Warns against Berlin move

COPENHAGEN (AP)—NATO Secretary General Dirk U. Stikker today warned the Russians that if they move against West Berlin they will be "confronted by a whole series of counter-actions" by the Western powers.

Addressing the general assembly of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Stikker called for firmness and solidarity by the alliance in the face of new Soviet threats in Berlin which he said were bound to come in the next six months.

Recalling NATO firmness and unity in the past, he said: "This has been the real reason why—for all their boasting threats and for all their slip-pin-pricks, the latest series of which we are still experiencing—the Soviets have not so far ventured on anything irrevocable."

8 Canadian ships said running cargo between Reds, Cuba

OTTAWA (CP)—Eight Canadian-owned ships have been running cargo between Russia and Cuba in the last 12 months, a reliable informant says.

Some of the deep-sea ships have been operating a regular shuttle service between ports in the Soviet Union and Cuba, the source says.

The ships are owned by Canadians but registered under the British flag.

Officials here believe the ships carried Cuban sugar to Russia, but they have no knowledge of the cargoes hauled from the Soviet Union to the Caribbean island of Premier Fidel Castro.

The American government, warning in recent weeks of a Communist build-up in Cuba, has been trying to persuade its NATO allies to stop their flagships from participating in the Russia-Cuba trade.

The National Maritime Union in the United States also has called for a world-wide boycott of ships taking part in the trade between the two countries.

THREE LINES Three Canadian-owned lines operate the eight ships, the source said.

The vessels were identified as Beech Hill, Cedar Hill, Fir Hill, Mulberry Hill, Sycamore Hill, all owned by Halifax-Overseas Freight Limited; Maiden Hill and Streatham Hill, both owned by Acadia Overseas Freighter Limited of Halifax, and the Sudbury Hill, owned by Vancouver Oriental Line Limited of Vancouver.

The two Halifax shipping lines are linked with I. H. Mathers and Son Limited, a major east coast shipping firm.

Officials here have been keeping tabs on the movements of Canadian-owned ocean freighters in the Cuba-Russia cargo business.

The Streatham Hill, for example, was in the Baltic Sea port of Leningrad last November and December, then turned up at Havana and other Cuban ports in mid-January until early March. By May, it was back at Odessa in the Black Sea, returning to Havana in June and then sailing from Santiago in August.

Expresses concern of US

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—State Secretary Dean Rusk was expected to tell Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today that shipment of Soviet arms and technicians to Cuba is causing serious concern in the United States.

The two diplomats were scheduled to meet at a luncheon in Rusk's hotel suite for their first private talks since last July, when they conferred in Geneva during the conference on Laos.

The Berlin problem was high on their agenda along with that of Cuba.

The meeting is one of a series being held by Rusk with foreign ministers and other diplomats in New York for the United Nations General Assembly. He has met with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, and a number of other U.S. Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange, Japanese Foreign Minister Maysayoshi Ohira allies.

Wins battle

LONDON (Reuters)—Canadian Breweries Limited Monday announced that they had beaten the giant Guinness brewing firm in a take-over battle for the 200-year-old Cork brewery firm, Beamish and Crawford. The take-over bid was for 44 per cent of the brewery's 600,000 shares.

Mayor Nadeau to stand for UN in Sherbrooke

"I agree 100 per cent with the program set by the Union Nationale caucus at Amqui over the weekend," Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke declared last night when he agreed to run as Union Nationale candidate in Sherbrooke County.

He told a delegation of nearly 1,000 electors who waited on him at his Russell street home that he would campaign on the basis of the platform outlined by Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson at Amqui on Sunday.

The invitation to represent the party in the Nov. 14 provincial general elections was extended to Mayor Nadeau by J. S. Bourque, UN MLA for Sherbrooke from 1935 until his defeat in 1960 and a long-time member of Union Nationale cabinets.

In his speech of acceptance, Mr. Nadeau first paid tribute to the splendid work accomplished by Mr. Bourque in the 25 years he represented Sherbrooke County at Quebec.

Mayor Nadeau declared that he did not intend to relinquish his functions as Mayor of Sherbrooke for the time being at least. He still has two years to run of his three-year term.

"I will continue to fulfill my mandate at the City Hall, and without considering political allegiance, wish that their legitimate aspirations be heard at the top level and wish that the next government be truly democratic, that is to say government of the people for the people, a government that appreciates the realities of the daily life of the population of Quebec, and which will echo its just demands."

Appealing for the support of all people of goodwill, Mr. Nadeau continued, "The electoral campaign now opening has an aspect of greatest importance in that it allows the people to decide whether in a democracy a government may order general elections on a particular issue all the time refusing to render an accounting of its administration. If this is so, it means the end of responsible government and of all the safeguards it means for the population."

An invitation to Mr. Nadeau to stand for election was issued by Charles Connors on behalf of English-speaking electors.

While the Union Nationale forces were selecting their candidate in Sherbrooke County, the Liberals were relieved of the problem of holding a convention here by the announcement here by the announcement.

Aden calm after riots A DEN (Reuters)—Police reported Aden "completely quiet" today after Monday's anti-federal riot as the legislative council continued its debate of Britain's plan to link the colony with the 11-state South Arabia Federation.

The government said Monday night that 106 people were arrested during the riots.

One person was killed and three wounded when police opened fire on rioters who set shops ablaze. Two others were shot and wounded by an Arab police officer.

Delegates representing all provinces were at the meetings.

All units on the alert

New trouble in Argentina looms as admirals quit

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Mass resignations from the powerful council of admirals confronted President Jose Maria Guido with a new crisis today. The air force, pledged to his support, ordered an alert of all units for new trouble in Argentina.

There were reports of pockets of discontent in all the services over the new military leadership that kicked out the army command in last week's uprising. The rebels accused the army command of holding Guido a virtual prisoner while plotting a military dictatorship.

Gen. Cayo Antonio Alsina, air force commander, announced the alert at midnight. He said: "There are other armed forces which at this time have not defined their allegiance."

Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía, now Guido's army commander in chief who led the revolt, agreed with Alsina.

Apparently this meant chiefly the navy, although the former war secretary, Gen. Jose Cornejo Saravia, remained a bitter holdout against the new direction of the Guido government.

ASKS STATEMENT Onganía declared, "It is hoped that all armed forces, within a few hours, will announce to all the people that they truly support the national government."

While Guido demanded and got a pledge of support from the navy, Onganía and Alsina showed concern over the action of 25 members of the navy council of admirals in offering their resignations Monday night. The admirals said they wanted to give Guido's new navy secretary, Rear Admiral Carlos Kolungia, freedom of action. Guido named Kolungia to replace Rear Admiral Gaston G. Clement.

The navy took no part in the fighting last week. But during the revolt the navy blamed Guido for the bloodshed — a statement for which Clement assumed responsibility Monday. The navy tried to force him out in favor of a three-man military junta.

