Several Families Ask Aid

By NICK POWELL
(Record Staff Reporter)
Several sections of Sherbrooke's East Ward were under water last night as the St. Francis River edged two feet above its flood level. Basements in many river-side buildings were flooded. By this morning the river level had dropped to 20 feet — still one foot above flood level.

Residents of Windsor st. and several families living on the Brompton Road had to seek assistance from the Sherbrooke Police and fire departments to get to and from their homes.

A small boat was pressed into service on St. Francis Boulevard and on Windsor St.

One fire department spokesman told of a Windsor st. resident who phoned shortly before 9.00 a.m. asking firemen to come and rescue her in about one hour's time. She had to wait, she said, to pack a few things.

Other families on Bowen Avenue were startled at about 1:00 a.m. this morning by the sound of some 15 or more buses from the Larabee Lines parking along the street. The garages at the foot of Big Forks Street were in serious danger of flooding.

In Bromptonville, the water continued to rise but presents no danger for the time being.

In Lennoxville, farms at the south end of the town and several fields on the east side of the St. Francis were flooded, but they do not represent any serious threat.

At Bishop's University, the Cookshire road acted as a dyke and turned the football field into a small lake, while on the sloping front lawn facing McCreer Hall, waters of the Massawippi crept almost one third the way to the front door last night.

Nine Die In Crash Of Cargo Plane

Suitors Grapple To Win Queen

SAIGON (Reuters)—Huynh Thi Mai, 20-year-old Vietnamese beauty queen, put her two suitors through a wrestling match to decide who was better suited to win her heart. Miss Mai was dipping into Vietnamese legend to help decide her matrimonial problems. Twenty centuries ago, legend has it, the spirit of the mountain wrestled the spirit of the sea for the hand of the prettiest daughter of King Hung Vuong of Vietnam.

The 1960 match was a draw — and Miss Mai still does not know whom she is going to marry.

Plummets Into Nfld. Marshland

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld. (CP)—A United States Air Force C-124 cargo plane plummeted into boggy marshland near here Monday shortly after take-off, killing its nine crew members. The four-engine transport plane, attached to the military air transport division of the USAF, crashed and burned at 1:20 p.m. EST, minutes after leaving nearby USAF Ernest Harmon base.

The plane, bound from Dover air base in Delaware to Mildenhall, England, took off in overcast weather. Some fog was reported in the area and visibility was limited. Names of the victims were: First Lieut. Donald P. Sheehan, 26, the pilot, of Lansdowne, Pa.; Second Lieut. Robert E. Little, 23, first co-pilot, Monroe, La.; Capt. Gerald E. Avery, 41, second pilot, Dover, Del., and Modesto, Calif.; First Lieut. Harold G. Harrison, 31, navigator, MeCloud, Okla.; First Lieut. Leon E. Pedersen, 26, navigator, McIntosh, Fla.; Sgt. Ben A. Sharpe, 35, engineer, Burlington, N.C.; Sgt. Clark N. Orndorff, 34, engineer, Littleton, Pa.; Sgt. Edward T. Retus, 38, engineer, Bentleysville, Pa.; and Airman Wallace M. Williams, 22, loadmaster, Louisville, Ky.

Rescue helicopters reached the crash scene a half-hour after the crash. Other rescue workers, including firemen, could not reach the scene because of the rough terrain. Air force officials at Harmon said they knew something was wrong when they suddenly lost contact with the plane on the radar screen. The plane made no radio contact with the nearby base before crashing. Cause of the accident was not known. An inquiry was scheduled to open today. Security police stood by the crash scene during the night. Military air transport's accident ratio is 2.3 accidents for 100,000 flying hours. It was the first plane accident reported in this area in more than five years.

S.A. Strikers Back At Work

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—The one-week strike called by the outlawed African National Congress to protest the white government's strict racial laws failed to achieve its aim today. Police in all major cities of South Africa reported that Negroes showed up in normal numbers and without hindrance by alleged intimidators. No major violence was reported. The only police action announced at noon was a raid on a Negro settlement near the Indian ocean city of Port Elizabeth, where police rounded up "undesirables," questioned 200 Negroes and detained many of them.

Protest Arrival Of Chou

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—Anti-Communist demonstrators clashed with police here today as Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai arrived to discuss the India-China border dispute with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. Police arrested about 100 members of the right-wing Hindu Mahasabha Party when the members tried to break through cordons guarding the Chinese visitor. The demonstrators tried to stage a march to the presidential residence, where Chou is staying, to protest his presence in India.

Chou arrived by plane from Rangoon for talks with Nehru on 51,000 square miles of disputed territory along the Indian-Tibetan border, but an agreement appears unlikely to result from the talks. Nehru headed only a handful of cabinet members and other officials to greet Chou at the airport. Security guards were posted all along the route from the airport to the city, but there were virtually no spectators. President Rajendra Prasad boycotted the arrival ceremony. Chou not being the chief of the Chinese state, protocol did not require Prasad's presence. Nehru was certain to put up tough resistance to the Chinese leader's claims to the remote territories on the India-Tibet border. Red China now occupies 12,000 square miles, India the rest.

See Easing Of Floods At Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A forecast of clear skies and cooler temperatures today offered relief from flooding of rivers north and south of Quebec City.

Extensive damage was reported in some areas.

Conditions were particularly bad in Beauce County as waters from the tricky Chaudiere River and the Ruisseau de la Station spread over roads and seeped into basements.

Some 17 inches of water covered parts of Main Street at Ste. Marie for a few hours Monday night.

At Notre Dame de la Guadeloupe, 60 miles southeast of Quebec City, waters from the Ruisseau de la Station, normally a peaceful stream, seeped into 50 cellars and covered part of the main street. Damage in the area was expected to exceed $50,000.

Defy Martial Law

Armed Korean Rioters Attack Police Stations

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Armed demonstrators defied martial law in Seoul tonight and attacked two police stations. Three policemen were reported killed and "many others" wounded.

The new violence flared after President Syngman Rhee called in troops and imposed martial law in this South Korean capital in an effort to put down rioting that hit Seoul and four other cities, growing out of charges that Rhee's party rigged last month's election.

At least 24 persons had been killed and hundreds injured in the continuing demonstrations.

Two police sentry boxes were set on fire in the northeastern sector of the city. Demonstrators, armed with rifles, roamed about after imposition of a curfew under martial law.

The United Nations command reported all quiet at the truce frontier, 25 miles north of Seoul.

COMMUNISTS POISED

The martial law commander, Lt.-Gen. Song Yo-chang, army chief of staff, appealed for order. He told citizens that "communist troops are poised in North Korea waiting anxiously for a return to strife."

Canada Welcomes A Living Legend

OTTAWA — (CP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France came back to Canada Monday after 15 momentous years to be welcomed as one of history's great men and a living legend.

The towering tributes to the towering Gen. de Gaulle were paid by Governor-General Georges Vanier and Prime Minister Diefenbaker following the French leader's arrival at Uplands Airport to begin a four-day Canadian visit.

Gen. Vanier, an old friend of the six-foot-four statesman, sounded the keynote in proposing a champagne toast Monday night at Government House, where the president was honored at a glittering state dinner.

"Twenty years ago, in a moment of physical defeat, you spoke out to save France's honor, then again two years ago you answered the call of your people. For this you will be honored as one of the great men of history."

ARTILLERY SALUTE

The dinner, attended by about 100 persons, began two hours after Gen. de Gaulle's Air France jetliner touched down at Uplands following an 8½-hour, non-stop flight from Paris.

A stiff northwest wind was blowing and the temperature was just above freezing as he stepped onto Canadian soil for the first time since August, 1945, when he visited here as provisional president of the Fourth Republic.

As a 21-gun artillery salute cracked out, Gen. de Gaulle walked smartly down the ramp followed by Mme. de Gaulle and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

Waiting on the tarmac was

the honor of France." "All those who love France, and with even more reason, those like myself who have French blood, express their great pride in you."

Mr. Diefenbaker greeted the president as "the illustrious leader of one of our mother countries who has become a legend of his nation while still alive."

