ANNUAL INSPECTION OF WESTMOUNT UNITS

Battle order was the dress of the day for the annual inspection Saturday of the Royal Montreal Regiment. Inspecting officer was (at top) Col. Bernard Archambault, (centre) commander Western Quebec district. Third from left is Maj. Harry Needham, officer commanding the local militia unit's contribution to the Mobile Command Reserve force. In the lower photo, part of a collection of machine-pistols collected by the RMR is examined by Col. Archambault. Left is Maj. J. Nesbitt, commanding officer, 1 Intelligence Training Company, and right is Lt.-Col. R. C. P. Lawson, CO of the RMR. Both units share the armory at 4625 St. Catherine street west. Juveniles picked up for thefts

Ten juveniles, in two lots, were arrested by Westmount Police early this week on a wide variety of theft counts.

One group, ages ranging from 10 to 13 years, was apprehended by Sgt. Walter Richardson and the force's police dog Monday evening, breaking into parked cars.

Sunday evening a patrol apprehended two local boys taking articles from an Olivier avenue apartment house. Their arrest led to the custody of three more with local addresses; all were in the 14-15 age range.

Their possession of a key is believed to be leading to clearing up a whole series of apartment-locker and car thefts over the past couple of months.

Noisy mufflers new law target

Westmount's 1939 anti-noise by-law is about to have an amendment to tie it in with the automotive age and the sports car era.

First reading was given to an amendment Monday night which adds a section, relative to the provincial highway code, to the effect that:

"...no person shall drive a motor vehicle unless such vehicle is provided with a muffler in good condition and so constructed and maintained as to prevent any excessive noise."

A Westmount constable in future will have to stop and think under which by-law he is going to prosecute an offender. Or, rather, if he figures he can't get you under one local edict he can get you on another.

Last winter's new traffic by-law says:

"No person shall cause a vehicle or the motor of a vehicle to be operated in a manner likely to disturb the peace, comfort or repose of persons in the vicinity."

New Post Office not quite ready

Date of moving of the Westmount Post Office from Greene avenue and de Maisonneuve boulevard west to its new building at St. Catherine street and Olivier avenue was still in the air this week.

Local postmen had anticipated the move for this weekend, but last week it became apparent all was not in readiness.

"Early May" now is mentioned by postal officials downtown.

6 false alarms rung in week

Westmount Fire Brigade had six false alarms over the past week, three from the same box at Selby and Brooke avenues, two from Westmount Square, and the sixth from Selby and Greene avenue.

Polluting the air is illegal

Alright, law-abiding citizen. Add these to your long list of City of Westmount "thou shalt nots:"

- Don't permit smoke of more than 40 percent density to enter the local atmosphere;
- If the smoke is from an internal combustion engine, don't let it be more than 20 percent density;
- Don't use a kind or grade of furnace fuel which would cause 40 percent density smoke;
- Don't create an odor from combustion, manufacturing or other process to cause extreme discomfort or danger to health of others;
- Ditto for odors from decaying animals or vegetable matter;
- Don't cause, permit or carry on sandblasting, or pile, store, load or transport slack coal, cinders, ashes, sand, gravel or earth, without adequate cover to prevent sand, grit or dust entering the atmosphere.

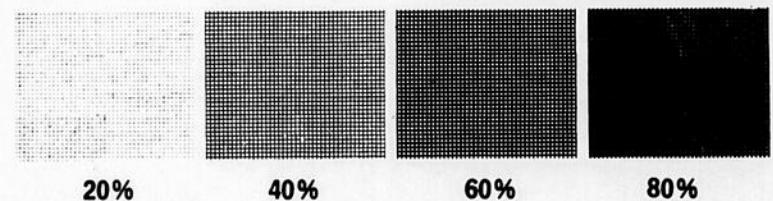

These new commandments are the essence of a new "By-law Concerning Air Pollution" given first reading Monday night on motion of Public Services Commissioner Ald. J. E. Birks, seconded by Ald. D. O'C. Doheny.

