THE CANADIAN WIMBLEDON.

Closing Day of the Meeting at Ottawa—Presentation of Prizes—The Wimbledon Team For 1887.

OTTAWA, September 2.—To-day has been by far the finest in every way of the meeting. Good light, good weather, good wind, and, as a natural result, good scores, the low averages of the first three days being much improved, but still falling short of last year. The fine weather attracted a large crowd, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick's "at home" was the largest which has ever been held on the grounds. The distribution of prizes took place about 5 o'clock, the McDougall cup being presented to Private Bartlett, Q.O.R., by Lady Middleton, as the wife of the commander of the militia force, and the other principal prizes by Sir John A. Macdonald, who appeared in capital health and spirits, and seemed to take great interest in the proceedings. The following are to-day's scores:

The skirmishing matches were apparently very unsatisfactory affairs, owing, in a great measure, to the abominable state of the weather for such work, a large bog running across a part of the range, necessitating some of the teams to wade for some distance up to their waists in mud. The 6th Fusiliers team would have done better in the Challenge Shield match but for the disabling of one of the men's rifles. This caused him to lose most of his rounds retiring.

Most of the teams have left for home, the Montreal teams leaving this morning.

The following were the scores of the teams in the Dominion of Canada match, which did not win prizes:

74th Batt., 340 points; 6th Fusiliers, 338; 43rd Batt., 332; 85th Batt., 331; 12th Batt., 330; B. Columbia, 326; 5th Royal Scots, 325; 8th R. Rifles, 320; 7th Fusiliers, 319; Q. O. Rifles, 317; 78th Batt., 316; Royal Grenadiers, 314; 90 Batt., 313; P. D. Guards, 291.

AFTER THE SHOCKS.

The Work of Rebuilding Charleston Commenced—Evidences of a Great Convulsion — Yawning Chasms, Sinks of Fresh Water, Sulphurous Gas—The Fall of a Train.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 2.—The official total of deaths is thirty-three. The wounded will probably number 100. Business is still suspended, the whole attention of the people being given to providing for refuge and making residences safe. Bricklayers have advanced their rates to six dollars a day. There were shocks last night at 8.30, 11.15 p. m. and 5 a. m. All were light. Confidence is gradually returning but much apprehension is still felt.

INDICATIONS OF A CONVULSION.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 2.—A special report from Mount Pleasant, opposite Charleston, says that a sink near the German church which on Tuesday was perfectly dry sand, is now full of fresh water. Near Shell street there is a cabin occupied by a colored man that is completely surrounded by yawning chasms extending through the earth's surface for 10 feet, and over all around this there are sinks of fresh water and masses of mud with queer looking soft substances that have never been seen before. It is contended by many that the mud and other substances found around the village are volcanic matter. Just after the first great shock on Wednesday night there was a decided and distinct smell of escaping sulphuric acid gas over the entire village. The smell lasted throughout the night and was distinct in those localities where the cavities in the earth were most numerous. Some say that portions of the mud thrown up by the waterspouts are strongly impregnated with sulphur and that small portions of sulphur can be found in the mud. Not far from Charleston on the road to Summerville, extensive mounds of clay were thrown up, and hillocks of sand in most cases in the shape of inverted cones, the hollow part of which had evidently been formed by the action of the water returning into the depths from which it had been raised. In many cases the erupted matter had in the surface of the earth to a distance of from twenty to fifty feet. In other places there were fissures almost invariably extending from north to south; these cracks were not wide and extended downward always in a slanting direction. The matter that was thrown up was of a dull, dark, slatey color and was mixed with gravel. There was also a little shale and in general the mud resembled that which is thrown from the bottom of the phosphate pits. Along the river the water in some places had a taste of our artesian water, but in many instances it was just as clear and limpid as from a mountain spring. These evidences of a great convulsion extend far and near in every direction from the city limits of Charleston to Summerville, and at the latter place it was found that the cracks and fissures are everywhere visible for miles around. Some of these were in active operation, and the constant shocks that were felt at Summerville sent the water out of these fissures in jets to the height of from fifteen to twenty feet, and there was a constant dread that there would be a general inundation caused by some extraordinary force of the earthquake. Not only was the water emitted in low places where it might be expected to exist all the time, but on the tops of the highest elevations the mud could be seen.

STREAMED AWAY FROM THE BREAKS

THE FALL OF A TRAIN.

Near Ten Mile a fatal accident occurred on Tuesday night. The down Columbia train jumped the track. The engineer, Burns, and the fireman, Arnold, colored, were badly injured by the tremendous leap which the train took in the dark, under the unseen influence of the shock that dismantled the road. It is said that the earth suddenly gave way and that the engine plunged down the temporary declivity. It was then raised on the top of the succeeding undulation, and, having reached the top of a wave, a sudden swerving of the force to the left and right hurled the ill-fated train down the embankment. The train at the time of the earthquake was running along at the usual speed, and when about a mile south of Jedburg, it encountered a terrible experience. It was freighted with hundreds of excursionists returning from the mountains. Suddenly the train appeared to have left the track and was thrown up into the air; suddenly it descended and it was flung violently over to the east; end there was a reflex action and the train righted and was hurled with a roar as of a discharge of artillery over to the west and finally subsided on the track and took a plunge downward. The engineer put down brakes tight, but so great was the original and added momentum that the train kept right ahead. It is said on trustworthy authority that the train actually galloped along the track, front and rear trucks of coaches rising and falling alternately. The utmost confusion prevailed, women and children shrieked with dismay and the bravest heart quailed in momentary expectation of a terrible catastrophe. The train was taken back in the direction of Jedburg and on the way back the work of the earthquake was terribly patent.

NOTES.

Shocks of earthquake are also reported from London, Ont., and Petrolea, Ont.

Mayor Grace, of New York, has telegraphed to the Mayor of Charleston asking if help is needed.

Among the contributions announced for the relief of the Charleston sufferers are $500 from the New York Petroleum Exchange and $100 from the Irish Catholic Benevolent Union holding its annual sessions at Lancaster.

A shock of earthquake was distinctly felt at Toronto by persons residing in the northern part of the city a few minutes before 10 o'clock on Tuesday night. Among them were three students at McMaster Hall, Mrs. Montgomery and Mr. Hamilton, of Parliament street. The shock lasted a minute.

The Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, in a speech last night at Seaham, said he yielded to nobody in a desire to see Ireland happy. He hoped that impartial action would mitigate the dissension in Ireland and help to develop the material resources of the country, but the first necessity was to secure the foundations of social order and progress. That possibly would be accomplished slowly, but he hoped right thinking men would give their support.

THE SEA SERPENT ONCE MORE.

Again Seen on the Hudson and Described by a Number of Persons.

RONDOUT, N. Y., September 2.—The sea serpent that was seen disporting itself in the waters of the Hudson river, near Kingston point, on Sunday, has again been seen. Capt. Fisher, of Rondout, went to Kingston point yesterday, and the man in charge of the wreck of the steamboat "Daniel Drew," told him that he saw the serpent the night previous. It was making its way north with its head extended about five feet out of the water. It stood from its course long enough to give chase to two young men, who were rowing in a small boat. They reached shore in safety but were terribly frightened. The monster, as the watchman describes it, grew furious when it saw the young men had escaped and lashed the water into foam with its tail, which seemed about seventy-five feet distant from the boat. Its head was as large around as a flour barrel, and its eyes, of greenish hue, looked "devilish." Before going up the Hudson river again it squirted from its mouth a stream of foaming stuff resembling a long shaving from a pine plank. Capt. Conkling, of the "John H. Cordets," also saw the serpent. He gave it the right of way in the channel. It was seen this morning abreast of the Flatbush ice houses. A number of persons saw the serpent, and their descriptions of the monster do not vary in the least.

THE ROYAL SINGER

New Singing Class Book by L. O. Emerson. THE BEST OF ALL!

Teachers of Singing Schools who examine this, the last of Mr. Emerson's series of successful class-books, will generally concede that it is, in some degree, superior to any of its predecessors. The elementary exercises, the graded easy tunes for practice, the part songs or glees, and the church tunes, anthems and chants, all excel in their selection or arrangement.

With its happily chosen title, good and interesting music and generally attractive character, there is good ground for hope that it will be the "Favorite of the season."

LONDON STREET RAILWAY.

The London General Omnibus Company at its last half-yearly meeting, declared a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, and a bonus of £1.5.0 per cent. or an equivalent to 12½ per cent. per annum. This was nothing unusual in the history of the company, but it is interesting to note that this very respectable profit was made out of fares averaging 3½ cents per passenger, and the Chairman announced that the policy of the company was still further reduction of fares, with a view to convincing the public that "it is cheaper to ride and save time and shoe-leather than to walk."

The London Road Car Company which declared a dividend of five per cent. is only charging penny fares. Much of this company's profits was absorbed in investments in new plant, and its progress is reported to be altogether out of proportion to that of the other company.

THE POLICE AND THE SALVATION ARMY.