The prime minister coupled his tribute with a call for "the fullest of consultation" within NATO—a point he was expected to pursue in talks with the French president today.

A highly-placed diplomatic source said no major announcements or pronouncements were likely to come of the three hours Gen. de Gaulle and his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, will spend with Prime Minister Diefenbaker, External Affairs Minister Green, and the Canadian cabinet.

Canadian governments are not in the habit of asking visitors to agree to a joint communique following such talks, but will go so if the visitors particularly want Canadian officials remember with dismay Gen. de Gaulle's suggestion of more than a year ago that France, Britain and the United States should form a sort of directorate to steer the Atlantic alliance. The idea was never officially put into effect.

Seek Quiet Progress In de Gaulle Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government hopes to make more quiet progress towards warm Franco-Canadian friendship than noisy headlines in its talks with President Charles de Gaulle of France today.

A highly-placed diplomatic source said no major announcements or pronouncements were likely to come of the three hours Gen. de Gaulle and his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, will spend with Prime Minister Diefenbaker, External Affairs Minister Green, and the Canadian cabinet.

Canadian governments are not in the habit of asking visitors to agree to a joint communique following such talks, but will go so if the visitors particularly want to make a formal declaration. Although the time for consultations in Gen. de Gaulle's busy round of state functions is limited to three one-hour periods, the source said this should be sufficient to clear the air of any "residual tensions" which remain in diplomatic relations between Canada and France.

Gen. de Gaulle and Mr. Diefenbaker last met in Paris in November, 1958, when the Canadian prime minister spent one day there during his round-the-world Commonwealth and NATO tour. At that time, there was concern in the Canadian government over the French leader's suggestion that the big powers in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization form a NATO executive.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Chariton Heston, whose classic portrayals of heroic figures have made him one of moviedom's most seen actors, wants to be a comedian the next time out.

"I've got my agent looking for comedy scripts on a top priority basis," says Heston. "I must have it for a change of pace."

By next year, Heston will be the star of three of the top five box-office movies. The Ten Commandments and The Greatest Show on Earth are already there and Ben-Hur is a cinch to make it.

"I have been offered Charlemagne," he confides, "and I will probably do it but I must have something light in between."

ON COMIC KICK

Even before his recent Academy Award for best actor, Heston was on the comic kick.

"I was all set to do Let's Make Love with Marilyn Monroe but then came a chance to do a Broadway play with Sir Laurence Olivier directing. The play was a flop but I don't regret my decision. The chance to work with Olivier was worth all the time, trouble and damage to my ego that the play cost me."

Television viewers got a look at the comic Heston on a recent Steven Allen show. Playing a familiar type of autograph pest, he handled slap-stick like a Jerry Lewis.

"I've only done one comedy in my 19 years in the movies. That was The Private War of Major Benson," he says.

Mrs. LILLIAN WEINSTEIN, proprietor of Henry's Ladies' Wear, 103 Wellington North, Sherbrooke, Que.

Mrs. Lillian Weinstein, proprietor of HENRY'S LADIES' WEAR, 103 Wellington St. North says:

"For the past year I have advertised exclusively in local daily newspapers. Previous to this, I tried to "stretch" my budget by doing a bit of advertising here and a bit of advertising there. I was satisfied, as I had no basis for comparison.

About a year ago, I decided to spend my entire budget in newspapers. The results were better than I could have expected. Business increased. Customers asked for the specific styles described and illustrated in newspaper space. I can now say that Henry's Ladies' Wear is in newspapers to stay".

Advertising Manager's Note — Mrs. Weinstein's success story is not exceptional. However, it should, in all fairness, be noted that newspaper advertising is not a "cure-all". Mrs. Weinstein concentrated her advertising in newspapers, but this is not the only factor that contributed to the success of the venture. It is necessary to carry the right merchandise at the right prices, and to advertise the right items at the right time.

GUELPH, Ont. (CP)—Pigs delivered by Caesarean section are being used at the Ontario Veterinary College here for experiments on swine disease.

Dr. H. C. Rowsell, pathologist in charge, says about 250 pigs have been delivered by Caesarean operations during recent months. They were completely free of common pig ailments such as virus pneumonia and atrophic rhinitis.

As soon as the pigs are taken from the sow through an abdominal incision, they are placed in sealed isolation units designed to assure they do not contract a contagious ailment.

The eventual aim of the program is to produce disease-free swine but the immediate idea is to provide pigs which have never been exposed to the usual diseases, and thus have not had the opportunity to build up antibodies which would give them natural

A Choleric Protest

No one will argue with the Detroit Times which, in a Page One editorial, advises its readers to see the United States before taking holidays in Canada.

It makes sense that anyone — Canadian or American — should enjoy his own country before venturing abroad.

But the reasons given by the Times don't revolve around patriotism, nationalism, or, for that matter, common sense. Rather they are part and parcel of a choleric protest to the recently announced policy of Canadian banks calling for a discount on U.S. coins.

Their new trick of knocking two cents off American quarters and four cents off American half dollars smacks not only of cupidity but also usury.

It also claims that there is an "arrogant implication" that American money is second-class money and a projection that this means Canadians consider Americans second class neighbours.

All of this of course is nonsense but it does sound familiar.

Many of our more impulsive citizens were making similar statements in those pre-war days when the shoe was on the other foot in the matter of exchange rates.

The writer of the editorial could have spared his blood pressure if he had had a little chat with his banker before he loaded his typewriter and fired.

Another interesting and significant sidelight on the issue has been brought out by Ontario Travel Minister Cathcart: Canadians — travelling mainly to Florida — are putting $100 million more tourist dollars in American pockets each year than Americans are putting in ours.

Canada's Uranium Sales

Trade Minister Churchill may have committed an indiscretion when he indicated that Canada was prepared to sell uranium to Iron Curtain countries if so asked. But his remarks, later explained as a joke, did draw attention to a rather uncomfortable situation.

Undoubtedly any refusal by Canada to sell this product to Russia or other Red countries would be the result of United States pressure, despite the fact that Washington has indicated that it wants no further part of Canada's uranium output after the current contracts expire.

In effect, Washington declares that it will not buy any Canadian uranium because its own mines are now producing sufficient to meet domestic needs but at the same time Canada cannot sell its production to those countries which are on the Washington blacklist.

A few years ago prohibiting Canadian uranium sales to Russia may have served some purpose. At that time, world production of this strategic element was restricted and, by cutting off sales to Russia, Canada may have been making an important contribution to western defence. But with the recent discoveries of large deposits almost everywhere in the world, there is no reason Canada should be deprived of any possible market for its output.

Of course, maybe Russia does not want to buy any uranium, anyway.

Luncheon-Table Brainwave

All of us make impulsive statements from time to time.

We blurt out opinions and advice that later we'd dearly love to erase.

And we envy those world figures whose statements appear to be so clearly and logically fashioned before utterance.

It is encouraging, therefore, to learn that even a statesman of the reputation and rank of Conrad Adenauer can put his foot in it.

During his U.S. tour last month, Chancellor Adenauer proposed a referendum in West Berlin on that city's future.

His proposal has now been dropped as a result of the opposition from the Lord Mayor of Berlin, Herr Brandt and from the entire Berlin city government.

Herr Brandt called on the chancellor last week and convinced him that a referendum would be superfluous and, in any case, would have required the prior approval of the Western Powers. This approval, of course, had not been obtained when Mr. Adenauer dropped his bombshell. Nor is it felt that the Western Powers would have shown any enthusiasm over the idea had they been approached.

And so it would seem that Mr. Adenauer's proposal was exactly what his critics called it — "a luncheon-table brainwave."

The more charitable among his critics will simply take it as evidence that the chancellor is human like the rest of us.

A Constant Struggle

The Face Of London Is Changing

LONDON (Reuters)—The face of London is changing rapidly.

A constant struggle is going on between people who want to put up office buildings with lucrative rents and those who feel concerned about architectural standards and the city's skyline.

