Quebec Election

They're off and running on E.T. campaign trail

By CUTHBERT JONES

Campaigning for the April 29 provincial general elections shifts into top gear this weekend with party leaders planning meetings and informal gatherings throughout the province.

Prime Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand, seeking to return his Union Nationale government to office for a second consecutive term, officially opens his campaign Sunday with a monster rally at Cowansville in his home constituency of Missisquoi.

And Opposition Leader Robert Bourassa, who is planning a campaign of direct confrontation with the voters in place of a series of regional rallies, will make his opening sweep through the province this weekend.

Using a jet plane, he plans to make brief visits to widely-scattered centres, including Sherbrooke where he will spend at least two hours Saturday afternoon. Between two and four o'clock he will meet the people at the plazas of the different shopping centres.

NOMINATIONS CLOSE SOON

With nominations scheduled to close on Wednesday, April 15, most of the parties have completed their list of candidates in the 12 Eastern Townships ridings.

Forestry Minister Claude Gosselin went through the formality of a nominating convention at East Angus last night when he duly accepted a request from the Compton County electors that he stand for another term.

Following the formal nomination proceedings, the convention was turned into an old-fashioned political rally during which the Minister and other prominent members of the Union Nationale party reviewed the accomplishments of the Government during the past four years.

His nomination completes the list of candidates for the two old-line parties — Union Nationale and Liberal — in this district.

The Creditistes, the last entry into the provincial race, have already named candidates in eight of the 12 Eastern Townships constituencies and expect to complete their selections in Brome, Megantic, Missisquoi and Shefford over the weekend.

Rene Levesque's Parti Quebecois also is expected to announce its candidates in Brome, Missisquoi and Shefford within the next few days.

NDP IN SHERBROOKE

In addition to the four main parties, there is a New Democratic party candidate in Sherbrooke and an independent in Arthabaska.

Among the latest candidates to be nominated were P.A. Latulippe who is running on the Creditiste ticket in Frontenac. He is the son of Henri Latulippe, Creditiste MP for Compton, whose riding includes the provincial county of Frontenac.

Candidates nominated in Eastern Townships ridings up until noon Thursday were: (X—Member of last house):

Striking drivers attack trucks

More labor violence in postal dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — Violence erupted in the Montreal postal dispute Wednesday afternoon when six trucks and one escorting security vehicle were attacked and one man was injured.

ANYBODY SEEN SPRING? — After the recent sunny spell which melted the snow off the roads and brightened spirits all over town, many thought that spring had finally come to the Townships. That is until this morning when it started snowing again. It didn't stop either until two inches of the winter white stuff had fallen. To make things more interesting, it started raining in the afternoon and the streets became a morass of slush which made driving extremely hazardous.

A post office spokesman said four trucks hired to transport mail were involved as well as two others not involved in postal deliveries but belonging to companies renting trucks to the post office.

Each vehicle attacked had windows broken and two had tires slashed.

The injured man, a driver-helper on a truck carrying mail, suffered multiple facial lacerations when the right-side window on his truck was smashed.

All but one of the attacks took place in downtown Montreal. The other was in a suburban Dorval parking lot.

The post office spokesman said one of the trucks was attacked by four men wearing uniforms of G. Lapalme Inc., former holder of the exclusive mail trucking contract on Montreal Island.

In another incident, a vehicle involved in an attack on a truck parked beside a postal station "according to its licence number appears to be the property of a Lapalme employee," the post office spokesman said.

Lapalme drivers unemployed since Wednesday's government takeover of Montreal postal transportation, met Thursday to plan strategy in their dispute with the post office while 85 rented trucks carried mail to the city's 33 postal substations.

DRIVERS GATHER
It was the second consecutive day of meetings for the former mail truck drivers but the Confederation of National Trade Unions did not reveal the tactics it considered to win back jobs for the 457 men.

Meanwhile mail was delivered to the substations from the main post office. But a post office spokesman said the limited scale of operations did little to shift the backlog of mail and parcels built up since the dispute started Feb. 3.

About 230 trucks normally handle the job of mail deliveries in Montreal but the post office has no access to trucks owned by Lapalme.

"Negotiations are going on at the present time to buy some trucks—either from Lapalme or the other four companies," the spokesman said.

Before the government took over trucking services, four private companies had been scheduled to divide the Lapalme contract April 1. They were left with excess trucks and drivers when their agreement with the government was cancelled.

KIERANS INVOLVED
The post office spokesman said he believed Postmaster General Eric Kierans was involved in discussions. A special office was set up Wednesday to receive applications for positions as mail truck drivers with the post office and the spokesman said 468 applications had been filed by late Thursday.

The post office had offered to hire 285 of the 457 unemployed Lapalme drivers as civil-servant drivers in the postal department.

QUEBEC IN FOCUS

Election blocks Red menace

ST. JEAN PORT JOLI, Que. (CP) — Creditiste candidate Bernard Dumont says the calling of the April 29 provincial general election prevented a violent Communist takeover set for April 24.

"If the election had not been called for April 29," he told a nominating convention Wednesday, "the Communists would have seized power April 24 on the occasion of a bloody riot."

Mr. Dumont, Creditiste candidate in Frontenac riding, said he had proof of the Communist plot but did not give his audience any details.

He also charged that Rene Levesque, leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, has been left behind by events and that undesirable elements have infiltrated and now dominate his party. At the meeting, Andre Fortin, 33-year-old bakery president from St. Pamphile, was nominated to represent the Creditistes in L'Islet.

MHW PR director quits

MONTREAL (CP) — Therese Bernard says she quit as public relations director of Montreal's Man and His World exhibition because of disputes over the hiring of personnel and her own salary.

"I wanted two people hired and they were not," Miss Bernard, a 38-year-old native of Edmonton, said in an interview Thursday. "That was my first reason for leaving. Also, Mr. Huot (exhibition director Guy Huot) and I had discussed a salary increase at the time I accepted the job and although we didn't sign a contract I thought the raise would be forthcoming. It wasn't."

Jacques Delisle, head of the information division at Man and His World, said the problem arose because of her demand for a salary increase to $21,000 "and not because she wanted these two persons hired."

Charges Israeli bias

MONTREAL (CP) — Chassan Tuani, owner and publisher of a Lebanon daily newspaper, says North American readers are given an Israeli-oriented version of the Middle East conflict.

Western press coverage of the dispute is "very bad—although somewhat better in Canada than in the U.S.," he said at a news conference Wednesday.

Mr. Tuani, in Montreal on the first leg of a cross-Canada tour at the invitation of the Canadian government, added that poor public relations by the Arabs was partly to blame for their bad press. But Western newspapers were influenced by pressure groups in North America's powerful Jewish communities.

Lack funds for autopsies

MONTREAL (CP) — The director of Quebec's Medico-Legal Institute says that despite modern laboratory equipment, a lack of money and trained personnel may have helped some people to "get away with murder."

In his annual report released Wednesday, Dr. Jean-Marie Roussel said only 490 of 2,600 death cases in 1969 were fully investigated.

The others were done "in bulk" and handwritten because of lack of staff.

"Of 1,459 autopsies, 507 cases were referred to the histopathology laboratory. And, of this number, only a proportion (the most urgent cases) were really studied microscopically. ... All autopsy cases should have been submitted to the procedure and all should have been minutely studied. It was impossible due to lack of personnel and technicians."

The institute report said accidents, suicides and homicides increased greatly in 1969, while attending physicians were allowed to sign 500 more death certificates, with the coroner's consent, than in 1968.

Autopsies performed in 1969 totalled 3,212, down from 3,279 the previous year. Suicides in Montreal and Quebec City increased by 42 per cent to 349.

