

Westmount starts radar traffic control

System's aim said to educate not penalise

Starting Monday — after more than six weeks of intensive testing — the City of Westmount will be the first municipality on the Island of Montreal to check the speed of traffic on its streets by radar equipment.

The system is described as a means of educating not penalising and only cautionary tickets will be issued in the next two weeks — except in cases of flagrant violation. Thereafter, the police department will begin issuing traffic court tickets to speeders.

The equipment, operated by a single constable, consists of two separate instruments—a scanner and a recording box which are linked by cable and may be 250 to 500 feet apart. The constable is stationed at the recording device.

The degree of accuracy, a City report states, is extremely high—better than one mile between 20 and 50 mph — and any slight error would be in favour of the motorist due to the drag of the pen on the graphic recorder.

HOW IT WORKS

The equipment works this way: The scanner-transmitter sends out a beam in the shape of a cone to a maximum distance of 175 feet. While the oncoming vehicle is in range of the beam the speed is measured.

The information is transmitted to the recorder and translated onto a graph in terms of miles per hour. The constable also has a meter, which gives him two means of checking the speed of a vehicle.

In full view of the driver of the vehicle, he will have ample time to take a reading from either instrument and apprehend the speeder.

ADVANTAGES

Among the advantages of radar listed by the report are: ability to make more checks than is possible by patrol car; several locations can be checked in a short time; useful for investigating complaints of neighbourhood speeding; and a psychological deterrent to would-be speeders.

The radar speed meter system adopted by Westmount is not new. It has been used to good effect in Ontario. Toronto bought its first set in 1956 and two months later the number of traffic accidents was noticeably diminished.

In the United States, over 500 police departments in 43 states are using radar equipment as major aid to enforcing traffic laws and safe driving.

Westmount City officials are anxious to point out, however, that their action in operating a further speed checking device is intended to 'educate not penalise'.

In a statement to The Examiner, Mayor J. C. Cushing said:

"Law abiding motorists have nothing to fear from radar speed measurements on Westmount streets. The fact is, everyone who has occasion to use Westmount streets, regardless of where they live, will benefit from the introduction of this proven method of discouraging speeders."

"The city Council has authorized the Westmount police department to use radar speed meters for the purpose of safety and no other reason."

"The Council studied most carefully the use of radar equipment by other Canadian and American cities and its decision was influenced by the effect radar had on the reduction of accidents wherever it was used."

"Council simply wants to make Westmount streets safer for people walking or driving."

Some interesting facts are available about radar speed control.

It was first introduced by the State Police of Connecticut in 1947 and was followed in later years by the RCMP in Provinces and municipalities where they are responsible for enforcing traffic regulations and on Federal government roads.

It has been used by Toronto Police for some years. Sixteen units are in operation in the metropolitan area seven days a week.

Though laws differ from place to place, there seems little chance of radar here failing to receive judicial approval.

In the United States a lawyer commented that in the first decision by any court of last resort in which radar evidence was involved, the Supreme Court of New Jersey not only affirmed a speeding conviction but also held the accuracy and reliability of that device to be of such common knowledge as to justify the courts in taking judicial notice thereof."

Police coup helps solve mass thefts

Westmount Police pulled their biggest coup in months recently when they snared two men responsible for a flock of island-wide breakins going back over several months and involving approximately $10,000 worth of goods.

Bernard Desmaisons, 19, of Decarie boulevard and Rolph Leichtweiss, 30, of Lajole street had 13 charges laid against them in the Montreal Court of Sessions, Tuesday, and were remanded for Enquete on March 18.

The arrests occurred February 28 after a housekeeper at 53 Oakland avenue called police with the information that two men had broken in by smashing a side-door window.

As the police arrived the men tried to make a get-away—one of them diving through a closed kitchen window. Sgt. Wood fired a warning shot and, assisted by Consts. Jones and Garrett, took the men into custody.

After questioning by Sgt. Dets. Wylie and Jones of the Detective Squad, the cache of stolen goods — including TV sets, auto tires, radios, mechanics' tools and garage equipment — was found under a staircase at the Lajole street home.

Montreal and Saint Laurent police departments were called in when it was discovered some of the loot came from their districts. Further enquiries by these police departments revealed more of the stolen goods in other parts of Montreal.

P. Norman veterans' president

Patrick H. Norman, 4129 Dorchester street, employed at Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, was recently elected President of the 1,500 members, Montreal Branch, DVAENA, at a general meeting held at the Canadian Legion Hall, 1191 Mountain street, and was installed into office by Mr. W. Hewitt-White, National Executive Secretary.

Other officers elected and installed include: Keith Kendall, executive vice-president, Charles Wilson, vice-president (District Office), Paul Beaulieu, vice-president (St. Anne's Hospital), Alex Laurie, vice-president (QMVH), Mrs. Cecile Charpentier, secretary, Terrance Furlong, treasurer, Laurent Rivard, immediate past president.

Montreal Branch includes, St. Anne's Hospital, Queen Mary Veterans' Hospital, Veterans Land Act and Department of Veterans Affairs, District Office.

Montreal Branch representing 1,500 members in this district, is affiliated with the Civil Service Federation of Canada.

Few accidents occur

Westmount Police Department reported a score of minor accidents over the weekend as the premature thaw ended and road surfaces returned to normal iciness.

None of the accidents proved serious and only one slight injury was reported.

Next week's weather

March 15 to 21

By ERIC NEAL

Generally sunny and mild, then clouding for cold rains and light snow with some wind. Temperature range 25-50°F with 35 sunny hours this week.

Bright into the middle of the week with morning mists and glaze or white frosts and a little snow. Run-off starting, with risk of floods. Winter is releasing its grip.

Mainly sunny and pleasant for the end of the week with occasional flurries and cooling. Exceptionally bright northern light displays will be followed by radio troubles, strong winds and a weather upset.

Club volunteers to be honored

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Volunteer workers of member-clubs of the Montreal Boys' Association will be honored at a Leaders' Recognition Banquet to be held at the East End Boys' Club on Wednesday, March 18th. Four members of Unity's Volunteer Staff will receive awards at the Banquet. They are: Mrs. J. Burrows (5 years); William Semper (5 years); Mrs. M. Mariasine (10 years) and Mrs. D. T. Youngson (25 years). Medals and bars will be presented.

The Unity Boys' Club will be closed on Wednesday evening.

LADIES AUXILIARY CARD PARTY

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Unity Boys' Club will meet on Monday, March 16th, to discuss plans for the forthcoming Card Party which will be held on Monday, April 6th, at 8:00 p.m.

All members of the Auxiliary and new members who wish to join are asked to attend this meeting. No registration fee is required to belong to the Ladies Auxiliary — the Auxiliary provides a service to the Club. Funds derived from the various projects are used solely for the benefit of the organization.

For the past several years the Ladies Auxiliary, through their projects, have donated two sets of drapes, dishes, cutlery, costumes for the Talent Club Variety Show and many other acts of service.

Auxiliary President, Mrs. S. Simmons and her Committee are most anxious to make a success of their proposed Card Party and urgently request assistance from all concerned.

BASKETBALL DANCE

Members of the Club, 15 years of age and over, their parents and friends in the Community, are invited to attend a special dance on Friday, March 20th, at 8:30 p.m. in honor of the Club's basketball teams who have been participating in City Leagues during the past year.

In addition they will bid bon voyage to Unity's Senior Senior Girls' Team who leave the following week for Calgary, Alberta to take part in the Pan American Games Trial which is held in conjunction with a Senior Ladies Canadian tournament. Unity will represent the Province of Quebec. Other provinces include: British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Ontario and Manitoba.

Music will be provided by the "Downbeats" orchestra. For further particulars, please call WE. 2-5506.

CLUB TOURNAMENTS STARTED

Throughout the month of March, a variety of tournaments will be conducted to determine Club Champions in the following activities: Table tennis, checkers, darts, basketball free throw, chess and shuffleboard. Crests will be awarded to the winners.

It isn't too late to enter the tournaments. The age categories are as follows: Midget: 8, 9, and 10; Junior: 11, 12, and 13; Intermediate: 14, 15, and 16; Senior: Over 16 years of age.

