Fishing, hunting out — Eskimos favor sculpturing

Examples of Eskimo sculpture called "the most sought after art in Canada," appeared this week on Greene avenue in the windows of the Chartered Trust Company, 1312 Greene avenue. These soapstone carvings were brought down last summer from the village of Povungnituk, located near Hudson's Bay in northern Labrador, by two well-travelled Montreal art dealers, Richard Terriut, and Laurent Simard.

The two had travelled extensively in the North, in search of bone carvings and drawings, but this was their first visit to Labrador where some of the best examples of sandstone sculpture are found.

With the assistance of the Canadian Government, Eskimos have established many co-operatives in the region principally to market furs and skins as well as fish. Good fishing waters are not available near Povungnituk and there has never been an abundance of game in the region. This gives the people more and more time for stone carving. The traditional craft has gradually become their chief source of income. In 1952 Charlie Sheeguatik, a village leader set up the first independent co-operative for Eskimo art. Its founder, he is the only Eskimo member of the Canadian Sculpture Association.

Out of a total population of about 500, at least 150 men and women of the village produce these carvings. Mr. Terriut said. All are sold and while a few inferior pieces are turned out, the overall quality is high. The Eskimos use the money they receive to buy prefabricated houses from the government. These cost $1500 of which the government pays one third.

Povungnituk is well above the tree line in Labrador so all building materials must be flown in. There is only one stone building in the town. Stone is of course, available in the area, but buildings of this material are difficult to construct and require expensive tools, Mr. Terriut said.

The only implements required for carving the soapstone are knives, made locally from scrap metal, and a file. The sculptures are finished with stone dust and sand and often soaked in oil to give them a lustre.

"Most of the pieces symbolize something in the peoples

Road blocks set up

Westmount Police revealed Wednesday that a road block was set up Friday night at the corner of Lexington and Sunnyside avenues, "to check cars moving in and out of the area." Three policemen stopped all cars entering and leaving the street.

Asked the reason for this move, Police Chief Harper said that it was good police practice to establish road blocks.

Storm costs city $40,000

Last week's heavy storm cost the City of Westmount over $40,000. N. T. Dawe, City Manager reported yesterday. The storm, which began Sunday, dropped close to seven inches of snow in the Montreal area. Winds of 20 m.p.h. slowed traffic and caused high drifts to form.

Speaking of the high overtime wages paid to employees on Sundays, Mr. Dawe said that it was a pity that Council could not pass a bylaw forbidding storms on weekends.

He remarked that several people had called City Hall to compliment those responsible for the job of snow clearing. "This to my knowledge is unusual," Mr. Dawe said. "Westmount is like that."

"In most cities, if you do a poor job in cleaning the streets, you get complaints and plenty of them. When you do well, you hear nothing."

He said that the most important factor in snow removal was starting on time, and not allowing the storm to get ahead of you. During the winter, the Roads Department checks every hour with forecasters at Montreal Airport. When a storm is predicted drivers and helpers in plows, salt spreaders, blowers are alerted, ready to start work at any moment.

The first vehicles to move out are usually the salt spreaders. When in the estimation of Police patrol cars the snow has accumulated to a sufficient depth to warrant it, the plows and graders begin work.

Mr. Dawe noted that it was the policy of the Westmount Roads Department to cast snow onto lawns when cleaning. "That we were able to do this on Sunday greatly improved the speed and efficiency of operations," he said. Police reported no significant increase in accidents as a result of the storm.

Overheated wires blamed in fire

Overheated electric wires are believed to have been the cause of last week's $140,000 fire on Greene avenue, police reported yesterday.

The fire which broke out last Wednesday night forced its way through the walls of the building at 1378 Greene in two places on the first and second floors. The building while extensively damaged is repairable, police said. Property at 1374 Greene suffered slight smoke and water damage.

Learns lesson in fire

This week was a quiet one for the fire department. One young Westmounter may have learned a valuable lesson Tuesday afternoon. Growing tired of playing with a candle an eight-year old boy set it down in his cupboard, and walked away. His mother, hearing a crackling noise ran and discovered the closet on fire. The boy was an interested spectator as firemen soon extinguished the blaze. Later he discovered that the damage he had caused was to his own toys.

Old Boy's sponsor 'Career Night'

The Westmount High School Old Boys Association is planning a "career night" for students in the 10th and 11th years, together with their parents on Monday, February 4, at 8:00 p.m. The purpose of this night is to provide students with an opportunity to find out what the various walks of life have to offer high school graduates and what the requirements are.