In our issue of yesterday a member of the Salvation Army describes his experience in the hands of Montreal policemen. According to Mr. Fraser's account he was arrested for preventing a carter from driving over some of the young women of the "Army." His collar and necktie were torn off, his neck scratched, and his hat knocked off apparently for fun. He was knocked on the head with a club for asking for his hat, and knocked on the head again for asking if his assailants were policemen. His Testament and hymn book were taken away because they were not considered good for him. The serious charge made by Mr. Fraser against the police, taken in connection with the fact that the Chief has issued special instructions to the force with reference to the treatment of the Salvationists, calls for a prompt investigation by the Police Committee. If Fraser was guilty of such desperate ruffianism as alone could excuse the rough handling he got, why was he discharged by the Recorder? We cannot help thinking that the policeman interprets his special instructions with regard to the Salvationists, as a license to impress upon them by a policeman's most forcible argument, i.e. his, club, his sense of the impropriety of their methods or doctrines.

ENGLISH MANUFACTURERS AND COLONIAL MARKETS.

"What do the colonist's want" is a question asked by the London Times and the answer to which it calls upon the Imperial Government to render some assistance in discovering. Our contemporary has discovered that the colonies are importing from foreign countries articles which English manufacturers might just as well be making. It complains that while the American manufacturer is always anxious to adapt his wares to any market, the English manufacturer always expects the colonial and foreign markets to adapt themselves to his wares. If a colonist wants to use an axe or a spade of a different pattern to those in use in England, he must not expect an English manufacturer to encourage him in his bad taste. It is suggested that a commission of skilled workmen be appointed to enquire what articles which the colonists use are now bought from the United States in default of their manufacture in England.

We do not believe such a commission would be of much use. The English manufacturers should do as the American manufacturers do: study the needs of the colonial markets for themselves. Long before the cumbersome machinery of a commission could turn out a report, the colonial preference for this pattern or that may have changed, for the colonists have rather a weakness for novelty. Besides, after making it clear what the colonists want, the stupendous task remains for the commission or somebody else to convince the English manufacturer that he is justified in altering his machinery when it would be so much easier for the colonists to alter their tastes. There are manufacturers in England who are willing to make anything their customers want, and are prepared to take some trouble to find out what they want. For the rest, if the Government is to find out for them what they ought to manufacture, it might as well do the manufacturing for them also.

MONEY AND DESERVING IT.

A few days ago we saw among the notices of "our enterprising citizens" in an American newspaper, the admiring biography of a gentleman who had "made two hundred thousand dollars before he was thirty" and was, then at fifty-three "supposed to be worth at least two millions." We happened to know the individual and could have accepted the paragraph as correct had it declared that he had obtained the $200,000 and now possessed the $2,000,000. But that he had "made" the money, or its value, or anything whatever, we knew to be as entirely unfounded as the assertion that he had a certain "worth." His fortune had in fact been gained by a business which creates nothing, satisfies no human need or desire, and amounts essentially to gambling. Yet the man was mentioned with an admiration that could be deserved only by some one who had done something, really made something, supplied some need, satisfied some wants of other people, helped to make their lives easier or pleasanter, or assisted to enlighten their minds. He, as it happened, was a reprehensible old bachelor; he had supported no family, established no charity, created next to no employment. Indeed he had never been "worth" anything to anybody but himself, and why, in the name of sense, should he have been classed as one of our enterprising citizens, together with a number of sound business men who had given value for everything they owned?

It is true that the sum of a man's gains generally measure, with fair accuracy, the amount of his hard work, energy, inventiveness and usefulness to the community. Then again they often don't measure anything of the kind, and, sometimes, the most useful man of the lot has had, as Agassiz said of himself, "no time to waste in making money." How are people to discriminate between the possessors of fortunes? Awarding no admiration to him who has not really done anything, and freely bestowing it on each according to his merits instead of according to his money? There is indeed a sort of rough justice done all round, for people usually give respect ungrudgingly to the useful men and only something mingled of envy and contempt to them who, toiling not, yet are clothed like Solomon in his glory and fare sumptuously every day. But the size of the Fortune and not the worth of the Man is too much regarded, and that is a bad state of affairs, to be changed only by a considerable reformation of individual ambition. If your aim, young man, is nothing better than to acquire money, you will probably go on giving adulation to him who has obtained a good deal, no matter how; but, if your intention is to deserve respect and to give honest value for everything you get, you will doubtless come to measure men's merits by the standard you set up for yourself.

Nothing is more beneficial than to admire rightly; nothing more degrading than to look up to the wrong things. And most of the talk we hear about the gloriousness of having "made money" is corrupting. It breeds false valuations in young minds. It deifies the dollar. It sets a statue of Acquisition on the Pedestal that should be devoted to Work. It tends to glorify the man who gets instead of him who does. It sets young fellows idly thinking or nefariously planning how to obtain at least the appearance of being "flush," instead of striving to give to their employers or to their tasks, the very best effort that is in them—the kind of effort that seldom fails to procure for a man every dollar that he deserves. To excel in usefulness is the legitimate ambition; and the world is so ordered that he who sincerely endeavors to gratify himself that way can scarcely fail to become prosperous, to win the respect of his neighbor, and, what is better than all, he preserves his own.

A NEW MAIL ROUTE.

Important Statement in the House of Commons—The Belfast Riots Debate—Sensation Caused by Major Saunderson.

LONDON, September 2.—Hon. Cecil Raikes, Postmaster-General, stated in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Government had under consideration the establishment of a mail route from Ireland by way of British North America to India and the far East.

J. J. Jordan, Parnellite, asked the Government why county Clare had been placed in the sphere of Gen. Sir Redvers Buller's mission.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach replied that although there did not exist in Clare that state of lawless intimidation which prevailed in Kerry, still there was much intimidation in Clare and much activity among secret societies.

THE BELFAST RIOTS DEBATE.

Mr. McDonald, member for Sligo, resumed the debate on Mr. Sexton's amendment to the address. He attributed the troubles in Belfast to the incitement of certain fire brands and the speeches of Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain.

Major Saunderson (Conservative) denied absolutely that the Orangemen originated the riots, which, he said, were the legacy of Mr. Gladstone's blood-stained policy which extended from Khartoum to Belfast. (Cheers). He denied Mr. Sexton's assertion that the Orangemen had taken an oath to exterminate the Catholics. The Orange lodges, he said, were always opened with prayer, and one of the petitions was that the Irish Catholics might be rescued from the error of their ways. (Laughter). If Parliament handed them over to the Parnellites the Orangemen would be justified in resorting to force. The Orangemen objected to being dominated by politicians who received foreign money for their support.

CALLED TO ORDER.

The Speaker here called Major Saunderson to order, saying his remarks were irrelevant.

Continuing, Major Saunderson indignantly denied that he had incited civil war.

"Rebellion, not civil war," shouted Mr. Sexton.

Major Saunderson reiterated that if Parliament handed over the loyalists to the tender mercies of the Parnellites, the former would be justified as a last resource in appealing to arms.

Mr. Sexton rose to a point of order. He asked whether Major Saunderson's remarks were allowable?

Sir Vernon Harcourt supported Mr. Sexton.

Lord Randolph Churchill thought if Major Saunderson's expressions were objected to the words ought to be taken down.

The Speaker said he did not think it necessary for him to interfere.

Major Saunderson, in conclusion, said he hoped the result of the Government's action would be to teach the Belfast mob, whether Protestant or Catholic that the law must be obeyed.

A LIVELY DEBATE

followed, in the course of which Mr. Redmond, Nationalist, was called upon to retract his unparliamentary expressions and apologize to the House, which he did.

After loud calls for Lord Randolph Churchill, to which he made no reply, the Speaker put the question and Mr. Sexton's amendment was rejected by 225 to 120. The announcement was received with loud cheers, by the Government supporters and Parnellites.

Immediately before the division a loud altercation arose between Mr. Colomb and Mr. Tanner, and the Speaker ordered both to appear before the bar after the division.

The address was then agreed to without division. Subsequently, after several motions to adjourn were defeated, Lord Randolph Churchill reluctantly consented to adjourn rather than prolong the sitting by resisting so large a minority determined on obstruction.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

Lord Landolph Churchill will to-morrow ask precedence for the supply bills. Mr. Parnell has given notice that he will move the following amendment to Lord Randolph Churchill's motion:—

"The necessity for measures to ameliorate the condition of the people of Ireland is so urgent that this House declines to surrender to the Government the usual facilities enjoyed by members of the House."

James Stephenson, general superintendent G. T. R., leaves for British Columbia to-day.

PROVINCIAL POLITICS.

Mr. G. W. Stephens' Letters—Number Five on the Railway Sale.

To the Editor of THE STAR:

SIR,—The public have never yet seen the railway sale in its true light. Here is a statement of the transaction and the figures. I hope every one who reads it will cut it out, and preserve it for reference when he is voting for the continuation of the Chapleau regime.

Up to the 30th June, 1882, the property cost in cash $12,537,980.38, since that date we have paid on account of it $1,208,189.08. Total 13,746,169.46. Over and above this we gave to the purchasers, $2,497,200 on real estate and municipal subscription of Quebec. Total value of the property, $16,243,369.46. We received for the property $7,600,000. Loss to the Province $8,643,369.46.

Was the road sold to the highest bidder?

The late Sir Hugh Allan offered for the property $9,000,000 (vide Hansard 1882 p. 183. Dr. Ross' speech.) Apart from this offer, the late Sir Hugh Allan had offered to lease the road for 20 years at $425,000 per annum for 5 years and $450,000 for 5 years, $475,000 for 5 years and for the last term of 5 years $500,000; with right of purchase at expiry of 10 years at $8,500,000 or $9,500,000 at the expiration of the 20 years.

