DISGRACEFUL ROW IN PARLIAMENT

Lie Passed Freely From One Member to Another—Statement Withdrawn

Ottawa, March 17 (Special).—One
of the most disorderly scenes witnessed in the House in years arose
to-day when the lie direct was passed
by Glen Campbell, of Dauphin, to Dr.
Neely, of Humboldt. The row took place when the House was in supply and Mr. Oliver was explaining his Department of Interior estimates. Campbell, who was criticising the departmental policy, was accused by Neely
of having admitted on the public platform that he had been compelled to bribe a government official in order to secure a grazing lease.

"You are a liar—absolutely a liar!"
said Campbell to Neely.

"It will be necessary to withdraw
those words, said the deputy speaker.

"I called him a liar and I refuse
to take it back," retorted Campbell.

"The member for Dauphin will realize that he has spoken hastily and also that his words are not parliamentary. I think that will be sufficient cause for him to withdraw them," remarked the chairman.

"What I said goes. He is absolutely a liar, but if it is not parliamentary I take the word back. But he is absolutely a liar," said Campbell. Here the House got into an uproar. "I will not take a word back.
He is a liar, first, last and all the time," shouted Campbell.

The Deputy Speaker: "Inasmuch
as the honorable member has refused to withdraw, it will be my duty to report the matter to the House for such action as it deems proper and desirable."

"It is a hard task, Mr. Chairman,
to withdraw something that is absolutely true," said Mr. Campbell.

After further discussion Mr. Campbell withdrew the expression. "At your order, Mr. Chairman," he remarked.

Col. Hughes then raised the point of the propriety of Dr. Neely's remark that the member for Dauphin
had sought to induce the officer of the Crown to perform an illegal act. Dr.
Neely denied using such words, saying that he meant to convey that the member for Dauphin had made the admission or statement.

"That is absolutely false," broke in Campbell. Further explaining his position, Mr. Campbell denied making any such statement. He went on:
"No man alive can come to my face
and say to me you did a mean or a rotten thing, and this member for Humboldt cannot do it anywhere outside of this House, and he can't get Jim Jeffries to do it outside of this House, or I will give them some of the fairest sport they ever had. Is it a fair thing that a creature of circumstance, like the member for Humboldt—if that language is parliamentary—can get up here and, under your protection, say something that he cannot say anywhere else in God's wide world. What he says is absolutely false, and it was false all the time."

Finally Neely withdrew the expressions and the row ended.

TO REBUILD A COLLEGE.

Baltimore, Md., March 17.—It was announced to-night that Cardinal Gibbons had subscribed $10,000 to the fund for the rebuilding of St. Charles College and that a telegram had been received from the Archbishop of San Francisco offering substantial aid.

SIR E. TASCHEREAU ILL.

Ottawa, March 17.—Sir E. Taschereau suffered a slight stroke of apoplexy last night, but it is thought he will recover, despite his advanced age. The former Chief Justice showed signs of improvement to-day.

SIR EDWARD GREY FURTHER DEVELOPED

His Views on International Arbitration at the Annual Pan-quet of the League.

London, March 17.—Sir Edward Grey further developed his views on international arbitration at the annual banquet to-night of the International Arbitration League, and corrected
some misapprehensions which had arisen regarding his now famous speech in the House of Commons, in which he gave support to the suggestion of President Taft for an Anglo-American treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration of any question that might arise between the two governments.

"I observe," said the Foreign Secretary this evening, "that some of the words I used the other day are being construed as if a general arbitration
treaty between two great nations
would be tantamount to a defensive alliance between them. If a general arbitration treaty were made between two great nations and became firmly rooted in the feelings of the people of both countries, and if one of them
was in the course of time made the object of an attack in a dispute with a third power, in which arbitration
had been offered and refused by the third power, certainly, I think, there would be a strong sympathy between the two powers who had made the general arbitration treaty. But that is a matter which depends upon public opinion and in which public opinion will take care of itself. To introduce any such condition or stipulation
into an arbitration treaty would impair the chances of it here or elsewhere. It might even lead other countries to suppose that the arbitration treaty between the two powers
was directed against one or more of the other powers. That would completely spoil its possible effect in mitigating the general expenditure on armaments. If an arbitration treaty is made between two great countries on the lines sketched out as possible by the President of the United States, let
it be done between the two powers concerned without 'arrière pensee' (by purpose), but don't let them set narrow bounds to their hopes of the beneficent results which may develop
from it in the course of time—results
which, I think, must extend far beyond the two countries originally concerned."

"The effect on the world at large of
the example would be bound to have beneficent consequences. To set a good example is to hope that others
will follow it, and if others of the great powers did follow, there would eventually be something like a league of peace. These things must, however, make their way by their own weight. They cannot be forced. There must be a beginning before there can be any progress, and after a beginning the rate of further progress
must depend on circumstances and upon that ebbing and flowing in men's feelings and ideas which escapes analysis and which makes possible at one time things that are not possible at another."

"I do not wish to cumber the idea
of President Taft by too much speculation upon all that might follow from
it, but the thought of the future possibilities is an encouragement which should not be granted or denied."

The Press on the Question.

London, March 18.—The discussion
in the newspapers of the suggestion
for an Anglo-American arbitration treaty continues unabated. Sir Edward Grey's speech at the banquet of the International Arbitration League
last night appears to have removed
one of the chief objections to President Taft's proposal as urged by the Conservative press—that a treaty
would involve a defensive alliance—
and strong hopes are expressed in the editorials this morning that negotiations for the treaty soon will begin.

The Daily Telegraph declines to believe that the negotiations would be shipwrecked like those undertaken by Lord Pauncefote when he was Ambassador at Washington, and thinks that an Anglo-American treaty might speedily be followed by a similar German-American settlement.

The idea of a treaty is strongly opposed by the Imperialist organs like
the Outlook and the Saturday Review,
the latter displaying its customary
anti-American bias.

The Spectator says:—"America is the one power with which we could enter upon a treaty of arbitration with perfect confidence. She is neither aggressive nor acquisitive. She is regarded as a world-wide power and may be described as a satisfied nation, and a nation is only for satisfied nations for the simple reason that it means the status quo."

CONDITIONS OF CHIHUAHUA, MEX.

Provisions Scarce and Dear—
Fighting Between Federals
and Rebels, etc.

San Antonio, Texas, March 17.—
The first direct news from Chihuahua,
Mexico, since March 1st, was received to-day in a letter dated March 14 from a newspaper correspondent, who gives a diary of events since the city was bottled up by the rebels on February 28. Since that time the city has had no news of the outside world. Provisions have increased 30 per cent.
Butter sells at $1.25 a pound and crackers at 50 cents a box. There is a milk famine in the city, as there is no feed for the cows. On March 8
there was enough coal to run the brewery, electric lights and street railway two or three weeks.

The correspondent reports a banquet given in Francisco I. Madero's honor on March 9 at Guerrero. The diners ate at the best place in town
and partook of "canned goods, beef,
potatoes and tortillas."

Business is almost suspended in Chihuahua, and the poor are in sore
straits. The correspondent reports
three murders within the city, due to anxiety and unrest.

Guillermo Perras, Secretary of State under Governor Enrique Creel,
was shot but not mortally wounded
by Jesus Garcia Acosta, a prominent citizen of Chihuahua.

Numerous skirmishes near Chihuahua are reported. Seventy Federals were killed at Ortiz and fourteen bridges burned by the rebels.

Santa Eulalia has been twice captured by the rebels and twice recaptured by the Federals, with the loss of five Federals and six rebels killed and a total of eight wounded. The rebels took sixteen prisoners away
with them. General Orozco is reported to have taken J. C. Hayes, manager of Hearst's Babicora ranch, a prisoner.
Meoquis, near where General W.
D. Symam, of Boer war fame, lives,
has been taken by the rebels.

The correspondent says he can account for only 1,300 Federal troops
in Chihuahua. The authorities ask reports to be sent broadcast that there are 5,000 soldiers in the city, but he cannot find so many.

The people of the city have no
newspapers of later date than February 22. One man got in from El Paso early this morning, but brought no newspaper. "He was almost mobbed for his forgetfulness," concludes the correspondent.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE ON CONDITION OF IRELAND.

Baltimore, Md., March 17.—At the St. Patrick's Day dinner of the Hiber-nian Society of Baltimore to-night
Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain
discussed some of the controverted
questions regarding the birthplace and career of St. Patrick, and told some anecdotes of the Saint's life, observing that few as are the facts about him that can be considered historically established, the impression which St. Patrick's life and preaching made upon his contemporaries rendered it certain that he was a great man, full
of zeal and courage, and a saintly man whose memory deserved the reverence which not only Ireland, but the whole Christian world, had given to it for fourteen centuries. His hearers would understand, said Mr. Bryce, that about Ireland he could say nothing of a political nature. But he was free to speak to them about the economic and social state of the island,
having watched and studied it all his life until he came to the United States. Having been for some time
just before he came here four years ago responsible as Chief Secretary for the Administration of Ireland, he could assure them that the condition
of the people had greatly improved
from what it was thirty or forty years ago, and that it was still advancing.
The farmers were better off; their rents were reduced; they had money
in the banks; they were becoming owners of the lands they tilled, and before long nearly all the land would belong to the cultivators, while cottages were being built all over the country for the laborers. A great revival of interest in the ancient Gaelic
language and literature was in progress, said the speaker, and the spirit
of patriotic pride in the traditions and history of Ireland was showing itself
in many ways, drawing together men
of different Christian bodies and making them work together for the good of the whole community.

10,000 MINERS TO STRIKE.
Wheeling, W. Va., March 17.—
President T. L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, announced to-day that he had issued orders for a strike in the fifth sub-district of Ohio, effective at the close of the mining day tomorrow. According to Lewis, 10,000 men will walk out at that hour in the Tuscarawas and part of the Pittsburg fields. He declared that the operators were endeavoring to keep the men at work, but they would obey the order. Some companies, it is asserted, have arranged to fill contracts
with coal from West Virginia mines.

ARBITRATION AMONG NATIONS.

Copenhagen, March 17.—The Danish Foreign Office to-day sent a letter to the Peace Bureau at Bern, Switzerland, saying that Denmark will accept the American government's invitation to appoint a commission on the lines authorized by Congress to promote arbitration
among nations and for the limitation of armaments.

REPLIES TO THE ORANGEMEN

Archbishop Bruchesi Catholicism and the French Language are Above Criticism.

Montreal, March 17.—Bourke Cock-ran, the New York orator, was the leading speaker at the St. Patrick's Society dinner to-night, but the speech of the evening was made by Archbishop Bruchesi. The Archbishop had been reading the report of the Orange Lodge meetings, and in the course of his remarks said:—
"The remarks of some of our friends
in another province will not do us
any harm. The Eucharistic Congress is over and has been a glorious demonstration, and our friends there will not succeed in that regard any more than they will succeed in trying to destroy our Catholic faith or our
dear French language in the Dominion. The Catholic faith is in our hearts and will stay there until death,
and as for the French language, I am sure there is not a man here tonight who would for a moment dream
of suppressing the language of those men and women who discovered and founded this Canada of ours. These men say and write what they like about Catholicism and the French language. But as for me and for us,
we have faith in the words of our late lamented King Edward the Seventh and our present King George the Fifth, and we know that all our liberties for Irish or Canadian are protected in every domain under the British Crown."

Proceeding, the Archbishop said that St. Patrick's was a great day for the French Canadian as well as the Irish Canadian, "because we, as friends of liberty desire for you and for Ireland that measure of Home Rule and self-government for which Ireland has fought for centuries."

LEAKING BADLY.

Loves, Del., March 17.—The schooner
Wm. T. Parker, from Norfolk for New York, with a cargo of lumber, which was sighted in distress off the Delaware
capes yesterday, was towed into the Delaware Breakwater by the revenue cutter Mohawk to-day, leaking badly. The schooner ran into the heavy gale on Wednesday night and lost 30,000 feet of her deck-load of lumber. Some of the vessel's masts were also carried away. Unable to make the capes in the heavy
weather the schooner hoisted the distress
signal and the revenue cutter went to her assistance.

The Quebec Chronicle

QUEBEC, MARCH 18, 1911.

THE LATE COLONEL BABY.

A cable from Paris announces the death there on Thursday, of Colonel M. H. Baby, of Quebec. The deceased belonged to one of the oldest and best known families in Canada, and in his death Quebec loses one who, in his time, was one of the most ardent believers in the future of our good old city for whose interests he fought many a strong battle. He will be remembered more especially as President of the Quebec & Gosford Railway, for which he and the late Sir Henri de Lotbiniere worked so strenuously, and as commanding officer of the Quebec Field Battery, which he brought to a high state of discipline and efficiency.

