CANADIANS FOUGHT GALLANTLY FOR GAINS AROUND FESTUBERT

DETAILS OF BRILLIANT CHAPTER IN RECENT BRITISH OPERATIONS IN SUPPORT OF THE FRENCH OFFENSIVE AROUND ARRAS.

British Headquarters in France, June 25.—Some details may now be given of the brilliant chapter in the recent British operations in support of the French offensive movement around Arras—that of the Canadian division's struggle for gains around Festubert and Givenchy.

At Festubert the objective of the Canadians was a small orchard. The third Company of the Sixteenth Battalion, Highlanders, commanded by Captain Morrison, was given the task. These men were recruited in British Columbia, many of them living in Vancouver.

A rush for the orchard was started at 7:45 o'clock in the evening, each platoon having a definite object to accomplish. In front of the orchard the men found a deep creek hedge, having only two openings in front. Morrison started to go through the hedge, but Private Appleton, a bomb thrower, sprang ahead of him saying: "Bomb throwers go ahead of officers, sir."

Once in the orchard the men met with heavy rifle and machine gun fire, but swept on to the edge. Owing to unforeseen delay one platoon, whose presence was most essential to the plan of attack, was unable to get up in time to support the attack.

The men who reached the edge of the orchard where the dead and wounded had been left dug themselves in with the ready industry of western beavers and stuck against all odds until help came, making the orchard securely theirs.

Many stories are told of the coolness of the men. Amidst the din of fire Sergeant Cochran called to his men to keep their line straight and Private Ridley, upon seeing a rabbit scurrying past sang out: "Look at bunny, will you?"

Elsewhere on the front the first party belonging to the first company of Canadians who went over the parapet were in such an exposed position as to be nearly annihilated without even reaching the German trenches. But a portion survived from the advance on the other flank and got a foothold in a German trench, where they bombed out the enemy. Every counter effort of the Germans to oust them failed. Though their position was torn into craters by German shell fire they stuck and the British line on this part of the front remains where the determined heroes of the sanguinary action put it.

In the face of a murderous machinery of war and modern fire which dropped men right and left, they had

TO RESTRAIN KELLY FROM PRODUCING CERTAIN PAPERS

MATTER WILL COME UP IN PRELIMINARY ARGUMENTS.

Winnipeg, July 12.—After paying a visit to Thomas Kelly at Shoreham, Detroit Lakes, Minn., Edward Anderson, K.C., counsel for the contractor, returned to Winnipeg this morning and filed with the Court of King's Bench an application for an injunction to restrain the Mathers commission from compelling Kelly to produce documents or give evidence before it. Mr. Anderson said this morning that his client will not return to Winnipeg, at least until after his application for an injunction has been the subject of a court decision.

The matter will come up before a judge of the Court of King's Bench on Wednesday, when preliminary arguments will be made. Kelly has a cottage at Detroit Lakes.

won a mighty struggle no less glorious because it was only a part of a big whole.

"If soldiers ever fought their way to admiration," said a British General, "it is the Canadians who, less than a year ago, were raw recruits."

At Givenchy they deserved success no less, but there they failed. Here, in front of the First Battalion, the Germans had two strongly fortified points which the Canadians sought to take. They successfully mined one, and coincident with the explosion, opened up a concentrated fire with their guns against both positions. No 4 company rushed through the open space between the two positions made by the explosion to the German trench, reaching it with only a few casualties.

So completely had they surprised the enemy that on entering the trench the Canadians found that some of the Germans, who had fled, had left their accoutrements hanging upon the walls. The Germans' fortified position to the rear which had not been mined was still able to work the machine guns enfilading any movement of the Canadians to support the troops that had gained the German trench. The Germans being reinforced and being plentifully supplied with bombs, closed in upon their hostile visitors and forced a retirement. Every step of the way back was made under the enfilading fire from the fortified position. The next morning, soldiers in the German trenches called out in excellent English, "Hello Canadians." The answer was shouted back, "Hello, Germans, did you have many losses?" A German soldier replied: "A good many; how about you?" To this a Canadian answered, "None at all," there was a moment's silence and then a German shouted: "You are a damned liar."

One would recognize gallant Canadians in their billets in French villages these warm summer days by the way they have their sleeves rolled up and their shirts open at the throat as they would at home.

"I guess they are finding we can do our bit," is the sentiment of the Canadians, and it looks as if they are going to miss the green corn season in Canada, too."

GERMANS LAUNCH OFFENSIVE IN WESTERN AREA AND REGAIN SOUCHEZ FROM FRENCH TROOPS

Gas Attack By Huns, Followed By Hand To Hand Fighting With Bomb And Bayonet, Resulted In Enemy's Favor—Germans Lay Claim To Destruction Of British Position On Hill 60 Near Ypres—German Cruiser Koenigsberg Is Destroyed

London, July 12.—From what appeared to be a lull on the western front has sprung suddenly some of the most severe fighting in months, with the Germans as the aggressors.

The Souchez cemetery, seven miles north of Arras and hardly half that distance south-west of Lens, has been wrested from the French after a German gas attack, followed by hand-to-hand fighting with bomb and bayonet. The French admit this loss and are fighting to regain the ground which they had won at such heavy cost.

Slowly the French had been tightening their grip on the village of Souchez, until the Germans, aware that the capture of the entire position would be an important step in the French offensive towards Lens and Lille, launched a terrific counter stroke, which left them master of the shattered burial ground, with more than 150 prisoners in their hands. Fighting among the houses which fringe the western edge of the town still rages.

There has also been a renewal of activity in other areas of France and Belgium, but nothing comparable with the strategic importance of the Souchez struggle. The Germans lay claim to the destruction of the British position on Hill 60, near Ypres, but this finds no confirmation from either French or British sources.

The situation in Poland and Galicia has not yet reached a crisis, but the public is rather weary of following the complexities of the Russian retirement and, so long as Warsaw appears to be in no immediate danger, is turning to the west, hazarding guesses as to whether the British and French or the Germans will be the first to take the general offensive. With the arrival of mid-summer, this is a big question, for it is felt that one side or the other must strike before long; otherwise another winter of tedious trench warfare is inevitable.

The destruction of the German cruiser Koenigsberg in a jungle-lined river of East Africa was learned with surprise, the fact that she had taken refuge there being forgotten by the general public.

The Italian attacks against Austria seem to be gaining in intensity, but the Vienna official statement admits no loss of ground.

BRITAIN'S DEMOCRATIC LOAN BREAKS RECORDS

GOVERNMENT INTEREST RATE MARKS NEW ERA —UNUSUAL MEANS HAVE BEEN TAKEN TO EXPLOIT THE LOAN.

London, July 12.—Although the magnitude of the new British War Loan, the greatest in history, is fairly staggering even in these times when men and money are counted in round numbers of millions, the loan is record-breaking in other respects than mere size. Of far reaching effect is the fact that the loan ushers in a government interest rate of 4½ per cent such as the British government has never dreamed before of allowing on its obligations. And as the London rate has been accepted as a standard for years the world over, when foreign governments have reckoned on what interest they would allow, this unprecedented pushing up of the London rate seems likely to affect government interest rates the world over.

A record feature is that this is the first "democratic loan," which means that for the first time the government is not dealing through bankers as middlemen and underwriters, but appealing to the people, and particularly the working people, to come forward with their savings and deal directly with the government through its vast organization of postal savings banks and its governmental machinery in the Bank of England. It is the first time on record, also, that a British government bond has been in less denomination than £100 ($500). These large denominations, in the past, have excluded the small investor and the working people with a few dollars to spare.

One of the most novel features about this huge loan is the unusual means the government adopted to exploit it, including huge advertisements in the daily papers, great spreads of alluring bill-board announcements, distribution of hand-bills, popular concerts and free meetings at the Guild Hall with such star attractions as Premier Asquith and A. Bonar Law. Even the time for the loan was rather adroitly chosen, at the beginning of July, just as the Britisher is casting up his half yearly accounts running from January to June thirtieth. This is the time people run over their earnings and expenditures of the last six months, and make up their minds about what they can invest during the coming months.

One of the strange features of this appeal for the working peoples' savings, is that the government will take money out of one of its pockets and put it in another pocket. The thrifty workman usually puts aside his savings in the postal banks, which pay him 2½ per cent interest on deposits. The government has the use of this vast aggregate of postal deposits. Now, however, when a workman takes a war bond, he draws his deposit from the government postal bank in order to buy the bond, so that the money merely passes from one government fund to another. But this fruitless change has the effect of increasing the government's interest charge from 2½ on the postal deposit to 4½ on the war bond. That is one of the means of making the loan democratic and attractive, even at a loss to the government.

The raising of the big loan has had its effect on all other securities, including the American, Japanese, Russian, Argentine and many other gilt-edged bonds have gone off through steady sales of holders who wanted to raise money for the war loan. American industrial and railway stocks have also felt the same pressure on the withdrawal of money for the loan and on one day the decline was 1 to 1½ in Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Reading, Southern, Amalgamated, and a lesser amount of Steel, all due to this one cause.

