'New' Montreal Terminal ready to open Dec. 15

By LARRY McINNIS

GOOD NEWS AT LAST: The chief problem confronting anyone who writes a column is getting good, solid news for that column; the writing takes little time. This week the column comes easy, because we have lots of good news to report from the Montreal aviation scene, and the first and foremost item is the announcement (with mailing of invitations) of the official opening of the new Montreal air terminal on December 15. With all the delays, many people figured it would never make it. The ceremony is set for 2:30 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 15. All features of the new terminal will be on display, but one aspect — air traffic control — we'll deal with in another paragraph. The $30,000,000 structure will have, besides many private concessions, "modern" facilities for handling domestic, trans-border and foreign traffic. Apparently all airline offices will be grouped according to those classifications. Other features will include a druggist, candy store, clothing store, news-stand, tobacconist, gift and flower shop, jewellery store, barber, beauty shop, flight insurance counters, a bank, restaurant, snack bar and children's nursery.

WEATHER FORECASTING: The Meteorological branch of the DOT at the new terminal includes 115 technicians, meteorologists, teletype operators and administrative personnel, responsible for all weather services in Quebec, forecast services for trans-Atlantic aviation, and for airlines running flights to Mexico and the Caribbean. Little known, but a fact, is that this same office provides marine forecast for the St. Lawrence River, Hudson Bay, Hudson Bay Strait and the Davis Strait areas.

AND RADAR, TOO! A DOT press release sings the praises of the quality of the radar equipment at the new terminal, designed to meet the needs of the jet age. Besides the old low frequency radio, the airport carries high frequency "visual" omni-directional range equipment, instrument landing systems, long range surveillance radar installations, weather radar, and other standard radio equipment. All-in-all, the field will be well equipped.

CUSTOMERS ALWAYS WRITE: Had a call this week from a polite, but annoyed, Mr. Gauthier, president of the Air Traffic Controllers Association, who felt that we knocked the controllers too much in last week's column by saying the air traffic pile-up is too great. It should be understood that the meaning in these remarks is that air traffic control methods have not progressed scientifically enough in comparison with the greatly increasing numbers of modern, aircraft in the air. While it is true that no large pile-ups, or "holds", occur in Montreal, the day is rapidly approaching when the present systems will not be able to cope with the traffic, and now is the time to think about it. It's nice to plan bigger and faster, and more, aircraft, but let's figure how to get them in and out in the least possible time.

AIR TRAFFIC: Last year, for example, Dorval handled 234,570 aircraft. Since traffic is not evenly spaced, controllers were forced to "stack" the aircraft. Fortunately, new equipment in the new terminal has almost done away with this necessity. About 650 aircraft daily make instrument landings and takeoffs, not counting the regular visual flight regulations departures or arrivals. Many radio frequencies are guarded by the controllers, and they must set regulations for Cartierville, too, although Cartierville has its own tower staff.

THERE'S NO DOUBT that controllers do a tremendous job for aviation, and pilots in trouble know no more welcome voice on the radio than that of a controller who can, and will, help him out. If anyone thinks they are clever because they can remember cards in a poker game, they should see a controller in action.

Unity Boys' Club

Training program set for volunteer leaders

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Now that the excitement of the annual banquet is over for another year, the club is settling down to regular activities. Boys' work supervisor Chuck Tyler announces that his department has a ping pong tournament going at top speed. The tournament is for boys in the junior and intermediate age category. Mr. Tyler emphasizes the desirability of intra-mural activities and urges all members to participate. The winners of inter-club tournaments will compete against other clubs.

Registration is now open for all club members who may be interested in stamps or chess.

NEW VOLUNTEERS

Two new volunteer workers, Marcel Gauthier and Jacques McCormack have joined the ranks of Unity's large volunteer staff. In the near future, a training program for volunteer group leaders will be organized. The purpose of this program will be to orientate those volunteers who feel unqualified in any specific skill but who wish to render service to the Boys' Club and the community.

Qualified volunteers will also have an opportunity to attend weekly meetings, this with the viewpoint of increasing their technical knowledge in matters pertaining to the general operation of the Boys' Club. Watch this column for information concerning time and date of the opening meeting.

FIRST AID

A volunteer worker is available to conduct a St. John's Ambulance First Aid Course. This is a potential for both youth or adult classes. These classes will be formed only if there is a demand. Club members should register immediately. Others in the community who are interested are asked to phone the Club at WE. 2-5506.

BIDDY TEAM WINS

Unity's biddy basketball team chalked up its second consecutive victory last Saturday when it defeated the Lions Boys' Club 30-4. Although there were many scoring stars, the highlight of the game occurred when Bradley, Syvret, who has been a member of the team for two years, scored his first league basket. It was a great thrill for the youngster who despite two years of being a member of the team was used sparingly in other competitions.

BANQUET HIGHLIGHTS

banquets included representatives from three championship Montreal Football teams — the junior Rosemount Bombers; the intermediate Verdun Shamcats and the McGill University intercollegiates. Harry Haukkala of McGill was a guest. In 1956 and 1957, Harry was a member of the Unity Boys' Club Senior "B" Cage Squad when they won both the City and Provincial Basketball titles.

Mayor John C. Cushing of Westmount was made an honorary chief of Unity's Skookum Tribe in a tribal ceremony.

John McDonough, Richard Cessford and Keith Gavin were presented with Unity's highest honor, the big "U".

A large delegation of Westmount Rotarians were on hand as sponsors of boys for the banquet.

Parking bans listed

Traffic restrictions on Hudson avenue, Barat road and Mount Pleasant avenue, for the period between December 31 and March 31, were approved in Council Monday night.

Parking on the south side of Hudson has been banned during the winter months "because of severe traffic congestion." The move is also expected to speed up snow removal operations.

No vehicles may be parked for more than two hours on either side of Barat between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Mondays to Fridays inclusive. During the winter, parking is prohibited on the south side.

The parking by-law on Mount Pleasant was amended in the same manner, with a no parking ban on the east side of Mount Pleasant.

