VOL. XVIII, No. 15 WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1947 PRICE—THREE CENTS

Westmount Officials Top First Year During Week

Just a year ago this week three important posts in Civic Administration of the City of Westmount were filled by three appointees who today, with a year's experience tucked away behind them, are doing a splendid job in their respective positions, each having fully justified the choice made at that time. John J. Lucey, former postmaster at the Notre Dame de Grace Post Office from December 1944, and with the postal service for the past 29 years, became postmaster at Westmount Post Office.

Following the death of capable Police and Fire Chief, Walter Gough, the two departments being temporarily amalgamated owing to the lack of man-power during the war years, these departments were again separated and Deputy Chief Robert Byford was promoted Police Chief and William Charles Cobb became the efficient Fire Chief.

Joining of the two departments in an effort to relieve the shortage of men meant that firemen and policemen served alternately in the Police and Fire Departments on occasion until there was no longer need for the combined service, when many former members, veterans, returned from the Forces overseas and were re-instated on the staffs.

Long Service

Chief Byford has been with the Westmount Police Force since 1924, coming to Canada at an early age back in 1913. His first promotion was to rank of Acting-Sergeant. In 1936 he was promoted Acting-Lieutenant and elevated to a full Lieutenant the same year, subsequently being made a Captain in April, 1940 and appointed to his present position as Police Chief exactly one year ago.

Fire Chief William Charles Cobb has also a brilliant record, having joined the Police Department in 1923, and attaining the rank of Sergeant in 1931. Transferring to the Fire Department in 1933, he quickly climbed the promotional ladder in that department, and was elevated to the rank of Deputy Fire Chief in April, 1940, and subsequently Fire Chief, also exactly a year ago.

Mr. Byford lives at 2097 Regent Avenue and Fire Chief Cobb at 680 Victoria Avenue. Chief Byford is off duty sick for some time, but expectations are for his speedy recovery and soon return to official duties.

The City of Westmount may congratulate the City Fathers on their judgment in selecting such capable officials who are giving the City the best of service and producing the desired results of fire and police protection, while the Postal Authorities could have chosen no better man for the office of postmaster than John J. Lucey who keeps the incoming and outgoing mail flowing smoothly the year round.

ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR APPOINTMENTS THIS WEEK

Three men in Public Office in Westmount who have shone in the year they have served in their respective positions as Police Chief, Postmaster, and Fire Chief, mark their anniversary of that event this week. All were splendid choices for the responsible posts they hold and they serve the City of Westmount faithfully. It is fitting that they are given prominence in this little tribute to their year's achievements this week and Westmount appreciates their loyal contribution to the welfare of the City.

Howard S. Ross, K.C., To Address Groups

On Friday, Howard S. Ross, K.C., columnist for this newspaper, is to address the Young People's Society of the Church of All Nations, 1135 Amherst Square, at 8 p.m., when his subject will be "World Unrest — A Suggested Cure."

On April 18, at 8 p.m. Mr. Ross is to address the Rosemount Branch (Que. 29) Canadian Legion, at 5526 Seventeenth Avenue, Rosemount. His subject for this meeting will be "Can the World Avoid War III?"

Quebec Province Rolls Up Grand Campaign Record

Provincial campaign headquarters for the Canadian Red Cross drive report that 75 per cent of the Province of Quebec quota has been reached. This means $750,000 of the $1,000,000 objective for Quebec, with 25 per cent, or $250,000 yet to be reported or collected.

This puts the Province of Quebec ahead of the all-Canada percentage achieved within the same length of time. The province of New Brunswick leads all provincial units, with 90 per cent achieved at latest reports. Then comes Quebec, then Ontario, with 76 per cent.

In most cases provincial totals are held up by districts where road conditions have necessitated delaying the campaign. Col. J. T. E. Gagnon, provincial campaign director and joint commissioner of the Quebec Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross, pointed out that these smaller units in the campaign were vital to its success in the province as elsewhere in the country.

Montreal was the first big city in Canada to go over the top on schedule for Red Cross. In Quebec the city of Sherbrooke was second to reach quota.

Guidance Theme At H-S Meeting

Mr. A.B. Farquhar of Westmount High School, and Mr. W. Shufelt of St. Lambert High School will be guest speakers at the next regular meeting of the Greenfield Park Home and School Association to be held at the Royal George School at 8.15 p.m. Tuesday.

Vocational Guidance will be the theme of this meeting, and a lively discussion is expected to result during the question and answer period.

"Too often boys and girls merely drift into life's work without giving it sufficient forethought." states Mr. George Cumming, Publicity Chairman. "This usually leads to discontent and unhappiness which could be avoided if proper guidance is obtained and used."

The meeting is open to the public, and light refreshments will be served.

11th Annual Hobby Show

Three Special Exhibits Featured During Event

Outstanding exhibit of model trains, by S. P. Dunlop, is one of three special exhibits featured in the Westmount Boys' and Girls' 11th annual Hobby Show. Completely made by hand, there are two passenger trains, one of which is called the "Laurentian," and three freight trains with car capacities, other such minute details and names of products realistically painted on the cars. There is also a circus train, and station, water tower and signal lights.

A modern kitchen with its blue print, and the slogan "A Blue Print Comes to Life with Colour" is a spectacular display showing how paints made a kitchen attractive, exhibited through the courtesy of C.I.L.

A special feature of 30 books, from the Westmount Public Library, on hobbies and how to develop them, completes the trio of special exhibits.

Due to the record number of entries, this year's Hobby Show is expected to be the best ever held in Westmount.

The following are the boys and girls who won awards in the Hobby Show.

Literature: First: Donald Savage and Rex Binmore.

Second: Clare Pringle, Lillian Butler and Carolyn Evans.

Penmanship: First: Donald Savage and Patsy Smith.

Second: Donald Hendry and Joanne Scott.

Third: Gavin Ross.

Crafts: First: Clifford Bowles, Walter Schiller, John McDowell, G. Dionne and Peter Wiggs.

Second: Walter Schiller, Ronald Aldred and Tom Parrott.

Third: Paul Harris, W. Taylor, Lindsay Fraser and Beverley Walbank.

Rotary Contestants Hit High Standard Of Talks

Addresses by five of the contestants in the Rotary sponsored Public Speaking Contests were the highlights of Wednesday's Rotary luncheon. These youngsters are the finalists of their respective schools, and their addresses at the luncheon were actually part of the elimination program from which a winner was chosen to enter the finals.

Lorne Foy of St. Leo's Academy was the first speaker, and his theme was "Youth of Canada." In opening his address, he stated, "It is with pardonable pride I say I am a Canadian." He briefly described the actual and latent greatness of our great country, and said that "We must begin in our formative years to prepare ourselves for the responsibility which is yours today but ours tomorrow." Mr. Foy drew a parallel between two types of men and the thermometer and thermostat.

A thermometer just indicates the temperature, but a thermostat does something about it; similarly there are men who talk about doing things and men who accomplish things.

It rests with the young people to train themselves for the task, and make this country fulfil its great destiny in world affairs.

James Dawson of Mount Royal High School entitled his address, "Let Us Not Be Afraid." "Fear is man's greatest enemy," he said. Using cancer as a subject, he pointed out that it is one of the greatest killers of mankind, and that knowledge is one of the best weapons we have to fight it. He gave a brief history of the disease and listed its common symptons.

Mr. Dawson, in closing his address, emphasized that cancer in most cases can be cuerd, if it is discovered in time. Patients should fear not the disease but fear lack of early attention.

"Canada Comes of Age" was the theme of the address of Jack Troughton, of Verdun High School, who pointed out that while our country has gained greatly in stature and development in the past few years, it presents internally many of the contradictions that were there before the war. Nonetheless, it has grown in political maturity, independence and economic importance in the eyes of the world.

With intelligent direction, said Mr. Troughton, Canada with her great resources can be made the most envied nation on earth in a position to meet

Blind An Example of Canadian Unity

National Unity is nowhere in Canada better exemplified than in the Province of Quebec, with perhaps the most outstanding instance the full and happy relationship between the Blind, stated Gilbert Layton, Secretary, Montreal Association for the Blind, in a statement to the press issued today.

Enjoyment of complete co-operation between the English-speaking Montreal Association for the Blind Inc., and its French-speaking counterpart, L'Association Canadienne-Francaise des Aveugles Inc. has for many years been established. The two associations have always worked in closest harmony and co-operation.

In the early days of this latter Institution, Mayor Joseph Beaubien, of Outremont, studied closely the methods of manufacture applied by the Montreal Association at headquarters at 6980 Sherbrooke Street West. Then he organized the French Association. French-speaking workmen were sent to the Montreal Association workshops where they learned the brush and broom-making trades.

Should either organization develop a new trade or handicraft, it advises the other; and each gives to the other the benefit of its experience. If the blind can enjoy this common unity, why not the sighted. It makes for happy living and better privileges for all.

During the year there is considerable fraternization among the members of the two organizations, such as outings to Belmont Park, boat excursions, and Christmas and New Year's parties.

BY REG GROOME

So, another season ends for the Inter-Pack Hockey League, the fourth one for this so far very successful venture. 2nd Westmount lads were all there to receive their champion crests which will soon be observed on many sweaters. If you take a gander at the Sports Page, you will likely find a picture of the 2nd Westmount team at the end of the third game in their final series with Dixie at Lachine Arena. Also, there is a more complete story on what happened at the party held at Western Area Headquarters on Tuesday evening. We hope verybody present had a good time.

The first pioneers to attempt to reach Tamaracouta, our woodland camp in the picturesque Laurentians, will set out this afternoon. The plucky fellows are some boys from Hampstead Troop, who are going up for the week-end. Latest reports on the roads, up to Monday night, have them completely impassable by car, hard to walk and not much easier on a horse-drawn vehicle. So, these lads have their work cut out for them and, by way of interest to readers, we will tell you more of what happens to them in this column next week.

Incidentally, don't forget Tamaracouta opens on June 28th this year, the week school closes (sounds good, eh?). If you haven't got your reservation in yet, better hurry, or you'll soon be out of luck. We hope to see many of the Westmount lads going to camp for at least two weeks. Rumour has it that 2nd Westmount Troop are going to be the first Troop to camp across the lake, opening up the first camp-site in a new venture. Could it be? Well, we'll have to wait and see!

April Badge Schedule for Headquarters on Bishop Street is now out and here is your second-to-the-last chance to get badges before Tamaracouta, for May will see the last badge list for the 1946-47 season. Ask your Scoutmaster now for further details about the many badges which are open to you.

Thanks are extended to the two Scouts from St. Matthias Troop who helped at the Wolf Cub hockey party and congrats to Mike Field, genial Scoutmaster of the same Troop, for the excellent job he has done in piloting the league to its successful conclusion, as the back-bone of the whole integral organization.

The six thousand British Scouts who will attend the World Scout Jamboree in Paris this summer representing Great Britain have all been selected from over twenty thousand applicants while the Canadian representation of some 36 Scouters and Scouts are not yet sure of attending due to transportation difficulties.

Temple Emanu-El

Final Day of Passover Services: Tonight at 8.15 p.m. Yiskor and the Annual Spring Memorial Service will take place along with the Holy day Service. Dr. Stern will officiate and the Musical Responses will be chanted by Cantor Otto Staeron and the Temple Choir under the direction of Phillips Motley. Saturday morning, Junior Congregation Services, at 11.30 a.m.

Child Study Group: Meets Tuesday, at 2 p.m., Temple Community House. Dessert Luncheon to precede meeting. Speaker: Dr. Frances Alexander, Associate Professor, Department of Psychology, McGill University. Mrs. H. Joshua Stern will preside. Conveners: Mme. Samuel Paperman, Norman Rill, Jack Carrick, Charles Pollack Jack Rubenstein.

HEALTH GUIDE

Short and to the point is the "guide to good health" issued at Ottawa.

"Take well-spaced and well-balanced meals; drink plenty of water; get restful sleep in a well-ventilated room, and add some outdoor recreation."

Followed regularly, say the authorities, this routine will help to assure health and discourage disease-producing germs.

whatever the future may hold.

On Tradition

"This Happy Breed" was the title of the address presented by Earl Pennington of Strathcona Academy. In opening, he pointed out that England has a military heritage to be proud of which extends from the days of the ancient Britons; but with it there has developed a combination of justice, ideals and traditions which are expressed in the "Play the game" philosophy. They have long stood by their ideals, and their contribution to world progress in all fields has been outstanding.

Melvin Rothman, of Westmount High School, spoke on "The High School Curriculum of the Province of Quebec." He commenced by stating that it is inadequate, that there is much room for improvement. The curricula of Protestant High Schools he said, are conditioned by university requirements despite the fact that only about 3 per cent. of students going through high schools go into universities upon matriculation.

Moreover, too much emphasis is put on the teaching of academic French, and the speaking of the colloquial (Canadian) tongue is ignored. If we are to have unification in this country, we must learn to speak the language of our French Canadian compatriots, and vice versa.