MR. FIELDING'S VOLTE-FACE.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not the only advocate of reciprocity who wished to have nothing to do with the Americans in 1903 and advocated the building of the National Transcontinental in order to keep Canadian trade in Canadian channels out of American hands, and thus to cement the work of Confederation. Early in the Parliamentary session of that year the Finance Minister said:—

"Though we may be independent in a limited degree of our American friends, I think we ought to make it plain to them that we are determined to be even more independent than we are. . . . The best possible way to live on friendly terms with our brethren to the south of us is to have them understand that we are determined to be absolutely independent of them."

"It is true that in some respects we have been more independent of them as regards the bonding privilege than perhaps they were aware of. But we have been told that, because it is of advantage to American railways as well as to the railways of Canada, we need not be alarmed that any change will take place."

"If it suited the policy of our American friends to carry out the threats they have repeatedly made of the abolition of the bonding privilege, the fact that such action would be injurious to one particular set of men or to certain railway companies would not prevent them from carrying out that policy."

"Therefore I say it is desirable that we should give our American brethren to understand that Canada is resolved to work out her independence in these things, that the present proposal will promote this object, and that even if still another railway should be necessary we shall be prepared to construct it."

"The attitude that the Government has taken upon this subject . . . has already attracted much attention across the border, and there is a much keener appreciation of Canada's independence than ever before. . . . Therefore, in the interest of Canada to-day, as well as in the future, it is well that we should let our friends across the border understand that whatever measure of independence of them we have now we shall maintain, and that we shall increase that measure of independence by the line that we are now proposing, and should not shrink from providing another."

So enamored of the National Policy in 1903 was Mr. Fielding that he would build not only one railway to keep our trade from diversion into American channels, but even two if it were necessary. And in justification of his attitude the Finance Minister read a memorial from the Halifax Board of Trade insisting that the new line should ensure the carriage through Canadian territory and Canadian ports of a large share of the Canadian freight and passenger business then being carried by United States transportation agencies.

To prove that the Government had exacted the strictest guarantees from the Grand Trunk Pacific incorporators, Mr. Fielding read this portion of the contract:—

"Section 42. It is hereby declared and agreed between the parties to this agreement that the aid herein provided for is granted by the Government of Canada for the express purpose of encouraging the development of Canadian trade and the transportation of goods through Canadian channels. The company accepts the aid on these conditions, and agrees that all freight originating on the line of the railway, or its branches, not specifically routed otherwise by the shipper, shall, when destined for points in Canada, be carried entirely on Canadian territory, or between Canadian inland ports, and that the through rate on export traffic from the point of origin to the point of destination shall at no time be greater via Canadian ports than via United States ports, and that all such traffic not specifically routed otherwise by the shipper shall be carried to Canadian ocean ports."

The Finance Minister further said: "Here is an absolute undertaking on the part of this company that any reasonable man would ask in this connection. Ah, but we are told, they may dodge and evade this, you will allow them to ship traffic through American ports which is specifically routed; you do not prevent that. . . . The suggestion is thrown out that this company will humbug us and deceive us, and will take care that the freight is specifically routed so that it will not come to Canadian ports. That is the suggestion which has been made by some honorable gentlemen, but what does section 43 say?—

"The company further agrees that it shall not, in any matter within its power, directly or indirectly advise or encourage the transportation of such freight by routes other than those above provided, but shall, in all respects, in good faith, use its utmost endeavors to fulfill the conditions upon which public aid is granted—namely, the development of trade through Canadian channels and Canadian ocean ports."

In 1903, then, the Finance Minister just as much as the Premier was determined that this vast expenditure on the Grand Trunk Pacific was to be made to keep our trade in our own hands. Even the contractors who were to build the line were to be given no exemptions of duty on the materials for its construction.

In 1911, with the Transcontinental not half finished, Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding have utterly reversed their policy of 1903.

PULPWOOD COERCION.

In his speech on Reciprocity the Hon. Clifford Sifton said that in framing the resolutions Messrs. Fielding and Paterson had put a bonus on the abrogation of the Ontario and Quebec restrictions prohibiting the exportation of the pulpwood off Crown lands in a raw state. In this the Federal Government has endeavored to hamper and harass the Provincial Legislature in the execution of a wise and constructive policy merely to satisfy American greed. Far better to put an export duty on every cord of raw pulpwood going out of the country no matter whether it be taken from the public domain or from any source whatever. The Americans need our pulp so badly that they can well afford to pay the difference in the cost.

Speaking before the Congressional Ways and Means Committee, Mr. John Norris, of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, a gentleman who for months past has given proof of the most affectionate and intelligent interest in the forest capacity of this . . . told how the American Publishers are in the grip of the Paper Trust which is now running short of raw materials and advances prices while it curtails the output. It is said that at the beginning of this year the stock of paper on hand in the whole of the United States was not sufficient to keep the newspapers going for more than eight days. The American papers are at the mercy of the mills and in order to seek relief from this intolerable situation they have been instructed by Mr. Herman Ridder to advocate reciprocity. Mr. Norris further states the wasteful methods of the American Paper Trust add $20,000,000 a year to the cost of the print paper which his Association must have.

Mr. Norris said to the committee: "At the instance of the United States manufacturers Congress attempted to impose coercive measures upon the Province of Quebec. The disastrous results of that policy are now seen in the withdrawal by Quebec of 95 per cent. of all the valuable pulp wood supply of that Province. The paper clause of the pending reciprocity agreement overcomes all the difficulties of the situation."

The last sentence may seem unduly optimistic but Time may show that it is not so. The Laurier Ministry by these resolutions would make it possible for the powerful Paper Trust to extend their operations on this side of the border and in a very short time they would control so much private land that they could out the Canadian limiters who could not attempt to compete with them so long as they were handicapped by the extra duty which is about the same as the cost of the long haul to the American mills would be. The pulp and paper clause of the reciprocity clause is the one that shows the most devilish ingenuity of them all on the part of the Americans. Either Mr. Fielding is the most utter of "easy marks" or he deliberately and unscrupulously betrayed the interests of the Province to his own political caprice and American greed."

Mr. Norris says: "The International Paper Company has been flitting with the Quebec Government. The reciprocity bill gives no encouragement to such diversion of American industry to Canada. A barrier of $5.75 per ton on print paper will confront such products until the Quebec Government removes the prohibition. The revenue which the Province now derives from wood cut on Crown lands and shipped to the United States will be diverted from the Quebec treasury. The pressure upon the Quebec Government to lift the embargo will be irresistible."

We know that everyone in the local Legislature is fully seized of the importance of conserving our forests and keeping them from falling into the hands of unscrupulous speculators. They realize that the establishment of a 100 or 200 ton mill does more for industrial progress and colonisation than any advertising or official encouragement.

But Mr. Fielding has taken the power to conserve our forests out of the hands of our local legislature and will to all interests and purposes deliver it to the "foreign potentate," Taft. It is not by affirming his intention to maintain the prohibition of pulpwood exportation that Sir Lomer will prevent the Americans from closing our pulp mills and carrying off our wood. Some representation should be made to the Federal Government to amend this damaging pulp clause before it be too late. If some of our local deputies were to occupy themselves with this question instead of emitting clouds of airy verbiage and dancing dialectical circles around "La Marine," they might at last do something really useful. He must be a poor friend to Quebec and Ontario who will allow his leaders at Ottawa to place in President Taft's hands the means of forcing two Canadian provinces to abandon their policy of provincial development and turn over their forests for the benefit of United States mills and workmen. Last year the United States mills bought 1,716,000 cords of pulpwood outside that country, the majority of which came from Canada. For this they paid nearly $20,000,000. Of this $150,000 went to the Provincial treasuries. And the Republic sold back to the Dominion three times as much print paper as we sold to them. We learn that the pulpwood exported from this province alone kept 71 mills running in the States. What a difference it would make to Quebec if those 71 mills were situated on this side of the border!

F. X. GARNEAU AND HIS HISTORY OF CANADA.

In a recent lecture before the Institut Canadien of Quebec, Mr. Hector Garneau—an Ottawa boy, born and brought up there, though now resident in Montreal—grandson of the great French-Canadian historian, told an interesting story of the origin of F. X. Garneau's admirable work, says the Ottawa Evening Journal. In the city of Quebec, when the reign of George IV was about half spent, there arose one day a discussion in the office of a Scottish notary, Mr. Archibald Campbell. Some of the clerks in that office were Anglo-Saxons; one of them was a French-Canadian. The latter was grave and thoughtful, but naturally reserved; the former were not so well disposed towards French-Canadians as their master. Usually, however, if their comments lacked sympathy, they were marked by courtesy. But on the occasion in question they allowed themselves to adopt a tone of sarcasm which was calculated to irritate their colleague. Finally, as if they had found an argument that

SPRING REMINDERS OF RHEUMATISM.

Raw, Damp Weather Sais the Pain, But the Trouble Lies In the Blood.

Spring weather is bad for rheumatic sufferers. The changes from mild to severe weather, cold, raw, damp winds following mildness start the aches and twinges, or in more extreme cases, the tortures of the trouble going. But it must be borne in mind that it is not the weather that causes rheumatism; the trouble is rooted in the blood—the changeable weather merely starts the pains. The only way to reach the trouble and to cure it is through the blood. The poisonous rheumatic acids must be thrown off and driven out. This is a solemn medical truth every rheumatic sufferer should realize. Liniments and outward application may give temporary relief but they never did and never can cure rheumatism. Any doctor will tell you this is true. The sufferer is only wasting time and money with this sort of treatment, and all the time the trouble is becoming more firmly rooted—and harder to cure. There is just one sure, speedy cure for rheumatism—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They act directly on the weak, impure and tainted blood. They purify and strengthen it and thus root out the cause of rheumatism. Here is a bit of proof out of thousands of similar cases that might be given. Mrs. F. X. Boisseau, St. Jerome, Que., says:—"For almost two years I was a terrible sufferer from rheumatism. The trouble first located in the right leg, making work about the house impossible, and walking very difficult. I tried to cure myself by means of all sorts of liniments and lotions, but with no result—it was only money wasted. The trouble constantly grew worse and the pains more unbearable. Finally it attacked the other leg, and I was all but helpless and completely discouraged, thinking I would be a sufferer for the rest of my life. At this time I read in our home paper of the trouble being cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. After using the pills for several weeks I could see that they were helping me, and I continued taking them until I had used nine or ten boxes when every symptom of the trouble had disappeared and I could walk as well as ever I did. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I would have saved myself much suffering and much money spent in other useless treatment as well."

Whether you are ailing or not a few boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will increase your vitality and give you increased strength to withstand the torrid summer weather coming, when even the strongest feel easily fagged out. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicines or by mail at 50 cent a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

admitted of no reply, they exclaimed: "After all, you French-Canadians have no history! When these words fell, like a blow, upon the consciousness of Francois Xavier Garneau (for it was he), he began from that moment to contemplate the production of the needed work."

"A flame of inspiration was kindled in his mind. 'What!' he retorted, 'we have no history! Well, to confound you, I am going to write that history myself.' Thus at the age of 16 or 17 Garneau had found his way, which was revealed to him without his even seeking it. His resolution was at once taken. He devoted himself and all his powers to the history of the Canadian people. To that one object he gave his leisure, his thoughts, his joys, his hopes, his sorrows."

Garneau's History of Canada, continues the Journal, while including recitals and views which have been matters of controversy, is in the main a noble achievement, as was to be expected from its genesis, and from the temperament of its author. Mr. Hector Garneau justly describes his grandfather's work as stamped by hatred of ignorance, intolerance and fanaticism; by love of liberty and pity for the vanquished, defence of the wronged and misunderstood, by delight in color, poetic warmth, love of truth and by literary excellence. It is gratifying to know that Mr. Hector Garneau has been for some years preparing a new edition of his grandfather's History of Canada, aided by information and light from many sources which were not available at the time the history was written.

OVERFATNESS CONDEMNED.

Fat, or even fattish, women readers who want to be in the mode this year must understand that the demand is for lines, not curves, and govern themselves accordingly. That means OFF with the fat. It has become a duty. Many are trying exercise or dieting; but it is certain they will find these methods too slow and unreliable. The cheapest and safest way to get in form for the Directorate mode is by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. Any druggist (or the Marmola Co., 854 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) will give you a large-sized case of these elegant little fat reducers, containing a good, generous supply, for seventy-five cents, and even this quantity should be enough to make a decided impression on your excess fat. Many have lost as much as a pound a day. These Marmola Prescription Tablets may be used with impunity and likewise perfect confidence, for, being made strictly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, they are, of course, quite harmless. They are rather beneficial than otherwise, in fact, never disturbing the stomach or causing a wrinkling of the flesh.

