Rodeo and Stampede Arrive With Wild Brahma Bull

Horses and Cattle Galore — Hard Riding Cowboys — Race Track Turned Into Corral

This week a considerable amount of excitement resulted when some of the wildest looking bulls ever seen in this part of the country began arriving for the Old Home Week Rodeo and Stampede. The first lot came Saturday; by Monday fourteen head of cattle had come by truck and rail with more expected. By the time the company is ready to go into action they will have on hand enough horses and cattle to rival the Calgary Stampede.

The wildest Brahma bull on this continent is said to be Hell's Angel, a ferocious brute of an animal which is notorious for being thrown would-be riders from coast-to-coast. He is at the Race Track now and during the show, visitors will be offered an opportunity to mount this beast; anyone able to stay on for more than ten seconds will be given a considerable sum of money.

At all events, the chances of anyone winning the purse are slim. An interview with the owner of the show, known unofficially as the

Comes Home After Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cunningham of San Francisco, Calif., are now in Huntingdon visiting with Mr. Cunningham's brothers, Ernest, Charles, Howard and Ken. It is fifty years since Mr. Cunningham left Huntingdon and this is his first trip home in the interval of time. Needless to say, his brothers are delighted to have him visit them. It would be a story in itself if he were to report the changes he noted in Huntingdon that have taken place in the fifty years. No doubt Mr. Cunningham will hang up a record as one who has come home after the longest lapse of time, during the "Old Home Week" celebration year.

Gaspé Highly Praised As A Tourist Trip

Peter Nadeau Enlightens Rotarians About Gaspé Peninsula

Huntingdon Rotary Club had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Peter Nadeau give a travelogue of his native land, Gaspé. He stated that the Gaspé Peninsula jutted out into the Gulf of St. Lawrence 120 miles and that the Perron Boulevard around the Gaspé coast represented a drive of 553 miles. Picturesque, as a sea shore drive and also mountainous. The population is varied, in most sections it will be found to be solid French, some places are almost solid Irish and the Irish customs of old Ireland are still in vogue. English communities are also to be found and in one area Acadians still hold sway and are quite apart from all other Gaspésians. Then again in the fishing trade one large firm employs only Jersey Islanders, and every now and again an influx of Jersey Islanders will come and work with this particular firm.

H'DON ANNIVERSARY CAKE COMPLETED

The Huntingdon Anniversary Cake has just been completed. It is a gigantic, one-ton marvel with the frosting designed to pay a mouth-watering tribute to the town's 125th birthday. The words, "1950 125th Anniversary" and "Old Home Week" have been engraved in large letters.

The cake was made by Grant's Bakery and those who have had an advance taste of it can find no words to describe it. The cake is, they say, a masterpiece, a gastronomic piece of resistance.

Unfortunately, Huntingdonians will have to wait until "Old Home Week" before getting a chance to sample this delightful illustration of culinary art. At some time during the celebration the cake will be sold in small sections to the public and the proceeds will go to the War Memorial. Meanwhile the cake will go on display shortly in the window of Stanley Currier's store.

Club to Provide Agricultural Bursary

The Kiwanis Club of Montreal, through its Agricultural Committee, has just announced its intention to provide five bursaries of $100 each for students of the Diploma Course in Agriculture at Macdonald College. These bursaries will be awarded to students entering the first year of the course, and special consideration in making the awards will be given to applicants who are members of calf clubs in their home districts. The bursaries are restricted to students from the Montreal district, which includes calf clubs at Huntingdon, Ormstown, Howick, Cowansville, Lachute and Arundel.

Heavy Voting For Queen

Peanuts Selling Fast

Votes for the Old Home Week Queen are coming in thick and fast with the six candidates fighting a close struggle for the title. Peanuts have been on sale for a comparatively short while but they are selling like lightning.

At this point in the campaign Miss Beverly Cooper is in the lead with 16,700 votes. Running a close second are Edith McGowan and Suzanne Boyer with 12,500 and 12,100 votes respectively. Filling the next three places are Doris Leslie, Joyce Lamb and Peggy Stark in that order.

All things considered, the competition is keen and close. A few tens of peanuts can alter the entire picture. The public are urged, therefore, to do all they can for their favorite candidate. The peanuts and ballots are at strategic places throughout the town and will be on sale until the very hour of the coronation.

Lacolle Curlers to Hold Three Day Celebration

Lacolle Curling Club is an active association again endeavouring to improve its financial standing. The Club membership includes many active workers and at the present time is organizing its annual tombola. A street parade is to be held this year and will be followed by a concert in front of the Curling Clubhouse on Friday evening, July 28. At 8 p.m. the Tombola is to be opened for the general enjoyment of all. Ormstown Boys' Band is to be present and assist in the programme of the evening.

Huntingdon Tennis Club Badly Beaten

The Huntingdon Tennis Club got off to a poor start on Thursday last when they went down to a bitter defeat at the hands of the Lacolle club during the first tournament of the season. Despite the fact that the local club has the advantage of two courts, both in fairly good condition, Huntingdon, as a whole has not shown the same enthusiasm about tennis as it has badminton. Many have been surprised that a town this size could not have produced more and better players. Oddly enough, the Lacolle players, with limited facilities, seem to have produced a fairly strong team. At the tournament on the team they won every match except the Ladies Doubles.

Bible School Ends Season

St. Andrew's Summer School Well Attended, Great Success

St. Andrew's Third Summer Bible School was brought to a successful conclusion with a Demonstration Program in the Church on Sunday evening. The large attendance of parents and friends indicated the interest which this project is arousing in the community. The School experienced a phenomenal increase this year, the enrolment going up from last year's forty-nine to one hundred and twenty-one. The average attendance for the ten days was 92.3, and the enthusiasm displayed by the pupils testified to the fact that they were really enjoying the School. The course of studies included Old Testament and New Testament History, Bible Geography and Bible Memory Work. Aids in teaching Bible knowledge, such as handwork with the little ones, story telling by means of the Flannelgraph, object lessons and map-drawing were made use of. The importance of play was not forgotten and a ten-minute recess each day gave opportunity for the expression of surplus energy in organized games. Generous contributions from kind friends of the children made it possible to treat them occasionally with ice-cream and candy.

The Demonstration Program was as follows: Call to Worship; Doxology; Prayer of Invocation; Hymn: Wonderful Words of Life; Repetition of Bible School Theme and Daily Texts by the School; Theme Hymn: Standing on the Promises of God; Beginners' Class: "Jesus Loves Me"; Bible Memory Verses. Primary Class: "If I Come to Jesus"; Questions on "The Life of Jesus"; "The Lord's Prayer" by the girls.

Grade 1: Questions on "The Life of Jesus"; "The 23rd Psalm" by Shirley Dobson.

Grade 2: Questions on Old Testament History, "Adam to Saul"; The 100th Psalm, by Sandra White, Patricia Dahms and Betty Moore.

Grade 3: Psalm 1.

Grade 4: Questions on "Saul to Christ"; "The Furniture of the Heart"; Philippians 4: 4-13, by Robert Bernhardt; Psalm 121, by Robert Keith.

Grade 5: Questions on "The Geography of Palestine"; Psalm 24, by Sylvia Baird; The Song of Mary, Russell Thornton; The Books of the Bible, by Jean Dobson. Flannelgraph Story, "The Calling of Zachaeus", by Mrs. S. Ruddock. Object Lesson, Rev. R. D. MacLean. Awards and Remarks, Hymn, "When Mothers of Salem". Benediction.

I.O.O.F. Hold Ceremony

Brethren Pay Tribute To Late Members

Beneath the cooling trees of the Huntingdon Protestant Cemetery the brethren of the Independent Order of Oddfellows and the members of the Rebekah Lodge on Sunday afternoon paid tribute to their dearly departed.

The Annual Memorial Service of the Excelsior Lodge No. 17, I.O.O.F., took place at 2:30 p.m., when the brethren marched from the Lodge Rooms accompanied by the Ormstown Boys' Band. Reaching the cemetery, Mr. Grace of Athelstan delivered an opening prayer, after which flowers were laid on the graves of those departed from the ranks. The ceremony, which was made all the more impressive amid the tall trees and the peaceful environment of the resting place of so many of Huntingdon's worthy sons and daughters, was brought to a close with a special service which was attended by a large number of persons. The brethren and the members of the Rebekah Lodge were seated in the clearing towards the front of the cemetery.

The talents of the Ormstown Boys' Band, the outstanding weather, the environment in general, all combined to make the ceremony an impressive tribute.

Classes were:

Beginners: 1. Shirley Caldwell; 2. Peter Stephen.

Primary: (Tied) Allison Liveridge, Joyce MacLean and Iris MacLean.

Grade 1: 1. Shirley Dobson; 2. Kenneth McArthur.

Grade 2: 1. Sandra White; 2. (Tied) Patricia Dahms and Betty Moore.

Grade 3: 1. Norman Clyde; 2. Phyllis Baird.

Grade 4: 1. Robert Bernhardt; 2. Robert Keith.

