World News In Brief

Toronto, April 23.—(P)—The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire will hold its 52nd annual meeting May 31-June 4 at Niagara Falls, it was announced today.

Members from most of the Order's 923 chapters in Canada are expected to send delegates to the meeting.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, April 23.—(P)—All communications with Quito, capital of Ecuador, ceased at 8 p.m. EST last night and three hours later efforts to reach the capital still were without success. Quito radio stations also could not be heard here.

It was speculated that the blackout could have been due to a power failure or to a political upheaval. With presidential elections scheduled for June, political conditions have been more tense than usual recently.

Somewhere in Korea, April 23.—(P)—Brig. M. P. Bogert has arrived at the front to take command of the 25th Canadian brigade, succeeding Brig. John (Rocky) Rockingham, who commanded the force for a year.

Bogert, 43, native of Toronto, is succeeded by Rockingham as director-general of military training at defence headquarters in Ottawa. Rockingham, 41, left a civilian job in Victoria, B.C., in 1950 to take charge of the formation of Canada's Korean brigade.

Paris, April 23.—(Reuters)—The French cabinet today decided to award Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, allied supreme commander in Europe, the Medaille Militaire, France's highest military honor.

The decoration is awarded only to non-commissioned ranks for bravery in the field and to commanders-in-chief. It is considered the highest award France can bestow on a foreigner.

Cairo, Egypt, April 23.—(Reuters)—Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador to Egypt, called on Foreign Minister Hassouna Pasha today to discuss the Anglo-Egyptian dispute.

The half-hour meeting was held as talks continue in London among Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Sir Ralph Stevenson, British ambassador to Egypt, and Sir Robert Howe, Britain's governor-general of the Sudan.

Caffery refused to comment when he left Hassouna.

London, April 23.—(Reuters)—Leslie Banks, 61, British stage and movie actor, died here Monday of cerebral haemorrhage, it was announced last night.

Banks collapsed in his dressing room at the Theatre Royal, Haymarket, 18 months ago and had not appeared on the stage since then. He was playing in a revival of Pinner's Play, the second Mrs. Tanqueray.

Banks first appeared on the stage in 1911 in The Merchant of Venice. He toured the United States and Canada but returned to England when the First World War began and served with the Essex Regiment until 1918.

Demands For Lower Taxes Are Made In Commons As Debate On Budget Begins

President's Rights Need Clarification

New York, April 23.—(P)—A plea that Congress make "plain and explicit by law" the President's powers with respect to seizure of private property was voiced today by the head of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Charles F. McCahill, A.N.P.A. president and general manager of the Cleveland News, cited in a prepared address the recent seizure of the steel industry and President Truman's remarks on the possibility of taking over news media.

McCahill welcomed delegates to the 66th annual convention of A.N.P.A., which met in its first general session today.

At today's session, the A.N.P.A.'s federal laws committee reported that forces are at work to whittle away American freedoms "as surely and as purposefully" as in Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia.

McCahill in his opening address said the publishers should "give every attention" to the questions in the steel conflict "of the rights of private owners, the rights of the public interest, and the rights claimed by the federal government."

"In response to a question at his press conference only last Thursday," McCahill continued, "the President of the United States stated that depending upon circumstances at the time the President would determine whether or not it was necessary to take over the newspapers and the radio stations."

"This incident does make plain that it is the responsibility of every American citizen to make sure that the powers of the President with respect to seizure are made plain and explicit by law. This is a responsibility of the Congress and we would be unfaithful as American citizens if we did not make certain that we have in this country a government by law and not by personal wishes or whims."

New York, April 23.—(P)—The tight newsprint supply situation of a year ago in the United States has eased somewhat.

But the price of newsprint, a major factor in the increasing costs of publishing, remains a major problem of newspaper executives.

This was the gist of a report by the American Newspaper Publishers Association today at its annual meeting.

Newsprint consumption in the United States has increased, the report said, but newsprint production also has increased.

A.N.P.A. members reporting consumption used 1,093,203 tons of newsprint during the first three months of this year, an increase of 16,696 tons over the corresponding 1951 period.

An increase of 722,000 tons in manufacturing capacity is already being put into production on hand. But the A.N.P.A. is less optimistic in its discussing of newsprint prices.

"Publishers know that they cannot continue to meet ever-increasing costs for one of the major elements entering into the production of the newspaper and remain in

P. C. Spokesman Says He Cannot Find Anything Good In Budget.

Ottawa, April 23.—(CP)—The Commons launching the budget debate, listened yesterday to criticism of Finance Minister Abbott's 1952-53 budget and demands for lower taxation.

In brief this is the way the main critics described the budget Finance Minister Abbott presented to the Commons April 8:

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood), chief financial critic for the opposition, said if there was anything good about the budget, he couldn't find it.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the main result would "militate against the interests of those in the lower income brackets."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the Canadian people would have only one word — it "sinks."

The usual non-confidence motions were moved by the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties. The Social Crediters were prevented by rules from moving a similar motion at this time, but Mr. Low said he could find plenty of "regrets" about the budget.

The Progressive Conservative motion proposed defeat of the government because it continued to "levy excessive and unjust taxation instead of assuring substantial tax reductions"; that it was taxing "far beyond actual requirements," was wasteful and extravagant and "failed" to assure efficient administration in all departments of the public service.

Mr. Coldwell accepted this motion and added a paragraph asking the House to vote regret at the "failure" of the government to abolish the four-per-cent floor under medical expenses deductible for income-tax purposes, as asked by a unanimous vote of members March 26 last.

No progress was made toward settling truce supervision disputes — communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector and allied insistence the Reds be barred from repairing military airfields. Another meeting will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 P.M. Wednesday EST).

It appeared more and more that the truce supervision negotiators were awaiting outcome of secret negotiations in a neighboring tent on prisoner exchange. The prisoner session lasted two hours. There was no report on what happened.

During negotiations, allied artillery shells burst in a brief but heavy barrage near the Panmunjom neutral zone. The concussion shook the wooden floors of the conference tents.

Col. Don Darrow opened the meeting by telling the communists the U.N. command had proposed solutions for the two remaining problems "and we now await action on your part."

North Korean Col. Chang Chun San replied Russia met the qualifications of a neutral. He said the airfield debate would be ended if both sides "adhere to the agreements" not to bring additional military equipment, including aircraft, into Korea during an armistice.

"I find," Darrow said, "that your side still evades the main (airfield) issue before us. You have merely repeated arguments which do not pertain to the argument on your part."

Reds Dodge Main Issues Of Armistice

Munsan, April 23.—(P)—Allied truce negotiators accused the communists today of dodging the main issue blocking arrangements for enforcing a Korean armistice.

The communists replied there would be "no progress at all" unless the United Nations command changed its attitude.

The exchange ended a 19-minute session of staff officers at Panmunjom. No progress was made toward settling truce supervision disputes — communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector and allied insistence the Reds be barred from repairing military airfields.

Another meeting will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 P.M. Wednesday EST).

Soldiers Emerge Unscathed After Giant A-Bomb Blast

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
 Associated Press Science Editor
 Atom Bomb Site, Nev., April 23.—(P)—For the first time men have lived, unhurt, standing under the flaming, hollow heart of the cloud that rushes upward from an A-bomb.

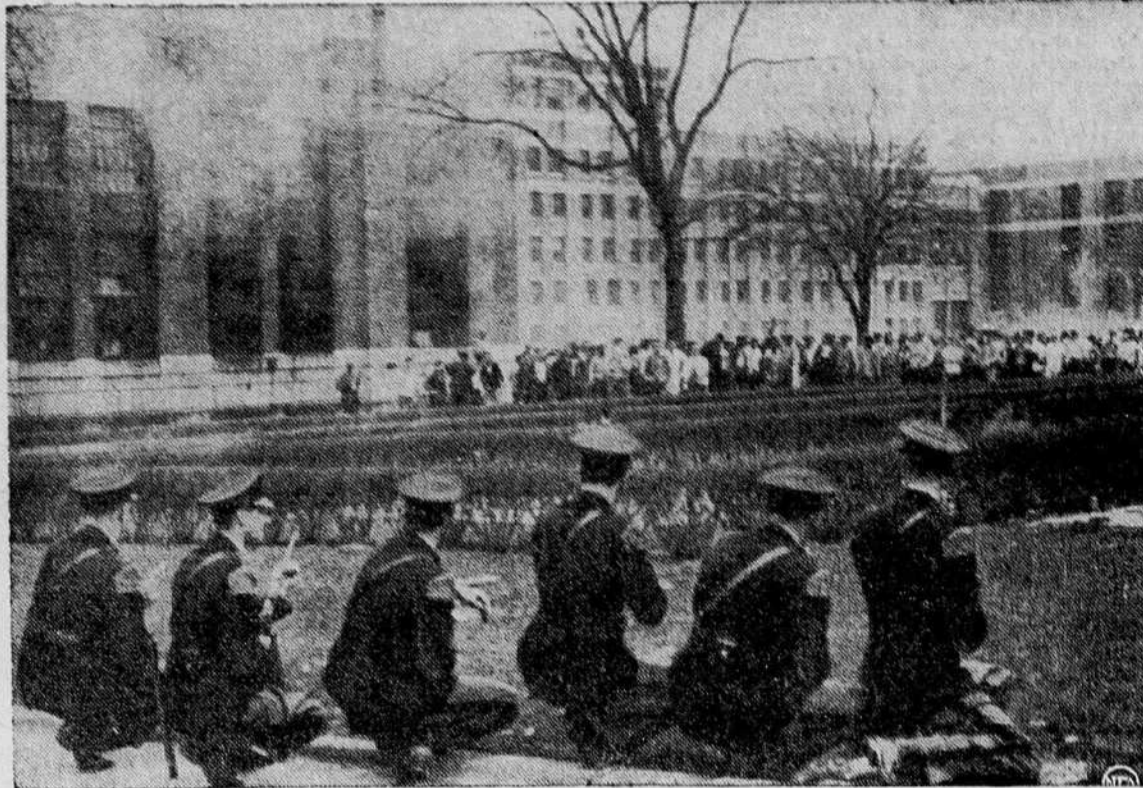

This happened to soldiers and officers close to the giant explosion yesterday at Yucca Flat.

This bomb was greater than anything in Japan or Bikini, and just over or under the most powerful fired in the United States.

The fire-cloud followed the fireball, and swelled to miles in diameter, with red flames and yellow gases swirling in whorls bigger than Niagara Falls. The cloud drifted over the heads of some officers.

"We looked right up inside," said one. "It was hollow, but you could not see daylight through the hole. It was like an umbrella and whirling crosswise like a smoke ring, the inner dome was ribbed with dark and light colors, the dark ones probably nitrogen dioxide."

The desert under the bomb was moist from rains Saturday and Sunday. The flash of heat lasting three seconds—baked this area white, with alkali giving the color. For more than two miles in all directions the bomb started fires in Joshua trees—a cactus about 10 feet high. There was the smell of scorched brush all around. One temporary first-aid shack burned to the ground. The blast that followed the heat flash blew out most of the fires.