Since the middle ages, London's skyline has been dominated by St. Paul's Cathedral. First it was the tall - spired gothic pile—

Europe's largest church until St. Peter's was built in Rome. Then, after the great fire of 1666, came Sir Christopher Wren's great dome.

Dirty with a corrosive incrustation of grime and chemicals, St. Paul's still symbolizes London. It still commands the famous view. But today, multi-story blocks of offices continually threaten to dominate it with shapes which have been variously likened to up-ended egg boxes, beer crates, or slabs of perforated concrete.

The number of people working in what Londoners know as "The City," a square-mile area east of St. Paul's occupied by banks, stockbrokers, insurance firms, shippers and merchants, has been increasing at the rate of at least 15,000 a year and now is somewhere around 600,000.

With London getting choked by too much office building, not to mention traffic and too many people, the government has announced its determination to put an end to concentration of commercial development in the centre.

The Royal Fine Art Commission, which has royal warrant to investigate any building scheme, repeatedly has expressed concern over the "deplorably low standards" of many new buildings.

Many people think the most startling blemish added to London's skyline since the war is the 300-foot-high and 30-foot-square chimneystack of the Bankside power station.

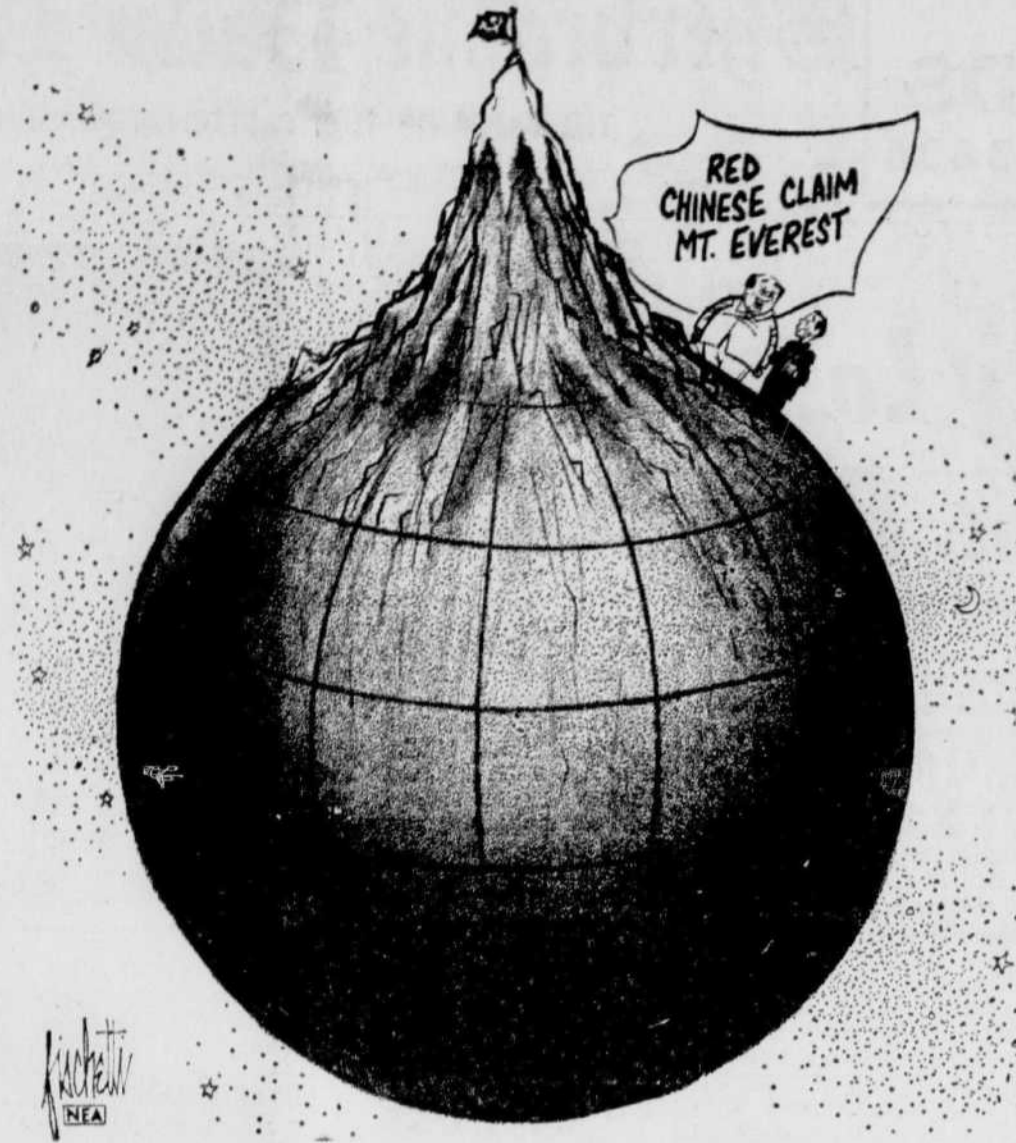

The City of London Corporation has an agreement with the dean of St. Paul's not to permit buildings in excess of 64 feet in height near the cathedral. One 76-foot-high structure was vetoed recently.

Twenty minutes walk away, beyond "The City" limits, the New Zealand government is building a new headquarters—a four-storey base, surmounted by a 20-storey tower which will rise to 225 feet. This is 40 feet higher than the Nelson column in nearby Trafalgar Square.

The London county council, which governs an area of 117 square miles, also has approved plans for a 370-foot-high, 31-storey block of offices for Vickers Ltd., on Thameside, at Millbank, just beyond Westminster Abbey.

It also has approved a 322-foot-

Showdown Could Come This Summer

Cuba Facing Economic Crisis

WASHINGTON (CP)—There's a body of opinion in this capital which anticipates Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime is in for some deep economic trouble which possibly could lead to economic collapse within six or eight months.

This view is shared not only by political refugees scheming to overthrow Castro but also by well-informed U.S. officials who are watching the Cuban scene closely. The suggestion is that the height of crisis may come during summer after the sugar crop has been harvested and more and more workers become idle. Just as the peak of Canadian unemployment is in the winter, so the peak of Cuban unemployment falls in the summer.

Dispatches from Havana seem to bear out the Washington predictions. They tell of an economic collapse being the main threat to Castro, who has been trying to do too much too soon since he launched his revolutionary regime Jan. 1, 1959.

One of those who waits patiently for the "right time" is Dr. Carlos Marques Sterling, a well-respected Cuban economist and one-time Cuban cabinet minister who rejects the policies of Castro just as he rejected the dictatorship of Castro's predecessor, Fulgencio Batista.

The 50-year-old Marquez, busy here writing a history of Cuba, makes no secret that he is trying to stir up as much organized opposition to Castro as possible.

He's encouraged by the recent run of defections by former Castro diplomatic and military officials.

Marquez who presided at the writing of a Cuban constitution back in 1949 says he's not sure whether Castro is a Communist "but he is doing things that the Communists do."

"He refuses to hold free elections and he is destroying the economy," Marquez argued in an interview.

Some qualified U.S. officials suggest that Marquez has no real widespread support in Cuba. These officials suggest most Cubans view Castro's economic problems with apathy, rather than opposition.

Nevertheless, it is evident the U.S. government, embarrassed in Latin America because of its difficulties with Castro, would probably be much relieved if the bearded leader was deposed in some bloodless coup.

But it would be equally embarrassing to the U.S. government if the coup originated in the U.S. Thus U.S. intelligence officers are watching the political refugees carefully, to make sure they don't build up any clandestine cache of arms to launch a counter-revolution.

SOUTH BRINGS HOME OVERBID

When W. P. Finn, of Knoxville, Tenn., bid four hearts, he gave the hand an overbidder's play and wound up with his contract.

He won the opening diamond lead with the ace, led the queen of clubs and put on dummy's king. East took the ace and led two high diamonds. West ruffed the second with the nine spot and forced dummy's ace.

Mr. Finn led a trump and finessed the jack. When West dropped the ten he decided that East still held the queen and one trump and that another trump finesse was needed.

