Canada cool to U.K. plan

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has made it clear that it intends to fight any move by the British government to enter the Common Market.

Canada's position was disclosed Friday in a joint communique issued by the two governments following two days of talks between Duncan Sandys, Britain's Commonwealth relations secretary, and four Canadian cabinet ministers.

The 250 - word communique said the Canadian government's assessment of British membership in the customs union of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg is different from that put forward by Mr. Sandys.

It showed that Canada is frigid to Britain even entering negotiations to join the Common Market.

CONFERRED 10 HOURS

Mr. Sandys conferred for 10 hours Thursday and Friday with External Affairs Minister Green, Trade Minister Hees, Finance Minister Fleming and Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton. He also met for an hour with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and plans to return to London Monday.

Canada's unyielding opposition to British entry into the customs union appeared to be even more critical than that of Australia and New Zealand.

The communique said the Canadian ministers "expressed the grave concern of the Canadian government about the implications of possible negotiations between Britain and the European economic community, and about the political and economic effects which British membership in the European economic community would have on Canada and on the Commonwealth as a whole."

It added that before the British government reached any decision it should carefully consider the views of the Canadian government together with those of other Commonwealth governments.

Canada's previously stated position on British entry into the Common Market is that trading interests with Britain will be damaged, perhaps seriously, if the U.K. aligns itself with Common Market countries. For Canada this could mean a loss of Commonwealth tariff preferences in the U.K. and possibly even preferences against Canada.

400 loggers go on strike against CIP

QUEBEC (CP) — Some 400 loggers employed by Canadian International Paper Company at Sammam, Que., 160 miles northwest of here, have gone on strike in protest against a company wage offer, the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (CLC) said Friday.

The strike, started Thursday, followed wage increases ordered for the logging industry by the provincial government. The increases took effect last Saturday.

The minimum wage for cutting a cord of wood was increased to $8 from $5.30.

A union spokesman said the company has decided not to pay its men by the cord, but has offered $10 a day and has asked the men to cut a minimum two cords a day.

Coyne hassle tops news

Coyne resigns after Senate backing.

Parliament recesses with election rumors flying.

Berlin crisis worsens.

TENSE WEEK

In one of the most dramatic weeks the Canadian capital has seen, James Elliott Coyne defended his integrity, was backed by a defiant Senate, then resigned as he had promised.

The climax of the Coyne story came Thursday as the Liberal upper house struck down the government's bill to sack the Bank of Canada governor.

In so doing the body rejected Finance Minister Fleming's charge of "serious dereliction of duty" against the governor, and accepted the latter's plea to let him leave his post as "a man of honor."

IGNORES WARNING

The Senate also brought to a head its major dispute with the Progressive Conservative government.

Only the day before it had defied the government by refusing to take back its amendment to the government's tariff bill despite a warning by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that a general election would be fought "sooner or later" on the issue of Senate reform if the amendment was not withdrawn.

The flurry of election talk broke into song as the tension relaxed.

Earlier in the week, Coyne outlined his case in a history-making three - day appearance before the Senate banking and commerce committee. He admitted defying the government but said he had done so to defend the integrity of his office.

And he made a number of accusations:

1. He said the government policy of using the foreign exchange fund to force down the value of the Canadian dollar, announced in the June 20 budget, had actually been put into effect quietly six months earlier;

2. He said this policy was "very definitely contrary" to Canada's obligations under the International Monetary Fund;

3. He charged that the government's desire for a "scapegoat" on monetary policy was at the root of the attempt to oust him;

4. He said "political loyalties were invoked" by Fleming when nine of 10 bank directors voted June 13 for his resignation.

COMPOSURE CRACKS

For almost 14 hours of the three-day period the bank governor testified in a calm, level voice. Then on Wednesday,

Prove that NATO force can land Sunday punch

By TOM MITCHELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — A force of 53 United States and Canadian ships headed into eastern seaboard ports today after four days of manoeuvres that tested the NATO fleet's muscles.

Although it may be weeks before the final score is in, one thing appeared certain—a force like this one could land a powerful Sunday punch on any enemy anywhere in the world.

Heart of the striking forces were planes from the U.S. carriers Independence, a 60,000-ton monster which is the world's biggest ship, and the Intrepid, 37,000-ton.

Helping provide them with defence from simulated enemy submarine attacks was HMS Bonaventure, the 20,000-ton Canadian anti-submarine carrier.

Fleeting out the fleet were the cruisers, the busy watchdog destroyers, including HMS Athabaskan, and replenishment ships which fed fuel and other necessities to the rest of the force to keep it self sufficient.

TARGET WAS SMALL

Despite the size of the force, it didn't make a big target. The ships were spread out over some 30,000 square miles of the Atlantic as the attack carriers made a high-speed run in toward the eastern seaboard for a series of aircraft simulated strikes on targets from Florida to Ohio.

Conditions were arranged to duplicate a real attack as closely as possible. U.S. submarines labelled "enemy" stalked the NATO fleet. Planes of the North American Air Defence Command flew intercepts designed to destroy the attacking aircraft. The fleet planes returning from their land strikes acted as "enemy" — making simulated attacks on their own ships before changing their colors to land on the carriers again.

Reporters who witnessed the exercises were told it will be weeks before the final results can be scored.

The submarine commanders and ship commanders will have

Kassem tells Britain 'get out of our land'

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem has once again staked his claim to the neighboring oil-rich sheikdom of Kuwait by warning Britain to "get out of our land—out of Kuwait."

The renewed claim to the sheikdom, which has called in British troops to prevent possible Iraqi annexation, was made Friday night during celebrations marking the third anniversary of Iraq's military revolution.

The premier angrily said Iraq would declare a "war of attrition" on Britain if it did not end its "aggression" against Kuwait.

Kassem spoke twice — at a graduation ceremony at Baghdad Military Academy to commemorate the anniversary of the revolt which brought him to power three years ago and again at the dedication of a revolution monument in Baghdad's Liberation Square.

He reiterated his claim that Kuwait was part of Iraq. He said: "Imperialist treachery" Britain had "transgressed upon our country and had last month signed an agreement with Kuwait giving her a bridge to at-tack Iraq."

ADOPTED CLOSE TIES

This was a reference to close ties adopted by Britain and Kuwait after the sheikdom became independent following 62 years as a British protectorate.

He insisted Iraq's policy was one of peace and neutrality, but "we will continue to declare our rights by all peaceful means, despite provocations by imperialists, their stooges and officials."

Kassem said the Iraqi Army was "strategically distributed to strike at the greedy and the imperialist."

"Nobody, no greedy tyrant, shall stand in our path," Kassem said Iraq could have used force to "liberate" Kuwait "through every legitimate means."

Imperialist - dominated areas in the Persian Gulf, such as Bahrain, Sharjah, Oman, "and elsewhere" would be liberated, he declared.

Iraqi money and weapons were already going to insurgent Omanis and Algerians and to Palestinian Arabs, he said.

He added it was the duty of all Arabs to support their brothers in Iraq.

Billboards deadline set

QUEBEC (CP) — Visibility on Quebec's highways will be enhanced within the next two weeks if Roads Minister Bernard Pinard carries out his threat against unsightly and hazardous billboards.

In an ultimatum Friday, Mr. Pinard said provincial employees will remove billboards on public or private land bordering the highways unless the owners themselves take action within two weeks.

The roads minister said the billboards will get the axe "with out further notice or delay" at the property-owner's expense.

The move to dispose of the billboards will require no special legislation. Mr. Pinard will

Ask study of Berlin readiness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two liberal Republican senators have called for full congressional briefings on U.S. military readiness to meet the Berlin crisis.

Senators John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Jacob Javits, New York, also said Friday they would vote new taxes, if necessary, to finance additional military and foreign aid spending.

The foreign aid program got a new push from Senator J. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who is chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee. Fulbright said he will call night meetings of the committee unless it makes progress next Monday and Tuesday on the aid bill.

President Kennedy has taken personal command of the administration drive to dispel seeming reluctance of congressional committees to approve the $4,800,000,000 foreign aid measure.

The president invited members of the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee to the White House Friday to discuss the legislation. The session followed a similar meeting Thursday with members of the Senate foreign relations committee. Monday Kennedy will see more senators.

No illusion

BASINGSTOKE, England (AP)—On stage at the Basingstoke carnival Friday night, illusionist Marjorie Waddell was in the midst of the act of sawing a woman in half. Then the stage collapsed.

A hundred people crowded on it went down through the floorboards. Four persons were taken to hospitals, others were treated on the spot for cuts and shock.

The girl in the saw box was unharmed.

The illusionist cut her fingers on the saw.

EDMONTON (CP) — Rain which brightened hopes in some of the hardest-hit drought areas trickled out Friday and a new heat wave was building on the western prairies.

But forecasts indicated the hot spell might be short-lived.

In Alberta, Temperatures edged towards the 90s and skies were clear. The agricultural forecast called for a 20-degree drop over most of the province today.

In Alberta and Saskatchewan, where drought areas got little of the moisture that helped Manitoba, concern deepened and officials pressed measures to assist farmers.

After a two-hour session with provincial officials, the executive of the Alberta Farmers Union wired Ottawa asking that the southeastern section of the province be declared a disaster area.

TO MOVE FODDER

In Saskatchewan, Agriculture Minister J. C. Nolle said final arrangements are being completed by the railways and an announcement that they will assist in movement of emergency fodder supplies is expected soon.

Assistance in fodder movement is one of two points approved by the federal government in a seven - point drought disaster program presented by Premier T. C. Douglas last weekend.