Another weak point is the fact that students are not given an adequate enough course in governmental operation and politics to take an intelligent interest in the running of our country.

In closing Mr. Rothman emphasized what to his mind is the greatest defect, the great lack of adequate occupational guidance.

Earl Pennington, of Strathcona Academy, was judged winner of this contest. The judges were E. Delves, L. G. Ecroyd and H. B. Savage who had a difficult task in establishing the winner, considering the excellent material and presentation of all the contestants.

Chairman Doug McKean presided and Bill Moxley, Chairman of the Youth's Service Committee, conducted the proceedings.

Federal or Provincial, or to public bodies are made jointly, or at least with full knowledge and approval of each organization. For instance, the two Associations jointly lent their support to efforts to have the Government increase pensions for the Blind. They have also co-operated in sponsoring a float in the City Clean-Up Week Parades.

The present officers of the French Association are: P. A. Brisebois, Director, J. A. Globenski, President, and M. G. Gagné, Manager. Both Associations are dependent on public support. Remember the Blind now, or in your will, in thankfulness you have your own sight. Learn the lesson of National Unity from them for a happier Canada. Activities of both Associations are Province wide.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

Killdeer Plover

"That's a Killdeer's call. The snow has scarcely gone, but they are the earliest of the shore birds. Imagine hearing a Plover in the city! Let's go and see if we can find it," Alice urged.

A large vacant lot lay just across the road from where we stood waiting for a street car. We followed the sound, which took us half a block away. Then a wire fence and muddy ground kept us from entering the field. But though 100 yards away we could see an olive brown bird running rapidly over the uneven ground, every now and then stopping to pick up something.

"Kildee, kildee," cried a loud voice just overhead. Looking up we saw the mate, fly erratically, with long pointed wings that showed a white V. It almost alit a few feet from us, displaying a white shirt front across which were two black belts. But on spying us it turned, and flying low, gave us a good view of the gorgeous Indian red tail. The splash of colour was diamond shaped, because the tail comes to a point in the middle and the bird's rump is also rufous. There was no chance to see the odd feet that have no hind toe.

"We must come back properly shod when there are eggs," I said.

"In one of the nests," added my companion. "Remember Killdeer Plovers often scrape out several hollows before deciding which spot will be safest."

It was mid-April before we returned. No wonder these birds have the Latin name "vociferus." The pair made such a fuss that our visit was hurried. Ignoring the pantomine (for the mother tried to lead us off by "playing wounded"), we made for the place she had just vacated. Or was it "he" who had been incubating? Four greenish-buff eggs heavily blotched with black lay in a saucer-shaped depression. They matched their surroundings so perfectly that no attempt had been made to conceal them.

Where would the newly-hatched youngsters be taken when the long vigil of about four weeks was over? We knew of no nearby water where little Killdeers always spend their early days. But mamma and papa must have been wiser than we.

It is a pity that so many of these birds have been shot. Their consumption of various insects that annoy man and are injurious to crops should win them protection.

Why band birds?

THE LEGAL WAY

A lawyer thus illustrates the language of the craft: "If a man were to give another an orange, he would simply say: 'Have an orange.' But when the transaction is entrusted to a lawyer to be put in writing he adopts this form: 'I hereby give and convey to you, all and singular, my estate and interests, right, title, claim and advantages of and in said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp and pips and all rights and advantages therein with full power to bite, suck, and otherwise to eat the same or give the same away with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp and pips, anything hereinbefore or hereinafter or in any other means of whatever nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.'

"And then another lawyer comes along and takes it away from you!"

Westmount Highlights

I have bad news, sad news, news so heart-breaking that you will be weeping daily for the next month. It is with a heavy heart that I pen these words. But, gentlemen, and ladies too, we must bear up. We must raise our chins, draw in our abdomens and stick out our chests. We must grin at fate, cruel fate. We must never let the outsiders see just how greatly this sad news has moved us.

Go about your appointed tasks as if nothing out of the ordinary has happened. Whistle while you work. Sing while you play, if you can muster sufficient courage to play after this saddening news. Do your best not to toss and turn while in the arms of ever-tempting Morpheus. Remember that what must be, must be. Ours not to reason why, and so on.

Because, ladies and gentlemen, The Gayety no longer has a chorus line!

Plea To Provide For All Animals At Moving Time

If you cannot keep your dog or cat any longer or do not want them please do not leave them behind or purposely lose them when you move. If people considered for a moment, they would realize how cruel they are in deserting animals; yet thousands are left every spring and autumn. Sometimes in empty houses, birds are left in cages to starve to death, and also dogs and cats, or animals are turned out to suffer fear, hunger and thirst and often a tragic end, because their owners are too indifferent or too selfish to see that the poor animals have a quick, merciful death. It is to prevent all this suffering that I ask the co-operation of the public, announces W. N. Dunlop, S.P.C.A. General Manager.

When animals are moved from one house to another, it is wise to keep them shut in for a few days, as they may become frightened in the strange surroundings and try to find their way back to the old familiar home; many animals are lost in this way.

A telephone call to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will bring the ambulance

Highland Dancing Taught Children

The Caledonian Society of Montreal Juvenile Dancing Class has now been resumed under the direction of Miss Carrie Biggers. The class is held on Wednesday evenings at 330 Victoria Avenue, Westmount. Free tuition in Highland Dancing is given to all children whose parents are members of the Society.

Pupils of the class compete in the Annual Caledonian Games to be held in June, and there is still ample time to enroll.

This class offers parents an excellent opportunity to have their children taught Highland Dancing.

Full particulars will be gladly furnished by Miss Biggers or by John G. Withers, Hon. Sec'y. of the Society.

PLIGHT OF FRENCH CHILDREN

The Quebec Committee of the Save the Children Fund is continuing its efforts to raise funds and will buy more and more as the money is available. The Canadian Save the Children Fund has received word from the French Save the Children Fund acknowledging five cases Canadian clothing. Lady Johnson, the Fund's representative in France, in writing to the Fund in Canada, said:— "Words fail to express my gratitude once again. All I can say is that I was moved to tears when I saw all these treasures come to light. It is an unspeakable joy to be able to relieve those who suffer around me."

The food situation is still critical in many towns in France, and will be until the summer vegetables begin to come in. As late as February 22nd, in the Daily Mail, Continental Paris edition, there was a headline "20 of France's largest towns face the worst food crisis since the war" . . .

Help save the children. Contribute to the Save the Children Fund.

P.E.I. PREMIER NOT INTIMATED

Premier Jones of Prince Edward Island has talked back to the pressure groups, and has told them that, so far as his province is concerned, they had better forget the nonsense of a compulsory eight-hour day. He will not pass such legislation.

There are not enough idleness-sharers on the island to frighten the government, or to drown the voice of reason with their organized clamor. Most of the islanders draw their living from the land. They know that the growing of crops and the feeding of livestock do not fit in with the eight-hour day; and they have no intention of passing laws that will cripple the industry on which their living depends. There is, of course, no P.E.I. law against everyone getting a 30-hour-week job at high pay.

NEW METHOD, FILM RECRUITING

With Cineguild Company ready to start work on "Oliver Twist" for the J. Arthur Rank Organization, no able juvenile actor has been uncovered for the title role in the Charles Dickens classic. The studio has taken its problem directly to motion picture audiences. All over London, in the various theatres, the producers are releasing a two-minute film, calling for a boy over 12, slight, fair, no previous experience necessary, for the role of Oliver. Interestingly enough, Anthony Wager, who plays young Pip in "Great Expectations," made the cinematic appeal for a new boy actor to step forth and reveal himself.

HE NEEDED MORE CAPITAL

Mr. Tamonon kept telling his wife what he could do if he had some capital, writes William Feather. He was a life insurance salesman and his ambition was to own an agency. Mrs. Tamonon was a college graduate and had a teacher's certificate. She decided it was up to her to help accumulate the capital so she took a job in the public school system.

The first thing Mr. Tamonon did with the surplus income was to move into a better apartment where the rent was higher. Later he traded in his old car for a more expensive make. The second summer they went to Europe.

Mr. Tamonon never has accumulated any capital. Mrs. Tamonon still works and Mr. Tamonon actually earns less than he did before she went to work. He is very nice around the house, though. He cooks breakfast and drives Mrs. Tamonon to her school. He calls for her in the afternoon and helps her with the dinner when they eat at home. After lunch he usually plays bridge for an hour or two at his club.

WEEKLY REVIEW

WHAT EGYPT OWES TO BRITAIN

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

What is the history of the British occupation of Egypt? It is certainly not one of conquest. Britain did not go into Egypt with the deliberate intention of conquering its people and annexing their territory, but was gradually drawn into a protectorate of the country by a series of international complications. The Government of Egypt at the time was bankrupt, and the country was in a state of chaos, which reached its climax in the year 1876.

The Khedive had suspended payment of all Treasury bills which amounted to nearly $500,000,000. Corruption and maladministration prevailed. Ultimately France, Italy and Austria nominated representatives to a commission for the purpose of dealing with the financial situation and collecting the debts owing to those countries. Great Britain was unwilling to interfere, but was finally persuaded to appoint a representative to the commission in the person of Sir Evelyn Baring, who afterwards was known as Lord Cromer.

As a result of the intervention of this commission the financial position of the country improved, but in the meantime a political storm was brewing. Amed Arabi, an Egyptian of humble origin who had risen to the rank of Colonel, led a revolt in the native army and finally assumed the position of virtual dictator. He built strong batteries at the port of Alexandria and challenged the British fleet in the harbor. The historical bombardment of Alexandria followed. British troops were landed and Amed Arabi's forces were defeated at the Battle of Tel-el-Kebir.

Even now the British declined to remain in Egypt, although they had the support of other powers. Trouble broke out in the Sudan, and Britain decided to withdraw her garrison and abandon the country. Meanwhile, a religious fanatic, known as the Mahdi, rose to power. General Gordon was sent to report on the situation and suggest the best means of evacuation. While on this mission General Gordon and the garrison at Khartum were slaughtered by the Mahdi's men. That was in 1885. Khartum was not recaptured until the year 1895, when Sir Herbert Kitchener (afterwards Lord Kitchener) finally routed the Sudanese forces.

Reforms were instituted throughout the country under Lord Cromer, who was known as the "Savior of Egypt." The River Nile was dammed and a system of irrigation was established. Peace and prosperity prevailed, such as had not been known in Egypt since the time of the Pharaohs. It should be stated that the British occupation of Egypt was decided upon by the Anglo-French Convention, which was signed in 1905.

There have been periodic disturbances and riots, but these have not been due to British misrule. They have usually arisen among Egyptian students who have had sufficient education in British principles of democracy to give them a desire for independence, but not enough to impress them with a sense of responsibility and gratitude for what Great Britain has accomplished for their country—to say nothing of the whole of Egypt and North Africa from the Germans at the Battle of Alamein. These political uprisings on the part of students in Cairo were in reality a tribute to British rule. As the country and its people have advanced, Great Britain has gradually developed a system of democratic government, until at the present time Egypt is virtually an independent state.

The conditions and the political situation in Northern Africa are far removed from what they were seventy or even forty years ago when Britain at the request of other European nations entered into the occupation of Egypt. The Ethiopians have benefitted by British rule in Egypt. They co-operated with the British in the suppression of the fanatic terrorism in the Sudan, from which they suffered for centuries. The wild Dervishes used to make periodic raids into Ethiopian territory, and after the defeat of the Mahdi their troubles from that quarter ceased.

The history of the occupation of Egypt is similar in many respects to that of India and other British possessions. In any case, the entire world has changed enormously in the past hundred years, due largely to the progressive policy that has characterized the development of all countries that have come within the British Empire.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"His heart action's hectic, Doctor. He's proposed to me twice already."

Minister of Agriculture Gardiner in an address given a short time ago, said: Nothing will make farmers more money in the next three or four years than hogs and eggs. Their production is necessary to assure us the British market over a much longer period. I am not going to urge that more cattle be produced."

THE FORUM.

Conducted by Howard S. Ross, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

London ushered in its New Year with a remarkable weeks' meetings of senior high school pupils under the auspices of the World Citizenship Association. Two thousand of them, chosen from all over the land crowded Central Hall (neighbor of the Houses of Parliament) and listened to speeches on world affairs from Catholic ministers, trade union leaders, scientists historians and economists. Each speaker then submits to a lengthy period of questioning and the meeting breaks into groups for discussion. It is a lively and revealing experience to attend one of these youthful sessions in the hall where the U.N. had its first assembly twelve months ago. It is a healthy antidote to cynicism and to despair about the part this old-country is going to play in the days to come.

