OUTING AT BELMONT PARK FOR LOCAL YOUNGSTERS PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Event Is Sponsored by the Westmount Examiner — Annual Affair — Local Merchants Donate 60 Prizes — Boys From Lions' Boys Club As Special Guests — Adults Also Endorse Event

Five thousand school-age boys and girls from Westmount and adjoining districts unanimously voted Tuesday, as one of the high spots in their youthful careers after attending Kiddies' Day at Belmont Park the monster picnic and gala gathering sponsored by The Westmount Examiner.

The weatherman bestowed his blessing on the event despite an early morning threat of rain and the youngsters all took full advantage of the special prices for the amusements which featured the occasion.

During the afternoon the huge crowd of youngsters and adults gathered around the platform which was equipped with loud speakers, where H. E. McCormick welcomed them to the annual Kiddies' Day. With Mr. McCormick on the rostrum were A. Ladouceur, J. Evans, L. A. Hay, K. Denman, W. Christie and A. Stock.

Sixty Prizes Given

Following the brief address the drawing for some sixty prizes, donated by local merchants, was held, an event in which all participated and which brought unadulterated joy to the same number of youthful hearts.

The 120 boys from the Lions' Boys Club who were special guests of the business men's group had the time of their young lives. After being transported to the park in private cars, each lad was given a bag of candy, an orange (the gifts of Steinberg's Groceries and Leger's Pharmacy respectively) and a sheet of tickets to the various amusements. Full use was made of all three articles.

Record Crowd

This year the annual event was larger than ever before with many parents attending and making use of the picnic facilities provided by the park authorities. Free outdoor entertainment was provided for the occasion and the adults also subscribed to the youngsters' enthusiastic declaration of "a good time."

Local firms who donated prizes for Kiddies' Day were:

A. F. Ladouceur, Paul Gallepeau, Chateau uay Shoe Store; Easy Electrical Company; Stock's Service Station; Melrose Tobacco Shop, Sherbrooke Hardware, McArde's Stationery, K. T. Denman, Rowat, Cusson & Ross, American Drug Store, Booth Bros., Tarter's Drug Store, Melrose Hardware, Steinberg's Wholesale Groceries, Palmer's Pharmacy, Belgrave Drug Store, Frank L. Singer, Camille's Home Bakery, Monkland & Lardale, L. N. & J. E. Noiseux, London's Mens' Wear, Leger's Pharmacy, W. A. Miles, Poulin Hardware, Nat's Tobacco Store, S. S. Kresge Co., Jack Evans.

Those who furnished cars to transport the Lions' Club boys to the Park included: A. Ladouceur, H. E. McCormick, H. Stoddard, S. W. Jones, L. A. Hay, E. Larkin, S. White, D. McLennan, D. Kuth, K. Denman, J. Kahan, Chevrolet Motors, Lions' Club, LaSalle, Coke, C. D. Booth, W. Christie and P. G. Godel.

St. Leo's Graduate Is Awarded Wings

Son of the former Acting Consul General of Spain for Canada and Mrs. D. Cuetara, Sgt.-Pilot Enrique Cuetara, 21, received his R.C.A.F. wings recently upon graduation from No. 5 Service Flying Training School at Brantford, Ont.

Born here, he was educated at St. Leo's Academy, Westmount, and the O'Sullivan College of Business Administration. He expects to go overseas shortly.

Park Car On Roof, It's Much Cheaper

Park your car on the roof — and get a break in the parking fee. That is the system in effect at Parkchester, huge Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. housing development in New York.

In various locations throughout the development five-story ramp garages have been opened. Residents who desire open air parking on the roof drive up the ramps through the five floors and are charged less than those who get parking space indoors.

Columnist's Pupil 1st in Music Test

Sylvia Marks, 655 Lansdowne avenue, Westmount, a pupil of Miss Frances Goldman, Examiner Musical Columnist, took premier honors in the finals at the Dominion Junior Grade Pianoforte examinations held at McGill University, according to recent announcement of the results.

H. R. COCKFIELD NAMED TO POST IN GOVERNMENT

Westmount Man To Direct Aluminum Production And Distribution of Munitions, Supply Department

According to an announcement from Ottawa Tuesday, H. R. Cockfield of 171 Edgehill Road, Westmount, has been appointed director of aluminum production and distribution of the Department of Munitions and Supply. He will serve without remuneration.

Up to the present, Mr. Cockfield has been acting in a somewhat similar capacity in Canada on behalf of the United Kingdom Ministry of Aircraft Production. With the transfer of all the purchasing activities in Canada of that ministry to the Department of Munitions and Supply, he will continue to fulfil similar functions on behalf of the Canadian Government.

He is managing director of Cockfield, Brown and Co., Montreal, advertising agency, a graduate of McGill University, a vice-president of Investment Foundation, and a director of Eastern Trust Co., Brenner-Norris Realty Investments, and Commonwealth International Corporation.

He is also a member of the Quebec Council of Public Instruction. The office of the director of aluminum production and distribution is in Montreal.

VACATION CLUB HAS ENROLMENT OF 116 BOYS

Westmount Y. M. C. A. Group Proving More Popular From Day to Day — Many Learn To Swim

The enrolment of boys at the local Y.M.C.A. Vacation Club has steadily increased. Since opening day on June 23, 116 boys have taken part in the program of crafts, swimming, movies, visits to places of interest, hikes, athletic events, and talks.

This form of organized program has given the boys of the community an opportunity to take part in activities which are both healthful and educational. Many favorable comments have been received from the boys' parents.

A feature of this week's program was a visit to Belmont Park in conjunction with the special day arranged by two merchants of Westmount and the "Westmount Examiner."

The boys spent most of the day enjoying the park amusements. The trips scheduled for the rest of this week include visits to the Kraft Cheese Company, Dent Harrison Bakeries, and the Musee Historique Canadienne.

The following boys have learned to swim since the Vacation Club opened: David Lawson, Bill Walker, Robin Kearney, Geoffrey Asherson, Rex Blimore, David Mackey, and Jack Garley.

At a swimming test period held on Monday for Canadian Y.M.C.A. swimming award cards, approximately 25 boys were able to complete the requirements for at least one of the five levels.

The most popular craft this year has been leather work. The boys have made change purses, wallets, key holders, comb holders, bookmarks, and other articles of their fancy.

EMPIRE SPIRIT IS DESCRIBED TO ROTARIANS

P. G. Delgado Addresses Fellow Members of Westmount Club at Weekly Luncheon

Outlining the solidarity of the British Empire how mistakes were rectified and the perfect harmony and coordination now existing, P. G. Delgado, superintendent of Public Works for Westmount, assured fellow-members of the Westmount Rotary of Club Yesterday, that England would, as in the past, emerge the victor in the present conflict.

