Glenn not expected to complete trip

Safe orbit chances are quoted at 7-1 by Canaveral experts

By RON COLLISTER
CAPE CANAVERAL — (TNS) — In the places where space experts talk freely, astronaut John Glenn is given about a 7 to 1 chance of orbiting the earth and returning unharmed.

The melting-pot of opinion here is that he will survive the trip, that he will probably get off the pad into orbit, but will be triggered home before the end of the scheduled three orbits.

A million men have contributed their ideas and skills in this single project.

All that man can do to make a machine reliable has been done. But this is still a wholly unpredictable experiment, with a rocket that has a record of blowing up on the pad.

The moments of maximum danger are when the Atlas missile is fired. If it explodes, there will be chaotic moments when Glenn could be badly hurt or killed.

Also, when the capsule is re-entering space. If it comes in at the right angle, there is little risk.

COULD BURN UP
If it is off balance, it could burn up like a bright red cherry because only the bottom of the bell-shaped capsule is reinforced for the incredible strains of re-entry.

According to the plans, Glenn will never be more than arm's reach from triggering his own salvation if a crisis develops.

In fact, as the blast-off takes place, his hand is actually on the button that will shake him free from a disintegrating rocket.

But because of the great strain on him at the time, including about 11-G gravity, which makes him feel 12 times his own weight, the action will be taken by the electric brain controlling the operation or the controls on the ground.

U.S. experts say this astronaut control did not exist in the Russian rocket space journeys of Gagarin and Titov.

COMPLETE CONTROL
Glenn will have complete control. If things go wrong in the capsule as he orbits the earth, he can fire the retro-rockets and bring himself down to earth.

The hazard is where to land? But Glenn and the astronauts have been prepared for almost every crisis.

The capsule and its parachute could descend on land and Glenn could get out with only a bad shaking.

If he lands on desert, he has been prepared for survival by ruthless experiments in the sands of Nevada.

But he is far more likely to come down in water, since it covers more than four-fifths of the earth's surface.

He has life-support equipment for at least 24 hours after he lands.

While on his fantastic flight, Glenn has remedies for crisis at his own finger-tips.

Saturday shoot expected

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — Forecasts of good weather buoyed hopes today that astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. will go rocketing around the world Saturday.

A preliminary report said favorable weather is expected to prevail through the scheduled launch date, both here and at all stations down range.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration scheduled a formal weather briefing for newspaper men, today.

Takes case to Supreme Court

Witness will appeal transfusion decision

OTTAWA (CP) — A member of the Jehovah's Witnesses is taking his sect's battle against blood transfusion to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Ronald Fenn Wolfe of London, Ont., will ask the court Monday for leave to appeal lower court decisions upholding the verdict of a coroner's jury which investigated the death of his infant son in London, Ont., April 15, 1960.

The baby died of haemolytic disease of the newborn for which the standard treatment is transfusion of new blood. A transfusion was recommended by doctors, but Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe refused consent on grounds that blood transfusions were against their beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses.

The child was made a temporary ward of the Children's Aid Society which ordered a blood transfusion. However, the child died after receiving a transfusion.

The coroner's jury said contributing factors to the death were delay in giving a transfusion because of the parent's refusal to consent, and delay in holding a hearing to make the infant the temporary ward of the Children's Aid Society.

Attempts by Mr. Wolfe to have the verdict of the coroner's jury quashed failed in the Ontario Supreme and Appeal Courts. He now plans to ask the Supreme Court of Canada for leave to appeal against the lower court decisions.

Glen How, Toronto counsel for Mr. Wolfe, says in documents filed with the Supreme Court, that his client was refused permission at the request to be heard through counsel and to examine and cross-examine witnesses called by the Crown.

"This refusal was a suppression of evidence and a denial of natural justice," Mr. How says. "Only cross examination of medical witnesses could have elicited the full story."

Ease Algiers security

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Security troops today eased their grip on Algiers following a day which produced the lowest death toll this year in Algeria despite fears of mass killings.

Only six persons were killed and eight wounded Wednesday despite demonstrations which were staged to mark the second anniversary of an abortive Algerian "barricades revolt" against President Charles de Gaulle.

The toll was about half the daily casualty figures which have been recorded since New Year's Day when the current wave of violence erupted in this North African territory, now in its eighth year of a Moslem nationalist insurrection.

Police had feared Wednesday's demonstrations, which were called by the outlawed Secret Army Organization might catapult into a major test of strength between the government and right wing European extremists.

ONLY CALL STRIKE

But the rightists restricted themselves to a 75-minute general strike and ceremonies commemorating those who died in the student-led revolt against de Gaulle in 1960.

One reason for the lack of violence was the passiveness of the Moslem population Wednesday.

Not a Moslem was in sight in central Algiers where thousands of Europeans assembled to place wreaths and pay homage to the victims of the anti-Gaullist revolt.

In one incident youths stopped a car carrying an air force general and banged out the two short, three-long rhythm of Algerian Francaise on its roof.

The chant is the rallying cry of Europeans opposed to de Gaulle's plans for an independent Algeria.

Before the crowd let the car pass, the word Salan was white-washed on its rear window.

Former Gen. Raoul Salan, fugitive leader of the outlawed secret army, has been condemned to death in his absence for his part in the abortive military putsch in Algiers last April. Strategic documents linked with Salan were reported Wednesday to have been uncovered in a recent raid on a suburban villa.

French authorities said the village was the "political and information office" of the secret army.

Monopoly marathon continues

Bishop's monopolathons staggered into its 136th hour at 9 o'clock this morning, but the chances of its surviving the day are uncertain.

Vacant spots can be seen in the schedule sheet, and only a few dedicated souls still take a keen personal interest in keeping things going.

Several students, however, want to see the stunt reach its 150th hour. If they can rally enough players this desire may be realized.

Even if the game runs out during the day, Bishop's will have set a formidable mark for other universities to shoot at. McGill's University's world record of 100 hours—the original objective—fell by the boards at 9 o'clock Tuesday.

A new style of night-monopoly has evolved during the game. Three players sleep while the fourth makes his roll, moves his counter and carries out his transaction. Then he wakes up the man on his left and goes to sleep himself.

The man awakened goes through the same procedure then wakes up the next man. And so it goes in slow motion, through the early hours of the morning.

Undisputed endurance champion is Bill Brock, a third year science student from Stanstead.

Brock has set a new individual record by spending 33 straight hours at the monopoly board, breaking the previous 32 hour mark set by a McGill student.

The record-breaking stunt was designed to promote the World University Service SHARE Campaign on campus.

The campaign was to end at 4 o'clock this afternoon with an address by A. S. McGill, of the External Aid office.

Quebec-Nfld. talks indicated

May settle Labrador boundary

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood announced Wednesday that Newfoundland and Quebec may get together to stake the long-disputed Labrador boundary.

Mr. Smallwood told the opening session of the Newfoundland legislature that most of the 1,000-mile-long border between Labrador and Quebec—subject of debate since before the turn of the century—was not in contention.

Disputed was a "four or five mile" portion which lies in the middle of one of the world's richest iron ore deposits.

Lieutenant-Governor Campbell Macpherson introduced the border as the first item in the speech from the throne which he read to the legislature's fourth session of the 32nd assembly.

Mr. Smallwood said the border was defined in 1927 by the judicial committee of the Privy Council. But the problem was where to find it on the ground.

LINE NOT EASY

"The dividing line is not easy," he said. Both he and Quebec Premier Lesage had agreed to recommend to their cabinets that technical persons from both provinces "spell out the border on the ground." There was no indication of when this would be done.

The throne speech lasted 25 minutes and mentioned some unexpected topics that indicated the session may take longer than the seven weeks last year.