Grade 5: 1. Russell Thornton; 2. Jean Dobson.

Special Prize in Geography awarded by Miss Ada Barrington, won by Nancy Hazlett; 2. Sylvia Baird.

New members' contest: 1. Sylvia Baird; 2. Norman Clyde.

Fifty-three pupils were awarded prizes for perfect attendance.

The Director of the School, Rev. R. D. MacLean expressed thanks to the parents who had given such loyal and hearty support to the School, to the teachers for their willing and faithful service, and to all who had contributed toward making the School a success. An offering was received which together with donations which had already been made covered the expenses of the School for this year and left a balance for the beginning of next year's session.

30-INCH MOOSE

REGINA, (CP)—A baby moose—all of 30 inches high—is currently a top exhibit at the provincial museum here. Found orphaned in northern Saskatchewan, the moose was shipped from Prince Albert by resources department officials. Experts said that moose of that age are rarely seen, let alone captured.

SENSITIVE TO COLORS

HALIFAX, (CP)—Mayor Gordon Kinley of Halifax has changed the light above his door from green to red. Former Mayor J. E. (Gee) Ahern had a green light installed there some years ago with the word "mayor" in illuminated tubing. But the present chief magistrate doesn't like the color, apparently.

Grange Fetes July Fourth

Maple Leaf Grange celebrated on July 4th, Uncle Sam's birthday, "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Julia Ward Howe was the opening song. The Lecturer, Mrs. W. L. Carr, referred to the grave event of outbreak of war in Korea and gave a report of the visit of 22 members to Bombay, N.Y., when an Eastern Drama of Sioux was presented on "Acres of Diamonds", Neighbor Night.

Several members took part in a discussion on "Bird's Foot Trefolium" and its use as a pasture and hay crop. An amusing folder containing facts on "Better Meats for More People" and a tricky "Fire Quiz" were all part of entertaining material sent by the State Lecturer, Mrs. Florence Pickett.

The programme was concluded by singing "Old Glory" and presenting Uncle Sam's Recipe. W. L. Carr, who claimed the same anniversary, honors being shared by Leland Thornton, whose birthday was July 5th, to the tune of Yankee Doodle and Happy Birthday.

The party was extended to Mrs. Henry Wilson, a charter member, now of Ticonderoga, N.Y.

Amos - Andy Softball Fun In Athelstan

Parade and Game Attracts Largest Sports Attendance in Athelstan

A gala evening was held in Athelstan on Tuesday, the 4th of July, an evening of fun which was enjoyed by young and old at the Amos and Andy Softball Game. We are not going to try and estimate the number of people who were there, suffice it to say that this small place has never seen so many cars at an entertainment.

To start the evening there was the parade, which assembled on the grounds of the Milk Plant, and was composed of the members of both teams, the comedy principals and Albert Godin's Band from Huntingdon, and proceeded from that point to the sports centre led by one of the clowns, the Band next, then the Kingfish, the girls' ball team, then another clown with a six-foot red ball bat on his shoulder, then the men's ball team, and finally the Doctor in his white coat brought up the rear. Amos marched by the side of the men's team, while Andy may be sure, was found to be in the same position and as usual, with the girls in the rear.

On arrival at the field, the parade veered to the left which took them over and down in front of the spectators, then round across home plate and on out into left field, where it was disbanded for the game to begin. Amos and Andy argued as who should bat first, but the Kingfish came to the rescue by tossing a coin. Andy won the toss but chose the field. Well, the old boys didn't do so well in the second inning, but the girls in their turn came through with a few. From that point on it was next to

Sixteen of Family of 23 Survive Mrs. Z. Richer

Mrs. Z. Richer, 47, Dundee who was so severely burnt on Tuesday, July 4, died in the General Hospital on Wednesday evening, July 5. Mrs. Richer was very badly burnt from head to foot both front and back and with only patches of flesh not affected. 19 bottles of plasma were used. Little hope was held for Mrs. Richer's recovery at any time. Mrs. McGrimmon and Lefebvre and the Hospital Nurses devoted six hours of their time to help relieve the pain and the possibility of saving her life.

O.H.W. Celebration to Take Countryside by Storm

Rodeo Arriving — Final Touches Put to Programme — Fireworks at Close

With the gala celebration only a week or so away, the Old Home Week Committee on Thursday devoted its time to ironing out the few remaining details; great pains are being taken to see that every phase of the programme will move without a hitch.

Mr. Geo. Dixon presented a report from the committee in charge of the parade. The route of the procession will take as outlined and the final plans for assembling the bands, floats, etc. were settled. The parade will be approximately a mile long, there will be three bands and a long line of floats (the sponsors of which were listed in the Gleaner of two weeks ago), and it is expected that the dignitaries to take part in the celebration will be somewhere towards the front. Finally there will be the Old Home Week Queens and the Rodeo; the cowboys, the horses and the cattle if it is agreed, will add to the procession an exciting dash of rustic colour.

Other matters discussed were the question of tickets and passes, the policing of the grounds, the seating arrangements and the parking of cars.

The polishing touches were being added to the programme. As already outlined, the parade will begin at 2:00 p.m. Thursday followed by the official opening of the four days' celebration with speeches by the Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence; J. G. Rennie, M.L.A., Assemblyman W. L. Doige of New York State and D. E. Black, M.P. At about 4 o'clock the first Rodeo and Stampede ever to appear in this part of the country will be presented. The Rodeo will be presented again at night, followed by a Minstrel Show put on by the Junior Chamber of Commerce containing some of Huntingdon's local talent.

The following day will feature horse racing with special attractions between times. There will be receptions at the two schools. The Rodeo and Stampede will appear on hand at night for a special performance and the day will be topped off by a street dance, including round and square dancing made to the provided by Sid Plator and his orchestra. The crowning of the Peanut Queen of Huntingdon will take place that night at the Huntingdon Theatre at which the Queen and her Ladies Waiting will pay an official visit to the O'Connor Theatre. The Rodeo and Stampede will give two performances on Saturday and two on Sunday. Saturday evening will be a witness boxing and wrestling all throughout the entire four days. There will be Old Time Movies, big games and games of every description including special bingo at the theatres.

From 5:30 to 7:30 on Thursday and Saturday, community suppers will be served on the grounds. These will be under the supervision of the congregations of the Huntingdon churches. In reporting this phase of the programme last week, the Gleaner unintentionally dropped a line of type and stated erroneously that the Protestant Churches would assume the responsibility of serving the supper on Saturday. Actually, the suppers on Thursday and Friday will be supervised by the Protestant congregations while the one on Saturday, which is expected to have the largest number of people will be served by the congregation of St. Joseph's.

On Sunday the celebration will be brought to a close in the event with band music and a display of fireworks.

Gilbert McMillan Returns From European Convention

Gives Impressions of Northern Countries' Farming Methods

Mr. Gilbert McMillan has recently returned from a two-month tour abroad. He has brought with him a wealth of information about the northern countries; Europe has gained a considerable insight into the agricultural economy of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, and has found that the farmers abroad have developed many techniques which might be valuable here. Mr. McMillan left on May 11th, by the Empress of Canada and arrived in Montreal, Tuesday, on the Empress of France.

The convention of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, which Mr. McMillan attended, was devoted to a discussion of world food problems, particularly methods of marketing and distributing which will create adequate nutritional standards in all countries and at the same time ensure a sound internal economy everywhere. Thus the goal is to make sure that every country has enough of the food products it needs, but with care that its own economic balance is not disrupted. The International Federation of Agricultural Producers are, therefore, deeply concerned with international farming techniques. They are associated with the P.A.O. which, in turn, acts as an advisory board to the United Nations Organization.

Upon his return Mr. McMillan spoke of the high degree of efficiency the nordic countries have attained in farming and in exploiting their natural resources. The farms are trim, neat, fences are kept in repair, buildings are clean-looking and in good order; rural slums are almost unknown. The people seem to be hard workers and there are few signs of unemployment.

Many of the techniques used in these countries might be imported to Canada. It is noted that the farmers have developed an effective means of preserving grass. In addition, great pains are taken to see that manure, once spread, is covered as soon as possible with a layer of soil in order to preserve it.

Huntingdon is Proud of Its Citizens

Last week the Gleaner in its Old Home Week Edition paid tribute to the pioneers who have developed this district and have made Huntingdon into the thriving progressive town it is today. This spirit, however, is not confined to the past. It is fitting that, with the approach of the town's 125th anniversary, a measure of recognition be given the citizens of today, men and women of whom the people of Huntingdon and the Chateauguy Valley are justly proud. While the persons pictured on this page are but a few of the many who deserve equal mention, they are presented here as embodying the spirit and the qualities which characterized the founders, the pioneers of this town and which may contribute much to the Huntingdon of the future.

FRANCOIS CLEYN

Mr. Francois Cleyn, Chairman of the "Old Home Week" committee, which event marks the 125th year of Huntingdon, is one of the most able as an industrialist and for furthering community welfare projects.