You might — or might not — get away these things prior to subsequent second and third readings.

However, if found guilty the fine is going to be up to $100 for every day the offence is committed, failing payment of which you can spend up to two months in jail.

How about those percentage densities of smoke, you ask?

Well, they're measured on a thing called the Ringelmann scale, as represented by the shaded squares below. Worried about your smoke, or someone else's — for example, that from the city's own incinerator? Clip out this strip and hold it up to the smoke and find the percentage for yourself.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL

APRIL 26 to MAY 3

Not very pleasant until the middle of the week, then settled fair, although remaining cool. Sleet, hail and thunder with sunny intervals for some districts.

The main flocks of migrating birds arrive. They prefer to travel at Full Moon time. Warm, sunny days and cold nights continue into next week.

Trees burst into full leaf this pleasant weekend, and choke cherries blossom, also trilliums in the woods.

Temp. range: south, 30-70°F.; Laurentians, 30-65°F.

March property sales up again

March real estate transfers in Westmount picked up markedly after a mid-winter comparative quiet, with $7,893,820 worth of property, by city valuation, involved in 36 transactions.

Ten of these registrations were declarations involving estates, cessions or donations, involving $258,820 worth of valuation.

Another six showed "$1 and other considerations" as the sale price, but involved the conveyance of all or part of properties valued by the City of Westmount at $6,882,120. Most prominent among these was the transmission of a one-third interest in the "4300," luxury apartment house on de Maisonneuve boulevard west, from Roger Pau to Mrs. Jean P. Saletes. The "4300" city valuation is $6,642,250. The purchase of the prestigious "4300" by Mr. Pau led the February real estate transfers.

$213,740 house

Of the remaining 30 transactions, for all of which sale prices were given, biggest by price was of the Fridolin Simard house at 2 Surrey Gardens, sold by Simco Ltée. to Les Placements Friger Ltée. for $213,740. The city's valuation roll shows this property at $89,550 for tax purposes; this was the biggest private property markup of the month at 139 percent.

Biggest markup of all, on land only, was shown for the lane off Greene avenue behind the Bank of Montreal at de Maisonneuve boulevard west, realized by the City of Westmount from the bank. Price was $25,948 for the land shown on the city's books at $8,000. That's a step up to price of 224 percent. The acquisition is for an as-yet-unannounced reconstruction and expansion of the bank's facilities.

Mark-up 51.8%

Overall, the 30 sale prices aggregated $1,142,733 on properties valued for tax purposes at $752,880: a total markup of $389,853 or 51.8 percent.

It should be pointed out — and it was by the vendor of a West- (continued on page 15)

- III. More programs come in!

I. Last Sunday night in Salle Claude Champagne, an opera concert was given that had no less than 95 participants. There was a large audience who heard favorite arias from 11 celebrated operas by Verdi (5), Puccini (2), Mascagni, Mozart and Gounod and the heavy clapping showed it was a successful event.

Yves Courville, known in various music spheres, (especially his Quatuor Double which performed splendidly at the Italian Cultural Institute) was the efficient leader for the 50-voice Choeur Vaudreuil-Soulanges and a 40 member orchestra. The young musicians, whose names were all listed in the souvenir program, are known as l'Ensemble Instrumental Arts-Quebec. They are the top students of Ecole Normale de Musique on Westmount avenue, l'Ecole Vincert d'Indy, College de Musique Sainte-Croix, Le Conservatoire de Musique de Québec and the Music Faculties of the University of Montreal and McGill.

Claire Gagnier, the guest artist, that delightful soprano, although not heard often as in former years, has not lost any of her charm and is in very good voice.

Beehive

II. Victoria Hall is a beehive of activity with music students, music adjudicators, choral groups, instrumental ensembles and interested listeners in most of the halls, big and small, in the attractive Westmount edifice.

What's it all about? The Quebec Music Festivals Competition are having their tests. Excitement is high considering that this is the only surviving music competition in the city. One would expect a bigger entry and larger audiences at the events but everyone is so busy-busy-busy that one cannot attend everything going on.

