RUSSIANS HAVE ACHIEVED THREE IMPORTANT ADVANCES

FIRST IS SUCCESSFUL DRIVE NEAR LUTSK—SECOND IS ADVANCE OF GEN. BRUSILOFF'S FORCES ALONG ROAD INTO HUNGARIA—THIRD IS IMPROVED SITUATION IN THE CAUCASUS.

Petrograd, July 18, via London, July 18.—Although the issue of the struggle between the opposing forces in the region of the Stokhod river still hangs in the balance, and there has been during the last few days no essential change in the situation along the main Russian front, the Russians have achieved three important advances at widely separated points in the eastern war theatre.

The first is the successful drive from the new quarter in Volhynia, south-east of Lutsk. The second is an advance of the southern wing of General Brusiloff's forces along the high road leading into Hungary, and the third is the improved situation in the Caucasus resulting from the taking of Baidurt.

In the first region the Russian operations are now being directed against the left wing of General Baehm-Ermolli's army near Svinitsky, which has already yielded ground before the fierceness of the Russian assault. Of the four Austrian army groups employed against Brusiloff's forces, Baehm-Ermolli's group has been the least affected by the Russian offensive, and, after its initial withdrawal from Dubno at the beginning of the Russian campaign, has held its ground firmly against all the Russian attempts to push the advance to the Galician frontier town of Brody. The beginning of the further retreats of this group, therefore, is considered extremely important and may open up a new Russian radius of attack from the north.

With their advance along the Kir-Libaha-Maramaros-Siget road, the Russians are in possession of four important lines leading into Hungary. Following up their spectacular success, which has taken them within a month across the whole of Bukovina, they are proceeding steadily forward, apparently with little resistance.

The taking of Baidurt, which has been the goal of the central Caucasian armies ever since the fall of Erzerum, has according to military experts, all chances of preventing a successful Turkish counter-offensive, which, with Baidurt as a base, the Turks have for months been carrying on with the object of gaining the entire Trebizond-Erzerum area.

HUNS EMPLOY NEW POISONOUS SHELL

IT DOES NOT EXPLODE BUT EMITS AN ASPHYXIATING GAS.

British Front in France, July 18, via London, July 18.—On the map of varicolored patches at headquarters which shows at a glance each day's progress of the offensive, there is one for today's work to the hour of writing so far as known, north of Ovillers and west of Poiseiers, and another of Poiseiers. The British are apparently following the same methods of the second big attack, fortifying the positions gained, stalking German machine gun detachments, taking needful tactical points, which their concentrations of gunfire give no sign where next the infantry is going to act.

"Shells," said a gunner who remembered the days of munitions starvation, "it is no longer a case of asking for more, but of somebody in the rear asking over the telephone if we have enough."

It cleared after yesterday's rain, which did not interrupt the shelling or the taking yesterday of 1,500 yards of a second line trench west of Poiseiers, which has been the centre of interest for the last 24 hours. This village sits on a high and commanding position, and the British have now established themselves on their side of its ruins, into which they continued today pouring a big volume of shell fire.

The Germans were seen using for the first time in this action a poisonous shell, which does not explode but emits an asphyxiating gas. At first sight it may be mistaken for what is known as a "bug," an army term for shell which has failed to detonate.

Military Critics Taking Stock Of Situation Are Agreeably Surprised By Large Captures Of Heavy Armament—British Press Attacks Rapidly To Prevent Germans Organizing Defenses—Obstacles Less Difficult As Allies Advance

London, July 18, 10 p.m.—While the adverse weather is compelling a lull in the fighting on the western front, military critics are taking stock of the situation.

They are agreeably surprised by the large captures of heavy armament. General Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander-in-chief, has been able to announce, and point out how, although the British attacks have been pressed with the greatest rapidity in order to give the Germans no time to organize formidable defenses, at the same time, as was evidenced by the withdrawal of the British from the Forteux wood, where they had reached the German third line, General Haig wisely resisted the temptation to hold on to that point, which would have incurred severe fighting, with probably heavy losses in favor of a more methodical advance.

Evidence received from the front, as well as the official map published here, seems to prove that the German second line of defenses was far less strong and elaborate than the first, hence the military observers believe that the obstacles are likely to be less difficult as the Entente Allies advance.

With regard to the eastern front, General Von Linsenger's retirement across the Lipa is considered by the critics as removing the last serious obstacle of the advance of the Russians toward Lemberg.

There was little fresh news from either front today. General Haig was able to report substantial progress north of Ovillers, while the Germans utilized the lull in making an attempt to regain lost ground at Biaches and La Maisonnette. Fighting in this region continues.

Reports from Petrograd say that the retirement of the Teutonic Allies on the Lipa has caused a panic in Galicia, where the towns are being evacuated.

ALM PREVAILS ON FRENCH FRONT.

With the exception of the region of Longueval and south of the Somme at Biaches relative calm prevails on the fighting front in France.

The British and Germans are engaged in a sanguinary conflict in the region of the Longueval salient, to the northwest of Comblès. With the clearing of the weather the Germans have taken the aggressive here after a preliminary bombardment. At last accounts no decision had been reached in the battle.

To the south of the Somme the French and Germans are still at grips at Biaches, where the French have driven out the Germans from some of the houses they held in the village. The Germans failed on Tuesday to renew their attacks between Biaches and La Maisonnette, in which the French inflicted heavy casualties on them Monday night.

On the eastern front Vienna asserts that fresh Russian attacks in the territory southeast of Lutsk were without success but says that in the Carpathian region near Zabla and Tatarow the Russians have pushed back Austrian advanced posts, although the Austrian main line has been firmly held.

In the vicinity of Riga the Russians are vigorously on the offensive against Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's army, but all their attacks have been repulsed with heavy losses, according to Berlin.

In the Austro-Italian theatre fresh attacks by the Italians have been made at various points.

While Petrograd chronicles further advances against the Turks the Russian right wing, Constantinople says that in recent days on the central sector the Russians have suffered tremendous losses south of the Tchoruk river and that their attacks have become less violent.

Cannonading is going on along the entire front in the region of the Greek border between the forces of the Teutonic and Entente Allies. Air raiders of the Entente Allies have done considerable damage with bombs in the region of Monastir.

SITUATION AT SALONIKI.

London, July 18.—The information given out by the French authorities in regard to the situation at Saloniki is not sufficiently explicit to indicate whether the Entente Allies are preparing an offensive movement such as would be preceded by a general bombardment. A drive from the Saloniki front has been predicted for some time during the summer. A Saloniki despatch of several weeks ago said that an Allied offensive in Macedonia had been arranged for the middle of May, but that it had been postponed and might be expected in July, at the latest. There are 130,000 German troops on this front, several hundred thousand French and British soldiers. It is generally understood that the Allies have 600,000 or more available for a campaign. Opposed to them are the Bulgarians with unknown numbers of Turks, Germans and Austrians. It has been reported that Bulgaria's Allies have withdrawn troops recently on account of the offensive campaigns on the French, Russian and Caucasian fronts.

KING THANKS BRITISH ARMY.

London, July 18, 7.50 p.m.—King George today sent the following message to General Sir Douglas Haig, commanding the British troops on the France Belgian front:

"The continued successful advance of my troops fills me with admiration and I send my best wishes to all ranks. The Emperor of Russia has asked me to convey his warm congratulations to the troops upon the great success they have achieved."

General Haig replied as follows:

"The British armies in France offer most respectful and grateful thanks for this further mark of Your Majesty's gracious appreciation of what they have achieved. They also respectfully beg that their grateful acknowledgments be conveyed to the Emperor of Russia for His Majesty's congratulations."

GERMANS ADMIT RETREAT BEFORE RUSSIAN FORCES

RETIREMENT ACCOMPLISHED "WITH LITTLE DISTURBANCE," SAYS BERLIN.

Berlin, July 18, via London.—The Russian operations eastward and southward of Lutsk, which began last Saturday, apparently marked the beginning of renewed important fighting in this sector, according to reports from War correspondents of Berlin newspapers.

The Russians had employed the comparatively quiet period since July 8 in reinforcing their units and making re-dispositions of their forces. Especially large masses of troops were assembled westward of Lutsk with the aid of the double track railways and two excellent military roads.

The new operations began Saturday morning with a Russian advance from Torchin in the direction of Sadoff. This met with strong opposition at first and was thrown back. Meanwhile, however, strong forces were advancing along the road from Lutsk to Chorukoff and westward thereof. These forces encountered the Austro-Germans during the night along the front from near Szklina to Ugrinoff. It was quickly apparent that the Austro-Germans were facing greatly superior numbers and a withdrawal of the line was ordered. This was accomplished with little disturbance, through the aid of a strong attack which held up the Russians until the new line southward of the Lipa had been firmly established.

The fighting along the Moldava-Breza line is reported to be bitter. In hand to hand conflict the Austrians are successfully holding the line eastward of the Bukovina border. As during the former occupation of Bukovina, the fighting along the Carpathian heights is taking on the nature of guerilla warfare. There are constant skirmishes between patrolling parties and other small forces.

Eighty-five thousand satisfied owners against unproved claims and rosy promises

You judge a man by what he's done—not by what he says he intends to do. Judge a motor car the same way.

