Roslyn School 'firebugs' are nabbed

Westmount police and firemen are now on the look-out for any further outbreak and fires in local schools following Tuesday's blaze in a Roslyn School washroom.

The blaze broke out at 11.55 when youngsters ignited a plastic lavatory seat. It did not spread further. The burning plastic sent off a dense toxic cloud of black smoke which spread up from the basement to the main hall above.

The school's alarm was quickly sounded and the building evacuated. "all in a very smooth and orderly manner" it was reported. Firemen meanwhile reached the washroom, but were turned back by the toxic fumes of the plastic. The school janitor, with wet handkerchief to his nose had preceded them and had closed the washroom door, confining the fumes. The men returned this time with gas masks and quickly extinguished the small blaze.

"The fire wasn't much, but that smoke was wicked," a fireman said. You couldn't breathe and you couldn't see, it was so dense. Fortunately, we were able to get an exact description of the washroom so we could find our way around."

Firemen emerged from the room with faces black as coal.

The two young culprits meanwhile were quickly rounded up by police, questioning pupils and teachers all over the school.

Dutch Elm Disease claims more victims

Westmount's elms, that for generations have withstood storms and the encroachment of concrete and asphalt about their roots are now yielding in ever increasing numbers to the ravages of a tiny beetle, carrying a deadly fungus disease.

An analysis of bark samples, recently received from Laval University, shows that Dutch Elm disease has claimed eight more victims in this city, adding to the 24 trees previously slated for the axe.

Two were removed from lots on Victoria avenue this week and work on others is expected to continue throughout the Fall.

It appears that some elms will still be here for a while. Out of 32 samples sent to Quebec for testing, eight were found to contain the deadly elm fungus.

Cutting down the trees is the only known way to slow down the spread of the disease, parks department officials explain. And the individual effected trees are doomed anyway, he added.

Dr. Ross hits vaccination 'lethargy'

Sixty-six cases of polio have broken out in Quebec since August 1, it was reported this week by Dr. Allan Ross 653 Belmont avenue, Chairman of the Child and Maternal Health Committee of the Health League of Canada. He said that in 1962 there were 89 cases of polio in the whole of Canada, with seven deaths.

Dr. Ross is physician-in-chief of the Montreal Children's Hospital.

"Before we had anything to fight polio with it used to strike terror into the hearts of mothers each summer and we kept trying to keep panic down," he said. Now I think it would be a good idea if we had a little more panic and a little less lethargy."

Progress toward eradication of polio depends to a large degree, the doctor stated, on education in the value of immunization. He noted that only 60 to 65 per cent of Montrealers under 40 have been vaccinated against polio.

explained — for in addition to tree-lovers who may misunderstand why certain trees have to go before the axe, the chemicals used in the fight against the disease are blamed for a decimation of the bird population.

When you add the tree-lovers and the bird-lovers you come up with a sizeable group of citizens who can rise in what they consider 'righteous horror' that the trees are being cut down, or the birds are being killed.

Officials assure the citizens that every effort is being made to fight the disease, save as many trees as possible, and at the same time keep an eye on the welfare of the birds.

Thief hits 2 more homes on week-end

Westmount Police are seeking a thief who has hit three local homes over the past two week-ends.

A theft at 659 Murray Hill was reported Monday when occupants

A thief, posing as a deliveryman gained admittance into a Roslyn avenue home Wednesday and pulled a gun. With the aid of another man who had slipped in through the front he bound and gagged the woman, then calmly proceeded to rob the house.

Victim of the robbery Mrs. B. Berenbaum, of 719 Roslyn avenue, told police that a man with a parcel rang her doorbell shortly before noon, Wednesday. He said the package was for Mr. Berenbaum, but on learning that the husband was not at home, asked if he could use the phone to call his office. He walked through the house to the kitchen, picked up the phone, dialed a number.

Then for Mrs. Berenbaum, the terror began. As she stood in the middle of the kitchen facing the man using the phone someone grabbed her from behind, placing a hand over her mouth. The first man pulled out a gun.

Bound, gagged and blindfolded

They pulled her upstairs to a bedroom where she was bound with clothesline, gagged and blindfolded.

They left the room, but Mrs. Berenbaum could hear them rummaging about the house. It was ten minutes before she was able to free herself and rush to a phone to call police. She was now alone in the house.

Mrs. Berenbaum was taken to headquarters to look over photographs, but was unable to identify either of the two.

Exact amount of the robbery has not yet been determined, although it is known that $100 in cash and a large amount of jewelry were taken.

returned from the country. A downstairs rear window had been broken and jewelry, a fur cape and small items taken. Exact losses have not yet been determined.

Another home on Hudson avenue was entered over the weekend, this time through an upstairs balcony window. Again a small amount of jewelry and small articles were stolen. The French goes electronic

Education is now catching up with the electronic age — at least it is at Westmount High School. An ultra-modern French laboratory, installed when the school was built two years ago is currently receiving heavy use.

It is one of a small, but increasing number being used in schools and universities to improve the teaching of modern languages. The system calls for tape recorders at individual booths, for each student.

Pre-recorded tapes or records can be played, or the teacher can talk to the class through an intercom system. Each booth has a set of earphones and a microphone so that the student can listen to the teacher and record without disturbing others, or being disturbed himself.

The usual procedure is for the teacher to play a specially prepared tape on which there is an explanation, and then an exercise. Frequently the tape contains a series of questions or phrases to be spoken in French. The student, with his tape recorder running, listens to the question, which is also recorded on his tape. A blank space follows on the master tape, during which time the student gives his reply. The correct answer then follows on the main tape.

The teacher uses a control on the main panel to monitor individual students, who do not know when their work is being monitored. The teacher can then speak to the student individually through the intercom and make corrections in grammar and pronunciation.

At the end of the exercise, the student can listen to what has been recorded, and compare his accent with that of the teacher. The idea is to enable the student to speak all period, and thus gain fluency and improve his accent.

