TOLL IN LEVEL CROSSING TRAGEDY AT SCOTSTOWN INCREASED TO SIX

Three Generations of One Family and Two Members of Another Lost Lives in Collision Between Train and Automobile at MacLeod's Crossing Yesterday, the Victims Being Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jacques, Henry and Leo Trahan, Adelard Jacques and Jules Jacques, All of St. Leon—Seventh Occupant of Auto Suffering from Fractured Hip—Inquest Being Held at Scotstown This Afternoon.

Scotstown, September 8.—The remaining members of two grief-stricken families gathered in the local railroad station here this afternoon and, in stunned silence, listened to the circumstances surrounding the collision yesterday afternoon between an automobile and a train which claimed the lives of six persons and left the youngest member of the party badly injured in a Sherbrooke hospital. On his arrival from Sherbrooke this morning, the corner of the District of St. Francis, Leonidas Bachand, started gathering all witnesses who could shed any light on the tragic mishap which wiped out three generations of one family and snuffed out the lives of two members of another.

The exact details of the terrible fatality will never be fully learned because death has claimed those who might have been able to tell what actually transpired before the automobile driven by Leo Trahan, of St. Leon, was struck broadside by a mixed Canadian Pacific Railway train travelling from Lake Megantic to Sherbrooke. Left to furnish meagre details were the train crew and the family of Dominic Young, of MacLeod's Crossing, who were eye-witnesses of the tragedy. The four senior male members of the party, all residents of St. Leon, a tiny village about nine miles south of Milan, were instantly killed, namely:

Leo Trahan, driver of the ill-fated machine;

Henry Trahan, his brother;

Thomas Jacques, sixty-one years of age;

Albert Jacques, twenty-year-old son of Thomas Jacques.

This morning's hearse from Sherbrooke brought two more broken bodies to increase the total in the converted morgue here to six. They were the remains of Mrs. Thomas Jacques, fifty-one years old, who passed away in the Sherbrooke Hospital early this morning, and three-year-old Jules Jacques, who succumbed to his injuries before the train bearing him to Sherbrooke reached its destination. In the hospital and ignorant of the fate which overtook her, her grandmother, an uncle and a cousin, is one-year-old Laurette Cantin. She is suffering from a broken hip.

Had Been Visiting Relatives in Compton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques, their son and two grandchildren had spent the week-end with the former's brother, Adelard Jacques, in Compton. They reached Compton Sunday evening and started for home yesterday morning. With them were the Trahan brothers, friends of the Jacques family.

They were within a few miles of their home when they came to what is known as MacLeod's Crossing, five miles from here on the Milan road. A mist night, the visibility but it was not raining. As the car approached the track it slowed down to about fifteen miles an hour—as though the driver had noticed the mixed train. Then suddenly the speed of the vehicle increased. It reached the switch—fifty feet away and a sickening thud resounded.

A part of the car was thrown fifty feet from the scene of the smash, while the chassis was dragged half a mile down the track. Eye witnesses on rushing to the rescue discovered that the vahan brothers, Thomas Jacques and his son had been instantly killed. One of the victims had had his leg torn completely from his body, the member being found in the tangled wreckage which was dragged down the right of way. Two of the bodies were found at the switch—fifty feet away from the spot where the collision occurred—and the other two further away. All were horribly mutilated, particularly about the face and head—so much so, in fact, that identification was impossible until a late hour last night.

Mrs. Jacques was still breathing, as also were her two grandchildren. When members of the Young family reached the scene she enquired about the baby girl. As soon as arrangements could be made the three living persons were placed on board the train and hurried to Sherbrooke. The three-year-old grandchild passed away before the train reached Sherbrooke and his body was taken to an undertaking parlor. The elderly lady was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital and attended by Dr. Hume. She was in such a critical condition that no efforts were made to remove her clothes. Efforts were made to revive the slight spark of life, but her death was expected momentarily and she finally succumbed early this morning.

Compton Family Unaware of Tragedy.

From the St. Leon telephone operator the Record learned last evening about the identity of the four dead persons. Further investigation revealed that they had visited in Compton. A telephone conversation with Mrs. Adelard Jacques, of Compton, established the names of the four beyond doubt. Ignorant of what had happened, Mrs. Jacques gave the names and ages of the seven deceased before she was informed of the tragedy which had happened since the happy party had left her home yesterday morning.

"It is terrible," was the Compton woman's only comment as she answered questions in the absence of her husband, who was attending a church service. At the time, Mrs. Please Turn to Page 2.

NO CHANGE IN MONTREAL CIVIC ELECTION DATE

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Montreal civic elections will be held without fail in December, Premier Maurice Duplessis told newspapermen at a press conference here today.

"If, however, the Montreal Council for reasons of economy decide not to hold bye-elections to fill the vacancies created by the resignation of Aldermen Hon. H. L. Auger and Hon. Francis Leduc, the Quebec Government will adopt legislation to make such a step legal," said the Premier.

Asked if certain members of the dismissed Provincial Police force in Montreal would be re-engaged, the Premier said he had been misquoted when it was reported he would "reorganize" the Provincial Police.

"We are simply going to organize the force, something which was not done in the past," he declared.

The Premier and the Montreal members of his Cabinet leave tonight for Quebec. The Cabinet will sit twice tomorrow and every day next week, except Saturday.

