REV. F. J. DAY IN SHERBROOKE.

PREACHED AT PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH YESTERDAY AND ADDRESSED Y.M.C.A.

Rev. Frank J. Day, B.A., B.D., occupied his former pulpit at Plymouth Congregational Church both morning and evening yesterday and also spoke at the Y.M.C.A. in the afternoon.

At the evening service of Plymouth church Mr. Day took for the subject of his sermon the words of the Lord to Joshua, who succeded Moses as the Leader of the Chosen People. "Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord thy God is with thee withsoever thou goest" (Joshua I, 9.)

Mr. Day applied this message of encouragement to the needs of the souls of men to-day, for courage to meet the duties of life, and lighten its perplexities. In the crisis of Joshua's life, when he assumed the great responsibilities of a teacher of this wandering people, and their guide into the promised land, this strong and reassuring message had come to him to put faith and undaunted purpose into his soul and help him to overcome the many discouragements that he knew might meet him on the way. Those words were with him as he started into his new and serious duties; were with him to give him optimistic faith in the purpose of this people; were with him so long as his life lasted.

And the power of these words had not been lost between the time of Joshua and the present day. They rang out as true a message to the hearts of men, of each individual man, as they did to that man of Israel. In the great crisis of life, when duty, when heroic purpose, when courageous action are calling souls of young and old to go out and to do and dare for the good of the world in that particular sphere of life in which each individual is found. This message was vital with meaning and help to them —"The Lord thy God is with thee."

To the souls of men in sin, in trouble, in despair, in discouragement, in doubt, the dispelling power of this essential and continual Presence came. To the man who realized that God was with him, the future held no terrors. Luther was such a man, and Cromwell, men fearless, optimistic and courageous, because they believed in their very heart o. hearts that the Lord their God was with them. A man who believed in God must be optimistic, must be,—

"One who never turned his back but
Marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were
Worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
Sleep to wake."

Such was the message that should come to all in the crisis of life, giving them consciousness of divine assistance in all their purposes and ambitions, a never failing help in trouble. "The Lord thy God is with thee withersoever thou goest."

AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The Rev. Mr. Day who, during his stay in Sherbrooke took much interest in the Y.M.C.A., addressed that Association yesterday afternoon. His subject was "Hands Across the Sea." Mr. Day referred to the work done in England and Scotland. The Associations were very true to their mission. The members seemed always planning to do good to others. Sunday afternoon services were held far and near. The Y.M.C.A. and Associations for both men and women had large and exceedingly well equipped buildings to which the young people could go.

Before closing Mr. Day referred to the thought of the people in the old country towards Canada, and to the ties that bind the Dominion to the Empire. The people of Britain appreciated the greatness and possibilities of Canada as they had never done before. They understood Canada better and every day the interest of the people of the old country in this young Dominion was increasing.

STEPPED IN FRONT OF FREIGHT TRAIN.

Thought to Avoid One Coming in Opposite Direction.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR FARNHAM —ALBERT ALLEN, OF EAST FARNHAM THE VICTIM.

Farnham, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—A fatal accident occurred on the C.P.R. tracks near here Thursday afternoon, when Mr. Albert Allen met his death by being run over by a westbound freight train. The unfortunate man was walking along the double track from Brigham Junction to Farnham, and observed a train approaching him from the latter place. He stepped on to the other track directly in front of the westbound freight from Brigham, which he did not notice and was instantly killed, being quite badly mangled. An inquest was held by Coroner Mitchell Saturday morning, when a verdict of accidental death was rendered. The remains were taken to East Farnham for burial.

SOUTHERN DEATH LIST GROWS.

Three Thousand Homeless at Pensacola, Fla.

RESCUING PARTIES ARE STILL AT WORK—BODIES STILL IN WRECKAGE.

Pensacola, October 1.—The loss of life and the damage resulting from the hurricane which struck this city Thursday morning are heavy.

The list of dead has grown to 26, and it is known that many more have been lost and others injured, while 3,000 are homeless. For two days rescuing parties have been working, but many bodies are still under the wreckage.

For ten miles east and west streets are strewn with the wrecks of homes and vessels of all kinds. Commencing at Fort McRae, on a point overlooking the Gulf, and continuing to Escambia bridge, east of the city, there is nothing but devastation. At McRae five lives were lost. The experience of twenty men there was trying. They sought the batteries, the highest point as the waves began to dash over them, and lashed themselves to the guns. There they clung for more than 12 hours. The wife of Sergeant Prentice and her little child were killed at this point. Three artillery men were washed away and badly injured.

FLED LEAVING TWO BAGS OF BOOTY.

Bold Burglar Frightened at Farnham.

WAS RAIDING STORE WHICH HAD BEEN VISITED BY BURGLARS MANY TIMES BEFORE.

Farnham, Oct. 1.—(Special.) — The usual crop of fall burglaries have been started again. Saturday morning at 2 o'clock the store of Mr. G. L. Elmes was broken into. The plate glass pane from the left fromt window was cut right out and the burglar had collected a number of articles into two bags, when Miss C. Valiquette, who lives above, awakened, and called down the pipe hole to ascertain if that was Mr. Elmes. No answer came, so she quickly called to the neighbors from her window, but before anyone came the bold burglar made his escape, leaving behind him his two bags of collections. Mr. Elmes is not sure yet how much he has lost. This is only the ninth time this store has been broken into. There are many burglaries committed in town every year, and it is generally believed that the same are the work of local cracksmen. The Town Council, in the opinion of many, should provide a night watchman to protect the interests of their citizens.

STEAMER FOUNDERS IN LAKE HURON.

UNKNOWN VESSEL GOES DOWN WITH ALL ON BOARD.

Port Huron, Mich., Oct. 1.—An unknown steamer foundered with its entire crew in Lake Huron, off Sanila Island, during the Northwest gale. The tragedy was witnessed by the crew of the passenger steamer, City of Mackinaw, which arrived at Harbor Beach, yesterday. The Mackinaw was some distance away when the unknown steamer foundered, and cruised about in the vicinity for some time in the hope of rescuing, but darkness came on without their discovering any clue to the identity of the steamer.

ALBERT J. ADAMS SUICIDES.

FORMERLY KNOWN AS THE "POLICY KING" OF NEW YORK CITY.

New York, Oct. 1. — (Special)—Albert J. Adams, formerly known as the "Policy King," because of the prominence of his connection with the conduct of policy games in this city, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a revolver in his apartments in the Ansonia to-day.

Ill-health and financial losses are believed to be, in part at least, cause for suicide.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT DANVILLE FAIR.

But Rain Made the Afternoon Unpleasant.

FINE DISPLAY IN VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS—REMARKABLE FRUIT SHOW.

Danville, Oct. 1. — (Special.) — The 30th annual exhibition of the Danville Union Agricultural Society was held Saturday, Sept. 29th. It was the most successful in the history of the society. The fair opened Friday evening, when fruits, cookery and fancy work were on exhibition. Fruits and vegetables shown were very fine, especially the apples, which could be successfully compared with any in the whole Dominion. The fancy work was up to former years in quality, but not in quantity.