Of course, with the machines in constant use a great deal of maintenance work is required to keep them in order. The French department decided to ask boys interested in electronics to volunteer to train so that they might look after the machines. An apprenticeship system has now been set up by which next year's crew is trained by this year's and starts its work, under the supervision of the regular crew, toward the end of the year before it is to take over.

The crew looks after the daily chore of erasing all the previous day's work, so that the next class can record on tapes free of previous recordings. Tapes must be removed from the thirty-six tape recorders, erased and put back on. The entire job takes about twenty-five minutes. Teachers leave lists of faulty machines and the apparent trouble.

Many of the necessary repairs are carried out by the crew, so that a professional technician need only be called in every few weeks. In this way, the school saves an great amount of money, and is able to keep its French laboratory in first class condition.

This year's team is headed by Gerald Mack, and consists of David MacRae, Mark Latoni, and Mike Thompson and this correspondent.

Instant stock data story is unfolded by Dave Campbell

Westmount Rotarians who thought they knew all about the latest stock market wrinkles had their eyes opened Wednesday when Dave Campbell explained and demonstrated the magic of the new Ultronic Stockmaster a machine that works on the 'electric brain' principle and does everything but lend you the money to invest.

Looking like a streamlined cash-register the machine instantly answers any one of ten vital questions on 4,000 stocks on the New York, American, commodities and over-the-counter markets and does it at the push of a button.

In addition to the current price quotation, the machine comes up with the correct answers to last sale, bid and asked, current highs and lows, day's total trading volume, yesterday's close, four-quarter earnings, dividend rates and by leaving the button depressed on a stock you can watch second-by-second changes in any phase of the market.

In a few words — the data is fed electronically from the exchanges to the desk of the lucky man who has a Stockmaster in a second — by way of the Ultronic Systems Corporation main computer in Pennsauken, N.J., and via a satellite station in Boston.

Said Campbell: "No tape, quote-phone, wire service or other reporting device can offer so much information on so many stocks so quickly."

The Rotarians were quick to see the advantages of the new method of instantaneous communications and flooded Campbell with questions. He pushed the but-

City plans to lock rink

The two entrances to the Westmount Skating Rink are to be enclosed, completing an operation started last winter when ornamental iron windows were installed around the sides of the rink. It will now be possible to lock up the rink at night and the city plans to dispense with services of the nightwatchman currently on patrol there.

Council this week accepted a tender of the firm of Pollock-McGibbon for the job in the amount of $5,188. Glass walls and doors will be installed, it was reported.

tons and up came the answers — even the correct time.

The renting of the machines in Canada is being handled by Cable-TV, Campbell explained, and all units operate simultaneously. Saving of time on phone calls, he said, gives the customer's man two to three extra hours a day to make more calls and the Stockmaster affords a continuous monitoring service of the market at almost all times.

"It isn't a 24 hour a day service" said Campbell, "but it is in operation 23 hours and 59 minutes every 24 hours. The other minute is used to clear the board — a minute before 10 a.m. daily — and set things up for a new day's operation."

When the members of the club expressed wonder at the electronic device, Campbell concluded: "It seems fantastic today, but so great are the electronic developments coming up that in five years this will seem as outdated as the horse and buggy."

Principal ponders start of local H&S Association

Do parents of pupils at Westmount Park School really want a Home and School Association? If so, what part are they willing to play in it? These are some of the questions now being asked by M. T. Craig, principal of the new school, in a questionnaire sent to parents.

Mr. Craig stresses the fact the Home and School Association is for the parents as much as for the school. "There is no sense in pushing parents into these things if they don't want them," the principal stated. The school is most willing to cooperate in forming a new association if the interest is there. Here, with a new school is a golden opportunity to see exactly what people want.

This is what he is asking: Are you in favor of forming the Westmount Park School Home and School Association? Are you prepared to join it?

Do you think this organization should sponsor activities? If so, would you favor sponsorship of: Pupil insurance? Art Classes? Ballet Classes?

Do you favor fund raising activities? If so, for what purpose? To help less fortunate families? Help for school library? Help finance school trips and activities?

Are you prepared to help if requested?

Would you be willing to: Phone other parents? Donate food? Give your time during the school day? Give your time at meetings? Serve on the executive?

WE SAY

Heat is off
Westmount

SATURDAY night Westmount had the distinction of being sidelined as a target for the lawless element of Montreal — with placard-carrying demonstrators picking on the Place des Arts instead.

And the bomb-placers on the weekend turned their attention to the Catholic School Board.

For a time it began to look as if Westmount was the one big target, but now it appears that those determined to make trouble are no respecters of city boundaries, race, or creed.

It must be disquieting indeed for persons with a sense of justice to read of Montreal's mayor praising the police of his city for their velvet-glove treatment of the demonstrators.

What is needed is a stiffening of the official attitude towards these law-breakers.

It is fortunate indeed that there were not people seriously injured Saturday night when police were required to herd these hoodlums away from the Place des Arts by driving their horses into the mob.

Usually it is some innocent by-stander that suffers.

Campaigning here
is no easy task

THE organizers of the Red Feather Campaign this year have faced some cold, hard facts: individual contributions are small, and are getting smaller each year.

General Campaign Chairman C. F. Carsley admitted recently that Montreal is not an easy city in which to canvass, mainly because it is "the most charity-campaigned city in North America."

All this may be "hitting the nail on the head," but the fact remains that the services provided by Red Feather's 36 agencies are vital to the community, and therefore must be supported "till it hurts."

The goal this year is $2,305,000, and the campaign opens Monday.

To attain this goal, it is apparent that the individual

Sir,

May I say that I find the city of Westmount a most orderly one.

Recently I moved here from another city in eastern Canada, and I am surprised at the speed with which Westmount cleans up the streets and lanes and sidewalks.

Fast as the leaves fall, it appears, they are whisked away — and this is all to the good.

With the autumn rains about to descend on us, wet leaves present a real hazard to motorists and pedestrians alike.

A pat on the back for the department responsible.

Sir,

May I be permitted to take a small portion of your valuable space to express my opinion of the fracas Saturday night at the opening of Place des Arts.

In a word: "Disgusting!"