Eighty-five thousand and more Canadian built Fords have "made good" in actual service. Since 1904 this sturdy, economical car has stood the test—not only in Canada, but throughout the British possessions.

Every passing year has seen Canadian Ford sales mount by thousands of cars—because, under almost every conceivable condition, the car has proved itself a splendid all-around utility.

It has sold on its record for dependable and economical performance—not on the rosy promises of its makers.

The man who selects a Ford is backed in his judgment by more than eighty-five thousand satisfied motorists in the Empire.

Has this a significance for you?

To Look and Feel Bright in Hot Weather

This is the season when she who would have a lily-white complexion should turn her thoughts to mercurized wax. The firm friend of the summer girl. Nothing so effectively overcomes the soiling effects of sun, wind, dust and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, freckled, withered or coarsened cuticle, bringing forth a brand new skin, clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It also unclogs the pores, removing blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercurized wax, obtainable at any drugstore, applied nightly like cold cream, and washed off morning, will gradually improve the worst complexion. When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the afternoon or evening, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sassailla in a half pint with hazel. You'll find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It is fine for smoothing out wrinkles, even the deeper ones.

WOMAN KILLS HER WEALTHY HUSBAND

MRS. BEUTINGER SAYS HUSBAND ATTACKED HER BEFORE SHE FIRED.

New York, July 18.—Christopher Beutinger, wealthy coal commission merchant with offices at No. 1 Broadway and formerly United States purchasing agent in the Philippines, was shot and killed yesterday by his young wife, Mrs. Margaret Claire Beutinger. In the bed room of their country residence at Caldwell, N.J. When pressed to reveal causes that led to the tragedy Mrs. Beutinger said last night:—

"Secondarily, he was an ardent German and perhaps I never could forget that I am an Englishwoman. In the nine years we were married I bore him seven children, five of whom survive. I divorced him once, and we were married again on his promises of reform, and to give my children a father. Since then he had driven several women servants from my home, and after trying to kill me last Wednesday night, he came into my room. I killed him because he seized my throat and would have choked me."

Children Sleeping Near. Sleeping in the same large and richly decorated room with their mother at the time of the shooting were her two sons, Christopher, Jr., four, and Willie, two. In an adjoining room were her three daughters—Margaret, eight, Maude, seven, and Marie, five. These five children, awakened from their sleep by the shots, found their father dead on the floor.

Mr. Beutinger was forty-two years old. His vigor made him a worker, and he required little sleep or rest. Among his acquaintances he was known as a business man of much ability, and he had the reputation of being a difficult man with whom to drive a bargain.

Mrs. Beutinger, who is 27, had possessed unusual beauty of the English type, but being mother of seven children, losing two of them and having almost constant trouble in her home, prematurely aged her. Added to the lines of trouble and care she showed yesterday the discolored and swollen eye which is said to have resulted from the fight Wednesday night, when, she said, her husband tried to gouge out her eye with his thumb.

About nine years ago Mrs. Beutinger, who has wealthy relatives in Kingston, Jamaica, was the guest of other relatives in London when Beutinger was in that city as purchasing agent for the United States government in the Philippines. They met in London, and were married and went to Manila to live. There the two eldest girls were born.

Twins of Couple Die. The family came to New York six years ago, when Beutinger established himself as a commission agent for coal mines and is said to have amassed a fortune of between $500,000 and $1,000,000. They purchased a home at 28 Clinton place, in the Chester Hill section of Mount Vernon, but did not live happily there.

It was there twins were born and there they died. Then Maude and Marie and Christopher Jr. were born. Trouble between husband and wife was constant. Following the birth of Willie, two years ago, Mrs. Beutinger left with her children and obtained a divorce. Her testimony at that time mentioned several women, and other witnesses testified that Beutinger was acquainted with many women.

Upon obtaining the divorce Mrs. Beutinger went to her relatives in Jamaica. In the autumn of 1914, taking her five children, Beutinger followed her there a year later, and upon his promise to devote himself solely to her statement, she forgave him and her statement, she forgave him and they were remarried in Kingston and returned to this city.

Mrs. Beutinger refused to return to the house in Mount Vernon, so the big estate at Caldwell, where yesterday's tragedy occurred, was purchased from Fillmore Condit, vice-president of the California Oil Company. Title was in Mrs. Beutinger's name. The large, modern country house is surrounded by three acres and the place has a magnificent view down a long road beautiful valley.

Old Trouble Renewed. The old trouble soon developed in the new home, however. Mrs. Beutinger said several servants left him and that one made a charge that Beutinger had attacked her.

When Beutinger got home Wednesday night there was a quarrel because dinner had not been kept for him. Mrs. Beutinger said a clerk had telephoned to her not to keep the dinner waiting, that Mr. Beutinger would be late. After he had eaten he saw Marie playing with a new doll and he tried to make the doll stand up. "I told him to be careful, that he might break the doll's legs," said Mrs. Beutinger, yesterday. "He flew into a rage, leaped upon me and tried to gouge my eye out with his thumb. He beat me until the servants intervened."

"The following day, Thursday, I went to Chief of Police John Harkey, and asked him what was the best thing to do. I told him I was afraid of my husband and knew that if I left him or had him arrested he would kill me, as he often said he would do. The Chief said he would not interfere in family troubles, but advised me to see a lawyer, and upon my request he recommended Walter G. Blandley."

Mrs. Beutinger retained Mr. Blandley, the latter said yesterday, and he was arranging for her and the children to go into a retreat where Beutinger could not find them, and then begin a legal action for a separation.

"I was awakened about two o'clock this morning," said Mrs. Beutinger, after she had given herself up, "by my husband at my bedside. I ordered him out of the room, and after a while he went. There was no key in the lock, and I could not fasten the door. An hour later I was awakened by my husband's presence again. He first sat on the bed, and I struggled with him and threatened to scream. Then he left the room, saying I ought to be killed."

"Then I got up and from a bureau drawer I obtained the new pistol which I had ordered from a New York dealer on Thursday and which was delivered only yesterday. I put that under my pillow, but did not go to sleep."

"I think it was a little after five o'clock when my husband came into my room again, and then he drew a chair up to the bed and sat down. He made demands that made me hate him more than ever. I told him I hated him, and that I had my hand on the pistol under the pillow."

"He sprang upon me and tried to choke me. Then I drew the pistol out and fired one shot. He rose up from his crouching position over the bed and staggered backward. Then I fired all the other cartridges there were in the weapon and fell back on the pillow. I saw him fall. I did not know much else that happened, except I heard my children crying, and I knew I would not have any more trouble."

The shots were heard by John Cummings, the family chauffeur, who occupied a room on the ground floor in the rear; by Eugene Graff, the gardener, and his wife, the housekeeper, and by other servants on the third floor. Cummings was the first to enter the bedroom. He had heard the previous quarrels and had not slept much. As he entered the bedroom he saw Beutinger's body lying near a window, with the children about it, and he said Mrs. Beutinger, still in bed, spoke to him:—

"Here, John, is the pistol. Take it away. I've finished him at last and he won't cause any more trouble. You better telephone for Chief Harkey and tell him all about it. I am so tired."

Cummings telephoned to Chief Harkey and to Dr. George E. Verbeck, the family physician, and both arrived at the same time. To them Mrs. Beutinger said:—

"I had to finish him. He tried to kill me. I shot him to save myself."

She had remained in bed until then but had become partly hysterical, and the physician had to quiet her with a sedative before she could go on and tell of the years of indignities she had suffered.

Court in Drawing Room.

When her maids had attired Mrs. Beutinger and she had had a cup of coffee Recorder William H. McClesney was called to the house and he held court in the drawing room. He committed Mrs. Beutinger to the County Jail on a charge of murder. He explained he could do nothing else.

Her attorney, Mr. Blandley, had been called to the house in the mean time and he took charge of her case. County officials were called and later in the day Mrs. Beutinger became calm enough to be removed to the jail in Newark, first being formally arraigned in the County Prosecutor's office.

Before being driven to the jail in her own automobile and by her own chauffeur Mrs. Beutinger had arranged with neighbors to take care of her children. She said that each would be well cared for in her absence, and the servants were left in charge of the house. Beutinger's body was sent to a morgue in Orange.

Mrs. Beutinger has no relatives in this country. Her attorney sent cable messages to her relatives in Jamaica. So far as known Beutinger's nearest relatives are in Germany.

Puts Pistol Under Pillow.

CLOSING MARKET LETTERS.

By Private Wire to Breen & Gourdeau, Stock Brokers, Telephone No. 185.

Chicago, July 18.—Wheat—Showed a firm tone holding an average during the morning above last night's close. Rust reports from the northwest are numerous and a possibility of serious damage is suggested unless the weather changes and checks its development. In the absence of damage to spring wheat crop from heat and rust a moderate setback in prices may occur, but if the yield is cut in the northwest we are likely soon to see materially higher prices.

Corn.—Complaints of dry hot weather not only in the south west, but Central Illinois brought in buying orders and sharp bulges in prices resulted. While it is quite impossible to gauge a weather market, it does not seem advisable for the time being to sell Corn short.