We would have realized as follows:

	Annually.	For 20 Yrs.
	$462,500	$9,250,000
We now realize....	380,000	7,600,000
Loss.....	$ 82,500	$1,650,000

Compare the following:

Sir Hugh Allan's offer	$9,000,000
Mr. Chapleau's sale	7,600,000
Net loss	$1,400,000

This is not all. The Allan offer did not include the item of $2,497,200 above mentioned for municipal subsidy, etc., so that the account would stand thus:

In accepting Sir Hugh Allan's offer

we would have received in cash	$ 9,000,000
We would have retained in value	2,447,200
Total realized	11,497,200
We sold for	7,600,000
Net loss to the province	$ 3,897,200

No wonder the audience threw bits of rope at Mr. Chapleau at Longueuil. But Mr. Ross voted against the sale of the railway. Why did he take into his ministry a majority of colleagues who had voted for the sale? Thus rendering it impossible to enquire fully into the circumstances of the sale. Why did he sit with a House, the majority of the members of which had voted for the Chapleau sale? Mr. Ross made a mistake when he joined Mr. Chapleau, and by the unconstitutional refusal of the supplies overthrew the Joly Government—the best Government the Province has ever seen, and presided over by one of the most unselfish and patriotic of our countrymen—I mean the Hon. Mr. Joly. If Mr. Ross had never done anything worse than this his Government deserves to be defeated on this account alone.

Mr. Chapleau assisted Mr. Ross to perform this disastrous act, and Mr. Chapleau was assisted in the nefarious scheme by the Flynn-Racicot-Paquet-Fortin-Chauveau desertion, and from that date he may have had the system of government by purchase.

Here is what we would have saved if Mr. Joly had remained in power.

1. Loss on the sale of the Q. M. & O. R. R. by accepting the tender of Brother Eschel instead of the Allan-Rivard tender	$3,897,200
2. Loss on the settlement of the Quebec claim	437,000
3. Gift to Lacoste & Co.	5,000
4. Gift to the proprietors of Beauport Asylum	328,000
5. Gift to the Civil Service Commission on the Montreal Court House, etc., for a report of 8 pages or thereabouts	10,163
6. Sale of the Quebec Court House contract	41,964 64
7. Present to Chamberlois for temporary furnishing of Parliament House	10,163 53
8. Present to the Quebec Central Railway	30,960
9. Present to the Town of Shorbrooke in reduction of its debt to the Municipal Loan Fund	96,518 15

NOTE—This town will return Mr. Robertson by acclamation.

10. Present to the District of St. Francis for the Shorbrooke prison repairs	31,569 71
12. Present to Mr. Fabre in re. Demolon	3,000
13. Balance due to be accounted for by Mr. Dansereau out of the $15,000	4,471 50
14. The Gale defalcation	51,527 32

Nearly 5,000,000 Dr. Ross has caused us to lose by turning out Mr. Joly our "Bayard sans peur et sans reproche." Mr. Joly's Government is the only Government which seriously tried to economize.

In the last days of the session just passed, the Government introduced and passed a railway subsidy bill, which calls for an increased expenditure of $4,357,250. And this in the face of their promises of economy, and their pretended restoration of an equilibrium in the finances. Here is the way the Ross Government economizes. Amounts asked for in the estimates of 1886 and 1887 and voted by the House, $7,255,-508.35. Receipts estimated by the treasurer for 1886 and 1887, $6,127,945. Leaves a deficit for the two years on their own showing of $1,127,663.35 for the two years. This will have to be met by new loans. This is the Ross-Robertson economy with a vengeance. I judge of men as I find them. And when I see Messrs. Ross, Tellier, Lynch and Flynn travelling about to political shows, with the great 4-paw statesman, Chapleau, and when I read that Mr. Chapleau has come all the way from Ottawa to Quebec, fresh from the Ripley scandal to conduct the electoral campaign for the local parliament, I have a strong suspicion that "birds of a feather flock together."

Yours truly,

G. W. STEPHENS.

Montreal, Aug. 25, 1886.

Wedding Chimes Yesterday.

At Christ Church Cathedral yesterday afternoon, Mr. J. H. Cass, accountant, was married to Miss Honey, daughter of Mr. John Sleep Honey, prothonotary.

Mr. M. J. Martin, of the Custom House, was married to Miss Antoinette St. Denis. The wedding was celebrated in St. Joseph's church, Richmond Square, and the happy couple are touring in the States.

At the residence of the Rev. Mr. Philp, Mr. George Lawrence, employed in the British American Bank Note Company, was married last evening to Miss Helen Lyttle, late nurse at the General Hospital. Miss Lyttle was the recipient of many handsome presents from the medical staff, nurses and other employees of the hospital.

CZAR AND PRINCE.

The Prince of Bulgaria Submissively Addresses the Czar, and Receives a Severe Snub.

ST. PETERSBURG, September 2.—On August 30, Prince Alexander sent the following telegram to the Czar through the Russian consul at Rustchuk:

"SIRE.—Having reassumed the government of Bulgaria, I venture to offer to Your Imperial Majesty my most respectful thanks for the action of your consul at Rustchuk, whose official presence at my reception showed to the Bulgarians that Russia did not approve of the revolution and the act directed at my person. I also thank Your Imperial Majesty for despatching Prince Dolgorouki as envoy extraordinary to Bulgaria. My first act on resuming power is to assure Your Majesty of my firm intention to make every sacrifice to reward Your Majesty's magnanimous intention to extricate Bulgaria from the grave crisis through which she is passing. I beg of Your Majesty that you will authorize Prince Dolgorouki to place himself in direct communication with myself as speedily as possible. I shall be happy to give Your Majesty decided proofs of my unalterable devotion to your august person. The monarchical principle compelled me to restore the legality of my crown in Bulgaria and Roumelia. Russia having given me my crown, it is into the hands of Russia's sovereign I am ready to render it."

The Czar replied to Prince Alexander:

"I cannot approve of your return to Bulgaria, foreseeing from it sinister consequences for the country already so sorely tried. The mission of Prince Dolgorouki has become inexpedient. I shall abstain so long as Your Highness remains in Bulgaria from any intervention. In the sad condition to which the country is reduced, Your Highness must decide your own course. I reserve to myself to judge what my father's venerated memory and the interests of Russia and the peace of the East require of me."

PARIS, September 2.—The publication of the correspondence between the Czar and Prince Alexander has created a great sensation in public circles. The Czar's menacing reply to the Prince's submissive epistle is regarded by diplomats as ensuring Alexander's abdication and Russia's occupation of Bulgaria. It is feared war will ensue unless Bismarck interferes.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, September, 2. — Prince Alexander started for Sofia this evening. The Porte has authorized Gadben Effendi, the special commissioner, to intercede in behalf of the Bulgarian plotters.

POINTE CLAIRE

And Beaconsfield—The Summer Residents—Annual Regatta to Take Place on Saturday.

The Summer residents of Pointe Claire and Beaconsfield, last night wound up their Summer series of Wednesday evening "hops," by an illuminated boat procession and display of fireworks, preliminary to the final hop of the season. A large number of boats and canoes took part in the procession, rigged up with torches and chinese lanterns, and the effect was very pretty.

The convenient situation of Pointe Claire, midway between Lachine and Ste. Anne's, on the north shore of Lake St. Louis, is helping to make that place more popular every season, and on account of such a splendid body of water to the south, is an especial favorite place for yachtsmen. The river at this point forms a lake five miles wide and stretches from Beauharnois to Ile Dorval, receiving the waters both of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa, running on either side of the Perrot, and the breeze blowing across this wide expanse of water is almost equal to the sea, and, however sultry the day may be, the nights are delightfully cool. The fishing at the islands opposite Thompson's Point is very fine, and one is nearly always well repaid after a good row to this locality.

In Beaconsfield there are a number of very fine residences, and a few good lots already in the hands of those who will erect and to these Kindergarten or Infant Class, where the latest and most approved methods are introduced. FISHERIES PROTECTION.

The "Northern Light" Recommended for the Service—The Captain of the "Highland Light's" Statement—Small Fares.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., September 3.—The Examiner strongly urges that the steamer "Northern Light" be employed in the protection of the fisheries. This is the ice boat especially built to navigate the straits of Northumberland. It is owned by the Dominion Government, and is now lying idle at Charlottetown. It is very fast, and, employed in conjunction with the new cruiser "Acadia," would strike terror into the Yankee poachers, especially now, as the mackerel will strike over to the Cape Breton coast in a few days.

THE "HIGHLAND LIGHT."

Captain Ryder, of the captured "Highland Light," says he was completely taken by surprise by the "Howlett." The cruiser quietly dropped in among the Yankee fleet during the night, and his vessel was seized before the Yankee skippers had the slightest idea the cruiser was in their midst. The prize is being stripped. Captain Ryder says he owns half of her. He has been fishing twenty years, and this is his first offence.

SMALL FARES.

Ten well-fleet seiners in North Bay this season have only taken 1000 barrels between them.

WIDESPREAD UNEASINESS.