Those who entered the magnificent building from the south, faced the prospect of a shouting mob of demonstrators lined along the south side of St. Catherine street, opposite the Place des Arts entrance. Those who were anywhere near the intersection of St. Catherine and St. George street at about 8:30 p.m. took their life in their hands as mounted policemen chased placard-carrying

Many Westmounters vaca-

Dentist Rice Moody stopped traffic when he drove his 1907 model which cost about $4,000, and which is priceless today. He stopped off in the Portland area to have the car's headlight repaired.

After several hours of vexation and worry it was replaced by a plain piece of plate glass, but it had to be cut to size and then vented because the car is equipped with gas burning Rushmore headlights. The glass was replaced free of charge because the car attracted so much attention, the repair centre decided with all the free publicity. They had been amply repaid with all the free publicity. The ardent car fan said his Morse gets about 18 miles to the gallon and cruises comfortably at 50 miles per hour.

Notes and Oddities of Westmount

The 1937 EXAMINER this week ran an article entitled "Notes and Oddities of Westmount — 32 Years Ago" taken from the files of the Westmount Advertiser of 1905.

In 1905 it was noted that "the water question seems to have caused no end of argument and concern in the old days. One writer of the Letter to the Editor Class stated "The death rate in Westmount is only 9.66 per thousand. . . . I am not prepared to say what Westmounters drink as a rule, but I do imagine that many of them do not drink Westmount water (except as a mixer—Ed) I do know that one third of its residents are supplied with Laurentian water, not to speak of consumers who boil it. The low death rate is probably due to the fact that they do not drink Westmount water."

In 1905 it was reported that "Mrs. Byers, 4355 Mongrose avenue, sent a parcel of clean and useful magazines to the police station for the constables," and Mrs. E. Starr, of Tupper street sent the autobiography of Thomas N. Doulney, a temperance reformer.

That issue also told of "a most exciting hockey match between the ladies of the Royal Victoria College and Westmount played at the Arena. "The Westmount ladies won 2-1. Mr. Colin Ross of McGill refereed very impartially, but too leniently!"

Construction work on Roslyn completed this week and residents gratefully pulling the cotton out of their ears after a week more of pneumatic drills hammering away. New sidewalks and asphalt roadway in . . . Wouldn't it be interesting for old times sake to install a wooden sidewalk here? Might be quite a tourist attraction too. Motorists at corner of Surray Gardens and Devon observed studying large round disc mounted on a pole in middle of the grass strip. It's an air raid siren not at all like the one atop the YMCA. Floral clock to be taken in for winter perhaps this week. Seems to be keeping better time now.

Are drivers of soft drink trucks a privileged class? It would seem so as they are allowed to park where ordinary mortals fear to dally. One of them was parked on the south side of Sherbrooke at the corner of Claremont on Tuesday A.M. and he was breaking about three laws all at once. (1) He was parked in a No Parking zone. (2) He was parked at least six feet from the curb and so was impeding traffic. (3) He was piling crates of soft drinks on the sidewalk much to the discomfort of pedestrians. If the ordinary motorist pulled such a stunt, he would be plastered with a ticket before his wheels stopped rolling. But these characters are evidently immune. If anyone is interested, the license number on the truck was FJ 7751 and we don't like to give free publicity to these firms but we will say that he could have been CAUGHT!

When the dust cleared away at the Place Ville Marie late last night after the Red Feather parade and extravaganza, there was a bright halo shining above the head of Westmount.

Red Feather chairman Bill Carsley, a local resident, was a key figure at the official level and lent his presence to the platform party in support of Miss Red Feather, as well as expressing the official approbation of the entire show, which continues tonight, and making a last minute appeal for Red Feather support.

In addition, there was further lustre added to the Westmount laurels through the fact that Maurice Mariasine, director of the Unity Boys club was coordinator of the entire display and Unity was strongly represented with its new radio transmitter set up in the Villa Marie lobby, with a booth revealing the versatility of Unity programming and with several acts in the stage-show.

Boys from Weredale House in Westmount set up a booth in the plaza, showing in pictures the operations of their efficient much enjoyed summer camp.

Winter precautions are listed

Fires caused by Canadians are losing more than $120,000,000 in fire damage each year and faulty heating systems cause more than 13 per cent of these fires, according to the All Canada Insurance Federation.

With winter approaching, the Federation, which represents more than 220 Canadian fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies, recommends that the following precautions be taken to insure that your home is not needlessly destroyed during the cold months to come.

Choose only recognized and approved home heating equipment. Have qualified workmen install the equipment.

Keep stoves and furnaces clean and in good repair.

Fireplaces, stoves and furnaces should be insulated to prevent combustion of surrounding walls.

Install metal flashings at points where pipes and chimneys pass through walls or partitions.

Use only clean, first-quality fuel.

Store spare kerosene and similar fuels in a safe place, preferably away from your home.

Use fireplace screens to prevent sparks.

Have chimneys cleaned and checked.

If you doubt the safety of your heating equipment, ask your local fire department for advice regarding inspection.

C. M. Drury, Minister of Industry, hear an explanation of the principle of a new rapid transmission device for use with automatic telephone message equipment. Seen from left are John Rywak, senior scientist at the research labs, A. B. Hunt, vice president, David Golden, deputy minister, Mr. Drury, and E. H. Hayes director of transmission equipment at Norther Electric.

C.M. Drury tours research labs

Hon. Charles M. Drury, cently to Canada's largest of Westmount, Minister of industrial research labora- Industry, paid a visit re- tories, the Northern Electric Company's laboratories at Crystal Bay.

Accompanied by his deputy minister, David Golden, Mr. Drury was welcomed to the laboratories by A. Brewer Hunt, vice-president, research and development. Following luncheon with senior members of the staff, the visitors made a complete tour of the research facilities and saw many vital aspects of ground and space communications.

Among the projects of particular interest to the Minister was a new radio multiplex system which is designed for normal telephone communication and has important defence and export possibilities when paired with new high speed telegraph equipment. Another item which drew close attention was the parametric amplifier, now an indispensable component of radio and radar systems calling for a high degree of sensitivity.

