VISCOUNT BENNETT DIES SUDDENLY IN 77th YEAR

World News In Brief

Montreal, June 27.—(C.P.)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police have been requested by the master of the cargo ship Maria G. to board the vessel when she docks July 9 or 10 at Saint John, N.B., to investigate the suspected slaying of an unidentified stowaway, it was learned here today.

The Maria G. with a crew of 41 sailed from Saint John in January and, in late April, it was disclosed in a letter written at sea by her master to Atlantic Shipping Agencies Limited of this city, the ship's operators, the decomposed body of a man was found in the equipment room.

Plymouth, Mass., June 27.—Dark-haired Bertha Surprise Cote yesterday pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the "Christmas tree" slaying of her husband and was sent to a reformatory by a judge who said "she had provoked."

Rene Cole, 34-year-old Brockton garage foreman, was found beaten to death beside an upset Christmas tree early Dec. 28 after he returned from night-clubbing in Boston with a fan dancer from Montreal.

Wenatchee, Wash., June 27.—(P)—To further confound anyone who is attempting to figure out what the mysterious gadgets are that have been reported swishing through the air of the western United States the past few days comes a story of a similar object seen at night.

The story is told by Archie Edes, Wenatchee, who claims sighting a speeding object while driving east through the Columbia Basin last Friday night.

"It was going faster than any airplane, and it was descending on a long slant," he said. "It seemed to be about four miles away, heading northeast, and it looked like a long, oval, blue-white flame."

"As we watched, it neared the ground, and when it was about 200 feet high it exploded."

"There was no blinding flash, but there were great showers of sparks and pieces of flaming parts seemed to hurtle to the ground."

"I'm sure it wasn't a meteor, because it didn't have the other characteristics of a meteor or comet."

Edes said he hesitated to say anything about the strange sight until he read today's newspaper accounts of the flying discs.

Tokyo, June 27.—(P)—Gen. MacArthur told visiting United States newspaper executives today that Japan should be "supervised" for "a generation," perhaps with the aid of American bomber and fighter planes.

Former Premier Of Canada Found Dead By His Butler

VISCOUNT BENNETT

Although Health Had Been Failing, Lord Bennett Continued His Public Activities Until the Last—Was Conservative Prime Minister During Depression Years from 1930 to 1935—Funeral Will Be Held Monday.

By JAMES MCCOOK

Dorking, Surrey, Eng., June 27.—(CP)—Viscount Bennett of Calgary, who rose from humble New Brunswick beginnings to become Canadian Prime Minister and one of the wealthiest men in Canada, died suddenly last night at his Juniper Hill home near here in the quiet Surrey countryside.

Lord Bennett, Conservative Prime Minister during the depression years from 1930 to 1935, apparently died in his bath, his butler said. His death was not discovered until this morning when the butler noticed that Lord Bennett's bedroom light was on.

The funeral will take place Monday at 5 p.m. when Lord Bennett will be buried in quiet Mickleham Cemetery.

Lord Bennett was well known in the Eastern Townships from his visits to Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, during the years his two nephews, R. B. Bennett and Harrison Bennett, attended the school as students. One of the greatest sorrows in Lord Bennett's life was the death of both these young men on active service in Northwest Europe.

R. B. Bennett was killed with the Black Watch (R.H.R.) of Canada, and his younger brother, Harrison, was killed two weeks later with the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa.

Announcement of the funeral arrangements was made by Lord Beaverbrook, his old friend and next-door neighbor—they were law students together in New Brunswick. Services will be held in the little Mickleham Anglican Church.

Because he suffered from coronary thrombosis and from diabetes, and still felt the effects of a pneumonia attack last winter, Lord Bennett never took a bath without butler John Epps being nearby.

Last night he decided not to bathe, fatigued by an evening stroll, and Epps retired. Later Lord Bennett apparently changed his mind and suffered a heart attack in the hot water.

Lord Beaverbrook was immediately summoned.

At 76—he would have celebrated his 77th birthday next Thursday—Lord Bennett had continued until the last most of his public activities: Red Cross work, House of Lords, attendance at ceremonies and making speeches. His friends had known his health had failed in recent years and had seen him looking somewhat tired but they were shocked when his grief-stricken household staff telephoned the news of his death.

Born Richard Bedford Bennett in Hopewell Hill, N.B., the Conservative Opposition elected him leader and in 1930 he led the party to victory in the general elections, winning 137 of the 245 House of Commons seats.

A strong supporter of Empire preferences, he held fast for British preference for Canadian goods at the Imperial Economic Conference in 1930. The conference adjourned without taking action but Lord Bennett won his point at the Ottawa Imperial Conference in 1932.

A bachelor like his successor as Prime Minister, William L. Mac-

Propose Old Age Pensions For Indians

Commons Continues Debate on Widely Criticized Bill to Increase Pension Payments to $30 Monthly.

Ottawa, June 27.—(C)—A multi-party plea for old age pensions for the Dominion's first citizen—the Canadian Indian—highlighted yesterday's Commons debate on the widely-criticized government bill to increase the basic payments by $5 monthly to $30.

That was the sole new development of a sitting devoted largely to ceaseless repetition of Opposition argument about the inadequacy of the increase, the need for abolition of the means test and lowering of present pensionable age limit of 70.

In eight hours of clause-by-clause study of the bill, the chamber managed to approve only one minor section and bogged down in a steady wrangle over the main clause, one which details qualifications and the amount of income a pensioner would be allowed.

As the debate progressed, Liberal members began shouting "fill-buster" at C.C.F. and Social Credit members calling for an increase in the basic pension to $50 a month.

The discussion plunged the House into a recorded division in which the Government outvoted a combined opposition 62 to 61 to support a ruling of the chair that a C.C.F. motion to boost the basic pension to $50 a month was out of order on the ground only the Crown can take action which will increase taxation.

The amendment was moved by Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.—Winnipeg North Centre).