Rains of up to two inches in Manitoba washed away the spectre of a total crop failure, but agriculture was still a long way from being out of its difficulties.

Deputy agriculture minister J. R. Bell said salvaged crops still can deteriorate rapidly if the weather turns hot and dry.

Walking bug bites again

MONTREAL (CP) — They're off and walking again.

Two men have got the walking bug and will set out from Montreal this morning on a 365-mile hike to Toronto in an attempt to break the time record of 10 days set by Dr. Barbara Moore last year.

Art Kay and John Rowe say they plan to walk 45 miles in 10 hours each day and should reach Toronto in eight days.

Kay, 54, is a member of the Metropolitan Toronto Police Club, and Rowe, 32, a native of Newfoundland, is a member of Toronto's Gladstone Athletic Club.

They hope to finish the walk by July 22 at Varsity Stadium in time for the Toronto Police Games.

Maybe Tuesday Prepare astronaut for space

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Steak and baby food, medical checks, star gazing, make - believe space rides—that's what an astronaut's day is made of.

Virgil Grissom and John Glenn had these items on schedule today as they entered the final phase of preparation for America's second manned space flight, scheduled Tuesday morning.

Grissom, 35, an air force captain, is reliably reported to be the No. 1 choice for the flight, with Glenn, 39, a marine lieutenant-colonel, standing by as backup pilot as he did on the Alan Shepard flight.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will reveal the name of the chosen astronaut Monday, 24 hours before launching.

TO BUILD CONFIDENCE

The flight will be a near-duplicate of Shepard's trip May 5. A Redstone rocket is to boost the manned capsule 115 miles high and 300 miles down range in a test designed to train another space pilot and build experience and confidence for future orbit missions.

Grissom and Glenn today began a low-residue, high energy diet to reduce possibility of exertion and provide quick-burning reserve strength during flight. They were served in a special "ready room" at the Cape. An official outlined this typical one-day menu:

Breakfast — Orange juice, cream of wheat, bacon, two boiled eggs, toast, jelly and coffee. Lunch — Broiled chicken, baby food - type peas, bread without crust, cottage cheese salad, ice tea and sugar cookies. Dinner — Broiled steak, boiled potato without skin, baby food vegetables, sherbet and coffee.

Both astronauts were to don space suits and run through practice missions while seated in the actual space capsule atop the Redstone. They also studied charts of the heavens and the earth beneath the planned capsule path so certain features will be recognizable.

RECEIVED CHECK-UPS

Medical men gave the pair a series of physical and psychological examinations before and after each simulated flight.

Shepard is providing valuable advice to Glenn and Grissom as they enter the home stretch in their training. During the flight, Shepard will be at the vital capsule communicator post in the control centre — maintaining constant voice contact with the pilot.

The astronauts have picked the name Liberty Bell 7 for the spacecraft. Shepard's vehicle was Freedom 7. The number represents the total membership of the Mercury astronaut team.

Liberty Bell 7 contains several modifications, including a large observation window, improved manual controls and a new escape hatch designed for quicker exit in case of emergency.

Experts wrong

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The experts can be wrong. Mrs. Mary Cralle's bankbook proves it.

At 75 she bought an annuity and her first single premium life insurance policy. Friday was her 100th birthday and Mrs. Cralle chuckled over "my good investment."

It's already brought her a tidy profit of $6,387, plus good wishes from the insurance company that she keeps on embarrassing the experts.

"Mrs. Cralle is the first policyholder in the 82 - year history of our company to live to be 100," said Harold Cummings, president of the Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance Company.

When Mrs. Cralle bought her policy, the firm's mortality tables went to only 96. Now they're set at 100.

"She taught us a lesson," Cummings explained.

To return Vosburgh to his cell

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Roger Paulin, chief surgeon at St. Joseph de Rosemont hospital, said Friday night Abel Vosburgh will return to his cell at Montreal's Bordeaux jail "at the beginning of next week."

An exploratory operation performed by Dr. Paulin last week showed Vosburgh to be suffering from extremely advanced cancer in his left lung. He was given only a short time to live.

The 63 - year - old laborer is scheduled to face trial this fall for the murder of his wife and 11 of their children in a fire which destroyed the family shack at Noyan, Que., last December.

Named consultant

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Pierre Jobin, chairman of Laval University's anatomy department, has been appointed medical consultant to the forthcoming royal commission on health services, the health department announced Friday. He is to direct research studies relating to the commission's work and act as liaison between the commission and various branches of the health professions.

Show Business

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Word is that the Joey Bishop show is the hot television entry for the fall season—but deadpan Joey isn't moving his family out here yet.

Said Bishop: "I'm renting a house in Beverly Hills for the summer but I still keep the one in Englewood, N.J. My boy, Larry, is out here for the summer, but I'll start him in school back home again in the fall."

"We're making 26 films with options for 13 more. If the series goes, I'll come out here for good—not before."

Joey, a night club comic, doesn't care if he ever plays a saloon again.

'NO MORE TOURS'

"I'd like some of this Hollywood life for a change. I told Jack Entratter I might play the Sands for him in Las Vegas once in a while—but no more of the tour."

That is, of course, if the TV series hits. If not, Joey says he will gladly go back to the clubs.

Currently, he is appearing with Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., and Peter Lawford in Soldiers 3.

The five of them also work together as a night club act—the summit conference. Amazingly, it is Bishop who is the catalyst for the group of performing giants.

His jokes, delivered with that serious look, hold the act together. Once in Las Vegas when the then presidential candidate, John F. Kennedy, was in the audience, Bishop quipped:

"I know, Senator, that if you get elected, Sinatra will ask to be ambassador to Italy and Sammy Davis ambassador to Israel. But me, I'm not asking for anything like that."

A pause—and then that serious delivery:

"I'd just appreciate it if you could fix it so I wouldn't get drafted again."

Kennedy roared.

United Church WA at Vale Perkins given talk on women's church work

VALE PERKINS — The Women's Association of the United Church were guests of Mrs. George Drummond, at Greenacres, Knowlton Landing, for the July meeting, with Mrs. Ralph Knowlton, vice-president, in charge.

Mrs. Mary Lighthall, of Montreal, gave an interesting talk, "The W.A. and the W.M.S. will soon be merging," she said, "with the idea of getting the women interested in all phases of church work."

Mrs. Lighthall is 3rd vice-president of the King's Daughters, a charitable, educational, religious and interdenominational organization, formed 75 years ago in New York.

She recently returned from a world tour, where in Japan, China, and India she saw people worshipping gods and images and doing things which might bring them good luck.

"We should be thankful for the inheritance that is ours," Mrs. Lighthall concluded, "for the early teachings of our parents."

FUND GROWING

The Association netted $64.85, at a recent food sale, bringing the total of the earnings of this small group to $263.15, since the beginning of the year.

In the near future the plan is to move the church back from the road and build a basement under it. The Women's Association has undertaken the financing of the project.

During the winter a social evening was held netting $21.51. In the spring the group earned $42.83 through a sugar social. The remainder of the money was raised through food and handicraft sales.

CALF CLUB CORNER

By SANDRA PICKFORD

TO COMPETE IN ELIMINATION DAY CONTEST —

All hopes of the Lennoxville Calf Club are with Dan Parkinson and Ken Rose for next Tuesday says Hue MacDonald reporter for the Lennoxville Calf Club. This year only Ken and Dan are to enter the contest as delegates for the Lennoxville Club. They will be competing in the Elimination day contest with all the other eligible calf club members of the Sherbrooke District.

WHAT IS ELIMINATION DAY —

For any of you 'city-slickers' reading this week's column and for those of you who are not familiar with what elimination day is and just what goes on, here's some information.

Elimination Day, this year, is to be held at the Experimental Farm in Lennoxville on July 18. Here, the 4-Hers will judge classes of Jerseys and Holsteins at the Experimental Farm and a class of Ayrshires at St. Joseph's Orphanage in Waterville. They will also be questioned on feeding, care and illness of dairy cattle.

Members of the different calf clubs taking part in the contest must be between 16 and 21 years of age, have a dairy calf and have not won in this contest previously.

Four delegates will be chosen winners, two English speaking and two French speaking. The winning delegates will again judge during the Sherbrooke Winter Fair. These winners will be competing at the Sherbrooke Fair for the 4-H trip to Toronto and the Royal Winter Fair.