The Minister remarked on the number of projects now dependant on the young and amazing branch of science called "Solid-State". Development of the transistor is an example of this science.

6 Wendy Campbell, 11, tops 6,000 with poem

A young Westmount girl, Wendy Campbell, 11, won a prize of $15.00 from the Junior Red Cross when she wrote a poem about a boy who fell from a roof top and howled so loudly the whole neighborhood could hear.

It all started in the Spring when Wendy read about the Contest launched last May in The Canadian Junior Red Cross Magazine.

This story was told in pictures and she had to put words to them. Instead of taking the easy way and writing out a simple composition, she worked out a poem. It wasn't easy and it took some time, but Wendy looked at those pictures about a boy who sees a parachutist dropping down from the sky. The next series of pictures show that the boy figures he can do the same. He climbs to the rooftop, opens an umbrella, jumps and lands with a bump. From this picture story Wendy wrote a poem.

Well, Wendy said, she is not going to be a journalist, she is going to be a teacher.

Her Principal, Scott Kneeland, of Roslyn School, Westmount, is one of her greatest admirers.

Miss Lorraine How, Director, Junior Red Cross, Quebec Division, presented Wendy with the cheque and Wendy is still thinking of the best way to spend the money.

The Contest was open to elementary grades and was conducted throughout Canada with the cooperation of school teachers. 6,000 entries were received throughout the whole of Canada.

Wendy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barrie Campbell of 26 Willow avenue, Westmount.

Gem club

An evening of films is scheduled tonight for the Montreal Gem and Mineral Club, according to William W. Woodhead, 4955 O'Bryan avenue. The meeting will take place at Redpath Museum of McGill University at 8 p.m.

Regular meetings will be held there every second and third Thursday of the month until the end of the year, it was announced. Final meeting of this season will be December 12.

Mr. Woodhead said that plans for the club exhibition "are leaping ahead." It will be held in the conference room on the mezzanine of the Laurentian Hotel from November 21 to 23.

Unity launches talent search

The Unity Boys' Club of Westmount is currently conducting a Talent Search to supplement its popular International Revue, the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade. Several members of the cast have graduated from the ranks of the Junior Show, some to professional status and others through retirement.

There are openings in the singing department, for musicians and comedians. Musical director Fred Johnston is particularly interested in finding boy singers and Danny Smith, the show's choreographer is searching for boy dancers.

The following members of the Talent Parade are returning for another year — (many have been with the club for five years or more): Triple threat dancing star Judy Matthews will be back, Montreal's foremost junior tap dancer Mathew Velli and his brother Mario are also returning. Eleven year old Elizabeth Walker who thrilled thousands of Montrealers and American audiences with her golden singing voice will combine with her brother Billy for a new act. Billy, incidentally, is the veteran of the group having been with the Talent Parade since its inception some 12 years ago. The Johnson brothers Ricky and Lindsay, George and Jimmy Luker and their parents and Linda and Peter Laxton, the former, a petite danseuse and the latter, a dynamic singing personality. The Junior Rockettes are currently rehearsing a new number — the group includes: Carol Gordon, Sharon Syvret, Lois Moore, Patti Ann

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Fernandes, Wilma Richardson, Christine Henson and Karen Hogan. Others returning are the New Unity Trio, an Instrumental singing group, they are: Georgette Zaccard, Ernie Kirkham and Don Wagner; and the comedy team of Carol Gordon and Patti Ann Fernandes, and the famous Charlton Group.

Most of the group mentioned are appearing at the Red Feather Youth Rally at the Place Ville Marie this weekend.

T.V. THEATRE

It was announced early this month that the club would conduct a series of shows with a television connotation. Jimmy Rice, a student at Sir George Williams University, and attached to the Unity Boys' Club for Field Work purposes, has been appointed Producer of the T.V. Theatre.

The shows are scheduled to begin about the 15th of January. Meetings have already started. Club members who are interested in this phase of the program are asked to report to Jimmy Rice on Friday night.

IN TRAINING

In addition to Jimmy Rice who is starting his second year of field work at Unity, three more students will be attached to the Club for their field work services. All three are first year scholarship students at Sir George. They are: Peter Dawson who hails from Lachine, Quebec, Peter will conduct classes in Photography, leathercraft and electronics. Allan Bechard of Ottawa, Ontario will take charge of Judo classes, soccer and basketball. Gary Repta of Hamilton, Ontario will also be attached to the Physical Department for basketball, baseball, volleyball and track and field. Gary will also conduct one of the many proposed group clubs.

Each student will work a minimum of 18 hours per week. They will be supervised by Chuck Tyler.

MOVIES: The weekly movies so popular with the younger set began its seven month program at the Club last Thursday evening. Miss Marilyn Madden was the projectionist and Lorne Barnewall, was the supervisor in charge. Miss Madden is starting her second year of volunteer service. Mr. Barnewall is returning to Unity for the 12th straight year. Mr. Herbert Davies who was the Club's Projectionist for some 12 years is ill and will delay his return to the Club. At Unity wish Mr. Davies a speedy recovery.

FOOTBALL: The Unity Tidget Football team defeated Terrebonne last Saturday at Westmount Park and now hold a one win and one loss record. The team practices every night at Westmount Park. The next league game takes place at St. Laurent.

THIS 'N THAT: The Club membership now stands at 312. Enrollment for the 1963-64 season started September 3rd. The building is now open every day, Monday through Friday from 1.00 p.m. until 9.00 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9.30 a.m. until 4.30 p.m.

Leaders with specific skills in arts and crafts are still needed. Parents without previous experience are needed for the group club program. The Junior Leaders' Corps is growing. Heather Baylis has been elected President at a special election meeting held recently.

Radio Station VE 2 C U B handled by Mr. Arthur Strange and a group of boys will be at the Place Ville Marie this weekend in conjunction with the Red Feather Focus on Youth. Representatives from the club will also participate in the Parade.

All departments — crafts, hobbies and physical are going ahead on daily, weekly schedules. The Games Room continues to be the hub of activity.