Saturday opened bright and fair, but early showed signs of rain, which came down heavily in the afternoon, and the new grand stand was well patronized by the immense crowd.

All the morning people poured in from the surrounding country and a special train from Richmond brought a goodly contingent. In all nearly 5000 people passed through the gate.

The entries in live stock were up to the mark generally, being unusually heavy in horses, but the rain hurried the judging.

The music for the day was furnished by the Sherbrooke band and the phonograph of Mr. F. L. Barrie, Richmond.

TEACH PATRIOTISM IN OUR SCHOOLS.

Urged by Inspector Taylor in Address to Teachers.

THIS SHOULD NOT BE OVERLOOKED IN DEVELOPMENT OF MINDS OF YOUTHFUL CANADIANS.

Knowlton, Oct. 1.—(Special.) — At the afternoon session of the Teachers' Institute Friday Mr. Fuller gave quite a lengthy address on the methods of teaching English, and gave to the teachers assembled a plan under consideration, allowing scholars who take advance work in elementary schools as is often the case, to take examination, the papers being sent from Quebec, that if passed will give them certificates of standing which will be recognized on their entering Academies.

Mr. E. M. Taylor spoke to those teachers who had not taken diplomas, and how they could secure them. Having passed in Grade II., Academy, they can now receive diplomas without attending McGill Normal by application to Quebec Committee a permit to teach two years is given. At the end of that time an applicant must pass an examination in school law and art of teaching, which is easily gotten up at home, and if successful she receives a diploma. Then a teacher is able to take advantages of bonuses that are not available without one. After teaching 15 years a teacher may be put upon the pension list, and if she goes on teaching will receive a bonus of $15 a year from Government and then those who take up garden work get $30 extra and the better teachers get a bonus of quite a good sum, which they can take every second year. He explained the Pension Fund. It was a better return than any insurance. Mr. Taylor is ruled out of that fund as all in clerical orders are not eligible to secure it.

He congratulated the young teachers and said one would keep the heart young by associating with children and advised them to apply at once for permits to teach from Dr. Parmelee, of Quebec.

After an intermission Mr. Taylor spoke on teaching patriotism. The Caxton Charts gave a good idea of the government of the country. He showed a chart colored to represent the way our Canadian flag was made up and read its history. The Canadian flag was adopted in 1867 when four provinces united, and their emblems formed the coat of arms. As the other provinces have joined the Confederation the other divices have been added. He enjoined on the teachers the advisability of having a good flag for each school house, and to teach scholars what it means to live under the flag. He advised making much of Empire Day, May 23rd, and suggested a programme to be used on such occasions.

There were twenty teachers present, and took dinner at the Lake View House. The teachers of the Academy were also invited to dinner.

An evening session of the Institute was held in the Paul Holland Knowlton Memorial Building, Mr. Taylor continuing his subject in an able and interesting manner, and all enjoyed looking at the antiques and curios of the museum.

YOUNG WHITE IN HOUSE OF CORRECTION—OTHERS GET OFF EASILY.

Richford, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—In the County Court at St. Albans Thursday the cases of State vs. W. W. White, druggist of Richford, for selling liquor without a license, and also State vs. Miss Eva White, also of Richford, for same offence, were brought up, heard and disposed of. Mr. W. W. White pleaded guilty to one offence, sentence deferred. In the case of Eva White the State's attorney entered a noble prosequi and respondent was discharged. Thus closes the famous Richford wood alcohol cases of about one year ago. It will be remembered that Mr. Almon White, a son of Mr. W. W. White, and a principal in the cases, was tried at St. Albans at the March term of the County Court, convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $2000. He was convicted of four offences and was fined $500 for each offence. The case was taken to the Supreme Court in Burlington in May, at which time the exceptions were waived and young Almon White was confined in the House of Correction, Rutland, this State, in default of judgment. The present trial closes one of the most famous cases that Richford has furnished for many years.

DOUBLE WEDDING AT WARDEN.

Warden, Oct. 1. — (Special)— A very pretty and interesting double wedding took place at the home of Mr. Benjamin Atkinson, when his youngest daughter, Bessie, was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest J. Standish, and also his son, Percival, and Miss Ida R. Hunter, of Boston, Mass., in the presence of their immediate relatives and friends.

At precisely three o'clock the bridal couples entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, which was played by Miss B. Standish, and standing under an arch of autumn leaves, took upon themselves the vows, the Rev. Mr. Howard officiating.

The brides were charmingly attired, one in cream crepe de chine, and the other in French nun's veiling, and both carried bouquets of ferns and flowers and looked as sweet and pretty as brides could possibly look.

After the ceremony all the guests to the number of about seventy-five, betook themselves to the dining-room, where a most sumptuous repast was served.

The presents were unusually numerous and very beautiful and useful.

In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Standish left for their future home and Mr. and Mrs. Percival Atkinson on a short honeymoon trip, amid showers of rice and the best wishes of their host of friends for their future happiness and good luck.

MORE MONEY FOR PROTESTANT SCHOOLS.

New Tax of Half Mill on Protestant Real Estate.

PROTESTANT COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS SUCH ACTION TO QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.

Quebec, Que., October 2. — The quarterly meeting of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction, was convened Saturday morning at the Parliament Buildings, under the Presidency of Rev. Dr. Shaw. A full attendance of the Committee was present including Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. J. K. Ward, the Lord Bishop of Quebec, Rev. A. T. Love, Mr. MacLaren, Rev. Dr. Rexford, P.G. S. Mackenzie, M.P.P., Mr. Ames, M.P., John Whyte, Mr. W. J. Walker, Prof. Robins, Messrs. Sutherland, Silver, etc.

On motion of Dr. Shirtleff, seconded by Mr. MacLaren, it was decided that at the appropriation recommendations next year, the full amount of the marriage license fees, except $1,600 for the universities, be given altogether for the poor municipal schools.

The statement of revenue to September, 1906, amounting to $20,579.14, available for distribution was adopted, and report of the Inspector of Superior schools and distribution of superior education fund distribution adopted.

TO LEVY EXTRA TAX OF HALF MILL.

Mr. John Whyte, of Leeds, Megantic, seconded by Mr. Sutherland, of Richmond, moved the following resolution, which had been introduced as a notice of motion at the last meeting of the Committee:—"That inasmuch as elementary education in this Province is in an unsatisfactory condition, due in a large measure to lack of funds to engage duly qualified teachers, and provide comfortable school houses and sufficient equipment, and apparatus for teaching purposes, this Committee respectfully request the Provincial Legislature to impose a small tax of half a mill on the dollar upon all taxable real estate in the Province, held by persons professing the Protestant faith, and that the amount arising from such assessment be devoted to the improvement of Protestant elementary education in accordance with such regulations as this committee may frame from time to time, make subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council."