A navy source acknowledged "there is disagreement on leadership."

"But we are not alone. The air force and army are having troubles too."

Sources in the other services agreed.

Arturo Frondizi was deposed by the armed forces as president and Guido installed last March because of the military's alarm at election successes by followers of former dictator Juan Peron. Guido dissolved Parliament and ruled by decree, and although he promised new elections in October, 1963, factions within the army talked openly about overthrowing him in favor of military rule.

POPULATION GROWTH

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's population at June 1 was an estimated 18,570,000 persons, an increase of 331,753 over June 1, 1961, when the last decennial census was taken.

Population figures, released today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, show Quebec with the largest increase during the year. That province gained an additional 106,789 residents to bring its population to 5,366,000.

Ontario's population was fattened by 105,908 residents, bringing its count to 6,342,000 at June 1.

BC may reactivate school

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—The Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, camped 1,000 strong near here, issued a hands-off-our-children warning to the provincial government Monday night as speculation grew that the government might reactivate the New Denver dormitory school.

The Freedomites, reaffirming their determination to join "our brothers in Agassiz," warned that if their children were taken to New Denver "we are prepared to sacrifice everything in their defence."

The government placed a number of Freedomite children in the New Denver dormitory in the 1950s when their parents refused to send them to public schools because they said the schools taught militarism and nationalism.

The Freedomites profess to be a pacifist sect.

New Denver was closed in 1959 when the Doukhobors agreed to send their children to school.

The children who left with their parents on the 400-mile Krestova-to-Agassiz trek Sept. 2 have not yet enrolled in school. This brought a warning from Education Minister Les Peterson that the children must go to classes.

ISSUE STATEMENT In a public statement, the Freedomites also warned they would not be intimidated "by either the police threats, by imprisonment, by manhandling or by death."

"We repeat we are ready for you to make of us soap, baggage, lampshades"—an apparent reference to comments by the Freedomites that Mountain Prison at Agassiz was "Canada's Buchenwald." Scores of their fellows are held there, serving varying terms for arson and bombings in the Kootenays.

The Freedomites agreed Monday at their Bromley Park campsite near here to send their children back to school provided the children will be returned to camp each day from Princeton schools and provided they are not forced to salute the flag or sing God Save the Queen.

There was no immediate reaction from government officials in Victoria on the proposal.

To attempt to enroll once again

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Armed with a promise from the Mississippi state college board, Negro James H. Meredith was to try again today to enroll at the University of Mississippi.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans forced the promise Monday with a threat of contempt action, and gave the board until 7 p.m. ADT to make good.

Meredith planned to register in Jackson, where the board normally sits, rather than the campus at Oxford. This was part of the board's agreement with the court.

But while court agreements were being made in New Orleans, Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi was making counter moves in Jackson, the capital.

The 64-year-old governor, who promised to go to jail rather than see Meredith knock down 114 years of segregation took these actions:

1. He obtained a state court order forbidding university officials from enrolling Meredith and forbidding Meredith from enrolling.

2. He issued an executive order directing state police to arrest anyone who tried to arrest or fine a state official in connection with the Meredith case.

Without explaining why, the highway patrol announced a 24-hour standby alert as the hearing in New Orleans was drawing to a close. More than 80 patrol cars were moved into the Oxford area.

Meredith, calm but attentive in the court room, seemed not at all sure that the end of the long road was in sight.

"I've been admitted a lot of times before," he told reporters, referring to three federal court orders that so far have not succeeded in putting him in classes.

Meredith tried to enroll at the campus last Thursday. But Barnett, wielding the authority of the registrar delegated to him by the board, personally turned Meredith away.

Austerity toughest issue

Cure for economic woes awaited

OTTAWA (CP)—As the new Parliament opens, Canadians will be waiting for Prime Minister Diefenbaker to drop the other shoe.

Three months ago he announced his government's emergency "austerity" program to save the Canadian dollar from a bad international beating.

Now the country—and especially his political opponents—are waiting to see the nature of the "longer-term measures of a positive, constructive nature" which he promised in June to help meet the root cause of the dollar's troubles.

It is generally conceded here that the austerity program, with all the economic questions surrounding it, will be the toughest issue facing the minority Progressive Conservative government in the new Parliament opening Thursday.

If any one issue can unite the three opposition parties into voting down the government and forcing a new election, this issue seems the likeliest one. But it would take all three parties to do it, and both Social Credit and New Democratic parties don't want an early election.

Liberals, New Democrats and Social Crediters have agreed in their dislike of some of the measures introduced June 24 to halt a precipitate fall in Canada's foreign exchange reserves. All agree that austerity must be replaced by policies of economic expansion.

It remains to be seen whether Mr. Diefenbaker can fill this bill with his new policies, the outline of which will be sketched by the session-opening speech from the throne on Thursday.

Full details won't be known until the legislation is introduced and Finance Minister Nowlan presents a supplementary budget—his first budget speech.

In any event, the government faces the prospect of some harsh opposition criticism not only over what it has done but the way it did it.

FOUR POINTS

The June 24 emergency program, following the May 3 devaluation of the dollar's exchange rate to 92½ cents in U.S. funds, included four main measures:

- 1. International borrowings of $650,000,000 to restore confidence in the strength of the foreign exchange reserves, then at the dangerously low point of $1,100,000,000.
2. Temporary tariff surcharges of five, 10 and 15 per cent on just over half of Canada's imports, to put a damper on import buying.
3. Plans to cut government spending by $250,000,000 in a full year, to help cut the big federal budget deficit.
4. A move to higher interest rates, signalled by the pegging of the Bank of Canada interest rate at six per cent.

APPOINTEES COMING AND GOING

OTTAWA (CP)—Cabinet or political appointees, high in influence but low in job security, have been coming and going here with unusual frequency in recent weeks.

A spate of appointments, transfers and resignations has followed the June 18 election and the Aug. 9 cabinet shuffle. Five ministers were defeated in the election and nine others were involved in the shuffle.

At least five of the 87 Progressive Conservative members of Parliament who either lost or dropped out in this year's race have returned to the capital branch at roughly the same pay—$10,000.

Four executive assistants to ministers and about 10 private secretaries suddenly found themselves without jobs after bosses were defeated at the polls, a survey indicated. All have found new jobs outside the government.

Six new executive assistants have been brought in from across Canada and five others have switched departments to remain on the personal staffs of ministers involved in the cabinet shuffle. About 15 private secretaries have also moved with their ministers.

Executive assistants, special assistants and private secretaries are appointed by cabinet order on the recommendation of the minister concerned and their salaries are set by the cabinet. Their employment customarily ceases when the minister resigns or is defeated.

