

Triplets thrive in city hospital; parents now have 10

But father lies seriously ill

While 33-year-old Mrs. Ambrose Boisland gave birth to healthy male triplets last night, her 35-year-old husband lay seriously ill in another part of Hotel Dieu Hospital and her seven other children aged two and a half to 12 years were living in the family's five-room home.

The three boys and their mother were reported in excellent condition this morning by the hospital. Born between 6:25 and 6:45 p.m. yesterday, the youngsters weighed five pounds and 15 ounces, five pounds and three ounces, and four pounds and 14 ounces.

However, the event was clouded by the serious illness of Mr. Boisland who is being cared for in the intensive care unit and who has been hospitalized since August 16. The family is faced with a serious financial problem with three more children to care for as well as the other two boys and five girls.

The Boisland triplets were born only three weeks prematurely whereas the birth of triplets often takes place two or three months early. Doctors present during the birth were Dr. Pierre Leduc assisted by anaesthetist Dr. Lemay as well as several nurses. The children were placed in incubators. The Boislands, hoping for a boy, had chosen the name, Luc. With three boys instead of one added to their family, they now have five boys and five girls. The family's serious financial position is seen by the size of their home at 232 Olivier Street.

Consisting of two bedrooms, a living-room, kitchen and large hall converted into Mr. and Mrs. Boisland's bedroom, the home has suffered until now. Aid has been given the family during the father's illness by the Petites Soeurs de l'Assomption, neighbors and Sherbrooke Metal Works where Mr. Boisland is a laborer. Only two other sets of triplets have been born in Sherbrooke hospitals during the last 20 years. At St. Vincent de Paul Hospital all three babies died after their birth three years ago. One of the three children born 18 years ago at Hotel Dieu died two days after birth.

LBJ GETS THE FULL TREATMENT — President Johnson literally is up to his ears in leis as he is welcomed to the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Honolulu's Waikiki section last night. He spent the night there before heading for American Samoa and New Zealand on the second leg of his tour to six Pacific nations. (AP Wirephoto)

Island-hopping LBJ promises no sensation

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson island hops farther across the Pacific today after insisting the Manila conference will produce neither new strategy for the war in Viet Nam nor a spectacular peace formula.

Johnson, still five days from Manila on his 29,000-mile Asian trip, was heading from Hawaii to New Zealand via Pago Pago, American Samoa.

The president and his wife got a rousing reception Monday in Honolulu. Tens of thousands jammed miles of downtown streets in a friendly, colorful greeting. The state's Democratic governor, John Burns, estimated the crowd at 400,000. In two speeches in Hawaii, the president tried to discourage high hopes for his Oct. 24-25 meeting in the Philippines with leaders of six other countries fighting alongside the United States in Viet Nam.

SOME PROTEST WAR
At the University of Hawaii, with several score anti-war placards hoisted above the crowd, Johnson said: "I want my fellow countrymen to know that we are taking with us no magical wands and no instant solutions."

Shortly before Johnson arrived to speak, police hustled away three members of the Hawaii Committee to End the War in Viet Nam and charged them with disorderly conduct for refusing to stay in an area assigned to demonstrators.

They carried bamboo poles from which effigies labelled "Pentagon" and "LBJ" were hanging. Earlier, arriving at Honolulu International Airport, Johnson said: "We do not expect to pull any rabbits out of any hats at Manila."

Without getting specific, Johnson said some have forecast the Manila sessions will produce "a new strategy of war or come forth with some spectacular formula for peace."

'STRATEGY IS CLEAR'

But, he added, U.S. military strategy already is clear—"to resist aggression with the maximum force necessary and the minimum risk possible."

As for peace hopes, he said the leaders who will gather in the Philippines "have already signed the petition of peace." He pointed out that "the Communists in Hanoi... are not coming to Manila."

In an obvious reference to China, he said: "Voices of extremists and apostles of militancy... are out of tune with the new currents in Asia."

Kindhearted

Pope won't come

OTTAWA—(CP)—Pope Paul won't visit Expo 67 next year. "He won't come for the a Roman Catholic Church Expo," said the spokesman in a letter to the office of Most Rev. Sergio Pignedoli, apostolic delegate to Canada.

Gagnon gets life for shooting man

QUEBEC (CP)—Jean-Jacques Gagnon, 35, of Montreal, was sentenced Monday night to life imprisonment on a reduced charge of non-capital murder for the shooting of Alberic Bilodeau.

Gagnon was originally charged with capital murder. Life imprisonment is the mandatory sentence for a non-capital murder conviction for a non-capital murder.

Gagnon, an accountant, testified Friday that he shot Bilodeau three or four times with a .32-calibre revolver Sept. 18, 1965.

Bilodeau, 52, a painter-contractor, was shot in the woods at nearby St. Gilles de Leblanc. He was killed a few days after testifying before a fire commission.

Gagnon said he was afraid for his own life and was forced to carry out the shooting by Andre Lamothe.

He said Friday that Lamothe gave him the weapon, and a few minutes before the shooting had told him: "You know what you have to do. Make no mistakes. I won't be far away."

Lamothe was sentenced to life imprisonment Oct. 8 on a reduced non-capital murder charge arising from Bilodeau's death.

City area consumers called to battle against inflation

By PAUL WATERS
(Record staff reporter)

Bishop's University's Professor Stanley Groves called housewives the front line troops in the fight against inflation at a meeting and panel discussion of the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville branch of the Consumers' Association of Canada last night.

Addressing appeals and boycotting individual grocers won't do any good he told the CAC members, the reasons behind inflation and spiralling food prices are too complex and depend on too many hidden factors.

'En bloc' city vote predicted

Mayor Armand Nadeau foresees 1970 as the year in which Sherbrooke residents will elect a city council "en bloc".

Mayor Nadeau, in a press conference yesterday, said that he has always favored a single municipal election rather than ward-by-ward votes for aldermen.

He blamed the present high price of food on what he called a "seller's inflation" or a "cost push inflation", and steps must be taken to curb the inflationary practices of the producers.

From 1936 until the mid 1950's, the economics professor explained most economists described inflation as a case of too many dollars chasing too few goods.

The remedies for this are very simple, Professor Groves said, by monetary and fiscal policy introduced by the government and the Bank of Canada to cut down the amount of money circulating in the economy.

Employment, he continued, and economists had found that to maintain stable prices seven percent of the labor force would be unemployed, a disturbingly high figure.

One way in which the government could control the inflationary practices of producers would be to introduce a law which would set price by production. "This would mean," Professor Groves explained, "that if a manufacturer was producing less than 80 percent of his capacity he would not be able to raise his price and if he was producing less than 70 percent he would have to lower his price."

This, he explained would end the sellers' inflation and would reduce it to simple inflation that the government can deal with easily.

AWARENESS NEEDED
Consumers should be more aware of the policies employed by companies in setting the price of their products, Professor Groves said, and it is in areas like this that the CAC can be of real aid.

Panelist Robert Nichol, an independent Lennoxville grocer, blamed strikes, increased cost of labor, increased cost of services, increased cost of production, for the increased cost of food.

"I'm not against strikes," he said, "nor am I against workers having shorter working hours or higher wages, but the fact is it does push up the price of food."

The grocers' profit margin, Mr. Nichol said, is just not big enough to absorb all these increases. In fact, he said, the profit margin on some products has decreased.

Citing eggs as an example, Mr. Nichol said that production this year was down and that the wholesale cost per dozen had risen from 45 cents to 67 cents. The usual markup for retailers, he said, was 25 percent and when the wholesale price was 45 cents the retailer charged his customers 55 cents a dozen.

Now with the wholesalers charging 67 cents a dozen, the retailer is taking only a 20 percent markup when he charges 79 cents a dozen.

"Today," he said, "minimum express rates have just gone up 30 percent as a result of the recent railway strike and some of this cost will have to be passed on to the consumer."

"When Canada Packers went on strike this year," Mr. Nichol said, "the price of meat went up 10 percent."

Intelligent buying said key

The spiralling ever-climbing cost of food has produced a new breed of fighter in Canada, the inflation fighter, a picket carrying housewife who boycotts her local super-market.

