Committee appointed by Champlain board

Dismissal procedures under study

LENNOXVILLE (CC) — A special meeting of Champlain Regional College's Board of Governors will be convened on April 6 to discuss employee dismissal procedures.

The Board of Governors, at a regular meeting in Quebec City Friday night, decided they did not have enough information to establish dismissal procedures for all employees of the college.

However, they decided that the matter was of extreme importance and appointed a committee to study the problem and report back to a special meeting of the board within two weeks.

The committee is to postulate a resolution which would establish the methods to be followed when an employee is to be dismissed from his or her position.

The decision to form a committee and convene a special meeting came after a long discussion of a recommendation submitted to the Board by the college's Academic Council - the body which advises the college on academic development.

Although the recommendation was not on the board's agenda, Micheal Isaacs, Lennoxville campus student representative, brought the recommendation up under new business. He successfully fought off an attempt by the college's Director General Frederick E. Turley to table the item until the next regular meeting.

Board members expressed worry that the college did not have a regular dismissal procedure and that an appeals board had not been established by the college. Student and faculty representatives, in urging discussion, argued that the lack of such a procedure was hampering staff morale.

The Academic Council, at a meeting in Drummondville last Wednesday, recommended that no employee of the college be dismissed until he or she has had a written evaluation and sufficient opportunity and warning to correct his or her performance. They recommended that all employees dismissed from their position be given the reasons for the dismissal in writing.

They also urged that an appeals board be set up and that every employee relieved from their post should have the right of appeal.

They also recommended that the appeals board be set up immediately and investigate the contract non-renewal of Lennoxville Campus Principal Raymond McGrath for 1973-74. Mr. McGrath was removed from his post last Friday and sent on special assignment to central administration in Sherbrooke.

The change brought protest from the Lennoxville campus community. The faculty and support staff, who Thursday had passed a resolution which expressed "a total lack of confidence" in the Director-General were called together Friday morning by acting campus principal Peter Hill.

Hill asked them to reconsider their decision and said if the faculty were unable to rescind their motion then he would be forced to look elsewhere for a job "not immediately but I will move as soon as I find a job." The faculty refused.

At Friday's Board of Governor's meeting, members decided something should be done to offer some form of job security to the employees. Only the St Lambert campus faculty is unionized so the members felt action should be taken "to ensure employee rights."

The board also set up a committee to determine the mandate of the Academic Council, something which has not yet been established. The Board of Governors also took their stand on the classification issue a stand different from the other English-language CEGEPs in Quebec. They decided to do as "much as possible" within the law and not attempt to defy the law as Vanier and Dawson Colleges had decided to do.

They passed a motion instructing the Director-General to "convey to the appropriate governmental authorities and to the respective campuses of this college and the communities served thereby, the college's deep concern at the inequities of the present classification system."

The college then proposed that the classification system offer a minimum number of years of scholarship for the following degrees at universities recognized by the government. A general Bachelors degree would call for a minimum 15 years scholarship classification. A Bachelor's degree with major or honors would merit 16 years minimum classification. A Master's degree without a thesis would be 17 years and with a thesis would carry a minimum scholarship of 18 years. A Doctoral candidacy without thesis would be 19 years scholarship and with thesis would be 20 years minimum scholarship.

The board instructed the Director-General to carry the plan to the government and to report back to the board within 30 days as to the success of his presentation to the government. The board, at that time, would "determine what further or other action is warranted."

ARTISTIC DELIGHTS — The exhibition of Canadian painting sponsored by Canadian Industries Limited continues at the Art Gallery in the Central Pavilion of the University of Sherbrooke. The exhibition features works by nearly 70 Canadian artists. It will be open to the public every day from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. until April 8.

Nixon, Hanoi hit stalemate

SAIGON (AP) — The United States told the Communists today that President Nixon is continuing the freeze on U.S. troop withdrawal until all U.S. prisoners, including the nine men captured in Laos, are released. The Communists in turn refused to release anyone until the withdrawal resumes.

The United States also is reported insisting that Lloyd Opper of Campbell River, B.C., a missionary captured in Laos last October, be included in the release.

A 3½-hour meeting of the Joint Military Commission (JMC) did not solve the five-day-old impasse delaying the release of the last group of U.S. prisoners of war from Vietnam. There was growing belief that the PoW release and the troop withdrawal will not be completed by Wednesday, the deadline set by the Paris ceasefire agreement.

The United States suspended withdrawal of its troops last week until North Vietnam assumed responsibility for the release of the nine prisoners captured in Laos by furnishing the date and place they will be released. U.S. sources say some of the American PoWs released earlier reported seeing the nine in Hanoi.

PROVIDE LIST

North Vietnam Sunday provided a list of the last 107 prisoners it holds and said they will be released at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport Tuesday and Wednesday if the troop withdrawal is resumed. The Viet Cong handed over a list of the last 32 Americans it is to free and said they could be delivered in Hanoi today. But the North Vietnamese said the man captured in Laos were not their responsibility.

The Florida White House announced Sunday that "the president has ordered that U.S. forces will remain in Vietnam until all U.S. prisoners of war are released."

Maj.-Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, senior U.S. member of the JMC, called attention at the meeting today to this and said: "There will be no further withdrawals of U.S. forces until U.S. and Free World personnel are returned to us." The mention of "Free World personnel" apparently was a reference to Opper.

A North Vietnamese spokesman, But Tin, said the North Vietnamese delegation told Woodward the Hanoi government is ready to help in "the release of U.S. prisoners held by the Communist Pathet Lao" by acting "as a middle man." But he said: "This matter concerning the release of prisoners from Laos should not violate the sovereignty of the Laotian government."

Meanwhile, an Indonesian member of the International Commission of Control and Supervisory (ICCS) was reported in satisfactory condition after being grazed by a sniper's bullet Sunday in Can Tho, in the Mekong Delta. The other Indonesians were cut when the bullet shattered the windshield of their Jeep.

Quebec in focus

Crash kills five

QUEBEC (CP) — Five persons died Saturday in a head-on collision between two cars on a highway in Laurentide Park, about 60 miles north of Quebec City.

Police identified the victims as Joseph Cloutier, 61, of Quebec City, Mrs. Jean-Guy Grondin, 19, Mrs. Arthur Grondin, 46, Sylvie Grondin, 14, and Bertrand Berube, all of Jonquiere, Que.

Dies in collision

ST. PAUL D'ABBOTS FORD (CC) — Andre Viau, 20, of Montreal, lost his life in an automobile accident here Sunday.

He was killed when his car went out of control and struck a cement wall. The accident occurred at 5 a.m. Sunday and was covered by the Marieville Detachment of the Quebec Police Force.

Accept new pact

MONTREAL (CP) — Workers at two Noranda Mines Ltd. owned plants in Montreal's east end voted Sunday to accept a three-year agreement, a union spokesman said.

Raymond Slager, Montreal director for the United Steelworkers of America which represents the 1,800 workers at Canadian Copper Refineries and Noranda Metal Industries, said the contract offered better job security and vacation benefits as well as higher wages.

A company official said the men, who earned an average $3.13 in the old contract, will be making $4 an hour by the end of the three years. Mr. Slager said negotiations are continuing on the length of the work week.

Rebukes food claim

TORONTO (CP) — A farmers' union claim that farmers receive only three cents a pound for turkeys which sell in stores for 60 cents a pound is "a lot of hogwash," says a supermarket official.

Tom McCormack, vice-chairman of Dominion Stores Ltd., said in an interview Friday that the claim—made Thursday by Quebec's Union des Producteurs Agricoles before the Commons food committee, has resulted in abuse by shoppers toward meat managers in some stores.

He said that the Quebec Poultry Marketing Board was paying farmers 30 to 31 cents a pound for live turkeys during the week of March 10. The three cents a pound is the farmers' profit—more than the profit made by the store, he said.

Weekend death toll reaches 40

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 40 persons died accidentally in Canada during the weekend, including five in a head-on collision about 60 miles north of Quebec City.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. local times Friday night to midnight Sunday showed 28 killed in traffic accidents, four in fires and two drownings.

Two others were asphyxiated in their car, one was killed in a plane crash, one in a hockey game, a young girl was killed when she was caught in a piece of machinery on her family's farm and a man died when the car he was working under fell on him.

The 28 traffic deaths, coupled with 30 during the week, brought to 531 the number of people killed on Canadian roads this year. No snowmobile fatalities were reported, leaving the number of deaths so far this year at 85.

Quebec had the highest accidental death toll with 10 persons killed in traffic and one in a fire. Ontario reported six deaths, three in traffic, two in fires and the death of a two-year-old girl caught in a piece of machinery.

In British Columbia, two persons were killed on highways, two were asphyxiated and two others drowned.

Saskatchewan reported three persons killed in automobile mishaps and another in a plane crash while Alberta showed two killed in traffic and a 12-year-old boy who swallowed his mouth guard after being hit with a puck in a hockey game.

In Manitoba, four persons were killed in car accidents.

New Brunswick reported one person killed on its highways and a man killed after the car he was working on fell on him.

In Nova Scotia, three were killed on highways and one in a fire while Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island were fatality free.

The survey does not include industrial accidents, known suicides or slayings.

Trudeau faces crucial motion

OTTAWA (CP) — The Trudeau government enters the Commons today facing a Conservative motion carefully worded to turn the New Democrats against the Liberal minority.

The NDP holds the Commons balance of power. It has 31 seats, the Liberals 109, the Conservatives 107, Social Credit 15 and there are two independents in the 264-seat House.

The government has survived with continued NDP support against persistent Conservative attacks.

But the Conservative motion tabled Friday, up for debate today and to be voted on tonight, pushes the NDP tightly up against its principles. It reads:

"That this House condemns the sale by the government on July 27, 1972 ... of the whole of the capital stock of Poly ner Corp. Ltd., to the Canada Development Corp."

STRONG CRITICS

The NDP has been strongly critical of the sale of Poly ner, a profitable Crown corporation that makes synthetic rubber, to the CDC.

But party leader David Lewis would not say Friday which way his party would swing on the vote although there were unofficial hints it would again support the government.

A defeat would constitute a vote of non-confidence in the government, whose resignation would be expected.

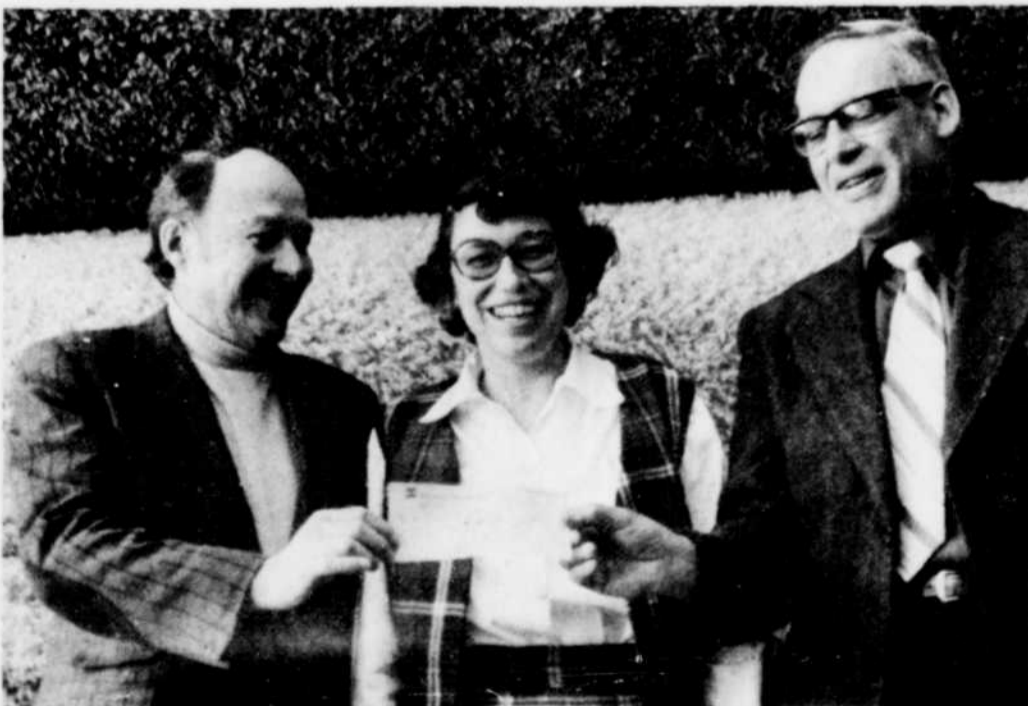

Should that happen, the governor-general could call on the Conservatives to form a government or the country could be plunged into another federal election.

