PRICE— TWO CENTS

NEW ST. PAUL'S ACADEMY BUILDING OPENS MONDAY; SIX GRADES START TERM

Students In Primary Grades Unable To Commence Term Due To Lack Of Accommodation—Building Will Provide New Quarters For Nuns—Completion Of Site Delayed Over Two Weeks

The new building forming the front section of St. Paul's Academy is expected to be ready for occupation by Monday morning. It was announced yesterday by the secretary of the School Commissioners of St. Leon de Westmount.

Construction of the new section was commenced at the close of the last term when the old building, which had stood there for many years, was demolished.

Completion of the present structure will not be good news to pupils of grades one to six who have thus far not returned to their desks due to lack of accommodation. Students in grades seven to eleven, however, have been unaffected, as they started school at the commencement of the present term in the building to the rear of the new wing.

DR. W. J. CLARK TO PREACH ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

Minister-Emeritus, of St. Andrew's Church, to Occupy Pulpit Sunday

Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark, minister-emeritus of St. Andrew's Church, who will celebrate his 80th birthday on Sunday, will occupy the pulpit at the morning service.

For twenty-five years Dr. Clark wielded a great influence not only upon the lives of his own members, but upon the life of the church at large. He was well known across the Dominion, and was one of the most influential and trusted leaders in the Church Union movement. He became minister in Cote St. Antoine in 1907, with a congregation numbering 388, worshipping in a small wooden building. During his ministry the membership increased to thirteen hundred, and the present beautiful church building was erected.

As the school stands today it is one of Westmount's most beautiful buildings. The new front giving the effect, when viewed from Sherbrooke street, as being the complete structure. Actually the building in the rear was constructed some years ago, although it is of modern design and in excellent condition.

Erection of the building was expected to have been completed by October 1 but construction was delayed when one of the subcontractors took on war work.

The new centre is equipped with one more class room than the old, a chemical laboratory and extensive recreational facilities. It will also provide excellent accommodation for the nuns of the order in rooms on the third floor of the building.

St. Paul's Academy is operated by the School Commissioners of St. Leon de Westmount for Catholic girls pupils, both French and English, of the Westmount district.

Minister in Cote St. Antoine in 1907, with a congregation numbering 388, worshipping in a small wooden building. During his ministry the membership increased to thirteen hundred, and the present beautiful church building was erected.

Born in Guelph, Ontario on October 20, 1860, he attended school in Hamilton and for a time worked on his uncle's paper in Dundas as a journeyman printer. But he had a deep desire to enter the Christian ministry and entered Knox College, Toronto, from which institution he was graduated in 1890. Upon graduation he was called to succeed the famous Rev. Dr. Proudfoot in the First Presbyterian Church of London, Ontario, where he ministered for seventeen years. Thus, his entire ministry of forty-two years was spent in only two congregations in London and in Westmount.

R.C.A.F. OFFICER SLIGHTLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Department Of National Defence Announces J. M. Janin Suffered Facial Wounds

Announcement was made this week by the Department of National Defence that Flying Officer Joseph Maurice George J. A. Janin, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, had suffered slight facial cuts in a motor accident.

Tourists, however, seldom pass the spot without stopping to photograph it in order to show snaps of it to their friends at home. Sightseeing buses never pass the spot without coming to a full stop for a few minutes.

Philop Watson, school boy, of 8825 Berri street, suffered an injured left knee and shock when he was struck by an automobile driven by W. Douglas Scott, of 2037 Marlowe avenue, on Western avenue between Wood and Atwater avenues, at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday. He was taken to the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital in a police patrol car by Constable Scheffer and treated in the outdoor ward by Dr. Stevens.

FLORAL CLOCK TO DISAPPEAR IN FEW DAYS

Removal Of Timepiece Sure Sign That First Flurries Of Snow Not Far Off

Definite indication that early snow flurries are not far off is contained in the announcement from the City Parks Department, that Westmount's famed floral clock in front of Victoria Hall is liable to be taken down any day now.

First touch of frost was recorded Tuesday night and probably before the end of the week the novel timepiece will disappear for the winter.

One of the city's principal tourist attractions, appearance of the clock is also looked forward to eagerly by many residents who never fail to find beauty in its design.

Tourists, however, seldom pass the spot without stopping to photograph it in order to show snaps of it to their friends at home. Sightseeing buses never pass the spot without coming to a full stop for a few minutes.

BOY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Philop Watson, school boy, of 8825 Berri street, suffered an injured left knee and shock when he was struck by an automobile driven by W. He was taken to the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital in a police patrol car by Constable Scheffer and treated in the outdoor ward by Dr. Stevens.

Educational System Of Province Shown

The following article on the Nature of the Educational System of the Province of Quebec has been prepared by W. P. Percival, M.A., Ph. D., director of Protestant education; as the article points out, Charles H. Savage, principal of the Westmount Intermediate School, is the present representative of teachers on the Protestant Committee:

The British North America Act which effected confederation placed education under the direction of the individual provinces. This has resulted in a number of variant systems in the Dominion, shaped largely by historical considerations and local conditions.

The Province of Quebec has a dual system owing to the fact that it has to provide for the educational needs of a French-speaking Roman Catholic majority and an English-speaking Protestant minority.

There is no Minister of Education in Quebec. The Department of Education is officially under the control of the Provincial Secretary who is also specially charged with the direction of technical schools, art schools, night schools, reformatory and (Continued on Page 2)

BUILDING DOWN IN WESTMOUNT FIGURES SHOW

No New Construction Permits Have Been Issued By Municipality This Month

No new building construction permits have been issued by the City of Westmount this month to date, three small alterations and repair jobs aggregating $1,350 being the only work for which permits have been recorded.

Last month Westmount reported only $6,690, which represented six small alterations and repair jobs. In October last year aggregate was $25,900.

Nothing definite in the way of new construction is the report from building officials.

Some new residential work is known to be contemplated and the usual number of inquiries are being received by building officials, who expect some activity before the month-end.

Battle Dress Is Being Given RMR Unit

Full battle dress is being distributed to the men of the Royal Montreal Regiment, Second Division, Non-Permanent Active Militia, between the hours of 9 and 12 a.m. and 2-6 p.m. daily. It was announced at the armory yesterday.

Up to the present time members of the unit have worn the N.P.A.M. camp uniform.

Two Automobiles Damaged In Crash

Both vehicles were slightly damaged when an automobile driven by George Dallas, of 3857 Newmarch street, Verdun, collided with one operated by Stephen H. Jones, 99 Somerville avenue, at the corner of Prince Albert and Somerville avenues at 5:50 p.m. on Friday.

At the time of the mishap Dallas was proceeding south on Prince Albert and Jones west on Somerville.

No one was injured.

DAMAGE CAUSED AS TRAM AND TRUCK COLLIDE

Accident Occurs At Intersection Of Atwater Avenue And St. Antoine Street

Fairly heavy damage was caused both vehicles when a street car and a long-haul truck collided at the corner of St. Antoine street and Atwater avenue at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. The two drivers involved claimed to be in the right when questioned by police.