Lots offered for retirement

Paul Southwell, the Hon. Chief Minister of the Caribbean Islands of St. Kitts, Nevis and Anguilla in the West-Indies, has been to Montreal, in order to encourage investment in the islands and to communicate with some Canadians who want to "Get away from it all" to an island of tropical beauty, healthy climate and the most hospitable people.

"We noted with pleasure" said Mr. Southwell, "that Sunny Island Development Corp. has developed lands in the north of Nevis which are ideally suited for a vacation and retirement, and in this connection I am sure that every facility possible will be granted by our Ministry, to achieve this worthy purpose."

He stated that many Canadians and Europeans as well had bought lots on the island of Nevis, through Charles de Barbier who represents "Sunny Island Development Corp." in Montreal.

"I've spoken to some of them," said Southwell. "They're fine people and we have got plenty of room for more."

"Mr. de Barbier is a reliable person and in so far as his proposal meets with Government approval, he will be given every co-operation possible."

"However we don't allow buying land for speculation, and people who are not Canadian or British subjects have to obtain a license for purchasing land in our islands. For buying a few lots the license will be usually granted easily, but in buying bigger areas, careful investigations are made into the proposals and reasons of the prospective buyer."

WHS's new prefect system - it works

By MARCY PELLY

The prefect system at Westmount High works. Although there were complaints from teachers and pupils at its inception two years ago, the system is now established and running to everyone's — well, almost everyone's — satisfaction. As one teacher put it, "The prefect system is profitable for all concerned. It frees busy teachers from routine disciplinary responsibilities, and confers these responsibilities on deserving students. The distinction of being a prefect is an honour for meritorious conduct."

Prefects are expected to be the model for student behavior and dress. They must maintain a high scholastic standard as well as conduct themselves in accordance with all school rules. Usually, the prefects are those students who are active in other facets of school life.

The prefects are divided into juniors and seniors. The seniors students are chosen from grade eleven, and the juniors from grade ten. Once a student has been chosen in his junior year, he is automatically a prefect in his senior year as well. The junior prefects have equal responsibilities with the seniors except that they cannot give detentions to senior (grade 11) students. All the prefects are under the guidance of Mr. Flannagan, Head of the History Department.

The prefects this year are: Seniors: Stephen Abbott, Head Prefect; Michael Chodos, Ronald McJanet, Peter Mikelsons, David Obourne, Courtney Pratt, Stanley Rodier, David Schaffenburg, Joseph Somerfreund, Peter Teller, Andrew Vine, Gregory Wong; Lucy Fellowes, Head Prefect; Sybil Atwood, Susan Anderson, Susan Birnie, Gail Budd, Sherril Caswell, Prudence Hugman, Terry Josephson, Judith Kinghorn, Gail Portnuff, Diane Mills, Helen Sinclair. Juniors: Dwight Druick, William McJanet, Robert Leggat, Ian Patrick, Harold Segalowitz; Hope Andrews, Lynn Buckmaster, Babs Robson, Deirdre Vogan, Elizabeth Weldon.

I conducted a survey in the school to gather student opinion on the effectiveness of the prefect system. From grades seven to eleven, most seemed to concur that the system was especially effective in grades seven and eight. One grade seven boy told me he looked up to the prefects. When I asked if he obeyed them, he smiled and said, "You have to."

There were a few complaints although even these agreed that this system is of value. One boy in grade eleven does not like the idea of some students having more privileges than others. Another does not see their necessity. He feels that teachers should not relegate so much responsibility to the students.

And one grade nine girl came

McGill to honor Miss A. Matthews

Miss Agnes Matthews, immediate past principal of St. George's School is to receive an honorary degree at McGill University Founder's Day convocation October 7.

Miss Matthews, an outstanding teacher and administrator was principal of St. George's for 30 years and was largely responsible for the new school, opened in 1957.

New courses at YMCA set for individual progress

Last week the fall and Winter youth program at the Westmount YMCA got under-way with well attended classes. A number of major changes in the program content were made this year to develop a higher quality program that gives the children an opportunity to progress at their own speed and level of development.

This opportunity for development was successfully demonstrated last winter in the new Advanced Gymnastic program for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 17. The program will take place on Wednesday evening 6:30-8:00 and on Saturday from 12:45-2:15 p.m. It is one for those who have already had a grounding in the fundamentals of gymnastics. Last year several young girls competed, successfully, at the Quebec Provincial Gymnastic Meet.

A Creative Arts and Crafts course is being planned for youth members this year. It will not replace but rather compliment the existing arts and crafts program. Under the competent instruction of Miss Valli Siimo, the members will be encouraged to develop self expression and creativity. The course should teach a variety of things, among them: to gain knowledge and experience in the creative arts; how to express himself; how to make a picture; how various media can be used; how to be aware of objects and life around them and how to be satisfied with an artistic accomplishment. The course will last for eight weeks and is restricted to a maximum enrolment of twenty. Classes are held on Saturday mornings, at the 'Y'.

SKIN AND SCUBA

The Skin and Scuba Diving class, under the direction of David Rennie, are meeting twice a week. The first course lasting till the end of December filled up quickly. There are only one or two openings still available for anyone over the age of 15 who wish to register in the second course January to March. The YMCA supplies all equipment, manuals, films and lectures required to pass the National YMCA's Skin Diving Award and Skin and Scuba Diving Award.