Oats.—The selling of Oats by holders who had clear profits by local traders who are bearish, checked the advancing tendency in the Oats market. Cash people bought the futures and were said to be doing a good shipping business.

New York, July 18.—The course of price fluctuations in today's stock market session was wholly unsatisfactory from a speculative point of view. No definite trend was apparent at any stage, the transactions were very largely professional and such trading, as was indulged in, was principally confined to individual stocks.

On the whole, the market was dull and featureless, with the action of the general list conveying no important bearing on the immediate future. The absence of the public is directly responsible for the present condition of the market, and no indication was had during the day of any immediate altering of their waiting attitude. Meantime, pending the development of some new impulse, strong enough to encourage public participation we anticipate very little change from that shown in today's session.

Sales, stocks, $347,830; bonds, $2,693,000.

TORONTO MARKET.

Toronto, July 18.—More interest was shown in Canadian stocks today on the local exchange and there was greater activity, although price movements were irregular. Cement common and Toronto Railway furnished the outstanding features of the trading, the former advancing sharply, and the latter breaking through to a new low level for many years.

In the rest of the list gains and losses were about equally divided. For the most part war issues scored gains, while losses were sustained by a number of peace issues.

Cement opened at 63 1-2 and advanced on active buying in the morning to 63. In the afternoon the stock reacted to 63 1-4. Toronto Railway was sold freely, opened at 94 1-2, selling down during the morning to 89 1-2 and rallying slightly at the close to 90 1-2. This represented an extreme loss for the day of 5 1-2 points and a net loss of 5 1-2 points.

From House to House the Good News Spreads

Many housewives have found a happy solution of the breakfast problem in NEW POST TOASTIES.

These new corn flakes are distinctive in that they have a self-developed flavor all their own—the delicate, fascinating flavor of choice, white Indian corn. Unlike other flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar to make them palatable.

Try a handful without cream and sugar—note the fine flavor and new form; also the tiny bubbles on each flake. These bubbles are a distinguishing characteristic and are produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of making, which also brings out the wonderful flavor.

Although the NEW POST TOASTIES are a great improvement in flavor and form, they cost no more than ordinary flakes. Have a package delivered for tomorrow's breakfast.

SIX QUEBEC BOYS ARE COMMENDED FOR BRAVERY

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL A. E. SWIFT, D.S.O., COMMANDING
SECOND CANADIAN BATTALION, SENDS LIST OF MEN RE-COMMENDED FOR GALLANT ACTION.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Swift, D.S.O., of this city, who succeeded Major-General Watson as O. C. of the Second Canadian Battalion, has sent the Chronicle the following list of Quebec boys in his Battalion who have distinguished themselves on the field and whom he has recommended for decoration.

The list is a particularly interesting one and includes in each case the particular action in which the men displayed their bravery.

Included in the list are the following Quebecers: Captain H. F. Hall, Lieut. Okill Learmonth, Sergt. H. C. Stuart, Captain (Dr.) J. P. Walsh, Lieut. M. H. Labbe, Major H. B. Verret.

Since these recommendations which date from May 3rd last Lieut. Okill Learmonth was wounded and is now home in Quebec on leave, while Lieut. M. H. Labbe was wounded last week and is in hospital in France.

The list in detail is as follows:—
CAPTAIN H. F. HALL.

Unit: 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion; rank and name: Capt. Henry Forsyth Hall; date: 26th April, 1916; place: Ypres, opposite Hill 60.

Action:—This officer is recommended for special gallantry. On the evening of the 26th April, 1916, when the mine was exploded and a heavy bombardment in progress, this officer at once ordered his men to line the parapet and opened up a rapid fire.

He directed operations under a very heavy shell and trench mortar fire, and his bearing throughout the engagement greatly stimulated his men. Recommended for the Military Cross.

Recommended by A. E. SWIFT, Lieut.-Colonel, D.S.O., Commanding 2nd Can. Batt'n.
Recommended: G. B. HUGHES, Brig.-General, D.S.O., Commanding 1st Can. Inf'y. Brigade, 3rd May, 1916.

LIEUT. O. LEARMONTH.
Unit: 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion; rank and name: 22493, Lance-Corpl. Okill Learmonth; date: 26th April, 1916; place: Ypres, opposite Hill 60.

Action:—During the heavy bombardment and subsequent attack on our trenches, 26th April, he showed great coolness and exceptional ability and disregard of danger, when the parapets all along his platoon were blown in. Under the intense fire he moved up and down the trench encouraging his men and retaining thorough organization in his section. He disposed of his wounded under the fire, so as to allow of free passage along the trench.

Recommended for Distinguished Conduct Medal.

Recommended by A. E. SWIFT, Lieut.-Colonel, D.S.O., Commanding 2nd Can. Batt'n.
Recommended: G. B. HUGHES, Brig.-General, D.S.O., Commanding 1st Can. Inf'y. Brigade, 3rd May, 1916.

SERG. H. C. STUART.
Unit: 2nd Canadian Battalion; No., rank and name: 8619, Sergeant Harry Cuthbert Stuart; date: 26th April, 1916; place: Ypres, opposite Hill 60.

Action:—This non-commissioned officer is recommended for special services during the operations of the 26th April, 1916.

He was acting as Regimental Sergeant-Major, and at once went to the Ammunition Department and issued ammunition and grenades and directed parties carrying same to the front line. He also assisted the Commanding Officer in directing supports.

Recommended for Distinguished Conduct Medal.
Recommended by A. E. SWIFT, Lieut.-Colonel, D.S.O., Commanding 2nd Can. Batt'n.
Recommended: G. B. HUGHES, Brig.-General, D.S.O., Commanding 1st Can. Inf'y. Brigade, 3rd May, 1916.

CAPT. J. P. WALSH.

Unit: 2nd Canadian Battalion; rank and name: Captain John Parnell

Walsh; date: 26th April, 1916; place: Ypres, opposite Hill 60.
Action:—This officer is recommended for conspicuous gallantry on the afternoon of the 26th April, during the severe fighting. This officer, who is the Medical Officer of the Battalion, attended to the wounded under an extremely heavy shell fire. His work in this capacity was of the highest calibre.

Before the wounded had come down he organized and directed carrying parties with ammunition and grenades, and the promptness with which he seized the situation and met it, was of the greatest value.

This work entailed great personal risk, and his coolness under the heavy shell fire greatly stimulated the men. Recommended for the Military Cross.

Recommended by A. E. SWIFT, Lieut.-Colonel, D.S.O., Commanding 2nd Can. Batt'n.

Official Statements

RUSSIAN STATEMENT.

Petrograd, July 18, via London, 7:57 p.m.—A Russian victory over Teutonic forces in southern Volhynia has resulted in their being driven across the River Lipa and beyond that stream, says a War Office statement issued today. Indications are, that the retreat was effected in the greatest disorder.

In the Riga region efforts by the Germans to retake positions they had lost were unsuccessful. The official statement says:

"In the Riga region there was an artillery duel. The Germans at many places attempted unsuccessfully to recapture lost trenches.

"As the result of the latest skillful operations of General Sakharoff's troops in Volhynia we gained a victory on July 18 which brought us 13,000 prisoners and 30 guns, as announced yesterday, and enabled us to sweep the enemy completely from the left bank of the Lower Lipa, driving him to Krasoff and beyond the river. Judging by the abundance of war material the enemy abandoned he retreated in great disorder. Some of the 17 heavy guns captured were yesterday already bombarding enemy positions on the south bank of the Lipa.

"German prisoners captured wear uniforms of all kinds, proving the mixed character of the recent formations.

"Caucasus front: The Offensive of our right wing continued yesterday. On the seventeenth, our brave mountain Cossacks had great success, courageously dislodging the enemy from powerfully organized positions. In some places not only did the Cossacks attain the snow line but even crossed it.

"In the region of the town of Medjidag they captured two machine guns, a quantity of arms, and prisoners.

"In the region of Taurus we captured a complete Turkish company.

"In the course of attack of the 15th before Baiburt we captured a Turkish flag."

Petrograd, via London, July 18, 11:09 p.m.—An official communication issued this evening reads:

"In the Caucasian our attacks in impetuosity took prisoners to the number of 34 Turkish officers and 608 men, and captured two machine guns.

"Later information states that a Turkish flag was taken in a

BRITISH STATEMENT.

London, July 19, 12:25 a.m.—The British official statement issued at midnight reads:

"After a bombardment with lacrimatory and gas shells the Germans commenced an attack against our positions in the vicinity of Longueval and Delville wood. Heavy fighting is still in progress.

"Elsewhere there is nothing of importance to report."

FRENCH STATEMENT.

Paris, July 18, 11:40 p.m.—The official communication issued by the War Office tonight reads:

"South of the Somme the day was relatively calm. The enemy did not renew his attempts against La Maisonnette. We drove the Germans from some houses which they held in the village of Biaches.

"(There is no event of importance to report on the rest of the front."

BELGIAN STATEMENT.

Belgian communication: "Last night a Belgian detachment carried out a raid in the direction of the enemy trenches north of Dixmude. It succeeded in penetrating one of these, killing the greater part of the occupants and bringing back unwounded prisoners.