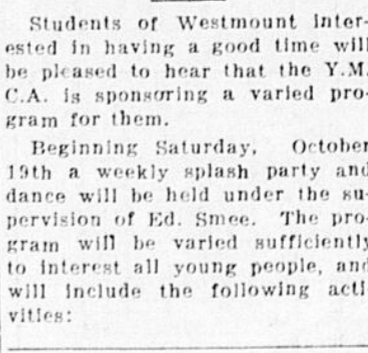

The operator of the truck, Gordon Rombough, of 159 Brod street, Ottawa, stated the accident occurred as he approached the intersection of St. Antoine street, while travelling south on Atwater. He said the tram car, going west to east on St. Antoine, started to cross the intersection and to avoid striking it he applied the brakes and attempted to make a sharp turn west on St. Antoine running into the side of the tram.

HIGH HOME AND SCHOOLS ASSOCIATION COMMENCES ACTIVITIES OF SEASON

Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver, L.Th., M.C., Appointed New President—Succeeds H. E. McCrudden, Now Absent From City On War Work—Three Other General Meetings And a Study Group Series Will Be Held

Attended by over 300 parents and teachers of pupils at the Westmount High and Intermediate Schools, the Westmount High Schools Home and School Association opened the season's activities at a meeting held at the Intermediate school, Academy road, Tuesday night.

During the meeting the association's newly-appointed president, the Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver, L.Th., M.C., rector of St. Matthias Church and Honorary Canon of Christ Church Cathedral, was introduced to the gathering by Miss B. Truax, B.A., vice-president. Canon Oliver was named president because of the absence from the city of the association's first president, H. E. McCrudden, staff engineer Bell Telephone Co., of Canada, who is now absent from the city on war work with the Royal Canadian Air Force. He now becomes a vice-president.

J. L. PEGNEM WILL ADDRESS BUSINESS BODY

General Meeting Of Association Will Take Place In Victoria Hall Oct. 29

A general meeting of the Business Association of Westmount, open to all members, will be held in Victoria Hall on Tuesday evening, October 29, when the principal speaker will be J. L. Pegnem, who will have as his topic, "Hitching Santa Claus to Sales." Stuart Rutherford, co-chairman of the committee for the sale of War Saving Certificates in the West end will also be heard in an address on, "War Saving Stamps in the West End."

The meeting will mark the opening of the association's fall and winter program and is expected to attract a large turnout of members and persons wishing to join the organization.

Members of the association plan this year to co-operate to the fullest with government officials in encouraging the sale of war saving stamps by window displays and other tie-ups. Association meetings will have a particularly patriotic theme.

The executive committee is meeting regularly to draw up initial plans for the most active season in the history of the local business body. Events open to the public, similar to last year's successful "Citizen's Night" will be staged from time to time.

The next meeting of the executive committee, under the chairmanship of the president, Eric Ohman, is scheduled to take place next Tuesday at the offices of the Westmount Transfer and Storage Co., 295 Olivier avenue.

Best Grouping

Briefly outlining the 6-3-3 plan, Mr. Savage, principal speaker of the evening, stated that it provided for the best possible age grouping for educational purposes. However, though it will need the co-operation of teachers, parents and pupils if the greatest advantage is to be gained from it, as would be the case under any other system, he averred.

Canon Oliver, who presided, told the gathering that by providing parents and teachers with the opportunity of getting together to freely discuss problems relating to education, the West- (Continued on Page 2)

Response To Article Shows Reader Interest Of Paper

Three weeks ago the Westmount Examiner published an article from the Overseas Parcel League bringing to the attention of the public the urgent need of woolen comforts for seamen of the British minesweepers and trawlers.

The wide response to this appeal by Examiner readers served a double purpose—it resulted in the organization receiving articles and cash donations far in excess of expectation and proved conclusively the reader-appeal of this paper, a fact which the publishers feel worthy of bringing to the attention of those who use its advertising columns.

The appeal was printed in the form of a news article, given equal, if not greater prominence than others in the paper, yet was read and acted upon so widely that officials of the league informed the publishers of the many gifts received as a direct result of its appearance.

The president of the League, Mrs. L. S. Walgate, of 424 Lansdowne avenue, stated that the sum of $20 had been received from the Royal St. Lawrence Sea

Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon Addresses Rotary Club

Rotary Clubs have played a prominent part in alleviating the hardships of crippled children since they first worked in their behalf in Syracuse in 1913. Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon, pastor of the Erskine and American United Church, stated while addressing the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Club in Victoria Hall yesterday.

The Toledo Club took up the movement in 1916 and as a direct result of its work the State Society for Crippled Children was formed. From this the international society was established in 1921 and Rotary International gave official recognition to crippled children's work in 1922. Since that time it has been one of the fundamental works of Ro-

SWEEPING FOR MINES

Most monotonous job in the Royal Canadian Navy is performed by the stubby-hulled little vessels that buck the gales of the Atlantic to keep Canada's harbour approaches free from mines.

Hour after hour, summer and winter, they wallow and strain through the seas dragging their mine-sweeping equipment behind them. Their crews know that, at present, their chances of snaring a mine are small, but they also know that a crop of death must be sown beneath the surface of the sea at any time. On the Atlantic coast these minesweepers keep clean some of the busiest shipping channels in the world, channels that carry men and material of countless value to the Motherland in her life-and-death struggle.

The day of the minesweeper starts shortly after the first rays of the sun spread across the chilly waters of the North Atlantic. Even during these summer days the ocean winds are cool enough to make necessary the wearing of heavy coats and mufflers. The skipper has already received a chart telling him which channels must be swept during the day. The sweepers usually work in teams of three and four. The senior skipper takes the lead and the others spread out behind her in echelon, so that each sweeps part of a wide channel.

The mine-sweeping equipment is so arranged that anchored mines are sniped from their moorings whenever the long drag-line comes into contact with their cables and guides them to the special cutting apparatus. When they bob to the surface after their line has been severed, they may be destroyed with rifle fire or perhaps taken with extreme care into port for examination.

Each minesweeper carries on its forward deck a gun capable of delivering a severe blow if the necessity arises. At the stern are carried a number of depth charges. They are thus prepared for encounters with submarines whether the latter be on the surface or under water.

Stout little ships, they operate in all kinds of weather conditions with the exception of dense fog, when a mine might be cut adrift without the knowledge of the crew. Possibility of collision is another of the factors keeping the mine-sweeper in port when the fog banks roll in from the Atlantic.

When weather conditions are favourable, the sweepers labour up and down the channels from dawn until far past the setting of the sun. Not until actual darkness arrived do they point their blunt steel noses homeward. There they wait until sunrise for another trip in search of the black globes of destruction which may be lurking beneath the surface of the sea.

YELLOW BIRCH FOR AIRCRAFT

Yellow birch is finding increasing use in the construction of aircraft. Radical changes in the design of wooden aircraft, introduced in the past few years, have included the adoption of plywood coverings for wings and fuselages, and experience has shown that Canadian yellow birch is the most suitable of all woods for the manufacture of the extremely thin veneers from which these plywoods must be built up.

Yellow birch is the most important commercial hardwood in Canada. Its principal range in this country lies south of the line drawn from Michipicoten Harbour on the eastern side of Lake Superior to Quebec city, and in the Maritime Provinces. Mature trees reach diameters of from 20 to 30 inches and heights of from 60 to 80 feet, and exceptional specimens may attain a diameter of 36 inches and a height of 100 feet.

The expanded rate of aircraft production has resulted in an increased demand based on a great need, for yellow birch veneer logs. For so exacting a form of utilization only logs of the highest quality can be used, but Canada's reserves of this valuable war material are great and energetic steps are being taken to secure supplies adequate to the needs of the United Kingdom and of Canadian manufacturers.