MAN WANTED IN HAMILTON ARRESTED IN NEW TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. 8.—George Thorn, wanted in Hamilton in connection with an attack on Mrs. Addie Nichols, forty-eight year old widow, was arrested in suburban New Toronto early today. He is being held for Provincial Police at Hamilton.

FRANCE TO SPEND ANOTHER BILLION DOLLARS PROPPING WAR MACHINE

Cabinet Approved Purchase of $910,000,000 Worth of Fighting Planes, Guns, Tanks and Armored Cars to Increase Army Efficiency Rather than Adding to Its Size in Answer to Germany's Increase in Fighting Personnel—Tense Situation Caused by Communists' Demands Has Eased Off.

Paris, Sept. 8.—France went into the war equipment market today to buy $910,000,000 worth of fighting planes, guns, tanks and armored cars.

Premier Blum's Cabinet approved the increase in regular army expenses to bolster the French military machine in answer to Germany's increase in fighting personnel.

The money is to be used, the Cabinet decided, to increase the army's efficiency rather than adding to its size. Army chiefs began to map expenditure of the first allotment of $273,000,000 which was to be available at once.

Of the first amount to be spent, $78,000,000 was earmarked for the purchase of new planes and modern aviation equipment.

Part of the general army fund, which was voted to supply defence needs for the next four years, was ordered used for adding to the army technical personnel and increasing the proportion of professional soldiers by granting higher wages to conscripts who re-enlist.

The Cabinet also voted $65,000,000 for the navy, artillery and port defences.

A separate fund of $29,250,000 was allotted to rural areas as the Government inaugurated a public work programme which comprised part of Premier Blum's campaign for reducing unemployment.

The tense situation, meanwhile, which arose as a result of Communist demand for French aid to the Spanish Socialist Government eased off after a brief strike of metal workers in the Paris district.

Million Persons Will Honor German Dictator

Nuremberg, Sept. 8.—One million persons were gathered here today for the eighth annual Nazi party congress, meeting under the slogan of "Peace and Power" and constituting the official inauguration of the Reich's crusade "to save the world from Bolshevism."

LABOR WARNED OF DANGERS TO ITS ACTIVITIES

Labor Minister Tells Trades and Labor Congress that Organized Labor Must Co-operate with Government to Maintain Individual and Political Freedom.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—Co-operation of organized labor with governments in solving social problems and maintaining individual and political freedom in Canada was sought today by Hon. Norman Rogers, Canadian Minister of Labor.

"Close and friendly relationship between organized labor and government is one of the most valuable aids to social progress in a democratic state," said the Minister at an address at the opening session of the fifty-second annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Such a relationship, he said, had prevailed since he took office last autumn, and he had frequently sought the advice of and received the friendly criticism of the representatives of labor.

This relationship, Mr. Rogers believed, rested on a common political philosophy which respected individual freedom and accepted unqualified criticism as the sure guarantees of sound government.

In some countries organized labor had lost its independence and had become a "subservient arm of the state," said the Minister. In other countries, labor's future was dark under former Premier Mackenzie King's administration.

Its preservation meant the enactment of laws conformable to Canada's federal system of government and ensuring a large measure of economic security to the people of the Dominion.

The Government believed the National Employment Commission would offer the leadership and enlist the co-operation necessary to solve the present problems associated with unemployment.

Close co-operation existed between the governments of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec in enactment of social and labor legislation, Germain Tremblay, Quebec Deputy Minister of Labor, told the convention. He expressed the regrets of Hon. William Tremblay, new Minister of Labor, who was unable to attend because of illness.

HULL CALLS ON WORLD LEADERS TO AVOID WAR

United States Secretary of State Openly Critical of Other Statesmen Who Fail to Check "Warlike Tendencies"—Urges Early Return to the "Sane Perspective."

Washington, Sept. 8.—With a warning that "the fabric of peace has been worn perilously thin," a challenge went out from Secretary Hull to other nations today to avoid war.

Openly critical of other statesmen who, he charged, have failed to check present day "warlike tendencies," the American Secretary of State called last night for a redoubling of efforts toward the preservation of peace and an early return to "sane perspective."

As an alternative, he pictured the possibility of a new general war which "would set loose forces beyond control—forces which might easily bring about a virtual destruction of modern political thought, with all its achievements, and possibly a veritable shattering of civilization."

Hull chose the Third World Power Conference, attended by representatives of all the principal nations, as the forum for what his aides called his most outspoken entreaty for peace.

His audience clamored with applause when the Secretary demanded:

"Shall we allowed this application of genius and energy to be dissipated in the agony of armed conflict, or shall we insist with all the determination at our command that they be employed objectively in the pursuits of peace?"

Without mentioning names, Secretary Hull inveighed against the lamentable absence of appreciation by many responsible and influential statesmen that these present warlike tendencies can only lead to a world holocaust.

RECENT VOTING IN QUEBEC SET RECORD FIGURE

Total of 565,528 Votes Cast in Election that Marked End of Thirty-Nine Years of Liberal Rule—Union Forces Received 56.59 Per Cent. of Total.

Quebec, Sept. 8.—The largest vote ever cast in a Quebec provincial election was recorded on August 17th when the electors swept the Liberal Government from power after a reign of thirty-nine years and returned the Union Nationale, headed by the present Prime Minister, Hon. Maurice Duplessis.