In that case he had to do something about the spade suit. East had opened the bidding and rebid and West had never opened his mouth. It appeared almost sure that East would hold the king of spades and that a spade finesse would be a losing proposition. This left him one chance. East's king of spades might be a singleton.

Mr. Finn went up with dummy's ace and dropped that king. From then on, it was easy. He finessed again in trumps; drew the last trump; and returned to dummy with a spade for a diamond discard on his jack of clubs.

BISCUITS AND MAPLE SYRUP

(Ottawa Journal)
The countryman is not a scientist, but he claims that a good tonic for thinning the blood and dissipating winter's cantankerous humors is biscuits and maple syrup for dessert.

It is partly a matter of psychology; it is partly a matter of expected reward for hard work. One segment of the situation concerns the efficacious amalgamation of tofflight biscuits with the world's best sweetening.

Man expects a let-down at the tag end of winter, but he is never psychologically prepared for April's patience-testing tantrums. The calendar says it is Spring, but cold, raw, windy days persist.

The sugar season is on and a man is tired from his labors. Nostalgic writers pen paens concerning the delights of sugaring; but if one has flourished through deep snow and stayed up nights boiling off, he knows that sugaring is plain hard work.

Therefore, on a rough day when a man feels he should be out mending fence but has to putter at piddling jobs in the shop, his heart lifts when he comes in for dinner and sees a pan of brown-crust biscuits and a pitcher of golden syrup.

A generous meal of fried ham, boiled potatoes, stewed tomatoes and bread 'n' butter pickles is a fitting introduction. Then give a man two opened, well-buttered biscuits in a soup plate. The biscuits should be brown-crust with hot-hearted, soft interiors. Pour a half cup of the golden-amber liquid over the biscuits and eat with a dessert spoon. That is a counter-attack on April's cold front and gives one courage to look forward to true Spring.

high block of apartments on the fringe of Hyde Park, Knightsbridge, but rejected a plan to build a 440-foot-high hotel in Portman Square, West London, because it would have overshadowed and encroached upon the privacy of residents in the neighborhood.

OTTAWA — Through the years since 1945 readers of printed words and listeners of the spoken word have been entertained by the passages between western diplomats and Soviet officials.

It was once a common remark from uninformed people that we must be patient with the Russians because they did not understand us.

I shared that idea at one time. I was simple enough to think that we of North America were so much superior to most others, even the most uneducated of us, that we had a special advantage.

Which opens a broad field and I am not going to enter it.

This is to talk about the bouncy Horatio Alger hero, Nikita Khrushchev, the official head and master of the whole Communist world.

In 1945 I was in San Francisco while the United Nations charter was being written.

The veto clause became an issue, and about the same time the Russians showed their claws when they admitted that a missing group of Polish patriots who had been called from Warsaw to Moscow were in a Moscow jail.

I for one was absolutely stunned by this and asked a leading Canadian expert there what possible purpose could be served by going on.

He said we always had to go on and try and hope and that if, in the end, Russia refused to play ball, at least we had tried.

In other words, we would be better off than if we had given up at the first hurdle.

Since then we have had the story of reasonable and honest people trying to preach that we should make allowances for the Russians because they were really a bit inferior and did not understand the world.

I have discovered what rot that was and is.

Our Russian neighbors in the mass may be backward and naive but the people in Moscow who run the country and the Soviets are way ahead of us.

In Moscow in 1955 I heard Mr. Molotov, Mr. Malenkov, Mr. Kaganovich and Mr. Shepilov, exchange chatter with visiting Mike Pearson, then Minister of External Affairs.

It was a snappy and witty and extremely smart exchange in which I am glad to report, as has long since been reported, our man was at his best.

What struck me was that these men were so completely at home in the give and take, even to the slang and idiom of the time.

Mr. Khrushchev, on his recent tour of France, was taken to the press car, where he entertained the journalists and, according to the Soviet news bulletin, which I believe, did a valiant job.

We in America are inclined to think Roosevelt and then Truman developed the press conference and that Canadian leaders have never got off the ground that way. Which is right.

Mr. K. went into the press car in France and did a job on the individuals there which I cannot record here, but he, who has millions of people under his control, was able to talk familiarly to individual correspondents and show he knew their connections and their records, and even offered to get expedited correspondents fresh visas.

If you have stayed this long, this is just to show you that we are not playing with babies.

US Seeks Canadian Cooperation

Opening Of Seaway Feared Crop Threat

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway has raised fears among some United States authorities that North American farmlands may be threatened with heavier invasion by foreign crop-damaging beetles, viruses, bugs and other pests and disease.

One of these experts, recalling the devastating foot-and-mouth disease outbreak among Saskatchewan cattle eight years ago, told a congressional subcommittee that the Canadian government still is not alive to the full dangers of the new threat posed by heavier foreign shipping on the Great Lakes.

In a report of subcommittee testimony published today, Donald Fletcher, executive secretary of the Rust Prevention Association at Minneapolis, said the U.S. needs Canada's full co-operation in stepping up port inspection work to block foreign pests and disease.

DON'T UNDERSTAND
"I am sure we will get it," he said talking of Canadian co-operation, "but they just do not understand the dangerous possibilities yet."

Fletcher was one of a number of witnesses appearing before the committee to seek more U.S. agriculture department funds for coastal port inspection and quarantine work. The department proposed to hire an extra 45 or 50 men, but the various witnesses urged the subcommittee to recommend doubling the hiring to 100 men.

Donald N. McDowell, director of the Wisconsin state agriculture department, said:

"The most economical and effective means of meeting the problem is to stop this invasion of foreign pests before it starts."

COSTLY JOB
"The control or eradication of disease or pests, assuming this to be possible, is a very costly business. Efforts to control the European corn borer have cost $1,500,000,000 in the last 10 years."

Despite the fact that Wisconsin has eight deep-water ports on the Great Lakes, there is not a single federal inspector in any one of them to date. This seems almost incredible considering the huge amount of traffic generated on the seaway by the grain ports at Duluth and Superior alone.

When Walt Horan, Republican representative of Washington, asked what Canada was doing about the problem, Fletcher said:

"Canada has the attitude that they are more interested in what is coming in rather than what is going out. They are inspecting their ships for insects and diseases and have the proper sanitation of the grain going out."

"I have been at meetings attended by top quarantine people of Canada and their interest is definitely in the export trade. They fail to realize that they get some of these animal diseases and insect pests which may cause trouble to their producing areas."

Recalling how Canada's cattle export trade was halted for months by the Saskatchewan foot-and-mouth outbreak in 1952, Fletcher said that "yet, today, they do not fully realize just what is happening in regard to animal diseases and plant pests with the influx of foreign shipping into the Great Lakes."

KINNEAR'S MILLS

The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Joe Vachon, with Mrs. Lloyd Oliver in the chair. Minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. George Rothney, and a discussion on cooking took place. The May meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Ulric Nutbrown at Clapham.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore were in Theford Mines guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. H. Thurber, who is not well. Mr. Joe Vachon spent a few days in Quebec City.

Former RDA Supervisor Is Honored

RICHMOND — (Special) — Presentation of a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica was made at St. Francis High School in the name of C. W. Dickson, former supervisor of RDA schools.

W. J. Denison, member of the Protestant School Board here for the past eighteen years, made the presentation to L. F. Somerville, Principal of St. Francis High School.

Encyclopaedia Britannica of Canada Limited is presenting these books to the English-speaking and bilingual high schools of Canada for their use and in the name of someone who has given outstanding service to education in the community.

Mr. Dickson was chosen by the local RDA Protestant Central School Board to which he was appointed in May of 1945, holding the post of supervisor until 1955. Prior to this appointment, Mr. Dickson had had seven years' experience as a high school teacher and principal.

He also served five years as a Regional Inspector in the County of Pontiac. During his ten years as supervisor, Mr. Dickson did a great deal for education in this area.

Splendid new school buildings were built at ADS, Drummondville and Windsor Mills plus an extension to St. Francis High. Many smaller schools in the areas were closed and pupils conveyed by a system of school buses to ADS, Richmond and Windsor schools. This consolidation enabled RDA pupils to follow a variety of courses comparable to those offered in larger centres of the province.