Bridge work on again

QUEBEC (CP) — Construction work on the south end of Quebec City's second bridge was back to normal Thursday following an accident Wednesday when a service elevator dropped 130 feet, injuring three men.

A spokesman for the roads department said a labor department inspector authorized Standard Structural Steel Ltd. to resume operations after investigating the accident.

Real Larade, 38, of Laval, Que., Jean Lapointe, 43, of Tadoussac and Edmond Foster, 27, of Montreal, were severely injured when the elevator plunged.

Pont Frontenac, spanning the St. Lawrence River, is to be completed in 1971.

Critically ill baby girl abducted from hospital

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A newborn girl, forcibly taken from Kingston General Hospital Thursday, is in danger of permanent brain damage or death if she does not soon receive a blood transfusion.

B.C. bans Ottawa's compulsory breath test

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Supreme Court Tuesday declared the federal government's compulsory breath test law null and void because it was improperly proclaimed by the Privy Council.

Mr. Justice F. Craig Munroe voided the law in allowing an appeal by David Story of Vancouver, who was charged with impaired driving Jan. 10 after police found his blood-alcohol content to be above .08 per cent, the impairment level.

Mr. Story was appealing a ruling by Provincial Court Judge Morris Mulligan, who dismissed defence lawyer Richard P. Anderson's preliminary objection that the breath test law was improperly proclaimed.

In ruling that Mr. Anderson's preliminary objection was valid, Mr. Justice Munroe said in a six-page written judgment that the Privy Council overstepped its bounds.

Teachers' pamphlet under investigation

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec Teachers Corp. Thursday made public a volitional pamphlet which is being investigated by provincial police for possible violation of the Quebec Election Act.

The document, made public at a news conference by corporation President Raymond Laliberte, is a 28-point manifesto which recommends among other things that Quebec declare itself a unilingual French-speaking province.

The document, made public at a news conference by corporation President Raymond Laliberte, is a 28-point manifesto which recommends among other things that Quebec declare itself a unilingual French-speaking province.

Mr. Laliberte stressed that the corporation is not supporting any party in the campaign for the April 29 provincial general election, although it "has no objection" to the idea of political sovereignty—the thesis of the separatist Parti Quebecois.

He said 100,000 copies of the manifesto have been printed and 70,000 will go to teachers.

Sex urge could be The Pill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Birth control pills, not a cable car accident, could have created a former dance instructor's insatiable desire for sex, a deputy city attorney says.

William Taylor made the statement in his opening remarks Wednesday to a jury considering a $500,000 damage suit by Gloria Sykes, 29, a former dance instructor. She says a cable car accident in 1964 made her a victim of nymphomania.

Taylor said Miss Sykes began taking birth control pills in 1965 and added that these could account for her increased sexual appetite.

The duplicate bridge player needs to give the H in ARCH a slightly different meaning than the rubber bridge player. He must ask himself, "How can I get a good match-point score?"

South's four-spade bid was one of those desperate stabs that some players like to make. He didn't expect to make four spades or even to come close, but he hoped that his opponents would take the push to five hearts.

He relaxed for a second when West passed but East doubled and South was stuck with his bad bid.

When he looked at dummy, he saw that he was going to lose two hearts, two clubs and a diamond come what might. He could stand that, since down-two would only cost 300 and his opponents bid a nonvulnerable game.

If he had to lose a trump trick also, he would be down three and, since it was not likely that many more players tried the four-spade save, a minus-500 score would be worth nothing.

East took the ace of hearts and shifted to the king of diamonds. South won with his ace, led a spade to dummy's king and paused to study his next play.

Then he played a second trump from dummy and finessed his jack after East played the 10.

The finesse worked. South pulled the last trump, led his jack of hearts to establish dummy's queen and got out for 300 after East cashed two clubs and a diamond.

South's spade finesse was a sure-thing duplicate play. If spades were going to split 2-2, his four-spade bid would have been one of those phantom saves, since East would not have made four hearts.

This way, South did come out with several match points, since he beat everyone who let four hearts play.

HISTORICAL FACTS

The formation of the 4th Sherbrooke Troop took place in 1917 at Trinity Church under Scoutmaster A. Conley. During this same year Sherbrooke Scouts ushered at the annual Sherbrooke Fair for the first time, thus beginning a tradition that was to last for 44 years, until the practice was discontinued in 1961. By 1918 the 2nd Sherbrooke Troop (St. Peter's) had grown to a tremendous size. At a meeting of the local council that year, District Scoutmaster P.M. Dennis reported that there were a total of 75 boys in the troop. In spite of its huge size, the second troop had no meeting place. The local association, however, reported that "Lt. Col. Blue kindly offered the use of a band room at the Armoury every Monday night with the understanding that if necessary, the scout committee pay for the heating."

A year later the swollen second troop was split up into two troops, its other half going to St. Peter's Church where the 5th Sherbrooke Troop was founded under Scoutmaster Rev. E. C. Russell.

In July, 1919, colors were presented to the new troop by the then Prince of Wales. The year 1926 (no records mention its founding) as the year the 6th Sherbrooke Troop which had apparently been running at St. Andrew's Church was in difficulties. However, records do show that in 1927 the troop was reorganized under Scoutmaster Lynn Trussler.

Next an outline on the forming of the 7, 8, 9 and 10th scout troops.

There were no cub or scout meetings on Good Friday March 27 in the district. For this reason our column is unable to report any activities for this date.

However, I would point out that April 18 is a very important date especially to those people connected with the scout movement when the Silver Cross award will be presented to the 2nd Lennoxville Troop. Parents — plan to attend. Whether he is a cub or a scout, it will mean a great deal to him that you have shown interest in his scouting activities.

Innovation and the schools

The present educational scene has one obvious and outstanding characteristic — innovation. Innovation is necessary if we are to catch up to the crisis which exists. The changes in the technological and social areas of our society are being felt in the schools. The crisis facing us is to accelerate innovation so that the schools will keep pace with the society the children are going to enter.

Although this fact is recognized, the person who attempts to innovate is invariably regarded suspiciously. Those who want to stay with the status quo resist the innovator. It does not seem to matter that the innovator is attempting to deal with a negative situation which he wants to get rid of or improve. Most persons are like children, they fear the doctor more than the disease.

I suppose that many persons are not conscious of the reasons why they resist. Some of the reasons why resistance occurs is that we feel threatened and anxious by the new ideas. Our life styles are based on the old and known techniques and because we feel most comfortable in this context we want to stay with it. When we finally begin to accept the need to change we are then taking the first steps towards a new world. This can be a terrifying experience for some.

I wonder if the resistance to change in our society is tied in with the reluctance to say openly that we need help? Our society does not encourage us to be dependent on others, it encourages us to be independent. But the point is that it should be a two way street. Both processes should exist at the same time. Too many persons feel that if they admit to needing help they will lose status in the eyes of their peers. Quite the opposite happens. The person who admits to needing help and seeks it will continue to develop as an individual and he will strengthen himself in the eyes of his peers.

The innovator is often disliked because he is regarded as a disruptive force who is shattering the status quo. A quick look at history brings up an interesting point. The society was threatened not by the innovator but by the crisis facing it. This crisis could be many things such as disease, hostile neighbors, failure of food supply. The innovator had not caused the crisis, he was simply attempting to solve it. A amazingly enough he was still not accepted.

Today some educators are dealing with innovation and are gearing education for the future not the past. These persons are important not only to the educational field but to the total society because their educational efforts are helping us enter the world of tomorrow.

Although ours is a democratic society the institutional arrangements of such a society are not enough to guarantee renewal. People are needed for this. Some human beings are the sources of renewal for the society they live in. It is unfortunate that these innovators do not receive thanks for their efforts. It is also amazing that they keep appearing and help create the situations which solve the crisis which are impeding progress.