Sale of the 127-year-old Newfoundland Savings Bank to the Bank of Montreal was a highlight. It is to be sold for slightly less than $3,000,000 to broaden the "scope of its operations and its usefulness to the province."

Banks deposits amounted to $27,000,000 from 30,000 depositors.

Also unexpected was the Liberal government's suggestion to reduce the size of provincial electoral constituencies. Election candidates could then better canvass and, if elected, represent constituencies, the speech said.

OAS discusses Cuba sanctions

US hopes dwindle

PUNTA DEL ESTE (Reuters) — The Organization of American States headed into another hearing on Cuba today with U.S. hopes dwindling for sharp measures against the pro-Communist regime of Premier Fidel Castro.

The current lineup of the 21 countries in the organization indicated that Cuba would probably be suspended from OAS membership but chances appeared slight for any stiff political or economic sanctions as originally sought by the U.S.

Up for discussion was a five-point Colombian resolution, which was believed to follow closely the "tough line" originally taken by the U.S.

The resolution called on Latin American states which have not already done so to break off consular, diplomatic and economic links with Cuba.

ASKS COMMISSION

The resolution also called for the establishment of a permanent six-member commission to prevent "aggression" in the Western Hemisphere and a declaration stating that "there is a threat to the political independence of American states."

Other Colombian proposals called on Cuba to "abide strictly" by her terms of the OAS treaty and suggested a declaration be drawn up "acknowledging facts which threaten peace and security in America such as the establishment of Sino-Soviet bases and Communist military and/or economic assistance."

But the Colombian move was expected to face opposition from the eight-country so-called "neutralist bloc" comprised of Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Bolivia, Uruguay, Chile, Haiti and Ecuador.

Speaking for the anti-sanction bloc Wednesday, Mexican Foreign Minister Manuel Tello said a policy of strict non-intervention must be pursued in regard to Cuba.

Chilean Foreign Minister Carlos Martinez Sotomayor also declared that he was opposed to political and economic sanctions as potentially ineffective because Cuba trades mainly with the Communist bloc.

Arrow bills still to be disposed of OTTAWA (CP)—Paper fall-out—bills, bills—is still raining down as a result of the political and military explosion three years ago when the government cancelled the Arrow jet interceptor.

The designers, engineers, technicians and riveters have long since departed but book-keepers and auditors are still occupied closing out the costliest—up to that time—single weapons program in Canadian history.

Informants say the 1962-63 defence budget will include a couple of hundred thousand dollars which should complete payment of all the bills.

The latest accounting shows that the government has paid out $407,638,339 on the Arrow program, including $27,439,995 for the Sparrow air-to-air missile which was to have been the interceptor's main armament. Expenditures on the Arrow began in the 1953-54 fiscal year with $1,067,359 for research.

Five groups to plan strategy

Liberals launch election drive convinced Conservatives on run

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberals are putting their election campaign into high gear, convinced the Conservatives are on the run.

Five separate groups of campaign workers will meet here during the next five days to plan Liberal strategy and put the final seal on the Liberal policy platform.

Opposition Leader Pearson

said Wednesday night the Conservatives have got the jitters and are stooping to distortions and baseless charges to get re-elected.

"When little men see big powers escaping from them they get shrill and desperate," Mr. Pearson said in a speech.

He denounced Prime Minister Diefenbaker for employing cheap, degrading tactics of petty partisan politics, unworthy of any prime minister.

"If that's the kind of tactics you have to adopt to win an election, I would rather lose the election," Mr. Pearson said.

The Liberal leader, speaking to 300 attending the annual meeting of the West Ottawa Liberal Association, struck back at two of Mr. Diefenbaker's recent attacks on the Liberal camp.

Two hundred delegates to the Canadian University Liberal Federation begin their 2 1/2 day meeting Friday. The national council of the Liberal party will bring 400 together on Monday and Tuesday. During the weekend, the national campaign committee and the executive of the Women's Liberal Federation meet, and Young Liberals also plan meetings.

Mr. Pearson said the Liberals should not be cocky, but they can take a good deal of satisfaction from the progress they have made since their defeats in 1957 and 1958. He promised

CCF member launches fiery denunciation

Alleges 'double standard' on nuclear arms

OTTAWA (CP) — Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) accused the government Wednesday of following a double standard of nuclear armaments that has made Canada a laughing stock on the international scene.

In a fiery denunciation during the throne speech debate, he challenged the government to have the "guts" to state a policy for or against nuclear arms for Canadian forces and submit it to the judgment of the electorate at a general election. "One of the greatest heartbreaks of my life is to see the way in which this government has brought Canada into international disrepute and made her the laughing stock of the nations of the world."

At the United Nations, External Affairs Minister Green sponsored a resolution for no expansion of the nuclear club. At the same time, Canadian forces were equipped with nuclear warheads. "POLITICAL HYPOCRISY" "It is political hypocrisy and hypocrisy is conscious and deliberate dishonesty," said Mr. Winch.

Before the Commons resumed the throne speech debate, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said the government has no intention of changing the general plan and purport of its impending tax and tariff measures to divert advertising dollars from American to Canadian magazines.

Protests had been made by the United States government but the government believed the step necessary "in the interests of Canadian identity and as an assurance that Canada's destiny will be preserved."

The half-day Commons session also was marked by the tabling by Finance Minister Fleming of supplementary spending estimates totaling $82,390,000 that included $42,000,000 for acreage payments to Western farmers and $40,000,000 for the winter works program.

ACCUSES LIBERALS

Mr. Fleming left off the day's throne speech debate by accusing the Liberal party of indifference to Canadian trade interests in Britain.

If Britain entered the European Common Market without protection for Commonwealth trade interest "our industry and trade could suffer enormous losses and distortions." Canada see "CCF Member" Page 5

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The television show that Ernie Kovacs put together and taped a few weeks before his death on Jan. 13 was shown by ABC last night. Happily, it contained a typical and wide assortment of the things that Ernie thought were funny.

There were the wordless, short sight gags—the beautiful lady of the harem who drops her veil to reveal a Van Dyke beard; the house of cards that drops through the concrete foundation as the last paste-board is put in place; an art restorer working on Lincoln's twitching nose at Mt. Rushmore, to mention a few.

There were fine sketches demolishing phony avant garde poetry, painting and sculpture done in Person-to-Person style. It was adroit, imaginative nonsense. The sponsor omitted the commercials, and at the end an announcer quoted the clergyman at Kovacs' funeral, "We loved this man. He gave happiness, joy and gaiety to the world." And he did, including Tuesday night.

Hugh O'Brian, who after all those successful years playing a bold, intrepid western lawman in Wyatt Earp has managed to pull out of the type-casting rut in jig time. This fall he starred in a Broadway play, a family drama, and now he will play the hero in an upcoming NBC Theatre '62 adaptation of Spellbound.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Whenever the stars of Hollywood met this week, there was talk of a lasting memorial to Ernie Kovacs.

It could take the form of a weekly TV anthology that would occupy the time and talent of the comedian's widow, Edie Adams, as well as provide support for her and her family.

"The whole thing started spontaneously," reports Jack Lemmon, one of Kovacs' close friends. A bunch of us started talking about it — guys like George Burns, Jack Benny, Dick Quine, Mervyn Leroy. We agreed there has never been a really topnotch anthology show and thought this would be a good thing for Edie to participate in.

"We kept talking and talking and now there are 39 people who have said they're willing to do it. They include practically every top star in the business.

"It's a dandy idea, but we don't know whether we can do it or not. There would be all kinds of problems — getting scripts, arranging schedules and so forth. We're still trying to see if it can be worked out."

KILLED IN CRASH
Hollywood's outpouring of sorrow over the loss of Kovacs, killed in a car crash Jan. 13, attested to the imprint he had made during his brief stay here.