Chief speaker at the club's weekly luncheon in Victoria all, Mr. Delgado titled his address, "Things to be Remembered," and described the benefits England has given the world in her struggle for individual freedom, particularly since the time of Magna Charta, and the surge of greater accomplishments resulting directly from that historic signing.

Quoting from Shakespeare, Masfield, Noyes, and the author of the "White Cliffs," it was very apparent that the speaker himself was imbued with the spirit of the "Tight Little Isle."

Mr. Delgado spoke with great sincerity on the momentous happenings that have befallen the Mother country during her history, laying particular stress on those who have sought her downfall in the past and those who are striving to bring about her collapse this very hour.

But, said the speaker, England is showing the world the true meaning of the word "Greatness," through the country he laid in ruins, and her sanctuaries of learning and religion — left in twisted heaps of charred ruin, the vital, dominant, spirit of her people will rise to greater heights and emerge from the conflict with head "bloody but unbowed."

Mr. Delgado concluded his remarks with a brief recitation of a famous verse. There was no mistaking the underlying significance of it; the struggle will be long and grim, with more than a possibility for darker days in store, but, he said, there is only one outcome, and that is the England shall never feel the heel of the conqueror and shall emerge once more as the master of her fate.

Cricket Pitch At Local Park Lauded

The Westmount Cricket Club gained an easy victory over the Verdun Club on Saturday. Incidentally, the local cricket pitch itself was favourably mentioned by the Montreal press. The opinion was expressed that the Westmount Park pitch is the best in the city and a decided help to the batters.

The Fly Casters as usual had a large crowd participating in their competitions. The fine weather experienced this Summer has been to the liking of the Castors.

AWARDED WINGS

Sgt.-Gunner Harry Smith, R.C.A.F., who received his wings at an Ontario training centre about a month ago and is now serving overseas. Born in Glasgow, Scotland, 19 years ago, Sgt.-Gunner Smith spent most of his years with his aunt, Miss H. M. MacWilliam of 25 Somerville, Westmount, and was educated at Herbert Symonds, Roslyn and Argyle schools. Prior to his enlistment, he was employed by the British-American Oil Company.

TRIBUTE PAID TO DR. EDWARDS

Final tribute was paid to Dr. Harold Romney Edwards, 4298 Dorchester St. W., at services Tuesday afternoon in the Jos. C. Wray funeral home on Mount St. street. The service was conducted by the Rev. Hagold Laws, and was attended by many friends, acquaintances and distinguished members of the medical profession.

Dr. Edwards was born in Toronto, and was educated at Trinity College, University of Toronto. When the first World War broke out he left an established practice in Philadelphia, returned to Canada, and joined the Medical Corps where he held the rank of captain and served four years overseas. On his return to Montreal after the armistice, he took up practice in this city where he has remained since.

Dr. Edwards is survived by his wife, the former Miss Mae Henry Smith, two sons, Sergt. William Edwards, now overseas with the 42nd Highland Regiment of Quebec, and H. R. Edwards, Jr.; Mrs. Hamilton Blenherhasset of Montreal, and Mrs. E. Ulrich of Springfield, Illinois, sisters of the deceased.

Locals Girls Seek Wool For Knitting

The girls in the Summer School at Westmount Park would appreciate it very much if any persons having bits of spare wool handy would bring the same over to the Band Concert with them on Monday night, and it will be collected by the girls during the intermission.

This wool is used by the girls to do knitting for the Junior Red Cross, which is part of their Summer program.

HONOR AWARDED PAINTING DONE BY C. SIMPSON

Winter Scene By Westmount Artist to Represent Province in Show At C. N. Exhibition

A painting by Charles W. Simpson, R.C.A., of 27 Churchhill avenue, Westmount, has been one of two chosen to represent the Province of Quebec in the Exhibition of Contemporary Art of the Western Hemisphere which the International Business Machines Corporation has assembled for showing at this year's Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

The other painting to represent the province is the work of Adrien Hebert, A.R.C.A., a native of Paris who moved to Montreal in 1917 and has resided here ever since.

Simpson's painting "Hillside Farm — Isle Jesus," is a mid-winter landscape of a farm house with a river winding its way through the ice, while Hebert's work, titled "Jacques Cartier Square," is a gay, busy scene, showing bargainers and gossips at market time.

Charles Simpson's varied career has embraced newspaper work as a staff artist on the Montreal Star, designing work for Lord Beaverbrook's War Memorials during the World War, illustrating for the Canadian Railways and executing a series of sketches for the Ladies Home Journal.

Following its two weeks' display in the I.B.M. exhibit in the General Exhibits Building, the collection of 103 paintings from Canada, the 48 States and United States possessions, and Latin America, will make an extensive tour of the Dominion at the invitation of Canada's leading museums and universities.

The exhibition represents the selection of art juried set up in each state, province or country for the purpose of choosing those canvases best reflecting the "art and character" of the region.

30 Girls Enrolled In Swimming Class

An average of thirty girls have been making use of the pool four days a week during a general swim period. The Westmount Parks and Playgrounds department has also been using the pool three days a week for groups of boys and girls from the community.

The pool has become a very popular place. A special period has been set aside on Tuesday evenings from 7.30 to 8.30 for mixed swimming.

Wings Gained By Fred G. Johnson

It was "thumbs up" and the 80 ahead signal for L.A.C. Frederick George Johnson of Roslyn avenue, Westmount, as the young air cadet graduated from fledgling to qualified pilot and thus received his hard earned "Wings."

The presentation took place at No. 2 Service Flying Training School, Uplands, Ottawa, and it was a proud and jubilant Westmounter who was accepted as another "knight of the air."

The boy is a typical specimen of clean cut Canadian manhood, and will be a worthy addition to that company of men whose duty it is to rid European skies of the German Luftwaffe.

Hold Services For Mrs. E. Hurtubise

Funeral services were held Saturday morning for Mrs. Edwin Hurtubise, the former Eliza Chauveau who died Thursday at her home, 561 Cote St. Antoine road, in her 66th year.

She was a granddaughter of Hon. P. J. O. Chauveau, first Premier of Quebec after Confederation.

Surviving are her husband, Edwin Hurtubise; two sons, Pierre Edwin and Jean Chauveau; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Bruneau and Mrs. Eugene Bruneau; a brother, Alexandre Chauveau, a number of grandchildren and other relatives.

Funeral was held from St. Leo's Church, Westmount.

