Despite Poor Weather At Start Ormstown Exhibition Another Great Success For 1966

OFFICIALLY OPENS THE EX.

Once again, in 1966, Ormstown Exhibition scored another successful annual event. While opening night Wednesday and Thursday did not have the appearance of well attended days, the overall total came out about the same as the previous year. The first two days were marred a little by rainfall and especially Thursday when it rained most of the day. On the following two days, Friday and Saturday, no better weather could be wished for.

Gate Receipts on a Par

Gate receipts on Saturday soared to $7,898.

All told, 15,606 persons paid admission to this year's Exhibition. This is compared with the 15,619 adults who paid admission last year.

Financial comparisons with other years are hard to make since children entered free this year while adults paid $1. Last year, adult tickets were 75 cents; children's were 25 cents.

For those who like statistics, however, total gate receipts for 1966 amounted to $15606, up 11% from last year's $14,001.

The calibre of the show was in no way lessened and opening night, despite earlier rumors there might not be a parade, was par excellence. There were plenty of floats and the Notre Dame Stars from Huntingdon made color with the Ormstown Band. A float of outstanding excellence and in tune with the occasion was that of Grade Six of Ormstown High School, under the direction of Mrs. Alan Hooker their teacher. This depicted Welcome to Ormstown. On the float itself the Mayor and Council were seated around a table, while at another table was a visitor signing the Golden Book. Behind the Float were a number of girls with square boxes over their shoulders with the letters spelling out the word "welcome".

Holiday in Ormstown was another float which depicted what one might do if holidaying in Ormstown this summer. There was boating, fishing, swimming, gardening, sports and many other activities to keep one busily engaged. Notre Dame du Rosaire had a float depicting home life in 1966. Ormstown Band had a Float commemorating the twentieth anniversary of their band in Ormstown. Needless to say the band performed excellently throughout.

In view of the great help and assistance received by the Exhibition from the Mayors and Councils of the surrounding areas, it has become a practice to invite these friendly people to a special dinner on Opening Evening. From this dinner the party goes to the arena to take part in the opening ceremonies.

Opening Ceremonies

After the parade had formed up in the arena, President John Dickson proceeded to give an address to the gathering and welcomed every one present. Each one of the Mayors addressed the gathering in turn offering best wishes to the Exhibition Officials for the sucess of the 1966 Show. Mayor Beaulieu of Ormstown Village Council, presented President Dickson with a cheque in aid of the Exhibition, Warden of the County of Chateauguay, Mr. Lionel Amyot, also presented a cheque to Mr. Dickson. Among others speaking at this time were: Ken Fraser, M. P. P. newly elected in Huntingdon County; Mr. A. Somerville, former Provincial Member for Huntingdon County; Mr. George Kennedy, M. P.P. for Chateauguay County and Mr. Ian Watson, M. P. for Chateauguay - Huntingdon-Laprairie. Mr. Watson officially opened the Exhibition with a few words of praise and welcome for everyone.

Huntingdon Notre Dame Stars

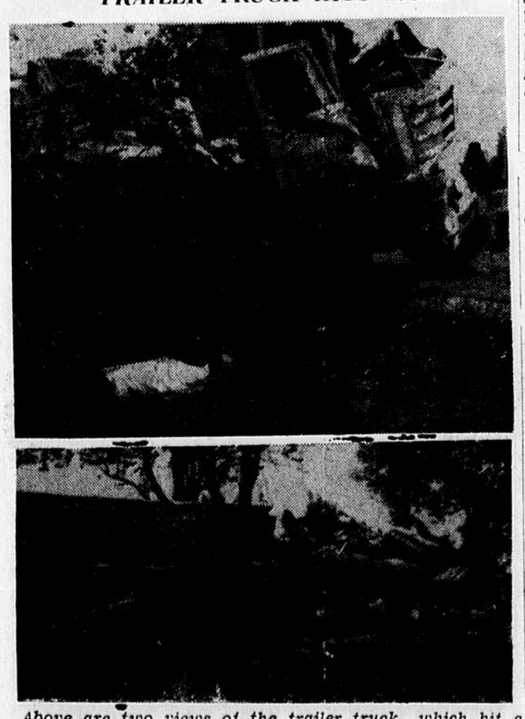

The Notre Dame Stars put on a performance that brought forth many bursts of applause at the various stages of their drills. They looked smart and colorful in their bright uniforms and hats. Each one performed with precision and followed the cues of their leaders with grace and charm. Their baton twirling was excellently done as were all the movements required of them. They reecived a resounding round of applause on the completion of their performance and as they marched from the arena.

Following this part of the opening performance the horse show got under way with some fine animals and riders and drivers. It is quite a pastime to figure out ahead of the judges as to which will be the winners in the various events. It is surprising sometimes just how close one can get.

One incident came to our notice as the parade was getting into the arena and this was apparently a run away horse. It was a small horse with a blue blanket and in some way it got into the entrance of the arena where a number of people were watching the parade forming up inside. All of a sudden there was a loud bump as someone falling and it was a horse, in a moment he was scrambling to its feet and it made off through the main entrance knocking a young boy who was standing there, down. We do not know if he was hurt The next thing the horse was back in the stable under the arena and its owner, or some one was trying to catch it. A crowd had gathered farther along, when it was discovered a young woman had apparently been knocked down by the horse. It was said her arm was broken. We were unable to gather any other information on the affair. The show went on as usual.

Simeon Beaudin Store, At Howick, Suffers Fire Damage

By Mrs. Crawford

The Simeon Beaudin Store in Howick, which changed hands several times before the Beaudin era and again when Mr. Beaudin retired more than a year ago, was saved from complete loss by fire on Monday, June 13 by the efficient Fire Brigade of Howick.

Smoke billowed from the rear storage area at 3:45 p.m. and most of the firemen were on the scene within minutes. Five hoses were used, mostly on the rear part, which was completely ruined. A special hose was taken inside the main store and it was used only when flames were noticed. This prevented damage to the contents and only one window was broken.

It was one of the worst fires to ever occur in Howick and at times it seemed to be a losing battle. It was under control by 6:30 p.m. but was checked again at 9 and 11 o'clock.

The citizens of Howick, especially those who have property nearby, are deeply grateful to the young men who did such a fine job in this emergency. Chief H. Patenaude is proud of them and they in turn have only praise and respect for him.

We regret the loss suffered by the new proprietor, Mr. Bedard. Business will not go on as usual until insurance adjustments have been made and the safety of the building has been assured.

Special Services At The Church Of The Nazarene

The special services being held at the Huntingdon Church of the Nazarene have been well attended during the first week. The guest speaker is the Rev. Sheila Graham of Millville, New Brunswick.

Miss Graham selected the story of the Rich Young Ruler as the text for one of her sermons. She presented Christ's command, "Go, sell what thou hast, and give to the poor" as a pattern for every Christian's life. To "go" means to be obedient to God. To "sell" indicates that we must dedicate ourselves and our possessions to God. To "follow", Miss Graham explained, means that we must serve God to the best of our ability.

Mr. and Mrs. Landers and their daughter Kerrilee, six, also from New Brunswick,

Friday And Saturday At Ormstown Exhibition Were Young Farmers' Days

By John S. Davidson

A parade of floats and calves by the 4-H clubs around the area highlighted Friday evening's arena program at the Ormstown Exhibition. The clubs of Huntingdon, Howick, Ormstown and Hemmingford all participated.

The theme of the parade, borrowed from Expo 67, was 'Man and his World' with special reference to agriculture.

Each of the brightly colored floats illustrated one aspect of farming. The Ormstown 4-H club's float, entitled "Progress in the past, forward in the future," showed both the old and new methods of agriculture. A farmer leaning on a pitchfork symbolized the old while soil testing equipment and fertilizers depicted the new.

Howick's attraction was ERMA, the name given to a computer that can analyse all components of a milk sample in one operation. The float showed how computers and other machines can increase and improve agricultural production.

Improved livestock through better breeding was the theme of the Huntingdon 4-H club float.

Although the Hemmingford club members entered no float, they paraded their calves around the arena along with the other clubs.

On Saturday morning, the 4-H barn bustled with activity as the members washed, clipped and readied their calves for the important judging and showmanship competitions in the afternoon.

Not only were the calves prepared for showing but the members themselves spent many hours perfecting their own leading and showmanship techniques. Even then the judges criticized some for being too tense and nervous with their calves.

The Howick 4-H club won most of the showmanship events and Ken McFarlane, 18, president of the Howick club took trophy after trophy. Prize lists appear elsewhere in The Gleaner.

Both the 4-H judging and showmanship competitions were held in the driveway outside the arena for the first time this year. The many more horse classes this year pre-empted time and space inside.

School examinations caused the number of 4-H entries to drop slightly from last year. About 65 4-H club members entered.

OPENING NIGHT SPEAKERS AT ORMSTOWN EXHIBITION

Cattle Judging Under The New Classification Plan At Ormstown Exhibition

(By Frank Napier)

Of Ormstown Exhibition's 52nd, Cattle Show it might briefly be said: Numerically smaller than usual, but, quality wise, of a high standard of excellence. Whether or not the animals eligible for same have been Type Classified one might well say that a very large proportion of them were on "Very Good", or Excellent" calibre.

One of the reasons advanced in connection with the drop in numbers was that same was probably due to the scarce and costly feed and lack of help situations. Anyway the prize money which is one of the factors connected with the Hays Show Classification Plan, initiated at Ormstown this year, did not induce any additional new exhibitors in what might be called Ormstown Exhibition's home area. In fact a very large proportion of the animals in all the breed sections came from other parts of the Province as well as from Eastern Ontario, and, in the case of the Holsteins, from New York State.

As it was with other Exhibitions which adopted the so-called Hays Formula last year, it would seem that the Exhibitors and ringsiders at this year's Ormstown Exhibition were not in agreement, pro or con, with respect to the efficiency or practicability of the said Formula. Several were in agreement that with certain modifications or extensions the Formula was O.K., others were doubtful that, except for the larger amount of prize money, the plan was any better than was the old established one. Particularly so insofar as cutting out the heifer calf classes, the lumping, so to speak, of the senior and junior divisions for the immature animals, and of the dry and in-milk heifer and cow classes were concerned. However time will tell.

The Cattle sections were judged on Thursday and Friday, June 9 and 10, with the Ayrshires and Jerseys on Thursday; the Holsteins, Canadians and Beef breeds on Friday.

The Ayrshires

Twenty-three of the 45 head of Ayrshires on exhibit came from the local herds of J. Earle Ness and Son, Regd.; R. R. Ness and Sons, Ltd.; Melbourne Acres of W. O. Carcaud and Oscar Vaillancourt. The others were entered by McGillivray Bros., Brome, Que.; J. P. Bradley and Son, Lachute, Que.; Miss Ellen Bompas, Bells Corners, Ont.; and Sydney Mode, Vankleek Hill, Ont.

As in the case of the other breeds there were only two male classes — one for junior and senior calves combined; the other for junior and senior yearling bulls. In the bull calf section the winner, Bonnie Brae Charmer for Sydney Mode, was subsequently awarded the Reserve Grand Championship ribbon. The Grand Champion was Burnside Idealist, first prize yearling bull for R. R. Ness and Sons Ltd. Burnside Old Style headed the three year old, dry or in milk, class and then won the Grand Championship for R. R. Ness and Sons. The Reserve Grand Champion was Terrace Bank Silver Princess first prize two year old for J. Earle Ness and Son, Reg'd.

Under the new plan, there is only one group class. That is for a group of four animals bred and owned by exhibitor, with R. R. Ness and Sons Ltd., in first place; 2, J. Earle Ness and Son Reg'd.; 3, McGillivray Bros.; 4, J. P. Bradley and

Trailer Truck Hits Tree On Highway No. 4 Monday

An accident occurred on Route 4 between Huntingdon and the border, near the Watson Tannahill farm, on Monday night about 11.30, which sent a trailer truck crashing into a tree.

From facts gathered it was learned that the truck is used in a shuttle service between the Trout River Customs and a point in Montreal. The driver of this particular truck was known as "Red" and his name was Roger Yelle The truck bore the name, Florida Refrigerated Service, Pade City, Fla. It appears that loads each way are gathered up and changed over at Trout River. Coming into Canada, the trucks haul frozen juice, this one going out had a load of large spools of wire.

Apparently from reports given, the driver said he was coming along No. 4 and it is a straight stretch at the point, he was blinded by the lights of another car and lost control.

The truck went from one side of the road to the other took the ditch and hit a tree. The trailer part broke and let much of the load out onto the field. The steering wheel was bent and jammed up against the seat. It is miraculous how the driver escaped with only minor injury. He was taken to Huntingdon County Hospital for treatment. The front of the truck was damaged to great extent and parts strewn about.

Two wreckers from Montreal arrived early Tuesday morning and got the truck back onto the road and hauled it away. Meanwhile traffic was held up for a considerable time.

TELEPHONE vs. BIRD'S NEST

Either this bird would have to move out or King Reid would be without telephone service on the midway. The bird's nest was in the middle of a coil of wire needed for the hookup. The dilemma was solved when Bell Telephone repairman Jean Paul Perras of Valleyfield ran another wire through.

HOLIDAY IN ORMSTOWN

Yes, that is what the above float suggested as it formed part of the opening night parade of Ormstown Exhibition. It was backed up by showing various ways in which a holiday could be spent in Ormstown and keep everyone busy. Ormstown Exhibition is a good holiday attraction each year too.

CUB SCOUT NEWS

On Saturday, May 28th, 22 Cub Scouts and five Leaders went on a ramble, beginning at Akela's house in the village and proceeding to the woods behind the Petch house on Route 52. Eight boys passed their firelighting 2nd. Star requirements. All boys then played a ramble game, hunting for pieces of pages from a magazine which had been hidden in a certain area, the team finding the highest number of complete pages were the winners. After lunch the eight boys were presented with their 2nd Star. Soda pop and potato chips was the treat that ended a good day out of doors.

THE CUBOREE

34 Cubs and 5 Leaders, Mrs. B. Wallace, Mrs. G. Ouimet, Mrs. R. Laurin, Mrs. R. Holmes and Mrs. C. Petch, went by bus to Powerscourt to the annual Cuboree on June 4th.

Mr. Albert Keeton drove the bus and greatly assisted the leaders throughout the day. At 10 a.m. all those attending met at the Flag for the welcome, the Grand Howl and the instructions for the day. Hemmingford Cubs were honoured to have one of their number, Kenny Simpson, to lead the Grand Howl for the entire group. Kenny had celebrated his 11th birthday just the week before. Returning to the area allotted them, th Hemmingford Cubs, for the remainder of the morning, divided into groups of eight or nine boys. Each group took turns playing Kim's game; singing, braiding ropes, pounding in then pulling out nails. After lunch all returned to the Flag area for singing and in this activity the Hemmingford Cubs performed well. Then the entire Cuboree went on a Treasure Hunt, searching for pieces of colorued string. At the end of the search they assembled in an open field to run relay races. Then come clean-up time before meeting at the Flag for presentation of ribbons and awards. Hemmingford received a Red Ribbon for being represented and a Blue Ribbon for having the largest number of boys present. A final Grand Howl was again led by Kenny Simpson and then came dismissal.

The singing in the bus on the return journey was more subdued than on the trip out as 34 boys and their leaders, having had a wonderful day, were just a little weary.

PLAYGROUND ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Hemmingford Playground Association was held at the home of Mrs. R. Petch on Tuesday, June 7th. Present at the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Bob Laurin, were Mrs. Laurin, Mrs. P. Pederson, Mrs. R. Priest, Mr. Y. Frederick, Rev. Gordon Ficko, Secretary, Mrs. R. Petch and the new Supervisor, Mrs. Ann English.

Rules and regulations for the use of the Supervisor were discussed and a copy of these rules was distributed to each member. Parents of children who will be using the playground this summer may have a copy of these rules on application to the Secretary or Supervisor, they are printed in both French and English.

All children from the ages of 4 to 12 years are welcome to use the playground which is to be supervised, starting June 13th, Monday to Friday from 9-30 a.m. to noon and 1-30 p.m. to 4-30 p.m.

The association has purchased some new equipment this year which is already being used and enjoyed by the many children who go to the Playground which, as most parents know, is situated behind the United Church Hall. There is also a ball field for the older children.

The new equipment consists of a large set of four swings with two toddler swings for the litle ones who are not yet used to swinging. Then there is the 'King's Castle', a climbing tower consisting of a fascinating arrangement of pipes welded together, for climbing in, around and up to the top. The children should become very agile using this equipment.

After a discussion of various other items of business the meeting was adjourned. Refreshments were servd by the hostess.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of Hemmingford W.I. was held on June 1st at 2 p.m., in the home of Mrs. R. Curry, president. Two guests were welcomed, — Mrs. J. Goodman and Mrs. A. Robert.

Mrs. Curry reported on the successful sale of refreshments at the McAdam auction. Members were reminded that Mrs. E. Keddy will be taking boxes of good used clothing to the Douglas Hospital, Verdun. Anyone having such a donation should leave it with Mrs. E. Keddy or Mrs. J. Curry as soon as possible. A letter of thanks from the same hospital was read by Convener of Health and Welfare, Mrs. L. McIntyre, for similar clothing sent recently. A card of thanks was read from Mrs. C. Harris, who was presented with a Q.E.I. pin at a Farewell Tea held May 30th.

Programs for the September School Fair were distributed by Mrs. Robertson and arrangements were made to purchase Expo tickets which will be used as prizes for the School Fair and the 1967 Public Speaking Contests.

Home Economics Convener, Mrs. E. Keddy, read an interesting article on "Safe Pesticides"; Mrs. Winter, on behalf of Publicity, read an article from a London newspaper describing a trip taken by an English W.I.

Delegates for the Provincial Convention at Macdonald this year are: Mrs. C. Petch and Mrs. J. Robertson.

After highlights of the County Convention were given by Mrs. F. Greer and Mrs. R. Curry, a singsong was held. Later refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Clelland Mrs. W. Keddy and Mrs. L. McIntyre, hostesses.

Aubrey-Riverfield

Mrs. Harold Robertson, County President, distributed the new programmes, which she had typed. Mrs. Wolodarsky distributed 17 colorful Christmas stockings to the members to be filled and handed in to Mrs. Wm. Allen before June 20th., Mrs. Jack Hamilton, kindly offered to deliver them to Montreal.

It was decided to send a donation to the Barrie Memorial Hospital in memory of Mrs. Reddick and Mrs. Robb in lieu of flowers. As a centennial project for Expo '67 it was decided to plant a few flowers in front of the War Memorial at Riverfield corner and Mrs. Easton and Mrs. Templeton volunteered to look after this.

Citizenship convener reported a serious drop in membership in F.W.I.C. during the past year. In Canada there are 65,000 members which is 2000 less than last year. Education convener read an article asking for bilingualism to be taught in both English and French schools.

Chateauguay Valley Historical Society Booth At Ormstown Exhibition

By John S. Davidson

Above is the display booth which was sponsored by the Chateauguay Valley Historical Society at Ormstown Exhibition to foster interest in their centennial project to be erected at Allan's Corners Battle site. The sod turning ceremony will take place there on July 2nd.