No act of the king's could have given the British public more pleasure than his bestowing of the Order of Merit on John Winant, American ambassador to this country during the war. Winant's understanding of our curious island manners and customs and his friendship with such widely different men as Churchill, Attlee, Bevin and Eden commended him offectionately to the British people. Those receiving the Order of Merit are strictly limited in number; it is "designed as a special distinction for eminent men and women." Its present members include General Eisenhower, G. M. Trevelyan, the historian, John Masefield, the poet, A. N. Whitehead, the philosopher, and Gilbert Murray, the classical scholar.

Recently Republican Senator Wayne Morse said of President Truman: "He is slugging right now and he has the Republicans on the defensive." Another enthusiastic admirer was ex- Heavyweight Champion Gene Tunney who called at the White House and announced to reporters that: "The country is in good hands. I never saw a more solid citizen. His eye is clear and he is just as solid as a wall. His jaw is square and his stomach is as flat as an athlete's." Tunney pointed to his own stomach to stress the point.

Four months ago hard pressed Yale University raised its tuition to $500, a maximum the Government pays for veterans under the G.I. Bill of Rights. A few weeks later Yale announced a second round of tuition raising up to $600 a year effective next Fall. Harvard's basic tuition is still at $400 and Princeton's at $500.

U.S. movies never enjoyed such a profitable year at the box office. Nineteen pictures made $4,000,000 or more each. Until 1926 only twenty-five pictures in Hollywood history have done that well. Ingrid Bergman with four hit movies renting in the U.S. and Canda for a total of $21,750,000 was the year's most profitable star. Bing Crosby whose three hits rented for $18,000,000 was second. MGM with thirteen of the top sixty money-makers collected the most rental: 47,250,000. Next were Paramount, twelve pictures at $44,650,000. Twentieth Century Fox $35,000,000 and RKO with eight pictures at $30,000,000. Rank's British picture "Caesar and Cleopatra" $2,250,000, was the only foreign film to squeeze into the top sixty. It came number fifty-six. "Henry V" was the first foreign picture to make a real impression in the U.S.A.

Publisher McCormick of Chicago said that the city planner told him recently that he believed that in the future Los Angeles would be the largest city in the U.S.A., New York second, Chicago third and Houston fourth. Publisher McCormick added "The planner may be right if New York and Chicago in particular continue to be dead from the neck up."

Editor F. L. Allen at a New York meeting of the National Publishers Association said: 'There is the obvious fact that for every reader who really knows how to read and also consciously wants to buy ideas there are ten who simply want to be amused. The danger is that practically all the magazines on the stands will either not discuss public issues at all, or will do it with blinders on —each magazine expressing its own special view, whatever this may be and not acquainting its readers with any other views. The traffic in fresh ideas has therefore been dependent largely upon a handful of magazines which were liberals in the best sense, by which I mean that they assume that there might be more than one side to a question, that new ideas were not necessarily poisonous and that open-mindedness was a virtue. The journalist of the closed mind knows in advance which side he is on and encourages the correspondent or accepts the article that will give aid and comfort to that side, forsaking the obligation to eliminate he turns on the heat; the result is inevitably the other side fights back; the blood pressure of the community rises, and what we tend to have in our journalism is not a town meeting in which unexpected things and fresh solutions and ingenious compromises have a hearing, but a pitch-battle of propagandas. So persuasive has the new tradition of the closed mind become in journalism that there are many topics in which it is hard today to get even a reasonably fair-minded article. I should like to know whether or not there is truth in the reports that during the war the control of American industry has become more concentrated than before. This is the sort of thing that we ought to know about, but I feel in my bones that most of the journalists who might be competent to deal with it would regard themselves as bound by conscience to make the picture either as black or as white as possible: either to show that those glorious characters, our industrial leaders, are fashioning for us a system ever more perfect, or else that those horrid predators, the millionaires, are fastening upon us a chain of Fascism."

General MacArthur wrote recently to a U.S. clergyman of a Christian opportunity in Japan "without counterpart since the birth of Christ". If this opportunity is wisely seized, he stated, " a revolution of the spirit may be expected to ensue which may more favorably alter the course of civilization than has any economic or political revolution in the history of the world."

Maybe the polite host these days should bore his guests so they will feel at home.

Come to Church

Your Church is the Bulwark of Democracy — There Does Freedom Flourish

Attend the Church of Your Choice Regularly

Trinity Church

The daily papers of two weeks ago carried a news dispatch from London to the effect that Dr. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, was publishing a book on "The Rise of Christianity" in which he questioned some of the fundamentals of Christianity and urged that the Christian religion be stripped of myth and romanticism so that it will square with scientific facts. As there has been a good deal of discussion of this dispatch amongst Church people, the morning sermons at Trinity Memorial Church for the next two Sundays will deal with the questions involved.

Calvary Church

On Sunday, in Calvary United Church, at the morning service, the worship will be conducted and an Object Lesson Address, illustrated with Scripture Scrolls similar to those used in the Churches before books were printed and bound, will be given by the Rev M. W. Booth, B.A., B.D., Secretary of the Montreal Auxiliary Bible Society. The sermon will be delivered by the Minister, Right Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D., on "The Risen Lord meets seven disappointed fishermen."

The Church School will resume its regular sessions at 10 a.m. on Sunday in all departments, with the Senior Bible Class, under the leadership of Mrs. Davidson.

The Nursery Division and the Mission Band will meet during the morning service period.

Dr. Jones will conduct the service of worship and will preach at 7.30 p.m., on "The Foolishness of Preaching."

The Young People's Union will reopen its meetings on Monday at 8.15 p.m. in the Church Parlors.

Sunday, April 20th, a Young People's Rally Service will be conducted by representatives of the Presbytery and Conference Young People's Organizations. The address will be delivered by Allister Kirker of Ottawa, who has been elected as the delegate of the Montreal and Ottawa Y.P.U. to attend the Youth Conference in Oslo in July, 1947.

Westmount Baptist

"Unexpected Aftermath of Easter" will be the Morning Sermon in Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday. The Minister will portray types of men whom the risen Christ ignore and other types to whom he shows himself alive.

The Evening Service Address will be entitled "The Next Time Christ Will Be Actually Seen", in which will be a preview of the approaching appearance of the victorious Lord. "Unto Them That Look For Him Shall He Appear".

Westmount Choir, under the Leadership of Hibbert Troop, will repeat Easter music. Dr. Johnston will preach at both Services.

Westmount Young People, in addition to the programme carried through by themselves in a most efficient way, are following with keenest interest a course of 20 Minute Lectures, conducted by Dr. Johnston, on "The Christian Doctrines of Grace". In these discussions keen young minds are seeking to grasp the heart of the Christian message, as it applies to modern every-day living. Visitors or new members of the followship are always welcome. These young men and women meet each Monday at 8 p.m.

St. Andrew's Church

There will be a special young people's service at St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, starting at 7.30 p.m. This will be in the nature of a Vocational Direction Service. Brief addresses will be given by Mrs. Donald Morrison on "Opportunities for Young Women," by Rev. A. J. Mowatt on "The Challenge of Our Overseas Missions," and by Lloyd Stafford on "The Call to the Ministry."

Westmount Park

Anniversary services will be held in Westmount Park Church on Sunday. The Session has asked the minister, Rev. G. W. Goth ,to conduct the services and preach the sermons.

The morning sermon entitled: "A Date With Destiny" will be in the nature of a challenge to all Christians. It will relate itself to the unique opportunity which confronts the Christian Church in these great days — days in which people must make up their minds whom they will serve. Will it be Christ or Caesar—God or Mammon? It cannot be both. The words of the great Apostle Paul keep ringing in the ears of all thinking people today.

At the evening service Mr. Goth wil continue the series of sermons on "Design for Living," when the topic will be: "How to Behave in a Crisis."

St. Luke's United

The Young People of St. Luke's and Rosedale United Churches will act as hosts to the Young People of Newport United Churches, Vermont, this week-end. A full program of a social, recreational and religious nature is arranged. The Friday evening program will be in Rosedale United Church. The Saturday program, followed by special services on Sunday in which the Young People will participate, will be held in St. Luke's. One hundred Young People will render the hymn "Lead Kindly Light" at the morning service. The devotional exercises will be in charge of Young People from Newport and St. Luke's. The minister is requested to preach on the theme of the Oslo Youth Conference to be held in Oslo this July, namely, "Jesus Christ Is Lord."

The Young People will be in charge of the service. A chorus of eight girls from Newport will render two or three numbers. Colin West (Rosedale) and Margaret Alderson (Newport) will give a duet number. The minister will give a brief address on the subject, "Open the Door—" The evening service is at 7 p.m. in order that the visiting group may catch the evening train for home at Westmount.

The choir will render anthems at both the morning and evening services.

All Young People of the community are invited to these services on Sunday. Full support of parents and friends will be welcomed.

The next baptismal service is Sunday morning, April 20th. Parents desiring to have their children baptized should contact the minister.

The Young Adult Group will meet Sunday evening, April 20th and the Half-Way Club will meet on April 25th. Watch for future announcements concerning these meetings.

Senior Young People's Union came first in their class in the United Church in securing the greatest number of subscriptions for The United Church Observer. The prize is a beautiful Holman Red Letter Teacher's Bible. — Congratulations.

Stanley Presbyterian

At Stanley Church on Sunday, both services of worship will be conducted by the minister, Rev. J. D. Wilkie. In the morning Mr. Wilkie will speak on "What Means the Cross," and in the evening his subject will be "Face to Face With God."

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed on Sunday, April 20th, at both the morning and evening services. The Preparatory Service will be held on Friday evening, April 18th, when the new Communicants will be received into the fellowship of the church.

The child baptized at the morning service last Sunday was Keith Howard Taylor, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Taylor.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Managers will take place on Monday, April 14th, at 8 p.m.

The Minister's Bible Class meets every Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Ladies' Parlour.

The Women's Prayer Meeting each Friday at 11 a.m.

The Girl Guides on Monday at 7 p.m., and Scouts on Thursday at 7.30 p.m.

Church of the Advent

The Easter Carol Service at 7 p.m. will be the special feature in the observance of Low Sunday.

This carol service combines the elements of a religious drama and an act of worship.

At the commencement of the service the church is in almost total darkness; gradually the light increases as the service proceeds. Candles are lighted at the Lectern before the First Lesson, which is read by a Server; on the High Altar and the Lord's Altar before the Te Deum; on the pulpit before the sermon.

A procession is made to the Font, where prayers are offered, and each Chorister and Server is given a candle, when the final procession makes its way to the Sanctuary.

The church is flooded with light as the service closes with a Doxology and the Blessing.

Dominion-Douglas

On Sunday Dominion - Douglas Church will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the dedication of its present Church building. The speaker at the morning Service will be Rev. G.G.D. Kilpatrick, B. A., D.D., D.S.O. Principal of the United Theological College, Montreal, who will take as his topic "The Divine Commission." The choir under the direction of John Robb will sing "To God Give Thanks and Praise" — Bach, and "We Love Thy Place, O Lord" — John Robb. At the Evening Service Dr. Lloyd Smith will preach, his subject being "Is Immortality Reasonable?"

Church School will meet at 3 p.m. and at 8.45 p.m. the Young People's Union will meet in Friendship Parlor for an interesting program.

Activities for the ladies for the week include the Sewing Circle at 2 p.m. on Monday and the Women's Association at 10 a. m. on Tuesday with luncheon at 1 p.m.

There will be the usual meeting of Brownies, Cubs, Scouts, Senior Scouts and Guides during the week.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Fugill of Westmount, announce the engagement of their daughter, Laura Evelyn, to Mr. J. Allen Weatherup, of Brockville, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Weatherup, of Toronto, the marriage to take place at St. Peter's Church, Brockville, on April 19th.

APPROACHING MARRIAGES

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Collins, of Montreal, announce the approaching marriage of their only daughter, Mildred Joyce, to Mr. Ronald Male, of Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Male, of Chatham, Ont., the marriage to take place in Westmount Park United Church on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

WEDDINGS

JAMIESON — HENRY

The marriage of Sarah Charlotte, daughter of Mr. Charles Henry of Brookview, N.Y., and formerly of N.D.G., and of the late Mrs. Henry, to Mr. David McAdam Jamieson, of Weehawken, N.J., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jamieson of Glasgow, Scotland, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at half-past three o'clock in Stanley Presbyterian Church, the Rev. J. D. Wilkie officiating.

Spring flowers decorated the church. Miss Doris Killam, A.T.C.M., was organist, playing quietly throughout the service, and Mr. William F. Muir sang "The Lord's Prayer." Later, during the signing of the register, Mr. Muir sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. C. Thorold Morgan, the bride wore a gown of shell pink lace over eggshell satin, fashioned on princess lines, with cap sleeves, low round neckline and bustle back, the folds of the skirt falling into a slight train. She wore long matching gloves and matching halo headdress, the latter holding her finger-tip veil, and she carried an arm bouquet of Calla lilies.