REGISTRATION STILL ON

Even though National Registration has been, for the bulk of the citizens, concluded, one fact should be borne in mind. The law still reads that all persons over sixteen years of age shall be registered. This means that registration is a continuous process. All those reaching their sixteenth birthday must list themselves promptly with the authorities, registering at the nearest Post Office.

Educational . . .

Industrial schools. The Provincial Secretary represents education in the Legislature. It is customary, however, when Protestant educational matters are under consideration for the English representative to be taken into consideration.

The titular head of the Department of Education is the Superintendent who is supported by an English Secretary and a French Secretary who both have the status of Deputy Minister. The English Secretary is also Director of Protestant Education.

There is a Council of Education which rarely meets, as its functions are carried out by a Roman Catholic and a Protestant Committee.

The Roman Catholic Committee consists of the Bishops, ordinaries or administrators of the Roman Catholic dioceses and apostolic vicariates, situated either wholly or partly in the province. They are all ex officio members. In addition, the Roman Catholic Committee contains a number of laymen equal to the number of the members of the hierarchy, and four other members, all of whom are appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

The Protestant Committee consists of a number of members appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, equal to the number of lay members of the Roman Catholic Committee, together with six persons appointed by the Committee itself and also a representative appointed by the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers. Mr. Charles H. Savage, Principal of the Westmount Intermediate School, is the present representative of the teachers.

Regulations.

Regulations for the organization administration and discipline of the public schools of their own faith are made by the Protestant and Roman Catholic Committees. These committees also make regulations for the direction of their own Normal Schools and Central Boards of Examiners. They are also responsible for the courses of study to be followed and for the authorization of textbooks to be used in the

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

A correspondent writes to say that someone has printed a "scorching reply" to a Liberty article by H. G. Wells from which the Post-Record quoted a passage editorially on Saturday. And he asks, somewhat truculently, that this paper reprint the alleged "scorching answer."

Instead of doing this, we quote again the concluding and essential paragraph from the passage in question:

"Now that we are at another turning-point in human history, we need another fundamental assertion of the claims of the common man against any privilege, pre-emption or government whatever. We need a new Declaration of Rights."

And one of such a nature that it will involve an ultimate repudiation of violence and warfare from end to end of the earth."

With much that Wells has written and said this paper is not in accord. But no "scorching reply" can singe the worthiness of the ideal expressed in this quotation. Sometimes it profits to take the message, instead of reviling the messenger. If our correspondent does not favor the "ultimate repudiation of violence from end to end of the earth." The Post-Record does.—Editorial in Post-Record, Sydney, N.S.

Unless unemployment can be solved by providing more city jobs people will be forced (probably for their own good) to the back-to-the-land movement.

Britain has for years had strong labour and consumer cooperative movements. But because little attention has been given to the restoration of the ownership of land which was filched from the masses many in both movements mentioned feel there is need of greater stress on this vital need.

In England the Distributists are advocating the advantages of ownership of land for individual use and in the U.S.A. a group known as Decentralists are carrying on a vigorous campaign through their ally, edited monthly "Free America" (112 East 19th St., New York) which stands for individual independence and believes that freedom can exist only in societies in which the great majority are the effective owners of tangible and productive property and in which group action is democratic. In order to achieve such a society, they believe, ownership, production, population, and Government must be decentralized.

Such a belief does seem to be a good and needed antidote to the too prevalent tendency which is in too many persons giving up ownership of productive property to accept wages or salaries where they are dependent upon conditions, decided upon by others.

Dr. Charles W. Welch, of Louisville, Ky., was chosen Moderator of the U.S.A. Presbyterian General Assembly, it being the first time in 46 years a southerner was appointed to this high office.

In the nominating speech of Dr. Broady of Birmingham, Ala., he, Dr. Welch, was described as "country-reared, hand-spun, college-educated, city-broken, world-travelled, a man of the soil, a man of the people, a man of God." Formerly a bobbin-boy in a Kentucky woolen mill and a trainman on the Louisville and Nashville Railway he is still a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

"Are you the Judge of reprobrates?" said an old lady. "I am Judge of probate," was the reply. "Well, that's it, I expect," said the old lady. "You see, my husband died detested and left me several little 'infidels,' and I want to be their executioner."

Members of School Boards hold office for three years and retire in rotation so that the principle of continuity may be preserved. The Central School Board holds office for four years.

An essential feature in the educational system of Quebec is its treatment of minorities. In any community a minority may dissent and form its own School Board when there are sufficient pupils to warrant the opening of a school and a sufficient number of male ratepayers to form a Board of Trustees.

Ontario Government Member Will Speak

R. M. Smith, Deputy Minister of Highways for Ontario, will be the guest of honor at the meeting of the Young Men's Canadian Club in Queen's Hotel on Monday evening. Mr. Smith will speak on "Highways of Tomorrow," and will deal with the remarkable developments that have taken place in regard to highways in recent years.

A colored film of the new Queen Elizabeth Highway in Ontario will be exhibited during the evening. Kenneth F. MacNamee, president, will be in the chair.

High Home . . .

mount High Schools Home and Schools Association symbolized the principals of democracy.

The association, he continued, represented three of the greatest things in life—the church, the home and the school. As an open forum it will give parents and teachers the opportunity to offer constructive criticism on matters pertaining to education and should bring about many improvements.

The new president stressed the necessity of limiting criticism to the type that was constructive in nature and urged the parents to attend the study groups planned by the organization in order to obtain a clear understanding of the problems relating to the school and home. Destructive comment, he said, was usually the result of lack of knowledge of the subject under discussion.

On behalf of the association Canon Oliver extended a special invitation to evacuee-members here from England for the duration of the war. They would be considered as guests of the association and he wished them happiness during their stay in this city.

In closing he thanked the press for its co-operation in bringing the activities of the association to the attention of the public, mentioning, in particular, this newspaper.

Following the formal portion of the meeting a social period was held in the gymnasium of the school.

Dr. E. Leslie Pidgeon . . .

(Continued from Page 1) should be performed in connection with the universal scheme of society. This universal spirit, he said, enriched and imparted greater vigor to both individuals and their deeds by the very fact of the community element involved.

In the early days, Rotary International trained its members to do daily work as members of society and as a contribution to society as a whole. Dr. Pidgeon recalled, it was soon ascertained, however, that without keeping the members in immediate touch with the projects undertaken, or in other words, without giving them some concrete task, progress was not as rapid as could be desired.

"Whenever you have an idea which lifts you up, you should see that it is put into practice," he continued. "Do something to put that attitude of mind into practice or else you will lose the benefit of the attitude."

INCREASE IN REGISTRATION AT SIR GEORGE

Increases ranging from six to 40 per cent over last year's registration, in all five units, are announced by E. F. Sheffield, registrar of Sir George Williams College.

In both the Evening High School and the Evening Business School the increase is forty per cent over last October. The Faculty of Arts, Science and Commerce has also a distinct increase in both the Day and Evening Divisions it was disclosed.

All units of the College, including the Day Business School, the Art School, and the Evening Elementary School have more women registered than in any previous year in the history of the College.

The Faculty of Arts, Science and Commerce, at present, has a registration of some 665 students as compared with 585 at the close of last semester. The registration for the whole school is expected to be close to 2,500.