BOYS' CLUB WEEK

The first week in April is National Boys' Club Week and the Unity Boys' Club is preparing a series of events in commemoration. Plans are currently underway to conduct an invitational basketball tournament in the midget and juvenile age categories. Entry forms are being sent out to the following organizations: Chambly County High School, Negro Community Centre, St. Jean Matha, Snowdon YMHA, Westmount High School, East End Boys' Club, Point St. Charles Boys' Club, University

Polish surgeon, a year in U.S. looks round—happy to go back

DR. JAN NOWICKI, a prominent Polish heart-surgeon paid a short visit to Westmount recently en route to Europe from the United States. He visited relatives on Victoria avenue and rested after a strenuous year in Minneapolis where he went as an exchange-student, on a fellowship of the Rockefeller Foundation. While in the States Dr. Nowicki practiced heart - surgery and learned new methods which he wishes to introduce to his native land.

Dr. Nowicki, a good looking six-footer of forty-four, was born in Klev and studied in Warsaw, where he graduated from the university as heart and lung surgeon. He works at the Wolski Hospital in Poland's capital, and is an assistant professor of the Anti-T. B. Institute of Warsaw.

The professor speaks perfect English, acquired from a Scottish teacher in Poland, and even a year in the States has not wiped off his slightly British accent.

Relaxing in our city, which he liked in spite of the sloshy weather, the Professor smiled as he

by

answered questions put to him by a curious reporter.

DISCIPLINE

He said, with an amused twinkle in his eyes, that children are much better behaved in his land than in the U. S. or Canada.

The father of three youngsters himself, he believes in discipline rather than psycho-analysis for their insubordination which often leads to tragic results in the juvenile delinquency field. He deplores the T.V. influence on American youth and lack of cultural interests.

Giving his opinion on the people of this continent, he says that they rush too much, and so lost the ability to relax, an important factor in human

IMMIGRANTS TENSE

Widely travelled, Dr. Nowicki finds Polish immigrants everywhere a bit tense, unsettled and restless, as if they were hanging in space, not knowing what they really want. This goes for those living in Europe and on this continent.

He observed that immigrants well-being. In this respect, life in Poland has great advantages.

Apparently Warsawians live better in spite of worse material conditions, they are interested in culture, arts, theatre and music and they read a great deal. These pleasures are accessible to everyone because of the low prices.

DR. JAN NOWICKI

in relation to him, or for that matter to any other visitor from Poland, take a subconsciously belligerent attitude, constantly on their guard and ready to defend themselves if attacked.

"It is understandable, though under the circumstances as it is also understandable that in spite of the purity of language, preserved through 20 years of exile, good pronunciation and accent, they do interject English and French words into the conversation."

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

What about socialized medicine? It has its good and bad aspects according to Dr. Nowicki.

It certainly costs the state a great deal of money, but it is wonderful for the people. Doctors work long hours and very hard.

"But," says the doctor, "I find that they work as hard in the U.S. Some of them stay after duty in the hospitals of their own will and their day's work sometimes totals 16 hours."

Separated from his country and his family for such a long time, Dr. Nowicki is happy to return to Poland and to take with him the experience gained on this continent to his patients in Warsaw.

Hobby Show entries to close next Friday

With closing day for Hobby Show Entries set for Friday, officials are preparing to handle the expected deluge. To date some 50 boys and girls have sent in their advance registration and officials are looking forward to one of the largest entries in recent years.

For the information of The Examiner's readers, here is a brief resume of classifications.

Indoor athletics will include gymnastics and swimming competitions. With entries being received from all gymnastic clubs in the city this part of the show should prove to be the number one spectator attraction.

The Department of Art looms as the biggest in terms of entries with more and more people taking advantage of this hobby every year.

Two scholarships of one year each to the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts will again be awarded to those exhibitors showing outstanding promise in this department. Entries will also be accepted in the fields of Industrial, Commercial, and Fine Art.

The Photography Department has grown the most in recent years and interest to date would indicate that this will continue to be the case as more and more children are becoming interested in taking, developing, and printing their own pictures.

Models, radio work, woodwork, metal work, ceramics, leather work and basketry will comprise the entries in the craft department. Nearly anything a boy or girl makes can be entered in this department.

Pets have an important place in the show and proud young owners have their day in the sun each year on the Saturday afternoon of their Easter vacation.

For those youngsters who consider chess, checkers, cribbage, or table tennis as their hobby the show proved a chance for them to test their skill in games.

Amateur collectors (and what boy or girl isn't) can choose categories ranging from stamps and coins to rocks and scrapbooks and match covers. Whatever is collected can be exhibited.

For the young housewife there is a Department of Household science with cooking, sewing and knitting providing the bulk of entries. Boys have also found an opportunity to match their talents in this department and by and large they manage to take home their share of ribbons each year.

The department of music and entertainment provides perhaps the greatest diversity of entries as children only compete in the fields of instrumental music, dancing, public speaking and composition.

Wednesday evening, April 1st at the Westmount YMCA the music festival will be held and spectators are welcome.

The Penmanship and literature department aimed at encouraging the adoption of English as a hobby. Competition is open in the fields of poetry, essays, short stories and book reviews writing and it is hoped that a large number of children will compete.

Anyone interested in further information is encouraged to phone Jim Hawkes at the Westmount YMCA WE. 7-3916 or to phone one of the members listed in the Hobby Show Booklet.

Dangerous fire quelled Sunday

Westmount firemen quelled a potentially dangerous blaze which broke out in a home at 571 Grosvenor avenue at 9.15 p.m. Sunday.

It roared up from a gas-fired fireplace and had started in the roof space when firemen arrived on the scene. They managed to confine it to the roof which began to sag dangerously shortly after.

Three streams had the blaze under control by 11 p.m. and the crews returned to the station at 1.30 a.m.

WE SAY

Westmount strikes new safety blow

RADAR — for safety and nothing else — goes into effect here Monday.

When police vehicles are forced to chase speeding vehicles at high speed, an additional hazard is caused — and this is what Westmount wants to eliminate.

Law-abiding motorists have naught to fear from the contraption, Mayor Cushing said yesterday in commenting on the installation. Everyone who uses the streets, he said, will benefit from the introduction of the new and proven method of reducing speed on the streets.

The equipment is accurate, too. Any error, the police say, would be in favor of the motorist, and would be caused by the drag of the pen on the paper — but even this is only one mile in fifty.

Rink dividends are piling up

WHILE some of the aesthetes are not too happy with the exterior appearance of Westmount's artificial ice rink — the athletes are highly gleeful.

Here it is the middle of March, and another six weeks of hockey and skating are still possible.

And the local officials are reaping high praise for the manner in which they have taken care of their own. There has been a wealth of hockey and skating for anyone who lives in the city, and it has been free.

Handling the rink must be an added chore for the parks department, with all their other winter work, but it has been a rewarding one from the skaters' and hockey-players' point of view.

Watch small tots on the thin ice

WITH spring's melting snows, some vacant lots fill with water to a dangerous depth — dangerous especially for the younger tots.

A warning from parents at this time, and an eagle eye by adult passers-by will prevent a possible tragedy.

Children who have been playing in a field all winter may not be aware of the danger when water builds up under their playground — and they may be in over their depth with help too far off to save their lives.

Organize parents Levenson urges

SAM Levenson, who frequently enters local homes in the role of a TV comedian, told Northmount Home and Schoolers on the weekend that parents should unite to lay down the law again to children.

He put the finger right on the home, in finding the blame for juvenile delinquency. We couldn't agree more.

Too much money, a car, adult privileges are some of the things he saw as causing the trouble.

We have to say 'no' to children, said Sam, because we love them.

By the way . . .

The influence of Dr. Strabismus (Whom God Preserve) of Utrecht on our national life is increasing. Every week I receive cuttings describing queer inventions, and they are always attributed by the correspondents to the sage of Wagging Parva.

His methods of research are also being used. The other day it was announced that some people are more affected by the noise of aircraft than others, because they are more sensitive to noise. Strabismus long ago put it more simply when he wrote: "People who hate noise, hate noise more than people who don't mind it." There followed eighteen pages about decibels and semi-decibels.

