Flight time regulated

By Larry McInnis

The Department of Transport has come up with a clear-cut regulation governing flight times of commercial flight crew members, subject to a long-standing rule that a crew member must refrain from any activity which might fatigue him at the commencement of his tour of duty.

Factors governing limitations of flying times are: type of aircraft, equipment and crew complement; frequency of takeoffs and landings (especially tiring); times of arrivals and departures; route flown; rest and relief facilities; the probability of operational delays.

It is interesting to note that the DOT now defines flight time in the same way as commercial airlines, i.e. "block-to-block", or the time from the moment the aircraft first moves, although on the ground, until the time it comes to rest at the end of the flight.

Flight time of a flight crew member shall not exceed 120 hours in any month (calendar month of 24 hours per day); 300 hours in any quarter, or 1,200 hours in any year.

No member may exceed 15 hours in any day unless the crew includes three or more pilots, two of whom are qualified to act as pilot-in-command, and flight relief facilities are available for each member relieved. No member may have more than 12 consecutive hours flight deck duty time, and the flight duty time may not exceed 24 hours.

As with all regulations, certain exceptions are listed. The above limitations may be extended if the aircraft is engaged in search and rescue or the provision of relief in cases of distress, or when operational conditions are forced beyond limitations to complete a flight.

Rest periods must be at least eight consecutive hours unless an earlier departure would not jeopardize the safety of the operation.

Statistics show that 7.5 percent of all light aircraft accidents are caused by crosswind landings. A table has been made available listing the acceptable limits for aircraft with, for example, a stalling speed of 50 mph. 90°-10 mph crosswind; 60°-12mph; 30°-20 mph; 15°-38 mph. Tricycle landing geared-aircraft are not as bad to handle in crosswinds, but it is wise to stay within these limits for safety reasons.

Further limitations have been placed on operations at Cartierville Airport. DOT advises that no aircraft is to land there when the tower is not in operation; June 1-September 30, 7 a.m. to one half hour after sunset; October 1 to May 30, 8 a.m. until one half hour after sunset. If an aircraft is to take off outside these times, it must call Dorval on the radio and ask permission to enter the Montreal control zone. But it is still the responsibility of the pilot to take off and enter the pattern safely.

A private pilot, effective this Spring, must be able to pass an Air Regulations test set by his chief flying instructor (DOT approved) before getting his student's permit. Further, he must be able to pass a physical to commercial pilot standards to qualify for the $100 refund if under the age of 33.

Latest thing to watch this year will be flyathons, defined as putting all a club's aircraft in the air on revenue flying at one time. ALL aircraft must be entered in the event, and one must be airborne at all times. A rather complicated mathematical formula has been released to compute flying time of teams. Know what? It'll probably catch on.

Obituaries

FRANK A. WHITTALL

A funeral service was held Saturday noon at Erskine and America Church for Frank A. Whittall, formerly of Westmount, chairman and president of the Continental Can Company of Canada, Limited who died in hospital in Montreal May 3 after a short illness. He was 60.

Mr. Whittall was prominent in business in Montreal until 1959 when the headquarters of Continental Can was transferred to Toronto.

A graduate of Westmount High School, Mr. Whittall served in the Royal Air Force in World War I. On his return from overseas he attended McGill University and in 1922 began his business career with the Whittall Can Company. Nine years later he was made sales director.

In 1943 Mr. Whittall was appointed vice-president in charge of sales of the Continental Can Company of Canada Limited when the latter company merged with the Whittall Can Company. Appointed executive vice-president in 1951 he was named president the following year.

Well known in the business world, Mr. Whittall was also a director of the Eastern Trust Company and the Foundation Company of Canada. Unity boys invited to apply to Camp Lewis

By MAURICE MARIASINE

It was announced recently, "Camp Lewis," the Montreal Boys' Association Summer Camp, will open July 3rd and close August 23rd.

Boys from the Unity Boys' Club and surrounding districts are invited to make application for a two-week summer vacation at the Camp.

SOME DETAILS ABOUT CAMP

Camp Lewis, near St. Adolphe de Howard between Ste. Agathe and Morin Heights, covers an area of 1,400 acres of Laurentian woodland in the centre of which is Lac Ste. Marie, on a chain of lakes approximately 8 miles long, affording plenty of open water for boating and over night outings.

The camp proper is situated on a peninsula separating two lakes and consists of 29 cabins for campers; recreation hall, swimming beach with modern dock; hospital facilities and a new administration building.

The aim of Camp Lewis is to provide opportunities for boys, eight to fifteen years of age, of any race, color or creed, — to live an enjoyable health and character building experience, which incorporates those elements of camping that parents and professionals in the field alike consider to be the most important aspects of camping . . . an opportunity for group living . . . increased opportunities to practice and develop leadership . . . cooperative, intelligent discipline . . . good health and physical well being . . . an appreciation of the outdoors and nature . . . adventure with the elements . . . the companionship and leadership of carefully selected young adults . . . development of self

CAMPERSHIP PHILOSOPHY AND POLICY

Camp Lewis operates for eight weeks each summer. This time is divided into four two-week periods, in an effort to give as many boys as possible an opportunity to gain a holiday out of the City. However, the need for some youngsters to stay longer periods is recognized. A three to four week stay is considered to be the most desirable camping period, and every effort is made to manage this length of stay for as many as possible. The Camp serves between 600 to 700 different boys each summer, providing camping for 272 boys at one time. The Camp attempts to serve boys referred from city and district Welfare Agencies.

REGISTRATION

Unity Boys' Club members may register for Camp Lewis with Chuck Tyler at the Unity Boys' Club or at the Montreal Boys' Association head office.

SUMMER PROGRAM

The Unity Boys' Club is currently working on plans for this year's summer program. The program will include weekly trips to St. Helen's Island, a day at Belmont Park, a trip to the Granby Zoo, weekly tours through Industrial Firms, visits to places of interest in and around the Island of Montreal, summer crafts and a variety of summer sports.

It is expected that a day camp for boys and girls will be established on the outskirts of the City and plans for an Indian Village to go along with the day camp are being worked out by

This week in Westmount

By VALENTINA RAHR

In tune with BE KIND TO ANIMALS' WEEK comes this story from Mrs. REID HYDE, Belvedere road; "After a trip out West, we stopped in Winnipeg and visited the animal zoo in Assiniboine Park. There we saw a lion suffering from the heat, and caged under pitiful conditions. We all felt very sympathetic toward this poor animal. In our civilization today, are zoos really necessary?"

On Monday evening guest speaker at the Canadian Authors Association Annual Meeting, Gerald Iles, Windsor avenue, gave his views on overpopulation: "In the next few years we will experience a population explosion. About 650,000 babies are being born every hour, and soon heavily populated areas like large cities and communities will become one sprawling mass of human beings. A day's trip will take a week to make. Animals will lose their natural breeding grounds, and the species will be threatened by overpopulation. Nature will become unbalanced."

Artist, DOROTHY HARRIS MCLARREN, whose home at 5050 Notre Dame de Grace avenue stands half in Westmount and half in N.D.G. is completing her sixth year as art teacher at Helen Dunham's School. This week she is working on the background for "Pirates of Penzance" to be produced there shortly. She works on them at close range crouched on hands and knees, and it is very hard to know just how they will look when finished because each one is about twenty feet wide and thirty-five feet long.