When the House opened, Finance Minister Abbott announced the ceiling on Ontario winter wheat for the 1947-48 season will be increased from $1.26 a bushel, Montreal basis, to $1.55, plus an eight-cent equalization payment. The 1946-47 ceiling was supplemented by a nine-cent subsidy and a five-

Will Examine Dead Nurse's Brain Tissue

Provincial Police Say No Doubt Foul Play Entered Into Death of Valair Vanderbilt Near Silver Queen Lake.

Cochrane, Ont., June 27.—Further steps in the police probe of the death of Valair Vanderbilt, pretty 22-year-old nurse, apparently await results of an examination by Toronto pathologists of the girl's brain tissue.

Samples of the tissue were sent to Toronto yesterday in an effort to determine actual cause of death. The body of the girl, who was nursing at a Cochrane hospital, was found in the woods near Silver Queen Lake, 15 miles from here, following a week-end party which she attended with a married couple and two other men and a girl.

Inspector W. J. Franks of the Ontario Provincial Police said yesterday there was "no doubt" that foul play had entered into the girl's death. But there was uncertainty regarding the cause of death. When found, the body had a red plastic belt tightly knotted around the neck, but there was also a deep wound that had fractured the skull. Scratches on arms and legs indicated to police that the girl had been fleeing through the bush when she was overtaken by death.

Police have questioned the girl's companions on the week-end party and learned that the girl left the cabin at 3:30 a.m. Sunday to go "for a walk." Members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Tedesco, Roger Gauthier, Miss E. Kehoe, and Rocky Sisco, part-owner of the cabin and Valair's escort.

U.S. To Lend $100,000,000 To Modernize Turkish Army

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—The United States is expected to sign an agreement with Turkey in the next few days providing for a $100,000,000 modernization of the Turkish Army.

The agreement, similar to the one signed with Greece June 20th, is being negotiated at Ankara by American Ambassador Edwin C. Wilson.

The negotiations have moved forward slowly, according to diplomatic informants here, because Turkish officials wanted to reassure themselves and their country that the United States is not resorting to any kind of "American imperialism" in connection with the aid program.

The "imperialism" issue is one which the Russians have been pushing hard in connection with the Turkish, as well as the Greek, aspects of American opposition to Communist expansion in the Middle East.

At the same time the Soviets have been applying steady propaganda pressure on Turkey for both a military share in control of the Dardanelles and for the cessation of the Turkish provinces of Kars and Ardahan to the Soviet Union.

C.B.C. Officials Opposed To Forming Independent Group

Ottawa, June 27.—(P)—Top officials of the C.B.C. will appear before the radio committee of the Commons today to give their rebuttal to briefs by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

Both briefs called for the establishment of an independent body, appointed by Parliament, to license and regulate radio in Canada, and for the establishment of freedom of speech on the air as a matter of right instead of a matter of grace. The C.D.N.A. brief also urged that the CBC be made to discontinue its policy of not issuing radio station licenses to newspapers.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC Board of Governors, and Dr. Augustin Frigon, General Manager of the CBC, who were under questioning before the committee yesterday, are scheduled to take the stand and express their views on the contents of the two briefs.

The Department of Transport, radio licensing authority in Canada, tabled a rebuttal of the C.A.B. brief shortly after the questioning of the CBC officials was concluded.

The department brief said the establishment of an independent body to control broadcasting in Canada would only lead to confusion. Broadcasting occupied only eight per cent of the frequency bands in the frequency spectrum.

Radio aids to maritime and aerial navigation, radiotelegraph, radiotelephone, radioteletype, mobile radio services, forestry radio services, police radio services and amateur units were among services which occupied the other 92 per cent of the frequency spectrum.

Under questioning, Mr. Dunton and Dr. Frigon both said they did not believe the CBC could save money by building up a backlog of recorded programs for broadcast at a later date.

The CBC officials said the musicians' union required that musicians be paid much higher fees for recordings than for live broadcasts.

Senate Told Of Drift To Police State

Senator Roebuck Warns Against Wide Powers to Be Delegated to Proposed Dominion Coal Board as "Drastic Legislation."

Ottawa, June 27.—(P)—Canada's Senate heard a warning yesterday that the Dominion was drifting more and more in the direction of government by order-in-council which could lead to a regulated society bordering on a "police state."

The warning came from Senator Arthur Roebuck (L.—Ontario) who disapproved of wide powers to be delegated to a proposed Dominion Coal Board and said part of it was "a piece of exceedingly drastic legislation."

He urged Senators not to "overlook the direction in which we are travelling" and said the present course would lead to a regulated society "next door to a police state in which the people of this country will be bossed around by a few civil servants."

The Ontario Senator's warning came on a second reading of a government bill to set up a Dominion Coal Board which would have wide powers to regulate coal and other fuels in any fuel emergency.

Senator Vincent Dufresne (L.—Quebec) and Senator Rupert Davies (L.—Ontario) supported Senator Roebuck's contention that the drift was toward government by boards and order-in-council and Senator Davies said it was "a danger we should pay a great deal of attention to."

Second reading was given the Coal Board measure, a bill to enable insurance companies to buy securities of the International Bank, a bill to incorporate the Catholic Episcopal Corporation of Labrador and to the War Income Tax Act.

The Senate also heard a warning from Senator William Duff (L.—Nova Scotia) that if "something drastic" was not done about the practice of dumping dead fish on the Atlantic fishing banks, the Great Banks soon would be a thing of the past.

The Nova Scotia Senator said he had learned that U.S. trawlers were pulling haddock from their catches and throwing back the cod and that dead fish also were being heaved overboard by boats of other nationalities including Canadian. This was polluting the fishing grounds and causing the fish to leave. He wondered if the government knew what was going on.

Labor Law Is Examined By C.I.O. Leaders

Truman Cautions Both Labor and Management to Live Up to New Legislation Adopted Over His Veto.

Washington, June 27.—(P)—Leaders of 6,000,000 members of the Congress of Industrial Organizations gathered today to draft a program of contest or compliance with the controversial Taft-Hartley labor law.