SIR CECIL RICE HAD CLOSE SHAVE FROM "HOLC-UP"

SIX MEN ATTEMPTED TO HOLD UP THE BRITISH AM- BASSADOR.

New York, July 12.—Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British Ambassador was riding in an automobile which six men attempted to hold up on the night following Frank Holt's attack on J. P. Morgan on July 3 last, it was revealed here tonight as a result of a complaint made to the police. James Patterson, a chauffeur for Mr. Morgan, who was driving the car, notified the authorities the police say.

The British Ambassador had left the Morgan home in Glen Cove for a visit to the home of Willard D. Straight in Greenvale, Long Island when the men who had an automobile suddenly appeared in the road and, according to the police, attempted to stop the Morgan machine. Their machine stood at the roadside. Patterson, however, increased his speed and caused the men to jump aside. In an instant they were in their car and dashing in pursuit of the Ambassador but were easily outdistanced.

MINERS AGAIN THREATEN TROUBLE

South Wales' Federation Surprises Conciliators by Demands.

Cardiff, July 13.—2:37 a.m.—A special conference of the South Wales Miners' Federation has passed a resolution announcing that unless the mine owners grant the full demands of the men for a new wage agreement they will quit work next Thursday.

This decision, which affects 42,000 miners, was adopted after the delegates had debated the question for many hours.

This turn of affairs has caused surprise to the government conciliators who believed that their efforts to effect a compromise between the mine owners and the miners were likely to succeed.

The government expects to introduce in parliament this week a bill to regulate the price of coal.

RUMANIA IS GIVEN A MONTH TO CONSIDER

AUSTRIAN MINISTER FORWARDS NOTE CONTAINING OFFER OF CONCESSIONS.

London, July 13.—Roumania has been given a month within which to accept or reject an offer of territorial compensation for her active military assistance or neutrality, according to a despatch dated at Sofia last Saturday.

The correspondent says that the Austrian Minister at Bucharest on the eighth presented a note to the Roumanian government offering Roumania as a consideration for her friendly neutrality the cession of Bukovina, with the river Sereth as her northern boundary, together with various concessions to the Roumanian inhabitants in the dual monarchy, including the foundation of a university at Brassia (Kronstadt).

In consideration for her active military assistance, the correspondent continues, Roumania would receive the whole of the Roumanian portion of Bukovina to the river Pruth and also an extension of territory along the north bank of the Danube to the iron gates, including Meladia, while Austria-Hungary would undertake to conquer Bessarabia and transfer that province immediately to Roumania as a permanent possession.

Fulfillment of these conditions was guaranteed by Germany and a month was given for a reply. The note further intimated that the central powers regarded the right of passage through Roumanian territory as necessary. The main difference between the Austrian and Russian proposals to Roumania is the substitution of Bessarabia, with a million inhabitants for Transylvania, with three millions.

MUNITIONS WORKERS WERE DISAPPOINTED.

Vancouver, B.C., July 12.—Two thousand Vancouver mechanics were feeling so disappointed on Sunday that only four hundred of their number could be taken by the Barnes Munition Workers excursion to England that they held an open air mass meeting and decided that if all could not go none would go. This morning, however, a large number of the 400 applicants who had been provisionally chosen appeared at the C. P. R. shops here for examination by the experts who had been sent out from London to make the selections.

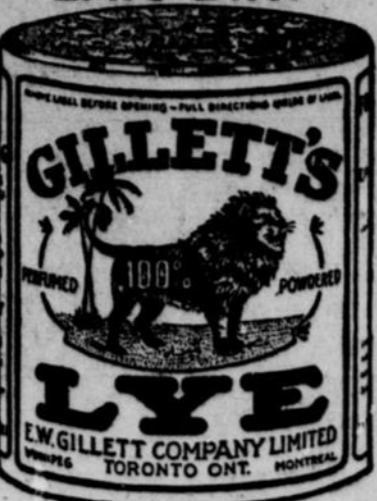

BRAVE DEED FOILS WOULD-BE SUICIDE.

Chatham, Ont., July 12.—Arthur McNaughton, aged 18 years, thwarted an attempt at suicide by drowning as the part of Reginald King, some years his senior this afternoon by leaping into the River Thames from the Fifth Steel bridge and bringing the man to shore after a desperate struggle. King had leaped into the river but a few seconds before and McNaughton plunged in after him without waiting to remove any clothes. A movement is afoot to have McNaughton suitably rewarded.

OFFICIAL

RUSSIAN STATEMENT.

Petrograd, July 12, via London, July 13, 2.30 a.m.—The following official communication was issued here today:

"There have been lively engagements on some sectors of the front of the Bobr and Narev rivers. The artillery duel at Osowetz was renewed.

"In the region of Edvabno yesterday we blew up a German mine gallery.

"Between the Pissa and Rosoga rivers a German attack was repulsed.

"From the village of Ednorozetz to Prasnyz there has been a violent cannonade and outpost engagements. All is quiet on the left bank of the Vistula.

"In the Lublin region there have been isolated actions. Our troops having finished the counter offensive which they began on the fifth and in the course of which they gained important successes they have now occupied the positions assigned to them on the heights on the right bank of the river Urzendooka.

"In the direction of Klohm, in the region of the village of Grabovetz, the enemy unsuccessfully attempted to approach our entrenchments.

"On the upper Bug, near Busk, the enemy Saturday evening attacked with several battalions. We allowed them to approach to within 200 paces and then dispersed them with our fire. Many men killed or wounded were left on the ground by the enemy.

"We repulsed an attack near the village of Markoff and the Zlota Lipa front and near the village of Koropetz on the Dniester yesterday. Our patrols have carried out a series of successful reconnaissances on the upper Nume and Zlota Lipa rivers."

FRENCH STATEMENT.

Paris, July 12—10.40 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office tonight:

"In the region to the north the enemy bombarded our trenches before Lombaertzyde and Niouport. We replied and silenced two of the enemy's batteries.

"Notwithstanding the activity of the German artillery which has cannonaded with asphyxiating shells our trenches from Carency to the outskirts of Souchez, a counter attack has put us again in possession of the part of the trench works abandoned yesterday.

"In the region of the Aisne, operations with mines continue. We exploded a mine chamber which destroyed the adverse galleries.

"The day has been calm in Champagne. In the Argonne the activity was very great, particularly in the sectors of Maria Therese, La Four de Paris, Bolante and Haute Chevaucnee. "In the forest of Le Pretere two attacks were attempted by the Germans in the neighborhood of La Croix des Carmes. The first was thrown back with heavy losses by the fire of our artillery and infantry. The second was stopped before the enemy was able to issue from the trenches.

"The bombardment continues against the positions which we have taken at Fontenelle, as well as against our advance trenches to the north of Weststein (north of Munster).

ITALIAN STATEMENT.

Rome, via Paris, July 12.—The following official statement from general headquarters was issued tonight:

"In Carnia, following our successful offensive begun yesterday on the heights constituting the southern slope of the torrent of Anzier (Anzier?), the enemy abandoned the most advanced positions which he had previously occupied, first destroying the entrenchments.

"On Sunday night in the Monte Nero zone the enemy during a thunderstorm attempted a surprise attack on our positions, but this was repulsed.

"Nothing of importance has occurred elsewhere along the front."

TURKO-BULGARIAN SITUATION PROGRESSES

Britain Says the Turks are Willing to Make Concessions.

Berlin, July 12, via London, July 13.—According to information arriving here from Sofia, the negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria regarding the correction of the Turko-Bulgarian frontier are nearing completion. The object of the delimitation of the frontier is to give Bulgaria a suitable route for a railroad connection between Mastafa Pasha, new Bulgaria, and Dedeahatch.

Turkey is prepared to make concessions in the interest of a good neighborly relations. The only conflict now is in connection with the delimitation of the frontier west of Adrianople, Turkey wishing to retain the southern suburb of Karagatch with its railroad station. Adrianople is to remain Turkish.

TERRIBLE CARNAGE IN GALLIOLI

FIGHTING IN FRANCE AND FLANDERS INSIGNIFICANT IN COMPARISON.

London, July 13, 3.45 a.m.—Describing last week's battle on the Gallipoli Peninsula, the Lemnos correspondent of the Chronicle characterizes it as one of the grimmest engagements of the war. He declares soldiers who had been through some of the fiercest fighting in France and Flanders were appalled at the terrible spectacle the battlefield presented the morning after a desperate bayonet encounter in a night battle which was "a veritable nightmare of horror."

The correspondent asserts the Allies victory marks a definite stage in the initial work of throwing forces around Achi Baba, one of the strongest fortresses in the world. He adds that the Turkish cruiser Sultan Selim (formerly the German cruiser Goeben) again was active during the fighting, bombarding the British right with shells, many of which failed to explode.