WE ARE immediately available for those who need our services, no matter what time of the day or night.

Westmount Mountain should be improved Don't blame City for valuation rise

SUMMER is gone and winter is almost upon us.

Many summer projects, such as the swimming pool issue, are still hanging, awaiting a decision "to be or not to be."

The coming winter months might well be used to advantage in considering other things to improve the park situation in Westmount.

Westmount Mountain could and should be vastly improved so it can be used to better advantage than just a bird sanctuary, even though this is a noble thought.

At present there are no real pathways over the mountain — only little trails which wander willy-nilly. There are no benches for the tired wanderers and not even litter baskets.

Many young people have suggested that provision should be made on the mountain for ad hoc football games, and it seems like a good idea.

Montreal has fully developed Mount Royal, and it seems reasonable to ask Westmount to do the same with its mountain.

The Mountain could be turned into one of the City's finest parks without too much trouble or effort, and at little expense.

And, perhaps this would be a reasonable location for the swimming pool if, and when, the mountain becomes another Westmount park in the true sense of the word.

BY THE WAY

IT was noticed during last night's performance of "Le Baiser du Charcutier" that Tumbelova wined every time there was a blast on the trombone. She eyed the musician with undisguised hostility, but the evening passed off without any untoward incident, unless the violent collision of two dancers, during the culbute which follows the pork-butcher's volte-face, be called untoward. After this a jovial stage-hand affixed a large cardboard L to Serge Trousseau's back.

Innocent in England

Lady Chatterley awaits Quebec Court decision

FICTIONAL ladies of uncertain morals have always suffered greatly for their infidelity and readers have always enjoyed it immensely.

Lady Chatterley is no exception, but there is apparently a segment of the population that objects to the description in four letter words of the events leading to the pangs of conscience.

Unexpurgated copies of "Lady Chatterley's Lover" were sold to 173,000 Canadians before a test case was made in court December 1959 on the seizure of one paperback edition of the novel from Jack's Handy Store, 5630 Sherbrooke street, owned by Larry Brodie, according to official reports.

Ruled innocent of obscenity and suitable for public consumption by the English courts, lifting a 33-year-old ban earlier this month, the controversial novel by D. H. Lawrence was approved by the US Supreme Court, and is now before the Quebec Court of Appeals.

Obscene or not, Canadians are reading it

Information was first laid against the publication by Lieu-Det. R. Trepanier on November 12, 1959 when an estimated 173,000 copies had been sold in Canada, 53,000 of which were imported from Chicago and the remainder published in Winnipeg.

American publisher, Victor Weybright, of New America Library of World Literature, publishers of Nobel and Pulitzer prize novels, testified that the Assistant Minister of National Revenue had told him the book was "admissible" to Canada.

The Crown presented evidence on trial December 15 under the new law defining obscene publications and on June 10, despite the testimony of noted Canadian writers Hugh MacLennan and Morley Callaghan, Judge T. A. Fontaine rendered judgment against it and ordered it confiscated in the Queen's name.

All remaining copies of the book were hustled off the counters and bookstands across Canada, and a new abridged version appeared on the market.

Under the new law Davie Fulton defines as obscene "any work a dominant characteristic of which is undue exploitation of sex, or sex, crime and violence."

Judge Fontaine ruled that the dominant characteristic of the book was precisely undue exploitation of sexual things. Counsel for the defense, Manuel Shacter pleaded, "The dominant characteristics of the book are the evils of industrialism in England, and damage to the human soul; the greatness and beauty of human love in man and woman and its power to restore and revive the capacity for tenderness deadened by modern civilization."

By
Miriam Armstrong

He further said that D. H. Lawrence, who wrote the novel in 1927, was opposed to obscenity and pornography and the book was not an exploitation of sex and the four letter words used were consistent with the character, situation and theme of the book.

The ruling was appealed by Prof. Frank R. Scott, of the McGill Faculty of Law, and has been taken under advisement by three judges. Should it be thrown out of the land on charges of obscenity, the case could hit the Supreme Court of Canada.

'A Mid-Victorian definition of obscenity'

"I am convinced the judgment will not stand," said author Hugh MacLennan, 1535 Summerhill avenue. "It all harks back to a mid-Victorian definition of obscene publications by Judge James Cockburn in 1868 when he said a publication must be judged obscene if it might corrupt the mind of anybody into whose hands it might fall if said person were open to corruption."

"Not anybody can judge a book," continued Mr. MacLennan, "but any experienced editor doesn't have to read long to discover the intention of the author. Basically the book has been misunderstood from the beginning though a lot of sleazy pornography on the market that is not prosecuted."

The man on the street, nevertheless, has a habit of passing judgment and it is this very right that has aroused many to defend Canadian publication and distribution of the novel championed and upheld by literary intelligentsia on two continents.

Police prosecutor J. E. St. Laurent asked author MacLennan, "Would you use such language as is used by Lady Chatterley's Lover?"

Answered MacLennan, "I would if it were necessary to achieve a purpose essentially an art and a communication."

The Lady steps demurely

Battered and bruised by public opinion, Lady Chatterley, however, has "stepped demurely from the law courts in England and on to the publicity primed book stalls of Britain," with a ready and waiting stack of 200,000 copies of the novel published by Penguin Books to be distributed immediately, four letter words and all, a goodly number of which will probably find their way across the ocean to Canada.

Work of art, or is it pornography?

Do Canadians want to read this book and make up their own minds. A poll conducted by 'phone of local residents failed to turn up a significant number of people willing to condemn the book.

Here are some sample opinions:

Accountant: "I would read if I could get a copy, but as a work of literature, not as pornography. I think bans interfere with the prime liberty of the individual."

Elevator operator: "I would love to read it — it has a lot to do with psychiatry, as it is the study of a woman mentally ill. People who are maniac depressives want to ban it through shame."

Kindergarten teacher: "I would like to read it through curiosity."

Mother of a teenager: "I don't want anyone to be my literary taster — to think that the censor's mind will be corrupted so that mine will remain pure — what a dreadful thing to have on one's conscience."