"During the day the artillery was slightly active."

AUSTRIAN STATEMENT.

Vienna, July 18, via London, 8:10 p.m.—Austrian advanced posts in the region of Zabie and Tatarow, south of Kolomea in the Carpathian region, have been pressed back by a Russian attack, says the War Office statement issued today. The main Austrian positions, however, have been firmly held.

In Volhynia, in the region southwest of Lutsk, Russian attacks failed. The statement says: "Near Zabie and Tatarow, the Russians pressed back our advanced posts. Attacks on our main positions failed with great enemy losses.

"North of Radziviloff, southwest of Lutsk (northeast of Brody, near the Galician border) enemy assaults were also repulsed."

future, being at least twenty per cent. more efficient than the fastest ship driven by a quadruple-expansion engine.

Sir Charles' pet idea is at present to find a new source of power. He foresees the time when coal and mineral oil will be exhausted, or available in too small quantities to cope with the needs of the world. Where is our power plant to find its driving force?

This son of a peer says: "From mother earth." It is a well-known fact that the crust of the earth grows hotter and hotter the deeper one goes. The temperature of a coal-mine is greatly in excess of surface heat. Sir Charles considers that, if we would but dig deep enough, we should come to an inexhaustible supply of heat, the rim of the earth's central glow.

He thinks we should have to dig ten miles deep! That is a big undertaking, and would tax the resources of our greatest engineers. But Sir Charles says it is feasible, and he ought to know.

Which of the nations will be the first to start the job?—London Answers.

SASKATCHEWAN GRAFT.

Regina, Sask., July 18.—Sergeant Alexander Milner, formerly of the audit department of the provincial government, was the man who supplied W. J. Gallon, chief Conservative organizer, with certain documents from the government files by means of which Mr. Gallon was able to prove the frauds committed by J. P. Brown. Milne admitted before the Wetmore Commission today that he had copied progressive and final estimates for Mr. Gallon, and supplied him with original cancelled checks for payment of the Clark, Currie and Smith contracts. Milne said he received no money or promise of consideration of any kind for this service. The reason he gave this information outside the office, he said, was that he had called the provincial auditor's attention to various things he considered irregular, and had got no satisfaction.

ONLY ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SIX SURVIVED FROM TWO REGIMENTS—BRITISH PRESENTED ARMS TO THE PRISONERS IN RECOGNITION OF BRAVERY.

Paris, July 18.—The capture of Ovillers by the British necessitated one of the most sanguinary encounters of the advance, with a corresponding loss of the "Liberte." Nevertheless, the British were well rewarded for their effort, for they maintained possession of the broad highway leading from Albert to Bapaume.

The village was defended for ten days by two regiments of the Prussian Guard. The correspondent says that of these regiments only 125 men survived, all of them having been captured.

It was at Ovillers that the British offensive which began July 1 was held up while the remainder of the line was advancing. From July 7 on the village was cut off almost completely from the German rear, but it was not until the 14th that the Prussian Guard was overcome.

The defenders of the town suffered from hunger and thirst as the British curtain of fire prevented the bringing up of fresh supplies.

Some of the Germans drank polluted water from a pond and others have been driven mad by the bombardment.

Mount Bridges, Ont., July 18.—

Arthur Drover, an 18-year-old English boy employed by R. A. Williams, of Concession 1, suddenly ran amuck today, made insane apparently by the excessive heat, and attacked Mrs. Williams with an axe, wounding her in several places. Then he fled toward Dawn township where his brother lives, stopping in his flight at the home of Mrs. Cushman, whom he struck with an axe that he found in the woodshed. After knocking her down Drover continued his flight and was captured by officers near Melbourne. Both of the axeman's victims will recover if it is re-

When the survivors left the village as prisoners the British presented arms in recognition of the bravery of their defense.

A TRIBUTE TO FRANCE.

Writing in "London Opinion" James Douglas, the well-known English journalist, pays a remarkable tribute to France whose spirit in this war he describes as a great mystery which baffles the world.

Mr. Douglas considers that the transfiguration of France is a miracle too vast to be understood by this generation or by any future generation. It will, he thinks, remain incomprehensible for all time. The heart of the enigma will never be plucked out, for it is locked up in the living body of the race. The French keep the great secret of France. Neither friend nor enemy can discover it. No neutral can anatomize it. It is a quality of the soul, but there is no word in any language that can describe it. The old good words are quite useless, for this is a new thing. It is higher than courage; grander than valour; holier than love; mightier than patriotism; more august than liberty; more splendid than martyrdom. It enables a whole race to burn with one flame, to live one life, to die one death.

Mr. Douglas says:—The French have invented phrases for this miracle they have wrought. They are simple phrases, but the "Marseillaise" rages in every syllable of them. "You shall not pass." That is the word spoken every hour by France to the beast that is tearing her with its unclean claws. Every hour for nearly two years of carnage France has cried that grim cry. For nearly five months her guns have thundered it at Verdun. The Germans dread its awful monotony. They pile their grey ridges and ramparts of dead upon it, and still it rings through the smoke and dust—"You shall not pass." They drive herds of doom: conscripts into the bottomless pit of death, and as they die they hear the soft mocking murmur in their ears—"You shall not pass." Not this way, Kaiser-fodder, but the other way. And the legions day after day, and night after night, stolidly and sullenly pass the other way, through the other door. "Very slowly and very wearily they stumble into the darkness. And somewhere the Kaiser flicks his jaded senses with a new death-roll.

There is another great French phrase which is on the lip of every gun: "Jusqu'au bout." Not to the bitter end, you notice. There is no "to" in it. It is better in the war-cry of France: "To the end." That is all. A deadly patient phrase it is, expressive of the divine patience of France in the army. There was a time when France dreamed of glory. "La gloire" is not now the word in her mouth. She is not fighting for glory. She has seen glory that no German has ever seen or ever shall see. She has put it aside as dross. She sees now a thing that transcends all glory. It comes out of the ages untroubled and unstained, and there is no word for it. But without it France proudly refuses to live. It is the hope of the world. It is the meaning of life. For it she fights to the end.

"The third great phrase," says Mr. Douglas, is greater than the others: "The Sacred Union." France is poured like wine into that watchword. "The Sacred Union" is not a shibboleth. It is a battle-cry. They tell me that France is a secular nation, but this is her religion. No other race has made union a mystical faith sanctified by a mystical suffering which is more sacred than aught else. The sacred union which the Kaiser vainly strives to penetrate. It is a spiritual secret that he labors to destroy, but which laughs at all his brutalities and barbarities. The world wonders at the serenity of it at the calm of it, at the surety of it. But the world can never understand it."

ITALY'S GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Some famous British writers, including Sir Conan Doyle and Sidney Low, have been visiting the Italian front and are aiding the cause of Anglo-Italian unity by describing to the British people the nature and magnitude of Italy's part in the war.

Few of us have had an adequate conception of Italy's task. The Italian battle line measures over 470 miles, which is not far short of the ribbon of trench and earthwork drawn across western Europe. The natural advantages are all with the Austrians. They have the higher mountain masses behind them instead of in front, and are coming down the great Alpine stairway while the Italians are climbing up. The plain of Venetia and Lombardy is one unbroken level stretching to the edge of the mountain barrier, where the hills leap suddenly from it like cliffs rising out of a waveless sea. Some of the hills that touch the plain are within the Italian frontier. But these are the lesser heights; and always behind them, and commanding them, are the loftier uplands, range beyond range which are in enemy territory. The Austrians before the war had their forts and fortified posts there, and their strategic roads; and almost everywhere along the front they have observing stations which overlook the Italian lines. Thus the Italians have had to make their advance, and build their trenches, and place their guns in the face of an enemy who lies generally so much above them that he can watch them from his nests of earth and rock as though he were soaring in an aeroplane. Mr. Low says he found Italian guns everywhere, mountain guns, field guns, and guns of position—6-inch, 10-inch and 12-inch—which had been dragged or carried with all their mountings, their equipment, their tools and appurtenances, up to their stations, 3,000 feet, 4,000 feet and 6,000 feet above the level. It is a great feat of strategy and military engineering.

The Austrian armies, with all their advantages of position, accentuated by their superiority in heavy artillery, would have forced their way down the valleys of the Brenta and Adige had the Italians not determined to strike first. Instead of waiting for the enemy to come down the passages from the Trentino, they rushed the stairway themselves. Their magnificent Alpine troops and mountain artillery brought up their guns by incredible exertions to the gates of the Austrian frontier fortresses, battered some of these into threads, and pushed their way to within a few miles of the capital. There they hung grimly all through the winter and spring. Thus the people of Italy have been spared the tribulations of France, Belgium, Serbia and Poland—the bitter thought that vast numbers of their countrymen are living in their own provinces under the heel of a ruthless foe. The Austrian counter-stroke has spent itself and the "open door" of Italy is still effectually closed. The Italians kept and are keeping hundreds of thousands of Austrians from being withdrawn from the Italian front to meet the onslaught of the Russians in Galicia and Bukovina.