WAR SIFTS OUT INCOMPETENT LEADERS.

"South Africa," they are used to say, is the graveyard of military reputations. If for South Africa we substitute the word "war" we shall arrive at a profounder truth, although it is to say no more than to assert that in armies and navies there are fakers and fourth-rate men, as there are self-seekers and hypocrites in holy orders. Looking at the army in time of war we do not readily understand, perhaps, how it is that men without capacity as leaders and without courage as soldiers obtain high commands. If we reflect that the average army is at peace forty years to one year at war it will be plain that a man with no more military spirit than a chipmunk, if he has influence enough, or is clever enough at answering questions, may rise to high command, and as a general or a field marshal receive such honors as were showered upon Wellington; for in time of peace, as in time of war, promotions must be made, and one man placed above another.

The Acid Test.

In the racing world there are horses that have been described with the name of "Morning Glories," after the flower which blossoms like a peony before the sun is up, and shrinks into a mere weed later in the day. That is to say, there are horses that will give wonderful trials in training and absolutely quit when they are called on to run for money. So there are generals who will ably direct sham battles, and who are stepped in the science of war, who will prove sad disappointments when the blank cartridges are displaced by high explosive shells. In the present war there are many examples of men who stood high in the military profession who have been unable to stand the test of actual fighting, and who have been retired, despite their powerful influences. The most recent and perhaps the most notable instance is that of Gen. Soukhomlinov, the Russian Minister of War, who has resigned. Though he was one of the chief organizers of the Russian army, he was blamed by the Grand Duke Nicholas for the shortage of munitions.

Russian Retirements.

The Minister had to retire, though whether through incompetency upon his part, or because the Grand Duke wished to establish an "ibbi," will be known only after the war is over. In Russia another noted fighting general has been relegated to a position of unimportance, and that, curiously enough, is the one Russian general who made for himself a name in the Russo-Japanese war, Rennenkampf. On the outbreak of the present war he was placed in command of the First Army Corps, and inflicted a crushing defeat upon the Germans on the banks of the Nieman. A few weeks later, however, he failed to arrive with his army at a time and place indicated by the Russian Generalissimo, and thus helped to render futile one of the most important strategic moves of the Russian campaign. He was relieved of his command and sent back to Petrograd.

Von Moltke Superseded.

Gen. Savinoff is reported to have blown out his brains because he was reproached by the Grand Duke with failure to carry out certain operations entrusted to him. The most notable German general to fall in the war is undoubtedly Field Marshal Helmuth von Moltke, nephew of the great von Moltke, who was chief of the German general staff when the war broke out. It would be unfair to assume that the fault was von Moltke's, and in the absence of an official statement it is assumed that he was retired because he disagreed with the Kaiser's plans for the capture of Calais, at whatever cost. Some critics assert that if the Germans had not been so determined to seize Calais, carried away by their desire to strike at England, their drive on Paris would have had better results. At any rate von Moltke is now in disgrace, and his place has been taken by Gen. von Falkenhayn, a court favorite.

Joffre Cleans House.

On account of the rigid German censorship we do not know whether other noted generals have been discredited. In France, however, it is an open secret that Joffre has retired hundreds of generals, and has filled their places with men for the most part older, but considerably abler. In the early days of the war French attacks upon the German army were almost

COLONEL WATSON TELLS ABOUT HIS BATTALION

QUEBEC BOYS ARE DOING WELL - FRANK MAGUIRE, JOE POWER AND FELLOWS ARE RECOMMENDED FOR PROMOTION.

A list of officers of the Second Battalion under command of Lt.-Col. D. Watson, of this city, who have been killed and wounded since the Canadians went into action at the front, has just been received here in a letter from Col. Watson, which will prove very interesting, coming, as it does, from a reliable source.

In a portion of his letter which is dated June 29th, Col. Watson writes as follows:-

"Only four officers of the original combatant lot have come through so far without being killed or wounded. Killed:

- Major Bennett. Major Bolster. Lieutenant Klotz. Lieutenant Day. Captain Gordon. Captain Culling. Lieutenant Sterling. Lieutenant Dossce.

Wounded: Lieutenant Colonel Watson. Captain O'Connor. Captain Hooper. Captain Richardson. Captain Abell. Captain Chrysler. Lieutenant Bowen. Lieutenant McLellan. Lieutenant Kidd. Lieutenant Scott. Lieutenant McLurg. Lieutenant Graham. Lieutenant Ackerman.

At Hospital. Lieutenant Ponton, Typhoid Fever. Lieutenant Jones, Typhoid Fever. Major Beattie, (Chaplain). Removed to Another Battalion: Lieut.-Col. Rogers, removed to 4th Battalion. Those who are still with us unscathed:- Captain Birdall. Captain O'Flynn. Captain Huggill. Lieutenant Fletcher. Captain Turner, Assistant Adjutant. Captain Houghton, Paymaster. Major Mills, Quarter Master.

"We are at present holding a line of about one and one-half miles with the 2nd Battalion in front of the farmers' village of 'Plogstrut' in Belgium. We were marched 27 miles to here and we are making big efforts to put the trenches in the best condition possible. The long grain crops are bothersome as we must guard against the enemy creeping up on us and so the greatest vigilance is required.

"I make a daily inspection of all the lines. The officers and men are just splendid; they all know their work as well. The Quebec boys are all fine. They are all doing their best, and playing the great game to the utmost.

"I have sent in a strong recommendation for the promotion of Sergt. Frank Maguire, Private Joe Power and Corp. Fellows. All these boys are thoroughly capable and qualified. On their merits they deserve every encouragement possible. I need good officers to fill the vacancies, and these are the class that make the very best. I cannot say too much for them all. My choice of Raymond Fletcher was also a capital one, as he is doing splendidly and is extremely capable and popular.

"Captain de Salaberry was sent to me yesterday and Captain Hector Verret now has a double company and is making a splendid success of it. He is a most painstaking officer, untiring in his work and most efficient in details. There are being assembled behind us several batteries of guns, and it looks as though we are in for it again.

"Canadians have a name everywhere now for always starting a row as soon as they reach the trenches and keeping it up as long as they are there. I guess we must annoy the Germans a good deal, as we get right after their snipers and working parties.

"I will try and give you a description of the next scrap we get into. I do not think it is far off now. My little wound was only a scratch on the head some time ago, but it was nothing to bother about."

EDISON TO HEAD ADVISORY BOARD OF INVENTORS

ACCEPTS INVITATION OF U. S. NAVY SECRETARY TO AID DEPARTMENT.

East Orange, N.J., July 12.—Thomas A. Edison, has accepted an invitation from Secretary Daniels to head an advisory board of civilian inventors for a bureau of invention and development to be created in the navy department. His acceptance will go forward at once to Washington.

Mr. Daniels' idea of utilizing the inventive genius of Americans in and out of the military and naval service to meet conditions of warfare shown in the conflict on land and sea in Europe is outlined in a letter written last Wednesday, asking Mr. Edison whether, as a patriotic service to his country, he would undertake the task of advising the proposed bureau. The plan is to have several men prominent in several lines of inventive research associated in the work.

Among the great problems to be laid before the investigators, the Secretary mentioned submarine warfare, adding that he felt sure that with Mr. Edison's wonderful brain to help them the officers of the navy would be able to "meet this new danger with new devices that will assure peace to our country by their effectiveness."

GERMAN CRUISER KOENIGSBERG WAS TOTALLY WRECKED

British Monitors Destroyed Last of the German Raiders on July 11th.

HIDING SINCE OCTOBER.

German Raider Was in a Very Shallow Spot But Was Finally Disposed of.

London, July 12.—9.40 p. m.—The Admiralty announces that the German cruiser Koenigsberg, which in the fall of last year took refuge from the British fleet in the Rufiji river in German East Africa, has been totally wrecked by British river monitors. The Koenigsberg was a vessel of 3,348 tons and had a speed of about 23 knots. She was a protected cruiser.

The announcement of the Admiralty follows. "Since the end of last October the Koenigsberg had been sheltering some distance up the Rufiji river in a position which rendered attack against her most difficult, only shallow draught ships being able to get sufficiently close to engage the cruiser effectively.

"Two months ago the Admiralty decided to send two river monitors, namely, the Severn, Captain Eric Fullerton, and the Mersey, Commander Robert A. Wilson, to assist the commander-in-chief of the cape station, Vice-Admiral H. King Hall, in these operations.

"The position of the Koenigsberg was accurately located by aircraft and as soon as the monitors were ready the operations were begun. On the morning of July 4th the monitors entered the river and opened a fire to which the Koenigsberg replied immediately, firing salvos with five guns with accuracy and rapidity. The Mersey was hit twice and four men were killed and four wounded by one shell.