F. BILLINGSLEY DIES IN FALL FROM TRAIN CAR

Accident Occurred Near St. Jerome Monday — Victim Was Well Known Here

When he fell from the platform of a train while on his way to Montreal after spending the weekend in the Laurentians, Frederick Billingsley, of 628 Grosvenor avenue, was instantly killed near St. Jerome Monday night.

Mr. Billingsley, who had resided in Westmount for many years, apparently lost his balance while walking across the platform between two coaches when the train was about one mile south of Lesage Station. At the time of the mishap he was carrying luggage in both hands.

Miss Beatrice M. Billingsley, daughter of the victim, and three friends on the train with her at the time, witnessed the mishap.

As soon as the train pulled into the C.P. Railway Station at St. Jerome, a few miles further on, a search party and doctors were rushed back to the spot to investigate. Following finding of the body it was removed to the local morgue where Dr. J. E. Brais, district coroner, established that death had been caused by a fractured skull. The body was released for burial.

Mr. Billingsley, who was widely known here as Montreal representative and a director of the Toronto Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd., with which concern he had been associated for nearly 40 years. He was a prominent officer of the Royal Arcanum for many years.

A native of Quebec City, Mr. Billingsley was educated at Montreal High School, and had been a resident of Westmount for the past 35 years.

He is survived by his widow, the former Gertrude Dennison; two sons, Gordon B., of Chilliack, B.C., and Dr. L. W. Billingsley, of the National Research Council, Ottawa, and two daughters, Mrs. David A. Malcolm and Miss Beatrice M. Billingsley, of Montreal.

Home, School Study Group Will Assemble On Oct. 30

The first of a series of study groups arranged by the Westmount High Schools Home and School Association will assemble in the Intermediate School, Academy Road, on Oct. 30 commencing at 8.15 p.m. when the topic under discussion will be "The School Health Program".

The outline of the topic, prepared by K. H. Murray, M.A., follows:

THE SCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAMME

1. How does the school assist the growth of the whole child?
2. What medical services are provided for the school?
  - a. Communicable diseases, including the common cold are quite a problem.
  - b. A medical examination is given to all pupils once each year but it does not include the Patch test for tuberculosis.
3. Are there other agencies cooperating with the schools? There are others in the work. Perhaps we should make an effort to cooperate with them. The Y.M.C.A. has provided a room, soup, milk, games, etc., for the children who bring their lunches.
4. Should safety education be given in any course in the school?
  - a. Parent teacher groups have important facilities for cooperating in the solution of safety problems.
  - b. First aid is given in a voluntary class to the boys, and lifesaving drill is taught to all the boys.
  - c. Perhaps home nursing should be provided for the girls.
5. Does our educational set-up teach health?
  - a. All subjects in the curriculum should contribute to health instruction.
  - b. There should be general participation in athletics under proper supervision in order to give the benefits to all.
  - c. Do we practise what we preach?
6. Should social hygiene be taught in the schools?
  - a. Perhaps the parents are able to take care of this.
  - b. The home and school might work together in this educational programme.

FIRST GLIMPSE OF PEACE

Small wonder these British refugee children climb the rigging to get a better view of New York as they recently arrived from England on the Samaria—one of three ships bringing over 500 youngsters to America. It's their first view of peace in over a year. They may be the last British refugees to come to the U.S., for Britain recently announced no more would be allowed to risk the Atlantic crossing.

LARGE NUMBER ARE CARED FOR BY ASSOCIATION

Westmount Agency Conducted 17,480 Interviews, Visited 300 Families Last Year

Workers of the Westmount Social Service Association, which operates through the Western Hospital Social Service Department, last year gave 17,480 interviews and paid 1,520 home visits. The agency gave clothing to 200 families, arranged dental work for 30 and eyeglasses for 328. An average of five quarters of milk a day was given to undernourished children. It was announced by Miss L. Clare Gass, director.

Miss Gass stated that the association does no work that might be duplicated by other agencies. She and her group of volunteers contact, through hospital wards and clinics, people who have no other hope of help or advice than this association. "Our greatest satisfaction is when our efforts avert physical, mental or spiritual suffering," Miss Gass stated.

One of the Federated Charities groups, the association had its origin in the Young Peoples Society of Melville Presbyterian Church in 1910.

One of its major tasks is interpreting people, and it is information of a special kind, dealing with physical disabilities and mental disturbances.

The staff and volunteers, working under Miss L. Clare Gass, director, are on hand at clinics and in a crowded basement office, to listen to difficulties and problems and to help in adjusting them. Questions come from doctors about patients' environment and family history; very personal questions are discussed by patients in the seclusion of one of the agency's interview rooms. There is drama, too, in some of the contacts.

ican states, for Ecuador, Peru, Chile and Colombia.

The idea of the flattened can is simple. The cans are made to the normal cylindrical shape, with side seams properly soldered. They are then pressed flat so that, when packed for transit, they take up only one fifth of the space occupied by made-up cans. The great saving in freightage costs (a heavy charge in these days) rapidly repays the small cost to the overseas customer of the three simple machines by which the flattened cans, when they reach their destination, are re-assembled to their normal cylindrical shape.

Heidi Vassessa and Audrey Speirs gave a two piano performance and also played piano solos. Adele Robertson acted as accompanist.

'FACING FACTS' TO BE TOPIC

"Facing the Facts—Why Does Christ insist upon our taking up a Cross and following Him?" This will be the theme of Rev. J. A. Johnston's sermon in Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday morning, in the evening, Mr. Johnston will have as his subject: "Blessings Abound Where'er He Reigns." Where does He reign? How does He reign? What happens when He reigns?

The Young People hold their weekly assembly on Monday evenings at 8 o'clock. Young men and women are cordially invited to participate in these largely attended gatherings of youth. On Wednesday evenings the Midweek Fellowship meets at 8 o'clock. Mr. Johnston conducts a vital Bible Study and Discussion Period at each of these assemblies. These assemblies welcome all who desire fellowship in the Supreme Things.

World's Longest Journey

The longest journey in the world has been covered by the Cashmir goods sent during the last six months from Scotland to the Argentine.

It began in the mountains of Tibet. Chinese merchants still travel by camel from Tientsin to Tibet over the road once trod by Marco Polo, the Venetian merchant adventurer of the 13th century.

They go to buy from mountain herdsman the fleece of the Tibetan goat. It is the lightest wool in the world.

From Tientsin the wool is shipped in bales to Scotland. In Hawick it is spun and knitted into garments which are then shipped to Buenos Aires. The entire journey, by camel, ship, and railway train covers 15,000 miles.

In the last six months the Argentine has taken from Scotland more Cashmir goods than in the previous twelve.

Today smart women in Buenos Aires can amuse themselves as did the great ladies of the 18th century with their vast shawls of

CORDWORK IS POPULAR AT 'Y' CRAFTSHOP

Many Articles May Be Made In This Way — Was Introduced At Branch Last Year

Cordwork was introduced by the "Y" Craftshop last year and was very well received. Of all crafts it is probably the simplest, but many interesting things can be made this way. It requires a great deal of patience however, but produces fine results.

The articles made in this way are mainly belts, purses, and sandals, but whistle lanyards are among the useful and very simple results of original ideas. Cordwork consists of tying square knots in several ways to produce colorful designs. One advantage of things made with cord is that they are washable, and do not lose their colour.

Sandals are not quite so simple. The soles are cut out of rubber sponge. The cords are sewn around the edges and tied loosely to allow for comfort. Most popular of all however are cord belts.