Layoffs hit Sherbrooke industries

By RICHARD SPALDING

SHERBROOKE — At least two major Sherbrooke industries are feeling the effects of a nation-wide mini-recession, while laid off workers sit at home wondering when they will be asked to return to work.

Meanwhile, Gerald Lapointe, president of the union at Combustion Engineering and Superheater Ltd., said last night that over 100 company workers had been laid off over the last three weeks because of "a lack of manufacturing materials." "At this time of the year," he said, "there is always some delay and the situation here is only a temporary one."

Asked about the labor situation at Combustion Engineering Superheater Ltd., yesterday General Manager Roy J. Scholes flatly replied: "No comment." "I don't care to comment about it now," he said, adding it is too early for the company to make any kind of statement.

Mr. Lapointe said the lay-offs were unavoidable, and re-emphasized his faith in the company's good will not to reduce the number of workers.

He predicted that the situation would return to normal in about two months. "There is no reason for alarm," the union president said.

And a company spokesman at Paton Manufacturing Mills also said last night the situation was under control in that company. In fact, the company spokesman said, there had been a number of lay offs during recent months, but only because there was a slow-down in product demand.

As for office workers, the spokesman explained that some staff members had been removed, not because of company difficulties, but in keeping with the company's office re-organization plan.

In most cases where workers were laid off from work for a period of time, the company said they were re-hired later.

Both companies are employing over 1,100 people at the moment.

Asked about its labor situation, American Biltrite Rubber company officials yesterday said there were no problems.

When the company was told figures released this week by the Industrial Consulting committee of the City of Sherbrooke point towards a 20 per cent staff decrease over last year, a company official shouted "incredible".

In fact, in a fluctuation report of the employed labor market in the manufacturing division for Sherbrooke released this week, figures note that American Biltrite had an average of 550 workers for 1969, and a lower figure of 430 for this year.

"A 20 per cent decrease here is incredible," one company spokesman said, and challenged the findings of the Industrial consulting committee.

He said figures in company offices pointed towards an average of 525 workers on payroll sheets.

"This bothers me," the same spokesman said, but I will tell you that our labor force is steady and the company anticipates it to be so for a long time to come."

Hijackers make deal

SEOUL (AP) — Japanese students and government officials struck a deal Thursday to exchange about 100 passengers stranded for three days in a student-hijacked airliner for a Japanese deputy cabinet minister.

The nine leftist students, who want to fly to North Korea, agreed to take Shinjiro Yamamura, vice-minister of transportation, with them instead of the passengers. Yamamura volunteered Thursday as ransom for the passengers.

Sukeya Abe, Socialist member of Japan's parliament, arrived in this South Korean capital before dawn today at the demand of the students in order to identify Yamamura, whom they do not know.

In Tokyo, Chief Cabinet Secretary Shigeru Hori told a news conference the hijackers said they would release the passengers after dawn today following the identification of 36-year-old Yamamura.

Japan Air Lines prepared to receive its 100 exhausted customers in Fukuoka, Japan, where they had been heading Tuesday when the nine samurai sword-swinging students seized control of the jetliner at 7:40 a.m.

The Boeing 727 did land at Fukuoka on Tuesday, where 23 passengers were permitted to depart, then made an unsuccessful attempt to fly to North Korea, and finally landed instead at Seoul's Kimpo International Airport, which was disguised to look like Pyongyang's airport.

After the students discovered the ruse, they and South Korean government officials began haggling over the terms of the plane's departure for North Korea.

The students, fearing South Korean planes would shoot down the Boeing if they went without hostages, insisted on keeping the passengers. Japanese and South Korean officials insisted on obtaining their freedom.

Yamamura finally broke the deadlock Thursday by his offer to fly to Pyongyang with the hijackers.

Before the new deal with the students was struck, North Korea promised to give the passengers and crew of the detoured Boeing "humanitarian" treatment and send them back to Japan immediately.

It did not say what it planned to do with the hijackers, who are reported to want to set up a headquarters in Pyongyang to promote world revolution.

Maybe you thought winter was over ...

SHERBROOKE — Meteorologically, March was a mediocre month in the Townships.

Temperature, sunshine, and precipitation figures were up slightly over the figures for last year at this time, but were marginally lower than the fifty-six year average for the month.

Average monthly temperature this time round was 24.66 degrees, little better than the 24.32 degrees for last year, and little worse than the cumulative average of 29.49 degrees.

The high for the month was 56 degrees, nowhere near the record 77 degrees set on March 29, 1945, and the low was minus 18 degrees, not exactly within sight of the record 40 below set back in 1938.

March 1970 was 28 hours sunnier than last year, with 119.3 hours of blue skies, but was not up to the 56 year figure of 134.6 hours.

But the best month of all was March 1916 when sun worshippers luxuriated under no less than 197.3 hours of bright skies.

However, 1952 was a good year have missed March. It was graced with a paltry 80.2 hours of sunshine.

The 1.18 inches of rain that fell this month compares with the 0.94 inches last year and with the 1.23 inch cumulative average.

The wettest March was in 1924 when 4.95 inches fell, and the driest was in those sunny days in 1916 when it was either sunny or it snowed.

Skiers may note that 11.5 inches of snow fell in March, better than the record minimum of 1946, boasting barely an inch. However last year's figure was 19.5 inches, the average over the years is 16.5 inches, and the record is 36.9 inches.

U.S. girl loudest protester of Disco Quebecois closing

OSAKA (CP) — When Disco Quebecois, the discotheque at Expo '70's Quebec pavilion was forced to shut down, it was an American girl who raised the loudest public protest against the action of fair authorities.

The disco, with its electronic music and psychedelic lighting, was an after-dark gathering place for youthful fair-goers until authorities ordered it closed until its future was decided.

Disco operators had been checking identity cards to keep out those under 18, the drinking age in Japan. Some Japanese newspapers gave it early attention when they alleged some cuddling went on among the dancers, a practice frowned upon in Japan.

Miss Ruth E. Rendely of Washington, D.C., a guide at the United States pavilion, made a public protest in the English-language Mainichi Daily News.

Interest in health plan

QUEBEC — Judging from the volume of pre-registration forms already returned to the Quebec Health Insurance Board, the Quebec population is showing remarkable interest in public health insurance. Mailing began a week ago and the volume of returns is increasing from day to day.

The purpose of the pre-registration campaign is to enable the Quebec Health Insurance Board to compile a complete register of Quebec residents so that as soon as the Health Insurance Act is sanctioned by the National Assembly all residents will be in a position to benefit from the plan without undue delay.

The first phase of the campaign will continue for several weeks and will reach some 5 million Quebecers. A second phase will be launched towards the end of April: it will consist of coupons published in the newspapers, to accommodate those who have not been reached by mail.

The reader will be invited to complete and return the coupon, if he did not receive a form by mail or if he has mislaid the form received.

Bruck Mills' sales up near 8 percent

Bruck Mills Limited reports sales for the first quarter ended February 7, 1970 of $8,643,000 compared with $8,034,000 last year, an increase of 7.6 per cent. The increase is due to continued growth in sales of knitted fabrics.

Net income is $111,000 for the first quarter as compared with $204,000 for the first quarter of the previous year. Earnings per Class A share are 38 cents compared with 62 cents last year while earnings per Class B share are 23 cents compared with 47 cents.

The company is currently affected by considerable distressed selling from the United States and imports from low-wage countries.

With the current rate of imports and the uncertainty of government policy on textiles, the immediate prospects for the industry are not clear, the Company noted in its interim report.

