Earl Derby Causes Much Amusement in the Lords.

LAMENTABLE SCENE BY CHURCHILL.

France Loses in the Diplomatic Game with Germany and Russia—The Significance of the Betrothal of the Czarewitch and Princess Alix—Lord Rosebery's Matrimonial Intentions.

LONDON, April 21.—Each House of Parliament was startled last night by a scene quite unparalleled in their respective histories. The House of Lords was suddenly amazed by the spectacle of a noble peer standing with a pistol levelled at the head of Lord Salisbury. This dramatic situation was the climax of a queer speech by Earl Derby, Canada's ex-Governor-General, who was advocating the bill to restrict the sale of firearms. No dealer was to sell a pistol except to the holder of a game license, and married women were to be debarred from having the license under any conditions, husbands being outside definition of fair game within the meaning of the bill.

As Earl Derby gravely explained this provision, the House roared with laughter and there was not a dry eye either on the Ministerial or the Opposition side. The beauty of the situation was that the noble lord was in dead earnest throughout. He produced two small boys as dreadful examples of the present laxity. One had recently shot the other seriously.

Then Earl Derby produced deadly weapons from various pockets and finally a murmur of surprise caused Lord Salisbury to look up from the letter he was reading and found himself confronting the barrel of a pistol with a finger on the trigger. The Leader of the Opposition shrank back and exclaimed hurriedly to the excited speaker, "keep the point downward." Earl Derby obligingly lowered the weapon and handed it to the Prime Minister.

RANDY MADE AN EXHIBITION.

Lord Randolph Churchill, once the rising hope of the Conservative party, whose speeches, even after he had wrecked his chances of the highest political distinction, were always listened to with the deepest attention, was the principal in a regretable spectacle in the House in the course of the debate on the ducal annuity. During the speeches of Messrs. Labouchere and Storey, Lord Randolph made numerous irrelevant and incoherent interruptions, which were greeted with shouts of derisive laughter from all parts of the House. His own speech was a savage and vehement attack upon the Radicals in general and upon Henry Labouchere in particular.

The speech of Lord Randolph called forth a running fire of laughter from the Radical benches. He looked ill and was decidedly excited, and appeared to forget his misrepresentation of previous speeches. On the other hand, he strewed his own with such phrases as "revolting sentimente" and "vomiting Radical trash." Lord Randolph Churchill eulogised Mr. Gladstone's unfailing patriotism, the suppression of which he claimed, was a serious loss to the House. The speaker then described the welting which he claimed Mr. Gladstone would have administered to Henry Labouchere, had the veteran Liberal leader been present on that occasion. The description which Lord Randolph then gave of Mr. Labouchere as "feasting and intoxicating himself on Royal grants," was received with a roar of significant laughter. During his remarkable speech Lord Randolph Churchill accused the Radicals of wanting to make the Duke of Edinburgh a crossing-sweeper, whereupon Charles A. Conybeare (Radical), cried out, "His mother has plenty of money."

The Chronicle, commenting upon Lord Randolph's speech said: "It would be merciful to draw a veil over the scene. Much to Mr. Balfour's relief, towards the end of his speech, Lord Randolph quieted and quoted an effective passage from a speech made by O'Connell."

The Westminster Gazette also comments upon the extraordinary episode.

FASHIONABLE WORLD INDIGNANT.

The aristocratic and fashionable world is said to be in a state of hysterical indignation over the official announcement that only 200 presentations are to be made at each of the two drawing-rooms held by the Queen next month. Such an arbitrary limitation is declared to be without precedent, ungenerous, despotic, unjust and what not, and it is suggested that Lord Carrington, the Liberal Lord Chamberlain, in enforcing such an arbitrary rule is acting in the interests of his party in the hope of "stirring up strife against the Court as well as against the House of Lords." It is needless to say that His Lordship is quite innocent of any such dark design and is in no way responsible for the obnoxious regulation which is due to the Queen's own orders. The drawing room is certainly a very fatiguing ceremony for the Sovereign, and one can understand and sympathize with her anxiety to limit the number of presentations, but the change has been made so suddenly that, according to the aristocratic grumblers, it will entail heavy losses on families who had already prepared to present their daughters by taking town honses, ordering dresses, etc. Now they learn that the Lord Chamberlain's lists are full and that they will have to wait months and possibly a whole year.

AN ELECTORAL MANIFESTO.

The Labor Electoral Association of Great Britain and Ireland has issued a manifesto concerning the policy of workingmen voters in the forthcoming general election. It declares in favor of payment of salaries to members of Parliament, and for making a re-question of the abolition of the House of Lords. It also holds that the selection of labor candidates by small bodies of men, resulting in many cases no representative position, and without consultation with the local trade societies or the trades council, is decidedly objectionable and apt to estrange the support of thousands of level-handed workingmen who despair of old parties and old methods. Political sharp practice, it is urged, must not be insisted upon by the supporters of workingmen's candidates for the House of Commons. An eight hour bill for miners is also favored by the manifesto.

MRS. MAYBRICK AGAIN.

Another attempt has been added to the series of efforts to obtain the release of Mrs. Maybrick, who is undergoing a life term in Woking prison for the murder of her husband. A petition has been presented to Mr. Asquith, Home Secretary, praying for her discharge and a number of affidavits are also submitted to the effect that for many years Maybrick was a confirmed opium eater, and was also addicted to the use of arsenic.

NO PLOT AGAINST THE QUEEN.

A thorough investigation on the part of the authorities of Scotland Yard, aided by the most expert detective service of the continent has resulted in a formal statement to the effect that no proof is forthcoming to support the allegation that a plot had been arranged to wreck the train in which Queen Victoria journeyed to Florence. The report was first published by The Autorite, the principal Socialistic organ of Paris.

BRITISH GRANGER GOSSIP.

The weather during the last week has been seasonable; rainy, but no colder. The crop prospects have improved. The wheat market has been quieter. In American wheat there was a small trade. Parcels of red winter for April delivery were quoted at 22s 9d; hard Manitoba was quoted at 26s. The condition of agriculture in Great Britain is in many parts well indicated by the figures which have been published by the Agricultural Department showing the acreage of the various crops and the number of head of stock in the past and preceding years. In 1873 the total acreage under all kinds of crops, bare, fallow and grass, amounted to 31,102,620. Last year this had increased to 32,643,709, or an increase of more than 1,500,000 acres, and yet the acreage devoted to wheat has decreased during the same period to an alarming extent. In the former year it was 3,490,000; last year it was 1,897.000. In the same period of twenty years the grain and pulse acreage, generally known as corn crops, had decreased by 1,800,000 acres, barley having fallen off nearly 300,000 acres, beans 340,000 acres and paes 300,000 acres. Oats, however, showed a distinct increase. There is a slight falling off in the root and green crops. Rotation grasses show an increase, although not of a very serious nature, bare fallow is considerably less than formerly, while the permanent pasture has increased from 12,915,000 to 16,492,000, and there is little doubt it will continue to increase.

MORE LABOR TROUBLE FEARED.

Following close upon the reports as to the threatened renewal of the trouble in the coal trade, Ben. Tillett, the famous labor leader, announces that the situation is very serious in the shipping business, much graver, in fact, than any time since the great dock strike in London. He expects the shipowners to precipitate a struggle which, once commenced, will extend to every port in the country, Tillett, of course, declares that the employers are in the wrong, but if the fight should occur, it will be largely due to the tyranny of the unions, which, in some instances, is becoming unbearable.

THE TIPPING QUESTION.

The great tipping question in the House of Commons dining and refreshment rooms is still unsettled. Heated debates take place there on every meeting of the Kitchen Committees, and bitter personal feuds have resulted therefrom. A majority of the members are opposed to fees to waiters, and notices have been posted in the rooms forbidding the practice, and a circular has has been sent to every member to the same effect, but the minority are strong and defiant, and ostentatiously tip waiters rendering them a service. The Committee threatens to dismiss servants accepting a fee, and the minority declare that they will bring every case of dismissal before the House. It is probable that the Speaker's authority will have to be invoked before long.

HARVEYIZED STEEL CONTRACTS.

The Admiralty have decided to discontinue the use of nickel-steel armor. The armor for the new ships is to be Harveyized steel, and several thousand tons of it have been ordered, the contract being divided between various Sheffield firms.

NEW ZEALAND WANTS SAMOA.

The Agent-General of New Zealand, in this city, Mr. W. H. Perceval, has received a cable message from Wellington, N.Z., confirming the reports that the Government of New Zealand had decided to suggest to Great Britain that New Zealand be allowed to annex Samoa, as was proposed by King Malietoa some years ago. The proposal referred to has been unofficially considered for some time past by the colonial authorities here and it is admitted that the consent of the United States and Germany is necessary. Sir Robert Stout, ex-Premier of New Zealand, and the Earl of Glasgow, the present Governor of New Zealand, have recently made tours of New Zealand, and the present proposal is said to be due to the reports which they have made in regard to the attitude of the New Zealand colonists. Sir Robert Stout, in his report expresses the belief that if a vote is taken on the subject, the Samoans will unanimously ask to come under British protection. In conclusion the report says: "New Zealand should slowly but surely look to the South Sea Islands as a field for energy and for her commercial interests and we ought to be joined to Canada and have a Pacific Cable."

FRANCE TURNED DOWN.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Times London cable says: For weeks it has been apparent that something was maturing itself between the surface commotion of hurried royal visits and an exceptional activity of royal letter carriers. This something stands open to view aud admittedly it is very big indeed. What has happened is nothing more or less than a complete change in the European situation. France has been beaten as thoroughly and mercilessly in the diplomatic campaign of 1894 as it was routed on the martial field of 1870. Of all it seemed last January to have gained, not a vestige remains to it.

When the Russian Ambassador appears in State at Notre Dame to-morrow to assist at the great celebration in honor of Joan of Arc his presence must appear to intelligent Parisians in the light of grim, sardonic irony. His master, the Czar, has sold the Republic out. Germany's initial victory in securing a broad commercial treaty with Russia just at the time when the egregious demagogues of the French Chamber were raising the duty on Russian wheat to the point of prohibition has been fully discussed. If that may be likened to the battle of Worth, this new thing is a veritable Sedan.

THE ROYAL BETROTHAL.

It is easy usually, to exaggerate the importance of Royal matrimonial alliances; not so in the present case, because the final gathering-in of the Czarewitch by the Coburg connubial octopus means a crushing defeat of the whole Franco-Panslavic combination. This achievement may probably be put down mainly to Emperor William's work. He has a knack of impressing himself on men younger than himself, and ever since the Czarewitch visited Berlin last year it is noted that young Nicholas has been abandoning his former Panslavic bumptious attitude toward Western Europe, and talking with enthusiasm about his friend the Kaiser. It is obvious that the relations between these two, who hold so much of the human future in their hands, will be henceforth intimate, and one gets from this a thought of all sorts of possible new influences at work upon monarchy and government in backward Russia. The deadly isolation which all this involves for France is nothing short of tragic. It climbs laboriously, tirelessly up, time after time, towards the position of power in the European councils, only like Bruce's spider, to tumble just before the goal is attained. This latest disappointment is by far the worst it has yet had, if only because a few months ago it was rapturously celebrating what it believed to be its ultimate success. What it will do next its wisest sons do not pretend to say.

ROSEBERY'S MATRIMONIAL INTENTIONS.

To speculations about Rosebery's Ladas winning the Derby is now being added a great deal of gossip about the Premier's marriage intentions. I reported at the time of his accession a statement made by a gentleman living near Claremont, the residence of the Duchess of Albany, that it is a matter of notoriety in that household and neighborhood that the courtship between the two has been in progress for a long time. Others, who are in a position to know something of what goes on, say that the Queen refused her consent to this marriage, on her well-known ground that "once a widow, always a widow!" This seems a curious attitude for a lady who is herself the child of her mother's second marriage; but she sticks to it none the less with true Guelphic obstinacy. How to make this fit with a rival report that Rosebery is a suitor for the hand of Princess Maud of Wales, I do not know, but the fact of the two stories running side by side and not infrequently believed by the same people gives a rather cynical aspect to the public view of Rosebery.

CHURCHILL A WRECK.

It is said that only private pressure has prevented the Paddington electors from holding a meeting to express their opinion of their representative, Lord Randolph Churchill. At least it is certain that he will not be elected again. His performance in the Duke of Coburg debate was perhaps the worst thing he has yet done. Balfour sat on the bench beside him, hiding his face in his hands from very shame and pity. Papers here speak guardedly of Churchill's altered demeanor, but the fact is he keeps drunk now practically all the while, and has become both physically and mentally a wreck and is a nuisance in the House.

LORD SALISBURY'S SPEECH.

The Tribune's London cable says: Lord Salisbury's speech to the Primrose League is remarkable for its declaration, apparently meant to be final, in favor of continuing the hereditary principle in the House of Lords. He is for judicious reform, meaning more life peers, but excluding the elective element. That is a declaration of very considerable importance, and likely to obstruct reform and favor abolition.

The Scotch Committee scheme has been cut down, Sir William Harcourt throwing over Sir George O. Trevelyan. Only minor matters will be referred; no high politics nor great controversies. There was, however, a high controversy between Sir William and Mr. Chamberlain, which must further embitter relations already strained. The sympathies of the House were not with Mr. Chamberlain.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S WORK.

BERLIN, April 21.—The important event which Emperor William was the first to announce yesterday at Coburg, namely, the betrothal of the Grand Duke Nicholas, Czarewitch of Russia, to the Princess Alix of Hesse, is looked upon as a cementing of the new entente between Russia and Germany and as securing a prolonged period of European peace. Although the rumor of the betrothal has frequently been circulated, only to be frequently denied, the announcement that it was an actual fact was a complete surprise to every member of the Hesse family. The betrothal has been spoken of as impossible of realization and there is no doubt that it is almost directly traceable to the influence of Emperor William.

The Czarewitch is known to have entertained a feeling of affection for several years for the Princess Alix, but, it is said, he would not be persuaded into an early marriage, and it is also asserted that Queen Victoria could not be prevailed upon to give her assent to the union. It is added that the Queen's refusal was purely sentimental and non-political, being based upon the notorious ill-treatment of the sister of the Princess Alix, Princess Elizabeth, the wife of Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, by her husband. Moreover, political and religious hindrances existed in both countries, and it was believed that such a marriage was impossible. This was particularly true while Prince Bismarck was at the head of affairs, for he feared that England would reap the advantage of it, and in addition the Pan-Slavist party in Russia, headed by the all-powerful procurator of the Holy Synod, Pobyedonostaff, insisted that the heir to the throne of Russia must marry a Slavonic princess.

THE COBURG FETES.

During the fetes at Coburg, the young couple almost ostentatiously kept apart, but they will arrive at Darmstadt to-morrow with the Grand Duke Sergius and the Grand Duchess, his wife. The Battenbergs will also accompany the party of the Grand Duke Sergius to Darmstadt.