The landslide that elected seventy-six Unionists, reduced the Liberal forces to fourteen and left all others out in the cold, reached a total of 565,528 votes. This compares with four previous elections as follows: 1920, 539,361; 1931, 494,695; 1927, 517,963; and 1923, 290,638.

What proportion the 1936 vote bears to the total eligible voters will not be known until official figures for the total are published. The population of the province is about three millions, but women do not have the franchise in provincial elections.

As usual when the popular vote is analyzed, the vote by parties is not completely indicative of the wide swing in the result. The combined forces of Conservative, former Action Libérale Nationale adherents and others who marched to victory behind the crusading Premier Maurice Duplessis are credited with 320,056 votes. Although they have only fourteen members in the ninety-four member Assembly, Liberals under former Premier Mackenzie King nevertheless received 225,163 votes.

It, therefore, took 4,211 votes to elect a Union Nationale candidate and 16,083 to elect a Liberal.

The following tabulation shows how the vote was divided among parties in the two past elections, with percentage of the total vote each party obtained.

COWANSVILLE MAN WAS SHOT WHILE HUNTING

Llewellyn Robinson, Twenty-Three Years of Age, Found Early This Morning by Search Party Which Combed Woods After He Failed to Return from Hunting Trip Yesterday.

Cowansville, Sept. 8.—A search party this morning came upon the lifeless form of Llewellyn Robinson, twenty-three years of age, a resident of this place, who lost his life while out hunting yesterday.

Robinson, who was unmarried and resided with his brother, Harold Robinson, had gone into the woods yesterday morning for a short hunting expedition.

Upon his failure to return last evening his relatives became alarmed and a posse was formed. It was not until this morning, however, that the searchers discovered the body, which was found lying face down with a bullet shot through the abdomen.

It is presumed Robinson tripped as he was walking through the woods and that the double-barrelled gun which he was carrying accidentally discharged.

NEW TORONTO WOMAN DEAD IN HIT AND RUN ACCIDENT

New Toronto, Sept. 8.—One woman died in hospital early today and her companion's condition was reported as "fair" by hospital authorities after being knocked down by a hit-and-run driver in this Toronto suburb last night.

Mrs. J. Clark, thirty-two years old, died of injuries received when the car struck her, Mrs. H. Hanavan, forty-four, also of New Toronto, who was walking across the highway with Mrs. Clark when the accident occurred, was in hospital with serious lacerations.

New Toronto police were searching today for the driver of the car which struck the two women.

SEEKING MEANS OF SALVAGING DAMAGED PLANE

Flying Club Director Studies Best Method of Releasing Plane Which Landed in Swamp Near Sydney Following Trip Across Atlantic.

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 8.—Ray Goodwin, Cape Breton flying club director, planned a trip to Balaire Cove today to salvage Mrs. Beryl Markham's monoplane, "Messenger," mired in a bog where it landed on Saturday afternoon.

Goodwin, who flew to the assistance of the "Flying Mother" when she reported to the Cape Breton Flying Club her plane had crashed near Louisbourg, was instructed by New York backers of the Markham flight to take charge of the machine, repair it and give it test flying, preparatory to having it sent to New York.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police, guarding the plane against raids by souvenir hunters, yesterday unearthed the propeller.

Goodwin discussed the advisability of building a runway from the bog land to the nearest road, a distance of about two miles. Another method of salvage under consideration was shipping the plane by scow to Louisbourg.

Mrs. Markham seeks to replenish wardrobe. New York, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Beryl Markham set out today to replenish a wardrobe that consists of the sleeveless silk shirt and gray slacks she wore while flying across the Atlantic Ocean.

Labrador Day put a crimp in the Englishwoman's shopping plans, and so she went on a motor trip in Westchester and Putnam counties and attended a dinner party at the same spot since Friday.

BRITAIN BOASTS RECORD INDUSTRIAL ARMY

London, Sept. 8.—Great Britain now has a record industrial army. Exclusive of agricultural workers, the number of persons employed totals 10,961,000, the highest known.

During the four weeks ended August 24th the total number of unemployed fell by 38,132 to 1,613,940 or 334,024 fewer than a year ago. It also was the lowest figure in six years.

Trade revival is reflected from many angles. The biggest theatre season for seven years has begun in London. Every night this week the curtain goes up on a new west end show.

A boom in apartment building has begun. In all the great centres of population huge blocks are arising with accommodation ranging from the modest small flat to the luxurious apartment. The small flat is popular, particularly with Mrs. Newlywed and the retired couple wishing to escape the responsibilities of a house.

LARGEST TOBACCO THEFT IN YEARS AT TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. 8.—Tobacco and cigarettes stolen from the warehouse of Ed. Dworkin, in one of the largest tobacco warehouse robberies in years, were recovered by police last night in the home of Mrs. Kate Hart. Mrs. Hart was arrested on charge of receiving stolen goods. Police said the gang of thieves carted away between $3,000 and $5,000 worth of tobacco.

INTERNAL DISSENSION HAMPERING ACTIVITY OF SPANISH LOYALISTS

Conflict in Philosophy of Discipline Between Anarchist and Leftist Groups Make Selection of Generalissimo for Government Forces a Political Impossibility—Insufficient Arms and Munitions and Outdated Equipment Also Delay Progress of Loyalist Armies—Forces Consist of Loosely Knit Mass of Discordant Elements Supporting Common Ideal.