Medical student: "I read it and thought it splendid. It is the only book I know of discussing sex on non-obscene grounds."

Home and School executive: "Putting this book on the public market is the worst thing that could possibly happen to our youth. No, I would not read it."

Mother of six: "Yes, I'd like to read it — I've heard so much about it."

Stenographer: "No, I definitely would not read it. I don't enjoy that kind of book at all."

Writer-musician: I read it and liked it very much, particularly the writer's insight into the psychological and emotional feelings behind the facade of people. The ban is ridiculous! It's due to the fear and limited insight on the part of those who are the victim of their own fears."

Salesman: "Yes, I would like to read it and form my own opinion."

Housewife: "It's not my type of thing, but why pick on it? It's not worse than many other publications on the newsstands."

England decides, Canada debates

Whether the acquittal of the Lady in England will have any bearing on the case locally is anybody's guess. As one legal authority put it, "England decides while Canada debates," and the debate may take anywhere from two to 17 months before a judgment is handed down compared with Britain's 13-day trial.

'Y' maintenance drive half over; less than 50% objective reached

The Westmount YMCA campaign for maintenance funds is half over, and the "Y" reports less than half of its objective achieved.

Lloyd Welton, executive secretary, disclosed that the "Y" is further ahead at this point than last year, but added experience proves that the second half of a campaign is the hardest.

"We will need the greatest effort on the part of all our canvassers to reach our objective this year," said Mr. Welton.

Twelve of the canvassers have completed and turned in their cards. The hard-driving dozen are: Dr. K. A. C. Elliott, Mrs. Dorothy Horne, R. O. Huntington, Peter McCabe, H. C. Nourse, D. Y. Novinger, D. R. Ross, Donald M. Steeves, E. M. Taggart, Mrs. A. G. Thom, Miss S. Pattison and Mrs. J. Nixon.

The remainder of the "Y's" canvassers reported their cards in various stages of completion. The campaign closes at midnight, December 6, and all cards must be completed by then.

King's School art class lists volunteer workers

By VALENTINA RAHR

Due to television, interest in library books has increased during the last five years, according to Miss Catherine Fraser, librarian at the Westmount Children's Library.

Children, she said, see something on TV, then they come to the library to get a book to read more about it. The old stories, Miss Fraser continued, are still favorites — fairy tales, adventure stories, and other well-known books with pictures.

"The Candy Basket" is one of the books in the library which is suggested as a Christmas gift for a child. Quite popular now are lusty stories about Henry IV's time; "This is Rome", about the city of Rome, the coins in the fountain, costumes and travelling in that city.

When no libraries are available in any area, the first books that children usually get to know well are from school libraries. Their first real interest in books is awakened in this way. Librarians try to interest children in books that are suitable for that age group, Miss Fraser concluded.

Assistants in the art class sponsored by the King's Home and School Association for the 1960-61 season have been announced. Success of the classes depends on the assistance of volunteers. A system which calls upon each mother in alphabetical order asking her to take her turn helping in the class has been devised, and is proving successful.

With this method no mother need help more than once or twice during the entire school year. Should it be impossible to attend, the parent is asked to contact either Mrs. Nishi at HU. 8-4042, or Mrs. Newton at WE. 5-8046.

Date of classes and hours from 3.30 to 5 p.m. have been scheduled: November 10, Mrs. Chmielarz; Mrs. Ballon, Mrs. Bhathi; November 17, Mrs. Bonn, Mrs. DeJong, Mrs. Goddard; November 24, Mrs. Goodnough, Mrs. Hama, Mrs. Howard; December 1, Mrs. Kronstal, Mrs. Latour, Mrs. Lewis; December 8, Mrs. McJanet, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Morrow; January 5, Mrs. Newton, Mrs. Nishi, Mrs. Porteous; January 12, Mrs. Symons, Mrs. Shapiro; January 19, Mrs. Aird, Mrs. Ballon, Mrs. Bhathi; January 26, Mrs. Bonn, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Christmas; February 2, Mrs. Chmielarz, Mrs. DeJong, Mrs. Dunlop; Feb-

'Y' notes activities for winter

Football will soon be over with high school play-offs already in the final stage, and come next Saturday it will be all over in pro league as well.

Next on the athletic agenda will be such items as hockey, basketball and gymnastics. Hockey is being well taken care of by the Westmount Recreation Association. Basketball and Gymnastics will soon come into the schools as well as the Westmount YMCA.

This year the YMCA offers classes in both basketball and gymnastics for its young men and Senior Men's membership starting Dec. 7. Basketball will be played twice a week, on Wednesdays at 9 p.m. There will be free play for those who wish to practice for House League games on Saturdays between 4 and 6 p.m. All those interested in participating are asked to contact John Ray, physical director at WE. 7-3916.

Basketball is also available for all boys between 9-12 years of age in the Biddy Basketball House League. Coaches and players are still required, and persons interested are invited to report to the gymnasium on Saturdays at 1.30 p.m. One team under coach Don McCallum has already been formed. Don will also coach a midget boys team (ages 16 and under) on Saturday at 2.45 p.m.

Gymnastics, in all apparatus, for both men and women, is available on Tuesday and Friday nights between 8 and 10 p.m. Besides regular apparatus, the 'Y' also offers instruction on the trampoline which, in the last year, has become very popular in many parts of North America. High bar, even and uneven parallel bars, box horse, pommel horse, balance beam and both flying and still rings are also available.

Those interested or requiring further information are asked to phone the physical director or visit the Westmount YMCA.

Of interest to the ladies and girls: Miss "Nellie" de Voss, who has made the morning "Keep Fit" classes so popular in recent years, is now also in charge of the ladies and business girls' classes on Monday and Friday nights, as well as the girls' week-day and Saturday-morning gym classes.

