CRISIS EASED IN TOKYO TODAY AS REBELS SUBMIT TO LOYAL TROOPS

Rebel Forces Agree to Quit Police Headquarters, Where They Barricaded Themselves in Defiance of Loyal Troops, and Return to Barracks without Undergoing Indignity of Being Disarmed—Agreement Averts Threat of Renewed Bloodshed—Elders of Emperor Chief Negotiator.

Tokyo, February 28.—(Friday)—After two days of grave crisis Tokyo slept easier in the early hours today, confident that sunrise would find the rebel soldiers who assassinated four Government dignitaries on Wednesday back in their barracks.

They capitulated last night to a Government request that they quit police headquarters where they had barricaded themselves in defiance of loyal troops.

The threat of bloodshed in the capital's streets was averted. Banking military authorities said they were confident that danger was past, since, under an arrangement between the rebels and the War Office, the former promised to return to their barracks and retain their arms, thereby escaping the dishonor of being disarmed.

The insurgents began the evacuation of the buildings they occupied during the darkness before midnight.

Prince Chichibu, the eldest of the Emperor's three brothers, was authoritatively credited with being one of the chief reasons that the rebels gave in, since the Prince, who took part in the negotiations, is personally known by many of the rebels.

The agreement with the rebels was understood to be confined to their promise to return to their regimental barracks at Azabu, leaving the question of their punishment for future negotiation.

Among the first to leave were said to be those who had occupied the residence of the late Premier Okada whom they assassinated in their sudden uprising Wednesday before dawn.

Many of the insurgents gathered in the famous Koraku restaurant at the foot of Nagatacho Hill.

Loyal army forces ruled the Imperial capital under martial law, and warships of the Imperial Navy steamed into positions to help enforce public order.

The second fleet, in command of Vice-Admiral Viscount Takayoshi Kato, arrived at Osaka Bay, on the southern end of the main island, The first fleet was expected to arrive tonight at the Yokosuka naval base, at the mouth of Tokyo Bay.

Curious crowds thronged to the waterfront at Shibaura, a suburb of Tokyo, to gaze at the first destroyers which arrived there yesterday from the Yokosuka base.

Surviving leaders of the Empire, members of the cabinet of the assassinated Premier Keisuke Okada, supreme War Council, and other high military officials, convened at Hirohito's palace to select a new Premier.

The fact that Admiral Kanji Kato, retired former chief of the Navy General Staff, joined the deliberations this afternoon with the Supreme War Council was interpreted to mean ultra-nationalist views were prevailing in strong support of Kato, a leader of the ultra-patriotic faction of the navy.

Others mentioned as possibilities for the Premiership were Prince Naruhiko Higashikuni, a member of the Supreme War Council, and Prince Fumimaro Konoze.

A brief announcement disclosed that the late Premier Okada was buried with simple rites, conducted by two of his secretaries, and with no distinguished persons present. The place announced of the funeral was not mentioned.

The Government also announced this afternoon that Finance Minister Korekiyo Takahashi died after being attacked yesterday, bringing the total number of Government leaders dead to four.

CHINA SEES EMERGENCE OF "COMMON SENSE" RULE

Shanghai, Feb. 27.—The startling Tokyo military uprising threw an ominous cloud over immediate Sino-Japanese relations today, but Chinese sources foresaw a collapse of the rebellion and an eventual emergence of "common sense" rule.

With successful attainment of their primary objective—the blinding of Premier Keisuke Okada out of power—the demonstrators were expected to yield peacefully to the persuasions of their superiors and return to their commands.

A Domei Japanese news agency dispatch from Tokyo said nine hundred rebellious troops began this morning a quiet withdrawal from the Government buildings they seized yesterday.

Direct advices from Tokyo, however, indicated the rebels, not yet pacified, still held some strategic points.

Although the sensational events in the Japanese capital aroused apprehension in Nanking, China's capital, believed the military coup might prove a boon to China in the long run.

While official comment was not yet forthcoming, many Government leaders expressed the opinion unofficially that if younger militarists succeeded in gaining ascendancy, Japan would be certain to push a more aggressive policy abroad for a time, adding to China's woes.

Cincinnati, Feb. 27.—A severe earthquake, originating about 10,500 miles from Cincinnati, was recorded today on the Xavier University seismograph. It started at 5:23 P.M. E.S.T. and the motion continued for about two hours.

Rev. Victor Stechschulte, seismologist, said the source, about twenty miles below the earth's surface, was somewhat deeper than usual. He calculated the quake centred in the region south of Sumatra or Java in the East Indies.

IL DUCE IS EXPECTED TO DENOUNCE LOCARNO PACT

Belief that Italian Premier Will Lodge Dramatic Protest to Franco-British Naval Accord Held in Informed Circles Today.

Rome, Feb. 27.—A belief that Premier Mussolini soon will denounce the Locarno pact and the Italo-French agreement of January 7, 1935, in dramatic protest to the Franco-British naval accord, gained adherents in informed circles today.

Strong hints that such a move is contemplated were dropped by the Giornale d'Italia, Rome's most authoritative newspaper, in an editorial which said it must be determined whether France's mutual assistance agreement with Britain is "compatible with the general principles of the accord of January 7, 1935, to say nothing of Locarno."

DIVORCE CASE BRINGS SERIOUS CHARGE

Grand Jurors, Mich., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Jay Harold Weenun's testimony in her divorce suit that her twenty-seven-year-old husband was so parsimonious he used cancelled stamps resulted in his detention for action by the federal grand jury.

EUROPEAN LEADERS CONCERNED AT LATEST JAPANESE DEVELOPMENTS

London Official Circles See Danger of Establishment of Militarist Dictatorship Based on Indifference to Western Civilization—Germany Believes Internal Political Upheaval May Delay Signing of Franco-Soviet Mutual Assistance Pact—Position of Naval Leaders Discussed.

London, February 27.—Europe's politicians, their eyes turned East, sought today to fathom whether Japan's internal upheaval would leave its mark on the course of world peace.

London's press asked openly: "Will it lead to war?" Some political sources, speculating on the possibility of eventual power for the Japanese militarist bloc, saw a danger of dictatorship based on indifference to western civilization and a determination to make Japan the master, at least, of Asia.

France, with a yet-unratified Franco-Soviet military assistance pact under parliamentary debate, viewed with uneasiness the possible effect of the Tokyo events on the Soviet Union.

In Berlin the thought was unofficially expressed that the Japanese assassinations and their possible consequences in relations with Russia might help block the Franco-Soviet accord.

BELIEVE REBELS IGNORED STRONG POSITION OF NAVY

London, Feb. 27.—The Daily Telegraph pointed out that the rebel Japanese officers had not reckoned with the possible effect of their action on the navy.

"Both the Premier and the former Premier who were murdered were admirals, appointed to their posts to balance the great and growing influence of the army," said the newspaper. "It is significant, and perhaps ominous, that an agreement was made to the fleets to restore order."

PREDICTS FURTHER SHIFT TOWARD FASCISM IN JAPAN

Moscow, Feb. 27.—In Soviet Russia's first official reaction to the Tokyo military uprising, the authoritative commentator Karl Dadek today predicted the attempted coup would mean "a further shift toward military fascism" in Japan, with possible serious consequences in foreign policy.

The recent series of sanguinary conflicts on the borders of Soviet-occupied Outer Mongolia and Japanese-dominated Manchukuo have brought the foreign policies of Russia and Japan into sharp conflict.

Tokyo-Moscow negotiations for a mixed commission to inquire into the latest clash, in which fifteen soldiers reportedly were slain last January 30, were proceeding in satisfactory fashion at the time of the Japanese revolt.

But Moscow observers speculated today on whether these negotiations might now continue, in the light of developments.

NO MOOD OF AGITATION WAS APPARENT IN U.S. CONGRESS

Washington, Feb. 27.—Congress took the events in Japan calmly today, while it watched to determine whether or not they signified an intensified Japanese drive for expansion.

No mood of agitation was apparent in Congress. Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, issued a statement saying:

"A small group of over-ambitious persons trying to rule by terror do not represent Japan or the Japanese people."

"There is not enough background for the usurpers to become an immediate threat to the Orient or to the world."

The opinion that the revolt marked "the beginning of the end of the Japanese military" was expressed

EXPLOITATION OF MONGOLIA AIM OF GROUP

Formation of Huge Syndicate Coupling Great Krupp-Thyssen Industrial Interests of Germany with Japanese Interests Reported in Financial Circles Today.

London, Feb. 27.—Formation of a huge syndicate coupling the great Krupp-Thyssen industrial interests of Germany with Japanese interests for the exploitation of Mongolia was reported in financial circles here today.

German oil companies were said to be included in the combine with Netherlands interests participating to the extent of $25,000,000.

The alliance was said to have been negotiated at a series of conversations at Amsterdam. Efforts to enlist British financial interests in the scheme reportedly failed.

The participating interests have already partitioned Mongolia into zones of economic influence and railway zones, it is understood. British banking interests in Shanghai are negotiating agreements with several Chinese firms to construct and operate a railroad through the Yangtze Valley, it was reported.

The British-Chinese venture includes the construction of a railroad running from Chengtu to Wuchang. Banking interests here believe the project will consolidate British interests in the Yangtze Valley and assure the economic development of the region.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT STAKES LIFE ON FRANCO-SOVIET DEFENCE PACT

Cabinet Decides to Demand Ratification of Agreement by Chamber of Deputies Today—Vote Takes on New Significance in Light of Serious Military Coup in Tokyo—Believed that Military Putsch Holds Possibility of More Aggressive Move Against Borders of Soviet Union.

Paris, Feb. 27.—The French Cabinet today decided to stake its life on its demand for ratification by the Chamber of Deputies of the Franco-Soviet treaty of mutual assistance.

A vote is expected during the day on the controversial treaty, which is regarded as taking on new significance in the light of the serious military coup in Tokyo.

French Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin laid before his fellow ministers the "Qual d'Injury" of Adolf Hitler's personal newspaper, Voelksischer Beobachter.

A number of semi-official statements in the Berlin press echoed Rosenberg's attack, timed to appear on the day when the French Chamber of Deputies is to vote on ratification of the mutual assistance agreement.

TROTSKY FLAYS CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA TODAY

Former Commissar of War and Co-founder of Soviet Party Gives Revolting Details of Reign of Terror Existing in Russia.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Feb. 27.—"During recent months and weeks I have received extremely important news, from authentic sources, relative to the terrible regime against political prisoners whose fidelity to the Soviet Union is beyond doubt and whose only crime is that of criticizing the ruling bureaucracy," states Leon Trotsky, former Commissar of War in the U.S.S.R., now living in exile in Norway in a statement to the Associated Press.

"Friends have requested me to let them know the truth of this matter. A short time ago, for example, Doctor Anton Ciliga, former leader of the Yugoslavian Communist party, arrived from the Soviet Union where he spent more than five years in prison and exile as punishment for his critical attitude towards the leadership of the Comintern."

"In order to force his expulsion from the country, Ciliga was then fed forcibly, and prevented from committing suicide. Thousands of expelled members of the ruling party are in similar circumstances, because they protested against the conditions of growing inequality, introduction of army-officer titles, dissipation and autocracy."