LOST ARTICLES

All people losing articles in the Westmount parks are asked to inquire of the attendant in the comfort stations as to whether their belongings have been found. At the present time quite a conglomeration of lost articles are on hand. Everything from an overcoat to a hockey tuque has been turned in. Other articles turned in include a trench-coat, sweaters, socks and pull-overs. Books are also abundant, with school books predominant. Most of these articles have been in the lost department for quite some time.

MRS. N. D. LOWE ANNEXES TITLE IN NET EVENT

Captures Women's Open Singles Crown in Municipal Tourney — Men's Singles Gets Underway

Mrs. N. D. Lowe, pre-tournament favorite to capture the honours in the Women's Open Singles tennis tourney held on the municipal courts during the past three weeks, came through as expected to win the title.

Mrs. B. Eartly the other finalist was forced to default her finals match with Mrs. Lowe.

Following are results of semi-final and third round matches. Third round — Kay Clifford beat B. Inwood, 6-0, 6-3; Mrs. B. Eartly beat R. Castle, 6-1, 6-2; Miss Maxwell beat Mrs. S. Baker by default and Mrs. Lowe beat Mrs. MacNaughton, 6-1, 6-2. Semi-finals: Mrs. Eartly beat Kay Clifford, 6-2, 6-3; Mrs. Lowe beat Miss Maxwell, 6-1, 6-0.

The draw for the Men's Closed Singles is now up on the courts and all first matches are scheduled to be finished by Monday July 28th. The following is the first round draw: L. Carmichael vs. Don McNutt; Stu Beaulieu vs. D. Freeman; Grant McLaughlin vs. Lieut. Ed. Spearing; B. Conroy vs. H. C. Strachan; C. Fitzrandolph vs. Bill Mulligan; T. Carmichael vs. John Hutchison; Sid Quinton vs. A. P. Hlsonett; Yves Levesque vs. B. Walsh; Hugh Robertson vs. F. Dyke.

Those drawing byes in the first round are as follows: Dave Coulter vs. F. Miller, G. Leach vs. Bob Shea; Ken Green vs. Bud Cochrane; J. Pagnuelo plays the winner of the L. Carmichael-D. McNutt match.

After taking the runner-up position in the two previous tournaments held on the putting green in King George Park, Mr. Charles Holland made no mistake this week, carding an 86 for the 36 holes, winning the tourney by five strokes over his nearest rival, Mr. Thompson. Another tournament will be held this evening on the Adult course.

Ready Response Seen To Mobilization Act

Officials of the National War Services Department report gratifying and ready response from young Canadians being called for military training under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

They state, however, that while each man receives a mailed individual and personal notice of his call to training, as his period arrives, a number of enquiries are still being sent direct to Ottawa. Major-General LaFleche, Associate Deputy Minister of the Department of National War Services, under whose direction the mobilizing of trainees is being carried out, points out that the Regulations have been planned to smooth out possible difficulties for the trainees by dividing Canada into thirteen Administrative Divisions, with officials and headquarters offices in each Division, authorized to handle procedure and operations locally.

To the Divisional Registrar of National War Services in the area in which they are registered should be forwarded all communications concerning business arising from the provisions of National War Services Regulations. All men from 19 to 45 are warned that notification must also be given promptly of change of address or marital status. Failure to do so incurs the risk of fine or imprisonment.

Young men in this area, liable for military training, requiring further information regarding their obligations or applications for postponement should communicate with the Divisional Registrar for this District, whose name and address are given below for their convenience, along with the names of other members of the Board: Division "E" — Chairman of the Board: Hon. Mr. Justice A. Trahan. Members of the Board: Dr. C. H. Barr and Felix Messier, M.L.A. Divisional Registrar: R. Ronger. This Administrative Division of National War Services comprises the electoral districts of Montreal.

PROF. JAMIESON NAMED TO HEAD NEW DIVISION

Appointed Director-General of Army Engineering Design Branch of Munitions, Supply Department

Professor of civil engineering and chairman of the department of civil engineering and applied mechanics at McGill University, R. E. Jamieson, M. Sc., of 234 Metcalfe avenue, Westmount, has been named director-general of a new Army Engineering Design Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply by Munitions Minister Howe.

Prof. Jamieson, the minister said, would head a special inter-departmental advisory committee on army engineering design. Other members of the committee will be: Brig. K. Stuart, deputy chief of the general staff; Col. George P. Morrison, director of technical research, Department of National Defence; Dean C. J. Mackenzie, acting president of the National Research Council; H. J. Carmichael and W. F. Drysdale, Joint directors-general of the Munitions Production Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply; J. H. Berry, motor vehicle controller and director-general of the Automotive Production Branch of the Department of Munitions and Supply.

Born in Ottawa, Prof. Jamieson received his Bachelor of Science degree from McGill University in 1914. He saw service overseas in the last war as a Lieutenant in the Canadian Siege Artillery from 1916 to 1918. After the war he took a postgraduate course in engineering at McGill University and obtained his Master's degree in 1920.

On completion of his studies he joined the engineering faculty at McGill and has since held a teaching chair in that department. In 1931 he was appointed William Scott Professor of Civil Engineering and chairman of the department.

He is a past president and member of the Council of the Corporation of Professional Engineers of Quebec and a member of the executive committee of the Canadian Engineering Standards Association and of several of the working panels of that organization. He has served on many of the various committees of the Engineering Institute of Canada and on the advisory committee of the National Building Code. He has also been actively engaged in private consulting practice.

Of Prof. Jamieson, who is on leave of absence from the university to assume these duties, Mr. Howe said:

"Because of his extensive knowledge of the science of engineering, his constant association with the development of engineering standards, and his wide experience in the field of technical research, Mr. Jamieson is eminently qualified for the task of directing the co-ordination of Army Engineering Design to meet present needs."

VAUGHAN NAMED HEAD OF C.N.R.

R. C. VAUGHAN

S. J. HUNGERFORD

It was announced yesterday by W. H. Hobbs, Secretary of the Canadian National Railways, on behalf of the Board of Directors that S. J. Hungerford has resigned as president of the Canadian National System, including Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships, Limited, Canadian Government Merchant Marine, Limited, and other subsidiary and affiliated companies, but will retain the position of chairman of the Board of the railway, and that R. C. Vaughan now vice-president in charge of Purchases, Stores, and Steamships, has been appointed president and chief executive officer of the Canadian National Railway Company and its steamship and rail subsidiaries. The appointment takes effect today.

It was also announced that Mr. Hungerford has resigned as president of Trans-Canada Air Lines and that Mr. H. J. Symington, K.C., will succeed him as president of the airline. Mr. Symington has been a director of T.C.A. since its inception.

SAVE GAS—HELP WIN WAR!