If the Sherbrooke-Lennoxville branch of the Consumers' Association of Canada has its way, there will be no wholesale boycotting of retail outlets in this area.

Speaking at a panel discussion of the association last night, CAC provincial president Mrs. Ross Brander, said that the en- thusiastic actions of Canada's housewives were misplaced and probably would not have much effect on the price of food.

The boycotting has often integrated to the point of being cheap publicity stunts. For instance, she said, there is one group in Montreal that claims a membership of 100,000, which the market the price goes down.

CAC surveys show to be completely untrue.

However, she added that the desperate action of these housewives does serve to bring the food price escalation to the attention of the people. "We hope," she said, "that this en- thusiastic response to the food price dilemma will develop into a permanent interest in intelligent consumer spending and the program of the CAC."

She advocated that Sher- brooke housewives do not buy the grocer, who could not shoulder all the blame for the price of his produce, but the product. "If you see something in a store that is priced too high," she told her audience of housewives, "don't buy it."

The local CAC then passed a resolution to form a committee to carry out a comparative shopping survey.

CAC member Mrs. E. B. Sims had already carried out a small survey of her own in four chain stores and one independent grocer. Her results were very interesting.

Oranges, which were priced by the independent grocer at 53 cents a dozen, sold at one of the chain stores for 89 cents a dozen.

The price of lettuce heads varied from 25 to 39 cents a pound, while 10-pound bags of unwashed potatoes sold for anywhere between 39 and 49 cents.

Reluctant chain reveals its prices best

OTTAWA (CP)—With apparent reluctance, the A and P food chain disclosed before a parliamentary committee Monday figures showing modest profits and lower prices than its competitors.

A and P executives at first asked the Senate - Commons committee on living costs to exclude reporters and keep the information confidential.

Included in the A and P documents were the results of comparisons between A and P prices and those of Loblaws, Dominion Stores and Steinberg's. The study by the independent Ambler Pricing Service was made in Quebec and Ontario Sept. 14 and gave A and P a big edge.

In Ontario, A and P prices were lower than Loblaws Gro-

Centenary plans still up in air?

Will Sherbrooke's centennial funds be used for the construction of a Social Welfare Centre or for the Water Ski Centre at the Magog River?

This is the cliff-hanger city council is faced with.

Council made no decision one way or the other on a request presented last night by representatives of 15 welfare organizations in the city last night to build a welfare centre with the $150,000 available.

The societies represented by various Sherbrooke residents including Judge Redmond Hayes, told council that the welfare centre is nothing new to the eyes and ears of the aldermen. Judge Hayes told them that the agencies have been working on a centennial building project since April, 1964.

In May of that year, said the judge last night, the city council decided against the building plans in favor of a city plan which failed.

The judge concluded that he had nothing against sports or beautiful landmarks but he said, "We must help the poor unfortunates."

The building as proposed by the 15 welfare agencies would cost $130,000 and would have 7,000 square feet of space located on two floors. A basement is also planned.

Ald. Savard said that the representatives did not think about architect's fees, financing and other major and minor problems that would be encountered thus raising the cost of the project to $200,000 rather than $130,000.

Asked if there was a possibility of obtaining more money for the project out of the centennial kitty, Mayor Nadeau said no.

The representatives pointed out that at the present time each charitable organization pays $1 per square foot as rent in various locations. They said that the rent could just as well be used in taking care of a centre that would group all of the services together.

The representative said that they were not suggesting a palace but something useful.

Ald. Marcel Savard argued that the building would have to be ready by May 30, 1967. One of the representatives, Georges Cote said that there is always a loophole that can be found to offer as excuse to the authorities.

Is fined for hit and run

A young man from Magog was fined $100 and had his driver's licence suspended for three months yesterday in Court of Sessions when he pleaded guilty to a charge of hit and run before Judge Benoit Turmel. Garry Murray, 18, changed his plea from one of not guilty to one of guilty. His lawyer pleaded for the clemency of the court since the young man he said, had no police record and was the only provider for his home.

City considers $225,000 bylaw for executing electrical works

The hydro department has suggested the city adopt a $225,000 bylaw for the execution of essential electrical works.

Gaston Masse suggested to council that it adopt his ten point plan which calls for the purchase of equipment, extending services and improving certain city sectors.

City council has not made any decision as yet.

City council was requested to call for tenders for the operation of the ski shop, instruction and the ski lift on top of Mount Bellevue.

Napoleon Cote of Cote Sports said to council that his firm is able to supply just as good a service as the present operator Roland Lessard.

Mr. Cote did not suggest that his firm take over the job but said that there was no harm in the city asking for tenders so that everyone would get a fair deal.

City council did not take any decision but dropped the matter until Ald. Tony Pinard is back at the city council. Ald. Pinard is in charge of recreational facilities.

Mr. Pinard is hospitalized in the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

A bylaw is to be adopted by city council ordering anyone who demolishes a building to level the land and maintain the land in good order as judged by the building inspector.

Anyone not conforming to the new law will have the work done for him by the city and be billed for the work.

There is no reference to legal action in the new bylaw.

City council is to study the sale of surplus radio telephones in the public works department.

Mrs. Fred Stockton will serve as recording secretary for the 1966-67 term while Mrs. A. D. Tector will serve as corresponding secretary.

Seeking 4 in Windsor beatings

RICHMOND — (Staff) — Richmond Provincial Police say they will be arresting four individuals who, last Friday night on a farm near Windsor beat up and cut Gerard Loisel, his two sons, one of them an adolescent and a fifty year old man, Frederick Dion.

It would seem that the assault was prompted by a family feud in which a woman refused to go back to her husband alleged to be one of the assailants.

She was staying at her uncle's place, Gerard Loisel.

Mrs. Gerard Loisel said that her son Richard Loisel, 18, was badly bruised, that Frederick Dion suffered cuts to his stomach, and Andre l'Heureux, 14, nephew of Mr. Loisel was cut badly about the mouth, nose and lips and had to receive treatment at the Hospital St. Louis in Windsor.

Apparently at the time of the beating, Mr. Loisel was not at his farmhouse but made his way to it after he received a phone call alerting him.

Upon arriving at the scene of the beating, he was ambushed by four men, who, later reported Mrs. Loisel, "beat him and inflicted cuts to his head".

Corporal Bernard Andre of the Richmond Provincial Police, said the four assailants were from Sherbrooke and "well known by the police".

They were drunk at the time, he said and caused damage to the farmhouse in question.

They will be arrested tomorrow, or soon, he said, and charged with assault, causing damage to property and theft with violence.

Hydro-City-Sherbrooke officials have four days in which to clear up the backlog of work in the department.

The Hydro department, of which Ald. Carl Camirand is the chairman, was subjected to some close scrutiny and hot words last night at the weekly city council meeting.

Mayor Nadeau was told by Ald. Felix Thibault that the East Ward Levesque street on which there are 12 homes is not lit up at night.

Ald. Thibault told council that no street lights have been on this street for several months.

Mayor Nadeau said that this was a deplorable and unthinkable situation for the city of Sherbrooke to have in 1966 a street without any street lights.

The mayor said that women children and elderly people have to make use of this street and that lights should be provided at once.

The mayor then asked Ald. Camirand what the hydro department was doing about the lights on Wolfe Bridge in the city's North Ward.

The mayor said that the posts were up but not the lights.

The mayor said there seems to be a lack of authority.

The mayor asked Ald. Camirand why the department, when given a suggestion or an order to carry out, does not obey council's decision.

Ald. Camirand said he would ask for a report.

But Mayor Nadeau pressed the matter.

He said that if an order is given to any other department in the city's administration the orders are carried out and not neglected.

Ald. Jean Marcel Jeanson joined in the argument and asked Ald. Camirand: "what is wrong with your department. This is not the first time something like this has happened."

Ald. Camirand replied that the department was tending to other things which he termed urgencies.

The alderman referred to the lights at the Sports Centre.

The mayor replied, "once a decision is made I want it followed, otherwise we do not have to be here. There is a conflict of authority."

The mayor gave the department four days in which to do the job or else. He didn't elaborate on "or else."