Specialists in art, music and physical education were engaged and the services of a fulltime school nurse obtained. The enrollment in RDA schools rose steadily during this decade.

property, several fields were under water.

The Optimist Playground-Park on College street is, for the time being, simply part of the Mississippi river. Most of the homes on Little Forks street, about 100 yards from the park, have flooded basements and police have put out barricades prohibiting any passage.

It is believed the warm winds over the weekend melted much of the snow in the woods causing the rise in the levels of all the rivers and streams in the district.

Richmond residents were mainly occupied during the past 36 hours pumping out their basements as the river stayed well over the 17-foot flood level. Some areas north of Richmond were even more seriously affected.

Yesterday evening in Richmond the level of the river had reached 16 feet and at midnight was within an inch or two of the 18-foot mark. This morning the river was reported still rising despite the cold snap last night.

Residents on Windsor Street in Sherbrooke may have received a surprise early today as they watched their neighbours moving their oil burners out of their basements.

STANBRIDGE EAST

To increase the Community Fund, a card party will be held in the Catholic School on Thursday, April 21 at 8.30 p.m. Several prizes have been donated by Mrs. H. The teenagers of the Intermediate School are sponsoring a record hop to be held in the Memorial Hall on Friday evening, April 29, with Allan Web as master of ceremonies. On this occasion a king and queen will be chosen and crowned, as well as a prince and princess. Proceeds will be used for the Stanbridge East Community Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Alan Grenwell, of Montreal, is spending the Easter vacation with her sister, Mrs. Orval Casey, Mr. Casey and daughter, Dale.

Tax Foundation:

Motorists Support Province

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canada's motorists are a major force in making the financial wheels go round for provincial governments.

But if it weren't for motor vehicles, provincial expenditures could be a good deal less.

That's the story behind some revealing figures collected by the Canadian Tax Foundation and published in its current Tax Journal.

The journal reports that in 1958 provincial governments got nearly one-quarter of their total revenues from gasoline taxes, vehicle registration and licence fees and fines for traffic infractions.

But even so this wasn't enough to cover all provincial expenditures on highways, roads and bridges to carry the traffic. The 1958 revenues from motor vehicles and their drivers covered only 80 per cent of highway costs.

AVERAGE OF $107
Total provincial revenues from road-user taxation came to $504,000,000 — an average $107 for each vehicle. This average varied from a high of $130 in New Brunswick and $129 in Quebec to a low of $79 in Manitoba.

Ontario motorists, most numerous of the breed, paid an average $112 for each registered vehicle, just about the same as the $111 average in tiny Prince Edward Island.

For reasons not given in the journal's article, the average per vehicle taxes are highest in the East and taper off sharply in the West. Averages for the other provinces: Newfoundland $123, Nova Scotia $119, Saskatchewan $87, Alberta $85, and British Columbia $80.

The journal says no satisfactory answer has yet been found to the question of what percentage of highway expenditures should be covered by taxes on vehicle users. The situation varies widely.

P.E.I. PROPORTION LOW
Quebec paid for about 92 per cent of its 1958 highway costs from this tax source. But Prince Edward Island raised only 47 per cent of highway expenditures from vehicle-user taxes, while in Newfoundland the proportion was 49 per cent.

Ontario's revenues were 88 per cent of the total, Nova Scotia 73 per cent, New Brunswick 61 per cent, Manitoba 58 per cent, Saskatchewan 86 per cent, Alberta 64 per cent and British Columbia 68 per cent.

Ontario relied more than any other province on vehicle-user taxes to meet its total revenue needs. These represented nearly 32 per cent of its total revenue.

FURTHER PROOF OF VAUXHALL VALUE!

Timmins, Ontario, February 19, 1960.

General Motors Products of Canada Limited, Oshawa, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

I am so pleased with my Vauxhall, which I purchased from your dealer in Timmins, Ontario, I thought I would drop you a line.

I have approximately 9,000 miles on my car now and I am very satisfied. I have no starting troubles in our Northern Ontario sub zero temperatures. (My wife and I find the styling, interior roominess and ride all to be outstanding features in your Vauxhall.)

I am particularly pleased with ride and handling. I have driven on some of the roughest bush roads and cannot be let down. I would not hesitate to recommend "Vauxhall" to anyone.

Yours very truly,

Lucille J. Tremblay

So do most people, Mr. Tremblay, Vauxhall is the car that shows you don't have to sacrifice style for economy!

It looks modern, carries five adults and handles superbly — even on country roads. This is the secret of Vauxhall's outstanding success. It gives you the "feel" and comfort of a big car plus the economy of a small car. Save in style. Test-drive a Vauxhall soon.

Politics Makes Good Career For Older Women

VICTORIA (CP)—Politics as a career for women? Mrs. Lois Haggen, a member of the British Columbia legislature, thinks so.

But, she says, she was surprised to find more men in agreement with her on this than women.

The tall, 60-year-old U.S.-born legislator is in politics more by accident than by choice. After the prolonged illness of her husband, she was persuaded to run and was elected in 1956 as CCF member for Grand Forks-Greenwood, the constituency he had represented.

The 52-member house usually sits quietly when she gets up to speak. In a voice that still has traces of a southern drawl she talks of things important to her rural constituents, everything from rural electrification to cattle rustling and what should be done about it.

RURAL RIDING
She is the first woman in the province's political history to represent a rural riding. The only other lady member of the house, Mrs. Buda Brown, is Social Credit member for Vancouver-Point Grey. They're on opposite sides of the house but often travel around together during sessions.

In an interview, Mrs. Haggen expressed surprise there are not more women in politics in Canada—especially older women who no longer have family ties.

"I really think that the public is prejudiced against women in politics," she said. "And women themselves are indifferent about it. I wouldn't take a young mother out of her home for anything, but for older women yes, they can serve well and it keeps them busy."

During the eight-week annual session of the legislature she

Spud Decline Worries C.A.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—The homely old potato has lost some of its popularity in recent years, says the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Concerned about the decline of the spud, it takes Canadians to task for eating fewer potatoes than their parents did.

"What other vegetable possesses such versatility?" the CAC asks in its monthly bulletin. It notes that you can bake them, boil them, mash, hash, brown or scallop them; that they are good-tasting, nutritious and relatively inexpensive.

It also scolds consumers for laxity in making certain that the potato is up to grade standards.

"What to do with the occasional big potato which is mostly skin, a thin layer of potato and a great black hole in the centre?"

"If the bag containing the potatoes was marked Grade I, which most are, return the unsatisfactory potatoes to your dealer and ask for replacement with sound ones."

"The consumer can play an important part in seeing that foods live up to grade."

The CAC says it feels poor grading has contributed to the drop in popularity and suggests:

1. Uniform grading across Canada, similar to that used in egg-grading, based on federal-provincial agreement and co-operation.
2. Better inspection to ensure that potatoes are free from disease, blemishes, bruises and most of the dirt though not necessarily by washing.
3. Labelling to indicate whether they are for baking or general-purpose use.

The CAC offers this advice for preparing potatoes:
"For utmost goodness and food value, cook potatoes often with the skins on, for it is directly under the skin the best food value lies."

finds herself working an estimated 16 hours a day—writing letters, attending committee meetings and sittings of the legislature itself and doing research for the speeches she plans to make.

ALABAMA-BORN
It's all a far cry from Alabama, where she was born in 1899, one of a family of nine. The family came north to Oregon, then to B.C., in a covered wagon in 1911.

Now during the off-session months she finds herself riding the countryside again, but in a small car. Often when she visits remote parts of her far-flung constituency where there are no hotels, she stays overnight at farm homes.

On these trips she finds the ranchers, farmers and cattle men generally accept a woman as their representative at Victoria. But not so much the farm wives.

"I've heard it said of me by some that a woman's place is in the home," Mrs. Haggen said. "I agree so long as her family is growing up. But after that politics can be a good career."

Mrs. Haggen's own family of two daughters are grown and married. Her home life now centres around looking after her invalid husband.