"As the Koenigsberg was surrounded by a jungle the aeroplane experienced great difficulty in locating the fall of our shot. She was hit five times early in the action, but after the monitors had fired for six hours the aeroplanes reported that the Koenigsberg's masts were still standing.

"A salvo then burst on her and she caught fire heavily between her masts. She continued to fire with one gun intermittently for a while, but for the last part of the engagement she did not fire at all, either on account of ammunition or the disablement of her guns. Although not totally destroyed as a result of this engagement she probably was incapacitated.

"The commander-in-chief reports that the task of the monitors was an extremely difficult one on account of the jungle and the trouble of accurately spotting shots, but that they were assisted by H. M. S. Weymouth, Captain D. Crampton, on which ship the commander-in-chief flew his flag and which followed them across the bar of the river and engaged the small guns on the banks, while H. M. S. Pioneer, acting commander T. W. Biddelcombe, Royal Australian Navy, engaged the guns at the mouth of the river.

"To complete the destruction of the Koenigsberg the commander-in-chief ordered a further attack on July 11 and a telegram now has been received stating that the ship is a total wreck. In this last engagement our casualties were only two men wounded on the Mersey."

CHINA FLOODS. Unprecedented Floods in Provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi.

Washington, July 12.—Loss of many lives as the result of unprecedented floods in the province of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, China, was announced today in a despatch to the State Department from Consul-General Cheshire, at Canton.

The Consul-General's message said: "Unprecedented floods. Great distress among the Chinese in the interior of Kwangtung and Kwangsi. Many lives were lost. Shameless flooded two or three feet. The Grenadier Guards, with brass band, gave Colonel Meighen a warm welcome home.

NINETY THOUSAND MEN ENROLL FOR MUNITIONS WORK

SIX HUNDRED BUREAUS OPENED AFTER UPWARDS OF A FORTNIGHT'S WORK.

London, July 12.—9.20 p. m.—After upwards of a fortnight's work the six hundred bureaux which were opened when the Minister of Munitions, David Lloyd-George, gave labor the opportunity voluntarily to enroll as munitions operatives, closed today with a total registration of ninety thousand men. Registration hereafter will be carried out through the labor exchanges.

More men are needed, but the chief difficulty now is to place them on war work with a minimum of red tape. H. G. Morgan, assistant director of the munitions department, said today that this problem was causing some unrest among the workers, but that the transfer would take time, for the government was anxious not to disturb industry more than necessary.

"The problem almost amounts to a re-arrangement of the whole skilled labor force of the country," said Mr. Morgan. "This, of course, will take considerable time.

The new bureaux has a staff of three hundred men, most of them are working temporarily tents.

FARMERS HELD ON TREASON CHARGE

GERMAN BORN BUT NATURALIZED CITIZENS OF BRITISH EMPIRE.

Vancouver, B. C., 12.—Two farmers, Ernest Hamel and David Kitzel, have been arrested on a charge of high treason. They are German born, but have lived in Canada for more than thirty years, and long ago became citizens of the British Empire.

It is alleged that in April they committed treason against the King by assisting two Germans named Keppel and Secord to escape from British Columbia across the boundary into the United States and to Germany, where the men have joined their regiments to fight against British soldiers.

Hamel and Kitzel lived on farms close to the international boundary line, a short distance north of Blaine, and it is alleged that at that place they got their German friends over the border.

The offence, if proven, is punishable by death. These are the first charges of treason brought in western Canada since the outbreak of the war.

STEAMER CHOCTAW SUPPOSED LOST. Evidence Points to Her Foundering in Lake Michigan.

Cleveland, O., July 12.—The Cleveland steamer Choctaw, was wrecked Sunday night in the fog off Presque Isle, Lake Michigan, it is reported here tonight, and her crew of sixteen men are believed to have all been drowned.

Word to this effect came to her owners, the Cleveland Cliffe Iron Company from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., where the wreck was reported tonight by the steamer James H. Reed.

Captain Brown, of the Reed, told of discovering the wreckage as he passed the island. He stopped his vessel and cruised about, but was unable to find any survivors. Oil barrels in the wreckage led him to believe that the Choctaw was in collision with an oil freighter, but he could find nothing to identify this boat. He reported that there was a little sea running Sunday night, but that there was a dense fog. The Choctaw and her coal cargo were valued at $100,000.

He did not, however, resume his official duties today.

AMERICAN SHIPS USED AS SHIELDS FOR SUBMARINE

The "Normandy" Compelled to Hide Submarine Until Latter Fired Torpedo at the "Leo."

NO CHANCE FOR LIFE.

Survivors of Russian Steamer Corroborate Statement of Normandy's Captain.

Liverpool, July 13.—2:10 a.m.—How an American ship is alleged to have been used as a shield by a German submarine for the sinking of another vessel is the story related by members of the crew of the American bark Normandy, which has arrived here from Gullport, Miss.

The story is that the Normandy was stopped by a German submarine sixty miles south-west of Tuskar Rock, off the south-east coast of Ireland, Friday night. The captain was called aboard the submarine, where his papers were examined and found to show that the ship was chartered by an American firm January 5th.

The captain of the bark, it was asserted, was allowed to return to the Normandy, but under the threat that his ship would be destroyed unless he stood by and obeyed orders. These orders, it was stated, that he was to act as a shield for the submarine which lay around the side of the bark hiding itself from an approaching vessel.

This vessel proved to be the Russian steamer Leo. Presently the submarine submerged, and proceeded around the bow of the Normandy, so the story went, and ten minutes later the crew of the Normandy saw the Leo blown up.

Twenty-five persons were on board of whom eleven were drowned, including three stewardesses. Those saved included three Americans, Walter Emery, of North Carolina, Harry Clark of Sierra, and Harry Whitney of Camden, N.J.

All these men when interviewed corroborated the above story. They declared that no opportunity was given those on board the Leo for saving life.

The Leo was bound from Philadelphia for Manchester with a general cargo. The captain of the Normandy told the survivors that he would have liked to have signalled their danger to them but that he dared not do so because his uninsured ship would then have been instantly sunk.

The steamer Leo sailed from Philadelphia June 25 for Leith under command of Captain J. Strom. She was a vessel of 2,224 tons and belonged in Helsingfors. She was built in 1903.

MEAT SHIPS IN PRIZE COURT

FIRST LOT CAME BEFORE PRIZE COURT YESTERDAY.

London, July 12.—After a delay of months, when vain negotiations were under way to settle the cases out of court, the first lot of meat ships came before the prize court today. Beyond the statement of the government that the cargoes of the vessels contained great products of a nature associated with German consumption of meat little progress was made, most of the day being taken up with the consideration of insignificant rubber consignments carried by two of the meat ships.

The cases of the meat cargoes will be resumed in the prize court Thursday.

ORANGEMEN PARADE. London, Ont., July 12.—Fully ten thousand Orangemen, it is estimated, marched from Market Square to Queen's Park this afternoon in connection with the 12th of July celebration here. The demonstration was the largest in the history of the city, nearly 20,000 people from Western Canada coming to the city. Twenty five and drum corps figured in the parade. Scores of Orangemen attached to active service units in training here marched in their khaki uniforms.

WILSON HAS RECEIVED LATEST GERMAN NOTE

PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES BEGINS CONSIDERATION OF REPLY—SITUATION IS NOT REGARDED AS CRITICAL—NO UNDUE HASTE.

AMERICAN IN PRISON IN BERLIN REFUSES AID

Cornish, N.H., July 12.—President Wilson today received from the State Department the official text of the latest German note on submarine warfare and immediately began consideration of his reply. He instructed Secretary Lansing to prepare a memorandum in the diplomatic problems involved, and will not send a rejoinder until he has conferred with the Secretary of State.

It became known after the President had read the note that he does not look upon the situation as critical, but at the same time he is not inclined to under-estimate the possibilities of the problem presented to him and is determined firmly to uphold the integrity of the United States.

It was said here tonight that there is no present plan for Mr. Lansing to come to Cornish to confer with the President, and that the President will not hurry back to Washington. His present plans are to return to the capitol the end of this week or the first of next week. Probably he will not have an opportunity to take the situation up with his entire cabinet before next Tuesday.

That the President will continue his German policy along the lines already mapped out in the previous notes, was generally accepted here. It was understood that there is no immediate prospect of a diplomatic break with Germany, and that whether there is any future break will largely depend upon Germany herself. The President was in communication today with both President Lansing and Secretary Tumulty regarding the situation, and as a result the plans for preparing the American reply will go steadily forward. There will be no undue haste about corresponding again with Germany, but at the same time there will be no long delay, it was said here.

Lansing Is Busy. Washington, July 12.—Consideration of the German reply to the American note on submarine warfare overshadowed all else today in the work of State Department officials. Secretary Lansing spent most of his time preparing data and opinions for the next communication to be sent to Germany, and he indicated that very probably he would not go to Cornish, N.H., but that President Wilson would return here at the end of the week.