ET man appointed head of local pension board

QUEBEC — Robert De Coster, President of the Quebec Pension Board announces the appointment of Roger Desfosses as Manager of the regional office that the Board will soon open in Sherbrooke.

Mr. Desfosses holds a degree in business administration from Laval's Faculty of Commerce. Born in Danville, he was employed for several years with the firm of A. Belanger Lee, Montmagny, where he held various positions, including those of Sales Manager and Assistant General Manager.

STORE CLOSING HOURS: STATUS QUO FAVORED

The Association of Master Retailers of Sherbrooke suggested to city council last night that the store closing hours remain as they are at present.

The AMRS, in a letter to city council, of which copies were sent to the city's newspapers, said they were happy with the decision taken by the Sherbrooke Store Employees Association which also favors that the matter be left as it is.

The AMRS is made up of various downtown merchants and Sherbrooke Shopping Centre merchants. The letter addressed to the mayor and city aldermen was signed by Jacques A. Laliberte.

The mayor suggests a regional set-up

Mayor Armand Nadeau favors provincial legislation that would give the municipalities more power to administer the much discussed subject of store closing hours.

At a press conference yesterday the mayor said that if the city council was to go into the matter on its own the council would be faced with stiff opposition.

The mayor suggested that the provincial government set up economic regions, thereby grouping the City of Sherbrooke and adjacent areas into one region.

Study OTJ deficit

City council is to study a deficit in the OTJ financial statements of $5,440.26.

The Ouvre des Terrains de Deux Jolygrounds organization submitted its annual report to council last night and up to September 30 $46,940.26 was spent. It is anticipated that another $6,700 is to be spent between October 1 and December 31. This would mean a deficit of $5,440.26. Expected to cost $2,500 is lost key; $2,700 is for anticipated costs of salaries and administration and for sundries $1,500 is expected.

The city has given a grant of $49,000. The provincial government is to pay $7,000 and the OTJ has been able to obtain on its own $1,200.

There is no hope of obtaining money from the Catholic school commission which promised $600.

The $600 cannot be paid because it is not an allowable educational expense.

Support the modern community bee

One of the features of community life in the early days of the Eastern Townships was the bee, a practice that has largely disappeared except in the rural areas.

When a new family arrived in the community, every able bodied person in the community would arrive on his premises early one morning and spend the day erecting the barn which was an essential for anyone starting out on a new life.

Newly-married couples were provided with the essentials for setting up house-keeping by the concerted action of the neighbors.

Should the head of the household become disabled, his friends and even those who might be coolly disposed towards him normally, would take time off from their own duties to bring in his winter supply of firewood and harvest his crops. Homes destroyed by fire were rebuilt and refurbished without delay by fellow residents who may have lacked much in the way of material possessions but were filled with the spirit of goodwill and compassion.

The growth of urban living has done much to eliminate the bee, although the need which it met still remains, a need that is being met by such groups as the Community Chest and Caritas, organizations which give the individual citizen the opportunity to participate in a community effort to relieve suffering and need.

During October the people of Sherbrooke and vicinity are being called upon to provide the financial sinews vital to the success of these associations, a need which can be met if the individuals display the same spirit of sympathy to the needy as did their forefathers through the bee.

Fear of what the neighbors would say has kept many a would-be suicide alive.

Johnson trip result of French move

Sudden outbreaks of junketing by U.S. President Johnson, British Foreign Secretary Brown and negotiators from other countries all seeking to find a means of ending the Viet Nam war may be related to reports from Paris that President de Gaulle and Russian leaders have informed Mr. Johnson, very unofficially, that they are willing to enter a joint treaty along with "anybody else who might want to join," to guarantee the independence of Viet Nam both North and South, from any outside aggression.

Reportedly the conditions of the treaty would demand that the United States cease bombing and announce its intention of withdrawal from South Viet Nam over a two-year period.

No United States public comment on the proposals is expected until after next month's Congressional elections in the United States, but the suggestion may prove almost irresistible to Mr. Johnson because it would dramatically reaffirm the U.S.-Soviet detente and would serve to contain China. It would also provide an honorable end to the war before the all-important 1968 Presidential elections.

Another French offer reportedly in the works is a bilateral mutual defence pact with Washington to replace the broken NATO link. De Gaulle has long favored the idea and apparently feels that recent friendly talks between his Foreign Minister, Couve de Murville, and Mr. Johnson indicate a possible U.S. interest.

Such an agreement would give de Gaulle a chance to reinstate France's traditional bonds with the West and allow him a more positive influence on U.S. policy.

For Washington, such a treaty would reopen the possibility of bringing France into nuclear disarmament talks, of getting its signature on the Moscow test treaty ban and of ending French harassment of the dollar.

Remove barrier to divorce reform

The brief presented by the Roman Catholic bishops of Canada to the Commons health and welfare committee last week which removed any ecclesiastical opposition to legalizing the sale of birth control devices in this country may prove an important step forward in Canadian laws on a number of points, including the rationalization of divorce procedures.

A statement issued simultaneously with the brief contained advice to Roman Catholics not to confuse civil law and moral law. They said it is not the duty of Parliament to decide whether contraception is morally right or wrong. But it is the responsibility of Parliament to decide whether or not, in view of the common good, the law should make the sale and distribution of contraceptives or giving information about birth control a crime punishable by law.

They feel the existing law does just that and that if the authorities tried to enforce it there would be a grave danger to the public peace.

An important point made by the bishops is that many people believe the law violates their rights to be informed and helped towards responsible parenthood, in accordance with their beliefs.

Much of the opposition to reforming the divorce laws of Canada is based on the supposed attitude of various religious authorities.

In recent months, most Protestant communities have gone on record as favoring the liberalization of the archaic divorce laws. Probably a request directed to the Roman Catholic hierarchy would bring the response that while that denomination still opposed divorce for its own adherents on what it believed moral grounds, it did not believe that others should be prevented from exercising their liberty of conscience.

Moreover, the French government pays a baby bonus nearly triple of that which we pay in Canada, $75 a month for a family with three children, so that French people will remain in France.

For the past 75 years previous to World War 2 the birth rate in France was very low and any emigration which took place went south to Algeria and Tunisia which was much nearer to France and being under French domination quite a lot of money filtered into France as a result of trade and taxation.

Previous to that time, the Napoleonic Wars depleted France of its manpower and prevented any settlers coming to Canada.

For many years after the fall of Quebec, Canada held no attraction for the French settler. Even Vaureuil was so disgusted that he, a born Canadian, returned to France after the French Army left Canada.

Now if Mr. Marchand wants to attract a large number of Frenchmen to Canada he should go after the French ethnic groups — The Bretons, Basques, residents of Lille, Alsace and Languedoc.

A Canadian information booth set up in those areas would, I am sure bring thousands to our shores but although we would have attracted French we would have the job teaching them to speak French and English as very few of these people although French by birth, understand a word of that language as they respectively speak Breton, Basque, Flemish, Alsation and Languedoc.

Yours faithfully,

Farmer and labor union brief on constitution one of restraint

By WILLIAM STEWART

MONTREAL (CP)—A brief submitted by two labor groups and a farmers' association to Premier Johnson of Quebec is considered one of the most important statements on Canadian constitutional problems prepared in the province.

Its authors are the Confederation of National Trade Unions, the Quebec Federation of Labor and the Catholic Farmers' Union. They sent a delegation to Quebec City Sept. 29 to present the 7,000-word document to the premier for delivery to a committee of the legislature created to study revision of the constitution.

The brief dismissed separatism and associate statehood as options for Quebec in seeking a solution to its problems in Canada. It also rejected the idea of an all-powerful federal government as well as the present state of constitutional affairs. It made a series of proposals with the idea that if the causes of friction in Canadian affairs were removed the country would function smoothly and progress under a federal system.

The proposals included:
—A new court to deal with constitutional issues;
—A bilingual and bicultural federal capital;
—Federal-provincial consultation on fiscal and monetary policies, and immigration.