These belts are started at the buckle. Twenty cords are looped on to the buckle and taking them in fours, square knots are tied in continuous rows.

Cordwork will be among the crafts displayed in the main lobby of Westmount Y.M.C.A. next week.

Indian silk. They can take a Braemar jumper and draw it through a wedding ring; one of the most popular of these jumpers weighs only 2 1/2 ozs.

A few years ago the demand in the Argentine was for the heavier weights. Central heating has changed that, and lightweight are today the vogue.

NEW TRIPLE COIFFURE IS SUITED TO THREE HAT STYLES

The new three-way coiffure for fall changes from a pompadour to a coiffure with high front curls and an upturned roll at the back that frames the high, twisted turban, left, of gold wool. At right, the coiffure is again changed to look well under a casual cloche. This time, it is left high in front with sides and back brushed downward in soft waves with loose ends.

Paris Again Makes Its Bid For 'Tops' In World Of Fashion

Fashions are turning back a century to revive the romantic charm of fichu draped bodices, padded hips and rustling skirts. Decollete evening dresses displayed in Robert Piguet's winter collection dated back to 1840. The Piguet models were padded slightly in the hips under puffed-out skirts which touched the ground. They were balanced at the shoulders in short sleeves. One model had a fichu draped bodice of silver moire with a stiff black velvet skirt. Another was of crisp white satin embroidered in crystal pearls. Transportation difficulties inspired a special costume for dining out. Labeled "diner metro"—last subway train—this consisted of a narrow, short-skirted frock covered with shiny black sequins and worn under a plain black wool coat with a hood. Long dinner dresses in crepes, satins, nets or wool jersey were brightened up with lines of gold or jet paillettes. These dresses featured covered-up necks and long, tight sleeves with flat, seamless shoulders in kimono style. Dresses were shown in black crepes and velvets in short lengths. Some had full shirred skirts and striking bodice embroidery of gold paillette flowers or leaves. Additions to afternoon dresses were removable aprons, widely flared or shirred over narrow-cut skirts. Simple shirtwaist bodices with turnover collars were pronounced features in day dresses. Most skirts scarcely covered the knees. Diagonal closings with rippled front fullness and tie belts were features of long coats and new, three-quarter length jackets. Much fur trimming was used in hems, collars and muffs. Favored series of gold paillette flowers or leaves.

Primate Of All Canada Will Preach At Trinity

Wednesday, November 27, has been set as the date of the special service at Trinity Memorial Church to commemorate the founding of the "Trinity" Church in Montreal in 1840.

The service will be held in the evening and the Most Rev. Derwyn Trevor Owen, D.D., head of the Church of England in Canada, has accepted the invitation of the rector the Rev. R. Kenneth Naylor to preach the sermon. The Primate will come from Toronto specially for the occasion and the Right Rev. Arthur Carlisle, Bishop of Montreal, has also accepted an invitation to take part in the service. It is expected that other Anglican clergy in Montreal will be invited to attend the service and also the wardens of their churches.

Dr. Arthur Egerton, the organist and choirmaster of Trinity Memorial Church, will arrange special organ and choir music for the service. It is expected that during the week from November 24 to December 1, other events and services will be held to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary.

The first "Trinity" Church on St. Paul St. was occupied by the congregation from 1840 to 1860 when they moved to the second "Trinity" Church on Gosford St., where the City Hall Annex now stands.

Canon Bancroft, who was born in Montreal in 1819 was rector during the five years the congregation worshipped at Gosford St. He was appointed in 1859 and it was under his leadership that the congregation built a new church on St. Denis Street in 1864. He remained rector until 1877 and during this period several assistant ministers who later became prominent in the Anglican Church served under him.

Among these was the Rev. W. B. Curran, who resigned in 1864 to accept the rectorship of St. Stephens Church and subsequently moved to Hamilton, where he became rector of St. Thomas's Church and canon of the Diocese of Niagara. He was succeeded for a few months by the Rev. Douglas Borthwick, who officiated from November 1865 to May 1866.

Probably the best known curate of Trinity Church during that period was, however, the Rev. J. P. Dumoulin. He was assistant minister at Trinity from 1866 to 1870 and eventually became Bishop of Niagara. His earnest eloquence will never be forgotten by the generation to whom he ministered.

He was followed by the Rev. H. H. Waters from 1870 to 1872; the Rev. O. Fortin from 1872 to 1875; the Rev. G. Emson for six months in 1872 and the Rev. R. W. B. Webster in 1876.

From Gosford Street the congregation moved to a new Church on St. Denis St. and a few years before the present Trinity Memorial Church was built in 1925 the parishes of the Church of the Good Shepherd on Claremont avenue and that of "Trinity" were amalgamated.

Foundation Garments Assure Good Posture

The satisfied customer, well corseted and of proud posture, is the aim of Madame Joel, whose shop is at 4888 Sherbrooke Street West. Discriminating clients have long found this store to be a haven for comfort combined with the modish line that can be achieved only through the properly fitted foundation garment.

Madame Joel's staff is a permanent one, trained by her and working under her direct supervision. Among these highly skilled corset-fitters there are no apprentices. All are thoroughly experienced in selecting the proper garment for the individual figure and in making the necessary alterations for perfect wearing. Pains-taking, unburied attention to the wants of each figure problem is the unflinching requirement which makes Madame Joel's service a watchword in many a family, from grandmother to sub-deb young lady.

A complete stock of foundation garments, ranging from plain to luxurious, offered by tactful fitters in a restful, congenial atmosphere have established this shop as one of the best in Canada.

Grey Shag Woollen Coats Are Very Smart

There is a great deal of grey in shag woollen coats, cut on polo lines, and frequently belted at back, or with stitched in belts all around. These usually have large patch pockets and high wide lapels. One shop has cut a grey kidskin coat on these lines, and it has a most swagger look, with its back belt.

The same shop, which has been successful with reversible checked cottons for summer, now introduces a lovely plaid two-piece tuckin dress, whose skirt in yellow and grey is reversible.

Another interesting dress is the natural babardine with leather belt and buttons. This has a military air—a trend which is beginning to creep into women's fashions again, now that the conscription bill has become law.

If you love sweaters, you all know now that the long, loose imported Shetlands are still country classics. These look strangely new this year in natural pull-overs and cardigans.

When it comes to trend and silhouette in fashion, here is a store that stands aloof. Rumors may be noised abroad concerning the slim silhouette, but they list-

Short Skirts Shown For Daytime Wear

Paris decrees short skirts again for daytime wear—with lots of color.

In Lelong's fashion showing today the skirts came to the middle of the knee for the day wear and much color was employed, including almond and duck greens, wine shades, horizon and royal blues, grey flannels and brick red.

Maggy Rouff displayed short-skirted cocktail ensembles, featuring velveteen tailored jackets in black or crimson or loose boleros covered with spangled and jeweled motifs.

Afternoon dresses were shown in black velvet and lace—with insets of black wools. Many had trimmings of long velvet streamers in cords or ribbon. Suit skirts were narrow and short, but covered the knee.

Sports suits had divided skirts. Contrasting jackets were featured in bright tweeds or striped wools. All shoulders were built out square and sleeves were long and tight or flared at the wrist.

Furs equaling the style and distinction of pre-war fur fashions were displayed to several hundred spectators at the Maggy Rouff showing.