Those who have already met her do not need to be told of the enthusiasm and vigor she puts into each class. Ladies evening "Keep Fit" classes start at 7 p.m. and are followed by a swim in the pool if desired. The business girls' class starts at 8 p.m. and features exercise, basketball, and apparatus work.

carols, we also hear the 'Sugar Plum Fairy' and 'Waltz of the Flowers' from The Nutcracker Suite of Tchaikovsky, Irving Berlin's 'White Christmas,' Leroy Anderson's tuneful 'Sleigh Ride,' two selections from Victor Herbert's 'Babes in Toyland,' and concluding with the brilliant 'Skaters Waltz' of Waldteufel as arranged by Arturo Toscanini.

For a purely vocal disc we recommend ML 5565 Carols for Christmas with well-known opera singer Eileen Farrell, whose great soprano gives us stellar readings of 16 carols, including many favorites and some of the rarer items such as 'Lullay My Liking,' 'Snow in the Street,' 'Sleep, Holy Babe,' 'Coventry Carol,' and 'Song of the Crib.' Fine arrangements with an orchestra and potpourri of many Christmas items. In addition to 11 popular

An excellent miscellany of new Christmas records from the Columbia label this week, the first of the season to grace our turntable. The best all-round disc of the batch is, in our opinion, CL 1528 Joy to The World with Andre Kostelanetz, his chorus and orchestra, and Earl Wrightson, baritone, containing a pleasant and potpourri of many Christmas items. In addition to 11 popular

CONCERTS AND RECITALS: Little information was available on music goings-on this coming week in Montreal. Pianist Lillian Kallir performs for the Ladies Morning Musical Club at La Comedie Canadienne Thursday, November 24, at 2.30 p.m. Mme Sarah Fischer presents another in her series of Young Canadian Talent Concerts in which young artists make their first public appearance, at the Ritz Carlton Monday night, November 28.

Isaac Stern was to be the soloist in Sibelius' Violin Concerto in D to be performed Tuesday and Wednesday by the Montreal Symphony under the baton of guest conductor Leopold Ludwig, however, Mr. Stern will not be able to appear. The program will consist of the following works: Symphony No. 3 (Eroica) — Beethoven; two excerpts from the "Lulu Suite" by Alban Berg; and "Till Eulenspiegels' Merry Pranks" by Richard Strauss.

ON THE AIR

Dame Myra Hess is the soloist in Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto to be heard on BBC Concert Hall, Wednesday, 11 p.m. Other works on this gala concert conducted by Malcolm Sargent are Vaughan Williams' "The Wasps" Overture and Shostakovich's Fifth Symphony. Opera on Thursday will be heard at 9 p.m. and this week we have the favourite Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman". A spirited performance of another favourite will be heard Friday, 11 p.m., when the Hungarian Radio Symphony Orchestra, led by Gyorgy Lehel perform Bartok's Concerto for Orchestra. International Concert Hall, Saturday, 7 - 8 p.m., brings us performances by world famous orchestras of Mozart's Symphony No. 40, Rousssel's Suite in F and Handel's Water Music.

Continuing the series of opera rebroadcasts direct from the Salzburg Festival of 1960 we have this coming Sunday, at 9 a.m., Mozart's Don Giovanni with Leontyne Price, Elizabeth Schwarzkopf and Cesare Valletti, to name but a few of the outstanding soloists, with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra and Choir conducted by Herbert Von Karajan. The final concert in the 1960 Sibelius Festival of 1960 will be heard Monday, 11 p.m., and will feature two symphonies by the Finnish master, Nos. 1 and 6. New recordings of the ballet music from Gounod's "Faust", Brahms' "Haydn Variations" and violinist Henryk Szeryng in recital among the works chosen for "New Classical Releases" Tuesday, 11 p.m.

Two live shows may be heard over the weekend; Junior Concert recital is heard Saturdays at 2.00 p.m., and this week brings you Soprano Eleanor Kritzman from Boston in a program of coloratura favourites, also Canadian Concert with Louis Berko and his orchestra comes to you live from the CKVL studios on Sundays at 7 p.m. Sunday is full of special programs: Devotions 9 a.m. is followed at 9.30 by Organ recital, currently featuring a series of organ concerti by Handel, and ex-Europeans will surely delight in "Music from Germany", 1 - 2 p.m.

NEW RECORDS:

J. S. Bach — Suite No. 2 in B/Brandenburg Concerto No 5 / I Solisti di Zagreb — Antonio Janigro/VICTOR LM-2460 (Mono)

The Zagreb group is one of the best chamber ensembles in the world today and, under Janigro's sensitive direction, have turned out many exquisite readings of Baroque music. The same holds true for this disc. Particularly enjoyable is the Brandenburg with Robert Veyron - Lacroix giving us a performance par excellence of the difficult harpsichord solo.

Anton Bruckner — Symphony No. 9 in D / The Columbia Symphony Orchestra Bruno Walter / COLUMBIA ML-5571 (Mono).

Bruno Walter's identification is unique, and in this beautifully recorded version of the great Ninth, he is able to plumb the depths of this masterpiece.

Giuseppe Verdi — Requiem / L. Price, sop. — R. Elias, mezzo — Jussi Bjoerling, tenor — Giorgio Tozzi, bass — The Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra — Chorus of the Musikfreunde, Vienna — cond. Fritz Reiner / VICTOR (2 - 12") LD 6091 (Mono)

Little need be said about this work, a towering masterpiece and one of the most lyrical and melodious works ever penned in this form. The soloists are all in fine voice and the record has a transparent and spacious sound.

Books on music, unless they have wide public appeal, do not often reach second and much less, third printings. Just recently a businessman, Mush Davis, who is very interested in sports and music, told me about a remarkable book he has, entitled, "The Music Goes Round" by F. G. Gaisberg (printed in 1942) which is now out of print. I have the volume in my library. It is large in size, 273 pages, with 15 illustrations of celebrities (Heifetz, Rubinstein, Bruno Walter, Melchior, Kreisler and Casals to mention a few). It is a panoramic view of the recording industry from 1890-1942 and makes entertaining as well as instructive reading.

Unfortunately when it was available not enough people bought it so now it probably will only be found in public libraries which have a sizeable music section.

Looking through my library, there are quite a number on the shelves that are standard favorites, therefore available at any shop which carries an ample supply of books on music.