Mr. Cleyn came to Huntingdon in 1939 and in the interval of eleven years he is perhaps better known and more highly appreciated by those who know him than many people who may have lived here a lifetime. Full of energy, a marked degree of acumen, keenly interested in sports, and in the avenues of his business profession is one of America's leading textile manufacturers.

Irrespective of the busy life he leads in the textile business in Huntingdon, as President of Spinners Limited, Managing Director of Leach Textiles Limited and Vice-President of Model Dye Works (Canada) Limited, he still finds time to accomplish a tremendous amount toward other community activities. Five years ago his father, Victor Cleyn of Montreal, felt Huntingdon needed a service club and as he was a past Rotary President in Europe, he in turn urged the Montreal Rotary Club to foster a Club in Huntingdon. Undoubtedly it was Francois Cleyn who gave Rotary the necessary local push to make Rotary a reality. Gilbert McMillan was the first Rotary Club president in Huntingdon and was followed by Francois Cleyn. The amount of energy these two pioneer presidents fostered in the Huntingdon Rotary Club made it an organization that is looked upon as a Club that accomplishes much for the welfare of this community. Mr. Cleyn not only gives generously of his ability and time but sees to it that finances are becomingly maintained. At the present time he is President of the Huntingdon Board of Trade and is an Executive Governor of the Huntingdon County Hospital.

Francis Cleyn was born in Budapest, Oct. 3, 1912. Educated in Neuchatel, Switzerland where he matriculated with the degree of Doctor of Economics at the University of Neuchatel. He furthered his textile education through attending the Technical College, Bradford, Eng.

His apprenticeship was served in Tourcoing, France; and Verviers, Belgium. For seven years he was employed by La Vedre as section hand, overseer and superintendent. This firm is regarded as one of the largest continental combers and spinners. Since coming to Canada he contributed several articles to the Textile World magazine and was duly named the Consulting Editor of the publication.

Francis is but 38 years of age and has already achieved much and with his dynamic personality and ability it can be taken for granted that he will yet accomplish much for the welfare of his business, community and personal welfare. He is a most approachable young business man and is highly regarded by all his employees and friends. His academic and personal background is such that one cannot help but visualize his making many more forward strides, all of which will in turn be shared by those who work with him and live in this community.

MR. ALEX FAWCETT

He is a charter member of the Rotary Club. Mr. Fawcett was treasurer of the Huntingdon County Hospital for three years, and served nine years as a member of the Protestant School Board. For four years he was a member of the Huntingdon Town Council.

Mr. Noel Foisy Of the people who have settled in Huntingdon during the past five or six years few have risen to prominence as quickly as Noel Albert Foisy; few have taken such an active interest in the development of the town or provided as much leadership.

Mr. Noel Foisy was born on December 25th, 1917 in L'Assomption, Que., the son of Oscar Foisy and Maie Gregoire Foisy. Those who admire him for his command of both French and English may find the explanation in the fact that nine years after he was born, the Foisy family moved to Cut Knife, Sask., where Noel attended primary school. Later he attended St. Anthony's College, Edmonton, Alberta and graduated in 1937 bearing a High School Diploma from the University of Alberta. Foisy completed his technical training by attending the Brisbane Aviation School and graduating in 1939 as an Aircraft Engineer.

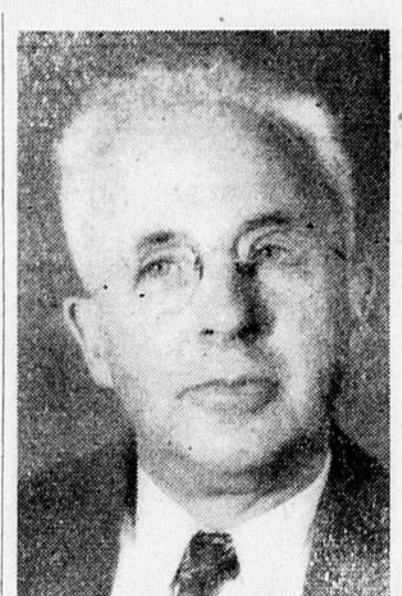

To add to his valuable experience in mechanics, Mr. Foisy worked for a time with the Fairchild Aircraft Co. in Longueuil, Que., and one year later formed a partnership under the name of Tremblay Machine Shop Ltd., Montreal for the manufacture of aircraft hydraulic equipment. In November, 1942, he purchased the business of the late J. A. McCracken in Huntingdon under the name of the Empire Garage. Noel Foisy moved to this town on February 10th, 1945.

A member of the Rotary Club, the Board of Trade, the Chamber of Commerce and the Knights of Columbus, Mr. Foisy has devoted much of his time to progressive social activity. In 1948 he founded the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Huntingdon and during the following year became an alderman. In 1950 he received the highest honour of the Junior Chamber of Commerce by being made a Senator of the Federation. Mr. Foisy is chairman of the Old Home Week Programme Committee.

Mr. Alex Fawcett Amid the textile society in Huntingdon and elsewhere, Mr. Alex Fawcett stands as a prominent, forward-looking businessman whose position with Fawcett and Grant Ltd., and Chateau Dyers Ltd., activities in that field have earned him the respect of his associates. Moreover, as a member of the community, Mr. Fawcett has contributed greatly. He has won the admiration of Huntingdon as a whole.

Mr. Fawcett was born in Wildsen, near Bradford, England on December 8th, 1895. He received a firm foundation for his future career at the Bradford Technical College, the Bradford Technical College. Mr. Fawcett spent 20 years in the textile field in Bradford and district. During the first war, however, he took time out to serve three years in the Royal Navy.

In 1930 Mr. Fawcett decided to come to Canada with Hiram Leach & Son (Canada) Ltd. as designer. A year later, the business was changed and he was made manager. He remained there until 1940; that year, along with Mr. Wilfrid Grant he founded the firm of Fawcett & Grant. Mr. Fawcett is now president of this company, vice-president of Chateau Dyers Ltd., and president of Tully Lumber Co. Inc. Having settled in Huntingdon for some time, Mr. Fawcett has taken an active interest in the affairs of the community. He is president of the Huntingdon Branch of the British & Foreign Bible Society, the treasurer of the Huntingdon United Church and a Past Master and treasurer of the Chateauguy Lodge.

REV. J. B. MACLEAN, D.D.

With Huntingdon's one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary at hand, it is fitting that something be written of one of the town's most respected citizens. Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D., has been a resident of Huntingdon for 41 years. He is a native of Nova Scotia, born May 25th, 1870, in the Village of Hopeville, County of Pictou, a son of the late Henry Munro Maclean and his wife, Annie Gray Maclean. He is the last survivor of a family of seven children, three sisters and three brothers having passed on.

As a young student, Dr. Maclean showed considerable brilliance. From the village school he went to Pictou Academy in 1885, and thence to Dalhousie University in Halifax in the fall of 1887. He graduated in the spring of 1891 with his B.A.

degree and was chosen by his class to give the Valedictory address. In the fall of that year he entered the Presbyterian College, graduated in 1894 with the degree of B.D. and again was the Valedictorian of his class. On May 14th, 1894, Dr. Maclean was ordained to the Gospel Ministry at Little Harbour, N.S.

In the summer of 1896, Dr. Maclean resigned his charge at Little Harbour and sailed for Edinburgh, Scotland, to take a post graduate course at the famous New College. It was the golden age of Rainy, Davidson and Dods, all of which proved to be a most fruitful and inspiring experience for a young Minister of the Gospel. Ever anxious to broaden his education and perspective, however, Dr. Maclean made a bicycle trip from Edinburgh to London, at the end of the college session, taking in Cathedral cities and many other places of interest along the way. Returning to Nova Scotia in the summer of 1897, he received a call to the Church at Upper Stewiacke, Colchester County which he accepted, to remain there for eight years.

It was while he was Minister there that Dr. Maclean received an invitation to Port of Spain, Trinidad to supply the pulpit of Greyfriars Presbyterian Church, the minister, Dr. J. Scott Whittier becoming on a mission to the Holy Land. The Presbytery of Truro, thereupon granted him a five-months' leave of absence to enable the doctor to fulfill what he has ever since described as, "a most attractive mission" in Trinidad. This was in the year 1904.

Returning to Nova Scotia and his congregation, Dr. Maclean continued there for another year but, unfortunately was forced to resign because of ill health. For several years he supervised several pulpits to help brethren laid aside through illness. Congregations at St. Andrew's Church, Chatham, N.B., St. Andrew's Church, Truro, N.S., and Chalmers Church, Montreal, derived much inspiration from his sermons. It was while he was in Montreal, from October, 1906 to February, 1909, that Dr. Maclean was called to St. Andrew's Church, Huntingdon. Accepting his call, he settled in this charge on March 5th, 1909 and continued as Minister of the Gospel until November 11th, 1947 when his resignation from the pastoral charge took effect.