The feeling among Commons observers Friday was that the NDP would swallow its pride and stay with the government. Some members feel there still is too much work left undone—such as old age pension increases—for the NDP to sink the government now.

Assuming that the government emerges unscathed, as is likely, the House Tuesday will consider again bills to raise old age pensions to $100 a month from $82.88 and provide a proportionate increase in war veterans' allowances.

The bills are expected to be passed before the end of the day.

Liberal House Leader Allan MacEachen said Friday he intends to proceed next, probably Wednesday, with the foreign investment review bill.

HAPPY WINNER — A cheque for $400 was presented to the winner of The Record's Spring Contest at Lennoxville Building Supplies Friday. The happy winner is Edgar Caron of Moe's River.

Presenting the cheque on behalf of The Record is advertising manager Norm Nicholl and on hand for Lennoxville Building Supplies is Pat Ball.

Books irk Vatican

ROME (AP) — Italians snapped up copies of Sex and Confession on Saturday while the Vatican said any bookstore owners selling it are automatically excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church.

The book, based on tape-recorded faked "confessions" before Roman Catholic priests, was already sold out at two of Rome's major bookstores after being on sale for less than a day.

Reacting against what the Vatican called "soul spies," Pope Paul ordered the excommunication of anyone who, as did the authors of Sex and Confession, tape-records Roman Catholic confessions.

In an explanation of the Pope's ruling, the Vatican Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith said that "whoever contributes to the diffusion and distribution" of the book also will be excommunicated.

Vatican spokesman Federico Alessandrini said this means the ruling applies to owners of bookstores and magazines and to radio and television stations that make the work public.

The order was not extended to those who buy the book, he added, or to workers who printed it or journalists who report on it. Bookstore owners had mixed reactions to the ruling.

Billy Graham racist?

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A group of ministers representing three Minnesota organizations has accused Dr. Billy Graham of racism in suggesting that convicted rapists be castrated.

The critics say they will withdraw support of a summer crusade scheduled by the Baptist evangelist for the Minneapolis-St. Paul area unless he retracts remarks attributed to him at a news conference in Johannesburg, South Africa.

An aide to Graham at Johannesburg said Saturday in response to the threat to withdraw support for the crusade that "as a matter of policy, Dr. Graham does not reply to that sort of criticism—not publicly anyway."

The statement of denunciation was signed by nine ministers of the Minnesota Baptist convention including its president, Rev. Amos C. Brown, and the president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, Rev. Curtis Herron.

Also signing it was Dr. Alton M. Motter, executive director of the Minnesota Council of Churches.

"Though we respect Dr. Graham as a great Christian leader, we are convinced that his statement is both irresponsible and completely out of step with New Testament Christianity," the statement said.

The clergymen contended it was "racism" to call for castration of convicted rapists "because castration has long been the torture inflicted by whites upon blacks. It has been blacks who have been castrated and not whites and Dr. Graham should know this."

Milby W.I.

The annual meeting of the Milby W.I. was held March 1, 1973, at the home of Mrs. Roy Sutor.

The President, Mrs. Dorothy Green, opened the meeting with members repeating the Collect, and singing the Ode.

Mrs. Olive Painter, Sec'y, read the minutes of the previous meeting, and cards of thanks from two members, one enclosing a donation of $5.

The Treasurer reported receipts and bills paid for the current month.

Health and Welfare reported a member, Mrs. Fairbrother, as being ill in hospital, for whom flowers were to be sent. Get-well cards were signed by members.

Mrs. W.J. Beattie, auditor, read her report and was thanked by Mrs. Green for her fine work.

The annual reports were then given. The Secretary, Mrs. Olive Painter, gave a comprehensive account of the year's activities — the outstanding features being the catering to two weddings, participation in W.I. Booth Sales at Sherbrooke Fair, and the two day tour to Ottawa. Eleven meetings were held with an average attendance of thirteen. Four members had perfect attendance. All members felt 1972-1973 to have been a successful year.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Roy Sutor, gave an itemized report — special mention to amount of $432.40 proceeds from catering wedding receptions. At this date $478.80 is bank balance.

Agriculture Convener, Mrs. Donald Coates, had sponsored a Gloxinia Contest for the members. Mrs. Roy Sutor winning first prize.

A demonstration on the care and arrangement of flowers was given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vaudry greatly appreciated by all.

Three members attended the Food and Agriculture Fair at Place Bonaventure, and reported interesting facts about nutrition and cooking. Assistance was given in preparing exhibits for judging at the School Fair.

Education Convener, Mrs. Eldora Turner, reported the Cornelia - Orr Scholarship of $25 was presented to Miss Zeta Muller of A.G.R.H.S. on behalf of the Milby Group by Mrs. Turner. Twenty dollars was donated to Lennoxville Elementary School for hot lunches.

Mrs. Ursula Wiley, of the Lennoxville School Staff, gave an interesting and knowledgeable talk to our group on Modern Methods of Teaching Special Ed. to motor and mental handicapped children.

Citizenship Convener, Mrs. Eug. Naylor, sketched briefly the two day tour of Ottawa — including the Parliament Buildings and Laurier House.

Eight dollars collected for Pennies for Friendship.

Poppies were given the Senior Citizens at Grace Christian Home where the November meeting was held, and refreshments served when meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Roscoe Patrick, for Home Economics reported $38.50 received for Calendar Socks. A satisfactory sum was netted from sales at W.I. Booth at the Sherbrooke Fair.

A "favorite hobby" Exhibition was held at which were displayed knitted and embroidered articles, shell craft, ceramics, and collections.

By Ann Landers

Sick results from good advice

Dear Ann Landers: I live in a small town in South Dakota but we have a good high school paper. It carried a neat poem called "Try Something Different." The philosophy made sense so I thought I'd put it to work. Here's the beginning:

"Pet a dog. Call up an old friend. Smile at a bus driver. Lower your voice."

I made up my mind to pet the first dog I saw. It was a black Doberman (no leash). He snapped at me and scared me half to death. It's a good thing I was wearing thick leather gloves.

Then I called up an old friend. He didn't remember me. I felt like two cents waiting for change.

The same day I smiled at the bus driver. He said, "No funny stuff. Just drop in the coin. Nobody rides free on my bus."

When I got home I decided to lower my voice like the poem said. My mother yelled, "You've caught a cold. I told you those mini-skirts would give you pneumonia."

I think I'm a born loser. What do you think? —Peace And Love Dear P and L: Not necessarily. Some days are like that. Hang in there and pet a dog, call up an old friend, smile at a bus driver—er—uh—

Dear Ann Landers: Ten years ago, when I was 20 and hoping to get married, people were giving me the same tired line: "Relax—don't be in a rush. He'll come along." Since then I've spent a few thousand nights alone and have put together some hard-learned advice for the single girl. In my opinion, it is far more practical than yours. Here it is:

Don't let anyone, not even Ann Landers, tell you that you have the rest of your life to find the right guy. By the time you are 30, "the right guy" is married or dating girls under 25.

Stop kidding yourself about why you are finishing last. If you were really interested in meeting men you wouldn't be working around women all day long. Why not get out of notions or cosmetics? Switch to the men's underwear department.

And what about after hours? Do you sit home with the TV night after night or laugh it up with the girls? Every city has night classes, political groups, hobby clubs. Pick something that appeals to you—and to men.

Don't compare yourself to women who are fatter, sloppier and uglier, and wonder why they are married and you aren't. Looks mean nothing compared with the responses you create in a man. When you get a chance to go out, do you show a genuine interest in the guy? Do you ask questions and let him talk about himself? Or is he just a sucker who will pick up the tab?

Finally, does being a "good" girl mean avoiding warm relationships and keeping all men at arm's length? If so, you're creating your own roadblocks to marriage and could profit from some counseling. That "old maid" who wrote sounded like me ten years ago. Good luck to her.—C.M.H.

Dear C.M.H.: I support every word of your letter—yes, even the part about being a "good" girl. I'm not suggesting that hopping in bed will enhance her chances; in fact, often it does just the opposite. But I agree that an "unclaimed jewel" in her mid-20's who is incapable of a warm relationship with a man may need professional counseling in order to help her thaw out and free up the channels of communication. The touch-me-not, super-puritanical female who comes off as a paragon of virtue may be so crippled by fear and guilt that she needs therapy.

ASTRO-GUIDE

Tuesday, March 27
The Day Under Your Sign

ARIES (Born March 21 to April 19): You feel inner contentment as a result of having won a battle over self. You deserve a reward.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Your most secret objective may be attained and you feel overjoyed. But don't relax your efforts just yet.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Although you don't see eye-to-eye on some matters, you can reach agreement without too much fuss.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Wait a little longer. This is not an auspicious time to trash out employment problems.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Career advances thru good will of an influential friend. You can offer repayment in some way.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Grasp hand that is extended in friendship even though you aren't in a particularly gregarious mood.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Tangible rewards make this a special day. Honors are yours, but money in the bank gives you real security.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Tangible rewards make this a special day. Honors are yours, but money in the bank gives you real security.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You won't have time to brood over fancied slights or snide remarks if you keep busy all day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Although new ideas exhilarate you, you seem to lack the follow-through necessary to make it work.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Don't pre-judge people or situations. There may be hidden factors which make the picture unclear.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): When we make a move as important as how we make it. Results may not be immediate, so be ready for disappointment.

Bail hearing is postponed

SHERBROOKE (JD) — Mr. Justice William Mitchell postponed a hearing for bail in the case of Constant Loisele until stenographic transcripts of the preliminary hearing are available.

Loisele, 28, of South Stukely, is charged with attempted murder on the person of Const. Richard Frechette, Q.P.F., following a robbery at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, North Hatley February 16, 1973.

The accused was arrested near St. Paul d'Abbotsford, February 26.

Claude Leveille, representing the accused, said although he had a long record he had never failed to appear for a hearing, furthermore Loisele could furnish either cash or property as security.

Special Crown Prosecutor Pierre Boily objected to bail on the gravity of the crime, and suggested it could have been a charge of qualified murder had the constable been killed. "Loisele had just been released from prison when he committed the offence," he said.

Judge Mitchell bound Loisele over until the transcripts are available for study.

Injunction served

COWANSVILLE (TS) — Paul Gaumont, sheriff for the judicial District of Bedford, served an interlocutory injunction on the United Textile Workers of America through the offices of the union local here Thursday. The temporary injunction, served on Jean-Marc Couture, forbids the union to further picket the Bruck Club, Main street.

The injunction further forbids union members to interfere with the passage of any non-union Bruck personnel entering or leaving the club, and further prohibits them from occupying or damaging the club. Furthermore, they are forbidden to threaten anyone else having business at the club. The request for the injunction will be heard in District of Bedford Superior Court, Sweetsburg, early this week. The injunction did not enjoin the union members from picketing the plant.

Evans trio to play here

SHERBROOKE (WM) — The Lee Evans Trio, in concert at the University of Sherbrooke, Tuesday, April 3, will offer their unique interpretations of music ranging from pop to show music to classical favorites.

Lee Evans' music, up-tempo, up-beat renditions of music of all types has a tremendously popular appeal which has had audiences throughout the world clamoring for more. This has been attributed to his knack of presenting great pop music with no flimsy tricks, recognizable melodies with a compelling rhythmic beat and familiar tunes treated in a new way.

Since 1962, the trio has made series of concert tours and appeared on television shows both here and in the United States a number of times. The accomplished pianist has also produced four long playing records, the most recent pungently named Cinnamon and Cloves.