"Zinoviev and Kamenev, close collaborators of Lenin, are now imprisoned for a terroristic crime with which they had nothing whatsoever to do. Kamenev, former chairman of the political bureau, is kept in a cell with twelve others. Last year an additional five years was added

DEATH CLAIMED FORMER RECTOR OF TOWNSHIPS

Rev. Edgar B. Husband, Who Held Charges in Marbleton, Danville, Johnville, North Hatley, Magog and Compton, Died at His Home in Montreal Today.

Montreal, Feb. 27.—Rev. Edgar B. Husband, 77, for forty years a Church of England minister in Quebec Province, died at his home here today.

Born and educated in England, Mr. Husband came to Canada while a young man and was ordained at Quebec City. Prior to his retirement six years ago he served in parishes in Gaspe and at Marbleton, Danville, Johnville, North Hatley, Magog and Compton.

Survivors include Mrs. G. W. Botterill, of New York, a daughter.

SLOT MACHINES AS GOOD AS GONE IN SASKATCHEWAN

Regina, Feb. 27.—Only the signature of Lieut.-Gov. H. E. Munroe was needed today to make effective legislation passed by the Saskatchewan Legislature banning slot machines.

Attorney-General T. C. Davis said owners of the machines would probably be allowed a week or ten days to get the machines out of the province. "Pin ball" game also may be brought within the scope of the legislation.

REICH REJECTS ITALIAN PLAN FOR ALLIANCE

Despite Attitude of Hitler Towards Five-Power Agreement, It Duce Proceeds with Plans to Renounce Locarno Pact and Italo-French Agreement.

Rome, February 27.—Undisavowed by the setback given his plan for a five-power agreement embracing Italy, Germany, Poland, Austria and Hungary by the refusal of Chancellor Hitler to join the combination, the Duce is going ahead with his plans to denounce the Locarno pact and the Italo-French agreement of January 1935.

Evidently Mussolini has no accepted Germany's bluff as final and has merely put his ambitious plan away in a drawer to be resurrected at some more opportune time.

Mussolini is encouraged in this attitude from the fact, from what can be learned in Rome, that Hitler's refusal, though quite definite, is couched in bland, friendly terms.

Hitler apparently assured him Germany looks with sympathy on the stand Italy has taken and is prevented from accepting his proposals only by considerations of opportunity. Hitler pointed out in his connection that Germany is at present economically and militarily weak and needs a breathing spell to recruit her forces. She cannot therefore do anything at present likely to draw on her the hostility of France and Britain, but will maintain an attitude of benevolent neutrality to Italy.

Despite the tenor of Hitler's reply, which destroys any hope that Mussolini's plan may be accepted at present, negotiations still continue as evidenced by the fact that Fulvio Suvich, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, received both the German and French Ambassadors last evening. Great secrecy surrounds the German Ambassador's errand, but it is considered important in the present phase of Italo-German relations.

The French Ambassador apparently called to inquire, as he did only a few days ago, what there Continued on Page 2.

THE WEATHER

COLDER WITH SNOWFURRIES.—A disturbance centered this morning over northern Ontario, has decreased in intensity and pressure is low over southern Alberta and British Columbia with high pressure in northern Manitoba and the Mackenzie Valley. Snow, sleet and rain have occurred in Ontario and western Quebec while it has been fair and comparatively mild in the Maritimes. It has been cold in the West with light to moderate snowfalls in many districts, but it is now somewhat milder in southern Alberta.

Forecast: Cloudy and comparatively mild, followed by northwest winds and somewhat colder tonight and Friday with snowfurries.

Temperatures yesterday: Maximum, 37; minimum, 32.

Same day last year: Maximum, 14; minimum, 9.

ACQUIT GIRL OF MURDER ON GROUNDS OF INSANITY

Emma Willis, Unmoved by Her Acquittal in "Abuse Murder" of Her Father, Sulk Because Jury Found Her Insane.

Anadarko, Okla., Feb. 27.—Emma Willis, unmoved by her acquittal in the "abuse murder" of her father, sulked today because the jury found her insane.

"Yeah," she replied to relatives who congratulated her on her acquittal. "I want to go home. I don't want to go to a hospital."

A jury of farmers and merchants accepted the defence contention that brutalities and improper advances made to her by her father, Edna H. Willis, upset her mentality and that she was insane when she shot him to death as he slept last December 21st.

LOUD SPEAKERS TO WARN JAYWALKERS

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.—Philadelphia has installed amplifiers on poles at a busy intersection near the city hall and next week the jaywalkers will hear warnings boomed to them.

"It may go something like this: 'Get you, with the red hat, wait for the green light before crossing.'"

PROPOSAL TO NATIONALIZE BANKS FINDS LITTLE GOVERNMENT FAVOR

Finance Minister Charles Dunning Tells House that Taking Over of Banking Business by State Would Result in Ultimate Loss of Much Personal Liberty—Declares Parliament Fundamentally Incapable of Operating Any Business.

Ottawa, February 27.—Proposals to nationalize the chartered banks or other proposals tending in the direction of a socialist state find no favor with Finance Minister Dunning.

As the House of Commons turned down a resolution to nationalize the Bank of Canada and the chartered banks yesterday, Mr. Dunning announced the Government was considering changes in ownership and control of the former but was not prepared to entertain proposals to nationalize the chartered banks.

The resolution was proposed by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. member for Rosetown-Biggar, and so far as the nationalizing of the Bank of Canada was concerned, found support among Liberal members who spoke. All of them, however, shared Mr. Dunning's view that the chartered banks should be left under private control.

The discussion brought out a new scheme for abolishing the interest burden on the national debt in a speech from W. A. Tucker, the Rosetown, Sask., Liberal with Social Credit leanings. By taking over control of the Bank of Canada, Mr. Tucker said, the Government could use it to issue currency and credit in accordance with the needs of the people.

It could take Government bonds to the Bank of Canada and have the bank issue currency against them, which could be used to pay off the national debt. The bonds would bear no interest and over a period of twenty-four years the entire Government debt could be reduced to a non-interest basis.

Mr. Dunning said Parliament was no institution to engage in business or to run a bank. Its function was to regulate business as between man and man and industry and industry and not to operate. If banks were taken over they would have to be operated by a board, and the board would bring in the evils of bureaucracy.

Experience in other democratic countries which had adopted bureaucratic methods of operating public services showed that bureaucracies had tremendous self-perpetuating power. If banks were to be nationalized, Mr. Dunning thought, other phases of business activity also would be nationalized and there was no telling where the tendency would stop. The result could only be operation of all or most of the business of the country by a series of bureaucracies and the loss of a good deal of liberty.

The final result of such a move could only be worse than the condition it was sought to cure. The Minister said he was opposed to Mr. Coldwell's resolution or any similar resolution tending in the direction of a socialist state.

Today the House continues with private members' resolutions and debate will be resumed on Thomas Reid's motion in connection with employment of Canadian seamen on subsidized ships. The Liberal member for New Westminster said that shipping companies enjoying Dominion Government subsidies were employing large numbers of Orientals seamen while Canadian sailors were out of work. He thought they should be compelled to give preference to white Canadian seamen.

Jean Francois Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, once fought through two sessions to get repairs for the railway station at his home town of Riviere du Loup, but yesterday he won a favor for the town in a few minutes.

He had a resolution asking the Government to appoint experts to investigate the town's possibilities as a year-round port. He said his harbor, far down the St. Lawrence River, was one of the best in the world, a suitable place for transshipping Nova Scotia coal.

Mr. Pouliot's speech was short and so was the reply of Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Marine. Mr. Howe agreed to send departmental officers to investigate the river town's possibilities, and the House passed the resolution.

RAILWAYS WILL EMPLOY RELIEF CAMP OCCUPANTS

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—The Government's intention to abolish relief camps by Dominion Day on railway maintenance work and a plan to employ 10,000 men now in the camps were announced yesterday in the House of Commons by Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Railways.

While Government supporters applauded, Mr. Rogers said no new projects would be undertaken in connection with the camps. Present strength of the camps would not be increased and there would be no new admissions.

He announced the Government, in co-operation with the two railways, will put 10,000 men on deferred maintenance work on tracks of both lines in Canada. This will be in addition to the usual maintenance work of the railways. Provision for the Government's share of cost would be made in an emergency vote to be introduced in the House later this session.

It is understood the railway work will be started as early as possible in the spring, probably as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Approximately 5,000 men will be employed on lines of each railway.

The Minister also announced increase in the relief camp allowances from twenty cents a day to $15 a month per man while the camps continue to operate. Each man, however, will receive only $7.50 in cash, the balance being set aside to be given him when he leaves the camp in the form of vouchers payable at the rate of $4.00 a week at any post office.

ASSASSINATION JAPANESE ACT OF PATRIOTISM

Killers of Prominent Public Men in Cherry Blossom Kingdom Seldom if Ever Seek to Escape Arrest—Regarded as Road to Martyrdom.

New York, Feb. 27.—Assassination, while not a particularly fine art in Japan, has long been considered by the Japanese as a road to martyrdom and a profound act of patriotism, says Victor Eubank, for five years chief of the Associated Press Bureau at Tokyo, in a special article for that organization. Mr. Eubank travelled extensively in Japan and its possessions and was personally acquainted with the leading figures in Japanese life.

Killings and attempted killings throughout the past numerous years in the Island Empire have been directed, almost exclusively, to the righting of real or fancied political wrongs. Murders for money, or in the commission of robberies and burglaries, have been relatively few.

Hari Karl, or the ancient custom of suicide by severing the abdomen with the family sword, has been virtually abolished in Japan. But the taking of one's own life as a penance for dereliction of duty, or for many other reasons, is still common and viewed as entirely honorable.

Cabinet, police and military officers have been the victims of assassinations in all parts of the Cherry Blossom land. The killers seldom attempt to resist arrest or escape. Their religious faith makes them martyrs to the Empire and, even though they are prepared to pay the penalty with their lives, they envision their immediate transformation into Shin gods.

Attempts on the life of the Emperor, or members of the Imperial family, seldom have occurred, although an attack was made on the present ruler, Hirohito, a number of years ago. At the time, as Prince Regent, he was returning from the ceremony of opening the Imperial Diet. The youth who fired at Hirohito was adjudged mentally unbalanced, but a number of police suicides followed this crime because of the "dishonor" connected with the lax guardianship of the Prince.

LEAGUE COMMITTEE URGES IMPOSITION OF EMBARGO
Believes Such a Step by His Majesty's Government Would Receive Overwhelming Support of British Public.

London, Feb. 27.—The executive committee of the League of Nations Union, which last summer secured 11,000,000 votes for League support among the British public, today demanded imposition of an oil embargo on Italy. If such a step will be found capable of terminating the war in East Africa.

The resolution added: "The executive committee is confident that any initiative on these lines by His Majesty's Government will receive the overwhelming support of public opinion in this country."

BRITISH SAVINGS INCREASE.
London, Feb. 27.—The people of the United Kingdom had on deposit in the Post Office Savings Bank at the end of 1934 $1,950,000,000, the largest on record, and an increase over last year of $175,000,000.