Spring meeting

WMA officers elected at Vic

Citizens and aldermen whipped up a town meeting atmosphere at the Westmount Municipal Association meeting Tuesday at Victoria Hall in a lively give-and-take session on the swimming pool, Bland report, taxes and squirrels.

Alderman Bovaird told the 300 WMA members present "the Council has concluded a swimming pool is desirable, that any pool erected should be an all-year-around pool of Olympic size of the highest quality and that no pool would be erected which would increase taxes significantly."

He said, "Council has given the go-ahead to preliminary studies on site selection, design and costs. These studies will be completed late in the fall at which time the Council will make a decision as to whether it is feasible to go ahead with a pool or not."

City Manager Dawe later disclosed the Council decision to authorize the preliminary studies was made at a committee of council meeting January 23, not open to the public. Mr. Dawe added, "At this date we have finished collecting information on pools and can begin evaluating it to come up with further terms of reference in addition to those listed in the May newsletter of the Council."

Advocates of outdoor pools were assured by Aldermn Bovaird that "The majority of pool plans considered incorporate a wading pool and sun-bathing area."

Alderman Ouimet was asked what he thought of the Bland report but would not express any opinion "until we get reports from the architectural and operational people." He told his questioner, "Proposed amendment to the zoning by-law is subject to referendum if 10 or more property owners object at the public meeting called by Council to amend the by-law."

A member suggested WMA circularize businessmen on question of parking for commercial areas. He remarked, "The city looks on parking as a private concern." The same member suggested that the nominating committee for mayor and aldermen contain a business man."

Hit-run car chases man on to side walk

John J. McManus, 55, 806-3rd avenue, Verdun, suffered a sprained back as a result of being struck by a hit-run driver on the sidewalk at St. Catherine street near York avenue around four o'clock in the morning, May 1.

A bus driver for the Montreal Transportation Commission who was first on the scene, told police he saw a man on the south side of St. Catherine street.

Officer R. Armstrong reported receiving a call at 4:27 a.m. and finding Mr. McManus lying on the ground apparently unconscious with his eyes open. Skid marks of the hit and run auto were measured and from the width of the track appeared to be from a small car. The marks were 25 feet 9 inches along the roadway, four feet on the sidewalk and then another 24 feet along the sidewalk to the roadway.

According to police reports, McManus said, he left a friend's apartment, 5209 Sherbrooke street, at 3:15 a.m. and was walk-

Parking ticketed tell it to judge

The sad stories on parking tickets are as numerous as the tickets and some of them are pretty good. Municipal court judge Alex McT. Stalker heard quite a few Wednesday morning upstairs over the Westmount Police station.

A man pleaded guilty with reservations. He parked on Metcalfe avenue in the same space he had been using for six years. He admitted lately the spot had been posted with temporary no-parking signs in the street while work was going on. On May 2 when he got the parking ticket no work was going on and the no-parking signs were up on the sidewalk. $2.

A lady parked her car on her own property in the rear of the 300 block of Clarke avenue. Said the officer she was blocking a garage. Pointed out the judge, it was her garage. Said the officer she was two feet into the lane. Said the lady, just two wheels and she was awfully sorry, she'd never do it again. Suspended sentence.

Sports car owner pleaded guilty to parking more than six inches from the curb with explanation. He said, he parked his car properly, came out and found someone had moved it fifty feet further down the street more than six inches from the curb and left open one of the doors. Also, the side of the car, an Alfa-Romeo, was damaged. The judge had to insist that the man was not guilty. The man said, well after it all, it is my car and I'm responsible for it. Yes, said the judge, but the key wasn't in it and it is impossible to lock an open car so it can't be moved at all.

A man whispered something about parking while caring for a sick wife. He got a suspended sentence.

A businessman got a break. He pleaded guilty with reservations. He explained he was unloading heavy displays from his station wagon to take into his travel agency on Sherbrooke street and that he was only there three or four minutes. Suspended sentence.

A sleepy eyed young fellow indignantly pleaded guilty with reservations. He moved into Westmount the midnight which marked the end of Tuesday and woke up Wednesday with a parking ticket for parking more than four hours on the street.

He protested ignorance of the by-laws of Westmount. When the judge remarked even Montrealers know they must move their cars before eight, he said he hadn't unpacked his alarm clock yet. He made it to court and got fined $2.

Westmount, too, has handicapped

MAY 7 to May 13 is "Employ the Handicapped Week." There are handicapped Westmount residents looking for work and there are jobs in Westmount which they could fill. During this week Westmounters are asked to make an extra special effort to find or offer jobs to handicapped neighbors.

Three weeks ago we ran a story on Westmounter Jack Featherstone, a cerebral palsy victim since birth. Jack has more than his share of brains, guts and perseverance. Not only is he above average in both education and charm, he is reliable.

Two weeks ago we ran an article written by Jack about Selby street on which he has lived since childhood. We think this story showed sufficient sprightliness, humor and talent for Jack to be encouraged to continue his study of writing and to seek work in the writing field. He is not aspiring too high in trying to get a job reading copy, we are sure.

We hoped that our story and his article would prompt someone in Westmount whose place of business is not too far from Selby street taxi-farewise to offer Jack a job utilizing his special skills.

If you cannot hire Jack, then there are other handicapped Jacks and Janes in Westmount whose skills you can use. If you are in the market for help, consider the handicapped in Westmount. You can learn about them from NES.

There is an advantage to a handicapped person in getting a job close to home. We believe you will find there are advantages too in hiring handicapped persons who live close to your place of business. Call NES and inquire. There is no obligation and you may be doing yourself a favor as well as helping a handicapped person to self-respect and self-support.

Wants Westmount to use teletype

Sir: I was extremely interested in your account last week of the prompt co-operation of the Montreal police with the Westmount police in apprehending the attackers of the nurses assaulted on Sherbrooke street. I suppose this is an instance where the Montreal police teletype came in handy.

Fortunately, the thugs had not reached one of the other municipalities which have adopted a "wait and see" attitude before installing this invaluable aid to police efficiency.

Fortunately, they had not reached a spot where they could safely abandon their car and report it stolen in an effort to escape prosecution for their vicious attack on decent women on the main street of Westmount.

If this is not an isolated instance, and I am sure it is not, despite efficient police in Westmount, then I am wondering how long we can refuse to co-operate with other island municipalities in a matter unanimously agreed by the police chiefs of the island of Montreal to be desirable?

How many women must be attacked? How many murders? Yes, I know we just don't have murders in Westmount but we didn't have spy suspects either until just a little while ago. That was a possibility even more remote than murder and it happened.

—Mary Wilson.

Blind Appeal thanks us for our support

Sir: On behalf of the Combined Appeal for the Blind, I wish to thank you for your excellent co-operation during our recent campaign.

Your assistance was invaluable, and I hope that we may call on you again next year. Again, many thanks.

Don Iapello,
Publicity Director.

BY THE WAY

TAKING into consideration all the circumstances likely to obtain in the future, and making every allowance for developments which something, perhaps, could be done to anticipate, it is perhaps not too much to say that, in the actual state of affairs produced by certain events, the safest course to follow would be to make an overall study of possible measures to be taken, with a view to any decision which might or might not be arrived at in the search for a basic policy of one kind or another.

WMA "good thing", says Merrill

By JANE HENDERSHOTT

When Geoffrey Hunter Merrill, 335 Clarke avenue, stepped down as President at the May 9 annual meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association in Victoria Hall, he completed the term of one of the youngest presidents ever to serve the "watchdog" organization. Also, he pointed out, "I am one president who lives below Sherbrooke street".