Barcelona, September 8.—Despite the bravery of Catalonia's loyalist troops, a civil war within a civil war was revealed to me today as the real reason for the slow progress of the loyalist armies on the Aragon and Huesca fronts, declares Robert Buisson, Havas News Agency correspondent in an uncensored despatch.

The reasons for Barcelona's disappointment over their efforts so far and their dissatisfaction with the slowness of the campaign may be summed up as follows:

- 1—Lack of unity of command and the political impossibility of naming a generalissimo.
- 2—Insufficient arms and munitions and outdated equipment.
- 3—A conflict in the philosophy of discipline between Anarchists and Leftists.
- 4—The inevitable disagreements between Barcelona and Madrid.

I discussed these questions frankly with one of their most competent generals, just returned from the Aragon front. His impressions were confirmed from similar conversations I had with militiamen, with Anarchists and with the people themselves.

First, the military operations are suffering from a multiplicity of commands. Major Perez Farras, appointed as military chief for Barcelona, was chosen because he was a career soldier and officer, for his services rendered Catalonia and the republic, and to create confidence in the generalissimo.

But on the Aragon front Commander Farras has not shown himself familiar with the special conditions required to assume such a task. The Anarcho-Sindicalist leader Durruti would be a good chief and a leader of men on that front, but he would not be accepted by most of the militiamen or the generalissimo because of his terrorist past.

Col. Villalba, who is leading the fight on the Huesca front, appears to be the best man from a tactical point of view, but he possesses neither a revolutionary past nor even a good republican record. Col. Sandino is an aviation expert. Of Republican tendencies of the Azana party, he is regarded by the separatists with suspicion for his attachment to "the cause."

The question of arms and munitions is next. "We are using rifles of different makes and sometimes of very old manufacture," I was told. "We have a few machine guns, but no anti-aircraft articles. Zazacua and Huesca would have been taken long ago if we had these armaments."

Discipline is a third element in this conflict internal situation. I was told that the total number of militiamen on the Aragon front—under orders of such chiefs as Farras, Durruti and Villalba—and on the new Majorca front is about eighteen thousand. To this number must be added four or five thousand Civil Guards used for shock troops, and to that what remains loyal of the regular army.

The war has gathered these elements together in one social and extremist ideal, but to maintain them all under one form of discipline it is a most difficult undertaking.

MINER MILITIAMEN OPEN NEW DRIVE ON FASCISTS

Madrid, Sept. 8.—Battalions of hardened Asturian miners surrounded the rebel stronghold of Oviedo, the Government declared today, as Socialist artillery and planes prepared to bombard the northern city. One column of miners was reported to have pushed southward twelve miles nearer to Leon in the campaign to drive the Fascist rebels from the northwestern territory.

In the capital, the new government of Premier Francisco Largo Caballero rushed organization of new divisions of armed militia. Many recruits expressed eagerness to be sent to the battlefronts while others complained of a shortage of arms.

The War Ministry published these reports of the campaign against the rebels:

Government forces near Huesca, northern provincial capital, have driven rebels into refuge in buildings in the centre of the city. Government planes bombed effectively rebel columns operating near Talavera de la Reina. Toledo province.

BRITAIN SENDS LARGER FORCE TO PALESTINE

Some Fifteen Thousand Men from Home Garrisons Ordered to Palestine as Government Prepares to Institute Martial Law, if Necessary, to Preserve Order.

London, Sept. 8.—The first division, comprising some fifteen thousand men, was under orders to sail for Palestine today, while the War Ministry called reservists to fill its place in the home garrisons.

Added to the seventeen thousand British troops already in the Holy Land, their reinforcements will make a total of about thirty-two thousand men. This force, informed sources said, would be large enough to impose martial law, if necessary.

In announcing the dispatch of a new division, the Colonial Office stated that supreme military control in Palestine would be vested in Lieutenant-General J. G. Dill, Gen. Dill, since 1934, has been director of military operations and intelligence at the War Office.

"The Colonial Office announcement also contained a summary of the situation in Palestine and a declaration of the Government's attitude toward the Arab political strike which, now in its twenty-first week, claimed many British, Arab and Jewish lives and much loss of property. The Arab strike is in protest against Jewish immigration and the sale of land to Jews.

The situation created by Arab terrorism, said the statement, was a direct challenge to the authority of the British Government in Palestine.

The Government was convinced satisfaction of all grievances, Arab or Jewish, was possible within the framework of the mandate which it had no intention of abandoning, said the statement.

TWO NEWLY-MARRIED MEN STILL HELD IN CUSTODY

Police Have Not Yet Decided What Action Will Be Taken Against Two New York Men Facing Kidnapping Charge.

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 8.—Two New York men, who were married to two Vermont girls on Saturday while police sought them on kidnapping warrants, remained in Washington County jail today awaiting word as to what action the state attorney intended to take against them.

The men, Fred Ott, 24, of Buffalo, N.Y., and Dale Ainsworth, 22, of Herkimer, N.Y., were held as suspicious persons.

The kidnapping warrants, which State Attorney Webster Miller said he had turned over to Sheriff Henry C. Lawson, had not been served on them. Miller said he would decide later in the day what action would be taken.

Meanwhile their brides, Lella Gnette, of St. Albans, who married Ott, and Lorena Hills, of Williams-town, wedded to Ainsworth, were in custody of their parents at their respective homes.

attention to the issue of perpetual bonds, which represents a new departure in Canadian financing in the domestic market.