The industry anticipates important changes in fashion trends this fall with the prospects for longer hemlines which are likely to stimulate the sale of women's wear fabrics in the last half of the year.

EDITORIALS COMMENT

FRI. APRIL 3, 1970

Stupidity of censorship

The average person may not approve or even like some of the "literature" that is appearing on most magazine-sellers' shelves these days but most of them will agree that censorship by self-appointed individuals or pressure groups is no answer to the problem of a nut.

The silliness of these individuals seems to know no end.

Book censorship has been a favorite target for these people, some of whom seem to have an over-developed feeling for what they think may be the sensitivities of other people. A recent example of this kind of thing came in Ipswich, England, where the chief librarian removed from the library shelves three Billy Bunter books.

Anyone — any boy at least — brought up in the United Kingdom undoubtedly at some stage of his life read the school tales involving Harry Wharton and Company. One of the company was, of course, Billy Bunter, the fat boy, the "owl of the Remove". In the stories Billy was forever gorging himself.

The reason given by the librarian for the removal of the books is that they possibly could be hurtful to fat boys.

One would think, however, if one remembers some of Billy Bunter's misadventures, that they would be extremely helpful to would-be fat boys and would be enough to scare them onto a high-protein low-carbohydrate diet pronto.

In objecting to the removal of the books from the Ipswich shelves, the publishers ask, "Where will it end?" a question that will be re-echoed by most readers of any kind of book.

The publishers point out that the works of Miss Enid Blyton — whose books have been on the bookshelves of most children — have also been banned from some libraries, "presumably for fear of offending ingenious dwarfs afflicted with a perpetual twitch."

Our 73rd annual review

Today the Sherbrooke Record has the privilege of presenting its annual review number marking the seventy-third year of the existence of the only English-language daily newspaper in the Eastern Townships.

The annual review edition of the Sherbrooke Record has for many years been designed to provide our readers with the story of the past year and the prospects for the future; with articles dealing with the everyday activities of the residents of the area and with stories of the Eastern Townships and its peoples in the years gone by.

In 1970 we have expended every possible effort to assure that the best features of past annuals have been preserved and that many new features of interest have been introduced.

In common with other sections of the country, this area experienced its difficulties during 1969 and there is little doubt that there will be problems in the year to come.

But by reading the many articles covering the progress of the various municipalities in the region, it will be apparent that the citizens are determined to meet the problems as they arise and that they are confident that they can make the future even brighter than the past.

Much of the success of the 73rd annual review number can be attributed to the work of the local correspondents who have made every effort to present the story of their own region and to them we extend a special word of thanks.

"But that's DISCRIMINATION!"

Brutal reality for opposition

Parliamentarians rose for the Easter holidays with one reality clear, even brutal, to the opposition parties: The Trudeau ministry is in excellent condition, especially in its parliamentary and administrative roles.

It has got through the winter remarkably well considering the uproar over the White Paper on taxation, the rising unemployment and the largely unchecked, though much attacked, major problem of inflation.

The New Democrats argue quietly among themselves about the means or methods they should take to make a greater impact. The Conservatives seem less introspective as a group, but one meets repeatedly Conservative MPs who ponder their two dilemmas: How can the worth of Robert Stanfield be brought to Canadians and how, through Parliamentary means, can they begin cutting the PM and the Government down to size?

The public hardly knows Charles Drury, president of the Treasury Board. It's just as well for the Liberals. Mr. Drury is politically unattractive: Stiff, limited in vocabulary, narrow in his interests, and abrupt with people.

He's lasted as a minister since 1963 because he is competent administratively and a bear for work. Presently, he is on a mission across Canada, unpublicized and discreet. Its purpose is to sit down with provincial premiers, their ministers of finance, health and education and persuade them to cut back where they can on health and educational spending in the joint program areas where Ottawa puts up lots of the backing.

Remember those charts Mr. Trudeau distracted us with on television late last summer as he launched the Federal freezes and cutbacks? The most awful rising lines on the graphs represented post-secondary education and health-care costs. How is Drury doing on his mission? Perhaps well, none of the provincial politicians has taken a public shot at him yet.

Federal Tories from Nova Scotia expect an election call by Premier Smith at any time, probably in the next two weeks. The key decision the Premier has to make first is what should be done about the ill-fated heavy water plant in Cape Breton.

Jean Chretien, the minister of Indian affairs and Northern development, says that there is a substantial body of opinion which he meets in Quebec that would like the Federal Government to declare that Quebec would not be allowed to separate.

"They point to the U.S. Lincoln did not back down and tell the secessionist states to go their way. If Texas decided to go it alone, would Washington let it?"

Mr. Chretien acknowledges that the time is past in terms of wise political judgment for any Ottawa declaration that Quebec would never be allowed to separate. To a suggestion that most of English-speaking Canada is psychologically prepared to let Quebec go, he replies that they are sick of Separatist talk — but "remember, so are most of the people in Quebec." As a footnote to this, a Montreal taxi driver of Irish background offered the opinion to me that lots of room should be left for Quebec to get back into Confederation because "after four or five years on her own, the majority will be crying to get back in."

Raymond Crepault, head of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters told me that private broadcasters believe the issue of their future, placed in peril by the proposed CRTC regulations on Canadian content, will move into the political arena if the representations against the regulations at the hearings in Ottawa on April 14 and thereafter have no effect.

DOUGLAS FISHER

Mr. Crepault says that orders for advertising time for the fall season are being placed now by many advertising agencies with U.S. stations have large Canadian audiences. Another story I heard hardens this into a fact that the big Walter Thompson agency has bought a large block of commercial time on the Buffalo station with the highest ratings in the Metro area.

The cumulative Hansard index for this session came out last Wednesday covering the period from October to March 4. It shows only 12 interventions by Erik Nielson. This is an incredible drying-up of activity from the man who once stood only behind John Diefenbaker as the dread of the Liberal Governments under Lester Pearson. Two other Conservative MPs who were once ripping activists in the House were busier than Nielson, but almost mute by their old standards — Jack Horner and Eldon Woolliams, both from Alberta.

The study released last week by the Bi-Bi Commission, entitled The Italians of Montreal, concludes with as succinct and accurate a judgment of the Italians as I've ever seen. It reads:

"The Italian Canadian in general has not found in Canadian society any overriding values for which he is willing to sacrifice his moral obligation to strive for the greatest possible material and social benefits for himself and his family."

Too lazy to vote?

Dear Sir:

Political conventions are a new experience for me, as it seems, they were for many who attended the very large one held in Richmond on Mar. 29. One thing which seemed rather strange to me was the lack of English members. Why? After some thought I arrived at the conclusion that the average French man and woman makes politics a pleasure and pleasure their business. They go at the whole setup with a fervour that is catching, while the average English person is too sophisticated to show any enthusiasm. Are we a lazy factor in the governing of our country? To me the answer can only be "yes", for no one wants to accept any responsibility in affairs of school, town or otherwise.

Primarily I started to write this to tell of the actual running of a convention. The necessary papers, being all in order, each candidate publicly accepts his nomination and takes his seat on the platform behind the officials of the convention. Each is allowed a set time for speech making, after which the voters are selected. This was indeed a mystery to me and, apparently, to many others who had attended for a first time. It is certainly a very democratic system. As each town or township is called, those from that particular district are allowed through the cordon and given a number, with the corresponding piece being placed in a box. According to the numbers of polls in that division, the numbers are drawn, and those holding them are the voters for that particular place. Each is given a small booklet, containing several different colored slips and the first one is used for the first ballot-carefully marked in an enclosed booth and placed in a regular ballot box. When all eligible have voted, the box is carried by men who have been appointed by each candidate to safeguard his interest to another room, and there they are counted. In case of a second ballot, the booklets are carefully preserved by the voters for a second ballot, this time a different color. From now on I shall realize that the man selected is from the people who are interested enough to attend these meetings. After the elections are over is a poor time to complain about the choice of the candidate.