He was an original. He followed no one, and no one will follow him.

In appearance he seemed the silent, screen villain — the huge frame, the black hair and frakish moustache, the flashing white teeth. But he was unable to play a convincing villain.

He was extravagant with both his comedy and himself. No gag was too wild or too expensive for him to try.

He was a friendly bear, but he was independent, too. Though he was friendly — and sometimes fought — with Frank Sinatra, he would not accept membership in the singer's tight little clique.

"I belonged to no organized group," Kovacs declared.

LUCK HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

In the Blackwood convention the accepted practice is to double an overall of a Blackwood four-no-trump for business, to pass without an ace, or with an ace or two if the overall has crowded you past your five level stopping place and you don't expect to make the slam.

Thus, West's five spade bid gave North a tough problem. His partner had jumped to four no-trump after a single raise. Did his partner need one ace or two? North finally decided that his trumps were good and his queen of clubs important so North bid five no-trump to show his one ace.

South had no choice, but to bid six diamonds and West passed contentedly. He had stuck in his five spade bid in order to jam the North-South communications and he hoped that he had succeeded.

Unfortunately for West, there is no substitute for luck in a bridge game. West led the ace of clubs against the six diamond contract and East had to play the nine.

Then West went into a huddle. That nine looked mighty large. Was it a come-out? West finally decided it was and out came a second club. South won, drew trumps, discarded dummy's spades on his long club

The Doctor Says

HERE'S ONE SURVEY'S PICTURE OF HIGH SCHOOL SMOKING

Acting on the principle that the child is father to the man, a group has studied the smoking habits of 6,810 high school students in Newton, Mass., 10 miles west of Boston.

While the results of this survey will come as no surprise to parents and teachers, they are extremely disturbing to those of us who are convinced that there is a relationship between smoking and cancers of the mouth and lung, as well as between tobacco addiction and certain circulatory conditions such as angina pectoris and coronary thrombosis.

Among the boys, the per cent of smokers rose from 7 per cent in the seventh grade to 46 in the 12th grade. Among girls, from 1 per cent in the seventh grade to an astounding 35 per cent in the 12th grade.

With a single exception, these figures corresponded with those collected elsewhere (London, and Oxfordshire, Eng.; Winnipeg, Can.; Portland, Ore.). This is in the use of cigarettes by young girls. For, whereas pack-a-week-or-more smoking "appears to be almost nonexistent in Britain," it has a frequency of 10 to 25 per cent in North America.

And, what is even more disturbing, high smoking rates are more prevalent in the case of students whose parents are least able to afford the price.

For all this, I don't want to appear as an apologist for these youngsters. But I just say you can hardly blame them when they see their parents, teachers, clergymen, favorite actresses, actors and athletes smoking and endorsing cigarettes.

And when they hear those of us who oppose smoking being attacked as kill-joys, alarmists, fuddy-duddies and the like, My own recommendation, for

Mr. McIver went to the European front, after training with the unit in Valcartier, as a captain and the second in command of the Richmond and Danville Company. He returned to his position of postmaster at Richmond after World War I and filled the post until his retirement in 1946.

Group opposes $2 tax

The St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys' Association Wednesday night became the third association to present strong opposition to the proposed $2 recreation tax.

Members of the association suggested that a commission should be formed to study the present set up before any such tax is imposed, "and if necessary a body named to co-ordinate all recreational activities in the City."

Earlier this week the Optimist Club suggested a municipal commission with a permanent director be appointed to organize and administer all recreational activities for the youth of Sherbrooke.

The Optimist Club's statement was supported by the Kiwanis Club at its regular weekly meeting on Tuesday night.

Reg Bishop, president of the club said, "We consider that the imposition of such a tax is premature and even dangerous until a recognized body has been set up to properly administer such monies."

St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys

Stoke camp cost $4,900 in '61

Costs of operation and improvements to the St. Pat's Old Boys camp at Stoke Lake amounted to $4,900 during 1961, Henry Crochetiere secretary-treasurer of the St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys Association, told the group's annual meeting Wednesday evening.

He said income from campers amounted to $2,950. Donations were received from the Sherbrooke Optimist Club and Ivan Dugre. The balance of the operating deficit was made up with contributions from the Booster Club.

Sylvester Parker was re-elected president of the St. Patrick's Academy Old Boys Association at a dinner meeting at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Mr. Parker is entering his ninth term as president of the association.

Judge Emmett J. McManamy, was elected honorary president while Rev. Brother Phillip, Brother Benedict, Father Quenneville, and Judge Redmond Hayes were elected honorary patrons. Msgr. J. R. Len O'Donnell sports committee chairman reported to the club that the Little League baseball operated by the association and handled by Dick Bean and Luc Gregoire had won the championship for 1961.

Winter carnival in Thetford, Feb. 9-17

THETFORD MINES — (Special) — The week of February 9th to 17th promises to be a very active one in Thetford Mines with a winter carnival taking place, the first of its kind to be held in this asbestos region. Sponsors of the carnival are the Thetford Kiwanis Club, the proceeds to be used for their benevolent works.

Starting Friday, February 9th at 7.15 p.m. Louis Trempanier, mayor, will officially open the carnival at which time there will be election of a carnival queen. A parade through Thetford's main thoroughfare will follow. Later in the evening outdoor dancing will take place on the grounds at Thetford's shopping center.

Six of Thetford's most attractive young women who are eligible for queen and who now reign as duchesses of their particular parishes are Miss Madeleine Beaudoin, of Ste. Marthe, Miss Danielle Gregoire, Notre Dame, Miss Gaetane LeFebvre, St. Noel, Miss Pauline Paquet, St. Alphonse and Miss June Smith, St. Maurice, all of Thetford and Miss Michelle Binette, of Black Lake. Crowning of the queen will take place on the closing night, Saturday.

Between the starting date and the closing night, the many events are scheduled to take place. Here is a brief outline of these events:

Feb. 10th, in the afternoon, a children's masquerade will take place, to be followed in the evening by square dancing.

Wood Sawing Contests are scheduled for Feb. 11th, at the LaSalle College's Skating Rink; a tea at Thetford's Golf and Curling Club with other contests scheduled for that evening. Among these, one of particular interest, will be that of contestants carrying 150 lb bags of asbestos on their backs from St. Maurice's bandstand to the College LaSalle, the first to arrive intact will, of course, be the winner. A hockey game with the town's hockey league participating will also take place.

On February 12th, a recreational evening is planned with games to be played; ski-doo races at the civic centre; Black Lake and a dinner sponsored by Thetford's Chamber of Commerce.

A giant sleighride is scheduled for February 13th, with refreshments to be served afterwards.

On February 14th, the Quebec Aces Hockey Team is due to play against an All Star Thetford team followed by a recreational evening at the St. Noel College.

A campaign for selling candles, proceeds for the Kiwanis Club's works of charity, is Thursday's main event with prizes to be presented at the Pasion Bleu Club.

A parade is scheduled in Black Lake on Feb. 16th, to be followed by dancing in the streets and masquerade skiing by candlelight at Thetford's Mount Adstock Club.

To wind up the week's activities, on Saturday, the last day of the carnival, a parade for the children is planned in the afternoon, also rifle shooting competitions, with competitors expected from Quebec, Lennoxville, Victoriaville, and St. Georges de Beauce. Pee Wee hockey games will also take place with a teenagers' dance at Thetford's Mount Adstock Ski Club and several dances for adults in other of Thetford's clubs and halls and in Black Lake, the highlight being the crowning of the queen.

Already the red toques commemorating carnival time are in evidence in Thetford and a number of Thetfordites have built figures in ice in their front yards to add a carnival touch. Two or three ice palaces are yet to be built in public places such as at the ball park. There will indeed be much excitement in Thetford Mines' Carnival Week and a cordial invitation is extended to anyone wishing to come and join in the fun.