FULLY DESERVED THE

PUNISHMENT AWARDED HIM

Chicago, Ills., March 17 — Judge Landis in the United States District Court today sentenced Edward S. Nichols, who was convicted of having enticed Elsie Perrier, 13-years-old, to Hammond, Ind., in violation of the Mann "white slave" statute, to ten years imprisonment in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kas. While the Court was reading sentence several service operatives of the Department of Justice were arrested. Jacob Phinkelstein on the charge of having placed his young wife in improper places in El Paso, in Mexico, and in California, and of abandoning her there after taking $5,000 of her earnings to purchase a saloon property. Finkelstein's family tried to fight off the operatives and the latter had to use pistols to compel them to desist.

TERRIBLE FIGHT WITH A LION

would-Be Rescuers Shoot at 25 Yards—Thrilling Story of Mr. Grey's Death.

London, March 17.—Thrilling details of how Sir Edward Grey's brother was killed by a lion and of the heroic efforts made by his brother hunters to rescue him are given in the first full account of the tragedy, which reached England from Mombassa, East Africa, through Reuter.

"For several days," says the East African Standard, which tells the story, "the ostrich camp near Sir Alfred Pease's homestead, at Athi River, had been worried by lions, and as that gentleman had just arrived by the steamer Guthrie, in company with his sons and Mr. Grey, the news to hand was heartily welcomed as affording most opportune sport. A party was promptly organized, consisting of Sir Alfred Pease, Mr. G. Grey, Messrs. Howard and Edward Pease, Captain Scatter, Mr. Clifford and Mr. H. Hill.

The hunt started on Sunday morning. The plan of campaign was to divide into two parties, one consisting of Sir Alfred and Mr. Hill.

"After about half an hour's ride, in drawing a danga, Mr. Hill espied two big male lions making off about half a mile to the right, and the party of two galloped after the quarry, endeavoring to keep them in sight. Sir Alfred followed the bigger and slower animal and Mr. Hill the leader, which was some 400 or 500 yards in his lead.

"The object of the hunters was to turn the game into a danga, thus giving time to the rest of the party to come up, hoping that Mr. Grey would be given the opportunity to open the shot. That sportsman had a fine reputation for high courage, and was no novice at big game.

"Unfortunately, the second party had no opportunity of learning the tactics which had been agreed upon by Sir Alfred and Mr. Hill. Mr. Grey, seeing the game, put his horse to the gallop and practically started to course the brutes. His companions were immediately alarmed at his foolish temerity, and endeavored to warn him of the terrible danger he was courting.

"They were doubly alarmed at seeing one of the lions preparing to charge. Mr. Hill thereupon dismounted and fired a quick shot at the biggest lion in the hope of attracting his attention from Mr. Grey.

"The bullet, unluckily, fell short, and the lion charged Mr. Grey, who jumped off his pony and awaited the onslaught. At about twenty yards he fired, and the shot went into the shoulder, but without stopping the deadly charge. He got in another shot at about five yards, hitting the brute in the mouth, breaking two of his murderous fangs and injuring the jaw.

"Then the lion flung his victim to the ground and commenced to worry him, just like a cat would a mouse.

"Meanwhile, Mr. H. Pease had followed Mr. Grey, and the party waved him to come up the flank; they then covered the 300 yards between them and the lion and his victim at top speed. When some fifty yards off the lion noticed his fresh antagonists and ceased to maul Mr. Grey.

"At twenty-five yards the party dismounted and ran in. The beast immediately made towards them, and at this awful moment of peril Mr. Hill's rifle jammed, and he, too, was out of action. Almost simultaneously Sir Alfred and Mr. H. Pease fired, and the bullets entered the lion's ribs.

"The thrice heavily wounded animal then returned to his victim. The horrified relief party scarcely remember what happened during the next brief moments, further than that the lion was on top of Mr. Grey, and animal and man were so mixed up that it was most difficult to distinguish the former's head from the latter's body in order to get in a deadly head shot, which was found impossible to place until the lion was almost lifeless.

"During the deadly fray the other lion was distant only about 100 yards, growling and lashing his tail. In spite of the double danger threatening them, the hunters, who had only two heavy rifles, paid no attention to the second animal, being intent on relieving their comrade.

"Mr. Grey's wounds were very numerous. The lion severely clawed his face and head, bit his arms, hands and thighs, and inflicted wounds on his back. After being rescued from his deadly peril, Mr. Grey was perfectly collected, and quietly instructed his anxious friends how they could best handle his lacerated body."

As already reported, Mr. Grey died from his injuries a few days later.

ARRIVAL OF THE TUNISIAN,

Halifax, N.S., March 17.—The Allan line steamer Tunisian, Captain Fairfull, arrived from Liverpool yesterday with 29 saloons, 350 second and 910 third-class passengers. The latter are immigrants, most of whom are going to settle in the West. Among the party were fifty Welshmen, who are to make their homes in Saskatchewan. The steamer encountered a heavy snow storm on Wednesday, 350 miles north-east of Halifax. By night the wind had increased in velocity and the sea became very rough, breaking over the ship. The storm did not abate until yesterday morning. Thursday night was very cold with the wind blowing fiercely.

GENERAL STRIKE OF

SEAMEN FAVORED

Brussels, March 17.—According to the newspaper Le Peuple, the Central Committee of the International Seamen's Congress, now in session at Antwerp, has decided to organize an international commission to study the situation, with authority to arrange a general strike if thought necessary. Representatives of the Atlantic ports of the United States, as well as of England, Norway, Denmark and Holland, the newspaper states, have announced themselves in favor of a strike.

Cured to Stay Cured

Mr. John Wesley, of New Orleans, finds permanent relief from his kidney trouble in

Warner's Safe Cure

There's no snap-judgment in Mr. Wesley's commendation of the great kidney cure. He gave it a thorough and convincing trial before writing the following letter:

"I have been using Warner's Safe Cure and have found very satisfactory I would have written before now, but I wanted to wait to see its effect. You may use my name, as Warner's Safe Cure has cured me of my kidney trouble and is all that you recommend it to be.—JOHN WESLEY, 8501 Poplar St., New Orleans, La."

More sickness, suffering and serious complications come from diseased kidneys than from any other organic disturbance. As the function of the kidneys is to remove impurities, they are very susceptible to disease; any disorder affecting them is dangerous, as it causes impure matter to be retained in the blood and affects the whole system, causing backache, headache, dizziness and often convulsions. Keep the kidneys in healthy working order and avoid these troubles.

Warner's Safe Cure is an absolutely safe and permanent remedy for all diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder. It is made from the fresh juices of plants and medical roots, gathered at the proper season in various quarters of the globe. Men skilled in botany and chemistry compound it. Put up in $1.00 size and sold by druggists everywhere.

If you have never tried Warner's Safe Cure, send us your name and address. We will send you a sample bottle, together with a sample box of Warner's Safe Pills, free of charge. All we ask is that you mention the Chronicle when writing. WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Toronto, Ont.

THE PACT.

By a Loyal Canadian.

The Story is a Byword in the Gate! Two Politicians journeyed to a State, When their Hosts had dined and wined them. Till they'd left their wits behind them— A Pact was framed they thought without a mate.

At Washington they met a Wily Fox No mandate from the People bade them go; For the Bargain in their Bag They had Sold their Country's Flag! And the Pity of it is—They didn't Know!

The Lying Prophets call to us to Stand And take the Glove that masks the Iron Hand. There's no Party Question here, For the Issue's very clear— It's Annexation—or the Empire Band.

They are going very softly over there— They are holding Champ from action by the hair; For the Prize was just in reach When he made his famous speech And Canadians felt the danger in the air.

We wouldn't need Commissions any more To see the Wheat's not tampered with in store, It would go down through the States Where the eager Mixer waits. And the day of its High Standard would be o'er.

For the Butter and the Chickens and the Cheese We would some day have to go upon our knees. And the Farmer would, they say. In future, have to pay When the rates are settled for him overseas.

They have put the Silent Muzzle on the Press, They are all afraid lest John Can-nuck should guess That underneath this Deal It's our Land they mean to steal— For it's Annexation in a Tariff Dress.

They say there is a "Parting of the Ways!" We scotched that Snake before in other days— So we'll keep the Way of Old That our Fathers died to hold— And we'll see the dear old Flag above us stay.

SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT. Hartington, Neb., March 17 — A verdict of murder in the first degree with imprisonment for life was returned this morning by the jury in the case of Mrs. Maggie Davis, slayer of Ira Churchill. It was alleged that Churchill had promised to marry Mrs. Davis but on the evening of the wedding married another woman.

MRS. MELBER GUILTY OF MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE. Albany, N. Y., March 16.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Edith Melber, charged with the murder of her four-year-old son last January, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree this afternoon, after being out two hours and nineteen minutes.

Justice Howard immediately sentenced the woman for an indeterminate period of not less than twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor at Auburn prison, with life the maximum. Mrs. Melber showed not the slightest trace of emotion when the verdict was rendered nor did she waver when sentence was pronounced.

DIAMONDS FOUND IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

By a Member of the Geological Survey — They Are Not Large Stones.

Ottawa, March 15.—The director of the Geological Survey announces that diamonds have been discovered by the survey in a British Columbia rock, the first discovery of diamonds in Canada. The rock carrying the crystals is a peridotite of the clay known as dunite, consisting of olivine and chromite. The rock specimens in which the diamonds were found were collected by Mr. Charles Cam-sell, on Olivine Mountain, near the Tulameen River, where Mr. Cam-sell has been making a geological examination on behalf of the survey. Samples of the rock were submitted to Mr. R. A. Johnston, mineralogist of the survey, to ascertain the nature of the chromite minerals. In the course of his examination, Mr. Johnston secured some insoluble fragments of crystals which appeared to be diamonds. More of this material was separated out and a series of tests conducted by Mr. Johnston proves beyond doubt the nature of the material. The individuals so far extracted, from a number of samples, are small, none of them being larger than an ordinary pin-head, but many appear under the microscope to be clear and bright and of good quality, though some are yellowish or brownish.

The diamonds found occur in the dunite and not in the olivine of the rock. The chromite occurs as short irregular rod-like segregations, an inch or more in width, in irregular masses and as small disseminated grains through the rock. Gold and platinum also occur in the chromite.

On account of the small size of the diamonds, and their distribution in the chromite, the discovery is of scientific rather than of commercial importance. It is possible that the placer deposits found in the streams draining peridotite rock-mass, may contain stones of greater size, although the fact that placer mining for gold and platinum has been carried on for a number of years without such a discovery having been made, tends to lessen the possibility, as stones of commercial size in the stone boxes would be apt to attract the attention of the miners.

The peridotite in which the diamonds occur is often weathered to serpentine. It is interesting to note that it is closely related to the rocks which form the matrix for the Arkansas diamonds and for the South African. The discovery of diamonds in British Columbia was not altogether unexpected by the survey; officials working there have for some time been on the lookout for them. Some years ago the present director obtained some microscopic crystals which were believed to be diamonds and which gave positive results in all tests to which they could be submitted as a result of which prospectors were notified to be on the lookout for diamonds in British Columbia. The present discovery, however, is the first in Canada which can be definitely announced.

Commercial stones have been found in the glacial drift across the international border in Illinois, Ohio, etc., that have no doubt come from Canada, but the original locality has not yet been found.

BARN DOOR AND GUN PRODUCED IN COURT. Montreal, March 16.—The gun and a section of the barn door which have been produced in the Court of King's Bench in connection with the trial of Aime and Omer Houle for the murder of their brother-in-law, Domina Pelletier, in April, 1909, figured largely this afternoon in the evidence, and counsel for the prisoners, Mr. Legault, dwelt so long on the question of certain spots or impressions said to have been discernible at first on these exhibits as to elicit a protest from the Crown Prosecutor, Mr. D. A. Laforest, against traversing ground already covered. Judge Lavergne, however, held that counsel for the defence was within his rights in trying to clear away all possible misconceptions.

The brother of the murdered man, Clodun Pelletier, was a witness in the morning, and testified that his brother had left his house at 5 a.m. the morning he met his death, and that as far as he knew his brother had no enemies and was respected.

Further evidence will be taken to-morrow.