An article on bores says that it is impossible to stop them talking. There is one way. Outbore them. Thus: — "Excuse my interrupting you, old man, but my aunt,

Examiner Profile:

Realty is his business

By CYNTHIA JONES

GENIAL, shrewd Lew Kozlov immigrated from Russia with his family at the age of six to become one of the top real estate and business brokers in Montreal.

At 59, the green-eyed, pipe-smoking president of three different companies can look back to the past achievement of being largely instrumental in the development of the Snowdon, N.D.G., Cote Saint Luc and Saint Laurent areas. At the moment his "big baby" is St.

eye on the South Shore which, he predicts, will rise to great industrial heights. "The St. Lawrence Seaway is my pet project," he said. He's interested from another angle. An avid sailor, he intends to travel the seaway in the 30-foot, custom-built yacht he keeps moored at the Lord Reading Yacht Club, of which he has been a member for the past 10 years.

For the City of Cote Saint Luc he plans nine apartment buildings at $300,000 each in the vicinity of the new recreation centre and City Hall within the next two years. "There will be 32 family apartments in each building which will go at average rents," he said. An average rent for Montreal, in dead, and two of whom, Ben and Bill, are his business associates. His sister is married and living in the city.

His father began manufacturing caps and hats in Montreal. Lew Kozlov attended Alexander school and Montreal High School. He worked for his father until 1924, then tried the real estate business in New York where he married a business girl, Mildred Kalish, in 1925. In 1927, the year his father died, he returned to Montreal and started a business brokerage, buying and selling businesses of every description ranging from beauty parlor to aluminum.

In 1939 Lew Kozlov and Company, was formed the firm being incorporated in 1954. The company deals in investment properties — commercial, industrial, residential — and in land — subdivided and farms. "I made the big switch to real estate in 1941 and gave up the business brokerage in 1954," said Mr. Kozlov.

Management

Another company, Lew Kozlov Realities Limited, is a real estate agency which handles the properties of others on a commission basis. A third company, Lew Kozlov Building Services Limited, has 78 buildings under management. "We have two motels in Plattsburg," he added.

Lew Kozlov probably sells more new homes in the Montreal area than anyone else. "In 1958 we sold an average of 100 homes per month," he said. The average price was $15,000. Mr. Kozlov says that families should be able to get a very nice little house in the suburbs for a down payment of $2,500.

He and his wife live in what he describes as a "quaint little bungalow of eight rooms" on Circle Road. They have one married daughter, Benita, 21, who is Mrs. Irvin Durbin.

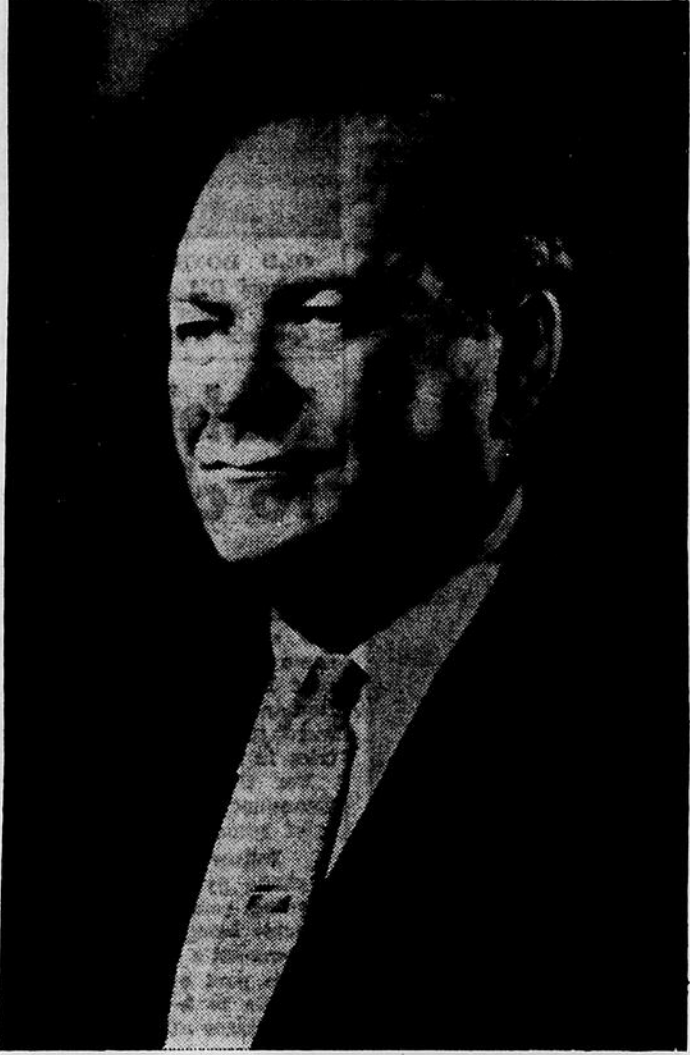

Well travelled

Five foot, eight and one half inches tall, Mr. Kozlov weighs 190 pounds. Until a few years ago he did a lot of riding and swimming. He is a Mason and a member of B'Nai Brith, a governor of the YMHA, the Jewish General Hospital and the Hospital of Hope. He also is a member of the Montreal Board of Trade, the Quebec and Montreal Home Builders' Associations, the Montreal Real Estate Exchange and the Real Estate Brokers.

On the wall of his office there is a framed testimonial, stating that in 1958 he had been placed on the State of Israel Scroll of Honor for outstanding devotion and distinguished service in helping to speed Israel's economic development through the mobilization of investment capital through the issue of state of Israel bonds.

Would he ever have liked to have settled any other place than Montreal? "This is the city I love, this is the city where I belong and where I intend to stay," said Mr. Kozlov emphatically.

Next week's profile by Miss Jones will be on Dr. Joseph Russel Dean, a country doctor who lives in the city.

Trip to Europe

During an interview in his busy offices at 400 Ontario street west, Mr. Kozlov said he is trying to adopt a more leisurely attitude to life. For many years he did much of the "groundwork", hopping off to Europe and South America in the line of duty, but now he leaves this to his 70 odd employees and travels for his own pleasure. He and his wife are off in May on a European jaunt and they plan to visit Israel for the first time. "We are skipping Russia," he laughed. "I wouldn't be very popular there because I am supposed to be a capitalist."

Mr. Kozlov said he was born, the son of Samuel and Sonia Shaps Kozlov, in Ekaterinosloff, a city on the Baltic which has since changed its name to Dneporstoc. He had four brothers, two of whom are DIANE SCOTT, Columbia avenue, is the owner of a beautiful, peach-colored poodle named Kipper. Kipper came from the famous kennels of breeder Audry Laurie, of television program "Sign On". It seems the most difficult thing in grooming a poodle is to get the top knot to look right — most of the time when it is done at home, a top knot looks like a bowler hat, or square.

Mrs. Douglass Burns Clarke, Saint Catherine Street, mother of Barbara, Westmount High student, and Hugh, Westmount Junior High student, is herself a Second Year Arts student at Sir George Williams College. Her courses this year are Sociology and World Literature—and incidentally, the latter is being taught by her husband Douglass Burns Clarke, Registrar and vice-principal at Sir George!

Judith Brown, Holton avenue, and Lillian Swirsky, Olivier avenue, shared honors in the McGill Players Club's presentation of "Experimentals 59"—four one act plays written by McGill students. Miss Brown appeared in "The Bondsman" and "A Matter of Faith". Miss Swirsky was in "The Way to See" and "Peril of the Goo-Goo".

Twelve residents of Westmount are on the slate of officers of the Royal Commonwealth Society for 1959. They are: Mr. H. C. P. Cresswell, Lt. Col. John R. Gale, President—The Rt. Hon. Lord Shaughnessy, Lt. Col. R. H. Dean, P. L. Hall, Donald Angus, S. D. Denman, W. Ashley Edwards, Maj. Gen. R. O. G. Morton, John H. F. Turner, A. S. Keller, Grant Smart.

Mrs. Richard E. Bolton, Montrose avenue, has been elected second vice-chairman of the Westmount Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal General Hospital. The branch supplied Hospitality Corner with 146 knitted articles valued at $517, of which $258. worth was due to the outstanding work of one member. The sewing group made 100 ditty bags, and completed 1,364 articles of sewing for the hospital of which 1,200 were for the nursery.