A glimpse into the past awaited visitors to the Chateauguay Valley Historical Society's booth in the Industrial Building at Ormstown Exhibition.

The display recreated the Battle of Chateauguay by the use of maps, portraits, and a capsule history of the struggle. Visitors saw the various positions of the troops and learned how the Canadians, under the leadership of Lt. Col. Charles De Salaberry, outfoxed the enemy.

Faced with overwhelming odds, these gallant Canadians darted in and out of the woods, changing their jackets inside out and back again to trick the enemy into believing they were more numerous.

Dominating the exhibit was an artist's conception of the new battle memorial building soon to be built at Allan's Corners. The $50,000 structure, resembling a fortified 18th century manor, will stand on the exact site where the battle raged a century and a half ago.

Since this project is not subject to government Centennial grants, the CVHS is looking for individuals to contribute to its construction.

Publicity for the project got a boost on opening night of the Exhibition when the booth was host to Adam Sherriff Scott, one of Canada's foremost portrait painters.

In an interview with The Huntingdon Gleaner, Mr. Scott said he had painted over 2,000 portraits in his lifetime. Some of his more illustrious subjects include Adélard Godbout, former Premier of Quebec as well as several former mayors of Montreal.

Winners Of Drawing

Following a parade on Saturday afternoon in which The Stars of Notre Dame took part a drawing was held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, Fairview Road, Huntingdon. The proceeds of the drawing are to be used to buy musical instruments for the Majorette's Girls' Band.

Despite Poor Weather

Midway Big Attraction

The midway was as great an attraction as ever and there were many new and thrilling rides for young and older. There were also games to play to win almost anything and shows with entertainment of all kinds. Many people were busy regaling the inner man with Hot Dogs. Hamburgers, drinks, etc. that are a must at any fair. Many of the patrons were fortunate in winning some nice prizes and were quite happy. The car displays were getting their share of the people and a larger number than usual were looking over the cars and keeping attendants busy answering questions and we hope it led to many sales.

Change in Industrial Building

A change has taken place in the downstairs portion of the Industrial Building, which we think adds to the appearance. Someone had a brainwave to open up an archway between the two corridors. This happened in the Hydro Quebec display. This was opened crossways and we believe it made a much better display. The balance of the exhibitors in this area were much the same as in other years. Machinery exhibits on the outside were in good display and as usual demanding much attention.

Exhibits generally in all departments were numerous and of good quality as shown after the judging when the prize tabs were attached.

Although Exhibition officials blame the poor weather for the disappointing turnout earlier in the week, other factors may have contributed to the poor attendance. Mr. B.L. McGerrigle, a director of the Exhibition said, "new attractions are needed to draw the crowds on the week nights."

Events such as the calf scramble, the pony potato races and the knock-down-and-out jumping classes were, as always, hits with the crowd. More of these special attractions may be planned next year.

Upcoming examinations for Grades 10 and 11 discouraged some of the keener students from becoming fair goers on the week nights. The students are writing final examinations this week.

Calf Scramble

Highlight of Thursday evening's performance was calf scramble which drew a large audience in the arena.

The calf scramble, sponsored by Green Giant of Canada is one of the most popular single events at the Ormstown Exhibition. When 18 eager boys face ten frisky Black Angus calves, there is bound to be action.

Urged on by a roaring crowd, the boys used every trick in the book to get the calves over the finish line.

Over in one corner of the arena, Terry Harrington and his adversary faced each other like two wrestlers, each waiting for the other to move first. Meanwhile, Doug Hamilton struggled with a particularly obstinate calf, pulling first his halter, then his tail and finally in frustration, pulling them both together. With a quick flick of its head, the animal freed itself only to be rushed by eight other boys waiting for their chance.

At one point an over-excited calf almost bounded into one of the spectator boxes that surround the arena.

One by one, the victors led, pulled or dragged the calves across the finish line. The last three calves needed a little help from the officials who looked as if they were itching to get a piece of the action anyway.

Each of the other participants received $10 gift certificates for entering. These were presented by Mr. Paul Dionne of Green Giant and went to: John Ryan, Fred McNaughton, Douglas Moore, Robert Stirling, Donald Sproule, Steve Heizler, Doug Hamilton and Ronald McCaig.

The calves were from the farm of Norman G. McLean, Dewittville.

The highlight of the Friday Evening show was undoubtedly the Calf Clubs Show of floats and calves and six horse teams drawing wagons got their share of the limelight.

Ormstown Moppets

On Saturday evening, the Ormstown Moppets staged their drill routine and won great applause from the large crowd in attendance. They had a new routine which really pleased the audience and they performed to top degree. Words cannot really describe this performance and there is no doubt that a large number of patrons came just to see this part of the show.

Good Attendance Saturday

Saturday's attendance record reflected itself in many ways. The arena was jampacked all night with overflow crowds forming above the seats and spilling out into the entrance way.

Ormstown Lion's Club members could hardly write out names fast enough as the crowd clamoured for tickets on the new car draw.

Over on the midway, lineups sprouted at many of the rides and the hucksters were having a field day.

Some of the visitors complained about the empty stalls in the cattle barns. Under the new regulations established this year, the cattle are allowed to leave the Exhibition as soon as they have been judged. Since judging takes place Thrusday and Friday, many of the cattle were gone by Friday evening. Officials say this may hurt attendance next year, for many people come to see this part of the show.

In general, the Board of Directors are optimistic about next year's Exhibition. For one thing, some of them say Expo 67 in Montreal will be a boost to the Ormstown Exhibition because so many more people will be around the area. Since Expo 67 runs for six months, it is not seen as a competitor.

Accidental Verdict In Accident Case

A coroner's inquest was held in Valleyfield on Monday concerning the accident in which Gerald Quenneville of Ormstown was instantly killed on March 7th last.

Four witnesses were called. Mr. Percy Sutton of Franklin Centre, owner of the two trucks involved and Mr. Lorne Carson driver of the second truck. Mrs. Lavallée who lives in the vicinity of the scene of the accident also testified and the Q.P.P. agent who was called to the accident and conducted the investigation.

After hearing the testimony presented, the jurors deliberated for a few minutes and rendered a verdict of accidental death.

How many dry beans can be bought for $1.1 million? According to the Department of Trade and Commerce it is almost 20 million pounds — the total that Canada exported during 1965.

The demand does not appear to be great, but nevertheless it is possible to sell refrigerators in the world's north. Iceland imported three units from Canada last year, the Department of Trade and Commerce says.

In Memoriam

MOORE — In loving memory of our dear son and brother Ralphie, who passed away June 14th, 1963.

The month of June is here again,
To us the saddest of all the year.
The blow was hard, the shock severe
To part with one we loved so dear
And those we loved so much,
Are just the ones God calls away,
And takes them home to rest.
But every time we think of you Ralph,
We seem to hear God say,
Have faith and trust my promise
We'll meet again some day.
Always remembered,

Cattle Judging ...

Son; 5, Melbourne Acres; 6, Sydney Mode.

Both the Premier Breeder and the Premier Exhibitor Awards were won by R. R. Ness and Sons, Ltd., with J. Earle Ness and Son, Reg'd., as the runner-up in both instances.

The Ayrshire show was efficiently judged by James Houston, Farm and Livestock Manager, Macdonald College.

The Jerseys

The Jersey Show was efficiently and expertly judged by Professor Robert Fitzsimmons, University of Vermont, Burlington, Vt. A very fine show of quality animals, all from outside this area, comprised of entries by North River Farm, Lachute, Que.; Maurice Sylvestre, St. Pie de Bagot, Que.; Willow Hollow Farm, Shawville, Que.; Floyd D. Dingwall, Berwick, Ont., and J. J. MacKenzie, Finch, Ont.

The Grand Champion Male was North River Standard Castor, first prize yearling bull for North River Farm. The Reserve Championship went to Payneside Carom Dandy, second prize yearling bull for J. J. MacKenzie.

Floyd R. Dingwall won the female Grand Championship on Spruce Vine Caron's Holly, first prize two year old heifer. The Reserve Championship went to J. J. MacKenzie on Payneside Carom Duchess, the second prize two year old.

The Premier Breeder and the Premier Exhibitor Awards were both awarded to J. J. MacKenzie.

Interbreed Competition

While there were twelve entries in the controversial (at other shows) Interbreed Class for cow with the Best Udder, only four animals were paraded before the judge, Prof. Fitsimmons. The prize winners were: 1, Fassi Fern, Poppy Fern Ranger, a Holstein owned by Swanston and McHardy, Chateaugay, N.Y.; 2, R. R. Ness and Sons Ltd., in the Ayrshire cow Burnside Melody; 3, J. P. Bradley and Son on the Ayrshire cow Payneside Junior Roxy.

Largest Exhibit

Numerically, with 61 head out, the Holstein exhibit was the largest of any breed at this year's Ormstown Exhibition. That show was judged by Fred Griffin, Burgessville, Ont., apparently to the satisfaction of all concerned, at anyrate in a prompt, efficient manner.

There were only three local exhibitors — Oakley W. McRae, Howick; Harold Robertson and Murray Templeton, both of Riverfield. However there were 6 exhibitors from other parts of Quebec; 7 from New York State and 1 from Ontario. Nevertheless, while they may have been numerically outnumbered, so to speak, the local Holstein men annexed a considerable number of the prizes.

The Grand Champion Male was Maslea Tomme Revelation, first prize yearling bull for Gerard Audette, St. Cesaire de Rouville, Que. The Reserve Grand Championship was won by Mallory Rocket Brigadier, second prize yearling bull for Georges Lemyre, Maskinonge, Que.

The female Grand Championship was won by Wenron Sallie Alert Babe, first prize 4 year old cow for Lloyd McRae and Son, Bainsville, Ont. The Reserve Grand Championship went to Wenron Marion Alert Girl, first prize 5 year old and over cow for Lloyd McRae and Son.

The winners in the only Group Class (4 animals bred and owned by exhibitor) were: 1, Lloyd McRae and Son; 2, Oakley W. McRae; 3, Murray Templeton; 4. Dominique Farm, Les Cedres, Que.

The Premier Breeder and the Premier Exhibitor Awards were both won by Lloyd McRae and Son, with Murray Templeton as the runner-up for the Premier Breeder Award.

Beef Cattle Show

The Beef Cattle Show was comprised of animals that would have been either at the top or in close contention for other leading awards at exhibitions featuring their respective breeds. However, with but two exceptions, the exhibitors were from other parts of Quebec and also Ontario.

The exceptions referred were in the Hereford Section, one of whom was John Dagg, Dundee, Que., in the Hereford Section, who, while he didn't win any of the leading awards nevertheless made a very good showing. The other also in the Hereford section was an entry by Keith Payne, Fairview Road, Huntingdon. His entry was Hallvale Paladin in the yearling bull class; the bull which was recently purchased as a foundation herd sire.

Mike Kenny, Orleans, Ont., annexed the male Grand Championship, while Flemingvale Farms, Crysler, Ont., won the Reserve Male Championship; the Grand and Reserve Grand Championships for females.

In addition to the now regular annual exhibit from the Saraguay herd of Mrs. W. C. Pitfield, there were also Shorthorn exhibits from the herds of Massey-Ferguson Farms, Milliken, Ont.; Balmenach Farms, Arnprior, Ont.; Mervin Miller and Sons, Glasgow Station, Ont.

The Massey-Ferguson exhibit won the male and female Grand Championships, while the Reserve in both instances went to animals shown by Mrs. Pitfield.

Incidentally the Massey-Ferguson exhibit and the Windfields Farms Ltd., Aberdeen-Angus exhibit were conveyed in a special truck to Ormstown, which truck will also convey the said exhibits to Lachute Spring Fair and from thence to Brandon, Man.; Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon Exhibitions.

The Windfields Farms Ltd. (E. P. Taylor) was a very choice one indeed but was unfortunately without competition.

In other years the 4-H Calf Club Show at Ormstown Exhibition was staged on the Friday afternoon. However this year it was decided that because of the School examinations that were to be held that day, the said show would be held on the Saturday afternoon, June 11th.

Regrettably so, because of another engagement, we were unable to attend that event, but Gilbert Macmillan has kindly passed on a few of his observations as well as a few details of the leading awards.

From Mr. Macmillan's comments it would seem that while the show could not be staged in the Arena it was again a noteworthy exhibit, both as regards the calves shown and the performance of those 4-Hers in presenting their calves. Because, the Arena was taken up with Horse Show events, the show had to be held in rather restricted space on the roadway between the Arena and the Poultry and Cattle buildings. The judge was James Houston, Farm Manager, Macdonald College, and, according to Mr. Macmillan he is to be commended on his painstaking work and his comments regarding the various classes.

Catalogue wise we are not aware of any deletions or additions) there were 6 junior Ayrshire calves with that of Janice McFarlane in first place. Twenty senior Ayrshire calves were headed by the entry of Ken McFarlane, which calf subsequently won the Ayrshire Championship. Kathy McFarlane's calf was second in the senior class, also the reserve championship.

A class of 16 junior Holstein calves was headed by a calf shown by Andy Tolhurst.

Carolyn Templeton's calf was first in the senior Holstein calf class and then went on to win the Championship of the Holstein. The reserve champion was the second prize senior calf shown by Don Smith.

Regrettably so, a list of the Showmanship and Judging Competition winners is not presently available to us. However, here is a partial list, as reported by Mr. Macmillan, of the Special Awards:

Family Herald Trophy for best Junior Farmer Judge — Janet Cavers.

Kiwanis Club of Montreal Competition: Alex Quinnell (451 points); Richard MacDougall (344); Jim Bryson (342); Cathy McFarlane (315); Agnes McKell (310); Fay McKell (309); Alex McCaig (307).

No expense is spared in the creation of a custom-built Rolls Royce car, says Reader's Digest — the color of one ordered for a princess was matched to complement her nail polish.

MEMBERS OF THE 4-H CLUBS COMPETING

What Is Ormstown Doing

By Bernice Cullen

Ormstown residents, like everyone else in the area, have been complaining about the weather. It rained last week — during the fair, and that is unforgivable, it was unseasonably cold — and that is unforgivable, and today, Monday we hear great moans and groans about the heat. We heard of one young lady who succumbed from the 88 degrees of lovely summer heat.

The fair is over, and Saturday evening was most eventful. The town supplied the packed arena audience with a spectacular show, which would be hard to match any where else even in a town much larger than ours. The Ormstown Band entered the arena, playing "Mr. Touch Down U.S.A." followed by the Majorettes and Moppets. After taking their positions the two groups, the marching Majorettes and the dancing Moppets thrilled the responsive crowd with an intricate precision routine, which certainly must take second place to none. Band members and Mr. Lindsay Cullen, Majorettes and Mrs. Dawn McMahon and Moppets and Mrs. Miriam Coulombe, Ormstown is proud of you.

Now that the fair is over, Ormstown is preparing for Friendship Week. Again the band will play a prominent part by starting the week off with a concert in the park on June 23. The evening will end with (Feu de la St-Jean), a huge bonfire.

The Lions will sponsor a full day on the 25th and buses from the Protestant and Catholic Schools will transport children to the fairgrounds, starting at 12.30, returning them to their homes at five o'clock.

An Ecumenical gathering will be held in each of the four churches on June 27th. A procession led by the band will proceed from one church to the next with a twenty-minute service in each. This project has been received with elation by the clergy.

On June 29th a concert ... down by the river side, facing the new promenade will feature Alan Mills, well known folk singer and of course talent from our town, including Mrs. J. Wallace's junior choir, the Ormstown Choral Society, the Ladies' Catholic Choir led by Mrs. S. D'Amour and the girl's choir of Notre Dame du Rosaire School.

An outdoor dance is planned for July 1st with Jean Guy Forget's Orchestra, which plays anything and everything from "Go Go" to "Go Slow"

On July 3rd at four o'clock an outdoor Mass will be held at the Roman Catholic Church to which all are invited. This will be followed by a reception for those holding tickets to the deluxe dinner to be served in the arena. The reception, sponsored by the board members of both schools, will be held in the Ormstown High School.

The sponsoring of Friendship Week in our town came about some weeks ago when it was discovered that two groups planned to celebrate anniversaries during the summer. The Ormstown band under the direction of Mr. L. Cullen will be 20 years old this summer and it is the 25th anniversary of the priesthood of Father Larocque. Mayor B. Beaulieu contacted several persons and it was decided to coincide the two events. An ad will appear in The Gleaner giving the times and places of the complete programme. All is free with the exception of the banquet.

This will be the time to take stock of our town, to ponder on its importance and the importance of its people, people who come from, English, French, Scottish, Dutch, Irish, German, Hungarian, Polish, Chinese, Eskimo and many other backgrounds. This is the chance to prove to the rest of Canada, that we are CANADIANS, wanting only one thing, to be friends with each other and individuals in our own realms. This is the time to show appreciation to one who has given more than twenty years of devoted instruction to the musical education of our children and to another who has given more than twenty-five years of devoted religious instruction to the members of his parish. It is not too often that a man of God is ever recognized as such, while he still is with his flock. Ormstown wants to how apreciation NOW.

CAR CRASHES INTO HOME AT AUBREY

What might have proved to be a serious accident occurred in Aubrey on Sunday evening. While the Keith Robb family was sitting on the porch of their home, a convertible, driven at high speed, swerved to avoid hitting a boy on a bicycle and crashed into the porch smashing the steps and breaking several windows and causing considerable damage. Fortunately no one was injured.

This and That in Town

✔ Ormstown Exhibition attendance figures were just about the same as the record-breaking 1965 gate admissions, according to Carlyle Dickson, Secretary-Treasurer, "despite the fact that this year children were allowed on the grounds free of charge". Hearty congratulations to the officials for another excellent programme. The adverse weather conditions during most of the '66 show days no doubt kept some people from long distances away, but Ormstown Exhibition is progressing and improving every year, although one sometimes wonders just what improvements can be incorporated. One of the highlights of the entire exhibition was the gala parade and show Saturday evening in the arena featuring the Ormstown Band under the direction of Bandmaster Lindsay Cullen, the Majorettes directed by Mrs. Dawn McMahon and the Moppets under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Coulombe: this entire presentation was excellent. An excess of $25,000 in prize money was offered this year.

✔ That Town is now gearing up for another colossal celebration: Friendship Week. (See details).

✔ In Ourtown, Mrs. Anne Cameron will be installed President of Br. 81, Royal Canadian Legion, on Saturday. Mrs. Cameron is a World War II veteran, having served overseas in the WRENS. Terry Tookes, Hon Sec. of the Quebec Command, will officiate at the installation ceremony. And, did you know Anne's husband, Dr. K. G. Cameron, has been named Honorary President of the Branch in recognition of his work as architect and general overall superintendent of recent renovations to the Legion Hall?

✔ Did you know that Mrs. Dan Galipeau is now a member of the Huntingdon Catholic School Commission? She won over Mr. Raoul David by a wide margin at the election on Monday.