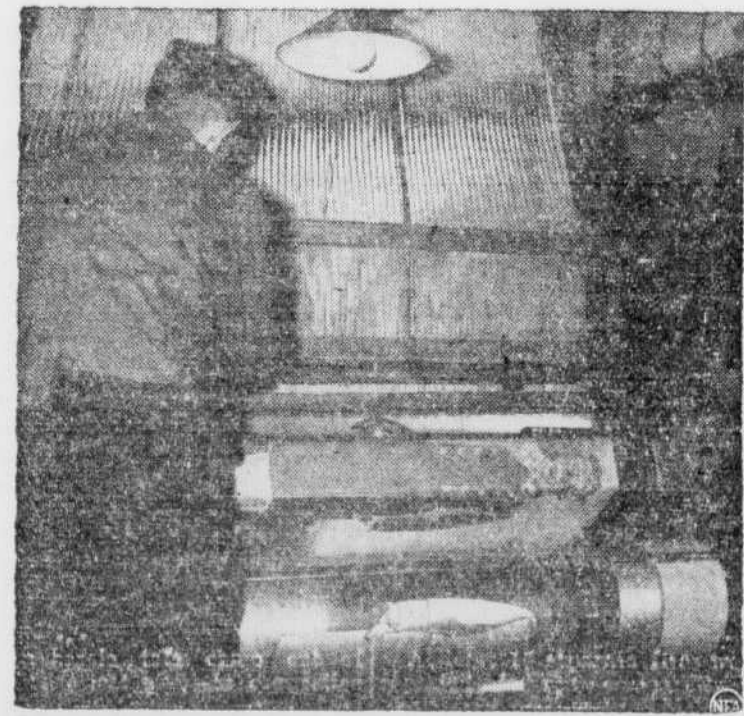

Last night President Truman cautioned both labor and management in the United States to live up to the new law, which went into effect last Monday after Congress had over-ruled the President's veto.

Protests against the labor-curbing measure were immediate and today nearly two-thirds of the United States' soft-coal miners

What Three-Power Economic Conference Thinks Of At Paris—

Chaos Shadows Europe as Big Three Foreign Ministers meet today to discuss Marshall's Rehabilitation plan.

GERMANY—Reparations complicate the economic picture in former enemy countries. Instead of making cloth for ill-clad Europeans, this silk loom in Gera was kept busy filling Russian order for silken portraits of Generalissimo Stalin.

FRANCE—Reconstruction here, as in all Europe, delayed by lack of materials and money. Scene is war-battered Caen.

ENGLAND—Outmoded methods and poor working conditions handicap coal production, one of mainstays of British economy. Funds from U.S. would help increase output.

GERMANY—Berlin shoemaker, demobilized, has no leather to ply his trade. He uses wood, but even it is scarce.

ITALY—Automobile production is stymied by lack of raw materials and dollar credits to buy them. Abandoned autos in junk yards are combed over for usable parts to go in new cars.

GREECE—Shortages bedevil Greece. This mill girl works barefoot for lack of shoes. She spins UNRRA cotton.

BABY SITTER BY REMOTE CONTROL
Hollywood, June 27.—I had never thought of Humphrey Bogart as a baby sitter. But now I know that he is, even if he doesn't know about it himself.

A friend of mine and his wife stopped by after lunch the other day to see a movie. It was a matinee, and they hit it just about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. They had been in the theater about an hour when my friend felt a little tug at his left sleeve. He turned around to look into the questioning eyes of a cute little blonde girl about nine years old.

"Please, mister," she said, "could you tell me what time it is?"

My friend looked at his watch just as Humphrey Bogart was making his first or second attempt to poison Barbara Stanwyck on the screen.

"Why, honey," he said, "it's a few minutes after three."

"Oh, darn!" she said.

My friend was very much surprised at the exclamation from the cute little kid, so he turned back to her.

"What do you mean, 'Oh, darn'?" What's the matter?"

ANOTHER $64 QUIZZER
The little girl looked up at him, pouted her pretty little lips and said, "Oh, my Mom and Daddy won't be home until 6 o'clock, and I have to sit here for three more hours."

Now there is one for the books. The picture was "The Two Mrs. Carralls," in which Humphrey Bogart spends most of his time trying to poison Barbara Stanwyck.

A very nice bit of entertainment indeed for a child to sit through two or three times while her parents go out for an afternoon.

Imagine a killer—like the roles Humphrey Bogart plays on the screen—being a baby sitter for your child, and you'll have another question mark to add to the other $64 quizzers already stacked up against crime pictures.

Yes, I know you'll save the parents were crazy to leave their child there that long. I'll agree. But how many of you do the same thing—use a movie theater as a nursery and Humphrey Bogart and other screen toughs as baby sitters?

But don't blame Hollywood this time. If Humphrey Bogart is a baby sitter in your family, it's your fault.

A MESSAGE TO THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS

(Congressional Record please copy.)

Gentlemen:

How do you stand on the question of love?

Yes, yes, yes—but are you prepared to vote for it?

Shortly, you're going to have to stand up and be counted on the Treasury Department's plan to let all married couples file two income tax returns, as they now do in the 10 states which have community property laws. Under the Treasury plan, every married couple would save itself a substantial piece of tax change.

I don't think I exaggerate when I tell you the bachelor girls in this country believe this notion to be the greatest incentive to marriage since the invention of the double-barreled shotgun.

For your information, the tender represents 60% of the country's qualified voters. The Congressmen who frustrate the primordial urge of this lipstick legion is fixing to get himself elected to limbo. Not to mention winding up full of hatpin holes.

D. Cupid is up against a tough proposition these days. Stratosphere taxes, and the price of everything from Artichokes to Zwickback, have a lot of single men thinking they can't afford the high cost of loving. This makes it pretty rugged for the gals whose idea of a hope chest is one with a vest on it.

The ladies figure the B.M.I. of Rights guarantees a man freedom from freedom. They want someone to make little advances to them before marriage, and big advances afterwards. In short, what they want for Christmas is Santa Claus. . . . Legislate against that, boys, and you'll hear the tumbrels rolling in the streets.