The members of Royal families who are still at Coburg were to-day photographed in their various family groups and the photographs will be exchanged between the different members of these families as mementoes of the wedding.

Emperor William. before leaving Coburg, conferred the order of the Red Eagle upon Prince Henry of Battenberg. In addition, Emperor William presented a valuable gold snuff box, having on its cover an enamel miniature of himself set in diamonds, to Grand Marshal Ratibon who superintended the wedding ceremonies. The wedding fetes will continue at Coburg and at Darmstadt until Sunday night.

The Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, (The Duke of Edinburgh) gave a state concert to-night before Queen Victoria and the rest of the wedding guests. Mme Albani sang and Nachez played the violin. Several distinguished artists from the Berlin Opera House also appeared.

Emperor William, who was accompanied to the railroad station by the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and by the Prince of Wales, left Coburg for Eisenach at three o'clock this afternoon. Previous to the departure of Emperor William from Coburg, Queen Victoria appointed him honorary colonel of the first Royal dragoons, now stationed at Dublin, Ireland.

Queen Victoria this evening entertained the Czarewitch and Princess Alix of Hesse at dinner. Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Vladimir and several Russian and German officials of high rank were also present at the dinner.

COBURG, April 21.—The Prince of Wales has joined the St. John's lodge of Freemasons of Gotha. In doing so, the Prince expressed the hope that there would be close personal relations between the German and English Freemasons.

BERLIN, April 21.—Emperor William has promoted the Grand Duke of Hesse to the rank of Major-General in honor of his marriage to Princess Victoria Melita of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha.

EUROPEAN COURT SPLENDOR.

Some of the European Court entertainments of the last fortnight have been magnificent. The Court dinner given at Vienna in honor of the German Emperor had peculiar features. Though the guests numbered eighty the whole dinner was served on gold plates and dishes. The center-pieces and vases were massive gold. Really two dinners were served, because it was Friday. Beside each plate lay two menus; a fish menu, on simple white card-

GREAT STRIKE STARTS.

Many Thousands of Coal Miners Leave the Mines

THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES.

President McBride, of the Miners Federation, Thinks the Mining Companies Will Soon Have to Submit Owing to the Depletion of Coal Stocks—Probable Widespread Effects of the Strike.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 21.—The coal miners' strike does not appear to be quite as extensive as was at first expected, although its dimensions are by no means small. According to President McBride, of the United Mine Workers, 132,000 miners stopped work to-day and more are expected to go out. Monday morning, when the whistles blow for work, will tell the tale.

President McBride, when asked to-night what he thought of the strike, said: "At this time I do not care to talk further than to say that the miners have struck for better wages, and propose to do all in their power to win that object. My hopes of success are most sanguine. The miners have no plans, and have no particular course to follow, but expect to be ready to meet any fair proposition for settlement or emergency of whatever character may arise. We will be ready to meet the operators to confer with reference to an adjustment of the differences at any time."

Mr. McBride says many operators are showing willingness to pay the scale, and thinks the suspension will be of short duration. There are about 50,000 unorganized miners scattered whose position is not yet known.

General good feeling exists between operators and miners in the coal fields of Ohio. The dark passages of 1874 and 1884 will not be repeated this year. At New Straitsville, for example, the men while earning scarcely any money during the past year are in a very good way to stand a siege, as the majority of them are owners of their own homes. Several hundred railroad men on coal roads centering here will be thrown out of employment. It is the opinion of the best miners at Straitsville that as soon as the coal now stored is consumed operators will pay the scale and work will be resumed. The operators in Ohio stand ready to pay the scale forthwith provided Pittsburg will fall into line.

SOME EFFECTS ANTICIPATED.

PITTSBURG, April 21.—The great coal strike so far as the district is concerned at least appears to be a success. At noon to-day the men in the river district and the 365 men in the railroad district laid down their picks and after receiving their wages quietly left the mines. Despatches from the Clearfield district report that the 13,000 men there also struck and that the mines are generally closed. In the Phillipsburg region, east of the mountains, all the mines are idle. The suspension in the Clearfield region will enforce idleness upon 400 trainmen on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road. In the Connellsville region the men are still at work but the leaders expect to have the entire region of 18,000 men out on Monday. The leaders say nearly three fourths of the men are expected to lay down their tools. This strike promises to be the greatest in the history of the country. It will involve, if as great as anticipated, nearly 150,000 men and will stop work in mines that produced upwards of 160,000,000 tons of coal last year in 12 states and territories. These miners received $53,809,627 in wages in 1890. According to the eleventh census of the United States in that year, 139,886 men produced 79,899,108 tons of coal valued at $69,350,669. Should the strike be effective to the fullest extent anticipated, the effect upon the business of the country will be incalculably injurious as the strike will enforce the suspension of many trades dependent upon the coal industry and may seriously effect the operation of the railroads of the countryin the states where the miners will go out.

WHAT THE STRIKE IS FOR.

The miners will strike for the restoration of the inter-state wage agreement which was abandoned during the summer first voluntarily, by a small number of miners in the Pittsburg district and thus enforce a reduction in every other competitive district in the United States. It is admitted on both sides that the success or failure of the whole strike depends on the outcome of the movement in the Bittsburg district. The average price of mining prevailing in the Pittsburg district for the six months has been 55 cents per ton, and in all districts in the cobntry in proportion. Many operators in this district declare that it is impossible to pay the wages asked by the miners, and say they are satisfied to permit the mines to remain idle. But this does not represent the sentiment of all the operators, many of whom acknowledge that the wages demanded could be paid, if all would keep faith and not seek an advantage.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., April 21.—The long talked of strike is on. Ten thousand miners and mine laborers are idle in this district. Operators rely on the strike being of short duration because of the impoverished condition of the men. According to their idea the miners in the Virginia and Maryland fields will not suspend work. The leaders of the miners on the other hand claim that Virginia and Maryland miners will come out when they learn the extent to which the strike is general in Pennsylvania and Ohio. Everything is quiet and no violence is anticipated unless the operators should make an attempt to start their mines.

NEWS FROM MANY POINTS.

CINCINNATI, April 21.—In the Bellaire district there are six thousand miners, but not more than half of them struck. The operators agreed to pay the price and want their men to insist on the Pennsylvania operators being forced to do the same.

DENVER, Colo., April 21.—Colorado's coal mines are not interfered with by the general strike. The order of the National body calling out the miners was not regarded in this State and the men continue at work as usual.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., April 21.—The miners of this district are now on strike. The battle will be peaceable and conducted in an orderly manner. It is rumored that the mine owners will hoist the mules out of the mines Monday. This has the appearance of a protracted fight.

DEMOINES, Iowa, April 21.—The strike has not extended to the Iowa miners, and it is not believed the men in this section will join the movement. Comparatively few miners belong to the order in this state and the command to strike, therefore, has no effect on the large majority here.

TOPEKA, Kas., April 21.—Advices from various parts of Kansas to-day show that the coal miners in this state are not paying much attention to the strike order. Only a small number of the 50,000 miners in the state belong to the Association and none of them are anxious to quit work.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 21.—According to men interested in coal mines in what is known as the St. Louis district, this city will be but little affected by the strike. Illinois has long been known to be but poorly organized by the union men. The orders of the National League are not likely to be obeyed unless more urgently enforced.

WASHINGTON, Indiana, April 21.—All the coal miners in this district stopped work at noon to-day, and the mines are deserted. All is quiet.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 21.—Interviews with the Presidents, managers, and operators of the leading coal mining companies here indicate that there will be no general strike among Maryland miners.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 21.—So far as can be learned, not a single miner went out in Wyoming.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 21.—There is no probability of a strike among the coal miners of Washington.

CHICAGO, April 21.—Nearly all the miners in the Illinois coal fields are out.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 21.—One of the features connected with the strike in this district is the large foreign contracts to be filled by Pittsburg firms. Among these contracts are those for the coal supply of the Canadian Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific, both given to Pittsburg concerns, which are under heavy bonds to fulfil their agreements. The latter contract is for 150,000 tons at 49 cents.

OPERATORS' OFFER REJECTED.

ALTONA, Pa., April 21.—All the coal miners in Blair County and in the vicinity of Kitanning Point quit work yesterday, 24 hours in advance of the time fixed by the Columbus meeting. Cambria County has 6,000 miners, every one of which went out at noon to-day. The men at Gallitzen, in that county, quit work yesterday, and all those employed at Frugality and all the men at Hastings quit at noon. All the other men at Hastings and Patten joined the strikers at noon to-day. The miners at Benz Creek, Lilis, Portage, Somnam, South Fork and Sumner Hill continued at work until noon to-day, when they also went out. This includes the entire Cambria County mining district. Some of the Cambria County operators tried to induce the men to continue at work by promising to pay from this date whatever price may be hereafter fixed should the strike be successful, but the men refused to accept such terms. The small operators admit that the price of mining is too low, but they say they were forced by the larger companies to scale it down to meet prices of coal. No disorder has yet been reported in this district.

ASHLAND, Ky., April 21.—The miners of the Ashland Coal and Iron Rys. mines are out and those of the Lexington and Carter County Mining Co. at [illegible] and Mesavage will go out.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 21.—At Corona, Walker County, to-day, 500 more miners joined those now on strike in this district. One hundred imported negro laborers are at work at Blue Creek under the protection of deputy sheriffs and the operators are making efforts to get more negroes.

MORRIS, Ill., April 21—Three thousand miners of Coal city, Braceville, Gardner, Carbon Hill, of this county, and of Clarke City, and Brainwood, of the same coal fields, laid down their tools in pursuance of a decision made in convention Thursday.

ST LOUIS Mo. April 21—Advices from the coal mining districts of Southern Illinois are decidedly quiet. The men in the mines at Collinsville, Nilwood, Calinville, and Minonk are still at work. At Minonk lack of work by reason of recent fires in the mines has made the miners too poor to strike. At Virden the miners will work until May 1st being held by a contract. At Duquein a strike has been on since April 1st, against a 25 per cent. reduction in wages. No additions to the strikers' ranks are reported at St. Johns. At St. Johns the miners struck at noon, but only about two hundred men are concerned, from Belleville, the centre of the large local district of mines, it is learned that the miners in the vicinity will remain at work.

DENVER, Colo., April 21.—The indications that there will be little or no striking by coal miners in Colorado.

LA SALLE, Ill., April 21.—The miners of La Salle and Peru held a meeting last night and decided to quit to-day. Although there seems to be a lack of harmony among the men.

JACKSON, Ohio, April 21.—All the mines of Jackson County shut down at 11 a.m. to-day, and four thousand men have joined the great strike. The miners have worked so little in the past year that many of them have no surplus and must sufier if the strike continues for any length of time.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 21.—J. A. Crawford, State President of the Illinois mine workers, says: "Telegrams from all points prove that the strike is to be practically general. Fully 140,000 men have already quit work throughout the country, and thousands more will strike next week. In the block coal region of Indiana May 1st will be the date. In organized sections of Illinois our men came out at noon to a man. Along the lines of the C. B. and Q., the Iowa Central and the Toledo, Peoria and Western, all shafts are idle. In the Southern Illinois the men will go out this evening instead of noon at Canton, Ill., all the miners are out.

PICKARD'S BODY FOUND.

[Special to The Herald.]

SOREL, April 22.—The body of an unknown man was found floating down the St. Lawrence Saturday afternoon. Several dollars were found on his person, also a letter addressed A. J. Pickard, Montreal. It is thought that it is Mr. Pickard who disappeared from Montreal in February. There are no marks on the corpse. The coroner held an inquest and a verdict of found dead was rendered. The body will be taken up to Montreal to-morrow morning.

The funeral of the late Mr. Pickard will take place from the Island Ferry wharf on the arrival of the Chambly boat at 9.30 to the Mount Royal Cemetery.

AMERICAN TUG SEIZED.

On the Charge of Fishing in Canadian Waters.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., April 21.—The Government Fishery Inspector's Tug Dolphin, Capt Peterson, made another raid this morning on the Buffalo firms of fishermen operating in Canadian waters off this port about 10 miles and captured the Dunkirk tug Grace, Capt. Helwig, bringing her into this port together with her nets and fish found in them. The tug Grace has been tied up here by the Fishery Inspector, Mr. Kerr, of Hamilton, and put in charge of the customs officials. Capt. Helwig says he was not aware that he was in Canadian waters, and on the appearance of the Canadian Government's vessel ran up to her, thinking it was some other fishing tug stealing their fish, and was thus captured and conveyed to this port, where he will await further developments in the case.

GRECIAN CITIES DESTROYED.

Death and Desolation Caused by Earthquake Shocks.

LONDON, April 21.—A despatch from Athens to The Times says that the official telegram has been received from Thebes stating that the earthquake which was felt through Greece totally destroyed that town. The inhabitants are in a sad condition. Being almost entirely without food or shelter, and the officials request that tents and other requisites be sent to them. No deaths are reported as having occurred in the town. The shock was very violent at Atlanta (Talanda) and Chalcis. Many houses in these two towns were thrown from their foundations and much damage done. The towns of Volo and Larissa were also badly damaged. Reports from other parts of the country are to the effect that the earthquake was everywhere felt and more or less damage done. Athens escaped without any damage.

Later information shows that in some districts there has been great loss of life in addition to destruction of property. The inhabitants everywhere have been alarmed to-day by fresh shocks, and it is feared that the worst has not yet happened as the weather continues close and misty. The shocks to-day injured the northern wing of the palace here in several places. A large stone fell out of the gate of Hadrian. But the general damage to this city and Piræus, the port of Athens, is slight, and there has been no loss of life here. The villages around Atlanta have suffered terribly. Larymni, Proskina, Malesina, Mazi, Pella and Martino, are in ruins, serious damage has been done at Chalcis and at several villages on the island of Eubœa. At Thebes about fifty houses fell during one of the shocks this morning. The city is in a state of panic and destitution. The terrified people have rushed in crowds away from Thebes believing that the end of the world had come. Conflicting stories are told as to the loss of life. The Government is sending to-night a warship to Thebes with 500 tents, a large number of surgeons, a detachment of engineers and supplies of food for the destitute people.

CEREMONY AT PARIS

In Connection With the Beatification of Joan of Arc.

PARIS, April 22.—Ten thousand persons were present to-day in the Church of Notre Dame, where services were held in connection with the beatification of Joan of Arc. An impressive Te Deum was sung. The Archbishop of Paris officiated. The chief feature of the ceremony was the laying of a fac-simile of the banner borne by Joan of Arc at the feet of the statue of Notre Dame. Another fac-simile, purchased with subscriptions from French Catholics, was deposited in the exact spot where the mother of Joan of Arc is supposed to have stood in 1455, when she was pleading her daughter's cause before the papal delegates.