As matron of honor, Mrs. Alexandra D. Regele was in a model dress of deep violet crepe, on princess lines with high neckline and slit skirt, the short sleeves and side panels being made with pleats. Her crownless black straw hat was trimmed with a cluster of violets and pale pink flowers in halo effect, and she carried a bouquet of Rapture roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Joan Bryant, niece of the bride, wore powder blue taffeta, with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and very full floor length skirt. She had a shaded floral headdress, and her colonial bouquet was of pastel sweet peas.

Mr. Thomas P. Jamieson was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Howard Taylor, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mr. James Kennedy, nephew of the groom.

A reception was held in the Green Room of Victoria Hall, Westmount, where bowls of spring flowers were arranged. Later, the newly married couple left for Grey Rocks Inn, St. Jovite, the bride travelling in a cocoa brown gabardine tailored suit with matching accessories, a pale turquoise shortie coat and a corsage of Joanna Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson will reside in Weehawken, N.J.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. James B. Simpson and small daughters, Catherine and Janet, of Three Rivers; Mrs. Norman Eccles, of Athelstan, Que.; and Miss Joyce Cuffe, of Sydney, N.S.

A fraternity house at Colgate University was damaged by fire—not started by burning the midnight oil.

Education Scheme For Women Crew In Solitary Confinement

Some years ago Signorina Lelli, a slender, erect young Roman, her keen black eyes flashing from her pale face, was questioned for 11 hours and then imprisoned by a special tribunal in Italy as an anti - Fascist. Her crime was to have written a plan of international education and to have had many American friends.

Long stern months of meditation in prison followed. She was there from November to May in solitary confinement and did much thinking on human injustice, the value of freedom, and the fact that one could be spritually free, she said, and maintain one's dignity in front of a tribunal on the basis of one's consciousness of right.

Duty to Work

"Work is a right and a duty," states the handbook of the organization which resulted from her thinking. "For the poorer classes the aim is to find paid work; for the richer classes, the aim is to abolish idleness and to create the understanding that free time is a precious gift which does not belong to the individual but must serve the common good."

This League is nonpolitical and open to women of every religious creed and every political party. Its aims are to contribute to the re-education and regeneration of the Italian people; to co-ordinate other existing women's groups, and to prepare Italian women for civil, moral, intellectual, national, and international responsiblity.

Keenly aware of the devastating effects on the individual and nation of the long practice of deception under the yolk of oppression and the need for moral and spiritual values, Signorina Lelli has stated as principles to which members of the league must adhere: Love for Truth; love for Honesty; respect for other people's possessions; love and respect for public property; love for one's neighbor, "love of God, beginning and end of every human sentiment, which should not only be manifested in practice of a cult but in every act of daily life;" and "love for the above principles for which one lives, fights, suffers, and if necessary, dies."

Gerry's Chatter Column

IF YOU HAVE WOOLLEN BLANKETS THAT NEED LAUNDERING be sure and choose a clear day when there is a good breeze blowing to do the work. Use lukewarm soft water and have a heavy suds of mild soap flakes. Blankets should never be soaked or rubbed but the suds should be squeezed through the soiled places. Two tubs of lukewarm water are needed for rinsing, and if you use a wringer be sure that it is very loose. Shake the blankets when you hang them out to dry and shake them occasionally while drying. Your blankets will have a soft luxurious feeling if they are washed in this manner.

The Secret of Skin-Smooth Fit

Simpson's

Let's be optimistic, now that Easter has gone and start thinking of warmer days to come. During the wintertime we welcome the heavy undergarment but with the new Spring dresses, and later on with our sport clothes the accent is on dainty undies. Yes girls, this year, thank goodness there will be no running around looking for panties that don't resemble the ones our dear grandmothers wore. After you have finished reading my column tonight, be sure and read SIMPSON'S ad showing their exclusive line of SYLCRAFT panties. When we buy our suits we fit our skirt to our hips, and now we are able to do the same with our undergarments. The SYLCRAFT panties, properly sized, will conform to your body contour . . . give greater comfort because they do not bind and wear longer because there is no strain. By selecting your SYLCRAFT panties by hip measurements, you have the secret of skin-smooth fit. The fabric used in these garments is a run resistent warp tricot. It has a dull finish and is luxuriously soft to the touch. They have an elastic band top, and a short, band leg, and come in tea rose, in four sizes. Another new article that SIMPSON'S will soon be showing is the lovely "SAYBURY" silk rayon wrap-around house coats from New York; they are navy with white life saver dots, or a red with white dots, the edges being bound in white. They are tailor made with revers, and a tie belt. When I first looked at this garment I thought it was a China Silk, as it's texture is so soft and silky. It would be an ideal travelling companion.

A 64 Dollar Question Answered

This is the time of year when moths start looking for nice warm fur coats, in which to settle snugly for the summer months. These little pests look so harmless, that it doesn't seem possible for them to do so much damage in such a short space of time. Considering what is the natural habitat of these little fur pests, it is only logical that our coats should be kept in the same cool atmosphere during the summer months. Where therefore, should we send our precious coats? To that question, I can only answer . . . L. P. LAZARE'S, 1454 Peel St., just opposite the MOUNT ROYAL HOTEL. This fur store has been serving the public for three generations, and once a coat is in their hands, it becomes their responsibility. Before storing the coat, it is given a complete examination, and within a few days an estimate of the repairs that may be needed on the coat is mailed to you. When the cold weather returns, you may have your coat delivered to you within three days of calling. You pay no more at L. P. LAZARE'S and have full protection for 2% plus ½ of 1% on your valuation of the coat, with a guarantee of year round, world wide insurance. All this is yours by calling MArquette 1255.

Did You Knows

C.S.L. Gift Shop

Are you one of the many people who think that The C.S.L. Gift Shop, 1480 Sherbrooke St. near Mackay, handles only gifts? You would be surprised to know the amount of wearing apparel they carry. Or you might say . . . "But isn't it expensive?" and be wrong again. The buyer for this shop has her eyes continually on the price barometer, so that at no time are you paying more than anywhere else. First, let's look at the sweaters. This is the ideal time to sport a Lansea sweater under your suit; they are so finely knit that they fit snugly under a tight fit. The C.S.L. have beauties, all pastel shades, in camel hair or angora. The short sleeved angora are $7.50 and the long sleeved, $8.75. These sweaters wear and wash beautifully. You will find a complete line of gloves here, both short and long type. Their doeskin gloves are of a very fine grade, in natural, beige, and taupe, and only $3.95. Because Easter was so early this year is the reason why some of us have not bought our bags. If you are one of those people looking for a bargain, on your next visit to The C.S.L. Gift Shop, be sure and ask to see the marked down bags; there are still some excellent buys, in red, navy, natural and black. Here is another surprise for you. Did you know that you could buy PURE wool homespuns for suitings or coats? Yes, and also lovely smart color combinations, or the plain weave. They are about 30" wide, and only $2.95 a yard. I know all you ladies who are so handy with the needle will want to dash right in and buy a suit length or the makings of a coat. A tip to the wise, while the prices prevail; take advantage of the few pieces that are left. After all these DID YOU KNOWS I feel like Allen Prescott, and can't refrain from finishing off with "LADIES, I HOPE NOTHING'S BURNING".

Price Control And Rationing

All questions regarding rationing and information concerning the Wartime Prices & Trade Board should be addressed to the Information Branch, W.P.T.B., Room 910, Aldred Building, Montreal, Quebec.

Q.—I read somewhere that the sugar allowance this year is 71 pounds. Where will I get all the coupons for this sugar?

A.—While it is true the per capita allotment granted by the sugar committee of the International Emergency Food Council is 71 pounds, the per person allowance is less because in addition to the use of sugar by families, sugar must also be granted to various public institutions, to industrial and other quota users.

Q.—Will you please tell me what preserves are still rationed?

A. Jams, jellies, marmalade, honey and honey butter and molasses as well as fountain fruits are still on the ration list.

Q.—Why isn't evaporated milk rationed in all parts of Canada?

A.—Evaporated milk is rationed where there is a plentiful supply of fluid milk and it is not rationed where fluid milk is in short supply and is hard to obtain.

Q.—Under the new regulations affecting rentals, may I apply for possession of a house I bought some time ago?

A.—Yes, if you bought the house in the period between October 31, 1944 and July 25, 1945 you may apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board with a written statement in duplicate setting out your date of purchase and needs as compared with the tenants. If the Court of Rentals Appeal approves your application, you may then give a three months notice to vacate under the laws of the province.

Rhubarb Fluff Good With Custard Sauce

Three cups rhubarb, cut in pieces, 2 cups water, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 3 egg whites. Cook rhubarb in water until tender. Mix flour and sugar together and stir into cooked rhubarb. Cook 5 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice, cool and fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Chill thoroughly and serve in individual glass dishes with

CUSTARD SAUCE

One and half cups milk, 3 egg yolks, ¼ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Scald milk in double boiler. Beat yolks, sugar and salt together. Pour scalded milk over them, mix well and return to double boiler. Cook until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. And vanilla and chill.

Big Improvement In Cookers Promised British Housewife

In new electric cookers as seen by British designers the "back of the oven" becomes the acme of accessibility rather than its traditional opposite. The cooker of the future has plastic glass windows which disappear like the shutter of a roll-top desk, when you need to take out the contents.

A double oven—a smaller one below, and a larger one above for cooking at different temperatures—forms only one component of this modern electric cooker. The unit is a complete kitchen workshop.

There is space for mixing pastry and puddings with a fold-down electric mixer and kitchen robot with sunken mixing bowl ready for fitting with any type of attachment for any job needing doing, from creaming fat to mixing milkshakes. Alongside the boiling plates is another sunken cooking well with lid and wire cage for reheating puddings, canned foods and other precooked dishes.

There is hidden strip lighting for directing on the work centers. This comes on automatically when the lids are raised.

The ovens are temperature-controlled and can be worked by time switches if the housewife is out shopping. An alarm clock fits flat into the surface over the oven. The alarm is set and the bell rings when the meal is cooked. There is a roomy grill fitted beneath the solid boiling plate.

The hot plates are quick heating with a thermostatic and simmer control at the back to conserve space. They are set in wells to catch drips.

Household Hints

By MARY MORTON

To continue the Cottage Cheese theme, I'll give you some recipes using this economical and wholesome food for desserts this time.

There is no need for you to use them all at once, of course. It has been my experience as a housewife, however, that when I wanted to use a certain recipe—say for Cheese Cake, Pie or some other special dish — I couldn't find a recipe for same, so I'm giving you these for your files.

Today's Menu

Broiled Steak
Scalloped or Creamed Potatoes
Spinach
Spring Raw Vegetable Salad
Cheese Pie or Rich Coffee Cake
Coffee

Cheese Pie

1 lb. cottage cheese
¼ c. light cream
⅓ c. sugar
½ tsp. salt
3 eggs, beaten
½ c. chopped raisins
2 tbsp. melted butter
1 lemon rind and juice

Plain Pastry

Line a deep pie tin with pastry, prick it, and bake until delicately brown. Press cheese through a fine sieve, add other ingredients, blend and pour into shell. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) until firm. Makes one 9-inch pie

Rich Cheese Cake

German Sweet Pastry
1 c. butter or mild shortening
1 c. sugar
2 c. dry cottage cheese
¼ c. lemon juice
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
Grated rind 1 lemon
¼ tsp. nutmeg
4 egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry

Line a 9-inch pie tin with pastry. Cream shortening and sugar, add the other ingredients, folding in the egg whites last. Fill pie tin and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees F.)

Official Handbook Planned To Help Home Builders

If you are intending to build, you must have your plan first. A new book recently published by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, Ottawa, has the answer to hundreds of building problems all bound up in a neat little book called "67 Homes for Canadians". This is an official handbook and contains a wealth of information on home-building, along with scores of new, modern small house designs, including winners of the Canadian Small House Competition.

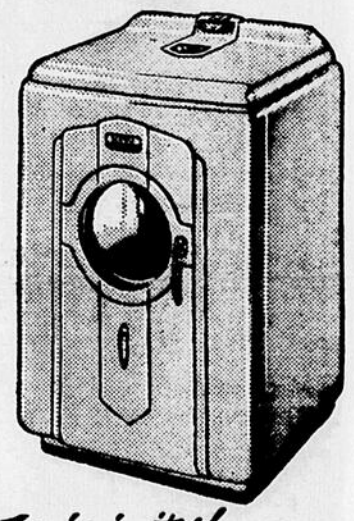

All designs conform to National Housing Act standards and this up-to-the-minute book is available at $1.00 from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation throughout the country. If there is no branch in your particular district, white to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, Ottawa, and one will be sent to you immediately.

Think—Before You Interrupt

By T. BROWNFIELD

"Mother, look at that big—"

"Mother's dear boy," was the affectionate interruption, and the mother bent over to kiss the child.

"Yes, but Mother, look at—".

"Kiss me, dear. What do you want Mother to look at?"

"See that great big—"

"Big darling boy!" she murmured.