"The issue of this type of bond," said Mr. Dunning, "marks a new step in our conversion programme in carrying out the plans which we have in mind for consolidating and simplifying the national debt structure. While new to our domestic market, obligations without stated maturity dates are well known in other markets, particularly in London. A fairly large number of railway issues including obligations of the Canadian National Railway System, have been issued in London as perpetual obligations. As is well known, the British Government has also made extensive and successful use of perpetual securities in the form of so-called 'Consols,' which have always been a popular form of security with the British investor.

"While the new bonds have no stated maturity, the right has been reserved to call the bonds at any time after thirty years. It is, moreover, the intention of the Government, as soon as the state of the national finances will permit, to formulate plans for the setting-up of a general sinking fund in order to provide for the gradual amortization of the national debt on a scientific basis.

"In order that the small investor may be able to participate in what is expected to prove a popular and convenient issue with a board market, provision has been made for denominations as low as $100."

TOLL IN LEVEL CROSSING TRAGEDY NEAR SCOTSTOWN INCREASED TO SIX

Jacques was visiting at the home of neighbors.

Eye Witness Gives Version of Mishap.

This morning the Record succeeded in getting in touch with one of the eye witnesses, Dominic Young, who lives one hundred yards from the crossing.

"I was standing in front of the house with my family," Mr. Young stated, "when I noticed the car approaching. It was misty, but a full view could be had of the track for a considerable distance on both sides of the highway. As the machine approached the crossing it appeared to slow down to about fifteen miles an hour. Then suddenly it picked up speed and was halfway across the track when the engine ploughed into it.

"I remember hearing the train blowing its whistle as it neared the crossing," Mr. Young continued. "When we reached the scene we found four occupants had been instantly killed while Mrs. Thomas and the two children were still living. Mrs. Jacques' first question was concerning the fate of her granddaughter. The few passengers on the train helped the train crew to carry the injured victims to the train on which they were conveyed to Sherbrooke."

Dr. C. M. Smith, of Scotstown, and Mrs. Donald Graham, R.N., of Milan, were summoned and rendered what assistance they could. Dr. Smith ordered the removal of the four bodies to the Scotstown station where they were placed in the care of Station Agent Beauchamp and continued, accompanied by Mrs. Graham, to Sherbrooke. Their efforts to save the life of the boy were in vain. His body was removed to an undertaking parlor, while his grandmother and young cousin were transported to the Sherbrooke Hospital.

REBELLION IN PORTUGAL WAS SHORT-LIVED

Government Quickly Swung Land Batteries into Action and Forced Surrender of Revolving Members of Two Destroyer Crews.

Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 8.—The Portuguese Government, quickly swinging land batteries into action, today crushed a short-lived rebellion aboard two naval vessels anchored in the Tagus River.

The crew of the destroyer Dac and part of the crew of the sloop Delibouque revolted in the early morning. Land authorities ordered nearby fortresses to open fire.

Both ships were damaged. Then they were towed to shallow water and beached.

The crews were arrested. The remainder of the country was declared by officials to be quiet.

However, the government took extraordinary precautions in Lisbon. The British liner Strathmore, wirelessless the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Line, that shells were falling in the Lisbon harbor and that the vessel was leaving immediately for London.

FRENCH ENTRY IN U.S. RACES IS CRITICIZED

Lieut. Detroyat, Although Denying Charges of Government Subsidy for Record Breaking Plane, Withdraws from Further Competition.

Los Angeles, Sept. 8.—Lieut. Michel Detroyat of France, first foreigner to win the Thompson Trophy, the United States emblem of speed supremacy, denied a charge of "government subsidy" as he kept out of a big race today "so that the other pilots may win the money."

The broad-shouldered Frenchman, thirty years old, thrilled a crowd of eighty thousand at the National Air Races yesterday when he flashed over a 150-mile course in the record time of 264.261 miles an hour.

Sharp criticism came quickly from Col. Roscoe Turner, who won the Charles E. Thompson Trophy two years ago.

Detroyat's plane is the result of five years of intensive research and work on the part of the French Government, including all governmental financial and technical backing possible. How can $15,000 ships, constructed from any available material, possibly compete against $1,000,000 planes?

Lieut. Detroyat emphatically denied the subsidy charge.

The Frenchman's Thompson race performance won him $9,500 and on the previous day he took the $4,900 first money in the Louis W. Greve contest, but he announced he would not enter the $3,000 Shell event today.

Detroyat broke the record of 252.686 miles an hour set in 1932 by Major James H. Doolittle. On one lap he attained a speed of 301 miles an hour.

Good driving and efficiency in aerobatics are not generally regarded as common to drivers in harness racing, but in yesterday's events Herb Call, of Cookshire, provided the onlookers with a rather novel demonstration. Call, in the last heat of the 228 event, was thrown from his sulky, but by a series of contortions managed to regain his seat and pressed his entry, Forest B, who came in first to win the money, taking three heats in four starts.

Jennie Geddes copied the honors in the 218 event in three straight heats, while Ella H. starting in the green race, headed the field in all three occasions. Orson Inglis, of Danville, acted as starter.

IT'S no use wishing you had some H.P. Sauce to season that stew, or to make cold meat or fowl more appetizing. If you haven't a bottle of H.P. on your pantry shelf, all the bottles on your grocer's shelf won't help you any—unless you order one.