The brief proposed that the internal Canadian conflict be approached taking into account these suggestions:
1. Inclusion in the Canadian constitution of a declaration of fundamental liberties and rights, including the right to education, to religious practice, to a suitable living standard and to employment.
2. Creation of a new tribunal to interpret the constitution with both federal and provincial authorities participating in its establishment to remove any possible suspicion of partiality.
3. Joint federal and provincial control of radio and television while avoiding duplication and double-payment by citizens for broadcasting services.

4. A bilingual and bicultural federal capital set away from provincial territory.
5. Federal-provincial consultation on immigration policy and avoidance of duplicating schemes that add charges to taxpayers.
6. Federal-provincial consultation on monetary and fiscal policies as well as in other areas in which independent policies may either cancel one another or overlap with unnecessary cost.

7. Absolute equality of French and English at the federal level, in the courts and civil service and in the armed forces. Since overnight application of the principle would slow up the business of government, a time-table with some posts where bilingualism is unnecessary it would not be required of job-holders knowing only French or English and whose work is suited to use of only one language.

8. Bilingualism in the process of law-making in the province having a minority representing either 15 per cent of the population or where the minority population is at least 500,000. Interpreter service would be available to citizens of the minority group for all dealings with the authorities.

SEES MORE POWERS
The brief also proposed:
—Provincial control over international cultural agreements and over all social security arrangements. However, any province would have the right to turn over its responsibility for social security to the federal government and an organization to "harmonize" all such undertakings would be set up.

—Attention to the problem of creating a mechanism to determine effective economic policy for the country and the provinces to forestall conflict of policies as well as costly duplication.

—A general provision for delegation of powers either by federal or provincial authorities and a provision also for equalization payments to the poorer provinces by the federal government.

The brief expressed the view that while Canadians generally would like to see the constitution "repatented" this step should not be taken until agreement has been reached on revising and modernizing it.

As far as Quebec is concerned, the brief calls for "far greater impetus" in the fields of cultural, economic and social development in the province.

It asks the Canadian government to work out a foreign policy that is "far more clear and autonomous" and "far more favorable to national interests." It suggests present policy is servile and if it were not so the Canadian government would gain more respect in the eyes of all Canadian citizens.

All these points are what the brief says in essence. It presents a history of constitutional problems, the particular problems of French-speaking citizens, the failure in some cases of provincial authorities to assume responsibilities that the federal government simply took over, and various other factors that have brought about a situation of "ambiguity" resulting in friction considered serious and to require correction so that useful energy won't be wasted in unlimited and dangerous conflict.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TN) — Thanks to the imaginative, energetic organizers of the national conference, the Liberals had an opportunity to start overhauling not only their party but also the horse-and-buggy day structure of Confederation. They used only a portion of the less important part of that great opportunity.

While all the problems that captured the attention of the delegates and the headline writers — such as the postponement of medicare and the underlying Gordon-Sharp controversy — were undoubtedly important, they were not the country's overriding concern.

What really matters as Canada nears the end of the first 100 years of its existence is whether or not the nation is willing and capable of adjusting its glaringly obsolete political framework to pressures that threaten to explode and tear the country apart.

In this context (which Prime Minister Pearson acknowledged by saying that today's Canada "is as far removed from the Canada of 50 years ago as it is from the empire of the Medes and the Persians") the main issue before the Liberal conference was constitutional overhaul of the federal structure.

Subsidiary problems

The intention of the planners of the meeting was to steer the conference through two days of examination of the multitude of subsidiary problems to a hoped for climax of constitutional change.

This theoretically logical approach to the essential task of the conference misfired.

Instead of increasing their awareness of the size of the mountain by working their way through the woods of its slopes, the delegates lost sight of the peak. Their attention was consumed and their energy spent while they rushed from one forest fire to another during the first two days.

On the third day, when the crucial questions of the urgently needed constitutional adjustments of the century-old framework of federal-provincial and English-French relations were laid before them, they were in no mood and shape to move any further.

The result is that instead of coming to grips with what the organizers meant to be its supreme task, the conference exhausted its promising initial momentum on side issues. After that it came to a halt, glanced tiredly at the summit of Canada's massive problems and gave its blessing to the uneasy constitutional status quo which is somehow expected but not really believed to last forever.

No one can tell whether the outcome would have been different had the agenda been reversed. I personally doubt it. For had the bulk of the delegates been deeply aware of the constitutional crux of the nation's major difficulties, the wide-open opportunity for grappling with it would not have been wasted regardless of the order of business of the conference.

This is not to say that the meeting was an unmitigated flop. Far from it. While it ignored Canada's need of constitutional overhaul, it made an earnest attempt to start a far-reaching overhaul of the Liberal Party. In the quagmire of our personalized, scandal-ridden partisan politicking this is no mean achievement.

In my opinion the most significant reform was the shifting of policy formation from the top to the bottom. All the achievements of the conference flowed directly from this bold experiment which, once perfected and equipped with safeguards against misuses by non-representative pressure groups, might well serve as a model for our other political parties.

It was this innovation which enabled the Western Liberals to assert a significant role in shaping the party's policy resolutions despite the virtual absence of their voice in the Cabinet and in the parliamentary caucus which used to dominate the policy-forming process.

The spectacular re-entry of the admirably organized Westerners on the party's central stage not only helped to restore the badly shaken national image of the Liberals, but also enhanced their electoral prospects between the Lakehead and the Pacific.

Heartening by-product

A heartening by-product of this significant development was the defeat of Walter Gordon's cobwebbed economic nationalism and the resolution urging the Government to initiate negotiations for a North American free trade area. This, I believe, is the solitary instance of the conference's great service not only to its party but to the nation.

Another significant achievement was the provision of machinery for depositing unwanted leaders. Since the conference gave repeated standing ovations to Lester Pearson, this measure was obviously taken as an insurance against the kind of leadership mess the Conservatives have been in since 1963.

It will be interesting to see whether the Tory conference next month will be able to resist adoption of the same or similar leadership clause. If not the Grit meeting, which also deserves commendation for having quietly buried the nonsense of the co-operative federalism slogan, would have rendered another great service to the whole nation.

Sutton man, 87, captures bear

SUTTON — (Staff) — A man as young as he feels, so the saying goes. An 87-year-old Glen Sutton man is proving it.

Dennis Dufur recently trapped a 200-pound bear in the Sutton area but this catch is small in comparison to his 1960 catch, a 400 pound bear.

Mr. Dufur does most of his beating the bush in the Standstead, Scotstown, Megantic and Glen Sutton areas.

The latest catch was trapped September 30. Although the bear had been in a bear trap for about 11 hours Mr. Dufur said he still had to shoot the 200 pound black bear to be certain that it was dead.

The bear had to be dragged by Mr. Dufur for a mile and a half before anyone helped him take the bear home.

Mr. Dufur has been hunting a "long time." His first kill was in his teens.

His recent catch was the beginning to the 1966 hunting season for him, he says.

Crawford—Hand wedding

The marriage of Mary Lisa-beth Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hand, of Water-ville, Que., to Mr. Gordon Car-roll Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Crawford, Lennox-ville, Que., took place Septem-ber 17, at 2 o'clock in Lennox-ville United Church, Lennox-ville. Rev. A. B. Lovelace offici-ated at the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Fred Fox. Yellow gladioli and white shasta daisies were used in decorating the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white floor length gown of nylon over taffeta, the bodice fashioned with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her veil, held in place by a headpiece of two roses, fell just below her shoulders and she carried a cascade of deep red roses.

Mrs. Karl Burezyk, sister of the groom, as matron of honor, was in a light blue street length dress, with a white velvet bow and veil headpiece and white accessories. She carried a bou-quet of white and pink carnations.

Mr. Bevan Salter acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Karl Burezyk and Mr. John Morgan.

Mrs. Hand, mother of the bride, chose a two piece suit of green lace on taffeta, a green and brown velvet hat and black accessories. Her cor-sage was of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Crawford, the groom's mother, wore a blue knit suit with black accessories and a corsage of flamingo carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the United Church Hall, Lennoxville, where the bride's table was centered by a two tier wedding cake, with bouquets of white and yellow shasta daisies com-pleting the table arrangements.

Later, the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Ont., the bride travelling in a green knit two piece dress, black feather hat and black accessories. Her corsage was one yellow rose.