Sure, the pin-up girls will always bring home the orange blossoms, no matter how you vote. But what about the others? What about the schoolteachers whose only thrill is teaching improper fractions? What about the Gravel Gerties who never see a man running in their direction unless they sit behind the goal posts? And don't try to smoke-screen the issue by telling me about the career women. For every gal who doesn't intend to be married until she's thirty, there are a dozen who don't intend to be thirty until they're married.

The old joke about the old maid hoping to find a burglar under her bed is no joke to the old maid. Her schoolgirl complexion may have graduated, she may be a bit bow-legged from backing out of covered wagons, but inside, where it counts, she's forever Amber. She's still hoping a laddie will come in on a ring and a prayer.

The law that gives a married man a tax edge over the single man will do more for smuggling than a coal strike in December. The Treasury plan made the front pages the other day, the gals read it, and from here on in the Eyes of Sexes are upon you.

Think, gentlemen, think. Millions of voters are yearning for someone to say "Fair lady" to them besides streetcar conductors. Millions of ladies-in-waiting want a little warmth and light in

ADVISE EARLY RISING AFTER OPERATIONS

By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

Present day practice of getting patients out of bed as soon as possible after an illness or operation is based on scientific tests which proved that prolonged bed rest tends to be weakening. It is still advisable to stay in bed during the early stages of disease, immediately following operations and in the treatment of certain chronic infections.

Most patients who are kept in bed for a long time show relaxation of their muscles, loss of tone, and slowing down of metabolism. They develop marked personality changes characterized by withdrawal from their former interests and the development of a state of dependency.

Dr. Ansel Keys, during World War II, conducted experiments in the Physiological Hygiene Laboratory of the University of Minnesota on the effects of spending three or four weeks in bed. He found that it required at least four days to regain some of the bodily functions which had grown weaker and that complete restoration to normal did not take place for several weeks, even though physical training programs were attempted.

Bed Exercises Recondition
Exercises in bed can be started on the first post-operative day in many cases. These stimulate respiration and circulation and lessen the chances of complications, according to Ralph A. Piper who had charge of the Physical Reconditioning program in the Army the house besides the kind that's piped in by the gas and electric company. They want to be kissed on two occasions—when it rains and when it doesn't. Millions of constituents are getting a little tired in the legs waiting to jump at the first offer.

Remember this when you vote on the Treasury plan, gentlemen. And remember there's never been a woman who could sit on her own lap.

School Lunch Experiments To Be Tried In Two E.T. Schools

The encouraging result of the recent school lunch experiments in Danville and Asbestos has made the Quebec Junior Red Cross decide to set aside a certain amount for school lunch promotion and schools in Cowansville and Knowlton have been selected for the next experiment. This was announced yesterday by Mrs. R. B. Shaw, director of the Quebec Division of the Junior Red Cross, in an address at the annual convention of the Quebec Women's Institutes now being held at MacDonald College.

Mrs. Shaw outlined the school lunch program carried out in rural schools at Danville and Asbestos. The lunches were financed by the parents of the children, the Junior Red Cross and the school board, she said.

Admitting that no official report was yet available, she nevertheless stated that unofficial findings "have been that absenteeism has been greatly reduced and the children are far healthier and making markedly better progress in their school work."

She also reported on a school lunch experiment conducted during the depression. Lunch was served to children of the first three grades only and it was often the sole meal they received during the day. Careful records were kept and the menus were planned by skilled dietitians. The health of the children improved greatly, indicating the importance of even one proper meal during the day.

She added: "The Junior Red Cross is giving assistance only as the organization feels that to be a success the program must be the result of community effort."

She explained that the Junior Red Cross was promoting school lunch programs to improve the physical rating of the children and to demonstrate to the community the benefits derived from proper meals.

"Malnutrition is not confined to any one group of individuals," she said. "It is found among rich and poor, in rural as well as urban communities. Canadians are among the best fed people in the world but they are not necessarily well nourished."

Mrs. Shaw said that in the next few years the Junior Red Cross hoped to establish lunch rooms in schools across the province. "The best approach seems to be through the school boards," she declared. "The boards then call a meeting of parents and explain the program. Financial arrangements vary with the community."

CIVIC WORKERS' CASE SET BACK TO JULY 14

The case of the Canadian Brotherhood of Civic Employees, which includes the Fire and Police Department as well as municipal employees, against the City of Sherbrooke was suspended temporarily in Court yesterday afternoon when a three-man arbitration commission adjourned the hearing to July 14.

The three-man board, presided over by Judge Joseph Marier, was especially appointed to settle contract differences arising from the submission of a new contract to the city by the Brotherhood.

Several clauses in the contract were rejected by the City Council. Among the clauses presently under arbitration are the demand for an eight-hour working day by the policemen and a seven cent an hour salary raise by both Fire Department and municipal employees.

RENE TARDIF'S BODY IS FOUND ON LAKE SHORE

The Provincial Police today reported the suicide of Rene Tardif, 48-year-old farmer, who resided on farm between Wotton and Asbestos.

Tardif's body was found 15 feet from shore at Le Troisisme Lac by Albert Bell, chief of police of Asbestos, and Henri Latulippe, stated Detective Nick Anderson.

A verdict of suicide was returned at the inquest, held immediately after the discovery.

After being notified that Tardif had left his home at noon and had not yet returned, the police began their search. They found his coat, wallet and watch lying on the shore of the lake, and his footprints, which led into the water, after following the shoreline for approximately 300 feet.

BICYCLIST HAS NARROW ESCAPE AS BRAKES FAIL

Fourteen-year-old Jacques Auger, 45 Brewster Street, barely escaped injury last night when the brakes of his bicycle failed to work and he was hit by a car driven by Gerard Audet, of 50 King Street East.

The accident took place on Murray Street, near Woodward Avenue, and no damage was done to either vehicle.