Mr. Whyte in support of his motion illustrated the deplorable condition of elementary education, and said he had been informed that if it was adopted Sir William Macdonald would take a deeper interest in elementary education and perhaps give it his tangible support. Mr. Whyte further remarked that it had been imparted to him on excellent authority, that the college in course of construction at St. Anne by Sir William Macdonald would cost about $300,000, and in addition to this magnificent grant to education, the donor had the intention of endowing it with a gift of $2,000,000.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

Visitors to the city registered at the hotels include A. A. Bishop, Berlin; H. F. Hamilton, Newport, Vt.; M. S. Taylor, Toronto; N. J. Ingram, Ottawa; W. E. Roberts and wife, Duluth, Minn; P. N. Moon, Montreal.

CZAR IS AFRAID OF THE DUMA.

May Avoid Summoning New Body.

SEES NO CHANCE OF ELECTING MAN FAVORABLE TO AUTOCRACY.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 1.—Already at the very outset of the canvass for the next Douma elections, elements are disclosed which foreshadow a situation that may induce the Czar and Premier Stolypin to avoid summoning that body. The Constitutional Democratic or Kadet party, is practicing the same tactics which secured its overwhelming majority in the last Douma. In order to attract the maximum support from all the varieties of the Progressive group, it is adopting a programme which extends vastly beyond the authority granted to the last Douma under the fundamental laws.

CZAR'S HEALTH AFFECTED.

Paris, October 1.—The discussion of the Czar's absence from Russia continues, with a new development along the lines cabled a week ago, when it was reported here that His Majesty might cease to direct the affairs of his realm. The Petit Parisien prints a St. Petersburg despatch saying that court circles are seriously discussing an eventual regency. The reason given for such an eventuality is that recent incidents have so affected the Czar's health that his condition has inspired lively anxiety among his entourage. The Echo de Paris publishes, from what it says is a good source, a persistent report circulating in Copenhagen that the Czar and Czarine have been in that city for two days, although one journal of an official character denies it. The Echo de Paris says the Dowager Czarina has gone to the chateau at Amalienberg, where the Czar will join her.

The Petit Parisien says the Government has decided to prosecute in the courts 180 members of the former Douma, who signed the Viborg manifesto, although such extraordinary proceedings would work such harm to the existing regime that it is hard to believe that such a step has been decided upon.

Old English Coal Records.

There is a record, dated 852, of the receipt of twelve cartloads of fossil coal at the abbey of Peterborough, and this was assuredly not the first case of production and delivery.

The deeds of the bishopric of Durham contain records of grants of land to colliers as far back as 1180 in various parts of the county. In the year 1239 a charter was granted by Henry III. to the freemen of Newcastle-on-Tyne to dig coal in the fields belonging to the castle, and it was in or about this year that coal was first sent to London. Very early in the fourteenth century evidence abounds of a large consumption of coal by smiths, brewers and others. Already the smoke nuisance appeared, and a commission of Edward I. levied fines to prevent it.

Another charter, or license, was granted to the freemen of Newcastle in Edward III.'s time to work coal within the town walls, and in the year 1367 coal began to be worked at Winlaton, in the neighborhood where George Stephenson was to evolve the locomotive 400 years later, while himself a worker at the coal pits.

Why He Did Not Resign.

Sir William Wightman held office in the old Court of Queen's bench far beyond the prescribed time, and at last, on the eve of the "long vacation" he took a sort of farewell of his brother judges. However, when "the morrow of All Souls'" came around he turned up smiling at Westminster hall. "Why, Brother Wightman," said Sir Alexander Cockburn, "you told us that you intended to send in your resignation to the lord chancellor before the end of August." "So I did," said Sir William, "but when I went home and told my wife she said, 'Why, William, what on earth do you think that we can do with you messing about the house all day?' So, you see, I was obliged to come down to court again."—Dundee Advertiser.

COMPTON.

Oct. 1. King's Hall re-opened on Sept. 12th with a full school of 85 pupils. As a result of the high standing obtained from the excellent work done last year many of the applicants could not be received and a waiting list has been started so that those unfortunate enough to secure places on the present roll may have the first chance should any vacancies unexpectedly occur. During the vacation important improvements were made in and around the College. A number of last year students spending the summer at Tadousac under the direction of Mrs. Armitage Rhodes of Quebec and Mrs. Morewood, of New Jersey, held a sale from which they realized the handsome sum of $130, to lay the foundation of a gymnasium fund, which they intend to add to until sufficient money is raised to build and equip a gymnasium for the school. The trustees of King's Hall will hold their semi-annual meeting in the College on Wednesday, Oct. 3rd. The present year gives promise to be the most successful in the history of the institutions.

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving service will be held in St. James Church on Tuesday, Oct. 2nd, at 7.30 p.m. The sermon will be preached by Dr. Farrock of Lennoxville.

SEASON'S COST OF RAIDING THE SEAL ROOKERIES.

Victoria, B. C., October 1. — The sealing schooner City of San Diego arrived last week from Behring Sea bringing news that upwards of 20 Japanese have been killed during the season while raiding the Copper Islands. One of the Japanese schooners according to news brought by the San Diego, had a quick-firing gun mounted, under fire of which the rookeries were raided.

CHINA IS WAKING UP.

LEADING VICEROY INTRODUCING ENGLISH LANGUAGE INTO THOUSANDS OF SCHOOLS.

A competent authority on the Far East declares that Chinese have made more progress during the last five years than any other nation, not excepting Japan. He admits that China has not made such advances in iron and coal production as has the United States, but he contends that China has made a wider and more profound change in her whole attitude toward Western civilization than has any other nation.

The latest proof that China's face is set toward progress is found in the imperial decree issued last Sunday, promising a change of laws. While this decree does not promise a constitution, as careless readers have inferred, nevertheless it points in that direction.

A more vital indication of progress is found in the recent imperial decree making some mastery of western learning a condition of future employment in the Government service. This decree does not affect existing office-holders, and does not apply to candidates for office who have already completed the prescribed course of Confucian learning, and have received the first and second degrees. But the significance of the decree is found in the fact that it prescribes the identical condition for future candidates for office which the young Emperor prescribed eight years ago, and which led to the Boxer uprising. It is significant that the Dowager Empress, who then retired the young Emperor for his radicalism, now issues in his name the identical decrees which produced the revolution.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

A still more striking sign than this paper decree is found in the fact that Yuan Shih Kai, the leading viceroy of the Empire, has already established more than 5,000 primary and secondary schools in the Chili province for the new Government courses. He is attempting to introduce Western learning, and, indeed, the English language, into these schools as rapidly as possible. This creates a strong demand for English teachers, but the pay is too low to justify young people coming from England or America to accept these minor positions. In lieu of American and English teachers, the Japanese are being employed to teach Western learning, and in some cases the English language. The "pidgin" English which is taught by the Chinese scholars would indeed be laughable were it not for the fact that the introduction of the English language may possibly become general, and if so, may carry with it the introduction of Western civilization. As Alexander's adoption of the Greek language enabled that conquered nation to transform the civilization of Western Asia; as the adoption of Roman law and the Latin language by the Northmen carried with it Latin Christianity throughout Europe, so the prevalence of the English speech in China, during the next few years, will carry with it Western sciences and Western civilization.

