Have traffic jam on church steps

CAPRI, Italy (AP) — There's a church on the Isle of Capri that has a problem: too many tourists. They spill over from the sidewalk cafes onto the steps of the Roman Catholic Church of Santo Stefano.

The pastor first tried boxing down the steps with water several times daily. But the tourists came to sit on the cool, wet steps on the hot summer days.

So the priest consulted the mayor of Capri and they had a white traffic lane painted up the center of the steps. Loungers can sit on either side, but the middle may be trod only by churchgoers.

Russia protests Canadian troops

Blunt US criticism

Charge Castro regime racing to communism

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, brandishing its bluntest criticism of the Fidel Castro regime, has accused Cuba of racing into a Communist-controlled dictatorship.

The accusation was further evidence that both the United States and Cuba will step into the meeting of Western hemisphere foreign ministers next week in an angry, unbudging mood.

More evidence of hardening may accumulate today as the 21-country council of the Organization of American States considers the agenda for the foreign ministers meeting in San Jose, Costa Rica, Aug. 15.

The ministers are tentatively scheduled to discuss tensions between Venezuela and the Dominican Republic, and between the United States and Cuba.

Claude Boucher, 23, 5 St. Luke Street, Magog, is in La Providence Hospital in Magog suffering from a fractured leg. He was found on the main Sherbrooke-Magog highway at 10:35 p.m. Saturday night but was unable to give police any details of the accident.

Court's evidence is melting away

LONDON (Reuters) — A detective told a judge here Saturday the evidence in a theft case was slowly melting away.

He asked permission to return the evidence — $240 worth of ice cream — to its owners.

But the judge, postponing the case of two men accused of stealing the ice cream and a third charged with receiving, asked the detective to try to keep it over the weekend.

Ask church unity

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Churchmen of the world were urged Sunday night to lower the barriers dividing their sects to achieve "Unity in Christ." That message was in a sermon by the Rev. K. E. Skjoggaard of Copenhagen University, Denmark, at a service attended by leaders preparing the annual meeting of the World Council of Churches.

R.C. Church speaks up

HAVANA, A.P. Armed Cuban militiamen were in full control of most United States property in Cuba today following its nationalization by Fidel Castro's regime.

The revolutionary regime's new retaliation against the U.S. came only a few hours before the island's Roman Catholic hierarchy warned against "the increasing advance of communism in our country."

It was the church's first official criticism of the steadily increasing influence of the Communist bloc on the Castro regime.

Prime Minister Castro and his ministers made plain they stood with the Soviet Union as an economic and military ally, regardless of what other Latin American governments might think.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa declared Cuba would reject any resolution of the Organization of American States, at its meeting opening Aug. 16, might adopt protesting Soviet interference in the western hemisphere. He asserted Russia's offer to defend Cuba against aggression could not be interference in the hemisphere's internal affairs.

Castro got out of a sick bed to announce the seizure of $770,000,000 worth of American-owned property before a crowd of 50,000 at the Latin American Youth Congress early Sunday.

Set terms for trade with Japan

TOKYO (Reuters) — Communist China has outlined three stringent conditions under which it will resume trade with Japan, press reports disclosed Sunday.

The trade terms were revealed to Japanese Socialist Party leaders by the Communist Chinese delegation attending the world congress against nuclear weapons here.

Delegation chief Liu Nung Yi, president of the All China Federation of Trade Unions, said trade would be resumed only if Japan "stops following a hostile policy toward Communist China; keeps out of intrigues to create two Chinas; and does not disturb efforts to establish normal relations between the two countries."

Ask UN prevent measure

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (CP) — A Tass news agency dispatch dated New York said today that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Visly Kuznetsov had protested to UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold against the dispatch of Canadian troops to the Congo.

Last Monday the Canadian House of Commons unanimously approved the sending of 500 service troops to the Congo.

Kuznetsov said that "in view of the plans to send Canadian troops to the Congo, the U.S.S.R. government cannot regard these actions in any other way but as contradicting the resolutions of the Security Council in connection with the imperial aggression against the independent Congo republic, and resolutely objects to the dispatch of Canadian troops to the Congo."

The Soviet government expects that the United Nations secretary-general, guided by the resolutions of the Security Council, will take the necessary measures to see that either the troops nor the military personnel of Belgium's allies in military blocs will be sent to the republic of the Congo.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Two rival proposals may be put before the Security Council today to get United Nations troops into the secessionist Congo province of Katanga.

Diplomatic sources said Ceylon and Tunisia probably will introduce a resolution specifying that the 12,000-man UN force in the Congo will not intervene in internal conflicts.

The aim would be to assure Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga that the UN will not try to force him to accept the UN's terms.

Teenage riots erupt in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Hundreds of leather-jacketed teen-agers erupted in wild riots Saturday night at two widely separated Swedish towns. More than 50 were arrested.

At Karskoga in west Sweden about 500 boys and girls rioted. About 45 youngsters were arrested, including three girls, one of whom was attired only in her brassiere.

Manhunt ends

Capture farm boy in hayloft

ABRAM'S VILLAGE, P.E.I. — Andrew Alfonso Arsenault, a 15-year old youth who eluded police and police dogs for a week, was captured in a hayloft Sunday in this rural Acadian community near Summerside and charged with murder.

The youth, armed with a .22 calibre rifle, gave in without an argument when approached by four RCMP officers and a police dog as the biggest manhunt in the history of Canada's smallest province came to an end.

Arsenault, a husky lad who was said to be in good condition despite his week-long ordeal, was taken to Summerside, 16 miles away, and arraigned in an adult magistrate's court on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting July 31 of Joseph Tillman Gallant, 41.

Crown prosecutor George R. McMahon said the boy will appear in adult court Friday for a preliminary hearing. This hearing will decide whether the youth will go on trial in Prince Edward Island Supreme Court.

SHOT IN HEAD

Gallant, a well-liked and popular farmer here, was shot through the head while he slept with his wife and six-year-old daughter. The killer had built a crude platform to reach the first-floor bedroom window of the Gallant farm home, then rammed the barrel of a rifle through the screen and fired.

RCMP Inspector Arthur Argent, brought in from Truro to head the search said Sunday a farm boy reported fresh tracks in a field.

A police dog, one of three brought in from the mainland, picked up the scent and followed it to a barn on the farm of Elmer Gallant.

PLACE TO SLEEP

The arrest was made by Constable W. L. Davis of Charlottetown. The youth had entered the barn during the night to sleep.

During his week in the fly-infested bush, police said Arsenault existed on food stolen from outlying houses abandoned when the owners moved in with neighbors for protection.

Inspector Argent said the dense bush where the youth held out made a sweep search impossible. The search centred in a four-mile area north of this small community where most residents farm but some fish.

Runs out of gas — the hard way

TORONTO (AP) — Cabbie Martin Padmore ran out of gas Sunday the hard way. He was driving downtown when there was a thump and the motor stopped. He stepped out to investigate. The gas tank had fallen off.

SUMMER THRILLS — Jacqueline Loiselle of Sherbrooke, one of two parachutists who jumped yesterday at the Little Lake Regatta is pictured above seconds before she landed near the spectators at the beach. She and Jacques Codere also of Sherbrooke, gave spectators a spectacular exhibition of the breath-taking sport as they jumped from about 3,000 feet. Mr. Codere's jump landed him, as intended, in the water a few feet in front of the judges stand while Miss Loiselle landed on solid ground in a clearing. (Record Photo by Gerry Lemay).

Bar is closed

Brousseau makes abstinence plea

DEAUVILLE — Parents attending the Deauville Regatta here Sunday were asked by Sherbrooke Liberal MPP Louis-Philippe Brousseau to abstain from drinking alcoholic beverages thus setting an example for their children.

Mr. Brousseau addressed those present following the distribution of prizes ceremony Sunday following the regatta and said nothing would be spared to assure the application of the Quebec Liquor Laws.

The Liberal MPP added that if such groups as the Little Lake Magog Nautical Club wanted the Quebec Liquor Laws changed they had to do so by asking the Quebec Legislature. He added however, that until such demands were made the present law would strictly be observed.

Immediately after Mr. Brousseau's speech, the bar at the nearby Auberge des Pins was closed. The deputy from Sherbrooke remarked that at the moment he was speaking the sale of alcoholic beverages was prohibited because it was past 9 p.m.

He said that on Sundays, the sale of alcoholic beverages was permitted between the hours of 1 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Mr. Brousseau said that the owner of the nearby Auberge des Pins, by stopping the sale of liquor, would not suffer financially because the law would be applied in the same way everywhere.

Deauville's parish priest, Rev. Paul Levesque supported Mr. Brousseau's views.

"I fully endorse the decisions taken even though it means a few sacrifices for some people," he said.

PM, Pearson clash

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament set to permit members to attend the state funeral in Toronto today after one of the session's bitterest exchanges between Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Opposition Leader Pearson.

The two political leaders clashed in the Commons late Saturday after the prime minister said the Liberal opposition is "not unhelpful" of a depression.