During his ministry in Huntingdon, Dr. Maclean has received numerous honours. He was called to be one year Moderator of the Presbytery and for one year Moderator of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa and in 1923 the Montreal Presbyterian College presented him with the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Divinity. In the occasion of the 50th anniversary of his ordination, the congregation expressed their appreciation by holding a reception in his honour and presenting him with a special Jubilee gift. Later his services were again recognized when upon his retirement from the pastoral charge, the congregation requested the Presbytery to appoint him as Minister-Emeritus of the Church and granted him an annual pension. His long and distinguished career at St. Andrew's will not soon be forgotten.

When he came to Huntingdon, Dr. Maclean was a member of the I.O.O.F. Lodge in his native town. He interested himself in the local Lodge and for 31 years in succession delivered the Memorial Address on Decoration Day in the cemetery. Shortly after coming to Huntingdon, he became a member of the Masonic Fraternity and for several years acted as Chaplain for Chateauguy Lodge and one year was Deputy Grand Chaplain.

Many in Huntingdon and eastern Canada are aware of Dr. Maclean's prominence as a Minister of the Gospel. There is, however, another interesting facet to this respected member of the clergy. For many years Dr. Maclean has written and lectured upon literary and religious topics and, through his contribution to magazines and lectures before various societies, he has attained a considerable reputation in this realm. In 1907, a book of his, "The Secret of the Stream" was published by A. R. Allenson Ltd. of London and by Messrs. Eaton and Mains of New York. And in 1937 another volume appeared, "The Lord of All," published by The Thorntons Press, Toronto. Dr. Maclean has always taken a deep interest in the treasures of literature and as a writer and lecturer he is gaining an increasingly devoted following.

N. F. MANNING Mr. N. F. Manning is a person whose outward modesty belies his actual ability. Prior to 1949, as manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, he was regarded as one of the most capable bankers of the Chateauguy Valley and recently, he has been carving a second successful career for himself in the field of Life Insurance. In the realm of finance few in this district are his equal.

Mr. Manning, however, is an asset to the community in more ways than one. His social endeavours as an active member of the Board of Trade (of which he is Secretary) and as a hard, persistent worker who is shouldering a large share of the responsibility for the War Memorial Campaign, to mention a few, are many and varied. Mr. Manning is a member of the local Masonic Lodges, a life member of the Sussex Preceptory Sherbrooke and of the Karnak Temple (Shrine), Montreal.

Born on New Year's Day, 1890, in Bolton, Quebec, he attended Knowlton Academy and the Bugbee Business College. Mr. Manning spent one year with Molsons Bank, 37 years with the Canadian Bank of Commerce (of which 20 years were served in the Chateauguy Valley and 12 years in the Province of Alberta). He retired from the bank on January 1st, 1949, and is now a representative of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

DR. F. G. McCRIMMON

The achievements of Dr. F. G. McCrimmon need little elaboration here; they are already known and appreciated by the people of Huntingdon and by the men of his profession. Ont thing is clear: the Chateauguy Valley has produced few more capable men, few more outstanding practitioners.

While it is impossible to do justice to a man of his calibre in a biography of this kind, it should be stated that he has distinguished himself in every phase of his career. A brilliant student, entering college with a scholarship, he has at this early stage become Medical Superintendent of the Huntingdon County Hospital.

Dr. McCrimmon was born in Huntingdon, on August 1st, 1906. He interned two years at the Montreal General Hospital. After practising two years at Waterloo, Que., the doctor moved to Huntingdon. He has had an office here since 1935. Recently, he completed a year of further study at the Montreal General Hospital.

MRS. MAE L. O'CONNOR Among the people whom we choose to describe as community minded, the people who supply the life-blood and spirit which are important forces in the development of any town, few deserve as much credit as Mrs. Mae L. O'Connor.

As the widow of Denis J. O'Connor, who represented the County of Huntingdon first in the Federal House at Ottawa and later in the Legislative Assembly at Quebec, Mrs. O'Connor is a politician in her own right. The first woman to be nominated in this county and one of the few to be nominated in the Province, she was chosen candidate of the Liberal Party in the County of Huntingdon for the bye-election following her husband's death and, despite extremely adverse circumstances, lost the contest by a small majority. She is now the President of the Huntingdon County Women's Liberal Association and the Vice-President of the Provincial Association.

She is also an active member of the governing board of the Huntingdon County Hospital and a leading worker in her church; interested in many organizations she has, ever, a helping hand and an open purse for any worthy cause. Well-known and well-liked by all classes and creeds, her personality is best described in her own words—that she "can afford to lose everything but her sense of humour."

MRS MAE L. O'CONNOR

C. M. ONEY A man of personal courage, Chester Millar Oney stands high in the esteem of his fellow-men. To Huntingdon, he is known especially for his welfare work, his work with the Canadian Legion and the great vitality with which he applies himself to any cause deserving his efforts. He is moreover, a man of great popularity.

Chester Oney was born in Manchester, N.H., U.S.A., on March 15, 1896. He served during the first World War with the artillery after which he entered the Canadian Customs at Athelstan. In October of 1921 he was promoted to Collector of Customs, the position he holds now.

A past president of the Chateauguy-Huntingdon Veterans' Association and the first president of the Chateauguy-Huntingdon Branch No. 81 of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L., Mr. Oney has been connected with veterans' work since 1917. He is also Past District Chairman of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. Among his welfare activities, Chester Oney has worked with the Salvation Army and the Red Cross. He is now serving as President of the Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Red Cross and Chairman of the Publicity Committee of the Old Home Week - War Memorial Campaign. He is also Honorary President of the Huntingdon Branch of the Customs-Excise Officers' Association. A member of I.O.O.F. No. 17, Unity Encampment No. 12, Chateauguy Lodge No. 36, and Union Chapter No. 19 R.A.M., Mr. Oney is the father of Captain Stuart Oney, R.C.A., now at Army Headquarters in Ottawa, Ont.

C. M. ONEY

As Provincial President, Mrs. Smallman was a member of the National Board of Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and attended meetings of the organization in Victoria, B.C., and Halifax, N.S. From these ever-broadening experiences, she began to appreciate more fully Canada's vastness as well as her outstanding, but varied, scenic beauty.

In 1947, Mrs. Smallman represented Quebec at the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Women's Institute held at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. That same year she was sent to Holland and to the International Conference which met in Amsterdam. She stopped in England en route and addressed many groups of English W.I.'s telling them what has been accomplished in this province. The Conference in Amsterdam was attended by women from twenty countries and Mrs. Smallman was greatly impressed to learn that every country was doing to further rural life.

MRS. CHARLES SMALLMAN A leader among women, Mrs. Charles W. Smallman is noted for her activities in connection with the Women's Institute. Her talents as a public speaker and her ability as a keen student of public affairs soon brought her to the fore in this organization and earned her the respect of men and women the world over.

MRS. CHARLES SMALLMAN

Mrs. Smallman was born at Salem, Washington County, N.Y., on March 4th, 1890. At the age of three she moved with her family to Champlain, N.Y., and attended public and high school there. She took a college course at the New York State College for Teachers, Albany, N.Y., and graduated in 1911 with the degree of B.A., majoring in French. Mrs. Smallman has taught French and Mathematics in Champlain, N.Y., and at Fort Covington.

Since marriage, Mrs. Smallman's occupation has consisted mainly of being a housewife and the raising of three children—all of them daughters. She has been interested in the Women's Institute for a long time. Joining about 1919, she has served the local Branch in almost every capacity and later was County President for a period of five years when she came to know many women in the Chateauguy-Huntingdon District. At the expiration of her office she was presented with a life membership in the Quebec Women's Institute.

In the capacity of County President, Mrs. Smallman sat on the Provincial Board, later being chosen as Provincial Vice-President and eventually assuming the office of President which she held two years. At the present time, she remains on the board as Past President and thus attends the meetings regularly. Mrs. Smallman's term as Provincial President came during World War II and involved a great deal of travel. She visited at least once each county organization in the province from Gaspe to Pontiac, from Gattineau to Stanstead. She was constantly impressed with the fine capabilities of the rural women in this province.

During this period, as representative of the W.I., Mrs. Smallman served on the Agricultural Section of the National War Finance Committee in Quebec, an organization which made a great effort to promote the purchase of bonds. In this respect the Women's Institute excelled itself and made many other contributions, in other forms, to further the war effort.

As Provincial President, Mrs. Smallman was a member of the National Board of Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and attended meetings of the organization in Victoria, B.C., and Halifax, N.S. From these ever-broadening experiences, she began to appreciate more fully Canada's vastness as well as her outstanding, but varied, scenic beauty.

In 1947, Mrs. Smallman represented Quebec at the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Women's Institute held at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. That same year she was sent to Holland and to the International Conference which met in Amsterdam. ## It's Time The Flags Were Flying

OLD Home Week is only one week away and it is time that flags and decorations were up to show that some special occasion is to be celebrated. Seeing such decorations always causes the curious to ask what is going on. In this way enthusiasm is worked up for the event that is to be celebrated and more and more people want to have their flags and bunting flying.

We consider this an opportunity to give some facts regarding the correct manner in which flags should be displayed.