Guests were from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Seven Islands, Montreal, Waterville, North Hat-ley, Manchester, N. H.; Rock Forest and Iroquois, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford have taken up residence at 1054 Cour-cette Street, Sherbrooke.

Today's recipe

APRICOT BREAD PUDDING

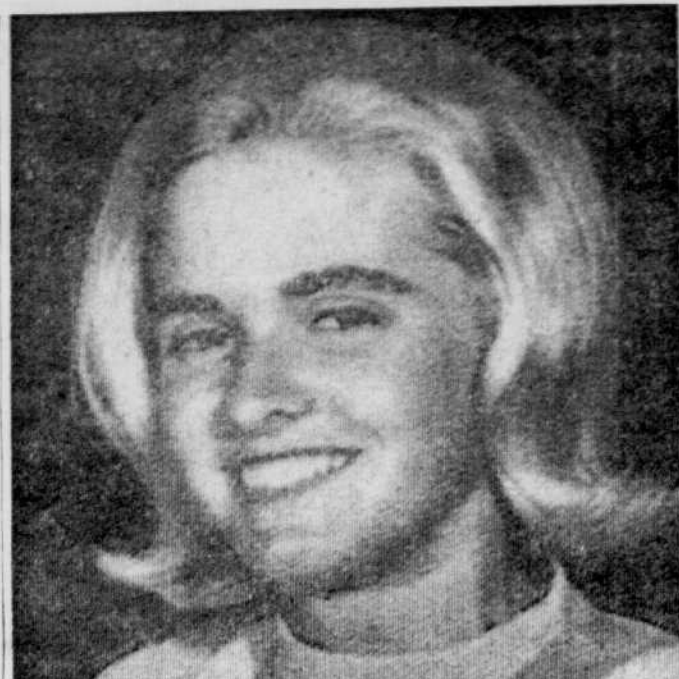

(Serves 6)

4 slices enriched bread
2 teaspoons butter or margar-ine

1 3/4 cups (or 1 1/2 can) apri-cot halves
3 eggs, beaten
3/4 cup milk

1/4 cup apricot juice
3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon lemon extract
1 tablespoon shredded coconut

Trim crusts from bread. Spread 1/2 teaspoon butter on each slice of bread and cut into quarters. Alternate layers of bread and apricots in a greas-ed (1 quart) casserole. Beat eggs and combine with milk, apricot juice and lemon extract. Pour over bread and apricots. Sprinkle coconut over apricots on top layer of casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 de-grees) for 50 minutes.

Australian city is scene of worst crime wave in country's history

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — Sydney is becoming known as the shocking city that nothing can shock.

It is going through the worst crime wave in its history and a worried New South Wales police chief has urged the state govern-ment to take urgent action to control firearms.

There have been 86 major armed holdups and safe rob-beries in Sydney so far this year and scores more "minor" robberies. The safe robbers alone have escaped with more than $400,000 and more than $60,000 has been stolen in bank holdups.

Police Chief Allan, in a des-perate but highly criticized move, has ordered 100 armed detectives stationed in banks throughout the city to prevent robberies. Critics said the banks should provide their own protection but Allan replied that it was only a matter of time be-fore there was bloodshed in a bank holdup.

"I'm accused of pandering to the banks. People forget that someone can get caught in a crossfire in a bank holdup where criminals use high-pow-ered sawn-off rifles."

Acting on police recommen-dations, the state government has increased the maximum sentence for armed robbery to 20 from 14 years. Banks, hotels, clubs and businesses handling large sums of money have been ordered to tighten their internal security, install better alarm systems, and "to take other reasonable safeguards."

POLICE BLAME PEOPLE
While the people of Sydney are criticizing the police for not doing their job properly, police retort that the city itself is to blame.

One senior detective said: "Many Sydney people think it's smart and sophisticated to tolerate graft and vice—until they themselves are hurt. It would be much easier to clean up Sydney if Sydney really wanted to be clean. Business men boast of being at baccarat games where fortunes are won and lost—and then are most surprised when some of the losers buy guns and go into business themselves."

Police are convinced heavy gambling losses at poker machines, which are legal, and baccarat and roulette, which are illegal but "wide open" at dozens of places, have led many men to robbery and violence.

But the big safe and bank robberies are the work of profes-sionals who use stolen cars, stolen guns and stolen gear for safe-breaking.

Robberies are not the only things worrying the police. There have been 24 murders in New South Wales so far this year. Six of them are still un-solved.

Mission Circle plans Yule Salad Tea

The regular meeting of St. Patrick Mission Circle was held recently in the Canon Fiset Memorial Library, with Mrs. Victor Brownlow and Mrs. Dal-by Grainger as hostesses.

The president, Mrs. Mildred Paquette, opened the meeting and asked the members to at-tend the Mass for Our Lady of the Rosary, for peace, to be celebrated the next morning.

The secretary read a letter of thanks from Miss Ave Walsh for sympathy extended her and members of her family on the death of her sister, Kathleen.

Further plans were made for the Christmas salad tea on Nov. 19, to be convened by Miss Ro-berta Tobin. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Lawrence Coogan for the donation of a beautiful hand embroidered ta-ble cloth, to be raffled at a later date.

The Circle was honored by the surprise visit of Father Robert Hymus, Director of Scar-boro Foreign Mission Society and Father Hartie, S.F.M., who gave an interesting informal talk about the foundation of the Society and of their Mission fields in general.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served by the hostesses assisted by other members.

Protesting housewife receives reply from Prime Minister

TORONTO—CP—Mrs. June O'Reilly of Toronto, who sent a gift-wrapped turnip to Prime Minister Pearson earlier this year in protest of high food costs, has received a re-ply from Mr. Pearson.

The Toronto housewife be-came angry when she had to pay $1.20 for the turnip.

Mr. Pearson referred to an enclosed statement he sent along with the letter that deals with "inflationary pressures that arise out of our present prospering and rising prices."

He also said that while gov-ernments have a significant role to play in inflation, so do all Canadians.

ADVISES THRIFT
"We must all show a will-ingness to save instead of spending, to search for sub-sistues and to buy at the low-est possible prices. Higher prices cannot continue to ex-ist unless someone is willing to pay them."

"This in turn has an effect on these essentials which have to be purchased whatever the price."

Mr. Pearson said he sent a copy of Mrs. O'Reilly's letter to the minister of finance and the latter told him the total demands being placed upon the Canadian economy have exceeded what the Canadians are able to achieve.

"It was against this back-ground that the federal gov-ernment moved to restrain ex-cessive demands being placed on the economy, initially a year ago, with respect to the construction industry, and in a more general way in the budget brought down in March this year."

Mini-skirt arrives in Pakistan

KARACHI (Reuters) — The mini-skirt, Pakistan-style, has arrived with a supersonic bang — and Pakistanis are reeling un-der the impact.

Air hostesses of this Islamic country's state-owned Pakistan International Airlines have been given a new uniform straight from the drawing board of the well-known Paris fashion de-signer, Pierre Cardin.

And Cardin has attacked the though not routed, Moslem modesty with revolutionary lines from the West's fashion strong-hold.

He has not violated any part of Islam's rigid requirement that women should be covered from the ankle up. But his skil-ful adaptation of tradition to the jet age has set tongues wagging in wonder.

"It is as much part of the jet age as of 5,000 years of Pa-kistan tradition," the airline de-clares proudly.

HELD COMPETITION
It all began several months ago when the airline held a pub-lic competition in Karachi with a view to bringing the girls' outfits up to date. Cardin was present, and had only lukewarm comments for even the best de-signs.

They were all close varia-tions on the old green-and-white uniform consisting of knee-length, shift-type dress (the traditional Pakistani "ka-meess"), "shalwar" (trousers that bag above the knee and taper to hide the ankles), and a cap.

After a two-week study tour of Pakistan, surveying museums and all the country's regional dress variations, Cardin pro-duced his own design, retaining the basic qualities of an ancient fashion while at the same time modernizing it.

The kamees is slackened and shortened into what one woman fashion writer described a "very all-cut, collarless mini-skirt."