Youth given month in jail for car theft

An 18-year-old Sherbrooke youth was sentenced to one month in Winter street jail Wednesday morning after he pleaded guilty to a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent. His two companions were given suspended sentences.

Joseph Dubuc, who had pleaded not guilty to the charge Monday morning, changed his mind following two days behind bars. However, it was revealed that he had previously been sentenced to 15 days in jail on a charge of setting off false alarms and having had in his possession a dangerous weapon. He was sentenced to one month in jail on the latter charge.

Dubuc's two companions, Adalbert Charrois, 19, of Compton, and Claude McKenzie, 20, of Sherbrooke, were released on parole. Both accused were appearing for the first time. Judge Redmond Hayes imposed the sentences.

Enrolment 14 per cent over quota

Enrolment for the six week civil defence course is 14 per cent over its quota for the Sherbrooke district. Lt-Col. Sarto Roy, in charge of the course, told The Record Thursday morning.

Coroner's jury

LAKE MEGANTIC — A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury here Wednesday night into the death of 37 year-old Rene Therrien of St. Samuel.

Therrien, the father of three young children, was killed instantly Wednesday afternoon when he was crushed to death under a load of logs.

According to the Lake Megantic municipal police, Therrien, an employee of the Lake Megantic Pulp for the past three months, backed his truck up to the saw mill to unload the logs.

He got out of the truck, and walked to the rear of the vehicle.

A log gave way and half the truck load fell on Therrien. Therrien is survived by his wife, the former Rita Marin and three young children, Jacques, 10, Sylvia, 5, and Gervais, 2.

The coroner's inquest was held Wednesday night at the Jacques and Freres morgue. The inquest was presided over by district coroner, Dr. Jean-Guy Michaud.

Death ruled accident

The men are entering the second section of the course Monday, entitled "rescue operations during a nuclear war."

Lt-Col. Roy said that most of the men would like the course to be longer and that he hopes the government will provide another course soon after this course ends in May.

In Sherbrooke there are 203 local men attending the course along with 51 from Coaticook, 53 from Bury, and 50 from Windsor, he said.

In Quebec there are 6,633 men attending the six-week militia course.

Army headquarters in Ottawa reported there are over 100,000 men between the ages of 18 and 50 taking the courses in Canada.

The province of Ontario has the lead of the highest number of enrollment. They had 7,905 men during the first section of the course and 8,750 for the second.

New hope for farmers and campers

Eastern Townships farmers should find new hope in a project that is designed to diversify their sources of income and, at the same time, provide modest-priced vacation facilities for the public.

According to the plan of the Camping Grounds Association of Quebec, farmers can be shown how to create campaign sites on their land, if the geographic and other conditions are suitable.

Another promising feature of the scheme is that under certain circumstances farmers may obtain aid from the federal government through its new agricultural rehabilitation and development act. The association points out that the government is pressing forward with support of all forms of tourist assistance for those who wish to operate camping grounds.

It has been emphasized time and time again that the Eastern Townships is rich in natural beauty, that there are little or no facilities available to enjoy this wealth and that few people seem inclined to develop it.

The province has shown some awareness of the problem, but Quebec is so far behind in the development of camping sites, beaches, picnic grounds and other facilities to make the outdoors available for pleasure that a broad crash program appears to be the only solution to bring us abreast.

On the other hand, municipalities, which so often believe that their duties are restricted to providing nothing more than grants for recreational associations, have shown an obvious reluctance to take the initiative.

The development of camping sites at the farm level adds a new dimension. It may well contain the answer not only to the insistent demand for outdoor facilities but may help remedy the economic ills that plague farm life.

Sure there's a key to success and fortune . . . spelled Y-O-U !

Interesting, but unlikely, program

With the plethora of parties seeking the support of the Canadian people, some real interest might be lent to the next federal election by the entry of a fifth major group pledged to the belief that the ordinary citizen should be given the privilege of spending the money he earns as he sees fit rather than have a major portion of his income administered for him by the government.

Already the governments — federal, provincial and municipal — are siphoning off approximately one-third of the taxpayers' incomes in direct and indirect taxes, most of which go to some form of social security or welfare and indications are that the demands upon the individual will increase as the state expands its system of old age pensions, hospital and medical insurance schemes, family allowances and other welfare payments.

Once the citizen has met the burdens placed upon him by the tax-gatherer he has little left for personal savings. And if he does manage to save a little, any revenues derived from these savings are again subject to tax imposts of one sort or another.

It is difficult to envisage any of the leaders of the four major parties planning to contest the next election getting up before the electorate and promising to curb rather than increase social payments.

But the thought is interesting.

High priority for higher education

Mr. Lesage's announcement Tuesday that Quebec and Ottawa have agreed to continue an arrangement to make grants available to universities, even though the Quebec premier does not approve in principle of the present system is a hopeful indication that the very real and pressing needs of higher education in this province are being given the high priority they deserve.

Under the arrangement, corporation taxes are increased one per cent to be applied towards university grants, and the corporations receive a one per cent rebate from Ottawa.

The arrangement was to end March 31, 1962, but now, it will be continued until present federal-provincial tax agreements are changed.

There can be no doubt that Mr. Lesage's decision to continue the arrangement was made in view of the Federal government's plan to increase university grants from $1.50 a head to $2 a head.

If Mr. Lesage had chosen to end the arrangement in March and stand on his principles, it would probably have been many months, perhaps years, before Quebec universities would have been able to take advantage of increased funds.

As it is now, Quebec will also receive the equivalent of $2 a head — through higher equalization payments if the provincial corporation tax does not increase enough.

Other papers say:

New murder charge damages the law

It can be asked safely, now that there are some examples at hand, whether the new laws on capital and non-capital punishment are seriously damaging the due process of law in this country.

Sentences of capital punishment are less likely to be imposed now than ever before and much less likely to be carried out. The government has not faced up directly to the question of capital punishment. For a long time it commuted sentences and now, it appears, it will not have to do this so often because under the new law the question isn't likely to arise.

But, we think, a good many questions will arise in the public mind. They will be questions which, unanswered, will mean less respect for our court procedures and less confidence in the law.

A charge of capital murder is going to be extremely difficult to prove in any case. If it is proven, the new procedure, in effect, calls for members of the jury to decide whether or not a death penalty will be imposed. They do not judge guilt and let society impose the sentence as was previously the case. They have to make a recommendation. Few juries will, we predict, impose the sentence. As the cabinet can still commute the death penalty, the number of such sentences carried out would be further reduced.

It is really worth the trouble for the Crown to prosecute such a charge when the end result will be about the same as a non-capital murder charge?

It is not enough that justice be done; it must be manifestly seen to be done. As it stands now a justice hearing a case of murder may find that the attorney-general's department has decided to reduce the charge from one of capital murder to non-capital murder. The defence lawyers may well decide that their client should plead guilty to it. Certainly it would be conceivable that the prosecution might be particularly willing, if a guilty plea was to be entered, for it would save a great deal of trouble required in a hearing of the capital charge.

The justice who is to hear the case may, undoubtedly will, as judges are men with a great sense of responsibility, examine the details of the case as far as he can. But this examination is made in private and his decision is reached on the basis of evidence and allegations not available to the public at large. Surely it is evident that the public will not be in a position to judge what happened in one case and what happened in another when sentences may appear to be at variance.

Murder is still a serious charge in the eyes of most of the people of Canada, although many of our "reform"-minded citizens seem to consider it rather trivial. In a murder case it would seem much more sensible to have the case heard in detail and in public in order that the public be able to judge the results.