I was there last Saturday evening and heard some advanced piano but could not stay to the end. I noticed that the Choeur Vaudreuil-Soulanges that sang the following evening in the Opera Concert (see above) was among the contestants in the vocal ensemble category.

These Festivals are extremely good and always manage to uncover talented pupils that are willing to enter. I will go into detail in a future column.)

Programs

III. The programs continue to arrive, five more, one each post-day since last week. Again some are duplicates, as I have gone to so many concerts. Here are the new ones...

Seven shoplifters week's Miracle take

Seven shoplifters were arrested by Steinberg security staff in the Miracle Mart at Alexis Nihon Plaza over the past week

Nearly 500 citizens went to see the City of Westmount's graphic display last week on the urban renewal scheme, on view Thursday to Saturday in the hall of St. Andrew's United Church.

Attendance Thursday was 125; Friday, 170; and Saturday, nearly 200 with such a rush toward the 4:30 pm scheduled closing that the doors were kept open until almost six o'clock.

Many comments were heard by those in attendance, and most were favorable; though Friday afternoon one obviously disapproving woman stormed from the "mini-theatre" slide presentation, muttering loudly: "That didn't give any information!"

The mini-theatre proved highly popular with most visitors, a colored-slide performance of some quarter of an hour's duration with a co-ordinated soundtrack commentary by the author of the basic scheme, Town Planner Goldyn Sunderland, who also was responsible for the overall exhibition. The theatre facilities were set up by the city's director of power and communications, A. de F. Heron.

Apart from the verbal comments, a number of visitors took the trouble to give their impressions on cards provided for the purpose. These included:

"Très bien présenté..."

"Credit to all concerned..."

"Some premises are based on illogism..."

"Mini-theatre fine..."

And one gave a fairly detailed idea of what might be done with the Greene avenue frontage of Westmount Square - which is not part of the present renewal plan.

Interested parties have until May 6 to communicate briefs, objections or suggestions to the Québec Housing Corporation. If any are submitted, a public hearing likely is to be conducted by QHC in Westmount within a month or so before the scheme moves forward.

There is every indication that the five-year plan, embracing most of the section of Westmount below St. Catherine street in one way or another, will go ahead smoothly, with active encouragement from Québec which will realize half the cost from Federal funds.

Macy's Drug Store closes local doors

Macy's Drug Store, a landmark at Sherbrooke street and Victoria avenue for over 40 years, closes this weekend. It is the second such establishment to go in the area in the last two months - Grindley's Pharmacy shut its doors in February.

Tuesday's token strike by Protestant teachers proved just that in most respects in Westmount. No incidents.

Most significant effort appears to have been that of a group of parents and their youngsters who, with the backing of the presidents of the three Home & School associations, gathered approximately 1,000 signatures in a door-to-door canvass on a petition, addressed to Premier Bertrand, which read:

"We the undersigned citizens do not approve of the Government's treatment of the teachers and urge you to intervene in order to obtain a resumption of negotiations for an acceptable contract."

A mid-morning check of Westmount High and Westmount Park schools revealed no pickets. We were told it was not because of the pouring rain; they had not planned to be out at that time. (Nor were the Machinist pickets in evidence across from WHS at Air Canada's offices, as they were the day before.)

The demonstration at central school board headquarters in N.D.G. was supported, a student

We Say

Strikes by teachers are against us all

The natural sympathy of parents of school-age children lies with the teachers. There are ties of parents and teachers through school program participation, Home and School activities and personal links.

Yet, we must wonder where the wider public stands. A profession, once beheld on a pedestal, has devolved its image into that of just another segment of organized labor caught up in strife with its employers.

There remains a difference, however. That is that the employer is not a large corporation of a branch of private industry, but a government.

And government is us all.

Tuesday's strike proved nothing which government and citizens didn't know before. It may have made some of us more aware that teachers and government have not achieved a contract. But we think the classes-stoppage was a wasteful misuse of schooling time.