GUARDS SET UP BATTLE LINE — Dramatic photo transmitted from behind the walls of Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson, Mich., shows State Troopers preparing to fire over the head of mutinous prisoners in an effort to force them back into their cell blocks. In background is the prison quartermaster building which was set afire by the convicts.

Convicts' Conditions Are Accepted But Michigan Mutiny Is Continuing

Jackson, Mich., April 23.—(P)—Insurgent convicts kept their mutiny going in riot-torn Southern Michigan prison today in spite of the warden's acceptance of their major conditions for peace.

A hard core of 173 die-hards in cell block 15, ruled in dictator fashion by their ringleaders, appeared in no hurry to call off the rebellion.

No. 15 is the disciplinary cell block where the mutiny started Sunday. The convicts said their mutiny was in protest against brutality and was an attempt to achieve prison reforms.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie made a bid for peace in a midnight parley with one of the ringleaders, Earl Ward, a dangerous psychopathic robber. They talked over the prison phone system.

Frisbie sought to conciliate the mutineers' spokesman in an attempt to save the lives of 10 prisoners held as hostages.

The convicts say they will put the hostages to death if any attempt is made to rush their stronghold.

In flaming rioting Monday that caused $2,000,000 damage, one convict was killed and at least nine were injured.

Sporadic outbreaks in various cell blocks heightened tension yesterday.

Violence broke out among the mutineers as they purged their own group of dissenters and "stool-pigeons."

Six convicts were tossed out of cell block 15. Two of the expelled prisoners had been beaten with chains. They are in serious condition in the prison hospital.

Warden Frisbie promised the mutineers—"there will be no mass punishment" if they call it quits and surrender the hostages in safety.

Frisbie also told Ward "I'm going along with you on the major points" of the convicts' manifesto. But he reported the ringleader had "no particular reaction" to his peace bid.

The mutineers' manifesto included: No reprisals against the leaders; a more liberal parole policy; establishment of an inmate council to meet monthly with the prison administration; an end to the use of "inhuman restraint equipment" in the disciplinary block; better ventilation and light, and improved segregation of mental cases.

The convict spokesman indicated he would barter for better terms.

At a press conference, the warden flatly denied the mutineers' charges of brutality. He said, however, he would agree to investigate and make any needed reforms in prison administration.

The mutineers appeared to be ruled by an iron hand by Ward and Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt, a notorious robber from Leamington, Ont.

S. African Meeting Is Broken Up

Capetown, South Africa, April 23.—(P)—A campaign by the United Party against a key part of Prime Minister Malan's white-supremacy program began last night with the violent break-up of one protest meeting.

Besides the protest campaign, Opposition Leader J. F. N. Strauss is reported to be planning a technical test in Parliament to determine whether Malan's bill to set up a "high court of Parliament" was legally introduced. Companion court action against the legislation is also being considered.

First violence in the bitter dispute came at Alberton in Transvaal province. The United Party's meeting was broken up in disorder by nationalist followers of Malan. They threw rocks and eggs, started fights in the meeting hall, set fire to United Party banners, and tried to turn over a car. No casualties were reported.

Protest meetings in other parts of South Africa were heckled but were not assaulted.

The series of meetings began only a few hours after Malan's bill was laid before parliament. It would hamstring the Supreme Court by setting up a high parliamentary court to rule on constitutional issues. Malan's party holds a majority in parliament which probably would be reflected in the make-up of the new tribunal.

The bill was Malan's answer to the appeal court which last month declared unconstitutional a law to restrict the voting rights of 50,000 coloreds (persons of mixed blood) in Cape Province.

Winnipeg, April 23.—(P)—A mysterious light, first reported over Manitoba Monday, was seen whirling across Winnipeg last night.

Newspaper offices received numerous calls from citizens who said the sparkling disc kept changing color as it moved across the evening sky.

23 Animals To Be Shot At Ormiston

Regina, April 23.—(P)—Another 23 animals will be shot today in Canada's program to eradicate a foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in the Regina area.

Their slaughter will add to the total of nearly 1,800 animals destroyed in the federal-directed program since the announcement Feb. 25 that foot-and-mouth disease had broken out.

The animals are from an infected farm five miles south of Ormiston in southern Saskatchewan 100 miles southwest of Regina by road.

The outbreak of the disease is the first in the area since March 8. It was confirmed yesterday by federal officials, after being quarantined and under investigation since Friday.

Twelve cattle and one hog are infected. Also to be shot and buried in a pit, as were the others, are 10 animals of a neighboring herd which have been in contact with the diseased livestock.

Dr. Kenneth Wells of Ottawa, in charge of the disease eradication program, said yesterday the outbreak is "not as serious as it appears on the surface."

He said the source of the infection had been traced, the area is not thickly populated with cattle and that it is not a mass spread of the disease.

He said the infection was spread to the area, outside the original foot-and-mouth quarantine area but well inside a 50-mile buffer zone, by the purchase of a quarter of beef from a premise infected in the original disease outbreak. The animals were fed uncooked scraps of meat and bones when the quarter was thawed and canned two weeks ago.

British Columbia, which only last Thursday discontinued its livestock import embargo, announced yesterday it would not reimpose its bans as the result of the outbreak.

In Winnipeg, agriculture minister F. C. Bell said the outbreak may result in Manitoba's embargo on cattle shipments from the west remaining in force for some time.

Mr. Bell said the Manitoba cabinet is still considering ending the ban enforced March 9 following the original outbreak.

The new outbreak might "make a change in the picture." The Manitoba embargo also applies to raw hides, wool, bones and skin.

Ottawa, April 23.—(P)—Cattle men yesterday were urged not to dump their stock on the market because a new outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has appeared in southern Saskatchewan.

Agriculture minister Gardiner said in the Commons that Canada will retain a floor price on beef as long as the United States market is closed to Canadian meat and livestock. Canada lost the market by U.S. government action when foot-and-mouth disease first broke out in Saskatchewan earlier this year.

Mr. Gardiner cautioned against "dumping" of cattle in fear of sharply lower prices next fall.

Meanwhile, officials planned to widen the area put under quarantine when the first outbreak of the easily-spread disease became known this spring.

Truman Sticks To Guns In Steel Seizure Fight

By G. MILTON KELLY
 Washington, April 23.—(P)—President Truman, under heavy Senate fire and facing a move to impeach him, stuck to his guns today in the fight with Congress over his seizure of the United States steel industry.

A powerful Senate drive to force him to cancel the seizure order fell just short of the two-thirds majority vote required yesterday. But its Republican backers led by Senator William Knowland, of California, redoubled their cries of "dictator" and cast about for other devices.

Actually 47 Senators, 11 of them Democrats, voted for the move, and only 29 voted against it. Not a Republican voted "No." A switch of four votes would have provided the two-thirds margin needed to suspend Senate rules and permit action on Knowland's proposal to forbid the use of any federal funds in the seizure.

The Senate banking committee ordered a new investigation into government handling of the steel dispute, which many of its members have denounced vigorously.

Meanwhile Truman's boss of the seized steel plants, Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, was reported about to take his first official move to hand the steelworkers a big part of a disputed pay boost. Employers refused to grant the raise without government permission to increase steel prices $12 a ton.

Close associates said Sawyer is about ready to take first steps to grant steel workers a 12½-cent-an-hour pay increase; retroactive to Jan. 1st, plus "fringe" benefits worth about 5.1 cents an hour.

These sources said the Secretary will not, however, grant the union shop contract which wage stabilization board had recommended.

And Price Administrator Ellis Arnall, who submitted to a six-hour questioning by the Senate banking committee yesterday, was reported by committee members to have budgeted not an inch from his White House-approved stand. He is against allowing the steel plants to raise prices more than about $3 a ton, as now permitted by the price control law.

The Senate labor committee, whose past actions have had a strong pro-administration flavor, called Philip Murray, C.I.O. president and head of the United Steelworkers of America, to air the workers' side of the story at a public hearing today.

In the House of Representatives, some Republican leaders indicated privately they are not too happy over the move to impeach the President, launched by Representative Robert Hale, of Maine, without consulting them.

But Hale reported he had picked up support for his resolution calling on the rules committee to investigate the seizure and report to the House "together with such other recommendation as it deems proper."

Old Folks Go Back To School Under Free College Plan

Boston—Old folks like to go to school. They're returning to Boston classrooms long years after they laid away their school books.

One elderly lady wants to come here from South Africa to study. A lonely man of 75 in Iowa asks if he can participate. Other letters are arriving from many other places.

Prof. John Waters, director of B.U.'s evening division, explains the plan came from "a desire to do something for these older people."

B.U. assures them there is no cost—unless they want to shop for books. They don't need books. They attend classes as listening students and are not subject to written homework, quizzes or examinations.

Their average well above the 65-year limit. A fair proportion are in their 70s. Some hold college degrees. Some haven't high school educations.

Their occupations—former occupations—range from housewife to lawyer, from vaudeville entertainer to teacher.

With a choice of more than 300 courses, they go for cultural subjects, largely. Most popular is "history in the making," a current events course conducted by a Boston newspaper man.

In this quest of older people for knowledge and in the letters from far-away places, Prof. Waters sees evidence of a great need.

He points out that the university cannot encourage the woman in South Africa who wants to visit the U.S. and stop in Boston to study, or the elderly Iowan who would come here—seeking an end to loneliness.

But he suggests that through the country there should be opportunity for older people to meet and study. Every community, he points out has its halls and schools—if not colleges. And if some villages are too small to have many educationalists, they have doctors, lawyers, musicians, and other professional men who can conduct study courses.

Sonja Henie Hopes Jinx Year Is Over

New York. — The "golden girl" who parlayed the figure eight into fame and fortune hopes her "jinx year" is over.

"I think," said Sonja Henie, "that we've licked the jinx. Bad things are supposed to come in threes—and we've had our three. In Kansas City it started, when I broke my ribs."

Actually the hectic year started last summer when her long and profitable ice show partnership with promoter Arthur M. Wirtz was terminated.

Wirtz signed Barbara Ann Scott, the former world and Olympic champion from Ottawa, to take her place.

Miss Henie pulled her own show together but found many of the big city arenas closed to her. She had her own portable rink constructed and took her troupe to many places which has never seen an ice show.

In Baltimore a whole section of stands collapsed on opening night and scores were injured. Just before she was to open a two-week engagement in a New York arena, she announced the show had been cancelled because the management had requested an additional $1,000,000 safety bond.

"In spite of the troubles," she said, "it has been the most successful tour I've ever had. I didn't expect to do half as well. It's hard to say, in terms of dollars, how successful we've been because we had to buy so many expensive things, like the rink and the ice-making machines and the lights. We can use them season after season."

In Kansas City she said she broke three ribs.

What happened was that Miss Henie took off on a leap and came down on the point of her right skate on some soft ice. She picked herself up and went through the show.

The strapping on her ribs had just been taken off when the jinx hit a second time in Baltimore. More than 200 suits have been filed by those injured.

Then came the demand for a larger bond from New York armory officials.

"You cannot arrange for a $1,000,000 bond in a few minutes," she said. "It takes time and we did not have enough time."

The next day she filled the gap with a three-week date in Havana's Blanquita Theatre, largest in the world and with its own ice stage.