CLUB MEETING HELD —

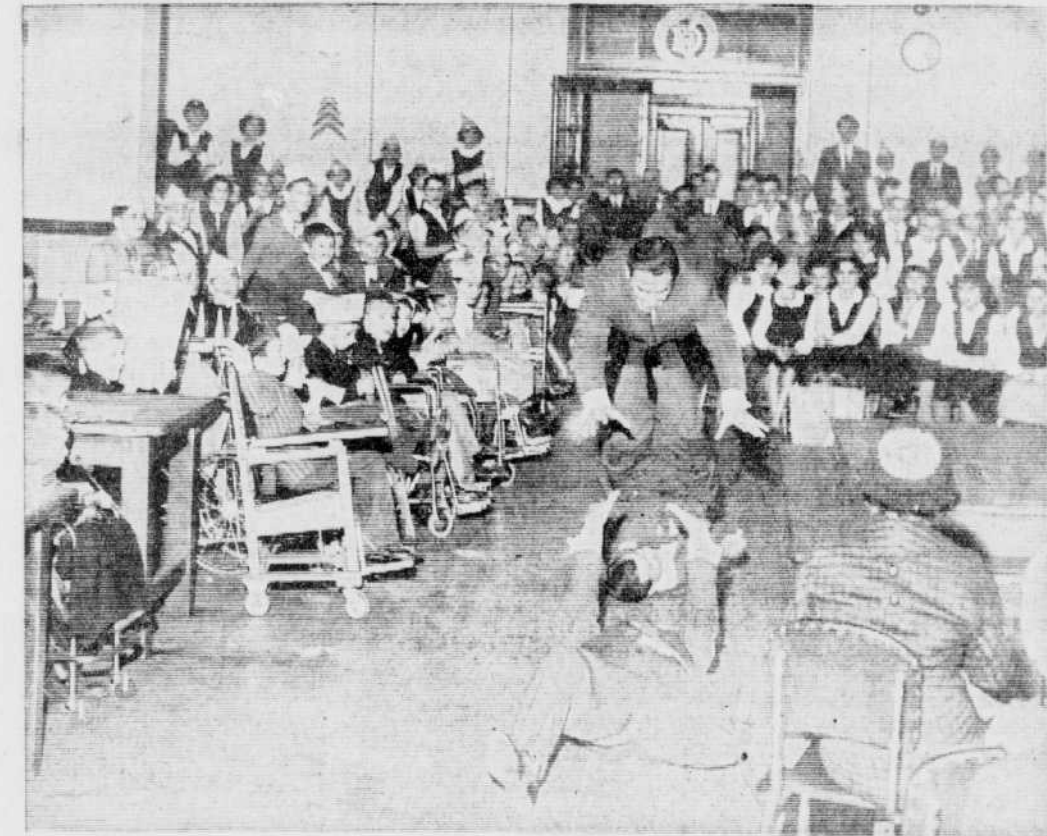

Last Monday, July 10, the Sawyerville Calf Club met at the experimental farm for their monthly meeting. The meeting included a judging demonstration. The Sawyerville Calf Club members arrived and were distributed to some of the members says Gayle Forgrave secretary-treasurer of the Sawyerville Club.

TO HAVE EXCELLENT SHOW AT FAIR —

The executive committee of the Lennoxville Calf Club reports that Lennoxville will have an excellent show of calves for the fair again this year. Last week the executive committee of the Club visited all the club members. The Lennoxville calf club showing this year will consist of 14 Jerseys, six beef calves, five Holsteins, five Ayrshires and three Guernseys, says Hue MacDonald.

DATE SET FOR ACHIEVEMENT EXERCISES —

Gayle Forgrave says the date for Achievement exercises for the Sawyerville Calf Club members was set at the July 10th meeting. Achievement day has been planned for August 18 at the Cookshire Fair.

NOTED TROUPE TO VISIT AYER'S CLIFF — The Three Edwards Brothers, a musical comedy acrobatic act from Montreal, will entertain the campers at the Crippled Children's Camp at Ayer's Cliff on Monday evening. The visit of these famous Canadian artists has been arranged by the Kiwanis Club of Sherbrooke. The fact that Freddie, the star of the show, was stricken with polio at the age of five has given the troupe a special interest in crippled children and the scene above is typical of the many free shows they have given for unfortunate youngsters.

Institute for blind to stage financial drive

Annual meetings were recently held for the four county committees which go to make up the Sherbrooke District of the C.N.I.B., namely, Richmond, Stanstead, Sherbrooke and Compton, the latter including also part of the County of Wolfe. At these meetings, it was revealed that the District as a whole disbursed in office expenses, travelling, and general services, a sum exceeding $26,000, during the fiscal year ending March 21, 1961. The Sherbrooke District's income during the same period was slightly under $14,000.

This deficit was of course discharged by funds available to the Quebec Division, but the necessity of raising District income was strongly urged by L. A. McClintock, Divisional Supervisor of Field Services.

As a consequence, at a meeting of the Institute's Campaign Development Committee, recently held in Montreal, it was decided to take a bold stand and bring before the citizens of the Sherbrooke area the problems presently confronting the Sherbrooke office, and launch a campaign for an objective of $25,000. Plans are being made to launch this campaign during the month of September.

The local office was established early in 1940, and since that time, every effort has been made to bring aid, comfort and cheer to the nearly 300 persons afflicted with blindness who live in this area. At the same time, the Institute has also brought what aid possible to those threatened with blindness, by the provision of glasses free of charge to those whose income would not permit them providing such care for themselves, and in this work alone, over $2000 was spent during the past year. Surgical intervention was also sought for those who could benefit through the co-operation of local oculists.

R. D. Rice, chairman of the Sherbrooke Committee, Jack Anderson, chairman of the Stanstead Committee, Adjutor Poisson, chairman of the Richmond Committee, and W. F. Clifford, chairman of the Compton-Wolfe committee, join other Institute personnel in hoping for the fullest co-operation of the citizens of the district, both in providing funds so that the work of the Institute may be continued and extended, and in offering their services in active ways as canvassers.

Summer festival opening tonight

Mayor Armand Nadeau opened the First Annual Sherbrooke Summer Festival with an official proclamation at City Hall Friday. The opening ceremony was followed by a gala civic reception.

The festivities will get into full swing today, Saturday, with a horseshoe pitching contest at Couture Park and the start of the round-robin softball tournament at Dufresne Park. The teams in the City, Depression, and Commercial Leagues will all participate in this affair.

Saturday evening there will be a gala "soiree" at the arena in Sherbrooke. The theme of this affair is "the good old times" and it is sponsored by the Elks Lodge and the "Touque Rouge" Clubs. The music for this event will be provided by Ti-Blanc Richard and his orchestra.

Sunday, July 16, will find the softball and horseshoe pitching contests continuing and in the evening the Sherbrooke Alouettes will play against the team from Coaticook as part of the Summer Festival. Special features are promised for this occasion.

Monday will be a quiet day as far as the Festival is concerned as the only activity will be a continuation of the round-robin softball tournament.

Tuesday will find the ladies of the Sherbrooke Country Club playing in a golf tournament under the auspices of the Summer Festival. Also on Tuesday, there will be an amateur boxing show at the arena. There will be at least ten different bouts on the card as well as a few special wrestling matches.

A fashion show at St. Charles Auditorium at 8:30 and a special heat at the regular Wednesday night races will be the order of the day on Wednesday as far as the Summer Festival is concerned.

Thursday at 8:30 at the arena there will be a "pop and jazz" night in honour of the Festival.

Friday as on all the other ten days of the Summer Festival the round-robin softball tournament will continue at Dufresne Park.

A golf tournament for Class B and C golfers at the Sherbrooke Country Club; a croquet tournament at St. Francis Park; an amateur tennis tournament at Jacques Cartier Park; and a variety show in the evening at the arena are on the Summer Festival's schedule for Saturday July 22.

On Sunday, July 23, the Festival will come to a close with the final rounds in the softball tournament, a golf tournament for Class A golfers and professionals at the Sherbrooke Country Club, a parade and finally a gala fireworks display.

Counterfeit money case next Friday

The trial of a Sherbrooke couple charged with trying to pass a counterfeit $10 bill was set for next Friday, July 21.

Judge Joseph Marier set the date of the trial after Mr. and Mrs. Aurele Boucher appeared in Court of Sessions Friday.

Joseph St. Louis, Louis Plante and Donald Mills were sentenced to pay fines of $10 and costs, $20 and costs and $10 and costs respectively or spend eight days in jail each for a variety of violations of the Motor Vehicle Act.

The sentences were pronounced by Judge Joseph Marier in Court of Sessions on Friday.

of view and outlook in life. This is an extra asset to the hobby of photography.

The length of time it takes to accomplish this naturally depends on the person as some people can adapt themselves readily to many situations and conditions. Others need a bit of practice which automatically comes with having photography as a hobby.

If a group of hobbyists can go out on a field trip with an experienced photographer, the ground work for seeing a picture is more readily demonstrated. He will take you first where there is a reasonable chance of having interesting pictures. Secondly, if asked, will answer your questions which can be very helpful.

The photo shown with this column is one taken while waiting for some fishermen to arrive back and also anticipating the size of their fish as they were noted for rather good catches. Just as I glanced over at Mr. Woodard, his concentration, with pipe in mouth, made a rather interesting profile study.

Shots of this nature and many others are usually there for the shooting, if just your mind and camera can work together. Through the use of filters, which bring out cloud effects,

Impressive scene

Outdoor chapel erected atop Barnston Pinnacle

By ALICE BUCKLAND
(Record District Correspondent)

BALDWIN'S MILLS — (Special) Cecil Meade of Coaticook, a widely travelled musician of renown, dreamed for a long time of an open air chapel on the slope of the Pinnacle at Baldwin's Mills. After working on this project for the better part of two summers, while staying at "Meade Shack", he now has the satisfaction of seeing his dream a reality.

Mr. Meade's brother, Canon Sydney Meade, rector of the Parish of St. John the Divine, Thetford Mines, takes the Eucharist Services the Sundays he is on vacation. The Canon has a summer cottage near the path to the Chapel.

Mr. Meade calls this whole area "The Philosophical Gardens", which consists of two parts principally. First, "The Path of Peace", following the brook, with symbols in small white stones to do honor and give respect to all races. Secondly, "The Chapel of Tolerance", devoted to honor and respect all religions. The fundamental idea is that people of all races and creeds are welcome to visit the Chapel and meditate.

Members of different religions have climbed the hill and stayed for a quiet moment. At one service, two McGill University students from far-off Pakistan were present. In the middle of the Christian prayers, the Canon called on one of the young men, who stood beside the Moslem symbol and recited his prayer in Urdu. Another summer afternoon several nuns on excursion from a nearby convent stopped for prayer before the Cross. In appreciation, they later brought a small statue of the Virgin, which had been blessed by the priest.