ICE CAPADES IN MINIATURE — These miniature skaters in costumes form a behind the scenes doll troupe for the Ice Capades skating group. They too travel but ahead of the real stars as advance publicists. Dianne Morrison, publicity agent for the Ice Capades displayed them for this photograph.

Family fun on ice here

SHERBROOKE (WM) — The fabulous Ice Capades are on their way to Sherbrooke. Opening Wednesday at the Sports Palace, skating stars in dazzling costumes will enchant audiences with their bewitching fairy tale productions, exotic adventure and unique comedy and specialty numbers.

Highlights of the Ice Capades program will be Pufnstuf and his crazy friends spinning a whimsical tale of adventure, in Zap, Here's H.R., Pufnstuf; Mandrake the Magician in Mandarin Magic; A Ding-A-Ling World, capturing the spirit of all the kooky and spooky things in life, and Underworld, a depiction of the underworld of the 1930's with all its shady dealings.

Comedy and specialty numbers are interspersed throughout the Ice Capades show. The remarkable Romano family will peddle through the World of Wheels with their incredible bicycle act and laughter and fun is provided by comedian Hans Leiter.

Also on hand to spice the show with comedy sequences is boisterous and talented ice pantomimist Terry Head and a new comedy team.

The performances at the Sherbrooke Sports Palace will begin Wednesday, March 28, at 8 p.m. and continue until Sunday, April 1. Matinees will be given at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The last performance, on Sunday, will begin at 6 p.m.

Jury finds husband not guilty

SHERBROOKE (JD) — A sigh of relief stole through Court of Queen's Bench Friday, when the foreman of the 12-man jury announced a verdict of not guilty in the case of Ignace Jutras.

Jutras, 59, of Asbestos, was charged with manslaughter in the death of his wife, Marcelle, at their home in Asbestos, April 29, 1971. Mrs. Jutras died at D'Youville hospital July 15, 1971. She allegedly succumbed to a trauma caused when she was either hit or fell in a scuffle with her husband. This was Mr. Jutras' third trial.

The first was cancelled due to the provincial civil servants' strike, the second declared nolle prosequi when a prime crown witness could not appear due to illness. The act of indictment stated Mrs. Jutras died in Asbestos, April 29, 1971, as the result of blows.

Defence attorney Raymond Frechette, in his summation, told the jury they had heard testimony regarding her prior medical history. "She fell from a third-storey balcony in 1938, he heard evidence that 25 years later she passed out three times in public places, and in one instance required medical assistance to bring her around after she had been unconscious for 45 minutes," he stated.

Mr. Frechette then indicated both medical experts, Dr. Maurice Heon, a neuro-surgeon, and Dr. Claude Beachesne, the pathologist who performed the autopsy, came to one conclusion: "Mrs. Jutras died from one trauma caused by a single blow. Both doctors agree the trauma was the cause of the death, and they agree it is medically impossible to determine the cause of the trauma. They said it could have been caused by a blow, or by falling or hitting a solid object. If they don't know, and they are experts, how are we to know," he said.

The only conclusive evidence to what happened that night was provided by the accused.

He then reviewed events leading to the incident. "Mrs. Jutras was absent from the house for 10 days. She left her husband without a set of keys. Upon her return, she enters the house with his safety deposit box in her hands, cooks her own supper, ignoring her husband, a man on medical leave from his employer for 35 years.

"The following day she goes out to the hairdresser, returns with their granddaughter who is selling raffle tickets, they both purchase some, and the child returns to her home. Again Mrs. Jutras cooks her own supper and lets her husband fend for himself. After supper, he goes to his daughter's house to revive his spirits."

"He returns home to watch television when his wife enters the room. He takes the opportunity to ask her if he can borrow her house keys to have a set made, she replies 'no'. After the first period of the hockey game, he went into the kitchen to smoke his pipe in his rocking chair. Again he asks about the keys, she still refuses to allow him to borrow them."

"At this point he tells her he never wants to see her friends from Warwick in the house. She retorts she prefers Mr. Plourdes, then assaults him."

"I was in my rocking chair, testimony continued when she jumped on me, the rocker went back under the cupboard I hit a suspended flower pot, then the wall. I pushed her off me. Everything went blank. When I came to she was on the floor. I wanted to call the police but I was too nervous so I went to my daughter's home — Mrs. Lise Boulay — I told her I had quarrelled with her mother who was on the floor and still breathing. I asked her to come to the house, she said she couldn't, however, she called the police and an ambulance. When I returned to the house the police were there."

Mr. Jutras then indicated things were hazy, he admitted to having taken twice the normal dosage of the medication for his nervous condition, and he passed out in Asbestos Police Sgt. Marcel Lavigne's car, and woke up the following day in St. Vincent-de-Paul Hospital.

His testimony placed Mrs. Jutras to the left of a coffee table, her trauma causing death was in the left lobal area. Police testimony indicated they had to move the table to place Mrs. Jutras on a stretcher when they removed her from the dwelling.

Mr. Frechette cited a witness who had helped effect a reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. Jutras in 1963. His first criteria was to know if Jutras was a Christian. The reconciliation was prompted by Mrs. Boulay's request.

"She was on her hands and knees begging Mr. Jutras' forgiveness, and she promised to give up her previous ways. Only a God-fearing and loving husband would have reacted the way Mr. Jutras did when he took her back."

He speculated the injury to Mrs. Jutras could have been caused by her hitting her head on the edge of the cupboard, the coffee table, or the floor when Mr. Jutras pushed her off him. There was no indication of a blow being struck, and she was the aggressor.

Mr. Frechette said the jury had four options: guilty as charged, acquittal, or reduced charges of grievous assault, or simple assault. The prime question was: "was it an accident?" His summation took one-and-a-half hours.

Crown Prosecutor Michel Cote, in his brief summation, told the jury the case was built on circumstantial evidence, as the accused was the sole witness. He cited the testimony of Doctors Heon and Beachesne, the latter attributing death to damage to the white matter of the brain, and that this damage was caused by a trauma.

Mr. Cote cited the accused's testimony to his daughter, the number of hits reported in the preliminary medical report, suggesting they could not have been caused by either one fall or one hit, and the fact the victim had blood on his hands.

One piece of evidence, Mr. Cote considered highly important was the cluster of Mrs. Jutras' hair found on the seat of Mr. Jutras' rocking chair, as well as on the floor. "Does hair fall out by itself?"

"Even nice men sometimes lose their tempers," was his conclusion.

Mr. Justice William Mitchell, in his charge to the jury, told them they were the masters of the facts, any punishment would come from the bench. "You must render your verdict solely on the evidence you heard in the court. The crown must prove beyond all reasonable doubt the accused committed the crime with which he is charged. If you have any doubts they must be in favor of the accused."

Campus search prompts charges

LENNOXVILLE (GH) — Michael Steidl, 21, and Ian Buchanan, 19, students of Bishop's University here, were charged with possession of marijuana.

Merlin Algar, 20, also studying at Bishop's, was charged in absentia with possession and possession for purposes of trafficking marijuana.

A date for preliminary hearings had not as yet been set. Police are waiting for a lab report on articles found. The charges are out on bail.

How's Your Hearing?

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Write to Dept. 5070, Beltone Electronics, 3637 Metropolitan Blvd., E., Montreal 38, P. Q.

RCMP constables N.A. Dionne and D. Lafleur conducted the search. They entered the first block of Kuehner Hall residence with several search warrants in the early evening of Thursday, March 15. They drove onto the campus in unmarked cars and were wearing leather coats and had attache cases, informed sources said.

"When we entered one of the rooms, there were eight or nine people sitting around. Most were smoking pot, said Constable Dionne. Hashish, marijuana, and a pipe were found in the room."

Sources reported that the search was conducted in an effort to find the heavy pushers of the area. After the first arrest, word spread like wildfire and many of the people in question were not to be found.

Scales, drugs, and a large sum of money in small bills were found in Merlin Algar's room. He was not present at the time of the search.

ANTI POLLUTION DEVICE — This is the new compression unit which B.F. Goodrich plant in Waterville has installed. This replaces the black smoke which used to rise from the Waterville dump polluting the atmosphere and creating an ugly black eyesore over the peaceful Eastern Townships countryside.

Upsetting photo results in area company clean-up

WATERVILLE — Roger Smith of B.F. Goodrich Ltd. was disturbed two years ago when he saw a photograph in The Record of black smoke belching from the Waterville dump where the company used to burn its waste rubber products.

This graphic evidence of the air pollution the company was causing concerned him so much that in fact he vowed if he were ever to become general-manager of the plant he would make every possible effort to provide other systems of disposing of the waste rubber.

In September, 1971, Roger Smith became general-manager of the B.F. Goodrich plant in Waterville and recently a mechanism was installed which eliminates the need to burn the rubber in the town dump, thereby getting rid of a great deal of the air pollution in the area.

The new system of disposing of the waste rubber material is to compress it in a huge steel bin and transport it some 25 miles to a large farm where it is interred. The buried rubber will eventually decompose with no adverse affects to the substance of the soil. Mr. Smith assured the Record yesterday.

The plant which compresses the rubber goods and other waste products into the steel bin for transportation cost the company approximately $35,000. The cost of moving the bins full of compressed waste is, in addition, about $1500 a month.

Mr. Smith, however, asserted yesterday that he did not regret the decision to undertake the new project.

"It has got rid of a lot of the air pollution in our area and with the municipality's new system of burying rather than burning garbage, there is no more air pollution in Waterville," he commented.

The company had investigated the possibility of recycling the waste rubber products but it was found to be impracticable

The price of power

For the doubtful privilege of office the Canadian government has paid a high price to the New Democratic Party, but that price is still too low, according to Stanley Knowles, Winnipeg MP. In a recent interview Mr. Knowles is quoted as saying that the Liberals have done "a lot of things we demanded but not nearly enough. They'll have to do a lot more. By giving us this, and allowing us that, they're only buying time because they really haven't changed in their divine-right-of-power thinking, and they haven't given us enough."

"They've got to stop governing," Mr. Knowles added, "as if they were born to power and become immediately more responsible to our demands, which are the popular demands of the taxpaying public at large, the voters."

These threats come from probably the most respected socialist in Parliament — if the government refuses to increase its Danegeld the NDP will soon defeat it in what Mr. Knowles call "a quick and natural death from lack of support." The government thus faces political blackmail by 31 members in a Parliament of 264, a travesty of the whole democratic process. How long and how far will the government yield to it? And if it continues to yield, how long will the public retain any confidence not only in the government but in Parliament itself?

The methods of the NDP are crude and not even candid. For if, as Mr. Knowles says, his party's views have the support of "the public at large," why are they afraid to take their case to the voters for approval? If Mr. Knowles thinks that the public cannot see through such a transparent bluff, he rates its intelligence too low.

Since the NDP has no chance of winning an election and rightly fears a loss of seats, the voters are more interested, as a practical matter, in the position of the Conservative party, which is disappointing, to say the best of it.

After long agonies of indecision, Robert Stanfield at last found the courage to announce a two-sided economic policy. On the one hand, he proposes to inflate the nation's money supply and vastly increase its budgetary deficit. On the other, he would check the resulting inflation by direct wage-profit controls. But having crossed a wide Rubicon and perhaps burned his boats of labor union support, he has not dared yet to put his policy to a vote in Parliament.

None of his want-of-confidence motions, so far, has sought to divide the House of Commons on the specific issue of controls. Instead, Mr. Stanfield has resorted to general motions attacking the government's budget, with the vain hope that the NDP would vote against policies that it has so long condemned. What is Mr. Stanfield afraid of? If he believes in controls, why not propose them in definite form and compel all parties to declare for or against? Surely the public is entitled to know where each of them stands on such an urgent question.

Until recently the public thought it knew, at least, where the government stood. Its rejection of controls was stated over and over again. In the last few days, however, the government has become even more ambiguous than the official opposition. It says that controls will not work and, besides, that they require, for constitutional reasons, the backing of the provinces, which refuse to co-operate in their enforcement.

But now the government says it has a "contingency plan" of controls to be imposed, without notice, whenever it is deemed necessary. An unworkable and legally dubious policy will suddenly become workable and safe in the courts as soon as the government so decides.