It is unlikely to change government policy.

Bury our own dead? Isn't it about time

Westmount finally gained those ultimate explars of good living: public wining and dining.

All that remains to be added are facilities for burying our own dead.

The last known burial ground was that atop the mountain used by our earlier inhabitants, the Indians.

And no one now around seems to recall our ever having our own undertaking parlor.

Now here is something wide open to free enterprise, in an area noted for some of the finest funerals in these parts.

Just as discerning restaurateurs have moved in, in the wake of sweeping aside the Victorian idea that Westmount should not have dining room liquor licenses. We now have some of the finest eating establishments going without having to step over the border into neighboring Montreal.

Why should it be so for our funerals?

We thought perhaps we did not have one of those places, replete with slumber rooms, soft lights and organ music, because such was not provided for in the city's by-laws.

Such as, for example, it was discovered last winter zoning did not allow animal hospitals (since corrected) even though there long had been one here.

Or, as a few years ago, we out-lawed massage parlors.

But, no. It seems that if one wanted to, one could open up a Westmount Funeral Home, or whatever name one should choose, in a narrowly restricted but nonetheless allowable area, on either Victoria or Prince Albert avenue, mid-way between St. Catherine street and de Maisonneuve boulevard.

As for our own cemetery... land values being what they are, plots in Côte des Neiges and on Mount Royal will probably have to suffice for some time to come as the fashionable last resting places of Westmounters.

You Say

Sir: According to your reporting of the Westmount School Commissioners' meeting in last week's issue, it would seem that some of the Westmount parents who send their children to Roslyn School may be unaware that there are, in addition to bilingualism, other equally important matters worthy of concern in education today.

Westmount Park School does not have a French immersion program but principal, teachers and parents have been working on Regulation I and it is planned to formally commence implementation in September 1969. Westmount Park School does have its special problems (what school does not?) but again the principal, teachers and parents are concerned and involved and are working together in an atmosphere of co-operation to find solutions.

As a parent I am very content to have my children at Westmount Park School and feel we have here the beginnings of a truly co-operative school, in the spirit of Regulation I.

St-Scholastique A meaningless controversy

Almost overnight, the sleepy Laurentian town of St. Scholastique has been awakened by a highly-inflated political controversy between the federal and Quebec governments. It centres, of course, on the choice of the site for Montreal's new international airport.

In an effort to rationalize this controversy, I should like to describe the events leading up to the historic decision of last month.

An intensive review was begun by the federal government in late 1966 of the airport requirements of the Montreal region. In July 1968, the federal cabinet decided to build a new international airport and then proceeded to investigate thoroughly the possible sites. Finally, on March 27, my colleague, Mr. Hellyer, announced that St. Scholastique had been chosen as the ideal site.

The alternative of expanding the existing facilities at Dorval was rejected on the grounds that the necessity of moving families would be socially undesirable and economically prohibitive — $1 billion was the figure mentioned in the review.

Dorval will be superseded by the new international airport in terms of capacity and, of course, importance. Its own capacity of 3 to 5 million passengers a year, however, is expected to be the same in 1985 as the loss of long-range traffic will be compensated for by an increase in short-haul intercity traffic. This anticipated role of Dorval had some considerable bearing on the choice of the site for the new airport.

Two factors

There were two important and not unrelated factors which influenced the choice of St. Scholastique. One included all the technical criteria used in determining the best location for such an airport, the other focused on the economic impacts of the possible sites.

The criteria were: air traffic security, no encroachment on urban zones, accessibility for the majority of users, good access roads, good accessibility to Dorval, convenience to housing and industrial development areas, economic promotion of the region of Montreal, and cost-benefit ratio.

After analysis of these criteria, the cabinet reduced its choice from 20 suggested possibilities to five and then created a task force to examine these sites from the point of view of their different economic impacts. This task force, chaired by Prof. Benjamin Higgins of the University of Montreal, comprised representatives from the federal government, the Quebec government and the City of Montreal. It concentrated on three areas; to the north, west, and south of Montreal, respectively.