WESTMOUNT BOY

The Lower Canada College junior school director has lived most of his life in Westmount. The son of Geoffrey O. Merrill, insurance broker, and the former Margaret Hunter, deceased, he was born in the Medical Arts Building at Guy and Sherbrooke on March 29, 1925.

In Westmount, he lived at 313 Elm avenue, 421 Mt. Pleasant avenue, 624 Belmont avenue and then at 640 Lansdowne avenue with his parents. He attended Roslyn Elementary school and Westmount high school. He reminisced, "G. H. Penrose, who retired in 1959 was principal when I went to Roslyn as a student and was still principal when I taught there from 1950 to 1955".

"But to get back, when I got out of high school I went into the Navy. I didn't do much, I was only in for about 14 months before I was discharged as an ordinary seaman. I went through training and then to sea in a corvette, the Acadia, and then the war was over".

"McGill was next. The government paid my way four years. I kept my grades up, got to be president of Phi Delta Theta and played on the only baseball team McGill ever had in 1946. I got my Quebec high school teacher's diploma in 1950 and started in right away at Roslyn. I got to be assistant principal there in 1951 and in 1955 I got my present job".

ACTIVE IN SPORTS

"It was through my activities as sports supervisor at Roslyn that I first became interested in the Westmount Municipal Association. It was in 1952 when they had all the discussion about the artificial ice rink. I thought it would be a good thing. As a result of my interest, I was asked to join the WMA as a member of the executive board on the recreation committee".

"I became chairman of the recreation committee in 1956. The rink which started my activity was built about 1958 and put into use in 1959".

"In 1958 and 1959 I was a vice-president and 1960, of course, as you know, I became president. I cannot succeed myself. However, the retiring president remains executive ex-officio for two years".

ASSOCIATION UNIQUE

"The Municipal Association is rather a unique organization, I think. It has the responsibility of nominating citizens for the positions of mayor and aldermen, also for the school board and library trustees. We go to a lot of work to make sure we nominate the best qualified persons available".

"If there is no contest, then those nominated by our association are declared elected by acclamation. If there is a contest, such as there was in 1959, then the City holds an election".

"The function of the Association? I guess, principally you could say it is to serve as a buffer, a liaison between the people and the city council. We try to keep fully abreast of the affairs of Westmount and give the City Council the benefit of our deliberations and research".

"Sometimes we don't agree with the City Council. Take for example, the proposed swimming pool. WMA and the City both favor a pool but at present WMA favors an outdoor pool and the City favors an indoor one. Eventually, matters will be worked out satisfactorily".

"The way the WMA is set up, it would be available to the City as a deliberative body in time of crisis. There aren't too many crises fortunately but if there are any the WMA is there to help the City decide what is to be done".

ANYONE CAN BELONG

"Who can belong to WMA? Roughly speaking, anyone eligible to vote in Westmount. To be specific, you can belong if you live in Westmount or work here, men and women proprietors in Westmount, residents other than proprietors in Westmount and workers or those having a business in Westmount".

"Day to day we take care of a lot of little things. If you have a street light in front of your house that bothers you and you call us we will check into it for you and see what can be done".

"One woman sent me a pornographic paper she bought at a store in Westmount. I called the City, a police officer called at the store and as a result no more pornographic books are sold in Westmount".

WMA HANDLES DETAILS

"We take care of these little things because we believe that if they are let go they will grow until Westmount is a shambles. This attention to details is what makes Westmount such a good place in which to live. We are vitally interested in keeping Westmount that way".

"The executive of the WMA is strongly opposed to annexation. Now, through WMA the citizens all have a chance to voice their opinion. If annexation came about all that would be lost and Montreal would not be improved as compensation for the loss of the very good government we have here in Westmount".

"I think the WMA is a good thing. It takes a bit of time, maybe two nights a week, but it is something everyone who lives in Westmount should try to take part in".

YOUTH WANTED

"The minimum age is 21. I am pleased to see more young people joining. When I joined I was 20 years younger than the next youngest. I think the various generations should be adequately represented, not all the responsibility thrust on the older members".

ALSO WOMEN

"Another thing, I am pleased to see more women becoming active in the association. Women are around the city more during the day to see what is going on so that their participation in the affairs of WMA is very important. I should mention here that Mrs. I. A. Hodson is the first woman vice-president of WMA".

"Our official object is "to insure sound civic administration by the development of informed opinion amongst the residents of Westmount and by the communication of their wishes and views to the Council".

WATCHDOG

"You can call us a 'watchdog' and 'liaison', whichever you wish. They are both right. I hope we have done a good job during my year as president".

"What am I proudest of about the past year? I am proudest of being able to serve Westmount in the job".

THE FIRST SHOVELFUL: of dirt was dug last Wednesday morning in the construction of the new snow melting plant by Louis Donolo, Inc., scheduled for completion in July. At that time it is expected there will be a frantic search on the mountain for snow with which to test the new facilities. The plant will eventually be enlarged to process all of the snow cleared from the streets of Westmount.

Fire smokes out roomers

Heavy smoke and no casualties marked a fire last Friday in the basement of a rooming house at 18 Rosemount avenue. Before being extinguished by the Westmount Fire Department the blaze caused fire damage in the basement and heavy smoke throughout the house. The occupants were evacuated by the Fire Department without incident. One woman, recently ill, was carried down the stairs by Lieutenant Black. No estimate of the damage is presently available.

Mayor Cushing was one of the 19 mayors who met in Mount Royal April 19 to set up plans to combat annexation.

Firemen have been conducting their annual drills at the snow melting plant on Glen road for the past three or four weeks. Wednesday, they changed their place of operation to The Look-out on Summit Circle.

Construction of the new snow melting plant commenced this week. A man with a steam shovel showed up ready for action first thing Wednesday morning.

Beginning the first week of June, Chief Harper of the Fire Department will begin annual in-service inspections using men on duty to check homes in Westmount for fire hazards. By the end of Fire Prevention Week, the week of October 9, Captain Harper says he hopes to cover all of the homes in Westmount.

He explained, "We check fuses, attics, basements and other possibly hazardous locations and advise people on what we find. We have been doing these inspections for three or four years now as an extra service. We have gotten very good results and received excellent cooperation."

Dr. Donald G. Mackay, Health Officer, recommends immunization against polio, one month between the first and second shot and seven to twelve months between the second and third. He recommends a fourth "booster" shot, especially for children three to four years after the third inoculation.

The preliminary draft of the new zoning by-law being drawn up by Professor Bland will not be ready for another six to eight weeks instead of his next week as estimated earlier. When it is ready it will go to the architectural commission and operating officials before it goes to Council. This will mean that a new zoning by-law will not come before Council until late next fall at the earliest.

Noted in passing . . . the outdoor lights were being strung up this week at the Westmount Lawn Bowling Club.

The men are cleaning the last traces of the Spring Flower Show out of the Conservatory this week. The tulips in front of Victoria Hall are about six inches out of the ground. Other places we have blooms of all kinds set outside showing the gardeners have been hard at work.

The Westmount high schools band, which performed so well at the WMA meeting Tuesday night and won first prize in Quebec recently, also placed second in Ottawa last Saturday.

Police word of the week is to stop backing up your car unless you are absolutely sure you can do it safely and without interfering with the movement of other vehicles. The kid or the kid's bicycle you run over may be your own.