By the time that this is printed, most of the conventions will all be a thing of the past, but there are still the booths awaiting us on April 29 and I sincerely hope that all of those eligible will avail themselves of the privilege, for privilege it is, to cast a vote for the man or the party of their choice. There is only one way to preserve our freedom in any country, and that is by using that freedom to its fullest extent. We may laugh and joke about each other's political beliefs, but we are still friends, and may vote as we please. Surely we are still alert enough to the happenings of world affairs to have an opinion, whether it is right or wrong, so express it on election day.

How about tunes for elderly?

Dear Sir:

Please allow me a bit of space in your Record to comment on the C.K.T.S. radio program for Saturday afternoons.

Don't get me wrong, I am not against the young people and their music, with dedications to Tom, Dick, Harry, Sadie, Betty and everybody listening and not listening.

Now, all these young people have heard the program when it was recorded. Surely they don't sit by the radio from two o'clock to six o'clock on a nice Saturday to hear it again!

The adults, who probably paid for the radios in the first place, and have to stay inside on Saturday afternoons, might like to hear the program for an hour or so, but would also enjoy the music of Don Messer, Guy Lombardo and many others.

I'm sure the teenagers would also enjoy these selections. Many young people of my acquaintance really enjoy "square dancing", so they must like the music.

The present "generation-gap" is being caused by adults, who try to keep the kids happy by lavishing all their time and energy on them. Let's lavish a little entertainment on the elderly and shut-ins, who cannot get all stations on their radios.

The young people would heartily agree. I'm sure. Most of them are fine people.

What do some other adults think?

Thank you.

Anti-pot petition

Dear Sir:

Regarding a current issue "Should the drug, marijuana, be legalized in Canada?" concerned parents in the City of Barrie, Ontario, are discovering through the circulating of a petition that 95 per cent of contacts do not want the drug legalized. We also feel it necessary to let our national government know this by raising the voice of the people. Too many commissions, bodies of university students and general influential people are recommending legalization. The voice of the people must be heard without delay. The most effective method is by personal correspondence to the government either direct or through your local member of parliament.

The plan is to petition in the City of Sherbrooke for about two months as soon as possible. A "key" person is necessary in each locality to advertise, distribute and make contacts to begin with, afterwards, the action snowballs. The petitioners can be any individual concerned with the cause. Petitioners take their petition to their clubs, games, work, on weekly visits to stores, garages etc., or canvass door to door in their neighbourhood to get signatures. Where a contact wishes enlightenment a brochure regarding pros, cons, effects, results etc., of marijuana are handed out. A record is kept of the number of contacts wanting legalization so that a comparison can be made. No skill is necessary to be a "key" person to spearhead this undertaking; just a person dedicated to the cause and willing to put some time and effort forth. It is not a political issue but strictly a social improvement endeavour. Petitions will finally be sent to the federal government.

Anyone in your city desiring to help us in this worthy cause, please write me. Sincerely,

MRS. W. MALLORY,
11 Creswick Court,
Barrie, Ontario.

US to stay out of Cambodia-Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary William P. Rogers told members of the Senate foreign relations committee Thursday the United States is not considering any aid or other involvement in Cambodia.

U.S. policy, Rogers told reporters after a three-hour appearance before a closed session of the committee, is "to guarantee the neutrality of Cambodia." He urged North Vietnam to follow suit.

There have been reports that Cambodia's new government might seek U.S. aid in its efforts to rid the country of thousands of North Vietnamese troops. But Chairman J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) told reporters: "He (Rogers) said there had been no request on it and they weren't contemplating it."

Fulbright and two other senior committee members—Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.)—said they were pleased with the assurances given by Rogers.

ATTACKS POLICY
But a few hours later, Fulbright took the Senate floor to deliver a 5,000-word speech, written and distributed before Rogers' appearance, in which he delivered a broad attack on the Nixon administration's Southeast Asia policy.

He said it has adopted the objective of the Johnson administration's policies by seeking "to preserve some kind of American military foothold, either directly or by proxy, in an alien sphere of influence."

The Arkansas Democrat, in what he said was the first of a series of speeches, said the U.S. should welcome North Vietnamese pre-eminence in all of Indochina, calling the Hanoi government strong enough to resist domination by China but too weak to pose a challenge to either U.S. security or the rest of Southeast Asia.

In a last-minute addition to the speech, Fulbright said "the administration would do well to respond favorably to the ex-

Sharp urges new control commission for Cambodia

PARIS (CP) — France has asked Canada to help revive the International Control Commission on Cambodia, once a part of France's crumbled Southeast Asian empire.

Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, it was learned Thursday, broached the idea to External Affairs Minister Sharp almost as soon as the Canadian minister arrived here Wednesday for the opening here of a Canadian cultural centre.

Sharp was understood to have told Schumann that Canada would be willing to get the commission going again provided that it was not hamstrung by various deterrents that kept it from being much more than an onlooker.

Diplomatic observers here were puzzled by France's sudden revival of interest in the Far East. One said France still considers it has a stake of "prestige" in Southeast Asia, though it took a beating there some years ago.

SET UP IN 1954
Canada has been a member of the ICC since it was set up under Geneva agreements of 1954 and 1962—along with India and Poland. Under the two agreements the commission operated in Cambodia, the Vietnams and Laos.

tremely constructive suggestion" by France for a general conference aimed at neutralizing all of former French Indochina.

Democrat Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma and Republican James B. Pearson of Kansas introduced a Senate resolution endorsing such a conference.

Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.) on foreign relations committee member, told reporters: "The French have a very big interest in Cambodia. Naturally they want to preserve their interests there."

Rogers said the U.S. is studying the French suggestion, saying: "We are interested in any kind of negotiations that would lead to peace."

NEW LEADERS of Cambodia are Premier Lon Nol, left, and Acting Chief of State Cheng Heng. The Nationalist Assembly granted them power after the ouster of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

IT'S INCOME TAX TIME AGAIN....

and the usual questions are being asked by taxpayers. As a public service, this newspaper is publishing the most common inquiries and the proper answers, which we obtained from H. R. Block, the Income Tax people.

QUESTION — Because I receive less than $10.00 interest on my savings account at my bank, do I have to report it?

ANSWER — Yes you do. You are required to report any amount. The only difference is that when an amount of interest is less than $10.00 you will not receive a T5 slip from the bank but you are required to report it anyway. A T5 slip will be dispatched to you by the bank for any amount exceeding $10.00.

QUESTION — I received all of my pension contributions back from my employer and noticed that 10% was withheld for income tax. Do I have to report this amount on my tax return even though my employer withheld the 10%?

ANSWER — Yes you do, if it is to your benefit. A special tax will be calculated. Should the special tax be applicable, the payment will not be added to your other income. Rather, a special tax will be computed and added to the income tax on your other income.

QUESTION — I started a business on July 1, 1969. Do I have to report this business on my 1969 return?

ANSWER — No you do not as the accounting period does not coincide with the calendar year. Any date may be selected for the end of a fiscal year for a business at its commencement. However, the fiscal period cannot exceed twelve months.

Weatherman leaders face conspiracy charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve members of the militant Weatherman faction of the Students for Democratic Society, including leader Mark Rudd, were indicted Thursday under the federal anti-riot law.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury in Chicago, charged the 12 with conspiracy and interstate travel to incite the riot and vandalism that occurred during a disturbance in Chicago last October.