Evening coats were featured in white ermine and mink, day coats in beaver, astrakhan and celot. Small round muffs of black seal or Persian lamb accompanied afternoon ensembles having wide revers collars and deep gauntlet cuffs of matching fur.

All fur coats were loosely cut or flared either in full or three-quarter length.

Coats, Suits, Gowns Of British Fabrics

Almost without exception, coats, suits and dresses at Abercrombie and Fitch trace their heritage, as far as fabrics are concerned, to England or Scotland. Lightweight Paisley wool scarves piled in careless heaps on a counter just arrived, but until you make a joint of it, no one attempts to make impressive speeches on the subjects.

When it comes to trend and silhouette in fashion, here is a store that stands aloof. Rumors may be noised abroad concerning the slim silhouette, but they list-

TOM MIX IS GONE

Hollywood, October 16—So Tom Mix is dead—the noblest cow-hand of them all. He died as he would have wished—suddenly and painlessly—rushing into Texas as advance publicist for his pal and fellow sagebrush hero, Ken Maynard.

Travelling the same road less than a year ago, Tom's auto landed in a ditch, but neither driver nor custom-built car was badly hurt. Last week, Fate decreed otherwise. Racing 'round a curve he hurdled a fence, somersaulting to destruction. When passers-by pulled him from the wreckage, Tom was dead—ten-gallon hat crushed over his eyes, spurs intact, diamond-studded belt undamaged. His neck was broken.

Tom Mix died at 67—a man of unlimited friends and untold wealth. With his faithful steed, Tony—purchased for $12.50 many years ago—Mix became the screen's first western hero, a riding, roaring, rooting, tooting demigod soaring to heights of 'chivalry' in neighbourhood picture palaces throughout the world. Not once did he lower his sagebrush standards. Romance played but little part in his films, although he was a Robin Hood of the range. When movies learned to talk, some 13 years ago, Tom left the screen rather than play a mandolin and croon sweet lullabies to the cactus.

"That's sissy stuff!" he said. And his fans agreed.

So Tom bought himself a circus and toured the world. Entering radio, he won further success as producer and star of a popular network show. But now, again, he will appear on the screen.

And now he's passed out of camera range, but not out of memory. For whenever Indians bite the dust, whenever crooked rustlers ride off in defeat—all thoughts will turn to Tom.

Young America has lost one of its greatest idols; and the screen has yet to see his like again.

PICKFORD HOME FOR SALE

Some lucky Canadian is going to buy Mary Pickford's Toronto home for 50 cents. Miss Pickford will raffle it off for the Canadian Red Cross, and expects to raise $30,000 through the nationwide drawing. Despite the loss of her sister in a London air raid last week, Madeleine Carroll flies to Regina today to attend the world premiere of "North West Mounted Police." All proceeds from the premiere go to swell war relief funds.

Deanna Durbin will be an aunt in ten days. Her sister's having a baby. In Reno for a divorce from her nobleman husband, Connie Bennett auctioned off her Persian lamb coat to whip up money for British refugee kiddies. Squadron Leader Homer Berry, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, was a visitor to Paramount Monday. He returns to his command near Montreal tomorrow.

ETHERIAL SLIPS

Broadcasting is a tense business, and its only natural that occasionally there are "slips that pass in the mikes." Eddie Bracken, whose dry humor saves "Two Many Girls" from being just another picture, dropped in for dinner last night—ad talk turned to radio boners on the national networks.

At 27, Eddie is a grizzled veteran of the airways—and here are a few slip-ups he has heard when man meets mike and announcers' tongues go on strike:—

Mel Allen (CBS): "It's snipe poking time, ladies and gentlemen!"

Unknown announcer: "The weather report: tomorrow roddy, followed by clain!"

Jerry Lawrence (At Quebec for NBC): "You will know the King and Queen have arrived when you hear a 21-sun galoot!"

Annual Campaign Will Be Started Next Monday

Hundreds of volunteers will be starting out next Monday on their annual campaign to brighten the lives of Montreal's underprivileged people. The spirit of these workers—225 of them in N.D.G. alone, and another 200 in Westmount—is high in this year when war needs have increased the demands upon Federated Charities.

One woman, who knows the good work of the agencies through personal contact, has written a letter which is a sincere appeal for good neighborliness. She represents 33 agencies which are making a single canvass. They stand for all that is best in democracy—compassion, care of the needy, relief of suffering and distress. Here is her letter:

"With many others last fall I volunteered to help during the Federated Charities campaign, and was assigned to a certain district in Montreal to canvass house-to-house. No one who has not done such work can appreciate how hard it is; how dispiriting the trading from house to house. But how excitingly pleasant the generous or friendly reception!

"One day, after more than 100 calls, I had collected only three dollars! It wasn't that people were callous. I think many of them could not afford to give the large contribution they wished to give, and seemed unwilling to give a small one. They did not realize that even the smallest donation would have been welcome, and might have made the difference between success and failure for the canvass, and happiness and misery for those dependent upon it.

"I am writing this to suggest that even if her husband has already given generously, every woman on whom we call might give her own donation. Suppose out of every hundred homes we call on some women had been able to save a quarter out their

Annual Musicale

The annual musicale and at home of the Frances Willard W. C. T. U. will be held on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock in Domin's Douglas Church Hall. Artists taking part in the program include, Mrs. Ruth Beckstead, pianist; Mrs. Baldo Gardner, soprano; Mrs. W. K. Davis, contralto; Mrs. Arthur Liang, reader and Mrs. Franklin Hodgson, accompanist.

household allowances, while others gave up to forty or fifty others gave fifty cents, and a few achieved a dollar each—it might mount up to forty or fifty dollars. And, believe me, fifty dollars would go a long way toward alleviating suffering in this great city. It's not only big sums we need, but many smaller gifts. "We who make the canvass do so voluntarily, and we appreciate an opportunity to answer questions and tell about the work of these wonderful 33 agencies. We know that if the needy appeared at these doors themselves they would not be turned away, and we are representing them."

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

1940's Greatest Team On Monkland Screen

Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor form the outstanding romantic team of 1940 in "Waterloo Bridge," their new starring film which is now playing at The Monkland United Theatre.

Their romance and lives is graphically told in the film. Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor, who gave the picture more time and vitality, the Robert E. Sherwood stage success has been adapted to screen in London of 1940 and then turns back the pages of history to 1917 for its major theme.

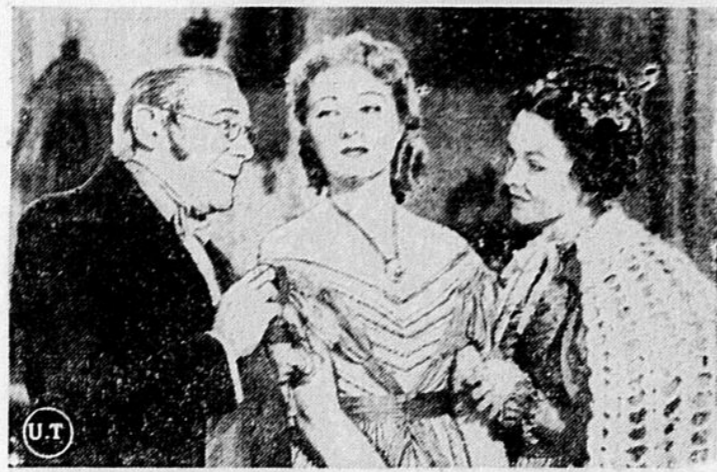

King And Queen Of Song Appearing In "New Moon"

Together for the sixth time, Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, add to their prestige as the screen's favorite romantic team in "New Moon" which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre.