The Higgins report showed that the western area (in the vicinity of Valleyfield), no matter how technically attractive, would not be conducive to the bolstering of the Quebec economy generally or to alleviating regional economic disparity. In fact, recent developments in the Cornwall area suggest that the location of a site in the western area would aggravate the regional imbalance in Quebec.

The report considered both the St. Jean and Drummondville-Sherbrooke areas but concluded that the economic growth to the east, as hoped for by the provincial government, would not materialize from the location of the airport in either area. Prof. Higgins and his colleagues did believe, however, that the northern area (in the vicinity of St. Jerome) would best serve the twin goals of reducing regional imbalance and accelerating the development of the provincial economy as a whole. The location of the airport in this area would promote development and expansion to the east, including Joliette, Trois-Rivières and Quebec City.

Logical site

It was only after assessing the factors identified by the Higgins report and in the light of the aforementioned criteria that St. Scholastique was chosen as the logical site for an international airport.

I, therefore, cannot agree with the strong objections raised by the Quebec Government over the site choice. If the regional programs of that government were the only criterion for such a choice, there may have been some merit in choosing a site to the north-east of Montreal or possibly the south-east although the Higgins report favored a site to the north of the St. Lawrence.

But to be useful, an airport should be in a position to serve its clientele efficiently. It is estimated, for instance, that in 1985 the great majority of passengers (86%) using the new airport will have as their origin or destination points: the center of Montreal (22%), west of Montreal (50%) and north of Montreal (14%). Passengers wanting to connect with nearby cities (Quebec, Toronto) will need quick and easy access to Dorval. The distance between St. Scholastique and Dorval (17 miles) is reasonable, that between Dorval and points eastward is much less so.

It is, therefore, misleading for the Quebec government to accuse the federal government of being dictatorial in its choice of the airport site. For while the final decision was naturally made by the federal government, this decision was the result of cogent analysis of all the relevant facts and factors by all levels of government.

mount property on which a particularly high profit would appear to have been made among the transfers published here a month ago for February, that sometimes extensive improvements have been made to properties between the time of the last valuation roll revision and the date of sale. Nonetheless, it is conceded that generally Westmount properties are continuing to realize good sale prices, almost continuously over the past year or more.

Also, for the benefit of inquirers regarding the source of data, the basic information describing the properties, vendors, purchasers and prices, is recorded as public information in the Montreal Registry Office when deeds of transactions are filed for registration. Current valuations are filed on public record at city hall. Sales prices have an important bearing on determining market value of other properties at any given time in a particular street, district or the community generally, and prove of considerable value to both professional realtors and private individuals contemplating sales or purchases.

The details

The March transactions recorded for Westmount, omitting estate declarations, cessations and donations, follow: (valuations in brackets)

School census readied of Westmount residents

Preparations are under way by Albert E. Mount, secretary-treasurer of the School Commissioners for the Municipality of the City of Westmount, for the annual statutory census of children of Westmount.

A band of courteous and considerate census takers will be abroad during May, each armed with a certificate of identification. And here is what they are required to ask regarding each youngster up to and including age 20 (as of June 30):

Full address; father's and mother's full names, occupations and birth dates; tutor's name if there is one; if he or she attends school, within or outside the municipality; if he attends night or special courses during part of the year; and, if between 6 and 15 years and not attending school, why.

Mr. Mount says the school census is a means of supervision and an instrument of study and forecast and, more important, "a means of attaining the common objective of all: to see that every boy or girl reaches the highest educational level attainable."

A warning: ask the census taker for identification. If this cannot be provided, notify the Westmount Police immediately.

Payments for March top half a million

March payments, approved Monday evening by Westmount City Council, ran just over half a million dollars, nearly the same as the same month a year ago.

Payrolls amounted to $202,026.70 and other accounts to $307,958.26 - for a total of $509,026.70.