Slight damages were caused to an automobile driven by Georges Fahi, of 38 Brewster Street, when the latter was attempting to park his car in front of 168 King Street West, when a 1/2 ton truck, driven by Lionel Blais, of 42 Lincoln Street, coming up King Street, collided with the vehicle, breaking the left hand mudguard. ## CLASSES WILL BE HELD IN DOG TRAINING

Sponsored by the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, a dog obedience training class will be conducted in North Hatley during the summer weeks.

This course will be given by Mrs. Chase-Casgrain, young Montreal war widow, herself a veteran of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

Intending to be a school teacher after her discharge, Mrs. Chase-Casgrain applied to the D.V.A. for a course of training, but before completing all arrangements and details she heard about the dog obedience training classes run by the American S.P.C.A. in New York and decided that she would prefer that type of teaching. Accordingly, she spent eight weeks, working ten hours a day, to master all the requisites of canine training.

Her own pet is a purebred poodle which was with her during her war service and which answers to the name of Wendy. Every week she and her dog demonstrate the correct handling of canines to owners and their pets.

The work requires patience and kindness. The proper technique must be followed, correct inflections of the voice must be used, as dogs respond to voice tones as well as to conventional signals.

"The education of dogs is important from a public as well as a human point of view," Mrs. Chase-Casgrain said. "Dogs can be the cause of traffic accidents if not trained; they may be considered a hazard under many conditions—but a well trained dog is a great value to the community as well as to the owner."

Mrs. Chase-Casgrain, whose husband, a fighter pilot, was killed in action in 1941, resides with her mother, in North Hatley. Besides the course to be conducted there, she plans to give demonstrations at other places.

All dog owners are invited to the North Hatley Town Hall tomorrow, June 28th, at 8.15 p.m., when movies and a demonstration of dog obedience training will be given. The admission is free and all interested parties may obtain information about the summer training class and may put in their applications for the nine week course.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT

JOHNS-MANVILLE

HARD TO BEAT THESE STUFFINGS

When grandpa was a boy, that useful scrap of industry called Packing was known as "stuffing." But when the boys got to stuffing that "We'll beat the stuffing out of 'em" you can be sure it was the gang around the corner they meant, and not Johns-Manville Packings.

What are Packings? Well, simply explained, Packings are used in many types of machinery to keep water, oil and other liquids "under control." For example, in your motor car it is Packing which seals the water pump and prevents leaks. But that is only one of the minor uses. In the countless forms and styles in which Asbestos Packing is produced by Johns-Manville, its big job is to save horsepower for industry. Without it the wheels of our industry couldn't turn!

Important as it is, Packing is just one of the hundreds of essential products which trace back to J.M.'s Canadian factory and the J-M mine at Asbestos, Que. — the largest asbestos mine in the world. — J. S. Mitchell & Company Limited, 75 Wellington St., North, Sherbrooke, Que., Telephone 2300.

LOCAL PRODUCE IS PLENTIFUL AT LANSDOWNE

Local produce was again very much in evidence this morning at Lansdowne Market with many varieties of vegetables and fruit being displayed. In several instances a decrease in price was also noted. Strawberries are now down to 35c per basket, carrots went down to 10c a bunch, while local cabbage remained stationary at 20-25c each. Local tomatoes, not yet plentiful, also remained at 50c per pound.

Imported peaches appeared for the first time this year, retailing for 60c per dozen, while peaches went down to 30c per dozen. The meat situation showed no improvement from last week when dealers complained about a continuous shortage of both western and local beef. The price of eggs remained the same.

Statement By Eisenhower Is Said Logical

Ottawa, June 27.—(C)—A Defence Department spokesman, commenting on Gen. Eisenhower's statement that industrial centres of the St. Lawrence River Valley and the Great Lakes region would be included in the first major air attacks against this continent in the event of war, said the statement was a "logical deduction."

The U.S. Army Chief of Staff made the statement yesterday before the House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee in Washington. He was speaking in support of legislation which would enable the U.S. to standardize the armed forces of the Western Hemisphere.

"With many of the continents major industries centred around the St. Lawrence waterway," the Ottawa spokesman said, "it is logical to assume they would be the target in any major air attack on the continent."

Labor Law

were idle in wildcat strikes. The walkouts occurred as the Federal Government prepared for an exit from the soft coal business as of midnight tonight.

The government has been operating the mines since May 21, 1946, when it took over during another strike. The administration does not give up control of the mines until Monday noon but tonight the miners began a 10-day vacation with pay granted in their contract with the Naval Coal Mines Administration.

The coal mine strikes—which left 250,000 miners idle in 11 states—are not the only labor repercussions. A fuel shortage is pinching steel mills and railroads and dwindling coal stockpiles have forced lay-offs of steel workers. Coal-carrying railroads have at the same time started furloughing train crews.

The question will be sharpened at the end of the miners' holiday as no contract between the mine owners and the United Mine Workers (A.F.L.) has been signed. The miners have always maintained: "No contract; no work."

Yesterday, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said he would not consider a general strike in protest against the Taft-Hartley law but he said his organization would fight it in the courts.

Today the C.I.O. gets its turn to consider the law. President Philip Murray convened his 51-member executive board here to hear an up-to-the-minute size-up of the new statute. The C.I.O., like the A.F.L., has rejected a general strike.

President Truman yesterday made an appeal for compliance by employers and unions in a formal statement at his press conference. He called upon both labor and management "to exercise patience and moderation in accommodating themselves to the changes made necessary by the act."

In accordance with the constitutional processes of our government," he said, "we must all respect its provisions."

Truman formally pledged that despite the enactment of the Taft-Hartley law over his veto, he will do all in his power to make sure the act "is well and faithfully administered."

"Insofar as management and labor are concerned," he said, "there is a vital responsibility upon them to comply with the law in a spirit of tolerance and fair play. Neither management nor labor will achieve any long-range benefit by seeking to use the provisions of this act to gain unfair advantage or to sustain arbitrary attitudes."

GERARD SEGUIN IS SENTENCED FOR ROBBERY

Gerard Seguin, 24, of Montreal, was sentenced to four years in penitentiary by Magistrate Anatole Gaudet at Sweetsburg for the theft of jewelry at J. Fournier's jewelry store in Bedford.