Among the speakers and subjects to be presented are:

LAW: Mr. Richard Holden, Partner of MacKay and Holden.

MEDICINE: Dr. Copping, Montreal General Hospital.

SECRETARIAL: Mr. Page, Grahams Business College.

TEACHING: Mr. Jim Patrick, Assistant Principal West Hill High School.

LIBRARY SCIENCE: Mrs.

Nora Bryant, Chief Librarian, Westmount Public Library.

AIRLINE CAREERS: Trans Canada Air-lines.

ADVERTISING: Mr. Ian Roberts, Cockfield Brown Ltd.

ARMED FORCES: Captain R. H. Phillips, Resident Staff Officer McGill University COTC.

ARCHITECTURE: Mr. David Bourke, Dobush Stewart and Bourke.

ACCOUNTING: Mr. Hugh Jones, MacDonald Currie Co.

ELECTRONICS: Mr. Paul Gostony, Aviation Electric Limited.

ENGINEERING: Professor Philip J. Harris, McGill University.

RADIO AND T.V.: Mr. Lyman Potts, Radio Station CJAD.

SOCIAL SERVICE: Mr. Vernon F. McAdam, Weredale House.

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

February 1 to 9

Commencing clear and quite cold with light powder snow, we could have an ice storm this week with snow in the south, blizzard conditions in the north and east with 4 to 6" of snow and strong winds.

Bright and cold into mid-week then warming for up to 3" of snow and risk of freezing rain in the south, and heavy snows (4") in the north, mostly powder.

Clearing and quite cold to end the week with blowing snow. At this time we will have had half the snow to be expected this winter.

Thieves disturb breadboard

Thieves broke into the home of Mrs. P. S. C. Powles, 4129 Western avenue, Friday night, forcing open a kitchen window with a crowbar. Mrs. Powles was not at home.

The only articles taken were a transistor radio and a slide projector valued together at $125. Nothing else was disturbed except a wooden breadboard which the thieves for some unknown reason, had taken into the bedroom and place carefully on a bed.

Loyola debate

On Friday, February 1, at 11 a.m., in the Drummond Science Auditorium of Loyola, the International Affairs Society will present an informal debate.

The topic of this debate will be "Has Confederation been a failure for the French-Canadians".

Representing the French-Canadian viewpoint will be Gilles Gregoire, MP from Lapointe and national vice-chairman of the Social Credit Party; the English-Canadian viewpoint will be represented by Robert Prittie, New Democratic Party MP from Burnaby-Richmond, B.C.

H. G. (SI) YOUNG: Chairman of the Trans-Canada Telephone system. Mr. Young retired Thursday. He is shown here operating his own amateur radio station in Westmount — VE 2 CP.

Harold Young, radio pioneer retires

Westmount resident Harold G. (Si) Young, 10 Willow avenue, Westmount, vice-president of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada and chairman of the Trans-Canada Telephone System, retired this week after nearly 44 years' service in the telephone industry.

A "ham" radio enthusiast since his youth, Mr. Young guided the first trial steps in Canada's radio relay, and in 1958 upon completion of the Trans-Canada Telephone System's microwave network from Sydney, N.S., to Victoria, B.C., became chairman of the system's management committee.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Young received his early education in Markham, Ont., including instruction in the Morse code obtained from the local railway station agent on his way to Markham High School.

In the spring of 1917 he interrupted his university career to join the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. One of the first (No. 38) to obtain a ship radio operator's license from the Department of Naval Service in 1914, he was posted as wireless operator on HMCS Cartier, an auxiliary cruiser engaged on submarine patrol work, until 1918.

Immediately after his graduation in applied science from the University of Toronto, Mr. Young joined the American Telephone & Telegraph Company in New York. Two years later he joined the Belle Telephone Company of Canada, becoming a general manager in 1939 and a vice president in 1956.

Since 1946, when he moved to a house suitable for the erection of an antenna, Mr. Young has again had his own amateur radio station — at first VE3 BL in Toronto, and since 1952 VE 2 CP in Westmount.

As a member of the American Radio Relay League he communicates regularly with hams all over the world, but says that the big thrill comes from putting together a lot of bits and pieces of used equipment.

In his retirement, he expects to pursue his hobby as enthusiastically as in his boyhood days.

Fishing, hunting . . .

mythology. The God of Hunting is the most popular subject; he is the central figure in their religion. They do have Gods for almost everything in nature so there is a wide range of subject matter."