Mme. Rose Goldblatt, Elm avenue, in a recital of piano works of the Montreal members of the Canadian League of Composers, at Redpath Hall, McGill University, recently, performed a composition by Alexander Broff. At one time he dedicated a composition to her entitled "Rose Goldblatt".

Students of Westmount Junior High School are hard at work on the "Saucy Hollandaise", an operetta scheduled to be given on April 16 and 17.

Dr. Albert Moll, Strathcona avenue, recently attended the annual "Report to the Public" session at the Allan Memorial Institute of which Dr. Ewan Cameron is director. In a review of studies on memory deficits in aging people, they are classified into two groups. The first, rather mild, when the elderly person could not sometimes recall relatively unimportant pieces of information like names and dates, though these could be recalled later. Rockhounds' field-day at Gem Club show

By RAE RESNICK

Rockhounds will have a field day when the Montreal Gem and Mineral Club hold their two-day exhibition in Victoria Hall, March 20th from 6 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. and March 21st from 2 p.m. to 5.30 p.m. and 7 to 10.30 p.m.

R. G. Britton, of 140 Irvine avenue, president, will exhibit cabochons (domed stones without facets, made out of agate) and his mineral specimen collection which is one of the biggest in this province.

In Mr. Britton's collection, over 10 per cent of the world's known minerals are represented. He has 257 varieties of minerals in addition to duplications of the same mineral from different parts of the world.

Although some of the 55 members of the club are jewelers and gemologists, the collecting of mineral specimens and the making of cabochons is a hobby with all of them.

EXHIBITORS

Among the exhibitors will be Dr. Hans Lehmann, psychiatrist, who will show his collection of uncut gem stone specimens; Hans Gehrig, a silversmith, who will show his collection of minerals and silver mounted jewelry; Rolland Chenail, a French TV actor, will display his collection of agate which he found in Perce, Gaspé; Jean Baulu, of Girouard Ave., CJMS program director, will contribute a mineral display; George Brooks, a jeweler, will show gold and silver mounted jewelry and a fine collection of cabochons; Albert Ein, of Vendome, gemologist, will exhibit cut emeralds, diamonds and sapphire; Ernest Windish, a prospector, will show fluorescent and mineral specimens; R. M. Reilly, an electrical contractor, who will show minerals as will Frank and David Maclean.

Mr. Britton's collection started as a result of illness after which he was told to get a hobby. While in the country, he found pretty stones which intrigued him. He read up on mineralogy and met several fellow enthusiasts who decided to start a club two years ago.

MANY FACETS

Although there are three sides to the hobby — collecting mineral specimens, cabochons and faceting — most members of the club go in for only the first two.

The making of cabochons starts with lapidary work. First the stone (the mineral specimen in the rough) is cut with a diamond saw. Then the specimen is ground on a wheel, sanded down on a special disc sander and polished on a polisher.

With this equipment, Mr. Britton makes ash trays out of marble, jewelry out of agate and mosaic marble tables. He can do anything but cut diamonds with it.

Members of the club spend the winter cutting the rocks they picked up the previous summer during field trips, some of which they took to the dumps of abandoned mines or specimen-hunting in the Laurentians.

The exhibition, which is open of 500 during last year's one-day to the public, had an attendance affair.

Education Week - IV

By

The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

I may have given the impression in the past three articles that I consider education a matter of books. That would be completely wrong. The best part of our education does not come out of books at all. It consists in simple observation of the world around us.

It is often said that boys and girls who come from the country rise rapidly in their professions when they come to the city. Perhaps the reason is that they have unconsciously had a broad education — broader than text books or T.V. They have learned from the world around them.

A few days ago I had an illustration of this. I was walking west on Terrebonne looking for Starnes avenue. I knew it opened off Cavendish but did not know whether it was north or south of Terrebonne. I met a pleasant looking High School girl and asked her to direct me to Starnes. Her reply was brief:

"Never heard of it." I crossed the street to a group of six High School girls and asked the same question and got the same reply: "Never heard of it." I turned north and went into a store on Somerled and was directed to go south on Prince of Wales. But being a cautious traveller I asked a boy delivering papers. His reply was equally curt: "I don't know." Then I looked up and 100 feet in front of me was Starnes avenue. Every one of my young people had been within 100 yards of my quest.

Let me use for contrast a country story. I set out one day with a lumberman and his team to get a load of stone. We were to pick up another man with a single horse but as he did not turn up we went on alone. I noticed my driver watching the road and asked what he was looking for. He said: "I'm looking for the tracks of Jack's horse." So I watched too, and saw single tracks in the middle of the road and pointed them out: "Would those be Jack's horse?" The driver was contemptuous: "Oh no; those are the tracks of Mrs. Henry Smith's bay mare. The mare has never been shod on the hind feet, while Jack's horse is shod on all four feet for village use." That man had been brought up in the school of observation.

That is why Scouting and Guiding are so important. They take us out of doors, or they should. A day spent in listing the various kinds of trees in a given area would be quite as useful as a day spent in learning algebraical formulae, though I admit that the examination value is not so high. If we revise our school systems it might be wise to revise in the direction of observation. After all, Sir Joshua Reynolds, as quoted by Charles Williams, said many years ago that "common observation and plain understanding" are the source of all art.

Calvary Cubs, Weredale Scouts at Church parade

A successful Church Parade took place on Sunday, February 22 at Calvary Church when the Weredale House Scout Troop, led by Scoutmaster Harry Wilson, and Calvary Cub Pack, under the leadership of Miss Audrey Coxon, attended the service, in honor of the birthday of Lord Baden-Powell, the Founder of the Scout Movement.

Scouts in the Color Party of the Weredale Troop were: Albert Wells and Donald MacDonald, Flag Bearers, and George Carpenter and Michael Dupont, Guards.

Stephen Burt read the lesson and he is to be commended for the excellent way in which he read it.

The Cubs in the Paok Color Party were Charles Joyner and Donald Burton, Flag Bearers, and John Greevy and Peter Tarieff, Guards.

The Bible was carried by Cub Courtney Trenholm.

Sixer David Henson, on behalf of the Mothers' Auxiliary and the Cub Pack presented to Rev. Plaskett, 50 Hymn Books to be used in the new Macaulay Chapel.

Every Scout and Cub deserves to be commended for his Scout-like behavior on this occasion.

Church alterations set

Plans are being prepared for alterations to the interior of Melville Presbyterian Church, Melville avenue. Architect preparing the plans is K. R. Blatherwick, 3212 Mercier avenue.

Westmount Baptist

The ordinary man is puzzled when a Christian says "Man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him for ever." What does it mean to glorify God, is it an endless procession of psalms, hymns and prayers or are there additional practical things that one can do to glorify God.

Can the housewife glorify God in the kitchen, the secretary with her typewriter, the business executive or factory worker in their spheres, or is it some specialized task for the privileged.

The minister, the Rev. E. J. Bailey, will speak on this subject under the title "The Meaning of Life" at the morning service at Westmount Baptist Church and at night will speak on the question "Are you a Christian?"

The Lenten School of Religion concludes on Wednesday night at 8:00 p.m. when thanks will be expressed to Dr. C. P. Martin and Miss Margaret Quigley for their help, and tea will be served at a fellowship period. All are invited.

Jews celebrate Feast of Purim

Purim, the merriest of Jewish holidays, occurs on Tuesday, March 24. The observance is based on the story in The Book of Esther in the Bible. Haman plotted to destroy the Jewish people sensing that the Jewish faith was hostile to dictatorship. His plot was thwarted through an act of patriotism on the part of Mordecai and by the courageous intercession of Esther, Mordecai's cousin, who becomes Queen of Persia is the story line of the Biblical volume.

On Friday Evening, March 20 at 8.15 o'clock, a special ritual and the Reading from the Megillah (Scroll of Esther) will be observed in conjunction with the Sabbath Eve Worship. Rabbi Dr. Harry J. Stern will preach on "For Such A Time As This."