Award contract for fencing at higher bid

Sherbrooke city council awarded Monday evening the contract for the fencing of city parks to the J. S. Mitchell and Company over both the other bidders: Codere Limited and Dawson Auto Parts Limited.

The J. S. Mitchell and Company and Codere Limited offered both Frost and DOSCO products, while Dawson Auto Parts Ltd., offered only Frost products.

Of the two products put forward by the Mitchell firm, that of DOSCO was lower by $130 over that offered by the Frost Company. The council decided to accept the Frost product for a $11,250 contract despite the $130 higher bid.

The reason given by the council for the choice was that they had received very satisfactory treatment from the Frost Company in past dealings and hence believed the difference insignificant in relation to the risk involved if they were to switch products.

Apartment owners 'would massacre the landscape'

North Ward owners urge council to change zone to old regulation

North Ward property owners went before Sherbrooke city council Monday night to urge that an area east of Jacques Cartier Boulevard be reunited for zoning purposes with an area west of Jacques Cartier so that no further apartments will be built on it.

Armand Leroux headed a six-man delegation of property owners at the council session.

Mayor Armand Nadeau told the delegates that the people of the area itself would decide which zone they would be included in at their scheduled meeting on Oct. 1.

The area west of Jacques Cartier between Portland Avenue and Prospect Street was changed from a zone, permitting apartments, to a zone, restricted to one and two-family dwellings, by council a week ago.

East of Jacques Cartier, however, the old regulations have remained in effect, and apartment buildings have been started at the corner of Malouin Street in this eastern area.

Ald. Carrier Fortin reiterated to Monday's delegation that these apartments, begun under the old regulations, will have to stay even if a decision is taken to limit construction in future to one and two-family houses.

"Let a referendum decide it," said Ald. Everette Nicol, who has been active in the past in petitioning for limitation to one and two-family construction in the North Ward.

Mr. Leroux, speaking for the delegation, said "Sherbrooke is a beautiful city, a city of trees, and a fairly clean city." To let apartment construction go forward in this area unfettered would be to "massacre the landscape," according to Mr. Leroux.

Postpone police probe

RICHMOND — (Special) — Continuation of the hearing of Gerard Paquin's appeal against his dismissal as police chief of the town of Richmond has been postponed to Oct. 12.

Richmond town lawyer, Georges Savoie, made the postponement announcement Monday after a call from Quebec, saying the delay had been "at the request of both parties."

He said the postponement was to allow Mr. Paquin and the town to submit further argument on the points of law raised on the first day of the hearing, Sept. 19.

The legal question raised then was whether Mr. Paquin's engagement with the town was such that he was fired, or merely notified of termination of contract as the town alleged.

On the opening day of the inquiry, Sept. 18, Judge John F. Sheehan of the Quebec Municipal Commission heard the mayor, an alderman, and the town clerk testify on why Mr. Paquin had been dismissed.

They spoke of tasks he had neglected to do on the job, and also revealed the chief had asked for a pay raise shortly before he was dismissed.

The case dates from Aug. 29, when the Richmond town council informed Chief Paquin it was dispensing with his services.

Mayor Marcel Roy would only tell a citizens' meeting the dismissal was for "insubordination."

Zone change is defeated

Property-owners of zone F 14 in the East Ward have again rejected a bylaw change to permit the building of a service station at the corner of Bowen Avenue and King Street East.

The matter was voted on in the second referendum, held Monday, and the service station project was defeated by 25 votes, — representing $216,800 more in evaluated property than those favoring permission to build the station.

The final vote from the day-long poll was 90 in favor, 115 against. Participation in the vote was 54 per cent of those eligible.

In terms of property value, the majority must also gain most property to carry the vote. — Sherbrooke estimates secretary Claude Dupont's report says it was $1,143,100 in favor of the service station, and $1,359,900 opposed.

Water skiing championship City defers decision on payment

Sherbrooke city council Monday deferred until next week's meeting its decision on whether or not to pick up the tab for the last annual Quebec Water Ski Championships, held in Sherbrooke in August.

Some councillors felt that the widespread publicity the event brought to Sherbrooke was worth the $702 beach preparations at Jacques Cartier Park which the city did for the Club Nautique du Petit Lac Magog which organized the competition here.

Guy Donahue, of the club appeared before the council's Monday night session to report a deficit of $1,392 on the budgeted cost of the event. The figure included the city's bill for beach work.

But Ald. Berard suggested his year's deficit might be a temporary setback, and if Sherbrooke played host to further national, water ski events, the sport might become an attraction ranking with Quebec's winter carnival, making Sherbrooke something of a water ski capital.

Mayor Nadeau pointed out that the event had been televised by the CBC, and that a national tournament would be televised not merely locally, but transcontinentally, by the CBC.

"Both the English and French networks," remarked Ald. Jean-Jacques, "That's something."

University of Sherbrooke host to national congress of NFCUS

The University of Sherbrooke opened its doors Monday to 140 university students representing 40 Canadian universities at the 26th national congress of the National Federation of Canadian University Students (NFCUS).

The congress will last for six days. During this time, there will be commissions on national and international affairs. The results of these will be presented to the entire delegation in plenary sessions. Thus setting the policy for the Federation.

There will also be a meeting of presidents of students councils of the participating universities. Here, common difficulties and problems will be discussed and compared.

The congress was officially opened with a bilingual rendition of O Canada, in the auditorium of the Commerce Building. This was followed by a welcoming address from Dr. Rosario Cousineau of the faculty of commerce of the host university.

Dr. Cousineau outlined briefly the history of the Eastern Townships, pointing out especially the rapid growth of the City of Sherbrooke over the last few years.

The Commerce Dean emphasized the "perfect harmony of English and French" in the Eastern Townships, citing it as an example to be noted by the rest of Canada.

Andre Lachance, president of the Association Generale des Etudiants de l'Universite de Sherbrooke, Roger Colombe, chairman of the congress committee and Walter McLean, National president of NFCUS, added their greetings.

Trained dog is used

Farmer returns home on his own as police comb the area for him

ASBESTOS (Staff) — A farmer who has Provincial Police searching for him with their trained dog, returned to his home on his own Monday night after a day's disappearance.

He had, according to Donat Sevigny, in charge of Provincial Police at Richmond, been hiding in a barn while searchers beat the surrounding woods.

Emilien Charland, 57, was reported missing to Provincial Police at Richmond Monday morning about 11 o'clock by his grown-up son, Bruneau. Informal search parties the night before had had no luck in finding trace of him.

A police search, employing volunteers who responded to the police's appeal and aided by the search dog, brought with its master, George Clark, from Quebec, was underway from about noon.

It continued, combing the woods on Mr. Charland's farm and the adjacent ones, until eight p.m. It would have started again Tuesday morning, says Mr. Sevigny, if Mr. Charland had not turned up at home later that night.

