JOHNVILLE.

The concert on the 27th inst. proved very successful, the attendance being the largest yet on record. The church was so crowded a number could not gain admittance.

The various numbers on the programme were given attentive hearing and from start to finish all went well. The soloists were Misses Warner, Thompson, Worby, Mrs. R. A. Smith, Mrs. S. B. Somers and Messrs. Walker, Jackson and Simons. The chorus work was difficult but showed careful training and reflected much credit on the conductor, Mr. W. C. Smith. The valuable assistance rendered by the Sawyerville choir under the leadership of Mr. Rote t. Cairns was much appreciated. We believe the Johnville singers are to return the compliment and that the concert is to be repeated at Sawyerville on September 10th.

Mr. A. G. Jackson, North Hatley, contributed two numbers to the programme, which called forth hearty applause. Excellent recitations were interspersed with the music, Mrs. W. A. B. z. r. giving a humorous selection, Miss Duncan one full of patriotic fire, and Miss E. L. Swail two selections one pathetic one and one humorous. The piano playing of Mesdames Boshart and Somers, and Misses Terry and Fish was thoroughly enjoyed. Altogether the concert of 1902 was an event not soon to be forgotten.

Mr. W. L. Fish is suffering much pain and in convenience from a sprained arm the result of a fall some weeks ago.

Miss McCurdy has commenced the fall term of school at Wheeler school house.

A pleasant party was given by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. C. Oakes last Friday night.

Got Lame Back or Lumbago?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nerviline, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nerviline this power. You will think it magic however if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere, in large 25c. bottles.

WATERVILLE.

R. v. Dr. Hill, principal of the Congregational college, Montreal, will occupy the pulpit in the Congregational church next Sunday 7th, at the morning and evening service. Big crowds attend the Exhibition at Sherbrooke every day from this village.

Mr. Gales Factory has shut down for a few days to allow the help to attend the Fair, also to have a new modern and up to date water wheel put in place. He is also putting in new shafting and new floor and everything of the best and most modern design. Mr. Gale informs us that he turns out about 1400 complete beds per week and employs about 150 hands.

Our model school opens next Monday 8th, with a staff of three teachers. A new Kelson coal furnace is being put into the school building and other improvements.

At the regular monthly session of the Municipal Council held last Tuesday evening, the Council granted Mr. Gales factory exemption from municipal taxes for a term of ten years. This Mr. Gale preferred to a loan of $10,000 which the Council had promised him at the time of the fire of last January when his factory was destroyed. It was shown by the new valuation roll that the value of the real estate in the municipality amounted to $170,000, or over an increase of between seven eight thousand over last year.

Among the visitors here from a distance we notice Mr. Arthur and Mr. Alphonso Sangevin, of Montreal. The Misses Dallas, Flora, and Blanch Goulay and Mr. Fred Goulay all of Coaticook, also Miss A. Demerse of Chambly and Miss Melina Lamaurens of St. Cassaire. All are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ovilla Sangevin.

THE CRIME OF THE BOULEVARD BY JULES CLARETIE

(Continued) Bernardet, spruce, freshly shaven, was there and seemed in his well brushed redingote like a little abbe come to assist at some curious ceremony.

"But, after all," thought the magistrate, "Buenos Ayres is one of the markets for English goods."

M. Ginery, who had uttered this word "Mazas," noticed the expression of terror which flashed across and suddenly transfigured the young man's face.

"You deceive yourself," said Bernardet, who was studying each gesture which the man made, was convinced that the murderer of Rovere was there.

Mme. Colard's testimony no longer permitted M. Ginery to doubt. This Charles Prades was certainly the man who sold the portrait.

A GRATEFUL TRIBUTE From a Man Who Looked Upon His Case as Hopeless. Doctors Diagnosed His Case as Catarrh of the Stomach, but Failed to Help Him—Many Remedies Were Tried Before a Cure was Found.

From the Bulletin, Bridge-water, N. S. We suppose there is not a corner in this wide Dominion in which will not be found people who have been restored to health and strength through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Then Prades, stupefied till now, not seeming to realize half that was passing around him, gave a sudden, violent start. A cry burst from him.

Reflection, the prison—the cell, without doubt—a frightful and stifling cell—had done its work. The man who had been excited to the point of not speaking now wished to tell all.

"Twas Ever Thus. And there came into the sage for counsel an anxious mother leading a small boy.

Russia's industries are in bad shape and many failures are reported.