The question, then, is how the government defines a contingency and times its cure. In the mind of the ordinary Canadian that question has been answered already. When retail prices rose in February at an annual rate of 7.2 per cent, as against last year's total rise of 5.1 per cent, the contingency had reached every household budget and further shrunk all fixed savings in Canada.

From swamp to swarm to machinery

By JOE WILL

FORT McMURRAY, Alta. (CP) — Thirty miles along the Athabasca River from this northern town trees and brush have been cleared from acres of land and a dragline is clawing a trench out of the Athabasca oil sands.

The huge machine, appearing insignificant compared with the miles of wilderness, may not be alone in the muskeg much longer.

It might soon be surrounded by a swarm of people and a multi-million-dollar plant that would be the second commercial venture to extract synthetic crude oil from the sands, 250 miles northeast of Edmonton.

The dragline is part of studies by Syncrude Canada Ltd. to determine whether the plant will be economical.

The first commercial extraction plant at the sands, the Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd. (GCOS) project that went into production in the fall of 1967, has lost $90 million in its first six years of operation.

The proposed Syncrude plant is a modified form of a scheme that first came before the Alberta Energy Resources Conservation Board in 1963. It was rejected then because of insufficient oil markets and the adverse effect synthetic crude would have on conventional oil production.

The market situation has since reversed and the trend is to an ever-increasing petroleum price and demand, making the sands more attractive despite their technical obstacles.

Syncrude, the operating consortium for four United States-based oil companies, first received permission in 1969 to extract 80,000 barrels of petroleum products daily from the sands and this was increased to 125,000 barrels in late 1971.

Syncrude President Frank Spragins said that "during the last three or four years the estimated cost of the plant has more than doubled."

Original estimates were as low as $300 million. They now go to $650 million, but final costs are impossible to calculate precisely until the plant is finished.

Mr. Spragins noted that the price of oil has risen 55 cents a barrel, or about 20 per cent, in the last couple of years but this increase did little other than match the rate of inflation.

A pipeline is the logical method of getting the plant's production into the east-bound oil flow at Edmonton, but details have yet to be determined.

John Barr, Syncrude public relations director, said the 16-inch pipeline used by GCOS is unable to handle Syncrude's production as well.

Consideration was being given to a larger line that would serve as a common carrier for more than one plant.

Such a move and the existence of two lines would open the way to separate marketing of some petroleum fractions that are produced during bitumen refining but now are blended into the synthetic crude.

Although Syncrude will not have to pioneer a new technology, in that GCOS already has a plant operating 10 miles away, the two operations will not be the same.

Basic differences are in the method of mining the sand and in coking the bitumen once it has been separated from the sand.

GCOS uses bucketwheel excavators, which have caused problems, to strip-mine the sand and conveyor belts to move it to the plant. Syncrude plans to have draglines to strip the overburden and mine the sands, with six electric trains carrying the sand to the plant.

The proposed draglines would be able to scoop up 125 cubic yards of material at a time, compared with the 17 yards the test unit can move. The smaller dragline is being used to measure bank stability and the depth of freezing into the mine face in bitter winter cold.

Coking, which removes the heavy end from the bitumen and reduces it by about one-quarter, would be done in two continuous cokers in the Syncrude plant. GCOS uses a batch system.

GCOS uses the coke to generate the hot water and steam used in the plant's operation while Syncrude plans to stockpile the coke and use natural gas and plant gases for fuel.

The government, when giving approval to Syncrude, required the company to give Albertans a chance to invest in the scheme, appoint one Canadian who is an Alberta resident as a director, and whenever possible use Alberta materials, labor and engineering skills. The government also gave Syncrude until Aug. 31, 1973, to decide on whether to go ahead with the plant.

Mr. Spragins said the company has "no hangups" about the conditions and dismissed as emotional and uninformed criticism that the company was not using sufficient Alberta engineers.

"To us, it's simple economics: hiring a local engineer costs less."

Syncrude has to pay hotel and living expenses for an out-of-town engineer. Seventy per cent of the engineers in the first phase of planning are from Alberta. Mr. Spragins said.

During construction the plant would employ about 2,200 men and Mr. Barr said "it is yet to be seen if we will be able to find that number in Alberta."

In addition to other problems, Syncrude faces uncertainty of regulation.

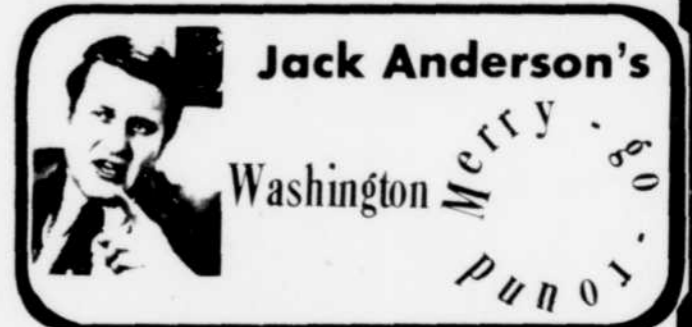

The Alberta government is redrafting its oil sands policy which covers such aspects as rate of development, use of byproducts, royalty rates and local benefits.

Bill Dickie, minister of mines and minerals, said the revised policy would probably be announced in the spring. Syncrude is 90 per cent owned by Imperial Oil Ltd., Atlantic Richfield Co., and Canada-Cities Service Ltd. with equal 30-per-cent shares and Gulf Oil Canada Ltd. with a 10-per-cent interest.

In the 12 to 13 years since the companies first started work on the sands project, about $45 million has been spent in preparatory work, Mr. Spragins said.

"Why don't you apply for a grant? For once, you've got what it takes."

Fortissimo fiascos

WASHINGTON — Visiting foreign dignitaries have been affronted by American military bands, which have hit the wrong notes in their national anthems. For the official U.S. arrangements of many foreign anthems contain blaring musical errors.

Only the keen eye of a Navy musician, for example, prevented a national insult to the Red Chinese. He found mistakes that would have made the official U.S. rendering of China's anthem sound like a grammar school recital.

But false notes in the Netherlands anthem, unhappily, weren't caught in time. A Netherlands delegate to a high-level NATO ceremony at Norfolk, Va., last year winced as a U.S. military band blared out the wrong notes.

With commendable restraint, the Dutch delegate murmured a mild objection to an American colleague. A quick investigation revealed errors in the official printed score. The unintended insult was particularly upsetting because the Dutch anthem is the "dean of anthems." It's the oldest still in use, based on a 16th century folk tune.

SOUR NOTES

To prevent another fortissimo fiasco, the Navy worked quietly with the Netherlands embassy to arrange a new score without the offending notes. But sources with an ear for music tell us there are more sour notes in the Navy's arrangements, which are used by other military bands and circulated unofficially to music stores, college bands and even bands in foreign lands.

We called upon the National Symphony's anthem arranger, Dr. Victor King, to check over a few of the more than 100 anthems published at the taxpayers' expense. He found errors ranging from false notes to missing slurs. There were even some improperly constructed chords.

King, who has arranged and published 158 national anthems, told us he feared the errors would reach the hundreds if he went through the Navy's entire portfolio.

His survey for us showed that in the controversial West German anthem, "Deutschland Lied," better known to Americans as "Deutschland Über Alles," the timing is off in the baritone horn part.

DUBIOUS RENDERINGS

The Hungarian anthem has several false notes and a wrong chord in the conductor's score, among other mistakes and dubious renderings. The parts for saxophones, horns, trombones and oboes all have mistakes.

The Polish hymn, for which the proud Poles have been willing to shed blood, was published with a false note and renderings that even the Navy now listens to with a critical ear.

Some of the musical misprints, we learned, have been corrected by errata sheets, which unfortunately haven't caught up with the original erroneous scores.

The Navy's ill-fated venture into anthem publishing dates back to the 1940s when there were more than a thousand service bands. Each needed arrangements to serenade the foreign dignitaries who visited their bases. The Navy tried to oblige.

The problems were enormous. Some lands had only piano scores, some only scores written in do-re-mis. Others used instruments unknown to American bands — "pistons," a sort of cornet.

TOO MUCH

The South American scores were for cavalry bands, thus had no parts for flutes, bassoons, slide trombones and other instruments played with two hands.

From dozens of mushrooming new nations came anthems of all musical varieties. It was simply too much for the Navy which is geared to man battleships, not wield grace-note pens.

An effort was made in 1956 to catch and correct some of the sour notes. Now Commander C.C. Owens, who took charge of the anthems a year ago, is working gamely to complete the corrections. But meanwhile, he hopes visiting potentates don't have a musical ear.

Footnote: The Navy insists Dr. King's findings for us are "nitpicking," but admits its anthems contain false notes and other errors. Most couldn't be caught, says the Navy, even by the trained ear. An independent expert, unimpressed, contends the Star Spangled Banner is played differently by various U.S. service bands and no one complains.

Bruce to IBM to Jackson

WASHINGTON — No appointment by President Nixon has been so widely applauded as the President's choice of David K.E. Bruce to head the new U.S. liaison office in Peking. And rightly so! No American has a more remarkable record of public service or is a wiser, more hardheaded yet more gentle and kindly man than David Bruce.

All the same, the sheer rightness of this choice should not be allowed to obscure the other motives that were involved in the process of choosing. The subsidiary motives have a lot to tell us. One motive was the rightness itself. In the subterranean but undying war between the White House and State Department bureaucracies, no one at all could reasonably object to David Bruce.

Another considerably darker motive was the increasing tension in the main world triangle of power, the Peking-Moscow-Washington triangle. It can hardly have escaped the notice of the Moscow leaders that the President is sending to Peking a man who has already served with extreme distinction as ambassador to Paris, Bonn and London. In Moscow, they must see the choice of David Bruce as the strongest kind of affirmation of the unspoken, wholly informal yet vitally important partnership between Peking and Washington.

The immediate object of this partnership is simple enough.

Matter of fact

with Joseph Alsop

This object is to deter a Soviet preventive attack on China. As so often reported in this space, Moscow has been actively preparing such an attack, and at vast cost, for a considerable number of years. But the chances that Moscow will order the attack in the end will obviously be importantly reduced if Washington appears to be standing shoulder to shoulder with Peking.

Although China will be the victim — if there is a victim — U.S. interests are also deeply engaged. On the one hand, the world balance of power, already shaky enough, will be shockingly and dangerously upset if China is subjected to nuclear castration by the Soviet Union. On the other hand, such a Soviet act, so overtly brutal, so grimly militaristic, so coolly defiant of all risks, will surely signal the beginning of a kind of worldwide renewal of the Hitler-time.

An affirmation of the closeness of Peking and Washington is needed at this time for yet another reason, again dark. In brief, the Soviets must obviously make their decision about attacking China before they reach a natural point of no return. The point of no return will be upon them if and when Chinese nuclear progress goes far enough to put a heavy price on a preventive attack.

This point of no return is now getting nearer and nearer. In addition to other important new developments in the Chinese nuclear program, previously reported here, the Chinese are now getting ready to test a supergiant intercontinental ballistic missile, with an even stronger thrust than the Soviets' giant SS-9. Huge silos for the new missile are already being built.

The missile will be capable of putting a five-ton satellite in permanent orbit. Such a satellite can be used for reconnaissance in the Soviet and American manner. But it can also be used for orbiting nuclear bombs. In other words, the Soviets have not a great deal of time left when they can still count on having what our military men call "a safe first strike." Thus the time for deterrence is now.

Nor is that the end of the story, either. In the circumstances above outlined, President Nixon and his inner circle of policy makers are extremely anxious, and for obvious reasons, to seem as evenhanded as possible in their dealings with Moscow as against Peking. This is why the White House has now begun making openly angry noises about the Jackson amendment.

This is the proposal of Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington to deny "most favored nation" trading privileges to Moscow if Moscow persists in making trouble for Soviet Jews who wish to emigrate to Israel. For many reasons, this is discriminatory legislation. But above all, it may also deny the White House its best chance of making Moscow think the U.S. relationship is too valuable to sacrifice.