BRITISH FINANCIAL MARKET.

Grand Trunk Securities Drop Owing to the Report.

LONDON, April 22.—During the past week the stringency in the money market vanished. Four months loans were arranged at 1 per cent. discount. Rates for money also fell sharply and holders of three months bills were so confident of a further decline that many of them refused to accept the present rate of one per cent. The Bank of England's stock of gold continues to accumulate. Another £1,500,000 is en route, apart from the possible American shipments. French operators were occupied with the coming loan to be issued by the city of Paris. German operators devoted most of their attention to the new German loan of 160,000,000 marks. American railroad securities, after a general setback, which was greatly due to selling from Wall Street, partly recovered at the end of the week. The securities of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada suffered greatly by the report of the directors. Guaranteed fell 3; firsts, 1¾, and seconds, 1.

STEAMSHIPS DELAYED.

On the Coast of Nova Scotia by Ice and Fog.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 22.—The enormous quantity of ice which has floated down along the Nova Scotia coast now blockades Halifax harbor, and yesterday and to-day a dense fog prevailed, which, together with the ice, has temporarily suspended navigation. The coastal steamers Lunenburg and Bridgewater, and the Madura, for London, attempted to work their way out yesterday, but were compelled to put back again and anchor. The Barcelona, for Liverpool, and the Aspatria, for Hamburg, which should have sailed on Friday, are also ice and fog-bound in this harbor, and the following named steamers are off the harbor waiting an opportunity to get in, viz.: The Sarnia, from Portland, for Liverpool; Halifax and Cacouna, from Boston; Labrador, from Liverpool, for Portland; Adria, from New York, and Duart Castle, from St. John.

Count Arrested For Forgery.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Herald's Paris special says: Count Elie Talleyrand-Perigord, eldest son of the Prince De Sagan, who has been arrested for the forgery of promissory notes, is on his mother's side a nephew of Baron Seillere. Through his father he descends from the great Talleyrand, and he connected with the entire French and German nobility through his grandfather. The signatures forged are those of M. Lebandy, son of a sugar refiner. A confederate named Wastine was also arrested, who, it seems organized the conspiracy and by some means involved the Count.

State Dispensaries Closed.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 21.—Every dispensary in the State has received orders to close immediately, as the result of the Governor's acquiescence in the Supreme Court decision. ## IN FAVOR OF SPECIFIC DUTIES.

Ultra-Protectionists Will Give Expression to Their Views in Parliament in the Form of a Motion—Want Reduced Duties on Sugar and Cotton Rather than on Agricultural Implements—Social Functions.

[Special to The Herald.]

OTTAWA, April 22.—The trade returns published in The Canada Gazette of yesterday for March show a decline both in the imports and exports, when compared with the same month last year. The total goods exported for March last was $3,661,807, compared with $6,545,336 in March, 1893, or a decrease of nearly three million dollars, the exact figures being $2,943,529. The value of goods entered for consumption for the last month was $9,730,942, and the duty collected $1,915,341, compared with $10,449,969 in March, 1893, and a duty collected of $2,086,328, a decrease in duty of $170,987.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

The regular Saturday evening receptions given by Madame Laurier at the Russell House come to be so much an established social feature during the present session that all shades of political opinion meet at them on common grounds. Last evening's was the most largely attended of the series, among those who were present were: Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper and Lady Tupper and a party from Government House which included Capt. Kindersley, A.D.C., Capt. Urquhart, A.D.C. and Dr. Shirres.

AD VALOREM DUTIES.

Those Members of Parliament who are out and out National Policy men and believe that there cannot be protection without specific duties will find their views expressed in a resolution of which Mr. MacLean of York gives notice to that effect. When the House is in Committee on the tariff he will move: "That specific duties be substituted for for ad valorem duties on the articles of woollens, yarns and hosiery, and the smaller agricultural implements; that the relief of taxation will be best afforded to the farmer by a further reduction of the duties on sugar and cottons rather than on agricultural implements, and that provision be made empowering the Government in Council to admit coal from the United States free if the United States admits Canadian coal free, and failing this, then to make the duty on coal entering Canada from the United States exactly the same as the duty imposed by the United States, on Canadian coal and also that it is in the interest of Canadian industries to increase the rebate of duties on material allowed to Canadian manufactures of agricultural implements on their exports of the same."

The Dominion Government have agreed to give a supplemental vote to the North-west for general elections and also to increase the vote for school purposes. The amount of the annual grant to the Territories will be given direct and not subject to audit at Ottawa. Power will also be given to redistribute constituencies so as to add five members making the total representation 31 members. The indemnity will be $400 instead of $500 as now.

THE RING.

Corbett Gets a Great Reception in London.

LONDON, April 21.—James J. Corbett, the pugilist made his first appearance on the stage in England at Drury Lane this evening. The champion was welcomed by a large audience. The entrance of Corbett on the stage was loudly cheered. The punching bag and training scene of "Gentleman Jim" was a revelation to the British public. They were astounded at the clever display made by the champion and demanded encore until the American kindly obliged the audience by a second exhibition of his skill at bag punching. When Corbett appeared stripped for battle in the last act, his form and appearance called forth demonstrations of approval, and at the end of the act he was called before the curtain and applauded enthusiastically amid cries of "speech." Corbett, in a few well chosen words, thanked the audience for the reception accorded him. A large basket of flowers, marked "From Cleveland friends," was, during the performance, handed to the champion upon the stage. There were many Americans among the audience, and prominent in one of the boxes was Charles Mitchell and party of friends.

THE KENNEL.

A Dog that Was Something of a Botanist.

For many years the champion dog story was that of the intelligent canine which was sent back to get the hats of its master and his friend. Finding that it could not carry both, it put one inside the other and triumphantly returned. People who believe this story will have no difficulty in swallowing the one given below, which is at present going the rounds of the English press.

"In the household," says the veracious narrator, "there was one dog that was favored above the rest, and during dinner it was permitted to lie by its master, who always rewarded its patient behavior with a bone. One day the diner quite omitted to give the poor dog his bone, so, after waiting a long time, and seeing his master taking his usual nap, the tyke walked demurely into the garden, plucked a flower, and brought it and placed it on the ground in front of his master; then he woke up the cruel and forgetful man, and pointed to the little flower. It was a 'forget-me-not'."

ATHLETICS.

Louis Cyr Confident That he Can Beat Sandow.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Louis Cyr has written the following letter from St. Jean, Canada, to his backer Richard K. Fox: I write you in regard to the challenge published in The New York Herald offering to match me to lift weights against Eugene Sandow or any man in the world for $1000 or $5000 a side and the championship of the world. I think, like yourself that the time has come to settle the matter in regard to who is the champion strong man of the world, and you have, by putting up $500 with The New York Herald and agreeing to match me, proved the best way of settling the matter. I am delighted to see you have not lost confidence in my ability to defeat any man in the world in feats of strength. If Sandow arranges a match I will give you the whole of the stakes, whether it is $1,000 or $5,000 and one-half the gate money for your kindness, and I want the match made for the winner to take stakes and the whole of the gate money, for if Sandow can defeat me I want nothing. I have every confidence in the world in my ability to win the championship, and what makes me say so is the fact that no strong man has ever come near equalling the feats I have performed, and which stand the best on record. If you remember in England two years ago when you posted £500 with the Sporting Life to match me against any strong man in England, Cyclops, Sampson, Sandow and Hercules all refused to cover your money, and I do not believe any strong man will cover the $500 you have posted with The Herald in New York. I trust they will for I want to meet and defeat these alleged champions who will not compete for a title which they claim. Any time there is any prospect of a match being ratified I shall come on to arrange a match. Yours truly,

LOUIS CYR,
Champion Strong Man of the World.

The M.A.A.A. Entertainment.

The entertainment to be given at the M.A.A.A. on Thursday, by J. W. Bengough, promises to be one of the most interesting of the season. The sketches of local events will, it is promised, be among the cleverest ever seen here. Mr. Bengough's fame as an entertainer nearly approaches that of the versatile Grossmith.

CHESS.

FOOTBALL.

The Eighth Rifles Team Defeat the St. George's.

QUEBEC, April 22.—The championship football match last night between the Eighth Royal Rifles and the St. George's was most interesting. It was under the patronage of Lieut.-Col. G. R. White and officers of the Eighth Royal Rifles, and of the Hon. H. G. Joly and Mrs. Joly de Lotbiniere. There was a fair and enthusiastic attendance. The result of this match decided the question as to which of the two teams will play off the final match with the R. C. Artillery team for the medals next week.

The Eighth Rifle team is a much heavier one than the St. Georges, and made a pretty good show, while the back division of the latter team is remarkable by its tackling and kicking, and its light brigade in the forwards by the nice and scientific game they played.

The following were the teams:

| St. George's. | | 8th Royal Rifles |
|---|---|---|
| F. Tofield | Goal | Pte. Oliver |
| C. Tofield | Back | Sgt. Henderson |
| J. O'Meara, Hope | Half-Back | Lt. Davidson, Pte. Crockett |
| B. Henderson, P. Woodley, F. Goodday | Forwards | Sgt. Davidson, Sgt. Watson, Corp. Swift |
| A. Woodley, W. Taylor | Spare men | Pte. Bishop |
| Lieut. Ogilve | Umpire | W. B. Scott |

Referee—T. D. Beattie.

The Rifles team defeated the St. George's by two to one after a very exciting struggle. In fact it was a victory of physical strength and hard checking against science and ability. The boys of the St. George's should rather be proud of their defeat for they played a grand game. Certain players on the side of the Eighth's team evidently depended a little too much on the fact that they were greatly heavier than their young antagonists and frequently infringed the rules of the game. One of them should have been ruled off. They will play men just as heavy as themselves on Saturday next when they will have to contest the local championship with the R.C.A. team and then they will be afforded a chance to indulge in checking as freely as they like.

Meeting of the Canadian Football Association.

A Poor Show for Washington Park.

CHICAGO, April 21.—The City Council Committee on Licenses agreed to recommend for passage an order declaring it to be the sense of the Council that the Mayor shall refuse to grant a license for racing to the Washington Park Jockey Club. To clinch the matter, the Committee also passed an order declaring that no licenses for racing shall be issued until after application has been made to the City Council, and the Council has approved of the same.

Talk About Thorncliffe.

The Toronto Globe publishes an interesting letter signed "Wellington" on some Queen's Plate favorites. It says: An impression is prevalent that Thorncliffe is heavily backed by his stable, causing the odds to become prohibitive. Now, such an idea is certainly erroneous, as I positively know that two London parties stand to win several thousand dollars on this horse, and from the placing of their money the odds were cut, not from the supposed money by the stable. These London parties, being the heaviest and probably the only holders of odds of any moment, feel now that their choice was made without mature consideration upon a comparison of Thorncliffe's standing with other candidates, for the following reasons:

1. He had no training of any moment as a two-year old.
2. It is reported he s uffered from influenza during the fall and early winter, leaving him debilitated naturally.
3. He is totally an untried horse.

Now, it is well-known Joe Miller made remarkably fast time as a two-year old, and is apt to repeat the performance this season, so that his time may be placed at, or less than, 2.15. Lou Daly is in the highest state of perfection, and what she may lack in speed is overcome by her great staying powers. Her record last year was about 2.16, and she certainly is decidedly better this season. These are the only two that have shown any speed. Dictator, a much vaunted horse, was a sorry failure as a two-year-old; so was Merrythought. Thorncliffe has not as yet answered the question of speed satisfactorily, and before he does, the placing of any heavy odds, such as has been done, must be considered injudicious.

It is plainly evident that the horse winning this plate must win it in less than 2.15.

Time will show whether my prediction is right or not.

Quotations for the Woodbine Queen's Plate.

Among the bets made in Davis and Haskins' Queen's Plate book are: $1,000 to $50 against Merrythought and $200 to $50 to show; $450 to $150 Joe Miller and $280 to $40 Dictator; also $20 across the board on Vicar of Wakefield.

Present quotations:

Fate has decreed that the modern girl must wear the 1830 shoes. If some of the pictures from the wearing of 1830 hose and shoes, as seen in a newspaper, were to be realized—well, the bootmakers and hosiers who introduced the style would be hurled into eternity, with little time for preparation.

PORT OF QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, APRIL 22.

Steamer John Pratt left for Sorel last evening with dredge Laval in tow.

But few, if any of the spring fleet of sailing vessels are coming seeking.

There has within the last few days been some little enquiry here for tonnage from Montreal to Buenos Ayres.

There will be an increase in the number of steamers in the St. Lawrence deal and timber trade this year over that of previous years. The sailing vessel is going out at a pretty fast pace.

Four canal boats which wintered here will leave to-morrow for Sorel in tow of Tug Rhoda to load lumber for American ports.

Deep sea tugs on the route this season will be Lord Stanley, Florence, Dauntless, Beaver, Lake, Rhoda, Anglesea, and probably the Conqueror and Mr. Connolly's Eureka,—nearly as many tugs as there are ships coming.

Government steamship Alert returned to port yesterday morning after placing the various light ships on their respective stations in the river below. She subsequently took on the buoys and will leave to-morrow morning to place them in position.

The cargo of Scotch coals Ex-ship Matilda and that Ex-bark Prinds Leopold from Grangemouth have both been sold to arrive, but the figures have not been made public.

According to the list 17 vessels have sailed for this port, 3 for Metis, 2 for St. Thomas, 23 for Canada, a few of which will come here and 18 for Montreal. The latter with one exception are all steamships. The vessels for this port are: Admiral Tegatheff, Sunderland; E. T. G., Liverpool; Courant, Liverpool; Narwhal, Liverpool; Liberte, Mandal; Carin, Mandal; Atlas, Berwick; Hilda, Hartlepool; Trio, Newcastle; Argentina, Hamburg; St. Petersburg, Hartlepool; Hiawatha, Londonderry; Minnehaha, Barrow; Australia; Greenock; Canova, Plymouth; Svea, London; Mindet, Newcastle.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.

Annual Sermon in St. George's Church by Rev. Edmund Wood.

The annual sermon to the members of St. George's Society was preached in St. George's Church last night by the Rev. Edmund Wood, Rector of St. John the Evangelist. The church was filled with members of the Society and Englishmen generally.