The situation was described in official quarters as critical, and there was no concealment of the fact that relations between Germany and the United States had become more strained than at any time in their history. High officials said the policy of the American government would be carefully worked, and that in order to meet the situation firmly, the utmost deliberation was required. This information was given out in order that a delay of possibly a week or more in preparing an answer might not be misinterpreted as meaning that the United States intended in any way to recede from the position it had taken in the two notes already sent to Berlin.

There was much informal discussion among officials of the contents of the German reply. The trend of their opinions was that the evasion of the American argument in the German notes had narrowed the field of negotiation so that the next communication from the United States must state to some extent the intentions of the Washington government in case its rights are further violated, and declare the position it will take with reference to Germany's refusal to disavow the sinking of the Lusitania. Something much more specific and positive than has yet been said in the notes which the United States has sent since the submarine war zone was declared is now expected.

In German quarters here the situation is not viewed as critical. Count Von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, believes that the way to further negotiations has been opened by the emphasis which Germany in its note placed on the establishment of the freedom of the seas.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN.

The news that the White Star Liner Adriatic, with Sir Robert and Lady Borden and other distinguished passengers on board, has safely reached the shores of England, will be heard with much pleasure and relief by all Canadians. Warnings had been given that the Adriatic was to share the fate of the Lusitania, and the anxiety which was consequently felt for the safety of the vessel and her passengers has now been allayed.

The Premier has gone to London to consult with the Imperial authorities regarding Canada's share in the prosecution of the war. The desire of the Premier and his colleagues is to make the aid that this country gives as effective as possible, and to this end he and they will naturally wish to have the views of the British Admiralty and War Office on so vital a matter. It is impossible that such a conference can be anything but beneficial; and the fact that the Premier himself is the Canadian representative is sufficient guarantee that he will be able to speak authoritatively for Canadian sentiment.

It is very gratifying to learn that the aid which Canada has already given and is giving to the Empire's cause is meeting with so much appreciation by the home authorities, and this knowledge will serve as an incentive to Canadians to put forth greater efforts when asked to do so. Canada's loyalty to the Empire's cause is unquestioned, and she only needs the opportunity to express it to the utmost of her power.

THE MILITIA DEPARTMENT.

A short time ago M. Ribot, the Finance Minister of France, made a speech in the Chamber of Deputies on war topics in which he confessed that "great abuses" had prevailed in the expenditure, but they were being repressed. Hitherto the purchase of munitions, food, and so on, in foreign countries had been carried on by the War Department, agents of England, France and Russia working in concert, but the system had not proved satisfactory, and henceforth all such purchases would be controlled by a single representative acting for the three War Offices. On this subject M. Ribot took much the same ground as Sir Robert Borden, that every effort must be made to check graft and eliminate grafters from connection with government contracts, and to accomplish that end the Department of Justice would leave nothing undone within reach of the arm of the law.

At Ottawa an enquiry into something over 25,000 war contracts has been begun by Sir Charles Davidson, a well-known judge, the Crown being represented by Mr. Thompson, K.C., a son of the late Sir John Thompson, at one time Prime Minister, who is a highly competent lawyer. No one, not even Mr. Frank Carvell, will doubt the integrity of this tribunal. For one thing, purchases by the patronage list system, which has been in force under both parties from time immemorial, will probably be done away with; and trained business men appointed in certain branches of the Militia Department with instructions to buy the best goods for the least money no matter what the politics of the seller may be. Yet even this reform will not be without drawbacks. Some years ago a batch of scandals occurred in the dealings of the British War Office, and it was found that they arose chiefly from the circumstance that certain articles cannot always be supplied by the "general trade" at a regulation price. The upshot was that the government started factories of its own, but here again abuses of a new kind soon made their appearance, and in the end the factories were in large part abolished. At present purchases are made from all who have goods to sell and can comply with the price fixed by experts; but once again, although this method is entirely free from politics, and apparently the best that human ingenuity can devise, waste and corruption on a considerably larger scale are reported.

Since the war broke out the Militia Department at Ottawa has had so much to do in a hurry that the wonder is it has done it so well. To enter into 25,000 separate and distinct contracts, embracing all sorts of articles from liver pills to automobiles, besides enlisting upwards of 100,000 soldiers in a country not accustomed to raising armies, was a task of prodigious magnitude; yet General Hughes, all the time under a hail-storm of innuendoes and lies from an extremely partisan press, has accomplished it with such remarkable success that his assailants no longer find it profitable to malign him.

The world is a beautiful book, but of little use to him who cannot read it.—Goldoni.

PRESS COMMENT.

Baron von Jagow, German Minister of Foreign Affairs, declares that the difficulties between Germany and the United States have arisen chiefly because of the interrupted cable communication between the two countries. Great Britain cut the cable, and, therefore, he says, only ex-parte news can be spread through neutral countries. Germany, he urges, has no opportunity to state her case or explain her mode of warfare. Germany has no case to state. The presence of German troops in Belgium is not to be explained away. The bombardment of unfortified coast towns and the sinking of the Lusitania speak for themselves. Dr. Dernburg, the Kaiser's personal representative, had free course until his insolent tongue had to be stopped by the Washington Government. The Staats-Zeitung of New York has been a trumpet voice. It tactfully announced on July 4th that most newspapers in the United States had been corrupted by British gold. The effect of uninterrupted cable communication between Germany and the United States — under a guarantee — would have been merely to increase the number of bold lies in circulation. The value of a German guarantee that such a cable would not be used for military purposes, may be judged by the fact that the American Government has been forced to seize the Sayville wireless plant, which Germans were operating under a promise that neutrality would not be infringed.—Toronto News.

We owe the happy expression to the Latin poet Horace. It is an echo of the motto of that other classic sage: "Do nothing too much." It bids us avoid excess, ride no hobby to death, stay on the sensible side of extremes. It asks us to have an eye for proportion. One wishes lovely woman could adopt the golden mean in the matter of fashions. Why should 30,000,000 women dress after some extreme mode at the dictate of a little coterie of tyrants in Paris or New York? Why should every skirt be "hobble" when that is the edict or as wide and flaring as gunny sacks when breadth is ordered? Why should our wives and daughters hasten to don hats as large as bushel baskets or as small as mere postage stamps when the orders go out? There is no good reason. No custom should be pressed to an absurdity. Allowing for a decent regard for harmless convention, wise people will not go beyond seemingly limits. Half the indictment against certain forms of amusement should be quashed if people could be content to enjoy them in moderation. Whether one plays ring toss or auction bridge one should not let the game get the better of them. To become dance-crazy, as thousands both young and old seem to have done, is to set right-minded people against a possible source of harmless recreation. Decent drama is a source of pleasure, but to spend, as some people do, about three evenings a week, besides countless hard-earned dollars, at the playhouse is a silly and wasteful business. So easy it is for seemingly recreation to descend to vicious extravagance. Many of our faults are but potential virtues pushed to an extreme. A proper self-esteem, for instance, is a laudable trait of character. It rallies one's powers and keeps one from discouragement. But a too great self-esteem means conceit, and that is not admirable. Shrewdness and enterprise are qualities to be cultivated—but when the shrewd, enterprising man goes so far as to verge on deceit and cruelty we cease to admire him. The calm man, conquering his worries, may become the lazy and shiftless man; just as a proper forethought may turn to corroding care. Vices may spring from our very virtues unless we are on our guard. Let us beware, then, of that spirit of exaggeration and disproportion that takes a right thing and makes it something wrong. The desire to possess property is one of the commonest human passions. A legitimate desire it is, but one that may pass very easily into that engrossing love of money that is the root of all kinds of evil. Three-fourths of the people who strive for wealth at all, strive for it to the exclusion of the finer values of life. The lust for money, as consuming as any other lust, gets hold of them before they know it. All around us people are being swept off their feet by the passion for wealth, the rage for pleasure, the insidious force of some growing habit. How many "moderate drinkers," to cite one example, remain "moderate" for any length of time? The world, like fire, is a good servant but a bad master. In the noble phrase of the apostle, we are to "use this world as not abusing it." To abuse it is to find sure suffering and defeat from what might yield joy and peace. When the world and the experiences of it are a savor of death instead of life to any of the sons of men, it is because they have abused their opportunities. The good Lord never

NEITHER EUROPEAN OR ASIATIC.

What is it that has made Russia the great enigma, the stranger both to Europe and Asia? Beyond doubt, the fact that she is herself neither one. To the Asiatic she is something of a European; to the European she is something of an Asiatic; yet to both she is not wholly either the one or the other. She is like a great tree with her ancient trunk rising up out of the Caucasus, the early home of the Slavic people and towering up into the ice of the north and with her branches extending east and west into the sunrise and the sunset.—Century.

DETECTIVE CAMPBELL DOUBLE DROWNING FOUND NOT GUILTY IN ST.-CHARLES

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF OBTAINING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENCES.

