

THE PAPER OF THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS
SHERBROOKE, QUEBEC, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1936.

Bucking broncos and cowboys keynote the one and only Stampede, when citizens of Calgary don western skirts and jeans to re-live the old flamboyant West for one fun-filled week of square dancing, bulldogging, wild horse racing, wild cow milking, bareback riding.

Even Texans admit the Stampede is the world's biggest rodeo. It takes 350 horses, 80 cows, 80 calves, some 50 Brahma bulls and 60 wild steers to stage the daily four-hour show from Monday to Saturday while Stampede scouts scour the west all year for ornery broncos.

Stampede - Prairie Mardi Gras

Twenty-five thousand people, many from States, some from abroad, crowd into grandstand at Calgary's fair grounds to watch the world-famous spectacle. Most of the city's 2900 hotel rooms are booked six months ahead. Others are housed in two thousand-odd private homes, for Stampede officials boast they have never turned anyone away. The crowd is gay in gaudy shirts and Easterners masquerade beneath new 10-gallon hats. Among them are old-timers who recall the first Stampede in 1912, when Calgary was only 37 years old.

Visitors see a three-mile-long parade of Indians, cowboys, Mounties, 20 or 30 bands, stagecoaches and floats depicting city's growth from RCMP post to oil and cattle centre. Excitement of events and crowds of camera-wielding tourists lure 400 Indians to town for what they call The Week.

From youngest to oldest, nearly everyone in Calgary cooperates to make Stampede a prairie Mardi Gras. Merchants put up signs reading "Welcome Pardner." Restaurants put kerchiefs on waiters, hire fiddlers to play cowboy tunes. At one hotel the specialty of The Week is buffalo stew. National Film Board Photos

Chuckwagon race is Stampede's most spectacular event. Covered wagons careen behind straining thoroughbreds in mad figure eight around centre field barrels. Hubcaps lock, wagons crash, horses tangle and pile up. The climax comes on Saturday night, the most thrill-packed race of all, for the driver with the best average time gets a championship trophy. All told, some 500 cowboys compete for about $40,000 in prize money. Champions gross as much as $50,000 a year, for rodeos today are big business, professional entertainment.

Feed troughs, free breakfasts of coffee and flapjacks, Indian pow-wows and hoodowns on the main street every morning add $20,000 to Stampede costs but create a carnival atmosphere. Expert square dancers, mostly Calgary businessmen, mix with crowd to draw shy female tourists into the fun.

Most bronc riders are showmen, professional athletes who hold cards in a union that pays their medical bills when they're hurt, protects their rights but check-reins rowdy behaviour, and makes them file points from spurs to protect the horses. Five legs were broken in 1951 Stampede.

Appearance Of Milan Cemetery Being Improved

MILAN — A big improvement in the appearance of the Winslow cemetery at Stornoway has taken place this summer. The work was contracted by Kelton MacKenzie, of Scotstown, who trucked in the fill for the levelling of the grounds and removed the unsightly piles of brush and boulders. More work remains to be done, such as straightening some of the headstones, renewing a few of the fence-posts and painting the gates. It is hoped that this work can be completed this summer.

The Cemetery Committee is looking forward to hearing from those who have been canvassed to help in paying for this worthy project but have not yet responded.

Mr. Willis MacDonald and Mr. Duncan McLeod are in charge of the work.

Many New Exhibitors On Hand; Horseshow Will Highlight Fair

WATERLOO — The annual three-day Waterloo Fair, the first fall exhibition of its sort, will open here Friday, with many new attractions planned. Highlight of the event will again be the annual horse show, to be held every evening in the arena.

According to Al Grainger, fair secretary, it appears that Waterloo Fair will be bigger than ever this year. Starting off slowly, entries have picked up and show promise of a fair record.

To add to this year's fair competition will be a lot of new exhibitors, which should surely give regular winners a run for their money.

Opening day Friday will have two special features. It will be Children's Day, with free admission and reduced midway rates offered all youngsters.

Friday will also be Ayrshire Day, all Ayrshire breeders from the district invited to show. This is sponsored by the District of Bedford Ayrshire Club, of which Ross Boyd is secretary and according to him it should be a full program.

Saturday will be the big day for Calf Club members when clubs from Brome, St. Valerien, Eastman, Granby and Waterloo will be attending to provide their own judging competition and show.

Set up for the first day, and continuing until late Sunday, will be the fun-packed midway of Green's Amusement Co. The same as in attendance last year, it will have many new attractions, some to be specially designed for the children.

Every afternoon there will be horse races, during which Lucien Dugas' grandstand show from Montreal will perform. The acrobats and clowns will also be seen each night during the horse show.

Arrangements for this year's horse show have again been under the direction of Jay Irwin, of Waterloo. A larger number of horses are expected to attend with many entries coming from Sherbrooke and Montreal and some from the United States.

An entirely new Western Horse show will be presented Friday night which will include all types of Western class, from roping down to bronco-riding. L. Davidson of Newport, Vt., will act as judge for the western show. Saturday and Sunday nights of the horse show will be devoted to jumping and riding classes.

Apart from the stock, farm produce and ladies' exhibits, this year there are several intricate industrial displays. A large number of these from industrialists across the region will make a trip to the main building worth while.

Judges for different classes include: fruit and vegetables, Robert Reid, Hemmingford; ladies' department, Mrs. Gordon Brown, Cowansville; cattle, J. A. Lambert, Sherbrooke; Walter Wright, Granby; Paul Adam, Beloeil, and Jules Brosseau, Sherbrooke.