✔ And did you happen to meet Ross MacLean of the RCAF at Ormstown Exhibition? Now stationed Metz in France, he spent the past week visiting his brother Howard and sister, Mrs. Leslie Sherry. Incidentally, Ross only has three more years before retirement.

✔ Talking about the RCAF, John Rankin of Port Lewis, now stationed at Uplands Airport in Ottawa has been vacationing at the home of his parents, but he's sporting a cast on his right foot. John informs us he broke a bone playing badminton.

✔ And Freddie and Mrs. Moore of Peterboro, Ont were home for Ormstown Ex. Freddie, one of Dewittville and Huntingdon's versatile athletes renowned locally as a hockey player, has been suffering from a torn cartillage in one knee for a long time.

✔ Pike are striking at almost anything these days at Lake St. Francis. It took 15 minutes for a local fisherman to land a ten-pounder late Sunday afternoon.

✔ Talking about fishing, those derbies for big-city companies on week-ends are quite the thing and have you noticed the cooperation between the fellows who cater to these events? When you see one boat towing ten or so rowboats, and several convoys like this, it's only St. Anicet Outfitters or Philip Hart delivering and returning the boats used in the derbies to each others wharves.

✔ Whew! Final exams are almost over for most Chateauguay Valley students. Reactions are varied: some say they haven't been half bad to date, others say they've been real stinkers.

✔ The judicial recount of ballots at Valleyfield Monday cut Ken Fraser's Liberal win to a majority of 45.

✔ What is your reaction to Mr. Andre Billette's Letter to the Editor that appears on page 17. Perhaps we'll have several replies for next week's issue or are the ladies going to take this quietly, for what it's worth? Other Letters to The Editor are on the Editorial Page.

✔ The promenade in Ourtown near the Henderson St. bridge is taking shape and work on similar beautifying near the Walker Bridge will be starting soon. One question: are we going to illuminate these promenades with good strong lights as Ormstown is planning to do? Seeing that the Town Council doesn't want us mentioning the Lights on the Henderson St. bridge any more, we hope satisfactory lighting will be made on "les promenades". That's all.

✔ Just this: we're told young Miss Nancy Grant thinks everyone at the County Hospital is just about tops, even if they did remove her appendix. Think you'll take up nursing as a career, Nancy, or would you prefer to be a doctor?

✔ PUTTING "STRETCH" IN PENSIONS — The gearing of Canada Pension Plan payouts to cost-of-living changes, The Financial Post notes, could well be the catalyst that brings about much wider acceptance of flexible-benefit pension programs for corporation and for government employees. One pension consultant, Norman Kirkland, senior vice-president at Alexander & Alexander, told The Financial Post: "In five years time variable-benefit plans will be very common. Either free enterprise will provide them, or government will, and I think free enterprise can and will. Some rethinking will be necessary by pension designers and some safeguards may be necessary, but I don't think this requires anything magical". The Financial Post says that retired people now living on fixed incomes know all too well the inroads that can be made by inflation. In the past year alone, rising prices reduced the purchasing power of pensions by 4%. Those who retired as recently as 1961 have lost 10%.

✔ It must be all of two months since we learned of a new chemical to control water weeds and at that time we said we would have more news about the discovery at an early date. Well, the facts weren't obtainable until this week but we think everyone from Fraser's Point to Hungry Bay will be interested to learn that Ken McNiece of Franklin Center has been named distributor for the chemical, known as 'Reglone'. Ken tells us Reglone was designed to control water weeds in still or slow moving water of lakes, ponds, ditches and canals. Everyone with a camp on the waterfront is well aware that weeds around beaches or docks are more than just a nuisance...they're hazardous. They interfere with swimming, boating, fishing, drainage. They affect the taste of water, cause bad odors, encourage mosquitoes (we've plenty of them this year) and aggravate swimmers' itch problems. That's why we hope everyone with water weed problems will contact Ken and investigate Reglone. The new chemical is said to be effective and is quite inexpensive. It presents no hazard to fish, animals or humans. It works fast and on contact with soil, mud or lake bottom, it disappears, but the weeds are killed. An advertisement describing Reglone appears elsewhere in The Gleaner and Ken McNiece will make all arrangements and apply the chemical for about 25 cents per 100 sq. ft. Isn't this worth checking on?

✔ TRUE LOVE: Perhaps by far the majority of fist fights, even arguments, are over a girl. Anyhow, such was the case Thursday about noon when two teenagers met in a restaurant in Ourtown. A bloody battle started in the restaurant, was carried on out in front of the restaurant and didn't end until a couple of adults intervened. One could hardly see out of a blackened eye for a few days and the other is sporting a broken nose. It was a real battle royal and if Claude Pilon and Jon Proudfoot had not happened along to break it up, results might well have been more serious. Too bad the young lady hadn't been around for the show, fellows...

✔ A still capable of producing 125 gallons of moonshine a day was seized by local and district officers of the RCMP on June 1st at St. Clothilde. (See elsewhere)

✔ Pike, Doré and Perch are cooperating with anglers these days. Most fishermen report large minnows are plentiful but there's a real shortage of small sucker minnows that are the most popular. St. Anicet Outfitters travelled 50 miles east of Sherbrooke last week trying to get enough minnows to fill orders. Perch, especially, just won't bite on those big minnows, but boy, the Doré seem to think they're fine. Worms and nightcrawlers are hard to beat as far as some kinds of fish are concerned...too bad they don't like caterpillars... we could all be millionaires of we could sell THEM at a buck a dozen.

✔ QUEBEC'S WELFARE VITAL TO ALL — Whatever the final outcome of the Quebec leadership race, The Financial Post comments in its lead editorial, the narrow margin that will prevail between government and opposition is bound to have a deep and perhaps a regressive influence on economic progress in this key province. The Lesage government, in its forceful jerking of Quebec into the mid-20th century, has made giant strides in such key areas as education, government administration, and in general economic progress. It has instilled in Quebeckers a new spirit of enthusiasm and aggressiveness in the development of their material and human resources. Evidently, The Financial Post says, Lesage & Co. were moving too fast, especially for many of those outside the big cities who wished to cling to the old and feared the new. Daniel Johnson has made many promises but which of them he would, if in office, actually carry out only he knows. From the general sound of him one would believe he is no separatist though a loud demander of "equal opportunity". What does the election outcome mean to the avowed separatists and extremists? Asks the Financial Post. They are probably well pleased because, in a legislature so evenly divided, both main parties may play for separatist favor and support. Slowdown in the economic aspects of Quebec's quiet revolution seems inevitable, The Financial Post says. Postponements of the revolution in education would, of course, merely postpone for more young Quebecois the time when they compete on equal terms.

✔ And this: at a recent coroner's inquest, it was stated that the speed limit on Route 4, outside of towns, is 50 m.p.h. Well, perhaps it should be lowered to that, or even less on some stretches, but the signs we see say it's a 60 m.p.h. highway.

✔ That tractor trailer accident on Route 4 about seven miles west of Huntingdon Monday night/Tuesday morning resulted in the driver having over 100 stitches to close gashes he suffered. Damage was extensive to both tractor and trailer. Treated at the County Hospital, the driver returned to supervise salvage and towing operations. Plucky fellow.

✔ Howick's Volunteer Fire Dept. deserves praise for their efficient work of Monday evening when they saved the former Simeon Beaudin store from being razed. (See article by Mrs. Crawford, Gleaner rep.)

What is Ormstown

It will be learned by all, long before this is read, that the land has been bought for the regional school. We will watch the building of this edifice during the coming months ... we hope.

We wonder if Mr. Johnson knows about No. 4 Highway.

Did you know that Mr. Samson signed the deeds for the property he needs for Pro[illegible] cessed Wood? This was done at the dinner last Wednesday evening, which was sponsored for the mayors, councillors and their wives, by the Ormstown Council. Mr. Samson says he hopes to start some time early in July. He is more than pleased at the enthusiasm shown by the people of our town for everything they get involved in.

At the Council Meeting held in the Town Hall, on June 2, it was decided to light the promenade with two 400 watt bulbs. The government has finished its job, but we feel the whole background should have been sodded. It isn't that we are complaining, but since the promenade and the white fence presents such a peaceful appearance as one approaches the bridge, the bare earth leaves something to be desired ... grass will grow in time, we suppose.

The High Shool pupils are looking rather serious just now, and so are the teachers. The children are saying, "I never heard of that before," and the teachers are probably wondering whether they used the right textbooks. It was ever thus at High School Leaving Examination time.

VISER HAUT

Celui qui est en quête d'une vie heureuse ne se contentera jamais de la situation existante. Après avoir atteint un palier, il ne voudra pas s'y installer. Il sait que les restrictions les plus irritantes sont celles que l'on s'impose soi-même.

On ne trouve pas non plus le vrai bonheur en traitant une réussite comme une pierre précieuse, en l'enfermant dans un écrin pour la contempler avec admiration. Il y a des gens qui s'efforcent d'atteindre la perfection dans un domaine afin de s'y reposer confortablement. Mais vivre ainsi, c'est abdiquer son intelligence, se condamner à la médiocrité, piétiner sur place. Chaque succès est un tremplin pour monter plus haut encore.

Le désir de mener une vie heureuse provient dans certains cas de l'ambition naturelle d'être avantageusement connu et de laisser un bon souvenir. Ceux qui en sont animés ne veulent pas qu'on écrive sur leur tombe: Ci-gît X qui n'a fait de mal à personne et qui, content de l'état des choses, n'a absolument rien dérangé dans son milieu."

Mais si ce serait folie de s'appliquer à vivre d'une façon anodine, replié sur soi-même, il est également condamnable d'édifier sa vie sur les biens extérieurs, comme le rang, les richesses, les honneurs et le faste mondain. Il nous faut certes, étendre le champ de notre expérience, et cela ne peut se faire que par contacts avec le monde qui nous entoure. Mais nous devons aussi éprouver un certain sentiment de stabilité, qui ne peut se trouver qu'en nous-même.

Les facteurs extérieurs sont en vérité des choses bien fragiles. Faire parler de soi dans les journaux, être reçu et fêté, être recherché à cause de ses richesses, ce ne sont pas là les éléments d'une vie heureuse. Collingwood qui réussit à commander la flotte à la mort de Nelson à Trafalgar, nous a laissé cette réflexion désabusée: "La trompette de la renommée fait beaucoup de bruit, amis les notes qu'elle émet ne restent pas longtemps dans l'oreille."

EDITORIAL PAGE

Editorial Notes..

The Shape of Things to Come

PROBABLY by the time this editorial appears in print, Daniel Johnson will have taken over the reins of Government in Quebec and will be our next Premier. It will be interesting to watch what will happen. While Mr. Johnson had some training in the last National Union Government under the late Maurice Duplessis, the majority of his followers are more or less new hands in politics.

The Liberals under Mr. Lesage were going right ahead in a number of pieces of new legislation and much has already been done. Notably are the strides made in education under the head of "Operation 55". Some new schools have been built already, some are in the course of erection, come in the planning stage. These new schools are all in the upper bracket of cost. It is possible that a halt may be called to this plan and a less elaborate one instituted in its place. Mr. Johnson has some different ideas in this connection. He is not in favor of the "monster school", but he does favor education reform. It appears that when the U.N. Government really starts to work there may be some radical changes in this particular plan.

Mr. Johnson too, favors a less advanced medicare program for Quebec and it is quite likely there will be some changes in it. He does feel that hospitals need more attention: they need extra space, more accommodation and equipment.

This should bear well for Huntingdon County Hospital which Health Minister Kierans of the former Liberal Government promised during the campaign, would have something done within a month. If Mr. Johnson would favor that promise by getting something done within the next few weeks, he and his Party would earn the undying gratitude of many of the electorate in these parts. There is such a need for something for this hospital and nothing has been done since the N.U. was in power before. It would help Mr. Johnson's promise that the rural areas are to receive their share and show that he is trying to be fair.

With regard to Route 4, it could be rebuilt and straightened out right through to the border. By widening and straightening that part from Huntingdon to the border much of the accident hazard would be eliminated. Again Mr. Johnson would earn the gratitude of not only Huntingdon citizens but those from across the border and all travellers using this highway.

These are two moves it would be good for him to do in this area and his supporters here would do well in urging him to undertake them at the earliest opportunity. Under the circumstances it may take him a little longer to start than had the Liberals retained their power, but he could do so as quickly as possible. Action speaks louder than words. The hospital is a genuine case of absolute need and that need is of long standing. Furthermore this hospital is willing to help itself to a certain extent and that is something worthy of consideration. May we hope that something will be done in the immediate future.

Expo Centennial Local and Abroad

IT seems to us that the work of erecting the many buildings on the Expo site has been left far too late. With such a gigantic undertaking as this is, the work should have been started a long time back. Now it is going to be rush, rush and this usually leads to sloppy workmanship all around.

While it had been agreed some time ago that strikes would not hold up the work on this site, it is apparent now that such may have something to do with it. It is understood that the longshoresmen strike is doing just that. The reason, the goods on the various ships tied up cannot be delivered to the site. The various nations responsible for the buildings are becoming angry at the delay and staffs have had to be decreased.

The Expo opening is now less than one year away and according to working days, much less than that. Therefore there cannot be any delays or somewhere, something is not going to be ready and this would have a marring effect upon the whole. It was five years or more ago when this plan was first suggested and a start should have been made at that time. There was much work to be done to prepare the site, aside from the fact that the land had to be prepared in order to carry the buildings and other parts of the great exhibition.

There is really cause for concern and there should be no delays whatsoever from now until the date of opening. It may happen that some of the spots will not be complete for some time past the opening date. This would not be well for the success of the undertaking.

Locally, there is still the matter of accommodation for visitors to Expo, the booklet giving the listings and something of the facilities to be offered. The latter will take time to compile and then time to be made up, printed and distributed. It is not much use sending these out on opening date. They should be out 3 to 6 months before that. People intending to visit Expo will be making their decisions before next April and they will want to know where they can get accommodation.

There is the matter of cleaning and tidying those unsightly spots along our highways and towns. It is no use leaving them to the last minute. Some of the farm buildings and some of the premises in towns need renovation. All this should be done soon and not left until next spring. Such jobs cannot be done during winter and the summer is wearing along.

It is not only for Expo we have to think — it is Canada's Centennial Year also and we should have some sort of program at least for the summer months to celebrate this event. The schools throughout the area at least should have some sort of giant program; there are many forms it could take, but all need some prior planning and possibly practice. The Agricultural Fairs could take on a note of celebration also and plan something a little different for this great occasion of Canada's One Hundredth Birthday. Planning for these events should be done now while there is still time.

Strikes, Slow-downs, Inflation -

WITH the rash of strikes in Montreal and other parts of the country and including the long drawn out longshoresmen strike, the inflation threat is greatly enhanced.... Already a recent announcement shows where there has ben a further rise in the cost of living index from just a short time ago.

One has only to ask the housewife what she thinks about the cost of living to get a long story of what shopping today entails. She will tell you there is not a single article that has not advanced of late. She will also tell you how much less she can buy with the same money as of only a short time ago. She will tell you it costs more for her weekly budget of food supplies than it did.

The longshoresmen's strike is having a very bad effect on trade and a number of projects. Some firms who depend largely on exports and imports are frantic because their goods are being held up and spoiling their sales. Expo and those to do with the buildings there are desperate on account of the hold up in the works and there is deep feeling that some of the buildings may not be completed on time. This would be a damaging blow to this great undertaking, with visitors pouring in and buildings still in the process of building. The general appearance at the start is going to mean much to the ultimate success. While it may be that settlement of this strike will be effected before this newpsaper is published, at the time of this writing the possibilities looked bleak indeed. This is perhaps the worst situation prevailing at the moment and its tendencies to increasing inflationary pressure are quite dangerous.

The strikes are causing a slow down in production in various ways and this could easily have an effect on prices where the demand is great. It will have an effect on prices in any case if the demands for increases and so forth are met. Desperation to get the jobs at Expo done may lead to incentives being offered to get the goods required delivered. Shipping is being held up through strikes of seamen in other parts of the world and which also affect conditions here and elsewhere. From the economic point of view all these effects tend to hasten the inflationary pressure. While we have been of the opinion that after 1967 the full inflationary pressure will have its effect, with the new development it could come much sooner.

Unless the Government steps in and takes some drastic measures, the economy could suffer severely. The situation demands and calls for strong and firm handling. Despite what may come about, measures should be taken to see that ships are unloaded and goods delivered. This might be done by diverting to other ports, or bringing armed force personnel to do the job. Otherwise the strikers must be made to speed up agreement and come to terms by special Order in Council, or such.

The future welfare of the country as a whole should be given priority under the circumstances.

To return to Capt. Barron and John N. Nichols, this would be about 1810, they squatted on lots No. 33 and 34, somewhat east of Reeds. It was said that Barron's wife found it very lonesome living in the bush. He would remark, with 5 gals. of rum, how could anyone be lonesome? however she did not agree. Like most old soldiers, he was fond of his dram, but it was said that he never got intoxicated. He was tall, over 6 ft. and was a powerful man, fond of arguments with presbyterians, or episcopalians, as he was a Roman Catholic. Two large stones stood in front of his door and on one or other of these he would sit all day, ready to talk to any who would pass. His sons did the work. It was said that he would give food to anyone coming to his door. To one he said, eat away, it will be long until you get as good again. The whole meal consisting of potatoes from beginning to end. He was a loyal freemason and attended his lodge at Chateaugay, N.Y., which he insisted on calling Seventh town. It was called Four Corners by most people then.

Capt. Garrett Barron, was an Irish Protestant, from the county of Wexforg and had served in the army during American war with Britain. He rose to be quarter-master sergeant of his regiment, and at the close of the struggle got his discharge, and a grant of land in Caldwells Manor. This was in the region of Missisquoi Bay, his neighbour was John Nichols, whose daughter became his wife. He died at a great age and was buried on his own farm. At his funeral, it was stated that Mr. Gentle annoyed at the long continued hammering, putting on the coffin lid, said "that will do." Abundance of the law is no breaking of it" retorted the carpenter, a bachelor named Fisher, as he drove in another nail. About James McLatchie's coming in 1810 to the Burn Brae farm, he decided to follow his father-in-law Reed, also from N. Georgetown. He borrowed the longest canoe he could get which was made of a huge pine log carved out into a boat, in it he put his wife's Uncle John Cantwell, while he himself kept to land and drove the live stock, which consisted of a yoke of oxen and 4 cows. Also in the boat were his wife and four children, and all his worldly effects. On coming to Durham, now Ormstown, the river was blocked by a huge mast, which had broken loose from a raft. This log was 100 ft in length. The only way to proceed was to chop it away. Cantwell did just this, he was a big man, and propelled the heavy laden canoe by oars in deep water and poles in shallow water. The oxen were put to service to pull the boat over the rocks on reaching the cove above St. Michels, now Athelstan. Here the canoe had to be abandoned and the rest of the journey made on foot.