Russian Intervention in Bulgaria Predicted Within a Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

LONDON, September 3.—Everybody is discussing the unexpected early meeting of the German Reichstag. The pretext alleged for summoning the Reichstag, namely to ratify the commercial treaty with Spain, is nowhere believed to be the true reason. Russian intervention in Bulgaria is confidently predicted within a week. The growing irritation of Austria and Prince Bismarck's wish not to meddle with Russia excite widespread uneasiness.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Yesterday's Proceedings—Memorials From Different Conferences.

TORONTO, September 2.—The conference opened this morning at 9.30 with prayer by Rev. Dr. Parker, St. Thomas.

A discussion followed as to whether memorials should be read to the conference or referred to the committee without reading, and it was decided to read the memorials when requested by any of the members. A great number of memorials were received; among them were the following:

British Columbia, for the erection of Victoria, New Westminster, and other districts into an annual conference.

Niagara conference—That the Dominion Government be petitioned to amend the franchise act so as to permit Methodist ministers to vote, notwithstanding the system of itinerancy.

Simcoe congregation—That there be only one superintendent and one editor of the Christian Guardian.

Niagara district—That the time limit be extended to six years and no reappointment to the same church before thirteen years.

Belleville district—That the discipline limiting the term of itinerancy to three years be not amended.

The Montreal conference—On the consolidation of Protestantism, the Franchise ministers, the children's fund, the transfer committee to make changes which will lead to work of transfers being more satisfactorily performed, and extending the ministerial term from three to four years, to raise the schedule of annual conference, registration of baptism, marriages, etc., the severance of the Kingston district from the Montreal conference and a memorial asking the general conference to pronounce definitely on one course or system of education to be pursued by the educational institution connected with the church.

The nominating committee then presented its first report after which the conference adjourned.

There was no meeting of conference this evening so as to give the committees recommended by the nominating committee a chance to meet and prepare for the business.

THE TWO ALEXANDERS.

What the London Press Says of the Czar's Snub to the Prince of Bulgaria—Treating with the Rebels.

LONDON, September 3.—The Standard says: "Prince Alexander has committed a serious blunder, the only unworthy act with which he can be reproached. It is carrying the comedy of courtly dissemulation too far to pretend that the Czar did not approve of his deposition. England has done her best to promote peace in the Balkans. If she fails, Austria and Germany will either suffer grave injury or make heavy sacrifices. They may yet rue the day they abandoned Prince Alexander to curry favor with the Czar."

The Daily News says: "Prince Alexander has been abandoned and isolated by the agreement of the three Empires. Nothing could exceed the humility of his letter to the Czar, which is only equalled in degree by the brutality of the Czar's answer.

Col. Mutkuroff is treating with the rebel officers for their submission and the negotiations will probably be successful. It is stated that Russia has intervened for the lives of the conspirators, and that Prince Alexander has decided to be lenient toward them.

A CARNIVAL OF CRIME.

Attempts to Enforce the Scott Act Result in Much Lawlessness.

HALIFAX, N. S., September 2.—Sackville has been the scene of late of many violent crimes, including incendiary burnings of barns belonging to Josiah Wood, M. P., and Thos. Pickard, another prominent citizen, the poisoning of three cows with Paris green, shooting a constable, numerous assaults on inoffensive citizens and other outrages and several burglaries. The carnival of crime culminated on Tuesday in the dosing with Paris green of a well used in common by Magistrate Cahill and several other families. Fortunately the poison was discovered on the curb of the well, which led to an investigation, showing that the water was badly poisoned. Some of it had been taken to Mr. Cahill's house but not used. This lawlessness is largely, if not wholly, the result of attempts to enforce the Scott Act. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage.

A MORE CHEERFUL FEELING

Prevailing in Charleston—Relief Works Commenced—Further Shocks.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 3.—There was a rather more cheerful feeling in Charleston last night, but no sense of security will repair the shattered houses and renew the ruined homes. Offers of assistance are coming from different quarters. It is expected the City Council will organize a relief committee. Despite the losses by the earthquake Charleston is in as good a position as ever for the transaction of the usual Autumn trade.

SANTA CRUZ, Cala., September 3.—A long but not violent shock of earthquake was felt here yesterday at 11.45 a.m.

SAVANNAH, Ga., September 3.—Two slight shocks were felt here between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Many citizens are staying in the streets.

ST. JOHNS AND THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

ST. JOHN'S, Que., September 3.—Mayor Macdonald has at last got the Canadian Pacific Railway matter secured for the town. The by-law granting the Company a bonus of $10,000 was unanimously adopted by the rate-payers on Tuesday, the Court House land was also obtained gratuitously from the local government, subject to the transfer of the same to the company on demand. Mr. Shaughnessy told the Mayor and Councillor Aspin, that work would begin at once. The Company is buying now the right of way.

MRS. SCHELLING ELOPES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Victoria Morosini, daughter of the millionaire banker, who created a sensation some time ago by eloping with and marrying her father's coachman, Ernest Schelling, has again eloped. Ernest Schelling says his wife took all of her things with her, including eleven hundred dollars, which both had saved. He had lived happily with her until the man she has gone away with made his appearance, and he will be pleased if she never returns. The man with whom Mrs. Schelling is said to have eloped is a Bostonian, the son of a rubber manufacturer, and a graduate of Yale.

SELLING THEIR STOCK.

Mr. John Crawford, the Hugh Allan Estate and Other Large Holders Selling Their Montreal Telegraph Stock—Mr. Crawford Tells a Reporter the Reason Why.

Considerable comment is heard on the streets at the manner in which some of the oldest holders of the Montreal Telegraph Company are disposing of their investment stock. This of course is attributed to the fact that the vigorous opposition which is soon to be inaugurated by the Canada Pacific will have the effect of reducing the revenue of the company. It having been stated that Mr. John Crawford had disposed of the largest portion of his holding, a STAR reporter asked him to-day if such were the case. "There is no object in disguising the fact," was the reply. "I have disposed of 1750 out of 2000 shares, and still I find I am the largest holder on the board of directors."

"What is your reason for this?"

"Well I knew that the estate Allan and other old holders were getting out and I became discouraged. Besides, that at my time of life a man does not want to go through another conflict which appears to be brewing with the company and its opponent. I have gone through two such conflicts, and I don't want any more."

"And the Canada Pacific won't help the prospects of the company?"

"Well, I am not prepared to say," laughingly replied Mr. Crawford as he disappeared into Compain's for his mid-day meal.

Between 7000 and 8000 shares of investment stock have lately been transferred, the following being some of the most important transfers now on the street on margin:

Estate late Sir Hugh Allan	708
" " Wm. Poston	900
John R. Young	330
Wm. White	252
C. R. Coker	100

THE CENTRAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

Report of the Year's Proceedings—The Organization to be Kept up for Some Time.

At a meeting of the Central Board of Health held on the 31st ult. at the close of its second term of office, the Secretary presented an interesting and voluminous report of the proceedings of the Board during the past twelve months, giving an account of the origin, increase and suppression of the recent smallpox epidemic, accompanied with a map of the province showing thereon the towns and villages that had been infested, and tabulated statistics of the number of cases and mortality therefrom. The report of the Secretary was adopted, and ordered to be sent to the Provincial Secretary for the information and consideration of the Lieut.-Governor in Council. The Board recommended the continuance of its functions for some time longer, as it considered it would be imprudent at the present moment, when smallpox still exists in the province, and diphtheria is very prevalent and fatal, to leave the country without a controlling health organization.

Excursion to Ormstown.

The picnic to Ormstown arranged by the Dominion Alliance, takes place to-morrow (Saturday) and seems likely to be a very attractive affair. The Grand Trunk is running a special train, which leaves Bonaventure at 8.45 a. m., and returns from Ormstown at 6.30; this makes it possible to get out and back again in the day, spending a good time in the pretty little place. The return fare has been placed at the low rate of 75c, with proportionate rates for the intermediate stations, so that the excursion is a very cheap one. In addition to the array of speakers who are to be present there is lovely boating on the Chateauguay, while the sulphur spring offers a purely temperance beverage. For those who are beyond appreciating the special object of the gathering, there is the chance of paying a visit to the celebrated Chateauguay Chasm. Mr. F. S. Spence, Toronto, Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, and Miss Barber, of the W. C. T. U., Montreal, have promised to give addresses, in addition to the other speakers, Mrs. Gates will also be present with a full supply of temperance literature. Tickets and further information can be obtained from the committee or Mr. H. Bragg, Bus. Sec., 41 St. Francois Xavier street, or on the cars.

DETROIT CHURCH TROUBLE AGAIN.

Father Laporte Enters an Action for Libel Against Father Hendryck.

DETROIT, Mich., September 3.—Rev. Father Laporte, formerly of Montreal, and whose refusal to leave St. Joachim's church led to trouble in that church, has begun a suit for libel in Wayne Circuit Court against Rev. Father Hendryck. His suit has been long expected, and the events leading thereto have been much canvassed. Father Laporte claims $5000 damages, resulting from an article published in the Detroit Free Press on April 23, purporting to give an interview with a prominent clergyman. This clergyman was represented to have said that Father Laporte had been ordered by the authorities at Rome to do penance for his conduct in this diocese and to report to the Bishop of Montreal for any further punishment which that functionary might see fit to impose upon him. James J. Atkinson, Father Laporte's attorney, says the name of the alleged prominent clergyman was found, by consulting the editor of the Free Press, to be none other than Father Hendryck. It is also claimed that the charges are absolutely false. When Father Hendryck learned that he was about to be sued he sent word to Mr. Atkinson, himself a Catholic, that the penalty of laymen bringing suit against a priest was excommunication from the Church. Mr. Atkinson investigated the matter, and satisfied himself that the lawyer in the case was not subject to this penalty whatever dangers the cheat may run.