In addition to Rudd, the indictment included Bernadine Dohrn, 27, the former national secretary of SDS, and Kathy Boudin, 26, who has been missing since the explosion last month that destroyed a house in New York City's Greenwich Village. Rudd, a 22-year-old self-proclaimed radical, was leader of the student rebellion that immobilized Columbia University in New York City in 1968.

The federal anti-riot law, first invoked against the so-called Chicago Seven in connection with disorders that occurred during the 1968 Democratic national convention, makes it a federal crime to travel and use facilities of the interstate commerce with the intent to incite, organize, promote, encourage, participate in and carry on a riot.

Each of the 12 was charged in the indictment with one count of conspiracy, which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine, and with one to four counts of violating the anti-riot law, which carries the same maximum penalty.

The indictment named 28 other persons as co-conspirators, but not as defendants.

The indictment charged the 12 who were indicted conducted training in obstructing police, self-defence and "organizing and directing small groups called single 'affinity groups' for the purpose of committing acts of violence against policemen, other persons, and property."

Guerrillas demand release of political prisoners for kidnapped diplomat

GUATEMALA CITY (Reuters) — Leftist guerrillas have demanded that the government release all political prisoners in jail here—a total of 17—in exchange for kidnapped West German Ambassador Karl von Spreti, a government source said Thursday.

The swap is being negotiated by the papal delegate to Guatemala, Msgr. Gerolamo Prigione, who has been in constant touch with government officials and the guerrillas, members of the Rebel Armed Forces movement.

A government spokesman said: "The government has no choice but to heed the rebel order."

One of the main points of discussion during an emergency cabinet meeting was believed to be a request by the rebels that the government turn over four of the 17 prisoners directly to the leftist group.

The four—Fausto Diaz Paredes, Luis Alfredo Castillo de Leon and brothers Salvador and Jose Luis Diaz Alvarado—are generally believed to have "talked" in jail and given away the position of an important guerrilla camp.

RAIDED CAMP
The camp was raided by government forces late last month and several guerrillas were shot. Among those captured was left-wing poet Oscar Arturo Valencia and a guerrilla "sweetheart," attractive Elodia Consuelo Cardona de Campos.

The persons accused of telling the interrogators the position of the camp had been captured March 22 during a gun battle between rebels and troops.

The rebel organization is reported to want to execute them for talking. The government, on the other hand, is reported determined to save their lives by sending them with the rest of the prisoners into exile, if an exchange is carried out.

Among the 17 political prisoners are three accused of machine-gunning to death a federal legislator and three policemen.

Scientists protest regime

MOSCOW (AP) — A letter addressed to three top Soviet scientists appeals to the Kremlin to implement widespread democratization as the only cure for a disillusioned society and economic stagnation in the Soviet Union.

The letter, dated March 19 and signed by academicians A. S. Sakharov, physicist V. F. Turchin and historian R. A. Medvedev, was given to Western correspondents Thursday by Soviet contacts.

The 4,000-word proposal is addressed to Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Pointing out that past Soviet achievements have laid "a solid foundation for further successes in the cause of communism," the three writers note "patently serious difficulties and shortcomings" in Soviet life.

"At the present time it is of great importance to carry out a series of measures directed toward the further democratization of public life," says the letter.

It also questions the Kremlin's foreign policy on West Berlin, the Middle East, relations with the West in general and foreign aid to underdeveloped countries.

It specifies, however, that democratization should not destroy, but strengthen, the Soviet Socialist system and ideology.

"Democratization ... must retain and strengthen the leading role of the (Communist) party in the economic, political and cultural life of society," it says.

Gentilly station on schedule

MONTREAL — Construction of Gentilly nuclear power station, which was started in September 1966 by Hydro-Quebec and Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, is proceeding on schedule.

The major elements of the station are now in place and some have already been put in service. Now only the finishing touches remain.

The last of the 308 pressure tubes that will contain the uranium-dioxide fuel was installed recently. About 70 per cent of the tubing for the heat-transport system has been erected. In April 1970, the first of two computers that will supervise the station operation will be installed.

Workers at the site now number 742, of which 650 are from Hydro-Quebec, 52 from Atomic Energy of Canada, and 40 from subcontractors.

Sunday Sermon Subject for April 5, 1970

Effective ways to meet the problems of greed, injustice, intemperance, and violence are described in the Christian Science Lesson - Sermon this Sunday. The subject is "Unreality." Many of the Bible citations are from Proverbs, contrasting the folly of destructive habits with the peace of spiritual understanding. "For the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold."

Examples of real and unreal pursuits are given from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker
Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. She states, "Take away wealth, fame, and social organizations, which weigh not one jot in the balance of God, and we get clearer views of Principle."

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Not All Diabetics Need to Take Insulin

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

After the discovery of insulin in 1921 diabetes was considered controllable.

Now, 49 years later, despite the addition of oral anti-diabetic drugs we doctors are finding to our chagrin that arterial complications, such as retinitis, kidney and heart disease, and peripheral neuritis are occurring in persons who have successfully kept their urine sugar-free for 10 to 20 years.

Some victims, in spite of a high blood sugar level, may produce a normal or increased amount of insulin.

Current research on this phenomenon has not yet provided a clear explanation but one incontrovertible fact has emerged. Giving insulin to such a patient does more harm than good.

A recent British study indicates that prevention depends on the early detection of even a slight elevation in the blood sugar level. If the patient is then treated with tolbutamide and phenformin the arterial complications can often be prevented.

Unfortunately, the condition now called prediabetes is often misdiagnosed as colitis, peptic ulcer or gall-bladder disease because of vague abdominal complaints or anxiety neurosis because of the palpitations and tremors. These symptoms are all due to a low blood sugar level resulting from an over-production of insulin in the body.

The arterial complications are now believed to be the result of taking too much insulin. For this reason, authorities now advocate giving only enough to prevent the appearance of acetone in the urine. The oral drug, phenformin, has the advantage of reducing the amount of insulin required to accomplish this. Safflower oil has also been given to reduce the need for insulin. Three new oral agents, acetohexamide, gludiazine and glibenclamide—all still experimental—show further promise in controlling the adult-onset type of diabetes.

Q—I don't have angina pectoris but I am taking Peritrate on the advice of my eye doctor. Are there any bad effects from taking it indefinitely?

A—Not if you use the smallest dose that meets your individual need. Too large a dosage may cause headache and dizziness.

Rummage sale planned at joint meeting of WA, WMS

RICHMOND — The joint meetings of the W.A. and W.M.S. of l'Eglise des Cantons de l'Est, Melbourne, were held on March 18, at the home of Mrs. Real Larochelle. Eleven members answered the roll call.

Mrs. Gerald Fortier opened the W.A. meeting with a hymn. It was decided to have a rummage sale in the church hall on April 11 from 9:30 a.m. until 12 noon.

Several aprons, knitted articles and surprise packages were brought in for the spring sale and tea to be held on May 6. The business session was then concluded after which the Auxiliary Prayer was repeated.

W.M.S. MEETING

Mrs. Real Larochelle opened the meeting with a special hymn, followed by scripture readings by Mrs. Paul Papineau and Mrs. Florian Menard. Mrs. Larochelle read a meditation on Reconciliation, followed by prayer. The correspondence consisted of an acknowledgment card from Mrs. Beatrice Rodgers and family.

Mrs. Gerald Fortier was named as delegate to Synodical at Cornwall, Ont., on April 7 and 8.

The next meeting will be a joint meeting with St. Andrew's group of Upper Melbourne on April 5th.

The president asked Mrs. Gerald Doran to conduct the program for the evening, which consisted of a Bible study and the responsibilities of a Christian woman, which proved to be a challenge to the members.

A chapter of the book God Speaks to Woman, by Eugenia Price, was read in accordance with the study.