Purim Soudah: On Tuesday, March 24th at 6:30 p.m. in the Community Hall, the Festival of Purim will be observed in a traditional manner. The Megillah will be read in the Main Synagogue, on Monday, March 23rd. Following the Purim Soudah, a colorful musical operetta will be presented by pupils of the Hebrew Religious School, under the direction of Mrs. B. Elman and Mrs. M. N. Fineberg.

Purim Masquerade and Carnival: A Purim Masquerade will take place on Sunday, March 22nd at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Hall. Every child will receive a token prize. Following the Masquerade, all pupils parents and friends are invited to attend the Annual Purim Carnival in the Playroom of the School Building.

Spring is Almost here... and the skiing's still great Arlene Israel of Westmount and Herb Weiss of Montreal at The Chalet in Lake Placid.

Doreen Kelly, Jack Masterson and Anita Lafleur of Montreal at The Homestead, Lake Placid.

Reports coming in from the Laurentians, the Eastern Townships, Vermont, New Hampshire and upstate New York are all tinged with the same theme.

There's lots of snow, and there will be for some few weeks more to come.

From Gil Gratton and the Cuttles at Mont Tremblant, and the folks all the way down route 11 to Montreal, the word has it that nothing but white and inviting gold blankets the trails and slopes to entice skiers and sunshine addicts at this time of season.

Pierre Rodier and Bernie Flanagan, doing a little shilling for the Mont Tore lift near Ste. Adele, explain with great degree of satisfaction that during the past seven day period the tow has enjoyed the biggest week-day business since its existence.

Mont Sauvage has similar tidings to offer. And, the area around St. Sauveur is booming.

At Stowe in Vermont, innkeepers and operators who at this time last year were singing the "poor business" blues, are praising the weatherman from the treetops for a bright and bountiful season.

North Hatley and Orford in the Townships are spilling over with skiing vacationists, and so are North Conway and Franconia in New Hampshire.

Before it's over we're likely to try a few strokes at Lake Placid or Wilmington ourselves. Spring skiing is great, especially with the sunshine that goes with it.

WHO IS THE ENEMY ?

Many people are so sensitive to some substance that they are affected to the point of having a skin rash, hay fever or digestive upsets. The condition is known as an allergy and it may be something that is touched, inhaled or swallowed. Some of the allergies may cause a very annoying and painful skin eruption or some form of asthma. It is sometimes difficult to discover the substance that causes the trouble so, at any symptom of sensitivity, a doctor should be consulted.

JUNIOR MUNCHAUSEN

When most parents discover that their child lies, they are shocked at the new problem. They must realize that the youngster needs special guidance through this phase. He may tell untruths because he lives in a world of his own, where his imagination is stronger than reality, and exaggeration creeps in.

He should be given to understand that his stories are re-

Gala carnival at Val Morin set tomorrow

The new Summit Sauvage Ski Hall at Val Morin, will be the scene of a novel and colorful Spring Ski Carnival commencing at 2 o'clock tomorrow. Many entries have already been received from youthful ski enthusiasts from Westmount.

The opening event, starting sharply at 2 p.m. will be a Slalom Race, open to boys and girls, men and women.

The course will be set by Malcolm Lloyd, well-known ski school director.

The second event will be an Obstacle Race in which the contestants must be dressed in costume. Prizes to the winners will be presented from the gallery of the Summit Sauvage Chalet by the committee chairman immediately following the Grand Costume Parade. There will be a special award to the best costumed boy and girl; also for the most original costume.

The evening program will commence at 7 p.m. with the showing of ski movies in the chalet. At 8 o'clock the Torchlight Ski Parade will commence.

Around the huge bon-fire the members of the Feu de Joie Ski Club will give an exhibition of folk dancing, followed by folk songs. Music will be available for square dancing. The 'carnival is sponsored by the Feu de Joie and Summit Sauvage Ski Clubs.

Two Brothers with but a single thought!

HARRY LABE

SAM LABE

From eight tables and some potted palms overlooking Dominion Square on Windsor street fourteen years ago, the Labe brothers, Harry and Sam, parlayed the enterprise into two of Montreal's better eating institutions.

We refer, of course, to the Windsor Steak House and their recent acquisition La Roma Cafe higher up on Peel street.

Here in the column, providing nothing goes amiss in the composing room, readers are invited to view pictorially the brothers Labe suitably adorned in head-gear attesting to their rank as caterers and hosts to the whims and caprices of Montrealers on their dining expeditions.

Which naturally includes, too, our fellow citizens with bibulous bent or intent.

Frankly, we doubt very much whether either of the freres have ever toiled too strenuously over a hot kitchen stove, but you have our assurance that in overseeing and supervising the operations which go to make up the agreeable features of "off the range" supping, few can equal their accomplishments in satisfying the appetites of our town's gourmets and gourmands. (Depending on which way one holds a dictionary.)

For the benefit of those who haven't been paying close heed, we'll repeat the names: the Windsor Steak House on Windsor street and La Roma Cafe on Peel street.

And, so that visitors from Toronto won't be confused, may we also add that both byways are one and the same.

Let's Play Chess

The psychology of good chess

By M. MOSS

Whilst examining the book "Lessons From My Games" by Reuben Fine, we came across a few paragraphs which we thought would be of interest to our readers. The chapter in which these are found is headed: "The Psychology of Good Chess" and reads as follows:

"Unevenness is characteristic in chess much as in other contests. The world championship baseball teams play magnificently one day and may be almost unrecognizable the next. Of course, chess masters differ considerably in this respect, some are much steadier than others. At his best, Capablanca could play through a whole tournament without any errors. Laker, on the other hand, frequently slipped but had developed to a fine art his capacity for getting out of uncomfortable positions.

"Chess, like other games and contests, is an expression of the aggressive drive which has a normal sublimation the pleasure in winning. In the upbringing of the man, it takes a long time to keep this pleasure within acceptable bounds. Boys do not learn "fair play" overnight. They bully, act sadistically, cheat — or, on the other side, turn coward and run — quite often they have reached a certain level. This process leaves many traces in the adult, who then displays all the variability about which we have been talking.

Following are the results of the first round of play:

Class A
Knapp	1 Matthal	6
Joyner	1 Shilov	0
LeBel	1 Wreschner	0
Baikowitz	1 Judzentavicius	0
Cayford	1 Levart	0
Engallicev	Bve	0
Class B, Section 1
Kajdi	1 Roussat	6
Deagagne	1 Talbon	0
Miss Robertson	1 Carrol	0
McKannon	1 Rubin, P.	0
Maktra	Bve	0
Class B, Section 2
Rubin, R.	1 Brukar	6
Rubin, J.	1 Morrison	0
Shaefer	1 Kaufman	0
Nason	1 Joly	0

"If we wish to analyze the style of any chess player and its connection with his personality, we have to know in the first place the history of his conflicts around aggression, and how he resolved them. Alekhine, for instance, was a highly sadistic individual who had no qualms about hurting other people. Thus, his play was affected to the point that he not only loved

MUSICAL Sharps, Flats and Naturals

Delinquency in music

PART III

By Frances Goltman

THE DELINQUENT MUSIC TEACHER, THE DELINQUENT PARENT and now the delinquent music student. What is a delinquent music student? He is one who takes lessons and does not progress. No results for several reasons. He does not practise. Who is to blame for this? Certainly not the child! The parents and the teacher . . .

in fact the parents are more at fault than the instructor. Any child would rather play than work and practising all by himself requires concentration and IS work.

LOTS OF CHILDREN do not enjoy doing their school homework and often shirk it only to bring home a poor report which brings the parents into a state of resentment. Resenting the fact that their friends might hear about Johnny or Jane's low marks through other pupils in the class, they feel slightly ashamed and immediately insist that the child buckles down to work to get a higher per cent.

WOULD THEY DO THAT with music? They should but they won't. Many parents think it is up to the teacher to make their child practise. The instructor gives the lessons and sees the pupil usually once a week. A thorough teacher details complete directions on how to practise and it is up to the parents TO INSIST that these assignments are fulfilled. There would be fewer delinquent pupils if this were the order of the day.

CO-OPERATION IS WHAT helps to destroy all delinquency. TEAMWORK. A smart pupil can NEVER become a music delinquent if parents begin right — see that his first habits are good ones, that he continues practising as one of his daily activities at a regular time.