Among interesting biographies, we recommend "My Musical Life" by Rimsky-Korsakoff. I bought this book in New York in 1938 and it was a second printing. It has proved popular and has had several more printings. "With Strings Attached" by the celebrated violinist Joseph Szigeti also reached a second printing. I bought it in 1948 and I am quite sure that it can still be secured.

A new biography, by Alma Mahler Werfel of Gustav Mahler is exciting reading and you will find that it includes mostly people we all know. The book is titled "And The Bridge Is Love." 1960 is the centenary of Mahler's birth and his works are being programed for this honor by leading orchestras and soloists throughout the world. The New York Philharmonic has given several All-Mahler programs. Locally the Montreal Symphony Orchestra paid homage to his genius.

"The Paderewski Memoirs" is a marvellous book which should interest practically everyone. It

Sir George Williams University had a small Fall convocation for a few hundred graduates last Friday, and it was our great pleasure to be among the relatives of the participants . . . With a lump in our throat and pride in our heart, we watched our little friend walk up to the dais and collect the degree for which she had worked with a dedication and purpose so valiantly while doing a little teaching herself — about 70 hours per week, including paper corrections — on the side . . . All this makes for a pretty rugged schedule over a few years, so now if she'll just lay back on the oars and stick with the paltry 70 hours everything should work out fine . . . We'd like to mention that the class looked and acted in an adult manner; as in fact, most of them were (adults, we mean) . . . There isn't any reason why education and glamour cannot go hand in hand, and last Friday evening they did!

The Chatel Boise at Ste. Adele Nord changed ownership several months ago, it's surprising what a switch can do . . . George Bourret the new proprietor installed his brother-in-law, Leo Gratton, as manager and between the two of them they have a fine operation going . . . Scuttlebut has it that the new highway will traverse just comfortably beyond their present front door, which will make the Chatel Boise one of the better locations in the Laurentians . . .

Larry Heath of the Edson Hill Manor in Stowe, and "Kel" Kelley of the restaurant by the same name in Derby Line, Vermont, loaded your reporter with pamphlets proclaiming the good things both establishments offer for use at the Vermont Tourist Bureau in the Laurentien Hotel . . . If you're in the vicinity and pick one of them up just remember we lugged them . . . (We're exhausted!) . . . Mary Glaveen the active charming owner Win-Sum-Inn at St. Sauveur and the local Chamber of Commerce are cooking up some "goodies" for the area this Winter . . . More later!

Hamish Hamilton, artist and boniface of the Shaggy Dog Inn near South Bolton, headed for Mexico for a couple of weeks vacation? . . . If so, we hope he was successful in matching some luggage for his smart little sports car . . . Which reminds us the few miles of road leading from Sutton, Que., to the new ski area there should be finished in good time for the season's opening, according to Real Boulanger, the manager . . . There are a few resorts in the Laurentians, or any other place for that matter, that could use Betty Gall as a manager . . . Guess she's happy where she is 'though . . .

Louis Mornirolli, the Swiss-Italian yodeler and barkeep, to Mont Tremblant for the Winter . . . Are there any birds around in the wintertime that he can sing duets with? . . . Wonder if anything has been done about the signs on the road to Stowe? . . . Roland LaLiberte, the man behind the LaLiberte Hotel in Ste. Adele, has some very interesting stories of old times in Lacolle, Quebec . . . Come to think about it so have we . . .

chairman, urges all team captains to check closely on their teams and, above all, to set a good example. "Many of us," he said, "could get our canvasses completed in two hours if we got right out after an early supper and caught people before they went out".

John Annesley, chairman of the Board of Management stated, "Most of our young Members pay $10, $12 or $15 a year according to age. Obviously fees this small do not meet the cost of membership. Our Annual Campaign is an essential element in meeting our financial deficit."

ORIENTAL SPLENDOR —

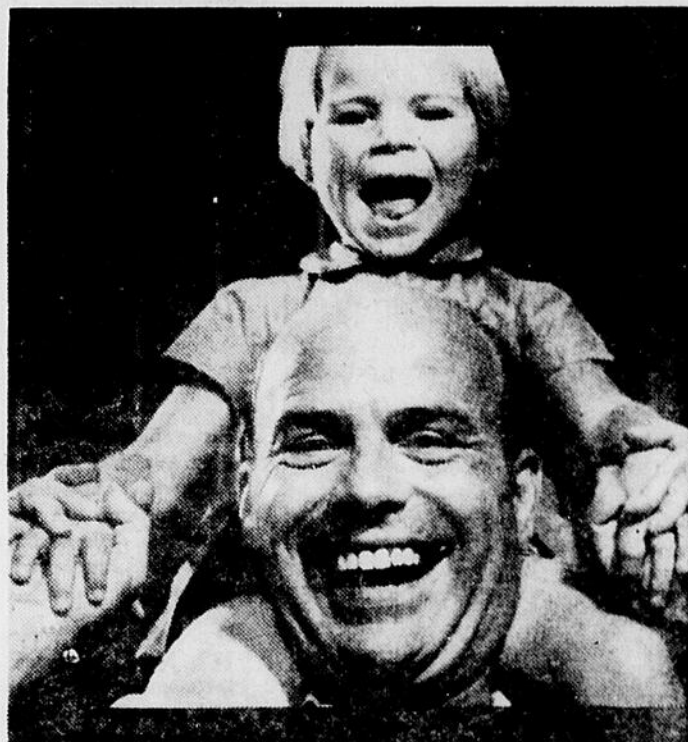

Malcolm Gregory's showrooms on St. Catherine street west at Greene, are veritable oriental galleries . . . While rugs and carpets are his principal business, he has imported a variety of lovely unique gifts from the Orient which have to be seen to be appreciated . . . Besides a fabulous collection of rugs and broad-loom, there are tapestries from Tibet and Llama horns made into house lamp standards . . . These horns are used as an "intercom" system by Tibetans who call to each other from Mountain Peaks . . . Valuable ivory chess sets, rare Chinese rugs, tables and tapestries as well as many rare objects from India, oriental jewellery, wood carvings, ivory carvings, etc. Silk scarves beautifully woven of lovely design and hundreds of smaller objects, all suitable for gifts, are on display at his store. Hundreds of visitors are attracted by a tasteful window display . . .

