for the first time in more than a month and it was Three Rivers today setting the pace for the seven-team circuit.

The Trifluvians went a half-game ahead of St. Hyacinthe last night when they downed Granby Red Sox, five to two, at Granby, while Saints bowed, six to five, to the cellar-dwelling Tigers at Drummondville. In the only other game, Quebec Athletics topped Sorel by three to two at Quebec.

Led by Dutch Prather, Three Rivers pounded Hank Winston, of Granby, for nine hits to climb into the van. Prather bagged three safes, including a homer with one aboard in the fourth frame.

The Trifluvians scored one run in the second frame, three in the fourth and another in the sixth. Granby averted a shutout by Pitcher Jim Skelton when they rallied for two runs in the sixth on Fred Marcella's single scoring Krauss and Roch.

Drummondville landed on pitchers

Ted Veach and Bob Swan for fourteen hits to knock the loop-leaders into second berth. The cellar-dwellers needed the combined hurling of Healey, Trocola and Budzyna to hold the Saints in check with ten hits.

Drummondville notched one run in the first, four in the second and one in the fourth, while Saints bagged all their counters in two frames with three in the second and two in the fifth.

At Quebec, Athletics squeezed a single counter across the plate in the seventh frame for the verdict over Sorel. The visitors had taken a two-run lead in the third but Athletics got one back in their half of the inning and another in the fourth.

Johnny Dow, of Sorel, gave up eight hits, while Liebhart and Browning, of Quebec, allowed nine between them.

Major League Hurling Stars Fall In Upsets

Yankees and Reds Beaten Despite Mound Efforts of Ruffing and Derringer—Red Sox Pound Feller for Win Over Indians—Fifteen Triples Hit in Yesterday's Games, Including Five as Cards Top Bees.

Reputations may be priceless but three of baseball's foremost pitchers will tell you today that this is just idle prattle in the Major League arenas.

It's disrespectful enough that the world champion New York Yankees and the National League leading Cincinnati Reds should be sullied on the same day. Yet this not only happened yesterday but their respective pitching technicians, Red Ruffing and Paul Derringer, in the control booths, but the same short-circuit cut down young Bob Feller.

Ruffing had not been beaten by Detroit Tigers since June, 1937, and had won thirteen consecutive games from the Bengals but Del Baker's surly tiger troupe routed him two to two in their series opener at New York.

Big Hank Greenberg took personal charge of the rebuttal, hitting his twentieth homer of the season with two on in the first and later getting his thirty-third double. The fact the Yankees got a dozen hits off two Detroit pitchers never overcame this early margin.

New York Giants, who may look desperate in their league standings, presented one claim of distinction by edging out the Reds five to four in ten innings and remaining the only team which holds a margin over the Reds for the season. They have won eight of their fourteen games with Cincinnati.

It was Cincinnati's first setback

YANKEES' HEAD NAMES SPEAKER BEST FIELDER

Ed Barrow Believes Old "Grey Eagle" Only Better Fielding Outfielder Than Joe DiMaggio Is Today.

New York, August 2.—(AP)—Between issuing flat denials that New York Yankees are for sale, President Ed Barrow is getting a lot of quiet amusement out of a loose statement by Tris Speaker that he could name fifteen better outfielders than Joe DiMaggio.

When he made this extravagant assertion the old "Grey Eagle" meant that baseball since it began had produced fifteen more brilliant flyhaws than DiMaggio, men who could go further to make a catch and then throw the ball in with deadlier accuracy. He wasn't talking about batting, apparently.

"That's a foolish statement for old Spoke to make," chuckled the Yankees' veteran head. "I've been watching them come and go longer than he has, and as a matter of fact he can name just one better fielding outfielder than DiMaggio is today. That was Speaker, himself."

"I won't take it away from Spoke. He was a marvel, the best there ever will be. But I'm afraid he's unconsciously comparing DiMaggio to himself. What other outfielder does he think was better than Joe? He couldn't mean Ty Cobb. He never was more than a hitter."

"No, if I was in a tight spot, where maybe a World Series depended upon having a man in center-field who could make any kind of a catch, my first choice would be Speaker and my second choice DiMaggio."

Barrow would like Speaker to produce his list of fifteen, and also would like to learn where the rumor arose that anyone with around $5,000,000 in cash money could step in and purchase the entire Yankee baseball empire, like buying stamps.