The worst of dangers in some of these Alpine stations, worse even than the Austrian cannon, the great 305's and 402's, which drop their crashing projectiles from the clouds, is the avalanche. The snow masses, loosened by the concussion of the bombardments, are more treacherous and insecure than ever. Those indications of coming movement, for which the mountaineer is ever on the watch, are no longer perceptible; and at a moment when all seems calm the avalanche will thunder down and sweep men and guns away or bury them fathoms deep. "We lost forty men and two guns up there the other day," said the artillery colonel to Mr. Low, pointing to an innocent-looking slope above us. "We were standing beside one of his own guns hidden snugly in a wooded hollow, so covered up with leafage that no prying aeroplane could find it out. But sometimes in this war at high altitudes risks must be taken and the pieces exposed to the perils prepared by Nature or the enemy. So it was on this occasion. The guns were got out from under the snow, after much labor, little damaged. They are sending them up again next week. And the men? "We shall send other men," said the colonel quietly.

A German war correspondent admits astonishment at the wave after wave of British troops, with seemingly endless repetition, sweeping upon the German lines. The amazement is so clearly expressed, that it is incredible to believe that the Germans, with their system of espionage, should have been unaware of the millions of troops, which Great Britain was raising and the two million, or so, waiting in France, behind the British lines for months past, but such is evidently true. The efficiency of Germany has never lain in its ability to make due allowance for the strength of its opponents. Its fault has ever been to miscalculate their strength and their intentions. Karl Wiegand, writing from Berlin to The New York World, points out that at last the initiative has passed from the Germans to the Allies. He says:

"Now, for the first time in the war, the military initiative has passed to the other side. Germany is fighting on the defensive almost everywhere, even westward of Lutsk. Linsingen's counter offensive has slowed down. Only at Verdun the German Crown Prince is keeping up a slow, but strong offensive pressure, gaining ground literally foot by foot, and even the combined offensives of the allies east and west have not yet been able to divert the Germans from that goal."

"Germany is fighting day and night against superior numbers in the west, with a heroism and bravery to which the other side is giving a lavish tribute of praise. In the east the thin, anaemic line of Hindenburg, Leopold, Linsingen and Bothmer is struggling against almost overwhelming odds, often four or five to one. Fresh armies drummed up out of Russia's hundred and fifty millions and equipped with ammunition from the arsenals of Japan and America, are beating against those thin lines with the ceaselessness of the sea, that cannot be otherwise than discouraging to the stoutest hearts."

RAILWAY BRIDGE OUT OF COMMISSION

ACCIDENT TO MACHINERY PREVENTS TRAINS FROM CROSSING ST. CHARLES.

Owing to cogs breaking in the wheels upon which the cantilever bridge over the St. Charles River swings open and closed, the C. N. R. trains and the Quebec & Montmorency electric cars running to and from St. Anne de Beaupre and intermediate points were prevented from crossing for several hours last night. The accident occurred about 7.30 o'clock last evening and trains coming from Valcartier and other points were obliged to make their terminus at Limoilou Station. The passengers were thus obliged to cross to Quebec on foot by the other two bridges or else to take the electric cars from Limoilou.

In this connection the Quebec & Montmorency Company were more fortunate and they used their electric line in Limoilou to take passengers within five minutes walk of Limoilou Station. It was learned from an official late last night that the bridge would be repaired by midnight and that it would be in operation as usual this morning.

COURT OF SESSIONS.

A man named Bouffard accused of stealing three hogs appeared before Judge Choquette in the Court of Sessions yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded to jail awaiting trial. The case of Wilfrid Neron of the 189th Regiment was taken in delibere. Judgment in the Vaillancourt case will be rendered today.

MAN WHO TOOK POISON IS OUT OF DANGER.

An escaped inmate of Beaufort Asylum named Gregras took a quantity of Paris Green at the Palais yesterday and taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital in the ambulance. Owing to the man's advanced age it was feared that the dose of poison would prove fatal, but he was transferred to the Asylum last night and was proclaimed out of danger by the physicians.

RECORDER'S COURT.

Eighteen prisoners appeared before the Recorder yesterday morning on charges of drunkenness; a few of them, however, were strangers to the city. Two of the delinquents were released, whilst the remainder were mulcted in the usual penalties. A young girl, named Marion Goulet, who ran away from her home a short time ago, was found on the Cove Fields by Constable Scallen on Monday night, and appeared at Court yesterday. The Recorder sent her to the Bon Pasteur until she was 21 years of age.

Arthur Garneau, a farmer of Notre Dame des Laurentides, was before the Court on an alleged charge of having contaminated the water which runs into the St. Charles River for the city's consumption. The charge was preferred by Inspector Martineau. After hearing many witnesses, the case was taken in delibere.

WEDDING AT NEW ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

The marriage of Miss Gladys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Healey to Mr. John W. Martin, at St. Patrick's Church, Grande Allee, yesterday morning, was attended by a large number of friends of the young couple. The bride was given away by her father, while Mr. John Martin accompanied his son, Rev. Father McCallister administered the Sacrament of Matrimony and also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. The service was fully choral. Miss Vera Henchey and Miss Laura Griffin sang solos, while Miss Swindell presided at the organ. The altar was decorated with natural flowers and electric lights. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for the Thousand Islands and Niagara Falls. They were the recipients of many presents, as both are very popular and count a legion of friends who will wish them all happiness.

The bride wore a Belgian blue tulle suit and white fox fur. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

EX-MAYOR DROUIN AND MR. FORRESTER

FORMER CHIEF MAGISTRATE COMPLIMENTS RETIRING ENGINEER ON HIS WORK.

The following letter, which is self-explanatory, was written to Mr. T. A. Jardine Forrester, retiring Waterworks Engineer, by ex-Mayor Drouin:

July 10, 1916.
Mr. T. A. Jardine Forrester,
Quebec, Que.

Dear Mr. Forrester:
I have learned through the newspapers that the report of this famous commission of engineers regarding the 40-inch main has been at last submitted to the City Council and that same is satisfactory; and that we may book our faith on the reliability of the aqueduct.

I take advantage of this letter to compliment you on your happy decision to remain with the Waterworks Department till the end of this inspection, the report of which is an advantageous compliment to you. Allow me to also inform you that if some have not appreciated the value of your work, I have been in a position to appreciate your ability as an engineer and I have been a witness of the trouble you have always given yourself and the long hours you have worked when it was necessary.

Also those that you have dealt with, the Presidents of your Committee, the Mayor, Mr. Lavigne, and Ald. Madden, are in a position to join me in congratulating you on the success of as considerable an enterprise as the laying of the 40-inch main and the different connections within the city that assure the necessary water pressure to effectively fight fires.

Congratulations are also due you for being one of the promoters of the reorganization of the fire brigade and for your helping to obtain from the Underwriters a decrease of the insurance rates when the city was threatened by a considerable increase.

You may rest assured, Mr. Forrester, that your departure from the City Hall will be regretted by a great number of people who could in a measure appreciate the services you have rendered our city as engineer of its aqueduct.

Very truly yours
Signed, NAP. DROUIN.

COST OF THE WAR.

It Is Doubtful That Any War Recorded in History.

"If the war lasts three years the losses will reach a total unheard of in the past. They will amount to 100 or 120 billions."

This is the conclusion reached by Jean Finot, the noted economist who writing in the Revue, says further:

According to the calculations of economists and statisticians, armed conflicts from the time of Napoleon I. to our day, all added together, have not cost one-half the sums absorbed by the present war. The Napoleonic wars properly so-called, which are considered the most sanguinary in the history of past wars, cost only about fifteen billion dollars. They lasted 20 years. The Crimean War cost the nations engaging in it about eleven or twelve billions. The Civil War in America did not cost more than seven billion dollars or seven billion six hundred million. The war between Prussia and Austria in 1866 necessitated an expenditure of only five hundred million dollars.

According to the estimate of M. Mathieu-Bodet, Minister of Finance in 1874, the War of 1870 cost France the total sum of $2,499,000,000. In the figure are included the losses to the States, to the departments, to the communes, and individuals. The cost of caring for German troops after the conclusion of peace and before the complete evacuation, amounting to $18,600,000, is also included.

An English statistician puts the direct expenses of all belligerents from Napoleon I. to the war of 1914 at from thirty-six billion to forty billion dollars.

Considering only the allied armies in the present war it may be noted that the number of combatants on our side now amounts to about fourteen million. If we admit an average daily expenditure of $4. a day for each soldier, including ammunition, we will have a total of $1,450,000,000 a month, or about twenty billion dollars a year.

For France alone the budget amounts to $6,193,200,000 yearly, according to M. Almond, who recently made a report to the French Senate, showing the following credits since August 1, 1914:
Last 5 mths of 1914 ..$1,317,886,850
Year 1915 ..4,483,319,702
First half of 1916 ..3,006,500,870
Total since war began $8,807,713,425

HAS STAYING POWER

New Governor-General Has Qualities Which Fit Him for Office.

The appointment as Governor-General of the Duke of Devonshire came as a great surprise to Londoners, his name having never been mentioned in the numerous speculations. The London press generally support the comments of Sir George Foster, that the Duke of Devonshire will bring to this high office the prestige of this noted family, and the qualities and experience so fitting to him for taking up this work.