Mr. Archie Burnet has returned and opened up his home on River street, after spending the winter in Montreal with his sister, Miss Muriel Burnet.

Mr. Walter Strange, of Sherbrooke, and Miss Audrey Strange, of Montreal, spent Easter at their home here.

Mrs. K. Winsler flew to the Barbados, to spend several weeks. Mr. Cedric Winsler, of Ottawa, spent the Easter week-end at his home here.

Mr. Herbert Bell spent Easter at his home in Sherbrooke. Miss Eleanor Peacock, of Montreal, was an Easter guest of her brother, Rev. J. Peacock, and family.

SOUTH DURHAM

St. James Anglican Church held its Easter service at nine o'clock in the morning, on Easter Sunday. The spring flowers on the altar were given by the Guild.

The Easter service in the United Church was held at 7.30 in the evening. A beautiful Easter lily on the communion table was placed there by Mr. and Mrs. Edison Montgomery, in memory of their parents. Other spring flowers were placed in the church by Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sutherland. Special music was provided by the choir, assisted by Mrs. McIntyre, Mr. Loft and Mr. Candlish Bogie, of the Ulverton choir, and Mrs. Allan Sutherland, who sang a solo.

On Friday evening, March 28, friends met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark in honour of their daughter, Freda's sixteenth birthday. Miss Clark was taken by surprise, but soon regained her natural poise, and a very happy evening was spent. Among those who made this evening so pleasant were, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Williamson, Mrs. D. Doyle, Miss Hazel Doyle, Messrs. Kenneth Fee, Leslie Doyle, Gordon Coote, Calvin Gunter, Evan Coote, Allan Lester and Eric Stanhope.

Mr. and Mrs. McCallum, of Montreal, spent a week-end with their daughter, Mrs. Allan Mountain, Mr. Mountain and Jimmie.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Elliott were pleased when Mr. Elliott's niece, Miss Amy Lyster, of Los Vegas, New Mexico, called by telephone to inquire for Mr. Elliott's health. Although Miss Lyster was 2,300 miles away, the reception was perfect.

Mrs. John E. Richmond spent a week-end with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Tibbets, in Sherbrooke.

Outstanding Performance Is Given By Harmony Band At Spring Concert

By MARGARET DOHERTY
Harry Long's final concert with the Harmony of Sherbrooke will be a triumph both for the band and the conductor.

Mr. Long's association with the band will terminate upon Sylvio Lacharite's return from Europe in the near future. Therefore, last night's performance in St. Jean Baptiste Hall must be considered somewhat in the nature of a swan song.

Serious minded musicians and concert goers cannot help but feel that his success is justly merited and is but the ultimate result of the untiring efforts and zeal he has brought to his work with the band since he took over two years ago.

The musicians themselves are to be congratulated, as they gave an inspired performance.

Not so praiseworthy however was the performance of certain people in the audience. Their conduct was too obvious to be overlooked by this reviewer and we feel it imperative to remind the culprits that a formal concert of last night's calibre does not warrant their behavior as if they were in an open air park.

It is appalling, in a city the size of Sherbrooke, that such manners are tolerated in an auditorium. In addition to the corks bottles, there was a continual muttering and whispering and moving around, while late comers shuffled up and down the aisles in the middle of selections, forcing the conductor and the musicians to wait several minutes for order, on a number of occasions.

Such people should realize — if they have no consideration for the performers — that they are definitely annoying to the other patrons. Beethoven's Overture to "Egmont" with its spirited, colorful and dramatic music, was a wise choice as a program opener. After the first few measures it was evident that there was a feeling of co-operation and unity between conductor and musicians, auguring well for the success of the concert.

Young Florent Garant, as soloist in the Denis Wright Concerto for Trumpet, upheld the reputation of the talented Garant family and promises to develop into an excellent trumpeter.

He was somewhat nervous in spots, but his phrasing was good and his fine musicianship evident. With all he has to offer we feel that this nervousness can and will be overcome.

The work not being familiar, the first movement, the Allegro, was rather difficult to grasp, the rhythm seeming somewhat indistinct, as if the composer were purposely leaving the soloist on his own, completely detached from the band accompaniment. There was more audience appeal in the last two movements, the Conzonetta—given a beautiful accompaniment by the band—and the Ron-do, which brought the concerto to a brilliant finish. The work of the soloist and musicians in the extremely intricate selection made it one of the bright spots on the program.

Highlight of the evening however, was Moussorgsky's Pictures at an Exhibition. Its performance was superb!

Modern music may be difficult for the untrained ear to take—and even at times for the trained—but the most rabid devotee of the old masters would have had to admit last night that the band performed a tremendous feat in truly professional fashion.

Mr. Long has his players at all times under perfect control, and this results in some excellent effects in nuances and phrasing. At times one could imagine that there were strings in the band.

The music of the Moussorgsky begins with a bold striding theme, quite Russian in character, and called Promenade. One can visualize the casual gallery visitor moving from one canvas to another and can actually hear the goings-on in the different scenes depicted, from the creaking wheels of the Polish ox-cart, the ballet of the unhatched chickens, the market place at Limoges where the women haggle over prices, to the solemn chant of the early Christian martyrs and the recurring of the promenade theme heard at the beginning.

All this might easily result in confusion and noise, but the band made of it an actual story in music, so realistic and so enjoyable that one felt they must receive a tremendous ovation at its end—and they did.

Least satisfying number on the program was the Ravel "Pavane pour une Infante Defunte." It does not seem particularly suited to brass, and left no impression one way or another.

Second soloist of the evening, also well known on the local concert stage, was Marcel Marcotte. One has come to expect consistently worthwhile performances from Mr. Marcotte, and last night was no exception. The Scar-mouche Suite for Saxophone from the pen of Darius Milhaud, gives the soloist ample opportunity to show his virtuosity, and is a colorful, appealing work.

Here again one could marvel at the facility and assurance with which Mr. Marcotte plays, never daunted by the most intricate score. It is always a pleasure to listen to him.

The last two movements, with their distinctly South American flavor, were particularly good.

Morton Gould's Cowboy Rhapsody, which closed the program, came as an agreeable surprise.

W. R. Carter Injured In Plant Accident

William Rupert Carter, 53, of Sherbrooke, is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital today suffering from serious injuries received in an accident which occurred in the Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Company yesterday afternoon.

According to a company official Mr. Carter was walking through the shop, stopped in a passage way to let an electric truck go by and a counter weight on one of the lathes gave way and struck him. He was knocked unconscious.

The exact extent of injuries was unknown this morning as X-rays were being taken. It is believed that he was struck in the stomach or the side.

A company spokesman said the unusual accident was the first of its kind ever to happen in the plant.

Family Has Basic Responsibility For Control Of Road Accidents

In conjunction with the Youth Safety Driving Campaign being sponsored by the Rotary Club of Sherbrooke, Merlin Donald, vice-president of Robert Hampson and Sons Ltd., addressed the members and a number of their children last night on the subject of safe driving.

He claimed that the basic responsibility for control of highway traffic accidents lies with the family. Children are taught manners at home and how to behave with charm and courtesy in the living room. Why is it, he demanded, that the same people often turn into positive boors on the highway?

The training should start early in life, he maintained, and said that when the appalling statistics regarding accidents in a carefully examined, the public should take immediate steps to rectify the situation.

Five per cent of highway accidents are caused by mechanical defects in the vehicle or poor condition of the roads, but 95 per cent are caused by faulty thinking, in some respects, on the part of the driver.

Mr. Donald agreed that good roads are an essential part of any safety program but that they only lessen the tendency to accidents, they do not eliminate them or make a good driver out of a bad one.

He used the province of Manitoba as an example and said that the combination of several factors there has resulted in a careful safety program. This province has a 40 per cent reduction in highway accidents for eight months in 1951 as compared to 1950, after using this system.

Manitoba believes, among other things, in initiating the public, through an extensive advertising campaign.

Particular attention is paid to licensing, and prospective drivers are required to pass a written knowledge test. There is also a method of tabulating the driver's record, according to a point system, so that careful check is kept of the number of accidents he or she may have and the nature. Beyond a certain number of points, the culprits are called in, given another test, and opportunity to brush up on the rules, or grouping all the familiar Western melodies in a most attractive style. It was given excellent treatment by the band, and the audience was reluctant to go, applauding enthusiastically for both Mr. Long and the band members, until finally they consented to play two popular marches.

We believe we can truthfully say that last night's performance was a revelation to the public, and a definite proof that the repertoire for band is not confined to the military march.

Police Force Has Issued Identity Cards

A new service has been added by Sherbrooke's Police Department.

It is the issue of identity cards to any citizens who should want them, in order to prove their identity when they go to another city or country.

The cards may be had at the Police Station on Marquette street for only a nominal fee. Several persons have ordered them and the Police Department has complied.

Each is a four-page card which includes all vital statistics on the bearers plus photograph, fingerprints and signature.

Signed by Police Chief Moreau, the booklets include information as to name, residence, nationality, birthplace, height, weight, voice description and the number of languages in which the card-holder is proficient.

"The identity cards are ideal for a trip to another city or to the United States," Chief Moreau says. "They furnish a complete description of the person and it would make it easy for them to cash a check in another place. And, fingerprints don't lie."

Sherbrooke, Victoriaville Soldiers Are Ambushed During Ambush Patrol

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
With The Canadians In Korea, April 17 (Delayed by Censor)—

—War gets to be confusing when ambush patrols are themselves ambushed.

It happened April 4 to the 2nd Battalion Royal 22nd Regiment, but censorship prevented earlier mention of the encounter.

The Van Doos have a policy of "keeping the communists aware of who's boss in no man's land."

Consistent with it, Lt.-Col. Gaston Vallee of Quebec, officer commanding, dispatched a strong ambush patrol under Lieut. Reg O'Donnell of Quebec.

Its two sections, each with a bren gun, were under Corporals Arthur Roy of Sherbrooke, Que., and J. A. Boucher of Sorel, Que. Bren gunners were Ptes. Jean Langlois of Shawinigan Falls, Que., and Joseph B. Prince of Victoriaville, Que.

No sooner had O'Donnell's men settled down in an all-round defensive position than the patrol was fired on from the north.

Langlois's bren chattered out an immediate reply, right into the five communists advancing onto the position.

In the ensuing fight Langlois's No. 2 man, Pte. Rhea Pilon of Port Arthur, was wounded in the shoulder and unable to pass over the ammunition magazines, and the bren itself was damaged.

Prince was just taking over Langlois's job with his own bren when enemy attacked from the rear.

Already firing on a 180 degree arc, Prince then found his job impossible. O'Donnell, himself wounded by shrapnel, radioed a message to Vallee.

"We seem to have been ambushed by a patrol of 40," he signalled, "and we've been surrounded. Can you send us reinforcements?"

O'Donnell's message sparked a flood of phone calls in to battalion headquarters.

Company commanders were relaying requests from their platoon commanders, mostly newly-arrived lieutenants keen for a scrap.

But Vallee decided against this. "The situation is not clear," he radioed back to O'Donnell. "The only thing to do is to fight it out and try to make your way home."