Mr. Pearson branded the charge a "malicious falsehood." They crossed swords in a hectic 1½-hour tussle during debate on the trade department's spending program for the current fiscal year. The debate was to resume when the Commons meets at 3 p.m. today and there now is hope that prorogation will be possible by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The 3 p.m. opening hour — instead of 11 a.m. as usual — was set to permit members to attend the state funeral in Toronto today of former Conservative prime minister Arthur Meighen.

HARSH WORDS

Some of the harshest words of the session were uttered during the clash between Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Pearson. Deputy Speaker Jacques Flynn frequently had to call both to order.

The eruption occurred after Mr. Diefenbaker denied a charge by Mr. Pearson that he had removed a page marked "confidential" from a 1957 report on economic prospects for that year before tabling it in the Commons in 1958.

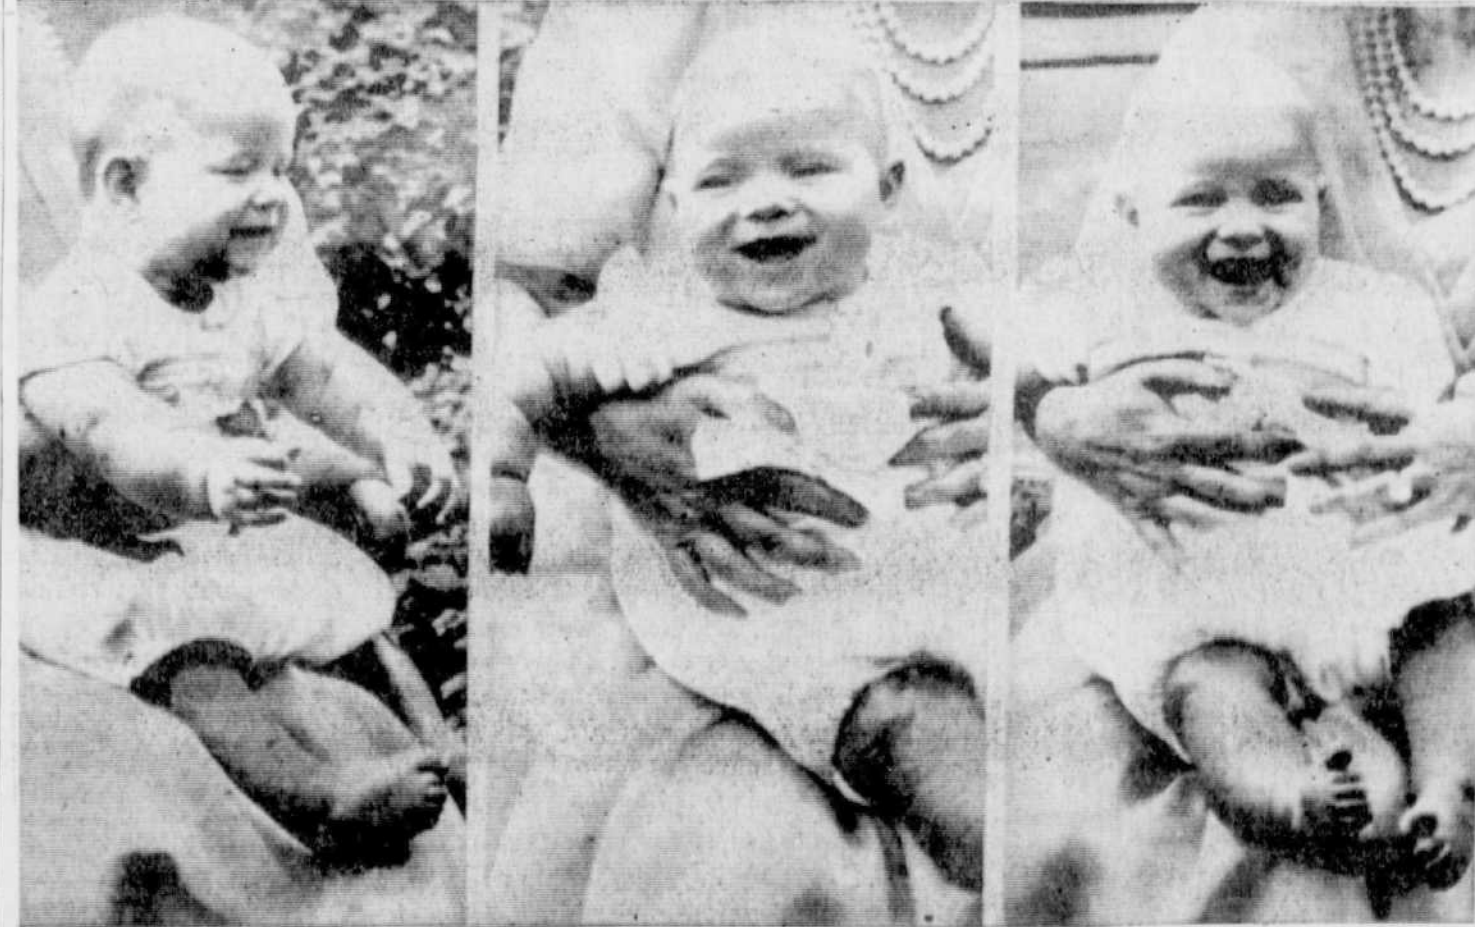

The report, entitled Canadian Economic Outlook, 1957, was prepared for the former Liberal government by federal economists. Since its tabling, the Liberal opposition by federal economists.

Since its tabling, the Liberal opposition has protested the report was made public by Mr. Diefenbaker for political purposes and that he had no constitutional right to do so.)

Mr. Diefenbaker denied he had removed any part of the report. He said the report seared the souls of the Liberal opposition because it warned that Canada in 1958 would enter a period of recession. The Liberals had kept this fact from the public while in office.

Missisquoi group plans to issue annual report

BEDFORD — Members of the committee in charge of preparing the sixth annual report of the Missisquoi Historical Society met in the office of the president, Fred Rousseau, to make arrangements for its publication.

During the time that the old Missisquoi Historical Society was flourishing, annual reports were published. Mrs. J. Moore, of Fordyce, brought a number of the old reports to the meeting, which were most interesting, containing accounts of various historical sites and happenings, as well as articles dealing with prominent county residents.

Members felt that the custom of publishing yearly reports should be resumed. It was also decided, in keeping with the format of the previous reports, that no advertising appear.

It is hoped to have the material ready for publication by September. Mrs. Moore and Miss Marion Phelps were appointed to look after the assembling of the articles, while the following were appointed as proof-readers: Mrs. Chester Adams, Mr. MacCallum, Clarenceville and Noyan, Mr. Edmund Spencer, Freightsburg, Mrs. J. Ellis, Dunham, and Mr. G. Hawke, Farnham.

In addition to the above, who will also contribute articles dealing with their own districts, Mr. Rousseau will contribute several articles in French. Everyone is to be responsible for turning in their material, typewritten, single spaced.

It was decided to include the report of the opening meeting, held on January 20 last, when plans were made to revive the original society.

The annual meeting will be held on Saturday, 17, in the United Church, Bedford, at 2 p.m. Mr. Rousseau was appointed to contact Mrs. Gates, president of the Franklin County, Vt., Historical Society, to give an address at the meeting on the celebration held at Eccles Hill last summer, which will be illustrated by slides. Mrs. Gates was instrumental in making many of the arrangements in connection with last year's celebrations.

Among those who supplied cars for the Guides were Mrs. Richard W. Craighead, camp treasurer, Mrs. William Jackson, Guide secretary for Missisquoi Division, and Mrs. George Hamilton.

He spent the night near the brook and said that he had slept for several hours beside a fire which he built.

The search was concentrated in this area, a very marshy one, and was successful a short time after it began. Mr. Baron returned to civilization in excellent condition.

Rapid progress at plant

Preliminary work at the Walter M. Lowney Company site is going ahead rapidly, a report from the company's head office in Montreal shows.

Excavation work is now complete. Over 90,000 yards of earth and rock have been removed to make way for the new building. The foundation piles have also been complete. A total of 580 in all were driven.

At present, contractors are busy erecting foundation walls and structural floors. Structural steel erection should begin this week.

The underground mains and sewers are now being laid concurrently with the underground piping, the latter to service the automatic fire protection system. The outside drainage is approximately 35 per cent completed to date.

Danville Centennial weekend

Tourist improvements urged

By WILLIAM LUNAN
(Special to the Record)

DANVILLE — The Chambers of Commerce held their Regional meeting here Saturday afternoon in conjunction with the centennial celebrations being held this summer.

Some hundred and fifty delegates were welcomed at the doors to the town by Mayor Myron E. Chaddock and the aldermen, where the president of the Regional Chamber, Andre Drouin, was presented with the "keys to the town", for the day.

A parade was formed, led by the Juvenile Police Club Precision Squad under the command of Chief Paul Breton, followed by the Warwick Harmony Band and the presidents of the various chambers. Mayor Chaddock and delegates, proceeded to the Town Hall where the guests signed the Golden Book.