Mr. Charland is "sick," said Mr. Sevigny, who had not obtained any reasons for the disappearance from him.

The barn in which Mr. Charland is reported to have spent the interval is on the farm of Omer Corbeil, a neighbor. The Charland farm is on rural route one, Asbestos.

Parliament opening and early vote

The opening of parliament on Thursday is reviving talk of an early federal election, one in fact that may overlap with the provincial campaign in Quebec.

However, as Mr. Knowles' prediction involves an ability to determine what Mr. Diefenbaker will do next, his prophecies may have many weaknesses.

Actually a federal general election appears many months, even years, away, for it is difficult to believe that any of the party leaders really want another appeal to the voters.

Naturally the Progressive Conservatives would like an extended period in which to recover from the shock they received last June and it is doubtful if they will do anything rash to precipitate a vote.

The NDP have a long way to go in completing their organization, while the Social Credit delegation from Quebec is experiencing internal difficulty over the question of contesting the provincial election in this province.

Despite his fire-breathing demands for the immediate dissolution of the House it is unlikely that Mr. Pearson would relish another campaign just now.

Certainly his appeal to the other opposition parties, made at Sorel over the weekend, to join the Liberals in ousting the Diefenbaker Government was couched in such terms as to render their support unlikely.

After making his appeal for NDP and Socred support, Mr. Pearson declared the next fight would be between the two old parties, with the splinter groups being eliminated.

If his reasoning is sound, which may be doubted, the Liberal leader simply was asking his Opposition colleagues to commit political suicide, and at once.

It is hardly surprising there are no takers.

We'll bet dieticians have a harder time keeping figures straight than accountants.

A bolder course of action in Cuba

As congressional elections draw nearer in the United States, the Kennedy administration is under increasingly heavy fire from right wing Republicans for its policy on Cuba.

In his now-famous press conference last week, President Kennedy, in reply to his critics, made the defence that so far, the Russian buildup in Cuba does not have the aspects of aggression.

He said that if Cuba ever did become a threat, then the United States will do "whatever must be done to protect its own security and that of its allies."

On the surface, this may sound reassuring. But in reality, Mr. Kennedy has only said that his government will take necessary steps when the steps become necessary — something every government has to do.

Politics aside, there is the germ of a very important truth in Republican allegations that it is wrong to wait until the United States hand is forced.

Something should be done now, they say, and their suggestions range all the way from immediate armed invasion to a tight blockade of the island nation.

Lots of people get small roles in TV, much better than a loaf.

Quebec voter offered little choice

Union Nationale leader Daniel Johnson has complicated the forthcoming provincial election for those who do not wish to vote for nationalization.

As a politician, he probably had little choice but to say, as he did in Amqui, that he is not against nationalization.

At least, he has put forward a platform of moderation — nationalization of two small power companies immediately if his party is returned to power and a referendum on province-wide nationalization of Quebec power resources.

This is preferable to Mr. Lesage's sweeping proposal, but it still leaves the voter little scope.

How shall those who feel that nationalization is an unnecessary, wasteful project vote? Must they gamble that if Mr. Johnson is returned to power, a referendum will reject nationalization.

Must they, if they feel that a vote should not be a gamble, deposit a blank ballot Nov. 14?

Or will they be forced into the arms of crackpot third or fourth parties whose only attraction is that they offer an alternative?

Other papers say:

Heavy burden of proof on Premier

More than 90 per cent of the total power generated in Ontario comes from publicly-owned plants in which the public investment increased $1,200,000,000 in the years 1946-55 when Conservative administrations held office in Toronto.

As he fights his campaign for re-election with nationalization of Quebec power plants the issue at stake, Premier Jean Lesage, as a Liberal, will not fail to remind his critics of the example given by Conservatives in a neighboring province.

The difference is that the Quebec provincial government of the day proposes to become the supreme power proprietor 56 years after the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission began the work of development it has pushed forward on a widening front in the succeeding decades.

The Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission has undertaken substantial developments with public funds, such as the Berisim River plant, but the 11 Quebec private companies also have undertaken enormous projects while providing power to consumers at rates comparable to those in Ontario and often lower.

What Mr. Lesage proposes to nationalize is a going concern, a hydro complex which produces 25 per cent of the province's power, gives good service and is capable of expansion. The principle of nationalization may be easily defended but nationalization at this stage, at the price of $600,000,000 to be paid for the companies added to the provincial debt, has to be defended on more than principle.