The Cavendish type, says the Pall Mall Gazette, is not one of exuberant brilliance, but it is unmatched in staying power, and in its balance of judgment and discretion.

The newspaper, Canada, speaking on behalf of the Canadian community in England, thinks the choice a happy one, as the house of Cavendish possesses splendid traditions in the public service, adding that the Duke will find himself surrounded with an atmosphere of friendliness and good-will at Ottawa.

In appearance the Duke of Devonshire has the family features, including the sleepy-looking eyes of his uncle, the late Duke, which were believed to be caused by mental activity as in the case of the present Duke.

The Governor-General-elect has always taken a keen interest in agricultural life, both as regards stock-raising and pastoral farming. Both the Duke and Duchess have pleasing personalities. The latter is Mistress of the Robes in the Queen's Household, and as the daughter of Lord Lansdowne, made the acquaintance of Canada in her youth.

Brooklyn Awarded Game.

Chicago, July 18—Chicago forfeited to Brooklyn today by the technical score of 9 to 0, because Manager Joe Tinker refused to leave the field when Umpire Byron ordered him away. By a batting rally in the 6th, Brooklyn had tied the score and the teams went into the 10th with the count 4 to 4. Byron then charged Vaughn with delaying the game.

Manager Tinker voiced a violent protest and refused to leave the field, claiming the Brooklyn players were "stealing" the Chicago signals and that Vaughn's delay was merely to gain time to inform Catcher Fischer of it. Byron was obstinate, however, and called a policeman to eject Tinker. While the policeman hesitated, Byron counted the minutes and finally declared the game forfeited.

Jimmy Archer, the Cub catcher, broke a finger in the game.

Cincinnati, O., July 17—Cincinnati knocked Ragan out of the box in the 4th inning, winning the last game of the series from Boston here today, 6 to 4. Schneider pitched good ball, two of the visitors' runs being made off Killifer's error.

Giants Licked Again.

St. Louis, July 18—St. Louis batters pounded two pitchers, and St. Louis won the last game of the series with New York here today, 5 to 2. Steele allowed only six hits. Ames, who relieved Steele, was found for one hit, a triple by Robertson, in the ninth, which resulted in a run when a wild pitch by Ames sent Robertson home. A triple, a double, and a single off Anderson and two errors gave St. Louis three runs in the eighth.

Managers McGraw and Huggins were banished from the game for arguing with Umpire Klem.

Washington, July 18—Washington made it four out of five from Cleveland by winning today's game, 3 to 2. In the first inning Moeller got a scratch hit to Wambeganes, stole second and scored on two infield outs. That was the only earned run of the game. Speaker's muff of Gallia's fly allowed Washington to score twice in the second inning. Roth, who made both of Cleveland's runs, was aided by errors of McBride and Henry.

Philadelphia, July 18—Chicago won both games here today, 9 to 2 and 3 to 2, and thereby made a clean sweep of the series of four games. In the first game, the visitors bunched hits off Lanning and Nabors while Cicotte was strong. In this game Schalk stumbled and fell against a cement wall going after a foul. He was carried off the field unconscious and taken to a hospital. It is feared his right cheek bone and skull are fractured. Although Myers fanned ten batters, Chicago won the second game by bunting hits in the fourth and eighth innings.

Sporting Notes

St. Patrick's and Laval are scheduled to meet on the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday. The Champs are out to break up Laval's good record. The St. Pat's team has never yet been beaten by Laval ever since they began playing together. But, Laval are out to break the jinx this season if possible.

Eddie Ramsay said he would like to write this column this morning. Even Wagner and Cobb strike out at times, Ed, why can't we?

If Billy Frenzell shows the same stuff all the time, Manager Jimmy Walsh of the Vics, doesn't need to look far for a pitcher. Last evening, the former star boxman of St. Pat's looked to have all the oldtime stuff on the ball and his control was perfect. Last season Billy's big trouble, when with Emmets, was his lack of control.

Jimmy Lonergan shapes up like a hitter. He laced the ball out on a line to Tom Kelly with the bases full and Tom obligingly dropped it.

The Victorias will practice Thursday evening on the Cove Fields.

Billy Fields is beginning to find the ball again. If the big first-sacker starts to clout the old pill as he did last season, St. Pat's will have a mighty hard-hitting aggregation.

The New York Americans are certainly up against a hard-luck streak. They have lost since the season commenced, Maisel, Gilhooley, Baker, and Cullup, through injuries. If these men come back in time the Yanks ought to make a strong finish.

Jack Gaskin's arm was in great trim last evening. He did some fine throwing in practice before the game.

Joe Tinker cost his Cubs a game yesterday by persistent kicking. Chicago and Brooklyn were tied up at 4 all at the beginning of the tenth inning, but the umpire awarded the game to the Robins because Manager Tinker of the Cubs, refused to withdraw himself from the field quickly enough.

Young Billy Byrne, of the Tipperary club, played at short with Sons of Ireland last evening. This youngster looks like a comer and shapes up well at the plate.

Geo. McNaughton is under contract with the Napoleons. It seems to us that had McNaughton been sent in last week when Marcotte was getting mauled, he might have stemmed the tide of baselists.

ST. PATS DEFEAT
SONS OF IRELAND

CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONS
WON WELL-PLAYED PRACTICE GAME LAST EVENING.

Manager Emmet McDonald's ambitious Sons of Ireland were again obliged to accept defeat in a practice game with St. Patrick's at the Exhibition Grounds last evening, the score being 5-3 for the champions. "Billy" Frenzell, who is now playing the outfield for Victorias, helped out Manager Steve Newton's bunch by taking up mound duty and the former St. Pat's pitcher surprised even himself by his good stuff, control and steadiness in the pinches. He got away to a bad start when the Sons filled the bases with nobody out, but Kelly's error allowed two counters. After the second inning he was a puzzle to the Sons and they could do nothing with him, though they staged a smart rally in the sixth in a desperate effort to tie the score. He fanned eleven batters.

McNaughton pitched fine ball for the Sons of Ireland. He was given errorless support, the team playing snappy ball behind him. A period of wildness in the fifth inning lost the game. In this inning after two were out, he walked two batters and allowed a hit, filling the corners. Manager Newton then, with two strikes on him, connected for a single past short and Gaskin and Ramsay galloped across with the runs which proved the winners.

Romeo Lepine, the energetic Secretary of the League, umpired the game and survived it.
Billy McLeod's batting and baserunning was a feature. He stretched two singles into doubles by fast footwork. Billy Fields, the old reliable first sacker of St. Pat's, had but one put-out on first during the six innings. And they wanted to take that away from him.

George McNaughton led the hitters off his side with two clean bingles.

Referees in the local league should show the players that they are masters. If the players resent their decisions or walk off the field, they should be told to remain off.

FAMOUS RUNNER WOUNDED IN ACTION.
London, July 17.—Capt. Arnold Jackson, the famous Oxford foot racer, who won the 1,500 meter race at the Olympic in Stockholm, is among the latest athletes to be wounded at the front. His name appears on the casualty list to-day.

Captain Jackson was shot in the thigh in one of the engagements of the "great push" on the Somme. The wound is clean, it is stated, and his chances of recovery are excellent, although it is hardly likely he will ever be able to race again.

Captain Jackson visited the United States about two years ago, taking part in the intervarcity relay. He had acted as special correspondent at the front for the International News service.

THINKS WAR MUST BURN ITSELF OUT

WILL CONSULT MR FORD REGARDING FURTHER WORK FOR PEACE.

New York, July 18.—The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Ake and Miss Emily Balch, American delegates to the neutral conference for continuous mediation, which is the outgrowth of Henry Ford's peace expedition and has been sitting in Stockholm, reached New York today aboard the Danish liner Frederick VIII. on their way to consult with Mr. Ford regarding further work for peace.

"Peace in Europe is not possible before spring," said Dr. Ake on his arrival. "The war must simply burn itself out. France cannot make peace; England is too proud to make peace. Talk of German exhaustion is absurd, for, though there is economy of bread, butter, and meat, there is no starvation, merely inconvenience.

"An Anglo-American alliance is now being hoped for by the intellectuals of Germany. For days last winter we feared a separate peace with Russia on the basis of a Russo-German attack on England through Afghanistan. Austria's collapse alone averted it and saved the world from a fatal blow to liberal thought."

Dr. Ake asserted that he was bitterly opposed to the congress recently announced programme of peace, which he said the British Minister at Stockholm called even more favorable to the Allies than the programme they themselves would have drawn up. He said he would not return to Europe unless Mr. Ford agreed with him in a much greater concentration of authority and a complete change of policy.

SERVED IN FRENCH ARMY

Captain Aug. Bibet, who has been serving in the French army since the beginning of the war, reached Toronto recently to spend perhaps a month of the period he is invalided on account of the wounds he received in action. He was twice in the casualty list. In one case a bullet passed through his chest, but though the injury was for the time disabling and very painful, it did not touch a vital point. His other wounds were in the legs. Before he was completely recovered from the effects of the first injury, which he received in the Vosges, he left the hospital to take part in the fierce fighting in Champagne. He served for a time as an officer in the 44th French Infantry, and then in the 33rd. He had the great distinction of receiving two greatly coveted decorations, that of the Legion of Honor and that of the War Cross with the Palm. These were sent to him by General Joffre when he was in the hospital at Lons le sauniers.