What we have done, obviously, is to reduce the area in which capital punishment applies and to put a greater responsibility on courts and on juries in these fields. We have also set up a system where non-capital murder trials can effectively be decided outside of open court with only the mechanics of a trial left for the actual courtroom.

It is one way of approaching the problem of capital punishment indirectly and under cover.

It is a costly one in terms of justice. (Calgary Herald)

The test of a great soul

Expressing spirit of the people Burns' writing lives on today

There is not a person in this garden of Canada — in the Eastern Townships — in whose veins clear, fervent Scottish blood flows but feels a kinship with Robert Burns (1759-96).

He is their poet. There is not a farm home to which this newspaper goes but those soldiers of the soil have as one of their heroes, this son of a farmer and a farmer himself who as he drove his plough, hummed his songs, songs which indicate that a man is a man for all that.

Justice—His spirit of justice was that if a man's character was alright, his conscience was alright and that after weighing things from all angles he had no reason to surrender. Quoting Burns: "The rank is but the Guinea stamp, a man is a man for all that."

Mercy—He expected mercy from God so he in turn was merciful to everything he came in contact with. So much so that when he plowed out the mouse's nest, he stopped and wrote: "My earth torn friend and fellow mortal, many the plans of mice and men oft gang to glea like you and me".

Religious—He worshipped God in the manner in which he was taught at his mother's knee. He did not criticize other people's form of worship. When he felt that he was out of unison with our Saviour's Grace, "If I have walked those paths I should have shun, as something demonstrates I have surely done, my only plea is, Thou art good and goodness to forgive. Thy nod could make the billows cease to roll or still the tumult of the raging sea, with Thine assisting might assist even me."

Burns lives today. This is the test of a great man. He is largely responsible for keeping up Scottish remembrances. Burns is no longer just Scottish but now belongs to all the world. It was not until after his death that the people who had known him and had read his works, really began to understand him. In appreciation for what he had done in his short life they decided to erect a monument to his mortal memory. Monies poured in from far and near to aid in the project. After the erection of the monument, it was found that he had written his own epitaph, which was an appeal: "To them who did not consider themselves perfect but who were merely trying to do their best, to stop and drop a tear."

When the project was completed and it was found that considerable money was left over, it was decided that as it would be in line with Burns wishes, they would build a small house to take care of a few elderly ladies who did not have the means of support until their end.

Following Burns' death, Scotland provided his family with a good standard of living in accordance with the times. Of his three surviving sons, two became colonels in the army in India and the other served in the civil service in London.

Although Robert Burns lived in the 18th century, yet his spirit lives on today because he was — is — a poet of the people.

Knowing and loving them he could, with frankness and gusto, write from the heart, singing aloud his love and hatred. So successful was he that two hundred and three years after his death, these songs still reach "the world o'er," challenging us to "brothers be" and thereby bring in the reign of brotherhood and peace now.

OTTAWA — The baby bonus has been the greatest pitch for Quebec votes since Mackenzie King promised "no conscription." The government failed, in the Throne Speech, to propose any increase in family allowances.

This could be just an indication that the government sees no economic reason to increase these payments. But it also could signify that the Conservatives don't believe an increase here would bring them any substantial political advantage.

When the Liberals boosted the baby bonus in 1957 they held Quebec while losing the rest of the country. Of course, Louis St. Laurent helped. Both ways. Nine months later the Tories won Quebec, Maurice Duplessis helping.

Duplessis is dead, his political machine wrecked, and the opinion polls imply and the pundits say the Grits will sweep Quebec. Well, the Tories won before without Quebec. In 1957 they followed Col. Gordon Churchill's advice to hew to the old military tactic of reinforcing strength, not weakness. Are they doing this again?

I don't think that until very recently at any rate there was any conscious decision to throw in the towel over Quebec. That elaborately staged pilgrimage of the cabinet to Quebec City was to have cut much political ice with Jean Baptiste. For reasons well known it was quite a fiasco.

There is convincing evidence that Prime Minister Diefenbaker hoped to recoup with an appeal to French-Canadian nationalist sentiment. It's pretty certain that some special sop to Quebec, perhaps more than one, was deleted from the Throne Speech only hours before Parliament opened. Most reports refer to a concession on government cheques — that henceforth cheques would be printed in both English and French.

But the form in which cheques are printed is an administrative matter, and scarcely weighty enough to warrant mention in the Throne Speech. This supports the theory that what was deleted was a proposal dealing with a method for selecting the design for a distinctive Canadian flag. So also does the comment of Quebec Tory L. J. Pigeon that bilingual cheques will be a fact in two months.

Moreover, the flag question is sufficiently emotional to explain the protest to Diefenbaker by Tory MPs from Ontario and the Maritimes that reportedly resulted in the deletion. In those provinces where many still prefer the Union Jack to the Canadian Red Ensign, a proposed national flag without the Jack in it would be opposed. Anything with the Jack in it would be rejected by Quebec. This is the deadlock that stopped King when he too tried to use the flag to woo Quebec.

Liberal Leader Pearson has promised action on the flag and the Conservatives may now be content to leave him with this promise in the hope it will cost him votes in the English-speaking provinces.

The doctoring of the Throne Speech at the insistence of English-speaking MPs could thus have more than capitulation on one point to opinion outside of Quebec; it could have been tacit abandonment of all but a handful of Quebec parliamentary seats to the Grits.

The pear crop, estimated at 1,496,000 bushels, is two per cent down from the 1960 yield of 1,526,000 bushels.

The Canadian peach crop jumped by 30 per cent to 3,082,000 bushels in 1961 compared with the preceding year's 2,362,000-bushel figure.

University pay increase small

OTTAWA (CP)—Full-time teachers in 17 Canadian universities are receiving higher salaries on the average in the current 1961-62 academic year but the increase is not as large as in recent years, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

The average salary was $8,646, an increase of 2.9 per cent over 1960-61 and 16.1 per cent over 1958-59.

Average salaries by classifications with percentage of increase in brackets: Deans $15,577 (7.4 per cent), associate professors $9,703 (3.2 per cent), assistant professors $7,987 (3.6 per cent) and instructors and lecturers $6,039 (3.9 per cent).

Salaries in all classifications continued to be considerably lower in Maritime institutions than in Central and Western Canada.

Universities covered in the survey: Acadia, Dalhousie, St. Francis Xavier, Mount Allison, Bishop's, McGill, Queen's, Toronto, Trinity, Victoria, McMaster, Western Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

welcomed British assurances that it would try to protect these interests in negotiating ECM membership.

But the Liberal party was "trying to push Britain into the Common Market," Walter Gordon, a key Liberal party strategist, showed little interest in getting protection for Canadian exports to Britain as a statement that Canada should encourage British membership in ECM, the finance minister said.

He said Opposition Leader Pearson's contention that Canada should list priorities of export interests to be protected was the equivalent of sacrificing other Canadian industries.

Charges by the Liberal party that relations between Canada and Britain had been strained were "untruths and distortions," Mr. Fleming added. The relations were as close as ever. The Progressive Conservative government had healed the wounds inflicted by the Liberal government in relations with Britain over the Suez issue of 1956.

Chesley W. Carter (L—Burlington) said Canada may be selling its freedom along with its wheat sales to Communist China. A great deal of evidence indicated Canadian wheat was being used in China as "an instrument of coercion by an unscrupulous government."

LIBERALS LAUNCH

"sound, wise, business-like government, more concerned with the art of government than with the business of politics."

"RUNS SCARED"

The Diefenbaker government he added, is "beginning to run scared." It was trying to campaign on the Liberal defeats of four and five years ago, and should put its own record to the test before the people.