THE LONG POINT MURDER.

Opening of the Trial of Havelock Smith at St. Thomas—Story of the Crime.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

ST. THOMAS, Ont., September 3.—The Elgin Autumn assizes opened here yesterday afternoon, with Mr. Justice O'Connor, presiding. The criminal business of the Court opens with the trial of Havelock Smith, for the alleged murder of Marshall Piggott, whose body was found tied with ropes lying on the beach at Long Point, Lake Erie, some two years ago. It will be remembered that the prisoner was tried a year ago before Mr. Justice Armour, when the jury failed to agree. The trial was postponed from the last assizes because of the illness of one of the principal witnesses. The case opened for the second time with Mr. Idington, Q. C., and Mr. Donahue, acting for Crown; Mr. E. Meredith, Q. C., Colin McDougal, Q. C., and Mr. Backhouse for the prisoner. Mr. Idington consumed over two hours in stating the case to the jury. The only witness called yesterday was Edward Dickson, who gave the facts connected with the finding of the body and the manner in which it was bound with ropes. The prisoner appears very nervous, and watches the evidence attentively and his manner indicates that he feels his trying position. A great number of ladies were present at the trial.

DEATH OF MAYOR BEER.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., September 3.—Mayor Beer's death caused profound sorrow. He was a prominent Liberal, and for many years a member of the Legislature and held a seat in the Government. He was Speaker of the House in 1877 and was Colonel of the 82nd Battalion of Militia. The suppression of the smallpox epidemic was largely owing to his energy and executive ability.

AMERICAN NOTES.

Four new cases of yellow fever were reported at Biloxi, La., yesterday.

The horses of nearly every street car line in Cleveland are affected with "pink eye."

An official of the coast service has been sent to Charleston to make soundings of the harbor and adjacent coast, to see whether any remarkable depressions or elevations of the bottom of the ocean have been caused by the earthquake.

A FIGHT OVER GERONIMO.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., September 3.—The Mexican troops demanded of the American troops the release of Geronimo. The latter refused, and a fight ensued, in which five Mexicans were killed and two Americans wounded. Geronimo escaped during the melee.

PLUMBERS' GRIEVANCES.

NEW YORK, September 3.—The journeymen plumbers have decided to submit the demands to the bosses to-day. A general strike will probably result.

OUTBREAK OF CHOLERA.

LONDON, September 3.—A violent outbreak of cholera is reported at Torre del Annunsiata near Naples.

AN INGENIOUS CONVICT.

Frank Adams Undergoes his trial for Having a Revolver in his Possession, and is Sentenced to two Additional Years.

Frank Adams, a convict who is now serving a four years' term in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for having burglarized the store of Mr. A. J. Cormier, at Coaticook, in May, 1885, was placed in the dock at the Court of Queen's Bench this morning on the charge of being in possession of stolen goods. He was defended by Mr. Cooke, and Mr. C. P. Davidson, Q. C., conducted the case for the Crown. Adams, though still a young man has served several terms in the St. Vincent de Paul and Kingston Penitentiaries, after coming out of the Reformatory where he was confined when a boy. The authorities of the institution say that he is one of the keenest criminals in the country. Acting Deputy Warden McCarthy was the first witness examined and he stated that on the 28th of June last the accused feigned insanity and broke the furniture which was in his cell. For this offence he was ordered to be put in the dungeon and to be searched. This was done, but without anything being found on him. On the following day the witness ordered the accused to be searched again, and to have him change his clothes. This was done, and it was discovered that the convict had on a big rubber belt, which he said he wore because he was sick. The witness ordered him to remove the belt, and he did so. A startling discovery was now made. Since the revolt in April last Guard McIlwayne's revolver had been missing, and despite all the efforts of the authorities had never since been found. The witness was considerably surprised to find this revolver in the prisoner's belt together with about a dozen saws, bolts, files, rivets, etc., in fact, a veritable arsenal. The accused intended working his way out of the institution and for this purpose had collected all these tools which he managed to conceal though he was searched every evening with the other convicts.

Guards McIlwayne and Napoleon Charlebois also gave evidence and corroborated the statement made Mr. McCarthy. The prisoner pleaded guilty to being in possession of the revolver, but pleaded not guilty to having stolen it. After addresses by the counsel and the judge the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. He was sentenced to two additional years' imprisonment, after the expiration of his present term and to lose all time which he may have gained by his good conduct. The authorities of the institution are astonished at the fact that Adams could have got such an extensive outfit unknown to them. He no doubt spent several months in preparing these tools as they are the result of patient labor.

GOOD WORDS FOR MONTREAL.

What the Irish Lacrosse Team Say of Their Reception in this City.

One of the members of the Irish lacrosse team which recently visited this city writes as follows to the Irish Times of Dublin:

Before taking leave of Montreal I cannot help referring again to the princely hospitality the Irish team met with, not only from the members of the lacrosse fraternity, but also from the élite of Montreal and neighborhood. The banquet given in honor of the Irish team was a most brilliant gathering, and passed off with the greatest enthusiasm.

The chairman, in most felicitous language, bade a welcome of the very heartiest nature to the visitors, and the entire company cheered each sentiment of fraternal greeting. Our captain had a difficult task in suitably acknowledging the great compliment paid them, and the unbounded good will and hospitality manifested. However, he acquitted himself in such a way that the company would feel he was speaking from a full heart, grateful for the kindness they had experienced from the Montreal citizens.

The visit to Montreal will be one of the principal features of the tour in America, and will ever be remembered by the members of our team with the liveliest satisfaction. Adieu must be said at last, and after many parting good wishes we took the train for Toronto. Immediately on the cars getting into a motion a ringing cheer from our friends filled the air, which was re-echoed by our boys with great spirit.

Another member writes to the same paper: "When the Irish team came on the field they met with such a magnificent reception and burst of enthusiasm that I fail to convey an adequate idea of its thorough heartiness. Certain I am that the members of the Irish team will carry away with them very pleasing recollections of the way they were greeted here. When the Canadian team visited Ireland we endeavored to show them such hospitality as was in our power, but they have outstripped us in their desire to make us feel at home. It would seem as if they could not do enough to make each one of the team happy."

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

Mr. W. W. Robertson's Candidature to be Opposed on Account of His Anti-Vaccination Record.

Mr. Hollis Shorey presided over a meeting of the Citizens' Committee yesterday afternoon, when it was announced that cases of typhoid fever were unusually prevalent at present.

Mr. Paul asked if the Board of Health was doing anything about the matter.

The chairman said he asked that question and was answered by a shrug of the shoulders.

On motion of Mr. Paul, the chairman was instructed to interview the chairman of the Board of Health.

Mr. Nolan Delisle then moved:

That this committee view with regret, on account of his well known anti-vaccination principles, the candidature of Mr. W. W. Robertson to represent the western division of the city of Montreal in the Quebec Legislature, and that the members of the Citizens' Committee be urged, by a copy of this resolution to be addressed to each, to vote and work against him, and make every effort to keep him out of Parliament.

Mr. Delisle said Mr. Robertson did not deserve the consideration of the citizens, as through his opposition to vaccination and that of others there were 3500 persons in the cemetery.

The resolution was carried unanimously, and the meeting adjourned.

THE ST. GABRIEL LEVEE.

A Company Organized and Work Begun Yesterday in Order to Save the Charter.

Yesterday afternoon the St. Gabriel Levee and Railway Company was organized with a capital of $100,000, one-half of which is already subscribed. Sir A. T. Galt was determined not to forfeit the charter granted at the last session, and organized the company yesterday afternoon and proceeded to have the first sod turned. This was done by Mr. Morris, Mayor of St. Gabriel, in the presence of a numerous company, including Sir A. T. Galt, E. P. Hannaford, chief engineer G. T. R., Mr. Jos. Rielle, Rev. Father Salmon and others. The organizers have shown that they were not at all discouraged by the somewhat indifferent reception they received from the Inundation Committee.

The proposed levee will extend from the abutment of the Victoria bridge, and following as near as possible the river bank at flood level, will continue along the shore to the tail race; crossing this to the west bank, it will then be continued up to the old two mile stone, and on this will be built a railway. The levee will take in the Nuns' farm, and in every part it will be three feet above flood level, and this will necessitate the building up of each bank of the tail race to an equal height to the levee in order to prevent back water from flooding St. Gabriel. The work will be rushed through, six or seven hundred men being employed. It is further stated that if the city will attend to the construction of the eastern portion of the work as far as Tate's dry dock, the company's portion of the work will be finished in plenty of time to prevent any Autumn floods.

The Dangers of Baseball.

William Kiley, a young man of 17, living at 235 Delisle street, was playing in the baseball match Wednesday at Rouses Point, when he was severely checked by his opponent and his arm was broken. He was taken to the General Hospital where he is doing pretty well.

If you had taken two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring you would not have had that coated tongue or bad taste in the mouth this morning. Keep a vial with you for occasional use.