HULL JURY PAYS VISIT TO SCENE OF FATAL HOLD-UP

Crown Still Expected to Present Evidence of Considerable Importance as Trial of Six Men for Robbery and Murder Continues.

Hull, Que., Feb. 27.—Trial of six men charged with the murder of Armand Nadeau, drawing towards the close of its second week, continued today after court observed Ash Wednesday and made an excursion to the scene of the crime.

The Crown still had at least a few arrows in its quiver to fire at Paul Laffleur, twenty-nine year old bank clerk and first of the accused against whom evidence has been presented. It was known to have a statement, allegedly signed by him, in an alleged robbery plot that brought death to the eighteen-year-old Provincial Bank of Canada employee.

Nadeau was drilled through the head on December 4 by three revolver bullets allegedly fired by Nathan Bouverfand, alias Martin, former Springfield, Mass., butcher, who was killed four days later when he allegedly resisted arrest in a Montreal apartment.

Nadeau and Laffleur were en route from the main street, Hull branch of the bank to the Ottawa Clearing House the day he was slain and $16,610 was taken from the car.

HOCKEY
STANSTADT COLLEGE LEADS BORDER LEAGUE SQUADS

Stanstead, Feb. 27.—Stanstead College moved into play in the Border Hockey League last night by scoring a six to two victory over the Border Hawks. There were only twenty-eight paid admissions collected at the turnstiles, the poor condition of the ice and other circumstances keeping the attendance down. The surface was so sticky that it was decided to play four fifteen-minute periods instead of the customary three twenty's.

Hector Channell opened the scoring in the first period and Max de Gruchy sent the Hawks ahead with his pair of second-period markers, both scored with help from Cote, who replaced Langevin. Russ Langley, goalie, made a pass over from Galen Sisco in the third round, while in the same cant Lawrence Winter sent the students ahead by sinking the rebound to Bruce Viopond's shot.

The collegians added three markers in the fourth session. Hector Channell opened this goal drive and his brother, Howard, was credited with a point when Cote swept the disc into the Border Hawk cage while attempting to clear. Langley concluded the tallying on a play with Hector Channell.

The officials, Peter Millet and Bill Hebert, were over indulgent, inflicting only one penalty despite the amount of tripping and slashing which went on.

The line-ups were:
Stanstead College: Goal, Gordon; defence, Poops and Schofield; centre, Winter; wings, Howard Channell and Viopond; subs, Sisco, Hector Channell and Langley.

Border Hawks: Goal, Wells; defence, Gings and Bachelors; centre, deGruchy; wings, Cote and Coulombe; subs, Pepin, Kirwin and Bushnell.

SPORTING NOTES
SEVERAL OLYMPIC RECORDS BETTERED BY AMERICANS

New York, Feb. 27.—While this winter's indoor track and field campaign has dropped a few hints that fireworks may be expected in the Olympic Games and the preliminary next summer, it takes a thorough survey of the record books to show how much speed and strength the United States should have on tap.

Since the 1932 Games at Los Angeles, when most of the present Olympic standards were established, a concerted attack upon the world records has brought better performances in nearly every Olympic event.

Taking into consideration only those performances since 1932 which have been officially accepted as world records, the Olympic figures have been surpassed in the 200-metre and 400-metre hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault and shot put by American athletes while the 100-metre and 800-metre marks have been equalled. In addition several better-than-Olympic performances have not yet gained official recognition.

That leaves a number of Olympic events which do not appear on most track meet programmes, such as the 10,000-metre run, 50,000-metre walk, 3,000-metre team race and 56-pound weight throw, and a couple of particularly good Olympic feats still untouched.

LABATT KIDNAP GANG MAY HAVE ABDUCTED LOW

Former London Brewery Executive Seized Seven Years Ago May Be Asked to Confront Four Men Convicted of Kidnapping in 1934.

Toronto, Feb. 27.—The Ontario Government's attempt to solve the seven-year-old kidnapping of Sam Low, former London brewery executive, who said his captors tortured him, apparently moved today toward Ottawa where Low conducts a florist business.

The Low kidnapers were never captured or identified, although it was reported ransom of $33,000 was paid to obtain Low's release. It is reported now that Low may be asked to confront the four men convicted of kidnapping John S. Labatt in August, 1934, almost six years after Low was abducted.

In particular, it is said, they would like the Ottawa florist and former executive of Carling's Brewery, London, to see Jack Bannion, one of the Labatt kidnapers.

Bannion, sentenced to serve fifteen years in penitentiary for a kidnapping that yielded no ransom, has long been suspected of having a part in the more successful Low snatching.

At the same time Low would be asked to look over David Meisner, Michael McCordell and Russell Knowles, others sentenced for the Labatt crime. Meisner, held to be innocent by McCordell, goes on trial for the second time next month in London. The Federal Department of Justice granted him a new trial.

CORNWALL MURDER TRIAL REACHES UNEXPECTED END
Plea of Guilty of Manslaughter Entered by Counsel for Arthur Tremblay Accepted by Court This Morning.

Cornwall, Ont., Feb. 27.—Trial of Arthur Tremblay, charged with the murder of Rene Tessier, thirty-four year old railway section man, reached an unexpected climax at the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court here early today. A plea of guilty of manslaughter entered by defence counsel soon after the opening of Court, was accepted by Justice Nicol Jeffrey, and sentence was deferred until the last day of the Assizes.

Justice Jeffrey said he had gone over the evidence and as the evidence indicated he thought there was some doubt as to whether the accused in such a condition, could form the intent to kill, which would be necessary if a verdict of guilty of murder were to be found. In view of this, he accepted the plea of guilty of manslaughter and asked the jury to formally record its verdict.

The jury agreed, and Justice Jeffrey deferred sentencing until next week.

The Crown and defence yesterday concluded presentation of evidence that both men were drunk the day Tessier, railway section man, was killed. The body of Tremblay, home, his body bruised and swollen, he lay a hammer and a carpenter's axe.

Members of the Tremblay family gave evidence that several ancestors and other relatives of the accused had been inmates at various times of institutions for the insane or feeble-minded.

TRUE BILL VERDICTS IN NEW BRUNSWICK MURDER
Defence Counsel Seeks Postponement of Trials of Trio After Grand Jury Returns True Bills on Murder, Kidnapping and Abduction Charges.

Dorchester, N.B., Feb. 27.—Defence application for postponement of trials of Arthur and Ianie Bannister and their mother, Mrs. May Bannister, were under consideration today following the action of a Grand Jury yesterday in returning true bills.

The Grand Jury heard twenty witnesses tell of the happenings at lonely Pacific Junction, where Philip Lake, his common law wife, Bertha Ring, and their son, Jackie, died, before deciding the Bannisters and their mother should be tried.

The brothers, Arthur, nineteen years old, and Daniel, twenty years old, will each be tried on three charges—that they murdered Lake and the woman, and that they kidnapped and abducted infant Betty Lake, lone survivor of the family of four.

Mrs. Bannister will face a jury on the charge that she kidnapped and abducted the baby, found at her Berry Mills road home five days after the killing.

Lake was shot, his wife was killed by a blow on the head and the little boy died of exposure on the night Lake's home was burned to the ground.

BOMBING RAIDS PREPARING WAY FOR BIG DRIVE

Heavy Bombing of Ethiopian Fortified Positions at Pasdeezia Taken to Indicate Italian Forces Are Ready to Advance on Mount Alaji.

Rome, Feb. 27.—Italian airplanes heavily bombed Ethiopian fortified positions at Pasdeezia in the north-east war zone despite intense anti-aircraft fire, the War Office announced today.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio, whose northern armies are poised for a mass land and air attack on strategic Mt. Alaji, south of Makale, announced intense aerial activity on both the northern and southern fronts.

CLAIM FOURTEEN CIVILIANS KILLED IN BOMBING RAIDS
Addis Ababa, Feb. 27.—Palace officials announced today they were informed two Italian planes bombed a civilian motor caravan yesterday, killing 14 persons, including Addis Ababa, and fourteen persons were killed.

War Minister Ras Mulugheta, meanwhile, telegraphed direct word from the northern front that only Italian patrols had moved south of Makale. Government officials interpreted this as a denial of Fascist claims of a victory in that region.

SLIGHT DROP IN THIS COUNTRY'S CATTLE TOTAL
Estimated at 8,430,800, a Decrease of 1.5 Per Cent. Compared with Previous Year—More Milch Cows.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—The cattle population of Canada at December 1, 1935, is estimated at 8,430,800, a decrease of 1.5 per cent. during the twelve months. Milch cow numbers increased 2.2 per cent. while beef cow numbers declined 7.7 per cent. All classes of female breeding stock were reduced in numbers compared with the figures reported in the previous December. Since the number of cows to calve in the December period of 1935-36 has decreased and the intended marketing for the same period increased, it seems probable that cattle numbers have commenced their periodic decline.

Milk production per cow increased from 11.26 pounds in 1934 to 11.71 pounds in 1935. The estimated number of cows per milker on December 1 was 2,514,000, an increase of 5.2 per cent.

Swine numbers were estimated at 3,950,500, an increase of 8.3 per cent. With estimated farrowings higher than those shown in the December-May period of 1934-35 it is evident that a considerable increase in swine numbers may be expected.

There were 2,628,500 sheep and lambs on farms representing a decrease of 21.3 per cent. from the previous June and 4 per cent. from the previous December. With the number of ewes to lamb in the December-May period somewhat lower than was forecast last year it is apparent that the downward trend in the sheep population has not yet been checked.

Farm holdings of hens and chickens amounted to 44,319,200 birds. The decline between June 1 and December 1, 1935, was not as great as was reported in the same period of 1934. This fact, together with a reduction in the number of birds intended for market, would suggest that the decline in poultry numbers is slowing up.

FILIBUSTER IS THREATENED ON PROFITTING
Senator Nye Demands that Congress Consider Measure to Curb War Profits at Present Session—Would Make Nation "Pay as It Fights".

Washington, Feb. 27.—A threat of a filibuster "if necessary" to force consideration at this session of the United States Congress of a bill to curb war profits was voiced today by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota.

The bill, devised by Nye's munitions committee, provides stiff taxes on individuals and virtual confiscation of earnings in income above $10,000 a year in time of war.

In addition it would empower the United States President virtually to conscript industrial leaders to maintain production of essential war supplies.

Its author said that under it the nation would "pay as it fights."

THREE DEATHS FOLLOWED NEGRO'S BRUTAL ATTACK
Mangum, Okla., Feb. 27.—The brutal beating of a mother and her daughter by a negro ex-convict was marked today by three deaths.

Mrs. Allen Wilson, thirty-one years old, died here last night of injuries received when the negro, Willie Jones, struck her with a hoe at her home near Blair last Thursday.

Her five-year-old daughter, Alice Othello, also beaten by the negro, died a few hours after Jones was killed while trying to escape from a posse.

REICH REJECTS ITALIAN PLAN FOR ALLIANCE

is in all this talk of an understanding between Italy and Germany and Italy's determination to break with France if the League gives the screw another turn. According to reports circulating in Rome, the Reich is rejecting the Italian plan for an alliance.