In other words, the Jackson amendment can destroy the main carrot Washington can offer Moscow in return for refraining from the attack on China that Moscow has been preparing. The selection of David Bruce, by the same token, is part of the stick that goes with the carrot, merely because it affirms the current closeness between Washington and Peking.

So you look behind this impeccable and wholly laudable appointment and you come close to staring straight into the abyss.

Ladies' Guild

SHERBROOKE — The regular meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church hall on Monday evening, March 19.

The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison followed by the singing of the Hymn, "All the Way my Savior Leads Me," after which Mrs. D. Bruce read Psalm 23 from the Psalms for Modern Man. Mrs. D. Savage president, welcomed the members and several guests.

Thank-yous from Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. W. Henderson, and Mrs. E. Sawyer, for cards received when ill and from Mrs. D. Bruce, for a donation to the Sunday School, were acknowledged.

Business on the agenda included plans for a Rummage Sale to be held in the Church Hall on April 12 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Tentative plans for a Mother's Day Tea, to be held on May 10, were scheduled.

Members were reminded of the "Bring and Buy Food Sale" to be held at the April meeting.

Following adjournment of the business part of the meeting, slides of Barbados, California and local events were shown by Miss Alene Morrison. Mrs. G. Jobel expressed the appreciation of the group.

During the social hour that followed refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. Morrison and Mrs. G. Burrington.

SHERBROOKE — On Saturday, March 17, the St. Patrick's Parish of Sherbrooke, held their annual St. Patrick's Day social evening, sponsored by the Parish Council.

Numerous parishioners, families and friends enjoyed the gala evening's entertainment. Mr. Berl Dewar acted as Master of Ceremonies for the evening. Miss Tess Mariasine, of the parish, sang Irish melodies, with everyone joining in.

Following the singing, Mr. E. Couston played the fiddle, accompanied by Mrs. D. Groulx on piano, Mr. R. McCone, mandolin, Mr. L. McCone, spoons. After which the Youth Group of the parish led by Miss J. Ross danced a number of Irish jigs.

The parish hall was gaily decorated for the occasion with shamrock, green and white balloons, cut out leprechauns and hats. The refreshment tables were covered with white and

Benefit card party

ROCK ISLAND — A very successful card party was held on Friday evening, March 9th, in the Stanstead South church hall by the Stanstead North Women's Institute.

This was a benefit for a new stove for the Red Brick school. To add to the card party a food sale was held, and a shamrock designed cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Horace Doyon was sold by tickets after being donated by two W.I. members.

There were 22 tables to play cards of the players' choice.

green table cloths, centred with shamrock plants and green candles.

Mr. Lorne McCone president of the Parish Council, welcomed everyone on behalf of the council.

Winners for bridge were Mrs. Roland Paiement and Mrs. C.W. Pierce. Men's for 500 to Lawrence Dewey and Charles Lawton, women's to Mrs. Melvin Dustin and Mrs. Edgar Hill. For canasta to Mrs. Norman Chamberlain and Mrs. Helene Gratton.

Mrs. W.H. Rudd held the lucky cake ticket. She cut and passed it at the refreshment hour sharing it with all present. Door prizes were claimed by Miss Viola Moranville, Mrs. Ethel Whitecomb, Douglas Johnston and Mark Curtis.

Refreshments were served by members of the Institute Branch. These were planned by the Social committee. The results of the party and the donations received from friends interested in the school house built in 1819 will be made known at the April meeting of the Institute.

Rare death for baboon

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Barney the baboon is dead of nervous exhaustion after a 15-hour romp of freedom in an airline freight warehouse at Hancock Airport here.

The 25-pound ape collapsed Tuesday as animal-control officers looped a noose around his neck as he clung to an overhead steel beam.

Barney, en route to a medical centre here for research purposes, let himself out of his cage Monday night and eluded airline freight handlers for several hours until they gave up the chase for the night.

New efforts to capture him went on for more than two hours Tuesday before the animal fell dead. Workers applied artificial respiration and external heart massage to no avail.

Nurses' alumnae

The Sherbrooke Hospital Nurses' Alumnae Association held its second meeting of the year Tuesday evening, March 20, at the Norton Residence.

Mrs. Watson welcomed Miss Caroline Robertson, Director of Nurses, to the meeting. Business commenced with the reading of different reports to the twelve members present.

Thanks was extended to Miss B. Harrison and all those involved in the recent successful Bridge Party.

It was noted that the Newsletter had been sent out and that the adding of the annual reports had been well received.

A discussion arose pertaining to a Social Evening to be held in the early Fall before the October meeting. Miss Harrison is to look into the matter and report at the May meeting.

A special program is being arranged for the May meeting which will concern the refinishing of antique furniture. Being no further business, the meeting was moved to be adjourned by Miss Whittle.

Delicious refreshments were then served by the hostesses Miss Beverly Harrison, Mrs. Lucy Blair and Mrs. Charles Smith.

The doorprize was won by Miss Caroline Robertson.

Canusa

DERBY LINE — The Stanstead South Church Canusa Unit held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Barry. Ten members gathered in fellowship.

Mrs. Terrence Walsh opened the meeting with a devotion period. The president, Mrs. T.N. Jewett, presided for the business of the evening. Routine reports were heard and approved. As there are several new families in the communities, it was suggested a get-acquainted coffee-hour be held soon. Plans for this will be made and announced after the Canusa Unit meeting in April.

Mrs. R.W. Stokes will host the April 11 meeting at her home at the parsonage in Rock Island at 8:00 p.m.

A social hour followed with refreshments served by Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Rodney Barrup.

Bury

Mrs. Geo. Parsons and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Atkins have returned home after a three weeks holiday spent in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Asker, of Kingston, Ont., were guests on the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dougherty; they also visited old friends in Canterbury while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dougherty accompanied by Mrs. Lionel Martel, Ricky and Carolyn spent a day in Asbestos guest of their daughter Mrs. Letky whose son John was spending a week at his home. John is taking a course at the Sanford Fleming College in Peterborough, Ont.

The card party sponsored by the Bury W.I., held in the Armory on March 14, was well attended. Fourteen tables of cards were played, the prize winners were all ladies.

Highest scores - Mrs. Reggie Thompson - Mrs. Aubrey Batley. Low scores Mrs. Walter Berwick and Mrs. Lottie Matheson. The Brookbury W.I. with their well known reputation as good cooks had a well laden table of delicious food which was soon disposed of.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jones of St. Lambert were weekend guests of the latter's grandmother Mrs. Martin Allison.

Funeral services were held at St. Raphael's church on Thursday, March 15 for Joseph Lapointe whose death occurred on Wednesday March 14. Sincere sympathy is extended to Mrs. Lapointe and family.

Canada's Immigration Regulations have changed.

As of January 1, 1973—all visitors coming to Canada must have an Employment Visa if they intend to work here, or be registered with an Immigration Officer if they intend to visit more than three months.

Those who arrived before January 1, 1973 have until March 31, 1973 to register at a Canada Immigration Centre if they plan to stay beyond March 31. Some will already have legal permission to work here, or stay more than three months. They needn't register until this authorization is to expire.

Exemptions

All Canadian citizens and landed immigrants are, of course, exempt.

All diplomats and visiting Armed Forces personnel performing official duties here are exempt.

Foreign newsmen, visiting businessmen, clergymen, and professional athletes don't need an Employment Visa, but they must register to stay here more than three months.

There are other exemptions: full details are available at any Canada Immigration Centre.

Coming to Canada to work?

Visitors will not be allowed admission to Canada to search for work.

Arrangements for an Employment Visa for a foreign worker can best be made in Canada by the Canadian employer. He should contact the nearest Canada Manpower Centre, which will determine whether Canadian workers are available for the job. The Employment Visa will only be issued if no qualified Canadian citizen or landed immigrant is available.

Penalties

Any violation of the new regulations is an offence, and could result in a fine of up to $500, and/or imprisonment up to six months, and removal from Canada.

Summary

From now on, all visitors must have an Employment Visa to work in Canada; or be registered with an Immigration Officer if they intend to stay here more than three months.

More information is available at any Canada Immigration Centre, and at many Canada Manpower Centres. And the information is free.

Bury correspondent celebrates 87th birthday

By FAY M. RAND
Many of the Sherbrooke Record's subscribers have read articles on various subjects, people, local events - past and present - around the Bury area. As you have noted, no doubt, they were written by Mrs. George Parsons of Bury who recently celebrated her 87th birthday.

She was born on Hardwood Flat and has spent her life in the area. Perhaps you'd like to know more about some of her interests and how proud we are of her. Am I correct in saying she probably has written for the Record for more years than any of the Record's correspondents? She began writing for the Sherbrooke Daily Record (as it was then called) at the age of fifteen, when she wrote her grandfather's obituary in 1900. Since that time she has written 102 obituaries, but only when asked to do so by the family of the deceased. For many years there was no pay for correspondents. For her, it was a way of showing the family concerned, how she felt their loss. I believe she has kept a record of most of these obituaries as well as other articles she has written.

Although not the regular correspondent for Bury until Mrs. R.H. MacRae was unable to carry on, Mrs. Parsons wrote many newsworthy items for the Annual Review as well as bits of history of families in and around Bury, about the Women's Institute, the churches and schools, etc. The Family Herald and Weekly Star, now almost forgotten and unheard of by the younger generation, published a few articles she wrote for them. In 1967 Mrs. Parsons won Honorable Recognition for Writing from the Canadian Women's Press Club. She was placed third in the competition for writing done during that year. Being 81 years old at that time, I think that justifies our pride in her writing.

If you think writing takes up all her time, I'll let you in on a few more of her activities over the years. Mrs. Parsons joined the Bury Women's Institute in 1919 and has been a faithful member and supporter of W.I. work ever since. In 1948 she was honoured with a Life Membership by the Bury branch. She has served as branch president, county president, provincial convener of Home Economics for five years and as provincial treasurer for four years. She has made seven radio broadcasts on behalf of the W.I. on various subjects.

After the A.C.W.W. Conference in Toronto in 1953 she had the privilege of having Mrs. Jean Sawyer, New Zealand's delegate, as her guest for a month. In 1961 she was co-chairman with Mrs. Harold Palmer for the Golden Jubilee of the Quebec W.I. I am sure the Bury W.I. members feel she has brought honour and distinction to their branch because at the County Convention last April they presented her with a 50-year pin.

Because Mrs. Parsons has always taken a keen interest in Compton County, its people and history, she was one of the persons who was instrumental in starting a museum and historical society. With Rev. Dunn of Sawyerville and Mrs. Heatherington of Cookshire, she was interviewed on T.V. about their interests in starting a historical society. The Compton County Historical Society was formed in 1958 and the old Congregational Church in Eaton Corner was chosen as a museum. Mrs. Parsons was their first secretary for about four years.

FOUR GENERATIONS - Seen above is Mrs. George Parsons of Bury and great-granddaughter Shawna Dawes of Winnipeg. Mrs. Parsons has been a Record correspondent for 73 years.

The St. Thomas Church at Bury, on the road leading from Bury to Scotstown burned in July 1943, with all the church records lost in the fire. However Mrs. Parsons' keen memory can tell you about their Church Guild meetings, with bits of humour, sadness and lots of hard work. Their Guild was formed in 1897 and continued until the church burned. She was Guild President for 19 years.

After receiving her diploma from McGill Normal School in Montreal in 1903, she taught school at the Murray School, Bown and Knicky Knocky. It took four months then to receive a diploma. Her mother, years before, received her diploma by writing a one-day examination in Sherbrooke. This is a far cry from the years of college young people must take today to get a teacher's diploma.

"Then," as Mrs. Parsons may say, "we didn't have to study about the two Great Wars and all the world happenings since. So it was easier then." Perhaps it was easier on the head but harder on the feet! For children walked miles to school in all kinds of weather to get an education - no school buses and hot lunches for them!