And when you get that bottle of H.P., just remember that H.P. is equally effective when preparing meats, fish, fowl, soups, stews, omelets, salads as when serving them. It's surprising too, how a little H.P. can live up an ordinary sandwich or make a piece of cheese simply irresistible.

And then he wondered why his hearers smiled.

A Typical Gesture Of Good Fellowship.

The two-year tenure of office of Sherbrooke's present Mayor, Col. Emile Rioux, will be remembered long after this worthy gentleman has stepped out of the Chief Magistrate's chair. Although only one year has elapsed since he became this city's First Citizen, he has already earned rank among Sherbrooke's most popular and most highly esteemed mayors.

His gesture of friendship and good fellowship over the week-end served to bring out another of Mayor Rioux's sterling qualities. Years of intimate association with his fellow-citizens has taught him that the fullest co-operation is necessary to achieve success in every sphere of activity and to cement the bonds of friendship and understanding between the various units which constitute society.

The same thoroughness which has been characteristic of Mayor Rioux's policy since he accepted the highest honor Sherbrooke can bestow was evident even in the merest detail of Sunday's excursion by boat to Newport. Every effort was made to assure the comfort of the many guests, every measure adopted to establish perfect harmony between the representatives of the various phases of civic activity.

The degree of good government and successful administration is proportionate to the extent the bonne entente exists between the different factors that shape the destinies of any city. To what lengths Mayor Rioux is prepared to go in order to further restore prosperity to this city was further indicated by his latest gesture of good fellowship.

Keep Politics Out Of E.T.A.A.

The curtain dropped on Saturday on one of the most successful presentations of the Sherbrooke Fair in recent years. The exhibits in all departments were above the average and the paid attendance—which directly affects the receipts of the organization—reached a high level notwithstanding the none too favorable weather conditions during Fair Week. The officials and directors who carried the 1936 enterprise through to such a successful conclusion deserve the praise of the Eastern Townships generally.

But in their enthusiasm over the success of their undertaking, the officers of the organization should remember that this success was only attained by the sympathy and co-operation accorded them by all sections of the community. They should also appreciate the fact that such an enterprise as the Sherbrooke Fair is a public trust and not a private business, that the co-operation so freely given by all parties must be properly acknowledged and that political intrigue must find no place in the administration of the Association.

Again The Level Crossing.

Yesterday's tragedy at MacLeod's Crossing, which claimed the lives of six persons, again emphasizes the vital necessity that the provincial authorities take stern action to enforce that section of the Motor Vehicles Act which requires that all cars come to a full stop at unprotected railway crossings. This is a law that was passed with the deliberate purpose of avoiding such catastrophes as that of yesterday and that at Louisville last month, but apparently it is honored more in the breach than in the observance.

One motorist who made the round trip into Montreal over the week-end found himself rather embarrassed on several occasions by his actions in coming to a stop when called upon to do so by the signs placed at these crossings. His fellow motorists seemed to regard him as something of a nuisance since his actions served to curb their desire for speed. Of course, the flagrant disregard for the law, evidenced in many cases, might have been accentuated by a knowledge on the part of motorists that the number of circulation officers on the road had been severely curtailed as a result of the recent shake-up in the law-enforcement agencies, which has caused a serious, if temporary, undermanning of the different departments.

But the mere fact that the law of the land may be broken with impunity is no reason for the breaking of the greatest law of all, the law of self-preservation. Traffic officers or no traffic officers, a railway locomotive is rather a substantial vehicle and its box-score as a result of its disputes with automobiles is nearly 1,000 in favor of the iron horse.

The law of the Province gives the locomotive the right-of-way and the law of common sense should give it the right of way.

One of the first problems to which the new Provincial Police Chief should turn his attention is a strict enforcement of the traffic laws of the Province. This is as important as the running down of major crime. The number of persons actually murdered by a potential murderer in disobeying the law, "Thou shalt not kill," is very, very small in the course of a year when compared with the number of deaths that may—and have—resulted from a single level crossing accident.

Editor's Note-Book.

Those who deplore the passing of ancient handicrafts and traditional village handiwork may derive consolation from the fact that Quebec has established itself as one of the world's greatest strongholds of manual skill. A census has revealed that there are over fifty thousand hand looms and over eighty thousand spinning wheels still in daily use in this great Canadian province. Not only are these crafts surviving; they are actually increasing. Wise administrators are doing all they can to encourage peasants to add to their income by following the pursuits of their forebears. Last year the quantity of wool employed in the making of rugs, quilts and homespun by workers who took to the wheels after their normal day's work was done amounted to 3,000,000 pounds in weight.

Wall Street moguls, pained because their prestige has waned, are lined up almost solidly against the re-election of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, but indications are that F. R. will be returned to the White House.

An optimist is a man who figures that he has a chance to win at the class of gambling games tolerated at the Sherbrooke Exhibition.

What Editors Say

SCRAP IRON ON THE ROADS.

Niagara Falls Review.
A contemporary suggests that the present high price of scrap iron may hasten the demolition of many autos, and he adds that the policy adopted by many owners of buying a new car each year will also shorten the life of the car.

This is probably true. A man who as part of his definite policy changes cars yearly is not likely to give first-class care to his machine. It is to be his machine for only a few months.

This policy of rapid change may, though, put more modern cars within the money range of some people who drive cars that to all appearances are about ready to fall apart.

Such cars are a hazard on the highways, as they often lack effective brakes, and hold up traffic, thus forcing cars of normal speed capacity to pass.