It should be emphasized that it is the spirit of loyalty which prompts the display of the flag. That, of course, is the important thing, but it is also very important that its use should be dignified by an observance of the correct procedure. At times the Union Jack is displayed in a decidedly improper manner.

The following brief instruction on how to honour the flag should be of interest to readers generally:

The Union Jack is the official flag of Canada and should be the one flown in Canada. The Red and Blue Ensigns with the Coat-of-Arms of Canada in the fly are intended for use afloat and on official buildings outside Canada.

The flag should not be hoisted before sunrise, nor allowed to remain after sunset. In hoisting the flag the broad white stripes in the cross of St. Andrew should be above the red stripe of St. Patrick on the side of the flag next to the masthead; if reversed it is an indication of distress.

The flag should always be carried upright and not allowed to touch the ground.

When flown in memorial the flag should be raised to the masthead and then lowered its width from the top.

When used for indoor decoration the flag should never be below a person sitting.

Huntingdon a Textile Town

NO matter what we say, today Huntingdon is a textile centre and much of the employment results from the textile mills located here. So far that employment has not suffered to any great extent, but the time may come when a reverse could occur due to adverse conditions in the way tariff concessions.

Textile workers in Canada are much better off to-day than ever before in their ability to exchange their work for goods and services. An increase from 1939 of 150% in actual wages has been paralleled by an increase of 57% in real wages. An hour of work now provides a Canadian textile worker 57% more purchasing power than it did in 1939. No textile worker in the world enjoys a higher standard of living than does the Canadian.

For instance, average hourly earnings of primary textile workers in Great Britain are about 45% of the earnings of Canadian textile workers; in France 35%; Italy 34%; Czechoslovakia 33%; Netherlands 32%; Germany 27% and Japan 7%. Average hourly earnings of primary textile workers in the United States are higher than earnings of Canadian textile workers but such a differential also exists when other similar industries in Canada and the United States are compared. Moreover, the tariffs on textiles entering the United States bear a higher ratio to Canadian tariffs than United States textile wages bear to Canadian wages.

The quality of working conditions and the benefits received beyond the contents of the wage packet are also of a high order. There are vacations with pay, paid statutory and religious holidays and rest periods. A considerable number of textile companies have group life, sickness, accident and hospitalization plans; and pension plans to which they contribute all or part of the funds. All these amenities, together with unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation, are part of and contribute to high living standards.

These direct and indirect wages have now advanced to the point where the textile industry has become extremely vulnerable to foreign competition - a situation which, with inadequate tariffs, can only lead to unemployment because higher textile wages and lower textile tariffs in Canada cannot compete with lower textile wages and higher textile tariffs in effect in most other countries.

Swat That Fly!

THERE is one war which should never cease - the war against flies, states a pamphlet issued by the Edinburgh, Scotland, Public Health Department.

Flies are detestable insects because they have dirty habits, live on filth, and soil the food we eat," the pamphlet states. "They carry disease germs from latrines and dung heaps and excrete or vomit them on to the food in your larder and on your table. In this way flies give people typhoid fever, dysentery and worms, to mention a few diseases only. They carry the germs of the 'summer diarrhoea' which is so highly fatal to infants, and may play a part in the spread of poliomyelitis."

The Scottish publication calls for a never-ending war on flies, as does Margaret E. Smith in an article "The Fly: Enemy of Man" in the magazine HEALTH, published by the Health League of Canada. Miss Smith, who is Director of the Nutrition Division of the Health League, says that any liquid or solid food that a fly has been in contact with is unfit for human consumption.

In regard to the possibility that flies have much to do with the spread of polio, Miss Smith quotes researchers who have found in studied cases that milk contaminated by flies was either directly or indirectly the source of the polio virus; that the house fly and the blow fly carried the virus on both the outside and inside of their bodies more often than any other species of insects investigated.

Flies breed at such a pace that it has been estimated that even if only a small proportion survive, the offspring of one female house fly will in seven weeks number 432,000.

So, swat that fly-get rid of him by any means, but get rid of him-and protect your food and keep your garbage covered. Flies are filthy insects with dirty habits. Dirt spells disease, so-banish the dirt and you will banish the dirt disease.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken From Gleaner Files

Since this column began it has been the policy to recall only the events that might be within the memory of persons still living. From now until Old Home Week, however, Glimpses of the Past will have a different approach. It will draw from the earliest issues of this newspaper and try to present a Gleaner's-eye-view of the topics and events which created the Main-Street conversation of the day, and a record of the developments which made Huntingdon into a thriving, progressive, hard-working community.

July 13, 1866
From Europe there is news up to the 2th of June. As had been expected there has been severe fighting on the continent. On the 23rd, the Italian army crossed the river Mincio, into the Province of Venetia. They met with no opposition and their cavalry drove back the Austrian troops stationed along the frontier to the town of Verona. Here the Italians found the Austrian army waiting to receive them. On Sunday morning the fight commenced and was keenly contested until the afternoon, when the Italians, having been defeated in their effort to carry any part of the Austrian lines, had to fall back.

On Saturday evening an accident occurred by which a man lost his life. On the evening in question, George Boyd of Hinchinbrooke was in the bar-room of Milne's Hotel, the worst of drink, and offering to run his horse against any in the neighbourhood. After some conversation, Thos. Milne agreed to try a race, with the concurrence of his brother, John Milne and Boyd, accompanied by David Hayter, who was to act as umpire, proceeded up the Trout River road as far as Pringle's from which the start was made.

When opposite John Hunter's Farm, Boyd, who rode without a saddle, and who was hardly able to keep his seat while jerking at the bridle, broke it, and in endeavouring to catch the ends of it, he over-balanced himself and fell between the horse's legs. The horse stumbled and rolled heavily over his body. The unfortunate man was at once taken up in an insensible state, and conveyed to the house of Mr. Geo. Hunter. There he lay in the same inanimate state until 2 o'clock when he died.

July 20.
A snake of monster proportions has been twice seen in the teafield within the last few days. The reptile is described as being of a green colour with a formidable pair of jaws, very thick in body and measuring at least 19 feet in length. It was first seen by Mr. Booth, a respectable farmer, while in the act of crossing the road. On his approaching it, it showed no sign of alarm, but hissed defiantly at him. After a time it glided leisurely into the swamp swinging itself across the broad ditch without any difficulty. The second person who saw it affirms its length to be even greater. No snake of such proportions has ever been seen or heard of in this country. We hope to be able to soon chronicle its destruction.

July 27.
Cholera, the dread disease, has apparently got a foothold in New York and the number of cases is daily increasing. On Monday there were 33 cases. On Governor's Island situated in the harbour, and used as a military depot the disease has been particularly severe, 20 to 30 soldiers being daily struck down with it.

August 3.
Very keen competition has been going on between the steamers, "Salaberry" and "Renaud". Passengers are carried at nominal rates, so that the number of visitors to town have been greatly increased. In Beauharnois, the merchants complain that their customers flock to Montreal to do their shopping.

We understand that the surveyor engaged to test the practicability of draining the teafield has turned in a favourable report to the Seignior's office. He is of the opinion that it can be drained thoroughly at a small cost, the water being conducted into the Chateauguay and St. Louis Rivers. If this extensive swamp was rendered fit for settlement, it would prove to be a mine of wealth and have a great effect upon the prosperity of this part of the county.

The first news transmitted over the telegraph from England is that peace has been made between Prussia and Austria.

August 17.
A most extraordinary attempt was made on the evening of Thursday last to blow up the House of Lords in England. Ten packages of dynamite with a fuse partially burned were found near the entrance to the Lord Chamberlain's office.

August 24.
In St. Louis, last week, deaths from Cholera amounted to 532 and in Cincinnati, 69 persons died from it and 54 on Sunday. In New Orleans the deaths from it average 30 a day.

September 7.
From an editorial: Three years ago I issued the first number of the Gleaner. During those three years in the face of such a bitter and unscrupulous opposition as I ever anticipated (many men who might have been expected, from the principles they expressed, to be friendly to it, ranked among its enemies) it has slowly but surely gained ground. Having outlived all the rancorous opposition and now enjoying a fair share of popularity and support, you will be surprised to learn that it is not my intention to publish it any longer. This is the last number that will appear. - Robt. Sellar. (The Gleaner ceased publication for a period of nine months but resumed on June 14, 1867).

June 21.
We understand that the grist mill owned by Mr. John Knox, of this village has been bought by Messrs Gillis and Boyd, the proprietors of the Huntingdon Foundry. Owing to increase of business this firm will now have extra room and water-power to drive their machinery. By another season they will offer to farmers all kinds of farm implements.

June 28.
On Tuesday a number of villagers and farmers in this vicinity turned out to do something about making the Plank Road passable. They will hold another meeting on Friday and all who wish to see this important outlet kept open will please join them.

On Saturday the ratepayers of Ormstown met at Durham to consider the prospect of a railway through this district. A motion was made in favour of taxing 8% on the assessment, but another motion that no tax whatever be granted was passed unanimously.