No one in the village could hope to support himself with his earnings from the sale of the sculptures. "The Eskimas still spend at least three days each week hunting and fishing to provide clothing and meat for themselves."

"While prices as high as $1,000 have been paid for sculptures of exceptional quality most pieces sell for forty to seventy dollars in the south" Mr. Terriut said. "The artists receive a fair share of this."

Exhibition at Atwater Library

"Cities in the 60's," an exhibition of photographs provided by the Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation, may currently be seen in the Atwater Library, 1200 Atwater avenue.

Photographs show the latest innovations in shopping centres, public gardens, libraries, city halls, housing developments, and office buildings.

The exhibition will continue until February 15.

Q.E. Hotel addition discussed

Hotels, contrary to public opinion, do not keep rooms in reserve for important guests who might turn up unexpectedly said Mr. Reg Groome, Manager of the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in an address to the Westmount Rotary Club, Wednesday. "All rooms must be sold if the hotel is to gain any revenue from them at that time," he said.

More reservations than rooms

He explained that hotels always accept more reservations than they have rooms. "It is a normal and sensible practice," he explained. Twenty-five per cent of those who reserve rooms never show up and certainly never cancel." We are taking a calculated risk." Occasionally, he said, a sudden storm will cause cancellation of many plane flights and guests will stay on for an extra day or two. He urged incoming guests with reservations not to be too angry "if you find yourself sleeping in the ballroom."

Mr. Groome stated that the Queen Elizabeth would definitely build an addition of about 300 rooms. No decision has been made as to the starting date for construction, but we would like to have it completed by 1967 as we are already heavily booked for the World's Fair period."

At the head table for this meeting of the Rotary were Cyril Dendy, Len Earle, Jim Glen, and Stan Cayford.

IN THE SUN: When the S.S. Homeric docks in Martinique, native talent comes aboard to tell the history of the island in dance and song. French is the native-tongue in Martinique and West Enders who speak French are right at home.

Caribbean winter vacations attract more West Enders

More West Enders than ever who are planning winter vacations are turning to a Caribbean cruise for a few weeks away from the snow and cold.

One of the queens now on the sun lanes between New York and the beautiful Caribbean islands is a ship well-known to Montrealeers, the S.S. Homeric.

When not acting as a floating luxury hotel for sun-seeking vacations, the Homeric plies the North Atlantic from Montreal to European ports. Often when in Montreal Harbor the Homeric is the scene of gala balls and dinners.

Queen of the Home Lines fleet, the Homeric has seven cruises on its schedule this Winter, touching nearly all of the Caribbean Islands and parts of South America.

Cruise travel for the uninitiated is somewhat bewildering. In a very short time one gets into the swing of things and the ship becomes a floating luxury hotel, with every conceivable type of entertainment available and sumptuous food to please every palate.

Something final

There's something final about the moment when the Homeric's last lines are dropped ashore and she takes off on the high seas. The ship and those in her become an isolated community with radio the only communication between ship and shore. However, the isolation is less than complete because there's so much going on and to do aboard ship.

Every day, in addition to that day's program, the Homeric staff prints its own newspaper keeping everyone in touch with the major events going on in the world. New York stock exchange quotations are also listed daily.

But the bulk of the travelers seem to want to get away from it all and the paper and distant shore become something strange — a port to return to after days of holidaying in every sense.

Eating seems to be the most important hobby aboard ship and the first order of business is dining room seating. Once this is accomplished entertainment begins and doesn't slack off until the ship returns to New York.

In addition to being a hotel, the Homeric is also a vehicle. A vehicle which takes its customers to the enchanting Caribbean Islands with their traditions, customs, beautiful beaches and above all duty-free ports abounding with bargains to delight everyone's taste.

For those who always want to be doing something, the Homeric cruise staff offers a diversified list, which includes trapshooting, shuffleboard, ping pong, horse racing, bingo, dancing to four orchestras in four separate lounges, first-run movies; two musical revues, card lessons, Italian lessons, gala parties and the constant custom of watching and making friends with one's neighbors.

The food is bewitching. For example an average day's menu is as follows: breakfast, with as much 13 varieties of juice and fruit available. At 11 a.m., bouillon and soda biscuits are served. At 12 noon, lunch offers a choice of four juices, 11 hors d'oeuvres, four soups, three egg dishes, two fish dishes, six entrées, including a chef's special, 10 cold dishes, five salads, many cheeses and dessert creations, magnificent to behold and taste.