Mr. Pearson referred to Mr. Diefenbaker's speech last Saturday in which the Conservative leader quoted from a transcript of part of the Liberal leader's press conference in Amherst, N.S., last Nov. 9. Mr. Diefenbaker quoted Mr. Pearson as saying he would leave it to the Quebec members of a Liberal cabinet to decide what symbols should be used in a distinctively Canadian flag.

"Now, nearly three months later," Mr. Pearson said, "the script of an off-the-cuff press conference is produced, a paragraph is altered, and material is used without relationship to the full script."

Mr. Pearson also referred to Mr. Diefenbaker's speech in the Commons Monday and Tuesday this week, in which the prime minister accused the Liberals of having as their candidates a number of "bureaucrats" who pushed Canadians around during the Second World War.

The government, Mr. Pearson said, should defend its policy and not descend to the level of personal attack on men who served the country well in war and peace, and were not in the Commons to defend themselves.

Boussac on tour to present fashion show

Nina Ricci, Christian Dior, Guy Laroche, Jean Desses, Carven, Serge Matta, Madeleine de Rauch, Jacques Esterel and Hermes... these are the Paris Couture names represented in the Boussac fashion show which comes to Canada next month.

Though the silhouettes of Paris-in-the-spring must remain secret for a while, the fabric news is exciting compensation and the over all softness gives a hint of the French fashion shaping to come. The lightest, loveliest, airiest fabrics imaginable have been selected by these ten couturiers for this (and their own) showings. Fabrics from the Boussac group are always among the first to be selected by French couturiers when planning their seasonal collections and many a couturier has acknowledged that his final inspiration came from a fabric design or color.

The Boussac show is the result of the co-operative efforts of some 50 Paris fabric designers — as well as the 10 couturiers and 3 modelists. (Gerard Pipart, Pierre Chanfreau, Max Sarian... all very much in the news this ANNIE GRUEL, one of the mannequins who will be arriving from France shortly. She has brown hair and velvet black eyes and is 24 years old. She will be modeling some of the creations being presented at the Boussac fashion show.

MARIE HELENE SAUER, 21 year old mannequin, has auburn hair and hazel eyes. She is married to a young reporter-photographer and is a model for a French magazine. Marie will be modeling in the Boussac fashion show.

One big trouble today: things rate above values

Maybe you read about the California couple who had no trouble settling the matter of who got the three children when the two were divorced, but had quite a tussle over which one would get the big car, and which the older, smaller car.

The husband argued that he needed a car appropriate to his business position. The wife contended that it gave her a feeling of security to drive the big car.

That little true-life story puts a pretty bright spotlight on what a growing number of Americans depend on for "security."

• Instead of thinking of security as depending on the fundamental traits of character that hold a family together and the kind of love that keeps them close, some couples get to thinking that security means "things" — the more impressive the better.

• It's the size of the house rather than the happiness within its walls that seems important.

• It's the level of social life rather than the durability of friendships that counts.

• It's the level of social life rather than the durability of friendships that counts.

• It's the concentrating on giving the children "advantages" rather than working on basic character traits that seems a "must."

• It's keeping up a good front instead of building on

IT'S A HARD AND FAST RULE in my house to use GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER once a week, every week... for I know how dangerous it is to neglect those germs that lurk in every drain. And I know, too, from experience, that liquid disinfectants can't budger the greasy muck these germs breed in. It takes the special churning, boiling action of Gillett's Drain Cleaner to completely scour out every trace of this germ-breeding mess. If you wish to enjoy the satisfaction of fast-rinsing, clean and sanitary drains, just put 2 tablespoon-fuls of Gillett's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week!

I NEVER REALIZED how frightening asthma could be until a friend's young son gasped for breath and wheezed with an attack one day. But his mother wasn't disturbed. She simply gave him a RAZ-MAH Greys Junior Capsule and in a few minutes the boy was fine. The mother herself has suffered from asthma and chronic bronchitis since childhood, and has been relying on RAZ-MAH Capsules for relief; they leave no unpleasant after-effects. Seeing is believing, and I saw how wonderfully effective RAZ-MAH Capsules are. That's why I heartily recommend RAZ-MAH to any of you suffering from bronchial asthma.

I'VE DISCOVERED HOW TO TAKE THE WOE OUT OF WASHDAY with wonderful SUNLIGHT SOAP! No hard-on-you, hard-on-fabrics scrubbing—and Sunlight makes all the difference between really clean and just "clean-enough." For instance, it's perfect for extra soiled collars and cuffs—they come beautifully clean when rubbed with Sunlight before dunking in the washing machine. Sunlight is mild and gentle to hands and fabrics, yet does a good hard-working job. That's because it's all soap—guaranteed pure and unadulterated, yet costs less than any other bar soap or cleaner. Try Sunlight... I know you'll agree that it's the one soap with a thousand uses!

MY SISTER-IN-LAW HAS REALLY SOLD ME on the many advantages of CALGON, the wonder water conditioner. For instance, Calgon prevents Hangover Dirt—the film of soil, minerals, soap or detergent that sticks to your clothes. It's like the ring you get in the bathtub. Hangover Dirt makes your clothes stiff and scratchy—colors drab and dingy. But Calgon, the Water Doctor, CURES Hangover Dirt—prevents and removes it naturally without bleach. Calgon conditions water so you need less soap—get clothes softer, more absorbent and really clean. For brighter, cleaner clothes—launder with Calgon.

Two small folk, D. Whitehead and Pattie Williams, then carried in a huge basket of red roses, which they presented to Mrs. Lidstone. Later Mr. Gamble presented Archdeacon and Mrs. Lidstone with a set of silver.

The serving of refreshments brought the interesting evening to a conclusion.

Hi-Y basketball jamboree on Saturday

Twenty-three teams representing seventeen schools have entered for the big Hi-Y Basketball Jamboree slated for Sherbrooke High School this Saturday.

Sixteen senior teams have registered while six junior teams will be looking for the championship.

The schools entered are: Drummondville High School, both junior and senior, A.D.S. High School, senior, Theford Mines, senior, Sutton High School, senior, Magog High School, senior, St. Johns, senior, Sunnyside High School senior, Sherbrooke High School, junior and senior, Cowansville High School, senior, Stanstead High School, senior, Knowlton High School, junior and senior, Lennoxville High School, junior and senior, Sawyerville, senior, St. Patrick's High School, senior and junior, Notre Dame High School in Richmond, senior and junior, Ayer's Cliff High School, senior and junior, and Cookshire High School, senior.

In the senior division a real battle should be witnessed by the basketball fans that attend the jamboree.

Knowlton High School, last year's winners of both divisions, will be out again to sweep the championship and the way things look they just might do it.

Cowansville High School and Sherbrooke High School are the two teams that promise to make it tough for the Knowlton boys.

BROWNLEIGH PLACE

Friends of Mr. George Skilling will be sorry to hear of his illness. Mr. Skilling was a patient in the C.I.M. Hospital in Asbestos, for a number of days under observation, after which he was moved to the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he underwent surgery.

A meeting of the Anglican Guild will be held at the home of Mrs. Hamel, on Friday evening, Feb. 9, instead of on Feb. 2, the regular date.

DUBOYCE'S CORNER

Mrs. Norman Bradley, of Sherbrooke, Malcolm and Jimmy Bradley, Mrs. Mostyn Bradley and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Badger.

Mr. Ernest Badger and Mrs. John Badger attended the funeral of Mrs. Dean Dudley in West Berkshire, Vt.

The Knowlton Quest group, led by Rev. Th. Van Petegem, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Badger for a toboggan party. Between 20 and 30 young people attended and a hilarious time was had. Lunch was served by Mrs. Badger and Mrs. Eric Stanbridge. Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Sykes and Mr. Eric Stanbridge were also present.

Friends of Mr. Mark Pille, will be sorry to learn he is a patient in the Sweetsbury Hospital.