Some arguments can be put on the other side of the case, but it would appear probable that many old-timers will go—as the price of scrap iron is high.

TIMES CHANGE.

London Daily Express.
We are giving $10,000,000 credit to the Russians. Nine years ago when the Conservatives were in power they suppressed Arcos House and drove its inhabitants away. Those officials were buyers in the British market. How times have changed. Is it our Government that has changed? Not at all; it is the Russians. The administration in that country has grown and strengthened until it now must be numbered among the improving governments of the world, and may one day be among the good ones. It has decided to confer free institutions and liberty of speech on its citizens. Although it has not always been a good one, the Soviet Government is the oldest Government in Europe. It is a new aristocracy—an aristocracy of brains and service, but not of birth or money.

HOW THE THING WORKS.

Ottawa Journal.
An Alberta merchant writes a western paper to say he doesn't think much of Mr. Aberhart's new "prosperity" certificates, and he tells why.

The writer supposes that he sells a shirt, taken in payment a certificate for a dollar. If he throws away the certificate he is out only the cost of the shirt. If he is lucky he may be able to pass the certificate on to somebody else—but while he holds it he can put on it each week a special one-cent stamp the Alberta Government will sell him. If he keeps it he can redeem it eventually for a dollar in legal money—after he has spent $1.04 for stamps. He spends $1.04 to get a dollar back, loses interest on his money in the meantime.

The merchant concludes that in the long run it would be cheaper to let him give away the shirt, which seems true. And yet this is part of the scheme that is to save Alberta!

A "DUD"—BUT STILL A PERIL TO LIFE

Sudden, violent death lurked in the rebel shell seen in the foreground of this picture, therefore Spanish loyalist militiamen crept cautiously toward it, inch by inch, so that an accidental jar would not discharge the projectile. It was one of the "duds" that fell during the intensive bombardment of San Sebastian, resort city where some of the bloodiest fighting of the revolution raged.

MARKETING IN GERMANY KEPT UNDER CONTROL

Germany Has Novel Plan for Guarding and Regulation of Farmer Markets in Large Centers.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—Regulation and control of farm prices has been intensified in Germany almost in inverse ratio to its abandonment in Canada. The government agency known as the Reich Estate of Nutrition, directed by peasant leader R. Walther Darre, is the institution which dictates the financial administration, its personnel, and the auditing of the various marketing organizations which have to do with farm products.

Speaking recently in Nurnberg, Darre declared the principle of price control to be founded on the necessity for establishing a balance between supply and demand "through a conscious economic direction of orderly marketing." Prior to the creation of the Reich Estate of Nutrition the condition of German agriculture had been desperate. Since the stabilization of the mark in 1924, up to 1933, the debt of the German farm industry had increased from roughly $900,000,000 to $2,750,000,000. Farm revenues had sunk to such an extent that in one year interest payments on capital increased and mortgages totalled 13.7 per cent of gross agricultural income.

In January 1933 the index of farm prices was nineteen per cent lower than before the war, while the index of the manufacturing industries was thirteen per cent higher. With the establishment of price regulation, however, the picture changed. In 1934 farm revenues rose from $1,450,000,000 to $1,800,000,000, while the payrolls of workers were boosted twenty-five per cent, according to the Reich peasant leader.

Of interest to Canadians, occupied as they have been for several years in such matters as regulation of milk prices, is the method by which Germany has sought to control milk production and prices to the farmer. Its exponents claim this to have been achieved without hardship to the consumer.

Prior to government intervention—Berlin, a city of 4,000,000 inhabitants as an example—an excess of more than 100,000 gallons beyond the city's requirements was delivered daily in the capital. The consequence was ruthless competition and price-cutting not only by the producers but by distributors also. A further result was that large quantities of the milk was unsold, and had to be returned to the farms. Some of this product came from places as far as four hundred miles away. At the same time dairymen and farmers occasionally fell into the hands of unscrupulous distributors operating on a shoe-string, with consequent loss all round.

With the introduction of orderly marketing a definite zone of supply for the city was marked out, the circumference being only ninety miles away; and to all producers and dairies in this area a definite weekly quota was allotted. If any farmer or dairymen exceeded the quantity assigned to him, then, for the surplus, he had to accept a price equal to the low figure paid for buttermilk. Simultaneously with the establishment of quotas, minimum and maximum prices were fixed by the Reich Estate of Nutrition, as was also the spread allowed to the distributors.

In Berlin there are about 350 wholesale dealers, 7,000 smaller distributors and twelve farmer organizations, all of them handling approximately 300,000 gallons of milk daily. Control and supervision over the operations of these are concentrated in one central organization—the Milk Importation Co-operative.

This organization is vested with the task of regulating the city's supply, keeping all accounts as between producers and distributors, and testing the milk against adulteration.

In the zone of supply are 204 dairies, excluding the twelve farmer societies in Berlin itself, and 312 milk delivery companies. To every dairy certain villages and localities are assigned, so that farmers know where to send their product. No dairy is permitted to "steal" customers from another district.

The claim is made that this milk regulation policy has resulted in the enlargement of many dairies and the construction of new ones. In 1934 a total of forty-five building projects were carried out in the Berlin zone alone. In 1935 the projects had increased to seventy-two, while for 1936 the new construction totals fifteen, with fifteen more extensions.