At 4 p.m. tea, sandwiches and French pastry are served. At 7 p.m. it's dinner time and once again the menu is magnificent, often topped with a wine or champagne from the Homeric's wine "cellar." At midnight a tantalizing cold buffet is offered, featuring the chef's specialties in meats and pastries. And of course, should you so desire the room steward is only too happy

by JUDI ROTHMAN and ELIZABETH CAMPBELL

After the success of last year's Winter Carnival, we have decided to plan another one for the weekend of February 8. From Monday to Thursday of that week the houses will compete in an ice-sculpturing contest. On Friday at noon we shall have again what promises to become a new tradition of Westmount High — the Douglas Lawlus Testimonial Perpetual Memorial Football Trophy (battled in the snow) with the Tilly-Billies against the Tittle-Mecces. Members of the football teams must play the game in pyjamas.

From 3.00 to 5.30, Friday afternoon there will be skiing and skating for all those interested, followed by a dinner in the gym. From 7.00 to 8.15 a variety show will be put on in the auditorium. A dance will end the day's activities. Those who still have some energy left may take the ski-trip at Orford on Saturday.

Extra classes are offered to grade eleven students to brush up on some subjects for the matriculations. Mr. Bernard has organized a morning English lesson for top students, which includes a detailed review of the literature course, and an essay every week. Miss King has also planned classes to review grade ten biology.

The Current Events Club have had two highly successful meetings in the last two weeks. Marve Luster was the special guest at the first one; while Phil Issenman, guest at the second one, lectured on his trip behind the Iron Curtain and showed slides pertinent to his talk.

Some students from Westmount High went to Mount Royal last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday to participate in the Music Festival. They displayed Westmount's high standing in such positions as first viola, second flute; second cello, and first double bass. The Festival is good experience musically and, for some socially.

OPERETTA

Practices for the MASQUE of AESOP are held every day. Bill Hart, Mary Copland, Tova Weisenthal, Corine Bronfman, John Edgell, David Smith, Bill Jones, Frazer Adams, and Janice Alton have lead roles. Teachers in charge of production are Miss King, Miss Beynon, Miss Jamieson, and Mr. Barr. For the first time, there will be student directors to assist the teachers. Bill Hart, Tova Weisenthal, Robert Bourne, and Janice Alton have been chosen. Robert Mayerovitch will be playing the piano.

The Staff of The Purple 'n' White announces that a new addition of the paper will be out shortly. The staff wishes to thank the grade seven classes for their contributions and their support. Meanwhile, the Vox (Continued on page 5)

WE SAY Stop immortalizing ugliness

NO city, no area in this country is completely safe today from the bulldozer, the land speculator, the road builder, and the engineer. Everywhere cities are expanding, traditional buildings are demolished, leaving in the wake of the bulldozer a symmetrical pile of cardboard doll houses or neat unimaginative apartment buildings.

Crossroad towns, once neat and well-defined become a hodgepodge of gas stations, billboards, and hot dog stands as industries move in.

The tyranny of the gas motor has precipitated a revolution in road building — a gigantic sacrifice sale. Make way for the automobile — everything must go. Lost in the crowd are rather important creatures — human beings.

The tragedy is not that new roads, new buildings and houses must be constructed. Who will decry progress? It lies in our attitude towards new projects. When beginning any construction work we merely consider how it will increase our material power, seldom caring about creating something of beauty, or something that may really be enjoyed for generations.

With population growth and increased material wealth the trend towards immortalizing ugliness will continue at an increasing rate unless something is done. It can even happen in Westmount.

YOU SAY Keep off my driveway

Sir:

As a Westmount citizen I fully appreciate the generally excellent job that city snow removal crews do to keep the streets ploughed and passable. I believe our streets are better kept than any other municipality on the island.

Glancing out by window last Sunday I noticed a snow-blower coming down the street blowing snow onto the lawns. As it passed my house it sent a shower of snow onto my driveway and front walk, blocking both. In addition, it removed only half of the bank at the edge of the sidewalk.

I realize that these crews, during and after a major storm have a large and difficult job to perform. Perhaps the streets come first, but that is no excuse for blowing snow where it obstructs one's movement to and from his property.

I have seen the blowers shoot the snow in front of them until they are able to pick it up and blow it on the lawns.

In any event, there should always be a man behind the blowers to correct any damage.

I have spoken to the Roads Department people at city hall but still this happens each winter during almost every snowfall. Please gentlemen, correct this before my back gives out.