Women's Groups

LENNOXVILLE W.I.
The Lennoxville Women's Institute met in the Club room, Queen St., Lennoxville, with the president, Mrs. R. Pariseau, in charge.

The secretary, Mrs. N. Tracy, read the correspondence which included the program for the Leadership Training Course, Facts, Fingers and Fun, to be held at Macdonald College May 23 to 27. She also listed films available, and read excerpts from the C.A.C. news letter.

Mrs. L. Parker, treasurer, gave the financial report and noted a very small balance to start the new year.

Conveners reports included that of agriculture, read by Mrs. S. Parker, who stated bulbs had been delivered and the orders for shrubs will be delivered later. She also read an article on Forestry Research. Next month being the agriculture program, Mrs. Parker asked the members to bring plants and slips for exchange. A name tag is to be placed on them and instructions for their care. She also gave notice of an illustrated talk on agriculture across Canada.

Mrs. G. Taylor — education, read an article on the five new stamps to be issued in 1960 and spoke on the success of the Book Fair held recently at the Lennoxville High School.

Mrs. W. Ross — home economics, reported members nearing completion of the hooked chair seats and gave hints on cleaning wood work. She also distributed a nutrition survey.

Mrs. C. G. Skinner — citizenship, read an article entitled Flag without Hangovers, and also discussed the UNESCO gift coupon plan.

Mrs. F. Smith — welfare and health, reported 10 hours work given at the Cancer Dressings Station and that three members attended the welfare annual meeting, she stressed the need for good used children's clothing and some adults, also wool for Korea. This is to be brought to the next meeting. Mrs. Smith concluded her report by reading a letter from a member of the W.R.I. in Invernesshire, Scotland, who had received a brooch from the branch brought by Mrs. Abercrombie when she attended the A.C.W.W. conference.

Publicity — Mrs. H. L. Wallace, announced the annual count.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

A girl should never introduce a boy as "my boy friend." She should say, "I want you to know Jack Smith."

ty meeting will take place in Plymouth Church Hall, Sherbrooke, on May 4, at which Mrs. G. D. Harvery, provincial president, will be the guest speaker.

A College of Laundry Knowledge, put on by a public utilities and national appliance company, will be held in the Lennoxville High School on May 17. Proceeds to benefit the Sherbrooke County W.I.

Regret was expressed in the illness of the past president, Miss Edna Smith, who is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, and an expression of sympathy was extended to Mrs. L. M. Outerbridge, in the death of her husband, a former pastor of the Lennoxville United Church.

Mrs. R. Maurice, chairman of the ways and means committee, asked for plans for a rummage sale to be held on May 7.

Assistance was solicited for dental care for underprivileged children at the local school, and members gave personal donations to the sum of $10.

A new telephone list was drawn up and Mrs. W. Ross read the outline of the year's program.

The monthly drawing was won by Mrs. R. E. Mosher.

Mrs. C. G. Skinner and Mrs. R. Pariseau were named with Miss G. Killingsbeck to represent this branch on the Park committee.

Refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Mrs. P. Walton, Mrs. L. Parker and Mrs. R. Pariseau.

Sauce Is Tops

Here's a tasty and attractive luncheon or supper dish that's made from such simple ingredients as slices of bread, mayonnaise, slices of cooked ham and well-drained crushed pineapple. Assembled in a novel manner, these ingredients form the base of this appetizing entree. The blending of the flavors of the ham, pineapple, mayonnaise and bread is further enhanced by the addition of a sauce made with vinegar, pineapple syrup and prepared horseradish which give a sweet-sour character. This recipe has an added advantage in that it can be assembled well ahead of time.

HAM AND PINEAPPLE SUPPER ROLLS
Yield: 12 rolls, three or four servings.

12 thin slices white bread, mayonnaise or other thick dressing, 6 thin slices cooked ham, 3/4 cup well-drained crushed pineapple.
Preheat oven to 450° F. (hot). Remove crusts from bread and arrange bread on a damp tea towel. Spread bread lightly with mayonnaise or other thick dressing.
Cut ham slices in half and place one piece on each slice of bread. Spread 1 tbs. of pineapple along one edge of each slice of bread. Roll up, using pineapple as cores. Secure with wooden toothpicks. Arrange on a cookie sheet and bake in preheated oven until heated through and golden—about 8 minutes. Serve piping hot with pineapple horseradish sauce.

It's A Good Neighbor Policy To Welcome Newcomer

BY KAY SHERWOOD
If you've ever moved to a town or neighborhood where you were a complete stranger, you'll be sympathetic with the thousands of homemakers who face this prospect every week.

It isn't the strain of packing that we dread. That's only a temporary inconvenience. It's the strain of adjusting to a new community, new friends and new home.

I've moved often enough to know the first two weeks in a strange place can be lonely and full of questions. I may seem unduly pessimistic but that's always the time that one child gets sick, the plumbing fails, the car breaks down and your husband is so busy getting himself oriented that you're expected to smile and carry on.

At this point, the sweetest music in the world is the friendly "hello" of a neighbor.

This spring I've had ample opportunity to remember those days. With building crews rushing completion of houses and new families moving in every week, it behooves us oldtimers to promote a good-neighbor policy.

An invitation to drop in for a morning cup of coffee or an afternoon cup of tea doesn't commit you to lifelong friendship, but it does pave the way for you as well as the newcomer to broaden your acquaintance.

I think it helps, too, to invite a few of the other neighbors in to welcome the new arrival. In our neighborhood I've found three or four to be a good group; any more than that and the girls will start talking to each other instead of the newcomer.

If your neighborhood is varied in age groups, as ours is, try to include one or two women close to the age of the new neighbor. The older homemaker or one with grown children won't necessarily need the same kind of friendly information about town resources, clubs, servicemen, professional men, school and church facilities as will a young bride or homemaker with small children.

Some women can issue an invitation and let their homes stand inspection any time. I've known others who were so flustered at the prospect of unexpected "company" they don't enjoy guests unless they've had ample time to clean house, set a table and so on.

In the welcome-neighbor tea-time informality, be casual but state the day and the hour clearly. Most newcomers hesitate to accept a vague "drop in anytime" invitation.

No need to polish up the best tableware. The spirit of friendship will come through just as graciously across everyday cups and saucers.

In many instances, your new neighbor will have young children, and they must be welcomed, too. Juice and crackers, a few toys and an unruffled attitude will soon put them at ease.

I'd add one other point: if you have animal pets which have not been subjected to the poking curiosity of very young children, put them in another room. You can't visit comfortably if you've got one eye on a nervous cat and an inquisitive baby.

WOMEN BARRED
Monastic rules bar women from the great library of the Benedictine Abbey at Engelberg, Switzerland.

Husband Will Live Longer If He's Happy and Relaxed

Got a middle-aged husband? Want to keep him around to share your old age?

Then listen carefully to the advice of a British specialist in ailments of the heart and arteries: "Middle-aged men are surprisingly fragile. They are not as tough as their wives think."

"When your husband comes home from work tired out after a hard day, be bright and cheerful. Don't start telling him your troubles before he is properly inside the house."

"It is very risky to cross your husband continually. Anger and frustration are dangerous emotions for tired middle-aged men with a poor coronary circulation. The wife who constantly annoys her husband does so at her own risk and his."

Keep the doctor's reminder that your middle-aged husband isn't as tough as you think in the back of your mind to keep you from making his life harder in such ways as:

Planning too many evenings out when you can see that your husband isn't getting enough sleep.

Thinking up do-it-yourself jobs that keep your husband busy working every weekend.

Being extravagant in the things you buy and in the things you wish for, so that your husband complains that he can never quite keep up with the monthly bills, much less save anything for the future.

Letting your husband leave home without breakfast because you like to sleep late.

Burdening your husband with errands and chores that you could easily take care of yourself.

Being such a worrier that you keep your husband worried, instead of helping him to relax by being a cheerful, lighthearted companion.

Just remember that middle-aged husbands aren't so tough—even though they would rather die than admit it.