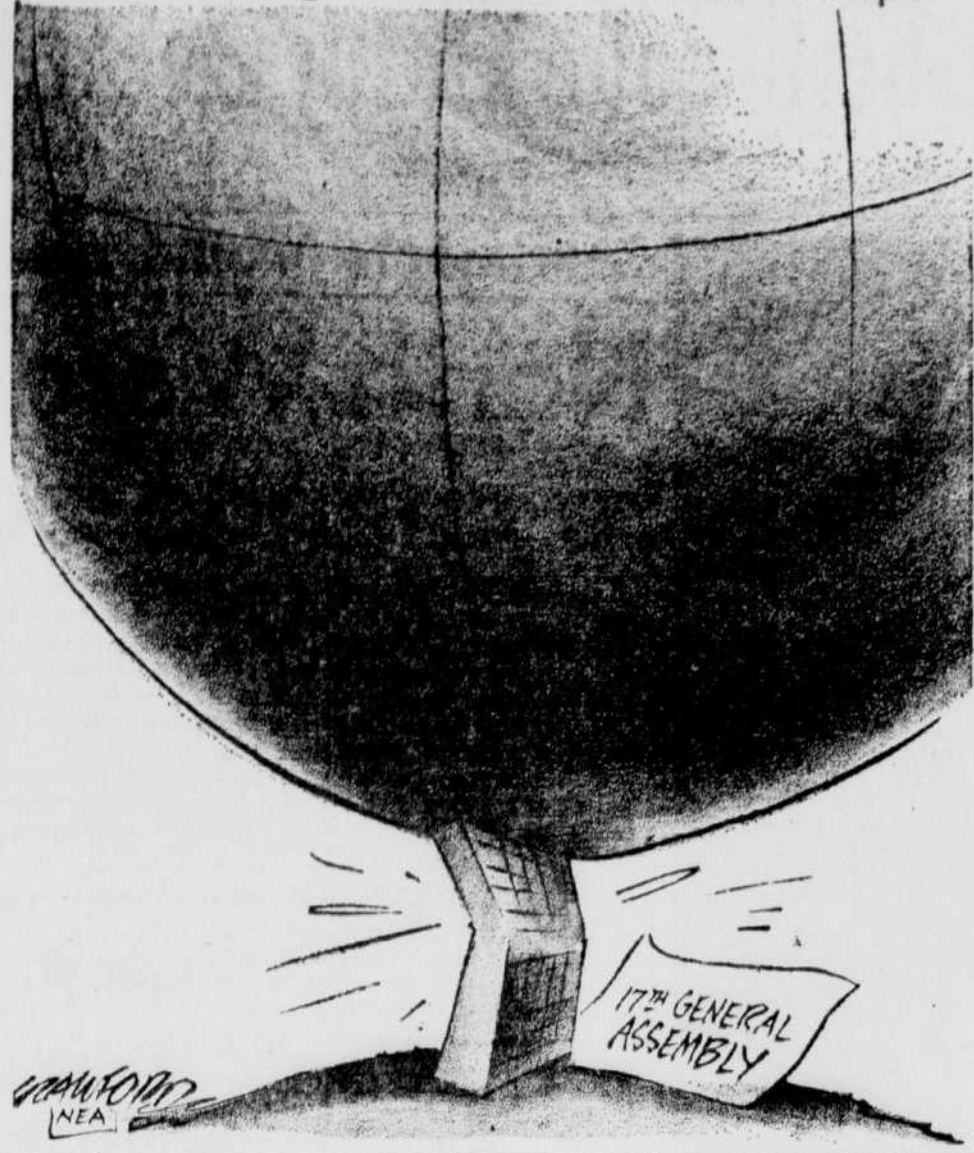

The Quebec taxpayer, conscious of both tax and power bills, and aware that the thousands of small shareholders in the power companies must have a square deal, deserves facts and figures in support of the Liberal government case during the campaign.

Mr. Lesage, in short, has not only to show that what he proposes is a good thing in principle; he will have to convince his people as well that it will be a good thing in practice—not destructive of taxpayers and beneficial to consumers.

"The Meeting Will Come to Order—I Hope!"

On the skids in North America

Unions losing their offensive; try to protect what they have

By FRANK DREA

For all the confident speeches, assessments and forecasts of its leaders, North American trade unionism is on the skids and in real trouble.

Even the casual observer can sense the gloom, frustration and even smell of defeat as the big industrial unions continue to be wracked by unemployment and the loss of jobs and members to technology.

This applies to even a remarkably successful union like the United Steelworkers, which has made the North American steelworkers the best paid working man in the world. Here, too, the atmosphere of a rear guard retreat prevails over most of its officials.

The dwindling incomes of American unions mean that there will be fewer dollars for the subsidies to Canadian wings and with the exceptions of some railway brotherhoods, the UAW and the Packinghouse Workers, every international union operation in Canada is subsidized in one form or another.

Although the biggest impact has been on the American sections of international unions, the decline has serious repercussions for the Canadian movement as well.

The declining membership of the Steelworkers parallels similar losses in such unions as the United Auto Workers, the Packinghouse Workers, International Union of Electrical Workers—the big industrial unions that are now the cornerstone of the labor movement.

Instead of talk of higher wages and more fringe benefits, the atmosphere is now one of protecting available jobs and "humanizing" industry—or in blunter terms, a change from the offensive to the defensive.

Since labor in Canada is still in the fledgling stage compared to the United States, the change in thinking is not so apparent here.

But what has labor leaders of both countries worried is that once a movement loses its momentum and goes on the defensive to protect what it has, it also loses the dynamism and vitality that made it grow.

The loss of momentum also competition in world markets once the exclusive franchise of the two countries.

Since the domestic market is flourishing in both nations, the obvious reason for the failure of the economy to expand into full employment lies in the ability of exports to maintain their postwar growth.

The decline of employment and the growing competition for vital world markets has forced labor to make some agonizing reappraisals about wages.

Instead of talk of higher wages and more fringe benefits, the atmosphere is now one of protecting available jobs and "humanizing" industry—or in blunter terms, a change from the offensive to the defensive.

The loss of momentum also has serious meaning in the current world economic struggle between the free and the totalitarian nations—the fight that many feel will decide the future of the western world.

If North American trade in-ions cannot break out of the current slump, there will be little meaning to the pledges to underdeveloped nations that democracy and free enterprise of one form or another can provide a high standard of living.

Anglican, RC unity

Papal authority biggest obstacle

By HILARY GORDON

TORONTO (CP) — Papal authority, involving the dual claims of supremacy and infallibility, is seen as the big obstacle to a rapprochement between the Roman Catholic and Anglican Churches in a book written and published privately by an Anglican layman.

Traceable to the centralization of authority in the papacy, Prof. Lewis says, are the elevation of tradition as a source of revelation to a position virtually of superiority over Scripture, and dogmatic exaltation of the Virgin Mary to a point "out of all proportion to the certain knowledge we possess of her."

"Anglicans deplore the addition of such doctrines as those concerning purgatory, indul-ences, and transubstantiation to what is clearly central to orthodox Christian belief. But even these doctrines, while utterly speculative, cannot seriously be compared in importance and ultimate consequence with those doctrines so recently defined and, in effect, appended to the (Nicene) Creed, concerning the privileges and prerogatives of both the Pope and the Blessed Virgin Mary. The papal and Marian doctrines—equally speculative and unjustifiable in the Anglican Church's opinion—are entirely in a class by themselves and must always be treated as such."

Prof. Lewis, married to a Roman Catholic, is a member of the Anglican Church of Canada's committee on Anglican-Roman Catholic relations.

The 25,000-word book, "Toward Anglican-Roman Catholic Unity," is developed on the theme that papal authority, including the dogma of papal infallibility defined by the Vatican council of 1870, is "so unsoundly based that it may properly be regarded as false." The writer believes that only its retraction could provide a solid foundation for the reunion of the two churches.

(The Roman Catholic church holds that the Pope is the centre and source of authority in regard to faith and morals. On these matters he is infallible when he speaks ex cathedra—in other words whenever he speaks as the successor of Peter and as the Vicar of Christ, and proposes is a good thing in principle; he will have to convince his people as well that it will be a good thing in practice—not destructive of taxpayers and beneficial to consumers.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — Anyone wondering how the PM is these days as he limps on fractured ankle from Commonwealth controversy to parliamentary polemics?

In one word: worried. He tries not to show it, but it is apparent to those who know him well, and know intimately the background of the events in which he is moving. And of these, none is more perceptive than members of the parliamentary press corps.

They play a major part in his anxieties. They report and interpret his every word, move and mood to the voters, and shortly they may have occasion to write about a parliamentary debate on what he did and said at the Commonwealth meeting in London.

So on his return from London he called the news correspondents to his office to brief them on his version of events at the conference. This action in itself is unusual. In the past Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been such a stickler for the niceties of parliamentary protocol that he has refused to talk to newsmen on matters like this before he had a chance to make a report to the House of Commons. This time it's different. This time he's worried.