At a general meeting held in the Town Hall, the main subject of discussion was a program to attract the tourist trade to the district.

The question of better roads was discussed and the complete overhauling of Route 5 which is inadequate to serve the present flow of traffic was recommended. Sites for camping were recommended and better service of rest rooms at stations along the route.

Public parks were few, and each village or town was to be approached to see if the authorities would take steps to remedy this. Public libraries and art exhibits were mentioned as another tourist attraction which few towns have.

DANVILLE — (Special) — Leonce Pelletier was elected by acclamation to the Seat number four of the Danville Town Council when nominations were announced Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Mr. Pelletier fills the vacancy left by Emile Roy who vacated the seat several weeks ago to run for mayor.

This is the fourth nomination to be called in the town within the past six months for the replacing of either the mayor or aldermen.

The regular town council meeting will be held on Wednesday, August 10, when the council will face a full agenda.

The present council is composed of: Mayor Myron E. Chaddock, elected to office July 26th, Dr. Leo Proulx, pro-mayor, seat 5; Simon Beauchemin, seat 1; George Flack, seat 2; Gerard LaFrance, seat 3; Leonce Pelletier elected to seat 4; and Wade Gifford, seat 6.

But, says Montecino, recently he has gotten itchy fingers and he feels ready for another try at marathon playing.

He made Canadian news in 1958 when he set a British Empire record of 133 hours and 10 minutes while playing at the Sydney Press Club. Ten days later he added an hour to the time in a marathon session in St. John, New Brunswick.

A heavy smoker at all times Montecino chain smokes during his marathon in order to keep awake. He estimates that then he smokes up to 250 cigarettes a day.

And at the same time he drinks gallons of tea and impressive quantities of beefsteak and eggs.

Although he can't read a note of music, Montecino claims he knows the words or music of practically every popular song since the Twenties. These, laced with variations on the classics, provide the ammunition for his marathon assaults on the piano.

He just keeps them rolling — rag-time, straight and rock'n' roll.

"It's no trouble once you get going. One song suggests another," he says.

first vice-president and Marc De Courval of Danville was elected second vice-president. The secretary will be named at a later date by the president as it is custom to name a person from the same town as that in which the president resides.

The ladies were entertained in the afternoon by a committee under the direction of Mr. Marc Fougrette and Mrs. Omer Bolduc. They made a visit to the Manasas Farm which is owned by Bob Laberge and situated three miles from the town proper.

This is one of the largest farms in the district consisting of 812 acres, 400 of which are cultivated. Two hundred and thirty-five head of steers, 1000 hogs, hens and cows are the stock on the farm. There are twenty-six buildings on the property beside residences for the hired help and the main home of Mr. Laberge. There are three artificial lakes on the farm.

A tour was made of the O.T.J. playground and the Carmelite Monastery and the Hamilton Hall on Grove Street where there is a fine display of antiques.

The Ladies Committee of the centennial group served tea.

A reception was given at the Recreation Centre on Station Street by the town council after which a banquet was held at Mar Lodge.

Seated at the head table were: Mr. Florent Dubois, M.P. and his wife; Mr. Yvon Jutras, representing the provincial president of the Chamber of Commerce, and his wife; Mr. Andre Drouin, past president, and his wife; Mr. Benoit Auger, president-elect; Mayor Myron E. Chaddock and his wife; Mayor Gaston Theroux of Asbestos, and his wife; Mr. Yves Theriault, the guest speaker and Yvon Sirois, of the Montreal Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Emile LaFrance and Bernard Pinard were unable to attend due to business engagements.

Florent Dubois read a letter from Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, congratulating the Town of Danville on the occasion of the centenary.

Robert Curtis of Danville, Vermont congratulated the Chambers for the work which they were doing and thanked the members for the invitation which they extended to him and his friends to attend the celebrations.

The evening closed with a dance in the hall.

There were "thrills", and "treats" which kept the crowd of a thousand well occupied throughout the afternoon.

Mayor Myron E. Chaddock officially sent off the first car from the starting line, driven by Billy Cook, five of Danville.

Two cars at a time, proceeded down the road to establish a clocked record. The loser of each heat was eliminated while the winners competed till there were four left in the running.

In the semi-finals were: J. Boppert of Lake Megantic, time 63 sec; P. Grenier, Lake Megantic, time 51 sec; John Gagnon, Danville, time 48 sec; and Marc Chagnon, Danville, time 52 sec.

The finals saw John Gagnon of Danville ride in with a time of 47 seconds over P. Grenier with a time of 51 1/2 seconds.

Mayor Chaddock presented the prizes to the winners. These were donated by the Asbestos Transport Company.

The children were given sacks of potato chips donated by the Adam's Chips of Sherbrooke and soft drinks by Paul Brunelle of Victoriaville.

The day's event was sponsored by the Centennial committee with the help of George Olney, Paul Breton, Rusty Carr, Joe Batstone, Hertel Boisvert, Bertrand Desharnais, Harry McKeown and Fernand Croteau.

Child welfare clinic

The report for the month of July of a free dental clinic held for underprivileged children at the Sherbrooke Hospital underlines the fine work that is being done by the Child Welfare Clinic in this area.

A total of over 130 children were given the vital dental care last month. In addition to this, underprivileged children were provided with milk and vitamin capsules as well as medical service during the school term.

Free transportation is being provided by various residents of the Eastern Townships and various organizations donate money towards the financing of the project.

This kind of community service deserves all the public support possible. Most of us do not often come in contact with needy children in the Eastern Townships.

Too often, perhaps, because we do not live in a large metropolitan environment like Montreal or Toronto, we are inclined to assume that the problem is not serious here.

But need does exist in this area, and it is a need which must be met. Health is the most important possession children have. It must be safeguarded, not only in the interest of the children, but also in the interests of a strong, wholesome community.

Dog bites

Last week in New York City the public health service released some startling statistics on dog bites.

In a survey conducted during 1957 it was found that 611,500 persons in the United States had been bitten by dogs. And it was estimated that this type of injury means an annual drain on family budgets of $5,000,000 because of medical expense.

The resulting recommendation of the health service: "Don't give a dog to a child under the age of six."

A few days later another story appeared, this one from Honey Harbor, Ontario.

It told of a little dachshund saving the life of its mistress' baby when the child was menaced by a Massasauga rattler. The dog ran between the baby and the snake, barking furiously and was bitten. Fortunately it is expected to recover since it was rushed to a veterinarian in time to receive treatment.

Dog lovers, undoubtedly, will find this one specific and favorable incident more impressive than the general and negative statistics.

Rest easy

Rest easy. According to a report from Washington the Pentagon has placed the odds against an atom bomb blowing up accidentally at a trillion to one.

'Accidentally', of course, means due to mechanical failure or due to crashes and fires involving weapon carrying vehicles. It has nothing to do with human failures.

Apparently four planes have now crashed with nuclear weapons aboard. And the long odds of a trillion to one have proven justified in these cases at least. As well, a Bomarc missile recently caught fire and although it caused considerable panic there was no atomic explosion.

It seems that accidental detonation is all but impossible because of the complicated electrical process used in triggering the atomic chain reaction.

It's a pity that there is not a similarly complicated control over human operators who could, conceivably, touch off an atomic blast in one irrational moment.

Canada's Bill of Rights

Recognize rights and freedoms

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada gets its own bill of rights this week, 93 years after becoming a self-governing dominion. Already plans are afoot to extend it.

The bill, restricted in its application to matters under federal jurisdiction, is due to receive royal assent and become law this week when Parliament prorogues.

It was approved last week by both House of Commons and Senate. Although approval was virtually unanimous, it got a rough ride from opposition parties which contended it didn't go far enough.

The bill spells out two rights and four freedoms for every Canadian. The rights are: Life, liberty, security of the person and enjoyment of property; equality before and protection by the law. The freedoms are of religion, speech, assembly and the press.

MAY BE EXTENDED

It applies to all existing and future federal legislation. A move to broaden it to cover provincial legislation and embed it in a new Canadian constitution is at hand.

Justice Minister Fulton says the government has proposals to put before provincial attorneys-general this fall at a conference to consider how the British North America Act of 1867, Canada's basic constitution, can be amended in Canada. It is still a United Kingdom statute.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker, the bill's sponsor, said that when a way is found for Canada to amend its constitution at home, one of the first amendments should be to write a bill of rights touching on all levels of government.

Justice Minister Fulton says that some federal laws already go too far.

"There are about 10 or a dozen that we are concerned about. They will be studied immediately to see if they invade any of the rights contained in the bill of rights."

21 AMENDMENTS

The Commons passed the bill after lengthy debate during which opposition parties moved 21 amendments. Two were ruled out of order and 16 defeated on the government's argument that they were attempts to write specific safeguards into a bill intended only as a general statement of principles.