GOOD HABITS are formed when children are young and these will remain. Everyone likes to be praised when he does well and no child will become a delinquent in music or any other subject who is encouraged through the combined interest of parents and teacher.

AGAIN MANY THANKS to those readers who have shown interest in this series by telephoning. F.G.

Sure way to irritate people is to talk about yourself

By MILLICENT HICKMORE

"Manners are to make us endurable to each other", said Maxime Berlitz Vollmer in her address to the members and guests of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club at the Charter Day Luncheon in the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel on Friday.

Mrs. Vollmer of New York is a granddaughter of the famous Maximilian Berlitz of the internationally renowned Berlitz School of Languages, in Paris.

Possessing a great deal of his talent and wit she greatly amused her audience by telling them "how to lose friends and irritate people". This is achieved by rudeness, thoughtlessness or just plain meanness, she explained.

"The best way to insult people", she said is mere name calling, in France, calling a person a camel is considered a great insult, and here in America", she continued, "one often refers to the insect world, a flea, a mosquito — but when you get down to calling someone a louse — that is plain ornery". "And calling a person a dog is no great insult — everyone loves a dog", she remarked, "but when you use the female of the species — that really irritates people".

Then another way to lose friends is to talk about yourself — describe your operation to the smallest detail or point out all the attractions of your new automobile. Grandmothers too can irritate people, bragging about their wonderful grandchildren. Mrs. Vollmer cited an instance where a grandmother accosted an acquaintance saying "I haven't told you of my grandchildren have I?" And the acquaintance replied, "No you haven't and I certainly do appreciate that".

QUALITIES THAT IRRITATE

A survey was taken recently in the United States to question the qualities that most irritate people. First on the list was the hostess who insisted on a second helping at a dinner party. Second, high pressure selling; third, the showoff; and fourth, people who make noises in theatres.

"Men", Mrs. Vollmer said "can't get ahead of women when it comes to nasty remarks".

"Manners", she summed up "might be considered 'surface things' but one of the most important in getting along with other people". "Artificial good

CO-CHAIRMEN of The Carousel Ball, to be held in The Queen Elizabeth Hotel on April 17, compare notes with Mrs. J. A. Woolven, centre. Mrs. Woolven was co-chairman of the Inaugural Ball held at The Queen Elizabeth last year. As in the case of last year's

Jury hung at Carousel Ball trial dinner

By LOU MILLER

A group of selected guests Wednesday had the privilege of playing judge and jury in an epicurean fashion to select the menu to be served at the $100 per couple Carousel Ball taking place at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel on April 17.

All proceeds will be in aid of the Montreal Children's Hospital and St. Justine's Hospital. The hotel is footing the bill for the decorations, entertainment, banquet and beverages. All proceeds, estimated at $60,000 will be shared by the two children's hospitals.

It is the first time that any Canadian hotel has undertaken such an endeavour in which it will take care of all the expenses. Some 1,200 people are expected to attend.

The jury was composed of prominent press and radio people; Mrs. John Molson and Mrs. Gabriel Lord, joint chairmen of the ball committee; top executives of the hotel and pert Pat Flanagan who modeled a special costume which will be worn by the waitresses in attendance.

The banquet was prepared by Chef Georges Fanjas and included such exotic dishes as l'anas miniatures de vega baja Reine Elizabeth, le saumon du Fleuve Frazer au champagne, suprême de pintadeau périgourdine, asperges fraiches pinocchio, salade ecuyere and fantasie d'arlequin.

The jury's job was to comment on the dishes and to offer what it thought improvements.

The fact that each dish was bolstered by Kisch wine and champagne in addition to the wines served with the meal didn't help the jury in its decisions.

The big battle was between the pineapple entree and turtle soup and the result was left in abeyance with a telephone vote in the offering.

Then there was the decision between hot and cold salmon. Cold won. Then whether to serve pistachio, strawberry or coffee ice cream with all the fancy trimmings. Coffee won.

The "on approval" dinner was a great success as far as the jury was concerned, with all agreeing that the young plump Guinea-hen supplied by Victor Borge was the highlight. And for those who plan on attending the Carousel Ball, one thing certain is that the banquet will be an epicurean's delight.

Unwanted Hair Is Difficult Problem For Teenage Girls

Zenaida Prado, Technical Supervisor, Gregory System

SHAME caused by the growth of superfluous hair — on face, arms, or legs — often leads to emotional problems in mature women.

When it happens to a sensitive teenage girl, the problem may be even more complicated.

The unwanted hair becomes a hundred times more ugly and conspicuous in her imagination than in fact. It preys on her mind as a unique, personal curse, to blame for all disappointments and frustrations.

In any such case, the sensible thing to do is get rid of offending hair permanently and quickly!

Avoid "Reminders"

Temporary measures such as tweezing, shaving, bleaching, waxing, depilatories, just serve to remind the girl of her problem every few days . . . and make her future seem like a treadmill of beauty chores.

The best time to have offending hair removed is in the teens. It's much easier then, before the follicles become distorted by tweezing or shaving . . . before the skin becomes toughened by stopgap measures.

And the best place to have the work done is in the Gregory System clinics. We have the latest "short-wave" equipment, medically approved, used world-wide. In the hands of our skilled technicians, it is practically painless, completely safe, can't scar or pit the tenderest skin.

Test Method Free
Because we're specialists, and our method is so fast, we've brought the cost of permanent removal down to almost any budget.

Come in to test Gregory removal yourself. Let us eliminate a few of your most bothersome hair without charge.

Call UN. 1-6023 for an appointment right now, before you put it off again. The downtown Gregory System clinic is located in 807 Dominion Square Bldg., 1010 St. Catherine St. W., Montreal.

If you find it more convenient, you may call HU. 1-3522 at our Snowdon clinic which is located in Suite 303, Royal Bank of Canada Bldg., 5292 Queen Mary Road at Decarie Blvd.

Clinic hours are: 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturdays.

Women's Community Conference theme 'Spotlight on Security'

The Third Women's Community Conference has been scheduled to take place on Wednesday, April 8, at the Windsor Hotel. Composed of representatives from one hundred and fifty organizations and agencies throughout the city, the conference is sponsored by the Activities Committee of the Women's Division of Combined Jewish Appeal, in co-operation with thirty participating organizations with a membership of three hundred and fifty or over. The theme for the conference is "Spotlight on Security." It will deal with security in the emotional, health and economic areas. In each of these, the individual, family and community will be related. An authoritative group of speakers will investigate the many varied aspects of these problems in the all-day conference. The purpose being one of education, the participating members are afforded the opportunity of recognizing the facilities available within the community as well as its needs. Representatives are thus given the opportunity of gaining an insight into problems on a city-wide level, something which the individual organization is unable to do.

The Conference will be made up of representatives from both Jewish and Non-Jewish professional agencies, both from the professional staff and the lay-board members, as well as the general public, — all this in addition to the delegates from over 100 Jewish Women's Organizations. Accordingly, there will be representation from such groups as the Canadian Red Cross Society, The Women's Auxiliary of the Jewish General Hospital, The Salvation Army, The YWCA, The YWHA, The Canadian Mental Health Association, Hadassah, Boys' Farm and Training School, Cancer Research Society, Montreal Council of Women, School of Social Work of McGill University, to mention just a few.

In addition, organizations have been asked to send a display of visual aid, representing the service of that group to the community at large. This year, for the first time, the displays will be competitive, and awards will be given for three different categories: Poster, Three-dimensional exhibit, and Professional Agency. Judging will be done by three well-known people in the world of arts and letters.

Chairman for the Conference will be Mrs. S. Buckman, who has been very active in communal work. Currently Chairman for the YM-YWHA Committee on Volunteers, as well as Honorary Secretary for the Association, Mrs. Buckman was Chairman of Campaign Women's Division for two years, and was also on the Board and Executive of the Women's Auxiliary Nursery Fund at the Jewish General Hospital.

WHAT'S UNDER THE DOME?

PERCHED atop the northern slope of Westmount Mountain, the largest free-standing dome in the country spreads like an umbrella over St. Joseph's Oratory — biggest religious question-mark in Canada.