MELBOURNE

Mrs. Bertha Boast of Montreal, was a recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Beatrice Rodgers.

BERLIN (AP) — A Berlin-bound British correspondent had to shave off his newly-grown beard before he could pass an East German checkpoint on the highway to Berlin. The Reds insisted the man's face match the beardless one on his passport photo.

All the other schools that are entered cannot be counted out however. Every school that is entered in the tournament have a fine squad of young athletes and the senior championship will not be a cinch for any of the schools.

In the junior section, the Knowlton cagers again seem to hold the upper hand.

The Knowlton Junior Cagers won the junior division championship and will be back this year to see if they can repeat last year's performance.

The Sherbrooke High School juniors will be in the thick of the battle as will the St. Patrick's High School.

The squads from the different schools have changed considerably with a lot of the veteran cagers being replaced by younger athletes.

It will be surprising if this year will be as in the past few years when the jamboree was dominated by three teams, Knowlton, Sherbrooke High School and St. Pats.

All in all some good basketball action should be witnessed by basketball fans on Saturday.

Get a BIG JUMP on SUCCESS

Some boys are born basketball players ... good eye ... co-ordination ... competitive drive. Success to them comes easily because the game suits their talents.

Success in a career, too, is a matter of finding the work best suited to your individual talents. When the time comes for you to make a start in the business world, look carefully before you leap — that way you'll be a jump ahead.

Take banking, for instance. For the ambitious young man, with junior matriculation or its equivalent, banking offers him the opportunity — perhaps more than any other business — to go just as far as his abilities can take him. Top executive jobs at the B of M are all held by men who started at the foot of the ladder.

So why not look into banking and see if it will give you a big jump on success? If banking suits you, and you suit banking, you might be giving yourself a bigger jump ahead than you know. The basketball Jamboree on Saturday at the Sherbrooke High School has been held for a number of years and it provides all Eastern Townships High Schools with the chance to walk off with the High School Hi-Y basketball championships.

It is a well-organized affair and has always proved to be a success in years past.

In previous years all games have been played at the Sherbrooke High School but this year some of the games might have to be played at the St. Patrick's High School. The number of entries have increased every year, and this year with some 23 teams entered Sherbrooke High School may not be able to accommodate all the games.

If some games do have to be played at St. Pats, (it will not be known for sure until Saturday), they will be played in the morning with the finals all being played at the High School after a full day's competition.

One thing is certain, the two teams that meet in the finals

Legion Auxiliary Richmond, hears monthly reports

RICHMOND — The annual report of the Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 15, showed 19 regular and four executive meetings held.

Seven new members were welcomed and two other Comrades rejoined. One life membership pin was presented and four others will be presented shortly also two made honorary members.

Activities for the year consisted of assisting Senior branch at bingo, polo clinic, rummage and poppy sales, Street Fair, church parades, Armistice services, providing refreshments after parade, visiting funeral homes to pay respect to bereaved. A wedding gift was purchased for a Comrade and also a golden anniversary gift.

The group held a drawing on a French fryer in connection with refreshment booth at annual Street Fair.

Donations were made to the Red Cross, polo fund, Unitarian Relief, and St. Francis High School hot lunches for underprivileged children, and to the minor hockey league. Several boxes of clothing were donated to the C.W.L.

A filing cabinet, dish towels, kitchen curtains, 12 packs of playing cards were purchased. Half the expense of a wheel chair was paid.

The regular monthly supplies of tobacco were sent to the Wales Home and the Veterans' hospital at Ste. Anne de Bellevue. All expenses of the erection of the new monument on Legion Memorial grounds were also paid.

Boxes for five boys overseas were packed and contributions for parcels sent to Comrades at Christmas were made.

A Christmas party was held in December with an exchange of gifts. Much of the success of the auxiliary is due to Cde. C. Bush, who received a special vote of thanks for her untiring efforts.

HATLEY — The second in a series of 500 parties sponsored by the finance committee of St. James Anglican Church was held in the Guild Hall. Cards were played at nine tables with Mrs. James Townshend, Mrs. R. G. Bray, Messrs. Charles Moulton and Charles Graham winning prizes. Mrs. Cecil Chute won the floating prize. The third party in the series will be held Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. in the Guild Hall.

Mrs. Ben Cunningham and Amanda, of Baldwin's Mills, are spending an indefinite time with Mrs. Cunningham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Morse.

Miss Jacqueline Cutler and Mr. Herbert Premdas, of Magog, spent the weekend with the former's parents.

Mr. Kenneth Little, of East Ryegate, Vt., spent a day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Little.

Mrs. Robert Raycraft, of Huntingville, spent the weekend with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Nutbrown. Other guests were, Mr. John McKelvey, of Magog, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nutbrown and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nutbrown and family, of Compton.

Two hockey games were played on the local rink. The school boys were defeated 3 to 1 by the Waterville team and in the evening the Hatley Hornets won 5 to 1 over a team from North Hatley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Pocock and family, of Waterville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Emery and Miss Hazel Emery over the weekend.

The Athletic Association is sponsoring an ice carnival and box social on Jan. 27, proceeds to go towards defraying expenses of the local skating rink.

Mr. Wallace Hartwell, and Wendy spent the weekend with Mrs. Hartwell and David at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Humphries Sherbrooke.

will have faced some tough opposition during the course of the day.

No matter what teams meet in the finals, and it could be any one of the entries, some good basketball is sure to be witnessed.

In the two previous years, the finals have gone right down to the wire. Last year, Knowlton High School and St. Patrick's High School from Sherbrooke, two teams who always give good performances, met in the finals as they did the year before.

Knowlton came out victorious both years, but only after a great try by St. Pats.

Another year the Sherbrooke High School team met St. Pats in the finals and this one went into overtime with the Maroons and white pulling out a close victory.

This year terms from as far away as Drummondville and Thetford Mines have entered and it will be interesting to see what the new entrants have

Sherbrooke High School Bantams, paced by Mark Steinman with three goals, blank BCS Senecas 5-0

Sherbrooke High School Bantams posted a lopsided 5-0 victory over BCS Senecas Wednesday afternoon at SHS.

Mark Steinman was one of the outstanding players on the ice during the match with three goals to his credit.

Steinman opened scoring in the game at 0:12 of the first period when he tallied on an assist from R. Stewart. His scoring play was followed up at 7:50 by Dave Bonduant who fired one in unassisted to make it 2-0 for the hosts.

In the second stanza, Steinman tallied two more—one at 1:55 on assists by S. Oxford and R. Stewart and another at 2:20 thanks to a pass from R. Stewart, to give Sherbrooke a very solid 4-0 lead.

In the final period, Connor scored things up for the hosting SHS group when he scored unassisted to give Sherbrooke the game 5-0.

Cowansville High girls down Bedford

COWANSVILLE—(Special)—Cowansville High School Senior Girls basketball team played one of their most inspiring games to date, they easily defeated the Bedford team 45-12.