With the government tottery and apt to have to face the voters as early as December, the PM is upset over the evidence that a good many voters are critical of his words and actions in London. His political foes are saying that he tried to wreck British membership in the European Common Market, and that in so doing he came close to wrecking the Commonwealth.

There was no fight in London, he told reporters. Everybody agreed Britain could join the ECM if it wanted to. The British has asked the Commonwealth countries how this action would affect their trade.

It was his "responsibility to place the views of Canada before the other nations," and to declare "how Canada will be affected." Trade preferences "have meant a great deal to Canada. They cannot be loosely dealt with without serious effects on the economy."

"On no occasion was there anything in the nature of warm words," Diefenbaker said. There was "less argument in this conference than in others that have taken place."

"Britain," he said, "will now return to (the ECM negotiations at) Brussels reinforced by the expression of the family view... the viewpoint of the Commonwealth nations."

This is not what the Canadian people understand from the stories of Canadian news correspondents who covered the meeting in London. But Diefenbaker's version has this strength: he was at the meetings; the newsmen weren't. Their sources were mainly the briefing officials of the Canadian and other delegations.

On the other hand, the newsmen in London had no ax to grind, no reason to slant or distort information they gleaned on what was happening behind the green baize doors.

Perhaps the PM is trying to rewrite conference history, or perhaps he is only trying to put a complex situation in new and, to him, more reasonable perspective. But the effect is to disclose Diefenbaker's parliamentary defence for the frustrations and failures of the London conference. Almost as if he weren't sure, what with the political uncertainties, that he'd have a chance to speak his piece in Parliament.

YOU HAVE A HAND IN THINGS CANADIAN when you own Life Insurance

Surprising? Yes—but true. Like most people, you have probably thought of your life insurance—as protection for your family—as a good way to save money regularly—as a valuable collateral if you need a loan for an emergency—as a retirement plan for you later on.

Actually, your life insurance dollars are more than an investment in your personal security and your family's. These dollars are also an investment in Canada. They stimulate growth and progress and help make this country a better place in which to live and work.

At this moment, 9 BILLION DOLLARS of life insurance savings are invested in important Canadian enterprises—through the purchase of bonds and stocks and through mortgages.

These hard-working dollars are helping to finance great projects all over this country such as pipelines, shopping centres, bridges and highways, homes, apartment and office buildings, schools, factories, industrial plants and power developments. These investments create employment opportunities, too.

The income from these investments benefits you directly by reducing the cost of life insurance to you and the 9 million other Canadian policyowners.

ment of Premier Lesage in Quebec City last night to the effect that all Liberal members of the last Legislature would be the party candidates automatically unless they wished to retire from political life.

The retiring Sherbrooke MLA, L. P. Brousseau, announced over the week-end that he would seek re-election.

Premier Lesage's announcement also obviated the need for conventions in seven other Eastern Townships ridings held by Liberals—Stanstead, Richmond, Wolfe, Megantic, Drummond, Arthabaska and Brome.

Conventions will be required in the four seats held by Union Nationale supporters—Compton, Frontenac, Shefford and Missisquoi.

In Shefford, Marcel Boivin, former Liberal MP, has indicated his readiness to come before the convention although conducting no active campaign for the nomination at the present time.

Compton Liberals are busily engaged in seeking a candidate to oppose Claude Gosselin, Union Nationale member of the last House, with two names being prominently mentioned—Mayor Roland Brousseau of East Angus and Dr. A. Lepine of Cookshire.

One resident of Richmond last night announced his readiness to oppose Welfare Minister Emilien Lafrance, Roland Poirier, of Asbestos, a former game warden relieved of his duties following the 1950 Liberal victory, stated he would seek the nomination at the party convention to be held at an undetermined date.

Another name mentioned as a UN candidate is Dr. Charles Gosselin, Windsor Mills dentist, who opposed Mr. Lafrance in 1950.

Dr. Gosselin, brother of the Compton ex-MLA, has declined to make any statement on his political plans.

Hand applique adds dress value

Costumes using hand applique as decoration are expensive to buy, yet easy to make. Your cautions are to choose good pastels, and to choose just the right colors for your applique motifs. Buy 1/2-yard of each color you will use. Avoid material that frays. You can make hair bands of string belts out of what you have left over.

Draw your leaves or flower motifs. Cut them out. Do not allow for seams. Place them in an attractive arrangement on a piece of paper. Mome them about until you have an effect pleasing to you. Outline the pieces with pencil so you can follow this when placing petals and leaves on your garment.

Cut the pieces you need, allowing 1/8-inch of all edges for seams. You can overcast the raw edges a very scant 1/8-inch, drawing the thread up gently, which will help to turn the edge to the wrong side. When all edges are turned, press each leaf or petal very carefully so outline is kept true. Place these pressed pieces to place, basting each to place as shown in upper right corner.

Outside edges can be whipped to place as shown, or edge can be blanket stitched. Stems should be done with an overhand stitch, tapering to nothing at the top as shown.

Flower motifs may be made and shaped, edge held to place with short and long blanket stitches as shown, or outside edge can be whipped to place, no stitches showing right side, and a lazy daisy worked in the center, or center.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Wise homemaker soothes dinner pangs

DEAR POLLY — I find it is a good idea to always have the table set when hubby comes home to dinner even if I haven't thought about what we are going to eat. It really creates the illusion of being on a schedule, and hubby will be happy with his paper or telling of the happenings of the day while I pop something in the oven. Remember, too, if you place a ceramic tile in the oven as you bake biscuits or warm rolls and then put the warm tile in the bottom of the serving basket, the heat will keep the bread warm during the meal and fewer grease marks will appear on the napkins around the rolls.

MRS. H. W. S.
DEAR GIRLS—Wonder what hubby is going to say if he reads this? Sounds like a good system if you can get by with it.

POLLY.
DEAR POLLY—When rain boots have high heels, insert a dime in each heel to prevent spike heels from cutting through the boot.

MRS. J. R. A.
GIRLS—This was certainly a welcome hint for me personally as my heels seem to go through boots after only a very few wearings.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Sink or swim today for Gretel in today's big race, Aussies are confident, hoping for heavy winds

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — It's win or sink today for Australia's hopes in the America's Cup series, but the popular Aussies refuse to act their role of underdog.

"We will win," flatly predicted Sir Frank Packer, head of the syndicate that mounted the costly Australian challenge for the 11-year-old mug that is emblematic of yacht racing supremacy.

The Australian yacht Gretel is down three races to one in the best-of-seven series, and must win today to keep alive.

A victory for the American defender Weatherly would keep the silver cup in the New York Yacht Club showcase for another two years, at least.

The British are expected to mount the next challenge in 1964.

If one may believe the weatherman, it will be Weatherly's favorite weather today — north-west to west in the 10-to-20 knot range. That would almost duplicate the conditions of the first race which the American defender won handily.