Rev. Mr. Wood spoke from the words: "And Jesus said, Were there not ten cleansed, but where are the nine?" He recalled the story of the cleansing of the ten lepers by the Saviour, and the gratitude shown by only one, and he drew from it not only the lesson of thankfulness for God's blessings, but the lesson that where the one lives a noble, Christian life the other nine can do the same in the grace of God. There was leprosy in this city and this land, much of which was owing to the drink habit, which took hold on men and degraded them. A feeling reference was made to Mr. Gladstone, the rev. speaker saying: "Take that old man, with whom so many may differ on some things, who has just resigned the premiership of Britain. Why is it that, if you want an all-round man, one who can be looked up to by both learned and ignorant, he is the one? Why is it? It is because of the work in his life, because of the the determination in his life, because he knew men and sought to know them better, and so to-day that man tops the lot. I read the other day a description written by a gentleman who heard him speak. Mr. Gladstone was sitting in the House, old, decrepit, and as if he lacked strength. One after another rose and spoke, and then he rose. All at once he seemed to fill out and new strength and youth seemed to come to him. Members came trooping in, and then the grand full voice and rounded sentences rapidly made up for the tedium of listening to the littleness of the previous speakers. We look up to a man like that, and say it is impossible for us to attain to such heights. If men would cease to be satisfied with living on a level with their fellows instead of above them we would have men rising all round us doing work that needs doing." The speaker concluded by an appeal to his congregation to live a higher and more living Christianity.

The anniversary of the English patron saint falls on to-day and roses will be the correct thing. It will be celebrated by several bodies of Englishmen throughout the city. The Sons of England will celebrate the event at their various lodge rooms, Victoria's Jubilee Lodge making a special occasion of it at Point St. Charles. The Daughters of England will have a concert and ball in their hall, 6 Craig Street. "Our Club" will honor the occasion by a banquet in Welsh and Rough's hall, Notre Dame Street.

HERALD DRESS DEPARTMENT.

(HINTS BY MAY MANTON.)

Sea green crepon, with full front, Bertha ruffle, collar and lower sleeve portions of changeable geeen and pink silk, dotted with triple spots of green satin, was the material used to make the model of this simple stylish house gown.

The decoration was dark green velvet galloon, in diamond shape, and a girdle of green satin ribbon, confined the fullness at the waist.

If preferred, the girdle can be dispensed with, the soft folds allowed to fall to the bottom of the skirt, being held in place by the fitted waist lining, which defines the graceful hip curves.

This design is a very desirable one, and well adapted to any of the materials used for house gown.

For thin summer fabrics, or those that require to be often laundered, the fitted lining can be omitted, thus making an ideal cool, summer gown.

Thin white materials, or the pretty batistes and zephyrs can be trimmed with embroidery or lace edging.

Cashmere or silk is handsome made in this style, all of one material, and trimmed with black or white lace insertion.

Pattern is cut in five sizes, viz., 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

Retail price of pattern is 35 cents.

LADIES' TEA GOWN.

Pearl grey crepon is here stylishly combined with satin of the same shade. The trimming is violet gimp, the design showing clearly where it is put on. Satin is used for the double puffs on the sleeves, collar, belt, short tunic, and the puffed trimming on the waist and wrists of sleeves.

The trimming consists of a bias band, three and a half inches wide, gathered on both edges to form a puff. A single row of the gimp is sewn on both sides of the puff of satin.

This design will meet with merited approval from young ladies of good form, who favor waists having few seams and concealed openings. The long tunic can be omitted if so desired, the short one alone giving a modish effect to the waist.

This model is notably handsome in black velvet, with satin or moire, trimmed with jet passementerie. It is suitable for all kinds of fabrics, and is quite as effective when made of one material and trimmed with braid, jet, gimp, or passementerie.

Pattern cut in five sizes, viz.: 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure.

Retail price of pattern is 25 cents.

THEY WRITE TO SOME PURPOSE.

Three Clever Englishwomen Whose Stories and Articles Americans Like to Read.

Of the women who write there is no end. But there are a number of English women writers in whom Americans closely feel interested. Three names that are well and favorably known on this side are those of Miss Ella Hepworth Dixon, the author of "My Flirtations," Mrs. Mackenzie-McKenna, and Lady Jeune Greville.

Miss Ella Hepworth Dixon is the youngest daughter of the late William Hepworth Dixon, and is fortunate in having grown up not only among books but in the most brilliant and intellectual society in London, says The Lady's Pictorial. Her first request—easily acceded to by an indulgent father—was to be allowed to accompany him to the office of The Athenæum in order to look at the many picture books sent to the leading literary journal—a journal which Mr. Hepworth Dixon edited for over seventeen years. Later on a visit to M. and Mme. Louis Blanc in Paris brought the somewhat precocious child in touch with the chief political and literary people of the day in France, even before she was sent to complete her education in Germany; two facts which have helped to make her an ardent admirer of the best French and German literature. Before his untimely death, the young girl was constantly employed in her father's study, annotating, revising proofs, and searching the State papers. Her contributions to the periodical press have taken the form of short stories, her criticisms, and letters from out-of-the way corners, of the world, like Montenegro, Dalmatia, the Balearic Islands, and Corsica. Her first novel, "The story of a Modern Woman," is appearing as a serial in The Lady's Pictorial.

Mrs. Mackenzie-McKenna, a talented and busy worker for the press, is the eldest daughter of the late Sir Morel Mackenzie, and took to journalism because her father held strong views that all women should have a profession or occupation whether they might need it financially or no. Her first regular work was as correspondent to The Philadelphia Evening Telegram, a position Mrs. McKenna still holds. Her work is much better known in America than in England, as until the year before last she wrote almost exclusively for American papers and magazines, specially for several leading syndicates, and for The Ladies' Home Journal.

Lady Violet Greville has long been a regular and industrious contributor to various newspapers and periodicals. Among the journals to which Lady Violet has been a constant and valued contributor are The Graphic, The World, Black and White, The Fortnightly Review, The Nineteenth Century, etc. It will be seen by this catalogue of journals and magazines that Lady Violet Greville has the pen of a ready writer, and as a matter of fact she is gifted with an excellent versatility and lightness of style, readily adapting her manner to her matter. Lady Violet is always busy, but combines the claims of society and her profession with skill and tact.

THE PRESERVE CLOSET.

It Must be Cool, Dry and Always Kept Dark.

Irreverent but forcible the exclamation of the admiring husband before the open door of this receptacle of family sweets: "By her fruits ye shall know her!" Cool, dry and dark are the requirements of this especial closet. Shelved, in reference to height of jars, at the top the distance between for pints, below for quarts and so on down until within three feet of the floor, where the space should be left to allow stone crocks, jugs and demijohns to stand beneath the lower shelf on the floor. This one should go entirely around three sides of the closet. A small inner cupboard should be built for tumblers of jelly, marmalade and jams. Convenience and order suggests that each fruit should be in a compartment by itself and plainly labeled and dated. How beautiful and tempting the long, shining rows of amber and ruby-filled jars, and what a refuge in times of emergency! A wise housewife is she who has a supply ready for not only the needs of her own household, but for the poor and sick, to whom delicacies are not procurable, however necessary, unless provided by the thoughtful-kindness of these mere fortunate in worldly stores. Preserves and "home missionary" work are not without harmony, and trifles tell in the summing up, "doing one's duty."

To the average good housewife, and the world abounds in such, given rules for putttng up fruits and vegetables would be a little like directing an old physician how to write his prescriptions. Ancestral receipts, verified by long practice, give her a superior knowledge. She knows that strawberries inaugurate the spring fruit procession; that raspberries, currants, blackberries, ecc., follow in luscious lines. Experience, likewise has taught her that the first fruits, welcome as the face of a long-missed friend, are watery, not so firm as those that come a little later, and are, therefore, less liable to keep. Among her valuable precepts is one that a few dashes of real lemon juice greatly improve strawberry preserves and jelly; another that rapberries and currants cooked together, in the proportion of one-third currant to two of raspberry, make a peculiarly delicious preserve. Again, a point worth knowing is that if a preserve be made from overripe fruit and has not the necessary firmness, instead of reboiling set the jars in the hot noonday sun, covered with pieces of clear glass, which remove at night and wipe off carefully. The jelly will become firm and as it shrinks the glasses should be refilled from the others.

Whittier says:

In our lap of winter flinging,
Tropic fruits and sweets.

There is but one safe way to carry out the poet's sweet suggestion, and that is to cover each jelly jar and glass with a double fold of white tissue paper soaked in brandy, over which may be screwed the patent lid, or pasted the stout paper.

A wise precaution is to look carefully over the preserve closet's shelves every few weeks, and if the contents of some of the glasses seem to be be "thinning" or fermentation seems probable, boil them over, adding a little more sugar, for the sun is by this time no longer sufficiently warm to do the work.

On the selves of this closet there is ordinarily a brave array of canned fruits and vegetables, and varieties of pickles are admitted by way of giving a snap to the whole. Canned goods sell so cheaply nowadays that it is an almost irresistible temptation to buy them and avoid the work expense of house-preparation. But there are many who continue to do their own canning, and to them we would say choose glass cans; they are a little more expense at the start, but their utility in longer lasting and they are purer, clearer than tin. Glass canned dainties arranged systematically on shelves in a cool, dark closet, will amply repay you in evesy way.

An Artist in Crime.

CHAPTER III.

"Blood, and clotted."

"Standing upright, he once more peered into the room. The figure in bed had not moved. Without further hesitation he slowly slid the doors apart. One glance within, and murmuring the single word "Murder," Mr. Barnes was no longer slow in his actions. Stepping across a big pool of blood which stained the carpet, he stood at the side of the bed. He recognized the features of the woman who had claimed that she had been robbed of her diamonds. She seemed sleeping save that there was an expression of pain on the features, a contraction of the skin between the eyebrows, and one corner of the mouth drawn aside, the whole kept in this position by the rigidity of death. The manner of her death was as simple as it was cruel. Her throat had been cut as she slept. This seemed indicated by the fact that she was clad in her night-dress. One thing that puzzled Mr. Barnes at once, was the pool of blood near the door. It was fully six feet from the head of the bed, and whilst there was another just by the bedstead, formed by blood which had trickled from the wound, running down the sheets and so dropping to the floor, the two pools did not communicate.

"Well," thought Mr. Barnes. "I am first on the scene this time, and no busybodies shall tumble things about till I have studied their significance."

This room had not been designed for a sleeping apartment but rather a dining-room, which, upon occasion, could be opened into the parlor, converting the two into one. There was one window upon an air-shaft, and in an angle was a handsome carved oak mantel with fireplace below. Mr. Barnes raised the curtain over the window, letting in more light. Looking around he noticed almost immediately two things; first, that a basin stood on a washstand half filled with water, the color of which plainly indicated that the murderer had washed off tell-tale marks before taking his departure. Second, that in the fire-place was a pile of ashes.

"The scoundrel has burned evidence against him, and deliberately washed the blood from his person before going away. Let me see, what was it that Mitchel said: 'I should have stopped to wash the stain from the carpet whilst fresh, and also from the dog's mouth.' That is what he told his friend he would do if bitten whilst committing a crime. In this instance the 'stain on the carpet' was too much for him, but he washed it from himself. Can it be that a man lives who, contemplating a deed of this character, would make a wager that he would not be detected. Bah. It is impossible." Thus thought Mr. Barnes as he studied the evidence before him. He next turned to the woman's clothing which lay on a chair. He rummaged through the pocket, but found nothing. In handling the petticoat he noticed that a piece had been cut from the band. Examining the other garments he soon saw that the same had been done to them all. Like a flash an idea struck him. Going over to the bed he searched for some mark on the garments which were on the corpse. He could find none until he lifted the body up and turned it over, when he found that a piece had been cut from the night dress.

"That accounts for the blood by the door," thought Mr. Barnes. "He took her out of the bed to get her nearer to the light, so that he could find the initials marked on the clothing. Whilst she lay by the door the blood flowed and accumulated. Then he put her back to bed so that he would not need to step over her in walking about the room. There is one significant fact here. Her name cannot have been Rose Mitchel, or there would have been no reason for destroying these marks, since she had given that name to several."

Mr. Barnes next brushed the charred ashes from the grate upon a newspaper and carried them to a window in the front room. His examination satisfied him of two things; the murderer had burned the bits of cloth cut from the various garments, and also a number of letters. That the fellow was studiously careful was plain from the fact that the burning had been thoroughly done; nothing had escaped the flames save two buttons with a bit of cloth attached, and various corners of envelopes. With disgust Mr. Barnes threw the ashes back where he had found them,

Next he paid his attention to the cabinet desk which stood open. He pulled out all the drawers, and peered into every nook and cranny, but his search was fruitless. He found nothing but blank paper and envelopes, and these of common kind.

THE FUTURE OF SCIENCE.

Some of the Great Feats Expected to Be Soon Performed.

The Scientific Problems of the Future is discussed by Lieut.-Col. Esdale in the Contemporary. He declares that new discoveries will crowd thicker upon the world in the twentieth than in the nineteenth century. Out of the possible legion he selects four.

"The conquest of the air is the first." Already navigable balloons are being prepared by the French War Office which are expected to go at the rate of 25 miles an hour. Failing the sudden invention of a true flying machine, the writer anticipates a progressive development of this class of balloon. First, the gas will have simply to sustain the weight; the lifting power will be supplied by the addition of air screws. The air screw or propellor will gradually predominate, until it does the work of wings, and the balloon is rendered superfluous. The flying machine was fourteen years ago, in the then condition of mechanical science, demonstrably impossible; but if the present rate of progress be maintained for another fourteen years it will have become actual. The flight of birds and the general laws of aerial locomotion have been carefully studied.

If competent and practical engineers would apply themselves to the problem it would soon be solved. The "vital issue" is to achieve "stable suspension in the air." "Once let the flying machine be stable, strong, safe and powerful enough for its work, and it will represent the safest kind of locomotion ever invented. * * * The revolution made in locomotion by the flying machine, whereby we shall be able to run from London to New York in perhaps from thirty-six to forty-eight hours, and from London to Paris and back between breakfast and luncheon, will be at least as great as that caused recently by the introduction of railways and steam navigation. * * * The machines will run at a tremendous pace, probably up to or even exceeding 100 miles an hour."

Marine navigation is to be transformed. At present engineers seek to gain increased speed by developing the locomotive power. The writer suggests they are all on the wrong tack. They ought to study "the way of the fish in the sea," and to discover why the torpedo requires such enormously greater power to propel it than does the porpoise. He finds the reason of the difference in "surface or skin friction." This causes the larger half of total resistance to a ship's movement. We need to learn the secret of the coating of the fish. Smooth steel forms about the worst surface possible. He thinks that compressed paper faced like the skin of a shark might serve. He suggests that the Admiralty should grant two or three thousand a year to experiments under a competent authority. The resistance due to wave-action might be obviated by a vessel of the American whale-back type. Ocean steamers might with present motive power run fifty knots an hour.

How to get the power out of coal without burning it, or rather, how to bring coal into such a condition that on conjunction with the oxygen of the air it will supply us with electrical force, is a problem the writer expects to be soon solved. He is also hopeful of chemical and medical science making the vegetable foods—notably grass—digestible by man without first passing through animal intermediaries. An enormous increase of our food supply would be the result.

Gold Deposits of the Fraser River.