ITALIANS MAY JOIN JAPAN IN LEAVING PARLEY

Believed that Showdown Is Near on Vexed Question of Naval Limitation and Continued Application of Sanctions Against Italy.

London, Feb. 27.—Fears that Italy may follow Japan's example and withdraw from the International Naval Conference prevailed among conference delegates today who said they believed a showdown was at hand on the question of sanctions against Italy.

Ambassador Dino Grandi received an appointment to call on Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, and convey to him the Italian attitude toward the signing of a new naval treaty in the face of League of Nations sanctions against the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

Again, as in January when Japan quit the Conference, the other delegates were discussing the chances of carrying on should Italy walk out.

Observers heard mention of a possible tri-power agreement among the United States, Great Britain and France which would supplement the Anglo-German naval agreement.

IMMIGRATION URGED AS BEST IMPERIAL DEFENCE
Premier Savage, of New Zealand, Declares Best Way to Defend a Dominion Is to Fill It with Prosperous People.

Wellington, N.Z., February 27.—While the Government of New Zealand intends to discuss Empire defence there are monetary as well as military problems to be considered. Premier Michael Savage told a deputation from the Navy League today.

The premier said his Government while it could not afford to overlook common sense needs of defence, still less could overlook the requirements of the people.

Replying to a deputation, Minister of Defence Jones said the whole question of Empire defence was due for examination. The Government intended to re-establish the trans-Tasmanian flying boat service and was anxious the Dominion's own people should be employed thereon.

Premier Savage said when the British Commonwealth accepted the responsibility for filling the present empty spaces it at the same time established a first line of defence. The best way to defend New Zealand was to fill it with prosperous people.

The Government intended to discuss Empire defences. The British Commonwealth could not afford to be divided because it was a case of sinking or swimming together.

PROPOSAL TO NOTIONALIZE BANKS FINDS LITTLE GOVERNMENT FAVOR

a camp of his own free will he will at least have some means of support while he is seeking industrial re-establishment, the Minister said. Allowance for food, clothing, medical care and tobacco would be continued as at present.

The Department of National Defence, working in co-operation with the Department of Labor, would continue relief camp projects as long as they remained open, the Minister said. A "more intensive application" of the farm placement scheme through co-operation between Dominion and provinces would be encouraged.

The Minister suggested if the camps were closed by Dominion Day some of the men might seek employment in the harvest fields. Forest conservation and mining development might absorb others.

MISINFORMED PATRIOT HAS FOUND A "SPY" IN COMMONS
Ottawa, Feb. 27.—A zealous but misinformed patriot has found a blond woman "spy" in the Press Gallery of the House of Commons, it was disclosed today.

The patriot, whose name was withheld, wrote Major M. F. Gregg, Sergeant-at-Arms, that he had observed from the public gallery behind the press accommodation a woman writing notations in a parliamentary guide and looking across the floor of the House. He made his observations during debate on the Canada-United States trade agreement.

He asked, confusing the name of Mrs. Evelyn Tufts, correspondent for a Nova Scotia paper, with that of the late President Taft of the United States: "Why is a prominent family in the United States so interested in our affairs that they send one of the best brains in their country to our Press Gallery?"

Headed: "Please note this certain lady (whom he called Tufts) had taken a Parliamentary guide and was making notations opposite the name of nearly every member."

The man was believed to fear an annexation move on the part of the United States.

Mrs. Tufts said she was not a spy. She is a blond.

MONTREAL TRADE BOARD IS OPPOSED TO NEW ELEVATOR

Requests Minister of Marine to Receive Delegation and Hear Argument Against Three Rivers Project.

Montreal, Feb. 27.—The Montreal Board of Trade has decided to ask Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Marine, to receive a delegation of its executive council and hear claims of the Board in opposition to the projected private grain elevator at Three Rivers.

The proposed meeting at Ottawa is a result of further correspondence with Mr. Howe in regard to the leasing by the Dominion Government of a site in the Three Rivers harbor for the erection of a grain elevator by private interests headed by the James Norris grain interests of Chicago and Winnipeg and men closely associated with Toronto Terminals, Limited.

TESTS WILL DECIDE NORTH ATLANTIC AIR MAIL BASES
Test Flights Over Various Proposed Routes Will Be Carried Out During Next Two Years.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—Test flights over the various proposed routes for a North Atlantic air mail service will determine the bases to be established on this side of the Atlantic, a delegation from Sydney was told yesterday by officials of the Post Office Department.

Major S. E. Muggah, of Sydney, accompanied by Alderman George Morrison, Col. J. A. Macdonald, Frank McIntyre, representing the Board of Trade, and City Clerk H. D. Hopkins of Saint John, interviewed Post Office officials on the proposed air mail route. The Sydney men also interviewed other Ministers regarding port developments.

Tests of the North Atlantic route will be carried out in the next two years, using the various proposed routes linking the United States with England by way of Newfoundland and some point on the Canadian Atlantic seaboard.

Country and Dairy Products Prices
Montreal, Feb. 27.—Local produce markets were inclined to be easier yesterday, fresh eggs arriving in the city were cheaper, dealers averaging one cent per dozen under Tuesday's levels. Small lots to the retail trade were reduced by wholesale jobbing houses, as announced Tuesday. The milder weather caused the lower eggs levels. The butter market was steady to a shade lower. Potatoes prices were sold to five cents per bag lower, cheese and poultry remained steady.

On the egg market graded shipments in carlots or l.c.l. lots were mainly 30c for A-large, 28c for A-medium, and 27c for A-pullets, with odd quotations on both sides of these prices being reported. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by wholesale jobbing houses as follows:

	Cartons Loose
A-1 large	30c
A-1 medium	28c
A-1 pullets	27c
A-2 large	34c
A-2 medium	32c
A-pullets	32c

The butter market was mainly 23 1/2c for No. 1, 22 1/2c for No. 2, 21 1/2c for No. 3, 20 1/2c for No. 4, 19 1/2c for No. 5, 18 1/2c for No. 6, 17 1/2c for No. 7, 16 1/2c for No. 8, 15 1/2c for No. 9, 14 1/2c for No. 10, 13 1/2c for No. 11, 12 1/2c for No. 12, 11 1/2c for No. 13, 10 1/2c for No. 14, 9 1/2c for No. 15, 8 1/2c for No. 16, 7 1/2c for No. 17, 6 1/2c for No. 18, 5 1/2c for No. 19, 4 1/2c for No. 20, 3 1/2c for No. 21, 2 1/2c for No. 22, 1 1/2c for No. 23, 1/2c for No. 24, 1/4c for No. 25, 1/8c for No. 26, 1/16c for No. 27, 1/32c for No. 28, 1/64c for No. 29, 1/128c for No. 30.

W.C.T.U. HELD BUSY SESSION AT WATERLOO

Founder's Day Observed by Members of Women's Christian Temperance Union at Waterloo—Splendid Papers Given.

Waterloo, February 25.—A meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Miss Bennett and Mrs. Boyce with an attendance of twenty including several visitors. In the unavoidable absence of the president, Mrs. W. M. Wallace, the meeting was in charge of Miss Greenleaf, who invited Mrs. A. C. Miller to conduct the devotional exercises. The anniversary of the death of Miss Frances Willard, founder of the organization, occurred on February 17, 1898, and in commemoration of the founder a splendid paper had been prepared by Miss Greenleaf, in which the outstanding characteristics of this highly esteemed woman were dealt with. Miss Greenleaf's article also stressed the importance of the work and urged the members to put forth greater effort in carrying on the work of the Union. Following the closing ceremonies, refreshments were served by Mrs. Boyce and Miss Bennett, and a pleasant social hour spent.

The Waterloo High School hockey team is being deluged with congratulations for its splendid game played on the Granby rink, when they defeated Cowansville High School in a score of six to one in the final match of the district of Bedford High School series. SHERBROOKE, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1936.

Men and women never struggle so hard as when they struggle alone, without witness, counselor, or confidant; uncouraged, unadvised and unhelped.—Charlotte Brontë.

A New Bond With Ottawa.

"As a country woman to country women, and a Women's Institute member to my fellow-members, I send you my best wishes."

This friendly and simply-worded greeting comes from Her Excellency, Lady Tweedsmuir, to the Women's Institutes of Canada, and at a time when it cheers and encourages the members of Canada's most important organization for rural women.

Lady Tweedsmuir declares herself a country woman, and this in itself is a bond between the charming lady who presides at Rideau Hall and rural women in this Dominion. Her Excellency is making friendly contact with Canadian women in many cities, and in rural places whenever possible, and she may feel assured of the loyalty and best endeavors of Institute women throughout Canada.

Included in her greeting are these expressions: "I hope that 1936 will see our work steadily progressing everywhere, and that we shall do our part in helping to bring Peace and Good-will to the world. Also that we may continue to improve the household arts of our country."

It is also encouraging to know that "Canada's Lady Tweedsmuir—Our Susan Buchan" as she is lovingly termed by the press women of Canada, has graciously accepted an honorary membership in the Canadian Women's Press Club, a Dominion-wide organization. Since her first coming Lady Tweedsmuir has shown a keen interest in the problems facing women writers, and a desire for high standards in whatever they undertake.

Coupled with these distinctions is the fact that His Excellency is Honorary President of the Canadian Authors' Association, in which body he automatically becomes an active member as John Buchan, the noted author. Because of these friendly bonds, scribblers may buckle on their armour and sally forth with newly acquired ambition to battle with the fierce competition going on in the field of literature, always remembering the mottoes: "For Home and Country" (W. L.) and "Every Stroke Upward" (C.W.P.C.).

"Smith XX" Identified.

Seldom in recent years has as dramatic an illustration of the power of the press been offered as in the work of a Toronto newspaperman in identifying Canada's only "unknown soldier." This man—"Smith XX"—apparently mentally deficient and suffering from an oral deformity which made his speech nearly incomprehensible, turned up unaccountably in a Canadian repatriation camp at Ripon, England, at the close of the Great War.

A piece of human debris of the Great War who was not capable of caring for himself on the sea of life, he was returned to Canada. Here for seventeen years doctors and psychologists endeavored to learn something of his past or his identity, but without success. Then a newspaperman interested himself in the case. After a few hours of patient work calling for the exercise of sympathy and human understanding, the journalist was able to piece isolated words together in a logical sequence: "Oyster boats. Havre de Grace. Baltimore. Jordan."

Wiring his story ahead, the Toronto writer proceeded to Baltimore, where he interviewed relatives of the man and "Smith XX" became Oliver Jordan.

Although the trials of Jordan are far from over, the fact remains that after seventeen years a case that baffled army and medical services in all parts of the world has been solved and Canada's "unknown soldier" has been identified by a newspaperman's concentrated study of the man and the problem.

A Book Can Stimulate Or Paralyze The Mind.

A young woman digging around for one of those ponderous articles which graduate students must write if they are to win Ph. D. degrees decided to have a go at statistics on the great reading public.