TO TEACH NEW TESTAMENT.

A more striking indication of the adoption of not only Western civilization, but of Christianity, is found in the decree just issued by Chang Chih-Lung, ordering the New Testament to be introduced into all the schools of the Hupeh and Hunan provinces, over which he rules. The decree states that the permanence and high quality of Chinese civilization is due to the fact that the Confucian classics have been taught in China for over 2,000 years. The Viceroy admits, however, that Western nations have some power which the Chinese do not possess. He is sure that this is not due to any superiority of the Westerners over the Chinese, but to the fact that the Western nations have in their possession certain teachings which the Chinese have not yet mastered. He thinks this superiority is due to the Bible, and, in order to make the Chinese not only equal, but superior to their Western competitors he orders the New Testament taught, alongside the Confucian classics, among the 58,000,000 people over whom he rules.

SABBATH A LEGAL HOLIDAY.

Perhaps the most striking indication of the Chinese desire for Western progress is found in the recent imperial decree attempting to establish the Christian Sabbath a legal holiday. It is not probable that the decree will be largely followed throughout China, as indeed, it is not probable that Chang Chih Lung's decree in regard to the New Testament will be largely observed. These decrees, however, show the aspirations of the Chinese for Western civilization.

Some American and English officials, and, indeed, some of the missionaries here, are convinced that unless Western influences are swiftly and strongly reinforced, the present movement may result in a reaction, which will indefinitely delay the emergence of the Chinese into modern civilization.

China is today where Japan was 30 years ago, and if foreigners respond to one of the greatest opportunities which ever confronted the Western nations, and guide this groping Empire into modern liberty, modern education and modern inventions, 437,000,000 human beings will emerge into Western civilization within a generation.

RICEBURG.

Oct. 1.—Mrs. Jane Moore died a few days ago and is deeply mourned. She was always ready to lend a helping hand in sickness or trouble. She was tenderly cared for in her last illness, by her youngest son, Mr. George Moore. Besides one brother, Mr. J. Suggett, she leaves two sons to mourn her loss. The beautiful flowers told of the love and respect all felt for her.

THE HORNS OF HIS DILEMMA.

An editor of a Western exchange recently began worrying about how he would get his shirt on over his wings after reaching Paradise. An envious contemporary sarcastically observed that his difficulty would likely be in finding how he could get his hat on over his horns. (Guyman (Ks.) Herald.

DUNHAM.

Oct. 1.—Miss Alice E. Powers, of Farnham Center, is teaching the school in the Vail District, No. 8, of this township, replacing Miss Geer, who is teaching the Brill school in the Township of West Bolton.

Mr. Chas. E. Baker has gone to Boston for a visit and business trip.

One of the benefits accruing from the energetic and progressive policy of the Village School Board is the interest and assistance being given to their affairs by Inspector Taylor and Mr. G. D. Fuller, B.A., of Knowlton, Inspector for the Macdonald Rural School System. The Teachers' Institute for this section of country will, this year, be held in the school building, this month, the 9th of October. In the evening there will be an open lime-light-view-lecture given at the Village Hall by Mr. Fuller upon the Yosemite Valley and Lower California, as well as several scenes from Province of Quebec Gardens. Mr. Fuller charges nothing for all his services and the use of his lanterns and views, only desiring a large attendance of well-wishers to the school. A silver collection will likely be taken at the door to purchase objects of interest and beautify the school rooms.

The Dunham Ladies' College re-opened on Wednesday, Sept. 12th, with pupils both old and new, day scholars and those in residence. The staff of the College as now completed is:—Principals, Miss Emma L. Baker, Miss Margaret L. Jackson; Miss Baker, Bursar; Miss Jackson, French; Miss Taber, B.A., —Classics and Science; Miss Edith Norris, English Literature, History; Miss M. de Bury, Mathematics and Geography; Miss Foster, Music and Physical Culture; Miss Ball, Elm. Dept. and Drawing; Rev. H. Plaisted, M.A., Rector of Dunham, Lecturer on Bible, Church History and Prayer Book; J. F. Yeats, Esq., M.D., Physician; J. Lauder, Esq., L.D.S., D.D.S., Dentist. The College went up six places in the last examination and stands 11th—the best of the Academies of the Province. The curriculum is that of the Council of Public Instruction, and the aim of those responsible is to carry this out efficiently, and, moreover, to do so in an atmosphere of home-like refinement and definite teaching in fundamental Christianity. Churchmen and churchwomen, and indeed all who can discern the signs of the times as to educational and religious questions, will do good by interesting themselves in the career and welfare of this and of kindred institutions.

THETFORD MINES.

Oct. 1—Mr. Harry Green, of the Eastern Townships Bank, has been removed to St. Joseph, Beauce, to take up a more important position in the branch office there. "Harry" will be much missed in social and sporting circles where he was a general favorite. During the four years which he has spent here, first in the employ of the Quebec Bank and afterwards with E. T. Bank, he has made hosts of friends who wish him success in his new field of duty. He is replaced here by Mr. B. M. Saunders, of Bedford, Que.

Mr. J. S. Shedden, Asbestos Inspector, has gone to Danville for a time.

Among those who have left town are: Chas. M. Holdstock, of the Bells Asbestos Mines, on a visit to his family at Burlington, Vt.; Mrs. Hamilton, for a trip to Cuba; J. H. Lessard, also for a trip to Cuba to look after his estates there; Mrs. Amos Barbeau on a visit to her parents at Millfield; Mrs. Wm. Moore on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Gorham, East Angus.

C. Fortier's United States Moving Picture Company gave performances in Labranche's Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings, the 27th and 28th. A fair attendance was reported.

Among those who have returned to town are: Mrs. Alfred Bailey from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. Fraser, Barre, Vt.; Mrs. Robert Hill from a visit to her daughter, in Fitchburg, Mass.; Mrs. H. J. Bennett, from visiting friends at Lake Edward, Que.; Miss Lucy Smith, from a short visit to Sherbrooke; Master Willie Martel from the Hotel Dieu, Quebec, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Joseph Nadeau, who has been seriously ill with typhoid, is slowly recovering.

Adam Elliott left recently for Megantic with his brother's pacing horse "Ben," where he attended the races on Tuesday and Wednesday. On Tuesday evening Elliott received a telegram from his brother saying that "Ben" had won the 5 mile race, but it was "close and hard." On the following evening he received another wire that "Ben" had won first money in the "Free for all." From Megantic "Ben" will go to Beauceville, where he will take part in the races this week.

The Retort Humorous.

"You don't seem to understand," blustered the man who was trying to make his point with a university professor. "I tell you, sir, I ought to know. I'm an alumni of this institution myself." "Are you? That's nothing singular," was the witty rejoinder, uttered so quietly that the blustering man never knew what had happened.