An accomplice of Seguin, Lucien O'Connor, 28, who stood trial at the same time, was given a two-year sentence for the same offence.

The two youths were members of a gang of four who were apprehended last February by Chief of Police Z. Falcon, when they were caught in the act of robbing Mr. Fournier's store.

In passing sentence upon the youth, Mr. Gaudet stated that if his behavior was satisfactory in penitentiary he would intercede at the end of two years.

Former Premier

Epps, Lord Bennett's butler, and the statesman's inseparable companion, a small terrier, was nearby.

When he returned from a stroll last evening Lord Bennett commented on the intense heat and told Epps he felt too tired to take a bath. He changed his mind later and it was believed he suffered a heart attack while in the tub. The light was on in his bedroom when Epps went to call him this morning.

Lord Bennett's affection for the Surrey countryside where he lived was indicated last month when it was disclosed that he was the anonymous donor four years ago of £10,000 ($40,000) to purchase the site of Guildford's new cathedral. A chapel in the cathedral will mark the association between the diocese and Canada and the gratitude of the people of Surrey to the help Canadians have given in two wars.

Although retired from Canadian politics, Lord Bennett was busy in Britain. High among his interests in the United Kingdom was his work as chairman of the London Advisory Committee of the Canadian Red Cross, where Col. R. W. Ross, Overseas Commissioner, termed him the "greatest help with" is advice and guidance.

"He was with us right up to yesterday and I spent last evening with him," said Frost. "It is a great shock to me. I owe him much."

Lord Bennett never pretended to be anything but Canadian, although he became a part of English city and country life during his eight years here and he was a noted speaker in the Lords.

In the United Kingdom, as well as in Canada, he was remembered for his work as Prime Minister during the depression of the 30's when world trade collapsed and drought ruined western farms.

During those difficult years he worked day and night, spoke with vigor and acted with determination. He was both criticized and praised for his vigorous personal efforts and in 1935 he led a furious election campaign only to be defeated by the Liberal party under Mackenzie King.

One of the first to be informed of the death of Lord Bennett was his old friend and fellow New Brunswicker, Lord Beaverbrook. It is understood the noted press peer is assisting in the funeral arrangements. Burial is planned for Mickleham Cemetery at 5 p.m. Monday.

Lord Bennett's career was a classic success story. Son of a Maritime shipbuilding family, he put himself through law school at Dalhousie University, Halifax, practised in the pioneer Northwest Territories, sat in the early west-cent additional payment.

Postmaster-General Bertrand, acting as agriculture minister, told the House the current shortage of feed grains in British Columbia "may probably" make it necessary for B.C. feeders to pay from two to three cents a bushel more for their feed oats and barley.

Prime Minister Mackenzie announced Health Minister Martin will head the Canadian delegation to the fifth session of the economic and social council of the United Nations opening in New York next month.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told of six efforts to obtain a Russian visa so the Soviet wife of George Power, officer of his department, could join him in Ottawa and said the Government considered the Soviet Government's refusal "incomprehensible."

First reading was given a Government bill to tighten provisions of the Criminal Code and to allow habitual criminals to be sentenced to prison for indefinite periods after their fourth conviction on charges bringing sentences of five years or more.

In the Senate, second reading was given Government bills which would establish a Dominion Fuel Board and enable insurance companies to buy securities of the international bank.

In the pension debate, Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit members joined in urging that the sections barring pensions for reserve Indians be repealed.

Health Minister Martin said the Government intended to deal with the board problem of the health, welfare and education of Indians as a special matter and within that problem would be included the question of pensions.

ern governments and attained wealth.

Calgary, his western hometown, is filled with Bennett legends—of his business sense, skill in court and generosity—and of the first and only time he drove an automobile. It attempted to climb a lamp-post and the statesman quit driving.

He was always surrounded by friends who cherished his advice. His copious memory had stories of entertainment—of pioneer days, politics, legal incidents, British associations. He gave away fortunes and chose to spend much of the war in bomb-battered and austere London.

"The island and its people have saved Christian civilization," he said once and it was his pride to see history made as Britain battled Hitler.

Today, the staff at the Bennett residence on Juniper Hill answered the telephone emotionally.

"We can only confirm," said the butler, "Lord Bennett died last night and all other information must come from the executors."

London associates said that Lord Bennett had been with them discussing business affairs within the last few days. But only two days ago, Lord Bennett did not appear in person when a new Canadian hospital in Britain was dedicated. Pleading ill-health, he sent a telegram of greetings.

Friends of the former Canadian statesman said they understood he had been resting alone at the time of his death but they had no details. They said the body remained at his Juniper Hill residence and plans for his funeral would be discussed later today.

As when he was Prime Minister, Lord Bennett in England never ceased to think and work for the development of the Commonwealth. In one of his last speeches or in May he said there were powerful factors at work which did not make for unity and the issue was the "life or death of the Commonwealth."

He suggested separate policies were developing among Commonwealth countries and he reminded his audience that there had not been an Imperial conference for some time.

Lord Bennett's last public appearance was at a Bank of Nova Scotia reception last Thursday. Only a few weeks ago he was re-elected president of the Royal Society of Arts.

DOROTHY DIX

Riddle of the Working Wife

Women Toiling For Any Reason Must
Of Necessity Neglect Children

Being a woman used to be a comparatively simple job. If you were born of the female persuasion, all you had to do was just to let Nature take its course. You were a cute girl baby. You grew up. You got married. You set up housekeeping. You cooked, washed, ironed and brought up a nice family of children and, presto, the trick was done. It was as plain sailing as that. You had done your duty in the sphere of life to which Heaven had called you, and you had honor in the market place.

But that was in the good old days before being a woman got complicated with being a bread-earner and before the working wife had been devised. In those artless times, careers for women were practically all home-made affairs, and a wife and mother was supposed to find plenty to do, and full scope for all of her interests and ambitions, in making her husband happy and comfortable and rearing sons and daughters who were a credit to her.