Ald. D. O'C Doheny named acting mayor

Ald. Daniel O'Connell Doheny, commissioner of public safety, was appointed Monday night to be acting Mayor of the City of Westmount for the months of May June and July. He will stand in for Mayor Peter M. McEntyre on any occasion when the first magistrate is unable to be present.

The mayor was the only absentee Monday night.

Last $30,000 is paid out for big sewer

Westmount City Council Monday night approved payment of the last $30,000 of the city's $800,000 share of the Greene-St. Emile collector sewer constructed by the City of Montreal in 1965-66.

This payment represents settlement, recently agreed by engineers of the two municipalities, of final costs of the $2,100,000 joint project.

Westmount on its own built within its own boundaries a $700,000 drain, originating in the area of Sherbrooke street and Elm avenues, linking with Montreal's length on Greene avenue.

Cost-sharing of the joint project was on the basis of proportionate areas of the two municipalities drained. Connection was made in 1967.

Some tips for moving day

As moving time is approaching, we thought this would be the opportune moment to devote our column to pointers on the subject. We did some research, and are indebted to W. C. Thompson of Bekins Moving and Storage Co. (Canada) Ltd. for the sound advice which we hope will benefit our readers.

To ensure a good move, choose an established company whose reputation has been earned by years of service.

Decide what's worth moving. It's amazing how much you can accumulate in a few years. Why not give anything you don't need to your favorite charity and save the cost of moving it?

How much packing you do will depend on your decision as to how you can best spend your time, energy and money. If you plan to do some of the packing yourself, here are packing tips:

1. Use containers that are clean and strong;
2. Containers should have lids and be secured with tape or twine;
3. For safety in handling, a container should not be overloaded - 50 pounds maximum is desirable;
4. Pack heavy items in the bottom of containers; lighter items near the top;
5. All finished surfaces should be protected by wrapping with paper to prevent scratching or marring. (Hard objects wrapped in fabrics, towels, or linens, will chafe holes.);
6. Use adequate cushioning - wadded, shredded or crumpled paper, excelsior or other clean materials;
7. Pack tightly to avoid shifting;
8. Identify the contents of each container.

Take valuables with you or ship them by parcel post, regular mail or Railway Express as a mover is not responsible for such articles left in chests and drawers.

Do not tie, wrap or cover any furniture. Leave it in place for the movers.

Before you leave, here is a list of things to check:

1. Send change-of-address notices to the post office, motor license bureau, friends, publications, insurance companies, church, synagogue, other organizations;
2. Discontinue the following services at the old house and arrange for new one: utilities, newspaper, laundry, milk, fuel oil;
3. Close accounts at the bank, savings and loan and stores;
4. Gather records for school, doctors and scouts;
5. Transfer insurance for house, car and furnishings.

Hunger is a daily diet

CARMENCITA B. DE LA CRUZ, FILIPINA, AGE 6. One of three children. Father TB... almost blind. Unable to work. Mother TB suspect. Washerwoman. Can work only occasionally. Earns about $12.82 per month. House next to pig-sty is wooden platform covered by flattened rusty kerosene cans. Hole in roof serves as door. No furniture. Few kitchen utensils. Unimaginable privation. Children hungry, ragged. Parents frantic that they cannot feed, clothe, and shelter children adequately. Help to Carmencita means help to entire family.

Thousands of children as needy as Carmencita anxiously await "adoption" by you or your group. Choose a boy or girl from Greece, South Korea, Viet Nam, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador or Peru. A monthly cash grant helps provide primary school education for your Foster Child and his sisters and brothers. In addition, PLAN gives family counselling, medical care when called for, supplementary new clothing and household equipment. PLAN's emphasis on education helps its children to become self-supporting citizens. Since 1937, more than 110,000 children have "graduated" from PLAN's program. You receive a case history and photograph. Each month you write and receive a letter (original and translation). These letters will tell you how your "adoption" benefits the entire family. Soon, through the regular letters and PLAN progress reports, you and your child develop a warm, loving relationship.

CHECK YOUR CHARITY! We eagerly offer our financial statement upon request. You will see that your contribution truly benefits the child for which it was intended.