WHAT COMES IN THE TRAIL OF THE COLD

Spells Danger unless you cure it with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Peel County man tells of three months pain, that he found a complete cure for, in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Rocksaid, Peel Co., Ont., Mar. 17.—(Special.)—In these days when nearly every one has a cold and the cold brings on some form of Kidney Disease, the statement of Ernest F. Davidson, a well known resident of this place, is of general interest.

"When I would bend over," Mr. Davidson says, "a pain caught me in the small of the back, and I had other symptoms which I know were caused by the Kidneys being out of order. It was a cold that started my trouble, and I suffered for three months. Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, and three boxes cured me so that it has never come back. That's why I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills."

If your cold leaves you with a touch of Rheumatism or Lumbago or a pain in the back, you can be sure that your Kidneys are affected. Then you are in danger. CORONATION AND THE EAST END

Ceremonial Drive by the King and Queen in June—New Zealand's Arch.

London, March 17.—It was announced on Monday that the route to be taken by the Royal procession through London on the occasion of Their Majesties' visit to St. Paul's and the Guildhall on June 29 would traverse part of the East End. The route is expected to include Aldgate High street, Whitechapel road, Stepney Green, and Commercial Road East.

The King and Queen, attended by Captain Brian Godfrey Fausset, drove to Westminster Abbey, now closed to the public, on Wednesday to discuss, with the officials concerned, the plans for the Coronation ceremony on June 22.

Their Majesties were received by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Dean of Westminster, the Duke of Norfolk (Earl Marshal), and Earl Beauchamp (First Commissioner of Works).

The Primate submitted to them his plan for the religious service, and Earl Beauchamp and his colleagues fully explained the proposals in regard to the structural alterations and to the ceremony generally.

It was stated at Wednesday's meeting of the Camberwell Borough Council that a letter had been received from Lord Knollys stating that His Majesty would pass through the borough in semi-state on the occasion of the opening of the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace. His Majesty had expressed his willingness to receive on that occasion an address from the citizens of the borough.

The King received the addresses of the Convocations of Canterbury and York at Buckingham Palace on Thursday. In these references were made to the pure love of the King's "true English home," and the hope was expressed that some of the suggestions of the Poor Law Commission might be carried into effect by legislation.

The King and the Church.

Replying, the King said:—"You may count upon my assistance and ennobled the public and private life of the nation, and to seek the consolations of Christian truth in their simplicity and perfection."

"I know that the Church is turning her mind with a vivifying energy to the problems of poverty and destitution, to which you particularly refer, and that her hands are extended in Christian comradeship to all good men of every creed or party who are striving to raise the standards of health and morals, and to make our country and home for all its people."

The Canadian Arch at Charing Cross, which was one of the most picturesque sights of King Edward's Coronation, is to be rivalled by the younger Dominion on the occasion of King George's Coronation. New Zealand has obtained permission to erect an arch in Whitehall, which the Royal couple will pass on their way to the Abbey.

Mr. R. M. Thomas, secretary of the will be present at the investiture of Welsh National Committee, is authorized to state that the King and Queen the Prince of Wales at Carnarvon on a date in the middle of July, which has yet to be definitely fixed.

Their Majesties will also visit Bangor for the purpose of opening the new University College buildings, and Aberystwyth to lay the foundation-stone of the Welsh National Library.

The special race meeting at Leopardstown, which the King and Queen will attend during their visit to Dublin, has been fixed for July 11.

Mr. John Hays Hammond will be Special Ambassador for the United States at the Coronation of King George V. Mr. Hammond, a leading mining engineer, was one of the four leaders in the famous Jameson raid in South Africa, whose sentence of death was commuted by the Transvaal Government to imprisonment for fifteen years, and finally to a fine of £25,000, which Mr. Hammond paid. He has the reputation of being the highest salaried man in the world.

The King and Queen have signified their intention of being present at a grand Coronation concert in the Royal Albert Hall on May 29, under the auspices of the corporation of the Royal Albert Hall, the Royal Choral Society, and the Royal Amateur Orchestral Society. The two last-named bodies will take part under their respective conductors, Sir Frederick Bridge and Mr. Arthur Payne.

SARAH BERNHARDT ANALYZED.

William Winter, writing in the current issue of Harper's Weekly, analyzes the acting of Sarah Bernhardt, whose visit to America has been the feature of the dramatic season. "The extraordinary courage, fortitude, tenacity of purpose, and continuity of labor that Sarah Bernhardt has exhibited have, naturally, aroused admiration, and that admiration is well deserved," he writes. "But the example is not so exceptional as to warrant an excess of superlative adjectives in the celebration of it. Sarah Bernhardt, within her natural field, is a wonderful performer, even a genius. But that natural field, unhappily, is one of morbid eccentricity, and the better its most typical images are presented the less desirable they show themselves of being presented at all."

LITERARY NOTES

JOHN WANAMAKER'S
GOLDEN JUBILEE BOOK.

The name of John Wanamaker is indicative of big things, big ideas, big enterprises. At the very beginning of his business career he showed the big qualities of mind and heart which have made his business what it is to-day.

The first day's receipts of the little store which he opened in Philadelphia 50 years ago were $24.67. He "kept the 67 cents for making change next day," and immediately spent the $24 for newspaper advertising.

That investment took courage, a bigger amount of courage than the expenditure of ten thousand times the amount would cost him now. It meant, too, a big confidence in his goods and a big knowledge of human nature.

This year Mr. Wanamaker completes a full half century of business life, and his associates have celebrated the occasion by publishing a volume called "The Golden Book of the John Wanamaker Stores."

It is interesting reading, the "Golden Jubilee Book." It is the story of a pigmy which grew into a giant because it had a giant's heart. Although a tale of peaceful commerce, it is a record of exciting battles fought and won for a principle. It is the history of a great revolution in business methods; of interest to, and with an influence on, every person who either buys or sells anything in the civilized world to-day.

Mr. Wanamaker's fifty years of business and his services as Postmaster General made him a host of friends in public life, many of whom have shown in speeches and articles their appreciation of his qualities of mind and heart. It is especially fitting that the photographs of some of these men, with extracts from their expressions of confidence and esteem, should be included in the book of Mr. Wanamaker's Golden Jubilee.

The volume is library size, handsomely bound in cloth and gold, and contains over 400 pages with numerous illustrations. Price 50 cents, postpaid, from the Wanamaker Stores at New York or Philadelphia.

"CHILD" SOLDIER; MAGISTRATE SARCASTIC.

London, March 17.—The strange case of a boy of fifteen who enlisted and was accepted as a soldier was carried forward another stage at the Children's Court at Westminster on Tuesday.

When the youngster, Albert Victor Connelly, was first brought before Mr. Fordham at the West London Police Court the previous Saturday, charged as a deserter, the magistrate remarked that he was a mere child dressed up as a soldier, and ordered him to be dealt with by the Court for Children.

Although short and of slight physique, Connelly stood smartly to "attention" at Westminster on Tuesday, and had every appearance of having been drilled to considerable advantage.

A police-sergeant, who found the at his father's house, said Connolly told him he ran away from the barracks of the 6th Batt. of the Royal Fusiliers at Hounslow because he did not get enough to eat.

Mr. Lawrie (chief clerk): Is this a regular battalion?

Witness: Oh, no, sir; it is one of the battalions of the Special Reserve.

An escort had been sent to take the boy back to Hounslow, and Mr. Francis, the magistrate, said to the sergeant in charge that he could not understand how the boy enlisted. Did he not have to produce a birth certificate?

The Sergeant: No, sir. A lad gives an age—he can join the Special Reserve at seventeen—and, if he passes the doctor and comes up to the required standards of measurements, that is sufficient.

Mr. Francis: Although he may be only twelve years old?

The Sergeant: Any doctor would tell that, sir.

Mr. Francis: And these are the defenders of our country! Take a child at an age when it is obvious he requires a nurse, and simply because he says he is twenty or more years old!

Answering further questions, the sergeant said that he had the authority of his commanding officer to take the lad back to barracks. He would probably be discharged for making a false statement on enlisting.

Addressing the lad, the magistrate said: I don't know what they will do. Drum you out, or discharge you with ignominy. At any rate, you will be discharged from here.

The Boy: I only wanted to get work to help keep my mother.

Mr. Francis: I must let you go with the escort.

This issue contains Lawrence Gilman's weekly musical review and the usual editorial, humor, and financial pages.

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

ST. PATRICK'S DAY AT LEVIS

Enjoyable Concert Was Held and Fine Programme Rendered Last Evening.

St. Patrick's Day was not forgotten by the residents of Lévis, who last evening celebrated Ireland's National feast, by a most successful concert given in the St. Andrew's Church Hall.

The attendance on this occasion was probably the largest ever seen in the church hall, and the musical programme was one of the best. A large number of Quebecers were present, a number of whom took prominent parts in the concert.

Among the performers were: Mr. Davies, piano solo; songs by Miss Davies, Mr. Smith, organist of St. Andrew's Church, Miss Gillespie, Quebec; Miss Gane, Mr. Barton and Mr. Potter, who in his comical song, "Lucky Jim," made quite a hit.

Miss Freda O'Connell, of Quebec, brought down the house with her song, "Take Off Your Hat to Old Ireland," which she rendered in capital style, and had to respond to an encore.

Miss Begin's recitation was highly appreciated, while Mr. George B. Ramsey caused considerable merriment in his readings from "Mr. Doolley." The Levis Quartette, composed of Messrs. C. E. Brodie, Barclay, Barton and J. J. Wright, also rendered a few selections in splendid style, and their singing was duly acknowledged with enthusiastic applause.

Mr. Harold Patton displayed a large number of Irish views, while Rev. Mr. Love, who was in splendid voice, sang "Killarney."

On the conclusion of the concert the Quebecers were entertained by the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church, when a most pleasant time was spent, the Quebec contingent returning to town at 10.30.

Only One "BROMO QUININE" That is LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for the signature of E. W. GROVE. Used the World over to Cure a Cold in One Day. 25c.

THIRCE ONE MAKES THREE. This is the case. With one dollar you purchase for three, at Fortin & Cie, 137 St. Joseph street.

QUEBEC SKATING RINK. The Band will play at the Rink this (Saturday) afternoon from 3.30 to 5.30 o'clock. Spectators admitted on payment of ten cents.

THOSE WHO WERE NOT SERVED. Those who were not served yesterday because of the crowds at Messrs. Fortin & Cie, 137 St. Joseph street, will be served to-day and to-morrow. The personnel, which was already numerous, has been increased so as to give satisfaction.

FATAL FIRE IN MILWAUKEE. Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—Fire in the plant of the Minnesota Billiard Company, which was burned out two months ago, to-day injured 11 persons, three probably fatally, burned one man to death, and caused $100,000 damage. One body was recovered to-night and it is possible that another is under the walls. The fire started just before the plant was to close for the day. It is supposed to have been due to an explosion of sawdust caused by sparks from the machinery. Three men were blown out of a window by the explosion and this for a time caused a belief that the plant had been dynamited because it is operated as an open shop. The officials, however, doubt that dynamite was used.

PANNETON, LUNATIC, HAS BEEN RECAPTURED. Montreal, March 17.—Auguste Panneton, the lunatic, who escaped from the St. Benoit Joseph Asylum immediately after the murder of one of the guardians last Tuesday, was brought back to the institution this morning from L'Assomption. Detective Normandeau, of the Canadian Detective Agency, after a long search, came across Panneton in the kitchen of a farm house on the road between Joliette and L'Assomption yesterday. It was quite by chance that he discovered the fugitive. The detective called at the farm to hire a sleigh when the farmer informed him that there was a man in the kitchen who had not seemed quite right. It was evident that Panneton was taking a rest after his long tramp, apparently in the direction of his home in Three Rivers.

TRIAL OF THE CAMORRISTS. Viterbo, Italy, March 17.—The entire session of the trial of the thirty-six Camorristi was taken up to-day by the cross-examination of Corrado Sortino and Nicola Morra, both of whom are accused of the actual murder of Gennaro Cuocolo. Both men strenuously denied the charge and in an endeavor to prove an alibi testified that at the time Cuocolo was killed they were under police surveillance and could not possibly have left Naples to go to Torre del Greco, where the murder occurred. Sortino attempted to justify the scars on his hand which, according to evidence adduced, were received from Cuocolo while Sortino was killing him, by saying that one of them was caused by a pair of scissors and the other by the scratch of a hat pin. Both Sortino and Morra have had criminal records.