Raising a family of nine children involves lots of cooking and sewing. Only the necessities were bought, thus Mrs. Parsons learned by trial and error to sew and "make-over" clothes for the family. She taught her seven daughters to cook, sew, knit, crochet and do embroidery which they sometimes exhibited in the children's department of Sherbrooke Fair and at the school fair while she exhibited her work at the County fair. She still exhibits her handiwork at the Cookshire Fair and wins her

Card of Thanks

HODGE - I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends and relatives for being so good to my family while I was a surgical patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital. For cards, gifts, flowers and all who visited me. A special thanks to the Silvester children for my sunshine basket. I also thank Dr. Kinck's nurses and nurses aides on 2nd and 4th floor for the wonderful help and care I received while there. Your kindness will always be remembered.

MRS. LINCOLN HODGE

Mrs. Maude Mossa has returned home from hospital where she underwent surgery on her knee. Her leg is in a cast but she is able to get about with the help of crutches.

After the elections were completed, Mr. Courtemanche asked Mr. Oakley to say a few words. Mr. Oakley in a short speech, thanked the members for showing their confidence in him and emphasized the need of working together as a group to be successful.

The meeting was then adjourned.

Galt cage girls return winners

ST. HYACINTHE (BP) — Zone 14 playoffs headline the sports scene at Alexander Galt Regional High School over the weekend. Four basketball squads competed in the tournament but the senior girls' team came home carrying the only hardware picked up by the local contingent.

The junior boys' squad played their first game at 9 a.m., Saturday against St. Francois. In their second encounter, L'Estrie came out victorious against the Pipers, and eventually took the championship trophy.

Filling in coach Don Caldwell summed up the team's performance, stating, "they didn't play the best that they could have, they just weren't up to potential." Serge Boivin, Ricky Hunt and George Baptist all had good games individually for the Galt team.

Meanwhile, the junior girls' contingent won and lost in their two contests. Estrie felt the blow as the Pipers clinched their first game. Meilleur edged out the AGRHS team in the semi-final game.

Coach Nancy Desormeau was pleased with the team's display, considering it was only their second loss of the campaign. Chris Fitzgerald and Kim Stansbury were the high scorers for the squad on the weekend. St. Francois went on to win the junior title later in the day.

after playing four games in five hours in a very hectic fashion. L'Estrie fell prey to the Galt attack in first round action when they were defeated 35-16.

Boisfranc was the next team pulled under as they suffered a 57-12 thrashing. Carignan was trampled in an onslaught of Galt points when they came to rest on the low end of 55-9 score in semi-final competition.

The Pipersettes again met L'Estrie, this time in the final encounter, but revenge tactics were fruitless as the AGRHS squad never looked back as they took the championship by a twenty-point margin, 39-19.

Karen Cooney led the Galt squad in total points in the tournament with 42, while Barb Coates was three baskets behind with 36. Maureen Hallam ranked third, picking up 28 points in the four games, while Deb McLeod and Sue Berwick netted 24 and 22 respectively for the champs.

"Karen Cooney and Barb Coates played four outstanding games," commented coach Vicki Crook, "we were sorry to be missing Sandy Spaulding. We hope she will be back in time for the provincial tournament."

Mrs. Crook also mentioned that the last game wasn't easy, as the first quarter score read 8-7 for Galt, while at half-time, the Pipersettes held a slim five-point advantage.

Guillon, Slater top skiers

SHERBROOKE (CC) — Chantal Guillon, who fell during the zone finale in Special Slalom competition at Glen Mountain yesterday finished second in the Grand Slalom and captured the women's President Cup for this year's Eastern Townships zone skiing competition.

Nick Slater, skiing for Owl's Head, came in last yesterday but still was able to capture the men's President's Cup from overall points during the eight-race series which started at the beginning of last winter.

Robbie Wallace, Slater's team-mate, followed second in the race for the cup while Peter Bradley, another Owl's Head team member came in third and J.C. Lacaille came in fourth.

Joanne L'Abbe of Sherbrooke CEJEP was runner-up to Guillon while Diane Lanctot and Frances Martin came in third and fourth over the year.

In competition yesterday, Diane Lanctot won combined women's honors with first place finishes in both the grand and special slalom events.

Joanne L'Abbe took second in the Special Slalom and third in the Grand Slalom. Chantal Guillon came in second in the Grand Slalom while Frances Martin captured third spot in the Special.

In the men's competition, Jean Claude Lacaille won the combined event. Marc Andre Lacaille came in second and Mark Nehoslouki ended up third.

Peter Bradley, Michael Chambers and Marc Andre Lacaille ended one-two-three in the Special Slalom while Jean Claude Lacaille, Robbie Wallace and Daniel Gamache captured top three honors in the Grand.

Habs let others do the scrambling

By IAN MACLAINE
 Canadian Press Staff Writer

Buffalo Sabres are probably wondering today what took them so long to unleash their secret weapon on Boston Bruins.

Little Ron Busniuk sparked the food for thought when he handled Boston's Mike Walton with such authority that it drew the Bruin winger's business partner, Bobby Orr, into the battle.

When the altercation was cleared up, Busniuk and Walton each drew five minutes for fighting and Orr—the young Bruins' defensive superstar on whose legs is riding defence of their Stanley Cup championship—got the gate.

But by that time, late in the second period, the Beantowners already owned a 5-0 lead, sparked by two goals from Orr and Phil Esposito's game-opening score at 5:13 that made Boston centre the season's first 50-goal scorer in the National Hockey League.

Boston wound up with a 6-1 victory and a virtual stranglehold on second place in the East Division after New York Rangers ran up against superb goaltending by Cesare Maniago.

who carried Minnesota North Stars to a 2-1 victory.

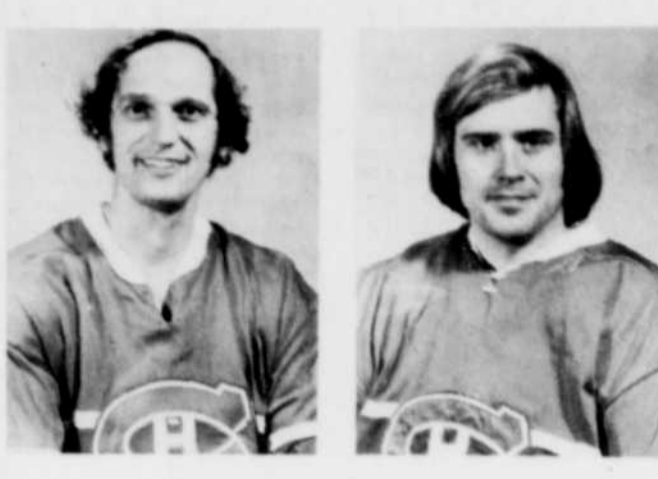

PLANTE BLANKS RANGERS

The Bruins padded their lead over the Rangers to four points after breaking the deadlock Saturday by blanking the New Yorkers 3-0 at Boston behind veteran Jacques Plante's 29 saves.

It marked the 44-year-old Plante's second shutout and fifth victory in six games with the Bruins since being acquired in a late-season trade from Toronto Maple Leafs.

Detroit failed to take advantage of the Buffalo loss by dropping an 8-5 score to California Golden Seals, leaving the Red Wings one point behind Buffalo, fourth in the East.

In other Sunday games, Philadelphia Flyers held a share of second in the West with Blues 4-2. Chicago Black Hawks nipped Montreal Canadiens 6-5 in a meaningless game between division winners. Vancouver Canucks topped Toronto Maple Leafs 7-4 with Don Tannahill scoring three goals, and Pittsburgh Penguins defeated Atlanta Flames 4-2.

JACQUES LAPERRIERE KEN DRYDEN

The surprising Flames were finally eliminated from the West playoff picture Saturday when they were drubbed 7-0 at home by Chicago. Other scores were: Montreal 11 St. Louis 4; Boston 3 Rangers 0; New York Islanders 3 Philadelphia 2; Los Angeles 3 Minnesota 2; Pittsburgh 4 Atlanta 2.

Sweden world champs

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

REGINA (CP) — Sweden won the world curling championship Saturday, upsetting Canada 6-5 in an extra end—an unexpected triumph for skip Kjell Oscarus that was both "the greatest moment in my life" and a moment of sadness.

Sweden's victory in the sudden-death final lost some of its glitter when Harvey Mazinke, 35, the Canadian skip, blew his last shot and Oscarus did not have to throw his last rock.

Describing Mazinke as "one of the greatest curlers in the world," Oscarus said it was "sad that I didn't have to throw my last rock... I would have preferred to win that way."

For Mazinke's Regina rink, which had won 10 straight games to reach the final while Sweden lost twice, it was a heart-breaking defeat.

"It was the biggest game of my life," Mazinke said after losing for only the second time in 81 games this year. It was Canada's first loss in world competition since 1969 when Ron Northcott of Calgary finished with an 8-1 record. Canada has won the title 12 times since it began in 1959.

EXPECTED TO WIN

"We're expected to win," Mazinke said, "but you've got to give credit to the European teams, they're not too far behind... they can make the shots."

The difference in the final, played on sticky ice at Regina Stadium, was in the shot-making of the skips. Oscarus curled 69 per cent, Mazinke 51 in the final game.

The ice had been kept in keen condition for most of the week-long, 10-country tournament, but had soft spots in the centre sheet Saturday, probably from the heat and humidity generated by banks of television lights, marching bands and a sell-out crowd of 4,500.

Oscarus, 29, said luck played a major role in the final contest because of the "swiny, tricking ice."

He said his rink has learned from Canadians. He'd spent "hours in very long conversations" with Canadian skips like Northcott and Don Duguid of Winnipeg "learning strategy."

ENDS STOLEN

The final game was one of the most unusual of the Air Canada Silver Broom Tournament with eight of the 11 ends stolen.

Canada stole the first two and looked ready to put the Swedes in second place.

The Swedes got one in the third and Oscarus stole the next four ends to take a 5-2 lead. Mazinke has never had four ends stolen on him before.

Canada scored in the eighth and stole the ninth and 10th.

In the 11th Mazinke tried to junk the front of the house, but when it came to skip stones there was one Swedish rock in the house and one in front.

Mazinke tried to draw around with his first rock, but fired it through the house. His second shot died and the Swedes were world champions.

Mazinke said the last rock "went flat in my hand... I tried to push it but it didn't work."

PRAISES HIS BROTHER

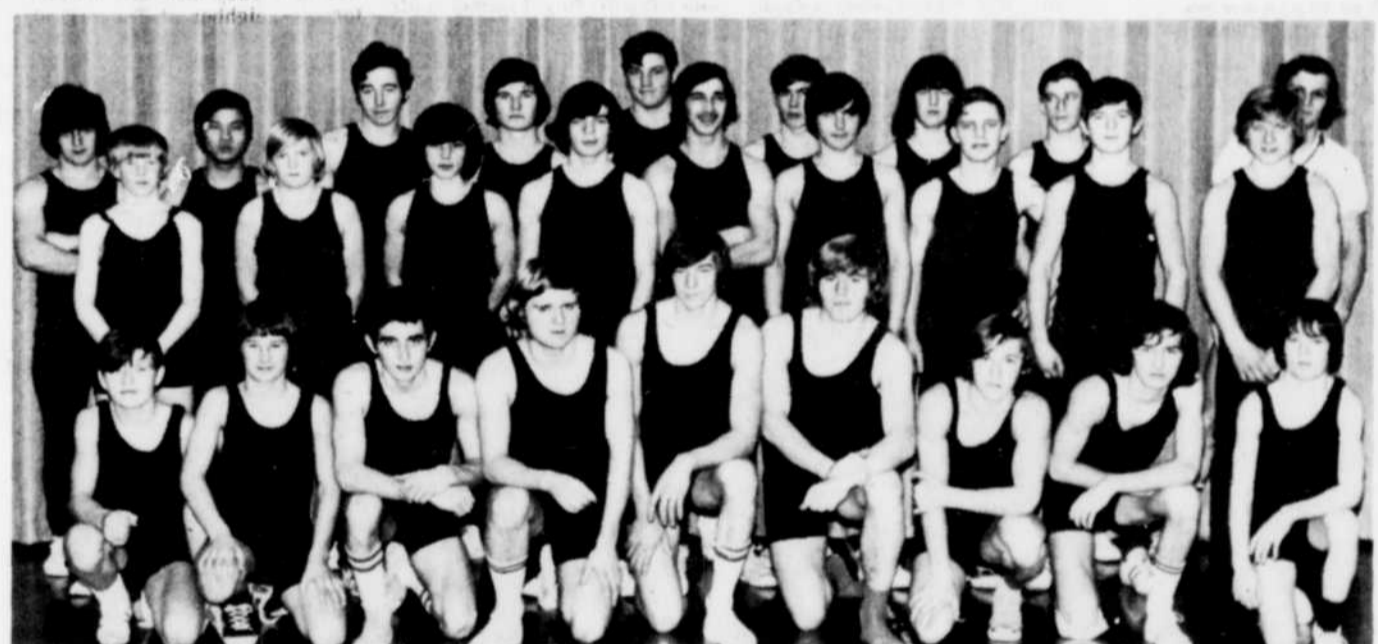

Oscarus said the curling of his brother, third Bengt, made the difference against Canada. Bengt, 27, had a 74 per cent average in the final, just a shade below the 77 per cent of Canadian third Bill Martin.