On another occasion the same professor, having ordered from a music publishing house a copy of a "Valse Impromptu" by a certain French composer, received an "Impromptu Waltz" by another man. The publishers, when called to account for their mistake, replied rather insolently that they had been in the music publishing business a long time, and had yet to discover the difference between a "Valse Impromptu" and an "Impromptu Waltz." Would Dr. Smith kindly state to them that difference?

"Gentlemen," wrote the genial professor, in answer, "I have not, like yourselves, been in the music publishing business, and am therefore not fully qualified to inform you, but since in your extremity you have appealed to me I would venture to suggest that the difference between a 'Valse Impromptu' and an 'Impromptu Waltz' may be similar to the difference between a blind Venetian and a Venetian blind.

"Yours very truly," etc.

VERMONT NEWS.

AN OUTING FOR POOR CHILDREN.

The biggest plan ever attempted to entertain the poor children of Rutland was carried out Sept. 15, when the Rutland Street Railway Co. gave an outing at Lake Bomoseen to several hundred little folks and their mothers. The railway company furnished several special trolley cars and a supply of fruit for the little excursionists and its park was thrown open for the day.

VALUABLE FARM SOLD.

The largest transfer of farm property in Franklin county in recent years was consummated Sept. 5, when Homer Brooks, of St. Albans town bought the H. E. Wheeler farm in Swanton. The farm which comprises 370 acres of the best farming lands in the state, includes the property formerly owned by John A. Bedard and is located on the lake front near Maquam. The price paid was $16,500 and includes all tools and machinery and 100 head of stock.

RAILROAD SECURING RIGHTS OF WAY

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. has bought the Dunham farm of about sixty acres in the southern part of the town of Bennington, for, it is understood, a little more than $3,000. The railroad company had made a survey through the farm for the new trolley road from the Massachusetts state line to Bennington, but what was considered an exorbitant price was asked for the right of way and no work had been done on the roadbed at that point.

LIQUOR SELLER SENTENCED.

Justice of Peace C. A. Watson of Woodbury, Wednesday sentenced John Thompson, of West Woodbury, who has been confined to Washington county jail on the charge of keeping intoxicating liquors illegally. Horace Green took his medicine some time ago, but Thompson would not plead guilty, and has been in jail for six weeks or thereabout awaiting the sitting of the grand jury. He relented towards the end and decided to plead guilty and was taken Wednesday before Justice Watson, who sentenced him to the House of Correction at Rutland for not less than four nor more than four and a half months.

ADVOCATES MANUAL TRAINING IN SCHOOLS.

State Superintendent of Education Mason S. Stone of Montpelier addressed a meeting of the Rutland Teachers' Association September 15. He spoke mainly on manual training, strongly advocating its introduction into the public schools of Vermont. In arguing the cause of manual training he compared the dependence of young people of today on their parents with the children of a few generations ago who were taught to provide for many of their own needs. "The head gets all the learning today while the hand has none of the privileges," said Mr. Stone.

HETTY GREEN PROTESTS.

Hetty Green, woman of millions, has a grievance, says a Bellows Falls correspondent. The board of listers at Bellows Falls, where Mrs. Green has her legal residence and owns property, unkindly raised the appraisal of the Green homestead, worth $20,000, the first of the month, from $10,000 to $12,000, and Mrs. Green appeared before the board to protest. She made a vigorous outcry, and in an impassioned speech that consumed some forty minutes gave her opinion of Bellows Falls in general and Bellows Falls listers in particular. Mrs. Green said she wished to live in Bellows Falls, but could not if the listers intended to impovish her. She said she was a poor woman and could not pay heavy taxes; that her house was a poor thing, and her son, E. H. R. Green, the Texas magnate, wished her to dispose of it, but sentimental reasons prevented her. Bellows Falls, she said, was a poor place to live in, anyway, and her doctors advised her not to have her daughter Sylvia stay there. Her place, she alleged, was a smoke house from the railroad beneath and she seriously considered piping up the smoke and curing hams as a business.

AT THE CATHEDRAL.

Yesterday, the festival of St. Michael, the patron saint of St. Michael's parish, Mgr. Paul Larocque, Bishop of Sherbrooke, paid his pastoral visit to the Cathedral, and administered the rite of Confirmation to some two hundred children, who were afterwards admitted to communion. On account of the length of the service, low mass was said, the Rev. F. V. Charest officiating. All the clergy of the Palace and the Seminary were in the Sanctuary, and the Church was filled by a large congregation. The Confirmation sermon was preached by the Rev. H. A. Simard, who explained the nature of the sacrament, and dwelt upon the obligations and duties of the newly-confirmed.

The pastoral address was delivered by Mgr. Larocque who spoke of the great progress made by the parish since his last visit, which was most encouraging, and then proceeded to urge upon his congregation the necessity of fervent charity. He referred to the Bazaar for the benefit of the Day-nursery, and Hospital, which is shortly to come off, and hoped that every member of the parish would do all that was possible to assist it.

The music, which was of a high order, was furnished by the large choir of the Cathedral.

In the afternoon a meeting was held of the Congregation of the Blessed Virgin for Men. A sermon was preached by the Rev. W. LaRue, the chaplain.

The solemn service for the dead, which always closes the pastoral visit, took place in the evening at the Cathedral.

CLEMENCEAU ON THE CHURCH.

SHOULD BE CONTENT WITH RIGHT OF EVERYBODY TO A REGIME OF LIBERTY.

Paris, Oct. 1.—M. Clemenceau, Minister of the Interior, who is visiting M. Roches-Sur-Yon, made an address, yesterday, in which, dealing with the Church question, he said:

"I seek, the people seek, to forsee what action the Government will take. What is more simple? Rome has refused the law of privilege made for her profit. She said all or nothing. The time is past when she had all. She should be content to-day with the right of everybody to a regime of liberty. We offered privileges. She haughtily refused. We are asked to negotiate. With whom? A foreign power, on what? In the French law there is no foreign power on French soil. We stand on the French right, not to tyrannize, but to liberate. We shall know how to resist all fictitious enterprises. We are sure that time and the evolution of the human disposition towards the diffusion of knowledge will work for us. Our force is in the right and the resolution of all France is to maintain it."

M. Clemenceau added that he knew the law was not perfect.

Substitution—And Weddings

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1906, by W. R. Caldwell

Elizabeth crossed the turf so loathly, so laggardly, she left a waving trail of deep green footprints athwart the dew grayed grass. The line was blotched here and there where she had stopped and half turned about, but from the last and lightest of the blotches it ran straight to the wicket gate in the hedge. The path to the gate led around, almost under the library windows. Therefore she had avoided it. She did not want to be spied upon, and, though the library commonly was empty until long after sunrise, she had come to believe there was no counting on where Miss Prudence Weir would be at any special hour.