The Allan SS. "Siberian" arrived at Glasgow on Tuesday, and landed her entire shipment of 694 oxen in good condition.

Faces as yellow as that of the "Heathen Chinee," in consequence of bile in the blood, grow fair and wholesome-looking again when Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and great blood purifier is used to relax constipated bowels and expel the bilious poison from the circulation. Rheumatic and blood impurities are also driven out by it, digestion restored, and the system benefited in every way by its use.

LIVING OR DEAD.

By Hugh Conway (F. J. Fargus)

CHAPTER XXVI.—Continued.

"I do. I argued the matter out while you were absent. I remembered this case just in time. It changed my plans. No; the punishment should not fall on the misled judge, but on the false witness. Be satisfied. Good-night."

We made no further resistance. His manner impressed us. Yet a certain doubt lingered in our minds. To me this calmness seemed appalling.

"Are we right to leave him?" I asked.

"Yes; but we may as well see him to his room."

We went to his bedroom. He received us with a sort of sad irony, and, noticing the quick glance Rothwell cast around him, said:

"Don't be afraid, Frank. There are none here. It is twenty years and more since I shaved myself."

Then we left him, and shortly afterward followed his example and went to our rooms. Whether my friend slept or not I can not say. For me, the events of the day had banished sleep. I was tired physically; but my fatigue had gone past the stage of drowsiness, and reached that of wakefulness. So I sat at my window and thought, thought, thought.

What a change in my life! This morning Philip Norris, this evening Laurence Estmere. Valentine my brother! Well, I could scarcely love him more for that; but still, it was delightful news. Claudine my cousin! That made little difference; the lesser relationship would be merged in the greater. But, over and above all, Lady Estmere my mother. Would she love me as she loved Valentine? Should I be able to make her understand how I had longed for a mother's love? If I could have chosen my unknown mother from the women I had seen, I should have chosen Lady Estmere. Now I should be able to bring her not only my love, but her husband's love. I sat and reveled in these visions, in spite of the one dark spot in them. Through all of them rose Chesham's malignant face, and a fierce joy swept through me as I persuaded myself that, not only was I the means of restoring love to my father and mother, but I should be the avenger of their wrongs. This duty done, I would return, marry Claudine, and live happily ever afterward.

So I sat, hour after hour, picturing what the great change in my life would mean—building castles, planning plans. I thought of the happy day when Sir Laurence Estmere, his wife and sons, would be assembled together in Estmere Court—when the grand old house, so long left desolate, should awake again to life. Yes, there was a great future before me, and, in spite of the trouble and uncertainty surrounding me and those I loved, I can scarcely be blamed for painting it in rosy colors.

Once or twice during my vigil I crept from my room and listened at my father's door. I heard no sound, and trusted that sleep had come to him more readily than she seemed inclined to come to me. I began now to wish that I could snatch some hours of repose, feeling sure that I should want all my powers when the day came. And, as I framed the wish, nature must at last have yielded, for the next thing I can remember is finding myself shivering in my chair before the open window, and for a moment wondering why I was not in bed.

I looked at my watch. It was three o'clock. A fresh breeze was blowing from the west, and the moon shone brightly as it escaped for a few minutes from the light, drifting clouds. I could see the long, white, quivering path of moonlight stretching away across the sea. I gazed at it in a dreamy way, and should most likely have fallen asleep while doing so, but heard a harsh, grating sound on the shingle at the foot of the tall crags between which our house nestled.

I knew what the sound meant. I had heard it often and often in the early morning. The fishermen were launching their heavy boat. In a few minutes I heard the splash of an oar, and knew they were afloat and paddling out of the surf, while the sail was being hoisted. I wished I had known they were going off so early, a brisk sail would have been the very thing for me. I had a great mind to run down to the beach and hail them. Better not, perhaps—it may be hours before I could get back, and under present circumstances, Rothwell and my father might be frightened if I did not appear in the morning.

Presently I saw the boat, with her dark tanned sails, creep out. She came into the moonlight and steered straight up the glittering path; straight away from land, on a long stretch out before going up or down channel. I could see one or two dark figures in the stern, and wished that I were with them. I watched the boat for a long time, till I saw it change its course; saw the heavy mainsail swing out as the sheet was slackened, and the bow turned for a run up channel. In a few seconds the boat had vanished in the darkness, and I closed my window and undressed myself, resolved to make a bid for sleep.

I slept and woke again. The night seemed interminable, but it did end at last. Shortly after eight o'clock I dressed myself and went down stairs. Rothwell soon joined me.

My father was an early riser, but this morning we were before him. Mrs. Lee came in to know if we would wait breakfast for him. He must have over-slept himself, she fancied, as he had not yet taken in the can of hot water left outside his door. My heart grew sick, and I could see my fears reflected in Rothwell's face. We said nothing, but simultaneously went upstairs to his room. I knocked; there was no answer. I tried the door. Thank God, it was unlocked! My knees quaked as I entered the room. I dreaded that some sight of horror would meet my eyes. In spite of his promise—in spite of his assuring argument, we should find him dead! Why did we leave him for a second?

No! the room was peaceful and undisturbed, but it was untouched. The bed was as smooth as when Mrs. Lee made it yesterday morning. It had not been slept in. My father was gone.

We stared at each other. Had it not been for the undisturbed bed, we might have comforted ourselves by thinking he had taken an early walk, as was sometimes his custom. But his not having rested at all gave his absence a much graver aspect. Still, it was a relief to find that our great dread had been groundless.

We questioned the servants. They had found the house door unbolted, but each thought the other had opened it. Neither Mrs. Lee nor the apple-cheeked, open-mouthed maid had heard any sound in the night. Mrs Lee inspected his wardrobe and found that linen and other things were missing; also a small portmanteau which stood in his room. This was good news, whatever his object in stealing away like this might be; these preparations showed he meant no harm to himself.

The idea which at once occurred to me was that he had gone in search of his wife. I made this known to Rothwell as we returned to the dining-room.

"No," he said with a frown, "he is gone where your foolish words of last night pointed at. Unless we can overtake him first we shall find him at Monaco. He has gone to reckon up with Richard Chesham."

I was obliged to agree with the speaker. My father's words about the deserts of the false witnesses confirmed Rothwell's theory.

"BOSSING THE COMMITTEE."

Meeting of the Road Committee this Afternoon—General Business Transacted—Ald. Gray and Mr. St. George Differ on a Point.

The Road Committee met this afternoon. Present: Ald. Laurent (in the chair), Ald. Wilson, Beausoleil and Gray. After routine an opinion was read from the City Attorney to the effect that sewers can be built either by days' work or contract.

A letter was read from the Henderson Lumber Company declaring that they would not furnish tamarac floats at the prices mentioned in their contract for more than the amount mentioned.

On motion of Ald. Beausoleil it was resolved to serve a protest on the Company and to instruct the City Surveyor to purchase tamarac floats wherever he could find them and to charge the Company the difference in price.

A letter was read from the Bell Telephone Company, stating that they intended to place polls upon Ottawa street from Duke to Murray, and on Hospital street from opposite the building No. 13 to St. Alexis street, and asking that an inspector be appointed to supervise their location.

Ald. Beausoleil was opposed to the company taking possession, so to speak, of the streets and holding that the city was not bound to allow these poles to go up and that it should prevent the company from putting them up.

It was resolved after some discussion to refer the matter to the City Attorney to obtain his opinion as to whether the company had the right of putting up these poles without the consent of the city Council.

A report was read from the City Surveyor, asking for an appropriation of $3800 to close in the excavatian made by the Inundation Committee on Commissioners street and to build a penstock gate on that street.

It was resolved to report to Council, asking for the amount named.

A petition was read from property owners on Cathedral street, asking that the homologated line on that street be made to correspond with that of the "Metcalf block." Granted.

A petition against the widening of Mountain street, above Dorchester street, was read, and the committee concurred in the suggestions made, and resolved that no change should be made.

The Committee then considered an application made by Mr. Lepailleur to have his cellar drained on Jacques Cartier street. While this was going on the following was said:

Ald. Gray—"Mr. St. George, you seem to want to boss the committee."

Mr. St. George—"I do not want to do anything of the kind."

Ald. Gray—"It looks very much like it."

Mr. St. George—"I am only an official in this committee, still I do not wish to be insulted."

The matter was allowed to drop, Ald. Gray holding that the Health Committee received no assistance from the Road Committee in matters of drains.

Meeting then adjourned for want of quorum.

THE GRAND BAZAAR.

A Gay Scene at St. Peter's—A Band Concert This Evening.

The bazaar at St. Peter's is now fully open to the public and a concert will be given this evening by the City Band. The decorations and arrangements are proceeding apace and nearly all the various departments are in complete order. Here and there minor details are being finished. Oriflammes, ensigns, coats of arms, banners and flags are still being put up at all available points to increase the total effect. The incandescent lights are in position and will add to the attractiveness of the display. The rich array of blending colors, the graceful folds of the hundreds of draperies, the flags of all nations, the magnificent collection of beautiful articles and ornaments, have seldom been equalled and to this must be added the vast and majestic proportions of the interior. To the various stalls and departments additions are being constantly made, and some that were very incomplete yesterday now present a very creditable appearance. Great taste has been displayed in their arrangement and without wishing to particularize too much, it may be said that the parishes of Notre Dame and St. Patrick are exceedingly tasteful; the collection of articles of embroidery, silk crazy quilts, laces, etc., at the Notre Dame tables is extremely rich. St. Ann's is also making a laudable effort to excel, and the arrangement of color here is truly artistic. The decorations of the dome will be finished in a day or two. A large band is being placed completely around it having the words, Tu es petrus, et super hanc petram ædificabo ecclesiam meaum, the letters being three feet in length.