Sigmund Romberg is one of the finest ever presented in a MacDonald-Eddy musical. Miss MacDonald's solos include the famous "Love Come Back to Me," "One Kiss," "Paree" and "Rondelet."

A cast of more than fifty speaking roles is seen in support of the co-stars, with Mary Boland, fresh from her triumph in "The Women," giving another riotous comedy characterization, and prominent roles filled by George Zucco, H. B. Warner and Grant Mitchell.

Fine Feature Will Open At York Theatre

Since it was first published in the fall of 1933 by the Macmillan Company, Rachel Field's biographical novel "All This and Heaven Too" has had innumerable printings, the last late in 1939, and still enjoying a ready sale across the book counters of several nations.

Now in all its dramatic essence, it has been brought to the screen by Warner Bros. in a brilliant picturization, which stars Bette Davis as Mademoiselle Henriette Deluz-Desportes, Charles Boyer as Theobald, Duc de Praslin, protagonists in one of the most sensational murder trials of all time.

"All This and Heaven Too," the novel, was the story of Rachel Field's own great-aunt from the time she, a young girl with a past somewhat shrouded in mystery, left temporary refuge in England to return to France, her birthplace, there to become governess in the household of the Duc de Praslin, royalist close to King Louis Philippe, in those years prior to his, the Duc's suicidal death in 1847, the death that ended but did not completely solve the famous Praslin murder mystery.

"Lambeth Walk" Scoring Hit At The Snowdon

"The Lambeth Walk," that fascinating, tantalizing tune that swept the world and had everybody doing "as they darn well pleased," now takes on a new lease of life and has fresh words to conquer in the film version of the London musical hit, "Me and My Girl."

one of the highlights of the production, and that, allied to the splendid performances by every member of the cast, and the haunting music by Noel Gay, makes "The Lambeth Walk" a treat in store for everyone.

The Legion's Education Work Being Stepped Up

Division of education activities of the Canadian Legion War Services in the Atlantic coast command into three areas, under the supervision of a voluntary administrative committee, has been announced here as the tempo of the Legion's work is being stepped up to meet the increasing demands of the new fall and winter study season.

West, of New Brunswick, and Dr. H. F. Munro, of Nova Scotia, as joint chairmen, the three areas are established as follows: New Brunswick and Gaspe; Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland and Labrador.

Division of the Atlantic coast command was made following the decision of the national committee under the chairmanship of Lieut.-Col. Wilfrid Bovey, O.B.E., of Montreal, to block off the Dominion into three sections—the Pacific coast, inland provinces, and the Atlantic coast. Arrival at Halifax of Dr. H. M. Tory, M.A., B.Sc., LL.D., of Ottawa, former president of the National Research Council and director of the Khaki University during the closing years of the first Great War, to direct the Legion's library service, will permit of great expansion in the education work being carried out for the men under arms in the Atlantic command.

Hundreds of applications from all parts of the district are being received from soldiers, soldiers and airmen for courses in general educational subjects and vocations, and great enthusiasm is being shown for the new scheme of correspondence study established by the Legion. Military authorities are offering full support of the program, realizing that, in addition to helping the men prepare themselves for their return to civilian life, it is also of great benefit in improving general military efficiency.

He is happy whose circumstances suit his temper; but he is more excellent who can suit his temper to any circumstances.—Hume.

The height of human wisdom is to bring our tempers down to our circumstances and to make a calm within, under the weight of the greatest storm without.—Defoe.

WESTMOUNT HIGH DEFEATED BY STRONG WESTHILL TEAM

WINNERS TIGHTEN HOLD ON FIRST PLACE WITH AN EASY 15-7 VICTORY OVER LOCALS

Westmount was defeated 15-7 by West Hill in a High School Football League senior match at Westmount Park yesterday afternoon consolidating the Red and Gray's first place position in the loop. Westmount retains its second place berth.

Rivalry existing between the two schools since they started battling against each other competitively years ago, never flared any higher than it did yesterday. And the result was a game packed with as much spectacular play and drama as any two major league clubs could have provided.

West Hill definitely was the better team but not by as wide a margin as the score would indicate. Chesley's youngsters were a steadier aggregation with more power along the line and in ground offensive. Westmount, however, displayed a superior air attack and with school rules wide open as they are, that type of offensive can turn the tide on one play.

Turning Point

The game was won and lost midway through the last quarter in a situation as tense and exciting as any football situation could be. It developed when Newman, Westmount middle wing, broke through the West Hill line at mid-field to block Keith Ellison's kick, pick up the loose ball and start heading for the West Hill goal-line.

Nobody was between Newman and the line, but Allan Hall, driving Red and Gray backfielder, chased Newman and hauled him down a couple of yards away from scoring territory. West Hill was leading 9-5 at the time. With three downs to go, Westmount looked to be home free, but three desperate line smashes were stopped and West Hill took possession with the ball inches away from its line. On the next play, Quarterback Billy Surphils showed smart headwork in sending Ellison out of touch behind the line, conceding Westmount a safety touch and enabling West Hill to scrimmage the ball on the 35-yard line from whence the team moved out of danger.

A hard fought battle all the way, the game ended in a mid free-for-all on the last play when Bob MacFarlane of West Hill, far and away the game's star, was hurt and several members of both squads wrestled around and threw a few punches.

The teams: West Hill: Woodstock, flying-wing; Hall, Lobb, Ellison, halves; Surphils, quarter; Loney, snap; Hines, Meyer, inside; MacFarlane, Adams, middles; Barrie, Harvey, outside. Subs—Darragh, Williams, Orkin, Probyn, Liverman. Westmount: Heron, flying-wing; Dickie, Champion, Wilson, halves; Strachan, quarter; Law, snap; Finical, Fisher, inside; Newman, Bartram, middles; Hanson, Rutledge, outside. Subs—Boxer, Main, Langston, Curtis, Davies, Taylor, Brennan. Officials: Frank Ulley, referee; Charlie Barbour, umpire.

Spanish Citizens Grateful Nation To Stay at Peace

Spaniards gratefully passed on the word to one another last week that, according to reports from Rome, Spain is to continue as a nonbelligerent.

Many persons were saying that the civil war had given Spain enough war for a long time—this despite the recent clamor in the press for an active partnership with the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Last week's newspapers did not publish the report by Stefan, official Italian news agency, that Spain would not be involved as a belligerent and the version for morning papers, as delivered by the official Spanish agency, E. F. E., was somewhat watered down.

Warlike talk during the later phases of Roman Serrano Sumer's visit to Berlin had fed some persons to forget that the keynote when he left Madrid was that "Spain already has done her share." Serrano Sumer, Minister of Government, was also to urge Spain's unpreparedness for war.

New Toronto Plant To Hire Craftsmen

Many specialized and skilled workers in glass and metal will find employment at a new plant to be built in the Toronto area by Research Enterprises, Ltd., according to a recent announcement of the Toronto Industrial Commission. Many of the lines to be manufactured, such as optical glass and precision instruments, are largely new to Canada's industrial output.

The firm has taken one of the latest factory sites in some years. Plant facilities on the 16-acre site will exceed $1,000,000, it is understood.