Many non-Catholics and even some Roman Catholics who have never been inside the imposing and massive structure may shrug it off as a tourist attraction.

Some have even gone so far as to term the souvenir booths, or brightly lit restaurant and snack bar on the church's grounds rank commercialism.

What is the true picture? According to Father Henry Bernard, director of English Pilgrimages, these services are necessary functions of a pilgrimage center.

Services

People travelling hundreds of miles on a weekend pilgrimage to the shrine must be fed, and anyone who has climbed the steps leading to the Oratory doors knows that few want to go all the way down and back up again for a cup of coffee or lunch.

These services are not rented concessions. As Father Henry Bernard, director of English Pilgrimages explains, they are run by the Holy Cross Order for pilgrims, often at loss. For example, the restaurant, which shows a profit during the three summer months is kept open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. all through the winter and loses money.

Souvenir booths sell not only religious cards and medals, but rosaries, prayer books, crucifixes . . . all aids to the devotions of the serious pilgrim. Any profit made from the booths goes back directly to the fund for maintenance and construction of the Oratory, which is still far from completed.

Souvenirs are purchased at a special centre on the premises and taken home by many visitors to friends.

The escalators running from the first floor to the domed basilica have been accused of resembling those of a department store or New York subway; yet without them how could the thousands of aged and sick who flock to the Oratory every year get from floor to floor.

Actually, the administrators of the Oratory have recently begun to take steps against the mass influx of merely curious tourists which arrive every summer. In their opinion the crowds have reached such proportions as to interfere with the serious visitor's search for a religious experience.

Several years ago the Superior of the Oratory forbade the use of Oratory grounds for "Commercial sightseeing tours," and made it the rule that those tourists who come as individuals respect the religious character of the Oratory.

In the last year, the Order bought the land adjacent to the Oratory on the south side, which was the only undeveloped area in the vicinity. Primary consideration in doing this, according to Father Bernard, was to assure that private business would not set up shop next door and change the atmosphere to the carnival style sometimes attributed to St. Anne de Beaupre, Fatima or Lourdes.

Pursuits at the Oratory range far beyond the saying of masses and conducting of pilgrimages and rallies. This church, focus point for impulses within Catholicism which can find their outlet only on a super-parish level, has attained a unique position as cultural and communications center as well as spiritual haven.

▲ Hoping for a miracle are thousands of men and women, boys and girls brought regularly to the Oratory.

Many of the most aesthetic and well thought-out Catholic cultural activities of this city have originated and been developed at St. Joseph's Oratory.

Les Jongleurs

Les Jongleurs de la Montagne, recognized as the foremost acting troupe developed in Montreal, was begun five years ago by Father Emile Legault, CSC. The group played religious performances in an original style developed in large measure by Father Legault; this style has since greatly affected the over-all tradition of French Canadian acting. Although Les Jongleurs no longer functions as a repertory troupe, due again to the administration's careful watch for secularism within its bounds) they can still be seen during the summer acting out the Stations of the Cross.

The Little Singers of Montreal is another semi-cultural project of the Oratory, founded three years ago by Father Leandre Brault, CSC. There are approximately 40 boys between the ages of 9 and 11 in the group, most of them recruited from orphanages of Quebec and all of them being given intensive musical and liberal education.

Intent of The Little Singers is eventually to have a permanent boys' choir in the European tradition, like those of St. Peter's in Rome, or Notre Dame in Paris.

Writing and scholarly research also have their place in the Oratory's libraries. Scholars from all over the world come to the Center of Documentation and Research on Saint Joseph, which stands foremost in this field.

Since its founding in 1927, the Center has acquired over 2,000 books on Saint Joseph in some 15 languages, complete series of thirty periodicals published in various countries, many hundreds of articles on the Holy Father, 700 microfilms, gathered from the major libraries of the world.

the scholar who knows what he's looking for.

The Center staff publishes a scholarly periodical on the subject. "Les Cahiers de Josephologie," while independent authors from France, the United States and many other countries have used research documentation gained at the Center for writings on St. Joseph, Brother Andre, or other religious subjects.

Co-ordinating administering and publicizing the various activities at the Oratory is a tremendous job. Over 200 lay personnel are employed by the Oratory, with duties as varied as staffing counters, arranging radio and TV broadcasts, manning a post office, book-keeping, repairing the plumbing, typing the mountains of correspondence which leave the offices every day.

These duties, though apparently banal and most "unspiritual" in flavor, are necessary adjuncts of the Oratory's spiritual and cultural mission. If this church is to fill a certain need in the mass society of our day, it must meet modern organization with modern organization.

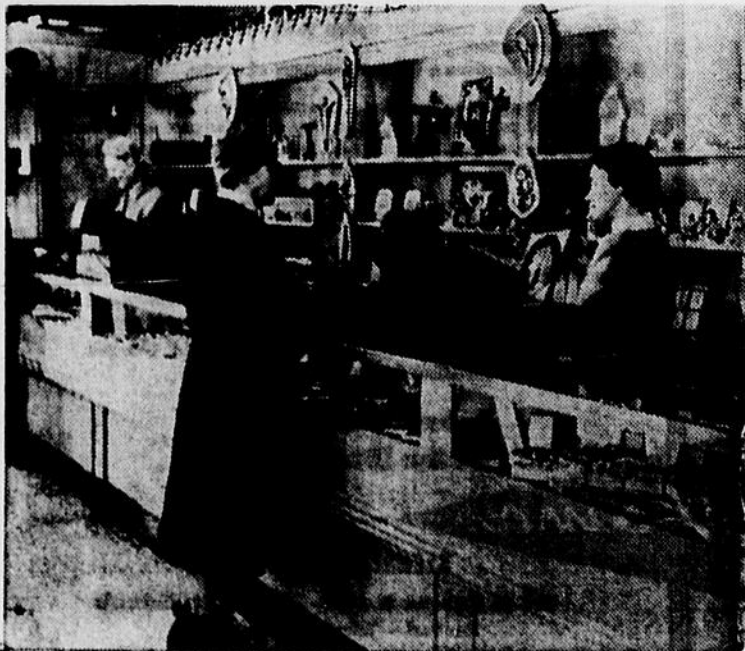

Handling the correspondence for the many visits of groups from all parts of the continent is a big job.

Every aspect of material on the Oratory's patron saint can be found documented here. The Center has on its files 4,000 photographs of masterpieces of art picturing Saint Joseph or the Holy Family. Hymns, statues and medals in honor of the saint are also kept, each one yielding its own specialized knowledge to the attack but often attempted to push it too far. Capablanca, by contrast, had an entirely different psychological make-up. His pleasure in winning disappeared once he had become world champion. He became more anxious to avoid battle than to pursue it, as came out quite clearly in his play.

NEW TOURNAMENT

The N.D.G. Chess Centre is host to three tournaments being conducted concurrently all under the direction of Bill Oaker. These are the Class tournaments mentioned last week and there are 28 participants, 11 in Class A and 17 in Class B, the latter divided into two sections.

As these will be "Round Robins", the final results will be a good indication of the relative strength of the participants. With reference to Class B, it is intended that the winners of each section will be paired against one another, probably in a three-game match,

Hawkettes beat St. Lambert for junior lady cage title

The Unity Boys Club Hawkettes won the Provincial Junior Ladies Basketball Championship Tuesday night as they wiped out a half-time deficit to beat St. Lambert 47-40 at Chambly County High School.

Hawkettes also won the first game of the two-game total-point series 49-34 to capture the round 96-74.

The St. Lambert crew took an 11-8 lead at the end of the first quarter and maintained a 20-18 lead at the half.

The Hawkettes found their scoring eye in the third quarter and raced into a 37-35 lead and traded baskets with the St. Lambert team during the fourth quarter.

Dot Mariasine paced the Unity scorers with 12 points. Nickie Johnson sent 11 points through the hoops and Marilyn Batten, playing her first game in the series, was good for eight points.

Willa Smart chipped in with four points and Gail Gollan playing a strong game at guard hit for three.

For St. Lambert, Ann Uprichard was high scorer with 13 points while Diane Clarke picked up an even dozen. Joan Stooks scored seven points.