MAY BE BRISKER
But the old salts around this town say the winds will be considerably brisker than that.

The more wind the better for the Australian Gretel. She won the second race — the first victory for a challenging yacht since 1934 — in heavier weather.

Whitey Ford goes tonight as Yanks will try to wrap up pennant race, Orioles lose to Kansas City 5-2

It'll be wily Whitey Ford on the mound tonight when New York Yankees take on Washington in an attempt to clinch their 12th American League pennant in 14 years and set up the first coast-to-coast world series in baseball history.

Meanwhile, 3,000 miles away, Los Angeles Dodgers will go with relief specialist Ed Roebuck in a bold bid to increase their three-game National League edge over the second-place San Francisco Giants.

Ford, who has posted a 16-8 record despite off-and-on arm trouble, will face the Senators' Bennie Daniels (7-15), and can nail down the Yankees' 27th pennant if he wins no matter what the second-place Minnesota Twins do against Cleveland Indians. At the same time, a Minnesota loss would eliminate the Twins regardless of what the Yankees do.

The Twins will start Camilo Pascual (19-10) in an effort to stay in the race. Minnesota is 4½ games behind with four remaining to play. New York has five games left. Pascual will be opposed by Pedro Ramos (9-12).

SURPRISE CHOICE
Roebuck (0-0), the undefeated relief ace who had a dead arm in the spring, was the surprise choice for the Dodgers as they prepared to tackle Houston and former teammate Dick Farrell (9-19) while trying to set up their first pennant since 1959.

The Dodgers lead the Giants by three with six games remaining for each contender. Any combination of four Los Angeles victories and San Francisco defeats will give the Dodgers the NL flag.

The Giants will be at home to St. Louis, starting veteran Billy Pierce (14-6) against the Cardinals' Ernie Broglio (11-8).

In the only game scheduled Monday night, Kansas City Athletics defeated Baltimore Orioles 5-2.

Stamps belt Ticats, Esks down Argos

The cowboy may be the most widely-known hero of the West, but to Eastern sports fans he doesn't rate with the Western Conference football player.

Western Conference teams have lost only one game in the East this season, a 21-19 win for Montreal Alouettes over British Columbia Lions Sept. 6.

Eagle Day led Calgary to a convincing 38-21 win over the Eastern Conference — leading Hamilton Tiger-Cats Monday and Edmonton Eskimos rocked Toronto Argonauts 31-22 at Toronto.

It was Calgary's fifth straight win, making Stamps' the hot team in the Canadian Football League, and moved them within one point of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, leaders in the West, who dropped a 27-22 verdict to British Columbia Lions.

Edmonton, capitalizing on breaks and an Argo error, moved into third place in the Western standings and halted Argos' win streak at one game.

Toronto is now deep in the cellar in the East with six losses and one win.

The first Edmonton touchdown was set up by a field goal attempt that went away. Argos blocked Ted Tully's kick but quarterback Don Getty, who had been holding the ball for the kicker, scooped it up and tossed a pass to Sims who stopped on the Argo six. Two plays later Lashuk crashed over.

The Westerners turned a punt into a touchdown in the second quarter. Chapman's kick was blocked. Tully's kick but quarterback Don Getty, who had been holding the ball for the kicker, scooped it up and tossed a pass to Sims who stopped on the Argo six. Two plays later Lashuk crashed over.

Frank Cosentino, who started at quarter, rambled over from 17 yards in the first quarter. Joe Zuger replaced Cosentino in the fourth quarter and threw touchdown passes to Tommy Grant and Dave Vitt. Don Sutherland kicked two converts and Zuger booted a single in the third quarter.

Boxing personalities have varied opinions on outcome of tonight's fight, lean little towards champ

CHICAGO (AP)—Here's how boxing-world personalities look at tonight's Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston world heavyweight title fight:

Rocky Marciano—"If I were fighting Patterson, I would swarm all over him in one of the corners and try to knock him out. If I let him stay in the centre of the ring I'd be in trouble. Against Liston I'd try to get inside and whack him around the body until he tired and then I'd go for the head. The big problem would be escaping that terrific left jab. Their contrasting styles make it a toss-up."

Ingemar Johansson—"If you don't go in after Patterson, he will come after you. I think he will have to try to stay on top of Liston. Sonny is big and strong, but if you put him on the defensive, he closes up a little."

Jim Braddock—"If Floyd keeps sort of moving to Sonny's right all the time, Liston won't be able to land that left and he might get a little panicky and start to press. This fight could go 15 rounds and, if it does, Floyd has got to outbox him."

LEANS TO LISTON
Jack Dempsey—"I have leaned toward Liston, but if Floyd comes in at 185-187 pounds, he will have the speed and enough punching power to cut Liston down."

Doc Kearns—"I'm not so sure about the big guy, but Patterson might be able to hit harder."

Ezzard Charles—"It should be a good, close fight but I can't predict the winner."

Joe Louis—"If I were in my prime, I would plan to use only two kinds of punches against Patterson—left jab and right cross. I would try to hustle him and make him circle to his left, his weak side. He can be hit there."

Archie Moore—"I like Patterson."

Cassius Clay—"My prediction is Liston."

RICHMOND — The Coliseum is expected to be ready this weekend for skating, stated Paul Emile Lefebvre, manager, last night.

The men commenced to make ice Friday and since then have been flooding with the hope of having ice ready for the skaters soon. The warm weather held things up for a few days but it is expected this will be overcome. Workers are repairing the necessary jobs around the Coliseum to put it in top shape for the coming season.

Lions pull upset knocking over Blue Bombers 27-22 in thriller before 20,143 fans at Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions played on inspiration, precision and daring for a 27-22 upset victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers Monday night in a Western Football Conference thriller before 20,143 fans.

It was the first loss suffered away from home by the league-leading Bombers in 26 games, a string running back almost three years to Oct. 19, 1959, when they lost 21-20 to the Eskimos in Edmonton.

The game left Winnipeg still in first place, a single point ahead of Calgary Stampeders.

The Lions took quarter leads of 6-0, 13-1 and 20-8 before Bombers surged back and forced the game into its final seconds with the outcome still in doubt.

STOPPED AT FIVE
The Bombers scored a touchdown midway in the last quarter and were threatening again when two breath-taking defensive plays—one knocking down a pass and another nailing quarterback Hal Ledyard for a loss at his own five-yard line—gave B.C. the chance to sew up the game.

Bombers scored a touchdown on the last play of the game, but it came too late.

A brilliant Willie Fleming scored two touchdowns for Lions, Tom Larscheid and Nub Beamer one each, and George Grant converted three of the four.

Winnipeg's Gerry James scored one touchdown and kicked for two converts and a single for nine points. Leo Lewis and Ernie Pitts scored the other Bomber touchdowns and Jack Delveaux kicked a single.