The young lieutenant pulled his patrol into a tighter perimeter, with Prince and his bren gun guarding the rear.

While others of the platoon shot upon a route back into the battalion's main defenses, Prince covered the withdrawal, firing from the hip in a kneeling position. He personally accounted for 15 Chinese dead that night.

Vallee, still determined to get a prisoner, dispatched another patrol, under Sgt. Raymond le Bouthillier of Dalhousie, Que.

Just as le Bouthillier spotted one wounded Chinese the patrol saw an enemy search party making for the same man.

A bit of nimble footwork, without a shot being fired, yielded the wounded man to the Van Doo party.

But the prisoner had been too severely wounded to undergo interrogation and despite all medical assistance in the regimental aid post he died before dawn.

"The Saint" Again Comes Before Court

"Saint Donat," the gay inebriate, appeared in Recorder's Court yesterday charged with drunkenness for the umpteenth time and pleaded not guilty.

The "Saint" had been released from city jail only on Monday and was at liberty for almost 24 hours before being caught at it again. He was "in" for three days this time.

When asked if the employers of the 63-year-old man weren't angry with his being away from work so much of the time, court officials say, "His court duties preclude his having a job."

ST. GEORGE'S DAY

Special significance attaches this year to the celebrations of St. George's Day, when Englishmen the world over mark the feast day of England's patron saint.

The passing of a beloved monarch, George VI, and the accession of youthful Queen Elizabeth only a few weeks ago linked all the Commonwealth and Empire in a great demonstration of loyalty.

The great day however is really for the English and the historic toast of "St. George for England" will be heard wherever England's sons and daughters gather for celebrations.

The day has been marked in England since the 13th century, and has been observed in Canada for centuries. There was a great St. George's Day gathering in Halifax in 1750, and another in Toronto in 1822. Since then the anniversary has been celebrated each year in many Canadian communities, large and small.

It is more than the feast day of St. George, born a Greek Christian in A.D. 270 and executed on April 23, A.D. 303, for vigorously opposing the Roman Emperor Diocletian in the latter's policy of persecuting the Christians. It is also the anniversary of the birth and death of William Shakespeare, and of the British navy's historic raid on Zeebrugge in 1918.

St. George himself stands as a symbol of courage and chivalry in many ancient lands. He rose to high military rank under Diocletian, and his association with England began when he was sent there on an imperial mission. After strenuously protesting Diocletian's harsh policies he resigned his commission, but was arrested and put to death.

For centuries the cry "St. George for Merrie England" was a rallying call for English armies on the field of battle as at Crecy and Agincourt in the 14th century. It was used again by Admiral Sir Roger Keyes to signal the start of the Zeebrugge action in which nine Victoria Crosses were won.

The popularity of St. George in England has been mounting slowly over the centuries. Although his feast day was designated a national festival by the Council of Oxford in 1222, it was not until the reign of Edward II between 1307 and 1327 that the was named as patron of the Kingdom.

Since then the celebration of his feast day has grown to rival the observances of the other British patron saints — Patrick of Ireland, Andrew of Scotland and David of Wales.

CONSERVATION BY CULTIVATION

Canadians, who are killing the chances of coming millions by wrong cropping, should visit the desert area of the southwestern states to see what fresh water means to millions of people whose livelihoods depend upon irrigation and whose future is threatened by a decreasing supply of underground water.

The disaster that nature worked in the deserts of America is being extended to the greater part of the continent by cropping methods that create soil depletion and erosion.

Man is working miracles in reclaiming the desert by irrigation and is threatening life in the same areas by overpumping underground water.

In Canada most areas that have sufficient snow and rain to produce good crops on conserved soils can assure a sufficient continuing underground water supply by forest and soil conservation in each watershed. In the arid areas profitable irrigation is possible without decreasing the volume of wasted flood water.

Adequate soil and forest conservation must be undertaken now or never. Despite our achievements, history will record us as one of the most greedy, wasteful and stupid generations of men if we fail to conserve and improve our soils, forests and water supply. Our own immediate interest demands that we save by producing greater yields of conserving crops.

HUNGER DOES NOT CAUSE WAR

In a recent address, Sir Norman Angell, a noted British economist, rendered a public service by drawing attention to an important truth that has been staring us in the face for years, but which we have been unable to see because of the foggy thinking in which we have been indulging.

"Wars," said Sir Norman, "are not caused by hunger; but hunger is caused by war."

He cited all the wars within living memory: The Spanish American War, The Philippine War, The South African War, World War I, The Japanese War in Manchuria, and World War II.

In every one of these cases the aggressor nation was better fed and better supplied with this world's goods than the nation it attacked. In every case it was the rich and powerful nation attacking the less rich and less powerful.

In Sir Norman's view, lack of stable government makes countries weak and unable to defend themselves; and such countries are a constant temptation to their more powerful neighbors who hope to make an easy conquest.

PRESS COMMENTS

LEGISLATIVE INERTIA

The Windsor Star
The first session of the 24th Legislature, which ended just before the Easter holidays, saw much far-reaching legislation enacted, but had one regrettable defect. It virtually was a session without an opposition.

It wasn't that the government, with its towering majority, rode roughshod over the party remnants on the opposition side. It simply was a case of the non-government forces failing to assert themselves. They didn't have to be obstructionists, but at least they could have shown they have positive programs of their own.

The fact they did not introduce a single bill shows how complete was their capitulation, or their inertia. A bill if introduced might not have been accepted, but if it was constructive there is better than an even chance Premier Frost would have given it government support.

One of the worst "dangers" that opposition elements saw in the Frost Government before last fall's elections was its responsiveness. It would pick up ideas wherever they could be found, and adopt them. This tended to cut the ground from under political enemies, as it left them without major grievances, and major policies.

While this procedure may have an adverse effect on party warfare, it can pay off handsomely for the province. And that, in the last analysis, is what really matters.

THE THINGS WE MISS

Kingston Whig-Standard
Admittedly, one may miss something by failing to pick up a hitch-hiker. One may miss the experience of having a purse carelessly left in the back seat cleaned out; we didn't. One may miss stupid and salacious conversation; one may miss the inspiring tang of a garlic-and-beer breath; one may miss being bothered by further importunities after complying with the first begging gesture.

And certainly one may miss high adventure, like being clouted over the head, being robbed of money, valuables and car, being held under a gun — or miss encountering the last great adventure of all, as a few have after picking up hitch-hikers. It may be conceded that there are hitch-hikers who deserve help and would never think of abusing it. It can be proved that there are hitch-hikers who are nuisances and bores. It can be proved that there are hitch-hikers who are thieves and worse. And the motorist who picks up a hitch-hiker does not know which kind he is going to draw. The motorist takes a chance on not getting the wrong kind — but he loses often enough to keep such losses prominently in the news.

We agree heartily with The Ottawa Journal's attitude. There is nothing selfish about elementary self-protection. That is all that refusal to pick up a hitch-hiker amounts to, under most circumstances.

RADIO TAX

St. John's News
Of all the taxes that Ottawa imposes upon a hapless citizenry, none is a greater nuisance or has less virtue than the fee that is collected at relatively high cost from most of the owners of radio receiving sets.

It is not a good tax. It certainly has not the same justification that the similar tax has in Great Britain where radio advertising is forbidden and the licence fee is the chief source of income available to the BBC. In Canada commercial advertising pays for most of the programs and the remainder could very easily be borne at the public cost.

AMERICANS AND OUR DOLLAR

Ottawa Journal
Almost impossible these days to find a Canadian newspaper without an editorial or a statement by somebody crowing over the fact that our dollar has topped Uncle Sam's.

This crowing is human; understandable. But before it continues too long or too loudly it might be well for more of us to ask ourselves why this dollar position has come about.

Asking ourselves, trying to get an honest, realistic answer, we would have to admit that our dollar hasn't topped its Yankee brother because of anything especially wise or wonderful that we ourselves have done, but actually because of some wise and wonderful things our American neighbors have done.

After World War II the United States showed itself to be what England showed itself to be after the Napoleonic wars: a nation willing to pour out its credit to restore prosperity to the world. Billions were voted by Congress to be sent all over the earth; so much so that the London Economist wrote that never before in the world's history had a great world power shown more of generosity.

Canada's exports grew. They grew because American gifts to Europe under Marshall Aid enabled Europe to buy Canada's goods; we were able to sell products of our fields and mines and forests and factories because other countries, their own prosperity revived, could buy them.

Later Americans began pouring money into Canada to invest in our oil and our iron ore, making possible something which we ourselves had not been able to make possible, or to make possible, at any rate, so soon—as a direct consequence our dollar rose above the U.S. dollar.

To sum up, the eminence of Canada's dollar today is due almost entirely to two things:

(1) The fact that the United States has been accepting its responsibility as the world's leading creditor nation, and
(2) Pouring surplus funds into Canada for investment and development.
Hardly something, we suggest, to bring on our part a nationalistic pride, which at best is juvenile.

Hong Kong Is The Centre For Chinese Seeking Entry To Canada

(Editor's note: This story is one of a series by Bill Boss, Canadian Press Staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, written after a visit to Hong Kong. In it Boss writes of the emigration of Chinese from the British colony to Canada.)
By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Hong, Kong, April 23. — (CP) — Between 2,500 and 3,000 Chinese emigrants leave Hong Kong each year for new homes in Canada. All are relatives "claimed" by Chinese Canadians.

There is no immigration of Chinese without family connections, although visitors' visas are available to bona fide business men and students satisfactorily sponsored. Appointment books are filled for three weeks ahead at the Canadian immigration bureau here, where a staff of 16 interview candidates for entrance visas.
Most would-be emigrants come somehow or other from the interior of communist China. The Province of Kwangtung, where most Chinese now in Canada originated, has been home for most and they speak little or no English.
They come to Hong Kong individually and in family groups—mothers with sons and daughters, brothers with their sisters. Most are allowed out by the Chinese communists, but some must smuggle themselves through.
Women going through the Canadian office are suspiciously few, and officials are constantly on the look-out for fraudulent application.
"About 90 per cent of the relatives claimed are men," said one official.
Most are wanted in Canada as labor for their parents' enterprises—the family laundry, restaurant or shop. They are more than 18 years of age and hence do not fall within the scope of education regulations. Officials are watchful lest for one reason or another a Chinese-Canadian claims more men as sons than he actually has.
"We almost fall over ourselves to help when a family claims two daughters—we know they're genuine," said one Canadian official.
It's difficult to check the bona fides of most claims. Births are not registered in China—whether they were it is doubtful—even if the communist government would help. The word of the Canadian claimant generally has to be accepted.
But there is careful checking of the record of the claimant's trips to China since his arrival in Canada to make sure the ages of

HERE'S A SOLUTION FOR TOUGH PROBLEM

"The accompanying hand puzzles us. It's a Cincinnati correspondent. "We can see the result clearly enough, but we don't understand it."

"West cleverly opened the nine of spades against the contract of three no-trump. East signalled with the seven, and South won with the ten. South had to develop both clubs and hearts, and the question was which suit to tackle first."