Bottle of youth

READING of a lady who "is in her forties, and looks half her age." I recalled a story told of the wizard Cagliostro.

He promised a lady of Strasbourg, where he was bamboozling Cardinal de Rohan, a potion which would immediately restore her youth. Her 18-year-old maid got hold of it, and when the lady came home from a visit the maid was stumbling about in an enormous dress 30 sizes too big for her. She had drunk the potion and become a child of five.

I SAY!

A friend was commenting on a report that lightning struck a Texan while he was swearing. He thought it was remarkable. Roger Pickeldorf, who had overheard, said it would be even more remarkable if lightning struck a Texan while he wasn't swearing.

This Week in Westmount Westmount goes Hollywood

by VALENTINA RAHR

Appearing this week on a local TV station is a commercial filmed last summer at the corner of St. Catherine and Lewis. Besieged for hours, Sam Carol's restaurant was taken over by a camera crew, actors, and a director complete with beard, seersucker jacket, gummed soled shoes, in the approved Hollywood tradition.

Crowds of onlookers got underfoot as an organ grinder and a live monkey went through an act; an attractive blond leading lady and her handsome partner came in on cue; and customers buying milk and sandwiches climbed over yards of camera and lighting cord enclosed in heavy protective rubber hose lying on the floor.

The regular window display was transformed to show a draped background with jars labelled "Leeches" and other props supplied by the film company. Streamlined late model cars, well dressed visitors, heavily made up characters, busy camera men ordered about by the producer, and crowds of curious watchers, gave local Westmounters a taste of the excitement of making a film sequence.

Canadians are aware that this week is a critical one for our government, and that any of a number of reasons may precipitate another federal election. According to MRS. R. W. CHORISTINE, president Liberal Women's Association of Westmount, preparations for a federal election are the same every time. "Enumerating begins on the 47th to 45th day before an election; on the 42nd day lists are posted. There are only three days for revision in a federal election. If a resident does not contact his revision office during those days, then the right to vote is lost, and nothing on earth can get it back. Revision takes place on the 18th, 17th, and 16th days prior to election. Location of polls is announced on the 26th day before election. An advance poll accepts people who cannot vote on election day, such as travelling salesmen, people who plan to be away on vacation. Now, anyone can vote in advance poll if he knows that he will be away on election day."

MISS ANNE LEDUC, Chequers Apartments, took a party of friends to the CBC Music Festival, which featured this season's final competition, conducted by Sir Ernest MacMillan. Finalists were awarded the following prizes: $1,000 to Miss Joan Patenaude, soprano; $250 to Miss Louise Lebrun, coloratura soprano; $1,000 to sixteen year old, pianist Miss Weiss; $250 to violinist Albert Cooke of Alberta. Miss Leduc brought the guests to her home after the programme for refreshments.

MISS DAVIS, St. Catherine west, home again after ten days in Montreal General Hospital... Westmount High "meet the teachers" afternoon very successfully carried off with no long queues of parents waiting for an interview, as generally happened in the old Westmount High... Protest new bus route

A delegation of residents from upper Westmount this week protested the projected establishment of a tramways bus line in their neighborhood.

The buses are to travel along the Boulevard to Renfrew avenue, turning on Renfrew, Douglas and Murray Hill, and back along the Boulevard to Cote St. Luc road. Passengers will be transported from the heart of Montreal to northern N.D.G., by transversing from the tram line on the Boulevard to the proposed bus route.

A committee, headed by J. Panet Raymond, and including City Manager P. E. Jarmen and City Solicitor J. W. Weldon is to lay Westmount's case before the Montreal Tramways Commission at its next meeting. "That the residents of N.D.G. desire a more adequate transportation service is no reason for planning to run buses through a quiet residential district fully three quarters of a mile away. To operate this service would of necessity bring a larger flow of passenger traffic over existing street car routes; this in turn would mean more cars at certain times of the day, and it is felt that the Boulevard, running as it does through a purely residential district, should not be made into any more of a through highway to the West End than it is, regrettably at present."

Track and Field Club

Manager George Rutter of the newly organized Westmount Track and Field Club announced this week the start of activities for the 1937 season. Training, in the form of general exercises, will be under the direction of Coach Lud Horn.

Shopping in Westmount

Eight tube console radios were on sale for $99.98 this week in Westmount. Hand-made men's suits sold for $12.00, a pint of ice-cream for 19c, a 38 piece dinner set for $5.49, and lawn mowers for $6.95.