The bill declares that every law of Canada shall "be so construed and applied as not to abrogate, abridge or infringe... any of the rights and freedoms herein recognized and declared." Where existing statutes are in conflict with the bill of rights, the courts are expected to hold the bill paramount, but they can use their own good judgment in cases of conflict which they might consider frivolous.

The bill became law 271 years after the British Parliament passed a bill protecting civil liberties in 1689. The United States "bill of rights" is found in the fifth to fourteenth amendments to the constitution, the first passed in 1791 and the last in 1868.

SAID NOT NECESSARY

Until 1957, when the Diefenbaker government came to power, successive Canadian governments argued that Canada didn't need a written bill of rights, since this country inherited all the principles of British common law, the 1689 British bill of rights, the habeas corpus act and magna carta.

The campaign for a bill of rights, supported by individuals from all political parties, grew out of the First and Second World War emergencies when the federal cabinet assumed virtually dictatorial powers over the Canadian nation.

These powers were granted to the cabinet by Parliament in the War Measures Act of 1914, hastily drawn up in the First World War emergency and still on the statute books. However, it lies dormant until brought into force by proclamation in the event of "war, invasion or insurrection, real or apprehended."

One clause of the new bill of rights requires that the proclamation bringing the War Measures Act into force must be subject to Parliament. This, Mr. Diefenbaker said, is to guard against any government ever enjoying the act on the basis of a false emergency.

JAPANESE MOVED

The bill of rights campaign was sparked by the use of War Measures Act powers to move Japanese-Canadians away from the Pacific coast during the Second World War. Mr. Diefenbaker and others argued at the time this was an intolerable interference with the private right of domicile.

After the war, action for a bill of rights was pressed in the Commons by three men: divided in party politics but united in their concept of the need—Mr. Diefenbaker, then a prominent back-bench Conservative representing Lake Centre, Sask.; David A. Croft, now a Senator, and CCF national leader M. J. Coldwell, whose socialist party had passed repeated resolutions calling for a bill of rights since the party's foundation in Regina in 1932.

Bank of C Graces Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The 34-storey Bank of Commerce building soars 9½ inches and the average skyscraper climbs at least six or seven inches. The city streets are an inch wide.

It's all part of a model of downtown Toronto built jointly by the city planning board and the Downtown Businessmen's Association. The 180 square feet of the model represent an area of 56,000,000 square feet of the heart of the city.

The model, valued at $180,000 but which costs much less because of survey work undertaken as a study project by Ryerson Institute of Technology, was built with the help of the Architects' Association and the Ontario College of Art.

The planning board started work on the model three years ago and businessmen's associations moved in to help 14 months ago.

It was put together to help planners and redevelopment schemes for the downtown area. Every city block is on a separate board and can be removed for close study.

"We decided we needed a somewhat similar model and there just wasn't any point in making two," said Thomas Aikenhead, chairman of the businessmen's urban redevelopment committee, explaining why it

Nixon-Kennedy struggle

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (CP) — To a great extent, the 1960 U.S. presidential election battle between Democratic Senator John F. Kennedy and Republican Vice-President Richard M. Nixon will be waged on the farm fields of the American Midwest and the cold war battlefields of the world.

Undoubtedly, the biggest domestic issue is a chaotic wheat surplus with its tangled government marketing schemes costing U.S. taxpayers billions of dollars a year.

On the world front, the big issue is how to strengthen American defences in the face of Communist threats and how to regain prestige lost in Cuba, Japan and at the shattered summit.

Campaign planks on both sides are shaped with these and other issues in mind. In a great many ways, Kennedy's Democrats and Nixon's Republicans have similar basic aims. They split on details and methods of approach.

Both sides would seek to speak to Soviet Premier Khrushchev from a position of strength.

In a general way, too, the Democrats' planks might require a lot more action by the federal government in the domestic sphere. The Republicans argue this would be bad for the U.S. They seek to keep government interference to a minimum.

The platform promises of the Democrats seem bolder, more concise; the Republicans a little more vague.

Thus, on the sensitive farm issue, the Democrats would give farmers guarantees of higher prices—90 per cent of so-called parity instead of the present 75 on wheat—but would institute controls on actual volume produced rather than present limitation on acreage. Parity is a price for farm products considered a fair return in relation to what a farmer must pay for the goods he buys.

Farm experts say they have trouble enough policing the present acreage controls. Policing production by checking up on each bushel of wheat a farmer produces would require a vast new army of inspectors.

Republicans say vaguely they would use "price supports at levels best fitted to specific com-joined forces with the planning board.

Before the model is finished it will be coated with five gallons of grey, white, black, fawn and green paint. The buildings are of white pine and the city blocks are made of cardboard.

"All the maps and photographs in the world couldn't do the job for us in the way this model will," said planning commissioner Matthew Lawson.

It covers an area bounded by College, Spadina and Jarvis Streets and the Lake Ontario waterfront.

After being displayed at the Canadian-National Exhibition the model will be broken down and the individual blocks put away for use as needed.

modities"—in other words, they don't tie their hands to a detailed figure.

Both sides would try to keep some land out of production through various financial incentives. Both would intensify agricultural exports and giveaway programs that have hit into Canada's export markets.

Democrats would boost defence spending sharply; the Republicans would accelerate only "as necessary." Largely, the Democrats feel the Eisenhower administration has allowed the U.S. to fall behind the Russians in space development and missiles, two big and costly fields.

Both sides would support existing international bodies, such as the North Atlantic alliance and the United Nations. But Democrats seem to suggest they would be more enthusiastic about integrating the economic side of the Atlantic community.

Say the Democrats: "To our friends and associates in the Atlantic community—we propose a broader partnership that goes beyond our common fears, to recognize the depth and sweep of our common political, economic and cultural interests."

Say the Republicans: "We will encourage the countries of Latin America, Africa, the Middle East and Asia, to initiate appropriate regional groupings to work out plans for economic and educational development."

Nixon, on agreement with New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, sought to get Republican platform-makers to support "confederation" of the Atlantic community, but apparently was not successful. Nixon said that he was in favor of confederation "in certain circumstances."

The cathedral at Fiesole, four miles from Florence in Italy, was started in the year 1028.

ROCK PILE FOR DRUNKS

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)
Finland has one of the toughest systems of drunk driver control in the world. After the cocktail party in Helsinki there are always cars left standing in front of the host's house.

The reason is simple. If a driver who has been drinking should be stopped by the police, and if they can determine intoxication with several pitiless tests, he is almost certain to end up on the rock pile out at the Helsinki airport.

In fact, the amount of maintenance and construction work that is done at the airport and on the Finnish roads depends directly on the number of tipsy motorists arrested. Helsinki has one of the finest airports in Northern Europe and it has been built entirely by men arrested for drunken driving.

Strangers dining at a Helsinki restaurant may wonder why one member of a nearby gay party is having only a double tomato juice. Undoubtedly members of the party drew straws and the juice drinker was selected as the one who would drive the rest of them home.

CUBA'S FLIRTATION

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)
The Cuban dictator's leanings toward Moscow have raised speculation that he may allow a submarine or missile base to be built there by the Russians. President Eisenhower says he considers such an eventuality "unlikely," but has served notice that if it happened the United States would feel free to take any action necessary.

A Russian base on the U.S. Southern doorstep would be provocative in the extreme. But there are good reasons why neither the Russians nor the ruling Cubans would do more than talk about building one.

Such a base could not be defended in case of war, nor could it be maintained by Russia without setting up a long and vulnerable supply line. It would have a certain black-market value, but so does merely talking about it.

Aside from economic deals such as his oil contract, Castro's flirtation with Russia will probably be confined by geography to the platonic level of ideology. Even so, it holds the distinct possibility of trouble in large doses for some time to come.

A neighbor of ours is a peculiar guy.

He's building a fallout shelter in his basement. He hasn't got much money, and the things cost about $300. And as a carpenter he'd be a good minister; the workmanship is the worst you could ever hope to see.

He says he is preparing against nuclear war. Nobody seems to be able to convince him that nuclear war is insanity, that the balance of terror is such that neither side is going to start a war.

Even if it did come, as many people have told him, the shelter wouldn't do him any good because the fireball will scoop out a hole half a mile deep where it hits, vaporizing his fallout shelter along with everything else.

But he still keeps building. He says if the fireball doesn't hit where he is, then at least he'll be safe from radioactive fallout. He admits maybe hardly anybody is going to survive another nuclear war. But he smiles a little and he hints that he's going to be the one who does survive.

Got everything lined up, his water supply and his food, got his family all primed so they'll get into the shelter fast, his wife and all his children.

Odd guy. Odd name too. Named Noah.

Flower arrangement demonstration enjoyed at Cowansville Art Centre

COWANSVILLE — The Art Centre on Aug. 2 was the scene of another delightful gathering when over 100 ladies came to the Flower-Arrangement demonstration given by Mrs. Esther Cushing.

The members of Cowansville Women's Institute made the arrangements for this interesting and helpful afternoon, assisted by the Art Centre members.