LADIES VOLLEYBALL

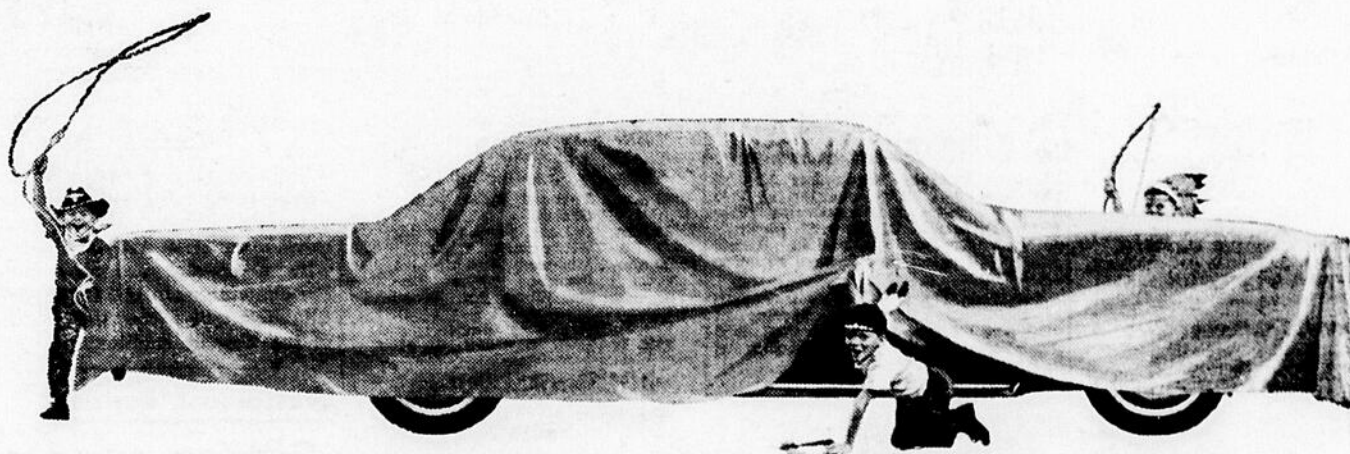

Last year the Westmount 'Y' formed their first ladies volleyball team. The team was very successful ending as the Montreal (Division A) Ladies Champions. Moss Dudgeon, coach, announces practices have begun this week for all ladies interested in competition volleyball. Practices are on Monday evenings between 8 and 9:45.

BRING A GUEST DAY

Tomorrow, Saturday September 28, is bring-a-guest day for youth department members. Members are invited to bring as many guests as they wish to the swimming and gym program. There is no fee charged to guests for these programmes this Saturday.

ruffians and demonstrators.

It is a sad commentary on the state of affairs in Montreal when the opening of such a fine building is marred by incidents of this nature.

Fun may be fun under the proper circumstances, but throwing rocks at policemen, and at police horses, is lawlessness, and deserves punishment to the fullest extent provided in the statutes.

Trouble ahead reader avers

Sir: I am a regular reader of your paper — and I would like to take a few inches of your space to say that I believe the newspapers of this city (the daily papers) are deliberately playing down the danger that is inherent in these stupid student (?) demonstrations.

Latest case in point is the picketing of the Place des Arts opening by a bunch of howling, rock-throwing, insult-chanting hoodlums who tried to turn a cultural event into a farce, or worse.

I spent more than two hours in the vicinity of the Place des Arts Saturday night, because I wanted to see the spectacle of the audience arriving in shining cars, the men in white-tie and tails and the ladies attired in the gay gowns suitable to the occasion.

Instead I was pushed and prodded by policemen who asked me to "move on" whenever I hesitated anywhere near the entrance; I was treated to a howling mob of young men and women chanting insults at those who entered; and finally witnessed a deplorable and disgraceful situation in which a couple of hundred placard-carrying trouble-makers rushed towards the building and were repulsed and scattered by mounted police who threw their horses into the situation as one sees them doing in some parts of the United States where racial troubles are flaring.

Perhaps I should have known better than to try and enjoy a peaceful glimpse of the affair. Next time I'll stay home. Meanwhile, I want to say, there is trouble ahead in Montreal, plenty of it. Mark my words.

EVERY DOLLAR YOU GIVE THE CANVASSER MUST BE DIVIDED 36 WAYS

(That's a problem and a promise!)

The problem is simple mathematics.

In United Red Feather Services there are 36 separate welfare agencies. Each must have your support if it is to continue its work.

That means that every single dollar you give must be divided down 36 ways. A problem, indeed, in these days of increasing needs and rising costs.

The promise is that every dollar you give will work 36 wonders—by enabling the 36 Red Feather agencies to continue their work of helping the poor, the sick, the helpless, the troubled and the afraid.

So, when she calls at your door, be as generous as you can, remembering the problem—and the promise! Remember, too, that when you give to Red Feather, you're not giving to a big impersonal organization. You're giving to people . . . the people of Montreal who need help. This is your chance to help them.

Tour of houses in Laurentians

By Millicent Hickmore

HOUSE TOURS have become very popular with many women's organizations. The price of a tour literally buys a passport to that special sanctum behind the shutters, the iron railings, and the stone facades — someone else's home.

This year, members of the Auxiliary of the Royal Edward Laurentian Hospital are sponsoring a tour of houses and gardens in St. Sauveur and Ste. Marguerite to take place Tuesday, October 1 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Luncheon will be available and is included in the price of the ticket.

This tour will be held regardless of inclement weather. Eleven houses will be on view, five in St. Sauveur and six in Ste. Marguerite. In St. Sauveur they are the residences of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Molson, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Kruger, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Dhavernas, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vaughan, also the Church of St. Francis of the Birds. Ste. Marguerite residences on view belong to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon G. Cardy, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Molson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Biennu, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. A. Campo.

This should prove to be a most interesting tour, photographs show gracious homes, beautiful gardens, patios overlooking lakes, and the proceeds to be used for Hospital equipment.

Mrs. J. Cecil McDougall is honorary founder-president of the auxiliary and committee members for the tour include: Mrs. Leonard Burpee, Mrs. George Daly, Mrs. J. M. Clarke, Mrs. T. M. Galt, Mrs. Robert Connolly, Mrs. K. Archambault, and others. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. J. Malcolm McDougall, 3033 Sherbrooke street, west, Apt. 506.

APPEAL FOR CLOTHING: The Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission, Montreal Branch, appeals for new or good used clothing, hospital supplies and equipment, rayon underwear and stockings to be used for rug making and layettes. These articles are needed for the Labrador Coast. Kindly send donations to St. Andrew's United Church, entrance on 22 Stanton street, Westmount, from now until October 18. For further information please call HU. 6-5414.