Franklin Centre

FRANKLIN CENTRE - Farmers are busy in the hayfields these days and report the hay is of a better quality than last year but not a bumper crop by any means. At the price of feed grain, it looks as if more herds will be going under the auctioneer's hammer.

Mr. Richard Prier and friend, Mr. Brown, of Springfield, Mass., spent the 4th with the Waller family. Mrs. Fred Stevenson and the Misses Edith Stevenson and Iris Waller returned to Springfield with them for a two week holiday.

Letters To The Editor

The Session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at its Communion Sunday meeting on July 9th, unanimously passed the following resolution which it was agreed should be submitted to the local press for publication:

"We, the Session of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church have learned with pain and sincere regret of the intention on the part of those in charge of the Old Home Week celebration in Huntingdon, to stage a Rodeo show on Sunday afternoon. The feeling of the Session was that this is a backward step and sets a precedent which menaces the sanctity of the Lord's Day in this community.

Huntingdon, July 11.
Dear Mr. Editor:-
At the evening meeting in the United Church last Sunday the following resolution was passed by the congregation present, unanimously:

"It is with deep concern and regret that we learn of the Rodeo program planned for the Sunday afternoon and evening of Old Home Week, and we wish to make our protest known against such a plan which openly breaks God's command."

Since then I have contacted quite a number of people personally and every one without exception have been very strongly opposed to the same program.

Yours Truly
T. Knowles

Huntingdon, July 11.
Please allow me to express my own personal protest to that of others, to the proposed Rodeo program arranged for the Sunday afternoon and evening of Old Home Week. So many people of our town are shocked to think that such a program is planned on the Lord's Day. It is a breaking of God's law, which reads "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy." There is no mention of keeping and one lady who does as one likes for the rest of the day. Therefore no good thing can come from such action. I cannot see how that can fit into any worthy memorial to men who made such sacrifices in our behalf. If this gives us any suggestion as to what may happen on the Lord's Day here in the future then it bodes ill for our people.

Your truly,

work has been lightened, it has been intensified. With all his inventions, modern man has not found relief from the necessity of working for a living. I remarked upon that fact in the course of conversation with a small group of friends, and one lady whose husband has a steady job at a moderately good salary, said the only hope of relief from having to work for a living was to get a "break" by winning in a sweepstake. Judging by the wide sale of sweepstake tickets, there are millions of people living in the same hope. But it is a vain hope, except for minute number of "lucky" ticket holders. And that is fortunate for the world in general, for if it were possible for everybody to win a fortune in sweepstakes the entire machinery of modern life would come to a full stop.

There is no escape from work. For the vast majority of the people in this world the edict issued at the exit from the Garden of Eden is still in force. All our scientific labor-saving devices have only increased the necessity for work in a far greater variety of occupations, and the tendency is for man to become a slave to the machines he has created. An American scientist recently suggested the possibility of developing a race of synthetic men, half ape, to relieve civilized man of the heavier and mechanical forms of labor. But he pointed out that it was the necessity of work that led to the development of the human brain and man as we now know him. If civilized man ceased to work for a living he would degenerate mentally, morally and physically, and the half-man would develop and supersede him. "Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness," wrote Carlyle, and he was a hard worker.

Mrs. J. J. Stevenson of Covey Hill spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moneyppenny, Sr., and family.

Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Davis are expected home this week from Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNeice have returned to the city after a week's holidays spent at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Brooks and daughter Janie, and Mr. Merle Brooks spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brooks, Lacombe.

Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Moore and Freddie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Moneyppenny.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morris and son, Mr. Alex. Morris, of Montreal, were Sunday guests of Mrs. Margaret Gamble and daughter Greta.

Mr. Frank Brisco and son, Francis, of Massena, N.Y., spent Sunday in this community renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. E. Smith and Miss Annie Waddell, of Montreal, spent the week-end at their old home, Covey Hill, with their brother and sister, Mr. John and Miss Libbie Waddell, Saturday evening guests at the same home were Mrs. E. M. Sharpe, Mrs. E. McNeice, Mrs. Robert Bruce, Miss Dorothy Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. James Watt and Mr. Robert Watt of Montreal.

Miss Mary Anna Smith is spending this week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. John Waddell and sister, Miss Libbie.

Mrs. W. T. Seagram, Montreal, was a week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mailloux.

Another interesting talk the same day was about the annual W.I. Convention held at Macdonald College. Mrs. Basil Hewson was the delegate from Dundee and she brought back and presented a very detailed report of the convention activities during the parts of three days she was there.

The W.I. booth at Ormstown Exhibition was very successful, being the best ever held, proceeds being over $100.

At this meeting $10. was voted to go towards the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Mrs. Stowell won the household hint prize She used washing starch in the water for washing windows and found it very effective, giving a beautiful shine to the glass.

Mrs. Stowell and Mrs. Harold Smith were the hostesses and they served a most appetizing supper to those assembled.

The 4th of July celebration staged in Port Covington this year was the best ever held. That was the opinion of the crowds that lined the streets to watch the parade of floats pass on their way through the town at 11 a.m. on Tuesday. It was a dual celebration for as well as being the observance of the anniversary of the birth of a nation it was the 100th anniversary of the Aetna Fire Co. of Port Covington. The parade featured the Ormstown Band, the Royal Highland Pipe Band, the Royal Highland Pipe Band of Cornwall, Ont., and the famous Black Horse Caravan of Montreal. Noted also was what could be Yankee Doodle Dandy on his Pony, a good caricature of Uncle Sam himself in tails and whiskers, a domestic tandem drawing a child, Fire Co. float, with firemen wearing grotesque masks, the handle pump, fire engine of many years ago, followed by the modern version of its counterpart and many others. Races and a softball game were held during the afternoon.

A block dance was enjoyed at night. The event was staged under and for the benefit of the Aetna Fire Co.

Dundee
On July 5th, Mrs. Earl Gardiner gave a very informative talk on Newfoundland to the members of the Dundee W.I. She used an excellent pictorial map to illustrate her talk. She reminded her listeners Newfoundland was the oldest colony of Britain. Fishing and mining are the main industries but the pulp and paper industry is fast becoming very important. For years the people have lived in much the same fashion but the latter industry, by bringing in skilled workmen with their families, has changed the outlook on life by these people. The island is the most easterly part of North America with the exception of Greenland. The soil is poor with no mountains as we know them, but there are many short rivers and many lakes. The temperature seldom goes below zero and seldom reaches 90° F. The people are mostly of English or Irish descent with the settlements dominated by religion. Most of the people belong to the United Church, Anglican or Roman Catholic. The famous Grand Banks are here and teem with fish because of the warmer water. In the northern part of the island Dr. Wilfred Grenfell started his mission at St. Anthony. The name, Gander is familiar as being an important airport. From Newfoundland the first ocean-going steamer boat sailed across the Atlantic and also from here Marconi sent his first Atlantic message.

ST. FAUSTIN, Que. (CP)—Fishing in nearby Las Carre has been banned by the provincial government until 1951. Last year the waters were poisoned to get rid of eels. This year trout fingerlings have been planted and are being given a year to grow.

No Substitute For Work

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

This is an age of synthetics. We have synthetic rubber and a host of other manufactured materials which are more or less claimed to be good if not better than the real thing. As I do not own a car, I cannot pronounce upon the merits of the rubber substitute, but from my acquaintance with motorists I believe they would prefer the product of the rubber plantations. Most substitutes are developed because of a shortage or the high cost of the real thing. The two great wars were chiefly responsible for the development of many new synthetic materials.

The creation of these synthetics is a striking example of the resource and ingenuity of modern man, and particularly of the compelling power of necessity, the mother of invention and enterprise. As the population of the world grows, the necessity for substitute raw materials and food will be more and more imperative. The marvelous achievements of modern science are not miracles performed by the rubbing of an Aladdin's lamp; they have been the gradual development of individual initiative and skill, prompted by personal ambition to excel and produce something the world needed for its advancement. All progress has been the result of personal initiative which eventually developed into corporate enterprise.

Corporate enterprise, however, cannot take the place of or dispense with individual initiative and ambition, whether it be to invent a new gadget or process, or whether it be to operate one and do a job to the best of one's ability. Everybody cannot be an inventor, but everybody can and should obey the Scriptural injunction: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with

Howick

HOWICK—The name of Bertha Stacey should have appeared in the Promotion List for Grade 5 of the Howick Consolidated School. The omission was corrected.

Howick Softball News. Enthusiasm for softball is running high in the Howick district. In the Ormstown Floodlight League the Senior team won two games last week, taking Hemmingford 15-3 and Franklin 12-9. These two wins give the team a record of two wins and two losses.

The team has been hitting consistently to back up stellar pitching by Oakley McRae. On the other side of the plate, Calvin Rankin has been playing outstanding ball in his first season as a catcher.

The Howick District League got off to a flying start last week. Four games were played with the following results: Howick 10; Howick High School 7. Riverfield 19; Cairnside 6. Cairnside 12; Howick H. S. 11. Howick 16; Riverfield 16 (called because of darkness).