Mrs. L. S. Lee, president of the Centre, welcomed the guests and Mrs. Katherine Winsor introduced Mrs. Cushing, who told her audience that she felt a part of the Eastern Townships as she has her country home in Knowlton and many members of her family were from this locality.

Mrs. Cushing stressed the beauty of the wild flowers that abound in this district, saying that flower arranging has almost become a folk art. She feels that anyone can do flower arrangements but that it takes perseverance, straight hard work and the ability to observe.

The "Big Four" in flower arrangement are design, balance, scale and harmony. Discrimination in the type of container used, learning to achieve depth in the arrangements and how to carry out some of the ideas with simplicity were some of the points mentioned.

Mrs. Cushing stressed the use of needlepoints for holding arrangement. This can be secured in the container with posy clay or plasticine. Her artistic ability was made evident in her simple, attractive arrangements.

A stunning arrangement of ordinary sunflowers in a black vase was striking, as was the bright sun in the pewter teapot, high bush cranberries in bright yellow glass in a wicker basket with warm tones, one dark red gladioli mingling with huge yellow marigolds and a little arbor of barberry leaves; even the lowly scarlet runner shone in brilliant beauty in a milk glass coupe.

Mrs. Gibson thanked Mrs. Cushing and presented her with a gift from the W.I. and the Institute served refreshments in the dining room.

The art exhibit also was enjoyed by many who had not had the opportunity of seeing it before.

ASK UN

to bring the province under the Lumbia's central Congo government. Tshombe says his own troops would fight if UN forces try to enter Katanga.

The resolution by Ceylon and Tunisia also was expected to call for withdrawal of Belgian troops from all the Congo.

Indications were that Russia might introduce a resolution of its own, or amendments to the Ceylon - Tunisia resolution, to authorize UN units to use any force necessary to get into Katanga.

Soviet deputy foreign minister declared whether to submit a proposal. But in Moscow the Soviet Communist newspaper Pravda said the Congolese wanted the Security Council to "issue an order to the UN forces for the immediate liberation of Katanga from the Belgian occupiers."

The council meeting, originally scheduled for Sunday night, was postponed until noon today so that a delegation from Lumumba's government could attend. Vice - Premier Antoine Gizenga was expected to demand that the council send UN troops into Katanga at once.

A three-man delegation from the Katanga government flew in Sunday night. The leader, Finance Minister Jean Kibwe, told reporters he would ask the United Nations to "declare a moratorium" in the dispute over Katanga's future, await the withdrawal of Belgian troops and then supervise a provincial referendum on independence from, or unity with, the Congo.

The Doctor Says

CHERISH YOUR FAMILY DOCTOR; HE'S FAST. VANISHING BREED

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN M. D.

The family doctor threatens to be one of the lamented casualties of our mechanized, organizational world. Fighting a losing battle for retention of his individual identity in an age of interests focused on teams, groups, staffs, clinics, researchers and the like, the old-fashioned "Doc" soon may exist only as a fond memory in the fading minds of prattling grandparents.

If you are included in the dwindling numbers of those who've remained faithful to a surviving medical individualist, your heart will surely warm to the tribute paid his family physician, Dr. Samuel Hirschfeld, by the late Gene Fowler whose death was sorrowfully reported last July 4.

In a letter I've treasured for almost 14 years, Gene wrote: "This particularly odious Friday the Thirtieth finds Sam's friends emptier than the tomb that awaits his body. This morning, as I sat at coffee that had grown cold—as the world itself suddenly had become moon-cold and barren—an elderly woman spoke to me. She spoke a cliché that ordinarily would have fallen with a banal thud against the early silence.

"But from her 80-year-old lips, the question carried a curious dramatic impact. She said simply: 'Who will take his place?' This question seemed eloquently to contain all that I was thinking. Who, indeed?

"Who will there be to share the mental burdens that he carried for everyone? Who will we find to look deep inside us with such knowing eyes?

"I think that Sam's eyes and Sam's smile cured more ills than did all the lancets and pills of the great fraternity of you who give so much and are acclaimed so little.

"Why does the Grim Reaper snuff out the tallest, brightest tapers in the cathedral of our hours? Who will take his place?"

And Ben Hecht, speaking at graveside, echoed Gene's sentiments with equal sincerity and eloquence when he said:

"It is a curious thing to stand here praising Sam. It is a curious thing to sit here loving Sam. For that was usually Sam's job—to praise and to love. For Sam was a man so rich he gave to all. And there lay his one flaw. He gave too much away. He finally gave it all away. All the gaiety and genius and love and wisdom came pouring out of him as if there were no end to what a man could do for others.

"But there was an end. The passion to serve mankind that kept Sam moving without rest from patient to laboratory, that kept him answering calls of friends not half as sick as himself put an end to him—we whom he loved.

"He served us all — without stint or rest until he dropped in his tracks. And that was because he loved us more than he loved himself. It was this love that put an end to him.

"There may be many doctors left in the world as learned as Sam. But to us who knew him and sent for him in our bad hours, the champion is gone."

I hope you have a doctor about whom you feel as did Gene and Ben to our friend, Sam.

If you're that fortunate, maybe he'd like to know that Gene and Ben were speaking for you.

Sun's Rays Still Strong In August

In the few remaining weeks of summer, many women will be fitting in their vacationtime. Often, this takes the form of travel by car.

If you really want your vacation to pay off in terms of rest and new interests, don't set yourself inhuman limits of endurance. Don't try to see how much territory you can cover each day. Rather, cover each stretch of the road at a moderate pace and stop to see points of interest.

Plan to leave the road every day at 4 p.m. and check into a motel or hotel. This way, you avoid the jam which develops later and which may make it impossible for you to get a room at all. Leave earlier the next morning, if you like, to make up for lost time.

Just because these are the last weeks of summer, don't decide that the sun has lost its power. It hasn't. It may be heading for autumn skies but it still has a lot of burning rays left. So, if you're driving with the top down, remember to use a good suntan lotion generously.

There's an excellent, creamy white suntan lotion on the market which was developed to give you a tan quickly while helping to block dangerous, burning rays.

Divorcees, Even to Friends, Are Social Liabilities

Any wife who thinks that if she divorces her husband she can count on their mutual friends to keep her from being lonely and to see that she has a full social life is living in a dream world. On sure, the friends probably will rally around her at first.

In the first few months after the divorce, wives will make an effort to see that she is invited to parties and that some couple picks her up and takes her home. "Poor Millicent," they'll say to each other, "we mustn't let her feel left out." And for a little while they'll try to pretend that nothing is changed.

But they'll soon grow weary of always having to make a special effort to include Millicent in their plans.

Without meaning to be unkind, they'll begin to look on Millicent as a lone woman who makes an awkward number at a party of couples, whose transportation has to be provided for, whose own entertaining has to be done without the help of a host.

And if Millicent happens to be more attractive than most of her married friends, the situation is worsened by the fact that the wives are afraid of her.

An attractive woman without a man of her own is never trusted as much by her women friends as an attractive woman with a husband.

So little by little Millicent finds that she isn't as close to her friends as she once was, that they really don't feel the responsibility for her social life that she expected they would. And she is hurt and bitter because she feels they are turning their backs on her.

The pity is that the Millicents are not prepared for the fact that being a divorcee is in no way the same thing as being a wife.

If they were, some of them would work harder at making their marriages succeed.

Others would settle for a little less happiness than they hoped for.

And those who saw no other solution than divorce would at least be prepared for the changes it would make in their personal relationships.

Sandwich Puffs — Party Fare

Here's news for summer hostesses—a hot and cold sandwich-salad luncheon meal that's easy to make, delightful to look at, and satisfying to eat! The hot entrée—Gingered Chicken Salad Puff—is a recipe discovery every good cook will want to have. A luscious chicken salad, cleverly hidden under a frothy topping of beaten egg white blended with grated cheese, and resting lightly on a split hamburger bun, is carefully heated and browned in a hot oven just before serving.

Cool contrast in appearance and appetite appeal is the delicate jellied fruit salad on crisp salad greens. The interesting plate is garnished with crunchy relishes and crisp shoestring potatoes.

GINGERED CHICKEN SALAD PUFFS

2 teaspoons lemon juice, 2 teaspoon finely chopped crystallized ginger, 6 tablespoons well drained, crushed pineapple, ¼ cup chopped cooked chicken, ¼ cup finely diced celery, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing, 2 egg whites 1 cup grated Canadian cheddar cheese, 6 sliced hamburger buns.

METHOD:

Add lemon juice and ginger to pineapple. Let stand for 15 minutes. Combine chicken, celery, salt and mayonnaise. Blend into pineapple mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in grated cheese. Place ¼ cup salad mixture on bottom half of each bun. Spread egg mixture over salad on each bun half. Place these on a baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (450° F) about 10 minutes, or until browned. Serve hot, with toasted upper halves of buns as accompaniment.

Yield: 6 Gingered Chicken Salad Puffs.

Army Maid Among 423 Men

CAMP CRUMLIN, Ont. (CP)—As the only maid among 423 men, Sgt. Susan Nakata liked her job. Dressed in bush clothing similar to militia men at this army survival camp near London, she was employed in the orderly room for the two-week summer camp period.