COMING EVENTS

The Spring Concert of the Montreal Junior Symphony Orchestra will be held on Thursday, May 18, 8.15 p.m. at Plateau Hall. People who have purchased tickets will notice that the date of the concert has been changed, taking into account the long holiday weekend.

The forthcoming concert in the Montreal "Pops" Concerts series will take place on May 16 at the Forum. Alexander Brott will conduct the orchestra and the well known Montreal soprano, Claire Gagnier, will be the featured soloist.

The program will open with the Overture "La Forza del Destino" by Verdi, followed by two selections from Mozart's operas — "Vedrai carino" from Don Giovanni and "Non se plu" from Le Nozze di Figaro. The orchestra will play "Capriccio Espagnol" by Rimsky-Korsakov and the Canadian work on the program will be Dr. Claude Champagne's "Danse Villageoise".

Miss Gagnier will also sing "Si Mi Chiamano Mimi" from La Boheme and "Un Bel Di" from Madame Butterfly. The program will conclude with the playing of "Rumanian Rhapsody" by Enesco.

NEW RECORDINGS

• Over the Waves — Music inspired by the Sea — arr. and cond. by Carmen Dragon, with Capitol Sym. Orch. — Capitol P-8547

This is the latest addition to the dozen or so albums that Dragon has done for Capitol with the Capitol & the Hollywood Bowl Symphonies. Rule Britannia is balanced by Columbia, Gem of the Ocean, and other favourite numbers are Blow the Man Down, The Wide Missouri and the storm scene from Scherzade.

• Faure-La Bonne Chanson, op. 61, and other songs / Gerard Souzay, baritone, with Dalton Baldwin at the piano / Epic LC 3764 / BC 1122

Gerard Souzay is in the upper bracket of art-song interpreters and in a class with Dietrich Fischer - Dieskau and a few others of the elite. His voice is pleasant and powerful, and is handled with the greatest flexibility and control, well demonstrated by this collection.

• Mendelssohn - Sym. No. 3 in a ("Scotch")/Boston Sym. Orch. — Charles Munch / Victor LM / LSC 2520

Mendelssohn labored hard and long over the Scotch Symphony, polishing and revising the work for a dozen years before he was satisfied with the final result. None of this travail is evident in the work, however, given a beautiful and smoothly flowing reading by Munch. Side two is rounded out with the scherzo from the Octet in E flat.

• Cesare Valtelli: Favorite songs from the Town Hall Recital of October, 1960 / Victor LM / LSC 2540

The program on this record is an especially attractive one, drawn heavily from the repertoire of Caruso, Gigli and Schipa and featuring a group of English songs that were favorites of John McCormack. The obvious rapport between artist and audience is present in the well engineered disc.

• Beethoven — Sonatas No. 12 in A flat (Funeral March) & No. 23 in F (Appassionata) / Sviatoslov Richter, piano / Victor LM / LSC 2545

This is the first Richter album to enjoy the full benefits of modern engineering and stereo. The playing, needless to say, is beyond compare. The record is well worth having for the Appassionata alone, wherein the last movement is guaranteed to make your hair stand on end.

• Leontyne Price — Arias from Verdi & Puccini Operas / Victor LM / LSC 2506.

The lady is hailed as the possessor of one of the most beautiful voices in the world today. It is a rich and warm voice, clear and youthful sounding in the higher register, and as mellow as a contralto in the lower. The program consists of well tried arias from Aida, Trovatore, Butterfly, Tosca and others. Sound is excellent.

• Beethoven: Symphonies Nos. 1 & 8 / Vienna Philharmonic - Pierre Monteux / Victor LM / LSC 2491

The coupling of these two works, the first from his youth, the second youthful in spirit and a miracle of will power, is almost traditional. The remarkable thing about the performances is the exuberance with which octogenarian Monteux is able to imbue them. The recording itself is up to Victor usual high standards.

• Song of Norway — A musical based on the life and works of Edvard Grieg / Soloists, the William Singers, Michael Collins and his Orch., Semprini at the piano / Angel 35904

After the initial shock of hearing the piano concerto sung wears off, one can settle down to some fairly enjoyable listening. After all, this sort of thing has been done successfully with other composers (Schubert, Borodin, et al) so why not Grieg, whose gift for melody is great? Freddy and his fiddle, for example, is an excellent way of introducing the innocent to the Norwegian Dance op. 35/2. Unfortunately, I don't think this works quite so well the other way around. The recorded sound is a joy, and the stereo superb.

• Mussorgsky — Pictures at an Exhibition / Sviatoslav Richter, piano/Columbia ML 5600 (M)

This recording was made from a recital in Sofia in February of 1958, and as such is not up to the usual Columbia standards of high fidelity, in addition to having quite a bit of background noises. But the playing more than makes up for these not so serious drawbacks. It is positively breathtaking! Richter's dynamics and tempi are rather unorthodox, but the results achieved are stunning. The massive Great Gate of Kiev is started almost at a whisper, but builds up to a shattering climax. Since the sound of the piano itself is well recorded, the disc can be recommended without reservation.

Years ago, the only way a collector had to affix his stamps in his album was by means of a hinge, a small oblong of thin paper treated with a so-called peelable adhesive. Hinges are still used today, but they have been vastly improved.

In over half a century of playing with and making a hobby of stamp collecting, it is my own opinion that the Fold-O hinge is way ahead of anything else of this nature. But now a monkey wrench has been thrown in the works — collectors are demanding unhinged stamps.

This is alright with the modern issues, but if you expect to find stamps 40 or more years old that have never been hinged, you are an optimist. Some do exist, of course, but for the most part both mint and used stamps have been hinged at one time or another and it is agreed that this does not detract from the actual value of the stamp.

At the same time, it is always a pleasure to pick up an unused stamp in really mint condition. In the case of used stamps, hinges can be washed off, but washing a mint stamp will simply remove the gum and the stamp is no longer mint.

It is some weeks since I discussed this matter and I am bringing the subject up again because I find more and more collectors have turned to mounts instead of hinges. Here again you need to exercise care in your choice of mounts. There are several different makes on the market and the ones to avoid are those that entail poking the stamp into the end of the mount. Unless you are very careful, you will damage the stamp. Even then, in most cases, you will find that the stamp is inclined to slip out or lie crookedly. I am recommending Showgard as being the best of the lot. It is simple to insert the stamp. Instead of having to fiddle around, trying to push the stamp into the mount, you simply turn the mount over and insert the stamp into the divided back. After trying out Showgard for many weeks, I can only take off my hat to the inventor.

Showgard mounts come in strips 8½ inches long and after you insert the stamp you simply cut the strip to form a nice frame around the stamp. And you will find that your stamps are held firmly in place and look neat and tidy.

The Showgard people issue what they call a Vidimeter, a simple chart which shows you how to determine the particular size mount you need for whatever stamps you are planning to mount.

If you want to avoid the use of both hinges or mounts, I can only suggest you invest in one of the Lindner albums. With the Lindner album, all you do is insert the stamp behind the built-in acetate covered frame. It's as simple as that. Lindner albums are now available for many countries and supplements are issued every year or so.

A hint for today — collect Canada mint — and do not use hinges. If I can help you get more pleasure from stamp collecting, write me in care of this paper. I will reply as quickly as possible.