McLatchie lost no time in putting up a shanty on lot 29 where a small clearing had been made by an American Peter Comestock, at what was later called Powerscourt. At this place was a small log chlurch right on the south east corner west of the present church. It was small with a high pitch roof, sidewalls not more than 4 ft. high, this may have been put up even earlier than Black's church. The small blacksmith shop of William Mason was just south of this, could have been the first in the region. This shop was later taken over by his sons Albert and Thomas long before the covered bridge was mooted. Two brothers, Seymour and Eliken Percy, had built on either side of the river, as they were called houses of entertainment, mostly drinking establishments, some travellers stayed there. This was at a point called the Ford, on the river on the flat land above Boyces, now called the rapids. The Percys who later built a sawmill at Huntingdon, may have been descendents of these Percys. Soon after a municipal Council was organized in Hinchinbrooke, the Percys were pressing the Council for a bridge at this point, but the council managed to put them off for a time and later the covered bridge was built. I have no date of its building, no doubt it is known by some, a record of this meeting is on the early municipal books that it was to be at the house of Daniel Milne at St. Michels. At this meeting it was decided that it would be wiser to delay a time, until it was found where a bridge should be. The wisdom of this decision was later seen, for after the bridge was built it soon made the place come alive as settlers began to flock in.

There was a sawmill built at Powerscourt by Edward McGarvey, an uncle of the writer's Father. His wife was Sarah Gamble. There was always good power at Powerscourt, on account of fast flowing water. When mail began to come, a postoffice was established in the house of Sarah White and it was called Powerscourt. She also kept a small store, just south of where Jas. W. Ross's store later was built. At this point Percys faded out. It seems some time later the Hollyness movement Church was built on the north-west corner. This movement was most active for sometime, but it too, faded out after a period of time. At the time, there was keen competition with the Methodist church so close by, but this church has now a very small number of members. The writer was present at the funeral of one of its last members that was Thomas Mason. If I recall correctly, it was taken down soon after this. In referring to the holiness church, thus ended an erea

Gabriel Prevost had a sawmill for many years at Powerscourt. Above this point Gordon Dunn built his power site that supplied electric power for this region, for some years. The late Jas. W. Ross built a store and took over the postoffice after Sarah White. James did a large business for many years, and he was our popular M.L.A., until his tragic death during the fire which destroyed his home and store. In later years, a high tower was built by the Bell Telephone Co. I believe it was a

Did it rain for Ormstown fair last year too? We know it rained the year before; we were caught in a downpour carrying exhibit material into the industrial building. And we will long refember it rained this year; we were caught this time pitching a tent for our display. But it didn't leak, and our precious mahogany plywood panels and oversize display photographs come through surprisingly well.

This year we featured the Dairy Herd Analysis Service. We couldn't of course, bring along the computer and IRMA as we did for the Showmart exhibit in February, so we illustrated the whole story with photographs. Personally, we felt rather pleased with the effect.

We are more than pleased, too, with the progress in this new program. Herds are being registered on D.H.A.S. at the rate of three a day. And this initial step represents a lot of work — explaining the details to each herd owner, recording eartags and cows' names, taping each one for weight, preparing cards for the computer and so on. But once this is done, the rest is simple. By the end of June, there should be 100 herds completed, and as many more waiting for a call from a supervisor.

This week, we are at the Lachute fair with the exhibit. Call in and meet our crew. Our tent isn't far from the Farm Forum booth inside the race track. And everyone knows where that is.

Our younger farmers who usually get the credit for being the first to try out new ideas, will have to run hard to keep ahead of Clarence Hawley, down near Missisquoi Bay. Mr. Hawley, you may remember, was our 73-year-old student at the St Jean Short Course, in March. He wrote me the other day, challenging me to find anyone who had beaten him planting corn. I am sure he won't mind if I quote right from his letter.

"As my land was ready and the farm paper said we were to have above normal temperatures for the first half of May, decided to plant even if it was cold. Planted on the 27th and 28th of April. The low temperatures were 17° and 22° with a high of 40° and 37°. There was ice in ditch at noon of the 28th and I sure was cold. A soil analysis advised 400 lbs of 10-10-10 which I put on broadcast and worked in, then, for a bonus I put on 200 lbs. with the planter of 8-16-16. It was so cold corn didn't grow for about 3 weeks but with the exception of a few lower spots I seem to have an excellent stand. Ran the chain drags over the field on May 26. Will spray a little later.

If I get a good crop of corn after all this cold weather guess it will be safe to plant anytime after Christmas if the land is ready."

Can Anyone beat April 27 for planting Corn? Mr. Hawley must look after a Weather Station, too. He sent me copies of the temperature graphs for April and May. The exceptionally warm spell in early April and the cold spell in late May stand out clearly.

At the moment, the whole crop situation looks very encouraging. We can stand it.

Here is a thumbnail guide to chemical weed control in cereals. Since percentage of acid varies with materials, follow the directions on the container to avoid risk of error.

To control many broad-leafed weeds (like mustard) in oats, wheat or barley, use 2, 4-D not over 6 oz. acid in the ester form or 8 oz. as amine. Cost is less than $1.00 per acre. Or you can use M.C. P.A. at 12 oz. in 5 to 20 gallons of water per acre. Cost is just over $1.00 per acre. Apply either treatment when the crop is on the 6-inch to shot-blade stage of growth. M.C.P.A. is a bit safer on oats, and can be used at an earlier stage of growth.

If you are having trouble with smart-weed and field bindweed, try adding Dicamba (Banvel D) to the others. But don't use more than 6 to 8 oz. acid in total per acre.

If the crop is seeded down, you can use the amine form of MCPA or 2, 4-D, if you are very careful, at low rates, for a very cheap weed control. For example, 2 oz. 2, 4-D is the same limit for alfalfa. And if the variety is Dupuis o, Alfa, don't use either 2, 4-D or MCPA. Again, read the label for detailed directions.

A safer, but more expensive (about $3.00 and acre) treatment when the crop is seeded down is 2, 4-DB. One common trade name for this product is Embutox. Red Clover and Alsike can stand up to 16 oz. acid per acre; Trefoil, alfalfa, grass seedlings and ladino up to 20 oz. acid.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

366 Fifth Avenue,
City of Two Mountains,
Quebec.
June 8, 1966.

The Editor,
The Gleaner,
Huntingdon, Quebec.

I suspect that "the shouting and the tumult is almost over", but before it ends, I wonder if it is possible for a third party to enter the informative, valuable, and timely discussion between an "educator" on the one hand and "one who is educated" on the other.

With all respect to Mr. Sancton and to his letter of May 30, I would question the hypothesis that education "is everyone's business".

Dad is a tax-payer and a farmer — a successful farmer by certain standards. However, it would be quite presumptuous of me to advise him re the kind of dairy ration to feed his cows, when to lime the soil, the types of spray for apple orchards, or the intervals for spraying — obviously I am not proficient or qualified in this field.

Similarly, with all the complexities in the organization and methods of modern education, to which Mr. Brockman referred in his letter of May 25, Dad would feel very inadequate if he were asked to advise me as to the types of curricula which a new "polyvalent" high school should offer, the meaning and implications of "individual time-tabling" and of "subject promotion", and the various methods of "streaming". This is not his forte.

During the past few days, several students have approached me in my position as a guidance counsellor, asking whether they should gear their educational programme towards university entrance, a high school certificate or the vocational course here. On the basis of their previous academic record, scholastic aptitude and other test results, and research on the performance of past students, I am able to guide them towards a choice compatible with their abilities. It would be difficult indeed f or the student or his parents without this confidential information and without training in its interpretation to know "the kind of education they want for their children" or, at least, to know the type of training in which their children can succeed.

I realize, of course, that in referring to "the cult of the expert", Mr. Sancton may have implied condemnation of the "so-called" expert who lacks training, experience, or wise judgment. There is a difference between our best qualified eduactors and the amateur. Then too, I acknowledge that educators, need and want to profit by consultations with other professionals, pupils, parents, and the public. However, I maintain that with such an awareness of all sides, it is the educators who are most able to make and must have the right of making the final decisions concerning educational policy.

May I also warn that, in small communities especially, jealousy, pettiness, and personality clashes can readily gnaw at the foundation of the educational system of that region if "anyone" is allowed to assume a position of authority. It is not always the wisest, the best informed or the most educated people in a community who aspire to membership on school boards or advisory committees. Informed opinion is valuable; uninformed opinion forcefully and consistently presented can sway a group to action deleterious to the educational process.

I recognize Mr. Sancton's argument when he refers to education as a "socialized industry" and that since the public pays, it is entitled to a strong voice in the system. In the final analysis, though, it is the consumer public who pays for any service or goods whether it be farm produce, medical advice, or education. However, the consumer does not have the specialized knowledge to dictate to farmer or doctor; in general he is perhaps nearly as inadequate in the field of education. Also, if socialized medicine appears and the taxpayer assumes the burden directly, should he expect a stronger voice in informing doctors of how to treat their patients?

Let us then, as educators, seek all the criticisms, comments, and advice of the public which is relevant and creative; but as members of a public only partially informed, let us leave with the educators the final decisions concerning the hiring and firing of teachers, what to teach, and how to teach. The layman has a role to play, but it is not a decision-making role.

ROUND BYRE and RING

By Frank Napier

Ormstown's New Look

To use a now common expression, Ormstown Exhibition's Cattle Show "had a new look this year". The reason annexed to same being the adoption of the so-called, Hays Cattle Judging Formula, for the first time. And in that respect it would appear that the exhibitors and interested spectators at this year's Ormstown Exhibition held similar views to those of the same category in connection with Exhibitions which adopted the Hays formula a year ago. That is some of them are satisfied; others generally satisfed with a few reservations, and others who are frankly puzzled as to the final outcome of the new classification. For instance the number of classes have been almost cut in half, with only two classes for bulls — one of them being, for senior and junior bull calves; other for senior and junior yearlings.

In the female section, the junior and senior heifer calf classes have been dropped; there is only one yearling class; one two year old class; one 3 year old; one four year old and one five year old and over class — instead of, in the case of the yearlings, a junior and senor class, and, in the other classes, the in-milk and dry animals are shown together. The Group Class which calls for four animals, bred and owned by exhibitor, takes the place of the two Get of Sire; the Produce of Dam; the Junior and Senior herds, the Dairy herd, etc. classes. The monetary award is of course much higher. But' even at that, as will be seen in the regular report of the cattle show, there was the lack of the new local exhibitors which the Hon. Harry Hays claimed to have in mind.

For instance there were only two Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club area exhibitors; two of the Huntingdon, Ormstown Holstein Club area; none in the Jersey section, while there was only one local beef cattle exhibit.

Nevertheless, while the dairy cattle classes, and the aggregate of same, were considerably smaller this year, there is no question but that it was one of the best quality dairy shows of recent years. Generally most of the beef cattle exhibits were comparable insofar as quality is concerned with similiar exhibitions at which Beef Cattle are a companent part.

The Reason Annexed?

Not meant in a critical way, one might say that there was a disappointing ringside gallery when the different cattle classes were shown on both Thursday and Friday, although there was an appreciably larger Holstein Ringside. Let's hope that it wasn't the wet day that brought out the Holsten adherents and other admirers; that let the weather be what it was they would have been there anyway.

We heard several comments by those who didn't turn out for the judging about being unable to see the dairy cattle during the evening. Because most of those cattle exhibits were released almost immediately after the judging was concluded. In that respect, we understand that such releases were considered expedient because of the help situation (with exhibitors) and the cost and scarcity of the extra hay, etc. necessary to feed those cattle when they were away from home. And, also in that respect, we might add that similar releases have been in vogue for several years past at the Ottawa Exhibition and Winter Fair, respectively, also the Canadian National Exhibition.

Ken't Faces!

As the Scot's would say: "There was a lack of "ken't faces", at this year's Ormstown Exhibition. That is of the older class, especially. As a matter of fact, the only senior senior Ayrshire and Holstein adherents we came across were Gilbert Macmillan, O.B.E., and George Elder. In an Agronome way the only oldsters we noted were Leon Beaudin of Huntingdon County, and S. Gosselin of Beauharnois County. In the latttr instance, a worker for Ormstown Fair (now Exhibition) since 1919, the year in whch he became Agronome for Beauharnois County. We understand that a year or so before his Beauharnois County days, Mr Gosselin was assistant to the late Mr. Blondin, the then Agronome for Huntingdon County. Leon Beaudin has to his credit a similar record of devoted service to Ormstown Exhibition mostly in connection with the Holstein Club of which he was a long time secretary, and in connection with the 4-H Club Show. As we recall it, he served his apprenticeship in a livestock way during his College vacation — as assistant to Jim Cavers, when that former Ayrshireman of Ormstown toured the Eastern Show circuit.

Turra! Turra!

In my younger days there was a common expression "Turra? Turra, for sorra ilter', Literally, "I come from Turriff of course." One of Aberdeenshires most progressive Agricultural and livestock areas, it is some 20 or so miles as "the crow flies" from my Garioch home district. And so it was that in going through the Beef Cattle barn at Ormstown Exhibition my recollections of Turra were pleasurably recalled; when I stopped to admire the WINDFIELDS FARM, Willowdale, Ont., Aberdeen, Angus Cattle exhibit at Ormstown Exhibition.

As many people are aware WINDFIELDS is the home of the Internationally known Thorobred Horse Racing Stud of E. P. Taylor — Chairman, President or Director of a long list of Canada's largest manufacturing, brewing and merchandising firms, across Canada. The already mentioned Aberdeen Angus herd is also one of the most noted of that breed in Canada; is comprised of some 300 head of which the eight head on exhibit at Ormstown is a cross section. While I was aware that the Windfields Farm and cattle herd Manager is the son of a Perthshire man, with whom I have been acquainted for many years, I was pleasurably surprised to find that the Herdsman of the Show Herd is Henry Harper, a native of the Turriff district of Aberdeenshire. That young man is nearly two generations younger than I am and is therefore unaquainted with most of the Turra men of my day that I asked him about. On the other hand, however, we were on an equal footing when we discussed the farms in that area. It was indeed a pleasant interlude.

The All-Red Route

On the following night I made the acquaintanceship of another young ABERDONIAN — William ("Bill") Paterson.

Years ago the Canadian Pacific Railway and steamship Company used to feature the so-called "All Red Route." I cannot recall the whys and wherefores of the "Red", but it was in connection with a partial Globe circling travel route — by steamship to Canada; across Canada by rail; across the Pacific Ocean by steamship to Australia and the Straits Settlements, etc.

Bill Paterson, his wife and two children are following that route — by Air — to Malaysia, after a vacation in the United Kingdom; with stop overs in Canada and Australia. In the first instance, as guests of their former Malaysian compatriots, Garnet and Mrs. Hopper at Dockendale Farms, Athelstan, Que. In the latter instance, in reunion with Bill's brother, a resident of Australia.

A native of the Monymusk district of Aberdeenshire, Bill Paterson was reared some 20 to 30 miles, as the crow flies,

FLORIDA WEDDING

Miss Carol Ann Milroy, daughter of Mrs. E. N. Millroy and the late Mr. Millroy of Senneville, Que., and formerly of Barrington, Que., became the bride of James Martin Thomas, son of Dr. Hiner Thomas and the late Mrs. Thomas, Columbus, Ohio, formerly of Lexington, Kentucky, U.S. at an impressive ceremony, on Saturday, June 4th, 1966.

The ceremony took place at St-Martin-in-the-Fields, Pompano Beach, Florida. Rev. H. Lyttleton Zimmerman was in charge of the service and the regular wedding music was played. The church was decorated with white mums and glads and white pew markers were used for the guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, David Millroy, was dressed in a gown of ivory summer linen empire style, full length, Swiss lace on sleeves and down the front, chapel train, head piece to match, illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white tea roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honour, Gayle Reigler, wore a pale blue linen full length dress with moss green ribbon at empire bodice and embroidery on sleeves. The bridesmaids were Joan Botello and Joan Curran, of Boston, Mass., and they were dressed the same as the maid of honor and all carried cascades of yellow daisies.

The bride's mother wore a pale blue silk ensemble, with white beading on the bodice and white accessories and a white orchid.

Best man was Thomas Smith, Lexington; ushers, Robert Tanner and Carter Quillen.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Ocean Ranch Hotel, Pompano, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to North Carolina. For travelling the bride wore a three piece ivory linen suit with accessories to match.

The couple will take up residence in Pompano after their return.

part of the early warning system or trans-Canada installation. A year or so later this was all removed. Now all these things are gone except the old covered bridge, which still gives good service. The road to the border was quite a busy place in early times because of the smuggling business carried on mostly in horses, and a few other stock. This road went south to the border at Powerscourt. One Minie Toland had what was known as a house of entertainment, mainly this was simply for the sale of liquor in all varieties. This place had quite a reputation at one time, as this point was never covered much by customs officers, so it was virtually wide open for smugglers. I can recall wild stories of horses being taken across in the middle of the night. They would be assembled at a point near the border, and after midnight when all law abiding citizens should be in their beds. The horses were tied by ropes at the heads and by tails in pairs as many as was needed to do the job. One or two riders came to transport them, one or two riders bringing up the rear to keep the train moving along briskly. Often as many as ten pairs at a time being transported in this manner. A good market existed in American cities for all the horses they could buy. In this area there was always a plentiful supply of hay and for many farmers the breeding of heavy horses was their main business. No mechanical transport then existed.

A. S. Bone, brought the mail from Huntingdon which had been brought up on the stage to that point. Bone came to Athelstan, on to Powerscourt, then to Herdman, on to Andersons corner, then to Rockburn, and finally to Brooklet, and later at Ekron, at Simon Peak's House, now Aime St. Onge. Later R. F. D. came in with Mick Fee as first carrier about 1912. At first the mailman usually had a passenger or two, may be two, mostly women getting out to see the country or to visit a friend.

Now about the village of Athelstan, the place was first known as St. Michels. Of the early settlers not much is known. The Chateauguay River, flowed just west a bit. Sellar's History records that one Zebulin Baxter, an American, put up a shanty a little above the forks, on the banks on lot 24, the forest closing in again until lot 28, where about 1809 a drunken and thriftless man, an American Johnathan Elliot drifted in. He raised a shanty below Seely's Bridge, he had two sons, and a number of daughters. One of them married a Dutch shoemaker, Daniel Vosburg, who had come from the States and built a shanty on the Chateauguay at the cove. This is where heavy loaded canoes had to land on account of shallow water there.

On coming up stream some time before this, an American named Truesdale, built a crude saw mill in this area. This man became known as the founder of Athelstan. This mill was not destined to stay long as General Hampton's men under Col. Isards' command, put the torch to it. When they reacher St. Michels on their way to Allans Corners, they burned several buildings. Owing to their nearness to the village it would be expected that the lots in between would be taken up at that time. Such was not the case, and there was a large settlement on the 3rd range where the land between it and the Chateauguay was not touched. This was partly due to it being owned by non-residents and partly to the belief that the land was poor because of its being covered with second growth soft wood — poplar and hemlock, with some pine. Except in summer, it was a marsh and during that season on Sunday afternoon young folk would roam this expanse picking blue berries. It got the name of Canovas swamp, and between Nelson Vosburgs clearance on its river point and Baxters, to that of Claude Burrows in front of 21. The village began from being owned by non residents, no labor was put on roads, in that area. It became notorious in spring time and at times when other roads were passably good for hauling, this part was a quagmire. A journey to Athelstan was made in a canoe as far as Munroe's Hill, when the water was too low for a boat.