The wicket gave upon a lane shady and secluded, yet a public passway notwithstanding both sides of it belonged to Elizabeth's uncle, Dan. He had been trying to close it ever since he bought the old Mears place, but his rustic neighbors had held stoutly to their right of way. So the young man walking slowly along the lane was no trespasser, albeit he walked warily, keeping close to the hedge. Elizabeth smiled shamelessly to see him. Now that she had really brought herself to a clandestine meeting she was all in a happy flutter and amazed at her own hesitancy.

Yet she said, smiling up at her tall sweetheart: "You must go right back, Billy—must. Do you hear? Miss Prudence Weir sleeps with both ears and one eye open. Besides, she gets up early more than half the time. And you know she can make Dandy believe anything in the world, except that he ought to marry her."

"H-m! That's a pity! Skepticism on any other point would be less inconvenient," Billy Medwin panted, hurrying Elizabeth along the lane toward the woods beyond the main traveled road. It was not at all the way he should go to go home, but somehow Elizabeth made no protest.

Soon they were walking through dew sweet shade, with birds singing thin and sweet above their heads. And presently Billy had his arms about Elizabeth and was saying, with his lips in her hair: "Honey girl, I've been thinking—hard. Miss Weir is the lion in our path, and there's just one way to get round her"—

"What?" Elizabeth interrupted, lifting her head a little. Billy looked up among the leaves and colored faintly as he answered: "Oh, we must show Dandy how deceitful she is. She's made him believe it would be sin to let me have you. Don't you think it would shake his faith in her if he knew she was willing to take me herself?"

"Billy," Elizabeth exploded, shaking with laughter, "you wouldn't dare propose to her. Can you live through a breach of promise suit? If only you could do it! But you never in the world can."

"Sure you won't be jealous?" Billy asked, pinching her ear.

She made a face at him as she answered: "Just you try it. Why, even if the worst happened—if you got tangled past getting out—I should have at least the heavenly satisfaction of knowing she had showed herself to Dandy the cat she is."

"Trust me not to get tangled," Billy protested. What else he said is not strictly material to this narrative, although it sent Elizabeth home at last with happy eyes and the color of a wild rose.

* * * * * * * *

Ofttimes fortune favors the daring. The execution began with his rescue of the pudgy Miss Weir from a runaway that was not in the least dangerous, but which gave her a mortal scare. Of course he went back with her to the gate, stopping there to explain elaborately that he had somehow incurred the displeasure of Mr. Daniel Goodwood and been forbidden the premises. That, of course, gave him excuse to ask if he might inquire by letter after Miss Weir's health. One letter quickly and easily bred another, and from writing it was but a step to meeting, either in the lane or in the wood beyond, and talking of many things.

Miss Weir was rising thirty, just five years Billy's elder, but so light colored and plump she flattered herself it looked the other way. She loved ease and consequence—witness that for five years past she had been trying delicately to marry Uncle Dandy. She had only succeeded in becoming after a sort his social watchdog.

He had a great opinion of Elizabeth, his heiress, and wanted to match her well if she was to be matched at all. Miss Weir had about lost hope of Uncle Dandy when Billy came on the scene. Billy knew pretty well all there was to know of lovemaking. This time he chose to make it in hypothetical fashion. He began impersonally by describing a young fellow who had set his eyes and heart upon one so far above his dessert he had become quite hopeless of winning her and had descended to trifling with mere ordinary girls by way of filling an aching void. Then he pictured the lady. Her eyes were heaven blue, her skin all lily and rose, her hair like spun sunshine, her voice a flute. But that was as nothing beside her loftier charms—her soul, her spirit, her angelic nature—which made a mere ordinary sinner grovel in dust whenever he let himself feel what temerity it was to love her. Thus far Billy got by the end of the second week. Naturally it was but little later that the lady was forced to discover herself in the fair unknown.

Then Billy played finer than ever. He would not speak the worshiper's name; she must guess it. But he would with her permission send her a letter unsigned from the worshiper, one in some faint way setting forth all that was in his heart. And she bound herself to reply to it—reply as her heart directed. Billy had hard work to keep from shouting when he heard that, but by holding himself hard in hand he kept a proper face and hurried off to consult is best chum, also a very ancient "complete letter writer."

Miss Weir did reply from a full heart. Indeed, the heart slopped over a bit—she called names—Billy's name with endearing variations. More, she whistled down the wind his pleas of unworthiness—he was a demigod at least among men—she rejoiced to hail and own him, king of her affections. Marry him? She would be happier as his wife than any crowned queen. His "modest fortune" did not count at all. Her tastes were even more modest—and so on, and so on.

To do the lady justice she knew Billy had really a handsome competence; also that he was no sluggard. And her own position was far from enviable. Moreover, she was dreadfully crabbed over Prudence's tardy settlement. "Here you are a nagging old maid when you ought to be a grandmother—almost," she said now and then brutally. Really the stars in their course fought for Billy—Billy the unregenerate, who as soon as he got the letter put it in his pocket and bore down on Uncle Dandy.

Just what happened between them is to this day a dark secret. Folks outside heard first a lot of growling from Uncle Dandy, followed later on by shouted laughter, but nothing audible until the pair came out together, with Uncle Dandy slapping Billy on the back at every other step. And this was what he was saying: "We've got to hire you a substitute, Billy, and I know just the man. It's Amos Flack—he needs a wife if ever a man did—a preacher, with five of the worst children going. Any endowed proposition will be tempting to him. Besides, I've already detected him casting sheep's eyes up this way. So you trot along and find Elizabeth while I look him up. And be sure you burn that letter. It must be thought to have got lost in transit. You may tell whoever you see there's going to be a double wedding up this way soon."

"Yes, sir; I will," Billy said obediently. "But I shan't tell 'em I had a hand in bringing on both matches."

Sure enough there was a double wedding, with Uncle Dandy playing fairy godfather to both brides.

TAFT TO THE PEOPLE OF CUBA.

Issues Proclamation Explaining U. S. Action.

NOW ESTABLISHED AS GOVERNOR OF ISLAND—TROOPS WILL BE SENT.

Havana, October 1. — With far less ostentation than accompanies the accession of a new municipal administration, the Government of Cuba formally was taken over Saturday by Wm. H. Taft, secretary of war of the United States, who, in a proclamation indicative of the policy he would pursue, declared himself provisional governor of the island.

THE PROCLAMATION.

Governor Tafts' proclamation was as follows:

"To the People of Cuba."

"The failure of Congress to act on the irrevocable resignation of the President of the Republic of Cuba, or to elect a successor, leaves the country without a government at a time when great disorder prevails, and requires that, pursuant to the request of Mr. Palma, the necessary steps be taken in the name, and by the authority of the President of the United States, to restore order and protect life and property in the island of Cuba and the islands and keys adjacent thereto, and for this purpose to establish therein a provisional government.