It is a century since Darwin propounded his theory of the Origin of Species. The influence of his ideas has increased through the years, sometimes with emphases which Darwin himself might not have approved. In particular, the idea of the survival of the fittest was applied to business, politics and to the general relationships of men with one another to justify any form of social unrighteousness.

Nothing succeeds like success. If nature is "red in tooth and claw" then one way well chant

"The good old rule, the simple plan
That he should take who has the power
And he should keep who can;"

— a lovely doctrine for the strong but small hope for the weak.

It has always been hard for the Christian to accept this extension of the Law of Evolution to the world of human relationships, and yet it was impossible to deny the validity of the doctrine itself, as far as the worlds of plants and animals are concerned. The evidence for evolution is overwhelming.

It was very agreeable, then, to read a week ago a volume of lectures by Prof. P. B. Medawar, Professor of Zoology in the University of London. It is published by Methuen's in England and by British Book Service in Canada. I give the details hoping that some will buy and read the book, for a great many are concerned in the problems the Professor deals with.

Prof. Medawar argues, as most biologists do, that evolution proceeds by mutations within the organism and not by the acquiring of characteristics from without. The village blacksmith does not transmit his mighty muscles to his son. Evolution proceeds by mutations until we come to the evolution of the brain, "a feat of fantastic difficulty — the most spectacular enterprise since the origin of life itself." With the brain we respond in a new way to external stimuli — we learn. With the learning we accept the impulse of those external forces, and with the brain we pass on the thing we have learned to the next generation.

Man is now more than an animal governed by instincts. He makes decisions. Armed with this "liberating conception" we can jettison all the reasoning based on the idea that all changes in society happen in the style and under the pressures of the laws of animal evolution. With this reasoning there is no justification left for war, for cut throat competition and all the evil practices which mar human life. Human action is based on human decision.

There is a place left for the development of humankind by our learning from the teaching of the prophets and from the heroes of the Bible, and especially from our Lord. We have known all this but it is pleasant to have a scientist say it.

Taken in the early 1900's, this photo shows the building on St. Catherine St., at the foot of Clarke Avenue, which was then the home of Westmount Plumbing. At the time that the picture was taken, street car tracks were just being laid on St. Catherine St. in Westmount. Even then, Westmount residents were calling Westmount Plumbing about their plumbing, heating and roofing problems just as they do today. If you remember those "good old days", Mr. Gauthier would be glad to hear from you. Just call him at WE. 5-1189.

Pythian Sisters to honor 'Mother' of the Pythians

Grand Temple Pythian Sisters are tendering a well-deserved Testimonial Dinner to Sister Hattie Kirsch PC in recognition of her many years of devoted service to the Pythian Order. Sister Hattie is affectionately known as the "Mother" of the Pythians.

In 1945 Hattie was instrumental in re-organizing Calanthe Temple which spearheaded the organization of the many temples which were subsequently instituted. Through her late husband P. C. Myer Kirsch she became interested in social service work which to this day occupies most of her time. All preparations of parcels for the Ste. Anne's Military Hospital were prepared by Hattie in her home. The annual Passover Sefer was organized and prepared under her supervision at her home. Hattie looks after the refreshments at all Pythian Blood Banks, and for the opening rally of the Pythian Annual Appeal, and many will remember her cream puffs and cheese cake. Her house was always open as a depot for the Pythian Sisters Tag Day and as a storage place for rummage. Hattie holds the honor of Past

Potters' Club 2nd exhibition

The second exhibition of ceramics featuring the work of Virginia McClure opens at the Potters' Club, 346 Victoria avenue, Westmount, Saturday, November 26, and continues for a week.

Mrs. McClure has entitled her exhibition "Pottery: Form and Expression" and in her work she explores some of the new avenues opening up in the field of ceramic art, as well as showing traditional shapes and wheel thrown pieces. The display emphasizes tiles, both decorative and functional, and shows how the plasticity of clay lend itself to their decorative treatment.

Mrs. McClure studied ceramics for five years at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, before returning to Canada, where she has continued her work. She is a member of the Potters' Club and on the board of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild of Montreal.

The exhibit will be open every day from 2-5 p.m., 8-10 p.m. evenings and on Saturday and Sunday from 2-5 p.m. only.

When Winter Comes

So little time to see the flowers,
To watch the sky at dawn,
To catch the scent of roses rare,
For soon they are all gone.

The birds that at my window sang,
I heeded not their flight,
Until too late, the silence held
The sight of nature's night.

Life's giddy whirl, should mean much less,
Its petty days of mirth,
When measured by the light of stars,
The miracles of earth.

Walking Blood Bank will aid hemophiliacs

A Walking Blood Bank is to be formed in Montreal. Sponsored by the Canadian Hemophilia Society, the Junior League of Montreal and the Canadian Red Cross, the Bank will be used to provide blood for the estimated two to four hundred hemophiliacs in the area.

Initial recruitment for the Walking Blood Bank will take place during the week of November 28 to December 3, which has been proclaimed "Hemophilia Week" by Mayor Drapeau of Montreal. A special blood donor clinic will be held in the Montreal Board of Trade Building next Monday, and the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic on Dorchester street will also receive blood donations during the week to start the Bank off with an ample supply.

The Walking Blood Bank will operate as a blood donor club, supplying blood for emergencies, when the supply is low or when a rare type is needed. Each donor will receive a special card which shows his blood type (and which will thus be useful to him in case he ever

Mr. Paré, along with Mr. Thinel, has been given much of the credit for the return of a majority of PC members from Quebec Province to Parliament for the first time in over 25 years.

The visit to St. Antoine-Westmount will mark Senator Thorvaldson's first official foray to Montreal since his election to the presidency of the national organization in November 1959.