The main entrance on Dorchester street is the one to be used by the public generally, the side entrance on Cathedral street being reserved for ladies and others in charge.

ANOTHER CHANGE.

How the Atlantic & North-West will Reach Lennoxville—Granby Captures the Road at the Expense of Farnham.

"Yes," remarked Councillor Charles Arpin, of St. Johns, to-day, with a merry twinkle in his eye, "we are going to have the Atlantic & North-West Railway pass through our town, and they are going to erect a handsome depot on the Government property, which has been donated to St. Johns by order-in-council of the Provincial Cabinet."

The line will cross the Grand Trunk at the Cotte Shoe Factory, which is the property of Mr. Arpin, and will enter the town at St. Thomas street. A bridge will be built at the foot of that street over the Richelieu and the line will continue through the lower end of Iberville to St. Bridget where the South Eastern system will be tapped for Farnham. The Atlantic & North-West, however, will, from St. Bridget, continue direct to Granby and from there to Lennoxville. The project of building through Farnham has been departed from on account of the increased distance. Mayor Minor, of Granby, has offered the company very advantageous terms, including exemption from taxation and the right of way.

The contractors, Messrs. Dunn & Co., have opened offices at St. Johns, and will put 2000 men to work immediately. The section from Caughnawaga to St. Johns, will only be built this year.

OFF FOR EUROPE.

The Departure of the Manager of "La Presse"—Will He Succeed Senator Fabre?

Mr. Blumhart, the manager of La Presse, left the city last evening for the Ancient Capital en route for Europe in company with Madame Blumhart. They sailed from Quebec this morning by the "Sarnia." Previous to their departure last evening Mr. and Madame Blumhart were presented with an address and bouquets by the employés of the establishment, together with a silver pitcher. Mr. Blumhart who was taken by surprise answered in a neat address on his own and Madame's behalf. At the boat they were given a hearty send off by a large number of friends among whom were Messrs. Mercier, Sénécal, Bergeron, Robidoux, Beausoleil, Duhamel, Capt. Labelle, and many others. As the boat moved away, Joe Vincent fired a salute with his cannon. Mr. Blumhart does not expect to return before the new year. It was currently stated to-day, that he was to be appointed Canadian agent in Paris, vice the Hon. Senator Fabre, who would be promoted to another position. Mr. Blumhart's friends denied the statement. During his absence, Mr. C. A. Dansereau will have the management of the paper which it is understood will take an independent stand.

Elections in November.

Hon. Messrs. Ross & Taillon, were in the city yesterday, and held a conference with their supporters at the Government building. Last evening they left by the "Montreal" for Quebec together with Hon. Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Jos. Tassé, M. P. It is thought that the object of the meeting is to hold a caucus with the Conservatives of the Quebec district at the ancient capital. Hon. Mr. Ross, when asked last about the elections said that they would not take place until late in November, though nothing was as yet decided.

Ald. Donovan's Injured Son.

Ald. Donovan's son, who lost both his legs by a railway accident at Donald, B. C., some weeks ago, arrived in Montreal this morning. He was met at the C. P. R. depot by his parents, and conveyed in the ambulance to the General Hospital. His wounds still require careful dressing and attention, otherwise he is feeling pretty well.

The Labor Candidates hold a mass meeting to-night at the market, Point St. Charles, at 8 o'clock.

SIR EDWARD WATKIN.

On His Way to Visit Canada—What Railway Men Say About it.

Sir Edward Watkin, Bart., M. P., sailed from Liverpool, yesterday, for the purpose of inspecting the Canadian Pacific Railway. Sir Edward was from 1861 to 1867 President of the Grand Trunk, and during his administration the majority of the executive officers of the road now in office were sent out by him. He is said now to befriendly towards the Canadian Pacific, being on intimate terms with Baring Bros., the financiers, who are largely interested in the undertaking. He is President of the Manchester, Sheffield & Lincoln railway, the South Eastern and the Metropolitan, and is one of the greatest authorities on railway matters in Great Britain. The object of his visit to Canada is being eagerly discussed by railway men, who seem to think that he is inclined to give his quondam friend the G. T. R.

THE COLD SHOULDER,

and to throw in his influence with the C. P. R. A friend of the latter road said he believed the baronet was coming in connection with the proposed Canadian Pacific steamship lines on the Atlantic and Pacific for the purpose of reporting as to the prospects of such an enterprise. "If," said the gentleman, "his report is favorable, the company will have no difficulty in raising all the money it requires on the London market."

Sir Edward was, along with John Bright, one of the originators of the Manchester Examiner. In 1861 he undertook a private mission to Canada at the desire of the Duke of Newcastle, the then Secretary of State for the Colonies, with the object of bringing the five British Provinces into union, and the establishment of a connection between Canada and the Atlantic, by an independent railway system on the Canadian gauge of 5 ft. 6 in., passing through New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. At the same time he undertook on the advice of the duke the charge of the Grand Trunk Railway, which was then on the eve of stoppage, and which he succeeded in keeping open in the Winter of 1861-2 for the passage of troops, when war was threatened over the Trent affair with the United States. For his part in furthering the passage of the Confederation Act of 1867, he was offered the honor of knighthood by the Disraeli Government. He decided it on the ground that his friend the Hon. G. E. Cartier, ex-Premier of Lower Canada, had been overlooked in the distribution of honours and because he did not desire to receive such a recognition through the medium of a party to which he was politically opposed. In 1868, Mr. Cartier was made a baronet, and the knighthood was again offered to Mr. Watkin, who was advised that he could not again refuse it, as the reason which constituted his former objection had been satisfied.

BLAZE IN A ROOKERY.

Fire in a Tenement House on College Street Containing Twenty-Four Families.

An alarm was sounded at 1.10 this afternoon from Box 7 which brought out nearly all the western brigade. The fire occurred in the tenement block, 31 College street, formerly the old Eagle Hotel. The block is owned by Mr. Evans, wholesale clothier of St. Henry street, and is rented by Maurice Desourdi, a moulder in the employ of Ives & Co. He sublets it to about 24 families, and at the time the fire occurred the building was occupied solely by the women and children, with the exception of a man named Barry, who was at home unwell. The fire originated in the flooring of a bedroom on the third flat, occupied by Mr. Cantey, a teamster in the city, who went with his wife this morning to their respective employments. When Barry was apprised of the fire he broke open the door of the bedroom, and after sending some one to give the alarm he tried to put out the fire by throwing pails of water on it. The firemen arrived quickly on the scene, and the fire was put out by Babcocks 3 and 4, the damage being confined to Cantey's bedroom and the room underneath occupied by a moulder named Richard. Many of the children ran screaming into the Shamrock Hotel for protection. An efficient body of police preserved order and the commotion soon subsided. The furniture in the two rooms was entirely destroyed. There was no stove in the room, and the origin of the fire is involved in mystery.

DESTITUTE FRENCHMEN.

L'Union Francaise to Establish a Home for Poor Immigrants.

It is a well known fact that a great number of French immigrants arrive in the country with the expectation of finding in Canada an El Dorado, or at least work in abundance, and being disappointed in their expectations, more than one has been led to commit suicide in despondency. L'Union Francaise have determined to prevent this by founding an institution where destitute Frenchmen will be given lodgings and board until they or their wealthier fellow-countrymen have been able to find employment for them. Over $550 has already been subscribed and more funds are to be obtained by a grand moonlight excursion down the river next Monday evening. Large Roman Catholic corporations like the Seminary, etc., are to be requested to aid the promoters of the scheme, and when $1000 or $1200 has been raised the doors of the institution will be thrown open. It will cost very little to maintain it as arrangements will be made with all the leading hotels and restaurants in the city to obtain from them the food left over after every meal. The promoters of the scheme are: Messrs. R. Beullac, Victor Olivon, P. L. Duvert, F. Papillon and the presidents of the two French societies, La Gaîté Francaise and La Société de Secours Mutuelles.

A Bank Clerk Disappears.

The guests of Harvey's hotel at Lachine are much surprised over the sudden disappearance of Mr. Edward Jones, a clerk in the Bank of British North America. He is about 24 years of age, of quiet and modest demeanor and had only arrived here from Wales somewhat more than a year ago where he is well connected. He has always appeared to be of frugal disposition and regular in his habits and yet it seems he has left here indebted to nearly every officer of the bank, to the hotel at Lachine and to his boardinghouse in this city. On last Saturday, in conversation with a few friends on the hotel verandah, he stated that he was $1000 short in his accounts and came in to the bank to find out his error. He returned in a very despondent frame of mind. On Monday he came in to his work, leaving the bank between four and five. Since then nothing is known concerning him. Enquiry at the bank elicited the fact that the discrepancy spoken of was merely one of figures as Mr. Jones did not handle any cash—so that this should not have caused his disappearance. The manager has cabled the facts to his relatives. Mr. Jones' effects at Lachine and his baggage in his boardinghouse in the city have been seized by the Lachine hotel proprietor. An intimate friend of Mr. Jones states that he cannot imagine what has caused him to act thus; he apparently spent very little money and as for any indebtedness to his friends, the matter could have been very easily arranged.