"The provisional government hereestablished will be maintained only long enough to restore order, peace and public confidence by direction of and in the name of the President of such elections as may be necessary to the United States and then to hold such elections as may be necessary to determine on those persons upon whom the permanent government of the republic should be devolved. Insofar as is consistent with the nature of a provisional government, established under the authority of the United States, this will be a Cuban government, conforming with the constitution of Cuba. The Cuban flag will be hoisted as usual over the government buildings of the island, all the executive departments and provincial and municipal governments, including that of the city of Havana, will continue to be administered as under the Cuban republic; the courts will continue to administer justice, and all the laws not in their nature inapplicable by reason of the temporary and emergent character of the government, will be in force.

"President Roosevelt has been most anxious to bring about peace under the constitutional government of Cuba and he made every endeavor to avoid the present step. Longer delay, however, would be dangerous in view of the resignation of the Cabinet.

"Until further notice the heads of all the departments of the Central Government will report to me for instructions, including General Alexandro Rodriguez, in command of the rural guards, and other regular Government forces, and General Carlos Roloff, treasurer of Cuba.

"Until further notice the civil governors and alcides will also report to me for instructions.

"I ask all citizens and residents of Cuba to assist me in the work of restoring order, tranquility and public confidence.

"William H. Taft."

U. S. TROOPS MOBILIZING.

Washington, October 1. — American troops now are moving towards Cuba. Mobilization of the force will be at Newport News, Va., for the most part, although a part of the first expeditionary force to Cuba will be sent from New York and Tampa, Fla. Advices received at the department of military establishment of the Government to-day indicate that all is quiet in Cuba, and the insurgents intend to lay down their arms.

MOVING THE WHEAT CROP.

WESTERN GRAIN MEN WORRYING THE RAILROADS FOR MORE CARS.

Winnipeg, October 1 — The shortage of cars in the West for moving the crop East is causing much worry to the local grain men and frequent applications have been made to the railway companies for better service. Enquiries made around the Grain Exchange elicited the information that the present situation is the worst in some years. Reports from the country, particularly Southern Manitoba, indicate that elevators are being rapidly filled with wheat, and in many cases are filled to the roof, with no relief in sight. The farmers are daily making deliveries largely in excess of previous years at this date and there is no room for the incoming grain. At some points the available storage capadity is now filled, notably at Deloraine, Wiskada, Thornhill, and several other points. Between Winnipeg and the lake front, every siding is filled with cars loaded with wheat en route to the ports, and grain men state that if the cars were available, one million bushels a day could be delivered at the terminal elevators.

The railroad companies state that they are doing the best they can and that there is no reason for the grain men to worry, but the latter claim that these assurances from the transportation companies do not give relief. The regular traffic of the railroads is so heavy at this period that cars are not available for the shipments of grain.

POLITICAL STRIKES.

DEBATE AT THE SOCIAL DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS CLOSED.

Mannheim, Germany, Oct. 1—The debate on the question of political strikes at the Social Democratic Congress was closed yesterday by the adoption of the joint resolution reconciling the views of the Social-Democratic leaders with those of the trade union authorities. The resolution confirmed the resolution adopted by the Jena congress last year, and additionally declared, first, that the Jena resolution was not a contradictory to the Cologne resolution; second, that the unions formed a no less important body that the Social Democracy; the third, that if victory in the rivalry between the two forces, Social Democracy and the unions, thus ended, the unions, however, affirming their independence of action by rejecting a resolution expressly binding them to confirm to the decisions of the Social Democracy.

Ros Luxemburg, who was one of the minority, described the agreement as "when you agree your wishes are to be followed, and when we disagree, mine."

There was such excitement in Four Corners as had not been known in that small settlement for many a day.

The quail on the Cornish estate were protected by the game laws from April to September and by Dawson, the gamekeeper, at all times, yet one May morning found Dan O'Connor in the Cornish preserves with a brace of quail at his belt, whereupon Dawson, summoning the sheriff from Windsor Bend, had promptly arrested O'Connor and jailed him.

Such a thing had never happened before in the history of Four Corners, and public feeling ran high. A crowd had gathered at the one store the place boasted, and their muttered threats finally merged into open defiance.

"I heerd that Dawson had kinder got his eye on a couple more o' the boys," hinted old man Pierson.

A ruffianly looking fellow leaning against the counter looked up with a heavy scowl.

"He'd better look out the boys don't get their eyes on him first," he growled savagely.

"A few birds more or less ain't nothin' to make a fuss over nohow," put in a tall, lank fellow behind the stove.

"He's got to look for a little shootin'," mumbled old man Pierson.

The hard faced fellow against the counter straightened up and moved slowly toward the door. "He might 's well look for it; it's comin' to him," he said menacingly as he slouched heavily from the room.

The rougher element of Four Corners were used to depending upon their rifles to eke out an existence, meager enough at best, and in the lifetime of old Mr. Cornish, the former owner of the great estate, their depredations had been practically unchecked, but now a new order of things prevailed. Old Mr. Cornish was dead, and the villagers regarded the son who had succeeded him with suspicion and the gamekeeper he had appointed with sullen hatred.

The villagers were not alone in their disapproval of Dawson.

"You are making a mistake in appointing him," the doctor's daughter had declared, her brown eyes resting on the tall young man beside her.

"I don't see why," Robert Cornish had returned stubbornly. "Something has to be done to preserve the game. These fellows are a lawless set, shooting in season and out and ruining the preserves. Besides"—his voice rung determinedly—"it is my property."

"Yes," she admitted, "and yet they have so little it doesn't seem quite fair they should have no rights."

"But I'm willing they should do a certain amount of hunting," he protested, "only they must observe the game laws, and they must also realize that it is my property, not theirs."

"Do they know you will allow them a certain amount of game?"

Robert Cornish shook his head. "Not yet. Dawson advised cutting them off short until they learn to realize the estate is private property. When they understand shooting is a privilege, not a right, they will give less trouble."

Molly shook her head doubtfully.

"I know them better than you do," she said. "They are lawless and ignorant, but there is more good in them than you believe, and Dawson isn't the man to deal with them. I wish you would talk to them yourself," she went on.

There was a brief silence.

"I will—if you wish," he said impulsively. "I will do it tomorrow."

But on the morrow two unforeseen things happened. Robert Cornish was called suddenly away on an urgent business trop and Dan O'Connor bagged the quail.

It was the evening after the excited discussion at the store that Molly, prompted by an unusual feeling of restlessness, crossed the room to the window and, stepping out on the veranda, wandered down into the moonlit garden. Robert Cornish would be back that night, but of course it was no vague hope of meeting him that brightened her eyes or led her through the gate into the road, made light as day by the full moon overhead.

"Hist, Miss Molly, hist!" said a voice close at her ear.

She started violently as a small, unkempt figure crept through the hedge and stopped short in her path.

"Don't go on, miss," said the boy, with much excitement. "Don't! They are waitin' fer Dawgon below, an' maybe they might do ye some harm."

"Waiting? For what? To shoot him?" asked the girl breathlessly.

"Yes, miss. The wagon has gone to Windsor Bend to meet him, an' when it comes back—well, they're waitin', miss, down in the hollow."