Mrs. Doran then closed the meeting with prayer after which tea was served by the hostess and a social hour enjoyed.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Expos snowed under

MONTREAL (CP) — April Fool's Day came 24 hours late for Lou Martin, director of operations for Montreal Expos of baseball's National League.

"Frustrating, frustrating, frustrating," Martin said Thursday, as he viewed six inches of fresh snow that fell on Jarry Park.

The Expos are scheduled to play their second home opener in major league baseball next Wednesday after taking part in the league's season opener at Cincinnati against the Reds Monday.

Martin said: "We've got to get... rain and one or two days of warm weather, but in the meantime I'm trying to arrange to get a machine from the airport—it's a 100-foot-wide heat machine they use to clear the runways."

Martin, who has a tarpaulin over the infield, said the outfield was springy and spongy in spots before the snow, but could have been put into shape with some rolling.

West dominates swimming

WINNIPEG (CP) — There were no surprises Thursday as western swimmers dominated opening heats on the first day of the Canadian indoor winter national and British Commonwealth Games trials.

Alberta and British Columbia swimmers grabbed 31 of the 48 qualifying spots for the six finals which were to be held Thursday night. Fastest eight swimmers in heats of each event qualified for the finals in the Pan-Am pool.

Finals were to be held in the men's and women's 200-metre freestyle, 100-metre backstroke and 400-metre individual medley.

Angela Coughlan of Burlington, Ont., was the only swimmer to break the western domination in the heats as she won the 200-metre freestyle.

Two way tie for first

SHAWINIGAN, Que. (CP) — Alberta and Saskatchewan won their final-round matches to emerge from regular play in the National Firefighters curling championship Thursday tied for first place.

A playoff for the championship became necessary when Saskatchewan, skipped by Doug Wyatt of Saskatoon, downed Prince Edward Island, skipped by Gordon Stewart of Charlottetown, 7-5 while Alberta's Ron Munro of Red Deer piloted his foursome to a 7-2 win over the host Quebec rink, skipped by Andre Jourdain of Shawinigan.

The two rinks finished the nine rounds of regular play with identical records of seven wins and two losses.

In the closest contest of the ninth round, British Columbia's Ed Bekeka, of South Burnaby, skipped his rink to a 10-9 victory over the Northern Ontario's John Kowalenko of Thunder Bay.

Wings flying — move ahead of Habs into third place

DETROIT (AP) — Alex Delvecchio gave Detroit Red Wings' Stanley Cup playoff hopes a big boost Thursday night as he banged in a goal 16 seconds after the opening faceoff to help beat Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2 in a National Hockey League game.

Gary Bergman, Gordie Howe and Frank Mahovlich scored the other Detroit goals as the Red Wings carried 2-0 and 4-1 leads into the second and third periods respectively.

Norm Ullman and Bob Pulford were the Toronto marksmen before 15,390 fans.

The win moved Detroit into third place in the torrid NHL's East Division race ahead of Montreal Canadiens, idle Thursday night, and three points up on fifth-place New York Rangers with whom they have a home-and-home series this weekend to close out the season.

Bergman made it 2-0 with a waist-high sizzler from 40 feet out, with Paul Popiel getting the assist. Gamble, screened by a maze of players, did not lay a hand on the shot.

Toronto hit the scoring column in the second period as Ullman tipped in a close range blast at 6:39 while Detroit's Dale Rolfe was in the penalty box. Howe got that goal back 23 seconds later as he beat Gamble with a blast from the right side, his 28th goal of the season to make it 3-1.

Detroit ran its lead to 4-1 as Delvecchio passed out to Carl Brewer who relayed to Mahovlich for the Big M's 37th of the year.

The Leafs cut to the margin to a 4-2 as Dave Keon set Pulford away with a nifty drop pass after they had worked their way through the Detroit defence.

Can-am Canadians get new machinery

TORONTO (Special) — Three of Canada's top racing drivers will be on the starting grid for the opening race of the 1970 Canadian-American Challenge Cup series at Mosport on June 14.

And, again, the Mosport leg of the million-dollar series will be sponsored by Labatt's Ontario Breweries. There has been no announcement so far about Labatt's Quebec participation in the Le Circuit Mont Tremblant Can-Am race scheduled for June 28.

Canadians John Crofts and Roger McCaig in brand new McLaren-Chevrolets and George Eaton in a new BRM-Chevrolet racer will make major efforts in the race series. All three will work from Toronto bases.

After a 'musical chairs' season in 1969 which saw him drive three different cars in six races, Cordts of Port Credit, Ont., enters 1970 with an optimistic outlook as driver of the new M8C McLaren-Chevrolet, purchased by engine building specialist Dave Billes of Thornhill, Ont. In spite of Cordts' limited competition last year, he still managed to place 10th in the overall point standings, winning over $20,000.

The BRM for Eaton marks the first attempt by the Owen Racing Organization of Britain to build a two-seater Group 7 machine. The former world champion Formula 1 builder, (BRM stands for British Racing Motors) a permanent fixture on the Grand Prix circuits, is expected to produce serious competition for the Can-Am dominating McLaren factory cars to be driven by Bruce McLaren and Denis Hulme.

Eaton, after two seasons of Can-Am rivalry in his own machines, was signed to lead BRM's attack on North American purses.

This new team will be based in Rexdale, Ont., Canadian home of Rubery Owen Limited, the parent company of the Owen Racing Organization.

Roger McCaig of Regina, Sask., spends much of his time in the world of big business as director of United Westburne Industries, but has found time for auto racing.

In the Junior B finals this week, Lake Megantic beat Val Estrie 8-2 and 9-2, to take the best of three series in two straight. Michel Tanguay, Denis Houle, Pierre Arguin, and Rejean Beaudoin were standouts for Megantic.

In the independent League playoffs, Mago leads the Indians of Tuque Rouge two games to none. Mago coach Bernard Longpre is confident his squad can close out the series in four straight.

Cowansville will defend the championship in the third annual Labor Invitational Basketball Tournament at Loyola's sports complex. Today, Chateauguay Valley Regional meet St. Thomas, Honore Mercier go against Lower Canada College, and Rosemere meet Cowansville, with the finals to be held on Saturday.

All teams in the Provincial Baseball League are scrambling to sign players for the coming season. Thetford Mines recently announced the signing of Timothy Morgan, Pascual Ramirez, Bryan York, Bill Pettingeel, and Hector Soto.

The local Race Track is opening for business May 3, and track Secretary Len O'Donnell is running around like a cat on a hot tin roof setting up the programs for the opening.

Badminton is big news these days in Waterloo. The seniors are picking up honors everywhere, and even youngsters in grades five and six are doing well.

Congratulations to John Joyce, John Morel, Keith Belknap, and Tim Bronson, winners of the Junior Carpet Bowlers meet in Rock Island.

SKIING

in the Townships

By Charles Catchpough

It sure looks like another two weekends of skiing, but a lot still depends on the weatherman. There's quite a fair base on most hills, and with cold nights, and the occasional sprinkling of snow, we'll keep skiing for a few days yet. I think it fair to mention, that it's this extra late traffic that can be regarded as frosting on the cake for tow operators, whose profits depend on the brakes in this game. In thinking of our good ski centre operators and their need for the maximum in lift sales, I strongly encourage every skier to continue hitting the slopes until it's curtains for another season. By showing up, buying rides and giving the operators encouragement, you'll be helping influence them to provide better accommodations for next winter.

The Canadian Ski Patrol System's Eastern Townships Zone annual conference will take place Saturday, April 25th in Mago at the Cabana Lodge. This is the organization's annual regional general business meeting, and a prelude to the association's national assembly scheduled for early June.