Then Prades, stupefied till now, not seeming to realize half that was passing around him, gave a sudden, violent start. A cry burst from him.

While they were pushing Prades toward the corridor he shouted, "Canailles!" M. Ginery ordered that Dantin should be left alone with him.

With a violent effort the prisoner began: "So be it. But it is to a man of honor rather than to a magistrate to whom I address these words.

CHAPTER XV. And now, after having accused Dantin of lying, believing that he was acting a comedy, after smiling disdainfully at that common invention—a vow which one could not break—the perception of a possibility entered the magistrate's mind that this man might be sincere.

Reflection, the prison—the cell, without doubt—a frightful and stifling cell—had done its work. The man who had been excited to the point of not speaking now wished to tell all.

"I am listening to you," said the magistrate. Then in a long, close conference Jacques Dantin told M. Ginery his story.

This Rovere, whom he was accused of killing, he loved, and to tell the truth, in that strange and troublous existence which he had lived Rovere had been the only true friend whom he had known.

stupid fellow, whom the young people look at with hate and say to each other, "Why is he still here?" Rovere more and more felt the need of withdrawing into solitude, thinking over his adventurous life, as bad and as ruined as mine, and he wished to see no one—a wolf, a wild bear in his lair.

After all, there are others who do not feel any gayer with a smile on the lips, sadness is no sign. Neither is gaiety.

"I will pass over all the details of our life, shall I not? My monologue would be too long. The years of youth passed with a rapidly truly astonishing speed.

Taking The Opera Home

A POPULAR light opera, like San Toy, with its catchy music, pretty girls and droll comedians, leaves many a pleasant memory—but also a strong desire to reproduce in your own home the tuneful melodies which have delighted you.

As you take your way homeward you think of your piano and wish that you had the ability to play upon it the SIX LITTLE WIVES and the other pleasing numbers to which you have just listened. You perhaps wonder why it is that some genius has not invented a means whereby one can play the piano without the ability to read notes and without experiencing the tedium of finger exercises. This is one of the times when, answering your thoughts, we say, we have produced such a device, THE ANGELUS.

If you have an ANGELUS you can play the Piano

It is the instrument which places the power of musical execution and expression in the hands of every one having access to a Piano.

By its aid you not only can play the music from San Toy, Florodora or any opera to which you delight to listen, but it will enable you to play any piece whatsoever, be it classical, popular or sacred.

THE ANGELUS reads the notes and its little fingers strikes the proper keys of the piano,—but you—you the performer—give the time, the touch and the expression, just as an artistic musician does when playing by the old method (with the hands).

We shall be pleased to show you an ANGELUS and explain the working of the instrument any time you will favor us with a call.

We sell D & A Corsets because we believe them the best. If you examine one, you too will be struck by its general excellence and believe with us that it is the best.

The desperado then went through Mr. Buchanan's pockets, taking his watch and about $80 in money. Buchanan remained unconscious for about half an hour after the shooting, and on coming to his senses gave the alarm and went to a doctor to have his wound dressed. YOUR HELP NEEDED.

An Appeal for Funds to Furnish the New Free Consumptive Hospital at Gravenhurst—Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Mr. W. J. Gage, and Other Trustees in Receipt of Many Calls for Admission from all Parts of Canada—Beyond Doubt the Most Pressing of All Charities.

The statement of Dr. John Ferguson, one of Toronto's well-known physicians, that "if consumption patients were properly isolated and treated, within ten years from now tuberculosis would be one of the rarest of known diseases," is full of moment to the people of every community in Canada.

The letters received by the Association are of the most heart-rending kind. One mother tells how she mortgaged her furniture for one hundred dollars to place her daughter, sick of consumption, under treatment in the Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium, and in so doing saved her life.

My Darling Uncle:— I can not thank you half enough for your beautiful chair. It was awfully like you, so soft and easy. Every time I sit in it—Charley and I—we think of you. You must come around soon and sit in it yourself.

Your loving niece, Clara. P.S.—Charley and I had a perfectly lovely trip. It didn't rain a day while we were away.

That, dear girl, is the idea in crude shape. Your feminine tact can doubtless improve the quality of expression. The principle, however, will soon become apparent to you.

What do you think of this? I was up to see him this afternoon. He is lying in bed and very weak. I feel the Sanatorium is the place for him and that he is not too far gone. Ere this he would have entered the Sanatorium but for the question of means.