As can be seen from the scores these games are not close pitchers' battles, but more of the type that provide fun for fans and players alike. Judging by the turnout of fans for the second games the league is going to be very popular again this year.

Last year unsuccessful attempts were made to obtain a trophy for the winners in this league. It is hoped that one will be obtained before the completion of this season's 24-game schedule.

Historical Pageants Seen At Boy Scout Jamboree

CHATEAUGAY N.Y. — Sunday July 9, delegates belonging to Troop 2, Adirondack Council of Boy Scouts, arrived at Plattsburg about 7 a.m., having enjoyed a 10-day trip to the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. They in common with several thousand other delegates from various parts of the United States, Canada, and foreign countries, were returning to their homes bubbling over with enthusiasm. Parents were on hand to welcome them and to see the luggage and baggage safely loaded for the last lap of the return trip.

According to some reports, a goodly amount of the soil of Valley Forge came to northern New York with them, and Monday found mothers hard at work attempting to return t-shirts, socks, etc., to some semblance of their original freshness. Meanwhile the boys were resting and relaxing from an exciting and tremendously stimulating experience. As was anticipated they brought home with them impressions that will be with them all their lives.

Your reporter was privileged to interview one of these boys, Herbert H. McCoy, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. McCoy of Chateaugay. Herbert was a delegate from Chateaugay and accompanied John Hyland, Frank Ryan and James Ryan, three other delegates from Chateaugay. Asker of the thought of the highlights of the Jamboree, Herbert listed six, in the order given here.

First, The friends you made. "I's best friend."

Second, The Pageants. He described two of them. The first followed the talk by Pres. Harry S. Truman on the opening night. The second followed the talk by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. Both pageants were acted out on a level space, the focal point of the Arena, a natural amphitheatre capable of seating 50,000 persons. For each pageant lights of various hues effected the change in season and time, and an announcer's voice over a loud speaker system carried the story to all parts of the Arena.

The first pageant depicted the story of Valley Forge. Gen. George Washington, and his aides came in on horseback, followed by a non-descript army on foot. Cabins were built and tents set up. Then came the winter with sickness, hunger and discouragement. The arrival of Baron Steuben and the Marquis de La Fayette signalled the aid and backing of France. Men were drilled and instructed and in the spring a well-trained and impressive army marched forth to renew the battle for Freedom. In one scene the lights set into relief the figure of Washington as he knelt to ask Divine Assistance. The background for this pageant was a large replica of the Boy Scout Insignia.

The second pageant carried the dual story of the march of history and the growth of Scouting. The background for this was the World and the Boy Scout Bridge, a symbol of Unity of Thought and Purpose, based on the world Brotherhood of Scouting. First came the forward march of nations. Each unit showed in its ancestral home, the Indian teepee, the Arctic igloo, the African hut, the pioneer log cabin. Then came bombs, and war destroyed these homes, but the Scouting Bridge remained, a roadway to the reunion of the World.

Third: The historic sites. The local boys were stationed at a point where the artillery of Gen. Knox was clearly to be seen. The guided trip to Philadelphia, Pa. gave them the opportunity to see Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell.

Fourth: The splendid leadership. Lawrence Turner, Berton S. Davis, and Stanley Routh were the leaders for Troop 2. Their enthusiasm, their skill and their long hours of service won the admiration of the boys. Under such capable leaders, the 30 boys of Troop 2 won the citation of Excellence, for conduct, esprit de corps, and the exemplification of Scouting Principles. Troop 2 was made up of boys from Malone, Chateaugay and nearby towns.

Fifth: The precision marching and the accurate timing of the activities. It was by popular acclaim a thrilling spectacle to see several thousand boys, each group with its flags, marching over the hills to occupy designated positions in the Arena.

Sixth: The fireworks. These displays using rockets and coloured lights, formed battle scenes, ships, flags, and many other striking formations.

Apparently the unity of action, promptness, tolerance, attention to assigned tasks, etc., were very effective. Attention to food, sanitation and water supply were appreciated and the services offered by the branch bank, the field hospital, the Trading Post and the post-office were also evidence of the care and forethought of the Scout leaders. Religious services were scheduled for all denominations.

Texas with horned toads for barter, Indians in real war-bonnets, negro troops from the southern states, an East-Indian with turban, Scotch boys in kilts and playing bagpipes, all spoke of One World, of United Nations. The Canadian boys in blue woolsen pants and green shirts, were reminders of the good neighbors just across the border.

The boys brought back with them many souvenirs, including: neck scarves, rings, pictures, dories and medallions. These last carried the theme of the Jamboree, "a re-dedication to the American ideals of Democracy," and a firm resolution to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty." The first National Jamboree was held at Washington, D.C., in 1927. Now in 1950 it would appear that the green slopes of Valley Forge, gay with flowering woodsy, and dotted with the monuments of man's heroism, had for one memorable week echoed to the voices of youth, and served as the stage for potency. This method is applied in Denmark among other countries, where the original potency is retained.

A third technique, which might be of value to Canadians, is a way of preventing forest fire. While it is granted that Canadian forests cover a vast area and that some of the nordic methods of overcoming the fire hazard and preserving their forests might not be applicable here, they are nevertheless of interest.

Mr. McMillan states that forest fires are rare in Sweden and Finland and suggest that one of the reasons may be that pines are taken to remove the smaller shrubs and loose branches over an inch in thickness which constitute one of the real dangers. Dry material lying upon the ground will cause a fire to spread rapidly and as a result, in these countries, the forests are kept as clean as possible with a minimum of underbrush. Furthermore a long-term system of forest conservation and replanting has been evolved and should guarantee a steady, self-replenishing supply of timber.

Speaking of Denmark, Mr. McMillan told the Gleaner reporter that while this country produces an ample supply of butter, the population depends largely upon margarine; the government, it seems, prefers to reserve its butter supplies for the export market.

Denmark is a country with a mild winter and a cool summer with abundant rainfall and considerable wind. Of its surface area, 75% is suited for agricultural purposes and 84% of this is under the plough. The average Danish farm is about 62 acres. Stock farming is highly developed and crop planting is carried out so as to give the highest possible yield of animal fodder.

Mr. McMillan noted that Sweden is a country of considerable wealth with a large number of chief industries. Moreover, the first ships which may be seen in the harbour districts present an unforgettable picture of Sweden as a potentially great shipping nation. When progress in some of the neighbouring countries was disrupted by the war, Sweden was relatively unaffected and, as a result, her industries, her standard of living remain at a peak. Unlike other European countries, 1950 American cars are a common sight.

Touching briefly on some of the attitudes and ideas he found in these countries, Mr. McMillan said that there was a widespread admiration of the Fins on the part of her neighbours. After the Russian invasion a large portion of Finland was ceded to the communists and the Finnish population in this district were given the choice of becoming Russian citizens or moving to unoccupied territory. The entire population moved and, despite the fact that the remainder of the country suddenly had 5% more people to support, the Finnish people have provided small farms for their displaced citizens and are doing a successful job of rehabilitating them.

Despite the fact, however, that the Nordic people are efficient, hard-working farmers and industrialists, Mr. McMillan observes that they are not overly enthusiastic about free trade. This might be due to a fear of a world market dominated by North America, but Mr. McMillan suggests that more likely it is a desire for self-sufficiency. In the war, the U-boat blockades, have taught these people to depend largely upon their own resources and it may be that the fear that they may be forced to do so again has created this undercurrent, an almost subconscious aversion to liberal trade.

in charge of an ice-cream social to take place early in July on the lawn at Zion United Church. As a special attraction for the children there is to be a fish-pond which should prove most amusing. Mr. Gordon McGibbon assisted by Mrs. Charles Fraser are to have charge of the social activities for the evening.

Mrs. Currie closed the meeting with the singing of that old hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Mrs. Wm. Fleming very ably spoke on and demonstrated the making of six different types of salads, two of which could be featured as a main course, and four as a desert course. Mrs. Fleming said that the use of pears in all forms as a salad foundation and also as a garnish, was coming into its own this summer. She also served a sweet dressing at supper time which would accent the flavour of any tart salad. The demonstration was much enjoyed, as salads have really made a place for themselves in our everyday menus.

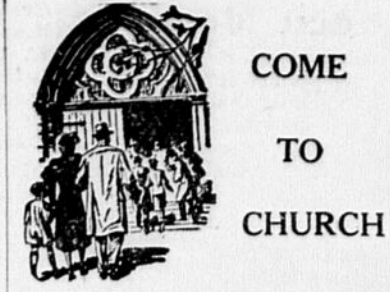

The July meeting is to have a work period and it is hoped that something can be accomplished on the quilt which was begun some months ago. Mrs. Wm. McPherson and Mrs. Earl Gardiner are joint hostesses for this meeting.

Mr. Gordon McGibbon, who has taught for the past term at Fitch Bay, Que., is spending his summer holidays with his mother, Mrs. Gregor Leslie and Mr. Leslie.

Mr. James Haughton, of Ottawa, Ont., called on friends in this vicinity over the week-end.