M. M. Campbell, late representative of Pinkerton & Co., of Chicago, a detective firm, who was arrested on June 25th, on a complaint laid by Mr. Gagnon, Manager of the St. Louis Hotel, on the charge of obtaining credit under false pretences, was found not guilty by Hon. Judge Choquette in the Court of Sessions yesterday afternoon.

The evidence, at the trial, it will be recalled, showed that Campbell gave a cheque to one Beauchamp, as advance on commission to be earned by him. Beauchamp endorsed the cheque and handed it to the Hotel management in payment of his board bill. The cheque was returned as there were not sufficient funds at the bank. As no credit had been obtained on the cheque, it was urged on behalf of the defence that there was no case of false pretences on the part of accused.

Hon. Judge Choquette held that it was shown that no credit had been obtained on the cheque and moreover as Campbell had a balance at the bank of $16.70 his cheque did not constitute a false pretence. Mr. Arthur Fitzpatrick represented the accused while Mr. L. A. Cannon acted on behalf of the complainant.

SHOTHAND LETTERS.

During war times it is not advisable to send any personal correspondence in shorthand to England, Ireland or elsewhere in Europe, if one is counting on such a letter being delivered within a reasonable length of time. It has been learned that a certain Quebec gentleman sent a letter to a relative in Ireland written in shorthand two months ago and it has just recently been delivered. On reaching England it was taken over by the censors and, after its transcription at a phonetic institution, was delivered after about two months' delay.

THREE ARRESTED FOR FIGHTING.

Two Italians and a resident of St. Roch's, were taken in charge by the Constables of No. 3 Police Station yesterday afternoon on the charge of fighting. It appears that one of the Italians, who was slightly under the influence of liquor, scratched a match on an automobile which was stopped on Jacques Cartier lane, in rear of the Mergier Building. The chauffeur in charge of the car objected and while an argument was going on a man coming out of a store nearby struck the Italian in the face, cutting him severely. The police arrived on the scene and prevented further trouble, but the man who struck the Italian took to his heels, and after a lively chase along Notre Dame des Anges street, he was captured, and taken to the station, together with the two Italians. The row caused considerable excitement, and a large crowd gathered to witness the fracas.

MARY PICKFORD STARS IN "TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY."

One of the best Mary Pickford pictures yet shown was offered last night to G. A. patrons, and will be again shown this evening. Mary as "Tess" excelled herself in this delightful photoplay. This is a feature that may be called both thrilling and charming and held the audience from start to finish. The story is strikingly original with many startling situations entirely new to the screen. Miss Pickford's admirable impersonation of the rental character in this absorbing play appreciably advances her popularity as one of the foremost screen artists of the day. Incidentally Mary earns $100,000 a year. Don't miss the opportunity on Wednesday and Thursday to see "The Spoilers" in 9 reels. The world's greatest photoplay, the like of which has never been seen in Quebec before and never will again unless progressive people like the Garden management bring such a picture here. One performance on these two evenings daily, which commences at 8.15 sharp. Box seats are being reserved.

TWO YOUNG BOYS LOST THEIR LIVES EARLY YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

A double drowning accident occurred in the St. Charles River shortly after noon yesterday when two young boys, aged nine and ten years respectively, Philippe Duguay, of No. 16 Lacroix street, and Albert Grenier, of No. 50 Henderson street, lost their lives.

The two little lads were bathing near the Canadian Northern Bridge when they ventured beyond their depth and after a desperate struggle they sank. Their cries for help were heard by the men, working on the locks, but the men could not reach the lads in time.

Both bodies were recovered shortly after the accident and were removed to Moisan's Merque where an inquest will be held this morning.

CLEVER TURNS AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Every Act is a Novelty—Amateur Night Tomorrow and Chaplin Night Thursday.

Quebec theatre goers have a treat this week at the Auditorium in the regular programme alone and they will have besides the Amateurs on Wednesday and the Chaplin imitations Thursday.

The Four DeKecks' act is great novelty in the acrobatic division of vaudeville their jump, their balancing feats and the rapidity with which they accomplish every stunt is the feature of the bill and they get, and deserve, great applause from the audience.

There couldn't be too much praise in the advance notices with regards to the Manetta Duo, for they showed that they are worth every bit of what has been said of them.

The Koppe trio is one of the most original acts in the business and the flying DeVondtz like the dancing Kellars, made a great hit at the first performances.

Amateurs Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will be the amateur's great night at the Auditorium. It will also be a great night for the audience as they will have a treat that is seldom offered them in the summer season. As we said before, there will be only one performance, commencing by the moving pictures, to be followed by the five regular acts of vaudeville and then the amateurs.

Chaplin Imitations Thursday.

Thursday, those who think they can give a fair imitation of Chaplin will give an exhibition of their talent and compete for a $25.00 prize. There will be only one performance that evening also, to begin by the moving pictures. The regular vaudeville and the Chaplin imitations will be presented after. The prices remain the same for those two nights: 10, 15 and 25 cents.

FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Charlott took place on Sunday afternoon. The chief mourners were Mr. Thos. Feeney, brother, and Sergt. John Thirlwall, brother-in-law; Mr. James and son, into whose family the deceased had been adopted on reaching Canada.

At the church the body was met by Rev. Father O'Hara, celebrant; Rev. Joseph Lacasse, of Notre Dame, Levis deacon, and Rev. Father Healey as sub-deacon.

The choir under Miss McAuley and Mr. R. Timmons, rendered the Solemn Libera in an impressive and soul stirring manner. Miss Henchey sang "Adieu," with such pathos that many present could not control their feelings. This young lady has seldom sung with such feeling.

As the sad cortege wended its way down the aisle, the full choir choir sang, "Pray for the Dead."

We noticed in the following, Notary Couture, Mr. Edward Foley, Mr. Martin Foley, Mr. Frank Gunn, Mr. P. Hogan, Mr. John Humphry, and many others too numerous to mention, apart from members of the Chateau Frontenac staff, Mr. R. R. dia, Mr. Owens, etc., etc.

At the cemetery the body was again met by Rev. Father O'Hara, and laid to rest in Mr. O'Neill's family lot.

The deceased was only 26 years of age, and came from England at the age of thirteen.

"A NEW EXPRESS ROUTE."

The Canadian Express Company has exhibited commendable enterprise in establishing promptly a new through route for express merchandise between Eastern and Western Canada, to be handled on the new limited train, "The National," which is being operated over the Canadian Government Line, the Transcontinental Railway, in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway System.

As by the new route operated wholly within Canada delays and inconvenience will be avoided by the use of the through express cars between Toronto and Winnipeg.

Every package of express will be in personal charge of experienced messengers throughout the entire route.

The shipping public have a direct interest in making this new route a success by reason of the operation by the Government of the Transcontinental Railway.

SAD DROWNING AT GROSSE ISLE

FATHER MEETS DEATH BEFORE EYES OF HIS TWO CHILDREN.

News reaches here from Grosse Isle of a sad drowning accident in which William Simoneau, employed by the Dominion Department of Public Works at Grosse Isle, lost his life while bathing in the St. Lawrence river.

The victim was having a swim opposite his home, when he must have taken a cramp. His struggles for life was witnessed by his two young children who were playing on the beach, but they were scarcely old enough to understand what was happening. A few minutes later Mrs. Simoneau came down and asked the children where their father was, and from the explanations given by the little ones, the realization of her husband's fate soon dawned on her. She immediately gave the alarm and a half hour later the body was recovered in 45 feet of water. The physicians called tried to revive the victim by means of artificial respiration, but all their efforts were unavailing.

The deceased, who belonged to Cap St. Ignace, was 32 years of age, and leaves a wife and five children.

CHAPLIN AT THE OLYMPIA.

The Great Comedian Featured in a Two Part Picture Presented Tomorrow and Thursday.

Those who want to compete in the Auditorium contest Thursday night must not forget that they have an exceptional chance tomorrow and Thursday night to see Chaplin at his best in the famous picture entitled "A Night Out." This a two part picture in which Chaplin is, as usual in all the pictures into which he figures, the big feature. And it is a laugh from start to finish. Those who like comedy shouldn't miss it and those who want to compete have the best opportunity available to study him thoroughly.

"Who Pays?" and "More Than Queen" the two features of today's programme have proved great attractions last night and will no doubt fill the house tonight for "More Than Queen" is one of the strongest dramas presented, beautifully colored by the Pathe system. The "Pathe Gazette" is also illustrating interesting events.

POPE IN EPISTLE PRAYS FOR PEACE.

He Sent It to Archbishop of Munich and Other Bavarian Prelates.

Munich, Bavaria, July 11—An epistle sent by Pope Benedict to Cardinal Francis von Bettinger, Archbishop of Munich, and to the Bavarian Bishops, was published today in the diocesan papers. The Pontiff prays that "God may grant that the evils of this bitter war may take a turn for the better."