The other member of the Swedish rink is Lead Claus-Goran (BOA) Karlman, 29. In last year's championship in Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, the same rink had a 0-7 record.

The Canadian lead is Dan Klippenstein, 33, and the second is George Achtymichuk, 37.

The Mazinke rink breezed through the round-robin section of the competition with nine consecutive victories, including an 8-7 win over Sweden, and beat Scotland 6-5 in the semifinals.

Sweden finished the round-robin with a 7-2 record and edged France 6-5 in the semifinals.

Nats keep plugging in WHA east race

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ottawa Nationals, currently the hottest team in professional hockey, continued to surprise their World Hockey Association opposition Sunday.

The Nats, brandishing a fore-checking game that has been noticeably lacking through most of the season, posted their seventh straight win at home and their 10th in 11 league games—6-1 over Minnesota Fighting Saints.

The win moved Nats into a third-place tie with Philadelphia Blazers in the WHA's Eastern Division with 70 points apiece—a seemingly impossible feat a month ago when the Ottawa team was plugging along in the division cellar.

Elsewhere Sunday the scores were: Alberta Oilers 5, Quebec Les Nordiques 4; Winnipeg Jets 8, New York Raiders 4; Cleveland Crusaders 4, Houston Aeros 2; Los Angeles Sharks 1, Chicago Cougars 1.

In Saturday's games, Quebec edged Alberta 5-4 and Minnesota nipped Cleveland 2-1.

Cleveland plays its third game in as many nights tonight when it is host to New England Whalers. Gavin Kirk paced the Nats with two goals as 5,196 Ottawa fans watched. Brian Gibbons, Jack Gibson, Rick Sentes and Rick Cunningham also connected for the Ottawa club. Keith Christiansen tallied the lone Minnesota goal after they fell behind 6-0.

PLAYOFF CONTENDER

Rusty Patenaude's second goal of the game midway through the game at Quebec City gave Alberta its weekend split with Les Nordiques, Ed Joyal, Jim Harrison and Ross Perkins also hit for the Oilers before a crowd listed at 6,730. Bobby Guindon, with two, Renald Leclerc and Alain Caron scored for Quebec.

The win, coupled with Houston's loss, lifted Alberta, fifth in the west, to playoff contention—a point behind the fourth-place Aeros and just three points behind second-place Los Angeles.

Five straight goals brought the Jets from a one-goal deficit in front of 8,184 home fans and ended a Winnipeg winless streak of seven games.

Chris Bordeleau, Norm Beaudin and Danny Johnson scored

TOP NHL SCORERS

For the third straight year, Esposito, a gangly 215-pounder from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., has scored 50 or more goals. He now has a career total of 394—most of them since being traded to the Bruins by Chicago in May, 1967.

His 51st goal later in the game and an assist gave him 122 points for the season, far short of his record-breaking 1970-71 campaign when he scored 76 goals and earned 152 points—both league marks.

Orr, who missed the first 14 games of the season to recuperate from a knee operation and has been reported laboring under the effects of the same injury for most of the season, scored his 25th and 26th of the year.

The last time Maniago was in New York it cost him $100. He made the Rangers pay for it this time.

The fine was levied when he left his goal crease during a fight and the slender 6-foot-4 goalie admitted candidly after Sunday night's game: "I paid it, too."

New York levelled 46 shots at him, 19 in the second period when Dale Rolfe cut into the two-goal lead Minnesota had assembled in the first period by Buster Harvey and Dennis Hex-tall.

"He played some game," said North Stars' coach Jack Gordon. "He had to wait 46 shots."

"Maniago was the whole story tonight," said Emile Francis, New York's general manager-coach.

REACTS TO PRESSURE

Despite the rain of shots, Maniago said the pressure situation was the game itself.

"Sometimes shots don't matter. Sometimes the games themselves involve more pressure," said the 34-year-old native of Trail, B.C.

"We're in the same situation they are," he added. "They want to finish second and so do we."

Two goals apiece from Hilliard Graves and Joey Johnston saddled the Red Wings with their second weekend loss, this time at Oakland, on their current trip to the West Coast.

Darryl Maggs' seventh goal of the year, unassisted at 7:50 of the second period, broke a 3-3 tie and gave the Seals a lead they held for the remainder of the game.

REACTS TO PRESSURE

The Montrealers also rested veterans Jacques Laperriere and Henri Richard in preparation for the playoffs which begin April 3.

There was little at stake in Vancouver, but the Canucks and Maple Leafs staged a couple of spirited fights that kept the crowd active. Toronto held a 4-2 lead with Pierre Jarry's goal at 18:08 of the second period.

But goals by Harry Wilkins and Richard Lemieux 23 seconds apart in the final minute evened the count and the Canucks sealed it with goals in the third by Bob Schmutz, Tannahill and Bobby Lalonde.

Pittsburgh kept its playoff hopes alive with third-period goals by Eddie Shack, Syl Apps and Lowell MacDonald that wiped out a 2-1 Atlanta lead.

Beavers: 3-0 lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It should not take long to see which teams are going to emerge victors in the Quebec Major Junior A Hockey League quarter-finals.

They are most probably going to be Quebec Remparts, Cornwall Royals, Sorel Black Hawks and Sherbrooke Beavers.

SURPRISE CONTINUES

And, except for Sherbrooke, anyone who followed the league's regular season will tell you it is no surprise.

Sherbrooke, Cornwall and Sorel have taken 3-0 leads in their best-of-seven series while the regular-season champion Remparts are up 2-0 on Trois-Rivieres Ducs.

Cornwall bombed Montreal Red, White and Blue 8-2. Sorel dumped Laval Nationals 8-4. Sherbrooke edged Shawinigan Bruins 4-3 and Quebec hammered Trois-Rivieres 8-0 in Sunday's games.

Gary McGregor sparked Cornwall's win with four goals while Stuart Davison, Bob Geoffrion, Dan Lupinette and John Duncan added one each.

Robert Sirois and Gaetan Potvin replied for Montreal. Michel Deziel scored three goals and Serge Gamelin added two in Sorel's win over Laval. Michel Bergeron, Jacques Colette and Denis Desjagne added single goals for the Black Hawks while Marcel Roussel, Denis Martel, Marcel Dumais and Michel Lefebvre replied for the Nationals.

Sylvain Parent's goal at 19:17 of the second period stood up as the winner as Sherbrooke continued to surprise with their third straight win over the Bruins.

Francois Rochon, Dwane Byers and Marcel Labrosse added single goals for the Beavers while Claude Arvisais, with two, and Jean-Paul Gilbert, replied for Shawinigan.

Three players, Guy Chouinard, Jacques Locas and Andre Deschamps, each scored a pair of goals as the Remparts coasted against the Ducs.

Daniel Beaulieu and Richard Nantais added one each for the winners who have outscored Trois-Rivieres 24-2 in their first two playoff encounters.

Tonight, Shawinigan travels to Sherbrooke and Laval plays host to Sorel.

Trudeau walks out

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau walked out of the Commons question period Tuesday into a hail of questions asked by 15 students from a Kingston school visiting the capital for the day.

The students, from a school for emotionally disturbed children, had written letters to Mr. Trudeau saying they were coming to Ottawa during the spring school break and a meeting was arranged. The boys and girls ranged from about five to 12.

Mr. Trudeau was surrounded when he appeared, carrying a thick file of papers.

"Are you in charge of Canada?" asked one boy. "Me and a lot of other people," replied the prime minister. "Do you work here?" "I do my best."

ELECTION COMMENT

One small questioner cut right to the heart of things and asked how the prime minister had fared in the last election.

"We won. Not too strong, but we won," said Mr. Trudeau.

"Is there a lot of work in there?" asked one boy, tugging at the file Mr. Trudeau was carrying. The prime minister pulled out a sheaf of the children's letters to show he had received them.

After fielding questions about his home, his family and his work, the prime minister moved off into his office following by a half-dozen children who had to be called back by teachers.

Suzanne Gagnon, a child-care worker at the school, said the children had seen Mr. Trudeau during last fall's election campaign.

"The kids really wanted to meet the 'boss' of Canada," she said.

UCW meetings

EAST FARNHAM — The February U.C.W. meeting was held with Mrs. Eunice Thomas. Before the regular meeting opened a few minutes silence was observed to mark the passing of the following people who were dear to our community, namely - The Rev. Gerald of Manotick, Ont., a former Pastor; Mrs. Ruby McCulloch, of Napanee, Ont., a former resident and a faithful member of our Ladies Aid; Mr. Ivan Sherrer, a former resident whose wife had served on the Executive; Mrs. David Collins, our dear honorary president and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, a kind friend and neighbor who passed away in Bedford Hospital.

The minutes were read by the secretary and approved. Fourteen paid membership fees and the Memorial secretary reported many donations given in memory of Mrs. Collins.

Mrs. Lawrence Horner entertained the March meeting in her home on Thursday, the 15, at 8 p.m. The meeting closed by repeating the Mispah Benediction and refreshments were served.

SOCIAL NOTE
Mrs. Margaret Ring was happy and surprised to be remembered with so many nice birthday cards on her 88th birthday, recently. This kind and generous thought and pleasant afternoon was arranged by Miss Daisy Sanborn, who also presented her with a pretty cake, to mark the occasion. Mrs. Ring would like to thank everyone who remembered her in any way, making her special day a time long to remember. "May God's blessing rest on each of you," she said.

SOUTH DURHAM — The March U.C.W. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Galen Coote with eight members present.

Mrs. Lloyd Millar, President, opened the meeting by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Roll call and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Treasurer's report given by Mrs. Neal Mountain. It was moved by Margaret Coote and seconded by Verna Clark, we all give money for Food Sale instead of baking.

Turkey Salad Tea to be held on May 26 and moved that we change price to $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. A check was given to Rev. Londa Beaudon for purchasing seven tea pots for U.C.W. Donations for U.C.W. were received from Mrs. John Lemire of Montreal and Mrs. Fgordnce Rick of Richmond.

The Sherbrooke Presbyterian meeting to be held at Knowlton on April 9. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Evan Coote on April 11.

Meeting closed with mizpah prayer. Lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

If beef too high pick the ponies

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — After three years, Dolores Rooney is through horsing around with her husband's diet.

During that time, in a conspiracy with her nine children, she fed Edward Rooney steaks, chops and roasts in the guise of beef, when actually they were horsemeat. She said they cost about a fourth what beef costs.

Tired of her dietary duplicity, but lacking the nerve to confess to her husband, Mrs. Rooney confided to the Portland Oregonian, which ran a story headlined: Surprise Edward, That's Really Not Beef-steak.

"It was more of a surprise than a shock," said Rooney.

"I've always been interested in horses. I'm a little more interested now."

Gorilla in cast

NEW YORK (AP) — Patty Cake, the Central Park Zoo's seven-month-old baby gorilla, will spend the next six to eight weeks at the Bronx Zoo with her right arm in a cast, the victim of what was believed to have been a parental tug-of-war.

A parks department spokesman said witnesses saw the baby gorilla holding the hand of her father, Congo, through the bars of their separated cages. The baby's mother, Lulu, wrenched her away, witnesses said.