This chapel is formed on the banks of a brook, which falls down over the rocks. The path from the road winds up the slope, with tiny bridges, made of white birch for crossing the brook. In front of the Chapel, a platform is levelled off for the worshippers to sit. Only space for about a dozen is available. Small rustic benches are placed here. The enclosure is raised off with white birch logs laid to give the effect of the ruins of a Gothic Chapel in miniature.

Five symbols of five basic religions are made with stones and white birch, in a semi-circle around the Chapel on the banks of the little brook. The two oldest religions are on the highest level. These are the Hindu, with the Fertility Symbol and the Hebrew with the Menorah Symbol. The third religion is the Buddhist which is represented by a miniature pagoda and prayer flags. Christians have their Cross, which is in the center, on the highest pitch of rocks. Moslem is the fifth religion with a tiny mosque, made in white birch for its symbol. Predominating over all the religious symbols is a sharp-pointed stone which Mr. Meade calls "The God Stone", suggesting that God is the same for all religions. On the level of the Chapel is a large stone in the shape of a heart, as witness that love or charity is the other common essence of all religions.

The whole idea is that there are three levels of personality or being. God at the very top with the prophet in the middle and man at the ground level.

Young boy saved by lifeguard

Thanks to the vigilance of a life guard at the Sangster Memorial Park swimming pool, a ten-year-old Sherbrooke boy escaped drowning Friday afternoon.

Andre Boisvert, of 1224 Pacific Street, was noticed floating on his stomach by life guard Henri Gendron, early Friday afternoon. Life guard Gendron, pulled Boisvert out and immediately applied artificial respiration.

By the time Sherbrooke firemen arrived at the scene, Boisvert was starting to respond to the treatment. Firemen gave Boisvert oxygen as a precautionary action and took him to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital.

Hospital authorities said that the boy's condition is very satisfactory and that he should be released within a day or two.

Donations may be left at the National Bank or with Mrs. Alfred Aldrich, Derby Line; Royal Bank of Canada, or Mrs. George Hatch, Rock Island; Mrs. Bernard Laberee, Beebe. Granby LAPM holds meeting

GRANBY — The July meet- ing of the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant was held recently. Owing to the absence of Lady President, Doris Drouin, Lady Vice-President Irma Ne- presided. Several other officers were also absent so the meeting was conducted in short form.

It was reported that Lady Dorothy Ransom has suffered a stroke and a remembrance will be sent to her. It was also reported that Lady Margaret Rivers, President of the Depart- ment Association L.A.P.M. of Vermont and Quebec, had the misfortune to break a bone in her foot. A card was signed by all present to be sent to her. A request for a withdrawal was brought before the meeting and acted upon. ST. MARY'S — (Special) — Nomination for the positions of mayor and aldermen were held on Wednesday July 12, in the town of North Ely.

WATCH THOSE FINGERS . . . says Roy Harrison, in straw hat, to band president Jean Paul Davignon as the first nail is driven into the floor of the platform as 'project bandstand' gets underway in Richmond's Municipal Park. The Richmond Harmony Band will 'literally get its feet off the ground' as members go to work to build a platform in order to continue their summer concert series in the local park. Also helping out on the stand are Andre Boucher, member and at right Roland Letourneau, bandmaster. This group along with other members have worked a few hours each day and night when they could in order to complete the project. The Town of Richmond had given a grant of $150 to the band towards their project and the 24' by 20' platform should be completed in about a week's time. In the past, the band had performed in the park seated on chairs on the grass and have campaigned for a long time for a bandstand on the same site. They finally got right down to 'brass tacks' and decided to build a stand themselves if they could not have a good-sized bandstand. The platform will enable the 20 or 30 members to give a good performance to lovers of fine music. When the members complete the flooring, they will then paint it and put the finishing touches on their platform and then the music will blare forth.

Consuming passion is trains

North Hatley boy visits engineer of famed line

by Elizabeth Bennett

NORTH HATLEY — Thomas Jefferson Carroll, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Carroll, of North Hatley, is in George- town, Ill., visiting Frank M. Goodrich, engineer on the famed Wabash line. He wrote a letter to Mr. Goodrich, and that is how it came about that Tommy is in Georgetown, Ill., visiting Mr. Goodrich and his family.

Tommy like other boys of his age, has an all consuming passion. But, it is not in rockets to the moon, or men flying through space, it is, and always has been, since his ears first heard "that lonesome whistle, blowing at the 'frettle', trains. Before he could walk he would be clinging to the window-sill where he could catch a glimpse of his love crawling into the station.

When he was 17 months old, he marched out of the yard, accompanied by his dog Tillie, to track the fascinating monster down. From that day on, if his mother couldn't see him, she knew where to find him, down by the station, early or late.

Through the years of grow- ing up, every waking moment that he did not have to devote to the secondary affairs of life, such as school, eating and sleeping, he spent at the local Quebec Central station, where he became as familiar to the trainmen as the station agent, Gordon Riley.

Because Tommy studied every picture, read every word he could find about trains, Mr. Riley passed over to him a trainman's magazine, The Can- adian Pacific Spanner. Early this year Tommy came upon a picture and a name that caught his eye, Frank M. Goodrich, engineer on the famed Wabash line. He wrote a letter to Mr. Goodrich, and that is how it came about that Tommy is in Georgetown, Ill., visiting Mr. Goodrich and his family.

Tommy had to spend time working at odd jobs to earn the money for his expenses on the trip. One of his jobs was acting as local carrier for The Sherbrooke Daily Record.

after a dramatic concluding statement, his composure cracked and he left the hushed committee room with tears in his eyes.

RAIN FOR PRAIRIES

The heaviest rain in more than two months swept across Manitoba Wednesday after skipping over the scorched grain fields of southern Al- berta and Saskatchewan. It brought new hope to some farmers and grain prices, which rose sharply the previous week, eased. But Western members in the House of Commons still spoke of the threat of a national disaster.

FLEXES MUSCLES

In Moscow Sunday Premier Khrushchev and spaceman Yuri Gagarin looked on as the Soviet Union put on a spectacular display of air might. The power show was given added significance by the Soviet premier's threaten- ing attitude over Berlin and his announcement one day earlier that de m o b i l i z a t i o n steps had been suspended and defence spending would be in- creased by one-third.

In the United States, State Secretary Dean Rusk hinted the Berlin issue may be brought before the United Nations. A defence department spokesman disclosed that mobilization of national guard and reserve units was under consideration. President Ken- nedy ordered an urgent de- fence review.

In Winnipeg Sunday Prime Minister Diefenbaker warned Russia not to underestimate Western determination on the issue; later in the week French President de Gaulle said there was "no chance" that the West would yield to Soviet pressure for a change in the status of Communist- surrounded West Berlin.

One hundred persons died in two widely separated airline disasters during the week. On Tuesday, a United Airlines DC-8 landing at Denver, Colo., careered off the runway, struck a truck and burst into flames, taking 18 lives. The next day 82 persons died when a Czech airliner struck in a fog at Morocco landing in a lake, exploded and crashed.

Mediation talks between trans-Canada Air Lines and the Canadian Air Line Flight Attendants Association (CLC) continued early in the week and then were adjourned until next Tuesday, three days before the stewardesses' strike against TCA is sched- uled to begin.

TCA said six other unions representing its employees have agreed to honor contract clauses b a n n i n g sympathy strikes. However, the Interna- tional Association of Machin- ists (IAC), said it has not de- cided what position it will take. The stewardesses want extra pay for working on jet and turbo-prop flights.

The opposition Union Na- tionale party ran a series of newspaper ads quoting party treasurer Gerald Martineau to the effect that "patronage is legal, honest and humani- tarian."

The Union Nationale was defeated in the provincial election of June 22, 1960, and certain of its activities while in office are now being investi- gated by a Quebec royal commission.

Spotlight On Business

By JOHN BELANGER

The week's stock market may be summed up in one word—poor.

Trading came in drabs and drabs, prices declined and the exchange's industrial index fell close to 10 points. Trading seemed hesitant because of de- velopments at Ottawa and pos- sibilities of an election.

All industrial groups fell heav- ily on the week. Volume hovered around the 7,789,000-share mark and didn't rise above 2,000,000 shares in a single day. One other reason for the de- cline was lack of leadership from Wall Street.

The industrial index fell two or three points on every day except Tuesday, when it seemed to be recovering. How- ever, it promptly reverted to its "death warmed over" costume on Wednesday.

Refining oils, utilities, steels and papers suffered most.

DROPS TWO POINTS

Worst loss in papers went to Consolidated, down more than two points.

Base metals market remained true to its code and followed the industrial lead — it sank. The senior list showed Falcon- bridge down two points after it reached a new high of 63 3/4 earlier in the week, while other smaller drops were registered by Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting, Mining Corporation, Ventures and International Nickel.

Golds were lethargic.

Trading in western oils lagged as prices gradually declined. Index changes at Toronto: In- dustrials down 9.31 to 584.69; golds up .69 to 83.64; base metals down .80 to 198.38 and western oils 2.98 to 92.07.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks down .41 to 64.62; util- ities down .8 to 145.2; industri- als down 4.6 to 320.4; papers down 13.8 to 497.7 and golds up 1.73 to 81.83.

SCOTSTOWN —

Callers at the home of the Misses Jennie and Clara Han- right were Mrs. Elliott, Miss Louisa MacKay and Mr. Alex MacKay, of North Hill, Mrs. Angus Smith, of Bishopton, and Mrs. Harvey MacRae, of the Lingwick Road.