This task, which undoubtedly brought her into contact with some very dull people and some even duller literature, resulted in the discovery that six of every seven books which the general reader peruses are novels, and that only one of these six novels is much good. The rest, this student found, were pretty trashy.

Now all this is probably something less than the most important discovery of the year; but it is worth weighing in on briefly, if only because there is more unadulterated bunkum being tossed around on the general subject of literature these days than on anything else.

Having noticed that our great men traditionally nourished their growing souls on books, we seem to have jumped to the conclusion that any book, even a very poor one, is better than no book at all; and that the man who spends a considerable part of his spare time reading is by that token a man of keen intellectual interests.

We might be wise to remember that a trashy book can be just as much a waste of time as a trashy movie, an evening of trashy conversation, or a couple of hours in an ill-ventilated beer parlor.

There is nothing magical about a book, as a book. A great book can lift you up to the stars; a poor book can deaden your mind and leave you that much worse off than you were before you read it.

If life were perfectly satisfactory, we probably would read no books at all. For a book, after all, is something to which we turn when the world that can be imagined looks more attractive than the world that really exists.

Either we want to escape from the life that we have, or we want to see how someone wiser than ourselves looked at this tangled business of living. A really good book can do wonders for us in either field. In such a book as "Huckleberry Finn," for instance, we can roam in an enchanted land that makes us forget all the sorry imperfections of everyday life; in a book like "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," we can see life's bare bones, with innate human nobility somehow shining through all possible mischance and disaster.

But in the average novel we can get neither. Instead, we get only a chance to waste our time and deaden our senses. And the earnest citizen who devotes all his spare time to reading novels, under the impression that he is thereby leading an intellectual life, might in many cases be more profitably employed pitching horseshoes.

Editor's Note-Book.

Cables from Garmisch-Partenkirchen, scene of the winter Olympics in Germany, recently carried a perfect portrayal of some of the less pleasant aspects of dictatorship.

Two persons were hurt, several fainted and hundreds were bruised and scratched in a milling crowd which Nazi soldiers kept in the Olympic stadium for more than two hours, until Chancellor Hitler and other high officials had departed.

Many stood ankle-deep in mud, but this made no difference to the Nazi guards, ordered to hold back the crowds so that Reichsfuehrer Hitler might come and go with safety and ease. Intermittently, the Nazi salute was required of all.

But strangely, one correspondent cabled, most of these regimented thousands seemed satisfied. They had learned to bear the yoke meekly, which is perhaps the chief reason for giving thanks that Canada is not under a dictatorship.

Speaking of the currency situation in Europe, the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association says:

"The process of deflation, to which the gold bloc countries are committed, has not yet been completed, and unless devaluation takes place (and it is by no means improbable that it will take place shortly) the insurmountable barriers thrown up in the channels of international trade are unlikely to be pulled down. Canada has a great deal to gain in the devaluation and stabilization of European currencies for without them liberation of trade is politically impossible."

What Editors Say

CARELESS LEGISLATORS.

From Providence, Rhode Island, comes a surprising and amusing story of the carelessness of legislators over public expenditures.

A group of persons, who believed that a non-existent soldier could get a bonus from the state legislature, prepared a bill for the payment of a bonus of $100 to Private Eval O. W. Tresba, of the 12th Machine Gun Company, in recognition of his services to the state and nation. A Republican senator introduced the bill in the State Senate and on objection was raised to its immediate consideration. It was not until it had passed that one of the senators noticed that the unusual name, when reversed, spelled "Absent W. O. Leave," and obtained reconsideration of the bill.

The purpose of this rather cruel trick was to direct attention to a growing list of such "grants" by the Rhode Island legislature and the lack of scrutiny given measures for such purpose by the legislators. In future the latter may be counted upon to check up a good deal more carefully any other bonus proposals as well as other measures involving expenditures of public funds.

GIANTS AND JESTERS IN PUBLIC LIFE

"RATHOM OF THE JOURNAL."

Great Britain and her allies never had a better friend during the World War than J. R. Rathom, of the Providence, (R.I.) Journal. Gifted with a remarkable prescience, long before the war broke out he prepared for it. Mr. Rathom was a keen newspaper man and usually wanted to place the publication, of which he was then managing editor, in the forefront of the news. But in addition, as an ardent Britisher (he was born in Australia on the 4th July, 1888), he was heart and soul with the Mother Country, and with great struggle, and thus all his energies were bent towards assisting the cause.

Mr. Rathom had entered the newspaper field at an early age, and when only eighteen years old, shortly after he left Harrow, where he was educated, he was appointed correspondent for the Melbourne Argus, and went to the Sudan for that great Australian daily in 1886. Then he proceeded to the United States and secured a position on the staff of the old Chicago Herald.

Later, he came to the United States with that paper until 1912, when he accepted the managing editorship of the Providence newspaper.

For the first two or three years of the great struggle the censorship staff at Ottawa, of which I was a member, had been in touch with Rathom and knew a good deal about his methods. Our colleague, Colonel E. J. Chambers, who in 1915 left us to become chief press censor, had visited Providence and we were delighted to learn that Mr. Rathom, some of these days, would be in London. He did not come, however, until the early summer of 1917, at which time he also visited Toronto, where he received a warm welcome from the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association.

Just as the efforts of 40 O.B. (the Naval Intelligence Branch in London) were the outstanding features of censorship in England, so the story of the saving operations of the Providence Journal to frustrate German activities in the United States is equally remarkable. Rathom's narrative seemed incredible, but the facts speak for themselves.

Some writer, referring to the obtuseness of the Germans during the war, has stated that instead of German diplomats possessing grey matter in the brain, they possessed a mass of green blubber in their heads. Many incidents covering the war's duration seemed to prove this statement. It is impossible to conceive how men, supposedly intelligent, could be so stupid and glibly.

Mr. Rathom was a firm believer in wireless telegraphy. Months before war broke out he had caused two stations to be equipped on the Atlantic coast, one at Block Island, the other at Point Judith. They were manned by first class operators. Presumably these stations were for the purpose of securing advance shipping and other news for the Journal, but it was realized that should the occasion arise they could be utilized for other purposes. Thus it was that when war was declared these two stations mightily "listened in" on Sayville, the German-owned station in New Jersey, and picked up messages, in code or "clear," coming from the parent station at Nauen in Germany. Wireless was the only direct means which Germany had from the very beginning of the war, of communicating with the United States, as the direct cable to Germany, running up the English Channel, had been lifted and cut by the Allies within a few days of the outbreak of hostilities.

Of course it was possible by wireless for Germany to reach her warships through a neutral country like Spain, but there was always an uncertainty whether these messages would reach their destination. The Journal had a staff of skilled cryptographers in its employ and it did not take them long to decipher the communications in code. For five months this went on without the slightest inkling being given from Providence to the United States Secretary of State for War of the information which was being collected daily. And then the time came to speak.

The Brooklyn Navy Yard, headquarters of the U.S. naval service on the Atlantic coast, had been instructed to "listen in" on Sayville and forward any suspicious looking communications, picked out of the ether, to Washington. While the Journal was securing tidbits daily from the Sayville station, Brooklyn reported "nothing doing." Then after five months the code messages secured from Nauen by the Block Island operator were forwarded to Washington by Mr. Rathom, and the question was naturally asked in the department, "Why has not the Navy Yard sent us these?" Inquiry was instituted and then it developed that one of the Navy Yard operators had been "bought" by the Germans to suppress any information which he might pick up. Had such a thing transpired in Germany the offender would have been promptly placed with his back to the wall and riddled with bullets, but as the United States was not at war all that happened to this traitor was to expel him ignominiously from the service.

To guard against possible contingencies the Naval Department then took possession of the Sayville receiving station, ejected all the German operators and in their place put in a staff of reliable Americans.

Secretary Von Papen, of the German embassy at Washington, was the victim of a smart piece of work by a pretty girl stenographer of the Providence Journal staff who had been sent to Washington to secure a position, if possible, in the embassy. She was successful and was there for several months. A box containing important despatches was to be forwarded to Germany on a neutral vessel the Oscar II, and when this information reached Providence it was deemed essential that this container should be marked distinctly so that when the vessel touched at Falmouth, England, it could be readily identified. It was lunch hour in the embassy and the young lady was eating her sandwiches in the room where the valuable box was awaiting shipment. As a matter of fact, she was sitting upon it. Von Papen entered the room and being susceptible to female wiles when he received an arch look from the young lady, he remembered and began a violent flirtation. Presently it went so far that the girl drew a red colored pencil out of her hair and sketched two hearts on the lid of the trunk. Von Papen must needs then finish the drawing. Borrowing the pencil he ran an arrow through the hearts, and both had a good laugh. Von Papen sealing the little pleasantly with a chaste salute. With these marks upon it the document box went forward to the ship, along with some 150 others. The British authorities having been duly advised, the Oscar II, called at the Channel port there was no difficulty in identifying and seizing the much-wanted container. Had it not been for the hearts in red it would have been an almost endless task to locate the much wanted box.

One of the best things put over by Rathom's men was in connection with the activities of the Austrian minister, Dumba, whose special task was to foment labor troubles throughout the United States. Dumba and his men were shadowed wherever they went. It was known that one of the Austrian officials, Dr. Heinrich, was about to take important papers from New York to Washington. He had gone to a leather goods store on Broadway and purchased a portfolio in which a fairly good sized bundle of paper could be placed. From the moment he secured the bag and started for the Austrian offices in New York he was shadowed by a Journal representative. In the meantime another member of Rathom's staff, who had been watching the Austrian, had purchased a portfolio exactly similar in appearance to Heinrich's. Guessing rightly where the Austrian had gone, he immediately "joined his colleague. The two men kept their eyes on the official building very close and presently, were rewarded by seeing Heinrich emerge, portfolio in hand, and head for a nearby elevated railway station to get to the Grand Central. Clearly he had been to the office to secure his papers and was heading for Washington. The newspapermen boarded the elevated at the same time as the Austrian emissary and went into the same coach. It was fairly crowded and before any great distance had been covered the newspaper men by arrangement started a violent altercation in the car. Four or five men were immediately in the aisle shouting and gesticulating and making passes at each other. It was a beautifully staged row. Every passenger rose to his feet, women screamed, and the uproar was terrific. And then one of the Journal operators succeeded in accomplishing what had been planned. In the excitement Heinrich had moved forward to see what was going on. One of the newspaper men thus took advantage to exchange his portfolio for that of the Austrian and got away with all his papers which, upon later examination, proved to contain valuable data.

And so, all through those early years of the war the Australian-born newspaperman had his cohorts busy in frustrating the enemy and by 1917 had accumulated such a mass of evidence that both Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Dumba had to leave the country. Mr. Rathom did not receive the Congressional Medal for his disinterested services, although no man in the United States was better entitled to it. When the war was over he continued his daily grind at Providence until the Grip Reaver called him on December 11th, 1923.

PRIVATIONS OF TRADER'S WIFE ARE RECOUNTED

Fifteen Years of Almost Complete Isolation Fails to Discourage Mrs. H. P. Godsell, Wife of Hudson Bay Company Official.