ST. PATRICK'S NIGHT SOIREE. One of the most notable concerts which the St. Patrick's Literary Institute has ever held was that which was given at the Auditorium last evening. The concert was a fitting close to the celebration of the day, and the fifty-fifth anniversary concert of the Institute will be recorded as one of the most successful which the Society has ever held.

There was nothing left but standing room for those who had failed to secure their seats early and the concert was one that greatly pleased the great audience present.

Alderman W. J. Mulroney, President of St. Patrick's Literary Institute, welcomed those present in well-chosen words and introduced the Rev. P. J. Heffernan, of St. Gabriel's Church, Montreal, who made the address of the evening.

Father Heffernan's address was a patriotic one, and he kept the large audience interested during all the time that he spoke.

The second part of the programme was devoted to the musical numbers. Miss Marie Narelle, one of the greatest singers of Irish songs, and a lady whose charming personality is no less attractive than her vocal abilities, rendered a number of selections that greatly pleased all, some of them working her hearers up to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Miss Narelle sang a wide selection of songs, and she not only sang them, but she also gave to them a living attraction by her artistic perception. A group of Scotch songs was one of the offerings which Miss Narelle gave last night, and it was one which was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

Miss Narelle was accompanied by Mme. Fernando Parent, whose artistic perception added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

There were also a number of songs by Mr. A. J. Carpenter, whose voice was heard to fine effect.

MILLINERY OPENING. The attention of the ladies is directed to the advertisement of L. P. Labrecque, Millinery Importer, which is appearing in another column, in regard to his spring millinery opening, which takes place on Thursday, 23rd March.

ONLY A DRUNKEN ROW. There were all kinds of rumors in circulation last evening that a murder had been committed in Montcalm Ward, but upon information being taken in police quarters, it was found that the whole affair was a drunken row, and as a result a woman was landed in the Central Police Station.

CHALMERS CHURCH. The Rev. John L. Nicol, M.A., Ph.D., of Hamilton, Ont., will preach at both services in Chalmers Church to-morrow. The music will be as follows:—Morning—Solo, "Come unto Me." North: solo, "Calvary." Rodney, Mr. W. Campbell. Evening—Solo, "Not every one that saith unto Me." Marks: Anthem, "The day is past and over." Howard.

UNIVERSAL PEACE UNATTAINABLE. Vienna, March 17.—Speaking to-night before the budget committee of the Reichsrath in defense of his estimates, Minister of War Schoenich said that history showed that universal peace was unattainable. Alluding to the suggestion for an Anglo-American arbitration treaty, the Minister pointed to Great Britain's colossal shipbuilding programme and her efforts to modernize the army, in order, as he expressed it, to be on equality with the Continental army. He then reminded his hearers of Col. Theodore Roosevelt's speech at Berlin University in May, 1910, and of the present "vigorous mobilization of America's fighting force."

ALMOST DEAD WITH CATARRH. "PERUNA HAS SAVED MY LIFE."

Catarrh for Five Years. Mr. S. S. Johnson, Greenville, Ill., writes: "I was five years bothered with catarrh. Two years ago I had one foot in the grave. I had tried seven doctors and also went to a catarrh specialist in St. Louis, and took several kinds of medicine a day. I could not walk more than a hundred yards without resting. "My friends told me to take Peruna, and I did so. I now feel that Peruna has saved my life. It is the best medicine on earth, and I would not be without it."

A Heavy Cold. Samuel McKinley, 1215 Grand Ave., Kansas City, Mo., member of the Society of the United States Jewellery Auctioneers, writes: "I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. "Traveling from town to town throughout the country, and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings sometimes standing up for hours at a time while playing my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently; so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December, when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part, settled on my lungs. "When almost too late, I began doctoring, but without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me, so I cannot praise it too highly."

Nasal Catarrh, Coughs. Mr. Emil Pickart, 249 Forsyth Ave., Hammond, Ind., writes: "I am entirely cured of catarrh of the nose, and my stomach is in good condition also. I only used about five bottles of your great medicine, although I had catarrh so bad and for so many years that I thought I wouldn't live much longer. I had to consult doctors right along. Now all my friends say I never looked as well as I do now. "I can also say that it is a great remedy for coughs, because I gave it to my children. I never will be without it. I used enough other medicines to know how valuable Peruna is. "You are at liberty to use my name in spreading the merits of Peruna."

NOTHING TOO GOOD FOR THE IRISH

Great Curling Match at the Quebec Rink Yesterday Afternoon.

There was a very exciting curling match at the Quebec Club yesterday afternoon, when two Irish rinks met rinks representing England and Scotland. Of course the Irish won. Inspired by the glorious traditions of the day, the Irishmen played a great game, and though their opponents did their very best, there was nothing too good for the Irish, who won out on both rinks.

The rinks and scores were as follows:—

CHAMPIONSHIP OF
JUNIOR LEAGUE

Will Be Decided at the Game
to Be Played This Evening.

The championship of the Junior Hockey League will be settled by the game to be played this evening at the Quebec Rink, when St. George and Sarsfield will meet in the last scheduled match of the season. The teams are running neck and neck for the honor, and to-night's game will settle the question.

The match is one of considerable interest to the followers of the teams and no doubt a great crowd will be in attendance.

SAMSON GETTING BETTER.

Chicago, Ills., March 17.—Henry Bahr, a German wrestler, known as "Samson," who was seriously injured last night in his match with Frank Gotch, champion of the world, improved rapidly to-day. Attending physicians announced that he would recover.

AD WOLGAST AND
LA GRAVE MATCHED.

San Francisco, Cal., 17.—Promoter Milton T. Clark, of the Metropolitan Athletic Club, has signed Ad Wolgast and Anton La Grave, of San Francisco, to box 20 rounds before his club in this city on the night of March 31. Wolgast is to receive $7,500, win, lose or draw, while La Grave is content to accept $1,000 irrespective of the outcome. The fighters have agreed to make 133 pounds ringside.

WANDERERS DEFEAT
RENFREW IN NEW YORK.

New York, March 17.—Wanderers, of Montreal, last year's hockey champions, trimmed the Renfrew team at the St. Nicholas Rink by a score of 14 to 4. The dairymen put up a good stiff game in the first period, but after the first two minutes of the second period, Taylor was the only man of the Renfrew line-up who seemed to be alive. When he was sent to the fence for mixing it up with Gardner, however, the rest of the team woke up and staved off the assaults on Lindsay with considerable success. At no period of the match did the teams show real championship form for any length of time. The play was in flashes divided by periods of aimless lobbing of the puck and most obvious off-sides. The Renfrews reached New York early in the day and Odie and Sprague Cleghorn, who played here last year, started out to show their team mates th town, while Dicky Boon, who came down in charge of the Wanderers kept his men quiet and made them husband their strength. The consequence was that Artie Ross had little to do throughout the greater part of the game, while Riley Hern was lonesome in the net and had to skate out and around to keep himself warm. In the early part of the engagement, however, the Renfrew contingent showed that they were dangerous shots, and whenever the boys in garnet relaxed their vigilance there was trouble in the vicinity of their nets.

San Sebastian, Spain, March 17.—The four adjourned games in the International Chess Tournament were disposed of to-day with the following results:—Duras beat Tarrash and Janowski and Tarrash, Marshall and Schlechter and Burn and Niemzowitsch drew.

By winning first prize Capablanca received $1,000. Runinstein and Vidmar divided second and third prizes, also amounting to $1,000, while Marshall's share in the money was $300. The other competitors received $16 for each point they won in the tournament.

Vernon Arena, Los Angeles, Cal., March 17.—Ad Wolgast retained his title of lightweight champion this afternoon in his scheduled twenty round fight with George Mensic, of Los Angeles, virtually knocking out Mensic and causing the referee to stop the fight in the ninth round. Wolgast outclassed Mensic from start to finish and the result was never in doubt. He had the Los Angeles man helpless in the ninth round and Referee Eytton stopped the contest in accordance with his promise to District Attorney Fredericks that he would intervene the moment either man showed decided weakness.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE
GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

Montreal, March 16.—It was openly stated to-night by Mr. John Kennedy, consulting engineer for the Montreal Harbor Commission, that a deliberate attempt was being made by immense private interests to jockey public opinion and coerce the government in favor of construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. This statement was made at a meeting of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, when a paper by Mr. Henry Holgate on the Upper St. Lawrence, its navigation and future possibilities, with regard to both navigation and power purposes, brought out a long discussion regarding the Long Sault dam scheme and also the comparative merits of the improvement of the Welland Canal and the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. This latter led to the following resolution being presented by Prof. Herdt, of McGill, seconded by Mr. Kennedy:—

"That the council of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers be requested to take up and study the suggestions that the Dominion Government be urged to make a study of the River St. Lawrence and its possibilities, and that a comparative report be submitted before any commitment be made by the Government for the damming of the St. Lawrence at any point, or the carrying out of any other great scheme of canal transportation; and that the council be requested to take this matter up, and if advisable to make a report to the Dominion government."

The general opinion of the engineers was that there was not sufficient data available upon which to base any definite judgment regarding the matter, and that it was time steps were taken to secure it, and with this object in view the resolution was adopted.

QUEBEC STEAMSHIP CO.

Steamer Bermudian, from New York, at 10 a.m. last Wednesday, arrived at Hamilton, Bermuda, at 8 a.m. yesterday.

REPORTED PURCHASE OF STEAMERS.

The Cunard Steamship Company has purchased the Cairn line steamers, operating between London and Canada, under the name of the Thomson line, says a London despatch. In addition to the vessels now being operated the Cunard people take over three new passenger liners now in course of construction on the Tyne, and will introduce a weekly service.

SCHOONER IN DISTRESS.

Woods Hole, Mass., March 17.—A broken windlass, which prevented the crew of the 5-masted schooner Marcell L. Urann from raising her anchor was the cause of signals of distress from the schooner to which the revenue cutter Acousmet and the crew of the Cuttyhunk life-saving station responded to-day. It is expected that the Acousmet will tow the schooner into Vineyard Haven tomorrow. The schooner is bound from Newport News, Va., for Portland. During yesterday's gale she rode at anchor off Vineyard Sound Light, where the accident happened.

HAD A HARD TIME.

Halifax, N. S., March 17.—The steamship Melina arrived from Jamaica this afternoon after a very rough voyage. When 150 miles from Halifax the ship encountered a terrific gale. A huge sea boarded the steamer, breaking one of the life boats and carrying away part of the railing. The storm did not abate until yesterday morning. Last night was intensely cold and the wind blew with hurricane force.

BARK ASHORE IN BAD POSITION.

Halifax, N. S., March 17.—The Russian bark Kaleva, from Barbadoes for Wedgeport, went ashore last night on the west side of Pampelund Island, Abbot's Harbor, Yarmouth, and lies in a bad position. The sea is very rough, but the gale had moderated to-night. Tugs will go to her assistance as soon as the sea runs down. The Kaleva is 1,916 tons register and was under charter to load lumber at Wedgeport for Buenos Ayres. She sailed from Barbadoes Feb. 6.

MYSTERY OF £6,500 NECKLACE

Army Officer and Wife Accused of Attempted Fraud—Alleged Bogus Theft.

London, March 17.—Something like a sensation has been caused in Edinburgh by a striking sequel to the alleged theft of a pearl necklace, valued at £6,500, from the neck of a lady while she was looking in a shop window.

The lady in question, Mrs. Cameron and her husband, Lieut. Alymer Cameron (of the 57th Royal Field Artillery), have been arrested on a charge of attempting to defraud an insurance company.

The story that Mr. Cameron told the police in the beginning of February was that she had been robbed of the necklace while looking into a chemist's shop window in Shandwick-place about six o'clock evening. She said she wore the necklace inside her dress, and the thief put his hand suddenly down the back of her neck, and took the necklace off.

She gave a detailed description of her assailant, and said that two women had seen the theft.

Some days later Lieut. Cameron offered a reward of £500 for the recovery of the necklace, and Lloyd's where the pearls were insured, offered another £500.

The police have all along been rather incredulous as to the robbery. They succeeded in tracing two women who apparently did see Lieut. and Mrs. Cameron at the shop on the night in question, and they have made important statements.

Inquiries in Edinburgh and London determined the authorities to act. On Sunday afternoon a cab drove up to the Camerons' flat in Heriot-road, to take the lieutenant and his wife for a drive. But police-officers commanded the vehicle, and drove the couple to the police station.

Lieut. and Mrs. Cameron spent the night in the cells, but they were allowed to send for their own bedding, and meals were served from a neighboring hotel.