Speaking of the Fraser river and its gold deposits, this was one of the richest placer rivers of the world along late in the 50's, and something like $50,000,000 worth of gold has been washed out of the sands of British Columbia. The stream is very rough and rocky, however, and much of it has been inaccessible to the placer miners. It is known, however, to contain great quantities of gold, and four different companies are now at work here trying to get this gold out. They have had dredge like pumps made, which are to suck up the gold-bearing sand and throw it into a sluice box, which will extract the gold. The experiment is a new one, but it was tested on the shallow water at the edge of the river, and some gold was the result. Mr. Young, the president of one of these companies said:

"There is no doubt but there are millions upon millions of dollars of gold in these rivers, and I think there is no doubt but that we are going to get out a large part of it. We lease certain strips of the river from the government at so much per mile per year. We now have under lease fifty-seven miles, and we have men prospecting and locating other tracts. Our machines cost us from $4,000 to $7,000 apiece, and I expect to see some of them earning $1,000 a day. In a month from now I can tell just what they will do. Each machine ought to wash and reduce 100 cubic yards of gravel a day, and we can get out stuff from the very centre of the river, where the most gold is supposed to be. In the old days of placer mining a man did well to wash out three cubic yards a day, and here he had to rely upon the banks only."

How He Hunted Bears.

George Jones is very ill. Between moans he told a story of adventure to a reporter this morning. He was once a bear hunter, he said, and had killed over 100 bears. He claimed that no man had ever killed bears as fast as he did. While hunting in Oregon one time he discovered a place up in the mountains where bears appeared every day to drink. He used to fill a pail with whisky, sweetened with sugar, and every time a bear appeared bruin drank the whisky and got dead drunk. Jones would then start the bear to rolling down the side of the mountain, and it would land at his camp below, where he had a man employed to butcher and skin it. Jones then filled the pail with whisky again, and the next bear was served in the same way.—Atchison Globe.

A Chance for Inventors.

The Netherlands Society for the Promotion of Industry desires to receive papers containing an indication of the means to obtain energy through windmills, to accumulate this energy electrically, and to transmit or to make it transportable. The drawing belonging to the answers must be made on white paper, (no blue prints) on a scale of one-quarter. The prize offered is the gold medal of the society and a reward of £30. Answers must be sent before July 1, with the author's name, in a closed envelope, to the general secretary of the society, F. W. Eeden, at Haarlem, Holland.—London Daily News.

"Boston" as Pronounced at Home.

Most people say "Borston," and some say "Bosting," but the latter is more correct, and will be quite so if the nasal termination is dropped and the last syllable merely clipped while retaining the short and explosive sound of the "o."—Boston Home Journal.

THE PROPOSED GERRYMANDER.

L'Electeur sketches the gerrmander of the Quebec district proposed to the Government by Sir Adolphe Caron. To save himself in Rimouski, it is proposed to attach the Liberal parishes of St. Fabian and St. Simon to Temiscouata, where the Government is thought to be sufficiently strong to withstand this accession. Sir Adolphe would also like to divide the County of Levis by detaching the Liberal parishes of the west and annexing them to Lotbiniere, which is looked upon as an impregnable Liberal fortress. The Conservative vote of the city of Levis, it is hoped, would then be sufficient to reverse the Liberal majorities of St. Henri and St. Joseph. To get rid of Mr. Tarte Cap St. Ignace de Montmagny would be annexed to L'Islet. This would make Montmagny at present a doubtful constituency a Liberal hive. The result would be, according to the hopes of the conspirators to make Rimouski, a county which is Liberal at heart, though represented at present by Sir Adolphe, Conservative; to transfer Levis and L'Islet from the Liberal to the Conservative column; and to make Montmagny and Lotbiniere, Liberal hives. By these means three Liberal seats might be captured at the next election—a difference of six on division.

There is not much likelihood, fortunately, of Sir Adolphe's proposition being entertained. We have got past the point where the Canadian people will approve unjust measures deliberately designed to achieve partisan victories. The gerrymander of 1882 was brutally barefaced; but though it was done openly and avowedly to dish the Liberals, it was found impossible to arouse the general public to a sense of the enormity of the offence which had been committed against good government. Ten years later, when the second redistribution scheme was propounded, the Government of the day found it necessary to at least make an attempt to justify it, and the force of hostile opinion obliged the elimination of some of its most objectionable features. To propose a scheme now, plainly devised for the purpose of depriving the Liberals of some of their present constituencies by means of an open gerrymander, would arouse a very dangerous feeling against the Government. The Liberals would offer to it the most strenuous opposition, and they would find themselves backed by a powerful public opinion.

Nothing is clearer than that Sir John Thompson is not to be allowed to maintain himself in office by the means which in Sir John Macdonald's hands were regarded as proper. The public now grows restive at gerrymanders, unfair election acts and the cynical bribery of constituencies on a wholesale basis; and the Government finds itself obliged to resort to more honest weapons. It is to this growing demand on the part of the public that election contests be fought out under conditions of some degree of fairness, that the rapid rise of strength in the Liberal party is due. Sir John Thompson is not likely to outrage the moral sentiments of the people and endanger his party in a score of constituencies in order to make the sledding for Sir Adolphe Caron and his friends a little easier in the Quebec district.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S DISPENSARY LAW.

South Carolina's famous dispensary law has been declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the State. This is the law which limits the legal sale of liquor to "dispensaries" which belong to the Government and are subject to very strict regulations. There has been great difficulty in carrying out its provisions; and an attempt to search private houses at Darlington by constables commissioned to enforce the law, recently produced civil war on a small scale. Meanwhile the constitutionality of the statute was before the courts. The Supreme Court by a majority of 2 to 1 has decided against the law on the ground that it conflicts with clause 143 of the State constitution which provides that no person shall be despoiled or dispossessed of his property, immunities and privileges or despoiled of life or liberty or estate but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land. The judgment of the court says:

"There is no more sacred right of citizenship than the right to pursue unmolested a lawful employment in a lawful manner. The traffic in intoxicating liquor is a lawful subject of commerce. Numerous cases have decided it lawful. Indeed, the whole course of legislation, both State and federal, demonstrates that the sale of intoxicating liquors is a legitimate subject of trade and commerce. Before, therefore, the sale of intoxicating liquors can be declared unlawful there must be some valid statute declaring it to be so, and we must say that we have been unable to find it. It seems to us, therefore, that in no view of the case can the Dispensary act be regarded as a police regulation of the business of selling intoxicating liquors, and, even if it could be, that such police power does not include the power on the part of the State to engage in carrying on such business."

The result of the decision will be to give the State virtual prohibition. There is no licensing power in existence; and the State by virtue of the decision can no longer sell liquor. But the South Carolinian, who like a famous predecessor of Gov. Tillman's, objects to too long a period elapsing between drinks, will probably find plenty of side doors swinging open to his touch.

THE INSOLVENCY BILL.

The Ottawa Citizen in a deliverance which may be regarded as inspired, says that the Insolvency bill, now before the Senate, will probably not be passed this session. It says: "All classes of persons interested, whether traders, manufacturers, farmers or others, will be invited to lay their opinions upon the subject, together with any suggestions they may have to make, before the Government, in order that the measure may be rendered more completely effective before being placed upon the statute book."

The Insolvency bill has only recently been printed. It makes a bulky document of nearly seventy pages. While regarded as fairly satisfactory, or at least very much better than nothing, there is strong opposition developing to the clauses providing for official receivers. This feature has been added by the Government. It did not appear in the draft bills submitted by the Toronto and Montreal Boards of Trade; and its object is plainly to add another field to the Government's domain of patronage. Section 17 provides that the Goverment may appoint official receivers in each district. The receiver takes full charge of the insolvent estate. He is instructed to prepare a statement of the assets and liabilities; and, unless the court extends the time, he is to call a meeting of the creditors within twenty days. Then the estate will come into the possession of a liquidator appointed by the creditors.

Merchants, who recollect how the Government receivers under the old Insolvency Act abused their powers, are very much opposed to this provision. The receivers will get their appointment by favor; that is to say they will be chiefly decayed politicians whom, in some way, the Government has to provide for. They will have twenty days picking at every bankrupt estate, and their charges will be a first lien on the assets. Already it is reported that there are over two hundred applications at Ottawa for official receiverships and it is not probable that any large proportion of these are men whom creditors would like to see in charge of bankrupt estates. The official receiver should have little to do beyond calling a meeting of creditors, and his fees for this purpose should be fixed by statute. An amendment in this direction will doubtless be strongly urged on the Government by the Boards of Trade.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF bill in the opinion of the New York Journal of Commerce is certain to become law. Its passage is only a question of time. The strong expressions of Senator Hill and Senator Smith against the income tax are intended to secure the abandonment of that portion of the bill, if possible, but it is generally believed that both Senators, and indeed every Democratic Senator, will vote for the bill on its passage. Some of the more conservative manufacturers are not encouraging the policy of indefinite obstruction which has been suggested to the Republican Senators. The opening paragraphs of the bill will probably be discussed at considerable length, and so will the woollen and other schedules, but this sort of debate will exhaust itself after a few weeks and the question will then come on the passage of the bill. The indications are that the Democratic Senators will not only vote for the bill on its passage, but will keep it in very nearly its present shape, except for such changes as may be recommended by the Democratic majority of the Committee on Finance. It is very doubtful whether the income tax provision will be eliminated. The Eastern Democratic senators will vote for its removal; but it is thought that enough Republican senators from the Western States will vote to retain this feature to make up for their defection There is a chance that with the votes of the Republican Senators from east of the Mississippi and a few more from the Pacific slope, the income tax could be stricken from the bill. Even if such a motion should prevail, the fight would be only begun. The House would probably insist upon the retention of the tax, and only one or two of the Democratic members of the conference committee in either House would be in favor of the Senate amendment. The chances would be great that the conference committee would report that the Senate should recede from its amendment striking out the tax, and that the conference report would be adopted.

CITY AMUSEMENTS.

"Dr. Bill," the much talked of comedy, will be produced for the first time in Montreal at the Academy of Music to-night. The company is composed of many people who are well known to Montrealers. Among them is Miss Celie Ellis, who is a great favorite here. The company may be sure of a big house to-night.

BRISTOL'S HORSES.

The Queen's is soon to have a big attraction in Bristol's horses. Mr. Bristol has just completed a very successful engagement in Toronto.

"ROBIN HOOD."

Kirke La Shelle, manager of Barnabee, Karl and Macdonald's "Robin Hood" Opera Company, is expected in the city, to-day to make arrangements for the production of that ever-welcome attraction. It is booked for the Queen's Theatre next week. Miss Caroline Hamilton will again be seen as Maid Marian; the return of Mr. Isham will also be a pleasant event as he made very many friends in Montreal.

"NIGHT OWLS" TO-DAY.

Bob Manchester and his company will arrive this morning and will open a week's engagement at the Royal this afternoon. It is claimed that they present an entertainment of burlesque and vaudeville that will please the most exacting lover of this kind of light amusement. Everywhere it has appeared it has played to crowded houses. The burletta. "Society Crushed," which will be the curtain raiser is one of the best of the operatic skits of its kind on the stage.

THEATRE FRANCAIS.

The most prominent feature of the Theatre Francais' programme for this week, the closing one of the season, is that Mr. Montfort, the excellent baritone of the company, will appear and take the leading part at every evening performance. Several of the season's latest successes will be repeated, while another Audran opera will be produced for the first time. This piece is "Serment d'Amour," and is well spoken of. The other operas to be presented are "Les Mousquetaires," "Gillette de Narbonne," "La Fille de Tambour Major," "La Grande Duchesse" and "Boccace."

SOHMER PARK

The Park had a full house last evening. The star attraction was the ever popular soprano, Miss Elaine Gryce, who was the recipient of a meritorious reception. The power and compass of her voice is really remarkable. She sang a beautiful waltz song which must have covered at least two and a-half octaves, every note being perfect, the top ringing out as clear as a bell, with the most consummate ease. The overture from "Zampa" was exceedingly wellplayedby the band, and Mr. Leonce made quite a success with his French song.

LELY RECITAL TO-NIGHT.

Durward Lely and Mrs. Lely arrived at the Windsor yesterday. Mr. Lely was seen by a Herald representative to whom he spoke in warm words of Auld Scotia's songs. The well-known singer is a charming conversationalist, being equally at home on the stage. He prefaces all his songs with interesting stories. Mrs. Lely accompanies her husband in all his recitals. Mrs. Page-Thrower has added another success to her long list by bringing Mr. and Mrs. Lely to Montreal for two nights.

STAGE NOTES.

W. E. Ramsay, the popular Toronto humorist and vocalist, leaves for England the first week in May. Harry Rich has charge of a testimonial concert to Mr. Ramsay which takes place in Toronto April 3rd. Mr. Ramsay is leaving on account of ill-health.

Lou. Duclos, a well-known musical specialist left Saturday night for Louisville, Ky., to manage the Florence Miller Burlesque Company.

DR. HERRON CRUCIFIED.

On the Nineteenth Century Cross of Conservatism and Bigotry.

In his sermon yesterday morning on "The New Christianity" Rev W. S. Barnes, minister of the Church of the Messiah, paid an eloquent tribute to the earnestness and nobility of Dr. Herron's character and the grandeur and Christ-likeness of the truths he taught, truths with which Mr. Barnes said he had the heartiest sympathy. In the course of his remarks he referred to Dr. Herron's conference with the Ministerial Association, concerning which he said, "It was my privilege last Monday morning to listen to an address given by Dr. Herron before the Ministerial Association. I was there by invitation, though not a member of the Association. The address was one to which I listened with interest and hearty sympathy. It was perfectly in accord with my own convictions. The reception which that address met, I cannot say welcome but reception, was well explained by the press of Montreal. My heart is too sore over the matter, my sense of the injustice inflicted upon one who came with a new word of God, spoken out of the heart of a living man, to have characterized the proceedings of that meeting as they should have been characterized. If ever a man stood before his fellows as Jesus stood before his, it was Dr. Herron at that meeting. Nay, more, he stood like Christ before the judgment seat, and was crucified on the nineteenth century cross of conservatism and bigotry. But I know that the judgment of the intelligent men of the city will be that he was entitled to civility at least. A prophet of the living God, a prophet of the coming time, surely deserved a more cordial acceptance on the part of men who stand confessedly as leaders of orthodox Christianity."

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 22.—There is little change in the Great Northern strike situation. In the matter of the proposed conference with the strikers nothing has been developed further. The company will hear from its dissatisfied employees, but only in person. It is thought a settlement may be arranged Monday or Tuesday.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 22.—A special from Tacoma, Wash., says that the American Railway Union has completed arrangements for a strike on the Northern Pacific system Monday at six p.m., provided the Pacific division headquarters here will agree to go out.

FEARS OF THE PREMIER.

$10,000 Worth of Fruit in the Fog, or Stuck in the Ice.