What to do to help stamp out this disease is being practically answered by the National Sanitarium Association, who four years ago built the Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium, thanks to the generosity of Mr. W. J. Gage and the Executors of the late Hart A. Massey, and who have now just completed a magnificent building to be known as the Free Consumptive Hospital, again the gift of Mr. W. J. Gage and the Massey Estate.

What this method of treatment means is shown in the fact that in four years 510 patients have been treated, and of these over 300 have been cured or so helped that they have gone back to work, caring for wife or children or those otherwise dependent upon them.

The new Free Consumptive Hospital is situated in Muskoka, not far from the Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium, so that the same benefits that have been given to patients of the Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium, by virtue of its excellent situation, should go also to the poorer patients, whose only hope is in being received where neither money nor price is necessary.

Absolutely free, to all intents and purposes, are the words written above the door of the Free Consumptive Hospital, and all that is wanting now is that sufficient money be contributed to furnish the hospital with beds and in other ways to properly equip it.

Contributions will be received by Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Chief Justice, Vice-President National Sanitarium Association, Toronto; W. J. Gage, Esq., Chairman Ex. Com., Toronto; or the National Trust Co., Limited, Treasurer, 22 King Street East, Toronto.

Some Hints For the Bride to Be.

NOW that the season of summer weddings is over, brides all over the country have leisure in which to contemplate those many contemplations are those which pertain to the acknowledgment of wedding gifts.

Although at the outset it appears difficult the job of acknowledging wedding gifts is really one of the simplest known. It does not require even ingenuity or originality, all that is indispensable being a box of note-paper, a pen and a bottle of ink.

My Darling Uncle:— I can not thank you half enough for your beautiful chair. It was awfully like you, so soft and easy. Every time I sit in it—Charley and I—we think of you.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength. Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

Probably the most amusing incident of the siege of Pekin, says Henry Six, when the Dowager-Empress sent a hundred melons, some cucumbers and egg-plants as a present to the Chinese soldiers at the barricades.

MILBURN'S STERLING HEADACHE POWDERS are easy to take, harmless in action and sure to give relief in from 5 to 20 minutes.

A Defect of Reformers. THE newspaper despatch from Topeka, Kansas, about Mrs. Charles M. Sheldon's hired girl has been very popular.

TO Great a Risk. "I'm going to give up the business," said a life insurance agent with a sigh, whom the Detroit "Free Press" encountered.

Good Hearts and Bad Manners. An exchange tells about a judge more noted for his bad manners than his knowledge of law.

His Able Proxy. "My wife makes me stand round—I can't deny that." "Doesn't it humiliate you?" "No; our baby is the living image of me—and he makes her stand round."—Chicago "Record-Herald."

Curious Bits of News.

A minister in a Kansas town recently adopted a novel scheme for bolstering up the church collection, which had been diminishing.

The "Fake" Element in Success. It is well enough to prate about the benefits of absolute truth and sincerity, but there is no successful merit without a little "faking" to set it off.

LENNOXVILLE.

On Friday afternoon, August 29th, a number of relatives and friends from Lennoxville and Sherbrooke gathered at the home of David McCurdy, Esq., the occasion being the eightieth birthday of that veteran. Mr. McCurdy is an old and highly respected citizen of Ascot. He has been a hard working and industrious man but thanks to his temperate and enjoying a tolerable degree of health. He has been for long and is yet an active member and office bearer of the Methodist Church holding the position of steward and trustee. He was also, on past years, active in the municipal affairs of Ascot. In all he has proved himself to be a man of blameless character and unimpaired name. During the afternoon the Rev. R. Smith read a brief complimentary address to Mr. McCurdy and on behalf of the friends present, presented him with an easy chair. The reply of Mr. McCurdy, in which he expressed his complete surprise and thanks, was brief but full of the deep emotion of an honest heart. After partaking of tea the company dispersed wishing Mr. McCurdy many happy returns and praying that the remaining portion of his life may be very peaceful and blessed.

The Lennoxville Academy opened Tuesday with Mr. Leet as principal and Misses Shaw, Davis and Smith as assistants.

MILAN.

We have had most beautiful weather this past week. The R. T. of T. is to have their annual excursion to Megantic Monday day. A very pleasant trip is anticipated weather permitting. The council is in a flourishing condition one member was initiated last Friday. Quite a number of our young people left this week; also a number who attended the Sherbrooke Fair. The Y.P.S.C.E. of Milan, had a social on Sept. 1st. Cakes and coffee were served in the Milan town hall at 7.30.