When they were taken on Monday from the police buildings to the Sheriff's Court, to make a declaration in regard to the charge, they had to run the gauntlet of a large crowd, including many photographers. Mrs. Cameron, who is a short, slight, and pretty woman, about twenty-eight years old, was stylishly dressed in a long seal-plush mantle and musquash furs, with a large picture hat, and she evidently felt the situation keenly. Her husband, a well-set up, smart-looking man of about thirty, was well dressed in a light suit, over which he wore a heavy overcoat.

Immediately the cab left the Criminal Investigation Department the crowd made a rush to the Sheriff's Court, where several hundred spectators lined both sides of the street, and completely blocked the ordinary entrance to the building, but the cabman drove smartly to the sheriff's private entrance, and thus baulked the sightseers. Mrs. Cameron was in a state of collapse, and had to be carried from the cab by her husband and a detective.

Waited for Bail.

When the accused arrived the sheriff was engaged in another case in the Summary Court, but left at once in order to take the Camerons' declaration. This only occupied a few minutes. The couple were remanded on bail of £500 each. Afterwards they were placed in a private room. While arrangements were being made to obtain the bail money, Lieut. and Mrs. Cameron were served with lunch, which was brought from an outside purveyor's.

About four o'clock in the afternoon the bail was lodged in court, and the Camerons left in a private motor-car. During the afternoon several military officers were in attendance at the Sheriff Court, and were in consultation with the Sheriff Clerk, the procurator fiscal, and the law agent of the accused.

Nothing more may be heard of the case now for some time. The procedure which is likely to be followed is that the Crown authorities will prepare their case and arrange such evidence as they obtain. The specific charge will be formulated, and the indictment will be served upon the accused directly, or perhaps through their agents. They would then probably appear at a pleading diet of the Sheriff Court, and if it were necessary for matters to go further, they might be remitted to the High Court for trial.

Lieut. Cameron and his wife are charged with being jointly concerned in an attempt to defraud the insurance company with which the necklace had been insured, and upon which a formal claim for payment had been made. The insurance, it is understood, was for the full value of the necklace.

ONLY ONE SITTING OF THE ASSEMBLY

Held Yesterday on Account of St. Patrick's Day — Good Progress Made, However.

Owing to the Irish National Feast, the House only had one sitting yesterday, adjourning at six o'clock on motion of Premier Gouin, seconded by Mr. Tellier. However, quite a lot of business was transacted during the afternoon, the principal item under discussion being Sir Lomer Gouin's resolutions respecting the Quebec Technical School, which gives the Quebec Technical School Corporation power to borrow $500,000 instead of $250,000 and increasing the annual grant to the school from twenty thousand to thirty thousand dollars. Premier Gouin remarked that certain cities and towns in the Province were asking for technical schools, and their requests would be granted when the population of these cities had sufficiently increased to justify the erection of such schools. Some people had criticized the Government for having such handsome buildings, but they were not so.

Mr. Tellier expressed surprise at the Government undertaking such a policy without having any idea of what the cost would be, as this is the third time that the Government has to acknowledge that it miscalculated their estimates. The Opposition did not complain of the cost of the schools.

Premier Gouin replied that when he inaugurated the technical school policy he was aware that he would be subject to the criticism of the Opposition, but he had no doubt whatever that before long they would not regret having voted in favor of the policy in 1907.

Mr. Tellier replied that they were in favor of technical education, but at the same time they would like to know what it was going to cost the Province. If, in 1907, they had been informed that the Montreal and Quebec technical schools were about to cost about one and a half million dollars, the Opposition might have convinced the present administration that the same object would probably have been attained at less cost.

Further consideration of these resolutions was postponed until next week, as Mr. Laverne wanted some information regarding the professors in these schools.

The following motion, which was proposed some time ago by Mr. Langlois (Montreal), and adjourned on motion of Mr. Delage, was adopted on division: "That this House believes that it would be expedient, in the interest of the elementary schools of the Province of Quebec, in order to raise the standard of the competence of the teaching staff, to change the constitution of the Central Board of Examiners so as to protect the essential work of the normal schools."

Mr. Laverne's bill to detach lots from the county of Bellechasse and to annex them to the municipality of the eastern part of the township of Armagh in the county of Montmagny, for all purposes, was adopted in third reading.

The bill to amend the Revised Statutes, 1909, with regard to the number of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in the town of La Tuque, was passed in third reading.

Several motions for remission of fees on bills adopted this session were adopted, and a few questions were answered. When the House went into supply on a few items of the agricultural estimates, which were adopted after discussion, the Opposition strongly criticizing the subsidies granted for certain exhibitions, which Mr. Giard, of Compton, looked upon as "side shows," and taking occasion to complain of the entrance fee of 50 cents to the Sherbrooke fair, which was subsidized by the Government.

Speaker Pelletier, member for Sherbrooke, replied that the Sherbrooke Exposition was an annual fair and was one of the best held in this Province. If an entrance fee of 50 cents was charged, it was because the Exposition Company wanted funds so as to increase their prize list. However, if the entrance fee was considered too high, it could be reduced.

The Opposition also criticized the expenditure of $4,096, paid to La Vie for the printing of a pamphlet of 125 pages, to be distributed at the Brussels Exposition, the distribution being made by two Quebec political friends of the Government, one of whom received $250 and the other $137.

Progress was reported on the bill to incorporate the Montreal and Northern Colonization Railway Company, and the House concurred in certain amendments made to two bills by the Legislative Council.

In proposing the adjournment of the House, Sir Lomer Gouin made very appropriate remarks regarding the Irish National Feast. Mr. Tellier, leader of the Opposition, seconded the motion in his usual able manner.

BODY FOUND

FROZEN TO THE ICE.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., March 17.—This morning the lifeless body of George McCormack, aged 35, of Boughton Island, was found on the ice between Georgetown and that island. The body was badly cut up as the result of being dragged along the ice. He had evidently fallen out of his sleigh and was probably held by the rein until it broke. The horse was found stuck in a snow bank on the island shore. McCormack was in Georgetown in the afternoon and left there in the evening to drive home on the ice. When the body was found it was frozen to the ice.

THRILLING TALE OF DISASTER AT SEA

Six Days' Peril of Three Seamen in an Open Boat—New Robinson Crusoes.

London, March 17.—A terrible story of the sea was told in "Lloyd's News" Office, on Saturday, when three of the survivors of the Parisiana, which was burnt in the Indian Ocean on Dec. 11 last, related their thrilling adventures.

Escape from the burning ship in a boat and a month of "Robinson Crusoe" life on a desert island—this, in brief, was the romance experience of the three sailors, Frederick Melville of Liverpool, Richard Daniels, of Liverpool, and Joseph Santon, a Brazilian seaman.

The Parisiana, an iron cargo steamer from West Hartlepool, the property of Messrs. Furness, Withy, and Co., carrying a valuable cargo, left New York on Oct. 29 for Melbourne. Half-way across the Indian Ocean, and midway between the barren island of New Amsterdam and the volcanic island of St. Paul, the terrible discovery was made that the cargo was on fire under the cabin floor.

That was on Dec. 11. For two days the sailors fought the outbreak with sleepless and desperate energy. But the fire gained steadily, and the iron decks of the doomed vessel became in parts too hot to walk on.

While the men were trying to penetrate a bulkhead behind which the fire was supposed to have been concentrated, an avalanche of coal burst through the partly burnt partition, burying two of the party. One of them, a German, was rescued unconscious by his half suffocated and exhausted companions, and he ultimately recovered, but the other, George Tate, a greaser, was killed.

Then orders were given to provision and launch the two lifeboats, and, placing the first mate in charge of one and himself in the second, the captain reluctantly gave the order to cast off, directions being given to steer for St. Paul Island. Each boat carried seventeen men.

Sailor Driven Mad.

The journey of the mate's boat, which lasted four days, was graphically described by Fred Melville.

"When we left the burning ship," he said "it was foggy, and there was a heavy sea running. Fortunately, we had with us some cans of oil, or I do not think we should have ever reached the shore alive. As we neared St. Paul's, the seas ran higher and higher as they dashed off the rocky cliff, but fortunately we made the breakwater in safety, and managed to get inside. Within ten yards of the shore we found two sheds, which had been erected by the French Government for the benefit of shipwrecked sailors.

"Inside we found some barrels of biscuits, dated 1892, all open to the air, and some tins of 'bully' beef, which, although very musty and dry, proved very acceptable food before we left the island. On the first morning of our arrival the mate, myself, and another chap managed to climb the almost precipitous cliff and to search in vain for any signs of the other boat or a passing ship. On our way down we passed the graves of a number of French sailors who had been buried on the island. It was two days later that we saw the captain's boat come in sight."

St. Paul is a French possession, which lies in latitude 40 degrees South, about midway between Africa and Australia. It is used as a fishing station, and there is a small harbor. The island is about 2½ miles long and 1¼ miles broad. There are a few rabbits and wild goats and on the coast penguins and albatross are to be shot, while seals come in large numbers. The sea around, fortunately, abounds with fish. There is a depot for shipwrecked sailors.

The occupants of the captain's boat day's voyage in an open craft, during which time they got little or no sleep.

Their experiences were terrible. One of the men from the mate's boat died raving mad, and another some days afterwards. There were some mouldy biscuits in the depot, which had to be soaked in seawater before they could be eaten.

"The only thing that we got besides," said Melville, "were some young penguins, which are not bad eating. One day, somebody suggested eating seal liver. The result was unfortunate. For three days we were all violently sick, and our faces swelled up.

"When we had been on the island for some days a French fishing schooner arrived, but she was only small, and had not sufficient stores to take us all."

"The result of exposure was that all our skin peeled off, and I have hardly got over this yet. The French schooner was able to spare us a little rice, and this was all we had except a mouldy biscuit and penguin."

"We had a bad time of it at night," interposed Mr. Daniels. "It rained in torrents, and not only did it come through the roof but the water poured down from the mountain side, and nearly washed us out. With only scanty clothing we suffered severely from the cold. The only drinking water we could get was from the hot sulphur springs. This we had to stand by to cool before we could drink it, and the effect of the sulphur and other minerals was to cause our skin to peel off in stripes. Our boots were cut to pieces on the rocks, and our feet were badly cut."

"For the first few days we burned a beacon fire at night, but then realised the necessity of harboring our supply of wood, which was washed on to the beach by the tides, and had to stop them. We used the wood to cook the young penguins and albatrosses that we caught, and for this we used the fat extracted from the musty bully beef."

"One of us was always on the lookout for passing ships. We rigged up a flagstaff on the top of the mountain, to which we hoisted a Union Jack upside down, as a signal of distress."

"This was seen by the steamer British Transport on Jan. 11, and it was with heartfelt thanks that we were taken on board and shipped to Albany."

The Correct Style in Spring Overcoats

A VISIT to the Semi-ready tailor shops is most interesting at this season of the year, when all the new style creations are being shown in patterns and weaves which are the pride of the English woollen mills. Four of the prevailing models in spring top coats are shown in the accompanying sketch.

The Chesterfield and the Rigby top coat are in evidence, while the button-through chesterfield and the motor coat show how closely the sartorial artists follow the needs of the modern day. These overcoats or top coats are shown in all the varying standard values of the Semi-ready shops, from $15 to $20 and $30. Since the Semi-ready company has started tailoring clothes to order in four days, when one does not find just what one wants in the stock, they are getting 50,000 new customers every year.

SOME LEGENDS OF ST. PATRICK.

Among the many legends and traditional tales that have gathered through the centuries about the name of the great saint there are two that, because the extraordinary testimony as to their truth extends even to the present day, are worthy of being retold. It is related that on one of his journeys St. Patrick and his company were wrecked on the Rock of Moineau, on the Lancashire shore of Morecambe Bay. Making a providential escape from the perils of the sea, the party proceeded inland in search of shelter and food. About five miles from the coast they met a woman with jars of water, from which she refused, perhaps through fright, to give them a drink. In a moment of indignation, the holy man, feeling within himself the power from God to obtain that which lack of human sympathy denied, struck the ground with his long traveller's staff and brought gushing to the surface a cool and refreshing stream.

The spring is still flowing and is known as St. Patrick's well. It may be seen by passengers on the Northwestern line of railway, on the right-hand side when going northward, just before Hest Bank station is reached. Mgr. Robert Gradwell, author of one of the more recent biographies of the saint, declares that he has never known this spring to fail, however great the drought, or to freeze up, however severe the cold. As of his own knowledge, he testifies to the cure of a hopelessly crippled lad who bathed in its miraculous waters, which are credited with many virtues by Catholics and Protestants alike.