The steamship Premier, bound from Jamaica to Montreal, is several days overdue, and grave fears for the safety of her cargo are entertained. She has on board about $10,000 worth of fruit, consigned to Vipond and McBride. Mr. McBride said last night that it was thought the steamer was delayed by fog, but, of course, at this time of the year the ice is very dangerous, and it may be that this is the cause of her non-arrival. The Premier left Halifax last Tuesday. The cargo is insured.

board, with the Imperial eagle in relief, and a meat menu, with the usual gold ornaments and an eagle in gold. As the guests sat down every one was asked by the lackeys whether a fish or a meat dinner was agreeable, and then one menu was taken away, so the servants would know what dishes to serve. Only the Emperor, the Arch-Duchess Maria Theresa, the Arch-Duchess Caroline, and two Cardinals fasted. Everybody else selected the meat dinner.

THE FRENCH PRESIDENCY.

PARIS, April 22.—The convention of the two Houses of Parliament for the election of President of the French Republic has been fixed for November 2nd, at Versailles. Besides President Carnet, whose position has not yet been declared, there are no less than eight candidates. They are Casimir-Perier, the Prime Minister at the present moment a highly favored candidate; Dupuy, Speaker of the Chamber, and if he reaches the Elysee, Vaillant's bomb will have helped to send him there; Challemel Lacour, President of the Senate; Magnin, Governor of the Bank of France; Meline, apostle of protection; Admiral Gervais, the figurehead of the Franco-Russian amenities; Austere Brisson, who would get the Radical Socialist vote, and Waldeck Rousseau, the Benjamin of the Gambetta Ministry, who, though out of politics is the chief luminary of the Paris Bar.

FRENCH MARRIAGE ORDER.

President Carnot has signed a decree forbidding French diplomats, consuls, consular agents, etc., to marry without the consent of the Minister of Foreign Affairs. If the Ambassador, Minister, consul or French official wishes to marry a foreigner permission must be obtained from the Foreign Minister one month before the first publication of the banns. Any infraction of this decree will be punished by the dismissal or recall of the offender. It is reported that the decree was provoked by the marriage of M. Jules Patenotic and Count Daunay to American ladies.

HOME RULE FOR IRELAND.

Debate Between W. A. Weir of Montreal and Col. O'Brien, M.P.

[Special to The Herald.]

LACHUTE, April 21.—Victoria Hall was crowded to overflowing last evening to listen to the debate on the question "Should Ireland have Home Rule?" between W. A. Weir of Montreal and Col. O'Brien, M.P. J. C. Wilson, ex-M.P., presided. Dr. Christie, M.P., and most of the representative men of the county, were present. Mr. Weir was first introduced, and his popularity, achieved by his energetic struggles on behalf of the Liberal party in the county, was evidenced by the enthusiasm of his reception. He gave a lucid resume of the historic wrongs of Ireland. He claimed that the granting of Home Rule to Ireland would make Irishmen the world over more friendly to England, and this influence would be particularly felt in the relations of the United States to England. Home Rule worked well in Canada, the United States, in Switzerland, the German Empire, Austria and Hungary. Then why not in Ireland?

Colonel O'Brien, M.P., who was received with cheers, said that under Home Rule the Protestants of Ireland would not be secure in life and property. He instanced the Phœnix Park murders, and said the Irish were so split up in sections they were incapable of governing themselves.

Mr. Weir replied that the English people were divided into political parties, Radicals, advanced Radicals, Liberals, Liberal Unionists and Conservatives.

Mr. J. E. Brampton, Q.C., followed, denouncing Home Rule very earnestly.

The Chairman then announced that he would not call for a vote, but leave the audience time to mature their judgments. Votes of thanks were passed to the speakers and to the chairman, and the meeting closed at a late hour with the National Anthem.

OBITUARY.

PORTRAIT TYPES OF THE MIDWAY PLAISANCE.

World's Fair Art Portfolios Second Series.

Oriental and Occidental, Northern and Southern.

EXPLANATION

A practical continuation of the World's Fair Art Portfolios, but under an entirely different and more attractive form, affording additional advantages for both amusement and education, being the necessary outgrowth of the "Dream City" series, presenting in an exhaustive manner the ethnological features of the Fair and issued in response to repeated requests from all parts of the country, the series being arranged from two complete collections of magnificent large portraits, secured at a great expense and supplemented by several photographs of equal worth from private collections, all forming a splendid list of 80 portrait types.

THIS series of "Oriental and Occidental, Northern and Southern, Portrait Types of the Midway Plaisance" is presented with a two-fold object—first, education; second, entertainment. So comprehensive a collection as this will be found to be possessed of an undoubted ethnological value, and will therefore prove a most important educational adjunct. Again, the interest which surrounded these types of foreign nations and tribes, as represented at the Exposition was very great, and many well-remembered faces will be pleasantly recalled.

The Publication of this series was a necessary outgrowth of the "Dream City" Art Portfolio, it having early become evident that the ethnological features of The Fair were of sufficient importance to demand more exhaustive treatment than could be accorded in the three numbers of the "Dream City" devoted to the Midway Plaisance.

The publishers were further convinced of this demand by repeated inquiries from all parts of the country as to whether certain well-known Midway types were to appear in the series ("Dream City,") and as to their names, nationality, position and history. Of many of these individuals it was thought there were no photographs extant, but after weeks of search two collections were discovered which contained a number of magnificent large portraits which were wonderfully well excuted and which had never been offered for sale or placed on public view.

These were secured at a great expense, owing to their high value as exclusive photographs, and were then supplemented by several photographs of equal worth from private collections, and a list of about 100 portrait types was arranged. This splendid series is offered in 10 portfolios of 8 pages, each page containing one large portrait 9½ by 12 inches in size, printed in photo tint, (the Art Portfolios were only 8 by 10, printed in black,) and each portrait is accompanied by an appropriate description containing interesting and instructive facts which have never been published. There is also a highly interesting and instructive introduction by Professor Putnam, of Harvard, who had charge of the ethnological features of The Fair. This series will surely prove most interesting, instructive and valuable to the thousands of people who have secured the "Dream City" Art Portfolios (the first series of World's Fair Art Port Portfolios) and who will treasure them as a rare personal possession.

CATTLE FREIGHTS.

The Views of the Dominion Live Stock Association.

They Claim that the Decline in Export Trade is Due Largely to Arbitrary Ocean Rates and Call Public Attention to the Issues Involved.

A chmmittee of the Dominion Live Stock Association, consisting of Messrs. T. O. Robson, president; Thos. Crawford, vice-president; Henry Bracken, John Dunn and A. J. Thompson appointed to promote the necessary legislation for the prevention of what they regard as excessive, uncertain and arbitrary ocean freights, rates and methods have drawn a statement of their case in which they first point out the importance of the trade. It is estimated that since the establishment of the trade, in 1875, it has brought back in cash to Canada over $75,000,000.

The trade reached its highest point in 1870, when 104,133 cattle valued at $8,144,145 were exported. In 1893 the trade fell to 89,574 cattle valued at $6,799-638. The statement proceeds:

Whilst the scheduling of Canadian cattle was one great cause for this decline, another and a preventible one is also operating in the same direction. If the trade were in a healthy condition it might be able to stand some drawbacks, but as if the scheduling were not misfortune enough most if not all of the vessel owners have an understanding or combination, whereby they charge such freight as they choose.

Owing to quarantine regulations, Canadian cattle cannot be shipped through the United States to Europe. Thus the whole export trade is confined to one Canadian port, that of Montreal, the head of ocean steamship navigation.

To this one point must come all Canadian cattle intended for the English market, and there be shipped by one or other of the few lines of steamers sailing between that port and Great Britain.

Each line has its representative at Montreal, and what is easier than for those representatives to meet weekly or oftener, and combine as to cattle rates. They have their agents in England, cabling them constantly as to the price of cattle. If it goes up, they put up the freight rates, including rates for cattle already on board. If the price falls, rates do not come down in proportion. If there is a large quantity of cattle at Montreal, the vessel men combine to exact excessive rates.

If the markets improve and shippers want to ship in time to take advantake of such improvements, up go the rates. In fact, every state of the market or exigency of the cattle trade seems to be taken advantage of by the vessel men, to levy excessive rates. Buyers cannot ascertain before buying what the rates will be.

Thus with a well-grounded fear of being charged excessive rates, they have to buy in ignorance of what the vessel men will charge to carry the cattle to market.

The rate may be $7 a head, or it may be $17.50. This uncertainty alone makes cattle buying extremely hazardous to the great prejudice, in some cases, of the farmer who sells, in others, of the buyer. Why should a legitimate industry be reduced to the level of gambling?

Buyers, who in buying have not reckoned on a sudden squeeze by the vessel men, have lost heavily, some even being ruined or driven out of the trade. In any event this very element of uncertainty renders it extremely difficult for the buyers to know what they may safely offer for cattle. As a rule, shippers do not know what the rates are to be, until the cattle have been purchased, brought to Montreal, and loaded, and the vessel is ready to sail.

In some cases the rate is fixed after the ship has sailed with the cattle on board. In securing space, the shippers at times have to agree to pay whatever are the going rates. This means whatever the agents of the vessel owners combine upon, when the shippers are in their power.

In these and other ways the whole export cattle trade of Canada is now being paralyzed by one of the hugest combinations of Canada.

The first principle of a contract is that both parties to it are free to assent or not to assent to its terms. Here we have two interests, the cattle industry and the vessel industry, the latter dictating terms to which the former must submit. It is powerless to resist, for no other route is open, and the principal steamship lines coming to Montreal and engaged in the cattle trade being subsidized by the Government and enjoying other advantages are practically able to keep other vessels, except an occasional tramp steamer, off this route. Thus the conditions render this monopoly possible, and it exists, and is exercising its arbitrary powers most tyrannically.

With practically no competition in rates from Montreal, our cattle carried from Montreal at excessive rates are landed at Liverpool, on the same dock, by the side of American cattle carried at competitive rates from Boston, New York, etc.

Both bring the same price in the English market, but the American farmer was paid more for his cattle than was the Canadian farmer, because of the lower rates. Thus, shipping cattle are worth more in the Buffalo than in the Toronto market.

It now remains for the Canadian people to determine whether this condition of affairs shall be allowed to continue. Shall steamship lines, some of them largely subsidized by the Canadian Government, and all enjoying the advantages of Canadian ports, harbors and waterways, upon which millions of Canadian money have been expended, be allowed of their own arbitrary motion to exact just such rates as they choose from the products of this Canadian industry? or shall Parliament be called upon to intervene, as it has done in the case of railways and other powerful organizations, to protect the people from oppression?

In the unequal contest, the cattle dealers have struggled in vain against the powerful vessel combination but are unable to break it.

They now bring the matter before the public.

It directly concerns the Canadian farmer. If he is to be paid the fair value of his cattle it must be possible to market them at reasonable rates, in fact as cheaply as his American rival does.

But this question concerns more the Canadian farmer. The farmer in old Canada especially is being obliged to change his mode of farming, by feeding his grain instead of selling it. If the market for his cattle is destroyed what becomes of his industry?

Thus, every Canadian is deeply concerned in guarding this most important branch of Canadian industry, and we ask shall one great powerful interest stand at the gateway of Canadian commerce and arbitrarily levy tribute upon one of our most important industries, or shall Parliament be asked promptly to deal with this abuse of power and thus prevent further injury?

A bill seeking to remove these grievances has been introduced into Parliament by Mr. Mulock, so that the whole subject will likely be discussed on the floors of Parliament on the second reading of the bill. In introducing the bill, Mr. Mulock stated that he was not wedded to the methods suggested by his bill, if any better could be proposed, and he stands prepared to cooperate with the Government or any members of the House in order to accomplish the end aimed at, namely, the restoration of the cattle trade to a healthy basis, by the prevention of excessive and uncertain rates which are now strangling it. Therefore, the question may be discussed on the basis of an existing evil, which in the interests of the country, demands some effective remedy and that forthwith.

As the whole aspect will be discussed in Parliament, and it is hoped a solution arrived at this session, it is of vital interest to Canada that the decision of Parliament shall be in the direction of relief from the oppression now existsng. Therefore it is important that public attention be now directed towards the issue involved, in the hope that public opinion may be evoked for the guidance of the people's representatives in Parliament.

FIGHTING DUELS IN ITALY.

About the Only Exercise in Which Natives Indulge.

Dueling is the leading and almost the only athletic sport in Italy, says The Idler. It is true that there is an Alpine Club, so called because its members climb the lesser heights of the Apennines, but there is no cricket, and, except among the laboring classes, ball games of even the mildest character are hardly ever played. The young Italian gentleman finds in dueling an exercise which is beneficial to his muscles and sufficiently exciting to interest him, and the middle-aged Italian keeps up his practice with the foils and occasionally challenges and fights a friend just to show that he is not too old to have lost a genial interest in the innocent pursuits of youth. Dueling is contrary to law in Italy, but the duelist is never punished (unless he should accidentally kill a man), except in the army, where the sport is obligatory and strictly prohibited. The same curious anomaly exists in Germany, where army officers are arrested and punished if they fight a duel and either cashiered or forced to resign if they do not. The Italian officer, when challenged to fight, is virtually told, "You'll be condemned if you do and condemned if you don't." This seems to the Anglo-Saxon decidedly idiotic, but nothing can well be more idiotic than dueling. Playing charades in a drawing-room rises to philosophic heights of wisdom in comparison with it. At least ninety-nine out of every hundred Italian duels are of the class technically known a "first blood" duels. That is to say the combat ceases the moment either of the adversaries loses blood. In these duels the sword is always used, and the slightest scratch on the hand or the arm—which are the localities usually scratched—signalizes the end of the game and authorizes the duelists to sheathe their weapons and go somewhere to dinner together. Instances have happened in which a duelist has been accidentally run through the body and killed, but incidents of this sort are extremely infrequent compared with the fatalities of the football field. Italian dueling is probably the safest of all athletic sports, except prize fighting as practiced by modern pugilists by means of letters to the sporting papers.

After realizing an additional $5,000 it it intended to publish a list of the subscriptions.

It is likely that General Herbert will be asked to formulate rules and terms for the competition, and to appoint an officer for the purpose of superintending, the same as was done last year.

FINANCIAL.

SATURDAY, April 21.

There is very little to say in connection with the Stock Market to-day. The only sales in the miscellaneous list were 50 Pacific at 68 and 75 Street Railway, ex-dividend at 143 to 143½. Unfavorable reports of earnings is responsible for the decline in Pacific. Nearly half the total day's business was in bank stocks, for which there is a steady investment demand, although there is not much stock offering. A very favorable bank statement, issued to-day, had an encouraging effect on this class of securities. Both circulation and public deposits are shown to have increased substantially, while the foreign Exchange account has also improved. The cash reserves are still being strengthened, while the holding of railway and municipal securities by the banks has been increased. A notable feature is an increase in the amount of amount of money loaned on call, due to the improvement in prices and increased business on the stock exchanges.