PLAN is a non-political, non-profit, non-sectarian, government-approved, independent relief organization. Financial statements are filed with the Montreal Department of Social Welfare and other similar bodies.

Before You Clean Your Carpets

"READ THIS!"

1. Harsh Detergents result in Rapid Resoiling.
2. Detergents cause texture change.
3. Vacuums fail to remove soil or residue.
4. Conventional methods scrub soil deeper and reduce life of carpet.

In one operation soil is penetrated, suspended and extracted. No brushes. No powder. No scrubbing with detergents. Gentle and thorough. Economical because carpets stay clean longer.

Cukierman is renominated for WHS H&S presidency

Sol Cukierman, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, has been nominated for re-election as president of the Westmount High School Home and School Association.

The annual general meeting, which is the final session of the association for the current school year, takes place Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

In addition to elections for 1969-70 and reports, a program

Prizes, jackets, workshops set for high school

Executive of the Westmount High School Home & School Association met last week under the chairmanship of President Sol Cukierman.

The association is donating prizes this year to two students, now in Grade XI, who have attended all five grades at WHS. The winners will be selected by the school for scholastic achievement. Both prizes will be books of $50 value each, chosen by the winners.

Since new jackets are badly needed for the school band and string orchestra, the executive voted $150 to start a fund for purchase of purple blazers. Further donations will be welcomed, and may be made through C. Frank Reiffenstein, treasurer.

The executive resolved that the association would establish three workshops to study health and social services in WHS. A course on social development (civics) for high school students and a French cultural program for students.

Principal Noel Hamilton said a reception is being planned this term for students from Roslyn and Westmount Park schools, who will enter Grade 7 at WHS in September, and for their parents.

After discussion with Mr. Hamilton and other staff members, the executive wished to stress to parents that the school is not responsible for students during lunch hour when they are off the school premises. Students who can go home for lunch should do so. Those using restaurants or gathering in public places at lunch time or after school become the responsibility of their parents. The WHS cafeteria was not designed to accommodate the whole school. Students in Grades X and XI may bring lunches to school and eat in their classrooms.

Cowling heads local Liberals

Advocate Robert J. Cowling, 459 Strathcona avenue, last night was elected president of the federal Liberal Association of Westmount.

Approximately 100 persons, described as half over 30, half under, and equally divided between men and women attended the two-hour annual meeting in Victoria Hall.

Senator Richard Stanbury, national president of the Liberal Federation of Canada, appealed to the Anglo-Saxon people of the Westmount riding to be the link to relate the problems of French Canada to the rest of the country.

He also traced the evolution of citizen participation in decision making from the days cabinet kept this prerogative until now when local party organizations must provide the outreach which gets people involved.

The Westmount group's executive is to appoint an under-23 youth chairman to bolster youthful interest.

Also elected last night were Christopher Hyde, secretary; John Dobson, treasurer; Michael Stephenson, male vice-president; Mrs. Claudine Langan, female vice-president; Chris Brand, vice-president for young people, and 16 council members.

Sen. Stanbury was introduced by Hon. C. M. Drury, MP for Westmount.

Signs loom for hidden restaurants

Separate but closely related notices of motion of amendments to existing by-laws were given to Monday evening's mid-month meeting of City Council which, when passed, will make it possible for certain restaurants in Westmount, now operating under a form of enforced anonymity, to advertise their presence if they so wish with appropriate signs.

These establishments operate perfectly legally in buildings located in areas in which signs are prohibited.

Examples: the dining rooms atop Chateau Maisonneuve and in the Air Canada and Readers Digest buildings.

Ald. Charles Aspler's notice is to amend the general zoning by-law and Ald. John Birks' notice is to amend the by-law concerning food establishments — both of which pieces of legislation rule on the signs.

It is felt that the present control of signs works unfairly against the interests of the restaurants affected.