Winnipeg, Feb. 27.—Lillian Gibbons in The Tribune writes an interview with Mrs. H. P. Godsell who as a bride went to the far north with her husband fifteen years ago.

"Had civilization seemed a great treat?" "No, civilization ruins you," Mrs. Godsell affirmed with a smile. She laughed over the fashion of wearing a fur coat, chiffon hose and had perched over one ear, in weather that was almost Arctic brand. "Up there we dressed sensibly in caribou skin atlegi—or parka, and mukluks up to our knees, and breeches. We were as warm as toast. But civilization is standardized. We must all do exactly the same thing, or oh dear, it is just too bad. One of us just wouldn't dare leave off chiffron for wool hose!"

Mrs. Godsell, wife of the man who wrote "Arctic Trader," can tell her own tales of trading in the north. The ceremony that united the Hudson's Bay man and the stenographer in the land department of the "Ancient and Honorable" Company had taken place in September, in All Saints' Church, Winnipeg, 1921, and in October she was on her way to Fort Fitzgerald on the Slave River. Mr. Godsell became ill with typhoid and the bride learned to nurse him and to cook and house-keep in the north, keeping four fires burning when the thermometer outside was sixty below.

Thirty-six miles away there was a cow and twice a week an Indian runner made the trip for a supply of milk for the trader who lay ill. The nourishment came in round frozen cakes, which were chopped up and melted for use. The most precious Christmas present that year was two dozen eggs. New Year's Eve she was out sawing wood to keep the fires going. A trapper, in from his trails, came to her rescue.

In 1923 there was a trip home to her family in Winnipeg, while Mr. Godsell was establishing Fort Brabant, To Fort St. John, in the Peace River country, of British Columbia, went Mrs. Godsell for another two years of privations.

"My nearest neighbor was nine miles away. My chore man, whom I saw once a week for an hour or so, was the only human I set eyes on. When he came I used to ply him with questions, and he answered 'Uh, uh,' and yes or no. I felt like a fly in a bowl. I couldn't get out. There was no one to talk to. At last I invented a game to play with my collie dog, Mac; we used to make shadows on the wall and he would jump up at them and bark, and the sound of the voices was comforting. To break the monotony I'd play the gramophone and sing to the records, just to hear my own voice breaking the stillness."

PRESBYTERY OF UNITED CHURCH MEETING HERE

Delegates from Quebec, Lake St. John and All Parts of Eastern Townships Attending Winter Meeting of Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery in Trinity United Church.

Trinity United Church is host to the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, which opened its winter meeting here yesterday with a representative gathering of delegates from Quebec, Lake St. John and all parts of the Eastern Townships. The chairman of Presbytery is Rev. E.W.S. Coates, of Richmond, with Rev. F. Matthews, of Lennoxville, acting as secretary.

The morning session opened with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. McLean Beaton, of Goud. Routine business occupied attention until the noon recess.

Rev. Dr. W. S. Lennon, pastor of Trinity Church, submitted a comprehensive report dealing with the possible rearrangement of the United Church work in the districts of Cookshire, Broughton, Angus and Bury. A special committee was appointed to consider this question.

Announcement was made that the Moderator of the United Church, the Right Rev. Richard Roberts, of Toronto, would visit the Presbytery in May. Dr. Roberts will be in Quebec on May 12th and in Sherbrooke on May 13th and 14th.

Devotional leaders for the later sessions were Rev. L. Oscar Bunt, of Broughton, and W. Lister, of Lennoxville. The afternoon and evening sessions were devoted to consideration of the work of religious education. Spirited and helpful discussion centered about a series of addresses by departmental leaders. Children's work was dealt with by Miss Janet Doherty, provincial secretary for that department, who also presented the claims for teacher training. Miss Doherty reported that plans are being prepared for an extension course of the Western Training School, to be given in the Eastern Townships during 1936. This will probably be held at Coaticook next June. Miss Nina Yeomans, Provincial Girls' Work Secretary, spoke on educational work among girls, while the interests of boys were dealt with by the Rev. J. C. Downing, of Farnham. "Religious Education in the Life of Today" was the topic of an address by Dr. W. O. Rothney, of Bishop's University, Lennoxville, who urged a larger measure of co-operation between the church and the public school. Rev. B. Malenfant, of Sutton, spoke on "Christian Youth Building a New World," and Rev. Maynard Booth, of Kenogami, on "The Educational Function of Worship." Rev. T. W. Tyson, of Beebe, was prevented by illness from delivering an address on "The Sunday School." The presence of a number of visitors from Sherbrooke and vicinity testified to the interest evoked by these discussions.

Mr. Ernest Johnson, negro tenor, of Boston, introduced by Rev. H. A. Carson, of Rock Island, contributed several negro spirituals.

At the evening meeting a joint choir of Trinity and Plymouth Churches led the service of praise, and rendered the anthem, "Sun of My Soul," under the leadership of Prof. R. Havard, with Miss Bertha Allen at the organ. Solo parts were taken by Mrs. Wright Gibson and Mrs. Eric Lennon. Mr. A. Mackenzie sang a solo, "When I Survey."

The ladies of Trinity Church entertained a large number of the delegates at supper in the tea room of the church.

The sessions are continuing today.

HIS MAJESTY THANKS BRITISH EMPIRE LOYALISTS
Hon. Senator Rufus Pope, of Cookshire, has received from Buckingham Palace a letter from His Majesty's secretary which reads as follows:

"I am commanded to convey to the Empire Loyalists and the pioneer settlers of the Eastern Townships the sincere and heartfelt thanks of the King and Queen Mary for the kind message of sympathy in their great loss contained in your letter of January 22."

"His Majesty appreciates deeply the loyal assurances which accompany the message."

This letter was in reply to the following which was forwarded to the King by Senator Pope on January 22:

"To His Most Gracious Majesty, King Edward the Eighth, Windsor Castle, England:
"On behalf of the United Empire Loyalists and the pioneer settlers of the Eastern Townships whose representatives you met at Sherbrooke in October, 1919, during my unavoidable absence at the Senate meeting in Ottawa."

"We desire to offer to you personally our most sincere sympathy in the sad loss you have sustained in the death of your dear father and our beloved Sovereign King George the Fifth."

"I trust we are permitted to ask you to also convey to our beloved Queen Mary our heartfelt, kindly thoughts in this her sad hour of trial. May God bless and relieve you both."

"We also desire to express to you, our beloved Sovereign King Edward the Eighth, our most sincere loyalty and trust that your reign may be a peaceful one for many years. Permit us to call you the Pioneer Sovereign of Canada."

"I remain,
"Your most obedient subject,
"R. H. POPE."

The election of officers, the report of the retiring president, E. E. Goodenough, and the reports of the various committees will form the agenda.

A SUGGESTION THAT MAY HELP

Many women say that the hardest thing about housekeeping is "thinking up things to eat." Here's a thought for tomorrow — pancakes with maple syrup and bacon! It's a grand combination! But eat the bacon from Dixon. Reach for the telephone. Do it now. Call number 1031 and demand a pound or two of Dixon's mild, sugar cured breakfast bacon—the kind that sizzles crisply without vanishing. It's only 25c the pound but you'll say it's worth more. — Dixon's Market.

STILL SEIZED AT BROMPTON

Quebec Liquor Police, led by Officer M. L. Cyr, in charge of the Sherbrooke division, raided a house in Bromptonville yesterday afternoon, seized a still and placed Henri Longchamp under arrest.

Longchamp was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Gerard Gauthier at the local Court House this morning on a charge of possession of a still for the manufacture of illicit alcohol and was remanded to tomorrow morning, when he will appear before a Judge in the Magistrate's Court.

Officer Cyr, who was accompanied by Officers Boisset and Gobeille, claims they seized twenty-five gallons of mash on Longchamp's premises.

NAMES OF VICE-REGAL PARTY ANNOUNCED.

Word was received at the City Hall this morning from Ottawa to the effect that on their first official visit to Sherbrooke on Tuesday next Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Baroness Tweedsmuir would be accompanied by their son, Hon. Alastair Buchan.

Miss B. Spencer-Smith, Lady-in-Waiting to Her Excellency; A. S. Redfern, secretary to the Governor-General, and Lieut. G. Rivers-Smith, R.N., His Excellency's Aide-de-camp, will form the remainder of the Vice-Regal party.

His Excellency has consented, while in Sherbrooke, to present the Humane Society Band to the Oliva Desiel, of Sherbrooke, who risked his life several years ago in rescuing a young girl from the waters of the St. Francis River. This presentation will be made at the Belvedere street armory on Tuesday morning.

His Worship Mayor Bradley has selected Pierrette Deslauriers, the nine-year-old daughter of City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers and Mrs. Deslauriers, to present the city's bouquet to Lady Tweedsmuir.

Between Monday and Friday of next week Their Excellencies will have a busy round of engagements as several towns in the Eastern Townships will be honored by their presence.

Leaving Ottawa early Monday morning, the Vice-Regal party will visit Farnham enroute to Sherbrooke. Arriving here Monday evening they will remain in Sherbrooke until Wednesday, when they will proceed to Theford Mines. Later they will visit Richmond, Victoriaville and St. Hyacinthe.

AMATEUR HOUR HEADS TODAY'S PROGRAMME

WIRE SERVICE RE-ORGANIZED THIS MORNING

Telegraph Communication Between Sherbrooke and Montreal Possible for First Time in Three Days—Mild Spell Continues in This District.

Telegraph communication between Sherbrooke and Montreal, disrupted three days ago by a severe sleet and snow storm, was re-established this morning and for the first time since Monday afternoon the Daily Record had the use of its teletype machines for the receiving of news stories via the Canadian Press service. The storm caused havoc, particularly in the vicinity of Montreal, where hundreds of telegraph and telephone poles and wires were put out of commission. Repair crews were still busy today mending the broken cables and replacing broken poles.

The prospect of slippery, slushy streets loomed this morning in this city as a heavy snow, which accompanied the mild weather, threatened to turn to rain. City Road Department workers were on the job early removing the two inches of snow that fell overnight and clearing openings to drains and sewers for the escape of thawing snow and ice.

The temperature at seven o'clock this morning, according to the Lennoxville Experimental Farm, was thirty-four above zero. Yesterday's temperature was maximum thirty-seven and minimum thirty-two, and that on the same day last year maximum fourteen and minimum nine.

NEW COLD WAVE FORECAST

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Sub-zero weather returned to the north-central part of the United States today and a new cold wave was forecast. Residents of states threatened by floods, which have caused several downings and much property damage, hoped the return of freezing weather might bring relief from ice jams and rising flood waters.

Another flood death, Ohio's first of the season, was reported from Newton Falls where Donald Musser, twenty years old, was drowned in the Mahoning River. A Michigan woman died of a heart attack while bucking a blizzard at Gladstone.

After unofficial estimates of $1,500,000 damage in California, flood waters were reported receding. Many rivers continued to overflow in Indiana and Ohio, where roads were closed and many reported fleeing from their homes.

SEVERE BLIZZARD TIES UP WINNIPEG TRAFFIC

Winnipeg, Feb. 27.—Winnipeg citizens ploughed their way to work today through knee-deep snow, blizzards of the winter, the blacked highways, tied up motor traffic and disrupted street car schedules.