But mini-skirt or not, the air hostesses' knees and ankles stay out of sight beneath a modified halwar, though these trousers, instead of being tapered, now are straight and narrow.

COVER HEADS
The final touch, perfectly in keeping with Pakistani tradi-tion, is the addition of a stole, or "dupatta," which the hos-tessees will wear to cover their heads and shoulders outside the aircraft.

"The new uniform is whole-somely anti-sexual," wrote one commentator. "The bosom is hidden, and so are the waist, the hips and the arms."

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—This spring when sorting through my girls' dresses to see which could be used or handed down, I had trouble telling the sizes of the dresses that I had made. I have solved this problem for the future. I now sew a square of fabric into one of the seams of any garment I am making and write the pattern size on it with a marking pen. I enjoy the column very much but it does annoy me to find out how clever other people are.—SHEILA

DEAR SHEILA—Has it ever occurred to you that there will be those who might envy you or wonder why they did not think of your good idea?—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—My living room suite, made with foam rub-ber, in only one-year-old and smells terrible. I cannot afford to buy another after paying $300 for this one. The store will not take it back as I paid cash, so I am stuck with it. I would certainly appreciate some help.—MRS. W. J. T.

DEAR POLLY — Recently, when making jelly, I did not have a colander to strain the juice. I found that a flour sifter works just fine as it strains the juice and catches all the particles of fruit.

To give the outsides of those stainless steel coffee pots, toas-ters and so on an extra shine, try spraying on window clean-er and then wipe off with a paper towel.—JUDY

GIRLS—This also made my stainless steel counter tops shine like mirrors.—POLLY

Song birds and budgies good pets if treated well

TORONTO (CP)—Canaries are more dignified than budgies. Male budgies are more talkative than females and are apt to be better natured. A female budgie can be spiteful.

A canary must have his cage covered at night. A budgie doesn't care as much. Budgies will play with toys. Canaries aren't interested.

Helen Adams says when you buy either bird, you should buy a male if it's song or conversation you want. Then you must teach the budgie. A canary learns from other canaries.

You should buy a budgie when he is a baby, about 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 weeks old.

"We can't sell canaries as young. They must be seven or eight months old because they don't come into song until then, and a male canary has to have a good singer as a tutor to encourage him."

IMPORTS CANARIES
Mrs. Adams is owner of Hope's Bird Store in Toronto. She imports canaries from Europe and England, but her budgies are Canadian-born, some of them on the prem-ises.

The basement in her shop has several flights — large chicken-wire cages — on one side. Canaries live in one for a few days after their arrival while they get accustomed to new food and water and shake off the effects of their trip.

On the other side of the basement are a series of small, family-size cages. Mother budgies nest in wooden boxes in these cages, hatching eggs about the size of a marble.

Mrs. Adams says it is difficult to determine the age or sex of a canary by sight. A young female budgie has a brownish cere — the ridge above the beak — and is white around the nostrils. The male bird's cere is a purplish blue when he's young, then a bright, definite blue. A bit of black shows on its beak until it is about six weeks old.

These small indications aren't easy for an amateur to see, and Mrs. Adams says most people must rely on the store that sells the birds.

When you get a canary home, she says, he will prob-ably want a drink of water and a bath right away.

Questions readers ask

Q—My 17-year-old daughter refuses to eat liver even though I tell her she should because it will give her lots of iron she needs. But she does like liverwurst. Does liverwurst have any iron in it?

A—Let her eat all the liver-wurst or other liver sausages she likes. They carry at least 30 per cent of the iron and other nutrients in liver. Al-though lower in food value than liver alone, liver sausage pro-vides significant amounts of the iron, protein and certain B vi-tamins.

Farmers study marketing

QUEBEC (CP) — Representatives of about 56,500 Quebec farmers met in suburban Beauport this week and a key topic will be marketing.

About 600 delegates are expected for the annual meeting of l'Union catholique des cultivateurs (Catholic Farmers Union) which ends Thursday.

One resolution to be put before the meeting asks the union to take necessary steps towards obtaining a Canadian law on marketing agricultural products.

Another resolution would protest to the federal government against the absence of consultation between the federal government and groups of farmers who produce milk for dairies.

The union's committee on agricultural policies feels the federal government should act immediately on recommendations made by the Canadian Federation of Milk Producers.

Battled police

MONTREAL (CP) — Police in suburban St. Laurent arrested a 33-year-old man who late Monday night barricaded himself in his wife's apartment and kept up a steady fusillade of gunfire with a 22-calibre revolver.

Police reported that the man apparently wanted to see his wife and flew into a rage when he found her apartment empty. She knew he was coming into town, so she asked for his protection, a police spokesman said.

Asks justice

MONTREAL (CP) — The primary guideline for government expropriation property should be fair indemnity, la Chambre de Commerce du Province de Quebec said today in a brief to the provincial study committee on expropriations.

The committee was created by the cabinet last December to examine expropriations laws and procedures. Today it opened a series of sittings in Montreal.

La chambre made several recommendations.

The person expropriated must be entitled to indemnity based on the real value of his property, it said. "This value should be calculated according to certain predetermined norms — commercial value, business turnover and attendant socio-economic factors."

MONTREAL (CP) — Forty-three weather communicators — teletype operators — walked off the job at the department of transport's regional meteorological office at Montreal International Airport at noon Monday.

JOLIETTE, Que. (CP) — Antonio Barrette, former Union Nationale premier of Quebec, said Sunday the time has come for French-Canadians to demand absolute equality of treatment across Canada.

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP) — Trade Minister Winters urged exporters Monday night to strive for another 12 1/2 per cent increase in exports during 1967, on top of this year's anticipated increase of 14 per cent.

Addressing the annual dinner of the Canadian Export Association, Mr. Winters announced new moves to integrate private and public export drives. All businessmen in Canada should seriously consider getting into the export field.

Exports this year should top $10,000,000,000 for the first time. For 1967, Mr. Winters set an export goal of $11,250,000,000.

TORONTO (CP) — C. Powell Morgan, a key figure in the affairs of Atlantic Acceptance Corp. Ltd., died Monday in hospital of leukemia.

Mr. Morgan, 57, built Atlantic from a small operation in 1933 to a $150,000,000-plus finance company and then saw it collapse in June 1965.

Losses are expected to run to as much as $65,000,000 and a royal commission, headed by Mr. Justice Samuel Hughes of the Ontario Supreme Court, is investigating the company's tangled affairs.

Mr. Morgan failed to appear at the inquiry following the Easter recess. Then, on May 2, Mr. Justice Hughes was told Mr. Morgan was about to enter hospital.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The body of President John F. Kennedy will be moved about 40 feet one night to a new grave site at Arlington National Cemetery.

Army officials say the reburial will take place by Nov. 22, the third anniversary of the president's assassination.

The date will not be made public in advance. The night-time reburial will ensure privacy.

Kennedy's body and those of his two children who died in infancy, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy and "baby girl Kennedy," will be moved to a permanent grave site which is nearing completion.

The prime consideration in re-locating the president's grave was to place it in a direct line with the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument.

Financial report

Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd., Canada's Annapolis, Ont., plant, plans to undertake permanent financing in the Autumn of 1967 for repayment of bank loans. The exact amount and type of such long-term financing has not been decided upon at this time and will not be determined until the time of issue. Funds for capital works are being provided for initially through sale of Canadian Northern Oil & Gas Ltd., cash generated from operations and additional bank loans. Capital expenditures this year will be similar to the $2,670,000 spent in the year ended June 30, 1966.

Sales of Reichhold Chemicals (Canada) Ltd. are continuing at record high levels, although third quarter profits will be affected somewhat by the carry-over of production problems to July. These problems have now been largely solved. Quarterly dividend rate has been increased to 15c from 12c. A 5c extra will be paid along with the regular 15c dividend on Nov. 15-66 to shareholders of record Oct. 28.

Results of Superback Corp. Ltd. for the year ending Nov. 30-66 are expected to be consistent with the progress shown in the first nine months. For the sales totalled $7,126,940 and net income $157,206 as compared nine months ended Aug. 31 with $7,471,545 and a $140 deficit, respectively, last year. BISHOP'S GAITERS TAKE OVER BRUCE COULTER and his highriding Purple and White machine moved into the Capital on the weekend and emerged as the leaders in the OSLAA following their 12-7 upset over St. Pat's College of Ottawa.