Being at the wheel of the first car to get away in traffic may give the driver a sense of elation, but from now on it is not going to give him a sense of being patriotic. These "jack-rabbit starts," are prime gasoline wasters. A companion offense is that of rushing up to a stop and slamming on the brakes, using perfectly good, gasoline-generated momentum for no better purpose than wearing out brake bands or tires. If these habits could be curbed, and if drivers generally would observe some of the numerous other pointers which are being given by automotive and petroleum engineers, the threat of gasoline shortage could be alleviated. Some cities are checking up more closely on cars that emit excessive smoke, indicating need of piston rings or carburetor adjustment.

There will be some people who will devise ways and means to defeat the spirit of the regulations. That always happens. There will be those who will seek to chisel, just as there are always those who want to profiteer.

But, most of the Canadian people will be anxious to play cricket. They will observe the spirit, as well as the letter, of the rule. They will not only accept the idea that gasoline is not to be bought at nights or on Sundays, but they will also cut down on their ordinary consumption of gasoline, so that the motor fuel may be saved for the fighting forces.

RUSSIAN CHEER LEADERS

Placing political commissars on duty with the Russian army must be designed to stiffen the party line and help hold the men together. It may be that the commissars are only being installed as cheer leaders for the troops. It could be a move to help bolster Russian morale in the face of heavy German attacks. The Russian methods have always depended heavily on propaganda. The commissars may be charged with drilling into the Russian soldiers that they have something worth fighting for. They do not have to be told that Hitler is worth fighting against, but some of them may be wondering if Stalin is worth fighting for. Whatever is the reason for the reinstatement of the commissars, the hope is that the move was not prompted by a threatening collapse of the Russian army. The Russian troops have been putting up a stiff fight against the Prussians. They have shown Hitler that the German army is not invincible. We trust they will continue to batter the Nazi invaders.

FRANCO SPILLS SECRET

The Nazis got their signals mixed when they instructed General Franco of Spain to complain of starvation among the Spanish people at the same time as German spokesmen were declaring that the British blockade had failed to produce the desired effect in Germany. Franco has tried the political offensive by accusing the Americans of not co-operating in the war against Bolshevism.

While Franco was saying that from Madrid, Nazi leaders were issuing a windy proclamation that the British blockade had been beaten and that Europe has plenty to eat. The two assertions contradict one another. Franco has the realistic knowledge that the blockade is working. People are dying of starvation in Spain today. Men and women faint in the streets from hunger. They have not sustaining food and cannot get it. The only people who eat well in Spain are the German agents and their stooges, such as Franco.

The blockade is working effectively. We can thank Franco for letting us in on that secret.

OLD FASHIONED FOOD

Highly mechanized Nazis are surprised at the number of "old fashioned artillery horses" that litter the Russian battlefields. Surprised and pleased, no doubt, for it's been quite a time since the highly mechanized Nazis enjoyed a hot beef sandwich.

BOOK REVIEW

BY HOWARD S. ROSS

HE RIDES THE SKY

by IRENE BAIRD
The Macmillans in Canada
Toronto.

"The gods we do homage to in this war are very young gods."

Mrs. Baird was born in Cumberland, England, and came to Canada in 1919. She lives in Victoria, B.C. Her first novel, "John," was published in 1937. It was a Canadian best-seller, and was published also in the U.S.A., England, Australasia and Sweden. Her second novel, "Waste Heritage," came out in 1939. It is one of the first books to treat of Canadian economic problems in so blunt and fearless a fashion.

Mrs. Baird has been broadcast in talks on Canadian wartime affairs. She also lectures and writes for some of our newspapers. She would like to lecture in the United States upon Canadian-American relationships, and also to get back to England to report for some Canadian newspaper, the activities of British women in connection with the helpful war-work they are doing.

Here are a series of sparkling and witty letters of airman, Peter O'Halloran (on his way to England just before war came) to Mum, Dad and Don.

The author knows the better sort of sophisticated slang used in Canada, G.B., and the U.S.A., and uses it with telling effect.

Here is a small sample: "The blokes I'm really sorry for are the wretched mine-sweepers, and there's a bunch of boys I wouldn't trade jobs with for a million dol-

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

With all due respect to everybody, and particularly to those who still adhere to the broad general idea that most persons are naturally and inherently mean, selfish, low-lived and accursed, I tell you that humanity, in spite of centuries of error concerning the real, true mechanism of money is naturally splendid. And the very nearest thing to a miracle since the days of Christ of which I am aware, is that so much goodness yet endures, even abounds.

We are all in mid-ocean aboard the same vessel and must sink or swim ashore together. Unlike we are bearers of tribute and gatherers of tribute, but it is only the degree thereof which vary. And it will do no permanent good to merely shift the burden from one group to another group, for its total weight grows and grows, and the longer it endures the more terrible its pressure and the greater the final catastrophe.

The adoption of a system which will make it as easy for one as for another to share in the abundance which is so easily produced, does not call for sacrifice on the part of the rich or those not so rich. Then no one would be at a disadvantage and all of us could afford to be at our best instead of at our worst as is the case under our present faulty system.

Yet the Balkan campaign has not been a total loss for the British. Hitler has been forced to fight a war he did not want to fight, to use up materials he did not want to use, and to devastate a region he wanted to keep producing the food, oil and minerals so badly needed by the Nazi war machine. The destruction of communications and the disorganization of farming will cost Germany far more than the actual campaign has cost. The psychological effect of the Balkan campaign may be hard on the people of Britain and her dominions; the actual military effect on the lars. At least, if we get ours it's the quick way and we've had the satisfaction of popping somebody, but in those roudnond kipper cans they have time to watch the periscope appear, wait for the bang and next thing they know they're thrashing around in the blasted cold water, poor little mugs. Now if you want to knit for someone outside of the Air Force (who would want to do a thing like that?) you have my permission to snarl your worst around those shivering bodies but for gosh sakes lay off pampering the glamour boys that ride around in cruisers and still kid themselves that Drake saved England. What do they think would have happened if Queen Bess had got a load of the Air Force? She'd have said, "Wow! Come up and see me some time!" and scuttled the whole damn fleet."

Pete pays his respects to the censors as follows: "On the chance that low-down blighter who cuts out the best bits in my letters to improve his own dull efforts gets his clammy hands on this, we might fix up a little system. If I can't tell you where I am, I can at least let you know that Aunt Fanny has taken a run up to (deleted by censor) for her asthma and is sleeping two in a leaky tent. That ought to fool him, the old busybody. But just in case he doesn't fool easily, let me know if he has been at his dirty work and whether this arrives with any chunks gnawed out."