A little too much

Miss Ina appeared before Municipal Court Judge Alex McT. Stalker Wednesday on a charge of being drunk in public on Sherbrooke street May 9.

The elderly spinster explained, "I am sorry, Judge, I know I did wrong but it will never happen again."

"I would never drink anything very strong but just a little porter for my head. I had a fractured skull last October which bothered me."

The judge looked at her record, "What was your excuse in May 1958. Your skull wasn't fractured then."

"Yes, it was, your honor. I've had two fractured skulls, once in 1956. It's just a little porter, your honor. I promise on my medal, I'll never let it happen again."

The judge let her off with the time she already spent in jail on a promise that she would go to Maryville that night.

Wrong button

Life in the supersonic age has its special hazards. So discovered William Fred Waugh, 250 Kensington avenue, Monday afternoon. According to police reports, Mr. Waugh said when coming out of his garage he looked at his dashboard to press the automatic button to close his garage door and suddenly he struck another car coming east through the lane.

Driver of the other car was Mrs. Robert Killmaster, 201 Metcalfe avenue.

M is for maligned mothers

"What is wanting," Napoleon asked one day of Madame Campan, "in order that the youth of France will be well educated?"

"Good mothers," was the reply. The Emperor was most forcibly struck with this answer.

"Here," said he, "is a system in one word."

So it would appear that Napoleon subscribed to the adage that "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

In the modern world, mothers have been extolled, exonerated, examined, exhorted and exploited by educators, psychiatrists, columnist, beauty editors, counsellors, and advertisers.

Any magazine or women's page will tell mother how best she can fulfill her role as mother and still be a successful and charming wife, hostess, cook, laundress and charwoman.

She is even expected to be an angel!

Ever since Abraham Lincoln uttered the now-famous words: "All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother," mothers have had the additional burden of joining the celestial beings.

But when children go wrong, it is often the mother who takes the brunt of the blame for her child's misdoings.

Except in some cases as the following from "Uncle Tom's Cabin":

"Who was your mother?" "Never had none," said the child with a grin. "What do you mean? Where were you born?"

"Never was born", persisted Topsy.

"Do you know who made you?"

"Nobody as I know on," said the child with a short laugh.

But Mothers will be honored next Sunday in the United States, Canada, England, Sweden, Denmark, India, China and Mexico where the custom of observing Mother's Day has spread.

Mother's Day was first observed in the churches of Philadelphia on May 10, 1908 in response to a suggestion by a Miss Anna Jarvis of that city who suggested white carnations be worn, as a tribute to mothers.

In 1914 President Woodrow Wilson, following a resolution by Congress the preceding year commending Mother's Day observance, issued a proclamation designating the second Sunday of May as Mother's Day and directed that the national flag should be displayed on all public buildings on that day.

"Mothering Sunday", an old English custom, antedated the present observance by many years; it was named from the custom of the faithful attending the mother church in which they had been baptized, on Mid-Lent Sunday and offering gifts at the altar to the church and also to their mothers, as tokens of love and gratitude.

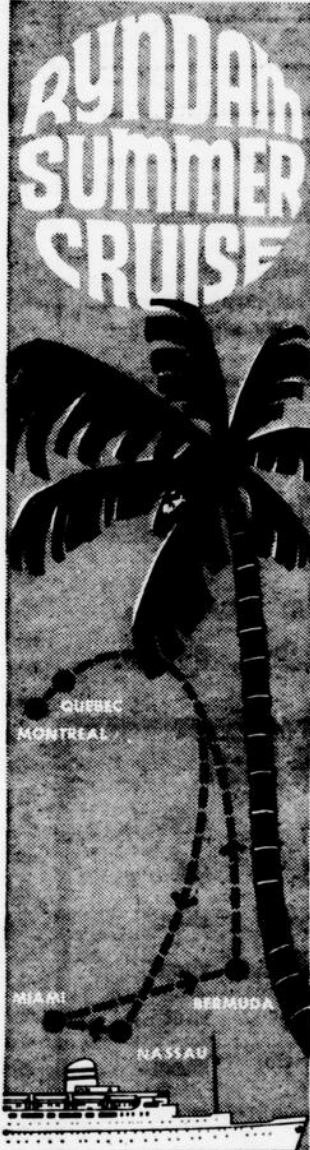

Perhaps mothers may feel honored most of all in the words of the poet:

"Who ran to help me when

I fell,
And would some pretty story tell,

Or kiss the place to make it well?
My Mother."

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS:

1. QUITTING is preferred. A conservative young man may find QUITTING an overly gay group of friends harder than he expected, for if they became his friends, he must have liked them in spite of their exuberance, and friendships are hard to replace. He is more likely to have expected QUIETING them to be impossible, for this would require a reversal of character. QUILTING and QUIRTING are remote.

5. LIP, yes. A child's LIP, or impertinence, may indicate a character defect, such as overaggressiveness, hostility, etc. A child's LIE may indicate no more than a normal desire to escape punishment.

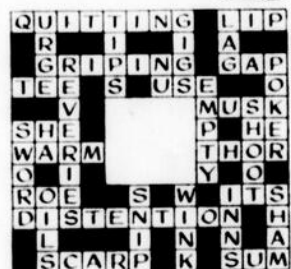

6. GRIPING is chosen. An employer's ambiguous orders may leave his help GRIPING, for they may find they put a lot of effort into doing the wrong thing. GROPING is not as certain; they may have assumed they understood the orders until they were told they did the wrong thing.

9. GAP is favored. A GAP, or interval, may cause a prospect to drop off a high-pressure salesman's hook for, it may give the prospect time to reflect and decide he doesn't want to make the purchase. He is not likely to know he has fallen for a GYP until after he has made the purchase.

14. MUSK is selected. MUSK, as a type of perfume, might make one feel he was stifling, for it can have a strong and rather overpowering scent. A MASK could be an oxygen MASK that would assist in breathing.

19. WARM is wanted. A prodigal may expect a WARM greeting when he finally returns home, for he may know that his family will be ready to forgive and forget. WARY is unlikely; even if they were angry, there would be no need for caution. WARE is an archaic form of WARY.

27. DISTENTION over DISSENSION. Guerilla troops may find that DISTENTION, as stretching their activities over a large area, may weaken their efforts, for communications may become difficult and assistance may be too far away when needed. DISSENSION may weaken the efforts of any group.

DOWN:

3. TIPS, to be sure. To a bellhop a generous hotel guest may represent TIPS, for he is not likely to have any interest in guests other than to give service and be tipped for it. TOPS is not as certain; he may tip no more than other generous guests.

4. GIGS is wanted. It may be just as well not to carry GIGS, or light rowboats, too far, for the farther one goes, the heavier and more cumbersome they may become. GAGS is not favored; one can't pull GAGS on some people at all;

and others are willing to go along with them.

5. LAG, yes. One of a group of hikers might take advantage of a LAG, as when others have fallen behind, to take a rest until they catch up. He might not want to take advantage of a LOG, as a place to sit, if it would cause him to LAG. LEG and LUG are remote.

7. REVERIES is chosen. A man may be considered impractical because of his REVERIES, for people may feel it is impossible for a dreamer to have his feet on the ground. His REVERSES may be due to general business conditions that could not be foreseen.