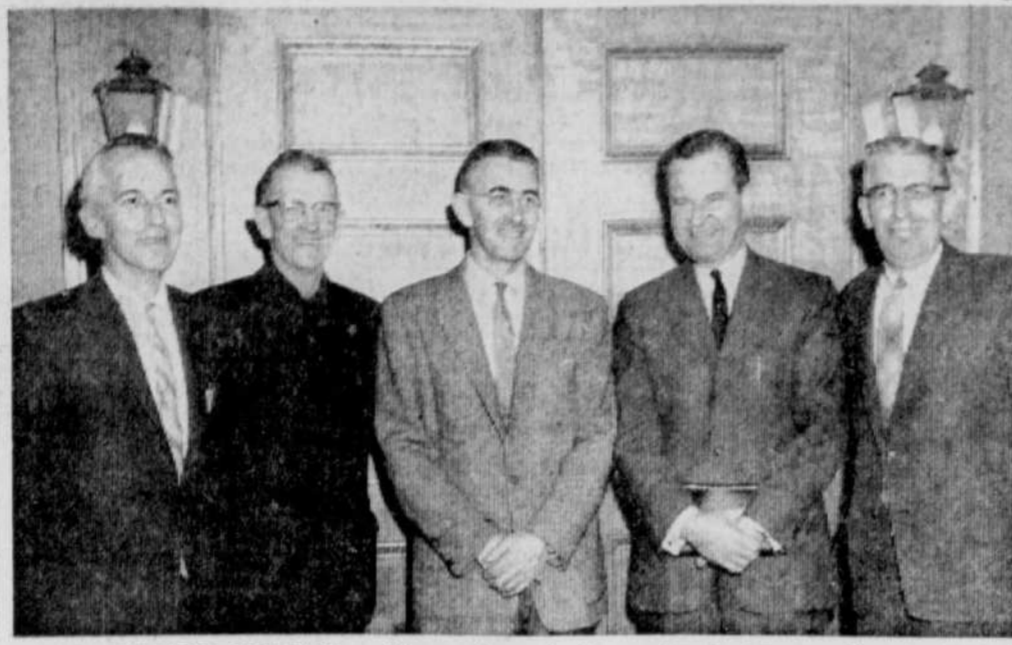

This game featured an outstanding defence by Cowansville which allowed only 3 field goals in the game. The remaining points were a result of foul shots.

As well as a good defence, a superior brand of offence was witnessed. The ball was handled well by the Cowansville forwards, and only weak shooting at times prevented the score from being doubled.

Deluxe Auto retains lead in bowling loop

Clark's Pharmacy came up with a strong team effort to blank Gaudet's Pharmacy and move within two points of third spot in the Civil Service Bowling League.

The win enabled them to gain ground on the third-place Lee crew who dropped their game to the Firemen. Clark's took all four strings while Lee Cafe went down 3-1. J. Blais of Lee Cafe rolled the high single when he posted 195.

BCS Abenakis down Midgets

BCS Abenakis posted a 3-1 victory over Sherbrooke High Midgets Wednesday afternoon in an action-packed match contested at BCS arena.

Dennis Mills scored SHS only point on an assist by Hafenden.

It was a close situation for Sherbrooke who in the dying minutes of the encounter pulled their goalie, but a hard-pressed BCS attacking group rifled a shot into the open Sherbrooke net to take the battle 3-1.

Canada in same spot as US on World Hockey

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Jukes, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Wednesday it is unlikely that Canada would take over from the United States as host of the 1962 world amateur hockey championships.

He was commenting on a report by J. D. (Bunny) Ahearne, vice-president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, who said in Geneva Wednesday that Canada would be asked to organize the tournament if the East German team was refused permission to enter the U.S.

Cowansville High School rolls to impressive 10-0 win over Bedford, Bucky Williams standout in nets

COWANSVILLE—(Special)—Behind the strong goaltending of Bucky Williams and fine offense of the Paul Jordan, Eric Dryden, Cam Cross line, Cowansville High continued their winning ways in the District of Bedford Interscholastic Senior Hockey League by defeating Bedford High 10-0.

Williams, playing his first senior game, was outstanding on many Bedford thrusts. The all-rounder line of Jordan - Dryden - Cross accounted for eight of the ten Cowansville goals.

Cross and Jordan had the hat-tricks while Dryden picked up two. Tom Orida scored the two remaining C.H.S. tallies. Dunc Kemp was the most dangerous Bedford attacker.

Cowansville faces a hustling Knowlton team in Knowlton Friday, in what could be the most important game of the season. Cowansville won the first meeting between these two, 1-0 in Cowansville.

The league standing follows:

W	L	T	Pts
Cowansville	4	0	1	9
Knowlton	2	1	1	5
Granby	1	0	2	4
Bedford	1	3	0	2

• HOCKEY • Locals commence fine but defense folds in second and third periods, Drum'ville here Sunday afternoon

Montreal Olympics came up with a strong second and third period last night to post a 9-3 drubbing over Sherbrooke Beavers and extend their lead over the Dube squad to three points at the Paul Sauve Centre in Montreal.

The tilt slated for this evening at the local Arena has been postponed until next Thursday, Feb. 1, when Drummondville Rockets will be on hand. The next game in Sherbrooke will be Sunday afternoon when Lou Poliquin and his Rockets will be the visiting team.

The line of Claude Richard, Michel Labrosse and Phil Latreille set the pace for the Olympics as they picked up a total of 16 points during the game. Richard, Latreille, and Labrosse each potted two goals as well as Chagnon while Depatis notched the other. Roger Picard, Albert Moore and Rejean Hamelin were the marksmen for the Beavers.

The Sherbrooke squad got off to a flying start when Roger Picard beat Denis Brodeur right after the opening faceoff. Later in the frame Al Moore put the Beavers further ahead but Richard reduced the margin just before the end of the frame.

The Beavers were playing well at this stage of the game and held the upper hand. At the start of the middle session the roof caved in on the Dube outfit and from then on they were never dangerous. The Olympics batted home four goals within the first four minutes of the period.

The Sherbrooke defense folded completely and before the frame had ended Montreal got one more. In the third period they continued their scoring ways and potted the disc behind Joe Lacoursiere three more times while Hamelin got Sherbrooke's last tally.

The Sherbrooke defense just couldn't do anything right and they failed to give their nemesis any protection. Coach Picard, Dube, who was hard set, even tried Roger Picard at the blue-line but this failed to change anything. It was just one of those nights.

Joe Lacoursiere handled a total of 31 shots with a lot of close calls. Denis Brodeur had an easier time at the other end of the rink although he turned aside 32 with the majority of them from long range.

Red Wings blank Rangers 3-0 with Gordie Howe notching two goals and Terry Sawchuk outstanding Detroit Red Wings won a key National Hockey League game Wednesday night, thanks to the incomparable Gordie Howe and the redoubtable Terry Sawchuk.

The two all-time greats combined their talents as they have so many times in the past for a 3-0 victory over the faltering New York Rangers at New York.

Howe got two goals, his 22nd and 23rd of the season, and Sawchuk blocked 28 shots for his fifth shutout.

In another game at Chicago, club's goaltending by Glenn Hall and goals by Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita led the Black Hawks to a 2-1 win over Toronto Maple Leafs.

By winning, the Red Wings slipped into fourth place in the league standings, two points ahead of the Rangers who now have lost eight straight games and 10 of their last 11.

LEAFS TRAIL
Chicago's win, mean while, prevented the second-place Maple Leafs from closing in on front-running Montreal Canadiens. The Leafs trail by three points.

Howe's goals also raised his career total to 492, just eight shy of the coveted 500 mark and 52 behind retired Maurice (Rocket) Richard's record of 544.

The shutout also was Sawchuk's 88th in NHL play, leaving him six off the record set by George Hainsworth in 107 seasons with Canadiens and Maple Leafs in the 1920s and 30s.

Howe got his first goal at 4:53 of the second period, beating New York goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley on a close-in shot. He connected again at 15:19 of the third, this time on a 40-foot shot.

Alex Delvecchio bagged the other Detroit goal midway through the second period. It was his 15th tally of the season.

Sawchuk, who had to leave the ice briefly in the second period with a wrenched back, was brilliant all the way. He stopped eight shots in the first 20 minutes and 10 in each of the last two periods.

His five shutouts tie him for the league lead with Hall.

Hall narrowly missed a sixth shutout at Chicago. He wasn't

However, in the second stanza, Barry and Desjardins of Lennoxville fired in one goal each to put Lennoxville in command of the match 2-1.