Nobody dreamed then that there was going to be any problem of the working wife, which was to become one of the major headaches in a confused and messed up world. Nor did anyone suspect that she was to wreck more homes, break more hearts and cause more divorces than all the scarlet women combined, or that she would be the first aid to drunken and loafing husbands and the mother of delinquent children.

And the tragic part of the whole situation is that the working wife is no deliberate evil-doer. On the contrary, she is among the noblest of her sex, and the harm she does is often forced upon her by her situation. Or else she is the victim of circumstances. She has been bitten by the career craze and she can never settle down to domesticity. She is bored to tears by her husband. She regards her children as burdens. She loathes the smell of a kitchen. And she wrecks the lives of her husband and children by running a shoppe, or spending her time serving on committees, instead of making them a decent home.

Often the working wife is not one by choice, but by necessity. She fell in love with a handsome youth who beguiled her into marrying him by telling her a fairy tale about the beautiful home they would have if she would just keep on with her job until they had saved up enough money for the vine-wreathed cottage of her desires. But the great lover turned into a great sponger. Before the honeymoon was over, he gave up all pretense of working and just let Mary do it. The number of parasitic husbands who are supported by their wives is simply incredible.

That the working wife is largely responsible for juvenile delinquency, no one can deny, but how can a mother avoid neglecting her children when she has to be away from home, toiling to support them? She is no miracle-worker who can be in two places at once. She has to be at her job in the factory or store earning the money that puts food in their stomachs and clothes on their backs, and she has to let them run wild. She cannot keep a mother's watchful eye upon them. She cannot protect them, or give them the guidance that she should. And the marvel of it all is that her children turn out as well as they do.

Looked at from any angle, the working wife is a problem. And she is one to which no one knows the answer.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

Herve Noel, parish priest. The wedding music was played by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Zeph. Rousseau, of Sawyerville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked very sweet in a slipper-length white satin gown, which fell in a long graceful train, styled with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves. Her long veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a Grecian bonnet and she carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies.

She was attended by her two sisters as bridesmaids, Miss Doris Vailancourt and Miss Jeannine Vailancourt, who wore slipper-length gowns of silk moire in turquoise blue with matching bandeaux. The former carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and the latter yellow roses.

The best man was Mr. Paul Rousseau, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. L. A. Despres and Rolland Vailancourt, of Ayer's Cliff, and Mr. Maurice Rousseau, of Cookshire.

The bride's mother wore a frock of printed shell pink sheer with black accessories and a corsage of white gardenias, while Mrs. Rousseau, the groom's mother, was gowned in an aqua printed silk jersey, with a corsage of yellow roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She also had black accessories.

A very large reception was held in the Confederation Hall where a wedding breakfast was served, the bride's table being centred with a beautiful three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Lorenzo Lepine and Mrs. W. E. Hurd were in charge.

Mrs. H. Nelson Pierce, sang several solos, among them "Ave Maria" and "Because" while a cousin of the groom, Miss Monique Rousseau, of East Angus, also delighted the guests with her charming voice. The latter is only twelve years old.

Amid showers of confetti the happy young couple left for a short wedding trip to Mirror Lake, the bride travelling in a sea blue wool suit with black accessories and wearing a corsage of pink roses. She carried a grey top coat.

The numerous and beautiful wedding gifts consisting of silver, crystal, china, electrical articles and money, proved the popularity of these two young people, who are taking up residence in Stouffville, Ont., where Mr. Rousseau is employed by his uncle, Mr. E. A. Wilson.

MODERN

DON'T BE TOO AGGRESSIVE!

Dr. Paul Popenoe
Mr. M. is having difficulties with his wife, because of his over-aggressive behavior toward her. His difficulty goes back to frustration in childhood. He did not get the love and security that he needed. If his parents, instead of going into divorce court, could have met his legitimate requirement of affection, and at the same time treated him fairly and firmly, his personality would not have been warped so badly that his wife must now pay the penalty in being nagged and bullied.

What can an over-aggressive person do to make himself easier to live with? Short of an overhauling by some psychologist, which I suggested yesterday, there are various expedients that can be tried. A little experiment will show whether they are helpful:

1. A physical outlet. Boxing, wrestling, bag punching, tennis—active and competitive sports in general—may furnish a satisfactory outlet for some of the aggressive tendencies.

2. A social outlet. Find some undesirable condition (not person!) that needs to be changed, and go after it. A lot of real accomplishment in the world is the result of aggressive tendencies turned into useful channels.

3. Development of more desirable attitudes and habits. As a starter:

(a) Be more patient. Wait for others to get their chance in making suggestions or taking part in group activity.

(b) Be more fair. Let spouse, partner, son, or daughter, have a chance to make a few of the decisions.

(c) Be less cocksure. Accept criticisms and suggestions willingly; if they are not valuable, at least they cost you nothing! Spend less time in telling people, more time in learning from them.

(d) Be less propagandistic. Not only does it make you disliked, but it tends to make you overcritical of others and not sufficiently critical of yourself.

(e) Be less persistent and exacting. Remember that it is not your whole duty (nor that of anyone else) to do everything immediately and to final perfection. Take it easy!

Watch yourself; catch yourself, and you'll get through life much more pleasantly and profitably.

Questions and Answers
Q—I don't feel that I want to bear and rear children, just to provide cannon-fodder for future wars. And yet war seems to be an ineradicable part of human nature.

A—Psychologists don't think so. A canvass of hundreds of prominent American psychologists showed that almost all of them believed there was nothing in human nature to make national wars inevitable.

Q—I try to keep the home quiet and discourage all unnecessary conversation, so the children will have a chance to grow toward peace, dignity, and harmony. My wife doesn't co-operate as I think she should.

A—You're probably enjoying the plan of "going into the silence" a good deal more than the children are. They need to hear a lot of adult talk, if they are to learn how to talk properly themselves. As Dr. M. F. Nimkoff, sociologist and family-specialist, of Bucknell University, puts it, "If the child has no copy to learn from, or no chance to learn, or no need to learn, clearly he will not develop proper speech habits. Hence 'strong, silent parents', whatever their other virtues, tend to produce children who are deficient in their speech."