St. Lambert's inability to score from the foul line cost them many valuable points as they could only sink 14 of 40 tries. Unity connected on 11 of 28 free throws.

Midget, juvenile hoopla in playoff

Unity bantam cagers have been eliminated from further play-downs in the city of Montreal league, losing out to the East End Boys' club in a two-game series.

Unity midgets and juveniles are waiting, having finished the season in first place and are now awaiting the results of the semi-final series in the city of Montreal leagues.

The senior team, also eliminated in the playdowns, are planning to participate in the seventh annual Montreal Basketball Invitation Tournament conducted by the Immaculate Conception of Montreal. The tournament starts March 13.

Invitations for basketball exhibition games have been received from the Ambassador Athletic Association of New York City and from the Ottawa Boys' Club.

RMR fastball lose to Fusilliers 9-2

Fusilliers took over first place in the Military Fastball League by drubbing Royal Montreal Regiment's entry 9-2. In the other game on the card Maisonneuve pounded out 21 hits to clobber Guards 18-9.

The Fusilliers had good pitching from Gaston Proulx, who held the "Royals" to seven hits while fanning nine, while the Fusilliers were belting 17 baseknocks of various dimensions off Merv Bergson of the locally famed "brother battery". Rickey Bergson is the catcher.

"Padre" Nicole with five for six and Andre Vaillant, four for five, were leading hitters for the winners, with "Chill" Heward clouting four for five for Royal Montreal.

For Maisonneuve in the other fixture George Prevost was a standout at the plate with seven hits in seven tries, while Dick Dorais and Herve Belanger each socked five for six, and Ian Fraser slammed six safeties in seven plate bows for the Guards.

Unity opens house cage loop Monday

The annual Unity Boys' Club spring basketball league will get underway Monday night, March 16. Other playing date is Saturday afternoons.

Four teams have been named with players picked from midget, juvenile, junior and senior teams. The teams are as follows:

LAKERS: Ted Thiesmeyer (Capt), Ken Amiable, Billy Hotton, Bobby Carter, John O'Driscoll, Wayne Dallas and Douglas Rowland.

HAWKS: John McDonough (Capt), Eugene Tebb, Keith Gavin, Frank Gibson, Larry Dallas, Fred Power and Michael Crouch.

KNICKS: Richard Cressford (Capt), Ron Otto, John Westlake, Donald Laviolette, Victor Carter, Bobby Brisson and David Tagieff.

CELTICS: Richard Simmons (Capt), Pat Kearney, Brian Sullivan, Rodney Wilson, Paul Genereux, Jimmy Crouch and Donald Genois.

Three goals by leader Geo. Spare

One game was played in bantam "A" section with the league leading St. Leo's Lions walloping Royals by a 6-1 score.

League scoring leader George Spare picked up three points on two goals and one assist. Dave Kelleher also scored twice while Tony Tyarell and Allan Keith notched one goal apiece. Bernie Kelly scored the Royal's marker.

Little Buddy McKaig played a strong game for the losers as did Connie Nucci for the Lions. The Lions have yet to taste defeat having won six straight.

Wings and Crowns take mosquito playoff leads

The final round of mosquito "A" section got underway with Wings and Canadiens clashing in the first game of a best-of-three series.

Despite a sensational display of goaltending by the Canadiens' Phil McHugh, Wings came out on top 3-0. McHugh allowed only one goal in the first two periods, that by Billy McKenna but his mates couldn't beat Jon Churcher in the Wings' nets and Billy McJannet clinched the win with a pair of goals in the final period. John Shayer picked up three assists. The second game gets underway at 10.30 on Saturday morning.

OVERTIME WIN

Crowns and Dragons, who finished the regular schedule in the mosquito "B" section in a tie for first place took up where they left off by going into overtime in the first game of their best-of-three series for the league crown.

Crowns won it 3-2 on a goal by David Cuthill and a sensational save in the dying seconds of the overtime period by goaler Ross Tyldsley. Dragons scored both their goals in the first period when Billy Holden and Eddie Goldenberg beat Tyldsley. John Jear scored for the Crowns in the first period and Doug Clarke tied it up early in the second frame. That's the way it stood through the final period until Cuthill slammed home the big one in the extra session.

Arnold top bowler in Masonic loop

D. Plant rolled a 498 triple in the Masonic Bowling League, section "B" and W. Gammon marked 231 for the single.

In section "A", L. Arnold of St. Andrews No. 53 won the triple with 489 and the single with 182.

Unity opens LL clinic Saturday

All baseball teams in the National, American and International Little leagues are currently in spring training in the southern regions of the United States.

Locally, the weather does not permit this very important phase of the training season and so Unity are obliged to conduct spring training indoors.

Coach Manny Barnoff of Unity's little league team Indians plans to get an early start this year and has sent out a call to all little leaguers, both veteran and beginner, to attend a "Baseball Clinic" Saturday morning, March 14, at 9.30 a.m.

Boys under 13 years of age are welcome. A film entitled Catching—Hitting—and Throwing will be shown. Fundamentals of the game will be discussed.

Pee wee 'A' and 'B' playoffs provide fans plenty of action

There was plenty of action in the Westmount municipal Pee Wee "A" playoffs as Academites eliminated Bishops in the semi finals and went down to defeat in the opening game of the final round against the Flyers. Academites edged Bishops 4-3 to win their set two straight. They won the first game 6-2.

Angus Culley and Ken Elliot shot the Bishops into a 2-0 second period lead but the Academites with a sharp passing display roared back in the third period to count four goals to the Bishops' one. Pierre Desjardins scored two goals and an assist while Ray Langelier and Claude Verreault added singletons.

Culley added his second goal for the losers in the third period. Dave Gillespie picked up two assists for the Bishops.

The first game of the final series was a fast hard fought affair with Flyers edging Academites 2-1. Mike Dench and Ron McJannet scored for Flyers while Pierre Desjardins was the marksman for the Academites.

Peter Rassenti played a sparkling game in the losers' nets coming up with some brilliant saves while Jim Erly was a standout on defence. Ray Langelier continues to impress with his fine play up front for the Academites.

League scoring champion Darrell Munro had to don the pads for the Flyers and turned in a creditable performance. Hard working Mike Dench was the pick of the forwards for the winners. This series is a two out of three affair.

Dalhousie, Indians

Three close games were played in the semi final round of the Westmount pee wee "B" section with winning Dalhousie squad set to go against the Indians in the finals.

Dalhousie won two straight over the Bombers after dropping the opener 3-1. Dean Hull and Allan Ingram gave the Bombers a one game lead with Hull scoring twice and Ingram once to account for all the Bombers goals. Stephen Burt was the marksman for the Dalhousie crew.

The second game of the series was a high scoring affair with Dalhousie coming out on top 7-5. Robin Esmonde-White and Alan Rubin scored two each while Eric Rill, Bobby Sewell and John Pottel registered one apiece.

Artie Driver supplied the scoring punch for the Bombers with four of his team's five goals. Peter Gibson scored the

The final game was a real thriller with the winning goal coming with just seven seconds remaining in regulation play. Ricky Kennedy took a passout from John Pottel and rifled it past Wayne McAfee for the big goal and the right to meet the Indians for the title.

P. Martin leads scoring with 33

One of the best games of the intermediate season saw Royals and Avenue Stars battle to a 3-5 tie.

Phil Martin scored four goals and one assist. Bob Anderson was held to one point.

Bud Selby and Al Turner each picked up three assists. Mickey Anderson led the Royals with two goals. Al McKinney and Jimmy Campbell each counted two assists.

Two extremely dull games were played between the Stars and Flyers; Wanderers and Orphans.

In the opener, Wanderers clobbered Orphans 11-1. Paul Hamilton, Jim Nykoluk and Austin Smith each picked up six points. Smith is now in a tie for second place in the scoring with 31 points.

In the second game, Stars were hard put to keep down an ever-trying Flyer squad of only seven men. The defensive work of Bob Painchaud and Guy Bonnier was outstanding for the losers. Phil Martin, Bud Selby and Pat Lomasney were the only Avenue players with any spark.

Phil Martin leads the scoring with 33 points followed by Austin Smith with 21 and Paul Hamilton and Bob Anderson tied for third with 30.