HE RIDES THE SKY should and no doubt will find its way to many airmen in Canada, G.B., and the U.S.A. and how they will enjoy it. My review copy will soon be on its way (with the compliments of The Macmillans in Canada) to our son, Murray Ross, air gunner with an R.A.F. fighter squadron flying over England at night.

BY-LINES

By S. B. McClean

The kilt worn by the Canadian Scottish regiments has attracted the admiring attention of American tourists. It is difficult to believe that this traditional garb of the Scots was once forbidden in Scotland a little over two hundred years ago. That this was the case, however, is borne out by the undated extract from a Scottish newspaper in 1749:

"A Highlander was taken up in the streets of Edinburgh, August 12, and carried prisoner to the Castle for wearing a kilt. One Stewart, another Highlander, was taken into custody at Edinburgh, for the same crime, on September 18."

This apparently was part of the punishment meted out to those who had taken part in or sympathized with the Jacobite Rebellion in 1745.

One of the most important parts of the Nazi system of conquest is to stir up racial hatred and distrust among the many minorities that comprise most modern nations. Canada and the United States are therefore perfect ground for such subversive activities, and the Director of Public Information has done a good job of work in countering such underground warfare by publishing the booklet "Canadians All," and by producing in conjunction with the National Film Board the motion picture "Peoples of Canada." It is the duty of every patriotic Canadian to read this booklet and see this film, which will help him to realize that although the peoples of the Dominion comprise many races and many creeds, the freedom and liberty-loving traditions of Canada have welded them into one strong, resolute nation, has indeed made them "Canadians All."

Parents who complain sometimes of the amount of work their children have to get through at school nowadays should be thankful they did not live in 1764! In that year, a couple in Edinburgh, Scotland, advertised a select ladies' boarding school, where, for the modest fee of $30 per quarter, the following comprehensive training could be obtained: "All coloured work, white seam, Dresden and lace work; embroidery in gold, silver, silk, or bugles; washing of lawns, gauzes, and laces; making of shell and filigree work; French, Italian, and enamelled gunflint; Indian and French jannaping, and mezzotints on various kinds of glass; making of caps, neck-laces, and gar-rings; painting on gauze, in colours, and in imitation of Dresden work; cutting in paper, in landscape and fancy; pickling and preserving, etc." In addition to the above, pupils were also taught "the French and English language, geography, writing, arithmetic, book-keeping, and the method of letter-writing practised weekly." The advertisement stated that "their linens, lawns, laces, and gauzes are washed in the house, gratis, and they are brought up to make all their own things in the millinery way."

On the mantelpiece, facing me as I write, are two china figures. They are dogs with necks elongated to about three times the normal, and I had not realized what lay behind their smug countenances until I chanced upon the phrase recently "the cruelty of inanimate objects."

Cruelty! That's just it! Every time my pen falters and my eyes rove round for inspiration, those infernal canines meet my worried glance with that unvarying grin of theirs which seems to mock me. They are positively inhuman, and therein lies of cruelty of inanimate objects. An unvarying, unwavering consistency that even wear and tear or downright ill-usage cannot alter but only enhance by caricaturing the original.

Those china animals doubtless worried my father and my grandfather before me in exactly the same way, yet there they squat, as smug as ever, little the worse for the passage of so many years, while the old folks are gone. Everything ultimately perishes, but inanimate objects seem to persist longer, to cruelly remind us of other scenes and peoples they have witnessed and to taunt us with their survival.

Often I have felt inclined to wring those grotesque necks, but somehow I have never done so. Perhaps it is because I know that their grin would survive such an assault, or maybe it is because of the very memories they raise.

I grin back at them sometimes, I curse them softly, then loudly, I even shake my fist before their unwinning eyes, but they only continue to smile at me mockingly.

If only the damned things would talk back at me once in awhile!

Peejay Rineens, intrepid aerial cyclist who has been thrilling patrons of Belmont Park this past week with his "Suicide Act" or "Ride of Death," is being held over for a second week. Although Peejay has been diving for over twenty five years, 'twas only about six years ago that he gave up high diving for the more hazardous plunge from a speeding bicycle...

Betty Davis And Mary Astor Love Rivals In Film

Mary Astor, who doesn't like hysteria or temperament, has had to develop both for her role as Betty Davis' movie love rival in "The Great Lie," which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday night. Miss Astor plays a glamour girl who's also a famed concert pianist. According to the story and Director Edmund Goulding's interpretation, that combination means a high explosive mixture of sex, sentiment and storm.

It is, she says, a great life if only she doesn't weaken. "I hate hysteria," she explains, "and I dread playing hysterical scenes. They take so darn much out of you. And I do so much worrying about them in advance that they're almost real by the time I get to them." The actress says she "loves" the situation that inspires the most violent of her outbursts. "Two women who hate each other — Betty and I — are coupled up together on a lonely ranch. For reasons best explained in the story, Betty has taken upon herself the responsibility of being companion, nurse and policeman to me. She is going to see — and does — that I behave as an expectant mother should.

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED

BY GERALDINE BRIETZCKE

Ladies, lend me your ears. We may be on the verge of a great discovery — only I'm not sure yet. It appears that one little bit of knowledge has been added to the not inconsiderable store of what we women know about the likes and dislikes of Man. "Up North" is a good place for talking, and we were doing just that, when the subject of red nail polish entered the conversation. Argument for and against waxed hot, the "againsts" being the men of the party. "All right, then," said one of them, "let me see your nails." Saying which, he seized the red-nailed hand of one of the girls, but she grabbed it away from him, saying, "No, they're not fixed today."

Thrilling Picture Of British Sailor Now At Snowdon

Will Fyffe makes a welcome return to the screen in the thrilling and humorous tale of an old British sea dog's private war with the Germans, now at Snowdon Theatre, entitled "Neutral Port," it casts Fyffe as Captain Fergusson, owner and skipper of the freighter Annie Louise, which is sunk by a German submarine the day war is declared. Having very definite views about his rights, the determined old Captain sets out to capture a German freighter lying in the neutral port of Esperanto in exchange for his own boat. How he finally succeeds after losing out on the first attempt forms the basis of the tale which contains plenty of rich, salty humour. What complicates matters is that the British consul in Esperanto is working a scheme to destroy the German cargo vessel Scharnhorst which is acting as a secret supply ship for enemy submarines. Captain Fergusson almost upsets the whole affair by stealing the German ship but does his bit — in his own way — to thwart the Germans and enable the British planes to sink the U-boats. This episode forms an exciting climax to the tale.