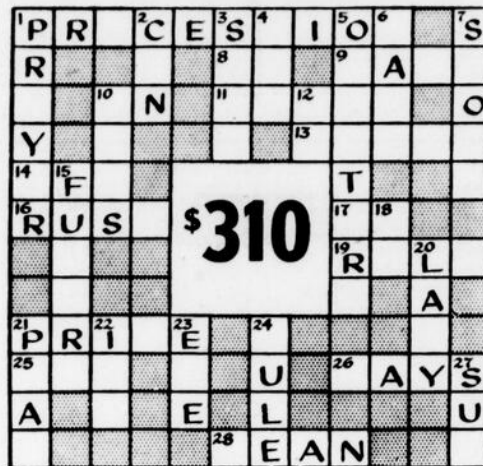

10. POKER is wanted. A man who likes to gamble for high stakes might not want to get involved with POKER, for the stakes would depend on the other players; he might prefer roulette or such where he can bet what he wishes. Even a player for small stakes may dislike a PIKER, or niggard, who might fuss over a small loss.

15. SHOOT is accurate. A lost hunter might SHOOT to attract the attention of a search party, for he is likely to be armed and the sound of the shot would carry farther than a SHOUT. SHORT is remote.

23. SNIP, yes. A woman may SNIP up a bargain dress, for she may have bought it at low price with the idea of refurbishing it to suit her. She need not SNAP up a bargain dress; she is likely to want to try it on and see whether she wants it or not.

MATE IN TWO

The key move is B-KR1 and the Rook administers mate on the second move. If, in reply to 1. B-KR1, Black tries K-Q6, then 2. R-Q6 is mate. On the other hand, if Black should move the K anywhere on the B-file, then 2. R-B6 is mate.

Fort William, Ont., May 1 — Crash helmets will be compulsory equipment for all participants in championship downhill races of the central division of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association next season.

a score of 6½ - 1½, after beating Williams in the last round of the tournament. To the surprise of all, Williams finished the event rather poorly as he did not win any games after the third round. He started strongly in the last-round game against Zalys, but appeared to have lost interest toward the ending, whereupon Zalys took advantage of this temporary lapse to go on and win.

Following are the final scores:

Hirsch	6-2
Witt	6-2
Matthai	5½-2½
Williams	3-5
Baikowitz	1½-6½

To vary our diagrams somewhat, here is a position from actual play, wherein White forced the win by taking advantage of a "pin". Can you see how he did it?

Resurrection VI
by
The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

This is the last word that I have to say about Easter. It was also the last word St. Paul had to say, 19 centuries ago. He had expounded to the Corinthian converts the doctrine of the Resurrection from three points of view: (1) the evidence that supported it; (2) the necessity of the doctrine for a man's peace of mind; (3) the possibility of God intervening in this way to restore the Lord Jesus to life. He answers the three difficulties and then goes on: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." In other words, He assures his converts that if they believe certain things they must act in a way corresponding to their belief.

That is true of all of us, no matter what our belief is. If I am a headhunter in the wilds of Borneo, I must hunt for heads. If I am a farmer in the Province of Quebec, believing what I do about the climate of Quebec, it behoves me to get out my seed potatoes and see that my ground is ready to receive them. But more especially, if I am a Canadian citizen believing in the greatness and the future welfare of my country, I must govern my conduct with a view to that welfare and not simply to my own selfish ends.

We are in a difficult spot at the present time. We have been considering our own wages if we are laborers, or our salaries if we are management, or our dividends if we are stockholders. And because we have been thinking only of ourselves we have stored up trouble for ourselves. Because we have thought of income rather than output we are losing both of them. We have steadily forced our incomes up, for labor, for management and for dividends, and have put up the price of our products to such a height that nobody will buy them. We import cars because our own are too expensive. We import potatoes because we like the thrill of imported potatoes. "Of course," we say, "we can afford them; we demand the most expensive foods because we are Canadians, and we make the rest of the world pay for them."

The flaw in the statement is that the rest of the world is refusing to pay for them and we shall presently do without. Meantime labor says: "Increase our wages, and shorten our hours, and our economy will boom."

And management says: "Just give us a free hand and higher salaries and we'll show you."

And capital says: "Reduce our taxes and increase our profits, and everything will be well. The simple fact is that all three groups are thinking of themselves and not of the community as a whole.

On the other hand, the reports that come out of Europe show that all three groups there are co-operating for the good of their countries and as a result they are prospering and taking our markets away from us.

This probably seems a queer close to a series of articles on the Resurrection but it is Paul's "Therefore" which forced it on me. If we really believe, action must follow. If we believe in the Resurrection of our Lord we act in a certain way towards Him. If we believe in a certain way about money and what it means to us, then we act in a certain way about money and how much of it is coming to us, no matter what the results may be to us and to the community as a whole. Every increase in wages, salaries or dividends adds to our difficulties in our competition with a world which thinks of community before money.

APOSTLES OF HEALTH

There are those who criticize National Health Week because they say we should consider health has an important objective not only during one week, but every week. . . Surely it is logical that once a year people all over Canada should have the opportunity of learning that health is possible for everyone. Perhaps thousands of citizens who learn something about health during National Health Week may become apostles of health.—Humboldt (Sask.) Journal.

ment in the event of annexation brought an assurance by Alderman Drury. "We would not surrender without a forceful struggle."

Drury also advised the WMA no decision had been made on police teletype.

The question of parking near commercial areas and whether it was to be free or paid elicited from Drury that, "No policy had been decided upon by Council."

He said, "It will take a lot of hacking around to decide if it would be an encroachment on free enterprise to have the city provide the parking or if it is the responsibility of the city to provide it. There are people who feel very strongly on both sides of the question."

One suggestion that received favorable reaction was abolishment of a by-law prohibiting parking of service trucks in certain areas where other cars are allowed to park. The suggestion was asked to send it in to Council.

A question concerning the widening of Dorchester street and its proposed tie-in to the City of Montreal brought out that homologation in the area will expire February 22, 1963. Said Drury, "If we don't have the answer by that date we will have to get an extension of the homologation."

Consideration is being given by Council to adding on to either City Hall or the Police and Fire building in order to better house its employees.

Quimet said, "We are calling on consulting engineers and architects for their opinions and should have a decision in the next three or four months."

Drury suggested complaints of illegal out-of-town all-day parkers be made to police. "If we know about the violations we will do something about them."

A complaint about the noise on The Boulevard made by compact cars was handled by Drury with the advice that, "Anti-noise legislation is not very specific. We have no solution on how to trap these fellows. If you have any other than stationing eight cops on The Boulevard all night, please send it in."

Drury further admitted, when asked about what could be done to make Sherbrooke street and Victoria avenue intersection less dangerous, that the Council "had run out of ideas."

A woman who opposed the pro-

Baptists to see Morality Play

In recognition of Mother's Day, the morning service will be a 'Christian Family Service'. The Rev. R. S. Dunn will speak on the subject "BIBLE, DUSTPAN AND CHANEL NO. 5".

The Girl's Religious Drama Group will conduct the evening service and present a Morality Play "HIGH ADVENTURE". The Senior Class will be host at an after-church program in the church hall.

Young people of the church will assist in the morning 'Christian Family Service'. The Sunday evening hour which begins at seven-thirty, will be one of particular interest. An experimental adaptation of a well-known Morality Play will be presented by the Girl's Religious Drama Group, under the direction of Mrs. R. S. Dunn, assisted by Basil Gedy, and parents and friends of the girls.