To-day's highest, lowest and closing prices, the number of shares sold, and the net changes from yesterday's closing prices for actual sales were as follows:

| Sales. | High | Low | Close | Chan |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 50 Pacific | 68 | 68 | 68 | |
| 75 Street Ry. xd and x-Rights | 143½ | 143 | 143½ | |

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The stock market this morning was fairly active, particularly for a Saturday half-holiday, although it was somewhat irregular, averaging up, however, strong. The opening was firm, except for New England, but immediately after the first quotations were recorded there was a vicious drive made against St. Paul by the room traders in the hope of creating a general weakness, should they be able to break the price of that stock. It had opened at 63¼, which was ⅛ above the price asked at the closing last night, but under the heavy pressure which was brought to bear against it, the price yielded, dropping down as low as 62⅞ from which it rallied and advanced to 63, where it closed. The selling did not seem to be based on anything in particular but was just a raid and the last quotation was the same as that which was bid for it last night.

Although the price did decline, it had no effect upon the rest of the market which, barring two or three stocks, ruled strong. New England was weak on the publication of the plan of reorganization which called for an assessment of $20 a share on the common stock and $25 a share on the preferred stock. The holders of the common stock not to receive anything for their assessment which they will have the pleasure of paying on a stock which sold to-day in the market at less than half of the amount of the assessment and the future value of which is largely a matter of faith. The plan evidently did not impress the common stockholders favorably, for there was quite a heavy selling of it. It closed last night at 10¼, and at the opening this morning the quotations were made so rapidly that it could not be told just what the first one was, the stock being offered down on every hand and finally the official opening was fixed at 9½ to 9¼ on 2,500 shares. From this there was a steady decline to 8¾, large blocks being sold but at that point there was a halt and the stock commenced to recover part of this loss. It went down again, however, and once more touched its previous low point, but once more recovered, finally closing a little under the opening, 9⅞ bid, 9½ asked. The closing was dull and uninteresting.

Messrs. James, Boys and Co. say of the New York market: If anything were needed to convince the public that shrewd and far-seeing capitalists have abiding faith in the future, and believe that the lowest prices for good securities have been recorded, it is furnished by the fact that for several weeks past they have been quietly picking up the better class of investment securities, and are still doing so. The Stock Exchange list contains a number of stocks that are even more desirable than good bonds, because the prices were driven abnormally low during last year's panic and the recoveries have since been only slight. The chances for reaping good profits in these is great. This is especially true of such stocks as Atchison, M. K. and T., Wabash preferred and Union Pacific. All the Grangers must also sell much higher as conditions improve.

New York Gossip.

Messrs. Meredith and O'Brien have received the following by direct private wire from J. S. Bache and Co., New York:

Chicago special: On Monday Corporation Counsel Rubins will listen to arguments as to the legality of the Chicago Gas contract with the city providing for gradual reductions in prices. Col. Cooper will appear for the citizens. The Tribune says the Company may voluntarily reduce the price of gas to $1 at once and end the troubles. The Inter-Ocean says Moloney's decision is expected to be against Chicago Gas and will probably be rendered Monday. The Wormsers told friends yesterday morning that Gas would go up during the day. They had large buying orders and other interests identified with insiders bought a good deal. Selling was scattering. Just before the close Mr. Thompson bought 2,500 Gas around 69. The talk after the close was that Gas would cross 70 to-day, and would sell at 80 before it would again go to 65. It was noticed that the bull talk seemed to be more with reference to the short interest than any other account, and it was intimated that the campaign was directed quite largely against Chicago bears.

Exchange in New York.

Messrs. W. L. S. Jackson and Co., foreign exchange brokers, Notre Dame Street, have received the following from Messrs. C. Schumaker and Co., New York:

The course of Exchange of this week, contrary to that of last week, shows a steady decline, amounting to about ½ per £ in sterling, and ⅛ per cent. on Continental Exchange between last Monday and to-day, bringing sight sterling back to 4.88¼, and cables to 4.88½, just where they stood a fortnight ago.

It is rather surprising, and we are unable to explain the fact, that where last week our bankers and dealers allowed sight sterling to go up to 4.88⅞ before shipping any gold, they should now be able to ship it with sight sterling at 4.88¼. Based on these figures, $3,000,000 gold are now actually under engagement for shipment by to-morrow's steamers, which brings the total shipments from January 1st to date to $9,500,000.

That the operation of gold shipping to Europe is not very profitable after all at these figures might be concluded from the fact that more gold had been originally engaged but part of the amount withdrawn at the last moment, probably because the shippers found that they were not obtaining enough for the bills which they had to draw against their gold shipments.

COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, April 21.

No very appreciable change was scored in Canadian wheat markets the past week, still prices were upheld remarkably well, in the face of the general depression ruling in American markets. The volume of business was small, and a few export sales comprised local dealers' business. In the West, however, things appeared to be a little better, owing to the fact that millers were trading pretty liberally, particularly the latter part of the week. A sale of a round lot of red wheat was made at 62c west of Toronto, and another at 61c. White wheat is selling at about 59c to 60c, same location. In the way of Manitoba wheat, actual transactions of No. 1 hard have been made at 73c west of Toronto. A comparative statement of the stocks in Montreal elevators are given as follows:

| | April 21, 1894. | April 14, 1894. | April 22, 1893. |

| Wheat, bush | 632,813 | 633,813 | 596,667 |
| Corn, bush | 2,901 | 3,651 | 13,877 |
| Peas, bush | 162,254 | 161,130 | 371,052 |
| Oats, bush | 257,739 | 349,050 | 573,725 |
| Barley, bush | 38,170 | 39,533 | 89,251 |

Messrs. Meredith and O'Brien have received the following by private direct from Counselman and Day, Chicago:

Wheat opened firm at a shade advance on buying influenced by clearances of 3,019,000 bushels for the week including flour, and by small receipts at Northwestern points. Trade was light and the market sagged half a cent slowly under professional selling. Ed. Padridge became the central figure of the dull market by making savage attempts to wreck the price. His short interest is estimated to be about 12 million bushels. Guesses on the visible supply varied from ½ to 1½ million decrease, depending upon the disposition of rail shipments. Closing prices were the same as 48 hours ago.

Corn and oats were dull, quiet and featureless, except perhaps a moderate selling movement by holders of May corn. It is understood that the unloading of several cargoes has relieved considerable pressure upon the shorts.

Hog product was irregular in tone, ranging higher, but closing 5 to 7½c lower for July ribs and pork, and 2½c higher for July lard. Packers seemed disposed to buy all offerings, but did what they could to encourage sellers by giving the market a soft appearance.

In reviewing the English grain trade for the week ending April 19, L. Norman & Co. say:

The trade here generally seem to have little faith in American crop scares, and until something more definite is known with regard to the growing crops, buyers are likely to look on with indifference to the excited rushes which have taken place lately. La Plata wheats still meet attention, and steamers for April-May shipment sold from 20s 9d to 21s, and sailers at 21s 3d. Russian shippers do not press sales, but this class of wheat is not much enquired for in face of the cheap Argentine qualities. Indian wheats are still relatively too dear and very little business has resulted. Hard Manitobas—Very few sellers and held above market value. For April-May 26s 1½d c.i.f. asked; buyers, 25s 10d. Barley—Malting generally neglected. Owing to slight falling off in Russian shipments grinding barley has been steady and made more money on the spot. Near at hand cargoes have been enquired for and more money paid. Oats—With smaller shipments the market has ruled firmer and dearer. Peas—Quiet. White Canadian prompt shipment to London 25s 3d c.i.f. sellers, with few buyers to 24s 9d. Hay—Values shew a further decline in this article, £4 7s 6d c.i.f. being accepted for April shipment. With continued dry weather here there is a somewhat steadier feeling, and sellers are asking £4 10s 0d c.i.f. for prompt shipment, but only few buyers. A fair trade is passing on the spot for sound delivered Canadian hay, which is selling from £4 15s 6d to £4 17s 6d per ton.

In Chicago, one of the partners in a ground floor private wire concern, said up to about a week ago there were 7,000,000 long wheat in his office and a line of about as much in another office not a hundred feet away, 14,000,000 in all. About half of that long May wheat has been liquidated by the different holders, but the gossip now from the ground floor private wire houses is that there is still left enough wheat long for May for New York account to make those who know of the figures very certain, when its selling begins, the May-July spread will considerably widen. It is rather remarkable, but nevertheless the fact, that the concerns which hold this wheat do not take into their consideration the possibility that this May long interest might be maintained past the delivery day. Possibly their knowledge of the character of the holders is the reason why they do not consider this one of the possibilities.—Herald.

The shipments of wheat and flour (flour equivalent in wheat) were from the

Since July 1 to April 20 the aggregate exports of wheat and flour were equivalent to 141,113,209 bushels, against 157,896,900 bushels the same period last year, and of corn 53,305,000 bushels, as compared with 27,595,819 bushels one year ago.

According to Messrs. Meredith and O'Brien's special Chicago service the estimated receipts for to-morrow are:—Wheat 82 cars; corn, 250 cars; oats, 230 cars; hogs, 23,000.

To-day's receipts in Chicago were:—Wheat, 73 cars; contract, 49 cars; corn, 254 cars; contract, 95 cars; oats, 250 cars; contract, 153 cars; hogs, 12,000.

Minneapolis received 256 cars of wheat to-day and Duluth 99 cars.

"The local professional wheat crowd is now unanimously bearish," says The Chicago Herald. "It has been getting around to that side ever since the breaking of the Kansas drought. The few who are undecided moved over in a body yesterday when they saw the Government crop bulletins announcing crop improvement in all the States. While the local crowd is getting so unanimously bearish again, there are some signs of the Wall Street interest picking up July wheat. The only business yesterday which attracted any attention was buying of July by two private wire concerns, about a million each."

An early dispatch from Chicago said: "Outside markets unchanged, to ⅛d higher. St. Louis firmer, on unfavorable crop advices from neighboring States. Local feeling bearish. Crowd persisted sellers, led by Pardridge on expected selling next week."

A San Francisco message says: No rain. Estimated crop of wheat forty per cent. below an average yield, but the surplus is large from former years.

Foreign grain markets, according to Beerbohm's report, opened this morning fairly firm. Cargoes off coast, wheat, steadily held; maize, nil. Cargoes on passage and for shipment, wheat, quiet, but steady; maize, slow. French country markets, quiet. Liverpool spot wheat, firmly held; do., spot maize, steady, with fair demand; do., American Red Western winter wheat, 4s 11d; do., mixed maize, 3s 11d. Canadian peas, 5s 1d.

GRAIN—Considerable business was transacted in the grain market the past week, with peas on the top of the list in point of activity. Prices on peas have been noticeably firm, due largely to advancing English markets, which were quoted to-day at 5s 1d for Canadian peas, a gain of several cents for the week. Most of the local business has been done for May delivery on vessel. Oats have offered a fair amount of activity, with business at full prices. This grain is firmer in the west, and business was done yesterday at 34c west of Toronto. Exporters are doing very little. Barley remains in much the same position, with values firm but unchanged.

| Rye, No. 2 | 52 to 53c |
| Barley, feed | 42 to 44c |
| Barley, malting | 52 to 54c |

Private advices from Toronto received to-day, noted a much improved demand for peas, with sales of No. 2 aggregating 20,000 bushels at from 54c to 35c on the C.P.R. west.

FLOUR.—Irregularity in prices was the foremost feature of the flour market the past week. However, we see no particular reason why quotations should be put back to the old range unless it be on straight rollers, which has been offering on track here at $3.00 and less. Rumors are to the effect that strong bakers and patents are offering at reduced quotations, but the large millers positively deny any such concessions on their own part. The volume of business this week has been fair, with several export sales of Manitoba flour. Newfoundland dealers have been buying very sparingly, but on the whole, the quantity already bought, which is awaiting shipment, by the first boats is considerable.

| | |
|---|---|
| Spring patents | 3.65 to 3.75 |
| Straight rollers | 3.05 to 3.20 |

| Strong bakers,' Man | 3.40 to 3.50 |
| Strongbakers', Man best brands | 3.55 to 3.60 |

The stock of flour in Montreal elevators this week is 68,392 brls, against 91,332 brls for last week, and 73,714 brls for the corresponding period last year.

MEAL.—The market has been well maintained during the past week, under a slight improvement in the demand, and the scarcity in oats. Supplies here are on the whole rather small, but at no time have they been insufficient for all requirements.

|---|---|
| Granulated and rolled, per brl | $4.25 to $4.30 |
| Granulated and rolled, per bag | 2.10 to 2.20 |

FEED.—The market displays as much activity as ever, and prices are firmly maintained. Bran and shorts are still in very good demand, and it is with the greatest of difficulty that millers are enabled to fill orders. Car lots are selling at $19 and $20 respectively. Mouille is rather quiet.

| | |
|---|---|
| Bran | $18.50 to $19.00 |
| Shorts | 19.50 to 20.00 |
| Mouille | 22.00 to 24.00 |

CHEESE.—The supply of fall cheese for local requirements is pretty well worked off, and arrivals of new are still very small. However, an occasional sale is reported at about 10c to 10¼c, with sales in Ontario markets, particularly Brockville, during the week at 10c to 10½c. A report from New York says: "Exporters are in want of a few new choice, but do not care to pay above 10c to 10¼c, though a few exceptional lots have been placed at ¼c to ½c higher, though some receivers are asking even more money. New small cheese are peddling out to the home trade at 11c to 12c, but the latter only possible for exceptionally fancy colored. New part skims in fair request from exporters, and the average is a fraction better. Some very nice Little Falls light skims sold at 9½c, but the bulk of Central New York sold from 8¾c down.

HUNTINGDON, April 21.—A meeting was held in Moir Hotel for the purpose of discussing the advisability of establishing a cheese and butter board in the village of Huntingdon. The matter was thoroughly discussed, but it was found that the number of factories that would take advantage of the system was too limited, and it was decided to drop the matter for this season. Twenty factories were represented at the meeting.

The exports of cheese the past week from New York footed up 8,854 boxes, including 5,534 to Liverpool, 2,401 to London, 419 to Glasgow and 500 to Bristol.

BUTTER—The tone of the market the latter part of the week, was perceptibly easier, due principally to the marked increase in arrivals, and a dragging demand. Supplies, however, are by no means excessive, though holdings of medium qualities are rather heavier than usual, though it is expected that the first steamers will take a good deal of the rather undesirable qualities to Newfoundland. As far as values on finest new made creamery and Townships are concerned there is no change, and these are bringing full figures. The make is growing considerably and will continue so from now on. Rolls are in demand in a small way at about 18c to 19c.

| | |
|---|---|
| Creamery, fresh | 21c to 25c |
| Creamery, old | 00c to 20c |
| Townships, fresh | 21c to 23c |
| Western, tubs | 18c to 19c |
| Rolls | 18c to 19c |

The exports of butter the past week from New York foot up 3,169 packages, including 146 to Liverpool, 321 to London, 616 to Hamburg, 1,722 to Copenhagen and 364 to Christiania.