The capable Leslie Banks does a fine job as the British consul, while the vivacious Yvonne Arnaud provides delightful comedy in the part of Rosa, owner of a w. terrace cafe who devotes all her energies to making the unwilling Captain her fifth husband. There is also a romance between the Consul's attractive daughter (Phyllis Calvert), and his assistant. Bu Will Fyffe is the important personage in the film and he shows himself fully able to carry its weight, aided by a fine group of character players as members of his crew. Graced by some excellent photography and

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Armstrong, of Annapolis, Ontario, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Beatrice Kathleen, to Mr. William Bennett Parker, elder son of Mr. Frederick T. Parker and the late Mrs. Parker, of Westmount. The marriage will take place quietly in August.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hooper announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Ethel Rosamund, to Second-Lieutenant Sydney George Patterson, 17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars, (R) C.A., son of Major and Mrs. W. J. Patterson. The wedding is to take place quietly on Saturday, July 26, at the residence of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Yerrick have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ann Elhora, to Mr. Francis T. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy P. Reynolds. The marriage will take place the latter part of August.

APPROACHING MARRIAGES

The marriage of Phyllis Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rowell, to Mr. Charles A. Hutchins, J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hutchins, has been arranged to take place on Saturday afternoon, August 2, at four o'clock in Westmount Park Church.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Callahan, daughter of the late Joseph Daniel Callahan and of Mrs. Callahan, to Mr. Patrick Fisher McKernan, son of Mr. John McKernan and the late Mrs. McKernan, has been arranged to take place on Saturday, August 2, at St. Malachy's Church.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Audrey Edythe, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph E. Horsnell, to Mr. William Easterbrooke Norrish, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Norrish, took place on Saturday afternoon in St. Mathias' Church, the Rev. A. T. Love officiating. The ceremony was performed by candlelight, tall candelabra being arranged at intervals down the centre aisle of the church. Mr. W. Johnston Hislop presided at the organ. Given away by her father, the bride wore an original model of white satin charmaine, with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long puffed sleeves, the skirt falling in a long train. She wore a veil of tulle illusion, held in place by a bandeau of Hies-of-the valley, and her only ornament was a pearl pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white roses, white linnaria and maidenhair fern.

Miss Virginia Webb, who was maid of honor, wore a floor length gown of cornflower blue georgette, with long, fitted bodice and bishop sleeves, and a small hat of the same material as her dress, trimmed with natural blue mauve sweet peas, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink and pale yellow roses and blue cornflowers.

Miss Lorna Greene, cousin of the bride, and Miss Margery Gaunt, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in floor length frocks, the long fitted bodices and bishop sleeves being of dusty pink suede-finished lace, the full skirts being of dusty pink georgette. Their small hats were made of the same material as their dresses, and were trimmed with natural sweet peas shading from pink to purple.

The two little flower girls, the Misses Joan and June Allan, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Muriel Allan, were dressed alike in long Mother Hubbard frocks of pale blue printed organza, the brims of their crownless hats being trimmed with blue ribbons and pink roses. They wore blue slippers, and carried colonial bouquets smaller than those of the bridesmaids. All five attendants wore gold lockets, gifts from the bride.

The best man was Mr. George Clarke, and the ushers, Mr. Henry Findlay, Lieutenant Robert Harvey, C.D.C.; Lieutenant George Brown, R.C.A., and Mr. Alan Christie, as.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Earle Walker, 3255 Cedar avenue, and later the bridal couple left by motor on their wedding trip, the bride travelling in a beige linen frock with beige lace bodice, a Copenhagen blue sheer wool bouclé redingote with Glangary hat of the same material trimmed with beige quill, and beige accessories.

The out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Edwards and Miss Sheridan, of Brockville, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Henry, the Misses Lenore and Jean Anne Henry, and Miss Jean Cowan of Ottawa. Trooper G. W. Horsnell D.R., 17th D.Y.R.C. Hussars, of Debert, N.S., was also present at his sister's wedding.

Patton-Helsby

The marriage of Isabel Monica, daughter of Mr. Edwin Curzon Helsby and of the late Mrs. Helsby, to Corporal Creighton Fredrick Patton, The Black Watch (R.H.R.) of Canada, C.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Patton, took place quietly on Saturday afternoon in the chapel of Our Legge, of Granby; Mr. Herbert Williams, of Sherbrooke, and Mrs. George Doak, Mrs. Gordon Doak, Miss Marjorie Morrison and Mr. Harry Morrison, of Lennoxville.

Jacobs-Westheimer

The marriage of Miss Sara H. Westheimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Westheimer, of Baltimore, to Sergeant Observer Michael Jacobs, R.C.A.F., son of the late S. W. Jacobs, K.C., M.P., and of Mrs. Jacobs, took place quietly yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bridegroom's mother, 334 Cote St. Antoine road, with Rabbi Gershon Levi officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white chiffon gown, cut on simple lines, the skirt falling into a train. Her veil was of marquise and lace, and she carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Miss Eleanor Jacobs, the bridegroom's sister, acted as maid of honor, and wore a frock of coral crepe. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Mr. Stephen Ginsberg, of New York, acted as best man for Sergeant Observer Jacobs.

A reception followed the ceremony, and later the bridal couple left for Halifax, the bride travelling in a tweed suit with brown hat and accessories.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Milton Westheimer, parents of the bride, Mrs. E. I. De Young, of Philadelphia, aunt of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Blondheim, of New Hope, Pa., uncle and aunt of the groom.

Woman Banker Describes Life In Blitzed Britain

"Life for us in Great Britain is a daily battlefield, the simplest journeys, the simplest purchases are a matter of anxious calculation," said Miss Gordon Holmes, British woman banker and finance chairman of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, in an address to the open meeting under the auspices of the Montreal Branch of the Business and Professional Women's Club and other clubs, held on Monday night in the Mount Royal Hotel.

Taking as her subject, "Britain at War," Miss Holmes told club members of the life and work of the British people during the blitz. "The pressure of life is too great to talk or even to think of the tragedy that is around us," she said, remarking that business still goes on in London, people working in their offices until spotters on the roof ring a bell to warn them that enemy aircraft is overhead.

Office intact
Miss Holmes' own office still "hangs perilously intact" on the second floor of a bombed building in the city, near the Bank of England. The stock exchanges still carry on, she stated, with mild fluctuations according to the news.

"We have quite enough meat and oddments to get reasonably good and varied wartime meals," the speaker continued. Bread and potatoes are plentiful and unrationed in England. Miss Holmes noted that the windows of food shops were mostly filled with tinned vegetables.