"But I want you to look at that big truck that—"

"Grandma's looking at you. She wants a hug, I know. Give her a great big one."

"But that big truck, Mother—"

Five times a youngster about four years old, riding on a bus with his mother and grandmother, attempted to talk. Yet every time he started a sentence, he was interrupted by either one or the other. Never once was this child given time to complete a sentence. A few words from his lips, and he was interrupted by a demand for a caress, or given a caress.

True, he was not scolded, corrected in the middle of a sentence, not interrupted by adult conversation—except as it led to a request for a show of affection, but what adult could stand such treatment for long and still be capable of logical thought or coherent expression of an idea?

Surprisingly, this child did not stammer or repeat his words in confusion. He simply started over and over again, patiently trying to say a few words to express his thought. This particular incident was an extreme example of the habit soem parents have of interrupting their childen's early attempts to talk. Regardless of the reason for the interruption—whether it is in anticipation of what a child intends to say, to correct him, or to display affection and pride in his accomplishments—it may become the basis for serious difficulties later on.

Most children when traveling by bus, train, or car are entertained by their new and changing surroundings. They learn much from their observations, and the parent who wisely answers the questions they ask increases the value of these observations. If Johnny sees an extra large truck and wants his mother to see it, too, he may follow his remarks with a question, and pause for an answer. It may be a tower truck for repairing power lines, or perhaps a ladder truck going to a fire; or it may be a moving van such as Johnny has never seen before. Whatever it is, his attempts to learn about it by declaration, exclamation, or question, are checked if he never gets an opportunity to voice his own ideas without interruption.

If the mother and grandmother, of whom we first spoke, had realized what they were doing, they no doubt would have resisted the impulse to interrupt with caresses. It is generally by putting one-self in the place of another that the proper light is shed on a problem. If either of these adults were subjected to a kiss or a hug or a fond squeeze or pat on the face each time they attempted to make a remark, they would soon see that the situation needed correcting.

No matter how long-drawn-out are Johnny's or Jane's first attempts at expression, the understanding parent will listen through to the end. Of course, if a child prattles constantly, in an attempt to monopolize the conversation or to dominate the situation, that will need different handling. But in his early efforts to express an idea or to ask a question, full opportunity should be given him to complete his train of thoughts.

Two ears and one mouth suggest that you should listen twice as much as you talk.

Country Telephone Operator Is Also Housewife, Reporter

Claribel Hulett Foote, chief operator of the Rutland County Telephone and Telegraph Company, located at Pawlett, Vermont, has been on the job for 40 years and still enjoys her work. It might almost be said that she married the telephone company for it was started and for many years owned solely by her husband's father. whose sons took an actvie part in its operation.

The Footes know practically all their subscribers, their voices anyway, and call most of them by their first name in taking and transmitting calls. Claribel Foote likes people, has a sympathetic understanding of human nature, and is constantly rendering little personal services, not being hampered by the restrictions of a big company. On her own exchange, she can do as she pleases and take the necessary time to aid a subscriber who needs advice.

And she will tell you that most of the subscribers are friendly and co-operative. For instance, a woman who thinks she may be holding the line too long, will interrupt herself to ask, "Do you want this line, Claribel?" Or Mrs. Foote may interrupt a subscriber to say, "May I have this line for emergency, Dorothy? I'll call you back." And —unlike some city operators who forget all about you—she always does call back! She also reports for the local Rutland Herald.

Naturally household activities centre in the big kitchen-dining-room, where the switchboard is located. There the ironing board is set up, with iron ready to connect; there is the open sewing machine; and directly back of the switchboard is the big dining table. By a turn of her swivel chair, earphones still in place, she can eat a bite of lunch, previously prepared, between calls. Mr. Foote takes over while his wife prepares dinner.

Wholesale Buyer Of Diamonds Finds Her Business Fascinating

"What I have attained in my profession I owe to my insatiable curiosity," is Hobby Liebrich's laughing explanation of being one of the very few women in the world who is a wholesale buyer of diamonds and believes herself the only one on the West Coast.

Nor has it all been done overnight, for knack cannot substitute for knowledge, and in dealing with these rare and costly stones, knowledge can best be gained by handling the gems. Even today, she herself still checks every diamond that she buys for the firm. With a "loupe," or magnifying glass, screwed firmly in her eye she patiently and carefully examines hundreds of stones for color, cut, and perfection.

She explains that an academic study of diamonds involves not only chemistry, geology, the lapidary art, optics in cutting and gemmology, but history as well, for diamonds were mentioned in some of the earliest written records of the world and have been traceable through the centuries, despite the fact that their name has been changed many times. Today's term, for instance, results from a vitiated usage of the Roman title Adamus, which passed through three stages, adamant, diamaunt, and diamant, to reach diamond.

Whenever fashion has a hand there are bound to be cycles, and so it is with diamonds. The cut of the stones is just now undergoing a change—the first in 300 years — but mountings have recorded style eras in jewelry, and Mrs. Liebrich says she has watched them go through all the stages of gold from yellow to green to white, then platinum, and now back to the rose and pink shades of gold.

Rug Cutting For Economy

So it's "just an old rug" that the junk man doesn't care to buy! Even then, it has possibilities if it's all wool and "good in spots."

A rug too shabby for one room may do in another. For instance, a dining - room rug that was worn all around the border, but good in the middle, was successfully transferred to a bedroom where the bed and the bureau covered the most-worn places and showed the good middle in the center of the bedroom.

The best pieces of a wool rug can be cut into stair treads for a stairway. You should tack it neatly down on the tread, but not the risers. The rug will soften noise, is easy to clean and may give a note of luxury and color.

A large nine-by-twelve rug can be ripped apart and a good strip used as a runner in a corridor or narrow hallway.

Extra door mats around back porches, the garage, and even in front of the washtub or sink are useful. The doghouse is another place where a piece of wool rug will be appreciated, especially in the winter or wet weather.

Meat Not Enough

Meat and meat alternates are the most costly food items, yet nutrition surveys in two provinces revealed to national health authorities that nearly all the children surveyed were getting ample amounts of meat. On the other hand vegetables, except for potatoes, were neglected by almost one half.

Nutrition experts point out that vegetables, particularly the vivid green and yellow ones, contain a variety of vitamins and minerals essential to well-rounded diets, and urge parents to encourage children to eat vegetables.

IRISH LINEN BLOUSE FOR A COLLEEN!

This dressy white Irish linen blouse is the perfect complement to your new spring suit. Lovely open-work lace forms the tailored collar and cuffs, a demure tailored bow lies beneath the wing tips of the collar. Trim knife pleating gives the front an extra tailored chic. Fragile and feminine as this blouse appears, it is practical for Irish linen can be tubbed frequently and still retain its freshness and original sheen.

Stocking-Fitting Machine Gives Right Answer To "What Size?"

Stockings are going through a mild revolution, and we aren't citing new plastic wonders as cases in point. What our lovely sheers are going through is a drastic change in the old conception of how they should fit. In its place comes the newer idea that fit should be proportionate to the size and width of your foot and to the fullness and length of your leg. The promise is better fit and longer wear.

Since the idea has caught on, many manufacturers are revamping structural designs, and as many as three leg lengths are available in any one given size.

To take the burden of guess work off the customer and the saleswoman, some stocking counters in New York are now equipped with measuring devices which turn the job of fitting you over to an infallible machine.

The machine on which the customer stands in one stockinged foot, in order to obtain the fullest extension of its width and length under body weight, is not unlike a device for determining the right shoe size. But the hosiery gauge goes a couple of steps farther in its insistent quest to fit a stocking properly. On the theory that fulness of foot takes up length, the measurement of the width is considered as important as the length. Because the fulness of the calf is a contributing factor in determining length, that is measured by a device that slips around the leg like a bicycle clip. The length of stocking required is then measured by a pull-up tape which makes a point of contact with the customer's girdle.

BUYING HEALTH

Despite all assertions that money cannot buy health, authorities in the nutrition field now suggest that strength and physical well-being are, in fact, purchaseable commodities. Health, they say, comes in shopping bags —when those bags are filled with health-giving foods.

For a long time science has known of the importance of diet in preserving health. Modern nutritional science goes further and states that some foods are definitely health - giving while others tend to favour lowered body resistance to disease germs.

Among the healthful foods recommended by the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, and listed in the booklet called "Canada's Food Rules," are—milk, citrus fruits or tomatoes, other fruits, potatoes, green, leafy (or other) vegetables, whole grain cereals, Canada Approved bread, meat, and eggs and cheese. With these, say the experts, every member of the average family has a real chance for optimal health.

"Two-Tones" Revue Has Comedy, Music

"Two-Tones" is the title of the musical revue which will be presented next Tuesday evening at Victoria Hall, Westmount, by the Young Ladies' Sodality of Ascension Parish. The curtain will rise at 8.30.

This one-night performance will include several comedy acts, skits, dance numbers, and music in the old fashioned and blackface settings.

Special attractions will be music by a group of instrumentalists, a solo number by Helen Losito, talented pianist, and tap routines by Irene Thoms.

Featured as the "Four Gentlemen With a Guitar" will be John Asselin, Peter Farrell, John Sessenwein and Robert Sessenwein, and providing a background for such singers as Joan Melvin and John Asselin, Jean Curran and John Sessenwein, will be a chorus of over forty mixed voices. Among those featured in the variety specialty numbers will be Langley Desjardins as a blackface singer.

Joanne Schoeler and Robert Boyd designed the colorful stage settings. David Bedford, stage director, will be assisted by Patrick Asselin, Owen Kennedy and John Rolland, and the entire production is under the direction of Reverend George F. Thoms.

Proceeds from this show will go towards the Ascension Parish Rectory Fund.

The Post Office Department plans to ban nude ladies on 1948 calendars. No clothes, no dates!

Fragrant Stews And Pot Roasts Made With Herbs And Dumplings

The value of meat is not dependent upon its cost. The less expensive cuts are equally as good as those of higher price, but they require long, slow cooking in a covered pan, using moist heat to soften the tough connective tissue. These cuts may also be made tender by grinding.

When the homemaker cooks with imagination, stews, pot roasts, Swiss steaks, etc., become intriguing fare. A touch of mystery may be achieved by the addition of such seasonings as celery tops, bay leaf, thyme or an onion stuck with two or three whole cloves. These dishes are sure to get a big hand from the family.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest adding sour cream, canned tomato or mushroom soup to the gravy, to give new sparkle to tried and true favourites. A meat loaf unmoulded on a baking sheet, frosted with creamed potatoes and browned in a hot oven is as superb as a prime roast.

Other good meat extenders, which carry the flavour of meat and yet increase the number of servings are vegetables, bread crumbs or dressings, dumplings and biscuit toppings. Rich meaty gravies or tangy sauces are the perfect accompaniment to all meat courses and play their part in stretching the meat used.

MUSHROOM - MEAT PATTIES

1 can cream of mushroom soup,
½ cup water,
1 pound ground beef or veal,
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs,
1 egg, beaten,
1 teaspoon salt,
⅛ teaspoon pepper,
3 tablespoon minced onion,
½ cup chopped celery.

Dilute the mushroom soup with the water blending until smooth. Combine ground meat with crumbs, eggs, 1/3 cup of the soup mixture, salt, pepper, onion and celery. Shape into patties about 1" thick and brown both sides in hot fat. Cover with remaining soup mixture and bake, covered, for 25 minutes in a moderate oven 350 F. or simmer covered on top of the stove for 15 minutes. Six servings.

MOCK DUCK WITH DILL DRESSING

2 lbs. round steak, cut ½" thick,
3 cups soft bread crumbs,
½ teaspoon salt,
1 teaspoon poultry dressing,
¼ cup chopped onion,
¼ cup chopped dill pickle,
6 tablespoons melted fat,
1 tablespoon prepared mustard,
½ cup dill pickle juice.

Wipe round steak with a damp cloth. Combine crumbs, salt, onion, dill pickles and 3 tablespoons fat. Spread steak with prepared mustard and place dressing on top. Roll up and fasten with skewers and cord. Melt remaining 3 tablespoons fat in heavy pan and brown steak on all sides. Add dill pickle juice and cook in a covered pan 1½ hours or until tender. Six servings.

SAUCE FOR BOILED BEEF

½ cup sweet pickle relish,
2 tablespoons chopped parsley or celery tops,
1 teaspoon sugar,
1 teaspoon salt,
⅛ teaspoon pepper,
¼ cup vinegar.

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Serve with hot sliced boiled beef. The meat may be simmered until tender, then baked in a hot oven 400 F. for about 20-25 minutes or until nicely browned.

Knitting Machine Dates From Elizabethan Days

Although the art of weaving can be traced to the cave-dwellers, there is no certain allusion to knitting until the 15th Century. In an Act of Parliament of Henry VII (1488) there is a reference to knitted woollen caps and later, in the reign of Henry VIII, the king and his courtiers wore knitted silk hose brought from Spain.