"The actual declarer began on the hearts. West took the ace of hearts and led his other spade. East took the ace of spades and continued the suit, setting up his two remaining spades. No declarer could run the hearts, but he still had to go after the clubs, and when he did so East got in with the king of clubs to defeat the contract with the long spades."

"We see that South would have made his contract if he had tackled the clubs instead of the hearts at the second trick. What we don't understand is how South is supposed to guess which suit to begin on. Can you explain this?"

I can explain it, but I can't give a slick, easy answer in two or three words. The important point is that South must think in a situation of this kind.

South can tell from the nature of the lead and from the size of East's signal that West has led a short suit. There is no danger if East has only four spades, so South must consider the possibility that East has started with five spades headed by the ace.

If East also has the ace of hearts and the king of clubs, he will be able to clear the spades with one entry and run them with the other entry. South must therefore expect to be set if East has both of the missing key cards.

What if West has both of the key cards? Then the club finesse will succeed, whenever South tries it. No danger.
What if East has one of the key cards, but not the other? Any plan will work if East has the ace of

Q—The bidding has been:
South West North East
1♥ 2 Clubs Double Pass

You, South, hold: Spades K-7, Hearts A-Q-J-8-3, Diamonds K-9-6-4, Club 5. What do you do?

A—Bid two hearts. Your hand is rather poor for defensive purposes, especially against a club contract. If your partner has doubled on general strength, without too much in clubs (a type of double that is much used and that can be devastating), you will probably bid and make a game. This will be worth more than setting the opponents about one trick at two clubs doubled.

The Record Short Story

WHEN FATHERS MEET

By HOLLIS STARNES

"With all the restaurants in New York, how could he pick the one where my father's a waiter, for me to meet his father the first time?"

Dark eyes flashing, Elli Landrini jumped up from the telephone. Veteran chambermaid Katie Kilfeather, busy making the singing star's bed at the old Hotel San Pedro, in the Broadway theatre district, observed quietly, "But young Sawyer don't know your dad works at Gianni's!"

The luscious contralto, smartly dressed for the street in a dark tailored suit, crossed to the mirror and clapped a cherry straw pill-box on her glossy black curls. "No, he's read that fantastic publicity, about my family being deposed Italian nobility. I've had no chance to tell him the truth, things happened so fast. Last night, without warning, he asked me to marry him!"

"An' it's only your fourth date!" the maid sighed romantically. "He's sure got love bad!"

Elli stung on a shiny black shoulder bag, selected bright gloves matching her hat. "Would love like that last? Or is Kenyon Sawyer just a rich young man who thinks he's in love with any girl in the spotlight that moment?"

The motherly woman, who had grown gray and portly in the service of showfolk, shrugged. "If the old sayin' still goes, 'like father, like son,' I'm a member when John Q. Sawyer was a gay blade 'round the town, wild about a Follies girl livin' here."

"But he didn't marry her, did he?" the young singer's tone was sharp. "No, his wife was an heiress, in his own social set. No doubt John Q. Sawyer plans a marriage like that for his son!"

The maid wagged her head. "Mebbe John Q. wishes now he'd wed that Follies blonde. Seems like him an' his heiress wife didn't get on so good—else why'd she divorce him an' marry again?"

Ellie cried, "I don't know, I don't care! I'll be late for my television rehearsal!" Scooping up score and script from her desk, she rushed to the door, then turned back. "I won't go to Gianni's! What if my father should serve our table? When he and Ken Sawyer's father meet, I'm determined it must be as equals! I'll call Ken's office right now."

But the line was busy. "Don't be late for your studio," the maid warned. "I'll call young Sawyer an' tell bim ye're breakin' the date."

After Elli was gone, and the room swept and dusted, Kenyon Sawyer's line was free. Tactfully Katie relayed the message, then ventured, "Not meenin' to talk out o' turn—I don't think Miss Landrini's keen on that restaurant ye picked."

"Not keen on Gianni's!" she cried. "But she's Italian, and that place has the best Italian cuisine in town. My father's a gourmet, he's dined there for years—has his own special table and a pet waiter named Gus."

"Gus!" the maid gasped. Elli's

Changes Possible In Queen's Oath

London.—The Prime Ministers of all the Commonwealth countries are reported to have been consulted about possible changes in the oath to be administered to Queen Elizabeth II at her coronation next year.

In the traditional coronation rite the Queen is asked by the Archbishop of Canterbury: "Will you swear to govern the people of Great Britain, Ireland and the Dominions thereto belonging, according to the statutes in Parliament agreed to?"

Constitutional authorities say some members of the Commonwealth may take objection to the phrase "the Dominions thereto belonging." They believe that if general agreement is reached to delete the phrase the Dominions may be referred to as "realms" in the style used in the Queen's proclamation.

"Exactly. For my son's sake, I want to be sure this girl's overnight success won't turn her head, make her deny the father who slaved and sacrificed for her. On the other hand, Gus has his doubts about my son. You may recall, I was once in love with a Broadway girl. I wanted to marry her."

"I guess a look at her family scared ye off," said Katie.

But Gus has the right to find out. You can help this little plot of the fathers, by persuading Elli to be at Gianni's at seven!"

Katie never quite knew how she managed this feat—but years of wheeling and bossing young things had produced a technique. Sitting at home after supper, in the humble walkup flat she shared with her sister, she said suddenly, "I got to get a breath o' fresh air. Don't wait up if I'm late."

Once in the street, she found herself scurrying across town to the service entrance of Gianni's. Often Gus gave her scraps and bones for the dogs, cats and assorted pets owned by guests on her floor.

Tonight he seemed to expect her. A highly-keyed lean and still handsome man, with fine flashing dark eyes like his daughter's, he might have been a great singer himself, Elli said—but with a sickly wife, and a child to bring up, he gave up his dreams of a singing career.

"He told Katie now, as he seated her in the help's dining room, 'Serving Elli the first course, I told her in Italian to give no sign of recognition. After dinner, they go to Mr. Sawyer's hotel. When I finish work, I join them there. Then young Sawyer will be told Gus the waiter is Elli's father. Katie, you come with me! I feel wobbly inside.'"

Katie felt wobbly, too. When Ken Sawyer greeted them later at the hotel, "Before we join Elli and my father," he told Gus, "I'd like to say this. All along I knew my dad was up to something—but I didn't know what until I overheard your order to Elli at dinner."

"Ye parleyvoo Epyetalian?" gasped Katie, as Gus remained speechless.

"I served two years in Italy during the war. But one thing I didn't learn—how to ask a father for his daughter's hand!" "Ask him in American!" stage-whispered Katie.

Chuck Dressen Pulls Reese And Fans Boo

Brooklyn, April 23.—(AP)—Some 25,000 Dodger fans booed Chuck Dressen last night when the Brooklyn manager pulled Pee Wee Reese, the Dodger captain, out for a pinch hitter. It happened with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning of the first game of the double header against Boston. The booing increased when George Shuba, the pinch hitter, fanned on three pitches. Reese was so incensed he flung the two bats he was swinging against the bat rack in full view of the fans and the television audience. Later in the clubhouse Reese was disturbed over his display of temper. "I guess Dressen was right," he said. "I've been going lousy. Maybe I shouldn't have gotten angry. But any player who doesn't want to get up to bat in a tight spot isn't worth a darn. Besides, Chuck is the manager. He gets paid to make the decisions."

Walker Cup Mates Drop Matches In North-South

Pinehurst, N.C., April 23.—(AP)—Two Walker Cup team members, Dick Chapman and Jimmy McHale, dropped a first-round match today in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament. Otherwise form stood up admirably. Chapman, who defends his British Amateur Championship next month, was upset by Ray Palmer, 39-year-old shoe machine salesman from Wyandotte, Mich. McHale, Philadelphia, had his 36th birthday spoiled by another Philadelphia, William Hyndman III, an insurance broker. Defending champion Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga., turned back Stockton Rogers, Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., 4 and 3.

Pirates Ship Gus Bell To Hollywood On Recall

Pittsburgh, April 23.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday optioned outfielder Gus Bell to the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League. The option came about after General Manager Branch Rickey decided he had a potentially great ball player who wasn't doing his best. Rickey said he had hoped to awaken a spark of activity in the right fielder by threatening him with return to the minors. But it didn't work. "I don't think my transfer is too bad. In fact, maybe it's better for me. I suppose I have a lot to learn about baseball yet—although I had a pretty good season last year." Rickey has kept a 24-hour recall option on the 23-year-old who came to the Bucs with a 1950 batting mark of .400 made with Indianapolis in 1950.

Tigers Dislike Manager, Says Gordon Cobbledick

Cleveland, April 23.—(AP)—The wisest Detroit Tigers dislike their manager, Red Rolfe, with so bitterness that can't help but affect their play. Plain Dealer sports editor Gordon Cobbledick said today. Writing in his column, "Plain Dealing," Cobbledick said this feeling is "beyond the understanding of an outsider" because: "Red Rolfe is a newspaperman's delight. He is intelligent, well-educated and a gentleman." If a popularity poll were taken among members of the working press, Rolfe would be a cinch to land among the top three major league pilots. "But he hasn't won the esteem of the ballplayers," Cobbledick continued. "On the contrary, the Tigers' anti-Rolfe feeling is so deep and so violent that some close observers have gone so far as to predict a blow-up comparable to the 'Vitt Rebellion' of the 1940 Indians." In that year, a number of the Cleveland Indians tried to have Oscar Vitt fired. Cobbledick, who said he doubts such a rebellion would take place at Detroit, continued: "But it seems apparent now that the Tigers aren't going to perform well under Rolfe not because they would shirk on the job, but only because their acute unhappiness will make it impossible for them to play winning baseball."

Yogi Berra To Miss Series With Red Sox

New York, April 23.—(AP)—Yogi Berra, most valuable player in the American League in 1951, will make his season's debut against the Red Sox in Boston Thursday. The injury, later diagnosed as a torn ligament, has been slow to heal.

He's getting old, all right, but it's been years since the Browns had a good man there. Also that Hornsby (Manager Rogers Hornsby) has the boys all fired up. They could be tough." Fred Corcoran, sports promoter: "Who do you think is going to be the highest man in sports this year? Stan Musial, Jersey Joe Walcott, Sugar Ray Robinson? No, sir, it'll be golfer Ben Hogan. Besides his regular earnings and that bus company settlement for his accident (reported to be $25,000 a year for 10 years), Ben is picking up about $5,000 a week in exhibitions." Chuck Dressen, Dodgers manager: "It's getting harder than ever for major league clubs to keep a good man at ever position. The old guys like Joe DiMaggio are wearing out and the Armed Services are grabbing the young men who ordinarily would be top-flight replacements." Gene Sarazen, former golf champion: "Don't be surprised in the next few years if all our golf champions have degrees. With caddy carts and other gadgets replacing caddies, the best players now are coming from colleges rather than from the bag-toting ranks."

Rocky Graziano, middleweight fighter describing his historic bouts with Tony Zale: "When Tony went to work on my body it felt like he was pouring concrete blocks at my stomach. After every fight with him I had to go to the hospital to stop internal bleeding."