Whipped down upon the city by a strong wind, snow fell continuously here for more than twenty-four hours and isolated it from outside automobile connections. Railway trains from the west were hours behind time. Railway traffic from the south was tied up completely.

pupils a varied and highly interesting programme during the week which has met with much favor.

One of the main features was the visit of Mrs. Ruth Shaw, Junior Red Cross supervisor for the Province of Quebec, who presented the school with the Junior Red Cross flag which it had won for two years in succession.

The interest of the pupils was closely held by Mrs. Shaw as she reviewed some of the work carried on by the Junior Red Cross groups in other countries.

Following Mrs. Shaw's address, the principal called upon Inspector Hunter, who was present, for a few words. Mr. Hunter referred to Mrs. Shaw's great interest in Junior Red Cross work as showing sagacity, vivacity and pertinacity.

Previous to the addresses the pupils presented the following programme: "O Canada," sung by the school; "Our Flag," a dialogue, by six pupils of Grade III; "The Flag Song," Grades I and II; "Blessed be Fire," Grade IV, eight pupils taking part; "Neighbours," a class recitation by Grade V; "Our Junior Red Cross Song," by the school; Mildred Boyd, a Grade VI pupil, presented the late King's "Jubilee Message to the Children of the Empire."

This afternoon is "Parents' Afternoon" at the Central School, when adults will be privileged to visit the school and examine the work of the pupils. Tomorrow Mr. Ernest Johnson internationally-known Negro tenor, will visit the school.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT IN MONTMANY CASE

A jury under Leonidas Bachand, district coroner, decided this morning that Louis Montminy, twenty-nine years old, 7 Bowen avenue south, killed while employed on a snow-removing truck yesterday morning, had met his death in an accidental manner.

Montminy was crushed to death when the mechanical dumper on the truck, rising to unload the snow, fell and pinned him against the driver's cab.

DEATHS REPORTED

MR. MALCOLM McMILLAN, INVERNESS

Inverness, Feb. 27.—The death of Mr. Malcolm McMillan occurred at his home in Inverness, Que., on Monday, February 10.

The deceased, who was in his seventy-sixth year, was the youngest son of the late Malcolm McMillan and his wife, Isabella Bellingham, natives of Arran, Scotland. Mr. McMillan's father came to this country in the year 1829 and settled in the Scotch Settlement, four miles from Inverness Village. Here the deceased was born and spent all his life, with the exception of a few years in Alberta.

Throughout his life, though a sufferer for many years, he was always cheerful and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, formerly Catherine McVetty; six sons, William and Calvin, of Greencourt, Alta., Archie and Clifford, of Edinburg, Alta., Aleck and John, who reside at home; one daughter, Isabel, of Montreal; five grandchildren and a number of nephews and nieces. One son, Malcolm James, predeceased him thirteen years ago.

The funeral service, which was conducted by Rev. Mr. Plint, was held at his home on Wednesday, February 12, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. The hymns sung were "God of Bethel," "Abide with Me" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

The bearers were Messrs. Alex Watson, John McKenzie, Donald McMillan, Howard Kerr, Russell McKinnon and Guy Little.

Among those who attended from a distance were his daughter, Isabel, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Christie, Clapham, Que., Mr. John McVetty, Reedville, Que., Mr. Robert Graham, Glen Murray, Que., Mrs. K. N. McVetty, Gould, Mrs. E. A. Johnson and Miss E. McVetty, Montreal.

Interment took place in the family plot in the Congregational Chapel Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF PERSIS ERMA SANBORN AT EATON CORNER

Many members of the North Ward's school age generation lost a lovable companion in the death of Persis Erma Sanborn who passed away in the Sherbrooke Hospital after an illness of only seventeen days. The seventeen-year-old girl, second daughter of Mrs. Emma Sanborn and the late Frederick Sanborn, contracted a severe cold and failed to recover despite all the efforts made to prolong her young life.

Persis Sanborn, known to her many young friends as "Pettie," was born in Bulwer on May 21, 1919, and attended school there until she moved to Sherbrooke in 1927 with her aunt, Mrs. W. H. Lovell, with whom she had always made her home because of Mrs. Sanborn's illness. While residing here "Pettie" Sanborn was a pupil of Mitchell School and later attended Mont Notre Dame convent for four years.

The deceased belonged to the Girl Guides and to the local C.G.I.T. group, while at the time of her death she was a member of the Young Women's Christian Association. Of a lovable disposition, ever courteous and always ready to help others, "Pettie" Sanborn earned many friends who mourn her untimely passing.

The funeral service, attended by many friends, was held in the chapel of Lord's Funeral Home, Rev. Canon H. R. Bigg officiating. The casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings which revealed the sympathy felt for the bereaved relatives. Several touching hymns were rendered with Mr. Norman Tracey presiding at the organ. Interment took place in the family lot at Eaton beside her father who predeceased her a few months ago. Rev. H. O. Hunt, of Birtchton, officiated at the grave.

Left to mourn her loss are her invalid mother, one sister, Gertrude, and her aunt, Mrs. W. H. Lovell, Bank street.

MRS. D. J. PELLIS, BEDFORD.

Bedford, February 27.—The death took place on Tuesday evening, February 18th, of a life-long resident of this district in the person of Mrs. D. J. Pellis, who passed away after an illness of three weeks.

The late Mrs. Pellis was the eldest daughter of the late Lyman Barnes and his wife, Elizabeth Creller, and was born on January 25, 1855 in the house on Dutch street, several miles south of Bedford, where Mrs. Pellis lived until about fifteen years ago, when she sold her home and came to Bedford to reside, following the death of her husband.

A woman of retiring disposition, Mrs. Pellis will be greatly missed among her circle of relatives and friends. She was a member of the Anglican faith. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, February 20th.

Two sisters, Mrs. A. M. Borden and Mrs. F. E. Morgan, as well as a nephew and niece, Mr. Neil Morgan and Miss Pearl Borden, all of Montreal, survive. Another niece, Mrs. Lamphere, of St. Albans, Vt., has spent the past weeks with her aunt, caring for her during her last illness.

MRS. CARMEL SAGER, BEDFORD.

Bedford, February 27.—The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, February 18th, at St. James' Church, the rector, Rev. H. V. Fricke, officiating, of Mrs. Carmel Sager, who passed away on the preceding Thursday.

Two hymns were sung by the vestal choir.

The bearers were Messrs. B. R. Stevens, W. J. Cokerline, Gullian Casey and Philip Flanders.

The remains were placed in the vault in the Union Cemetery. The chief mourners were Major and Mrs. Edgar Clewell, of Harrisburg, Pa., son-in-law and daughter; Miss Mattie Thompson, sister, and Mr. L. Sager, of Pigeon Hill.

Mrs. Sager, whose maiden name was Annie Laurie Thompson, was born at Pigeon Hill seventy-three years ago, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, and resided there until a few years ago, when she came to Bedford to live with her sister, Miss Thompson. During the past months Mrs. Sager had been in frail health, and she passed away suddenly on Thursday, February 13th.

low-businessmen attended the funeral of William McKenna, which was held from the late residence on Wednesday, February 19.

The service was conducted by Rev. F. W. S. Walden, pastor of the Advent Christian Church, of which the deceased was a charter member and an ardent supporter. Interment took place in Pine Hill Cemetery.

The late Mr. McKenna, who was seventy-five years of age, had been actively engaged for fifty-two years as hardware merchant, plumber and undertaker.

He was born in Waterloo in 1861, the son of Thomas McKenna and Ruth Hunter McKenna. After attending school at Waterloo Academy, Mr. McKenna came to Magog in 1882.

He was first married to Miss Lucy Wood. Of this union a son was born, but both mother and son died. Two years later he married Miss Eva I. Massie, who survives him. There were four children by this marriage, namely, William C., of Magog, Albert C., of West Newton, Mass., Hazel, who passed away in 1901, and Elsie, Mrs. C. O. Jones, of

Social and Personal

Mrs. David Wilson and Mrs. G. S. Thomson acted as hostesses yesterday afternoon at the tea served after the regular weekly meeting of St. Peter's Guild in the parish hall.

Miss Kathleen Moriarty and Mr. Edward Moriarty have returned to Montreal, after spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn, Galt street.

The many friends of Mrs. S. C. Nutter, of Lennoxville, who is a patient in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, will be pleased to hear that latest reports state that the patient is now improving.

East Ryegate, Vt. He also leaves one brother, E. J. McKenna, of Waterloo.

The bearers were Dr. C. Harris and Colin MacPherson, who were assisted by four of Mr. McKenna's employees of many years' service, namely, D. Leduc, George Hendon, Pierre Lavendure and R. Leduc. The funeral was in charge of H. Chamberlain, a personal friend of the deceased.

Numerous floral tributes, messages of sympathy and telegrams were received from sympathizing friends in Montreal, Sherbrooke, Ottawa and Boston, as well as from local friends who mourned the loss of a highly respected fellow-citizen.

MRS. JANE DAWSON LAID TO REST AT ISLAND BROOK.

Island Brook, February 27.—The funeral of Mrs. Jane Dawson who passed away at the home of Mrs. Goodwin in Canterbury was held from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. D. Ewing on January 10. Mrs. Dawson's death occurred two days earlier. The service was held in the Island Brook Anglican Church, Rev. A. J. Vibert officiating, who spoke comforting words to the bereaved family. The hymns sung were Safe in the Arms of Jesus and Now the Laborer's Task is O'er.

She was laid to rest beside her husband, Mr. Richard Dawson, who predeceased her thirty-four years ago.

Mrs. Dawson, who was in her eightieth year, was a devoted mother and a kind and good neighbor who leaves to mourn her passing a daughter, Mrs. David Ewing, of this place, and a son, Mr. Allen Dawson in the West, three brothers, John McCormick, of Windsor, Thomas and Samuel McCormick, of this place. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McCormick, of Quebec City, and came here to reside sixty-four years ago.

MRS. OLIVE ALZINA SNOWE, SOUTH BOLTON.

South Bolton, Feb. 27.—The death occurred very suddenly on February 18 at her home in Waterloo of Mrs. Olive Alzina Snowe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Durrell, at the age of forty-five years and fourteen days.

Prayers were held at the house by Rev. N. Egerton, after which the body was conveyed by train to the home of her brother, Fred Durrell, in Knowlton, and thence to South Bolton, where the funeral service was held in Holy Trinity Church with the incumbent, Rev. J. King, officiating. "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Abide with Me" were the hymns sung by the choir. Mr. Fred Perkins acted as funeral director while six nephews of the deceased were bearers, namely Messrs. William and Wallace McGill, John and Donald Levey, Willis and Cecil Willey. The remains were laid to rest in the Union Cemetery beside her father and mother.

Deceased leaves to mourn her loss four daughters and two sons, Mildred and Lila, of Magog, Shirley (Mrs. Harold Seguin) of Knowlton, Vivian, Norman and Arnold, who resided at home, besides five sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Jack McGill, of Bolton Centre, Mrs. Walter Levey and Mrs. Orville Scholecraft, of Mansouville, Mrs. Edgar Willey and Mrs. Argyle Lane, of South Bolton, Elwin Durrell, of Waterloo, Harry Durrell, of Fulford, Floyd Durrell, of Knowlton, and Walter Durrell, of South Bolton.