THE WHITEST WASH: To a great extent, the "Whitest" white on washday depends on the brightness of the sun, which can cause fading of color, bleaching, or loss of whiteness in clothes drying on the line. Recent tests on the effects of outdoor drying on cotton percales show that white clothes come out whitest if you wait until 11 o'clock to hang them on the line. Fading of colors is less between 9 and 11 a.m., and there's less bleaching in the afternoon, from 1 to 3 p.m.

'The Artist' — the story of a boy's two ambitions

By Millicent Hickmore

"The Artist", a novel by Jan de Hartog, released by McClelland & Stewart Ltd., portrays the hero of the story from an early age, his boyhood fears and experiences. Joosh Jansen, orphaned when a small child, was reared by a widowed aunt, who kept a grocery store. His Aunt Sara was a practical unemotional, although a kindly person.

Joosh's ambition was to go to sea and become a sailor and to make enough money to allow him to fulfill his great desire to paint in his spare time.

His talent was apparent, when he sat beside his aunt in the evenings, while she was writing in her ledger, he would sketch her and anything within sight. Being fond of the boy, his aunt arranged to grant his wish and sent him to a Naval College.

Joosh's life at College is interesting and amusing and the one great event is when he meets an elderly man, Mr. de Neuf, who lived on a houseboat, an artist, and all his spare time is spent on the houseboat.

In later years, realizing his ambition, he owns his own houseboat, a very different one, shaped like a wooden shoe, when he sails to Paris to paint the many historic scenes he had dreamed of painting.

THE AUTHOR

Jan de Hartog was born in Haarlem, Holland, in 1914, son of a Dutch theologian. Mr. de Hartog's name has become a familiar one through the success of the seven of his books already published. "The Lost Sea" — "The Distant Shore" — "The Little Ark" — "A Sailor's Life" — "The Spiral Road" — "The Inspector" — and "Waters of the New World."

14 Westmount's Goldenberg races time to complete Toronto Metro Study

A resident of Westmount is deep in the problems of Metropolitan Toronto, racing against time to present an economic appraisal of the Queen City and environs — while at Toronto city council meetings and Metro meetings he is praised or damned, depending whether the speaker is 'pro' or 'con' the idea of metropolitan government.

He is H. Carl Goldenberg, who has spent 27 of his 55 years wrestling economic problems of Canada's municipalities.

Earlier this year, Ontario's John Robarts selected Goldenberg to be a one-man commission on Metropolitan Toronto, and Goldenberg has promised to have his report in the Premier's hands early in 1964.

Commenting on his appointment at the time, the Westmount lawyer-economist said: "I am inquiring into the structure, organization and future of Metro and consider the appointment one of the most challenging I have ever had."

He has advised on ticklish economic and administrative problems in all but three of Canada's 10 provinces, since his advent into the field of municipal, provincial and federal affairs.

Ever since 1936, when he was named advisor to the Dominion Conference of Mayors, Carl Goldenberg has played a major role in municipal economic and administrative matters.

During the War years he was director-general of economics in the Federal Ministry of Supply at Ottawa and ever since has been active somewhere in Canada as a one-man fact-finding commission.

In 1946, for example, he was selected by British Columbia to do a study on provincial-municipal relations. Two years later he was named by Winnipeg to delve into the question of proportionate costs to be paid by that city and the province of Manitoba towards welfare costs.

Still two years later, while he was working for the Alberta government, Winnipeg called him back to do a survey of its taxation situation.

Those who have carried the ball for the other side when Goldenberg is mediating — he settled the Royal York Hotel strike for example — find that he is a tough customer. You'd better have your facts right. His always are.

Biggest problem in the current problem, Goldenberg says, is the question of municipal autonomous rights.

A member of the Montreal Municipal Commission, he is also vice-president of the General Investment Corporation of Quebec and chairman of the provincial-municipal school taxation board.

Married, he has a son Edward and a daughter Anne.

First of the Four Festivals Quebec Festival Raises Standards

In all lines of education today, problems face the administrators, principals and staffs of colleges, schools, institutions and festivals more than in former years.

WHY? This is a question asked by many and since we have so many improvements in the field of learning — new techniques of teaching — why should there be constant problems?

Perhaps the overcrowding in schools is the reason in that sphere. Perhaps we expect pupils to learn too many subjects. Perhaps they have more outside activities than they can manage. Another valid reason is that a great number watch television too much. This is a known fact.

The 1964 Year Book of The Quebec Music Festivals, Inc., is published and out for teachers to inspect. Claude Deschamps, the general director of the largest music festival (it has expanded to six cities in the Province) said last season the syllabus would be ready in September. This has been accomplished plus some important changes in the rules of the competitive work.

Improvements

The Official Syllabus is a 76-page book with a handsome white cover trimmed in red with black printing. The amendments will certainly prove beneficial since these changes will call for better teaching and better pupils.

For example, the 13 years and under section (piano) has this: "Compulsory class: Sight Reading, No. 1013 — In addition to the Sight Reading Class, the competitor must select a minimum of 2 classes amongst the following: 413, 613, 713, 813, 913. . . . The entry fee for a competitor is $5 regardless of the number of classes he enters. . . . Each competitor will perform all his selections one after the other. He will receive his marks and a critic for each performed piece. He shall compete in the regional final for every class in which he obtained 90 percent or over."

This year's entry fee may sound more than last season which was $2.50 for each class but it is really the same as a competitor MUST enter two classes. Actually it is cheaper for those who enter more classes because if he chooses to enter each of the five classes for the 13 and under age group, it would have cost $12.50 but now it remains $5.

The Sight Reading test (chosen by the adjudicator) will be given to the competitor BEFORE the test pieces are performed. This is an excellent idea because it will make instructors realize the importance of teaching students to recognize the contents of a piece immediately — such as key, time, phrasing, speed and all the other

Hospital plan problems found

Ernest A. Laurin and William Metzger, general co-chairmen of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital's subscription campaign from October 7 to 21, said this week the Quebec Hospital Service Plan has created new problems for the institution.

In a joint statement, the drive leaders declared:

"We now have had two years of experience operating under the Quebec Hospital Service Plan — a plan which has been of substantial benefit to the public but which has not solved the financial problems of the hospital.

"In fact, it has created some new ones."