Gas, Fuel Oil Prices Cut

A reduction in the wholesale price of gasoline and light fuel oil was announced today by Imperial Oil Limited. The reduction reflects the improvement in the dollar exchange position after taking other factors into account. The reduction amounts to one cent per gallon on gasoline and 4/10ths of one cent per gallon on light fuel oils at Montreal. Similar reductions apply at outside points with the exception of those areas which were affected by the increase in freight rates which went into effect February 11th, 1952.

The concrete spillway threatened to give way and send a wall of water down the Swift Current creek valley into the city of 7,500. "I feel a lot better about the situation today than I felt Monday," said Dr. L. E. Thompson last night. He is director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, builders of the dam. He said a temporary spillway at the dam is "working well" and that a construction crew is working to repair the damaged spillway. The P.F.R.A. has moved more than 50,000 cubic yards of dirt in the last few days. Some has been from the new spillway and the rest was for the buffer dam. The Duncrain reservoir last night had a freeboard of 4 1/2 feet from the top of the water level to the top of the dam. The feeling is general here that the worst is over at the dam and that it will be only a short while before evacuated families in Swift Current will be allowed to return to their homes.

"All publishers, even the most successful, are finding increasing difficulty in meeting current costs of operation and newsprint is a major cost factor." The report noted that a year ago newsprint cost $103 a ton at New York. Today the price is $116. "This means that the members reporting the above tonnage used had to find $12,701,805 more for the first three months of 1952 to meet the increased newsprint cost alone." The A.N.P.A. projected this figure and equated an approximate additional annual cost for newsprint of $50,000,000 this year over 1951. "The parable of the last straw and what it did to the camel's back might be considered with due seriousness at this point." The A.N.P.A. said subscribers' prices have been increased almost to the limit compatible with mass coverage. Advances in advertising rates were meeting resistance. "Newspapers, caught in the middle of it were between increased and apparently ever-rising costs of operation and inability to find increasing revenue to meet those costs, are beginning to wonder what the answer may be for them—they are reluctant to say that merger and suspension is the solution."

New York, April 23.—(AP)—The accident rate for vehicles operated by 347 Canadian and American newspapers rose slightly last year, the American Newspaper Publishers Association reported today.

The A.N.P.A., which sponsors an annual safe-driving campaign in conjunction with the International Circulation Managers Association, said the accident rate was up .22 of one per cent over the record-low figure of 1950.

Two Canadian newspapers were among the 21 cited for special safety awards.

The Hamilton Spectator took second place in the award for newspapers with daily circulation between 50,000 and 100,000. The Spectator operated two vehicles 41,100 miles without an accident.

The Ottawa Journal was placed second in the class of newspapers with circulation between 25,000 and 100,000. It operated 21 vehicles 231,182 miles without an accident.

Allied planes continued saturation raids on the battered Red supply lines today. The U.S. Fifth Air Force said communists MIG's offered no opposition. U.S. F-86 Sabre jets returning from uneventful patrol sweeps in northwest Korea helped fighter-bombers shoot up Red supply points. Director Donahue Issues Warning On Open-Air Fires

Fire Chief W. P. Donahue has issued a warning against persons starting fires in the open air. He said that the city by-law 216, section three, makes provision for the following: "That no person shall kindle a fire or furnish fuel to a fire kindled by another person in the open air, upon or in any street, square, park or other public place in this city." Further, he says, that if any one sees a grass fire they should phone the fire department rather than turn in an alarm. The trouble with turning in an alarm, he says, is that the fire trucks will congregate around the alarm box. If it is a grass fire, the person should phone and say it is only a grass fire and tell the exact location. Yesterday, the local brigade answered two calls for grass fires, both along the Montreal Road. Two fire trucks answering a grass fire alarm at Granby last week collided, causing damages estimated at $30,000 and resulting in the death of one of the firemen.

Granby Brigade Member Is Dead

Granby, April 23.—Sylvia Auger, 17, one of three policemen hurt in a collision between two fire trucks here last Friday, died yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital. The others—Eugene Deragon and Romeo Roberge—will be released from St. Joseph's in a few days. Police and Fire Chief Ullric St. Martin said the men were riding a fire truck to a grass fire when it collided with the other vehicle. Sgt. Auger, popularly known as "Lefty" since his athletic days when he played baseball and hockey for local and Montreal teams, had been on the local police force eight years. Before that he was a fireman. A civic funeral will be held here Thursday. The cortege will leave City Hall at 9:30 a.m. and proceed to Notre Dame Church where the service will be chanted at 10 a.m. Burial will be in the local St. Famille Cemetery. Surviving are his wife, a son, Roger, a married daughter, Francoise, and two grandchildren.

Time Changes At Week-End

Sherbrooke citizens will start getting up earlier on Sunday morning, actually if not according to the clock, when Daylight Saving Time becomes effective here. The clocks will be put ahead one hour at midnight Saturday—in other words midnight will become one o'clock and will continue on this basis until September 27 when Standard time will be restored. All centres in the Province of Quebec which adopt the advanced time will institute and terminate it on the same days as the result of a provincial enactment decreasing common dates for Daylight Saving Time. Most other places on the North American continent will enforce advanced time for the same period. Although the railways will continue to operate on Standard Time, extensive readjustments are being made to their schedules to meet local needs. Autobus operators will run on Daylight Saving Time.

Montreal and Moncton, N.B., and 23.35 cents a pound at Winnipeg, 22.8 cents at Saskatoon, 22.55 cents at Edmonton and Calgary and 23.4 cents at Vancouver. The floor will be changed next July in relation to market conditions and will be placed on a monthly basis. He hoped consumers would take advantage of lower prices to buy up some of the cattle "for which no outside market is at present available." "With the fixing of a floor, it will be possible for the producer to market his cattle in an orderly manner with only finished cattle reaching the market. If this is done the producer may expect to continue to sell all his cattle without undue market gluts and may, from time to time receive prices higher than the floor."

Red Five-Year Building Plan Costly Failure

Berlin. — Communist East Germany's attempt to introduce a "five-year plan" into the building industry has turned into a costly failure.

Builders put up buildings without knowing what they are supposed to look like when completed.

Late delivery of state-approved plans for buildings is to blame. It has resulted in hundreds of thousands of dollars in losses, high cost and long months of unemployment for East German construction workers.

Government officials claimed that the economic five-year plan which started last year would turn the country into "one big building site."

But the economic editor of the semi-official Berliner Zeitung, after going out and seeing for himself, commented:

"Masses of masons and other building workers having involuntary holidays are an unpleasant sight in view of our huge reconstruction plans."

To trace the cause, the editor interviewed workers, architects and state officials.

Heinz Uhlemann, a bricklayer, was quoted as saying: "The basic cause of high building costs is the late delivery of plans. About 90 per cent of all builders beginning a building do not know how it will look when it is finished."

"The workers grumble. Skilled bricklayers who make big efforts to overfulfill their daily quotas suddenly have to take pickaxe and shovel to clear rubble—or as has also happened—to tear down walls already erected because of an unexpected change in plans. This kills all pleasure in work."

Waldemar Alder, director of the designing office in East Berlin—where hundreds of designers, architects and engineers work on the five-year-plans—said this year's building projects could not be carried out smoothly.

He explained that in the preparation of a building project under East Germany's planned economy, there are three stages: a preliminary project, a final project, and then the plans. Builders can't start work after either the preliminary or after the final project. They need the plans, and only 10 per cent of these for buildings to be erected this year are ready.

British West Indians Hold Varying Opinions On Union With Canada

By JOE MACSWEENEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Newfoundland's progress as a province of Canada is a matter of interest to many British West Indians who have long looked with favor on their big Commonwealth neighbor to the north.

The possibility of union between Canada and the British West Indies cropped up in the news again recently. British austerly, coming like a chill wind to the Caribbean colonies, has renewed speculation that confederation would be a healthy move.

Although there are powerful dissenting voices, F. Carlyle Noel, member of Grenada's Legislative Council, spoke in interviews during a recent visit to Canada.

And on the Canadian scene, Senator Neil McLean of New Brunswick served notice the matter will be considered in the Upper House.

The Canadian Press, in a survey of the larger colonies, found that confederation is always good for an argument in most cases merely academic—among the population of more than 2,000,000.

Newfoundland's decision to become a Canadian province, and subsequent development, was a subject that often popped up in these discussions.

Another factor was the situation in Britain, whose ups and downs are reflected sharply in colonial economies. One spokesman raised a plea for racial equality.

Underlying all West Indian plans and speculation is the fact that since 1947 a determined move toward Dominion status has been afoot in the colonies. A meeting of the 13 colonies in 1948 resolved that "this conference accepts the principle of federation."

Since then, the colonies strove to integrate their economies and effect such things as a customs union with the ultimate objective of political union.

In Trinidad, reaction to a Canadian union is on the whole favorable. "The people would prefer such union to joining the United States. The feeling is for closer liaison with Canada both on sentimental and practical grounds."

One spokesman said the advantage of linking West Indian currency with the Canadian dollar is "obvious" but this attitude was flatly contradicted by Hon. Mitra Sinanan, deputy speaker of the legislature, who described the proposal as "unthinkable—it could never materialize."

Another government official noted that Trinidad has a contract to sell all her sugar, her chief community, to Britain until 1960. And Trinidad oil would find a limited market in oil-rich Canada.

In Jamaica, a union proposal was backed 40 years ago and the strongest advocate today is Hon. Richard Youngman, president of the island's Chamber of Commerce. He is supported by a few other business men but the matter was never brought forward as a national issue.

Mr. Youngman says that Britain's financial position does not allow her to continue much longer bearing the responsibility for the Caribbean colonies.

Only alternative to union with Canada would be "independence through the hard road of local

British, Communists Alike And "Correct" At Hong Kong Border

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, has visited Hong Kong. In this story, one of a series, he described the border barriers between the British colony and Red China.)

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lou, Hong Kong. — It was almost 11 A.M. and the Kowloon-Canton train was about due at the frontier.

The frontier with communist China is 32 miles north of Kowloon, the mainland part of the colony of Hong Kong. The border is 17 miles long, and is guarded for 13 miles by a string of pillboxes. The other four miles are considered impassable.

Through heavy drizzle, under an umbrella, a communist postman came past the barrier to an open shed beside the track.

"They come through for the mail," said a Hong Kong police inspector. "They don't let us take it through. When the train is from the other direction, they also bring the mail to us."

"We never go into their territory."

Passengers have to leave the train from Kowloon, walk across the barrier where they are screened, and enter a communist train which awaits them on the other side.

This is the Oriental Iron Curtain, a gap through which trade, travel and mail pass between Hong Kong and communist China.

The matter-of-fact scene was astonishing since soldiers from the two sides kill on sight in Korea.

The Chinese police on opposite sides of the frontier scarcely exchanged glances. They have not spoken for two years. There has been no incident since the communists replaced the nationalists on the north barrier. None is expected.

On the British side, the police control the frontier zone. Army officers entering the area must be escorted. The police want no trouble.

Sharp at 11 o'clock a Russian march thundered from a loudspeaker lashed to a tree on the communist side, then a couple of folk choruses.

"They think the train's pulling in," said the inspector. "But it's going to be about seven minutes late."