"But it isn't Dawson the wagon has gone to meet," said Molly in a horrified whisper. "It is Mr. Cornish."

"I guess it won't make no difference to them, miss, whether it's Dawson or the master himself. They're bent on blood."

The boy darted through the hedge, leaving the girl, white and horrified, in the middle of the road. For a moment she stood as if stunned. Then her mind leaped riotously to the chance of escape. "If I can reach the Windsor road through the cross path," she thought desperately, "I may be in time."

She turned through a broken gap in the hedge, into a field beside the road, and, breaking into a quick run, rushed through the wet grass into the thicket, over a high bank, into a tangle of blackberry bushes, whose thorns clutched at her light dress, through another gap, across a wall, whose stones slipped and slid under her feet, on again, lightly, swiftly, through a plowed field, across a ditch, over a marsh where her slippered feet sank deep in the soft, wet sod, still onward, with a passionate thankfulness in her heart as she heard the distant ring of horses' hoofs.

Could she reach him?

"Robert! Robert!" she cried desperately.

The sounds came nearer. A light road cart swung swiftly toward her.

"Robert!" she cried again. Then, as a tall young man in the cart pulled up his horses sharply, she sank, spent and breathless, beside the Windsor road.

* * * * * * * *

The excitement had largely been a matter of misunderstanding, and when young Cornish had explained his plan of sharing the game, and, furthermore, had refused to prosecute the ringleaders of the disturbance, Four Corners was with him to a man.

It is hard to say which of his two next moves—his marriage to Molly or his appointment of Dan O'Connor to the position of gamekeeper—evoked the more admiration.

"Each uv 'em bein', so to speak, a stroke o' genius," mumbled old man Pierson.

SPORTING NEWS

"ALL-MONTREAL" WENT DOWN TO DEFEAT.

SHERBROOKE WON SATURDAY'S MATCH BY SCORE OF 10 TO 5.

The lacrosse match, Saturday, "All-Montreal," vs. Sherbrooke, resulted in a victory for Sherbrooke by a score of ten to five. The grand stand was filled with spectators. Rain just before the match made the ground very slippery which interfered with the play. During the last quarter there was a downpour which continued after the match. As there were only two cars and a couple of cabs in waiting to convey the crowd down town, much inconvenience was experienced.

The match was in some respects the fastest seen here this year. The Sherbrookes, however, outclassed the Montrealers in combination play and easily won the match. The Montreal team was made up of players of several teams and this worked to their disadvantage in as much as they had not practiced together.

The match, unfortunately, was not entirely free from roughness. There was some careless handling of the sticks and on one occasion "Louis" of the Sherbrookes, and "Tommy" of the visitors enclosed each other in a warm embrace. The referee, R. Wilson, was obliged to exercise his authority several times.

At the end of the first quarter the score stood Sherbrooke 5, Montreal 0; second quarter, Sherbrooke 0, Montreal 2; third quarter, Sherbrooke 3, Montreal 2; fourth quarter, Sherbrooke 2, Montreal 1. Total, Sherbrooke, 10; Montreal, 5.

The Sherbrooke team was as follows: L'Heureux, goal; J. Drapeau, point; C. Moe, c. point; Lavers, Dunsmore, Southwood, defence field; F. Povey, centre; Parsons, Humphrey, G. Povey, home field; McInnis, outside home; Rocque, inside home.

The All-Montreal team was as follows: McAnuity, points, goal; Taylor, Montreal, point; Conway, points, c. point; Walsh, Montreal, 1st defence; Scott, Montreal, 2nd defence; Currie, Shamrocks, 3rd defence; Brown, points, centre; O'Grady, points, 3rd home; H. Scotts, Montreal, 2nd home; Delude, Nationals, 1st home; Roberts, Shamrocks, outside; Rose, Ontarios, inside.

AT THE TRAPS.

AN OFF DAY AT THE TRAPS ON SATURDAY.

Shooting at the traps on Saturday showed the necessity of constant practice in order to keep up with the game, or else something was wrong with ammunition, guns or nerves.

Nobody could hit anything. The only event of special interest was the spoon match which was won by the secretary with a score that it would not do to publish.

TOMMIE CURRIE INJURED.

MONTREAL PLAYER STRUCK IN FACE WITH STICK.

Tommy Currie, of the Shamrocks, a member of the "All Montreal" team, had his nose badly broken during the match on Saturday. He and Jo Dunsmore had a falling out during the match and were separated by other players. The match went on, but was but a short time afterwards that a lacrosse tick landed in Currie's face breaking his nose in three places. He was taken to the hospital and attended by Dr. Lynch. It does not appear to be definitely established who struck the blow. Some say that it was not altogether accidental. It is "accidents" of this kind that make Canada's national sport.

GOLF

PRESIDENT VS. VICE-PRESIDENT.

The match between the President teams was played on Saturday, although the rain unfortunately came on during the afternoon the game was played to a finish, the President team being victorious.

The score was as follows:

D. L. Herbert	3	R. MacDonald
E. C. Fraser		R. A. Wright
J. F. Morkill	0	T. P. MacBean

Wm. McCulloch	3	S. F. Morey
L. E. Dastous	2	J. M. Jenckes
L. E. Panneton		W. E. Paton

Tea was served after the match, J. S. Mitchell being the hostess. Mrs. Mitchell was assisted by Madame Panneton and Mrs. C. D. White who poured tea and coffee, and Mrs. G. M. Howard, Miss Mitchell, Miss Jean Mitchell, Miss Lawrence, Miss Sanborn and Miss Shreve, attended to the guests.

Among those present were Mrs. Tuck, Mrs. H. R. Fraser, Mrs. D. Fraser, Mrs. J. M. O'Halloran, Mrs. A. F. Fraser, Miss Emily Brault, the Misses White, Morey, Shreve, Allinson and others.

The tea table was decorated with flowers and the room with its blazing open fire looked very attractive in contrast to the gloom and rain without.

BRYAN FOR HEARST.

SAYS HE IS MUCH GRATIFIED AT DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 1—Fifteen thousand persons greeted W. J. Bryan on Wednesday night. In speaking of the nomination of W. H. Hearst for governor of New York, Mr. Bryan said, that following the rule he had adopted in state contests, he had shown no discrimination between candidates prior to the convention.

"I am much gratified at the nomination of Mr. Hearst," he said, "because I feel that he will make not only a strong race, but also a good governor after his election."

"NEVER," SAYS McCLELLAN.

New York, Oct. 1—Mayor McClellan gave out a statement Friday in which he says he would not vote for Hearst for governor.

The mayor called the reporters into his office Friday afternoon and read to them the following statement:

"As I said yesterday, I am a Democrat and accept the action of the Democratic convention. I will be a Democrat while my party has a name, but as a Democrat and as mayor of this town I am unalterably opposed to Charles Murphy and to everything he stands for.

"I recognize the humiliation I must endure in common with other Democrats. Nevertheless, I will vote the ticket of my party in this state, but never for William Randolph Hearst. How I will vote for