The 2 winners in the Canadian Amateur Ski Association SKIATHON draw have been announced.

The Canadian Amateur Ski Association held the draw for the two prizes offered on the SKIATHON.

Winner of the pair of First Class tickets to Paris, donated by AIR CANADA, is Mr. P. Hallaway of 645 St. David's Avenue, North Vancouver.

The 1970 PONTIAC Station Wagon was won by Mr. Jarvis Freedman of 684 Brierwood Avenue in Ottawa.

Both contestants, who sponsored skiers in the Skiathon, successfully answered skill-testing questions and will be receiving their prizes this week.

The Skiathon, held on February 21, raised close to $50,000 for the Ski Association; half of this money will be used for local activities while the other half will be used for national programmes. This was the first time the Skiathon had been run nationally and, with the experience gained from this, it is expected to be much more successful next year.

The New Englanders love Canadians, and if you don't believe it, ski at Sugarloaf in Maine from April 4th till 12th. That'll be Canadian Week at this mammoth resort. They've got special programs lined up for Canadian visitors beginning tomorrow at 10 a.m., and not a let-up until Sunday night at 7:59 April 12th.

Sugarloaf general manager Harry Baxter, in announcing the Canadian Week, said, "This is a salute to nos bonnes amis." The promotion, he explained, will cover nine days of intensive activities with such wild and bizarre events as the famed Carrabassett Dump Party (a feature in last Nov. issue of Playboy), the World Heavyweight Ski Championship Race and the singular attractions for which only Sugarloaf regulars are so renowned. Noted among the latter are the Carrabassett Bad Actors Society and our own Jud Strunk.

New participants to this week will be a unique band of volunteers from Jay Peak, Vermont, aboard a fire engine, whose purpose will be to douse the area with their good humor and camaraderie, blending the Sugarloaf Spirit with the Jay Joie de Vivre.

The Canadian Ski Patrol System's Eastern Townships Zone got a recruiting boost last Saturday, when the CJAD helicopter carrying sports commentator Al Cawley, and CSPS E-T Zone President Rupert Dobbin and Perry Safford visited regional ski centres. They answered questions on patrolling, and took names of guys and gals who are considering the organization for next winter.

SKI RACING will become America's first year-around ski publication when a new publishing schedule goes into effect in July.

Publisher Bill Tanler announced that SKI RACING's frequency was being increased from 20 to 25 issues annually with the addition of monthly issues during the summer months.

"Seasonal publishing has been traditional in the ski field," Tanler said, "but we have long been aware of the fact that competition news and industry news don't quit when the snow melts."

"In a reader survey completed last May," Tanler said, "about 80 per cent of SKI RACING subscribers had already decided they would buy new skis in the fall. But what was most interesting was the fact that over half had already made up their minds as to what brand. This is contrary to the established industry practice of introducing new products at spring trade shows and advertising them to the consumer in the fall."

If you've had enough sense to finish high school, then undoubtedly you'll have enough sense to give this some consideration.

II GEMINI RAPS

That great Montreal band, Mashmakhan, will be releasing their first album on the Columbia label at some time during this month. After 18 hours a day of work for five months in Columbia's studio B in New York, a masterpiece of contemporary music has resulted... a truly remarkable album which is now in final mixing stages. New Yorkers including Blood, Sweat, and Tears have already flipped over Mashmakhan and anyone who saw them at Bishop's last February understands why.

Just a final reminder that Natural Gas are at Bishop's University this Sunday night at 8:00 p.m. in Centennial Theatre. There are still a few good seats available, and you should make it your duty to go and catch them. You can call the box-office for reservations at 569-8482.

Ever since I asked the kids in the area to write to me and let me know what was happening, I've been simply flooded with mail! No doubt about it, the Townships has the greatest silent majority of kids that I have ever seen. What's the matter? Are you all too lazy to drop me a line and let me know what the scene is, or are you too bored to bother?

Sometimes I wonder about that big city called Montreal! A while ago, everyone in Quebec was screaming that there wasn't enough rock entertainment around, and in the last year or so, Montreal has been flooded with top-notch entertainment. Just to give a few examples, Led Zeppelin will be at the Forum on Monday, April 12 (we'll do a feature on that next week) and on May 9, a 12 hour rock festival at the same location. The promoters of the show in May aren't revealing any names, but sources of information are saying Grand Funk Railroad, Flock, Charlebois, Alice Cooper and a host of others will be there.

MASHMAKHAN

Come blow your mind with me this summer.

Apparently, there was some kind of a drug survey taken at Bishop's University early in the school year that proved that somewhere around 70 per cent of the university smoked marijuana. Reports like this sure set your mind to thinking about the legalization of grass and hash. Either a hard-core regime against drugs will have to be set up in Canada or the government will have to take over the sale of non-medical drugs and regulate it as in the liquor commissions. I'd like to hear what you might have to say about this.

The Souls of Inspiration are going to be at Mitchell school this Saturday for Hi-Y. Show-time is 8:30 p.m. Try and make it if you can.

Much love to you on these early spring days.

Too bored?

REGIONAL REPORT

DOUGLAS CURRIE

Post-Easter slump

Everyone is back to work at Galt this week after a very brief but truly joyful holiday. There wasn't too much action at the school itself over the holiday except that a few workers took care of some finishing touches that hadn't been done before and most of the staff vacationed outside of the Townships taking advantage of the holidays for a well-deserved rest.

Although the last week before the holidays was a rather short school week, the Purple House Council organized a very successful mini-carnival exclusively for Purple House students. Activities included a mud bowl in which the male team of Jumping Jack Garneau and Rolling Ron Smith beat Bea Bennett with a score of 8-0. President Joyce Hendy lost the tricycle race but sold for a fine price at the slave auction held Tuesday in the auditorium. Rock music was provided by CJRR and finished off the week at a sock-hop in P-204. Miss Donna Standish, Purple House queen, presided at this event.

Our thanks go to Mr. Jenne for his quick action in spreading the good word about AGRHS's victory at the Visser. He did a fine job of plastering the school with posters proclaiming Galt victorious.

John Vaudrey, 17, of Lennoxville, won the Rotary Public Speaking Contest recently. His topic was "Is the United Nations Fulfilling A Useful Purpose?" John now goes on to Quebec for another contest.

The first runner-up in the Miss Teenage Galt Contest was Joanne Lacroix. Bonnie Simpson and Donna Standish tied for second place and other finalists were Diane Penside, Cynthia Rugg, Rosemarie Duggan, Marlene Johnson, and Susan Rothney. Once again our queen is Margo Fletcher. Margo goes to Toronto this week to compete in the Miss Teenage Canada Pageant, to be seen Monday evening, April 6 on CBC. On her trip, she will be attired in a wardrobe furnished by Le Knack of Au Bon Marche, and shoes from Patrice Roy's. Other prizes that she will receive include luggage, stockings, a pendant watch, jewellery, a fur hat, a record player, and a selection of swimwear.

Instead of my usual episode in the Battle of the Houses, I have a comment to make on an article that appeared on the Teen Page, March 20. Entitled Gemini Raps, a rather pessimistic caption, the article asked, "...what the kids at the high school, (referring to Galt) do besides being involved with their respective houses. Is there any underground action happening there?" Mr. Gemini went on to ask people to let him know. He wants to spread the good word! I would like to know exactly what "underground action" he expects to find. Sure we have problems but these are only minor ones. Opinions anyone?

After the holidays, I hope to be able to report on homeroom activities. Is homeroom a useful period? Is your class busy on some project? I would like to hear from you at Box number 185 in central office.

Interhouse volleyball and track and field start Monday in the gym. The Phys. Ed. staff thanks all those who attended The Visser for being such good supporters and for being so well-behaved.