Rev. Sidney Meade, of Thet- ford Mines, conducted the service on July 9, at St. Alban's Anglican Church, and Rev. Louis Elias conducted the service in Thetford Mines, to where he was accompanied by Brian Murray, Don MacAskill and Larry Goodin.

Mrs. Dana Frizzle, of Brock- ville, Ont., accompanied by her father, Mr. Leslie Ball, of Cowansville, were guests of friends in town.

The Doctor Says

Dr. Hyma

FOR A CAREFREE VACATION OBSERVE THESE CAUTIONS

You don't have to be a crepe hanger, but you should give thought to some of the special risks that may confront the carefree vacationer.

The first is the menace of driving after having only a few convivial drinks with fellow-vacationers.

A recent report from Colorado officials places the responsibility for traffic fatalities on drinking drivers in 50 to 73 per cent of accidents.

By drinking drivers, the report does not refer to persons obviously drunk, but to those whose blood alcohol levels might not exceed the concentrations resulting from a few beers or two average-size cocktails.

The second is that of eating raw clams and oysters. Officials of the United States Public Health Service verified the suspicion of local officials who attributed local outbreaks of infectious hepatitis ("catarrhal jaundice") to clams. Because of the long incubation period of this serious virus infection (two to four months), it is often difficult to establish a cause-and-effect relationship. However, in a Jersey study better than half the patients admitted eating raw clams within 60 days of the onset of their illness.

The third is the danger of drinking raw milk or of eating raw sausage meat at a farmhouse whose spick-and-span cleanliness removes any obvious fear of the possibility of infection.

You must bear in mind that federal meat inspectors have all they can do to supervise wholesale and retail establishments that handle and process dairy and meat products. They cannot possibly extend their inspections to individual farmers and processors unless some particular need is brought to their attention.

As a result it may take some time to discover that a particular source of raw milk is a source for the spread of streptococcal, tubercular or brucella infection. And as was recently discovered in Pennsylvania, a small epidemic of trichinosis may be traceable to eating a batch of raw sausage.

Now tuberculosis brucellosis (undulant fever of humans, Bang's Disease or infectious abortion of cattle) and trichinosis (caused by a round worm that settles in muscle tissues, including those of the heart)

"Let her stay out a while longer, dear. The sky is so much more complicated than it was when we were courting!"

Bedford member visits Birchton church group

BIRCHTON — The Helping Hand Club of the United Church held its July meeting recently in the Hall. The devotional period was conducted by the committee convener, Mrs. Gilbert Nutbrown, on the topic, Unity.

Richmond Hill Institute reports sizable balance

RICHMOND HILL — The July meeting of the Women's Institute was held at Valleyview Hall, with Mrs. Sydney Smith, hostess.

The balance on hand is $282.65, and repairs to the hall and a ventilation system were discussed.

Several were disposed of. Mrs. Farant presented Mrs. Taylor with the cheque won by the branch in the competition.

The month's donation, given by Mrs. Elmer Mills, netted $1.05, Mrs. Smith's 40 cents. Doilies drawn for brought in $2 and were won by Mrs. Elmer Mills and Mrs. Ernest Smith. Tickets on the tulip quilt, to be drawn for at a later date, were given out.

A contest of jumbled letters spelling the names of cities was won by Mrs. Elmer Mills, first, and Mrs. George Healy, second.

BEEBE —

Recent guests of Mrs. Daisy Aiken were Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Jackson and Miss Sarah Safford, of Jericho, Vt., Mrs. Isabel Saccoccia, of Bridgewater, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Aiken, of Orlando, Fla.

are serious illnesses. Whatever the pleasures of drinking raw milk and eating raw sausage, they cannot possibly be worth the price you may have to pay for them.

Tips for parents

By EDITH HENRY

In among the busy city streets of Regina I found a little park. Its paths led through a retreat of shade trees and flowers towards a central point. Here the city fathers had erected a monument of remembrance to those who had fallen in World War II. I recalled the bitter struggle resulting from man's misunderstanding of man.

Once upon a time it made little difference whether the peoples of the world were of the same mind and spirit. China, for example, had developed her own culture independent of the West.

CLOSENESS OF NATIONS
But now the physical closeness of the nations means that differences in "the way of life" lead to tensions and to trouble. We are told that future generations must bend themselves towards the understanding and acceptance of the differences of others.

As I strolled along I came upon what seemed to us a venture bearing on this very challenge.

One corner of the park was fenced in to enclose four small sand boxes for children's play. Benches along the edge of the enclosure were occupied by mothers, or nannies, or in one case by a grandfather.

Around each sandbox children—apparently strangers to each other—were playing.

DISAGREEMENTS
As I watched, their normal happy business was interrupted now and then by disagreement. Two-year-olds, not knowing about the right of man, tended to appropriate everyone's toys. Older children were unwilling to share.

It might have been an international situation.

But learning was taking place. The "elders and betters" pointed the way.

Carefully guided, the next generation was finding out in childhood how to get along in peace and happiness together. The little park represented remembrance of the past, and hope for the future. (TNS.)

Rev. R. C. Tait feted in Ottawa

At a surprise banquet held in Westboro United Church Hall recently, the congregation of Trinity United Church, Ottawa, honoured their minister, Rev. R. C. Tait, former minister of Plymouth United Church, Sherbrooke, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination. Letters of congratulation were received from dignitaries of the Church and State as well as many telegrams and messages of greeting from relatives and friends in former congregations in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan.

The head table was centred with red roses, a gift to Mrs. Tait, and seated with guests of honour were Mr. George C. Brown, chairman of the anniversary committee, and Mrs. Brown, Major and Mrs. D. C. Glover, Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Sargent, Col. Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Browne, Rev. and Mrs. A. D. Waite, Mrs. H. B. Swetnam, Rev. R. A. Gregoire, Chairman of Ottawa Presbytery, and Mrs. Gregoire, Lt. Col. and Mrs. D. A. Carmichael and Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Atchison.

During the evening tribute to Mr. Tait in recognition of his long term of service to the church was read by Lt. Col. Carmichael, clerk of session.

After the presentations of a wallet and a travelling bag from the congregation and Sunday School, Mr. Tait expressed his thanks to all who had helped to bring about this memorable event.

In a book of remembrance were placed telegrams and messages as well as pictures of people and places representing milestones over the period of years. The gala occasion was brought to a close with Auld Lang Syne and the signing of the guest book.

Marriages

LESSARD-BRIEN
MAGOG — The marriage of Miss Suzanne Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brien of Magog to Mr. Jean Lessard, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Lessard of Sherbrooke took place in Saint Patrick's Church on July 1, Msgr. Philippe Cole, S. J., Bishop of Suroch, cousin of the bride, officiating.

The church was decorated with peonies and daisies. O. Tourigny was the organist and Roger Hebert, uncle of the bride was the soloist.

The bride who was given away by her father wore a gown of white peau de soie styled along empire lines re-embroidered with Alencon lace having a bateau neckline coming to a point in back. The skirt ended in a short train. Her short veil of tulle illusion was held by a crown of orange blossoms. She wore a string of cultured pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a cascade bouquet of daisies.

Dr. Pierre Bertrand acted as best man and the ushers were Jean Marc Brien and Fernand Lessard.

The mother of the bride chose a gown of green silk chiffon embroidered with Alencon lace, white accessories and a corsage of pale yellow sweet heart roses.

The mother of the groom wore a gown of brown organza over beige silk with beige accessories and a corsage of talismans roses.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the couple then left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod, the bride traveling in a two piece ensemble of pale pink embroidered with white, a hat to match, and white accessories. On their return the couple will reside in Sherbrooke and Mount Sutton.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

When you know you can't accept an invitation, notify the hostess at once.

Ruth Millett

Making, keeping friends must be two-way street

To keep friends, don't:

- Unload your small troubles on them, so that when they hear your voice on the telephone they are pretty sure they are in for a half hour of sympathizing with you.
- Discuss one friend's shortcomings with another. That is a top-off that you aren't loyal. Besides, the criticisms you utter in the belief that they won't be passed on, all too often get back to the friend you criticized.
- Wear a long face. If you want people to enjoy your company, you've got to give them something to enjoy.
- Try to out do them. If you've always got to outshine your friends in order to be happy, they'll soon become competitors instead of friends.
- Resent the good fortune that now and then comes to your friends. If you aren't really pleased when a friend gets a break, your envy will show itself in some little way. If you are honestly pleased, your pleasure will show just as surely.
- Tell your friends how they ought to be solving their problems. Most adults resent any inference that they can't handle their own affairs, and the "if I were you" advice that friends often feel tempted to give each other usually isn't appreciated.
- Always take instead of giving, or vice versa. To be a good friend you must be ready to help out when your help is needed and to accept a friend's help when it is offered.
- Take up too much of a friend's time. It is only natural to finally come to resent the person who demands more of your time than you are willing to give.

Make sure the family car is safe for travel

Experts concerned with the ever-growing traffic accident rates are looking to women to play a more decisive role in reducing the appalling slaughter on our highways.

It is not merely because an increasing percentage of driving licenses issued are going to women—an estimated 25% last year—and the fact that statistics show women are generally safer drivers than men. It is because women tend to be more safety-conscious when it comes to the family's welfare.

Generally the car and its operation continues to be the chore of the man of the house. However, wives and mothers should concern themselves with the safety aspects more. One way is to make sure that the adult drivers in the family observe all traffic laws to set a good example for the children who will be the drivers of tomorrow. Another is to insist on regular maintenance checks of the family car so that all parts—brakes, tires, windshield wipers—whose failure could be disastrous, are always in safe condition. Even women who do not drive themselves should be aware of the recommended periods within which safety checks should be made.