MARTINVILLE.

Mr. J. J. Parker, of Derby Line, is spending his vacation here. Mr. Parker's boyhood days were spent in our village and although a successful artist he does not forget old friends.

Mr. Ernest Haines, of Springfield, Mass., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Haines. Misses Myrtle and Cora Bean, of Springfield, Mass., are the guests of Misses Nora and Effie Hitchcock.

Mrs. G. B. Cleveland, of Johnville, and Mrs. S. J. Craig of Compton, were here last week organizing a Loyal Temperance Legion.

The people of Martinville were surprised and saddened to hear of the death of Mr. Walter Wilson, of Coaticook, a former resident of this place. Genial and friendly and a lover of music, both he and Mrs. Wilson, their home was a favorite resort for the young people. Full of health and energy when he left us, I cannot believe he has passed away.

The Unhappy Burden-Bearer Must Make Choice.

Paine's Celery Compound

Takes Away the Load of Disease and Leads to New Life, Health and Happiness.

The unhappy victim of disease who has just dragged through the summer, and who is now racked with suffering and almost a physical wreck, must make immediate choice of two paths. One leads to increased misery and certain death, the other to new life, health and happiness.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound is a necessity for all who seek the path of health and long years. Victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, liver trouble, dyspepsia, nervousness and blood diseases, quickly and surely find new life, vigor and strength in Dr. Paine's medical prescription—Paine's Celery Compound. It builds up the system, purifies the blood, braces the nerves and regulates digestion as no other medicine can do. Mrs. Chas. Guenette, Chambois, P.Q., wonderfully cured by Paine's Celery Compound writes as follows:—

"I can honestly say that I would not be living today if it had not been for your wonderful medicine. For a long time I suffered terribly from nervousness, sleeplessness, head and stomach troubles, and never received much benefit from ordinary medical treatment. I heard of your Paine's Celery Compound, and I have good reason to thank God that I used it. I can now eat well and sleep soundly, and my nervousness is a thing of the past. I now feel perfectly rested after a night's sleep, which was never the case before using the Compound. My neighbors are surprised at the good cure made by your medicine, and some are using it now. I thank you sincerely for the honest results given by Paine's Celery Compound."

MONEY NO OBJECT

When People are seeking Health or relief from any disease the price never counts.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption. Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhose, which treats the local symptoms very effectively by means of medicated air supplied through a convenient rubber tube. The poison in the blood is driven off by Ferrone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and pure, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every form. The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well-known Canadians furnish abundant proof that Catarrhose accomplishes in stubborn cases. Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge, says:—

"For years my daughter doctor'd unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, lawking nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhose benefited and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhose as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all that is required to prove the merit of Catarrhose is a trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhose cures lots of cases worse than yours and can be had everywhere.

London's Pot-Boilers.

There are men in London to-day, says an English paper, who, in preference to starving, are glad enough to turn out oil paintings at the ridiculous remuneration of fourpence each, for which work they find a steady demand. The work, of course, has to be executed with extreme dexterity, or the artist would realize but a poor living, but some smart men, aided by one or two deft assistants, can complete from 200 to 300 of these "pictures" in a week, though they have to toil early and late to accomplish their arduous task.

When a big order comes in for a gross of oil paintings, to be finished within a specified period for a wholesale firm, the method of work is usually as follows: Along the walls of the apartment where in the artists work are stretched so many yards of canvas, which is marked into lengths, according to the size of the pictures ordered. Then the work is equally divided among the artists and his colleagues, each man being responsible for one part of every picture. One will paint the trees, another the sky, a third will put in a bit of sea or lake, and a fourth will add a few figures to impart animation to the scene. Each man selects the particular line in which he can do his best and quickest work, and all labor with a strict eye to time and business.

In one studio devoted to the fourpenny oil paintings, there are half a dozen girls who work eighty hours a week, and these earn only from twelve to fifteen shillings each. They work for a big wholesale house on the Continent, and their specialty is the showy little landscapes or marine paintings so familiar to those who patronize the itinerant auctioneer or the cheap house furnisher. Incredible though it may seem, there are some sweating firms who expect the artist to finish his best work in canvas and colors, and then to turn out oil paintings at fourpence apiece! But the better class dealers provide the materials or make an allowance for the extra cost.

Measuring Sleep.