The 28-year-old sergeant, a native of Vancouver who now lives in Windsor, Ont., ate only one meal a day at the camp. She slept in the London home of a CWAC sergeant.

A member of the CWAC since 1954, she serves as a storeman with 39 Technical Squadron RCME of Windsor. When the men came to camp, it was only natural that the sergeant came too, although it came as a surprise to her to find she was the only girl here.

What might have been a dream for other single girls—having so many men to choose from—was nothing more than business for Susan.

Annual Little Lake Magog Regatta Held Sunday As Thousands Attend

Four Games Over Weekend In Junior League; Fuller Advances Slightly, Brompton Royals Open New Ball Park

Junior Baseball League standing were not changed radically over the weekend even though four tilts were contested. Fuller advanced slightly in the circuit, coming within one half game of Ruel's team which occupies third position.

In the four games, the Indians and Coaticook split their two-fixture bill Sunday, Indians winning 9-5 in the afternoon and the Canucks taking the evening game 4-0. In other Sunday games, Ruel's team posted a 3-1 victory over the Royals but then dropped the night tilt 3-2 to Fuller.

Brompton Royals officially opened their ball park Sunday afternoon and a ceremony preceded the game, which the hosting club lost. An honorary captain formed of Pro Mayor Napoleon Remillard, Edgar Boucher of Richmond Pulp and Paper Company, and Frank Benoit, President of the Parks committee.

The Brompton-Ruel's team game turned into a pitching duel between visiting hurler Jacques Palardy and Brompton's Maurice Audet. Audet retired six batters via the strike-out route while Palardy whiffed seven men.

In the Coaticook-Indian fixture last night, Louis Michaud was the winning hurler, giving up four hits and sending 13 men down by strikes. The Indians just couldn't seem to get started in the tilt and committed numerous errors.

At Dufresne Park yesterday afternoon, the Indians managed to post a 9-5 win over the Canucks. The Canucks outthrew Dorey's Indians but still couldn't get enough strength to post a victory.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Cartierville, Que., Boating Club Saturday won its fourth consecutive Canadian Canoe Association championship with a whopping 144 points—111 points ahead of its nearest rival.

The Cartierville paddlers nabbed 13 of the 18 events, easily outdistancing their nearest rivals and long-time arch enemies, the Machine Racing and Canoe Club.

The Balmy Beach Canoe Club was third and the Sudbury Canoe Club fourth with 32 and 21 points respectively.

Highlight of the event was a 1,500-metre open water canoe race with Vince Ramsay's crew from Cartierville winning over Olympic paddling coach Jim Mossman's Balmy Beach Club by a hair's breadth. The time for this event was four minutes 52.2 seconds, 11.1 seconds slower than the course record.

Balmy Weather Prevails Throughout Day; Bernie Geoffrion, Mayor Nadeau, Louis-Philippe Brousseau Attend

Thousands of spectators gathered at Little Lake Magog Sunday afternoon to witness the annual Regatta staged by the Little Lake Magog Nautical Club. Events ran throughout the afternoon and the affair ended with the presentation of trophies and prizes at Auberge des Pins in the evening.

Among the invited guests at the event were Louis-Philippe Brousseau, Provincial Member of Parliament for Sherbrooke, Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke, and Rev. Father Paul Levesque of Deauville.

The regatta was staged under clear skies and balmy weather prevailed throughout the afternoon. Although the lake was slightly choppy, no major upsets occurred in the event.

Bernie 'Boom Boom' Geoffrion, of the Montreal Canadiens, was also in attendance and spent a busy afternoon signing autographs and answering the many questions for his fans.

An added attraction at the regatta was parachute jumps by Jacqueline Loiselle and Jacques Codere of Sherbrooke. Jumper Loiselle overshot the lake in her leap and landed some 50 yards from shore but Codere's leap set him down right on the shore-line, giving spectators a first-hand view of the landing.

In the evening, presentation ceremonies took place at Auberge-des-Pins with opening addresses to the many in attendance made by Commodore Jean-Paul Perrault of the club, Louis-Philippe Brousseau, Rev. Father Levesque, and Pierre Levesque, master of ceremonies.

High aggregate in the Juvenile section of the Regatta was Louis Codere while three contestants tied for top honors in the Junior division. Raymond Lemieux, Jacques Gadbois, and Andree Gadbois were the three tying for top honors.

Girl's Senior high aggregate was Madeline Lancot while the boys' senior high aggregate was a tie-affair, Michel Rivard and Paul Delisle getting the same number of points.

Ange Roussel Wins Annual Bicycle Race

QUEBEC (CP)—Ange Roussel, a 26-year-old motor mechanic from Remungol, France Sunday won the six-day, 775-mile Tour du St. Laurent bicycle race.

He covered the entire distance in 32 hours, 31 minutes and five seconds.

Second place went to Louis Serrate of Mexico with an aggregate time of 32:31:43—a scant 38 seconds off Roussel's winning time. Vinicio Muzzin of Detroit took third just a second behind the Mexican.

Antonio Paven of Oakville, Ont., nailed down fourth place in the over-all standings with 32:34:44 and fifth place went to Mexico's Mauricio Mata with 32:39:20.

Hail To Reason Wins $136,857 Sapling Stakes

NEW YORK (CP)—Hail To Reason came from far back in the pack of 18 two-year olds to win the $136,857 Sapling Stakes at Oceanport, N.J., Saturday.

The largest crowd in the history of the seashore track—43,258—had made Hail To Reason the big favorite as he posted his fourth straight victory.

The winner caught He's A Pistol inside the final one-sixteenth of a mile and won by half a length in 1:10.4 for the six furlongs. Carry Back was third.

Hail To Reason, winning his fifth stakes of the year and second of the week, now rates as the East's top contender for the 1961 Kentucky Derby. He had won the Sanford Stakes at Saratoga last Monday.

$32.80 TO PLACE

Ridden by Bobby Ussery, the winner paid $5, $4.20 and $3.70. He's A Pistol, ridden by Ken Church, paid $32.80 and $18.20, and Carry Back, ridden by Richard Lawless, paid $11.80.

Dodgers And Fans Learning To Live With The Famous Screen In Left Field, Players Call It Monstrosity

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baseball's laughing stock went up as an express elevator one afternoon a little more than two years ago. That was the day they unveiled the Los Angeles Coliseum's left-field screen.

For a while, it looked as though Washington Senators would have to get into the world series before people would talk about anything else.

Some called the screen a monstrous curiosity.

Others insisted it was a curious monstrosity.

Hitters measured it from distance and found it engaging.

Pitchers did the same and found it enraging.

DANGEROUS HAZARD

Outfielders, chasing balls, often ran into it.

Home runs hit over it were tallied as meticulously as missile launchings.

Pitchers who lived through a game with it were interviewed like survivors of the London blitz.

Shortstops lived in fear they would get their arms tangled in it while throwing.

Someone suggested the Dodgers should throw a sheet over it and show baseball movies on it—so fans could get an idea of what the game was really like.

A pitcher actually accused the screen of encroachment. He said it was creeping in on him when he wasn't looking.

But, like the Sputnik stories, gags about the screen have diminished in the space of two years. The thing still doesn't look as though it really belongs there, but it no longer looks as ludicrously out of place as a girdle shop in a nudist camp.

A couple of reasons have been suggested.

First, just by being lived with for two years, the screen has achieved the passive tolerance accorded the town drunk.

Second, the screen has become a part of the game.

Now, when a ball is hit into the screen, the crowd goes wild.

Yvon Gendreau Of East Angus Wins Mt Orford Open

Fires 73 To Cop O'Keefe Trophy, Large Field Took Part In Event; Jim Trew Wins Class "B" Section

Yvon Gendreau, East Angus, fired a five-over par 73 to win the Mt. Orford Open yesterday, sponsored by O'Keefe Brewing Company.

Gendreau had 37 on his front nine and on his second trip around the par 34 course he had 36. Gendreau sat and waited while the rest of the large field tried to better his score. Don Doe, the favorite and last year's winner, needed a birdie on the last hole to win and a par to tie but he took a 7 to finish with 75 which was good for third gross.

G. L. Viens, Joliette, had 75 and took second gross. Bert Cotterell, the captain of the host club, had 76 which was good for fourth gross and Frank Reid, East Angus, and Armand Dussault, Granby-St. Paul, each had 77 for fifth and sixth gross respectively.

In the net division of class "A" D. Mallette, Granby-St. Paul, had 65, Jean Guy Blanchard, Lennoxville, had 68 for second. Jim Planché, Sherbrooke Country Club, had 69, Brian Bennett, Lennoxville, had 69 for third and fourth nets respectively. M. Huot, Sherbrooke, had 69 for fifth net and sixth net went to Peter Hamilton, Knowlton, with 70.