Drury supports A-Arms

"Bud" Drury, Member of Parliament for St. Antoine-Westmount said Tuesday that nuclear weapons were essential for Canada to discourage any potential aggressor and to fulfill her commitments to NATO and the North American Defence Command.

Speaking at a press conference in Calgary and a Liberal Party nominating convention, Mr. Drury, while unwilling to condone stockpiling of nuclear arms in Canada for the defence of North America, said that Canada must keep her promises to other countries. "We must be in the position of making sure other people feel that they have confidence in us. We must mean what we say and do what we mean."

Mr. Drury was Deputy Minister of Defence under the Liberal governments between 1948 and 1955.

Being an Italian ship, the Italian influence is very noticeable in the preparation of food. With lunch and dinner a pasta course is inevitable and for the stay-up latters one of the lounges offers pizza pie at 2 a.m.

For the first day out of New York and the last day before returning, sweaters and jackets are necessary on deck. But the remarkable incidence of sunshine brings out swim suits, shorts and light cruise wear for the remainder of the journey.

New books

Among the new books received this week by the Westmount Public Library are:

Facing the Dictators by Sir Anthony Eden. This volume is the continuation of the Earl of Avon's biography and cover the 1930's. Volume one is entitled Full Circle.

Phoenix at Coventry by Sir Basil Spence. The architect of Coventry Cathedral gives his personal account of the building.

Renoir, my Father by Jean Renoir. A comprehensive biography of Renoir, the man, by his son.

In Search of Greatness by Yusuf Karsh. The author recalls meetings with famous people whom he met while perusing his profession of photographer.

Montreal Yesterdays by Edgar Anthony Collard. Interesting vignettes of happenings in Montreal in the nineteenth century.

Mr. Wilson's War by John Dos Passos. An informal account of the people who made American and world history from 1901 to 1924.

THE SHOE FITS! Pictured is a scene from the Children's Theatre production of Cinderella, which takes place at Victoria Hall for two matinees, Saturday afternoons February 9 and 16. Shown here are Barbara Greenspoon, Paula McKeown and Janet Adler as the stepmother and stepsisters, Rebecca Gauthier as Ashes, with Walter Aube and Donna Kofman as the Prince and Cinderella.

Children's Theatre presents 'Cinderella'

For the children and by the children is how the forthcoming play, Cinderella, is described by the Children's Theatre. Two performances are scheduled, both matinees. The first is Saturday, February 9, and the second for February 16, both in Victoria Hall.

Theatre directors Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters point out that there are 60 persons taking part in the show, one complete cast for each showing.

An addition to the treasured story of Cinderella is Ashes a magic cat who helps Cinderella through her trials and tribulations.

Cinderellas will be played by Cheryl Steinberg and Donna Hoffman, both of whom have taken part in previous Children's Theatre productions.

In the cast

Others in the cast include: Carla Wittes, Rebecca Gauthier, Beverley Light, Barbara Greenspoon, Sandra Smith, Janet Adler, Marlene Worsoff, Paula McKeown, Gabrielle Czernecki, Linda Woronka, Walter Aube, Walter Wakefield, Hana Gartner, Elizabeth Estall, Nancy Posell, Susan Miller Gloria Prupas, Jane Berecoviteh, Iris Adler Guy Mello, David Conter.

The Fairy Band includes: Sylvia Perolli, Julie Witties, Beth Bud, Eva Hoy Sonya Glaser, Catherine Gillette, Cindy Clement, Linda Goldman, Beverley Ritz Debby Stopps, Laura Bollen, Erit Gillman, Mona Floren, Corinne Vaughn, Sharon Adler, Rita Benn, Marlene Plimley.