The Pope cherishes the hope that God will be "moved through the joint prayers of the faithful to fulfill the fervent plea of all and that He will grant the blessings of a craved-for peace under which Europe's troubled people may long prosper."

Mr. V. G. R. Vickers, manager of the foreign department of the Dominion Express Company, has issued a circular to agents, pointing out that according to intimation he has had from the British railways, the latter will not accept, after July first, any shipments on which charges have not been fairly prepaid. This rule, as Mr. Vickers was informed, was made necessary by heavy depletion of staff, due to the large number of railway employees who have joined the colors.

Agents, are, therefore requested to notify all shippers at once that all shipments for Great Britain and continental Europe must be prepaid in future for the reasons given.

PLAYER LIMIT IS CLEARLY DEFINED

NATIONAL LEAGUE RULES NO SUSPENDED PLAYER IS ELIGIBLE.

New York, July 12.—At a special meeting of the National Baseball League, called by President Tener at the League's headquarters here today, the rule making the player limit 21 for each club, which has remained in abeyance since it was proposed last December, was unanimously adopted. No player under suspension will be included in the list of "disabled players," for whom other players can be substituted, but the rule has been made sufficiently elastic to enable a club not to be crippled in playing strength through any of its team members being injured or rendered useless from a playing standard through illness.

A suspended player must be counseled in the 21 limit and the only recourse for a club in such a case is to appeal to the National Commission for his reinstatement.

After the session President Tener said that this was the first of regular monthly meetings of conferences of the league, was at his suggestion.

When asked if the club owners had discussed the Federal League or its players at today's meeting President Tener replied:

"We did not, except in a very incidental way. We are minding our own business and I do not see why we should discuss that organization at this time, if ever."

Sporting Notes

The Quebec City and District Baseball League will meet Wednesday evening to discuss the St. Patrick's protest and other matters.

The Football league of the City and District will hold a meeting at the Victoria Hotel, Friday evening.

The Maple Leafs played at the Island of Orleans Sunday last, but the game was called in the seventh inning with the score tied at 3 all. The Island boys played fast ball, Savard twirling in masterly fashion.

The Young Victorias accept the challenge of the Young C.B.'s for a game to be played Sunday next. They will be pleased to accommodate the All-Stars later on.

We have received a communication from the manager of the All-Stars team in which he complains that the Young St. Patrick's after accepting a challenge to play, declined to go on the field when the game was called last Sunday. The All-Stars again challenge the Young St. Pat's to a game to take place Sunday week and hope that this time the latter will decide to play.

The St. Patrick's team will practice on the Esplanade tonight. Back to the old sod on which the first team which wore St. Patrick's colours learned the game.

The umpire's lot is a hard one but they might improve in their decisions if they sat in the grand stand. They could see the plays better up there—at least so the fans think.

Last Sunday a terrible howl went up from the stand when West-Calkins was called out at the plate. Just to satisfy some of those around, Mulcahey called out to West-Calkins, "How was it, West?" and the latter replied "I was out easy. I didn't get the plate. They shouldn't have sent me in."

Very often the catcher or baseman has the base blocked off and though the runner appears to be there before the ball he has not been able to get in touch with the base.

Then again—Very often the baseman has the ball long before the runner but the latter by a hook—slide or fall—a way manages to evade being tagged, though it looks for all the world to the stand as if he was out a mile.

Last Sunday Newton attempted to steal on one occasion. Marks made a perfect throw which beat the runner. Newton slid to the base and Mulcahey stabbed at him and it looked as if the runner was out easily. Mulcahey made another effort to tag him and umpire Lepine called him safe. The very fact of the second baseman making a second effort to get his man was sufficient evidence that he had missed him the first time. Still the stand howled its disapproval of the decision.

We don't intend to infer that umpires never make mistakes. Tim Hurst, now deceased, had quite a reputation as an umpire but it is generally admitted that he gave the most weird decisions of any umpire. In a close play, the runner must be favored, but if it is one of the opposing side some rooters want the fielder to get the benefit of the doubt.

Of course, it wouldn't be a ball game if the umpire wasn't roasted. But, at the same time there are very few around here that can umpire a game properly and the fans should remember that the ump is close to the play while they are seated up in the stand with strong leanings to one side, with eyes only for the virtues of Emmets will practice on the Esplanade this evening.

Mathewson was beaten by Cincinnati yesterday. New York failed to score behind him. The Boston Braves look good to hold down last place permanently this year. If they do, the experts will be calling Stallings' "a lucky manager" instead of the "Miracle man."

HOLLAND'S ABODE OF PEACE.

Zeist, in Holland, is best known as the abode of peace. The religious community of Moravians has been settled there for over a century and a half. Its gray, sober looking buildings stand in their own well cultivated grounds, within which the members lead a life of Quaker-like simplicity. There is little display even in the goods they make, particularly their thurwars, which are sold in small rooms that have no likeness to shops except for the plain counter that runs across them.—London Chronicle.

GERMAN THREAT AGAINST RUMANIA

WAR MATERIAL FROM GERMAN TO TURKEY IS HELD UP.

London, July 12.—The correspondent of Reuter's News Agency, at Berlin sends what he describes as a thinly veiled threat at Rumania contained in an article in the semi-official Frankfurter Zeitung, which under the heading "Rumania's Hour of Fate," charges that country with holding up war material en route from Germany to Turkey.

The Frankfurter Zeitung claims that under her treaties with the central powers, Rumania is bound to adopt a friendly attitude towards them and says, according to the despatch: "As Rumania has no present need to fear Russia, and does not act upon the American theory which is accepted by the Entente powers regarding the export of war materials, Rumania's maintenance of prohibition upon transit is dictated by considerations of her own interest, well or ill comprehended. She, therefore, desires, to weaken Turkey and support attacks on the Dardanelles."

The Frankfurter Zeitung, the correspondent adds, argues that Rumania has interpreted her duties regarding neutrality in a way directly injurious to Turkey, the ally of the central powers, and concludes: "Germany and Austria-Hungary are now free to decide whether they will or will not consider themselves bound by their agreement with Rumania. Their interests in the further independence of Rumania continues to exist, but we can conceive a case arising, perhaps in the coming peace negotiations, when this interest, in support of which no obligation any longer exists, must take rank behind more important interests of the central powers themselves."

PARLIAMENT DISCUSSES

THE COTTON QUESTION

London, July 12.—7.36 p. m.—Sir Henry Dalziel, Liberal member of parliament for Kirkcaldy Burghs, and Mr. De T. Pennyfather, Unionist member for the Toxteth division of Liverpool, have again brought the cotton question to the fore by insisting in the House of Commons today that the British government should make clear why it had not declared cotton contraband. Failure to do so, it was pointed out, was prolonging the war inasmuch as cotton, vital to the manufacture of explosives, was continually reaching Germany through neutral countries.

Lord Robert Cecil, parliamentary Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in reply to the government must consider the interest of neutrals and that the present plan to keep cotton out of Germany were considered to be effective. If it were shown conclusively that cotton still was going into Germany, he added, the government would take any steps necessary to check it.

MYSTERY IN ONTARIO.

Toronto, July 12.—The Attorney-General's Department has been asked to investigate the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Rebecca Maxwell, aged 70, who two months ago left the farm of her nephew, Robert Ring, Osprey township, Grey county, with whom she had lived for some years, to visit her brother, residing three miles distant. On learning that she had not reached her destination, Mr. Ring organized a search party, and in a piece of bush between the two farms a slipper and a satchel belonging to Mrs. Maxwell were found. No further trace of her has been found, and the relatives, fearing foul play, have appealed to the department. When she left her home, Mrs. Maxwell was in excellent health and in full possession of her faculties.

GLIMPSES OF OLD QUEBEC
From the Files of THE CHRONICLE, July, 1885 and 1815.
THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY
A HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY

Riel's Counsel.
The following is an account of an interview with our young townsman, Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick, which appeared in the Montreal Star thirty years ago, and has caused a good deal of comment in professional circles as regards the exact status of the learned counsel now on their way to Regina to defend Louis Riel.
Mr. Fitzpatrick's statement does not correspond with that of Mr. Lemieux, another of Quebec's promising young lawyers, which is to the effect, Riel didn't communicate directly with any lawyer. He merely wrote to Dr. Fiset, of Quebec, who retained Mr. Lemieux, and authorized him to retain any other counsel he thought proper. Mr. Fitzpatrick failed to leave Quebec at the same time and Mr. Lemieux considered the engagement cancelled. Mr. Green-shields, of Montreal, goes as senior English counsel, and this was distinctly understood between Mr. Lemieux and that gentleman. A telegram, however, from Mr. Fitzpatrick, says "Have arranged to go with Green-shields," which bears out the above explanation. A member of the Quebec bar who returned from Ottawa this morning says Messrs. Lemieux and Green-shields had an interview with the Minister of Justice at Ottawa, with regard to the trial and as the government refuses to incur any expense in bringing up witnesses for Riel, the cost of the defence will be very heavy.