Telling of the organization carried on by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Great Britain and Ireland, the speaker said that when the war started there were only 12 clubs, but that the number had increased until

Program Despite War
"War has not prevented us getting out a national program, on which all our clubs are working," said Miss Holmes. "We have started a series of queries—we are studying the causes of this war and the loss; we are studying economics, and the importance of the individual, because we realize that the years after the war will last a great deal longer than the war, however long that may be." Because the individual clubs had a "free expression of opinion," they held in themselves the germ, however small, of those democratic ideals for which nations are now fighting, said the speaker.

British Clubs Grateful
The British clubs are grateful for the financial assistance received from the International Federation and for the sympathy and encouragement given them, said Miss Holmes, adding that letters were a great help, being a vital life line.

"We are not unmindful of our great responsibility to Europe, in the conquered countries countless business and professional women like ourselves, in clubs and federations like our own have had their organizations ruthlessly suppressed and their careers destroyed. They will look to us in the free countries for spiritual strength and leadership; for material help in re-establishing women in their public life and careers again. They will look to us, for they can look to none other. Let us who are the free countries make ourselves strong to help," Miss Holmes concluded.

Miss Effie McCulloch, vice-president of the Montreal Branch of the Business and Professional Women's Club presided. Miss Eileen Flanagan, past president, thanked the speaker.

The Queen's Canadian Fund was recently enriched by the sum of $252, the proceeds of a candy and jam sale, held by Diana and Joyce Weston, assisted by Bobby Pearson and Joan Meredith.

"CALLING ALL CARS"

Save Gasoline

A NATIONAL EMERGENCY

Canada is right up against an acute shortage of gasoline and fuel oil. Tankers that normally supply our country have been commandeered for vitally important overseas service. The Commonwealth Air Training Plan, the rapid development of Canada's mechanized army units and the great work carried on by our corvettes make the demand for fuel urgent.

Our crude oil intake is limited. There is just one thing to do if our fighting forces are to carry on with a "full tank". Every Canadian motorist is asked to cut his daily gas consumption in half!

There are many ways by which this 50% saving can be made... ways and means to give you more mileage per gallon. You can drive slower so that you will use less gasoline. You can go fifty-fifty with your neighbours, inviting each other to share cars... for business, and for pleasure. People can readily go to and from work together, using one car instead of four... using one gallon of gasoline instead of several. Women as well as men can make these savings.

The amount of gasoline used in Canada for business, social and non-essential activities is amazingly high in proportion to that used by our fighting forces. One look at the figures would convince you that this situation must be reversed.

GO 50/50 WITH OUR FIGHTING FORCES

The Government of the DOMINION OF CANADA
ACTING THROUGH:
THE HONOURABLE C. D. HOWE, Minister of Munitions and Supply
G. R. COTTRELL, Oil Controller for Canada

Spare and Share your Gasoline for VICTORY!

Canada does not ask or request you to put your car up. She merely asks for your help... asks that you walk sometimes when the distance isn't too great... that you take a shorter drive on Sunday afternoon... that you look after your car and keep it in good condition... that you say to your neighbour: "Let's use my car today. Jim: we'll use yours tomorrow."

Every day, in greater and greater quantity, we must release gasoline and oil by the thousands of gallons to our throbbing munitions plants... to our tanks and armoured cars... to our fighting planes and bombers... to our corvettes and merchant ships that ply the vital sea-lanes... so that the day of victory may sooner be at hand.

Will YOU help?

It is also vitally important that you reduce the use of domestic and commercial fuel oil.

17 easy ways towards a 50% GASOLINE SAVING
(Approved by Automobile Experts)

- Reduce driving speed from 60 to 40 on the open road.
- Avoid jack-rabbit starts.
- Avoid useless or non-essential driving.
- Turn motor off when not in use, do not leave idling.
- Don't race your engine; let it warm up slowly.
- Don't strain your engine; change gears.
- Keep carburetor cleaned and properly adjusted.
- Tune up motor, timing, etc.
- Keep spark plugs and valves clean.
- Check cooling system; overheating wastes gasoline.
- Maintain tires at right pressure.
- Lubricate efficiently; worn engines waste gasoline.
- Drive in groups to and from work using cars alternate days.
- For golf, picnics and other outings, use one car instead of four.
- Take those short shopping trips ON FOOT and carry parcels home.
- Walk to and from the movies.
- Boat owners, too, can help by reducing speed.

Your regular service station man will gladly explain these and other ways of saving gasoline. Consult him.

Eastern Townships Noted For Their Scenic Beauty

To the south of Montreal and between the international boundary, lie the Eastern Townships. These townships, which comprise about 6,500 square miles, include the counties of Sherbrooke, Stanstead, Compton, Richmond, Wolfe, Megantic, Drummond, Arthabaska, Brome, Sheffield and Missisquoi. The Townships differ in many respects from any other part of the English immigrant, coming northward from New England, or direct from the Old Country, by way of Quebec. The territory was organized on the "parish system" which prevailed in the French settlements and was called the Eastern Townships to distinguish it from the Western Townships in Ontario.

and the United States; while scores of charming villages are sought by many who prefer the hills and forests to the valleys and lakes.

Several important and interesting points lie within the territory traversed by Richmond to Portland route of the C.N.R. Among them are Richmond, Windsor Mills, Bromptonville, Sherbrooke—known as the hub of the Eastern Townships—Lennoxville, Coaticook, and Dixville Eastward from Richmond toward Quebec, the route, after crossing the St. Francis River, runs northeasterly through Danville, Kangsey Falls, Warwick, Victoriaville, Princeville. Part of the route running through the Eastern Townships has been aptly described as "one of the fairest tracts of Old Canada... a land of river and plain; of mountain and tarn and lake and valley; but first and chiefly a river land."

Finds Forests Migrate, Too

California's immediate past—150 million years or so ago—can be found today in the lush jungles of Guatemala, according to Dr. Ralph W. Chaney, professor of paleontology at the University of California.

The climate, forests, and even some of the animal life of California were a lot like that found in modern Guatemalan jungles, he said.

Dr. Chaney pointed out that fossils of ancient jungles found along the Sierra gold country indicate that a subtropical forest existed in California. He went to Guatemala last summer to study the modern vegetation, and found the Sierra fossils to be unmistakable relatives of the Central American plants.

The paleontologist stated the climate of ancient California must have been humid, with a lot of tropical rain.

Dr. Chaney said that forests have migrated southward with the change of climate in the northern hemisphere. The colder climate has pushed southward the more delicate plants to warmer climates.

"The difference, my son, is that the public servant tries to hold his job longer than the other kind."

How important, often, is the pain of guilt, as a stimulant to amendment and reformation.—John Foster.