The first mechanical knitter was invented by the Rev. William Lee of Nottinghamshire, who attempted to interest Queen Elizabeth in his invention. Rejected in England, Lee took his invention to France where the woollen industry was being encouraged by protection under the French patriot, Colbert. There he met with more success although the fight to introduce his machine over the protests of the hand knitting industry left him in poverty in the later years of his life.

Burglars in a western town, speeding away with a drug store strong box, were caught by police Imagine being pinched for safe driving.

Baroness' Inch-High Dolls Have Life-Like Expressions

Dolls, an inch high, and so life-like -- one expects to see the one representing Anna Pavlova execute a difficult dance step — are the work of Baroness Evelina Maydell. From her native Estonia Baroness Maydell brought to America her love of dolls and a memory of the shadow boxes in which tiny figurines had seemed to live in a world of fantasy all their own.

The wire which she uses to build up the figurines seems to take on life, and becomes poised and graceful. After the body, hands and arms are brought into proper position and have the graceful composure their designer desires, Miss Maydell makes the tiny face. This is carved from clay, wax, or even old, dry soap.

Important Darning Needle

The strong end of a darning needle is the only implement small enough to produce the tiny features. Working with a magnifying glass, especially if she is doing intricate work such as a smile, she brings the face alive. Small delicate eyelids are carefully designed with a drop of modelling clay. The hair, made of soft silk threads, fixed with drops of glue.

Suddenly, a ballet scene, with tiny dancers dressed in white silk and tulle takes shape before one's amazed gaze. A princess stands tall and graceful before a group of masculine admirers, and a court scene appears.

Any type of material, as long as it is soft and pliant, is grist to the baroness's mill. A tiny piece of chenille, small snips of antique silk, a discarded yard of lace, tissue paper, gilt gift wrapping, sequins and pearls, all make for glamour in the finished product. Dried leaves and grasses end up in tiny bridal bouquets.

WPTB Announces Cent Rise On Sugar

Because of greatly increased costs of raw sugar to Canada, it has been found necessary to raise the ceiling price of refined sugar by one cent per pound on all sized packages and at all trade levels, effective April 1, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced.

Board officials point out that this action follows the general pattern of decontrol, and has the same effect as partial removal of subsidy or partial elimination of a trading loss, where the subsidy or trading loss is transferred into a price increase.

Commenting on the price of sugar in Canada during the war years, officials point out that during 1939 and 1940, the consumer price ranged between six and seven cents a pound and in March 1941, was stabilized at an average of eight cents a pound where it has remained until the present time.

Comparing prices today, about one year and a half after the end of hostilities, with those in effect at about the same time after World War I, it was pointed out that even with the present one cent increase in price, consumers will be paying approximately 16c a pound less than they did in 1920.

Direct From Hollywood

By Jack Hirshberg

EXTENDED ENGAGEMENT

HOLLYWOOD, April 9 — If you've attended Sunday School these past several weekends, chances are you watched a screening of Cecil B. DeMille's 20-year old epic titled "The King of Kings." DeMille's biblical pictures are usually more hokum than holy, but this masterful portrayal of the life of Christ is the exception.

Despite the fact it is silent cinema, made in pre-sound days, the film is still shown over 2,000 times a year in the United States and Canada alone, and hundreds of prints are used by missionaries overseas in educational work. Every Easter season it highlights church services and school sessions across the continent.

"The King of Kings" was a record breaker from the start. It has been seen by almost a billion spectators. DeMille shot it at the then unprecedented cost of $2,400,000, on the largest stage in Hollywood in 1927. Its cast of 6,000 has seldom been equalled.

Despite its reverent theme, however, De Mille could not resist spectacular exploitation.. Thorns were imported from the Holy Land for the crown worn by H. B. Warner, who played Christ. Each day's work began with a prayer. The actors were bound by contract to avoid night clubs and smoking during production, and Warner wore a veil on his way to the set from his dressing room.

Millions of natives who have seen no other movies have seen "The King of Kings." Missionaries in India and China wear out prints of the film at the rate of one a year, and one priest claims he has shown it to 125,000 people.

If Hollywood turned out more like this and fewer like "Duel in the Sun" the cinema colony might find itself held in higher esteem throughout the world.

TICKERTAPE — Charles Laughton and Elsa Lanchester plan to apply for American citizenship in the near future. They've spent most of their time here the past 15 years. . . Bing Crosby gets the old Will Rogers role when Paramount shoots "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" next autumn. It'll be a filmusical with tunes by Rodgers and Hart. . . Because of prior commitments Bob Hope must decline an invitation of the London Daily Mail to preside as master of ceremonies at Britain's counterpart of the Academy award presentations April 29. Radio obligations will keep Bob this side of the Atlantic. . .

Ottawa's Suzanne Cloutier was all set to test for a top spot in "Miracle of the Bells" last week when she came down with the flu. She'll try out this weekend instead. . . . When Paulette Goddard returns from Britain next autumn she'll do "Web of Days," a suspense yarn set in Atlanta just after the Civil War. The book has a summer publication date and should be a best-seller. It's a first novel by Edna Lee. . . Overheard in a local butcher shop: "A nice chicken, please — and leave the croquettes in. NOW THAT THE foreign ministers meeting in Moscow is still news, this story of an incident at the Potsdam Conference seems timely. I got it from Bill Davidson of Collier's Magaizne. It tops all Kilroy stories I've heard.

At the Potsdam Palace one bathroom, a mammoth place of marble, was reserved for the Big Three — Truman, Atlee and Stalin. Military guards were posted at the lavatory door to keep all others out.

On the second day of the conference, reports Davidson, Marshall Stalin popped out of the bathroom and spoke briefly in Russian to his interpreter. The interpreter turned to one of the American guards and translated Stalin's query.

"Marshall Stalin wishes to know," asked the interpreter, "who is this Kilroy?"

Denied a permit to work in California, Sally Rand packed her fans and sailed for Manila where she'll do her bubble routine for the Filipinos.

Jimmy Cagney wants Montreal's Johnny Coy for "Time of Your Life." Gene Kelley originated the role on Broadway. . . . Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom's definition of a wedding ring: A tourniquet—because it stops circulation . . . Eddie "Rochester" Anderson is building a benefit show for victims of the recent Los Angeles blast, many of whom were Negroes. I'll be April 24 at the huge Shrine Auditorium with a stage show including Jack Benny, Dick Haymes, Phil Harris, Alice Faye, Dennis Day and Andy Russell. . . . And Billy Rose is adopting 25 homeless European orphans. He'll bring them to New York and house them at his Mount Kisco estate. . . . .

Button Bouquets Made With Ivy

Having obtained most pleasing results from oiling leaves used in various table decorations, I conceived an idea for using English ivy leaves as a boutonniere, writes a reader.

English ivy leaves have a nice, hard surface. I oil them, top side only, wiping off excess oil with a soft cloth. Then I tie them together into a neat little boutonniere, cut the stems even, and wrap them in tin foil.

Of course, this is only to be worn with tailored suits or coats, as it is a sports idea.

I don't know what there is about this simple little device, but it never fails to bring forth comment and admiration from everyone. And a nice thing about it is that when you take it off at night, you can lay it flat "as is" in a bowl of water, and can keep it for a week or longer.

In selecting the leaves, use the darker green, not the tender light green. The leaves should be smooth and not wrinkled. Olive oil or any substitute table oil may be used for oiling the leaves.

Charles Rittenhouse To Direct "Romeo And Juliet" During May

Charles Rittenhouse is directing Shakespeare Society's production of 'Romeo and Juliet' which opens in Moyse Hall, McGill University on May 1st runing until May 8th. Mr. Rittenhouse first came to the notice of Montreal Theatre-goers through his production of this same Shakespeare play.

His presentation of 'Romeo and Juliet' at West Hill High School won praise for him and led to a series of Shakespearean productions at West Hill. Those productions have yielded the two leading players in the Shakespeare Society production. Betty Taylor repeats the role of Juliet which she first played as a school girl, and Ken Lee Smith was in the school's later production of "The Taming of the Shrew".

The Romeo of that original production, Ivor Francis, scored in the Shawespeare Society's "King Lear", last year, as the Fool. He is now in New York as a radio actor.

The West Hill production also marked the first work of Mr. Rittenhouse and Herbert Whittaker as a director-designer team. Other productions on which they worked together included the West Hill High School production of 'The Taming of the Shrew' and the 16-30 Club of the Churh of the Messiah productions. Mr. Whittaker is designing the set for 'Romeo and Juliet', which will carry out the traditional Elizabethan staging plan.

Mr. Rittenhouse is supervisor of speech arts for the Montreal Protestant School Board. He studied at the University of Manitoba, at McGill University and at the Yale School of the Drama. He has been one of the comittee responsible for the Shakespeare Society productions since their origin. He assisted on the first two productions preparing the script and working with the directors on readings. This year he takes over the direction for the first time.

Mr. Rittenhouse, as a director, ponsible for its recent production has worked for MRT, being res- of Saroyan's "The Beautiful People"; the Lakeshore Summer Theatre, and 16-30 Club

As an actor, Mr. Rittenhouse has appeared in productions of McGill University English Department, Queen's University, MRT, the Everyman Players, the 16-30 Club, Westmount Women's Club, Lakeshore Summer Theatre.

In addition to above mentioned, Mr. Rittenhouse's academic work has included teaching at the Queen's University Summer School of Fine Arts; Saint John, N.B. Summer School of the Theatre; MRT School of the Theatre; Montreal Oral Club; and this summer he is joining the staff of the Banff Summer School of Fine Arts, to teach directing and speech. Recent-

ANOTHER FINE BRITISH FILM! Lilli Palmer and Rex Harrison co-starred in "A Notorious Gentleman", which starts at the Snowdon United Theatre on Saturday for one week.

"No Leave, No Love" Has Van Johnson, Keenan Wynn In Musical

Starring the popular Van Johnson and introducing Pat Kirkwood, English musical comedy star, "No Leave, No Love", a musical comedy film is now playing at the Snowdon United Theatre until Friday night.

Built around a light-hearted and amusing tale of the efforts of Miss Kirkwood, as mistress of ceremonies on a radio broadcasting program, to prevent returned Marine hero, Van Johnson, from discovering that a former sweetheart had jilted him, with the inevitable aftermath of the hero forming a romantic attachment with his good Samaritan, the picture abounds in comic invention, slapstick laughter, incidents of mistaken identity, the uproar of a hotel room claimed by the Marine hero and his pal as well as by a millionaire radio sponsor and a flirtatious Russian Countess—all of which is set to a delightful musical background and some of the year's most lilting song hits.

"No Leave, No Love" not only has the advantage of Pat Kirkwood's impressive singing voice, aided by the vocal talents of Marina Koshetz, the extraordinary piano-playing of little "Sugarchile" Robinson, but also the famed orchestras of both Guy Lombardo and Xavier Cugat. Many of the songs undoubtedly will be heard around for months to come, particularly the effective, "Love On A Greyhound Bus", "All The Time", "Isn't It Wonderful" and "When It's Love".

Van Johnson romps through the starring role with his usual engaging charm and has a sterling romantic partner in Miss Kirkwood who is a stunning brunette, as equal to acting demands as she is to her vocal requirements.

Keenan Wynn, as Johnson's irrepressible buddy, plays a large part in the picture's slapstick proceedings. Edward Arnold adds laughs as the pompous millionaire with a weakness for blondes. Others featured in the cast include Marie Wilson, Leon Ames, Marina Koshetz, Selena Royle, Wilson Wood, Vince Barnett.

CLASSIC OF THE SEAS! Brian Donlevy, Esther Fernandez and Alan Ladd are seen above, as they appear in the film version of Richard Henry Dana's great classic of the sea, "Two Years Before the Mast", which starts on Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre, playing for one week. William Bendix, Barry Fitzgerald and Howard da Silva are also importantly cast in this film.

Spectacular Musical Teams Bing And Astaire At Westmount Now

No greater tribute could have been paid to America's foremost composer of popular music, Irving Berlin, than the Technicolor film "Blue Skies", which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday night. Bing Crosby, Fred Astaire, Joan Caulfield, Billy De Wolfe and Olga San Juan, sing, dance and clown to make this cavalcade of Berlin hits one of the most spectacular musicals ever filmed.

The tireless Crosby sings song after song, vocalizing no less than sixteen of the thirty two great Berlin tunes in the show. Besides such outstanding tunes as "White Christmas" and "Blue Skies", Bing introduces the haunting ballad, "You Keep Coming Back Like A Song", expressly written for this show.

The tap-happy Fred Astaire whirls through a half dozen sizzling routines, dancing with his co-stars, Crosby and Miss Caulfield, in several numbers. In a torrid production to the music of "Heat Wave", done on a lavish set representing a West Indian waterfront. Fred's partner is Olga San Juan. But the greatest bit of hoofing in Astaire's entire career is seen in his big solo number, a fast tap routine to the tune of "Puttin' On The Ritz". He does the number in the lithe, light-footed, light-hearted manner that first brought him fame.