Many local authorities across Canada has set up special facilities where, without cost, they will test the safety features of the car. Where such services are not available, the local service dealer can perform the same function. This year, September is being designated as "Winterization Month" by the Canadian automotive service industry. During that period, Canadian car owners will be urged to bring their cars in, not only to have them serviced for safe winter operation, but to discover any potential defects that may have developed during the summer months of heavy driving.

Helpful hints for the holiday husband to know

Husbands left to fend for themselves while the family is at the cottage can have life made a lot easier for them if helpful hints like these are followed:

PLANT SITTER
Even men with a green thumb have a blind eye when it comes to remembering to water the house-plants. Before leaving, water soil of plant thoroughly. Then wrap each pot in a large section of saran film. It will adhere to the sides of the pot and the excess should be "cinched" loosely around the base of the plant itself. The soil surface must not be sealed off completely, plant roots need air. The wrapped plants will remain moist for several weeks if placed in a semi-shaded and cool spot.

LEAVE-BEHIND MEALS
Your freezer can be your proxy in preparing nutritious meals for the summer bathing husband. Various meats, including his favorite meat loaf, can be cooked, cut into man-size helpings and wrapped separately in saran film for freezing. Labeling each parcel lets him vary his diet, too. For desserts, a home baked cake, cut into individual servings, wrapped and frozen, is ready to eat. For variety, make puddings and jelly desserts, portion into the new disposable plastic cups and seal top with clinging transparent film. Leave enough frozen vegetables and canned vegetables to complement the meat. One conscientious wife leaves a code to the contents of the freezer and a list of suggested menus for tempting nutritious meals.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!

IN 12 MONTHS IN 3 MONTHS

Hair Specialist Here Monday
Will Show Men and Women How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

OTTAWA, Ont. New home treatment methods for saving or regrowing hair, follicles clogged with sebum or dandruff, itching, over-oiliness and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Sherbrooke Monday, July 17, at the Sherbrooke Hotel.

Trichologist R. G. Lang will be in charge, representing the dynamic Roberts Hair & Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 12:00 noon to 8:00 p.m.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked at regular intervals by a Roberts Specialist.

Who Can Be Helped?
Will the new Roberts treatment cure baldness? "Not!" For we cannot help men and women who are sick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair-loss — dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected by the Roberts home treatment if caught in time.

"DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE."
Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced, you're going to keep right on losing hair 'til you're bald — unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition again.

Examine You Free
We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination. Your only obligation is to yourself. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction
The Roberts Specialists will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it will cost you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk for Mr. Lang's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

Examinations are given in private.

Catching up! Neither conventions nor holidays are particularly conducive to a cleared desk - so this week I find myself virtually snowed under with publicity releases and news items just waiting to be shared with readers of this column.

In capsule form here are some of the most interesting:

Sheila Burnford's new book THE INCREDIBLE JOURNEY, reviewed on this page last week, is having a quite incredible journey of its own. So far the book has been translated into seven languages, is on the best seller list in both England and the United States and its movie rights have been bought by Walt Disney.

Kathleen Gable, widow of Clark Gable, has written a book entitled CLARK GABLE: A PERSONAL PORTRAIT, which will be published by PRENTICE-HALL. The book contains Mrs. Gable's personal recollections of her husband, accompanied by some 200 outstanding photographs of Clark Gable and also some of his only son.

In August CLARKE IRWIN will publish BOUSILLE AND THE JUST by Gratien Gelinass; the book being translated by Ken Johnson. Incidentally the translation is said to be so good that it preserves much of the salty flavour of the original French-Canadian slang. Gelinass' first play TIT-COQ brought him international attention.

Arthur S. Bourinot has recently published two letters written by Sir John A. Macdonald to Sir John Bourinot. One of the letters is of particular timeliness since it refers to the power of the Senate, a matter being somewhat pointedly debated in the House of Commons at the moment.

MCCLELLAND & STEWART are excited about a new author who is making his debut on their fall list. The author is R. J. Childerose of Bronte, Ontario, and his first novel is SPLASH ONE TIGER which his publishers confidently expect will reach one best seller list. SPLASH ONE TIGER is a story of the RCAF in postwar Germany.

Plans are progressing for the Canadian Book Display at the Nova Scotia Festival of the Arts at Tatamagouche, August 11th to 14th. This display is sponsored by the Nova Scotia Branch of the Canadian Authors Association and three of their members will give lectures at the Festival which this year received a Canada Council grant of $4,000 to expand its activities. Among the author-speakers will be Marion Moore on "Our Heritage of Homes", introduced by Dr. Helen Creighton; Doane Hatfield will speak on poetry and Geraldine Garnett on "Nova Scotia Literature and Lore."

A contrast in subjects is presented in two books which PRENTICE-HALL are planning to publish late this summer. One of them is called LAS VEGAS: CITY WITHOUT CLOCKS by Ed Reid and is partly a guidebook to "the city that can be compared to a display of fireworks that never goes out in the night sky of a Fourth of July that never ends." The other is HAD YOU BEEN BORN IN ANOTHER FAITH by Marcus Bach who writes, "The full circle of spiritual truth will be completed only when we realize that, but for a destiny not fully understood, we might actually have been born in the other person's faith."

The author should have waited

OUT OF MY LEAGUE by George Plimpton, Munsell Book Co. Ltd., 54.25.

There is more truth than fiction in the title of this book, both in describing its contents and in the presumption of the author that his experiences were worth a book. Not that Mr. Plimpton is out of his league when it comes to writing - on the contrary, it is just that the episode he describes so well is no more than a skillfully expanded magazine article. This is natural enough, because writing for such magazines as The Paris Review, Horizon, and Sports Illustrated is his trade, together with teaching at Barnard College in New York.

OUT OF MY LEAGUE tells the story with considerable embellishment of the author's experience one warm afternoon in the late fall at Yankee Stadium where as a curtain raiser to an All-Star game he willfully undertakes pitching to the best batters of each of the National and American Leagues. Prompted by the example of an illustrious predecessor in the field of sports literature, Paul Gallimerely because the view is beautiful. The timeless peace and beauty of the country, "ironed out of the wrinkles of my soul," in the words of one of the six. Any reader who has ever let the evening stillness of a lake soothe his troubles or enjoyed the silent grace of a canoe, will surely find great pleasure in this book. Drew Gibb

How to tame a heroine

co, who undertook similar arduous assignments in the 20's, Mr. Plimpton, no professional athlete himself, decided that personal participation at the championship level in various sports might well provide him with material for literary reporting in depth.

Reported he has, and in depth, but it is not until the 90th page of a 150-page book that the first pitch is made, but long before this despite the observant and evocative writing there is an undeniable impulse to scream "Play ball!"

For the avid and intellectual baseball fan this book will be very rewarding but for the average reader interested in sports one might wish that Mr. Plimpton had waited until he had completed his other projects, a round with Archie Moore, a set of tennis with Pancho Gonzalez, or 18 holes of golf with Sam Snead before committing him to hard covers.

I. C. CAMPBELL

THE BLACK KNIGHT — by Ethel M. Dell, Ernest Benn Limited, London, 256 pgs. $2.00 — Shades of the cloche hat, "The Song of India" and teen-agers who tried to ape the heroines of Ethel M. Dell! These heroines were "turbulent," "in a perpetual state of warfare" against authority, especially male authority; they were "not beautiful according to the ordinary standards of beauty" but had "a charm — an allurements — that was wholly indescribable." The turbulent, alluring, perpetually warring Ermine Devereux is back in Ernest Benn's reprint of Ethel M. Dell's THE BLACK KNIGHT.

In these days when so many novels are intro- and extro- spective, it is good to read a story that is purely and simply that — a fast-moving, well-plotted story of the high-born maiden in search of her knight in shining armour. This novel is about a girl who marries a seeming dolt while her whole self seeks the ultimate in manly vigour, courage, and beauty that is more from within than without.

As a teen-ager, I always resented, a little, the heroine's gradual taming; as a grandmother, I thoroughly enjoyed re-reading the story of Ermine's escapades, of her marriage to the White Rabbit, and if some of that youthful resentment lingers, who but a fool would not want to "belong wholly" to THE BLACK KNIGHT when he finally returns to the scene.

Rodin's work bought by Mont. museum

MONTREAL (CP) — A bronze sculpture once destined for Hitler's "national" gallery, has been acquired by the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts for its permanent collection.

The work by Auguste Rodin, who died in 1917, is 44 inches high, a female figure with outstretched arms supporting and encouraging a dying, rude soldier who holds a dagger in his left hand. Seized from the Vienna home of Ferdinand Bloch-Bauer when the Nazis overran Austria, it was sent to the Ling Museum which Hitler planned as his Reich's national gallery.

Rejected by the French Government in 1870 for the Commemorative de la Defense Nationale monument dedicated to the war of 1870, it has nevertheless come to be called La Defense Nationale. Designed by Rodin especially for the monument, many felt he lost out because the work was overly emotional.

Late in the artists' life, however, the Dutch government commissioned the work to be executed on a large scale as a monument at Verdun after the battle of 1916.

After Germany's surrender in 1945, the statue was restored to Canadian heirs of Bloch-Bauer, who died in Switzerland earlier the same year.

The unwanted U.S. dollar

Although the U.S. dollar is in demand throughout the world today, there was a time — about 75 years ago — when an issue of them was unacceptable even in its own country.