IT WAS THE first loss of the season for the Shamrocks as prior to Saturday's game both were tied with two wins each. The Gaiters got off to a quick jump when Al Gratiot, Bishop's top runner, returned the opening kick-off the length of the field and from then on the Coulters kept rolling.

IT WOULD BE hard to pick out any individual stars but one can't overlook Gratiot's outstanding running. Every time he gets the ball he seems to be able to skirt the ends or pick the holes through the line. He rolled up 150 yards for the game.

BISHOP'S SEEMS to have developed a great offensive unit but let's not overlook the boys who stop the visitors from roaming all over the field, the defensive unit. I think that Bruce has come up with a top squad in this department. They held the Shamrocks to a mere seven points when it was rumored St. Pat's had quite a team.

WILLIE MITCHELL must be getting great protection from his front line in order to be able to get Al Gratiot in the clear so often. It would seem that Bruce Coulters and his assistant have come up with another top football squad and stand a good chance of winning the league championship.

THE GAITERS have three more games to go and two wins would give them the title. St. Pat's have to beat Gaiters and take the rest of their games to be in there. Bishop's meet Macdonald and CMR in their final games and they should be able, barring injuries, to take them. Keep them rolling Bruce.

COACH YVON LAMARCHE has his Green and Gold squad from University of Sherbrooke rolling along in fine order but the coach is fuming about penalties his club is picking up. They knocked over Loyola JV's Saturday 40-13 but were tagged with 160 yards in penalties.

STATISTICS OF THE GAME revealed that the Green and Gold had the edge in all departments. Loyola registered 16 first downs to 14 for the home club but U of S picked up 403 yards against 350 for the visitors. In passing they picked up 152 yards to 100. So with figures like these it is hard to understand why they go in for roughing. It may be costly in a close game.

BRIAN LABEREE of the Sherbrooke High School came very close in adding the three-mile Provincial title to his Provincial Schoolboy championships Saturday. He finished second, eleven seconds away from the leader.

LABEREE running under the Eastern Townships Track Association is a strong choice for a berth on a provincial team who will compete in the Dominion Juvenile championship at Port Arthur next month. Nice going Brian and the best in your coming events.

BRUCE COULTER has invited students from the Eastern Townships to compete in the annual Harrier Meet which will take place at Bishop's Nov. 5. The course is about 2.3 miles long over a rolling terrain.

BRUCE HAS sent out invitations to 13 schools and hopes he will get a favorable field to compete in the event. Brian Laberee won it last year and will be on hand to defend his laurels.

BEAVERS HIT SNAG

SHERBROOKE BEAVERS ran into a little player problem Sunday in Victoriaville and came out on the short end of a 8-3 count with the Tigers of Victoriaville. They were minus three key men and this didn't help their cause.

THE TIGERS, under Lou Poliquin, gave notice that they won't be any pushover this year. They have, through the help mostly of the Beavers, got themselves a pretty fair club and with Lou at the helm they could be tough.

COACH ROY was forced to don his skates as Ray Dupuis and Serge Roy, both defensemen, were absent. This left a big hole at the blue line and Jim Beckman, who seems to be turning into Sherbrooke's top utility man, was thrown into the breach. We understand he turned in a fair job at the new spot.

BILL DUPRE wasn't in uniform as he is at loggerheads with the executive of the club. It seems that he wants more than the club is willing to shell out. It will be interesting to see how it turns out.

UNDER THE new setup at the Sports Centre the Beavers will have to watch their budget and stick to it very closely. It will be a lot different from past years when they had the Arena on a flat basis. This year it is on a percentage system which will make things tough.

THEIR FIRST HOME game is slated Sunday when they will receive the Tigers. This should be a real old battle as the locals will be out to make amends for the setback they received. On Thursday they journey to Drummondville for their first look at the revamped Eagles. This should be another tough battle as the Eagles held the Gauls to a 2-2 deadlock Sunday.

JAMIE KENNEDY of the Sherbrooke Braves set a merry pace Sunday when he rifled home four goals and Coach Plamondon's crew came up with an imposing 7-4 win over Shawinigan. It was the Braves' second win in three starts. They lost to Trois Rivières Leafs.

THE BRAVES picked up another top rearguard in Raymond Brunette and he played Sunday. Coach Plamondon is more than satisfied with his performance. Marc Desy turned in another fine job in the nets for the Braves.

KENNEDY AND HIS trio of Bill Murray and Pierre Jarry all took part in the four goals. Yves Remillard, Alain Pineault and Richard Lecours accounted for the other markers.

CLIFF FLETCHER, chief scout for the St. Louis Blues of the NHL, is more than satisfied with the showing of his proteges. The Braves will play their first home game Thursday evening at the Arena when they will take on the Thetford Canadiens and a good crowd is expected.

Ticats in unfamiliar spot in EFC

Hamilton Tiger-Cats can take little satisfaction in the fact that they lost by only two points to Ottawa Rough Riders in Eastern Football Conference action Sunday.

Because while the Riders can breathe easier after locking up the conference title with a 20-18 victory over Hamilton the Tiger-Cats still are under the gun and will be for at least one more game.

The Cats must defeat Montreal Alouettes in Montreal Saturday or face the possibility of finishing third and losing the advantage of having their home park for the sudden-death semi-final.

Montreal's 27-11 defeat Toronto Argonauts in Toronto Saturday, which relegated the Argos to last place in the four-team conference for the fifth consecutive year, kept alive the Al's slim chance of tying Hamilton for second place.

CALGARY (CP)—A last-minute surge by Calgary Stampeders left one play and three yards short Monday as British Columbia Lions kept their Western Football Conference playoff hopes alive with a 13-9 victory before 18,000 fans.

Quarterback Pete Liske was hauled down by Greg Findlay and Pokey Allen on the B.C. three-yard line after a 15-yard romp on the last play of the game.

The verdict left B.C. alone in the conference basement, one point behind Calgary and Edmonton Eskimos, tied for third place. Saskatchewan Roughriders, assured of the league championship, are first and Winnipeg Blue Bombers second.

Each club has two games remaining. Liske spearheaded a fourth-quarter passing attack against a strong wind as the Stampeders attempted to overcome a shaky start.

SCORE FOR B.C.

A two-yard plunge by Larry Elmes, and Bill Mitchell's place - kicking accounted for B.C.'s scoring. Mitchell earned five points on a field goal, a convert and a single on a wide field - goal attempt. A conceded safety touch completed the total.

Ron Payne took a pass from Liske in the third quarter for the Calgary touchdown. Larry Robinson converted and added two singles on wide-field-goal attempts.

B.C. coach Dave Skrien praised an outstanding catch by Willie Fleming on the last play of the third quarter as the turning point. Elmes barged over on the first play of the fourth quarter.

The Lions, weary in their second game of the weekend, controlled the ball in the third quarter against a wind that gusts to about 35 miles an hour. The Stampeders, who totalled only 27 yards rushing as they concentrated on a passing attack, struck against the wind in the final stages.

Statistics were virtually even. Each club managed 18 first downs. Calgary compiled 272 yards passing and B.C. 194 rushing. Quarterback Joe Kapp of B.C. completed nine of 13 attempts and Liske and Jerry Keeling of the Stampeders combined for 17 completions in 35 attempts.

The Calgary offence stuttered throughout the first half. The Stampeders, who earned only eight yards rushing before the half, led 1-0 after the first quarter and trailed 3-2 after 30 minutes as Mitchell hooped his field goal with one play remaining in the half. B.C. led 5-2 after three quarters.

After punter Jim Furlong conceded a safety touch in the third quarter an interception foiled Calgary's attempt to start a drive from deep in Stampeders territory.

Following Elmes' touchdown, B.C. got another opportunity to wrap up the decision when Howard Starks fumbled and Gary Porterfield recovered on the kickoff.