Few phenomena in human experience are at the same time so common and so mysterious as sleep. For hours at a time the physical senses and mental faculties remain inactive, and then they abruptly acquire their wonted keenness. It has long been known that age, sex, occupation, state of health and other influences affect the period during which this suspension of consciousness lasts, and also the soundness of one's sleep. There is reason to think, too, that the latter is variable through the night with every individual, even though his slumber may remain practically unbroken. This phase of the subject, however, has not been studied much until recently. Hence few people realize how greatly the depth of sleep fluctuates.

In order to get some light on the question, two investigators in the University of Bonn, Dr. Sauer de Sanctis and D. U. Neyroz, conducted a series of experiments which extended through six months. Nine different persons, four of whom were thoroughly healthy and five of whom had diseased nervous systems, were the subjects of these tests. The general plan of procedure was to wait until after they had fallen asleep and then employ uniform means to awaken them. For this purpose an instrument was used called an esthesionator. It was made up of a blunt point that might be pressed against the skin, a spiral spring and a carefully graduated scale which showed the degrees of pressure used. The point was applied gently to the sleeper's left temple, and pressed until he awoke, then the scale was examined and notes were made of the hour and minute and of the scale reading. The same person was not awakened more than once or twice a night, but the experiments were so timed that in the course of a few months they covered the whole eight-hour period during which sleep lasted, at intervals of ten or fifteen minutes. The data, having been tabulated, show that the soundest sleep in the four healthy subjects occurred between an hour and a quarter and an hour and a half after dropping off. Unconsciousness was rapid to the final awakening. During that period, and then in the next quarter or half hour diminished greatly. Thereafter surprising oscillations were detected. On the average, though, the stages of lightest sleep occurred about four and a half and again five and a half hours after the beginning. A short, low, secondary maximum of intensity followed in the next hour and a half or two hours. From this point the decline was rapid to the final awakening.

In epileptics and paralytics very much the same state of things was observed, except that they slept more profoundly than the healthy subjects, and in one person the unconsciousness at the end of fifteen minutes was almost as marked as at an hour and a half.

I suffered greatly for several days and the tooth cuts refused to heal, until your agent gave me a bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT, which I began using, and the effect was magical. In four hours the pain had ceased, and in two weeks the wounds had completely healed and my hand and arm were as well as ever.

STORNOWAY.

Having begun to be a thing of the past in this municipality and a good crop is reported. It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Mrs. Malcolm McLean on August 27th after a short but painful illness, beloved and respected by all who knew her for her kind and generous disposition. The funeral took place on Friday 29th, attended by a great many sorrowing relatives and friends. The bereaved family have our deepest sympathy. Cattle buyers were in this vicinity lately looking for fat cattle. It is announced that the annual Tea Meeting of the Presbyterian Church will be held at Winslow on September 11th. Scarlet fever has made its appearance in our midst in three or four families, and while some were promptly quarantined the remainder of them thanks to the vigilance of our board of health, were allowed to run about at will. The fine warm weather of the past few days is helping the grain a good deal and farmers are looking forward to a fair crop.

SAFETY FROM LIGHTNING.

Discussing this subject in the London "Daily Mail" a writer arrived at the following conclusion: "If out of doors, keep away from trees, haystacks, houses, large sheets of water, river banks, etc. If in the open plain, where there are no trees or buildings, you are safer lying down than standing up. If near a wood, stay there, and do not go nearer. If in the middle of a room, you are pretty safe thirty yards away. Indeed, you are safest of all if you adopt Franklin's plan. Find the geometrical center of the room. Hang up a hammock by silken cords, get in, and stay there. Pulling a hammock, sit on one chair in the middle of the room with your feet on another, first placing beneath them a feather bed or hair mattress. But do not sit under the gas chandelier. Whether out of doors or indoors keep away from the chimney, or from metallic masses of any kind. And possess your soul in patience."

Anecdotal.

A sanctimonious bore, whose hobby was anti-Catholicism, went to the great evangelist one day and put the direct question: "Mr. Moody, do you ever intend to do any preaching against the Catholics?" "Yes, I may some time," "When will that be?" "After all the Protestants are converted."

An enthusiastic citizen of the great city of Illinois was one day showing a visitor the wonders of the lake front. "A few years ago," said he, "the lake extended inland far beyond where we are standing. I tell you there isn't a town in the world that's making history as fast as Chicago is!" "It looks to me more like making geography," replied the unemotional stranger.