EGGS—The latter part of the week, witnessed a much improved feeling in the egg market under the general disposition on the part of picklers to buy. Sales were freely made at 11c to 11½c, and several large lots changed hands at the latter figure. One dealer has a standing offer from a large local picker to get all the eggs he is able, up to the first of May at 11½c. Arrivals during the week were large, but the stock is not excessive.

PROVISIONS.—An upward tendency in prices on all hog products characterized the market the past week. However, although pork is quoted up at $17 to $17.50, there is comparatively very little business doing, and these figures purely represent what is being asked. Very little western mess is being brought forward. Lard is firmly held at about quotations. A moderate jobbing demand is passing for smoked meats:

|---|---|
| Canada short cut mess, per brl | 16.00 to 17.00 |
| West. mess pork, new per brl | 00.00 to 17.00 |

WHEAT CROP CONDITIONS.

TOLEDO, April 21.—C. A. King and Co., during the last four days, have received replies from 3,248 grain dealers and millers, covering every important wheat county in the six principal winter-wheat states, which raise two-thirds of the winter-wheat crop of the United States. The present prospect is that the next wheat crop in the six states will be somewhat larger than an average one.

Four hundred and sixty-six dealers report the outlook excellent; 1,378 say good; 796 an average; 428 a trifle below an average; 144 say poor; while only 36 say half a crop. Indiana has the best and a very good prospect, especially in some of the larger wheat counties. Ohio promises nearly as well, while Missouri and Illinois follow, each saying above an average; Michigan and Kansas have fully an average prospect.

There is less old wheat remaining in the interior than a year ago. One third say there is about the same amount; a sixth report an eighth to a quarter more, while a quarter report a half less, and a quarter say an eighth to a third less. Ohio has the largest stocks. Indiana, Illinois and Missouri have small stocks. A majority of farmers are disposed to sell before another harvest, while only a fifth will carry all over.

OCEAN GRAIN FREIGHTS.

The freight market is decidedly tame, and although quotations are easy enough, and apparently satisfactory, the amount of space taken does not begin to compare with the engagements at the corresponding period last year. London is quoted at 1s 6d to 1s 9d; Liverpool, 1s 6d to 1s 9d; Glasgow, 1s 6d to 1s 9d; and Bristol, 1s 9d to 2s 0d. Hay is quoted at 40s to 42s 6d by regular liners, and an engagement is reported by an outside steamer at 37s 6d.

TEA MEN OBJECT

To Mr. Foster's Proposed Amendments to the Tariff.

They Want the Duties to Remain as They Were, and Prefer 10 Per Cent. Duty to Free Tea From the United States—Deputation to Ottawa.

The wholesale grocers and tea merchants discussed the amendments to the tariff as effecting tea and coffee, at a meeting in the Board of Trade committee room on Saturday. afternoon. The old duty, which was unchanged at the revision of the tariff, was 10 per cent, on all teas not imported direct on through bills of lading from the country of growth and production. This was considered by some as a discrimination against England. as all the Indian and Ceylon teas imported into Canada, come from London, the tea market of the world, and not direct from the country of growth, as is the case with China and Japan teas. At Friday evening's sitting of the House the Minister of Finance proposed to place tea and green coffee direct from the country of growth on the free list. In explanation he said: "This item shall include tea and coffee purchased in bond in any country where tea and coffee are subject to custom duties, provided there be satisfactory proof that tea or coffee so purchased in bond is such as might be entered for consumption in the country where the same is purchased." This is construed as removing the discrimination against England, and at the same time preventing the importation of inferior teas which would not be permitted to be entered for consumption in Great Britain. The meeting of Saturday condemned the later action of the Government, and expressed approval of the old duty. It was concluded that Mr. Foster did not understand the subject of tea and tea duties, and that a deputation of those that knew would have to go to Ottawa to instruct him.

Mr. R. J. Anderson, of Doyle and Anderson, presided, and among those present were W. Kinloch, of Kinloch and Lindsay; W. Stroud, of W. T. Stroud and Sons; P. S. Doyle, John Morrow, W. G. Willison, A. Hendery, and David T. Tees.

The Chairman explained the objects of meeting, and Mr. Morrow read several letters and telegrams from Hamilton, Toronto and other Western points expressing approval of the tariff as it was, and intimating that a deputation would leave for Ottawa this week to protest against Mr. Foster's proposed amendments. Mr. Morrow said that if removing the ten per cent. from teas coming from England involved free tea from the United States the trade here as well as in the West would say no.

Mr. Hendery said that if Canada wants to discriminate against the United States she can get over the difficulty by putting on a nominal duty. With regard to the clause about what was called bogus tea, he considered that, according to the reading of the clause, this bogus tea can come in, but has to pay ten per cent. duty. There is no provision made against the importation of tea which is prohibited from consumption in England or the States, unless there is another provision which has not been made public yet.

Mr. Stroud suggested that the Government should station inspectors at Montreal to stop such tea.

Mr. Hendery—"There is nothing said like that yet."

Mr. Stroud believed that tea would be put on the free list, and that the reason the item was left over was that the Government were considering this step. When the deputation waited on the Finance Minister the first question asked was, "Are you in favor of free tea?" and he gave a satisfactory answer.

Mr. Willison—"It was left over because Sir Richard Cartwright wanted it."

Mr. Morrow said that the Finance Minister had asked him where he got his coffees from. On being informed that they came from Venezuela and other places to which there was no direct means of transit, Mr. Foster stated that coffees imported from there would be considered as coming in on a through bill of lading. Everyone was satisfied with the tariff as it was, but the question for the meeting was: Were the amendments brought down the night before satisfactory?

Mr. Tees contended that a direct shipment was a through bill of lading.

Mr. Kinloch had looked into the matter carefully with Mr. Lindsay and he had come to the conclusion that according to the declarations of the Finance Minister the previous night the greatest rubbish or the best or medium quality, just as the importer thought proper, could be bought in Yokohama or China, and could come in free of duty. That was his opinion, and he believed a careful reading of Mr. Foster's words would bear out his opinion. With regard to London the condition was simply this: They could import tea from London now free of duty, provided that the tea they bought there was of the same quality as was in use in England and the United Kingdom generally. Formerly the greatest rubbish of teas would be bought in London, and he had known tea to be bought at auction for a penny per lb. which would have had to be destroyed in a very short time if they had not been sold. This tea was imported into Montreal, and, said Mr. Kinloch, "If I were to tell you a little more history I could tell you that 38c was advanced on that identical tea."

Mr. Tees—"A box!"

Mr. Kinloch—"No. 38c a pound, and a good sale, Mr. Chairman, I think." Having made some further remarks on this particular deal he said, "If any of us were to buy such tea, supposing the bill passses Parliament, we can import that tea into this country, paying a duty of ten per cent. ad valorem, but if the tea is as good as is used in Great Britain then we can import it duty free. That is my candid opinion."

Mr. Willison—"There is a question of public health, and I don't think such bad tea would be brought in. There would be an inspector here, I think. That is a matter apart from the tariff, however."

Mr. Kinloch thought that tea should pay a specific duty per lb., as well as an ad valorem. His own opinion was that the Government should have put a duty on all tea, no matter from what port it came, and not discriminate against the Mother Country. He also thought that rubbishy tea should not pay as much as a good tea.

Mr. Stroud brought the discussion to a focus by proposing the following resolution: "That this meeting of the wholesale grocers and tea merchants of Montreal hereby resolve that the amendments to the tariff as reported by the newspapers today do not meet with their approval, but that we voice our approval of the explanation given on the 5th instant, that teas and coffees not imported direct on through bills of lading from the country of growth and production should pay a duty of 10 per cent., thereby encouraging direct import? tion from the country of growth and production."

Mr. Kinloch—"I am in favor of taxing all teas."

Mr. Morrow—"The Government are pledged now to free tea."

The resolution was seconded by Mr. Perry, and carried, Mr. Kinloch dissenting, and one or two not voting.

Messrs. Morrow and Doyle were appointed a deputation to interview the Government, and the meeting adjourned.

CITY HALL NEWS.

The Board of Chairmen Will Whittle Down Appropriations To-day.

The City Fathers will have their hands full of work for the first two days of this week. This morning at 10.30 the Board of Chairmen will meet to discuss the appropriations of the various committees, which must necessarily be cut in all instances, as the proposed appropriations exceed the revenue by over $600,000. As each committee will try to hold its own, considerable hard fighting will be done and a lot of wrangling indulged in. The appropriations, according to law, must be submitted to and approved by the Council before the 30th inst. The deliberations of the Board of Chairmen will probably occupy the greater part of the day. Before being submitted to the Council they must be approved by the Finance Committee after passing out of the Chairmen's hands. A meeting of the Finance Committee will therefore be held to-morrow.

The enquete in Milk Inspector Drouin's case will open at 3 o'clock this afternoon before the Health Committee.

A special meeting of the City Council has been called by the Mayor for Tuesday afternoon. The first order of the day is on appropriations for the current year and the second is the Finance Committee's report recommending that the city borrow $2,000,000 for forty years at 4 p.c. Some disatisfaction is expressed at the placing of the second item on the order of the day before it was submitted as a report from the Finance Committee. By this means the members are deprived of the privilege of calling next meeting. The Mayor is justified in so doing, however, when a special meeting is called, if the Committee so requests.

INCINERATOR CONTRACT NOT SIGNED.

The Thackery incinerator contract has not yet been signed although it is said that it will be signed before Tuesday's meeting of the Council. City Attorney Ethier said on Saturday that it was not likely the Council would offer any opposition because it had not been signed within the stipulated time as the Council had approved the terms of the deed.

NOTRE DAME STREET EXPROPRIATIONS.

The Expropriation Commissioners on the widening of Notre Dame Street West have decided to grant the request of Mr. R. S. Weir, attorney, who applied to be allowed to file the resolution of the Roads Committee of the 5th of November, 1893, recommending that the improvement be proceeded with, in all the records which have been commenced after that date. But on the other hand, the opposing parties will be heard by the Commissioners on Friday next at 3 p.m., and they would endeavor to prove that the resolution of the Roads Committee cannot apply to the cases under consideration.

The point under discussion is whether the latest law on expropriations, adopted by the Legislature at its last session, applies to the Notre Dame Street West expropriations. If it did, tenants could not claim damages for more than one year, enter any lease entered into after the 5th of November, 1893. That would mean a saving of several thousands of dollars for all but the claimants.

FEVER HOSPITALS.

Result of Conference Between Hospitals' and Health Authorities.

A conference of representatives of the local Board of Health, the Montreal General Hospital, the Notre Dame Hospital, and the Board of Health of the Province of Quebec took place Saturday afternoon in the Provincial health office regarding the question of permanent fever hospitals.

A general discussion took place and apart from the question of site which at the suggestion of Ald. Beausoleil was left over for consideration at a future meeting, the other points were solved by the following resolutions unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That this conference, to which both the Notre Dame and Montreal General Hospitals are represented, after having fully discussed the two following propositions (a): Whether the city should contract with the Notre Dame and Montreal General Hospitals for both the housing and care of fever patients or (b) whether it would not be better that the necessary buildings be provided and owned by the city, the latter contracting with the aforesaid hospitals for the care of patients and management only. Unanimously resolved that it would be very much better that the city itself should procure the land and erect buildings which would be acceptable to the hospital authorities and that each building should be placed under the charge of the hospital authorities for administration only, the city thus retaining the ownership of the hospitals and being thereby enabled to have a more effective control over their operations.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the conference there should be two fever hospitals to accommodate say 100 for that under the care of the Notre Dame Hospital and 60 for the care of Protestant patients with such sufficient spare land to permit of temporary extension should circumstances render it necessary. That the two hospitals be built contiguous to each other, so that water supply, drainage, disinfection, etc., might be made common to both.

That the architects entrusted with the drawing of the plans be informed, that in the opinion of this Conference, what is known as the Pavilion system is the most desirable.

Resolved, That the City of Montreal be requested to provide at the shortest possible delay the necessary buildings for the accommodation of diphtheria and scarlet fever patients, and also an observation or probationary building for doubtful cases, which building could also be used for other diseases than diphtheria and scarlet fever, should the local Board of Health of Montreal so desire.

Resolved, That this conference would express the opinion that no unnecessary delay should occur in the preparation of plans by the architects named by the Board of Health for submission of the same to this conference at an early date.

It is decided to have a second meeting on the 28th April, to which the architects chosen by the local Board of Health would be invited.

SCENE AT THEATRE FRANCAIS.

An Angry Actress Slaps the Face of a Well-Known Lawyer.

Madame Blonville, leading lady at the Opera Francais apparently has a temper as high as her soprano voice. C. H. St. Louis, the well-known lawyer, in his theatrical letter in The Patrie, stated as his opinion that Madame Blonville did not know her part and that she was the main cause of the failure of Thursday's performance of "La Grande Duchesse," from an artistic point of view. This aroused the anger of the star and on Saturday afternoon she resented the criticism by walking up to Mr. St. Louis as he sat in his box and slapping his face.

Mr. St. Louis occupied a box with a party at the matinee performance, and Madame Blonville seeing him there sent a note asking him to see her behind the scenes. This he refused to do, and after the second act she came out into the theatre in the costume of the character which she took through the play.

"Did you write that article referring to me in Friday's La Patrie, Mr. St. Louis?"

He answered "yes," and before he could speak another word the passionate woman slapped his face twice with both hands.

Mr. St. Louis was so astounded that he could not speak for a few moments. He had written a fair criticism, in fact fairer than the performance deserved. Finally he said: "You are very ill bred, madame." At this Emery Blonville, who was standing behind the woman, stepped up and said to Mr. St. Louis: "I can repeat the dose, if you wish." As everybody knows, Mr. St. Louis has not the physical strength to resist an assault since his last sickness.

The incident created intense excitement throughout the theatre during the remainder of the play. During the evening performance some parties in the gallery attempted to hiss Madame Blonville. but were quickly suppressed.

Seen by a reporter after the occurrence the leading lady laughed about it and said that she thought she was quite justified in her action. Mr. St. Louis would not say what course he proposes to pursue in connection with the assault.

Mr. Hardy, the manager of the theatre, offered all the satisfaction he could to Mr. St. Louis, even going so far as to offer to cancel Madame Blonville's engagement.

It is understood that a strong effort will be made by some of the shareholders to cancel the engagement unless a public apology is made before the curtain rises tonight.