The Girl's Choir will also participate in the service assisted by the Church Choir under the direction of Mr. F. L. McLearn. At eight-thirty, the Mid-Teens, a Senior Class in the church, will present a program in the Hall and cordially invites the attendance of all interested persons. Mr. John Keene will be the soloist and other program features will be presented by the class. Mr. Neil Steeves is the Class Leader, and Miss Phyllis Gordon is the president.

posed natural gas rate rise of 63% wanted to know what Westmount was doing about representing the consumer. Dawe told her a study was being made. She countered, "In the meantime the rate will go into affect."

Another woman was seriously alarmed at the rate squirrels are taking over Westmount. A man joined her, joined by his neighbors. The situation is desperate. The tulips and crocuses are being eaten alive by squirrels and you can't shoot them. One solution was to bait a catch-alive trap with a tulip, crocus or peanut. Another lady reported successful use of cayenne pepper and the last comment was, "If citizens stop feeding the squirrels we'll have fewer squirrels and fewer rats too."

The Association elected J. Murray Savage president, Mrs. J. A. Hodgson and R. W. Coristine vice-presidents and John Foch, R. H. Stevenson and Panet Raymond as members-at-large and alternate to serve on the Civic nominating committee.

Dr. P. Edgell, listed in last week's Examiner as an executive committee member up for re-election, did not run for re-election. Two names of candidates for election to the executive committee not given out until the WMA meeting were those of H. Lande and R. Holden.

This year's slate was elected by acclamation. On the new executive are 3 officers and 50 executive committee members. The outgoing president H. G. Merrill reported an increase of 102 members over last year to a total of 1,885 members for 1961-62. He also remarked this was the first year he had seen people standing in line before the meeting

CGIT girls to meet Saturday

Mary Copland was elected President of the Canadian Girl in Training Group of Westmount Park Emmanuel and Calvary United Church at the meeting held May 6th. Other members appointed to the executive are, Vice-President — Judy Borrer, Secretary, Cheri Cadieux and Treasurer, Sheryll Holland.

Five new members were welcomed to the group. The program of activities was planned for the month ahead.

This coming Saturday at 10 a.m. the CGIT Group will have a crafts program during which time they will prepare table favours and decorations which will be used at the Mother and Daughter Banquet to be held in a month.

Annual graduation

The annual Graduation of the High School Department of the Temple Emanu-El Religious School will be held on Friday evening, May 19 in conjunction with the regular Sabbath Eve service at 8.15 o'clock, when a class of 28 young people will be warded their diplomas in recognition of their completion of the Temple Emanu-El Religious School course.

Confirmation will be held in conjunction with the Shabuoith festival service, Sunday morning, May 21 at 9.30 o'clock, when 30 young people will undergo the rite of confirmation characteristic of Reform Judaism and vow to bear witness to the moral law as given to the Jewish people at Sinai, symbolized by the Ten Commandments, commemorated on the Festival of Shabuoith. Rabbi Dr. Harry J. Stern will give the charge to the confirmants and bestow the blessings upon them.

A reception will follow the worship in honor of the confirmants in the social auditorium.

'Be kind to Animals' week held by SPCA

The Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is sponsoring "Be Kind to Animals Week" May 7 to 13. This is one of the oldest "weeks" and is widely observed in other parts of Canada and the United States. Its object is to focus attention on kindness to animals and on securing better treatment for them. At the SPCA every week is Be-Kind-to-Animals Week, but the public is urged to actively support this need and help "those who cannot speak for themselves."

Buffet of foreign dishes featured at ORT luncheon

A Schmorgasbord Buffet with a variety of about 40 foreign dishes will be featured at a Luncheon sponsored by Montreal Women's ORT Casablanca Group Seven at the Temple Emmanuel Tuesday, May 16, at 1 o'clock.

Proceeds will be directed to the Jerusalem ORT Training center. This school was adopted as a national project at the Women's Canadian ORT Convention held in Toronto last November. The $250,000. project includes a new building and a renovation program to one of ORT's oldest schools in Israel. Canadian Jewish Congress and United Jewish Relief Agencies are giving substantial financial support to this Canadian commitment.

All sections of ORT in Canada have pledged additional funds through special functions to fulfill the pledge. However, to date, the Casablanca Schmorgasbord is one of the largest single undertakings by an ORT group. An attendance of 500 is anticipated.

An array of foods cooked in the manner of their national origin is expected to delight the most discriminating connoisseurs. All food and desserts are donated by Montreal's leading hotels, caterers, restaurants and wholesalers, and they will be prepared and cooked by members of the Casablanca Group.

Delectable dishes will represent many foreign countries. Guests will partake of Italian and Chinese dishes, as well as Inlagt Sill from Sweden, Israeli Eggplant and Israeli Falafel, Hungarian Dore in Sour Cream, Swiss Ramequins Girasienne, Paupiettes of Sole from France and Scotch Cold Salmon LaSalle. French and Hungarian pastries, Swiss Tortes and Austrian desserts will complete the epicurean menu.

The decor in the Banquet Hall will be in keeping with the international flavor of the event. Paintings especially executed for the occasion will depict many points of interest in various countries of Europe and Israel. The pictures will be hung on screens against a flag of the respective countries. Centrepieces of fruit on the individual tables throughout the room will have tablecloths striped with the national colors of the various countries. Ladies who will help serve will be dressed in National costumes.

Covers for the menu folders have been designed and hand painted by ORT members. A variety of twenty foreign recipes will be included in the menu booklet.

Entertainment will have the theme of "A Musical Tour around the World", and will highlight an original selection entitled "Around ORT We Plan our Work", which was written and will be narrated by Miriam Ben Ezra, well-known leal interpreter of Israel folk songs, with lyrics by Mrs. R. Pniewsky. Mrs. Ben Ezra will be assisted by the Newlanders, a skillful group of five folksingers. Jim McKenna, TV and radio personality, will act as master of ceremonies.

Committee for Schmorgasbord Luncheon is headed by Mrs. Marvin Rosner and Mrs. Max Malewsky, co-chairmen; and Mrs. Max Weissler and Mrs. Enoch Roskies, patroness co-chairmen; Mrs. Roman Pniewsky, chairman of entertainment; Mrs. Simon Flegg, program chairman; Mrs. Rudi Eckhaus, ticket chairman. Mrs. Max Weissler is president of Casablanca Group 7.

Armloads of blossoms, that will fade?

Clothing, waste help needy

Sixteen trucks working almost 'round the clock are hard pressed to keep pace with housewives bent on spring cleaning, according to Brig Charles Lynch, in charge of the Salvation Army's Rehabilitation Centre. The centre, which helps to salvage lives of men who, through alcohol, temptation or personal problems, have been unable to cope with life, is partially financed by salvaged materials ranging from clothing and household furniture down to waste paper, rags and metals.

Each year about $25,000 worth of clothing or household items contributed to the Army are supplied free of charge to people who cannot pay. The remainder is sold to low income families through one of the Salvation Army's three stores.

In these stores a man's suit would sell for $6 or less. A warm overcoat could be purchased for $4 or less. Women's and children's clothing are on the same scale. The same scale applies to furniture. A chesterfield — in good condition — might sell for $30.

Last year the cost of operating the rehabilitation centre was more than $390,000 and all but a small proportion came from salvaged materials.

"We have sold books, jewelry, watches, radios, television sets, home appliances, even automobiles," Brig. Lynch said. "And the receipts are all devoted to salvaging lives."