Mitchell's single made it 13-2 at 2:02 and Liske finally launched Calgary's comeback about five minutes later. His touchdown pass to Payne travelled 30 yards and set the stage for the abortive final bid.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Moe Racine leads Kemp by a point

Weekend action in the Eastern Football Conference resulted in little change in the individual statistics with Ottawa Rough Riders leading in four categories.

The Riders, who clinched first place in the four-team conference, have the top scorer in Moe Racine, the best passer in Joe Poirier and the top punt-return man in Bo Scott.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, battling with Montreal Alouettes for second place, boast the leading punter in Joe Zuger and the top punt-return man in Garney Henley. Montreal's Don Lisbon leads rushers and Bob Taylor of Toronto Argonauts tops pass-receivers.

Racine scored eight points in Ottawa's 20-18 victory over Hamilton Sunday and maintained a one-point margin over Peter Kemp of Montreal in the scoring race.

The trophies for these championships will be presented to the winners at a banquet to be held later this year.

Gordie Howe signs his 21st contract with Wings, hoping for good year
DETROIT (AP) — Twenty years ago Gordie Howe scored his first National Hockey League goal to launch a career with Detroit Red Wings.

Howe, 38, his thinning hair showing gray, signed Monday for a record 21st NHL season with the Wings and could look back on a record 689 goals.

Howe signed for what may be a record salary for a hockey player. His salary for the 1966-67 season, which opens Wednesday night at Boston, is an estimated $40,000-plus, a raise of about $5,000.

Asked how he feels about signing for a record 21st season Howe grinned. "I'm looking forward to it," he said. "My only disappointment is that coach Sid Abel wouldn't give me a three year contract."

Howe hurt his knee in a pre-season exhibition game and was off the ice for 17 days. But he scored one goal and two assists during weekend action.

Beavers hold workout Final one in Arena, move to new quarters tomorrow, Braves open here Thursday

Sherbrooke Beavers will be holding their final workout at the Arena this evening when they take to the ice at 8:00 p.m. Tomorrow they move to the Sports Centre and their new quarters.

Coach Roy and his Beavers are in an unfamiliar spot in the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League, the cellar. In their first start they were upset by the revamped Tigers of Victoriaville 8-3. The local crew was minus three key men and this made a big difference.

Sherbrooke will clash with the Eagles in Drummondville Thursday evening in what will be a important battle for both clubs. The Eagles are very confident after holding the Gauls of St. Hyacinthe to a 2-2 tie Sunday and will be gunning for another victory to take over the lead.

Roland Bolduc, general manager of the Eagles, has already stated that the Allan Cup playoffs will be held in Drummondville next spring. They are expecting Gilbert Laplante to join the club shortly and this will add strength to the rearguard unit. The team seems to have suddenly developed a terrific spirit and have taken a new lease on life.

Bill Gadsby, who retired from the Red Wings last spring, and Dit Clapper, who retired from Boston in 1947, were the only other men to play 20 years in the NHL.

Howe became the first regular - season 600-goal scorer last year, and is only 11 goals short of becoming the first in NHL history to score 700 goals in combined regular-season and playoff action.

Howe has finished among the NHL's top five scorers for 17 consecutive seasons, including last season when he netted 29 goals and 46 assists.

He has been scoring champion six times, Most Valuable Player six times, an All-Star 17 times, goal-scoring leader five times, a 20-goal man 17 times, a 30-goal scorer 11 times, and a 40-goal man four times.

DICK DUFF OUT

MONTREAL (AP)—Left wing Dick Duff will be lost to Montreal Canadiens for an indefinite period because of a knee injury suffered in practice Monday, the National Hockey League club announced.

Montreal Canadiens: A set hockey club which won the league championship and the Stanley Cup last year; strong from the forward line right back to Charlie Hodge and Gump Worsley — the Vezina Twins — in goal.

Chicago Black Hawks: A strong team, built around such flyers as Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, but without the key goal-tending of retired Glenn Hall and missing Bill (Red) Hay at centre.

Detroit Red Wings: Toughest back-checking team in the league, but hurt with the retirement of defencemen Bill Gadsby and Doug Barkley. If Gordie Howe begins to feel his age, Wings could drop.

Toronto Maple Leafs: Starting the season with key injuries, but a club with good veterans and promising newcomers. If goalie Johnny Bower holds up, Leafs' depth could carry them.

Boston Bruins: Weak at centre and left wing, but with good, strong legs on defence; counting heavily on Bobby Orr, 18-year-old junior sensation, to lift the club toward

Canadiens pick of crop in NHL with Hawks favored in second, golden jubilee season opens

Bruce Levett, Canadian Press sports editor, has toured the training camps of all six National Hockey League teams. Here he predicts the order of finish, based on pre-season form.

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Sports Editor
Coach Toe Blake's cries of caution notwithstanding, Montreal Canadiens are favored to finish first in the National Hockey League for the eighth time in 10 years.

The NHL goes into its golden jubilee season Wednesday night as a six-team league for the last time before expanding to two divisions embracing 12 clubs.

Montreal is the pick of the crop—but below that, anything can happen. Chicago placed second last year, followed in order by Toronto, Detroit, Boston and New York and this season could well end up the same way.

However, perennial top clubs are stricken with injuries and key retirements and some of the recent also-rans are on rebuilding and strengthening programs.

On pre - season form, the NHL could wind up the 70-game schedule this way:

Montreal Canadiens: A set hockey club which won the league championship and the Stanley Cup last year; strong from the forward line right back to Charlie Hodge and Gump Worsley — the Vezina Twins — in goal.

Chicago Black Hawks: A strong team, built around such flyers as Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, but without the key goal-tending of retired Glenn Hall and missing Bill (Red) Hay at centre.

Detroit Red Wings: Toughest back-checking team in the league, but hurt with the retirement of defencemen Bill Gadsby and Doug Barkley. If Gordie Howe begins to feel his age, Wings could drop.

Toronto Maple Leafs: Starting the season with key injuries, but a club with good veterans and promising newcomers. If goalie Johnny Bower holds up, Leafs' depth could carry them.

Boston Bruins: Weak at centre and left wing, but with good, strong legs on defence; counting heavily on Bobby Orr, 18-year-old junior sensation, to lift the club toward the fourth playoff spot they missed by 26 points last season.

New York Rangers: A tough gang, with an average weight of 187 pounds. Retired Bernie Geoffrion should make a difference, especially on the power plays. Coach Emile Francis is combining experience with youth and the accent is on hitting. A healthy Rod Gilbert could change things for the club that was last by one point in the spring.

There's one new coach in the NHL this year—Boston's Harry Sinden. Like Toronto's

George (Punch) Imlach, Sinden never made the big league as a player but showed his organizational powers in the minors. At 34, he's the youngest coach on the list.

The clubs are going into the 50th season with a determination tempered by more than the thought of league championship and Stanley Cup.

Next year the league expands to take in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Los Angeles and San Francisco-Oakland.

Gore Women's Institute entertains staff of St. Francis High School

GORE — Mrs. Max Hughes entertained the Women's Institute at her home on Oct. 1. Mrs. S. Husk welcomed several guests, including members of the staff of St. Francis High School. A new member, Mrs. R. Wright, was welcomed.

The treasurer reported that $32 had been realized from serving dinners at the annual plowing match on Sept. 24.

The convener of education, Miss Watt, had attended a meeting of the Bursary Committee in Danville, when three annual bursary winners were chosen.

Cancer dressings were given out to be made. A donation of $5 is to be sent to U.N.I.C.E.F. Several suggestions for centennial projects and a county project for next year were discussed. Copies of the recently issued History of Richmond County were sold.

Much concern was expressed over the report that the picnic area, recently set up was being misused as several lots of rubbish have been dumped there.

The group had planned to set up another table next year, but now wonders if it is worth while if this is an example of the way the area is to be used.

Delegates to the county meeting, to be held at St. Francis High School on Oct. 22, are Miss Watt, Mrs. Fallona and Mrs. Gilchrist. Four members are to bring articles for the auction.

A bank, containing silver, was presented to an expectant mother.

The Bible Quiz, conducted by Miss Watt, was won by a guest, Miss Moorhead and the draw-