"The Yankees absolutely are not for sale," he declared. "They can't be sold, because Colonel Jacob Ruppert's will expressly stipulates that they not be sold or the system broken up. There is no need to raise cash to pay inheritance taxes, as has been reported."

TORONTO LEAFS TOP SYRACUSE IN I.L. CLASH

Johnny Gee, Purchased Monday by Pittsburgh Pirates, Tosses Away Game with Wild Pitch—Orioles Take Bisons.

Pittsburgh papers please copy: Johnny Gee, purchased Monday by the Pirates, tossed away a ball game last night with a wild pitch as Toronto Maple Leafs took a 4-0 victory over Syracuse in an International League feature game.

The Pirates outbatted several other clubs for Gee, "the biggest man in baseball," and maybe all the hall-of-fame made him nervous because he lost his fifth of the season. He had pitched his way out of two bad spots earlier, but the third time was no charm. He hit old Heinie Manush in the back and when Bob Elliott sacrificed, Gee threw wild to first and Manush scored the winning run.

Through the defeat the Chiefs missed a chance to go into second place and ended up in fourth, a few points behind Rochester Red Wings, who were idle.

Baltimore Orioles bounced back into the win column by taking a 10-8 decision from Buffalo Bisons for their fourth victory of the series. A five-run outburst in the fourth put the Orioles out in front and although outthit 15-13 they were never headed.

In one of the longest games played this season, Newark Bears downed Montreal Royals 7-6 in the second game of a twin bill after losing the opener 11-4. The marathon went 14 innings before a sacrifice fly by Hal Wagner, with the bases loaded, scored Walt Judnich with the winning run.

Lee Rogers went the distance for the Royals in the first game and allowed only eight hits. Joe Berghs was the losing pitcher.

Greenberg, Detroit, 20.
Stolen bases—Case, Washington, 34; Kreevich, Chicago, Chapman, Cleveland, 13.
Pitching—Donald, New York, 12-0; Grove, Boston, 11-2.

YESTERDAY'S STARS
Hank Greenberg, Tigers—His twentieth homer of season with two on in first inning paved way for victory over Yankees.
Bobby Doerr, Red Sox—Accounted for five runs with two home runs as Boston beat Indians, seven to five.
Harry Danning, Giants—Singled home winning run in tenth inning and tripled with two on in sixth against Reds.
Larry French, Cubs—Relieved Dizzy Dean and gave six hits and one run in six innings to beat Phillies.
Johnny Mize, Cardinals—His two triples led triumphal attack against Bees.
Tony Giuliani, Senators—Tripled with bases loaded as Washington beat Browns.
Larry Rosenthal, White Sox—Started Chicago to victory over Athletics with two-run homer in fourth.

BERGERON WINS CITY JUVENILE SOFTBALL TILT

Eleven to Six Triumph Over Kayser Gives Red Raiders Edge in Best-of-Five Game Series for Loop Crown.

Bergeron scored an impressive eleven to six triumph over Kayser in the opening game of the City Juvenile Softball final played at the Parade Grounds last evening, taking a one to nothing lead in the best-of-five game series for the loop tilt.

Red Raiders won the tilt in the first three frames when they mercilessly pounded Daniels and his successor, Chartier, for ten tallies on as many safe hits, one a rousing three-bagger by Goulet in the third canto. Daniels, who yielded six of the markers, was replaced on the mound in the third by Chartier, who gave up four more runs before he was able to settle down and limit Bergeron to a single score in each of the fourth and sixth stanzas.

Plouffe shut out the Kayser crew in the first three frames as well as in the fifth, but from the fourth on wards the latter outfit's steady slugging threatened to develop into a bombardment of base knocks climaxed by what turned out to be an unsuccessful seventh-inning rally.

Although outthit by thirteen to twelve, the Kayser aggregation played well and the essential reason for the Bergeron team's triumph lay in Plouffe's steady hurling, coupled with the fact that though Kayser misused one less, their pair occurred successively.

Phillippon and Faucher were the leading sluggers for Bergeron, while Nolte turned in a smart three-for-four effort for the Kayser crew. Daniels was charged with the loss.

Linescore:
Kayser 000 102 3—6 12 3
Bergeron 514 101 x—11 13 2
Batteries: Daniels, Chartier and Blais; Plouffe and Deslites, St. Cyr.