In 1834, Willian Rose, a farmer from Aberdeen, and a neighbour Jmes Reid, who had for a short time been an ensign in the 78th regiment, came in search of land. The former bought out Vosburg, and tne latter bought from Richard Catton, who had a small clearing on 27. George Blake setted beside Mr. Rose, and gradually the lots in the village came to be taken up. As late as 1840, the greater part were unimproved. Once the land was cleared and ditched it was soon seen that the land was more fertile on the flat than all the others. The first old countryman to settle near St. Michels, was Jas Macbeth, who left Dalhousie settlement in 1812, and took up 18 range 32 years afterwards. Allan Munroe came from Ontario to see about 1700 acres in Hinchinbrooke. His mother had inherited it from her brother, a Scotch officer, Mr. Deneen, who had served in the war of 1812. Munroe selected as his abode, that portion of his land Lot No. 28 on the 3rd and built his shanty by the brook and here he had several American neighbours. To convert the timber into lumber he and Munroe set about building a saw mill on his land at the rapids on the Hinchinbrooke river. He was unable to complete it, so he sold to McNee, the Huntingdon storekeeper, who operated it two years when he found a purchaser in a prominent newcomer, Thomas McLeary Gardner; he had been a successful farmer in east Lothian and emigrated from Scotland in 1827, accompanied by two neighbours George and David Pringle.

Senior Citizens of Vetville Conclude Most Active Season With Bus Drive

The Vetville Civic and Recreation Association of Senior Citizens comprising some 68 residents of Vetville climaxed a most active and enjoyable season on Wednesday last June 8th, by enjoying a Bus Tour of the Eastern Townships.

This tour was sponsored and arranged by the Vetville Civic and Recreation Association, Senior Citizens, and most ably conducted by its President, Charles L. King who was most ably assisted by Mrs. Julia Robinson.

Some 69 members and Senior Citizens of the District of Chateauguay left the Community Hall in Vetville about 9 a.m. for a day's outing, which was the third such annual event.

The tour started out through Laprairie, St. Johns, Farnham, Cowansville, where a stop of 15 minutes was made for coffee and leg stretching, and then proceeded on to Knowlton and via the beautiful Bolton Pass to Mansonville and then on to Newport, Vermont, where a half hour stop was made for shopping at about 12.30 p.m. Due to the interest in this part of tour arrangemens, the party was about a half hour late for an appointment at the Del Monty Hoel in Rock Island, Que. From Newport the cavalcade of two buses left for Beebe, Que., just over the border and then on to Rock Island where a lunch of Roast Beef was waiting at about 1.30 p.m.

The party was met at the Hotel by two officers of Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5 of the Royal Canadian Legion, namely, Owen Quillinan, President and Comrade Healt, Past President, who took over as Hosts and partook of the meal along with the party.

Leaving the Hotel about 2.30 p.m. the party were most ably and kindly directed on a tour of Rock Island, Beebe and Stanstead and were shown many points of interest in these three towns which are situated partly in Canada and partly in the United States, this side tour was very interesting and enjoyable in that in proceeding it was necessary to criss cross the border between Canada and the U.S. numerous times, before reaching the Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5 Legion Hall at about 3.30 p.m. where the party was received and welcomed by Mr. E. J. Struthers, Mayor of Stanstead and also President of the Quebec Legion Memorial Housing Corporation, who are the proprietors of Vetville, who addressed the party. Through the courtesy of the Legion Branch the complete facilities of the Hall were at the disposal of the party where light refreshments were obtained and a rest of about an hour, before starting the return tour to Vetville. The party left Stanstead about 4.30 p.m. and proceeded via Ayers Cliff, Magog, Waterloo, Granby and Chambly and on to Vetville at about 8 p.m. Tired and weary but having enjoyed a most beautiful and interesting trip and are even looking forward to a similar outing in the autumn. On the return trip a 15 minute stop was made at Chambly. Each and every member of the party are most grateful for courtesy shown and expressed by Stanstead Frontier Branch No. 5 and to Mr. E. J. Struthers, President of the Q.L.-M.H. Corps for the excellent arrangements he made for the reception and tour of the local district.

TWO TRAFFIC LANES FOR HIGHWAY 3 AND 4

Mr. Jacques Hebert, Chief Engineer, Traffic Services, Dept. of Roads, advised Mr. George Kennedy (seen here inspecting the new traffic lines), that action was taken on his request of May 18th tor double white lines on highway 3 and 4 after it was resurveyed for the summer traffic load.

Two Lane Traffic On Routes 3 and 4

By Fergus Horsburgh

Commuters on the Chateauguay-Caughnawaga stretch of Highways 3 and 4 late last week were somewhat startled to observe that that portion of the road from St. Francis to the dip at the southern approach to the railroad crossing had been converted to two-lane traffic. A double white line enforces this latest regulation and has already had a notably restraining influence on traffic proceeding in either direction.

Mr. George Kennedy, recently re-elected Liberal Member for Chateauguay County, informed The Gleaner last week-end that he had been advised by Mr. Jacques Hebert, Chief Engineer, Traffic Services Department of Roads, that following his (Mr. Kennedy's) representations last month, the traffic pattern of the early summer months had been re-surveyed. Mr. Hebert stated that although in his earlier opinion, a change to two lanes had not appeared justified, the re-survey had shown a marked increase in vehicular traffic, and that Mr. Kennedy's recommendations in this regard had been accepted in part.

For the moment, the highway on the Montreal side of the railroad crossing, the scene of many recent fatal accidents remains three-lane.

Blood Donor Clinic Chateauguay July 4th

Chateauguay is to have a Blood Donor Clinic at the Marguerite Bourgeovs School Principal Street, Chateauguay Center, on July 4th, from 2 to 5.30 in the afternoon and 6.30 to 9.30 in the evening.

Everyone knows the urgent need for blood donations and all persons can make a donation without fear. There is no pain, you just relax for awhile in a nice comfortable position while making the donation. Such donation however, may be the means of saving a life or giving another person a new lease on life. These donations are urgently needed and the more contributors there are the better for all.

If you have never given blood before, don't be afraid you will be well looked after and test samples will be taken to make sure not only if you can give, but what type your blood is. A card is given you with this on and it could be very useful should you need a blood transfusion some time. After the clinic you can enjoy some refreshment and then away you go about your regular business just like that.

Be sure to make your donation when the clinic is held here in Chateauguay.

Summer Weather Brings Rash of Accidents

By Fergus Horsburgh

Town of Chateauguay Police Chief Meloche reports that there is an increase in traffic accidents in the past week.

On June 10th, at 10.50 p.m. a car, travelling on Salaberry Blvd. hit a soft shoulder on the road near the intersection of St. Francis Blvd. The car rolled over and finally landed in the river. No report of injuries to the driver or occupants.

Another car repeated the same, almost at the same curve on Salaberry near St. Francis on June 12th at 2.45 a.m. The driver tried to brake, however the car went down the embankment into the river. Also no injuries listed on the report.

On the 11th June (Sat.) at 4.10 in the afternoon, there was a three car pile up at the traffic lights on Highways 3 and 4 and the corner of St. Francis. Two cars, one from the U.S. were stopped at the red traffic signal and the third car struck the rear of one car, sending it in turn into the back of the first. The injured were suffering shock, bruises and cuts and were treated by a local doctor.

A driver lost control of his car at the corner of Maple and St. Francis last Sunday afternoon, June 12th at about 4 o'clock. The car turned over and the driver suffered injuries which sent him to Lasalle General Hospital. The passenger, 13 year old son of the driver was not injured.

Chateauguay Man Guilty Of Shooting Policeman

By Fergus Horsburgh

Chateauguay Centre resident Clifford Jaffray (26) pleaded guilty last week to a reduced charge of discharging a firearm to prevent his arrest.

Jaffray had been brought before Justice Fernand Legault in Court of Queen's Bench on a charge of attempted murder. Following a lengthy explanation by Permanent Crown Prosecutor Richard Shadley, the prisoner was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge. Attempted murder is punishable by life imprisonment, and the lesser charge by up to 14 years. Passing of sentence was postponed.

Constable Tasse accompanied by his partner Constable George Caldwell approached the driver of a stolen $6500 car on which a theft report had been turned in minutes before. The stolen vehicle was intercepted at a railroad crossing at the western end of Cote St. Luc.

On being challenged, Jaffray got out of the car, pulling a mask over his face, and fired point-blank at Tasse, telling Caldwell "Don't move or I'll shoot you too." Jaffrey escaped on foot while Caldwell radioed for help and rushed his injured partner to Queen Elizabeth Hospital.

Jaffray was arrested minutes later on Fielding Avenue, N.D.G., with a 22 calibre pistol in his possession.

The Prosecutor asked for a severe sentence, which is scheduled to be handed down within the next week.

Stagemasters' Open House This Coming Friday

On Friday evening, June 17th, at 9 p.m., the Stagemasters Drama Group of Chateauguay will hold an Open House for prospective new members. Everyone who is interested in participating in amateur theatre, and who lives in or near Chateauguay, is welcome.

The Stagemasters is the only permanent group doing amateur dramatics in Chateauguay. Many more members are needed now. The group will be active throughout the summer, both socially, and in the preparation of new productions. It seems likely that there will be two presentations this coming Fall.

Previous experience is not necessary. Your interest is what is important. To those with limited time to give, please be reminded that there are many jobs which require time only in the last week or two before a play is presented.

Call the President, Phyllis Hale, at 691-1625, if you would like to attend the Open House. You are assured of a cordial welcome.

Rene Laberge Re-Elected To Catholic School Board In Chateauguay Heights

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

At last Monday's election in Ward 6, Mr. Rene Laberge was re-elected to a further term as Commissioner to the Chateauguay Catholic School Board. Mr. Laberge received a vote of approximately 350, or 48% of the total votes cast. His nearest opponent was Mr. Norman Veary, who received approximately 180 votes. Other defeated candidates were Mr. Roland Trudeau and Mr. O'Keefe.

An Apology To Vetville And Bill Kelly

(By Edith Bate)

In last week's Gleaner I wrote an account of the live show put on by No. 306(Maple Leaf) Wing, R.C.A.F. Assoc.

Due to an oversight I neglected to mention the fact that the above association was responsible for bringing such a good show here to Chateauguay, Vetville in particular

I apologize to Mr. Bill Kelly, through these pages. Mr. Kelly's efforts in providing fine entertainment and T.V. Star Magic Tom Auburn should not go unrecognized. Assisting Mr. Kelly was Mr. Wally Kornac. Thank you gentlemen!

PERSPECTIVE:

Questions And Answers

Among the many questions which face Quebecers at this crucial time are: Why did it happen? What went wrong? And, most important, are we really back in a Duplessis age? What will happen to Quebecers? Let's face it, what will happen to English Quebec?

In Chateauguay, we held on to George Kennedy. The results indicate that we were not exactly satisfied but for us, the Liberal party seemed to be what we wanted. Sort of the least of several evils. The Provincial resuls seem to have been based on the same point. Local issues were the thing. The voters looked at their own representative and passed judgement on local needs rather than Provincial issues. In short, Jean's team was less important than our roads.

It is only now, after all the results are in, that we are taking stock. I think that even French Quebec must look at the end result with just a little sense of fear. Duplessis Johnson was a Duplessis man. Will he follow in the master's footsteps. Will he re-establish the old dictatorship? Will the progress of the last six years be stilled?

Personally I think we goofed. I do not think that Quebec really intended to bring back the Union National. Only scare the Liberals into giving us what we wanted. As usual, we went too far. Now, the only thing to do is face up to it. Another election must come soon. The government realizes this and might just might make an impressive showing.

Will it be good for Chateauguay? They could hold up the highway work and say Kennedy couldn't do it. Or they could rush through the road work and claim that the Union National succeeds where the Liberals stalled. To do, or not to do, that is the question? And what a question.

Tennis Season Opens

(By Fergus Horsburgh)

Every year when a tennis season ends in the Heights, doubts are expressed as to whether or not another season will be possible. But each new season new organizers appear and the season starts with fresh hope. Hopes are unusually high this season following last Sunday evening's Wine and Cheeze Tennis Tournament at the Recreation Club. Some 34 members and others attended, including approximately 24 players. Winners of the tournament were Mr. and Mrs. Mackie White and runners-up were Mr. and Mrs. Jean Clairaux. Mackie White, prominent player in Montreal tennis circles, was making a welcome return visit to the Heights after many years. Among the players of many years' standing at the Heights Recreation Club I saw Lee Gilbert, Mollie Thauvette, Ronnie Oliver, Bobbie Moore, and I had the great pleasure of playing against Ronnie Oliver again for the first time in 12 years.

Among the newer blood were Gordon Watson, this year's Tennis President. Past President Len Hart, Ernest Roetzer, Hans Van der Houde, Mrs. Dolores Bertrand, Mrs. Dorothy Heck, Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Clairaux, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. George Barclay, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swan, Ronald Mudd and Miss Antje Pemoller, sister of Gleaner correspondent Heidi.

Mrs. Penny Blink, an accomplished player by all accounts is giving tennis instruction to the Junior and Intermediate members this season. I understand that about 24 youngsters have already signed up. So it looks like a very promising season. Certainly last Sunday evening's turnout must have been very encouraging for this year's tennis committee. Best of luck to Gordon Watson and his helpers.

Mosquitoes Beware !

By Fergus Horsburgh

A declaration of war is to be served on the Town of Chateauguay's mosquito population, again this year.

The "treatment", so called by the company hired to do the spraying, will be done according to the weather forecasts. If rain or showers are on the weather map for a day or two, spraying will be withdrawn.

When the Company commences the job of annihilating those pesky little beasties, don't be concerned if they stop in the middle of a mosquito — it just means they have had word from the weather bureau of approaching rain

Incidentally, what do mosquitoes eat when they are not eating people?

Education In The Valley No. 11-10

The third part of the Report of the Royal Commission of Inquiry on Education in Quebec (Parent Report) is in two volumes, four and five. A General Summary of the third part is contained in a booklet of some 71 pages which includes an introduction of 49 pages and the 141 recommendations of the commission in full. The cost of the volumes is two dollars each; of the summary, one dollar. They may be ordered by any interested person from the Office of the Queen's Printer, Parliament Buildings, Quebec. Payment must be made in advance payable to the Minister of Finance. Copies in the French language are currently available. English language translations are expected to be available in two or three weeks.

Confessionality and Non-Confessionality:

(1) "We recommend that the public educational system of Quebec respect differences in the religious options of parents and pupils and offer a choice of Roman Catholic, Protestant and non-confessional education, insofar as the requirements for quality in education can be satisfied in each instance.

It is worthy of note that the terms "confessional" and "non-confessional" education have widely varying interpretations. What do these terms mean to you?

With reference to the clause, "insofar as the requirements for quality in education can be satisfied in each instance", Part II of the report pointed out that an elementary school must have 600 pupils to make possible teaching arrangements suited to the children's various learning speeds and the maintenance of remedial classes. At the secondary level, a composite institution of the variety we have suggested cannot function satisfactorily with an enrolment of less than 1,200.

(2) "We recommend that the law recognize no confessional character in school commissions and institute corporations, even if it imposes on them the obligation to ensure, when there is occasion to do so, Roman Catholic, Protestant and non-confessional education."

This is a most significant recommendation in that it represents a drastic change in the formation of a school commission. According to its terms a school commission would not be Roman Catholic nor Protestant (Non-Roman Catholic) but could be composed of representatives of two, or more, faiths. If we are to consider the organization of education in the province along language lines instead of our conventional religious separation of schools we can contemplate many advantages.

(3) "We recommend that each year a census be taken by the school authorities to ascertain the number of children whom parents wish to enrol in each sector of education — Roman Catholic, Protestant or non-confessional, French or English.

In principle this represents an excellent recommendation. I fear, however, that if it implies a complete freedom of choice of school to which a parent might elect to send his child from year to year it would result in a chaotic situation wherein the school population of the various schools in any community might vary markedly from year to year, producing overcrowding in some and under-enrolment in others. The parent's choice would need be restricted considerably.

(4) "We recommend that each school commission set up a pedagogical directorate for each of the forms of education — Roman Catholic, Protestant and non-confessional, French and English — which it provides in its schools.

The size and complexity of such a directorate would depend upon the school population which it serves.

The writer must reiterate

Chateauguay News Notes

by Fergus Horsburgh

Town of Chateauguay authorities have advised The Gleaner that they will from now on enforce the watering By-law No. 257. It was hoped this year, that it would not be necessary but pressure is very low and until there is improvement, the law must be obeyed. Watering is permitted on ODD days only, from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 8 p.m. until midnight.

The new water storage tank in Ste. Marguerite, to serve the Town of Chateauguay Centre must have its paint more than thoroughly dry before water can be pumped in. No doubt pressure will increase as soon as Centre residents receive their water from this source.

Town of Chateauguay Police report a rash of accidents within the last few days. Read account elsewhere.

Centre Police report only minor accidents during the past week.

A special Council meeting was held Tuesday, June 7th, during which discussion was held concerning approval of sub-division plans.

As there was a full complement of Councillors, discussion was also held at some length on the subject of surface drains and curbstones within the Town limits. It was decided finally to ask consulting Engineers to furnish an estimate on the cost of the work. When the Town receives the estimate, it will be submitted to proprietors and if they are interested after hearing all facts concerning the cost the work will be undertaken. It is presumed that proprietors in some areas will not agree to the project. However the Town will go ahead with work in those areas where proprietors express a desire to have curbstones and surface drainage.

Boys and girls ages 7 to 18, residing in the Town, and interested in sports are asked to register at the Town Hall, 5 Station Road, to receive a membership card for use in all the parks. Whether they already belong to an organization or not, it is recommended that they take their birth certificate and register at the Town Hall in order that they may use the community's parks. A nominal fee of 25c will be charged for each member this, to be paid annually. Loss of card means an additional quarter to obtain a duplicate. Their birth certificate will of course be returned to them.

We heard that George Kennedy, M.P.P., was seen last Sunday afternoon on Highways 3 and 4 at the scene of the recent fatal accident which claimed three lives. We also hear from a reliable source that double white lines were painted on same highway on the crests of the little hills where most accidents have occurred in last few years.

Next week's issue will see the continuation of explanation of some of the more pertinent by-laws of the Centre.

Trouseau Tea:

Mrs. John Simmons and her sister Miss Rose Galetti were hostesses at a Trouseau Tea for Miss Linda Simmons, whose wedding takes place June 18th. Linda was the recipient of many beautiful gifts as well as many lovely shower gifts.