Augustus Hare tells this story in his autobiography of a friend, who, in some ways, was one of the most absent-minded men in the world. One day, meeting a friend, he said: "Hello, what a long time it is since I've seen you! How's your father?" "Oh, my father's dead." "God bless me! I'm very sorry. The next year he died of the same man again, and had forgotten all about it, so began with: 'Hello! what a long time I've seen you! How's your father?'" "Oh, my father's dead still."

A sailor having gained the affections of his daughter, Professor Wilson, waited upon "papa" and stated his case of which the professor had a previous inkling. The young gentleman was directed to desire the lady to come to her father, and, doubtless, her obedience was prompt. Professor Wilson had before him in review some work, on the flyleaf of which was duly inscribed: "With the author's compliments." He tore this out, pinned it to his daughter's dress, solemnly led her to the young lover, and went back to his work.

A traveler in England rested at noon at a wayside inn, and took luncheon. The landlord was a social person, and, chatted with his guest. "By the way," the latter said, after a while, "what is your name?" "My name," replied the landlord, "is Partridge." "Ah," returned the traveler, with a humorous twinkle in his eye, "the length of your bill I should have thought it was 'Woodcock!'" This story, as it appears in a recent book by a distinguished English diplomat, is credited with having amused Napoleon.

A clergyman, who was totally ignorant of any knowledge of seamanship, once preached to a congregation of sailors. Thinking to impress the truth more distinctly upon his hearers, he turned the figure of a ship trying to enter a harbor against a head wind. Unfortunately for the success of his metaphor, his ignorance of seamanship placed the ship in several singular positions. "What shall we do next?" he cried. "Come down on the beach," cried an old tar, in disgust, "an' lemme take command, or ye'll 'ave us all on the rocks in another art a second!"

The wife of a little country church sexton had died rather suddenly, and the vicar went to console with the bereaved husband. "I tell me how it happened," said the vicar. "Well, sir, she was bad, and I went off for the doctor four miles away, and when I got there he was gone off somewhere else; I turned back, and in coming home remembered I had a bottle of medicine which he gave me last year, so says I, 'That will do for the missus,' so she 'akes it and dies.' Then lightning up to the church steeple added: 'Wasn't that a good job I didn't take it myself?'"

Cardinal Pedro Gonzalez, who was a pious man and believed in the gospel of peace, once noticed that a priest in his train carried a weapon under his cloak. Whereupon the cardinal reproved him, saying that a cleric should not carry arms. "True," answered the priest, humbly, "but I carry the weapon only to defend myself should I be attacked by a dog." "In that case," said the cardinal, "if I saw a dog running toward me, I should begin to recite the Gospel of John." "That," returned the priest, "would be a wise thing indeed, but may it not be that there are some dogs that do not understand Latin?"

Hon. Joseph H. Choate is as celebrated as a post-prandial orator as he is as a lawyer. At one of the dinners of the New England Society of New York, he once proposed the following toast: "Woman, the better half of the Yankee world—at whose tender summons even the stern Pilgrims were ever ready to spring to arms, and without whose aid they never could have achieved the historic title of the Pilgrim Fathers. The Pilgrim Mothers were more devoted martyrs than were the Pilgrim Fathers, because they not only had to bear the same hardships that the Pilgrim Fathers stood, but they had to bear with the Pilgrim Fathers besides."

Pope Paul IV. was so shocked at Michael Angelo's undressed figures in his famous "Last Judgment" that he ordered Daniele da Volterra to clothe them; and he, in consequence, received the nickname of "Il Braghettone" (the breeches-maker). Michael Angelo, with his usual wit, punished Messer Biagio dei Cesari, master of the ceremonies (who first suggested to the Pope the impropriety of nude figures), by painting him in hell, with ass's ears, as implied the Pope to insist upon the removal of the caricature, whereupon Paul IV. replied: "I might have released you from purgatory, but over hell I have no power!"

Miss A. 'One of my friends suggested that I try Peruna. It certainly acted like magic on my system. 'Within ten days I felt new life and health given me; and by taking an occasional dose off and on when I feel extra tired, I keep my system in perfect order.'—MISS A. BRADY.

Mrs. Fanny Klavatscher, of Summitville, N. Y., writes as follows: "For three months I suffered with pain in the back and in the region of the kidneys, and a dull pressing sensation in the abdomen, and other symptoms of pelvic catarrh. 'But after taking two bottles of Peruna I am entirely well, better than I ever was.'—Mrs. Fanny Klavatscher.