WENT 100 YARDS
The Lions, who went into the game 31-point underdogs, set the tone of the game on their second offensive series, when quarterback Joe Kapp completed a 106-yard pass-and-run touchdown play with Fleming.

Grant missed the convert, but succeeded on his second try at the 10-minute mark of the second quarter, after Lions had rammed 104 yards on 14 plays to their second touchdown, with Beamer going the last two yards across the goal line.

Winnipeg salvaged a single on the last play of the half when a march from their own 10 ran out of time and James missed a field goal attempt from the 25.

Champ faces toughest foe in his 41-bout pro career, Patterson's share of gate to be $1,700,000

CHICAGO (AP) — The richest fight in ring history, a $5,000,000 electronic age spectacle, tonight unleashes underdog heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson against challenger Charles (Sonny) Liston for the world title.

In a Comiskey Park setting — merely a backdrop for a vast closed-circuit television show worth upwards of $4,000,000 — an outwheeled Patterson may be taking on the toughest foe in his 41-bout pro career.

Fight time is 10:30 p.m. EDT.
Weather predictions were favorable, calling for fair, cool climate with temperatures in the 40's.

As pre-fight preparations were climaxed with a 10:30 a.m. ADT official weighing, Liston's long-established favoritism still held at 7-5. It was expected Patterson would scale about 190 pounds, spotting some 23 to Liston, likely to weigh some 213.

A crowd of about 35,000 was expected in the White Sox ball park, with prospects of a $750,000 gate.

The sponsoring Championship Sports Incorporated, however, was keeping its eye mainly on returns from 264 closed circuit TV outlets in the United States and Canada.

The sponsors predicted some 800,000 of a potential 1,010,000 seats would be filled, assuring a gross of $4,300,000.

Radio receipts, with ABC and CBC broadcasting the fight nationally, are pegged for about $400,000 and another $200,000 is expected from movie rights.

It all seems to assure the 27-year-old Patterson ringdom's richest purse—perhaps $1,700,000—but the fight may also bring his dethroning by the bruising Liston.

Liston, 28 and a powerful man against both the law and ring opponents in the past—may lack the right-hand thunder of Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, who dethroned Patterson June 26, 1959, flooring the champ seven times.

Patterson has 29 knockouts in a pro career many have criticized as being a crusade against cheesecake opponents.

But Patterson came back from his stunning dethroning by Johansson to take a second bout from the Swede and become the first heavyweight ever to win back the title. Then he polished off Johansson in a third meeting at Miami Beach March 13, 1961.

Patterson's appearance marks the ninth time he has put the heavyweight title at stake, putting him behind only Joe Louis, the all-time leader with 27, and Ezzard Charles with 13.

The bout will be judged on the Illinois five-point must system, scored by two judges and a referee to be named at ring-side.

All for Charity - You attend the fair and spend a few dollars, you have fun, but the Rotarians have a lot of hard work yet they do it gladly because it is a great deal of satisfaction to spend the money raised by the fair among those in need and in promotion of children's work. An annual sum of $500.00 goes into the Frontier Swim Project fund and each year several hundred children are given an opportunity to learn water safety, and life saving. It also provides summer employment for a group of school students.

Money is spent correcting and saving children's teeth and eye sight. Fuel, food, medicine, are provided when needed by families in this section of the county. Christmas time is made more pleasant because Santa Claus visits homes with gifts provided by the Rotary Club, this might include a good Christmas dinner, and toys for the kids. Crippled children have been given help. Money is also spent to maintain the children's reading room in the Haskell Free Library, where each year hundreds of books are ready by children, and each year new books are added for the children's reading pleasure.

An education fund was established a few years ago and this is being used to help students who desire and are having a higher education.

To continue with this great community work, the Rotarians must have the support of the public.

Last year the Rotary Club commenced another community assistance plan, a used clothing pool in the Raymond Fregeau building. This clothing is primarily for fire victims and already a claim has been made.

Clothing is also provided for anyone in need.

What is Rotary?

Rotary is a world fellowship of business and professional executives who accept the "Ideal of Service" as the basis for success and happiness in business and community life. In Rotary, thoughtfulness of others is regarded as the basis of service, and helpfulness to others as its expression. Together they constitute the Rotary "Ideal of Service."

Rotary's universal appeal is that it offers a practical means of enlarging one's friendships, participating in community betterment undertakings, promoting high standards in business and professional life, and advancing international understanding, good will and peace.

To attain its "Ideal of Service" to humanity, Rotary seeks all that which brings people together and it avoids all which separates them.

In their broad program of service work, Rotarians believe in the value of action based on unselfish motives.

Rotary is not a secret organization, Rotary does not seek to supplant or to interfere with any religious or political organizations. It assumes that its program of service is in accord with all religions, and it does not concern itself with a Rotarian's politics. Rotary expects him to be faithful to his religion and loyal in his citizenship.

BINGO, A GREAT FAVOURITE

AND DARTS TO TEST YOUR AIM

ROCK ISLAND — (Special) — The 18th consecutive annual Boundary Rotary fair will be held at the Border Arena in Rock Island, on September 27, 28, 29.

The official opening is to take place at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday night when distinguished guests will be C.R. (Turk) MacLean, District Governor 785, Rene Letourneau, M.P., and George Vaillancourt, M.L.A., as well as President of the Boundary Club, Andy Joyal and others.

A YEAR OF PLANNING

The Rotarians have since a year ago been planning for these three big nights. There will be numerous industrial booths of interest to all. This year the schools will again be displaying in booths paid for by industries, the Boy Scouts, Stanstead County Fish and Game Club and many others. Then there will be the usual game booths plus one new game.

FUN FOR ALL — ALL FOR CHARITY

The slogan remains as it has for 18 years, Fun for all - all for Charity.

The past year money from the 1961 fair was spent by giving $500 to assist with the Frontier Swim Project where over 400 youngsters attended classes in swimming and water safety.

AND DARTS TO TEST YOUR AIM

About $65 was spent for vitamin pills for Sunnyside school students. Thirty-four hampers of food were distributed on both sides of the Border to needy families. A clothing pool was opened and proved a success from the start, with people coming here from as far away as Magog and other points of the County and all were helped.

There was also many dollars spent for medicines and assistance to local children and to the crippled. A scholarship loan fund for young there was also many dollars spent for medicines and assistance to local children and to the crippled. A scholarship loan fund for young to further their education has been established. It is hoped that generous support will be given to the Rotarians by attending their fair this year that they may continue doing and giving to these worthy cases.

BIG PROJECT

If one cannot attend the fair, then purchase tickets on the Big Project, of a trip by air for two to Bermuda or Florida for one week via TCA from Montreal expenses all paid.

In addition to this, each ticket will be good for cash prizes each of the first two nights of the fair.