Delphinium Show Held At Chateaugay

Youngsters Accorded Garden Plots and Taught How to Grow Good Flowers

A very successful Delphinium Show sponsored by the Chateaugay and District Horticultural Society was held Saturday afternoon on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Styles.

There were 30 entries of the most beautiful Delphinium blooms, ranging in colour from deep blue to white, some of the spikes were three feet long.

Messrs C. A. Smith and Harry Ormody were the judges, the prizes being awarded as follows:

1st: Mr. E. J. Hanlon; 2nd: Mr. A. E. G. Madley; 3rd: Mr. Howard Cobb; 4th: Mr. A. E. G. Madley.

This year the Society has inaugurated a Children's Garden or Junior Section. Through the courtesy of Hydro-Quebec, a tract of land bordering on Trudeau and Aimee Streets at the Heights has been leased and divided into sections, and garden plots have been allotted to interested children.

Plants, seeds and instructions on the care and cultivation of these gardens have been given to the boys and girls by Mrs. George Horsnell and Mrs. A. J. Williams who are enthusiastic and successful gardeners. It is to be hoped that parents and members will encourage the children to participate in this worthwhile project.

Baby Band Party
The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary were hostesses to the Mission Band, in St. Andrew's Church Hall on Friday afternoon when over a hundred persons, which included grandmothers, mothers, friends and Baby Band Members were welcomed by Miss Mary Gardner, Baby Band Superintendent and her assistant, Mrs. J. R. Dickenson.

The president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Z. Richer's passing was quite tragic as the following will show. Last Tuesday noon, while cooking in the kitchen, she asked her 15 year old son to make the fire burn up. Using a can which he thought contained kerosene but which actually was a mixture of gasoline and kerosene, he threw some on the fire. It ignited so quickly that before he could get back from the stove the container took fire. He was forced to drop the blazing can on the floor to the horror of his mother, who no doubt remembered how their home had been destroyed by fire a number of years ago.

Seizing an old quilt she beat at the flames and in attempting to extinguish the blaze some of the liquid splashed on her clothing and soon she became a blazing torch from head to foot. She ran outdoors and finally managed with help to get the fire on her clothing extinguished, but not before she was seriously burned.

Taken to Huntingdon and later to the Montreal General by Dr. McCrimmon, little hope was held out for her recovery her burns were so serious. She succumbed a day later.

Mute testimony to the folly of using any highly inflammable substance on the kitchen fire.

She is a former Fort Covington resident and is retiring this year after 48 years of teaching, 28 years of which were spent at the union school in Castleton-on-Hudson, N.Y. She was recently awarded a plaque by the people of Castleton in honor of her long service in that community. The presentation took place at the Castleton Methodist Church, where 178 persons, including seven who were in her first class at Castleton 28 years ago were present. sponsored by the Castleton High School Teachers' Association. All 49 members of her present class of 1950 attended as guests of Castleton's Kiwanis Club and provided entertainment. Letters of congratulation for her interest in children from Acting State Commissioner Lewis A. Wilson and James Haggerty, secretary to Governor Dewey of New York State were read. In addition to the plaque a purse of money was presented to Miss Elliot from the people of Castleton, also a piece of jewelry from her pupils and a life membership in the Parent-Teacher Association. Despite all her achievements and long service in the teaching profession she doesn't plan to retire, but intends to return to College next Fall to take advanced courses in music at Potsdam State Teachers' College—something she says she has always wanted to do but never had the time.

We have on hand a supposedly authentic fish story with a new twist to it. Usually the fisherman trails and tries to lure the fish but in this instance the fish stalked the fisherman. Two residents of Cornwall Island west of Hopkins Pt., Charlie Benedict and Moses David, were out fishing recently in an outboard motor boat when a 36 pound sturgeon suddenly leaped out of the lake and landed in the boat beside them. During the leap the fish knocked off Benedict's hat. Needless to say the men immediately gaffed their prize, considering themselves extremely lucky.

Nineteen graduates of Fort Covington High School were presented with their diplomas at the annual Commencement Exercises which were held on Tuesday, June 27, at Firemen's Hall, Fort Covington. The attendance was very large, the hall being crowded to capacity with standing room only. The graduating class of 1950 was one of the largest in years. The salutatory address was given by Patricia Reagan and the valedictory by Diane Freeman. Janet Gorman read an essay on Communism entitled "The Great Illusion." Dr. Philip Gorman, Pres. of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas and Mr. H. J. Weir, Principal presented the year's awards which numbered 23. The High School Band was in attendance and a number of other items were also included in the program. Mr. Weir, who has been principal at Fort Covington High School for 23 years, was greatly surprised when, after the regular program was finished, he was presented with a purse of money on behalf of the townspeople and former students and a large album of congratulatory messages from graduates during his 23 years of principality at the school. The gifts were presented by Judge Carey of Malone, who was the guest speaker of the evening. He paid high tribute to Mr. Weir in recognition of his quarter century of service in Fort Covington and in so doing he said he was speaking the thoughts of the general public. Mr. Weir was taken by surprise, made an excellent impromptu address to his many friends for their generosity and kindness and thanked each and all very fittingly.

Judge Carey's remarks to the graduates revolved around four words—God, country, family and job and he stressed to them the importance of applying all four to one's daily life in the interests of

Around the Home...

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK
Half the joy of having a garden is having a comfortable chair in a shady nook where you can lounge and enjoy the changing beauty of your surroundings. What's the use of having a garden if you can't take time to sit down and enjoy it? These are the days when the home owner should be able to recline comfortably on a lawn seat in the dense shade of a towering maple... not one task to be done... not a care in the world... sounds like Utopia!

Garden Seats
My own siestas take place in a secluded corner of the garden, well hidden from the surrounding neighbourhood. One of my prize possessions is a garden bench I made last year. True, it isn't the most comfortable piece of furniture in the world, but it is sturdy and wasn't too hard to make—as you can see from the sketch. My pride and joy is the wide bench I built around the trunk of the maple that stands to one side of the patio. It took a bit of fitting to give an attractive natural finish but it has attracted more favourable comment than any other piece of garden furniture I have made.

Garden Pools
If you are like me, you'll have a bird bath and a small pool in clear view to help you relax. Nothing is quite as restful and cooling as the sound of running water and the reflection of blue sky in a still pool. The size of the pool doesn't matter—you'll get the same effect from a small hinder wheel set in concrete (mentioned last month), a washub sunk in the ground or an extensive cement job. When properly planned and planted so that it fits naturally into its surroundings, the size or expense of the pool is immaterial.

Bird Baths
I could watch my bird bath for hours if work would permit. On a warm afternoon there is a steady procession of bluebirds, chipping sparrows, wrens, song sparrows and robins. The birds do not care how expensive the bath was. As long as the water is fresh, clean and not too deep, they will use it regularly. Between the two extremes illustrated are a host of styles and designs.

POOLS
MADE OF CONCRETE - MIXED 3 OF SAND TO 1 OF CONCRETE - AND AT LEAST 6" THICK. INSIDE DEPTH SHOULD PERMIT 6" OF WATER OVER THE CROWN OF THE LILIES.

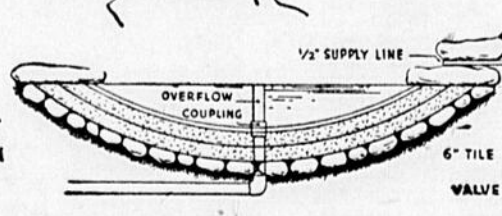

SHOWN IS CROSS SECTION OF SIMPLEST TYPE - THREE LAYERS OF CONCRETE ON UNIFORM BOULDERS EMBEDDED IN SOIL.

GARDEN SEATS
1" PINE, DRESSED ALL SIDES. BACK REST AND SLATS OF VARIOUS WIDTHS. SCREW NAILS BEST FOR JOINING PIECES. SHELLAC ALL KNOTS AND GIVE SEAT TWO COATS OF OUTDOOR PAINT. CHAIR WIDTH APPROX. 20" BENCH ABOUT 42".

Aged Pillars of Strength

A few days ago the Gleaner photographer was called by an observing neighbour, who displayed a nose for news. The neighbour informed us that three old men were cutting hay by hand and that they appeared to be swinging the scythes with ease and steady. The picture shows the three men, John Gauthier and Jos. Laframboise, 76 yrs. old, their 73 years, Dan Gauthier, 82 All three were born here and lived their lives as farmers in this community. The Gauthiers stated that they could cut with a scythe from 2 to 2 1-2 acres per day but that their fathers used to cut as much as 3 acres a day. Jos. Laframboise was not to be outdone by the Gauthiers and he stated that when he was 30 years of age he cut grain that represented 800 bushels. Joe did not qualify how many days it took to do the job. The three men were very happy about their work, and as Joe is accustomed to talking to himself when hard at work, he is sometimes heard to state: "I don't have to work, but I like it", and so it is Joe keeps on working and does a good day's work too. We are quite satisfied John and Dan Gauthier are just like Joe in that they like to work and also do a good day's work.