The other legend, which is perhaps more remarkable still, is recorded in the recent "Annals of the Society of Agriculture and Science of the Department of Indre and Loire," Volume XXX, a French government report, which will scarcely be thought in sympathy with miracles of religious traditions of any kind. It is recounted that a popular legend declares that St. Patrick, on his way from Ireland to join St. Martin, his great uncle, in Gaul, having arrived at the banks of the river Loire, paused and rested beneath a snow-covered shrub. The spot, which is marked by an ancient church which bears his name, is near the Chateau de Rochette, about 20 miles west of the picturesque City of Tours. It was Christmas time, and in honor of the saint the shrub, shaking off its icy dress, decked itself with blossoms as white as the snow itself. St. Patrick crossed the Loire on his cloak and, on reaching the opposite bank, rested a second time under a similar shrub, and was again greeted with a vernal burst of flowers.

Since that wonderful hour the two shrubs have never failed, contrary to the established laws of nature, to bloom in the December snow. Mgr. Caevallier, president of the Archaeological Society of Touraine, writes in the above-mentioned report: "We have lately verified this circumstance with our own eyes, and we can vouch for its truth without fear of contradiction. The buds swell, the flowers expand, as in the month of April, and cover the boughs with odorous and snow-like flowers, while a few leaves more timidly venture to expose their delicate verdure to the icy north wind. The tree is the Prunus Spinosa, the blackthorn, commonly called the sloe. This singular growth of flowers has been repeated every year from time immemorial, and always takes place at a fixed period of the year, no matter how severe the season may be."

FOUR PEOPLE BURNED.

Boston, Mass., March 18.—Four persons, a man, two women and a child, all colored, were burned to death in a fire in a four-story tenement on Truro street early this morning. The fire started in the basement and followed up the stairways, effectually trapping the residents of the upper floor.

MADAME LOUISA CÔTÉ AN EXAMPLE TO FOLLOW

Mrs. Louisa Côté, of l'Isle Verte, has taken St. Michel's Wine for several years and is completely cured

If everybody could understand how essential is the use of a good and well tried tonic for the maintenance as well as for the conquest of health, anemia and consumption would not every year claim thousands of victims. We are living in a period of extreme activity. We are using our strength without counting the cost: the most elementary prudence counsels us to rebuild our strength and to repair the constant losses sustained by our organism, to enrich our blood, impoverished through the extravagant system of living that we are following, from the beginning to the end of the year, whether we are at work or amusing ourselves. There are also illnesses to which we pay a more or less tribute; all persons recuperating strength after an illness should use ST. MICHEL'S WINE, the marvellous tonic which is also a powerful restorer. It stimulates the organic action of the body, it renews the energy, it tonifies the nerves and rebuilds the muscular system by rendering the food easily assimilable. The appetite is restored, as if by magic, and strength returns. From one end of the country to the other the marvellous effects of ST. MICHEL'S WINE are vouched for by persons who have been restored to health and have had their lives saved by its use.

The testimonial of Mrs. Louisa Côté, of l'Isle Verte, is taken from many thousands which we have already published.

MESSRS. BOIVIN, WILSON & CO., Montreal.

Gentlemen:—I certify by this letter that I have taken ST. MICHEL'S WINE at various times during several years and that I have found myself very much improved by its use and that I am now in perfect health since I take this wine.

Yours respectfully, LOUISA CÔTÉ.

All testimonials are unanimous in praising the wonderful qualities of St. Michel's Wine, which works wonders in cases of anemia, weakness, exhaustion, nervous fatigue, as well as in recovery from fevers. It is a tonic that has never disappointed the medical profession or the numerous people whom it has restored to health. If you feel weak, ill or tired, take St. Michel's Wine, and you will find strength, health and vigour.

THE HOTEL CECIL, LONDON, ENGLAND

Stray Impressions by an Oversea Guest---
The Very Best---Yet Inexpensive

There are hotels and hotels in London, each one more or less with its own particular feature of attractiveness, but there are few to equal in genuine comfort and inviting qualities the spacious and world-renowned Hotel Cecil.

This charming hotel, by the way, is looked upon by the great majority of Canadians, from this district at least, as their headquarters in London, and this fact alone speaks more strongly than words for the popularity of the hotel. Business men of all vocations meet in its wide rotundas and enticing lounging rooms, where every attention and regard is shown. On every hand one meets polite and attentive assistants, always ready to administer to and anticipate the requirements of a guest. The training of the staff in the "Cecil" is one of its great features, and the pleasure of this marked attention on all sides is most appreciated. The Cecil is situated in practically the heart of London, in the famous Strand, and overlooking the grand old Thames and the Embankment. No prettier view could be obtained than during any meal hour, sitting in its famous terrace, and enjoying the delights of one of the most perfect orchestras in London. And this leads us to refer to the excellence of the cuisine and dining rooms of the Cecil. While London is noted for its celebrated cooking, it can quite reasonably be stated that it would be impossible to surpass in delicacy and services the wonderful system at present in vogue in the Cecil. This possibly can be again attributed to the staff of the hotel. When one notices daily the splendid supervision of the General Manager, and the Manager, as well as the Chief Head Waiter over this special department, it can then be understood that no defective service could be tolerated even for the slightest period. And this is the case at the Cecil. Attention everywhere, courtesies and affability at every hand, and a pronounced desire to give every satisfaction to the guests at all times. In no department is this more noticeable than in the dining rooms, these rooms being fitted out with an elegance and propriety that is most enchanting and in such excellent harmony with the fixtures and adjuncts of the entire hotel. Any reference to the hotel would not be complete without some allusion to the office and reception staffs. These gentlemen are evidently most carefully selected, not only for their wide experience in conducting the intricate methods of hotel affairs, but also for their affability, their courtesy, and their willingness at all times to give every information and detail to the thousand and one questions that are sometimes somewhat disconcerting. In every department does the Cecil stand out pre-eminently above other hotels in London, for the completeness of its systems, the clock work reliability of all its arrangements and the satisfaction and gratification generally imparted to the thousands of guests continuously coming and going under its roof.

In a little article entitled "Foreword" the writer aptly describes this excellent hotel in most appropriate phrases, and we have pleasure in reproducing the primary part of same: THE HOTEL CECIL AND THE THREADS OF HISTORY. Just eleven years ago—such a brief yesterday in these rapid days—and the Hotel Cecil was a new story. To-day, in this year of grace 1907, the Hotel Cecil is one of the familiar glories of the British Metropolis. North, south, east or west in the paths of the world, there come few travellers who do not return to their homes and tell of the wonderful palace on the Thames Bank which, for a halcyon time, was their abiding-place. The Hotel Cecil has no rival; it is incomparable. There is no other hotel of its size in London, and certainly no hotel in the world that can surpass in excellence and comfort—that complete, luxurious comfort that is such a panacea for the weariness and distress of travel. Since its opening in 1896 many pens have described the grandeur and majesty of its architecture, the superb beauty of its internal decorations, and the complete "joy of living" to be found within its walls. No writer has succeeded in doing it more than justice. To appreciate the Hotel Cecil entirely, one must stay there. To be within reach of everything; to attain absolute ease; to find the dishes tempting to your appetite or peculiar to your nationality; to receive the same thoughtful attention whether your purse extends to a five-shilling bedroom or a ten-guinea suite—surely such recommendations are all sufficient! And the perfect fulfilment of these conditions is no doubt potent reason for the great popularity of the Hotel Cecil. But, there is so much more. The Colonial Englishman, or the American, or the Canadian, as he drives under the imposing archway and traverses the great quadrangle to the main entrance cannot help realizing that he is in the Old Country—the dear Homeland of his birth or of his forebears. All his surroundings talk to him. He has passed from the hurly-burly of the Strand—that great highway pregnant with the past of English history; he is beside the Thames and within sight of the towers and fane of the world's greatest capital city; he is in the very heart of London, in touch with every throbbing pulse of this modern Babylon—greater, far greater than the Babylon of old!

Where the Hotel Cecil stands was once the town-house of the Earls of Salisbury, the predecessors of the present noble bearers of the name of Cecil, the Marquises of Salisbury and of Exeter. The ancient mansion was one of the dozen or so of mediaeval palaces which stood on the northern bank of the Thames, between the Abbey of Westminster and the monastery of Blackfriars. Now they have all disappeared, and are only recalled by the streets named after them. The last to go was the town-house of the Dukes of Northumberland at Charing Cross. It was standing less than 30 years ago, but now its site is also covered by an hotel, and the only nobleman who still retains a river home within the precincts of Westminster City, is the Duke of Buccleugh at Whitehall.

But the spirit of history has remained with the Hotel Cecil. From the night of its opening, when Sir Charles Wyndham presided at a supper to the fin fleur of London celebrities, unto the present day, the hotel has been the scene of notable gatherings and the temporary home of illustrious personages.

During the Coronation festivities of the late gracious Sovereign King Edward VII., the Hotel Cecil ranked as a royal residence, and scarlet guardsmen did sentry duty at its portals. Suites of apartments were engaged by the Crown for visiting princes and for foreign and colonial statesmen. Last year a number of private suites in the hotel were also retained by the Government for the accommodation of the Colonial Premiers who arrived in England for the Tariff Conference. Among the statesmen from "The Dominions Across the Seas" being Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, and General Louis Botha, Premier of the Transvaal.

Press Opinions
DISINTERESTED FARMERS.
Toronto World: The Western farmers who are responsible for the reciprocity agitation were wont to accuse the manufacturers of caring primarily for their own selfish aims and objects. But the grain growers now stand disclosed as occupying just the position they denounced in the case of the manufacturers. No one can object to their looking after themselves, but it assuredly does not follow that their special interests coincide with those of the Eastern farmers or with the welfare of the nation at large. Western farmers have enjoyed many and great advantages—free land, often free seed, cold storage and subsidized railways—benefits quite as great as moderate protection affords to other industries. Their lobby at Ottawa and their campaign in the country are not conducted without expense—whether they are the voice of the people is a matter of opinion which has yet to be proved.

THE NEWSPAPER MAN.
Birmingham Herald: The newspaper man sees the world at its worst and at its best. He comes to learn early that no man is as white as his antagonists would have the world believe; neither is any man as black as his enemies paint him. He comes to know that most of us are of a feeble, iron-gray color that stands up well in the wash and will not run when rinsed. Sin, struggle, stress, humor, pathos, grief, honesty—these are the opposites which appear upon the newspaper moving picture screen hour by hour. We cannot help but believe that if preachers and teachers could see the world as newspaper men see it they would be better equipped for their work of saving humanity from sin and error.

DELICATE BABIES NEED BABY'S OWN TABLETS
Mrs. H. L. Boone, Tay Mills, N.B., writes:—"I think Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy to keep in the house and I would not be without them. My baby was not exactly sick but was very delicate and I gave him the Tablets and they have made him strong and healthy." Such is the testimony of thousands of mothers. Baby's Own Tablets always do good—never harm. They can be given with absolute safety to the youngest child, as they are guaranteed by a government analyst to contain no harmful drugs. Never give baby "soothing" stuffs—that only dopes him. Give him a medicine that will act right on the root of his trouble. A medicine that will strengthen his stomach; regulate his bowels; sweeten the breath and make him bright, healthy and strong—such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MILL BOY TO MILLIONAIRE

Aged Inventor Secures £1,000,000 for the New Salt Process—Worker at Eight.

London, March 17.—A mill-boy at eight years of age, a mill-owner when quite a young man, and a millionaire at seventy. Such is the record of Mr. James Hodgkinson, head of the well-known Pendleton firm of James Hodgkinson, mechanical stockers and engineers.

Mr. Hodgkinson has just sold for £1,000,000 to a large American syndicate the rights for that country of an invention by which five times as much salt can be produced in a given time as is done by the present process. The new method is also expected to lessen the consumption of coal used in salt making by 75 per cent.

The life-story of the inventor reads like a romance. He started work at eight years of age in a mill, and naturally had little or no schooling. But he educated himself, and even taught others. Later he was apprenticed to the textile trade, and when he was quite a young man owned a mill of his own.

He was not much over thirty when he began another business—his present one—and it was while fitting up automatic stockers at the Northwich works of the Salt Union that he conceived the idea of the invention which promises to revolutionise the salt industry.

For four years he worked on his idea, but it was four years well spent. The result is a patent stocker by which, with the use of one fire, every quality of salt, from the finest table to the coarse "fishery," can be produced on one plant. There are seven pans, and a system of dampers, controls the heat and keeps up a uniform feed and the constant temperature so necessary in salt-making.

Not only will the invention revolutionise the salt industry, but it will practically abolish smoke from the works.