For happy solutions to some of the problems in husband-wife relationships order your copy of Ruth Millett's new booklet, "How to Have a Happy Husband." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of your paper, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, New York.

Havana's GM Denies Rumor On Shifting

HAVANA (AP) — Havana general manager Paul Miller Monday vehemently denied a report from Rochester, N.Y., that the Havana franchise in the International League would be shifted to Jersey City within 30 days.

Sports writer George Beahan, at the Rochester Red Wings Florida training camp, said the Havana Club would move to Jersey City for the remainder of the season after starting its 13-day opening home stand.

Frank Lane Trades Herb Score To White Sox For Pitcher Barry Latman Much To Disgust Of Cleveland Fans

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whatever the Cleveland Indians do today in their season opener against the Detroit Tigers, they will have a hard time matching the excitement created by Frank (Trader) Lane with two big trades this week.

The Cleveland general manager sent Rocky Colavito, hero of hundreds of Cleveland youngsters, to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn Sunday, then came back Monday with the swap of southpaw Herb Score for righthand pitcher Barry Latman of the Chicago White Sox.

Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, who throws out the first ball at Municipal Stadium today (3 p.m. EST), expressed the sentiment of many other fans when he was told of the trades:

"Oh my heavens, they did that?" he asked in amazement. "Score and Colavito were two of my favorite players."

Although some fans threatened to stay away from the ball park after hearing about the trades, the club predicted a crowd of 40,000 for the opener—well above the 33,098 who paid to see last year's home opener.

Lane said he traded Score because he needed a pitcher who could produce victories immediately. He couldn't wait for Score to make a comeback.

Score had a 9-11 record last year, and Lane said the 26-year-old southpaw "showed us nothing during spring training to make us feel optimistic." Latman, 23, had an 8-5 record. Score won 20 games for Cleveland in 1956, his sophomore year in the majors, and led the American League in strikeouts with 263. After that season Joe Cronin, then manager of the Red Sox, offered a million dollars for Score. Hank Greenberg, then general manager of the Indians, turned him down.

HAS LAGGED

Early the next year Score was hit in the eye by a line drive, was sidelined most of the season and has since been unable to regain his old stride.

Score said he will enjoy playing again for Al Lopez, Chicago manager. "I think I'll be better off with the White Sox," he remarked.

Lopez, happy to have Score "on our side," said he thinks "he still is a fine pitcher and we plan to work with him with the hope that he will return to the form he had when I was his manager in Cleveland."

Bill Veck, White Sox president, said he had been "talking with Cleveland about a deal for Score ever since this winter when we made the trade with the Indians for Minnie Minoso."

Latman, a fast ball pitcher, "is going to be a very fine pitcher," Lopez declared. He may help solve Cleveland's pitching problem.

Lane called Latman "one of the most promising young pitchers in the league. He has the arm and the desire to be a star."

St. Clair Avenue Fans In Cleveland Hang Frank Lane In Effigy And Laid Joe Gordon On Slab For New Trades

CLEVELAND (AP)—Out on St. Clair Avenue they hung Frank Lane in effigy and laid out a likeness of Joe Gordon on a slab.

This was the way habitués of the Pointview Grill showed how they felt about the trade in which Lane, Cleveland Indians' general manager, dealt slugger Rocky Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn. Gordon backed Lane up on his decision to trade the popular Colavito.

While fans protested bitterly against Sunday's Colavito-Kuenn deal, Lane drew little criticism for Monday's trade of southpaw Herb Score to the Chicago White Sox for righthand hurler Barry Latman.

The sports department of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, swamped Sunday with telephone calls, said the early callers opposed the Colavito-Kuenn trade by 9 to 1. This ratio changed Monday to 4-1.

On the Herb Score trade, callers favored the swap by a ratio of 3 to 1.

Robert S. Anson also hung Lane in effigy, stringing the dummy to a telephone pole in front of his home in Cleveland Heights. Anson said he would take the dummy with him to the stadium for Cleveland's opening game today against Detroit Tigers.

A man in Pat Joyce's tavern on East 9th Street found something else to complain about in the fact that there will be no beer for patrons at Cleveland Stadium today. City officials said the stadium beer licence won't be available until April 28.

Mourned the customer: "No Rocky, no Score, no beer, no nothin'. This guy Lane probably traded the beer licence."

Joey Giardello Is Predicting He Will KO Gene Fullmer Wednesday In Middleweight Title Fixture

By FRANK PITMAN

LIVINGSTON, Mont. (AP) — Pistol-packing Joey Giardello, a Brooklyn-born Philadelphia, hunched up his stockmen's pants, cocked his cowboy hat and reckoned he'll knock the living daylights out of champion Gene Fullmer in their middleweight title fight Wednesday night.

Joey, garbed in western clothes and toying with a six-shooter, shot straight from the hip: "This is Joey's turn. The fight may go the distance but no matter how long it lasts, I'm going to win."

The 29-year-old ring veteran admits his 15-round nationally televised bout (ABC — 10 p.m. EST) with Fullmer may be the end of the road for him if he loses "but let's not think about that. I'm confident—not too confident. But I feel great and Fullmer better be in shape."

The bout in the Montana state college fieldhouse at Bozeman, 26 miles west of here, will be the first 15-rounder for Giardello, who has an 83-17-5 record in ring wars. The 28-year-old Fullmer, pride of West Jordan, Utah, has a 51-4 record. Joey is a 12 1/2 underdog for the bout.

MAY BE TOO LATE

Giardello's indifferent 4-2 record last year has spurred talk that he's over the hill and that his first title shot may come too late. "It hasn't come too late for me," Joey said. "You can just say it's too late for Fullmer."

The Philadelphia, ranked No. 7 title contender by the National Boxing Association, said he has no special plans for countering Fullmer's overpowering rushes. Joey said "Fullmer's no stronger than a lot of guys I beat, including Chico Vejar (one of Giardello's 1969 victims)."

Alouettes Sign Nick Cioran From McMaster University, Rated As One Of Best Canadian Linebackers

Camilo Pascual Handcuffs Sox On Three-Hit Job, Ted Williams Hits Homer; All Clubs In Action Today

The American League gets started on the run for the pennant today midst a buzzing controversy over a pair of trades by the Cleveland Indians.

Washington Senators topped Boston Red Sox 10-1 in the presidential opener Monday. A three-hit, 15-strike-out job by Senators' Camilo Pascual was supported by four home runs. Boston scored on Ted Williams' 493rd home run.

All eight clubs play today. The big game is at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium between the Indians and the Detroit Tigers. A crowd of about 40,000 and some sort of fan demonstration is expected after the Sunday trade in which Cleveland general manager Frank Lane swapped fan favorite Rocky Colavito to the Tigers for Harvey Kuenn.

It was the seventh deal of the off-season by trader Lane — and the most unpopular with home-town fans.

LATEST TRADE

Lane, who Monday exchanged tough luck Herb Score, once a million dollar pitcher, to the Chicago White Sox for righthand pitcher Barry Latman, defended the Colavito deal by saying he was swapping power for all-around excellence.

Right-hander Gary Bell (16-11), now virtually a "must" ace if the Indians are to scrap for the flag, is their opening pitcher against Detroit's Frank Lary (17-10).

Chicago White Sox, favored to make it two straight pennants after a 40-year famine, go with Early Wynn (22-10) against Kansas City and left-hander Bud Daley (16-13) before an expected 37,000 at Comiskey Park.

The Yankees, bidding for a comeback after a fter last season's third place flop, go with righthander Jim Coates (6-1) on the mound at Boston. The Red Sox will start right-hander Tom Brewer (10-12).

Baltimore named young Jerry Walker (11-10) to face the Senators' Pete Ramos (13-19) in the Orioles' opener.

SECOND INNING BLAST

The Senators, second to Cleveland in the AL with a club-record 163 home runs last season, started unloading against loser Tom Sturdivant in the second inning after President Eisenhower had thrown out the first ball at Griffith Stadium Monday.

Bob Lemcn homered in a three-run second. Bob Allison, Earl Battey and Billy Consoled homered away in a five-run fourth.