John Philips Holds Saints To 5 Hits While Sherbrooke Gets 3

The Saints of St. Hyacinthe eked out a 6-3 decision over the Sherbrooke Baseball Club last night at the local park to consolidate their hold on third position in the Provincial Independent League.

Playing heads up ball the Saints connected for one hit in the third, with two in the fifth and sixth to push across three runs in each of the latter innings to win the ball game. On the other hand the locals were having trouble with the offerings of Lefty Jackson, St. Hyacinthe's new import, who held Coach Dube's boys to three scattered singles, one in the sixth, eighth and ninth, but they managed to collect three runs.

John Philips, Sherbrooke's newly arrived addition to the pitching staff, struck out five of the visitors but allowed eight bases on balls, whereas Jackson sent four down swinging and gave up only three free rides.

The visitors were the first to collect a hit in last night's tilt, when in the third, Wedley poked out a single, but he was left stranded as the next two batters went out, short to first. Sherbrooke got a single in the fourth, when Don Sheeran got a free ride after being hit by twirler Jackson, was sacrificed to second by Pete Taillefer, and then scampered home with the initial run when the Saints were arguing about the decision at first base.

In the fifth the visitors put together two hits, two bases on balls, a sacrifice and a hit by pitcher for total of three runs. Sherbrooke went down 1-2-3 in their

TURF DISPUTE TRUCE WILL ALLOW RACING

Vancouver, June 27. — The Landedowne Park races will open today as scheduled, a two-day armistice having been declared in the dispute between groom's horsemen and promoters.

At Hardy, manager of the B. C. Turf Club, has agreed to meet the groom's Sunday in an effort to settle the argument over fees, and also the claim of horsemen demanding return of open claiming.

The groom's demand continued payment of a fee for leading horses to the paddock before a race. The track promoters reply that this is only part of the groom's job.

PITCHING AND BATTING STARS

Batting, Benny Zientara, Reds—scored three runs, singled twice and doubled, and stole a base to help Ewell Blackwell register his 12th victory, a 6-3 job over St. Louis.

Pitching, Ernie Bonham, Pirates—hurled second straight shutout since Billy Herman gave him chance as starting pitcher, blanking the Cubs, 8-0 with six hits.

Brooklyn Dodgers Outslugged Boston To Take Over N.L. Choice Position

Brooklyn Dodgers vaulted into first place in the National League by a half game last night, outslugging Boston Braves 8-6 at Ebbets Field.

A crowd of 33,102 fans watched the Dodgers pile up a 6-1 lead and then blow it in the eighth when the Braves staged a five-run rally to tie up the game but the rambling Brooks came back immediately and scored twice in their half to win.

Jackie Robinson began the Dodgers' winning rally with a double off relief pitcher St. Johnson. Robinson, former Montreal Royals' star, scampered home with the tie-breaking run on Dixie Walker's single and Walker ambled across with the insurance run when Johnny Beazley, fifth Brave pitcher, passed Ralph Branca with the bases loaded.

Branca, who gained credit for the victory, his tenth of the season, entered the game in the 8th and halted the Braves after they had scored five runs. Mike McCormack homered for Boston and Carl Furillo for the Dodgers.

The setback dropped the Braves into second place, a half game in front of the third-place New York Giants who along with Philadelphia Phillies, Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns were idle.

Ewell (No-Hit) Blackwell, outstanding young right-hander of Cincinnati Reds, pitched his 10th

SEMI-FINALS REACHED FOR TENNIS TITLE

Montreal, June 27. — Prospect of two brothers meeting in the final for the Quebec Provincial Senior Tennis Title looked today as Brendan and Jim Macken of Montreal were scheduled to pit their court prowess against Don McDiarmid of Ottawa and Henri Rochon of Montreal in semi-final matches.

The contests, on a best-of-five basis, put Brendan against the lanky McDiarmid and Macken will be the favorite. Apart from the fact that he is regarded as the best netman in Canada today, he scored a convincing victory over McDiarmid last week. Brother Jim, however, will be the underdog against the left-handed Rochon.

Nevertheless, Jim showed fine form yesterday in beating defending champion Johnny Marois of Quebec in a five-set struggle, 3-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1. Brendan had little trouble disposing of George Robinson of Montreal in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

McDiarmid reached the semi-finals by topping Peter Young, former Cambridge University player now living in Montreal, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. Rochon displayed fine form to move by Laird Watt of Montreal, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Today's other matches, all semi-finals, line up as follows:

Men's doubles—Edgar Lanthier and Gordie McNeil of Montreal vs. Rene Buser and Charlie Leslie of Montreal; the Mackens against Watt and Marois.

Women's doubles—Francoise and Suzanne Lacasse of Montreal vs. Vera Lewis and Sonia Swift of Ottawa; Pauline Laquerre and Pat Macken of Montreal against Louise Brown of Toronto and Claire Renshaw of Montreal.

Mixed doubles—Dr. George Leclerc of Ottawa and Nancy Common of Montreal vs. B. K. Burnett and Mrs. Helen Stenstrom of Montreal; J. P. Lebel and Pauline Laquerre of Montreal vs. Jean Richer and Francoise Lacasse of Montreal.

Harold McSpaden first came into real prominence with his victory in our 1939 Open at Saint John, N.B., and ever since has been a leading threat on the circuit.

It was left, however, to last year's winner at the Beaconfield Golf Club, Montreal, George Fazio, an unknown to most of the show. He won the Seagram Cup the hard way after a sensational eighteen-hole playoff with Dick Metz, of Arkansas City, Kansas. Since that time, Fazio, who hails from Los Angeles, has been crowding the leading professionals on the American circuit, and was only once out of the money in the matches he played in up to the end of March. Since winning the Open, he has won over $9,000 and at Del Monte, in January, he tied with Ed Furgol, of Pontiac, Mich., for the top professional score and split $3,200. It was the Canadian Open of 1946 that brought George Fazio into the limelight and started him off on the golden trail.