ICE STARTED FIRE.

Northampton, Mass., Feb. 27.—Ice started a fire in a church here last night. A mass of ice, falling from the roof of the First Baptist building, struck and snapped electric wires. The resultant short circuit set fire to the building, but the blaze was extinguished by firemen before any serious damage was done.

MARRIAGES

COTTON—PATERSON

The marriage of Blanche Margaret Paterson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Paterson, of Rainy River, Ont., to Harold Meredith Cotton, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cotton, of Sherbrooke, was solemnized at Emmanuel Church, Montreal, on Thursday afternoon, February 20. Rev. David A. MacLennan officiated.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a dark brown uncrushable crepe suit, falling in loose folds, a large picture hat of stitched taffeta with matching accessories, and a set of stone martin furs, and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses.

After the ceremony the happy couple left for a short honeymoon. The bride wore a beige and brown ensemble, with matching hat. They will reside in Sherbrooke.

DEXTRAZE—CODERRE

Knowlton, February 27.—The marriage of Miss Jeannette Dextraze to Mr. Ovide Coderre, blessed in Iberville, Que., on February 1st, Rev. Levesque officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Arthur Dextraze, the groom being supported by his father, Mr. Hermidas Coderre.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, after the ceremony. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Coderre and family, Messrs. A. Bessette, H. Goyette, S. Dextraze and R. Balthazard.

HEAP—GUTHRIE

Peterborough, Ont., February 27.—A wedding of interest to Eastern Townships people is that of Miss Margaret Maye Guthrie, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Douner, formerly Miss Josie Budd, of Sweetburg, now of 565 George street, Peterborough, Ont., to John Ormie Heap, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Heap, of Rogers street, Peterborough.

The green and yellow of the spring season, brightened the mid-winter wedding, which took place at three p.m., Saturday, February 28, in St. John's Anglican Church, the ceremony being solemnized by Ven. Archdeacon Blagrove, D.D., assisted by Rev. W. J. Gilling. Music for the choral wedding was supplied by F. G. Mann, L. Musil, while fourteen members of the boys' choir sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, Mr. W. J. Douner, wore a stately gown of cocktail green crepe, a long dress made with full pleated sleeves and a high neckline woven with pearls.

Her hat, banded in green crepe with a crown of gold lace, had a green veil. She wore green crepe slippers, long eoru lace mittens and carried a bouquet of yellow daffodils.

The bridesmaid, Miss Muriel Kraut, wore grey crepe with matching accessories and bouquet of deep red tulips.

Mr. Morgan Perry assisted the groom.

The bride and groom left directly after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip by train, the bride wearing a smart beige dress, brown silk cord tricornie model hat and brown coat in tree bark design, trimmed with red fox.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Heap will reside at 522½ Sherbrooke street, Peterborough.

They have the good wishes of Sweetburg and Cowansville friends for a bright and happy future.

Fingerprint identification has become so nearly exact that 400,000 cases of identification have been made during the last thirty years without an error.

COWANSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL STAGED DANCE

Assembly Hall of Cowansville High Attractively Decorated for Annual Event—Entertainment Held by A.Y.P.A.

Cowansville, February 27.—The annual High School dance was held in the assembly hall and was a decided success.

The hall was decorated to represent a garden, and the stage was arranged with a railing, which gave the appearance of a verandah with appropriate furniture and growing plants. The orchestra took their places here. Green and yellow awnings were placed on the windows and flowers gave a very realistic appearance. White trellises with intertwined artificial wisteria and vines, placed in the doorway and on the "verandah" made a beautiful decoration, as did also the made morning glory flowers and vines which were entwined around the posts. The walls were covered with cut-out bird cages, flowers, butterflies and evergreens, which heightened the summery effect. Immense bunches of vari-colored balloons added their quota to the decorations.

A cosy corner was arranged for the patronesses, who were Mrs. Knowlton, Mrs. W. D. Smith, Mrs. P. Winsor, Mrs. F. Bowles and Mrs. W. G. Brown.

About seventy-five couples were present and excellent music for dancing was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cunningham and Mr. Wells Laraway.

A.Y.P.A. ENTERTAINMENT

The members of the A.Y.P.A. were hosts at a very delightful tea and entertainment in the church hall.

The programme consisted of a fairy dance by Peggy Howke and Barbara Seale; tap dancing by Dorothy Patterson and Alfred Forster; a vocal duet by Elsie Allport and Ernest Kimmins, and a vocal solo by Ernest Kimmins. Miss Isabel acted as accompanist. A skit, "Almost Married," was presented by Malcolm Cady as the bride; Elsie Allport, the groom; E. Kimmins, the minister; Aileen Miner and Boyd Odell, witnesses, and Kenneth Ellison, detective.

Being "Leap Year," the boys did the serving most capably. The guests were received by Rev. E. S. Reed and Malcolm Cady.

General Notes.

The fourth in the series of amateur contests was held in the school hall Tuesday evening, February 18th. Mr. Forget was master of ceremonies. The programme was as follows: orchestra, eight pieces; Mr. H. Cote, mouth organ; Miss Rousseau, song; Mr. Leonard Lickfold, song and cornet solo; the Misses Delma and Laura Dion, song; Mr. David Christie, characteristic song in costume; Mr. Carl Dunn, whistler; Messrs. AMATEUR NIGHT AT SUTTON WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Crowded Hall Greeted Highly Enjoyable Event Sponsored by Members of Sutton Skating Rink and Hockey Club—Twenty-Eight Acts Presented.

Sutton, Feb. 27.—The amateur night held in the Sutton Town Hall on the evening of Wednesday, February 19, was a great success. The hall was well crowded and the various acts were generously applauded.

The junior portion of the show had eight acts and at the close the voting was brisk and resulted in first prize being awarded to the Misses Jane and Barbara Olmstead for their acting in a short sketch.

The second prize went to Miss Joyce Beauvais for a character impersonation and song. Third prize was awarded to Mac Bradshaw for his singing of the song "I'm a Bum."

The senior portion of the programme had twenty contestants and the talent was of a high order. Crooners, dancers, impersonators, pianists, etc., were all there and at the end the audience had a lot of fun voting for their favorites. After the counting was completed it was found that first prize had been awarded to A. E. "Buddy" McKay for his act as "The Wandering Minstrel and His Saxophone."

His explanation of where the music went when it went "down and 'round" was certainly novel and amusing. Second prize went to the Deschamps Brothers for a black-face specialty. Third prize went to Lynwood "Ace" Bailey for his singing of popular songs. Special mention should be made of Arnold Oliver for his playing of his musical saw.

The show was held under the auspices of the Sutton skating rink and hockey club and the proceeds were very gratifying.

The accompanists for the evening were Miss Gertrude Gings, Mr. Cecil Carr and Mr. Merton Crowell. The master of ceremonies duties were handled by F. A. Reynolds.

LOWER IRELAND CHURCH VESTRY MEETING HELD

Encouraging Expansion in Membership and Finances Reported at Annual Congregational Meeting of Christ Church, Lower Ireland.

Lower Ireland, February 27.—The annual vestry meeting of Christ Church was held with an attendance of fourteen, with the rector in the chair, opening the meeting with prayer.

The usual opening formalities being disposed of, the rector's financial statements and the various church organizations' financial statements were accepted, all showing that the finances were in a flourishing condition. The Vestry expressed a vote of thanks to all the officers of the church who had carried on so loyally in 1935.

The rector, in reading his report, stated that there had been eight baptisms, nine confirmations and three burials. Great praise was due the Ladies' Guild and the Girls' W.A. for their splendid work and assistance, he said, the former having helped financially in the improvement of the church grounds and the latter having assisted the missionary work of the church to the extent of nearly ninety dollars.

Rev. Mr. Parry expressed his own thanks to the Sunday School teachers, Miss Muriel Little and Miss Annie Johnson, to Mrs. Affie Ward for officiating at the organ during the winter months, to Miss Laura Lunnie as librarian, to Mrs. E. Johnson for generous financial help to the church and especially to the Sunday School, to the rector's warden, Mr. Willard Christie, for his faithful and loyal support and for his never failing interest in the affairs of the parish, to the people's wardens for their attention to duties, to the auditors, the sidesmen and to the sexton, Mr. George Wray, who had done his best to prepare a warm church for the Sunday worship during the winter months.

The numbers of the congregation had increased slightly and church attendance had totalled the highest of any year of his incumbency, he continued. To the Altar Guild thanks were due for flowers on the altar throughout the summer. The cemetery, under the superintendence of Mr. W. Christie, is sure to be a source of pride to the parish, and the fence, with a new coat of paint this year, will add to its appearance.

The officers for 1936 were appointed as follows: rector's warden, Mr. Willard Christie; people's warden, Mr. George T. Little; lay delegate to the Synod, Mr. Willard Christie, substitute, Elmer Little; sidesmen, Messrs. C. O. Ward, Harold Marshall, Fred Little, Harry Little, William Lunnie, Lyman Little, Elmer Little, Archie and Ray Little; librarian, Miss Laura Lunnie; sexton, Mr. George Wray; cemetery caretaker, Mr. Harry Little; church grounds caretaker, Mr. Harold Marshall; cemetery committee, Rev. H. W. Parry, Messrs. Willard Christie, George T. Little, C. O. Ward, Fred Little, J. K. Little; cemetery superintendent, Mr. William A. Christie.

The vestry closed with the benediction.

At the conclusion of the vestry meeting, the Christ Church Cemetery Committee met with five members present and authorized the superintendent to have re-seeding and other work done on the cemetery this year, also to have repaired or replaced, the cemetery tools as necessary. A few additional rules were added to the regulations now in force and it was decided to paint the fence during the summer.

There's History and Romance in Rich Linen.

You have, of course, heard of "a certain rich man" who was arrayed in purple and fine linen. Seemingly in those olden days linen was dyed in some long since forgotten way. True, in ancient times there was a fast color known as Tyrian purple but it was really a rich crimson, the royal color, used mostly for wool fabrics and possibly for linen. The fluid was found in a tiny sac of a small jellyfish and was extremely costly. This method was extinguished when the Mohammedans captured Constantinople.

Linen is chosen for table cloths and napkins because it is so hard to dye. Ordinary stains wash out easily and leave it snowy white again. Dyeing linen is done in Ireland by a very arduous process. It has to be yarn dyed so don't try dyeing your linen unless you want to risk your dye being washed out.

Linen is the most durable of all fabrics. It is not easily imitated and, to test it, you have only to dampen it. If it is pure linen the water will go right through. The most beautiful laces in the world are made of it, and the finest table cloths and napkins.

Apropos of terry bath towels which appear in our advertisement, the name puzzles many of us today. Why "terry"? Being made of a pile fabric in which the loops are not cut, the name probably comes from the French word "têrre"—to pull—and has no connection with the rough-haired Irish Terrier.