Trade dollars of the United States were issued from 1873-1885 for circulation in the Orient. In competition with the popular Mexican pesos and the Spanish dollars, it was hoped they would promote trade with the Far East. These silver pieces show a Liberty seated, facing left, enpeso of only 417.79 grains, and the regular U.S. silver dollar of only 412.5 grains, would induce its popularity with the Orientals. However, they soon realized the silver was of a lower grade, and so the American trade dollar was not a complete success.

At first it was legal tender in the U.S. to the value of $5 but with the decline in price of silver, and the confusion with the regular silver dollar coin, minting was limited to export demand only.

The last large striking was in 1878 and from 1879 to the final striking in 1885, only specimen proof coins were made. Trade dollars dated 1884 and '85 are extremely rare. Their existence was unknown to collectors until 1908, because they were not shown in the mint reports.

When the trade dollars were officially discontinued in 1887, the treasury allowed a short period for redemption, after which they fell to only the silver content value, well below $1. So most folks were careful not to accept them, causing them to become fairly scarce.

Although the trade dollars were not accepted in the Far East, as the U.S. government had hoped, a total of some 30,000,000 were issued, and the odd ones can still be seen in circulation in the Orient.

This is by far the best book on World War I that I have ever read.

The writer, a newspaperman, tells a story which at times is so hilarious it leaves the reader weak with laughter; at others, a picture so grim that it is a wonder anyone comes out of the war sane.

At the same time it shows the utter futility of war — generations of young men wiped out, and what for? Nobody has found out yet.

It deals with the formation of a city battalion in a Yorkshire town, made up of newspapermen, university students, office workers and other generally intelligent young men.

And, like many of us old sweat of World War I, it paints a hilarious picture of the meeting of these bright young fellows with constituted authority — in these days sergeant majors and sergeant instructors of the regular British army.

This has all been written before — ploughing through mud and rain in France, marching until complete exhaustion overtook men. Then the first sight of a trainload of wounded the realization that war was not glamorous, but filthy, horrible and pointless.

These men felt a desire to get at the enemy when they found themselves in a great army on the move.

Then the loss of some of their own men when they got into the front line, and finally — the Covenant with Death — over the top at the Somme and the almost complete destruction of the regiment in about seven minutes. The Somme — where 500,000 British soldiers died for a mile of ground, and 500,000 Germans died defending it.

Sergeant Major Bold is typical of the fine characters. He was hard as a rock, but at times, unknown to himself, he revealed his affection for his men. He fought with them, and he died with them.

During a hard training day and night, he came across a man who was sticking to his job, drenched and tired. He should have retired back to camp with the rest of his men, but not having received the order, he stayed at his post.

Mr. Bold, in a moment of weakness, said "We'll make a soldier of you yet."

Replied Private Haddock "I fortify myself with the thought that if I can do it properly it might help me to survive the war." Six months ago I foolishly presented myself burning with patriotic fire at the drill hall and was promptly bereft of my name and forced to answer three score and ten questions about myself ranging from stupidity to sheer impertinence. I had my head viciously shorn by an uncontrollable farmer with sheep clippers. I've sworn a great oath and had my number stamped indelibly all over my person. I've long realized I made the greatest mistake of my life . . . but I am determined to emerge at the end of it alive to enjoy it all.

Another interesting run in with Mr. Bold was when he made a disparaging remark about one of his recruits, who pointed out that whatever Bold thought about him, he was made in God's own image.

"Yus," replied Mr. Bold. "But Gawd must 'ave 'ad an off-day."

More than 40 years have passed since this battalion kept its date with death, but those who lived can read this book with pride. It will never grow old, even after they are gone. Every soldier should read the book, for it is their own experiences they are reading.

Topical collectors, car fans and collectors in general will want the two stamps issued by the West German post office, on July 3, 1961, in honor of Gottlieb Daimler and Karl Benz, inventors of the world's first automobile.

The stamps also honor the 75th anniversary of that revolutionary technological event. It was in 1886 that Gottlieb Daimler installed the world's first light fast-running gasoline engine, which he invented in 1883, into the body of the first four-wheeled automobile. That car can still be seen in the famous automobile museum in Stuttgart-Unterturkheim, established by Daimler-Benz, Inc., and it is featured on the new 10-pfen-

Mercedes the first to be called by that name and 1906, the Mercedes star was first used.

An Austrian industrialist, Emil Jellinek, who sold many of the early Daimler-Benz cars, was also a racing enthusiast who entered many competitions under the name of his eldest daughter, Mercedes. In his judgment the Daimler engine was the most reliable and efficient, although he disliked the body design of the cars. During a visit to Cannstatt in 1900 he suggested alterations in the body and ordered a series of 36 Daimler cars to be built to his specifications.

nig green stamp, which also has Daimler's signature above the outline of the ancient vehicle.

As so often happens with basic inventions and discoveries, Karl Benz independently designed his own motor and in 1883 set up his first plant which he called Benz & Company Rheinisch Gas Engine Factory, Mannheim. His three-wheeled car is shown on the 20-pennig red stamp, and his signature is at the top left corner.

Daimler in 1890 established the Daimler Motor Works, in Bad Cannstatt and later he and Benz began exchanging ideas; gradually worked together and finally in 1926 the two companies amalgamated to form the Daimler-Benz company in Stuttgart. Among the hundreds of motor vehicles in the Daimler-Benz museum there is an original 1901 ment; he died in March, 1900. The chief of the construction office, and the business manager took up the suggestions and the first six cars running under the name of Mercedes were delivered to Nice at the beginning of 1901, just in time for the International Race Week.

They were such a striking success that a French journalist, an expert in car production, wrote of "the beginning of the Mercedes era." And since then, the name has become the usual designation of all German-built Daimler cars.

The new Daimler Benz stamps have been printed on white paper with the DBP watermark, in sheets of 50. The issue consists of 30,000,000 of the 10-pfg., and 20,000,000 of the 20-pfg. Last day of sale will be December 31, 1961.

Collecting in the E.T.

By IVOR WHITEHOUSE

RANDOM NOTES — The illustrated sheets from Surinam issued in honor of Shepherd and Gagarin have made their appearance, and if any country tried to exploit stamp collectors this is it. However, the demand is heavy and they will perhaps increase in value. Already an added gimmick is being used, the sheets are issued perforated, but some have been found with no perforations through the border. The sheets are very nice but certainly not necessary. Stamp collectors should boycott issues such as these but the human habit of wanting such items overrides the wisdom of many. The first anniversary issue of the Republic of Ghana is a good looking set. These issues are colorful. Nigeria will commemorate its admittance to the Universal Postal Union with a special issue of 4 stamps on July 25. The flower series from Japan has proven to be extremely popular and already the retail value of the complete sheets of 20 stamps has increased from one dollar to one ninety five for the January stamp. The stamps from Red China are to be found in increasing numbers in Canada, they are attractive and within the reach of all collectors, and while we do not officially recognize this government it is a fact that the stamps do see postal use in that great country. The Colombo Plan stamp from Australia is a shilling value and should be collected along with the one from Canada.

The Crown Agents have released the following information concerning new issues. The new definite set from Fiji will consist of eight values, the 1/2-d will feature the Anngoni portrait of Her Majesty in emerald green, the 2-d the portrait in rose red, the 6-d a Fijian beating Lali, colours magenta and black, the 8-d a Hibiscus in full colour, the 1/4 a map in light blue and deep blue, the 2/6 Nadi Airport in black and purple, the 10/ cutting sugar cane in emerald and sepia, and the pound value will show the Coat of Arms in black and orange. Gambia and Sierra Leone will issue special stamps for the Royal Visit in December of this year. July 15 will see the Postal Centenary Commemorative issue from St. Christopher-Nevis-Anguilla. July 17 will be the date of issue for the coronation stamp from Kelantan. The Fiji set will be issued on August 1st.

The coming week I will be on vacation with the family and we will visit Ottawa, and perhaps be able to see the workings of the philatelic agency in our Capital city. I have visited this agency once and received a very nice welcome that time. The column next week will have to be written well in advance so it will perhaps contain a write-up on a British Colony.

A WORD TO THE WISE — make sure you order your Scott catalogue early this year. It is likely that there will be a greater demand than ever before for this essential part of stamp collecting.

The following list of Postmasters in 1867 in some Eastern Townships centres should prove of interest to many people. East Hatley had J. B. LeBaron; Fitch Bay, Joseph Munroe, Georgeville; A. M. Bullock, Gould; James Ross; Lennoxville, J. P. Cushing; Marlinton, J. B. Bishop; Massawippi, L. Abbott; Moe's River, Joel Baker; North Hatley, Benj. LeBaron. There are many more and a further listing will be made in coming weeks.

There are stock books full, boxes and cartons of stamps on hand at Philmar for your collecting pleasure. What better way to spend a warm summer evening, even if you are at the cottage, than with a large size approval book containing stamps from your favourite country? Don't forget the new issues still are with us, and you should make sure you don't miss any, for instance, Vatican Newspaper Centenary issue just in only 85c complete, and Ghana, also others, including fascinating set from Monaco depicting antique cars, fourteen different in colour, for $1.25. LEN O'DONNELL'S Sport Shots and Pot Shots

The annual Eastern Townships Open Golf Tournament will be held next weekend at the Sherbrooke Country Club and a record field is expected for the two-day event. Classes B and C will slug it out Saturday while class A and the professionals take over Sunday.

A field of 394 amateurs and 30 pros registered for the event last year and Ed Martin, tournament chairman, is looking for as many if not more. This has turned into the golfing classic of the Townships and the sponsors, Molson's Brewery, have gone to great expense in making it so.