"Welcome comrades," said the Red announcer. "Have your vaccination certificates ready."

"Leave behind all your imperialist currency. It will be of no use to you here. Be prepared to surrender any you bring with you."

There followed other directions for travellers returning to "new China," especially about "anti-social luxuries" they would not be allowed to take, including oranges and tinned foods.

The broadcast ended with communist news and a signature tune. "We rather like that one," said the inspector. "We find ourselves tapping our feet to it."

"When they play tunes like that we'd like to play a few back to them. I think we're missing a trick, you know."

The march was just finishing as the train pulled in.

"Now they'll catch it for disobeying instructions they haven't heard," said the inspector.

None of the travellers seemed concerned about the frontier. There were rich men and peasants. Some carried their luggage. Others used coolies. The forbidden oranges peeped from many bags.

About 500 persons cross the barrier daily in each direction. One mile eastward at Mankamo there's a foot crossing used by perhaps 150 daily.

Refugee movement across the frontier is not allowed. The colony is overcrowded already.

Long Hong Kong police admit only Chinese with re-entry permits authorizing their return to communist China.

But many refugees are smuggled into the colony, either by boat or over that "impassable" bit of frontier.

The price is as high as a frontier guide thinks the traffic will bear. He generally has an agent in Hong Kong to prospect for his customer's connections before he takes on the job.

federation which seems far from achievement." Newfoundland's experiment should be encouraging to West Indians, Mr. Youngman says.

In Barbados it was found that 30 years of trade relations have supported a desire for stronger ties between the Commonwealth cousins and the subject has been discussed increasingly during the last 10 years.

Such a need was emphasized during the second world war when it became obvious the West Indies could not protect themselves. The desire was further strengthened two years ago when Britain channelled colonial purchasing power toward London.

A third world war would "furnish the needed impetus," one spokesman said.

In British Guiana, where the possibility has been seldom discussed until recently, an authoritative source declared "the whole country would be unitedly opposed to joining in any federation with Canada where proposals were not full and specific as they seem not to be at the moment."

Apart from political and economic considerations, this source said "the Guianese hate racial segregation."

"Unless the Guianese knows he can go to Canada and move around that country without embarrassment on racial grounds; unless he knows that provided he works hard enough he has an equal right and chance as any Canadian to become Prime Minister, his answer to Canada-West Indies federation will most assuredly be no."

Aggressive Defence Training Objective For Chiang's Army

(Editor's Note: What kind of army are the Chinese nationalists building in Formosa, hoping some day to win the mainland from the communists? Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, recently visited Chiang Kai-Shek's island stronghold. In this story, he answers the army question.)

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Taipei, Formosa. — The Chinese nationalists are building a good army here. If Formosa were attacked tomorrow by the Reds, it would give a good account of itself.

"We're professionals, so we're never satisfied," says Lt.-Gen. Sun Li-jen, hero of the Burma campaign in the second world war who now commands the nationalist ground forces.

"My troops aren't yet equal to those I led in Burma. Within six months they will be. Within a year they'll be in perfect form."

Sun is a graduate of Purdue University at Lafayette, Indiana, and speaks perfect English. He says he has "tremendous admiration" for the Canadian army which he saw in Europe in 1945. He was touring the continent then as guest of General Eisenhower, after his 24th Chinese division fought through 10-to-1 odds in Burma to rescue the Japanese-encircled 1st British infantry division.

Among his decorations he wears the ribbon of a Commander of the Order of the British Empire. But he hasn't yet put on the third star of a nationalist Lieutenant-General, a rank to which he was promoted here.

"I'll do that after we are back on the mainland," he says.

However, neither Sun, nor any other General of the nationalist army believes an invasion is eminent. They know what it would take in the way of equipment and what they have.

Their principal adviser is Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, chief of a United States military advisory group in Formosa.

Chase says flatly:

"I am here to prevent the Reds coming here and the nationalists from going there."

"Our job is to train these forces for aggressive defence. We're supplying them with the hardware—enough to do the job but not for any fancy set-up, and we are building essential roads and airfields."

"If the nationalists were to go to the mainland we would have to carry them—they haven't got anything to take them there. And if we were to do that it would mean a third world war."

The Chinese Generals say it would be a year before their organization could handle a mainland invasion. At present they are concentrating on troop training.

Remnants of 52 Chinese armies withdrew to Formosa from the mainland.

They have been reorganized into 12 armies of three divisions each. A division has 10,000 men.

They have United States 105-millimetre artillery and medium and light tanks. They are standardizing on the American 300-calibre rifle. They are producing their own training manual, taking what they want from American, British, Japanese, German and French texts.

The army being produced is a good one, with excellent discipline. Saluting is meticulous. Turn-out is always good, even on battle-drill courses and on the public-works labor that every battalion must do. The jeep in which I travelled was as sound after 25,000 miles as the day it was delivered.

Two major problems are in prospect. Morale will be a problem after the next year, when training is completed. Troop recruiting may be a problem in five or six years.

Average army age is between 26 and 29. A soldier's best years are between 25 and 35—which gives the nationalists at least six years before they have a serious replacement problem.

It is doubtful whether voluntary recruiting would induce enough Formosans to man such a force. The island's population is only 7,000,000. And, besides supporting the nationalist army, Formosa has on its hands 10,000 marines, 40,000 sailors and 90,000 airmen—some of whom are training on Canadian-built Mosquito aircraft.

Mr. H. P. Renihan Of Rock Island Feted By Friends

Rock Island, April 23. — Mr. Henry Patrick Renihan, a veteran employee of the Del Monty Hotel at Rock Island, was honored by a gathering of upwards of one hundred friends, and business associates at the Del Bar on Wednesday evening, April 16, upon the occasion of his retirement from active work.

Mr. Renihan, who will be 77 in June, has been employed at the Monty Hotel's for twenty-three years, first at the old Rock Island House owned and operated by the late Mr. A. J. Monty and then at the present Del Monty Hotel, which was built when the first Hotel was destroyed by fire a few years ago. Mr. Renihan has head barman at these hotels.

The testimonial of Wednesday evening was arranged by two Quebec Breweries, the National Brewery and Labatts Brewery, the Del Monty Hotel and friends.

Mr. C. Lee Jenkins, a close friend of the honored Mr. Renihan for many years, was the toastmaster.

Tributes were paid to the friendly and congenial guest by Mr. Albert Bryant, manager of J. H. Bryants, of Sherbrooke; Mr. Eugene Gagne, secretary-treasurer of the municipality of Rock Island; Mr. Alden Peaseley, of Stanstead; Mr. James Murphy, of Derby Line; Mr. Rudy Miller, of Rock Island; and Mr. Louis Monty and Mr. Rene Monty, co-managers of the Del Monty, gave tribute to the many years of faithful service of Mr. Renihan.

Mr. Renihan was presented with a gift of money and a set of leather luggage with the best wishes from "The Boys," guests of the Hotel, friends and employees of the Del Monty.

The Del Monty family, hosts of the evening, presented Mr. Renihan with a complete fishing tackle outfit.

ACES EDGE SAINT JOHN 4-2 FOR THIRD STRAIGHT SERIES WIN

Murdo MacKay Chalks Up Two In Team's Win; Gelineau And Gordon Come Up With Outstanding Saves

Quebec, April 23.—(CP)—Quebec Aces today stand one victory away from the Alexander Trophy after winning their third straight game from Saint John Beavers 4-2 in Canada's Major Hockey Final.

The win before a crowd of 10,741 gave the Quebec Senior Hockey League champions a 3-0 lead in games in the best-of-seven series which could possibly wind up in Thursday's night's fourth game.

Murdo MacKay, veteran forward, roused a crowd of 10,741 early in the third period with his second goal of the night, which turned out to be the winning marker.

Big centre Jean Bellevue and linemate Martial Pruneau scored the other Quebec goals; Bellevue's opening in the first period, and Pruneau adding an insurance marker. MacKay's first goal came at 13:27 of the first.

Dusty Blair and Bill McCracken scored the Saint John goals in the first and second periods respectively.

Fourth game of the best-of-seven series will be played here Thursday night.

The bigger Quebec team out-bumped the Beavers while holding a slight edge in play, but the Saint John crew showed uneven bursts of speed in the fairly close-checking game.

Both goalies, Jack Gelineau in the Quebec goal and Hal Gordon in the Saint John nets, stood out with some sparkling saves, as Aces outshot Beavers 29-22.

Both MacKay's goals came off perfect set-up passes by Marcel Bonin at the goal-mouth. Armand Gaudreault, third man on the line, drew an assist on both plays.

Beliveau tipped Yogi Kraiger's rebound which had been set up by Jim Hayes.

Pruneau's goal came when he raced down the right wing slot after taking Bellevue's pass just out-side the Saint John blue-line. His shot zipped into the bottom left corner of the net under Gordon's hand.

Blair's marker in the first period came when he slapped in a hard shot after taking Matt Mes-

Tommy Byrne And St. Louis Browns Stop Cleveland Winning Streak; Tigers Lose Eighth Consecutive

You might say St. Louis Browns "Byrne Up" Cleveland Indians. Tommy Byrne is the villain or hero. It depends on how you look at it.

Last August the Indians came to St. Louis with a wampum string of 13 straight wins. Along came Byrne. And then there was none. Last night the Indians brought a near-record seven-game win streak to town. Once again Mr. Byrne got out his old left-handed tomahawk. No record. No win streak. Almost no lead.

Byrne's eight-hitter and 8-3 victory left the Browns only a half-game behind the front-running Tribe. It was enough to make a crowd of 15,119 sit through a drizzle.

Mike Garcia, one of Al Lopez' "Big Four" was named to pitch Cleveland to an eighth straight—closing in on the American League record of nine successive opening season wins. But Garcia and three successors couldn't keep the upstart Browns under wraps.

Another budding streak was kept alive when Chicago dumped Detroit 2-0, for the Tigers' eighth straight loss. Five more and the Tigers can tie their own major league record of 13 consecutive defeats at the start of the 1920 season.

Saul Rogovin, an ex-teammate blanked the reeling Tigers with six hits while Nelson Fox touched Ted Gray for a double and two singles. Johnny Lipton's error and Fox's double off Don Kolloway's glove broke up a scoreless duel in the eighth.

The "New Faces" campaign continued to pay off for Lou Boudreau's Boston Red Sox as rookie Bill Henry, a 24-year-old lefty from Shreveport, won his second straight, 10-5, over Washington. Jim Piersall, the kid shortstop, collected three hits and Dom DiMaggio had four, including a home run. Walt Dropo and Don Lenhardt also homered for the Sox and Sam Mele and Clyde Klutts

Fort Frances Tallies Six Goals In Third To Whip Stratford Indians 9-5 In Allan Cup Hockey Final

Fort William, April 23.—(CP)—The Flying Forts are one-up in their 1952 search for the Allan Cup.

Last night Fort Frances Canadians trounced Stratford Indians 9-5 in the first game of the annual senior hockey classic after unleashing a tremendous scoring drive which netted six goals in a thrill-packed third period.

The teams rest today and then resume the best-of-seven series here Thursday night.