Gross winners in class "B" were: Jim Trew, Mt. Orford, 77; W. Archer, Asbestos, 80; L. Libman, Mt. Orford, 81; R. Martin, Sherbrooke, 83; N. Boucher, Mt. Orford, 83.

Net winners were: L. Gravel, Mt. Orford, 65; G. Goulet, Mt. Orford, 65; D. Valliere, Lennoxville, 67; D. McLeod, 67; and J. P. Laroché, 68.

Class "C" gross winners were: R. Bessette, Mt. Orford, 89; L. C. Hamel, Mt. Orford, 92; E. Rioux, Mt. Orford, 92; E. Singleton, Waterville, 93; A. Turcotte, East Angus, 97.

Net winners in class "C" were: Keith Morgan, North Hatley, 67; L. Cloutier, Mt. Orford, 68; Gerry Curphey, North Hatley, 70; Dick Pepin, Mt. Orford, 70; H. Izenberg, Hillsdale, 70.

Play got underway early Saturday morning and the class "B" and "C" golfers finished just before darkness set in. George Trew, the official starter, kept the players moving and did a fine job. John Costigan, the tournament manager for O'Keefe's and secretary-treasurer of the P.Q.G.A., was in charge of the scoreboard and handled that job in an efficient manner.

The "A" players got started Sunday morning and they also finished before darkness set in. Trophies and prizes were presented Saturday night and again Sunday night.

Maurice Pontbriand, of O'Keefe's, club captain Bert Cotterell, Mrs. Trew, club pro Gil Ethier along with several members of the club also helped out in making the annual event a success.

Sherbrooke Club Wins Inter-Zone Crown

The Sherbrooke Tennis Association squad posted a 5-2 victory over Montreal to win the championship of the Provincial Inter-zone Tennis League for the first time since the league was formed.

The Montreal squad was represented by players from the "La Bohème" Club in Montreal and the matches were played Saturday afternoon on the courts of the "La Bohème" Club.

The elimination matches are to take place August 20 when the "La Bohème" Club takes on Three Rivers with the winner meeting

Sherbrooke in a home-and-home series. Jean-Louis de Leseleuc stated the first matches would be played in Montreal so that local tournaments could be finished before the Provincial event was contested in Sherbrooke.

Claude Metras, in the absence of team captain de Leseleuc, turned in a fine performance by defeating Roger Lamoreau, classed 12th in the Province, 7-5, 7-5 and downing, with the assistance of Peter Murray, the duet of Bourquin and Paradis 7-5, 6-4.

Montreal's first point was chalked up when Roland Godin, member of the Canadian Davis Cup squad, posted an easy 6-1, 6-1 victory over Raymond Royer.

Stirling Moss Wins Sports Car Event

KARLSKOOGA, Sweden (Reuters) — British driving ace Stirling Moss staged a brilliant come back Sunday as he won an international sports car race here in a Lotus car.

Moss was severely injured June 18 when his car crashed while he was practising for the Belgian Grand Prix at Francorchamps. He suffered three crushed vertebrae and two broken legs.

He showed his return to fitness by springing to his car at the start. He battled for 13 laps with Sweden's Joachim Bonnier in an Italian Maserati before taking the lead and won the 47-mile event at an average speed of 68 miles an hour.

Sherbrooke champion and Eastern Townships champ, much to the surprise of spectators and both teams.

Camille Charron tallied the third point for the visiting Sherbrooke team when he downed Jacques Messier 7-5, 4-6, 6-4 in a fast and exciting match. Charron won the first set after coming back from 5-1 deficit.

The second and last tally scored by the hosts was racked up when Lucie Paule downed Lucie Murray of Sherbrooke 6-3, 6-3.

The visiting Sherbrooke squad then took the final two matches, winning the men's doubles when Raymond Royer and Andre Durocher downed Godin and Lafranc 6-3, 8-6. Finally, Jeannine Levesque and Lucie Murray triumphed over the Clement and Lanoie twosome 6-3, 6-1.

Baseball Expansion Enters New Phase With No End In Sight, Two Major Leagues May Expand Up To Ten Clubs

NEW YORK (AP)—The revolution that began in baseball in 1953 when Boston Braves moved to Milwaukee now enters a new phase, and the end is not in sight.

Expansion of the American and National Leagues was decided on last Tuesday in Chicago. The only question is where and how.

The two major leagues may expand from the traditional eight teams up to 10 in 1961. More probably this will occur in 1962 because of the knotty problems.

Next step will be a decision as to the four minor league cities to be tapped for major league status. Probably this will be made at a joint major league meeting this season.

The Continental League, which never got off the ground as a third major league, is bowing out with the understanding that four of its franchises will be taken up by the majors now, and four more in the future.

People in the know think that New York City and Houston are sure to get two of the new major league teams, with the other two coming from Minneapolis - St. Paul, Dallas-Fort Worth, or Toronto. Other Continental League franchises were in Buffalo, Denver, and Atlanta.

New York has a $5,000 seat stadium for Flushing Meadows on the drawing boards, but Yankee Stadium might be shared with a National League team if Yankee conditions can be met.

Minneapolis-St. Paul and Buffalo are well along with plans for 1961 stadiums. Toronto's mayor, Nathan Phillips, says he favors a private and not a municipal stadium if Toronto goes big league, and that could be a stumbling block.

Houston, Dallas - Fort Worth, Atlanta and Denver are playing wait and see.

NOT ENOUGH PLAYERS?

No machinery has been set up to select players for four new major league teams. You can find experts who think there aren't even enough players now to go around major league clubs.

Even after stadiums and players have been lined up, there are other problems. Take the case of Toronto.

Canada is rich sports territory. It supports hockey and professional football solidly, and has done well with minor league baseball. Given a fair-sized stadium and a fairly good team, Toronto would probably be a gold mine for baseball.

But then problems would arise such as the matter of the different income tax structure of Canada and the United States, and what to do with early season play under possibly adverse weather conditions.

Pirates Extend Lead In National But Yanks' Margin Is Reduced; Take Two From Giants; White Sox Pick Up Two

Pittsburgh's brash Pirates opened up their biggest lead of the campaign — a 5½ game bulge over Milwaukee and St. Louis, in the National League, by American League leading New York Yankees' first place margin was trimmed to a game and a half by Chicago White Sox.

Pirates took both ends of a doubleheader from San Francisco 4-1 and 7-5 for a sweep of the four game series. They have won 10 of their last 13.

Milwaukee regained second place, by .002 percentage points over St. Louis, by defeating Chicago Cubs 5-4 while Cincinnati was holding the Cardinals to a split in their twin bill. Reds walked off with the opener 18-4 but the Redbirds came back to win the second 4-2. Los Angeles climbed to within a game of second place, defeating Philadelphia Phillies twice, 8-7 and 2-1.

The Yankees were soundly thrashed by Kansas City 13-3 after coming from behind to win the opener 3-2. White Sox staged two ninth inning rallies to down Washington twice 9-7 and 3-2. Baltimore walloped Cleveland twice 8-6 and 9-2. Boston and Detroit split, the Red Sox winning the second game 1-0 after Detroit had captured the opener 7-2.

Bob Friend coasted to his 12th triumph with a seven-hitter in the first game but Pirates had to overcome a 5-0 deficit in the nightcap to gain their sweep over the Giants.

After rookie Joe Christopher's three-run homer had tied the score 3-3 in the seventh, Pirates won in the ninth on Bill Mazeroski's single and three successive bunts. The last bunt, by Dick Groat, scored Mazeroski and another run scored when Orlando Cepeda threw wildly trying to nip Groat.

Shortstop Maury Wills rapped seven hits in 10 times at bat,

Larry Sherry pitched relief ball in the opener and Sandy Koufax fanned 11 Phillies in the nightcap to highlight the Dodgers' doubleheader sweep.

Kenny Boyer's bases-loaded single in the seventh gave Cards a split after the Reds' had bombed three pitchers for 21 hits in the opener. Jerry Lynch hit a grand slammer, Wally Post walloped three doubles and rookie third baseman Cliff Cook had five hits for Reds in the first game runaway, 2.

Warren Spahn survived an eighth inning cub explosion that produced four runs—one short of a tie—and won his 12th game of the year for Milwaukee. It also was the 27th of his career. Johnny Logan, with two hits, including a homer, and two runs scored, paced the Braves' attack.

Gene Freese's two-run homer in the ninth inning of the opener and Minnie Minoso's run-scoring single in the final frame of the nightcap gave White Sox their double triumph over the Senators. Jerry Staley won both in relief.

SKOWRON HOMERS?

Bill Skowron's two-run homer in the top of the ninth, only the sixth hit off Ray Herbert, gave Yankees their comeback victory over the A's in the opener. Kansas City knocked out Ralph Terry with four straight hits in the second game to gain their split.

Orioles amassed 30 hits and slammed six home runs in their two victories over Cleveland. Jim Gentile and Jack Brandt hit a pair of four-baggers each. A homer by pitcher Jack Fisher featured the Birds' two-run rally in the eighth that snapped a 6-6 tie in the first game.