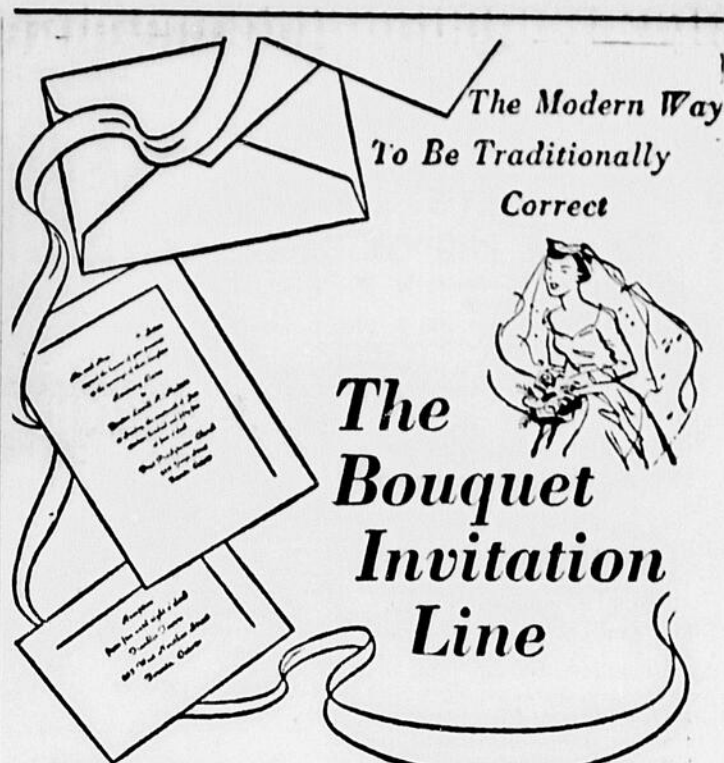

The dancers at the Prince's Ball include: Ilana Abramovitch, Jo-Anne Shiller, Sandra Laufer, Miriam Klein Eleanor Levy, Elissa Levine, Sandra Cymet, Janet Rubinstein, Elizabeth Estall, Donna Ditkofsky and Rhea Abrams.

Choreography is by Agy Polly. Directors Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters have been busily engaged arranging for the special designing of colorful costumes, and Andre Trudel and Bill Springford are responsible for the staging and lighting of this production.

Cinderella dresses will be given as gifts to lucky children.

COLOR CHANGE

Chemical action can change the color of hydrangea flowers to blue. Aluminum sulfate is the most effective chemical for doing this, but common alum also will bring about the blue color.

Cosmetic Hints

by Vera F. Seiffert

Beauty care is not inexpensive, but there are spendings you can avoid. You can waste a lot of money in testing the various highly advertised cosmetics. You buy a bottle here and a jar there and after a while you find out, that these again were not the right products for your skin or complexion and they will dry out and be wasted. These misbuys could even worsen your skin.

It would be advisable to see your cosmetician and have a skin diagnosis made and have her give advice about the care your personal skin needs. Sometimes very simple and inexpensive ways get best results.

The following hints will save you a lot of money and you will look beautiful at all times.

As soon as you know the right product for your skin type, buy larger bottles and jars. They are comparatively less expensive.

Skin tonic will last longer, if you wet a piece of cotton with water, better even, with chemical clean water, and then apply it. But never touch your skin with the dry cotton.

Cleaning milk you pour into the palm of your hand and apply it direct to your skin. Applied with cotton or a sponge you use double the amount.

Apply cream very thin and massage or tap it well into your skin. This is of special importance with nourishing creams.

Liquid make-up you put on very thin; one drop each on both cheeks, on forehead and chin is enough. Spread it very evenly and do not forget your neck.

Lipstick can be all used up if you use a fine brush and the outline will be much improved with a brush.

Close all bottles, jars and tubes tight, never leave them open. They will appreciate a cooler place for keeping them.

DOUBLE-CHIN

Many women have the habit of reading in bed. This is from the cosmetic viewpoint a mistake. It tends to develop a double chin. It would not be so bad if one would sleep the rest of the night without a pillow and watch during the day to keep the head and chin up. Here is a simple but quite effectful hint in this respect; cut off from an old stocking the upper ring, put your chin in it and bring it around your face. This will apply an elastic pressure on your lower chin which will prevent to a great extent the formation of a double chin and even wrinkles. Take it off only shortly before you go to sleep. Better still if you bought, instead of a book for night reading, a pillowroll which when

CAMPAIGN CHAIRMEN: Mr. Paul Boretsky, campaign chairman, Knights of Pythias and Mrs. Annette Lesonsky, Pythian Sister campaign chairman for the 1963 Pythians Campaign which will officially open February 4 and extend to February 18. Objective is $63,000.

Pythians set 1963 target at $63,000

A target of $63,000 is being aimed for by the Knights of Pythias, Domain of Quebec, whose annual fund raising campaign began on Saturday with a giant rally and dance at the Chevra Kadisha Synagogue.

Campaign chairman, Paul Boretsky, is confident the campaign will be a success. The public is aware of the many services rendered by the Knights of Pythias over the years.

To date the Knights of Pythias have contributed over $265,000 to the Montreal Children's Hospital and more than $55,000 to the Jewish Hospital of Hope.

Their Clinic of Optometry is unique in as much as it is the only one of its kind in the country, serving and supplying glasses to hundreds of underprivileged every year.