About Scouts

TRINITY TROOP. The Trinity troop met as usual on Saturday last with more than 30 scouts in attendance. A great part of the evening was devoted to inter-patrol games for competition.

Three recruits were invested; Terry Cunningham, Teddy Harvey and Laird McMeekin. Visitors for the evening included the Commissioner, Mr. King and Mr. Stevenson.

Due to the increased membership, it was found necessary to make the following promotions: Troop leader George Kirk to the appointment of Assistant Scoutmaster and Quarter Master S. Hunt to Troop leader. Troop leader S. Hunt will act as Quarter master until a suitable scout can be found for said position.

ASM Kirk wishes to announce that he will hold an examination in second class first aid this coming Saturday night, all those wishing said test must come to the meeting fully prepared for the examination.

CAPT R. F. SCOTT ROVER CREW.

Last evening, two new recruits put in an appearance, Robert Wight and George Coughlan.

Fred Read, Rover Mate and George Kirk Rover Second will be absent on leave for the next few months owing to their studies which will keep them away on meeting nights.

Craws are planning on their Anniversary Banquet for the 27th of November. SRM Mel Burge is chairman of the committee and will be assisted by F. Read, G. McAuley and A. Eaves.

U.S. Army Tanks Cross Into Canada

Two dozen United States Army tanks crossed the international boundary recently on flat cars, en route to Camp Borden, Ontario, where they will be used for training Canadian tank units.

This first installment of the 200 over-age tanks recently acquired from the United States was galloped at the border for 36 hours.

They arrived in Detroit Oct. 1 from Rock Island, Ill., covered by a United States Government bill of lading. However, clearance was refused until certification of special War Office permission for export of armament arrived from Washington.

Another 41 tanks now are in Detroit awaiting similar clearance. The 200 armored vehicles, of six tons weight and lightly armed, were built in the late years of the World War and immediately after it. They were declared obsolete two years ago for use by the United States Army.

QUICK START IS FORWARD'S BIGGEST ASSET

Guards, like the one blocking in center foreground, should be chosen for their offensive ability, says Carl Snively, inset, Cornell coach.

Time was when the football coach put his big, slow, dumb men at the tackles and guards and conserved superior athletes for positions which, at the time, were regarded as more complex and important.

There is no place for that kind of lineman today.

A coach usually selects his tackles because of their defensive qualities, and his guards principally on their offensive ability. Neither a guard nor tackle is likely to find himself on the first team unless he is a good blocker.

For the guards, ability to block in and out of the line is the prime consideration.

By that I mean guards who can pull out to interference. We choose our linemen so that on occasion every man can pull out and block.

OFFENSIVE FORWARD HAS AN ADVANTAGE

Our linemen can be big or small, fast or slow, but some slow runners start and charge quickly.

We feel this is more important than ability to pick up speed later.

British Scientists At Canada's Service

An English scientific laboratory offers Canadian farmers a unique service without charge.

Any farmer in Canada can now post to Rothamsted Experimental Station, Harpenden, England, specimens of a crop failure for examination. In due course he

This holds true, especially on flank plays.

Without deprecating the importance of interferers, it is nevertheless just as imperative that the men who stay in the line keep opposing linemen completely out of the play.

This requires quickness of movement and leg drive. The offensive lineman presumably has the advantage over his foe because he knows just when the ball will be snapped and just where the play is going.

This brings up the question of giving away a play, something all offensive linemen must watch. The forward must take a stance which in no way "points" the direction or type of play. He should guard against little mannerisms which would indicate whether or not he is pulling out or remaining to block.

One or two backs often go in the opposite direction of the play for deceptive purposes, but linemen always block in the direction of the play.

MAKE DEFENSIVE LINEMEN TIP DIRECTION OF PLAY

Although we prefer positive aggressiveness and the forward, driving type of block, a crafty lineman often will retreat a half step, permitting the defensive foe to commit himself as to the direction he will charge.

Mouse-trapping is a very important and clever offensive maneuver. On certain plays a key defensive player is allowed to come through a hole. He is blocked from the side and the play then goes through the hole he has vacated.

One of the glaring weaknesses I have noticed in linemen is that they remain on the scrimmage line too long after a punt. They lose time getting down the field, when as a matter of fact a couple of the interior linemen should beat the ends down.

Opponents usually have plans for obstructing wingmen.

A lineman's job is a hard, bitter one. He is often an obscure figure with the crowds and the headlines, but the players know who are responsible for the real team play. That's why most college captains are linemen.

It is a disease like "gray speck" has affected barley crops deficient in manganese.

Plants sent to Rothamsted for diagnosis are burned and the ash is made incandescent. The spectroscope then records photographically the chemical constituents of the ash. These photographs reveal the presence or absence of minor elements that assist or retard healthy growth.

WESTMOUNT HIGH GRID TEAM WILL BATTLE M.H.S. SQUAD IN PROTESTANT LOOP MATCH

Westmount High grid squad will see action Saturday afternoon at Molson Stadium in the second game of a twin bill. They will oppose Montreal High in a game which should produce some good football. Both teams are in a good position in the loop which is being closely contested this season.

The first game will get underway at 2.15 and will see D'Arcy

McGee stack up against Catholic High in the Catholic section. The local school squad will take the field against Montreal High following this game.

With the teams of both leagues closely bunched the results of these two games will have an important bearing on the standings. It is expected that the largest attendance of the season will be on hand since Saturday's result will be a matter of general interest to all the teams of both leagues.

School officials are much gratified by the large and growing attendance of football fans in general, apart from the large turnouts of school supporters. This indicates a widening of interest in the type of football purveyed by the school leagues.

Fans are taking advantage of the opportunity of seeing and judging for themselves the possibilities for a more intriguing game should moguls of big time football in the east see fit to open up the game as has been done in Western Canada.

To Organize Six-Man Football

Organized by the municipal recreation department six-man touch football games will be played this season at Westmount Park. Those interested in playing on the team should register their name with one of the park attendants at the band-stand on Monday between 3.30 and 4 p.m.

No uniform is required for this game.

LOCAL SQUAD WINS BY 23-5

Last Tuesday Montreal High's senior B squad bowed to the tune of 23-5 before a superior Westmount team.

Things looked very bad for Westmount in the opening minutes of the game, when Heggie of Montreal intercepted a Westmount forward scoring a touchdown after a beautiful 75 yard run.

Following this set back the Westmount spirit showed up brilliantly, and they were never menaced during the rest of the game.

Redpath and Wake swooped around the ends for large gains while Peters and Nicholson plunged for the needed first downs through the line Minty at quarter carefully guided his team to victory, with the result that Peters scored twice and Nicholson and Redpath once.

The extra three points on two converts by Peters and a rouge kicked by Nicholson.

Although the Westmount squad was never in a tight position, Gibbs, Blitz and Heggie supplied the fire and spirit for Montreal and kept Westmount alert till the final whistle.

In a few days, thousands of VOLUNTEER workers commence their task of signing up GOOD NEIGHBOURS, to carry on an urgent service on the HOME FRONT, in a war that never ends. They want your interest, they want your dollars, to help your neighbours who cannot help themselves. To help care for the sick, to protect our little children, to comfort the aged, the infirm, the blind.

Give these VOLUNTEER workers a welcome. Remember, they are giving their TIME, too, in aid of this worthy cause. Reach deeper into your heart—deeper into your pocket—than ever before.