Following the meeting, a reception in honor of the guest speaker and other platform guests will be tendered by the Woman's Progressive Conservative Association of St. Antoine-Westmount, Mrs. A. K. Glassford, convener.

All residents of English-speaking constituencies in the area are invited to hear Senator Thorvaldson.

Notice is hereby given that a contract was executed on November 7, 1960 under the terms of which Worth Wear Hosiery Mills Ltd. made a general sale assignment of book debts to the Imperial Bank of Canada which contract was registered on the same day at the Registry Office for the Registration Division of Montreal under number 1501944. by a popular vote. This is not to impugn the integrity or ability of the Board's members but it would appear to be more in consonance with democratic procedure that those who are called upon to spend public monies should be directly responsible to the taxpayer.

In the recent Montreal elections, the electors voted overwhelmingly against Category "C". The revenues of the Protestant Board are such that it should be directly responsible to the Taxpayers.

Coming now to the submission from which I can only briefly quote, we are told "The high cost of municipal capital borrowing continues to harass municipal governments" and with good reason since the higher the interest rates the larger the outlay the municipality has to meet. It continued, "Unless the cost of money can be reduced to within the capacity of municipalities there could develop a serious setback to the progressive effort which municipal governments have been making in an endeavour to at least keep pace with their minimum growth requirements."

This was evidenced in the demand for a skating rink and the discussion now taking place for a swimming pool. In the provisions made for the recreation and conveniences of its taxpayers, Westmount has taken a leading place. This is strikingly shown in the comparison with what the Montreal taxpayer gets for his money. A reduction of interest rates would therefore be a direct gain for the taxpayer.

The submission also refers to what I have said in an earlier paragraph concerning education. It remarks "Municipal Governments are genuinely concerned at the ever increasing cost of municipal services and more particularly the pyramiding costs of primary and secondary education." Some relief from this growing burden may be afforded by the legislation to be enacted by the Quebec Government. The Federation states "It is for this reason that the Municipal Governments of Canada earnestly petition the Dominion and Provincial Governments to seek ways and means whereby through appropriate and mutually agreed upon financial arrangements the Provinces may more fully assist local governments in financing the costs of education and such other municipal services the full costs of which are demonstrably beyond the limited financial resources of Municipal Governments."

Let us hope that the prayer of the Federation will be heard and when necessary help given the sorely pressed Municipality.

Westmount has, to date, managed its affairs to earn for it the splendid reputation it enjoys as one of the most efficiently and progressively administered municipalities on this continent.

needs a transfusion himself and will be called upon to go down to the Red Cross Center at noon during a working day.

Hemophiliacs require large amounts of blood — up to 45 pints a year, on the average — as their own blood lacks coagulating agents which normally stop bleeding. A minor cut can be an emergency. Dental operations are extremely hazardous, and bruises and internal injuries are painful and sometimes fatal unless coagulation can be induced through transfusion of fresh-frozen blood plasma.

instalments and then bought the book when it was published.

"Arthur Sullivan" by Henry Saxe Wynham is the eventful life of the composer half of Gilbert and Sullivan. "My Musical Life" by Walter Damrosch is a volume I particularly treasure.

A book that was published in 1950 "Rachmaninoff" by Victor I. Seroff should attract all lovers of the music by the celebrated Russian who gave many concerts in Montreal. The life story of the composer of the famous "Prelude in C sharp Minor" and whose concertos and Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini have been made into popular tunes on the Hit Parade is a sad one that has such fascinating detail that one does not want to put it down once he has started to read it.

WHAT KIND OF MEN?

The overriding issue of the 1960's is to determine what kind of men can best deal with the tumult of change in the world. Everywhere the accent falls on the new ... the birth of new nations, the impact of new machines, the threat of new weapons, and the stirring of new ideas in economics, politics, and social values.

HERE IS THE YMCA'S ANSWER

The great need of our day is a strengthening of the moral values of our nation. The supreme and primary purpose of the Y.M.C.A. must be to provide an educational experience for youth and young adults in the learning of values.

PROJECT FOR 1961

A SPECIAL EDUCATION PROJECT FOR TEENAGE YOUTH... A seven year process of program modernization has shaped this city-wide plan to help our youth establish life interests and vocational choices — to give their formal education added meaning — to set GOALS FOR LEARNING, VALUES FOR LIVING.

Loyola Sports Roundup

By John McCann

The Loyola College Football Warriors went down to their first defeat in three years as they were overpowered by Ottawa University 50-13 at Landsdowne Park in Ottawa. More than 300 students from Loyola who travelled to Ottawa for the contest were well aware after the first five minutes of play that their team was not in the same class as the superior Ottawa squad.

Loyola did not hit the score-sheet until late in the first half when John Hogan raced 35 yards for the major to narrow Ottawa's lead to 15 points. However, Ottawa counted four unanswered touchdowns in the second half before Loyola's Bill Bacon scored his first touchdown of the season to close off the scoring in the game.

It is felt that one of the main reasons for this resounding defeat suffered by the Warriors was the weakness of the competition which Loyola met up with throughout the season. Only once this year were they ever behind in a game and that was by a mere one point. On the other hand, Ottawa University tangled with such high calibre squads as R.M.C., McMaster and O.A.C. where the team was bound to improve with each game.

This defeat, however, should not mar the successful season Loyola enjoyed and with the loss of only seven players through graduation, the Warriors will come back stronger than ever next season.

The College Hockey Warriors, under coach Bernie McCallum, will play their first exhibition game tonight against McGill University at the McGill Winter Stadium. This game will be in conjunction with the McGill Invitational Tournament. The teams competing in this round-robin tournament are McGill, Loyola, Sir George Williams and University of Montreal.

Ed Meagher's High School Senior 'A' Warriors downed Mount Royal High 26-12 and then went on to blank Cardinal Newman 28-0 in the Interscholastic playdowns to retain the Wilf Wallace Memorial Trophy which they won last year. Bernie Young, Paul St. George and George Poirier starred for the Warriors in both these contests.