About 3,500 fans watched the Forts take a 2-1 lead over the Eastern Canada finalists, go down 4-3 at the end of the second, and then surge like a coiled spring, breaking the defensive back of the Stratford club.

Ed Kliner, counted four of his team's goals, three in the third period. Singles went to Mike Hupchuk, Ric Ricard and Vern O'Donnell with a double count for Walt Christiansen.

Stratford marksmen were Billy Flick, Bruce Brudett, Jack White, Dinny Flanagan and Mickey Roth.

Flick on relays from Flanagan and Pat Wilson put Indians ahead at 4:59 of the first period. A holding penalty to Don Heindach cost them both Canadians' first goals.

Canadians netted the markers on close-in pattern plays. O'Donnell from Dun' Sambo and Sambo Fedoruk at 12:57 and Kliner from O'Donnell at 13:12.

Indians scored two goals in the second frame when they were short a man. Burdett tallied from close range on a pass-out from White with 53 seconds gone after Flanagan drew a slashing penalty. Flanagan scored 17 minutes later assisted by Flick when Billy Walsh was sent off.

Sandwiched between was a Stratford goal by White who drove a hard shot that rolled off Bill Cleaveley's arm. Christiansen counted for Fort Frances at 18:20 to end the period with Indians in front 4-3.

Fort Frances exploded in the third period after Hupchuk stepped a goal-mouth pass and shot from just outside the crease to tie the count 4-4.

Kliner snapped in Canadians' second goal of the period at 7:27. Sambo Fedoruk intercepted a Stratford pass, relayed to O'Donnell who flicked it to Kliner for an easy score.

Ricard smashed through for another marker at 11:35 followed by two goals by Kliner assisted by O'Donnell and Goose Gosselin at 12:25 and 13:14.

Christiansen counted his second goal at 14:51 and Roth assisted by Flanagan scored for Stratford at 17:31. George Aiken of Indians was humbled for the match at 12:29 when he drew a misconduct penalty.

Senior Group Figures Show Big Increase

Montreal, April 23.—(CP)—Secretary-treasurer Roy E. Mackenzie announced yesterday that scheduled and playoff games in the Quebec Senior Hockey League for the 1951-52 season drew a record total attendance of 1,107,292.

The total exceeds that of the previous season by 207,436 and the previous banner season of 1948-49 by 118,485.

Shawinigan Falls, the only club not in the playoffs, reported a total attendance of 72,043 for the regular season, an increase over the previous season of 6,012.

Quebec showed a whopping increase of 137,806 for a total scheduled-playoff count of 379,800.

Ottawa and Valleyfield were the only clubs to show a decrease in scheduled-playoff totals.

Here are the total figures for the clubs, with increase (x) or decrease (d) in brackets:

Chicoutimi, 158,120 (x-48,287); Montreal, 229,953 (x-52,308); Ottawa, 126,846 (d-12,964); Quebec, 379,800 (x-137,806); Shawinigan Falls, 72,043 (x-6,012); Sherbrooke, 83,157 (x-3,763); Valleyfield, 57,373 (d-27,756).

Johnstown Jets Dump Toledo For Third Win

Johnstown, Pa., April 23.—(AP)—Johnstown Jets won their third victory last night in the United States Amateur Hockey Championship playoff series, beating Toledo 6-1.

The Jets need only one more victory in the best-of-seven series to give them the title. They play again here Thursday night. Johnstown is the Eastern League Champion, and Toledo won the International League title.

Michigan State's Davey Belies Theory Collegians Don't Make Good Pro Boxers; Undefeated In 32 Fights

Lansing, Mich.—(NEA)—If Chuck Davey looks more like an insurance salesman than a tist-slinging kid who's giving the lightweight boxing set connipions with his undefeated record, his figures.

Chuck does sell insurance in the capital city of Michigan by day, and after hours helps raise the premium rates with a rapier-like left hand that has bludgeoned 31 opponents in 32 pro starts. The lone slip-up was a draw.

Former lightweight champ Ike Williams was his most recent victim, Mar. 26.

Schoolboy Chico Vejar, the New York University thespian, will waltz down the Chicago Stadium aisle with Chuck, May 7. But collegian Chico will have no edge in the brains department.

Davey always did reckon his noggin was more than a target for the other guy's fists, from the time he enrolled at Michigan State and started compiling the finest boxing record in collegiate history.

Gene Tunney warbled Shakespeare, and NYU-trained Bob Sparte, former professional, against Joe Louis, but how many figures in ring record annals carry B.A. M.A. after their names? Called Boxer Of All.

While he was acquiring degree, the Spartan southpaw won four National Collegiate Athletic Association titles, opening as a 127-pounder and winding up at 145 pounds.

"The greatest college boxer of all time," says Spartan Coach George Makris.

"There is no doubt about it. I've never heard anyone dispute it."

From 1943 to 1946, he took time out with the Eighth Air Force as an aviator over Europe, collected the air medal, two battle stars and a first lieutenant's bars.

Now 26 and in his third year as a pro, Chuck is a finished craftsman who still looks like what he is, a kid fresh out of college without a mark on his face. A receding hairline lends a touch of dignity.

He won't knock 'em dead with one punch, but his rapid-fire delivery has punmezzed 21 of his victims into a 10-count. And he's fast enough to stay out of range when the other boys start swinging. His jittering style perplexed even such an experienced hand as Williams.

Ike scarcely landed a blow in five rounds.

Vejar, his opponent-to-be, may be tougher, Chico and Chuck are out of the same school—young, resourceful, intelligent and nurtured along carefully. Chico fires the stronger artillery, but southpaw Chuck is far more elusive.

And to twist Willie Keeler's set phrase, "you can't hit 'em where they ain't."

N.Y. Gives Davey O.K. For Bout With Vejar

New York, April 23.—(AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday removed its objection to the Chico Vejar-Chuck Davey fight in Chicago May 7.

Chairman Bob Christenbery said a Syracuse promoter, who had contracted for Davey to fight for him Thursday, had reached "an amicable agreement" with the managers involved and the Chicago International Boxing Club. Davey will fight in Syracuse after the Vejar bout.

Syracuse Promoter Norm Rothschild had signed Davey to Box Carmen Basilio in Syracuse Thursday night. Davey, who also had signed to fight Vejar in the Chicago Stadium May 7, suffered eye cuts in training and said he would be unable to go through with the Basilio bout.

The Illinois group yesterday ruled that the Vejar-Davey fight for that bout before he had closed for the Syracuse affair.

Accent Is On Youth, Says President Perini

Sydney, N.S., April 23.—(CP)—"We are rebuilding with the accent on youth," said Lou Perini, president of the Boston Braves of the National Baseball League who was a Cape Breton visitor yesterday in connection with the Strait of Canso Causeway.

President of the V. Perini and Sons Ltd. Co., of Canada, Lou headed a group of officials from that company who came in by private plane to Sydney to look over the proposed Causeway.

Mr. Perini was quite optimistic over the Boston club's chances in the present National League race. "Our potentialities are great. . . and it could be our year if everything came together," he said.

Asked if Eddie Stanky's leadership at St. Louis would drive the Cards in for the pennant, Lou said he didn't think so.

"I figure the Dodgers right now are out there by themselves with the Phillies. Grant's and the Braves are battling for that second spot. Cardinals definitely will be up there and they are your five top clubs."

British Yacht Runs Into Difficulties

London, April 23.—(AP)—The British Yacht Marabu got off to a stormy start on her voyage to Newport, R.I., for the summer races starting June 21.

Messages reaching London today said the 57-foot vessel had reached Oporto, Portugal, safely after a 11-day buffeting. One crew member was washed overboard for 20 minutes and the jibsheet leading block snapped "like a clap of thunder."

The Marabu, formerly German-owned, has been entered in the June races by the Royal Navy Coastal Forces Sailing Club at Gosport, England. She will take part in the annual Newport-Bermuda race and the Trans-Atlantic race from Bermuda to Plymouth, England.

Ralph Kiner Advised To Get New Position

Pittsburgh, April 23.—(AP)—Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh Pirate home-run slugger, has been advised to get a job in an air-conditioned office.

The advice came from a specialist who had been analyzing an allergy condition that affects Kiner periodically.

The specialist told Kiner yesterday he is allergic to drafts and dirt—two things he encounters daily while chasing fly balls in the Pirate outfield.

Highly-Rated Tom Fool Declared Out Of Kentucky Derby; Thirteen May Go To Wire In Famous Classic

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—(AP)—Thirteen horses were counted today as probable starters for this year's Kentucky Derby.

The historic race, 11 days away, was developing into a wide-open affair.

This uncertainty may result in a starting field of more than the "baker's dozen" when the strains of "my old Kentucky home" call the horses to the post.

Here they are, and there'll likely be more:

Sub Foe, Happy Go Lucky, Master Fiddle, County Flame, Cousin, Hanteral, Pintor, Blue Man, Arroz, Hill Gail, Cold Command, Gushing Oil and Smoke Screen.

The superstitious eyed that "13" figure with some misgiving. For the Derby jinx, in the form of training injuries or illness, was taking its toll.

Just yesterday, Tom Fool, Prime and Jampol, three of the East's candidates, were declared out.

But this, somewhat paradoxically, may mean more entries for the $100,000 added classic that'll be run at Churchill Downs Saturday, May 3, for the 78th time.

For when a top-flight horse, like Tom Fool, say, is withdrawn, other prospects' chances are reviewed. And, where before a nominee might have been considered doubtful, he's made a starter.

Trainer John Gaver decided Tom Fool is "too valuable" to risk shipment for the Derby after the winner of $155,910 as a two-year-old developed a cough. The Jock Whitney colt was second to Master Fiddle in last Saturday's Wood Memorial.

Injuries suffered in the Wood running put out the Starmount Stable's Primate and Max Kahlbaum's Jampol.

An injury in a prep event at Keeneland, near Lexington, Ky., also resulted in Alladier of the Harborvale Stable being withdrawn.

Keeneland's $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes Thursday will provide another pre-derby test. Among those expected to go in the Stakes, a mile and a furlong race, contrasted to the Derby's mile and a quarter, are:

Calumet Farm's Hill Gail, C. V. Wilson Jr.'s Gushing Oil, Reverie Knoll Farm's Smoke Screen, and H. G. Bockman's Happy Go Lucky.

Sydney, N.S., April 23.—(CP)—"We are rebuilding with the accent on youth," said Lou Perini, president of the Boston Braves of the National Baseball League who was a Cape Breton visitor yesterday in connection with the Strait of Canso Causeway.

President of the V. Perini and Sons Ltd. Co., of Canada, Lou headed a group of officials from that company who came in by private plane to Sydney to look over the proposed Causeway.

Mr. Perini was quite optimistic over the Boston club's chances in the present National League race. "Our potentialities are great. . . and it could be our year if everything came together," he said.

Asked if Eddie Stanky's leadership at St. Louis would drive the Cards in for the pennant, Lou said he didn't think so.

"I figure the Dodgers right now are out there by themselves with the Phillies. Grant's and the Braves are battling for that second spot. Cardinals definitely will be up there and they are your five top clubs."