THE PRINCE'S LIFE THREATENED.

Attempt to Wreck the Train Conveying Prince Alexander to Sofia—Revolutionists Surrender.

LONDON, September 3.—An attempt was made to wreck the train which was conveying Prince Alexander to Sofia. When near Philippopolis the engineer discovered an obstruction on the track and brought the train to a standstill. On investigating, it was found that five sleepers had been placed across the rails. Prince Alexander, when informed of the attempt, showed no signs of fear. A conflict between the revolutionists and the followers of Prince Alexander is feared at Sofia.

SOFIA, September 3.—The revolutionary regiments here have surrendered unconditionally to Prince Alexander and appealed to him for clemency. Bulgaria is now tranquil. Prince Alexander, when he reached Bucharest, on his journey to Sofia, telegraphed to the Sultan assurances of homage and devotion.

THE CHOLERA RECORD.

ROME, September 3.—The cholera returns for the whole of Italy for the 24 hours ending yesterday are: Sanmarco in Lamis, 25 new cases, 11 deaths; Ravenna, 10 cases, 6 deaths; Remini, 20 cases, 7 deaths; other infected districts, numbering now nine towns, 46 new cases, 17 deaths.

THE IRISH DELEGATES.

QUEENSTOWN, September 3.—The steamer "Wisconsin" has arrived from New York. Messrs. O'Brien, Redmond and Deasy, delegates to the Irish convention at Chicago who were among her passengers, landed here and proceeded to Dublin.

The Allan SS. "Hibernian," from Glasgow via St. John's, N. F., and Halifax, arrived at Boston at 1.30 p. m. on Thursday.

ALEXANDER'S SUBMISSION

Produces an Unfavorable Impression in London.

The Prince Regards Himself as Isolated and the Victim of a Combination—a Serious Parliamentary Crisis Imminent—Arbitrary Conduct of Speaker Peel—Home Rule Education.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

LONDON, September 3.—Prince Alexander's submission to the Czar has not produced a good impression here. Both the Standard and Daily News accuse him of a want of self-respect. The most serious significance is laid on the fact which is emphasized by the Vienna and Berlin press, that Prince Alexander clearly regards himself as isolated, and the victim of a combination of the three Empires. In the face of this fact it is useless for the English press to complain of Prince Alexander's acceptance of the inevitable, especially as our Government has neither the will nor the power to take the lead in the question. Nothing can save Prince Alexander, as the Constantinople correspondent of the Times points out, but a distinct declaration on the part of a great power friendly to Turkey, that it would uphold the Porte's policy. This Lord Iddesleigh cannot do, because there is no sympathy in England with the Porte. The general opinion here is that the Prince's letter to the Czar will be a prelude to his abdication and the appointment of a Russian nominee by agreement of the three Empires.

A CRISIS THREATENED.

Unless great care is taken a serious Parliamentary crisis is imminent. The Speaker is a very autocratic gentleman, with high notions as to his functions and distinct anti-Irish prejudices. He takes a much higher view of his authority than his predecessor, having stopped several Irish members for irrelevancy, and sharply and peremptorily silenced the temporary leader of the Opposition, Sir William Vernon Harcourt. The general opinion is that Sir William Harcourt was within the right. The indignation against the Speaker, though suppressed, is great. An ex-minister last night said "The man is losing his head." Mr. L. L. Selwyn, an old and much respected Liberal member, practically rebuked him. The Irishmen are determined to insist on a full discussion of the estimates. Therefore, if the Speaker persists in the rigorous assertions of his views, a number of sharp Parliamentary encounters are inevitable. Lord Randolph Churchill's somewhat indiscreet and ill-tempered leadership adds another element of exasperation. Altogether the prospect is not reassuring.

HOME RULE EDUCATION.

The educational movement in favor of Home Rule creates much interest. Mr. Small, an old Cambridge professor, and leader of the university extension movement, has put himself at the head of the new propaganda. Young men of talent, with advanced political views, will soon be secured for historical lectures on the whole Irish question, leading up to Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill.

NORMAN.

IMPERIAL AID.

British War Vessels Assist Canadian Cruisers in Protecting the Fisheries.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, September 3.—The Department of Fisheries has received a despatch from Captain Lorway, of the cruiser "Howlett," giving full particulars of the arrest of the American fishing schooner "Highland Light" off East Point, P. E. I., which confirms the report in THE STAR. It is further learned that as a result of correspondence between the Canadian and Imperial authorities orders have been sent by the Admiralty authorities to commanders of all British war vessels on the Atlantic and Gulf coast to report as early as possible at Halifax for duty. They will assist the Canadian cruisers on patrol service.

SEVERELY SHAKEN.

Other Towns in South Carolina Suffer from the Earthquake—Remarkable Phenomenon.

COLUMBIA, S. C., September 3.—The town of Waterboro, twenty-five miles from Summerville, was severely shaken up yesterday. The shocks have been so frequent as to produce a continuous vibratory motion. The damage done thus far is inconsiderable, but so terrified the inhabitants that they are leaving their homes fos places of safety. The rumbling noise and the general oscillation of the earth in Carleton county have not ceased. A party of colored men reached Summerville last night from a point fifteen miles distant. They declare that a genuine volcano has appeared there, and is now vomiting heated blueish mud.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 3.—There was a shortage in the supply of natural gas on the south side yesterday, and several factories suspended operations. Some people attribute the decrease in the flow to the earthquake.

THE SPROULE CASE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, September 3.—The Sproule case was again before the Supreme Court of Canada this morning. Mr. McCarthy, for the prisoner, contended in his argument that Justice Henry had jurisdiction to hear a motion for a writ of habeas corpus, and having that power he also had power to decide the issue then before him. The learned counsel cited numerous authorities to bear out his position. The trial of the prisoner from first to last was had under the authority of an act of the Parliament of Canada.

Justice Strong—There is no common law in Canada at present. There is only a statutory law, as enacted.

Mr. McCarthy continued that even if His Lordship Justice Henry had no authority to act as he did from lack of jurisdiction, this court could not now deal with the matter. There is in this court at present a total want of jurisdiction to set aside a decision of Justice Henry. There is no authority against this proposition. The argument is still in progress.

Liverpool, wheat, spot, whites are firmly held, but reds are very dull; do corn, spot, strong; do Nos. 2 to 1 Standard Cala, including club white, 6s 8½d to 6s 11½d. Wheat and flour in Paris steady. Liverpool, mixed maize, 4s 5¼d; do Canadian peas, 5s 5d. Weather in England, fair after rain.

Liverpool, 3.30 p. m.—Choice cheese, 45s; bacon, C. C., 33s; do L. C., 35s; hams, L. C., 49s; prime western lard, 35s 6d; shoulders, 32s 6d.

THE LIVERPOOL public cable says, wheat, firm, fair demand, offerings moderate; corn, firm, fair demand; weather fair but cloudy. Receipts of wheat past 3 days, 57,000 centals, of which 39,000 were American. Receipts of corn for same time, 55,700 centals.

Wholesale Produce, Provisions, Etc.

CHEESE.—The cable shows an advance of 1s to-day, at 45s per cwt for choice. Our market is firm, and holders are stiffer in their views. At Brockville, yesterday, the offerings were some 3500 boxes, and sales are noted at 9⅛c and 9⅝c for August cheese, but the quantity sold at the latter figures is said not to be large. Factory men are getting their ideas up to 10c. Further transactions are reported in the country at 9⅜c. Operating basis in August makes has not been established here yet, but values all round are somewhat higher. We quote: August make, finest, 9 to 9½c; July finest, 8¾ to 9c, medium to fine 7⅞ to 8⅜c, and lower grades 6 to 7c.

BUTTER.—The butter market is nominally unchanged; all fine grades are held firm, but low qualities are dull and difficult of sale. The export demand is not so brisk. Outside figures are 20c for choice creamery for shipping purposes. The market is quiet, with little doing outside of local wants, for which outside quotations are paid for selections in small lots. We quote: Creamery, 19 to 20½c; Townships, 15 to 17c; Morrisburg and Brockville, 13 to 15½c; Western, 12 to 15c.

Eastern Abattoir Cattle Market.

The offerings of stock at the market were some 400 cattle, 750 sheep and lambs, 50 calves and 100 hogs, values all round were higher and the demand was active; light supplies for the past few days and cooler weather caused an advance on butchers' stock which sold at from 3⅜ to 4⅜c, some lean stock sold as low as 2½c, good beeves were rather scarce, sheep and lambs were in good enquiry, the former brought from $3 to 5.50, and the latter $2 to 3.50 each, calves sold at from $3 to $8, according to size and condition, hogs are scarce and prices higher, sales were made at 5¾ to 6c per lb. live weight.

Viger Cattle Market.

The offerings of milch cows to-day were about 30 to 35 head. Prices ranged from $20 to $30 for common to medium, $30 to $40 for fair to good, and $10 to $50 for extra good. Fresh calved cows, of the latter there were very few, and there was a fair demand for them. Calves sold at from $2 to $5 each; sales comprised about 20. Business on the whole was rather quiet.