"It is only through the grand support we are given by Montreal citizens that we are able to be self-supporting to such a large degree. That's why it is that the Red Shield Appeal now being held is only designed to cover about 20 percent of the cost of the work carried on in all of the Salvation Army's 25 service centres in this area," he said.

Christian Science

The immortal status of the children of God will be brought out at the services in the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Mortals and Immortals". Topical Scriptural selections will include the following from Romans: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God . . . The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God." And correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Human capacity is slow to discern and to grasp God's creation and the divine power and presence which go with it, demonstrating its spiritual origin. Mortals can never know the infinite, until they throw off the old man and reach the spiritual image and likeness."

Dental insurance

Fluoridation

"Fluoridation is not only a safe, practical and effective public health measure, but also the cheapest and best communal dental health insurance policy that can be accepted," Dr. C. Aberdeen McCabe told a joint assembly of the town councils and citizens of two of Montreal's south shore communities last week.

"The initial premium is the cost of the equipment and its installation," he said. "For a community with a population of about 6,000 this amounts to less than the cost of straightening the crooked teeth of six of its children. The quantity of fluoride necessary to enrich any water supply to the optimal level, costs an annual average of four to 15 cents per person."

Dr. McCabe said that a water supply which contains sufficient fluoride can effect a more than 65 per cent reduction in the occurrence of dental decay. In Brantford, Ont. — a test city for North America — of children in the nine to 11 age group in 1948 only 5.7 per cent had cavity-free teeth. In 1959 43.8 per cent of Brantford's nine-to-11-year-olds were free of dental cavities. The difference was directly attributable to the decision of the Brantford municipal council to add fluoride compounds to the town's water supply for the intervening years.

The problem of tooth decay, Dr. McCabe pointed out, has reached such a stage it is physically impossible for the dental profession to fill all decayed teeth. Dental caries are found in 33 per cent of two-year-old babies, 48 per cent of two-and-a-half year-olds, 60 per cent of all three-year-olds and 70 per cent of four-year-old children.

"Those of you who are parents," he said, "can readily realize the amount of suffering that can be prevented by fluoridation. I must admit that fluoridation will not provide benefits to dental cripples, because fluoridation is a preventative, not a medication. It does not cure dental diseases.

"However, with the improvement of water supplies by fluoridation, we can expect: first, a tremendous increase in the number of children having no decayed teeth; second, a two-third decrease in the decayed — missing-and-filling rate; third, 75 per cent first permanent molars lost; and fourth, 95 per cent less cavities in the frontal teeth.

"All of this makes treatment easier for both the patient and the dentist, reduces the need for extensive and often painful treatments for the very young and aids in preventing the premature loss of teeth which is the chief cause of irregular crooked teeth and adult dental cripples."

Dr. McCabe said that fluoridation has been tested over more than 20 years of study and research; more than any other public health measure has ever received.

Goodwill missions need for Thailand

VICTORIA (CP) — People in Southeast Asia are catching up on social advances, says Hugh Christie, warden at Oakalla Prison farm.

Mr. Christie, who travelled to Thailand for the United Nations, urged the Provincial Council of Women recently to do without a few luxuries, to scrimp and save and then set out as individual ambassadors to Southeast Asia to spread goodwill and knowledge.

Mr. Christie said Southeast Asians look to Canadians as a superior people but that they are catching up in social advances.

"We're got to work and make sure our teen-agers work and use all their leisure time profitably or we'll be left behind and they'll be showing us the way."

"Those who oppose it," he said, "are in the same class with those who opposed pasteurization, vaccination, chlorination and filtration."

The practice is recommended and endorsed by the Department of National Health and Welfare, the Canadian Medical, the Canadian Dental and the Canadian Public Health Associations and by the World Health Organizations of the United Nations.

Galveston, Texas, was the first U. S. city to try the commission form of government.

Two cab drivers row over "load"

It cost a taxi driver $5 in costs Wednesday to find he was erred in charging another cabbie with illegally picking up passengers in Westmount.

The complainant was in the number one position on the Veterans Cab stand alongside the Avenue Theatre on Sunday, April 16, when a Veterans Cab drew up before the theatre and discharged passengers. Instead of moving on, the alien cab remained stopped at the curb for several minutes.

A man came out of the theatre with two companions and got into the cab in front of the theatre. The Westmount licensed cab drew up alongside the stranger in town and challenged him.

The stranger thought the Westmount cabdriver was joking, so he says, and he says he joked back, "Do you want this load?" Then he drove off, telling the other chap to charge him.

After much excited bilingual palaver between the defendant, the complainant and the complainant's witness, another Westmount cab driver, the defendant produced his witness with Gallic bravo. His passenger, a quiet convincing gentleman with a twinkling eye, swore he took the Montreal cab to the theatre, stopped over for a few minutes and then continued on in the same cab as part of the same trip. Not guilty.

SAM POLLOCK, who has come a long way up the hockey ladder, and who is now the big man behind most of Canadiens Hockey Club farm systems, couldn't have spoken truer words at the presentation banquet of the Metro Junior Hockey League. He remarked, as he glanced around the banquet hall at the Queen's Hotel, that Metro club coaches and members of the club managements were at one time playing the game of hockey that they now serve in another manner. To mention two, Buddy O'Connor, coach of Verdun Maple Leafs; Pete Morin, Lachine's club president.

LET'S GO A LITTLE further, Phil Dalglish, coach of the Lachine Maroons. Phil never played the big time but he had it pretty rough in the minor pro leagues where he played for Portland and other clubs on the west coast. Phil started his playing on Verdun rinks, so did Buddy. The point that Sam wanted to bring to the attention of the 225 persons was that they were still with the game. It also showed that this sort of thing can go on and on. It's nice to have such guys taking up the game that at one time gave them a living, at least a start, now are working to keep the game alive with the juniors.

LOOKING BACK on the youngsters playing hockey today, sons of famous NHL stars, it seems that their names will live on for many years to come. To mention a few, Red Storey's son; Doug Harvey, Elmer Lach, Ken Mosdell, Gerry Heffernan and Maurice Richard's boy. There must be quite a few more if you want to take a few hours and consult the records.

It has been a few years since players like Marshall, Richard, Boom Boom and Big Jean that make thousands cheer as they score goals or make fine plays, have come up through the junior ranks. The ranks have been lean but maybe that cycle has been reached as we take a look at youngsters of today who will be stars of the future.

ANOTHER POINT is the men behind the clubs. It's the pro clubs who gain the benefit on the long run. Except for a small tribute paid to the management of amateur clubs, they are soon forgotten as the club carries on, and the lucky player goes on to the top.

IT'S BEEN LIKE that for some years now and we don't suppose it will change in my time or in my son's time. The system of gaining players for pro clubs is here to stay. It does cost the big clubs dough, but it's a gamble they take to get the big one, the one that will pay off dividends.

FEAR TO GROUND REMEMBER PETER LINDSAY, who played for NDG Monarchs Metro junior team? He made it at McGill as an engineer. Peter now gets around in a wheel chair. He was injured in a hockey game by a check that is seen hundreds of times, and no one gets hurt. Credit goes out to Peter from his many hockey fans for the will and spirit to get what he wanted, a graduate of McGill with a degree.

Jim Tsonos, who resides on Victoria avenue, will walk the aisle on Saturday. He was staged by many of his friends last week... Another of Jim's pals, Derek Wyles, who now resides in Toronto was staged two weeks ago and married the next day. What a week-end?