The 260-pound Lulu then cradled her injured baby and had to be subdued by a dart tranquilizer so Patty Cake could be removed from the cage and taken to New York Medical College.

Four doctors collaborated on setting a simple fracture of the baby's upper right arm.

Educational Week

MANSONVILLE — The National Educational Week was celebrated from March 4 to the 10 in the Mansonville Elementary School. Mrs. Thelma Cote, Teacher-in-charge, outlined the activities as follows:

Monday, March 5, a Parents Committee meeting was held.

March 6, open house at the school for all parents and friends and a visit from the school nurse, Miss Christine Miller, who presented films and health information in preparation for the "brush-in" (a treatment administered to the teeth for the purpose of preventing decay under supervision of the school nurse and an attendant dentist) which was held on March 13.

March 7, a girls and boys floor hockey team participated in the District Floor Hockey Tournament at the Massey-Vanier Regional School.

March 8, another open house day for parents.

Post-nuptial shower

ROCK ISLAND — The home of Mrs. Paul Derusha in West Park, Rock Island, was the scene of a pleasant gathering of 19 neighbours, who held a shower for Mrs. Hubert Pepin, a recent bride.

Upon arrival, Mrs. Derusha greeted her, as she recovered from the surprise, with a novelty corsage made by Mrs. Edward Simpson, Sr. Mrs. Pepin was introduced to the group by her step-daughter, Mrs. William Parrish.

She was finally escorted to a beautiful platform rocker chair and was informed by Mrs. George Soutiere it was a neighbourhood shower gift to her.

The evening was spent playing games, chatting and having a good time as they welcomed the new bride, the former Joanne McFarland, of St. Petersburg, Florida.

Among the refreshments served was a shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Albert Simoneau, in cream with welcome in pink, and flowers. This was cut and served by Mrs. Pepin. The hostesses were Mrs. Derusha and Mrs. Simpson, Sr.

Philathea Unit UCW

LENNOXVILLE — The Philathea unit of the Lennoxville United Church held a social evening with a capacity crowd in the Scott and Douglas Halls when games were enjoyed by old and young and climaxed by sugar on snow, coffee, doughnuts and pickles.

Door prizes and children's prizes were awarded to add to the fun.

At the business meeting held later the leader, Mrs. Dorothy Geddes presided and Mrs. Lorne Butler had charge of the devotions and took as her theme Faith the churches one foundation, as faith can change any situation.

A tribute of silence was observed for Mrs. Robert S. Lipsey whose recent passing was deeply felt.

Mrs. Lipsey, being a former Sunday School teacher of a class of girls in this church, she later formed the Philathea group of the church, the name meaning seekers of wisdom and is still known as such. They have celebrated their 50th anniversary and can still be proud of having several of the charter members on the roll.

Mrs. Geddes and Mrs. Gail Brown gave the highlights of the meeting at Plymouth and notice of the annual presbyterial to be held in Knowlton on April 9 was given and members urged to attend.

The report on the sugar party was given and a note of thanks extended to all guests and friends who assisted in any way, with special thanks to the young people who helped direct the children's games and to Mr. Lorne Butler who is always in the background preparing the syrup for the delicious treat on snow.

Mrs. Geddes extended thanks to the members for their assistance and for the prize donations which altogether made an enjoyable and successful event.

Mrs. Arnold Bown, apron convener, asked that each member bring an apron or material for same to the next meeting for the spring bazaar to be held on June 6. Food was also solicited for the Get acquainted night on March 28.

The April meeting will take the form of Secret Pal night and also the spring white elephant auction.

At the close a delicious salad lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Harold Worster, Mrs. Edward McLenahan and Mrs. Hugh L. Wallace, with St. Patrick's decorations.

Benefit held for homeless family

STANSTEAD — A successful dart tournament, held for the Leon Keeler family, who lost their home and its contents in the Beebe Hotel fire, was held on Sunday afternoon and evening at the Legion Memorial Home in Stanstead.

There were 104 mixed players at doubles. The Border League Club president, Richard Reynolds and Tarz Ellam were in charge of the tournament.

Trophies and top prizes were won by Tarz and Beulah Ellam, runners-up were Aileen Arbery and William Black.

Two special prizes were claimed by Mrs. Gloria Piper of Newport and (Big) Roger Goodsell, Stanstead. Ronald Waite won the prize for Men's high, he had 110 points, Mrs. Vivian Warner for the ladies. Her score was 121.

Mr. Reynolds presented the Keeler's with two envelopes of money that totaled over $200.00. One was from the Dart Tournament and the other from neighbours in Beebe.

With deep feeling, Mr. Keeler thanked the people for their generosity in their time of trouble. Appreciation was also given to Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Westover who did a great deal of work to make this benefit the success it was.

The Legion entertainment committee served coffee and doughnuts.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Susan Seguin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Paul Seguin, and Terrance Chamberlain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chamberlain. A wedding at Our Lady of Mercy Church in Rock Island has been arranged to take place on September 8.

Bridal shower Marriage

CLEVELAND — Over 50 relatives, neighbours and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Everett Lariviere to shower Miss Margaret Coddington, a March bride-to-be.

Mrs. Steve Perkins pinned novelty corsages on Margaret, her mother, Mrs. George Coddington and Mrs. H.

Schroeders, mother of the prospective groom and escorted them to gaily-decorated chairs.

Seated with the bride-to-be were her grandmothers, Mrs. Albert Woods and Mrs. Margaret Coddington.

A decorated basket filled with many lovely and useful gifts was presented to Margaret with best wishes for her future happiness.

This was carried in by Misses Lynn Lariviere, Mary and Lisa Coddington and Heather Johnston.

After the gifts had been opened and passed around Margaret thanked the hostesses and guests.

To bring the afternoon to a close, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Lariviere, Mrs. Steve Perkins and Mrs. Marc Girard, assisted by others. Margaret was asked to make the initial cut in a lovely shower cake decorated by Mrs. Steve Perkins.

Guests were present from Montreal, Sherbrooke, Danville, Melbourne, Richmond and the neighbourhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton G. Inglis of Foster, announce the marriage of their elder daughter, Sandra Elizabeth to Mr. Fred Lorne John Dubber, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dubber of Calgary.

The marriage took place in the J.J. Bowlin Building on February 1. They spent their honeymoon in Banff. The couple are now residing at 2236 B. 36th Street, Calgary, Alberta.

Farewell party

ULVERTON — On Friday evening, February 16, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Skillen upon arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Coote, were taken by surprise to find several friends gathered there.

It was a farewell party, as Mr. and Mrs. Skillen have moved to Ontario. They will make their home at Oerra Cotta in the Brampton area.

The evening was spent playing 500. Mr. and Mrs. Skillen were presented with a gift.

Mrs. J.L. Macey assisted Mrs. Coote to serve lunch.

TERI ANNE — Ten-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sefton Osborne of Stanstead. Granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McComb, Ayer's Cliff and of Mrs. Miriam Osborne of Stanstead.

Police mishap

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — Police said they were ready to file an auto theft report, but their missing squad car turned up in a restaurant parking lot where a forgetful detective had parked it two days earlier.

Sgt. Sam Cordiro drove the unmarked car to a police luncheon, left the car and returned home with a fellow officer, a spokesman said. The detective then left the car's keys in an office key rack.

Officers said they were ready to file the theft report when someone remembered who the last driver was. Some routine detective work located the vehicle Friday.

Remodelling fashions

Many a woman has found that the dress she laboured at and loved last season doesn't look quite right with the passing of time and yet is too good to be discarded.

Fully aware of this, Lucille Rivers devotes this week of shows to professional remodeling tricks and should inspire any sewer to go through her closet inventory with an eye to updating styling details to do fashion mileage on her wardrobe.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Continuing with our series of bad plays and bids by life masters in the fall nationals we come to one by a nameless South that certainly constituted a delightful Christmas gift to his opponents.

North's two-diamond call was not the old fashioned rock crusher most players are used to but merely a good hand with length in the major suits. Actually his hand was far stronger than it might have been in the system he and his partner were using so that his only hesitation after West jammed the bidding by his five-diamond call was between five and six spades. Since his side missed two aces, the five-spade decision was certainly the correct one.

West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to the queen of clubs.

South won; led a trump to his queen and went into a trance when West showed out. He could have played a second trump and claimed but life master South was in a fog and somehow or other had credited East with a third trump. So he played an extra round of trumps and could not claim any more.

The hand was still a cinch since hearts were going to break nicely but by now, South's dream world was one of nightmares. He led a heart from dummy and after East played low, South produced the 10-spot.

East made a surprise trick with the jack and East and West had their Christmas present of a top score.

♥♦CARD Sense♦♥

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1♦	1♠	Pass	2♥
Pass	2NT	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

▲ 2♥ AQ9875 ▲ A32 ♠ KQ7

What do you do now?

A—Bid three hearts to show you have a good three-card suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You do bid three hearts and your partner raises you to four hearts. What do you do now?

Kagus near extinction

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (AP) — Flightless like the dodo, a bird called the kagu seems to be on its way to the same extinction.

The pearly grey birds are two feet tall and have a feathery fringe about the head. They are found only on this French island colony 900 miles east of Australia. No one knows how many are left in the Caledonian mountains, but zoologists say the number is low and dropping.

In the 17th century the dodo, a trumpy fowl, was killed off on the island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean. Like it, the kagu is falling victim to former house pets turned loose to roam wild.

Dogs and cats ditched by their owners find the kagus easy prey.

Bush fires, which seem to follow nickel-mining operations and roadbuilding, also have taken a heavy toll. Even without fires, the noise from mining drives kagus farther into the hills, upsetting their hermit-like lifestyle.

"Kagus live very well in captivity," said Maurice Schmidt, a French biologist.

"But unfortunately they won't reproduce. Zoos are trying everything, but it's only been managed two or three times."

There may be anywhere from a scant few to hundreds still loose. The safest thing, scientists say, is to find a way for them to lay eggs in captivity to assure their line. They only lay one a year.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

External Devices Inferior

Surgery Best for Hernia

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Is it possible to correct a hernia of the lower abdomen without surgery or hospitalization? A man told me he had a hernia corrected in this manner.

Dear Reader—There are a number of things that are done to people to correct problems in the lower abdominal area which aren't necessarily hernias, such as withdrawal of fluid from a sac in the scrotum. But the only real way to correct a hernia in that area is surgical.

The hernia occurs because the muscles and tendons around the lower abdomen in this area are torn and stretched. The most common problem then is that a loop of bowel slips out along the same area that the cord to the testicle comes out from a hole in the abdomen. The loop of intestine can then slip out through the lower part of the abdomen and into the scrotal sac.

In women there is a structure comparable to the cord which also is associated with a weakening of the lower abdominal wall but it's usually not as much of a problem as in men. The loop of bowel, if it's out, has to be placed back in the abdomen (they usually slide in and out anyway unless they become strangulated) and then the torn and over-stretched ligaments and muscles have to be properly relocated, and sutured in place. If the sutures hold and the structures don't stretch or tear again then the hernia is corrected.

Some people use a truss and external devices but in most instances, if the patient's condition permits it, I believe that surgery is the proper answer.

Dear Dr. Lamb—In one of your future articles will you explain the reason you specifically said use fortified skim milk for drinking purposes but use nonfat milk for cooking? Is it because of the better taste of skim milk only?

We have been drinking the dry milk fortified with vitamins A and D for years and would like to continue to do so. However, if something of nutritional value is missing we would switch to skim milk.

Dear Reader — There is nothing wrong at all with drinking reconstituted dry milk. Most people just don't like it as well as fortified skim milk. Even plain skim milk doesn't taste as good to some people as some of the fine fortified skim milk products marketed in recent times.

The dry milk has some advantages in cooking over liquid skim milk. For one thing, you can prepare a nonfat gravy with water and heat in the milk powder at the last minute and avoid scorching the milk. This can be done in almost any other dish where heating milk is part of the preparation. Then you can add more nonfat milk powder than the usual amount recommended for preparing milk. In this way you have a richer product with more calcium and more protein in whatever dish you are preparing. You can, for example, use a half-cup of powder rather than a third of a cup of powder to one cup of water.