Contradictory.
This same member of the Bar referred to, in seeming contradiction of Mr. Fitzpatrick's telegram: "Have arranged to go with Green-shields," says Mr. Green-shields goes as senior English counsel. Mr. Fitzpatrick being really considered out of the case. We are inclined to believe that our member of the Bar has been wrongly informed and that it will be found that Mr. Green-shields and Mr. Fitzpatrick will both be retained as English counsel.

THE LIGHTER SIDE.
Mark Antony had just sailed off, leaving Cleopatra to mourn her loss. "Oh, well, he's no real loss anyhow," said the Egyptian Queen. "The only first-class thing he ever did was that address of his over the dead body of Caesar, and he cribbed every line of that from Shakespeare."
Whereupon she strolled down the banks of the Nile, singing softly. "I Didn't Raise my Asp to be a Python."

A countryman took his sweetheart into a West End theatre in London. Going up to the ticket office, the girl, hanging to the sleeve of his jacket, he banged down a dollar and said: "Two seats!"
"Stalls?" inquired the ticket clerk.
"Look here, my man," said the countryman, rather sharply, "dinna think because we come frae the country that we're cattle. Gie's two coonshioned seats!"

The lawyer was drawing up old Furrow's will.
"I hereby bequeath all my property to my wife," dictated the son of the soil "Got that?"
"Yes," answered the lawyer.
"On condition that she marries again within a year."
The legal light sat back puzzled. "But why?" he asked.
The aged farmer smiled.
"because," was the reply. "I want somebody to be sorry I died."

An aged German and his wife were much given to quarrelling. One day, after a particularly unpleasant scene, the old woman remarked, with a sigh: "Vell I wish I vas in a beer garden!"
"Ach ja," cried the old wife, "always you try to pick out the best for yourself!"

How subtle was indeed the fun.
How cruel was the verbal twist.
G' Language's immortal son,
Who put the first in Pacifist!
Almost as clever he, I ween,
As 'tother joking scion
Who, with no thought of actions mean,
First put the rye in Bryan.
"That's a swell umbrella you carry."
"Isn't it?"
"Did you come by it honestly?"
"I haven't quite figured out. It started to rain the other day and I stepped into a doorway to wait till it stopped. Then I saw a young fellow coming along with a nice large umbrella, and I thought if he was going as far as my house I would beg the shelter of his umbrella. So I stepped out and asked: 'Where are you going with that umbrella, young fellow?' and he dropped the umbrella and ran."
Young Wife—Oh, John, the rats have eaten all my angel cake!
Husband—Wharf. All of it.
Young Wife—Every piece. I feel like crying.
Husband—Oh, pshaw! Don't cry over a few rats.

The "Massacre at Dartmoor."
In this column yesterday, was given an extract from comments by the National Intelligencer on what they termed the "Massacre of Dartmoor." Although the National Intelligencer stated that "we do not yet know precisely, what was the conduct of the Americans which brought on the massacre," they return to the attack with even greater vehemence, the following is a specimen "This massacre proves that these valient Wallingtonians having, we suppose, clearly ascertained that the American prisoners were without arms, went boldly in amongst them like butchers, tucking up their sleeves and stabbed, and cut, and hacked and slashed away, even after all resistance had ceased, if, indeed, any had been made. They stabbed William Plake three times in the back. This poor fellow, it appears, had been discharged from the "Repulse" man-of-war, where he had been a slave for God knows how long, remanded to prison as an American, and stabbed in his back three times, because he, perhaps, assisted to hang Reuben G. Beasley in effigy. For this the renowned Captain Shortland went in among them to expostulate, doubtless with that courtesy usually practised by British officers towards the Yankees, when in their power; and it was said that a pistol snapped in his face.

"How Came a Prisoner with Arms?"
But it is useless to ask this question; there is falsehood on the very face of it, and even if it were true, it would be no justification of the scene that followed. Brave Englishmen!
This was much pleasanter work than you had at Chippewa, Bridgewater and Erie, or even at New Orleans. Here you had no awkward American bayonets and broad-swords—no Browns or Scotts, or Millers or Brooks or Aspinwalls, to cool your invincible valor. The foregoing goes to show the state of temper of our late enemies it behoves us Canadians to keep calm and cool all the more.

IT IS THROUGH WORK ONLY THAT HE WAS SUCCESSFUL.
Saint-Saens Relates Himself How He Started His Career as a Musician.
Saint-Saens, the great composer Saint-Saens, who is to give a piano recital at the Auditorium very soon, relates somewhere himself how he began his studies. He does not say that he was a very gifted pupil, but rather seems to insinuate that it was through hard work and hard work alone that he became a musician of note: "I was fourteen years old, he says, when my piano teacher, Stamaty, presented me to Benoist, the organ professor, an excellent and charming man who was familiarly called "Father Benoist." I was placed in front of a piano, but I was so nervous, the sounds I produced were so extraordinary that the other students joined together in an immense shout of laughter. I was received into the class, however, as an "auditor." This entitled me solely to the honor of listening to the others. I was very assiduous, not missing a note of the music or a word from the teacher. At home I worked and thought much, digging into the Art of Fugue of Sebastian Bach. The pupils were not so assiduous, and one day when not many were present Benoist, not having much to do, put me at the organ. This time nobody laughed. I was immediately admitted as pupil, and at the end of the year I carried off second prize. The first prize might have been given to me but for my youth and for the fact that it would have been undesirable for me to leave a class in which a prolonged sojourn was necessary for me."

ONE ARM, $9,000.
Lafayette, Ind., July 12—The value of a human arm has been fixed at $9,000 by Judge Henry H. Vinton of the Tippecanoe Superior Court. After a week's consideration the court has awarded Victor H. McKee that amount in his suit against A. E. Keimner, a local contractor. McKee was employed as a carpenter during the construction of the Lafayette Loan and Trust Company Building. His right arm was caught between an elevator car and the shaft and torn off.

FAST TRAIN ON TRANSCONTINENTAL
BOARD OF TRADE URGES MINISTER TO PUT ON THROUGH EXPRESS.

The appended is a copy of letter sent by Mr. Joseph Picard, President of the Quebec Board of Trade, to the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Railways and Canals, urging that the Transcontinental inaugurate a fast through train from Quebec to Winnipeg. The communication follows:—
Quebec, July 9th, 1915.
Dear Sir,—The Quebec Board of Trade note with pleasure that you have lost no time in taking advantage of the opportunity presented by the completion of the Transcontinental Railway, to give the people of Canada the benefit of the new route to Winnipeg and the West, and we observe that a new fast tri-weekly passenger train service goes into effect next week between Toronto and Winnipeg, by which the time will be 42 hours for a distance of 1257 miles, as compared with 40 1-2 hours by the C. P. R. between the same points, for a distance of 1233 miles.
We presume that it is your intention to put on a train of similar speed between Quebec and Winnipeg, so as to take advantage of the saving of 214 miles offered by your new road. With the same rate of speed as you have fixed between Cochrane and Winnipeg, we assume that the time between Quebec and Winnipeg would only be about 41 hours, as compared with 57 hours by the Canadian Pacific, by their present time table, an advantage which will no doubt be increased when the condition of your road admits of greater speed.
We need not point out to you the immense advantage this would be to the people of the western provinces, in shortening the time for the transportation of the English mails and also for immigrants from Europe, because of course these advantages, combined with the cheapening of the freight on western grain; were the motives which induced Parliament to incur the enormous cost of building this railway.
As the people of Quebec, like those of the Maritime provinces are anxious to realize the advantages offered by this new short line, may I therefore ask you when it is intended to put on a train service between Quebec and Winnipeg similar to that between Toronto and Winnipeg.
Yours respectfully,
(Signed) JOS. PICARD,
President.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair
If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.
Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.
Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.
You can get mulified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY.
Lt.-Col. and Mrs. W. H. Forrest completed, on Sunday, 11th July, the 60th anniversary of their marriage and, as they have lived in Quebec for nearly all these three score years, needless to say they have many friends in the Ancient Capital.
They are now summering at Beauceville, Que., with their daughter, Mrs. G. F. C. Delery, in her delightful residence on the elevated grounds known as Fort Bull. It is surrounded by rose bushes in full bloom, and the highway, which runs through this property has two rows of huge shade trees which help to make it very attractive.
Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Forrest have had a large family, and have nine children living, eight of whom are married, and scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific—one at S-ydney, C.B.; one at Clinton, Iowa, U.S.A.; and three at Vancouver, B.C. Only those at Montreal and Quebec could be present at the family dinner on that day, owing to the great distances, but all heartily joined, by letter or telegraph, in wishing them health and long-life to enjoy the millenium peace which they feel confident will follow their dreadful world-wide war.
They have twenty-five grand children, and six great-grandchildren. The Chronicle joins in congratulations.