The top money prize, $400, is the largest sum they shoot for at any such tourney. Last year it was a star-studded field who competed with the outstanding pros of the Province on hand. Gerry Proulx fired a two-under 69 to win the event while Marcel Fortier of the Country Club led the amateurs with a 70.

Alderman Marcel Savard came through with a fine 79 to take class B honors which is good shooting anytime. We expect that a lower score will win this year as the course is in the best condition it has ever been. Greens are perfect and the fairways are nice and green and not too hard, cutting down some roll but not enough to bother.

Only six strokes separated the top eight pros last year which indicates how close it was. Joe Leblanc, the host pro, finished three strokes off the pacesetter 69 fired by Proulx.

The registration date is fixed for Wednesday, July 19, and chairman Martin states that no post entries will be accepted. So golfers, get your names in early in order to be on the draw. Club captains are requested to send in the special forms which were prepared to help matters.

Clermont Vezina of the Royal Quebec Club seems certain to win a spot on the 1961 Quebec Willingdon Cup team along with Jacques Barrette of Laval as they are running 1-2 in points under the new set-up for choosing the squad. It is quite a change from past years and practically all newcomers are topping the list.

They have a few more tournaments to play besides the Quebec Amateur, which commenced Thursday and ends today at the Royal Montreal Golf Club. Young Andre Maltais of East Angus is taking part in the event and it will be interesting to see how he makes out. Anyway we think the new system is a big improvement over the past years.

The annual Lennoxville Golf Club Field Day is being held today and tomorrow and no doubt a good field of contestants will be on hand. It is a two-day event and you can play when you wish.

The O'Keefe event at East Angus had a record field and from the look of the final results the high-handicap players had a real field day. If you couldn't post a net below 67 you were out of luck. Looking over the list of winners in these events you run across the same names as in previous ones. We wonder what the club captains are doing about cutting handicaps when they come in with such low scores.

This reminds us of horse-racing a little. A driver will go along a while letting his horse break, jump and what-not and then all of a sudden he comes in and wins in easy fashion. The penalty is immediate suspension. But in golf the next field day sees the same player with the same handicap at it again. We think it is time that the ETGA puts the old system back in play where everyone had to have a ETGA handicap to play in these events.

Your handicap was based on the scores you registered in field days and in this manner the officials always caught the "prize-seekers" and adjusted their cards. It was a perfect manner to control it. A lot of players fail to register their good scores on their home courses in order to get a high handicap for competitions which in our mind defeats the purpose of the game. They are putting the idea of winning at any cost ahead of the main point of golf, companionship and making friends.

So captains, get out the big black pencils and start slashing. Let's put the thing on an even keel before it gets completely out of hand. We understand the odd time one gets hot and comes in with a low score but this shouldn't be a habit.

Finally, after months of hard work the Waterloo Golf Club has become a reality. The official opening is slated for Saturday July 22.

Later last fall a group of civic-minded citizens decided that Waterloo should have a golf club and proceeded to do something about it. They went about it in an orderly fashion, purchased land, organized working crews and now they can relax and look back at their results. We are sure they will enjoy it so much better because they put in the long, tedious hours of hard work. Congratulations gentlemen for a fine community effort.

The Summer Festival officially opened yesterday afternoon when Mayor Armand Nadeau issued a proclamation setting activities in motion. It will close Sunday, July 23 and every night for the next week something is on the agenda.

On Tuesday Burke Emery, Canadian light heavyweight champion, will meet Yvon Turenne in an exhibition bout. Several other matches are slated also. This should be a good match as both fighters are well known. Bob Cleroux will be the referee for the main event.

Canadian Army Team Fails In Final Service Rifle Matches At Bisley

BISLEY (CP) — A battered, back sight and a split-second time lag dashed the hopes of the Canadian army team as the last results of the Bisley rifle shoot's service rifle matches became known Friday.

One of the four two-man entries from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry placed third in Thursday's spectacular Hamilton Leigh challenge trophy match, won last year by the Canadian Black Watch team.

The Hamilton Leigh, an attempt to reproduce combat conditions, demands energy, speed and accuracy. Competitors must scramble 100 yards across three major obstacles, hit the firing point and shoot down targets 200 yards away.

A new target comes up every five seconds from the time the men start running. To win, a team must clear the target area within a 75-second limit.

Royals Host Waterloo Tonight, Waterloo Visits Acton Vale As Royals, Knights Tangle Sunday

Waterloo will battle it out at Drummondville this evening in a game was to be played at an earlier date, but had to be postponed because of foul weather. Waterloo will prove to be very tough opponents tonight since they have just scored a decisive victory over the Sherbrooke Alouettes last Thursday. Drummondville is currently wallowing in fifth place so a win for them would be a great boost for their morale.

Sunday will see all teams of the Provincial Eastern Townships Baseball League engaged in twin bills. Waterloo visits Acton Vale, Coaticook hosts Sherbrooke and Granby will scrap with Drummondville on the Royals home grounds at 2:00 in the afternoon. All teams will travel for the evening fixture at 8:00.

Granby is currently situated in the most hallowed spot in the league standing, three games in front of second place Waterloo, who enhanced their position, last Thursday night when they blanked the Alouettes 7-0. The closest race in the standing is between Acton Vale, Drummondville and Sherbrooke, the three last place clubs. A two or three game winning streak might well move any one of these three clubs up to third position. However, eight games separate the league leaders Granby Knights and third place Coaticook.

Sherbrooke's new pitcher, John Rovel, showed some pretty good form in the Als' last game. He will make a very formidable hurler once he gains some more control, a feat that will most likely come to pass when he acquires a little more experience with the local club. Rovel has not had much opportunity to practise in the last two weeks, a situation that doesn't improve any hurler's control.

Sherbrooke's lack of adequate hitting power was very much in evidence in their last encounter with Waterloo. The Als had succeeded in building up their winning streak mainly by virtue of their consistent hitting. Future wins will become increasingly more difficult if their hitting does not improve soon.

Acton Vale is looking for their first win in a while as they have been plagued by bad luck for the last few weeks. Drummondville is another team craving for a victory. All in all, this weekend's baseball regains some more control, a feat that will most likely come to pass when he acquires a little more experience with the local club.

British Open Golf Championship May Be Called Off, Decision Brings Protest From Palmer And Others

BIRKDALE (AP) — Arnold Palmer and 47 other top golfers were staggered Friday night by official word that unless the rain-plagued British open golf championship is completed today it will be declared void.

This is the title that Palmer has tried to win for two straight years. The Latrobe, Pa., pro lost it by one stroke in 1960 to Australia's Kel Nagle. Friday, because of a penalty stroke on the 16th hole Thursday, he is tied for second with Nagle at 143, one stroke behind co-leaders Dai Rees of Wales and Harold Henning of South Africa.

Hit by heavy, overnight rains Wednesday night and gales of up to 50 miles an hour Thursday, the sandy Royal Birkdale course alongside Liverpool Bay was struck by a torrential downpour Friday making play impossible.

FLOOD GREENS
The rain turned greens into lakes and flooded fairways and traps. This forced a decision to postpone the final 36 holes until today.

Then Brig. Eric Brickman, secretary of the royal and ancient club, created a sensation by announcing: "The championship must end."

He also was critical of a precedent-shattering ruling that there will be a sudden-death playoff if the tournament goes on today and winds up in a tie. "Let's just hope it's possible for us to play out the championship tomorrow," added Palmer.

Australia's Peter Thomson, a four-time winner of the British open, and three others are tied for fifth with 147, five strokes behind the leaders. The other three are Sam King, England; Ramon Sota, Spain; and Neil Coles of England.

Cupit Brothers Fire Sizzling Rounds To Take Lead In Canadian Open Golf, G. Knudson Leads Canadian Pros

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Cupit brothers, Jacky and Buster, fired sizzling rounds of 64 and 63, respectively Friday over the rain-drenched Niakwa Country Club course here to take the one-two positions after the third round of the Canadian Open golf championship.

Jacky, 23-year-old rookie on the pro tournament circuit from Longview, Tex., entered the round tied with Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., then over the course with a 64—six under par—to put him 10 under par at 199 for 54 holes.

Buster, 34, from Fort Smith, Ark., who used to take his brother along as a caddy when he played, fired an amazing 63 on the puddle-dotted course, giving him a total of 200 for the first three rounds.

STAGES COMEBACK
Almost comparable to the blistering performance of the Texans, was the comeback of George Knudson of Toronto.

The slight, 24-year-old Knudson, who started the round at even par after shooting 72 Thursday, shot a five-under 31 for the front nine and maintained the pace through the back nine for a 65 and a third-place score of 205. He holds a five-stroke edge over Stan Leonard of Vancouver in the battle for best Canadian honors in the open.

A total of 61 professionals—11 of them Canadians—and four amateurs advanced to today's final round. The pros will be shooting for a share of the $30,000 prize money offered in the open.

Lema, who fired at 65 in the first round and jumped to a par 70 in the second, continued his slide Friday, blowing to a two-over 72—eight strokes off Jacky's leading pace. Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., fired a 67 to tie for fourth with Mac Main (69) and Dave Hill (70)—all with 206 for 54 holes.

Erwin Jaisli Leading Tour de L'Avenir
LIMOGES, France (AP) — Erwin Jaisli of Switzerland Friday won the 12th leg of the Tour de L'Avenir amateur bicycle race, a 42-kilometre (26-mile) sprint "against the clock" out of town and back again.

His time was one hour, four minutes, 55 seconds. The sprint was the only time trial of the race, the other legs being distance runs usually between cities.

Italian Guido de Rosso kept the yellow jersey of the overall leader in the 15-day race which ends Sunday in Paris.