Black Watch in ball win

Black Watch started out in quest of their second straight Officers Military Football League pennant when they defeated Fusiliers Mont Royal 13-12 in the opening game of the 1960-61 season at Black Watch Armory.

Ross Southward went all the way as he hurled the Highlanders to their triumph. He struck out four batters along the route and walked four.

A single by Bill Edge in the seventh drove home the winning run for the Watch.

Lieutenant Colonel D'Arcy McGovern paced the winners at the plate with a perfect night. He belted five for five including a triple and a double.

The Highlanders picked up 17 hits while Fusiliers collected 15 safeties. Gaston Proulx was charged with the defeat.

Padre Nicole was tops at the plate for Fusiliers with four hits, including two doubles in four times at bat.

Filter tip cigarettes were introduced as early as 1931.

McGill water show, Dec. 2-3

The 10th annual McGill Water Show will be held at Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium Pool, 475 Pine avenue west, December 2-3.

This annual production is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association of the University. Swimmers from McGill University and Macdonald College participate in the show.

Each year the show develops a theme around which the swimming routines are planned. The theme of this year's show is "Paper Capers".

The plot evolves around life in a newspaper office and depicts the varied aspects of newspaper life — ranging from the sombre obituaries, through the contrasting life of the comics, to the gay whirl of social events.

This proves to be a unique and artistic slant as the varied aspects of the newspaper world are brought to life in the water.

Tickets for Saturday night performance may be obtained from the Physical Education Office, Royal Victoria College, 555 Sherbrooke street west. There is no advance sale for the Friday night show.

Girls from the Westmount area swimming in the show are: Judy Clarke, Melodie Caron, Linda Grobstien.

Edmonton, Ottawa battle in Grey cup 48th classic with 40,000 expected

A repeat telecast of the 1960 Grey Cup football game, to be played at Vancouver's Empire Stadium Saturday, Nov. 26, will be carried on the full CBC television network the following day, Sunday, Nov. 27, from 1 p.m. to 3.30 p.m. EST.

This is the 48th year in which teams have battled for the Grey Cup but the 1960 game will actually be the 49th. In 1940, Ottawa Rough Riders defeated Toronto Balmy Beach 20-7 in a two-game, total-point series. All other championships have been decided in one game.

Until 1921, the "big" game of Canadian football involved only teams from eastern Canada. In 1921, the game became a national affair when Edmonton Eskimos challenged Toronto Argonauts but lost 30-23.

This year is the 33rd time the eastern Canada and western Canada champions have met in the Grey Cup classic. The east has won 24 and the west nine, including five in the last six years. The first western Canada champions were Winnipeg, as the Blue Bombers were known then, in 1935. They defeated Hamilton Tigers 18-12 at Hamilton.

Until 1955, the Grey Cup game was always played in eastern Canada but it moved to Vancouver five years ago. In that first game in Empire Stadium, Edmonton Eskimos won the second of three straight championships, defeating Montreal Alouettes 34-19. The game was again held in Vancouver two years ago and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the defending champions for the last two seasons, squeezed past Hamilton Tiger-Cats 35-28.

The biggest crowd ever to watch a Grey Cup was in Vancouver's Stadium in 1955 when 39,417 fans were on hand.

It is expected that more than 5,000,000 Canadians will watch the Grey Cup game on television this year. Last year, 4,700,000 viewers watched the CBC telecast.

The CBC, in conjunction with the Manitoba Travel and Convention Association, has a float entered in this year's Grey Cup parade. It features members of the CBC-TV program Red River Jamboree and is designed as a replica of the SS Selkirk, an historic old paddle-wheeler which plied the Red River.

Three cameras will be covering the parade for CBC television, including a mobile unit which will follow the parade through the streets of Vancouver.

There will be no blackout restrictions at all for the parade or game broadcasts. Football fans in Vancouver as well as in the rest of Canada will be able to watch or hear the parade and game.

This is the ninth year that CBC-TV has provided coverage of the Grey Cup game and each year Steve Douglas has been one of the play-by-play commentators. CBC radio coverage of the annual fall championship game has been provided since 1937 on at least a partial network.

Local skater passes pro test

Barbara Russel, 16, of 1555 Summerhill avenue, senior skater with The West End Figure Skating Club Inc., is reported to have won a position with Ice Capades, following recent trials held locally. Miss Russell has been a member of the West End Club since it was organized five years ago.

In this period she has become a colorful fancy skater and has succeeded in passing the preliminary, first second and third school figures tests of the Canadian Figure Skating Association. She attends St. Patrick's High School for girls and expects to graduate in June prior to joining The Ice Capades at their training quarters in California next summer.

The West End executive also reports that some vacancies still exist in the junior membership ranks for children under 13. The senior quota is filled. Junior skating time at the Loyola Arena is from 3:00 to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays and from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. Sundays.

Parents interested in having their children join the club should contact any member of the executive on duty at the arena during the skating sessions.

Seagram's Martini-Master Most Happy Invention

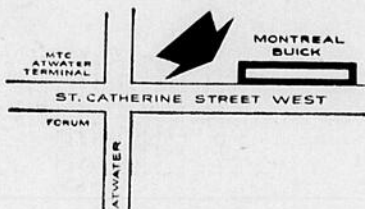

MONTREAL—New ease and convenience in the preparation of martinis are now achieved through the use of the unique Martini-Master, the container for Seagram's Gin, the world's driest gin.

Made from antique glass with a gold-plated cap and easily-removed label, the Martini-Master is simple to use. Just unscrew the large golden cap to add ingredients and ice. Stir gently. To pour, replace large cap and remove smaller top cap. The narrow neck acts as a suitable strainer.

In addition to martini-making, the ingenious Martini-Master performs valiantly as a shaker for all cocktails. When entertaining, several shakers can be used to prepare and store a supply of your favourite cocktails. They also add a distinctive new note to dining when used to serve fruit juices, iced tea and iced coffee.

Try Seagram's Gin soon. It's extra dry, extra smooth because it's aged in special oak casks to the golden moment of perfection. This ageing imparts a delicious dryness that gives every gin drink a unique crispness.