Nether Brae Ayrshires Will Be Shown At Waterloo

Herd Has Won Many Prizes At Various Township Fairs

WATERLOO — For a woman who claims she doesn't have time for anything but to look after her children, Mrs. Lucille Davis of Fulford has a pretty full job of handling two houses, a farm, four children, a prize Ayrshire herd and several hunters.

It's all in a day's work for Mrs. Davis, the pretty young proprietor of Nether Brae Farm, whose neat modern buildings, are a beauty spot of the district, high on a hill-top overlooking Fulford.

Born in Montreal, Mrs. Davis has been coming to Nether Brae for 16 years. A few years ago she purchased the farm from her father, Arthur Fontaine, and has since spent all her summers there.

Although Mrs. Davis oversees operation of the 230 acres, her capable farm manager, Ross Boyd, lives there the year round.

Raising Ayrshires has been the prime occupation of Nether Brae for over 15 years. They now have 47 classified head, many of which have been champions at several district fairs.

The herd as a whole usually takes top honors at the fairs and has been shown at Waterloo, Brome, Ormstown and Sherbrooke. Individual honors have been gained in the Grand Champion at Brome Fair as well as the Senior Champion there and at other exhibitions.

When Mrs. Davis isn't busy with her farm, she spends time riding her favorite six-year-old horse, Jet. Bridle paths snake through the woods and across the hills around Nether Brae, with a favorite riding route being along the old Sheffington Road.

The old town of Sheffington, within easy reach of the Davis farm, was the first settlement of the district in long-forgotten pioneer days. Overgrown roads and paths there now offer ample possibilities for the ambitious equestrian.

Naturally Mrs. Davis rides her horses at the fair and takes them to many horse shows in the province. This year along with the three hunters she plans to take to Waterloo Fair, Aug. 10, 11 and 12, will go her 20-year-old lead line pony Manon.

As far as Manon is concerned, Mrs. Davis, youngsters are just as keen competitors as she. Four-year-old Jimmie and three-year-old Debbie already have big ideas about what their pony will do at the fair. The 22-month-old twins are a little too young to know whether they like fairs or not, but like the rest of the family, it probably won't be long before they too, will be regular attenders and prize-winners at the Waterloo Fair.

WATERVILLE—

Mrs. Robert Reed entertained the Friendly Christmas Club for the August meeting. Cards were played, Miss Laura Holtham and Mrs. Edward Ball being the prize winners. Mrs. V. R. Holtham received the floating prize. Mrs. Reed, assisted by her niece, Mrs. L. Stalker, served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Stanley Reed invited the members to her home for the September meeting.

Mrs. L. Stalker, of Kingsbury, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Celon Ball.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Marshall were Mr. and Mrs. Owen Williams Jr., and daughter, Dawn, of Hamilton, Ont., Mr. Leslie Rothney, of Dundas, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Marshall and daughter Diana, Mrs. Inez Marshall, of Lennoxville, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman White and daughter Elaine, of Sherbrooke. Miss Greta Marshall is spending a week with cousin, Miss Elaine White in Sherbrooke.

Jerseys, Belgian Pair Highlight Ryan Entry

WATERLOO — Winning fair prizes is nothing new for Shadybrook Farm in West Brome for it's being doing it every year for the past 16. It will be well represented at this year's Waterloo Fair.

B. A. Ryan, Montreal contractor, has owned this picturesque farm overlooking West Brome for 17 years. Aply named Shadybrook, the 600 acres with the large white buildings have become famous throughout the district for registered Jerseys and prize-winning horses.

Earl Marsh, Mr. Ryan's amiable farmer, has operated the farm for 16 years, with the help of four extra men. Much of the success of the establishment has been due to the excellent care and management by Mr. Marsh and his hands.

Shadybrook has been raising Jerseys for 16 years when they started with 10 head. Today the herd consists of 125. They are over 50 milkers, and milk is sent daily to Montreal.

The Jerseys have been shown at Waterloo, Brome, Bedford and Sherbrooke fairs, receiving top honors at each of the county fairs and always strong contenders for Sherbrooke fair awards.

The herd itself has come out on top at Waterloo and Bedford, while Windybrook Pansy Beacon, a four-year-old bull is a champ in his own right, having emerged grand champion senior bull at Brome in 1955, where competition was none too light.

This year, Mr. Marsh plans to take 16 Jerseys as well as six horses to Waterloo Fair. As far as the rest of the fall exhibitions, he's not too certain. Late season has put everything behind time for the Ryans, as well as for everyone else and there's lots to do. However, he confided that as usual they would probably break down and show at all the regular fairs.

Among the prize horses owned by Mr. Ryan is a beautiful Belgian pair, with the farm for seven years. The magnificent 1,800 pounders, both 16 hands tall have been grand champion team at the Sherbrooke Fair for the last three years. Named Rolling Rock Wack and Bella de Farceur, the pair is 11 and 10 years old respectively. As well as being part of the grand champion pair, Rolling Rock Wack has also been the grand champion mare at Sherbrooke, Waterloo and Brome Fairs.

Served Public For 57 Years — Charles E. Wilkin, of Knowlton, is seen above with his blacksmithing sign, which he has removed after 57 years of service to the public. While Mr. Wilkin will be available for the many little repair jobs often so necessary in a rural community, he has retired from the more strenuous work of horse-shoeing. Born in Sweden, Mr. Wilkin came to Canada when he was 23 years old and settled in Winnipeg, Man., moving three years later to Port Arthur, Ont., where he remained for another three years. He spent four years in New Brunswick and came to Knowlton in 1918. In 1946 he paid a visit to his family in Sweden. Mr. Wilkin, who has done very interesting work with wrought iron, will be greatly missed in the horse-shoeing field. (Record photo by Mrs. H. Brereton)