"I have spent a lifetime in the battle against smoke," said Mr. Hodgkinson, "the object being to produce a fuel feeder that will prevent waste. That I have achieved, and salt districts need no longer be covered by clouds of smoke."

The Canadian rights have been sold to the Canadian Pacific Railway, who have found him along their line, but Mr. Hodgkinson cannot at present disclose the price. All the proceeds of the sales do not go to the inventor. There are several prominent business men who have had a good deal to do with the important transactions, which have ended so satisfactorily, and who will be entitled to some considerable reward for their efforts. The option for the purchase of the English rights lies with the Salt Union (Ltd.), at whose works at Northwich the process is to be worked on a scale of some magnitude.

Mr. Hodgkinson is close upon seventy years of age, the active partner in the business being his two sons.

AN IRISHMAN ON WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

J. B. Yeats, whose articles upon English and American traits have formed an interesting feature in former numbers of Harper's Weekly, contributes his views upon the woman-suffrage question to the current issue. "The men, as a rule, are against women's enfranchisement with passionate sincerity and against it without any hope of success," he writes. "The jury who try the case are the men of the civilized world and are exactly like the jurymen in any court of justice: that is, they are, for the most part, dull, apathetic, selfish, ignorant, and in this case strongly recalcitrant. The task of the women is to make these men 'hurry up' and give the verdict which every one expects, which they know in their hearts they must give, which they dare not refuse."

WEATHER AND HUMAN HEALTH

In the current issue of Harper's Weekly appears an ingenious article by A. Magellisen under the above title, in which he seeks to demonstrate that disease of an epidemic character fluctuates in accordance with the changes of weather extending over long periods. The article is illustrated with diagrams showing these coincidences, from which the author points his conclusions.

AN EARL RECOVERS HISTORIC ARMOR

London, March 17.—A fight in the High Courts over a suit of sixteenth century armor, made by Topi, Queen Elizabeth's armorer, ended on Wednesday in a verdict in favor of Lord Chesterfield, who had sold it to a dealer for £2,000, and declared that he was misled into thinking it was worth no more, and into selling it privately, so missing the advantage of an auction. The earl is Lord Steward of the King's Household.

The armor was bought by Mr. Harry Wareham Harding, son of the defendant, Mr. George Robinson Harding, art dealer, of St. James's Square. Mr. Harding, Jr., said Lord Chesterfield told him he had a peculiar client who objected to people knowing what he gave for objects in his collection, and was willing to buy at the top price privately or not at all. Lord Chesterfield sold for £2,000, and the dealer later, it was said, offered the armor to an American client for £15,000. Mr. H. W. Harding, who gave a complete denial to the statements of Lady Nunburnholme, Lady Chesterfield, and his lordship, became ill in the witness-box on Wednesday and had in the end to be assisted from the court. Mr. Justice Warrington found in Lord Chesterfield's favor, ordered the return of the armor, on payment of the price and five per cent. interest, less expense of repairs, and the defendant was ordered to pay the costs.

STOMACH DISTRESS AND DYSPEPSIA GO

Heartburn, Gas and Indigestion
Vanish and Your Stomach
Feels Fine in Five Minutes.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula, plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes, and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour, undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common, every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

Wood's Phosphorine, The Great English Remedy, Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old veins, cures Nervous Debility, Mental and Brain Worries, Dependence, Sexual Weakness, Emission, Spermatorrhea, and Effects of Abuse or Excess. ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION HERE

Large Parade of Irishmen Took Place Yesterday — High Mass at St. Patrick's.

A bright and sunny day greeted the descendants of the Emerald Isle yesterday when they celebrated the anniversary of their patron saint. The procession of the different Irish associations was a very large and inspiring one. It assembled at the Diamond Harbor Chapel and formed up as follows:—

Invited Guests.

The procession passed through the following streets:—Champlain, St. Peter, Mountain Hill, Buade, Fabrique, Garden, St. Louis, Grande Allée, Lachetiere, St. Amable, St. Michael, St. Julia, St. Eustache, St. John, St. Stanislas and McMahon streets to St. Patrick's Church.

Among those who participated in the procession were His Worship the Mayor and a large delegation of the City Council.

En route addresses were presented to His Grace Archbishop Bégin, His Worship Mayor Drouin and Rev. Father Hanley, Rector of St. Patrick's Church. The addresses, which were as follows, were all suitably acknowledged:—

To His Grace Mgr. L. N. Bégin, Archbishop of Quebec:

Your Grace:

The Irish Catholics of Quebec, in celebrating the feast of their Patron Saint, as doubtful and devoted children of the Catholic Church, wish once more to renew the oft-repeated pledge of their loyalty, obedience and most profound respect for you, and to assure you of their unchanged and unchangeable love and veneration for our Holy Father the Pope, God's Vicar on earth.

St. Patrick, before his death, prayed to God, that the nation which he had converted would never abandon the faith which he preached to them. God heard his prayer. As a nation the Irish have clung to the Bark of Peter and carried the faith with them to whatever country they went. Never has a people made greater sacrifices than the Irish to prove their fidelity to God and his Church.

We desire to heartily thank your Grace for your numerous acts of kindness to your Irish children and for your constant solicitude for their welfare. We hope that our future conduct will merit a continuance of the same.

Our constant prayer shall be that God may bless you and spare you for many years over your flock, and we promise you that we shall not be surprised in humble submission, loyalty and respect.

Quebec, March 17th, 1911.

Napoleon Drouin, Esq., Mayor of the City of Quebec.

May it Please Your Worship:—

As the representatives of the Irish citizens of Quebec, we gladly avail ourselves of the occasion of our national anniversary and its celebration to pay our respects to you as our honored Chief Magistrate.

We recognize in you as the head of our civic administration a man, who is sincerely anxious to hasten the regeneration and to promote the advancement of our old city, whose natural sympathies are with the working masses and who is ever desirous of doing justice to all elements and to all classes. We congratulate you upon your success which thus far has marked your management of our civic affairs and we look forward hopefully to the brighter era for the Ancient Capital to which, in connection with the great public works in progress or in contemplation amongst us, it is confidently expected to lead up.

Need we say that the Irish element of our population are as deeply interested as any other in the realization of this anticipation and that you and your colleagues of the City Council have their best wishes and will have their loyal support in all well meant efforts to bring it about as soon as possible.

In conclusion, we wish for Your Worship all good health, happiness and prosperity and we respectfully ask you to convey the same good wish on our part to your worthy wife and family.

P. W. Brown, President, Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians; W. J. Mulroney, President, Division No. 2, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Chief Ranger, St. Patrick's Court Catholic Order of Foresters; P. J. Clinton, President, St. Patrick's Branch Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association; J. L. Haberman, President, Irish National Association; J. K. Leonard, President, Young Men's Sodality, St. Patrick's Parish; Bro. James, Director, St. Patrick's School; J. Wallace, Captain, Hibernian Cadets.

To the Rev. J. A. Hanley, C.S.S.R., Rector of St. Patrick's Church, Quebec:

Reverend and Dear Father:

The lapse of another year again brings us to the feast of St. Patrick, the great and glorious Apostle of the Irish people, a day dear to the heart of every true Irishman, no matter in what country he may find a home, and we do what we can to honor it in a fit and becoming manner.

On this day by assisting at Holy Mass, we desire to show our gratitude to God for the great gift of the Catholic faith, which St. Patrick, as His ambassador, brought to our forefathers—the greatest gift which even a Bountiful Providence could give — and to which the Irish as a nation has steadfastly clung ever since. To-day it is treasured as dearly as in the early centuries, although the pages of history for seven hundred long years vividly portray the sufferings and sacrifices of the Irish race to preserve it. We are still, thank God, faithful members of Holy Mother Church, and nowhere in the wide world are the Irish people of Quebec surpassed in their fidelity to the Church, her teachings and her pastors.

We come to-day, dear Father Rector, to greet you as our Pastor, and thank you and the good Father who so zealously labor with you for all you have done and are still doing for us, and to assure you of our deep affection and devotion.

May God, through the intercession of St. Patrick, shower upon you His choicest blessings, and may you long be spared over your Irish Catholic flock in Quebec.

The Pontifical High Mass at St. Patrick's Church was a most imposing one. The interior of the church was beautifully decorated, and His Grace Archbishop Bégin was the celebrant, assisted by Rev. Father Murdoch, as deacon, and Rev. Father O'Byrne, as sub-deacon. Rev. J. Laberge was the Master of Ceremonies. Others who assisted in the High Mass were Rev. C. N. Garipey, Rev. Father Decarie, Rev. Father Fiset and Rev. W. Cannon. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Jos. Vezeina, organist of St. Patrick's Church, sang the "Messe Solennelle de l'Immaculée Conception," of Henri Rey, with string orchestra accompaniment. Mr. J. A. Bernier presiding at the organ. Solos were ably rendered by Mrs. Harkins, Mrs. Murphy, Miss E. Brady, Miss J. Brady, Messrs. J. Timmons, J. Shields, R. Timmons, J. McManamy. The orchestra was composed of a part of the string section of the Quebec Symphony Society.

An eloquent sermon was delivered by the Rev. Father S. J. Grogan, of Boston, who preached from the text, "As my Father hath sent me, so I also send you."

SEVERE GALE AND COLD ON NEW ENGLAND COAST.

Boston, Mass., March 16.—A northwesterly gale, riding into New England on the crest of last night's cold wave, caused much suffering and many accidents of a minor nature. In this city the temperature fell 30 degrees between yesterday afternoon and this morning, and at no time to-day did it go higher than 19. Fishing schooners and coasters in New England waters scurried for the shelter of harbors as soon as they got the first sign of the "nor'wester," but even there they were not wholly safe from the gale's fury. Several Gloucester fishermen dragged their anchors and went aground in Portsmouth Harbor, and many others found an extra anchor and cable barely sufficient to keep them from a similar accident.

The Quoniam liner Ivernia, which arrived here to-day, was forced on account of the gale, to anchor off Spectacle Island, some distance from her dock, while the five-masted schooner Prescott Palmer was blown from an anchorage and grounded on Bird Island flats. Tugs sent out to the Palmer succeeded in pulling her into deep water.

A number of persons were so badly injured in this city by being thrown against buildings or hurled to the streets at windy corners that they were removed to hospitals for treatment.

SICK HEADACHES AND NERVOUSNESS

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Me. Lakelet, Ont., May 12th, 1910.

"It is my firm belief that every woman should take 'Fruit-a-tives' if she wants to keep herself in good health. Before taking 'Fruit-a-tives,' I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as 'Nerves' or severe Nervousness. This extreme Nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking Doctor's medicine.

Constipation was also a source of great trouble for which the Doctors said 'I would have to take medicine all my life' but 'Fruit-a-tives' has banished these troubles and I am a well woman.

When I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives,' I took four at a time, but have reduced the dose so that it is only necessary for me to take one in a week, and that one 'Fruit-a-tives' tablet every week keeps me well."

MRS. FRED GADKE.

It is wonderful how quickly women get better when taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' These famous fruit tablets relieve headaches and tone up the whole nervous system. They regulate the bowels, strengthen the stomach, stimulate the appetite, and take away that pain in the back. Pale, weak, nervous women should always use 'Fruit-a-tives.' 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HELD FOR THE KILLING OF MOTHER AND SISTER.

Maidstone, Vt., March 16.—At the conclusion of a special inquiry to-day into the deaths of Mrs. George Bean and her daughter, Nina, who were found dead from bullet wounds in their home here last Thursday, Arthur Bean, the 18-year-old son and brother, who was taken into custody on the day of the crime, was held without bond for a special grand jury to be convened here on the fourth Tuesday in April. To-day's proceedings were before Trial Justice Frank G. Adams. The chief witness was the prisoner. He testified that he was about the house and the barn for the greater part of the forenoon of the day of the shooting with the exception of an hour. At that time, he said, he took his rifle and started out to call on the young son of Sheriff Beatty. When about half way to his friend's house he changed his mind and returned home. Upon entering the house he found the bodies of his sister and mother, the former at the foot of the stairs in the lower part of the house, and the latter in an upper bedroom, and he hastened at once, he said, to notify neighbors. His story, despite long cross-examination, remained unshaken. The young man was represented by Attorney Powell, of Island Pond, Vt., and Messrs. Miles and Cane, of Newport, Vt. Besides young Bean, there were ten other witnesses, some of whom testified that the prisoner had a violent temper, which caused his family and friends to fear him.

"Grandfather" Sweet, 104 years old, who was in the house when the shooting occurred, was not able to appear at to-day's hearing.