Pascual, 26, a curve-balling right-hander, had no trouble at all except for a second-inning home run by Williams that tied him with Lou Gehrig for No. 4 on the all-time list.

Pascual cracked Washington's strikeout record, set by Walter Johnson in 1910, by fanning 15 batters.

Hull Legion Pulls Upset Knocking Over Chatham 6-4, Maroons Lead Final 2-1, Meet Wednesday In Fourth

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Hull Legion moved back into the Allan Cup playoff picture Monday night by upsetting Chatham Maroons 6-4 in the third game of the best-of-five Eastern Canada final.

Chatham now leads 2-1 in games. The winner will meet Trail, B.C., Smoke Eaters in the cup final.

A misconduct and match misconduct penalty to Chatham's Frank Bathgate at 4:39 of the third period set up Pit Richer with Hull's fourth goal which turned the tide in the Legion's favor.

Bathgate, a two-goal man for Maroons until he cracked Hull's Gilles Lacelle over the head with his stick in the third period, proved the goat in the contest.

His mates were within 25 seconds of running out the misconduct infraction when Richer broke a 3-3 deadlock at 14:14.

EMPTY NET

At 14:46 Paul Seguin added Hull's fifth goal before Copper Leyte cut Chatham's deficit to one goal at 15:57.

Ray Nadeau fired into an empty Chatham net at 19:27 with Hull's sixth and game-clinching goal.

Nadeau scored three of his team's six goals with Seguin adding a pair and Richer collecting the single.

Marcel Legris' Legion team thus forced a fourth game at Chatham Wednesday. Should a fifth game be necessary, it will be played at Chatham Thursday.

Referees Bill Roberts and Charlie Knox of Montreal assessed 15 penalties, eight to Chatham.

GOALIE INJURED

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of the first and 2-2 at the end of the second.

The second period was cut short 1:13 when goalie Roger Fortin was cut over the right eye following a pileup at the crease. The remaining time was added to the third period.

Maroons were without the services of centre and captain Ted Power, out with a severe case of tonsillitis, and defenceman Jack Douglas who broke his hand in a freak mishap at Hull Friday.

Burke Emery Is Greatly Improved, Says Goldman

Fifty Percent Better Than When He Left For England, Says Veteran; First Bout Slated For 2.30, May 1

"Burke Emery is fifty percent better now than he was before he went to England," stated Charley Goldman. Goldman, one of the most famous boxing trainers of all time, has been training Emery at Stillman's gym in New York in preparation for the latter's May 1 bout at the Sherbrooke Arena for the Canadian light-heavyweight championship. Emery will meet Gordy Baldwin of Toronto for the title vacated by Yvon Durelle last November.

Both Goldman and manager Al Bachman have been very pleased with Emery's showing in his workouts. Emery has been sparring with Rory Calhoun, Bartolo Soni and Eddie Vick. He has been showing a snappy left hand and combines it with a vicious right that should give Baldwin plenty of trouble when they meet in two weeks time. Emery is leaving no stone unturned in preparing for the fight of his life. He is running eight miles every day and sparring six to ten rounds each evening.

The Baldwin camp in Toronto is confident that his fighter will be able to take care of the Sherbrooke boxer and then go after the British Empire championship. Baldwin, like Emery, realizes that this is his big chance and must win in order to land other important fights in the future.

Two eight-round semi-final bouts and an opening six-round bout will complete the program for Sunday afternoon, May 1st. The first bout is scheduled to get under way at 2.30 p.m.

Tickets for this boxing program are on sale at Codere Ltd., Laforest Restaurant, Sherbrooke Arena, Belvedere Snack Bar and Beattie's Barber Shop in Lennoxville.

Johansson Is Ready To Sign

NEW YORK (AP)—If the lawyers clear up the details, heavy-weight champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson may be able to sign official contracts late today for their return fight at the Polo Grounds June 20 or 22.

"I hope so," said the unbeaten Swede, who arrived Monday night from Switzerland. "From what I understand everything is supposed to be ready. I want to fly back to Switzerland . . . and start hard training."

According to the promoters, Feature Sports Inc., one of the major barriers in the way of the fight was cleared Monday when FSI reached an agreement for the purchase of all stock of Floyd Patterson Enterprises. This stock is held by Patterson and his manager, Gus D'Amato.

Other obstacles to be cleared: First, the State Athletic Commission wants to get a long look at the contracts. And Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz has called in all of the principals for a conference today to discuss some of the hangovers of the first fight.

Norman Davis Wins Championship Of Westbury Rifle Club In Final Shoot

EAST ANGUS—Norman Davis won the championship of the Westbury Rifle Club and the "Grand Champion Award" in the final competition in which 20 members competed.

Targets were shot in the prone, kneeling, sitting and standing positions at 45 feet with the 22 sporting rifle. In the prone position Norm Davis and William Rowland registered perfect scores while in the kneeling-sitting Davis walked off with the honors. In the standing position Victor Vincent copped the honors but Davis' total score of 591.36x out of a possible 600.60x gave him the honors. Walter Thorneloe was the runner-up.

In the junior class, shot in the same positions, Rev. T. Hardy scooped honors with a total score of 579.19x out of a possible 600.60x. The odds favored popular Bobby Gaulin, but unfortunately he was unable to take part in the finals. Runner-up was Alfred Rowland with 556.21x.

The annual party will be held at the Angus Hotel for the presentation of the trophies, donated by Labatt's Breweries, Angus Paper Products Ltd., and Mr. Aubin of Angus Hotel at East Angus. Capt. E. L. Warner of the Lennoxville Rifle Club and P.Q.R.A. representative, will be present at the annual gathering. Roland Brousseau, mayor of East Angus, will also be among the many guests. Some 50 people are expected at the Westbury Rifle Club.

Members of the Westbury Rifle Club will open their summer range sometime next month. Chicken-shoot will be arranged so as to answer the request of many shooters around the Angus district. Plans are now discussed to obtain a permanent locale for the growing club.

Johnny Kelley And Two Finns Are Favored In 64th Annual BAA Classic But Tough Competition Is Expected

BOSTON (AP)—A U.S. marine lieutenant and an English teacher expect an assist from the weather today in their bids to upset the three top-ranked contenders in the 64th Boston Athletic Association marathon.

Lt. Alex Breckenridge and Jimmy Green of Saugus, Mass., are counting on their strength and speed to put them in front at the noon starting time, then carry them through the 26-mile, 385 yard test from suburban Hopkinton to Boston's Back Bay.

The favorites are Johnny Kelley, another English teacher from Groton, Conn., and Finland's latest durable duo of Paavo Kotila and Veikko Koivumaki.

The weatherman has predicted clearing skies, cool temperatures and a powerful tail breeze which may aid Breckenridge and Green in their efforts to win their first of two qualifying tests for the U.S. Olympic team.

Breckenridge last week ran a 30:45 for 10,000 metres (about six miles) at the Quantico Games—rated a fine showing for this stage of the outdoor season. He finished third in an indoor three mile jaunt this winter then won a full marathon the next afternoon.

Green finished eighth in the Boston marathon a year ago despite an injury-shortened training period. He was second to Kelley in the Pan-American and National (Yonkers) Marathons in '59.

The haunting memories of a TEX-MADE sheet

"I was one of her wedding presents 12 years ago. Every second Monday she'd hang me out on the line (the back-fence gossip I've heard in my time!) The other ladies were always admiring me: "So crisp and rich" ... "So beautiful, so—"
But now I'm boasting. Sorry.

The night Johnny was born I went to the hospital with them, wrapped around her knees! Talk about nervous fathers—he thought I was a blanket. The years went so fast! Suddenly I was top sheet on Johnny's new grown-up bed and he was taking his puppy to sleep with him. That was when I first began to feel a little tired. Lately I've been resting a lot, but it's lonely on the shelf. Then Johnny dug me out and made these eye-holes and I was sure it was the end of me.

But guess what... she was mad! She called me a perfectly good sheet! She's going to patch me! I may be just a ghost of my former self, but I'm still a Tex-Made. And we Canadian sheets are pretty hardy."