Refreshments were served in the garden of the Simmons home with the tea table centered with a bowl of pale mauve and white lilacs on a white lace cloth. Tea was poured from a beautiful sterling teapot, which is an exact replica and pattern of the original teapot used by Napoleon. As we all know silver becomes lovelier with age and care and this silver teapot was beautiful, its age is 25 years.

Linda will have with her at her wedding something old — something new, — something borrowed and something blue.

Invited guests included: — Mrs. Joseph Galetti, grandmother; Miss Maureen Simmons, sister and maid of honor; Miss Laura Simmons sister and junior bridesmaid; Mesdames C. Chelminskie, M. Irwin, J. While There Is Still Time Let's Beautify Our Homes

The Centennial Farmstead improvement Competition is trying to bring us to an awareneness of the home we have built, and perhaps to reflect our image to those who drive past our gate.

The competition is judged not on what exists at present but on improvements the home dweller can make from now until the fall of 1966.

Many things that do not require cash in the bank may be done to brighten our home and make living happier and brighter.

First let's get the whole family in on the project. Children are very conscious of the home in which they live. Their home environment has a marked influence on their lives as they grow up.

Now we will take a walk out to the road with the whole family going — Mother, children and Father — on a Sunday afternoon, to take a look at ourselves. We can't afford a new fence and I doubt if we need one, but we could straighten one or two posts that are leaning, and possibly saw the posts to an even height Maybe we could get some paint and Johnny could paint these posts on Saturdays.

What about the entrance to the lane? It looks like a run-off where someone wandered from the road. Could we put in gate posts to mark the entrance? Can we afford stone gate posts, or good straight cedar posts with a three-or-four board fence from the entrance posts to the lane fence? Paint would look attractive.

Let's think of a farm name, something distinctive relating to the past or even suggestive of our hopes and aspirations. The family will come up with something, then proudly tell the world this is their farm by placing the farm name at the gate or entrance.

There is the lane and the fences. Possibly we could get the tractor out and drag the lane to fill in the ruts. A few loads of gravel might not only improve the appearance but also be easier on the car.

Maybe we could straighten up the back shed. It's been leaning at a perilous angle for the last five or ten years. The tractor, a few poles and a jack will probably do the job. We might straighten the verandah roof at the same time. Painting the house may be a more costly job. Labour is the big item, so let's buy good quality paint. Let's not put expensive labour along with cheap paint. Urban dwellers may have to use arresting colours to distinguish their home from one exactly the same next door. In the country we are blessed with nature's colours and we should not attempt to introduce jarring contrasts.

Many of our homes are bare of trees and shrubs. They stand in the middle of the front twenty acres, bleak and lonesome. Let us sit down and write the Department of Lands and Forests, and find out the cost of trees for windbreaks and the types suited to soil and climate. The Lombardy poplar grows fast and can be used, but we should also plant evergreens, so that as they grow the poplars may be cut out. Evergreens provide better shelter and are attractive all year round.

In some instances, we or those of a past generation, outdid themselves in planting. Possibly the little trees that they planted looked so small that they were cuddled together for company Today, the house is in the midst of a forest of tall trees, no sunlight gets in and the view from the windows is a solid mass of evergreen. Maybe it is more venturesome to cut trees out than it is to plant them.

It is easier to follow a plan of informal planting. The perennial border takes much planning to provide continuous bloom throughout the season. However, possibly the important thing is to plan and plant to bring oneself the greatest pleasure.

Father and the boys should take a walk out to the barn. Maybe we could build a new fence between the house and the barnyard. This establishes our living and working areas.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Chateauguay,

Chateauguay Gleaner,
Dear Sir,

Last week in your column you complained about, as you put it, "a motor bicycle pest." A year or two ago I might have agreed with you. Let's face it, this is a changing world, this group of youths are part of the Go Go set and they want to GO. My children as yet do not own a motor-bike, but the day will come when they will and so will the rest of the 300 children or so living in Seigniory Park, so we might just as well brace ourselves for the inevitable, if you can't lick them, join them. I certainly don't enjoy the noisy bikes, but these kids could be doing worse things for "kicks", so why not let them have their fun and burn up some of that energy, what harm can they possibly do except play havoc on our already frayed nerves.

Cooks' Corner

By MARY FABIO

Our Cook's tour this week goes to Russia and peculiar to Russia as to all Baltic countries is not so much any distinctive dish as the habit of preceding the principal meals with an unlimited number and variety of cold dishes. Any middle-class table will exhibit a choice of cold viands, smoked fish, game, mixed vegetable and other salads, all of which are assimilated as a sort of grace-before-meat and washed down with a glass or two of vodka.

In Great Russia the staff of life is black ryebread and the staple dish is cabbage soup. While town workers are mass fed, the peasantry are free to concot their cabbage soup in their own way, they do this with amazing local variations.

Some favorite Russian dishes are "Borshch" a vegetable soup made of beets, cabbage and other vegetables; it is most usually served with whipped sour cream. Beef Stroganov which is filet of beef, cut very fine, fried with onions and served with a sour cream base; "Blini" pancakes served with sour cream and caviar or smoked salmon; and Kasha, a popular peasant dish consisting of crude porridge of any sort.

BEEF A LA STROGANOFF
1 1/2 lb. lean filet of beef
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 pound mushrooms
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup sour cream
salt and paprika

Have meat out into cubes. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter and add the meat. Cover skillet and allow meat to cook slowly for 15 minutes. Then add the sliced mushrooms and continue cooking for 10 minutes. Remove meat and mushrooms to a bouble boiler. Put remaining tablespoon of butter in skillet and when melted add the flour and stir until blended; add the sour cream and cook until mixture becomes thick, stirring constantly. Season with salt and paprika. Pour mixture over the meat in the double boiler and cook for 10 minutes. Serve.

RUSSIAN COOKIES
1/2 cup sugar
6 tablespoons butter
1 egg yolk beaten
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon cream
1 1/8 cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
tart jam or jelly
1 egg white
5 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
6 tablespoons chopped nuts.

METHOD — Cream the butter thoroughly and gradually add the sugar which has been sifted. Beat until very light and fluffy. Add the beaten egg yolk, vanilla and cream and fix well. Sift the flour before measuring, then resift with the baking powder and add to the first mixture. Place dough in refrigerator and chill for several hours. Roll out on a floured board until quite thin and cut into oblongs. Spread with jam and jelly and cover with a meringue made as follows:

Whip the egg white until stiff, slowly add the 5 tablespoons of sugar, beating constantly add the cinnamon and chopped nuts.

Place cookies on a well greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 dg. about 12 minutes).

A Choral Evening and Hymn Sing will be held next Sunday at 8 p.m. in Maplewood Presbyterian Church. There will be selections by the combined choirs of four Chateauguay Churches, including St. Andrew's, anthems by individual choirs and hymn-singing for all.

Courtesy of the Town of Chateauguay Police, cars may now be parked on the Church side of Dupont Avenue (close to the fence), leaving room for two other rows of cars to pass. Drivers are requested not to park too close to Church Street corner on Dupont Avenue, as longer vehicles need the room to turn. Both sides of Church Street (except bus stop) are also available for parking to augment the church's sometimes overcrowded parking lot.

Net proceeds from the Annual Church Bazaar held on June 4th., were $1075. Congratulations to all who helped to make the bazaar such a success.

Cub and Scout meetings will be held on the regular dates this week.

Elsewhere in this issue appears a Letter to the Editor written by Mrs. Ruth Lussier of St. Francis, mother of route-boy Allan. Mrs. Lussier writes in defence of youthful riders of motorcycles. Mrs. Lussier makes the point that she would rather see the teenagers get their "kicks" from riding motercycles than from other less desirable pursuits. I must commend Mrs. Lussier for being a most tolerant citizen. Others with whom I have discussed the problem seem to share my view that a prime object in citizenship-training is so to conduct oneself that the pursuit of pleasure does not interfere with other people's enjoyment of life. Insufficiently silenced exhausts are a public nuisance, and should be suppressed in the first instance by parental control, which failing, by the police. No person is in his right mind, objects to matorcycles as such, but it is quite possible to have adequate silencers installed.

Mosquitoes seem to have returned this summer as fierce and as numerous as ever before. One of the hoped for benefits of the parks development programme is to reduce the swamp areas which are the favourite breeding grounds of these winged pests. It might be that 1966 wil be the turning point in the mosquito menace of Seigniory Park.

The foregoing reminds me of the early days of the War (World War II I hasten to add!). I spent a good proportion of the first year of the War on lookout duty in a coast defence battery in Jamaica. The mosquitoes then make the Seigniory Park variety look like household pets. Once in a while the fireflies came out at night along with the mosquitoes, and we had the eerie feeling that we were under attack by pests armed with their own searchlight battalion!

All the houses above the transmission line — about 60, I believe — are now occupied — all but two or three. The continuation of Concordia and Rideau and the building of a new section on a new street, Elmridge, is scheduled for this Fall.

I understand that the right-of-way path between Woodbine and Seigniory Drive has been purchased by the owners of the adjoining properties. Presumably this means that pedestrians will have to go the long way round from now on. Seems a pity.

While There Is ...

The old mower is over in the corner of the yard now. A good place to start would be to call a scrap dealer tomorrow and get him to come in. Let him clear it all out. We won't get a lot of cash for it, but at least it will buy a few boards to close up the siding on the barn, or buy some paint.

Many of our farm buildings have reached the age when they are obsolete and also present a problem in maintenance. At the same time these barns and buildings may serve for a number of years. So we are faced with the problem of keeping them in serviceable condition and as attractive as possible. In some cases we may have to replace the old board siding with metal. If the siding is in fairly good shape it may be painted or stained. This will improve the appearance and prolong the life of the building.

It is hard to keep fences around the barnyard in good condition and the yard frequently is a bog-hole. Sooner or later we are going to have to hard-surface the yard whether we have dairy or beef cattle. Maybe this is the year. A plank fence of two by eights, parallel and spaced painted wihte, make an attractive yard fence that will set off the buildings and be serviceable.

A well-kept vegetable garden is an attractive addition to a farmstead and is one of the items to be considered for the Centennial competition. In a defined area, perhaps bordered with flowers a vegetable garden is a thing of beauty. Many people grow vegetables in a row in the field but they are easier to care for and will appear on the table more often if grown closer to the house.

Finally, what can we do about the weeds? If we have cleared away the old machinery and loose stones around the fences and gangway, we could do the yard.

Now let us sit around the table and list the things which we have talked about and which need doing. Put a check mark opposite the things which can be done without a large money layout. Perhaps we can put a name opposite each job. Draw a circle around one big job — it might be to paint the house or the barn, or a new roof. Now we are on the road to doing something.

Our fondest memories are of our home. The happy environment of a well-kept home will be an influence for good in our children in the years ahead.

Exam time is here and noses seem to be buried in books. School's out on the 23rd of June for most of the children and then comes the long awaited summer vacation.

A belated birthday to Mrs. Kavanagh of Ethier Street who celebrated her birthday on Thursday of last week, June 9th.

A very happy birthday this week to Cornelius Viereck of St. Andre, who will be 8 years old on Thursday, June 16th. Special birthday greetings from your pal Michael Fabio.

A very happy birthday also to two young sisters. Robin and Debby Moody of Ethier Street both celebrate their birthdays this week. Robin will be 12 on Wednesday, June 15th., and her little sister Debbie will be 9 also on the same day. Sincerest wishes to both these young ladies from all your friends and playmates.

Don't forget kiddies this coming Sunday is Father's Day so plan now to show Dad it's his day and treat him like a King on that special day. If Dad is partial to flowers you could get him a lovely rose bush which the whole family can enjoy later on. And just a few tips while we are on the subject of roses — they cannot produce good blooms in dry, parched soil. They require a lot of moisture at all times, even more than the average shrub. So, during dry weather periods soak the soil thoroughly. Make sure the water goes down to no less than 10 inches. Whenever possible apply the water directly to the soil. If you have to use a sprinkler, always stop watering early enough in the day so that the plant leaves will have time to dry up before nightfall. Moisture remaining on the foliage during the night invites black spot and mildew. One heavy soaking once a week should provide the necessary moisture in most cases.

Sorry we are low on news so if you have any you would like to share with our readers do give me a call at 692-9272. Always glad to hear from you folks.

Ontario High School Sets Example By Using Microfilm To Protect Grades 9 to 13 Student Records

When your children finish high school, and go out to look for employment, will a prospective employer be able to learn from official school records just how they rated when they were pupils?

Will those same official reports, dealing with everything of importance that pertains to a teenager's school life, still be available 10, 15, or even 20 years after graduation?

The answer to these questions will be "yes" provided your school authorities decide to follow a new record retention policy now being carried out in Ontario at the Eastview High School, which is located in a town almost next door to Ottawa.

At Eastview High School where 1,300 pupils are enrolled in Grades 9 to 13, the majority of them being French Canadian teenagers, complete records of every student are being kept for permanent file purpose. All marks, attendances, teacher reports, details about hobbies, special interests, character ratings... in fact, everything of importance that happens during school life.

This official information is kept in paper form until the student finishes Grade 13, or until he or she moves to another school. Then it is immediately transferred to a 16 mm microfilming unit so that Eastview High, with no storage problem, will always have a complete case history of every student who has attended the school since it first opened its doors in 1949.

The idea of using microfilm to protect official school records originated with Eastview High School's Principal Edgar Mageau. Under his supervision, and with the cooperation of Vive Principal Gérald Brûlé, the microfilm program was launched a year and a half ago.

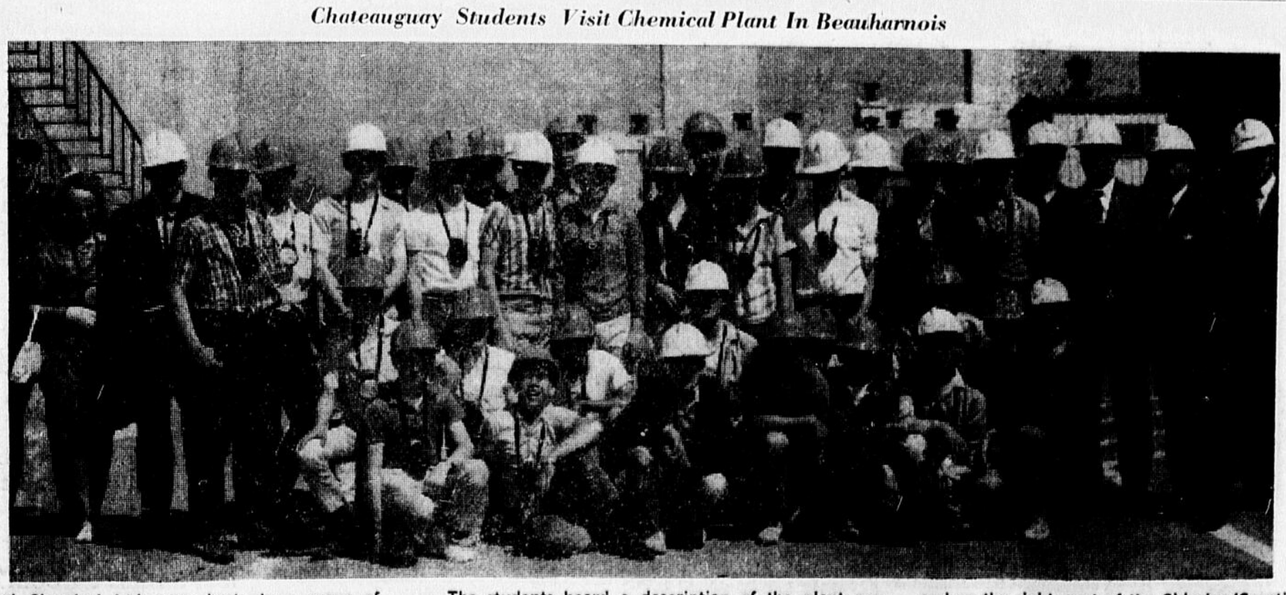

Already on film are the official records of some 5,700 pupils who attended Eastview High during the years 1949-1959. All of these are now retained on eight 100 foot rolls of film. This means the elimination of any paper storage problem at Eastview High since each roll of film is three-quarters of an inch thick and needs only four square inches of space for storage purposes.

This Spring the school plans to cut up these ten years of filmed records so that the official information pertaining to each former pupil can be kept in a separate 3 x 5 inch acetate jacket. These jackets will then be filed alphabetically and not according to the year the student left Eastview High. "We feel this microfilming program is extremely important, Vice Principal Brûlé explained. "Long after a student has left Eastview High we continue to get requests for information about his school record. These inquiries come from prospective employers, from other schools or colleges, even from finance loan companies. Without the aid of microfilm, it would be almost impossible for us to keep accurate records on the thousands of students who at sometime or other attend our school."

The Eastview authorities felt that other schools in Canada should adopt a similar microfilming program so they could get the same benefits from it. Once the initial filmer-viewer equipment had been purchased, they pointed out, the annual cost of operating such a project is extremely low.

It is estimated that any school in the country could launch a similar program by allocating about $1,400 for modern microfilming equipment. After that, it shouldn't cost the average school more than about $100 a year for the necessary film, developing, and acetate jackets needed for storage retention purposes.

Chateauguay Students Visit Chemical Plant In Beauharnois

Standard Chemical Ltd. were hosts to a group of High School students. On May 26, over 30 Grade 9 students from Chateauguay High School, accompanied by members of the school's staff, spent the afternoon at the Beauharnois plant.

The students heard a description of the plant processes, and then toured all the facilities. Appropriate refreshments were served. In the accompanying photograph, the group can be seen wearing their safety quipment. In the background is the Sodium Chlorate Plant, and on the right, part of the Chlorine/Caustic Soda Plant. Before the visit the students had seen a film supplied by the Company, demonstrating how chlorine is made and handled.

Textiles

Remember when slacks were just an odd pair of pants? Once upon a time, men wore slacks to give their suit pants a rest. In those days, "leisure" was just a fancy word that not many people could afford.

Today, with shorter working hours, longer week-ends, community sports, country clubs, swimming pools and casual suburban living, leisure is a way of life that requires a special clothing of its own.

Slack styles for men and boys are a booming part of the male fashion industry. There are dress slacks, casual slacks, knickers, western style jeans, bell bottoms, dungarees, continental slacks, ivy leagues and hipsters, in everything from the finest wools to the toughest denims.

The advent of durable press treatment, by which the final smooth, pressed shape of slacks is heat set for the life of the garment, has spurred development of fabrics and styling. Durable press is showing up everywhere, on the job or the golf course.

Durable creases in wool slacks are not as new but the concept of shape retention for the whole garment as now applied to man-made fabric blends is the most exciting technical development of this era, and it got its start in men's slacks.

Canadian textile mills are turning out more blends designed especially for the oven curing process that sets the slacks in their final smooth shape. Manufacturers are putting more emphasis on new styling in casual slacks while makers of men's tailored wool slacks are competing with new patterns and colors.