Captain Bibet has many friends in Toronto, where he lived for twelve years before the outbreak of the war, being for the last two years of that period a member of the university staff. He speaks in the warmest terms of the devoted spirit of the French people, of the resolution of the men in the fighting lines, and of the natural certainty of victory, everybody being ready to make whatever sacrifices are required for the defence of their country. To his friend, Mr. Rochereau de la Sabliere, he expressed his regret to find that there are still in Toronto able-bodied Frenchmen of military age who have not answered their country's call.

OUTWITTING A BORE.

Like most celebrities, Lord Rosebery has had to suffer a good deal from the attentions of utter strangers. At one time he was often annoyed by an old lady who called upon him almost daily. Of course, his Lordship always managed to avoid her when he was at home, but one day she happened to see him just as he was about to enter his carriage. "My lord," she called out, "I must see you on a very important matter."

"Very well, madam," said Lord Rosebery, holding open the door of the carriage for her. "I beg of you to get in."

Delighted at the idea of driving with such a famous man, the old lady immediately jumped into the vehicle, but his Lordship gently closed the door on her, and before she could remonstrate, she heard him say to the coachman: "Take this lady wherever she wishes to go, James, and then home."

Looking out of the window the now irate old lady saw her late victim stepping into a cab. After that she did not worry Lord Rosebery again.

When Appetite Fails And Health Declines Follow This Suggestion

REQUIRES ONLY A COUPLE OF SMALL TABLETS AFTER MEALS TO FIX YOU UP AGAIN.

A New Blood-Food Called Ferrozone Sure to Restore you Quickly.

Every day comes the good news of wonderful cures with Ferrozone. In Peterboro it worked marvels for Louis Meehan—put him right on his feet—made him entirely well. "About three years ago," says Mr. Meehan, "I had the Grippe which left me in a very run-down condition that finally developed into Dyspepsia. I was unable to eat but a few things and had a craving for acid. I gave up treating with the doctors because they did not help me and on the advice of a friend used Ferrozone. I not only cured me of Dyspepsia and Biliousness, but has built up my strength to what it was before I had the Grippe. I can recommend Ferrozone as an ideal restorative."

Ferrozone gives you force, energy, vim. It strengthens the stomach, cures indigestion, prevents headaches—guarantees good health. Thousands use Ferrozone—they all feel better; try it yourself—sold in 50c. boxes, six for $2.50 at all dealers or direct from The Cataract-Health Co., Kingston, Ont.

GROUNDING OF THE STEAMER ARACHINE

WRECK COMMISSIONER WILL OPEN INQUIRY HERE TODAY.

Captain L. A. Deners, Dominion Wreck Commissioner arrived in the city yesterday from Ottawa and will today open an inquiry in the local admiralty court into the grounding of the steamer Arachine, which has just returned to Quebec after being ashore some time on Little Mequelon Island.

The vessel is now in the Louise Basin discharging her cargo of grain. About 30,000 bushels are being unloaded onto a Government barge and the remainder, about 160,000 bushels, will go to the elevator.

Mr. Black, Lloyd's representative, in town from New York accompanied by representatives of Messrs. McLean & Kennedy, he made a survey of the damaged steamer on Monday, and it is understood that the bottom of the ship suffered considerably by the grounding.

After the cargo has been discharged the Arachine will go into the Davie Dock for repairs.

The vessel is owned by the firm of Richardson, Sons, Co., Ltd., of West Hartlepool and was chartered by the Messrs. McLean & Kennedy.

The salvage schooner Amphitrite, which escorted the Arachine to port, has left on her return to Sydney.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Dominion Coal Steamer Mackinong passed this port yesterday bound for Montreal.

Steam barge Robert Rhodes with pulp passed up yesterday.

The steamers Rhodesian Transport, Dunedin and Mowbassa passed here yesterday on their way to Montreal.

S.S. Caspacia of the Canada Steamship Lines arrived in port yesterday morning from Picton, N.S., Prince Edward Island and other north shore points, she had on board a large number of passengers and general cargo.

The steamer Gaspesia arrived down from Montreal and later in the day left for Mochila, Paspébiac and other lower shore ports.

Cunard Line steamer Folia, formerly the Princeps from Bristol with seventeen cabin passengers is due in port early this morning.

It is learned from reliable source that the S.S. Southland and S.S. Dominion will be two of the steamers which the White Star-Dominion Steamship Line will put on the Liverpool Quebec and Montreal passenger service which will be resumed shortly.

A short time ago it was announced in the Chronicle, as well as other newspapers, that the steamship Southland had been sunk by a mine in the Mediterranean.

Definite information received this week at the local office of the White Star-Dominion Line, is to the effect that the "Southland" of the White Star Line has not met with any mishap since in the service of the Imperial Government and is shortly to be released. Evidently the vessel sunk which bore the name "Southland" was owned by another company.

Shipping men and many other Quebecers who have sailed on the White Star-Dominion liner "Southland" will TAKES BIG LOAD.

Canada Steamship Lines Steamer Takes 190,720 Bushels of Wheat.

The S.S. W. Grant Morden, of the Canada Steamship Lines, Limited, the biggest bulk carrier on fresh waters, at Port Arthur, has loaded the biggest cargo ever carried on the lakes, and as far as records are available, the largest wheat cargo in the world. The shipment was for Port McNichol and consisted of 190,720 bushels of wheat. This wheat made into flour would produce 32,000,700 loaves. Just what this quantity of foodstuffs could accomplish is shown by figuring the population of Montreal, Outremont, Westmount and Verdun at 720,000 people. It would feed them for approximately 45 days, and it would feed the population of Canada for four and a half days. The acreage required to grow this wheat, estimating the average yield at 17 bushels to the acre, would be 28,800 acres.

MARKET FOR LUMBER IN CUBA.

Cuba imports annually about 600,000,000 feet of lumber. This consists for the most part, of pine, spruce, and fir, and is imported in the form of inch boards, running from 6 to 12 inches in width; planks 2 and 3 inches thick and of various widths, and deals sawn to various dimensions to conform to orders received.

The greater part of this lumber comes from the United States, principally from the Gulf of Mexico ports but Canada supplies a large quantity. A large part of this lumber is brought on schooners, but since the ferry service between Cuba and Key West has been in operation, considerable lumber from Florida and Georgia is shipped to all parts of the island.

The increasing prosperity of the island has largely increased the demand for lumber of all kinds, but lack of vessels has prevented the necessary supply from being obtained, and consequently has curtailed building operations.

The laborers in the cane fields, now that they are getting more pay for their work, are not content to live in houses of palm leaves, but are constructing more comfortable wooden houses. The clerks in the business houses, many of whom have been living in small poorly ventilated rooms in the crowded parts of Havana, are now getting building lots outside the city and constructing houses mostly of wood, where their families can enjoy the fresh air and sunshine. The business men also are building residences in the suburbs, mostly of brick or concrete, but even these require large quantities of lumber for doors, windows, sashings, moldings for concrete, etc. Spruce, pine, fir, hemlock, and cedar would be suitable for all building purposes in Cuba.

Besides this class of lumber, Cuba imports quantities of shingles, thousands of crates for fruit, shooks for packing cases, stave heads and hoops for making barrels, and large quantities of broom handles. Pine, spruce and fir would be suitable for making fruit crates and packing cases. These are imported cut in exact lengths ready to be nailed together and arched in bundles. Birch, maple and ash would be suitable for barrel heads, staves and hoops. These are gathered in bundles, and when up together are used for packing beer. Yellow birch and maple make the best broom handles.

CommercialNEW YORK MARKET.

(Canadian Press.)

New York, July 18.—Market movements today were governed almost entirely by the caprices of professional traders, public or outside interest being altogether negligible. Trading was light throughout, even the first hour's turnover being unusually small.

Speculative sentiment was rather conflicting, the course of prices in their irregular advances and declines indicating faith in investment issues and further aloofness towards those specialties which recently have shown marked weakness.

More important than any development in the market itself was the offering of both time and call loans at lower rates than any day since last week's flurry. Call money was in free supply at 2 1/2 per cent, and the longer maturities were shaded by half of 1 per cent.

Motors, munitions, some coppers and a few high priced specialties were again susceptible to moderate pressure. General Motors made an initial dip of 29 points to 46 1/2, but recovered the greater part of its loss before the close. Willys-Overland was the market leader, but at the expense of additional impairment, making an extreme decline of 2 points to 57 7/8, from which it, too, recovered in large part.

Changes in other parts of the list represented numerous irregular gains and losses. Tobacco shares continued to improve, with the exception of American Snuff, which lost over six points. International Nickel was uncommonly active and heavy at the outset and Tennessee Copper donated more liquidation.

Reading was the only conspicuous railway stock to manifest more than a slight degree of activity. Secondary issues of that group, particularly Denver & Rio Grande preferred and Missouri Pacific were better in connection with the reorganization of those properties. Cotton carriers were unaffected by the floods in the South, although Louisville & Nashville lost a point. Total sales of stocks aggregated 352,000 shares.