Over 1,000 food hampers are distributed to the needy every year.

Weekly visits are eagerly looked forward to regularly by patients of the Ste. Anne's Military Hospital from members of the Pythian Order. Some of these patients have been confined to the hospital since the First World War.

The medical clinic in Northern Galilee near the Israeli-Lebanese Border is supported by the Domain of Quebec and bears their name.

The Pythian Sisters have a most important project to maintain in Forward House, for social rehabilitation of former psychiatric patients. The centre is situated at 4881 Sherbrooke street west and is open three evenings a week and Sunday afternoons. All services are available free of charge and the average attendance is over 600 a month. Solely sponsored and supported by Pythian Sisters, Forward House is the only centre of its placed on your neck keeps your chin up and relaxed during your beauty sleep, a daily neck massage of only three minutes will also do wonders.

Ladies Literary Society

The meeting of the Dominion-Douglas Ladies Literary Society will be held in Dominion-Douglas United Church, Westmount, on February 8, at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Lloyd C. Stevenson, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, McGill University, will speak on "Literature and Medicine" and Beryl Light, lyric soprano, will be the guest artist. Tea will be served at the close of the meeting.

Notice

Due to the many engagement and wedding photographs received for publication and the high cost of production, in future a nominal fee of $5 will be charged.

CAMPAIGN CHAIRMEN: Mr. Paul Boretsky, campaign chairman, Knights of Pythias and Mrs. Annette Lesonsky, Pythian Sister campaign chairman for the 1963 Pythians Campaign which will officially open February 4 and extend to February 18. Objective is $63,000.

Coming Events

VALENTINE CARD PARTY: St. Kevin's Ladies' Group will sponsor a Valentine card party, in aid of the building fund, Monday, February 18 at 8 p.m., in St. Kevin's Hall, Cote des Neiges road and St. Kevin's avenue. Prize convener, Miss Betty Greenslade. Drawing convener, Miss Joyce Murphy.

kind in the Province of Quebec. Mrs. Annette Lesonsky heads the women's counterpart of the Campaign.

Official dates for the Campaign are Feb. 4 to 18.

Social & Personal

The Heather Ladies' Curling club is holding a Bridge on February 6, at 2 p.m., for members and friends. This bridge will be convened by Mrs. G. B. Simpson and Mrs. G. R. Fellows. There will be curling for those who wish it, and tea will be served.

Luncheon meeting

The monthly luncheon-meeting of the United Church Women of Westmount Park-Emmanuel and Calvary Church will take place in Webster Hall, Tuesday, at one o'clock. Mrs. W. Cantwell Smith will be the speaker.

High school curling tourney planned

Quebec's top schoolboy curlers meet here next week for the Provincial School Curling Championships leading up to the national championships scheduled for Guelph next month.

High school rinks from all parts of the province will compete for the Pepsi-Cola Trophy on the artificial ice sheets of the Quebec Winter Club and the Jacques Cartier Curling Club, provincial curling committee chairman Vin Lyon reports. The Hon. Paul Gerin-Lajoie, Minister of Youth, has accepted an invitation to throw the first rock.

National finals Feb. 18-22

Winners of the event will be given a free berth to the national school curling bonspiel in Guelph February 18-22. This is the only sports competition held annually which draws representatives from schools in all 10 provinces. The bonspiel marks a high point in a school sport which has grown in popularity over the past few years. Several members of previous schoolboy champion rinks are now curling with established senior clubs throughout the country and are showing up with increasing regularity at the major bonspiels.

The soft drink firm donating the trophy makes possible both provincial and national events by providing most of the expenses involved. It supports school curling as a part of its over-all Canadian Junior Sports Development Program.

— FLASH — West Enders take top sports awards

by Pete Baumann

Six West Enders have taken awards out of a possible seven for top sportsmen of the year, it was learned by The Examiner Wednesday night.

● Jacques Plante of St. Laurent, is top professional athlete;

● Kenny Farmer is executive of the year;

● Richard Pound is amateur athlete of the year;

● Ed Healy, coach of the year;

● Ernie Rochon of Ponsard Hockey League, certificate of merit;

● Paul Valois of the N.D.G. Maple Leaf football team and the N.D.G. Minor Baseball League, certificate of merit.

Only non-West Ender on the list is David W. (Dogie) Parsons, past-president of the St. Lambert Community Association, will be awarded the Jim Foley Trophy as Montreal's most outstanding sports executive.