Ald. Aspler also hinted that studies are being made of certain "problem areas" of the city where existing zoning or building restrictions render redevelopment impracticable: such as, for example, sites of older structures which are too shallow for economic reconstruction. He hinted that zoning law changes might be forthcoming in this regard. However, it is understood that the studies still require considerably more time and likely will be the subject of amendments separate from the sign-restriction changes.

TOP M.G.H. MD: A Westmounter, Dr. James H. Darragh, 645 Belmont avenue, has been elected chairman of the executive committee and medical board and representative of the medical board to the board of management of The Montreal General Hospital, succeeding Dr. A. E. Moll, who becomes chairman of the advisory board. Dr. Darragh is a 1948 McGill graduate with post-graduate studies at Yale and McGill and wide experience here and in the U.S.

Unaccompanied dog is breaking law

Westmount Police, as well as citizens who complain to them of gardens overrun, lawns and walks fouled, etc., wish that dog-owners would remember that canines must be kept under the control of their owners.

Commencing May 1, no dog may be abroad without being on a leash. Meanwhile, however, an unleashed dog must be accompanied at all times out of doors.

Simply opening the door and letting Fido out on his own is an offence.

Linguistic committee meets here

"The Rights and Duties of English-Speaking People in Québec" will be the theme of a public meeting at Victoria Hall on Wednesday. The event is being sponsored by the recently-formed Committee for Linguistic Rights, a citizens' group which came into being in the wake of the St. Léonard controversy and which is now concerning itself with defining "the role of the English-language minority of Quebec, within the life of the Province as well as within Confederation."

According to Don Smith, chairman of the group, initial public response to the committee's stated objectives has been positive and suggests that most English-speaking people here favor a moderate approach to the language issue — one which seeks a workable accommodation to the French "fact", while insisting on the basic right of free choice for the individual.

The public meeting will include addresses by guest speakers, followed by free discussion. The meeting is to start at 8 pm.

Boy, 11, injured as lights change

Brock Pecknold, 11, 4030 Grey avenue, was taken to Montreal Children's Hospital early last Wednesday evening by a Westmount Police patrol car for treatment of bruises to his right thigh and side.

Crossing from the northwest to the southwest corner of Sherbrooke street at Claremont, the traffic lights changed while he was mid-way and he was struck down by a taxi which then started off, driven by Philip Marshall, 23, 152 Lagachetière street east.

Mardi Gras is May 3 at local Y

Mardi Gras Day will be Saturday, May 3, at the Westmount "Y" from 10 am. until 2 pm.

The Mardi Gras will be very similar to former Penny Carnivals — the name has been changed because booths, games of skill and games of chance will cost one to five cents instead of a penny. It is being sponsored by the Leaders' Corps, a group of very active teens who help give instruction to both gym and swim classes.

Purpose of the Mardi Gras is to help the leaders raise money to send representatives to the Canadian Leader's Corps training camp, being held this summer at Geneva Park, the "Y" training centre on Lake Couchiching, Ont. Some of the money may also be donated to help with redecorating the teen lounge.

Because the gym will be used for the booths, gym classes will be cancelled but all swim classes will be held as usual, including recreational and movies, which will be shown at 10:30, 11:30 and 12:30.

There will be activities for everyone—adults as well as children—and everyone is invited to come and have fun! Events will include ping pong tournaments, penny toss and wet sponge throw, in which the target will be the staff member of the player's choice. A fortune teller will be on hand to read futures, candies, fudge, cookies etc., (all homemade) will be sold. Prizes will be given for "expert" achievement in some games.

Much planning and preparation have gone into this project, but your support is required to make May 3 the success we're all hoping for.

Fencers win

A late report of the yearly Governor-General fencing tournament Easter week-end in Ottawa says that in the ladies foil, Milada Machanova of Westmount "Y" Fencing Club placed first in the tournament and second for the Governor General Trophy.

John Erdely of Westmount "Y" came second in sabre in the tournament, but first for the Trophy. Previously, Westmount "Y" Magdy Conyd from Vancouver was first in foil in both events and Dr. John A. Simon from Ottawa won both counts with duelling sword.