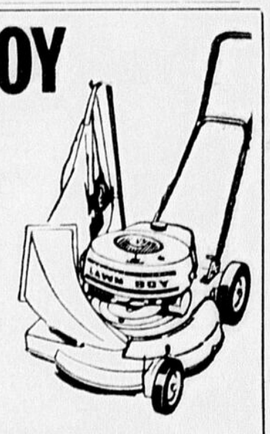

More light and medium shades, even whites, are being shown in wools. Checks and plaids are offered to co-ordinate with sports blazers. The new knicker styles for golfers are slimmer than previous sports knickers.

Makers of casual slacks are offering more matched jacket and pants sets of cotton/nylon or cotton/polyester durable press blends. A golf jacket that can be folded and stored in a golf bag without wrinkling may not improve a man's game but he'll look a lot better on the course.

Streamlining is the main theme in slacks for boys this year. Gone are the tricky pen pockets, button down loops and heavy frontier seaming, in favor of simplified smoother fit. Colors are dark, but lively, for boys; burgundy, green, dark blue and even black are forecast as favorites. Durable press can make even dress pants more practical for youngsters. Washability is, of course, a prime advantage but the new slimmed down styles promote a neater appearance around the clock.

Housewives in England now cook with gas from the Sahara Desert, 2500 miles away. Piped from the desert to a port in Algeria, the gas — compressed and chilled into liquid — is pumped aboard a ship going to London. Even after elaborate handling, the natural gas from the Sahara still costs less than half as much as some of the coal gas manufactured in Britain, says Reader's Digest.

M. François Cleyn se montre optimiste pour l'avenir de l'industrie des textiles

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. — 6 juin — L'industrie textile est "une industrie qui bouge", affirme M. François E. Cleyn, président du Conseil d'administration de l'Institut Canadien des Textiles.

Au cours des quatre dernières années, les progrès considérables de cette industrie lui ont permis de reprendre en bonne partie l'importance qu'elle a déjà exercée dans l'économie du pays, a soutenu M. Cleyn dans un rapport aux délégués de la conference canadienne des manufacturiers de textiles, réunis ici jusqu'à mercredi soir.

M. Cleyn s'est montré optimiste pour l'avenir des textiles, tout en recommandant un plus grand effort du Gouvernement, du Travail et de la Direction de l'industrie. "Notre industrie est concurrentielle et nous sommes bien résolus à ce qu'elle devienne encore plus concurrentielle."

Ce rapport avait été préparé d'avance par M. Cleyn en vue de la conférence annuelle conjointe de l'Institut Canadien du Tapis, l'Institut du Coton du Canada, l'Association des Fabricants des Tricotages du Canada, l'Association des Textiles Synthétiques et l'Association Canadienne des Textiles de Laine.

Président de Cleyn & Tinker Ltd., de Huntingdon, Québec, et membre du Conseil Economique du Canada, M. Cleyn est présentement en France, à titre de membre d'une mission économique officielle, dirigée par le ministre de l'Industrie, l'hon. Drury, afin d'examiner les possibilités de relations économiques plus étroites entre la France et le Canada.

La nécessité de rétablir la stabilité des prix est d'une grande importance pour le pays, selon M. Cleyn, qui félicite le ministre des Finances, l'hon. Sharp, de son point de vue sur le sujet. "Notre industrie s'enorgueillit d'un dossier extraordinaire de maintien de la stabilité des prix.

"L'index des prix des produits textiles n'a subi qu'un mouvement fractionnaire au cours des dix dernières années, surtout par suite de l'effort intense accompli par l'industrie textile en vue d'améliorer sa productivité. A cet égard, nous avons fait considérablement mieux que les autres industries manufacturières."

Faisant rapport des progrès de l'industrie textile durant les quatre dernières années — au cours desquelles l'embauche s'est accrue de 13,000 pour atteindre un total de 87,000 employés — M. Cleyn a indiqué que l'industrie souffre de la pénurie des technologues et a recommandé un plus grand effort de recrutement d'étudiants pour les écoles de Hamilton, Ontario, et de St-Hyacinthe, au Québec.

M. Cleyn invite la Direction à continuer d'améliorer sa compétence et "d'adopter des points de vue dynamiques sur le relèvement de la production et les méthodes de commercialisation, ainsi que les recherches sur les nouveaux produits."

Le rapport préconise une coopération plus étroite entre le Travail et la Direction "comme moyen de convaincre le Travail de l'interdépendance des deux parties. Je pense qu'il est important plus que jamais d'établir un dialogue constructif et continuel avec le Travail. Il est essentiel que le Travail comprenne pleinement les conditions qui sont à prévoir."

M. Cleyn a également fait mention de certaines difficultés auxquelles l'industrie textile doit faire face, comme la diminution des marges de bénéfice attribuables à l'élévation des coûts, le fait que le Canada demeure le plus gros importateur de textiles au monde; les incertitudes des négociations du commerce international.

L'industrie textile est reconnaissante au Gouvernement de l'établissement du ministère de l'Industrie, a encore écrit M. Cleyn. La création du ministère de la Main-d'oeuvre lui inspire de l'espoir. L'industrie et le Gouvernement devraient avoir des échanges de vue plus suivis.

"Dans la division rigoureuse entre les pays occidentaux et les producteurs des régions à bas salaire du reste du monde, de même que des pays communistes, où les conceptions des coûts et du commerce sont si différentes, il est nécessaire de procéder continuellement à un réexamen du sens de la concurrence et du degré auquel le Gouvernement peut et doit tolérer que notre situation soit menacée," a-t-il conclu.

A TOUS LES PAPAS DE CHEZ NOUS

Nous nous en voudrions de laisser passer l'occasion qui se présente de vous rendre les hommages qui vous sont dus. Les mamans ont eu leur large part de bons voeux, le mois dernier.

Papas disparus, enlevés trop tôt à la tendresse de ceux qui vous aimaient, en ce jour, nous prierons pour vous. Du haut du Ciel, veillez sur ceux qui se souviennent de vous.

Pères vénérables aux cheveux blanchis, que toute votre famille vous entoure en ce jour de fête. Comme le patriarche ils admirent votre sagesse et comprennent enfin tout ce que vous avez fait pour eux.

Papas aux tempes grisonnantes, qui avez vu grandir vos petits, qui avez été pour eux le modèle à imiter, vous vivez dans la crainte de les voir quitter le nid bientôt. Vous en avez fait des hommes. Soyez remerciés pour tout ce que vous leur avez donné. Qu'à leur tour ils vous gâtent et reconnaissent toutes vos bontés.

Et vous jeunes papas, qui tenez fièrement votre premier-né et rêvez pour lui du plus bel avenir, il vous faudra bien des sueurs avant qu'il soit quelqu'un. En attendant, vous le chérissez, le gâtez — ne dites pas non — et quand il vous enlace de ses deux bras, vous êtes l'homme le plus heureux de la terre.

Messieurs, soyez tous en ce dimanche, 19 juin, très heureux parce que très choyés. C'est la grâce que je vous souhaite

ELECTIONS DIVERSES

Vous croyiez sans doute le 5 juin que vous n'auriez pas à voter de nouveau avant quelques mois ou années; pourtant, cette semaine, nous sommes encore en pleine période d'élection. Lundi, il y avait vote pour élire un commissaire d'école; jeudi soir, les Chevaliers de Colomb devront se choisir un nouveau conseil et à la fin du mois, les ouvriers de Cleyn & Tinker et de Model Dye Works (Canada) Ltd. voteront pour l'union de leur choix.

Toutes ces élections sont cause de beaucoup d'activités; il en ressort qu'il est important, dans quelque domaine que ce soit, de faire usage de son droit de vote. Le désintéressement n'est pas permis, que ce soit dans un cas ou l'autre. Ceux qui sont appelés à représenter des groupes doivent savoir ce qu'attendent d'eux ceux qui les élisent; ces derniers ont le devoir de choisir des personnes qui ont les capacités voulues pour occuper le poste auquel elles aspirent. On appelle cela de la démocratie.

SUR LA ROUTE 3A

Au cours de la fin de semaine, ayant eu l'occasion d'emprunter cette route de Côteau-du-lac à Rigaud, via St-Clet, nous n'avons pu nous empêcher de la comparer à celle dont nous nous plaignons à juste droit. Recouverte d'un bout à l'autre, les courbes y sont rares et la circulation bien moins dense que sur la 4. Cela nous donne l'espoir qu'un jour, malgré les raisons invoquées, nous ayons aussi le même avantage.

FIN DES COURS

Les élèves de notre ville qui sont en 12ième à l'école Hébert affrontent les examens de fin d'année cette semaine et seront en vacances dès vendredi le 17. Les jeunes filles qui fréquentaient le Chatelain Business College ont vu se terminer leurs cours vendredi dernier. Et pour les autres il ne reste que quelques jours. Nous souhaitons à tous ces étudiants de bonnes vacances. Pour ceux dont c'est la dernière année d'études, nous leur souhaitons de trouver les positions qu'ils espèrent.

NOTES SOCIALES
25 ième ANNIVERSAIRE

Nos meilleurs voeux à M. et Mme Wellie Lécuyer à l'occasion de leur 25ième anniversaire de mariage, qui se célèbrera samedi le 18 juin. De la part de lerus enfants Roger et Marcelle, Guy et Francine, Lise ainsi que de leurs parents et amis.

Nos meilleurs voeux de prompt rétablisseement à Mme Antoine Mainville jr., qui a subi récemment une intervention chirurgicale. De la part de ses élèves, ses connaissances et ses parents et amis.

Nos meilleurs voeux à M. Jean-Guy Hébert dont l'anniversaire de naissance était le 9 juin. Mieux vaut tard que jamais.

Félicitations à M. et Mme Emery Latreille à l'occasion de la naissance d'un fils.

CONSEILS D'USAGE EN CETTE PERIODE

Chers parents dont les petits entreront en vacances sous peu, les mettrez-vous en garde contre tous les dangers auxquels ils seront exposés au cours des prochains mois. Les plaisirs de l'eau sont si vite gâchés quand se produit un accident fâcheux. Répétez-leur souvent qu'ils ne doivent pas se baigner à un endroit dont ils ne connaissent pas la profondeur; s'ils ne savent pas nager, faites-leur porter une ceinture de sauvetage en tout temps; s'ils vont faire une randonnée en bateau, dites-leur bien de rester assis. Nous ne voudrions pas avoir à déplorer de perte de vie au cours des vacances.

APPEL AUX AUTOMOBILISTES

Pour compléter ce qui précède, nous vous demandons de redoubler de prudence, de penser pour ces petits qui sont trop occupés à jouer pour voir le danger. Ils peuvent surgir devant votre auto au moment où vous vous y attendez le moins, circulez lentement dans les rues de la ville. Un malheur est si vite arrivé.

NOUVEAU COMMISSAIRE

Lundi dernier, tel que mentionné plus haut avait lieu l'élection pour nommer un commissaire au siège No. 4. M. Raoul David dont le terme d'office expirait avait comme adversaire Mme Thérèse Galipeau.

Les contribuables se sont rendus nombreux aux bureaux de scrutin et ont donné à Mme Galipeau une victoire sans équivoque. Nos félicitations.

Le Conseil est maintenant composé de Messieurs Laurent Nadeau, président, Léonard Grenon, Lawrence McCallum, Georges Lazure (élu par acclamation la semaine dernière) et de Madame Thérèse Galipeau.

LETTRE A L'EDITEUR

Vous pourrez lire cette semaine une lettre se rapportant à l'événement relaté ci-haut. Il serait intéressant de connaitre la réaction des dames à ce sujet.

COMM. SCOLAIRE

Lundi dernier à St-Anicet avait lieu l'assemblée pour la nomination des commissaires. Réélu président: Claude Trépanier; réélus commissaires Lucien Daucause, Almanzor Hurteau, Hortomus Mainville et Bernard Leduc remplace Yves Trépanier sortant de charges. — Félicitations.

NOTES SOCIALES

Bonne Fête à Johanne Boucher qui aura 10 ans le 19 juin de sa petite amie, Brigitte.

Amour et mariage

Prière des jeunes filles à marier

"O Dieu, que j'implore à genoux,
Faites-moi trouver un époux!
Qu'il soit grand ou petit, qu'importe,
Mais que du célibat je sorte!

Qu'il vienne vite l'amoureux
Qu'attend mon petit coeur frileux.
Chacun dit que je suis gentille
Et je ne veux pas rester fille!

Je voudrais voir dans son berceau,
Gazouillant comme un frêle oiseau,
Un chérubin qui lui ressemble
Que nous aimerions bien ensemble."

Faites durer, durer votre amour !

Pour cela, il vous le "veiller" de très près, l'alimenter de ces menus détails qui sont beaucoup plus importants qu'insignifiants. Par exemple:

1 — ne vous croyez jamais trop vieux pour vous tenir par la main;

2 — n'oubliez pas de dire "Je t'aime" au moins une fois par jour;

3 — ne vous endormez jamais fâchés;

4 — n'admettez à aucun moment que l'amour est acquis une fois pour toutes: cultivez-le en continuant votre cour tout au long des années;

5 — pratiquez le dévouement réciproque, non par devoir ni esprit de sacrifice, mais par plaisir;

6 — ne demandez pas à votre conjoint d'être un ange, mais cultivez la souplesse, la patience, la compréhenion et le sens de l'humour;

7 — pardonnez et oubliez;

8 — faites une place aux choses de l'esprit. Recherchez en commun le bien et le beau;

9 — parlez-vous toujours en vous souriant et en vous regardant dans les yeux. Aux moments critiques, vous éviterez ainsi les mots brusques ou impolis;

10 — après les discussions vives ou les reproches, sachez vous excuser, de part et d'autre.

Les dix règles d'un mariage heureux données par le Père O'Brien, conférencier et écrivain bien connu de l'Université Notre-Dame, aux Etats-Unis:

1 — Vous ferez de votre promesse d'amour mutuel et de loyauté un voeu à Dieu que seule la mort peut rompre.

2 — Vous vous abstiendrez de la parole malveillante ou coléreuse qui blesse plus profondement que l'epee.

3 — Vous respecterez la personnalite de votre compagnon (ou compagne); vous ne chercherez pas a la dominer ni a la tyranniser.

4 — Vous ne laisserez pas vos beaux-parents s'ingérer dans vos affaires.

5 — Vous vous abstiendrez de prendre des boissons enivrantes si l'alcool constitue un danger pour l'un ou pour l'autre d'entre vous.

6 — Vous organiserez un budget familial et vous l'observerez coûte que coûte.

7 — Vous ne vous laisserez pas influencer par la petitesse, l'égoisme, la jalousie, l'orgueil et les mésententes.

8 — Vous grandirez chaque jour dans l'amour et les égards que vous avez l'un pour l'autre et vous partagerez aussi pleinement que possible vos intérêts et vos joies.

9 —Vous aimerez vos enfants comme le plus grand don que Dieu vous ait accordé et vous les éduquerez à être de bons citoyens, leur donnant le sens de l'honneur, de la tolérance, de la charité et de la justice.

10 — Vous vous agenouillerez en prière chaque soir, sachant que la famille qui prie ensemble demeure une famille unie.

Le rallye des légionnaires du district tenu à Huntingdon samedi dernier

Le Rallye annuel des branches de la Légion Canadienne du District s'est tenu à la salle de la Légion de Huntingdon samedi après-midi, le 11 juin. En plus des membres de la Branche No. 81 de Huntingdon, il y avait des délégués de Beauharnois, Caughnawaga, Châteauguay, Hemmingford et Ormstown.

Pour débuter un défilé auquel prenaient part la fanfare du H.M.C.S. Donnaconna et les Cadets de la Marine (St. Francis Royal Canadian Sea Cadets) de Huntingdon. Les Etoiles de Notre-Dame avaient prêté leur concours; les responsables remercient ce groupe qui s'améliore constamment. Le défilé s'est rendu au cénotaphe où l'on déposa quelques couronnes.

Une courte assemblée à la salle suivit, après quoi le comité des rafraichisseements servit un souper genre buffet. La soirée se termina par une danse au son de l'orchestre d'Albert Godin.

St-Anicet

(Carmella Sanders)

Bonjour,

A travers des temps si bruyants, il y a parfois de grands hommes qui ne font pourtant pas grand bruit, mais qui sont tout de même de brillants philosophes, des artistes à leurs heures et aussi des génies en tous sujets. Je voudrais parler des PAPAS, certains vivent dans l'obscurité toute leur vie, sans trop de récompense si ce n'est que la réussite des leurs. Ils ont su se sacrifier et donner à leurs entants, la chance de s'instruire et de se faire valoir et eux mêmes sont toujours restés dans l'ombre, quasi oubliés. Il y a aussi, les papas, qui ne sont plus parmi nous... ils nous ont été enlevés si tôt. Une pensée toute spéciale en cette fête des pères, peut-être oublions-nous trop souvent, que c'est nul doute de leur labeur que nous sommes devenus quelqu'un.

Lettre à l'éditeur

Huntingdon, 13 juin 1966

The Huntingdon Gleaner,

Cher M. l'Editeur,

Auriez-vous l'amabilité de réserver un espace dans les colonnes de votre journal pour ce message qui, je crois, est d'intérêt national.

Je crains de déplaire à ces dames qui ne sont heureuses que si on les vante sans cesse à tort ou à raison. Cependant, mon désir de mettre les choses à leur place est si grand qu'il l'emporte. Quand, pour être galant, il faut donner ses culottes, Diable!... la note est trop forte.

Aujourd'hui, les catholiques sont allés voter pour élire une femme "Commissaire d'Ecole". Ma foi ! Je trouve ça badin. Et pourtant la chose est trop grave pour y badiner. On apporte toutes sortes de prétextes et par détour de raisonnement on vient à bout de faire croire au monde que la femme est égale à l'homme et c'est absolument faux. Je ne doute pas que les âmes aient la même valeur, j'imagine, face à Dieu; l'âme étant le souffle de Dieu. Mais dans le domaine temporel, la femme est un membre inférieur qui doit être soumis à la tête. D'ailleurs, les lois civiles comme les lois religieuses concernant le mariage ne sont-elles pas faites dans ce sens!

Nous avons appris que Dieu créa l'homme mais il ne créa pas la femme puisqu'il donna à Adam un profond sommeil pendant lequel lui enlevant l'une de ses côtes it en façonna la femme. Par conséquent la femme n'a pas été créée également à l'homme, elle est la simple transformation d'un membre inférieur et dans tout corps sain tous les membres sont soumis au commandement de la tête.

Il en ressort donc que la femme qui supplante l'homme dans la commande des corps publics, dénote un corps malsain. Autrement dit; c'est un désordre social.

De toutes façons y aurait-il pénurie d'hommes dans la paroisse au point qu'on ne puisse judicieusement combler ces postes? Si tel est le cas, mes amis, il est grand temps de songer à abandonner l'idée du contrôle des naissances pour s'en elever des hommes.

Dimanche, après la messe, je causais de la chose, au sortir de l'église et une bonne Dame me disait: "donnez-nous donc une chance à nous les femmes". Franchement, je ne sais ce quelles veulent pour une chance, car à mon avis nos petites canadiennes ont, pour la plupart, toutes les chances du monde.