Fred and Bing team up in a comedy routine "A Couple Of Song and Dance Men", and Fred also has a beautiful production number with Joan Caulfield and a group of glamorous show girls, "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody".

The beauteous Joan Caulfield reveals heretofore hidden talents. Her voice is delightful and her dancing is light and gay. She is charming as the girl that Bing and Fred vie for, who leaves Crosby when he proves too irresponsible, but returns to him after many years apart. The tale moves through the years with the Berlin music, which provides the background for the tender love story.

Mtl Masonic Choir Gives Annual Concert

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

The Montreal Masonic Choir of over seventy voices gave its annual concert last week in the St. James United Church under the fine leadership of Frederick T. Cleal with Doris Killam, accompanist and Warner Norman at the organ. The assisting artists were Agnes Davis, brilliant American soprano and Harry Maude, the very well-known Montreal baritone. A large and demonstrative audience applauded heartily and encores were added by soloists and choir to a well chosen and interesting programme.

The concert began with two choral numbers by Handel and Beethoven followed by a Folk Song by Brahms and Part Song by Stephen Adams. The diction was especially clear throughout the evening. Songs by Tschaikowsky, Willy Richter, Sir Edward Elgar, Orlando Morgan, Handel and Rossini comprised the rest of the programme of choir offerings. All were effective and showed intensive training.

Miss Davis is the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice which she uses with good taste in every type of piece. Her contribution to the concert included three arias by Donaudy, Handel and Massenet. Four songs by Deems Taylor, Bax, Hopkinson, and Dvorak in a second group while her third group had songs by Ware, Coryell and Horsman. Miss Davis added four encores and was also heard with the choir in a number by Rossini. Harry Maude was most successful in "Songs of the Fleet" by Sir Charles Stanford in which he was accompanied by choir, piano and organ. These delighted the audience and he received much applause. His other solo was the celebrated Prologue from "Pagliacci" which called for an encore, "Hymn To The Seraglio" by Mozart. Doris Killam and Warner Norman contributed valuable support to the choir and Miss Killam accompanied the soloists with her usual admirable taste.

IRVING BERLIN MELODIES! 32 song hits by Irving Berlin form the musical background to "Blue Skies", in Technicolor, which starts on Saturday at the Seville United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night. Joan Caulfield, Fred Astaire and Bing Crosby are co-starred with Billy De Wolfe and Olga San Juan in supporting roles.

GARY COOPER IN SPY STORY! Gary Cooper is co-starred with Lilli Palmer, noted European star, in "Cloak And Dagger", which starts on Saturday at the Monkland United Theatre, playing until Tuesday night.

"The Killers" One Of The Year's Best Pictures Now At Monkland

Adapted from Ernest Hemingway's classic, "The Killers", which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Friday night, has been on most critics list of Best Films of 1946. The melodrama unfolded with tremendous suspense and the various steps leading to the climax are sharp and clear and maintain a terrific tension.

The much-hailed new screen discovery, Burt Lancaster, lives up to his advance notices. He is sensational in the role of Swede, ex-boxer who falls into criminal ways over a woman, and who welcomes with resignation his "rubbing out" by professional gunmen.

Lancaster is a fine actor and gives a strong emotional portrayal of the Hemingway character. His passionate scenes with Ava Gardner could hardly be more real. His actions in the fight ring are fiercely realistic, and his drunken fury when he learns that Miss Gardner has jilted him is of the highest calibre.

Miss Gardner is fine as the attractive, weak and scheming Kitty, who proves fatal to Lancaster. The young actress emerges from the arduous role as a new contender for honors in the feminine dramatic field.

Edmond O'Brien is the central figure in the story. He plays an insurance adjuster called in to settle a routine $2,500 claim. A combination of curiosity and a sense of justice drives him deeper and deepr into the case, which is of little importance to his bosses. O'Brien is polished and suave, and does an expert bit of acting.

Albert Dekker is the double-crossing leader of a holdup gang, and Sam Levene is likable as always as a Philadelphia police detective.

Other good portrayals are given by John Miljan, as an underworld personality; Virginia Christine, as Lancaster's ex-fiancée; and Vince Barnett, in his first serious role, an ex-convict. The supporting cast is studded with players who give portrayals that will long be remembered.

Long Prize List For "Fun Parade"

The folks who volunteer to take an active part in the hilarious antics of the Roy Ward Dickson "Fun Parade" show, which comes to the Forum on Monday, April 28th next, under the auspices of Court Riverview, 1620, Canadian Order of Foresters, will, from the looks of things, be afforded an excellent opportunity of getting a whole lot more than only trouble for their pains. In addiotion to the side-splitting fun which the participants always manage to extract from their own performances, there is a list of valuable prizes—some $2,000.00 worth of them—which make the efforts of the said participants themselves very much while, to say nothing of the fame, transient perhaps, but widespread certainly, which frequently attends their endeavors. For, while there's precious little wisdom in the "Fun Parade", except perhaps the wisdom that a good hearty laugh is the finest tonic in the world, there's certainly no lack of a listening audience. According to radio-surveys, about 1,600,000 people listen to the "Fun Parade" every week. Court Riverview is arranging in connection with their work in the interest of the district's under-privileged children, and it promises to be an outstanding success. All seats are reserved.

ALOUETTES PLAN EARLY FOR FOOTBALL SEASON

The Montreal Football Club, better known as the "Alouettes" to the majority of football fans, announced recently that the team had arranged for an exhibition game with the Regina Roughriders of the Western Canada Football League, to be played at the Stadium at the end of August when the baseball Royals are out of town. The Roughriders should bring a powerful club here, for if memory serves us right, they were right in the thick of the Western Canada fight 'till the last game. Winnipeg, with whom the Als split a pre-season pair of games last year, won in the end, and came East to take a terrific shellacking from the Argos. The Alouettes themselves should have a powerful team, but as long as Toronto has that guy named Joe and Royal Copeland, who has changed his mind about playing in the U.S., they'll be tough opponents.

OLD ROYAL, MAX MACON, POPS UP WITH BRAVES

A bulletin from the training camp of the Boston Braves announces the probable starting lineup of the National Leaguers, and three names in that opening nine are very familiar to Montreal sport fans.

Tommy Holmes, always a pain in the neck to Royal pitchers when he was with Newark in 1940 and 1941, will start in right field; Conny Ryan, a second baseman who played with Jersey City a couple of seasons ago, will likely start at the keystone sack; and last reports have a lean fellow named Max Macon set to start at first base.

Montreal fans will remember Max well enough, for he put in several years in a Royal uniform. Always a better-than-average pitcher, Max was more noted for his hitting, however, and often played in the outfield for the Montrealers when he wasn't on the mound. We remember the night in 1940 when the Dodgers came here for an exhibition game, and Max played left field for the Royals, giving Jimmy Ripple a rest. The burly Ripple went up to Cincinatti later in the year, and starred for the Reds in the 1940 World Series. Max was the whole show that night as the Royals won, 12-8, as he singled in the first, doubled to start an eight run rally in the third, later finished off the rally with a three run homer up on the netting above the scoreboard in the same inning, doubled in two more in the fifth, and in the seventh slashed a drive that Charley Gilbert, now of the Philadelphia Phils, caught up with and pulled down in deep centre field. Max can hit. All reports say that he is pretty smooth around the initial sack, too, and his hitting gives him a definite edge over the prize rookie, Earl Torgeson, who is his only rival for the position.

PAUL RICHARDS SHOULD DO WELL WITH BISONS

Paul Richards, the new manager at Buffalo, the Detroit Tigers' Class AAA farm team has announced that he intends to do some catching for the Bisons this year, and if he ever dons the mask and pads in Montreal, local fans will be seeing one of the finest catchers ever to perform in the major leagues.

Richards, who crouches in an unorthodox way behind the bat, with one leg flung far out to the side, a shift forced by a knee injury, was known in the American League as one of the best of all throwing catchers. It was an unwise base-runner who took any chances with the veteran receiver. One season in the Southern Association with Atlanta, whom he later managed to the S. A. pennant, he threw out 23 of the 24 runners who attempted to steal on him.

Besides being a great throwing catcher, Richards is also one of the smartest, and is generally credited with transforming Hal Newhouser from a gripy, skinner thrower into the best pitcher in the major leagues today. Richards, while he goes into superlatives on the Newhouser pitching, doesn't say much about his part in developing the slender southpaw, but it is significant that Newhouser began his climb to the top soon after Richards joined the Tigers in 1943. Hal won 29 in 1944, he took 25 in 1945, and 26 last year for the second-place Tigers.

On the question of Newhouser's greatness, we don't have to take Richards' word alone, for Buddy Rosar, the majors' best catcher in 1946, also said that Prince Hal was the greatest pitcher in baseball, as well as the easiest to catch.

If Paul Richards can pilot the Bisons as well as he did the Atlanta team, and can impart some of his baseball knowledge into the young players under him, the Bisons will surely finish higher than the fifth place spot they had last year under Gably Hartnett, himself a former great catcher.

Lose Early Lead In 37-32 Loss

The Westmount Junior Basketball Club dropped a tough 37-32 decision to the Y. M. H. A. on the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gym floor in the final game of a best two out of three series which went the limit. This win gave the Y. M. H. A. Club the Montreal championship and the right to enter into the Dominion playdowns.

The deciding tilt between the two City finalists was a close fought struggle all the way, and was decided by the losers' inability to take advantage of numerous free throws, missing 20 out of 36 shots attempted. The locals jumped into an early lead of 9-2 at the eight minute mark of the first half, only to see the Mount Royal Avenue boys pull up even and forge into a lead of 17-16 at the half. At the outset of the second canto, the local Juniors jumped into an early two point lead, but steady basket potting by Sol Tolchinsky and I. Gossack soon put the Blues into a commanding lead which they never relinquished.

For Y. M. H. A., Tolchinsky, Endman and Gossack were tops with 15, 9 and 8 points respectively. The Purple and White boys were led by Jack Dudley with 11 and Pete Siemers with 6 points.

In a post-season exhibition contest the local Juniors tangled with the Westmount "Y" Intermediates and won a decisive 72-45 victory on the Westmount Junior High floor. For the Juniors, Gordon MacLeod with 21 and Bob Putnam with 16 were high scorers, while Harold Parsons and Jim Henderson were tops for the "Y" boys with 16 and 14 points respectively.

Line ups and scoring summary: —

St. Leo's Sports

It is now swing time at the Academy with plenty of activity on the fistic front, as a game group of boys have answered the call to the boxing war that goes on daily between the ropes of the school's boxing ring. It is a fine spirit of give and take as these boys show the grim determination to learn the fine points of the manly art of self-defence. There is very little glory attached to the training routine of boxing as they go through their paces in what is generally acknowledged as the toughest sport in the world. St. Leo's boxers have gone on to win Golden Glove honors, Intercollegiate titles, but none have gone into the money ranks as this trend of thought has always been discouraged as an extremely poor means of livelihood. It is not the school policy to overemphasize this rugged sport, but merely to use it as a means to serve towards the development of the boy himself with regard to self control, character and through its rigorous training routine, the full appreciation of a physically fit body. It is a sport that has no place for weaklings, and, sad to say, there have been a few boys who join boxing and are then forced to drop by the wayside. In boxing, as long as a boy comes out and stays out, it matters little whether he be good, bad, or indifferent, he receives full recognition for courage shown and the earnest desire to stand on his own two feet.

The turnout for this year's boxing class is not quite up to expectations, and this is particularly noticeable among the older boys.

It is a little early yet to get a line on the boys who will represent the school in the Seventh Annual Boxing Show scheduled for Friday, May 2, but the following

FORMER SCOUT HEADS COLLEGE

Dr. M. M. MacOdrum, M. A., Ph. D., newly appointed President of Carleton College, Ottawa, is a former Boy Scout and proud of it. He began his Scouting with St. John's Presbyterian Church Troop at Moncton, N. B.; later he was a Patrol Leader in the Calvin Presbyterian Church Troop at Pembroke, Ontario and in Halifax, N. S., he became Scoutmaster of one of Canada's first kilted Scout Troops, sponsored by the North British Society in that city. While in Sydney, N. S., Dr. MacOdrum served as a Scout Group Committeeman. "Scouting did a lot for me as a boy and I shall always regard the Movement as very worthwhile" said the new President of Carleton College in reviewing his associations with the Boy Scout Movement in Canada.

kippers Selected By . Lawrence Yacht Club

John Schwab, Dick Stevenson Chosen As Pilots For Dinghy Races At Bermuda

It was announced today by Alex Shearwood, Commodore of the l St. Lawrence Yacht Club that the skippers selected to re- ent the club in the series of international dinghy races to be d at Bermuda next month are John Schwab and Dick Stevenson, their respective crews will be Dr. Bob Townsend and Ian Mac- .