Exchange markets were at a standstill, with no material alteration in sterling, francs or marks.

The only feature of the irregular bond market was a decline of six points in Tennessee Copper convertible. Total sales, par value, $2,640,000.

AT THE THEATRES

VAUDEVILLE FOR REST OF THIS WEEK AT THE AUDITORIUM THEATRE

Three of the members of the "Nobody Home" Company having taken sick at the end of last week, it was found impossible to fill the cast to play in Quebec this week and irrespective of the inducements offered by the management of the Auditorium, the company had to cancel its engagement in our city.

The five acts of high class vaudeville now playing at our leading theatre will be on the bill for the rest of the week.

TODAY AND TOMORROW AT THE VICTORIA THEATRE.
MARY MCDONALD IN "SHOES"

There is a lesson in this Photo-Play for every Father and Mother. It should be seen by everyone—the moral is strong.

MADAME PETROVA
AT EMPIRE TODAY.

Beautiful Actress Featured in "Playing With Fire."

Mme. Petrova, the famous Polish emotional and dramatic star, will be seen on the screen here at the Empire Theatre today and tomorrow in "Playing With Fire," a five part Metro wonderplay, produced by the Popular Plays and Players. In this production Mme. Petrova has the role of a cameo cutter, who becomes temporarily blind while making a cameo of the daughter of a wealthy man. He induces her to come to his home until she recovers her eyesight, and while there he falls in love with her. Out of gratitude she marries him.

While visiting artist friends in the city she falls in love with the brother of her dearest girl friend. In a moment of weakness she succumbs to his ardent advances. He soon discovers that he does not care for her, and disheartened she returns to her husband, whom she begins to love for his many sterling qualities. Soon afterward she finds that her stepdaughter is in love with this same man, and that they are planning to marry. When she finds she cannot break off their relations, in desperation she confesses her affair with the man to her step-daughter. The girl turns against her, but promptly forgives her sweetheart.

The man threatens to expose her to her husband unless she leaves off interfering with his marriage to the young girl. She writes to her husband, who is away on a trip, and tells him of the entire affair. In the meantime she learns that the man is luring the girl to his studio on a false pretext, and she follows her.
Her husband, who has received her letter, returns and sees her enter the studio. Indignant, he enters after her only to find that she has rescued his daughter from the desperate attack of her false suitor, and that in the struggle the man has been killed by his own pistol. The trio are happily re-united.

This is a brief sketch of the story, but there are many other interesting situations that make the production one of unusual quality.

Patrons are urged to attend the matinees to avoid the crush of the evening.

Alkali in Soap
Bad For The Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali.
This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulified coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

LAST TIME TO-DAY.

A Beautiful Story of Love and Adventure.

To-day will be the last opportunity to see the popular screen artist, Florence Reed, at the Olympia Theatre in "The Dancing Girl."

The staging and acting of this beautiful story of love and adventure is ideal in every respect. "The Dancing Girl" is one of the most interest-

"A WIFE'S SACRIFICE."

SPUR OF ONE OF CORTEZ'S MEN BROUGHT NORTH.

Owner Will Return to Mexican Museum When Peace is Declared.

Kansas City, Mo., July 18.—Kansas City turned back to the days of the Spanish inquisition recently as it looked upon a spur of the time of Cortez. Battered by the decadence of years, the ancient relic was being displayed in an office window. It has withstood the years since the fourteenth century. Mexican history refers to it as the first spur made in that century.

The relic was brought from Mexico by Jack Kaufman von Tarn-heim, First Captain of artillery of the Mexican army, and was purchased by Jack Danciger, former Mexican Consul, May 23, 1915. Capt. von Tarnheim bought it from looters who took it from the museum of the Governor's palace at Monterey, Mex., after the city was captured, April 26, 1914, by Carranza forces commanded by Gen. Pablo Gonzales, Antonio Villareal and Cesario Castro. The looters were attached to Col. May-cott's command.

The spur, it is claimed, was worn by one of the followers of Hernando Cortez during his conquest of Mexico.

The ancient bit of iron and steel is mute testimony of why horses died young in the service of the Spaniards and of the people of that early time. All over the spur is filigree and carving. It is made to be fitted to a boot by small chains and bolts and has a prong of more than five inches that connects with the hub of the wheel.

The prongs of the rowel, once very keen, are 3 1/2 inches in length. The wheel is set upon an axle which allows it free play. The spur weighs 18 ounces. About one-third of the metal has disintegrated with time.
Danciger says he will return it to the museum from which it was stolen when peace ultimately is established in Mexico.

TO GET FRENCH ISLANDS.

The possibility of the acquisition of the French colony of St. Pierre by Newfoundland is being discussed in official circles as a result of conditions arising from the European conflict.

The idea was suggested by the recent negotiations which led to the relaxation for the term of the war of the so-called bait by the Newfoundland Government in view of the shortage of fish in France. The bait act was put in force in 1886, and prohibited the selling of herring to the French fishermen whose headquarters were at St. Pierre.

With the advent of the war France withdrew the last of her fishermen from this side of the Atlantic, re-

MRS. CHAMBERLAIN TO WED;
ALSO LADY IRENE CURZON.

London, July 17.—One of the last persons in London society who would have been suspected of yielding to the matrimonial craze was Mrs. Jos.
Chamberlain, the widow of the famous British statesman and the daughter of the late William C. Endicott, Secretary of War in Governor Cleveland's Cabinet. She was a most devoted wife to Chamberlain, and his many years as an invalid found her seldom absent from his side, whether he made his way along the paths of his garden leaning upon her arm or was rolled about in an invalid chair.

In marrying the Rev. William Hartley Carnegie, Canon of Westminster, Rector of St. Margaret's and the new Chaplain to the House of Commons, Mrs. Chamberlain is accepting an old friend of her Birmingham days, as Mr. Carnegie was formerly rector of the Cathedral Church of St. Philip at Birmingham. He is different in almost all of his personal characteristics from Mr. Chamberlain. Mr.
Carnegie is a witty and charming Irishman, fond of out-of-door sports, deeply religious, but far from sanctimonious, very much addicted to social gaiety and immeasurably proud of his five pretty young lady daughters.
He has been a widower for fifteen years, his first wife having been the daughter of Sir Thomas Crawley Bovey. He lives in that enviable neighborhood of Dean's Yard, under the shadow of Westminster Abbey.

Mrs. Chamberlain is one of the few American women who have made brilliant marriages abroad without taking a big dowry to the husband.
Joseph Chamberlain was rich and she was comparatively poor. Yet she succeeded by her charm and tact in making a better position for her husband in English society than he had occupied before. She was his third wife, and is about the same age as her stepson, Mr. Austen Chamberlain.

The marriage of Lord Curzon's eldest daughter, Lady Irene Curzon, to Mr. Guy Benson, the heir to the head of the banking firm of Robert Benson & Co., will be a love match, and the engagement has astonished a great many people, who took it for granted that Lord Curzon would insist upon his daughter marrying a man connected with one of the great houses of the peerage. Lady Irene will, however, inherit her father's barony and become Baroness Ravensdale after his death, in case he does not marry again himself and have a son to assume all of his titles—Earl Curzon, Viscount Scarsdale and Baron Ravensdale. Only the last can descend through the female line. Lord Curzon, in marrying the former Mary Leiter, of Chicago, made a romantic marriage, in spite of the bride possessing an enormous fortune. The two were deeply in love, and when separated by the Atlantic Ocean during the engagement—Curzon being compelled to leave America and return to London—they exchanged cablegrams of greeting every day.
Lady Irene is very like her mother in appearance, being tall and graceful, and she is credited with having a good deal of her father's strength of character.

Of the 20 clerks in the C. P. R. offices at Calgary, 16 enlisted when the war broke out. Some of them have got promotion; some have been wounded; but the spirit they displayed has been noticed in the western press. Indeed, the railway men of the country have done nobly in responding to the call. In England over 200,000 railway men are at the front in Canada, possibly 6,000 in all have gone forward—a splendid record considering our railways and general population. The result of such dependence is found in the greater number of female clerks employed in the Dominion. We do not see, as they see without surprise in the Mother Land, thousands of women doing the outside work on the railways—dressed in overalls, many of them, cleaning engines, cleaning stations, acting as porters and wheeling barrows, acting as ticket agents and telegraph operators. We will hardly come to that, but the value of women in the clerical domain has gone up very appreciably indeed. It is urged in England that the women wear men's attire for greater convenience in many of the vocations they pursue. Many have not waited for the discussion in the press and the matter, but have voluntarily parted with external femininity. The situation is not so acute with us, but the call, in all clerical departments is for female clerks.

sulting in a critical shortage of fish at home. Representations were made to the Newfoundland Government and in view of the circumstances it was decided to allow buyers from St. Pierre to purchase Newfoundland herring on the condition that the fish should not be used for bait, but should be devoted solely to food purposes.

Within the next few months thousands of barrels of herring, it is expected, will be shipped to St. Pierre.
This concession, it is believed in some circles, will pave the way to a readjustment of the whole fisheries question after the war, and possibly to negotiations towards the taking over of St. Pierre by Newfoundland.