Where Fairways Meet the Sea

The golfer who occasionally substitutes his clubs for fishing tackle, who enjoys a brisk work-out on the tennis courts, an invigorating Atlantic plunge or soothing sun-bath, who likes scudding before salt-laden breezes in a sailing craft, and has a weakness for sea-foam, can satisfy all these urges, and other vacation whims as well, at the famed Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea in old New Brunswick.

Open this year from June 28 to September 2 the charming Canadian Pacific hotel is enjoying one of the most successful seasons in its history. Tourists who formerly visited Europe in quest of vacation pleasures have found parts of the New Brunswick countryside a worthy reproduction of the Old Country, the sea-girt St. Andrews golf course as thrilling as its famous Scottish namesake, and sheltered Fundy waters as inviting as the Riviera.

Summer life at the Algonquin is a continual round of pleasure from the first dip in Katy's Cove to the final strains of the last waltz in the hotel ballroom. Its sun-drenched beaches are thronged continually with happy bathers and bronzed sun-worshippers, while the more skillful race out to diving rafts, show off their newest swim dive or indulge in other forms of "aquatics." Shivers are practically unknown at Katy's Cove, its sands absorbing the sun's heat and releasing it at high tide for the bather's benefit.

No golfer who takes his game seriously would tour the Maritimes without a visit to St. Andrews. Inspired by the bracing tang of the sea, velvety greens,

French-Canadian Quebec Rich In Famous Shrines

Wherever Old World culture has taken early root on this continent, there are edifices of call Church that have acquired special veneration both for their historical associations and as shrines where the afflicted have been accorded miraculous favors.

Quebec Province, where Breton sailors first colonized the Dominion, and where the Church still forms the centre around which the daily life of the friendly French-speaking residents revolves, is rich in shrines which are the goal of pilgrims from all over North America.

In Montreal, St. Joseph's Oratory, rising majestically on the northern slopes of Mount Royal, is visited annually by thousands of Americans and Canadians in search of spiritual or physical comfort. The great basilica, now nearing completion, is a remarkable tribute to the memory of the late Brother Andre, the gentle lay-brother of the Holy Cross Order whose saintly life and love of St. Joseph was such as to inspire countless others to ask the Saint's intercession on their behalf.

Below Montreal, on the St. Lawrence river near Three Rivers is Cap de la Madeleine, known as the National Shrine of the Blessed Virgin. The site was named in 1650 after the Jesuit Fathers had settled there and the Canadian martyrs, de Brebeuf, Lallemand, and Jogues were frequent visitors to the Order's chapter house.

In 1714 a shrine, The Sanctuary of Tres Sainte Rosaire, was established there in the humble chapter house. Blessed by curative waters this great national shrine has been the scene of many cures and is visited annually by hundreds of thousands.

Most famous of Canada's shrines is situated a short dis-

Huge Bomb Plant Rises From Bush In Rural Quebec

On August 15, 1940, a contractor's truck plowed through loose sand to the middle of a blueberry patch in an out-of-the-way spot in the Province of Quebec, and began to unload tools. Almost as far as the eye could see in any direction there was nothing but rolling sand dunes and low underbrush.

Today one of the world's largest aerial bomb factories stands in the heart of that blueberry patch. Its normal output will be well over one hundred thousand 500-pound bombs per year.

The bomb plant is an excellent example of what can be achieved by a democracy at war. Construction was begun on August 15. Machines and equipment began to arrive almost before the roof was on. Steel was melted for the first time on January 5. The first trial bombs were moulded on March 7, just a little less than 7 months after the first sod was turned. Mass production is now underway and the output is growing each day.

The new factory, is one of the largest in the world with but a single product. It has been expertly designed for maximum efficiency and output. The processes are arranged in production line fashion, reduced to a minimum the costly, time-killing handling operations which would be necessary in an old factory adapted to bomb manufacture.

Judge Finds Sure Cure For Tippling

Gone are the days when Denver WPA workers who are inclined to imbibe too freely can get their checks and go on a spree. WPA officials and Police Judge E. L. Fundingsland at a recent conference worked out a plan under which the checks of WPA workers brought into police court on drunkenness charge, are turned over the other members of their families.

Since adoption of the plan, the number of persons brought before him on drinking charges has dropped from more than 200 a week to about 25. Judge Fundingsland said.

Laurentians Mountains Offer Scenic Grandeur

Quaint and historical as it is, the Province of Quebec is by no means lacking in natural scenic grandeur. Her glorious Laurentian Mountains, gemmed with glowing lakes, and the Eastern Townships, have a never failing appeal for lovers of the great out-of-doors.

For those who plan a holiday in the woods, the various resorts in the Laurentian Mountains, reached in an hour or two from Montreal, offer attractions which it would be difficult to equal.

Canadian National Railways has a direct route from the Montreal Tunnel Terminal to Huberdeau, situated in the most beautiful section of the Laurentian Mountains north of the "Commercial Metropolis." A more charming route is scarcely possible. Beautiful little lakes and pleasant streams abound, inviting canoeists, sporting fishermen and campers to partake of their hospitality, while at many points there are hotels and boarding houses for those who prefer to spend week-ends or summer vacations under less strenuous circumstances.

THROUGH GATEWAY

St. Jerome, situated on Riviere du Nord, 36 miles from Montreal, may be described as the gateway to the Laurentians. It is an attractive summer resort as well as an important industrial centre.

Shawbridge is flanked with lakes and near the station are the Laurentian Lodge Club and Golf Links. There is a good canoe route from Shawbridge to the Ottawa River. Lac Marois station is in the vicinity of several small lakes. Near St. Sauveur are several camps established by various religious organizations for the purpose of giving boys and girls an acquaintance with Nature in her primal beauty. Morin Heights is a well known summer resort with several lakes within convenient distance.

AUTOGRAPH BOOKS

Constance Moore, co-starred with Lloyd Nolan in Paramount's "Buy Me That Town," personally autographed 5000 copies of the book version of her recent air film.

ONLY FOUR KILLED

POPULAR RENDEZVOUS

Montfort is close to Lake St. Francois Xavier, another well known summer resort, with a clubhouse that is a popular rendezvous for residents and visitors who enjoy dancing. Newaygo, also on Lake St. Francois Xavier, is the site of Thurston Park, with its commodious main lodge and group of cottages, tennis courts and bathing facilities. Sixteen Island Lake is a popular resort with Montrealeers, many of whom have summer homes on its shores and islands. Laurel, Weir, Morrison, Bevin Lake and Arundel are all gateways to adjacent summer resorts and pretty lakes.

Lac Remi, the terminus of the Laurentian line of railway, is situated on the Rouge River, a tributary of the Ottawa. The town is in the vicinity of many charming lakes and it is a centre from which pleasant canoe trips may be taken.