Borrowing is needed

The Queen Elizabeth Hospital has been compelled, owing to inadequate working capital, to borrow funds in order to cover daily operating costs.

"The interest on these borrowings is a new cost which must be fully paid by the hospital," said Messrs. Laurin and Metzger. "In addition, there are out-patient clinical services, as well as out-patient diagnostic services such as laboratory tests, physiotherapy, diagnostic x-ray, etc., for which we receive no reimbursement."

"There is also no provision under the plan for research — a most important function of a modern hospital."

However, notwithstanding financial difficulties, the past year had been "one of accomplishment." "The full complement of 270 beds is now in operation. Various new clinics have been established and the facilities for emergency and out-patient care have been extended.

"Despite all our problems, we have maintained the high standard of service for which our hospital has been so well known over the past 68 years."

Appeal to friends

The general co-chairmen said that during the two-week drive — the objective is $150,000 — "we are appealing to our friends to help us solve our financial difficulties."

To save expense, the campaign would be confined to the mail.

ingredients that are so necessary to produce a good performance.

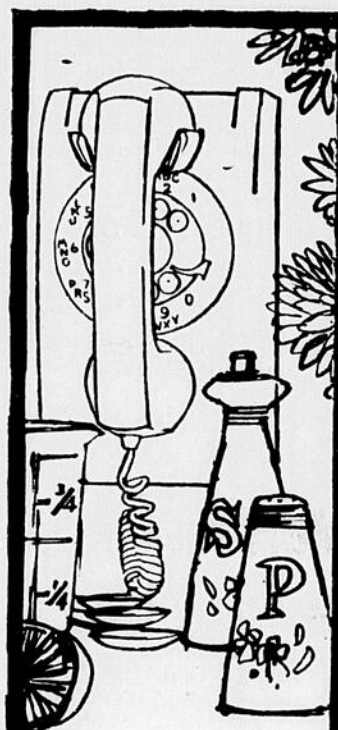

The selections, in some instances, are nicer than last year and as there is a wide choice for each class, let us hope that many students will do good work and be ready to enter this excellent festival that always has first rate adjudicators.

The test take place from April 2-May 3. The closing date for Montreal entries is December 14. This gives instructors and students plenty of time to decide.

A big BRAVO to Claude Deschamps, the Organizing Committee and the Music Selection Committee for such prompt and efficient work.

Badminton registration is open

The City of Westmount Recreation Department Badminton Club, has obtained the use of the gymnasium at Westmount Park School for the coming season, which will get under way on Wednesday, October 2, at 7:00 p.m. and every Wednesday thereafter until the end of April.

Registration is open to Westmount and any persons interested are asked to call the Recreation Department — WE 2-4293 or WE 5-8531 Local 80. Players must supply their own racquets and birds.

Football reunion scheduled

The Westmount Eight-man Tackle Football League is now in its seventh year of operation and Recreation Department officials plan a reunion.

They intend to invite all first year boys who played for the Sooners and Wreckers and the second year boys who comprised the Mules, Bulls, Huskies, and Broncos along with their coaches out for the games on Saturday, October 5 to renew acquaintances.

Water skiing on increase

The interest in water skiing on the part of well-known public figures is a strong factor in bringing even more popularity to the sport, according to water ski manufacturers.

Water skiing has grown steadily each year during the past decade, and about two million Canadians skied in 1962. It is expected that the increase this year will be even larger than in the past.

This prediction is based mainly on these factors:

Water skiing is more "fashionable" than ever, leading more people to try the sport. More "celebrities" have been pictured skiing in newspapers, magazines and newsreels. These include Princess Margaret, Mrs. John F. Kennedy and a number of the astronauts.

This season there will be more boats with higher horsepower outboard engines in use than ever before, and Johnson dealers' reports indicate that most of these larger rigs are used consistently for water skiing.

There is more interest in all participant sports throughout the country. People of all ages who are sincere in their efforts to stay in shape can do so by participating in water skiing.

A continued rise in vacation and leisure time.

More new boating facilities have been opened up throughout the country, making boating and water skiing more convenient for thousands of people. Marine facilities and launching ramps have been improved.

Increased coverage of water skiing competitions by newspapers, magazines and network TV shows has focused additional interest on the sport.

Araujo, Cooper tally; 15 Mules dump Broncos

The Mules continuing a powerful running attack with a hard hitting defensive unit, this week dumped the Broncos by a 30-15 count. In recording their third successive win of the 1963 Season in such convincing fashion, they served notice that they will be a tough team to beat.

Under the guidance of Co-Coaches, Cammy McFadden and Paul Hamilton, the players have responded extremely well. Carlos Araujo the League's leading scorer, scored a pair of touchdowns with powerhouse plunges up the middle. Kevin Cooper scored twice on fine runs off left tackle from ten and seven yards out. Brian Vaux picked off a Bronco aerial and ran the distance for the fifth touchdown.

The Mules fine pass defence throttled the Broncos pass attack, but not before Dave Beasant had thrown a pair of touchdown passes to Steven Bourke and Phil Lecouffe. Other players who deserve special mention for the winners, are Phil Chapman and Dave MacKinnon, while Frank Boleska, Lawrence Jeppesen and Robert Garven played well for the Broncos.

Fernandes sparkes Huskies

In the second game of the morning, Huskies trounced the Bulls 14-1. After scored the Bulls point on a single in the first quarter.

Huskies T.D.'s were scored by Neil Fernandes who was sent on his way by a beautiful key block by Roger Harte, for his first and a romp around right end from the five on his second effort. Harte made both conversions. Jimmy Harbottle played an outstanding two way game for the Huskies and new member Marc Courtois turned in a good game.

George Musto, Wayne Colomb, and Ross Petrie were the best of the Bulls.

George Cotteril tops the Knights

The Knights of Columbus, Resurrection of Our Lord Council No. 4368, held their sixth annual golf tournament at the Wentworth Golf Club on September 18.

A large turnout was on hand as ideal weather conditions prevailed.

Jim Altimas, the tournament chairman, was also the principal speaker at the dinner following the tourney.