In commenting on the selection the Commodore stated that he eved the committee had made a wise decision for those selected had considerable experience in both local and inter-club dinghy petition and would undoubtedly represent their club in a worthy ner in this most important national regatta".

th John Schwab and Dick enson, the skippers, learned sailing in cat rigged dinghies Lake St. Louis, graduating them into the international dinghies with a thorough vledge of sailing and racing cs which has stood them in stead in many local races and ompetition with some of the dinghy sailors from Lake On- . Their reputation was greatly nced last summer when they the famous Currie Cup on St. Louis in competition with pers representing the Royal dian Yacht Club of Toronto the Kingston Yacht Club. They sailed and won several inter- and international races before war.

eir crews have also a consi- ble knowledge of sailing what it takes to win es for Bob Town- won the 14' international dinghy championship of St. Louis last season with oat "Rambler", and Ian Mac- before the war raced his dinghy "Momo" in local re- as and sailed as crew in sever- nternational races and acted ew for his present skipper in year's Currie Cup series. ey all saw service in the d forces, Dick Stevenson and Townsend in the Navy, John wab in the Air Force and Ian Lean in the Army. It is a cidence that Stevenson and Lean, who represented the l St. Lawrence Yacht Club ther in pre-war international s, were both wounded and n prisoners during the war, ough they were not at the prisoner-of-war camp, and now going to again represent club in International com- ion.

e activities of these members ot confined to sailing boats, they serve their club in exe- ve positions as John Schwab hairman of the Sailing Com- e of the Royal St. Lawrence a member of the Executive mittee; Dick Stevenson is man of the Entertainment mittee and a member of the tive Committee; Ian McLean member of both the Executive Sailing Committees and Bob send is a member of the g Committee.

Interest Quickens

h the official selection of kippers and crews to repre- he Royal St. Lawrence Yacht the interest of local yachts- n the forthcoming Bermuda ta has quickened. Officials local club are now anxiously ng to hear from the Bermu- more details of the pro- me of the races. Particularly hey keen to learn if other will be competing and if hich ones, also the exact dates he races.

MUCILAGE SUBSTITUTE

Quite often when one is in a hurry to mail a letter, there will be but one stamp and it has no mucilage on its back. In this predicament all that is necessary is to moisten the mucilage flap on another envelope, run the stamp over the dampened part quickly, then place on the letter to be mailed.

St. Leo's Sports

boys have been showing good form in training and are favored to make the grade.

In the junior class, John Foy and Donald Rolfe both 90 lbs., are coming along in fine fashion. Ken Black at 100 lbs. is capable of throwing a lot of leather with his southpaw slants. Phill Martin, at 85 pounds, is experienced, but will have to pay more attention to training classes before he will be given a nod.

In the senior division, the competition is not as keen as last year, but there is nevertheless some mighty good prospects and among them are: Donald Tinnigh at 115 lb., a light hitter but a good boxer. Bog Hall and Harold Wolfe at 126 lbs. are two willing mixers. Morey Barré and Peter McMullen at 130 lbs, both have a lot of class and enough experience and are sure bets for the show. John Chase at 136 lbs. is a fast worker that should find his name on the program. Martin McKenna a 150-pounder who impressed in last year's show and is coming along fine. Rolly Lockett, 115 lbs. won a smart bout last year but is not counted on for this year unless he cures his careless habit of missing troining sesions. There are other good-looking prospects like Chris. O'Brien at 90 lbs., Dave Wright at 118 lbs., Kevin McAsey at 126 lbs., John Mace and Brian Tiffin both at 140 lbs.

SPORT SHORTS

Bob Boyle, sports columnist for the Canadian Register weekly paper is of the opinion that St. Leo's in winning the City Senior B hockey title have accomplished the feat of the year in school sports.

McGill University's athletic officials are hopeful of bringing Lou Little, football coach of Columbia University to Montreal for a football rally at McGill early in May. Vic Obeck new football coach of the Red and White is himself a former assistant to the famed Columbia grid expert.

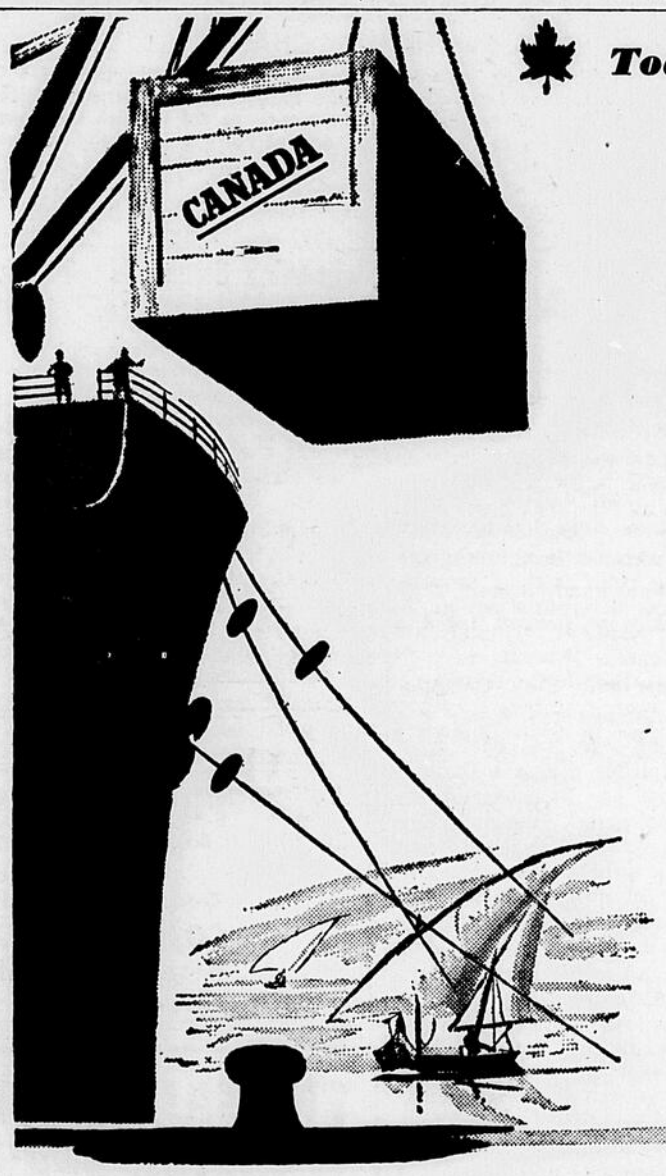

St. Leo's, who conducted this year's successful Interscholastic Ski Meet will play host to ski representatives from Loyola College, Stanislas, Mt. St. Louis College, Catholic High School and Brebeouf College who will assemble for the purpose of prize presentation to those who came first or second in each event.

Presentations will be made by Brother Bernard, Director of St. Leo's Academy.

The popular Jimmy McCarthy was recently elected to the top athletic executive position on the English side of the school. It was a good choice as no student in the school has better background for the job than captain Jimmy who has just finished leading St. Leo's to their second successive City Senior B hockey title. He also has been turning in a highly capable job for the past few years as field general for a number of St. Leo's football squads.

The suggestion by the new student Athletic Committee for a championship hockey social has been shelved for the present, at least. There are other plans now under consideration to honor the team.

Although their soil has been tilled without let-up for 4000 years, peasants in Italy's Po Valley regularly harvest 60 bushels of wheat to the acre, thanks to rotation and other good agricultural practices.

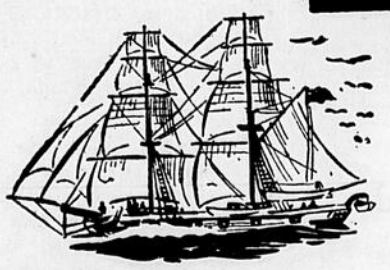

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

TODAY ON THE Nile
THEY KNOW
CANADA

ALL OVER the world today, Canadian products are known—and Canada's modern greatness recognized—as Canadian initiative builds our export trade to totals undreamed of in the past. During the war we became the second exporting nation of the world. TODAY our exports, with a value more than 2½ times as great as those of pre-war years, make an immense contribution to modern Canadian development, benefiting all business, creating new and greater opportunities for all Canadians.

Furs and Fish were Canada's first exports. Our trade in the beginning was a monopoly of the merchants of Old France; next it was almost exclusively with and through Britain. By 1860, though, we were controlling our own commerce.

Down to the end of the 19th Century, our chief exports were sawmill and timber products. Next in importance were cheese and fish. The great wheat exporting era began with the 1900's. By 1939 newsprint had become our most valuable export.

World War II's demands spurred our production and exports to unprecedented heights. Canada's huge shipments of foodstuffs and munitions were one of the greatest contributions made by any nation to the successful prosecution of the war.

GERARD HEROD of Oakville, Ont., was a clerk in a department store nine years ago. At the age of 24 he added $400 savings to his natural interest in machinery and began to manufacture red clay flower pots. Initial difficulties were overcome by determination and his native Canadian enterprise. Today his firm, Dominion Potteries Limited, produces more than a quarter of a million dollars worth of pottery a year.

MR. HEROD says: "Canada proved a land of opportunity for me. She is a land of even greater opportunity for young Canadians commencing their careers today. Now, more than ever before, there are within Canada's borders rich rewards to be won, successful careers to be achieved."

WOLF CUB HOCKEY CHAMPS

Shown above is the 2nd Westmount Wolf Cub Pack Hockey Team (Dominion Douglas Church), who, with Dixie of Lakeshore Area, are the 1947 city co-champions of the Montreal Inter-Pack Hockey League. This is the first time in the league's history there are two champion teams, this condition arising when, after four games, each team had one win and two draws, so the Poltrick Cup was awarded to each for six months. Both teams also were presented with champions' crests at the League's Annual Party held at the Western Area Headquarters of the Boy Scouts Association, Cote St. Antoine Road, on Tuesday of this week. In the picture, taken at Lachine Arena, front row, left to right, Murray Greenwood, Terry Peters (kneeling), Roy Hango (kneeling) and Ross Southward. Back row, left to right, John Donaldson, John Lillie, Captain Hardy McKeown, who ably led the team through their successful season, Colin Grimson, Bruce McLachlin, Eddie Martin, Michael Webb and Allan Warnock. — Photo by Dave Chambers.

Inter-Pack Hockey League Holds Gala Closing Party

BY REG. GROOME

The Inter-Pack Hockey League held its final activity for the 1947 season on Tuesday night at the Western Area Headquarters of the Boy Scouts Association on Cote St. nAtoine Road when the League's annual party took place. Over two hundred and fifty Cubs and their parents and honored guests were present for the occasion, and all had a grand time.

Movies were shown to start the program with Field Commissioner Stan Richardson at the helm when Sinbad the Sailor got chased all over the screen. An enjoyable sing-song was held with Bill Gold at the piano and Alf Tingle (both these men are District Cubmasters for Western Area) leading the gang. Some boxing bouts shaged by the boys from Dixie Pack were next on the evening's list of entertainment with the boys putting everything they had into the fight.

Another all important highlight of the evening was, of course, the refreshments, which were there in great abundance. Hot-dogs and chocolate milk were yours for the asking as all and sundry ate more than they could possibly hold, judging by the expressions and the doctors' reports of a sudden boom in business first thing Wednesday morning. No one was allowed to go hungry, even to the dogs and cats hanging around, as all had a wonderful time.

Those who ate hot-dogs should thank Pete Knowlton and Dave Knapp of Hampstead Troop, for these two boys sliced all the rolls, skinned all those hot-dogs and, generally, worked harder than anyone else there.

Presentations of champions crests were made to the four teams involved, St. Matthews, St. Luke's, Dixie and 2nd Westmount. The latter two are the new champions of the league, each to hold the cup for six months. The other two teams were the winners of their sections, one and three.

All in all, it was a good show, more than good enough to mark the fourth year of the league's existence. Included among the Scouters present for the occasion were Messrs. A. Tingle, W. J. S. Dormer, W. Gold, M. Burge, P. Ramsperger, Miss K. Mitchell, Miss A. Boyd, D. Murray, C. Towney, M. Field, P. Kenwood, A. Smith, B. Saunders, F. Newman and R. K. Groome.

Swimming Squirrels Indicate Hard Winter

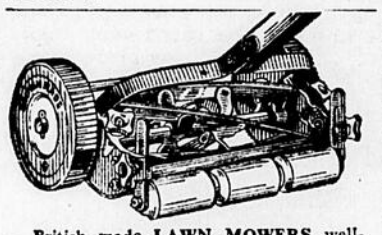

Local prognosticators believe the Catskill, New York, mountain area where Rip Van Winkle slept for 20 years is in for a severe winter.

Large number of squirrels have been swimming from the east bank of the Hudson River to swamp and wood lands south of this village. A similar migration several years ago was followed by the severest winter on record in this area.