Elles ont des maris qui font l'impossible pour les installer dans des maisons montées à la dernière mode et automatisées à outrance de sorte que tout le travail quotidien consiste à commander par simple contact du doigt.

Toutes, l'une après l'autre, réussissent, un jour ou l'autre à se faire donner une fourrure dispendieuse. Pour se protéger contre le froid croyez-vous ? Vous n'y êtes pas. Si ridicule que ça paraisse, c'est en été pendant les grandes chaleurs qu'elles les portent. Décidément, elles sont gâtées au superlatif nos petites canadiennes. Et dire qu'elles demandent la chance de dominer. Je crois qu'en devenant exigeant, on ne connait plus de limite, Messieurs! ça sent mauvais et il faut absolument faire quelque chose pour reprendre les culottes et les porter comme il se doit.

Vous remerciant à l'avance pour votre hospitalité, je me déclare,

Votre tout dévoué
André Billette.

Liturgie — La joie du Père. Jésus veut fermer la bouche aux Pharisiens bien pensants, qui lui reprochent amèrement ses mauvaises fréquentations: "Cet homme, murmurent-ils, fait bon accueil aux pécheurs et mange avec eux." Ils ont encore sur l'estomac le banquet offert par le publicain Lévi, le jour où le Maitre est venu le surprendre à son poste de douanier pour lui offrir une place parmi les diciples. Ce jour-là, pendant le repas qui groupait fraternellement les douaniers et les apôtres, Jésus s'était contenté de dire à ces prétendus défenseurs de la morale: "Ce ne sont pas les gens en bonne santé qui ont besoin de médecin, mais les malades; je ne suis pas venu appeler les justes, mais les pécheurs." Partager la table des pécheurs, ce n'est pas nécessairement partager leurs fautes. Pas plus que le médecin qui fréquente les malades n'éprouve de sympathie spéciale pour la maladie. Mais la lutte contre le péché ou contre la maladie exige le combat corps à corps.

Liturgy — It is as we pass through this temporal life that we work out our salvation. While in this world, we must use temporal things: houses, clothes, food, etc. These things are good; when God created the world and its contents, he noted that his creation "was very good". The problem concerning these temporal things does not lie in the things themselves but in what use we put them to. An automobile is a good thing if we use it to make an honest livelihood, to provide some relaxation for our family. The automobile itself remains a good thing, but use may become abuse or misuse if the automobile is transferred into an occasion of sin, or if it is purchased needlessly with money that should be going toward real necessities. (Another example: alcohol is good; it's the abuse or misuse of alcohol that is bad.)

Adventure In Citizenship Truly An Adventure

The following is the full address given by Miss Barbara Beal, to the members of the Huntingdon Rotary Club, after her visit to Ottawa on the Rotarian "Adventure in Citizenship".

Mr. Chairmen, Rotarians, Honored Guests :

Canada is a huge country, physically. To keep her strong and unified she must have many ties. The tie that has, is, and will keep her strong is her people. Canada's people must learn about Canada how it is governed and that a Quebecer and a British Columbian are the same. What better place to do this than in the nation's capital — Ottawa?

For the 248 Adventurers their trips began in 248 different ways. For me it began in February. When I walked out of my classroom and into — literally into — Mr. Brockman. He asked me to go to his office. To a student this is not the happiest news in the world. I immediately thought about my homework. Perhaps I should — qualify that and say the homework I should have done. Mr. Brockman relieved an acute case of butterflies — almost as bad as the case I have now — by asking one question: "Would you like to go to Ottawa to participate in 'Adventure in Citizenship' ?".

March and April were the slowest months of the year. Then suddenly I was in Ottawa for 4 days so well and so extensively planned that we almost decided to pitch a tent in the parking lot of the Chateau Laurier.

Our busy Monday began with a civic welcome by His Worship Mayor Don Reid. Dr. Farr — Dean of Arts at Carleton — spoke to us on the history of our land. We are the product of defeat and France and of divorce — Britain and U.S.A. With such shaky beginnings we have progressed well solving many problems. The one of racial Discrimination still exists. We normally associate this problem with the U.S. but since the 7 Years War we have had the conflict of French vs. English. Many prefer to confine — to Quebec this problem. I was asked many times "DO YOU REALLY SPEAK ENGLISH ?"

The luncheon speaker was the Rt. Honorable Lester B. Pearson. Canada is growing and progressing. Do we appreciate this ? We are in such a rush that we must get ahead — get to the first sector of the revolving door. We must take time to see and know Canada. It is not necessary to travel extensively. Just appreciate the view from your front porch. To the students he said: "Remember that you are the Canada of tomorrow. A trip to the Parliament Buildings followed. The pomp and formality of the ceremonies such as the Speaker's Procession and the grandeur of the buildings is impressive and awesome. But one thing drew our attention more than any other, there was a noticeable lack of members.

With teenagers there is one common language FRUG, JERK, WATUSI, PONY. What better way to learn that teens are universal than on a dance floor ?

Fisher Park High School provided the floor and that important common denominator to all teens-food.

Tuesday and Wednesday morning were devoted to discussions at Carleton University. Topics discussed included long hair, telephones and parents, teachers, politics and capital punishment. Through these discussions we learned opinions of others, changed our own and learned that communication equals better understanding of the people who constitute Canada.

On Tuesday the speaker was the Leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition! Mr. Diefenbaker expressed the fact that Canada was great in the past. We have many firsts in our history. We were first to abolish slavery in the Western World and first in the Commonwealth to establish freedom of religion. This history creates a today for you and me.

You have heard of the Musical Ride executed by the R.C.M.P.? This is truly a magnificent display but try to pick a warmer day. I do not know whether or not we were considered security risks, or if R.C.M.P. recruits at Rockcliffe have razor sharp fingernails but there was a noticeable lack of knives. The R.C.M.P. are our protection from the international criminal. The R.C.M.P. are apt to arrest your supplier of addictive drugs

A chance to glimpse the arts of Canada was provided as the Adventurers took part in the tour of the NATIONAL ART GALLERY.

After the discussions on Wednesday morning, we were the guests of the N.C.C. We lunched at the Vincent Massey Park, and then toured Ottawa and the city of Hull. The N.C.C. is a committee set up to look after the landscaping, upkeep of parks and many buildings in the Ottawa — Hull area.

Wednesday supper was scheduled for the Chateau Laurier. Having been caught in a traffic jam we were 15 minutes late. Since there were 5 girls in one car I cannot blame it all on traffic. We saw some empty chairs and sat down. For the last supper the members of Parliament were invited. We had dinner with a Member from Winnipeg, one from Nova Scotia and the Honorable Georges Lees.

The only branch of Parliament we had not explored was the judiciary branch. A visit to the Supreme Court filled the gap. The Honorable Justice Hall answered many questions concerning the jurisdictions of many courts and how they function. The Adventurers were presented with citizenship certificates in the Confederation Building. The closing luncheon held at the Chateau Laurier featured students as speakers. Each chose one aspect of the trip and interpreted it.

On the train journey home, I began to think. Canada is large on the map. But Canada is not the Rockies, the Prairies, the Great Lakes, or the Maritimes. Nor is Canada just Ontario, or just Quebec. WE ARE CANADA — ALL CANADIANS ARE CANADA. Pericles said:

"Fix your eyes on the greatness of your country as you have it before you day by day, fall in love with her and when you feel her greatness, remember that her greatness was won by men with courage, with knowledge of their duty and with a sense of honour in action, who even if they failed in some venture would not think of depriving their country of their powers but laid them at her feet as their fairest offering."

To keep Canada as one and growing we must fix our eyes on her as we see her in our daily life. We must love and cherish her. When we feel her greatness, remember her past, present, and future history.

We must be the men with courage, a sense of honour in action and a knowledge of our duty. We must even if we fail in some task place at her feet our attempts and return to try again.

If we take these words and our energy and our capabilities we will create a Canada we can be proud of and one to which the whole world can look to for guidance and a helping hand.

Thank you for the opportunity to see our nation's capital, to see Canada through her people, and a living history lesson. And my attempt at bilingualism.

Je vous remercie pour mon occasion de voir toutes sortes de Canadiens et de voir nos histoires.

Francois Cleyn Addresses Delegates At "Canadian Textiles '66"

François E. Cleyn, Chairman of the Canadian Textiles Institute, says his is "an industry on the move."

During the past four years the industry had gone a considerable distance towards regaining earlier prominence in the economy, he reported to delegates to "Canadian Textiles '66", in session at Niagara Falls last week.

Mr. Cleyn was optimistic about the future, while urging greater effort by government, labor and industry management. "We are competitive and fully intend to become more competitive."

His report was prepared in advance for presentation to this joint annual conference of the Canadian Carpet Institute, Cotton Institute of Canada, Knitters Association of Canada, Man-Made Textiles Association and Wool Textile Association of Canada.

Mr. Cleyn, President of Cleyn & Tinker Ltd., and a member of the Economic Council of Canada, is currently in France as part of a government economic mission led by Minister of Industry Drury to examine the potential for closer economic relations between France and Canada.

The need to restore price stability was of major national importance, Mr. Cleyn said, and commended Finance Minister Sharp for his approach to the subject. "Our industry has an outstanding record of maintaining price stability.

"The index for textile product prices has moved only fractionally over the last 10 years, largely as a result of the intense effort by the industry to improve productivity. And, we have done considerable better in this respect than the rest of manufacturing."

In reporting improvement of the past four years — employment has increased by 13,000 people to a total of more than 87,000 — Mr. Cleyn said there was a shortage of technologists in the industry, and urged increased recruiting of students for the provincial training schools at Hamilton, Ont., and St. Hyacinthe, Que.

He asked management to continue to improve its skills and "to adopt aggressive approaches towards improving our production and merchandising procedures, and to accelerating our product development."

Closer labor-management cooperation was advocated in the report, as a way "through which management can bring home to labor their mutual interdependence I think it is more important than ever that we establish a constructive and continuous dialogue with labor It is necessary for labor to fully understand what is in store."

Mr. Cleyn also reported on difficulties still facing the industry, such as thinning profit margins due to rising costs, the fact that Canada is still the world's largest importer of manufactured textiles, and the uncertainties of international trade negotiations.

He said the industry was grateful for the establishment of the federal Department of Industry and hopeful about the proposed Department of Manpower, and suggested even closer exchange of views between industry and government.

"In the severe division between the western world and the low-cost producers in the rest of the world — along with communist countries where so different concepts of cost and trading exist — it is necessary to have continuous re-examination of what competitiveness means and how far government can and should allow our position to be put in jeopardy."

Mr. Cleyn was elected a director of the Wool Textile Association of Canada during the above meeting.

Letter to the Editor

Huntingdon, Que.
June 13, 1966

The editor,
The Huntingdon Gleaner
Dear Sir,

Would you be kind enough to reserve me a little space in your paper for this message which I believe is of national interest.

I am afraid this will not please the ladies who are happy only if we praise them constantly with or without reason. Nevertheless my desire to straighten this matter is so great that I cannot resist. When, to be gallant, one must give his pants, that is going too far.

To-day, the catholics voted to elect a woman as "School Commissioner", I think that is ridiculous. Using all kinds of arguments, they manage to make the people believe that the woman is equal to man which is absolutely false. I have no doubt that the souls have the same value, in face of God; it being God's influence. But in the temporal field, the woman is an inferior member who must be submitted to the head. Are civic and religious laws not made in accordance with that fact?

We have learned that God created the man but he did not create the woman for he plunged Adam into a heavy sleep during which he took away one of his ribs of which he made a woman. Consequently, woman was not created equal to man; she is the result of the transformation of a limb and in any sane body all limbs are submitted to the head.

When a woman supplants a man at the command of a public body, that denotes a sickness in that body. In other words, it is a social disorder.

Is there a shortage of men in the parish that we cannot fill these positions adequately? If that is the case, it is time to set aside the birth control and start raising men. Last Sunday after mass I was talking to a good lady who was saying: "Give a chance, to us women". Truly, I wonder what more they want, for in my opinion our Canadian women, in most cases, have all the chances in the world.

They have husbands who are doing the impossible to give them well furnished homes, fully automated so that all the daily work can be done simply by pressing buttons.

All of them, one after the other, manage to get an expensive fur piece. To guard themselves from the cold? Not at all. As ridiculous as it may seem, it is in summer that they wear them. Decidedly they are spoiled to the limit, our Canadian women. And to think that they are asking for a chance to dominate. I think that when one becomes demanding, one forgets the limits. Gentlemen ... there is a bad smell and we must do something to take back our pants and wear them as we should.

Thanking you in advance for your hospitality, I remain,
Yours truly,
André Billette

IN LEAD ROLE

Sue Patterson will portray Emily Webb in the final performance of "Our Town" tonight, at the Holy Ghost Academy gymnatorium. The play attracted a capacity audience on opening night. Governments Need To Keep Expenditures In Check

MONTREAL — "Stronger evidence of determination" to keep federal, provincial and municipal expenditures in check "would be welcome" as a curb to inflation, according to the Bank of Montreal in its Business Review for April, just issued.

"The situation also calls for moderation and restraint on the part of both business and labor," the bank states.

Examining recent prices increase, the B of M observes that the record of price movements shown in the major indices "tends to support the contention that most of the increases so far reflect pressures external to the Canadian economy or special internal factors which are not related to basic inflationary tendencies.

CONSTRUCTION PRESSURES

"One area of the domestic economy where inflationary pressures are clearly apparent, however, is the construction industry.

As a result of very sharp increases in capital investment programs in the past two years, operations in the construction industry have recently been pressing against capacity ceilings, with shortages of skilled workers evident in a number of areas of the country and some building materials in short supply," the B of M states.

Construction costs rose by 4 per cent a year in 1963 and 1964, and increased a further 6.5 per cent last year, a much larger rise than in any other major industry.

"Inflationary pressures in this industry seem likely to continue and could well be intensified in the current year," despite the federal government cut-back on capital spending and budget measures.

The latest survey of capital investment intentions indicates construction outlays rising by a further 12 per cent this year, while a sharp rise of some 17 per cent in spending on new machinery and equipment is also expected.

PRODUCTIVITY LAG

Looking at cost pressures on the economy as a whole, the B of M notes that there was a rapid rise in wages and salaries during 1965, outstripping the advance in productivity and, as a result, the labor cost per unit of output rose.

"Moreover, the pressure on production costs seems likely to persist. Many wage contracts already in force call for further increases this year and wage settlements under new contracts are likely to reflect both the current tight labor supply situation and the rise that has already taken place in consumer prices. In addition, contributions to the Canada and Quebec Pensions Plans . . . will also add to business costs.

"While in the short run the rapidly expanding capital expenditure program is adding to inflationary pressures, the new facilities coming on stream should substantially increase the country's productive capacity and contribute to the achievement of productivity gains.

"Furthermore, the labor force is growing rapidly, as a result of both higher immigration and an increasing flow of young people from our schools and universities. These factors work in the direction of producing a more balanced relationship between the forces of supply and demand within the economy."

But the B of M says that prices are still expected to rise by 3.5 per cent or more this year and concludes, "It is difficult to accept such a prospect with equanimity since a much better price performance than this is required for the achievement of national goals in terms of maximum sustainable growth in employment and incomes, balance-of-payments viability and social equity."

Challenge for Next Year

Next year we hope to give you a long list of women's prize winners in the baking, preserving, sewing and flower sections. On our Centennial Year we should find 100 women willing to make at least one entry. It would transform that department of the Exhibition. How about it ladies? Some articles may be made months ahead such as sewing, quilting, jars of jam, jelly and preserves, so do it now.

Handicraft and Baking

This year entries of handicraft and baking were exhibited by several students in connection with the 4-H Club. Janet Holmes and Iona Robertson's names are on that list.

Then at the other end of the line we have a grandmother and two step-great grandparents who entered with considerable success. Mrs. Adolphe Shinck, Village St. Pierre, entered 17 articles of sewing, knitting, flowers, etc., F. Crawford 12 entries of baking and Sid Stewart one of syrup and all were satisfied with their prizes. Mrs. L. Bourcier, Village St. Pierre is another one who entered for the first time and found it most interesting and is included in the prize list. (I have spoken to one lady and she promised to make two or three articles for the 1967 project.)

The Mont Blanc tunnel, longest automobile tunnel in the world took six years and 18 lives to build, reports Reader's Digest. Due to this miracle of modern engineering, some 450,000 vehicles carrying 1,200,000 people and 200,000 tons of freight are expected to pour through the Central Alps tunnel in a year.

Canada's worst centres of animal theft and neglect are in Ontario and Quebec, says Reader's Digest. There, tens of thousands of dogs go for scientific research every year at $5 - $15 apiece, hundreds of "agents" — dog catchers, pet store operators, private citizens — funnel animals to dealers who earn as much as $40,000 a year on the resales, sometimes keeping the animals under shocking conditions.

Gordon and Ruth McClenaghan Are Leaving Lacolle

A farewell party was held June 4th., in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McClenaghan who are leaving this community to take up residence in Lachine, Gordon having been transferred to the immigration office in Dorval.

Mr. Jim Hope was master of ceremonies for the evening, making a fine speech concerning Gordon and Ruth. Jim and Gordon were good friends from away back, commencing at Allan's Corners, where Jim was brought up and Gordon worked on Merrill Karr's farm.

Jim Hope called on Ralph Smith to present a purse. He also had known Gordon as a boy. Both had harvested grain together and filled silos and gone to local dances. In those days one could enjoy a full evening for about two dollars apiece.

Ralph presented Gordon and Ruth with a Scroll of all their friends, confrères and neighbours, wishing them good healh and happiness in their new location.

Jim Hope called on Mr. Bob Trevice from Champlain, N.Y., to say a few words. Bob and his wife Marion had known Gordon and Ruth since they had taken up residence in Lacolle and had become fast friends.

Mr. Quinn Delaney in charge of Immigration in Lacolle was called on for a few words. He mentioned that Gordon had been an efficient officer and had done his work diligently. He also mentioned that Gordon had a staff of strength in Ruth, she was always there in time of need to give a helping hand.

Mrs. Ethel Mosher representing the Eastern Star, said a few words concerning Ruth's activities in the community since taking up residence in Lacolle.

She had been a fine member and would be missed considerably. Mrs. Mosher said that Lachine, where Ruth and Gordon were going wasn't so far away that perhaps they would return frequently and renew old friendships.

Gordon and Ruth both responded with well chosen words thanking all for a memorable evening.

Sandwiches and coffee were served and dancing enjoyed.

YOU NEVER SAW YOUR

Copy of The Gleaner

Thrown into the gutter or a waste basket before it was read, did you?

But waste baskets and gutters are constantly being filled with unopened expensive direct advertising, sales ammunition shot into the air.

A newspaper always commands an audience with prospective customers. It is never thrown aside without first being read from "kiver to kiver". Then it is borrowed by the neighbors.

That's why intelligent, attractive newspaper advertising is accepted as the most effective form of advertising your business.

An advertisement in The Gleaner will reach over 90 per cent of the buyers in the local trade territory. The cost is very small, and besides, we do the mailing and pay the postage.