Billy Muffett not only pitched Boston's 1-0 shutout, but rapped three hits and scored the only run himself. Jim Bunning hurled his seventh victory in the opener for Detroit, striking out 11.

Pep Pills Are Found In Locker Rooms At Meet

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The father of a two-time United States Olympic swimmer charged Sunday night that pep pills were found in women's locker rooms last week at the U.S. Olympic swimming and diving tryouts in Detroit.

Weikko Ruuska of Berkeley, Calif., Finnish father of U.S. Olympic freestyler Sylvia Ruuska and coach of the 1959 Berkeley Y-women's national team, charged the case was turned over to the chairman of the women's national swimming committee.

Ruuska, in an interview with Indianapolis Star Sports writer Bob Williams, said the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club, Multnomah Swim Club of Portland, Ore., and the Los Angeles Athletic Club were guilty of the charge.

Bill Kerr Of Beaconsfield Wins Canadian Pro Golf Crown

Fires 10-Under-Par To Walk Off With Honors, Leads All The Way To Cop His Second Crown And $1,000

WINNIPEG. — (CP) — Bill Kerr of Montreal, with his approach and putting working to near-perfection, Saturday captured the $5,150, 1960 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship with a 10-under-par 206 for the 54-hole medal-play tournament.

Kerr, who won the event in 1945, shot a 1st-round par 72 to go with his previous rounds of 66 and 68 over the Niakwa Country Club course, which will be the scene of the 1961 Canadian open.

Leader from the opening round Thursday, Kerr was never seriously threatened on the last day after Toronto's Moe Norman blew to a two-over 38 and Vancouver's Lyle Crawford to a six-over 42 on the front nine.

Even when 56-year-old Bob Burns of Cherry Hill, Ont., came in with a blistering five-under-par 67 for a 210 total while Kerr still was out on the course, there was little doubt that the dapper 48-year-old Montreal shotmaker would blow his lead.

WORTH $1,000

Kerr's win was worth $1,000 to him. He also received the Seagram Shield, emblematic of Canadian professional golf supremacy, and named along with Montreal's Alan Johnston to tour the Caribbean circuit. They receive a total of $3,500 for expenses.

Despite Kerr's first two rounds of sub-par golf, most of the final-day crowd of about 5,000 walked around in the third successive day of 80-degree sunny weather with the colorful Norman and with the threesome in which pre-tournament favorite and defending champion Stan Leonard was in.

However, there was much cutting across fairways when word got around that the veteran Burns, winner of the CPGA in 1942, was going hot and Kerr still was shooting 10-below par coming home.

Kerr never went above par figures until the 45th hole when he took a four on the par-three, 220-yard ninth. He continued in par figures until the 399-yard 14th when he took a one-over five; lost another stroke to par on the 233-yard 15th and was eight-under for the tournament. An eagle-three on the par-five, 501-yard 16th restored his 10-runner margin and he finished the last two in par fours for his 72 and 206 total.

$700 FOR SECOND

Burns' total of 210 was good for second place and $700 when Norman, only two strokes behind Kerr after Friday, punted to a four-over 76 on the final round and a total of 212. The Sleepy Hollow pro took third position and $600.

One of the best comebacks came from Frank Whibley of Westmount Que., who, along with Burns, was the only player to crack 70 on the last day. Whibley finished with a 34-68, and a total of 215.

Boa, a member of Canada's 1960 Olympic rifle team, fired 3,069 of a possible 3,200 for his win.

The Calgary Rifle and Pistol Club's three-man team won the national team championship with 3,509 points of a possible 3,600.

One of its members, Francis Trace, a 32-year-old carpenter, won the individual national sporting rifle championship with 1,178 points of a possible 1,200.

Montreal's Mrs. Robert Lyle Wins Canadian Women's Close Golf Title, Janet MacWha Three Strokes Off Pace

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Mrs. Robert Lyle, a smooth-swinging shotmaker from Montreal's Kanawaki Club, captured the three-day Canadian women's close golf championship Saturday firing her third straight round of 78 over the 6,300-yard Riverside Golf and Country Club.

Mrs. Lyle's 54-hole total of 234, was three strokes better than Janet MacWha of Montreal and Judy Darling of Hudson Heights, Que. Miss Darling won a sudden-death playoff for the runner-up spot by defeating Miss MacWha on the third hole.

Mrs. Lyle's one-over-par round Saturday climaxed the first of Canada's two top women golf events. The Canadian open championships get underway today at the nearby course with a field of 96 entered.

SUNNY WEATHER

The weather office forecast mostly sunny weather for today's qualifying round with the top 32 players going into the championship flight.

Mrs. Lyle used a precise approach game to capture her first major golf crown. She has been playing for 10 years.

In fourth place was dark-haired Rae Milligan, 26-year-old Calgary physical education teacher who led after Thursday's opening play with a record-equaling two-under-par 75 on the tricky course.

Miss Milligan, three-times runner-up for the crown, finished with a 238, four strokes off the pace. Actually she lost the title on one hole. She had a five-over-par eight on the 210-yard 10th hole Friday when she soared to an 85. She shot a one-over-par 78 to match Mrs. Lyle Saturday, but couldn't gain any ground.

MISS FIELD

Miss Darling and Joanne Goulet of Regina led the field Saturday with par 77's. Miss Darling, who was tied with Miss Milligan going into Saturday's final 18-hole round, was one-over-par on the front nine, but came home with a one-under-par 37.

She captured the runner-up spot when Miss MacWha missed a four-foot putt on the third playoff hole. Both Misses Darling and MacWha had fives on the first two extra holes. Miss Mac-

Wha had a 80 Saturday.

Miss Goulet's performance Saturday gave her a 54-hole total of 246, good for fifth place, one stroke better than Katherine Helleur of Thornhill, Ont. and Roma Neundorff of Toronto.

Long-driving Gail Harvey of Scarborough, Ont. captured her third straight Canadian women's junior crown with a 36-hole total of 166, one stroke better than 16-year-old Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver. The 17-year-old Ontario shotmaker, a one-handicapper, fired an 85 Saturday after slamming out an 81 Friday.

DECIDES CROWN

The final 36 holes of the Canadian close tournament decided the junior crown. In third place was Susanne Foulds of Vancouver who had 168.

Mrs. Lyle's performance added to the fine showing by Quebec players in the close event, opened only to Canadian golfers. Quebec won both the senior and junior inter-provincial team titles.

"Winning the title is my biggest golfing thrill," 42-year-old Mrs. Lyle said in an interview. "I didn't think about winning it while playing the final round. I just concentrated on getting the lowest possible score."

Mrs. Lyle is one of the Canadian favorites to take the Canadian open crown. Eighteen-hole match play starts Tuesday. Misses Darling, MacWha and Milligan are also strongly rated, after their showing in the close event.

Leading the United States field is Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio and Lanny Cranston of San Marino, Calif. Mrs. Stranahan is the wife of United States professional Frank Stranahan, who won the Canadian professional golf association crown at Riverside in 1947. She is a two-handicapper while Miss Cranston is a three-handicap player.

LONDON (CP) — Eddystone lighthouse, which guards a dangerous reef in the English Channel, is to have its first major overhaul since 1903. Electric power is replacing oil.

Arnold Palmer Wins Insurance Open Golf Event

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Iron-nerved Arnold Palmer, the United States open and Masters champion, captured the 72-hole Insurance City open golf tournament Sunday in a sudden-death playoff with Jack Fleck and Bill Collins. It was his seventh tournament victory of the year.

The 31-year-old Palmer ended the match on the third hole after he and Fleck had birdied the first. Collins was eliminated when he took a par four on the starting hole. First prize was worth $3,500.

The three had ended the four-day competition with 14-under-par 270's after a driving finish in which Palmer picked up five strokes on Fleck, Saturday's leader, and three on Collins.

The playoff ended when Fleck missed a four-footer for a par on the 73th hole.

Lacoursiere Cops Lake St. John Marathon Sunday

ROBerval, Que. (CP)—Rejean Lacoursiere of Montreal won the annual Lake St. John marathon Saturday, swimming the 24-mile distance in nine hours, 30 minutes and 12 seconds.

He had to share the plaudits of the crowd, however, with a plucky 18-year-old Montreal girl, Aloma Keen. The only female entrant in the race, she outraced and outlasted 14 men to come in third with a time of 14 hours.

Still swimming strongly as he approached the finish line, the 24-year-old Lacoursiere pounded his way through the 55-degree water with a steady stroke-per-second motion.

His only close competitor in the gruelling race for $3,100 in prize money was Carlos Lariera, 25, of Santa Fe, Argentina, second in nine hours, 53 minutes and 10 seconds.

Robert Cossette, 30, of Chicoutimi, Que., was fourth in 14 hours, 40 minutes.

REMEMBER WHEN...

Ralph Guldahl, putting on one of his famed "stretch" finishes, won the $5,000 Milwaukee Open golf championship with a 16-under-par 72-hole total of 268 at the North Hills course 20 years ago today.