In the past the farmers suffered from widely-fluctuating milk prices and, due to surpluses, from astounding differences between the price of household milk and that destined for butter. In 1932 the former was no less than 130 per cent greater than the latter. The solution for this said to have been found in the regulation of the Reich Estate of Nutrition which exacted one pfennig, or two-fifths of one cent approximately, for every third of a gallon sold. The money thus acquired was employed to bring the price of processing milk into line with that of the household commodity. Today household milk is delivered in Berlin wholesale for about eighteen cents a gallon, and milk for butter at approximately fifteen cents.

Butter and cheese come also within the scope of the Reich Estate of Nutrition, but the situation respecting these commodities is different from that of milk. Only one per cent of Berlin's needs is supplied from the milk-zone. The remaining ninety-nine per cent comes from outside, chiefly from Pomerania, East Prussia, Mecklenburg, Eastmark, Lower Saxony and Schleswig Holstein.

The city consumes 3,000 hundredweight daily, handled by about three hundred wholesalers and 18,000 individual dealers. The quantity to be delivered is set by agreement between the wholesalers and the country dairies, and it is delivered at the fixed official price. Necessarily a spread is allowed to the retailers, who sell within the scale set the maximum and the minimum dictated by the governmental body in control.

Do You Dream Dreams For Your Children?

MOST parents dream dreams for their children and hope that they will enjoy greater educational advantages than they themselves have had. But such dreams may never come true so far as your children are concerned, unless you have funds available at the right time to educate them for a definite vocation in life.

A Confederation Life Educational Policy is a safe way of making certain that your dreams for your children will come true. If you want to know how this may be done, write now for particulars, or ask one of the Confederation Life Association's representatives about this plan.

MANY ENJOYED HOSPITALITY OF COL. RIOUX

Large Number of Sherbrooke and Magog Citizens Were Guests of First Magistrate on Enjoyable Cruise on Lake Memphremagog Sunday.

Sherbrooke's popular and distinguished mayor, Col. Emile Rioux, does not believe in doing anything in half measures. When important business is to be discussed and transacted at a Council meeting, his Worship does not sit back and wait until the aldermen are ready to take a vote on the motion under debate. He presents his views in a forcible manner and generally wins his points when the Council finds that his theories are very practical.

The same policy is adopted by Col. Rioux in the many social functions he attends. He is ever the perfect host, even when he wishes to impress on important visitors the opportunities and privileges Sherbrooke has to extend. In short, he is the right man for the right place.

This versatility was perhaps never better evidenced than on Sunday when the Chief Magistrate tendered a party to those who had helped him make an outstanding success of the first year of his term of office. Never one to forget any assistance or courtesy extended him, Col. Rioux issued nearly two hundred invitations to representatives of the different phases of local activity for an enjoyable excursion from Magog to Newport on the steamer Anthesis.

Many of the invited guests were unable to attend because of other activities over the holiday week-end and it was their misfortune that they missed such an enjoyable outing. It is widely known that Col. Rioux has considerable influence in many quarters, but few surmised that he had such "pull" with the weather man. Such was the case, however, for Sunday proved one of the nicest days of a rather disappointing summer.

Members of the bench and bar, of the local City Council, of the council of the Township and City of Magog, of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke and of the local press were included among the seventy guests who boarded the Anthesis shortly after ten o'clock. As the steamer ploughed through the placid

CHILD FATALLY INJURED NEAR HATLEY CENTRE

Four-Year-Old Joyce Emery Killed when Father, Stung by Bee, Lost Control of Automobile and Machine Crashed into Post.

Hatley Centre, Sept. 8.—The life of four-year-old Joyce Emery, of Hatley, was claimed in a tragic automobile accident near here Sunday evening. The child was an occupant of the machine operated by her father, Willis Emery.

From the meagre details available, it is believed that a bee flew into the car and stung Mr. Emery's hand, causing him to lose control. The machine struck a post on the side of the road and overturned. The impact threw the child, who was sitting in the front seat in the lap of her sister, Dorothy, through the windshield.

The broken glass inflicted fatal injuries on the child's neck and death was almost instantaneous. The body was removed to Sherbrooke and later returned to the home of the parents.

The other passengers were badly shaken and dazed. Mr. Emery was transported to hospital, but was allowed to return home after receiving first aid.

Left to mourn the tragic loss of this lovely little girl are her parents, two little sisters and one brother.

AIRPLANES READY TO EVACUATE U.S. MISSIONARIES

Lanchow, China, Sept. 5.—Airplanes were tuned up today in preparation for evacuation to Sian, Shensi Province, of thirty American missionaries who sought refuge here from Communists ravaging southern Kansu.

Other missionaries of Southeast Kansu, especially from the towns of Tienhui and Tsinghui, fled to the east before the invading army.

surface of Lake Memphremagog, the guests examined the picturesque shore line dotted with beautiful summer estates, special attention being paid to the magnificent country home where Col. Rioux spends his leisure time.

The stop-over in Newport was long enough for lunch and the happy company began the return journey shortly after two o'clock. The afternoon trip was made in more leisurely fashion, several detours being made to show the guests the beautiful spots which make Lake Memphremagog the gem of Eastern Townships summer colonies. The arrival at the Magog dock came all too soon for the entire company, whose lone disappointment was that the cruise could not have lasted much longer.

An added feature of the occasion was furnished by Mr. Justice Charles D. White, who celebrated his birthday on Sunday. Word of his Lordship's anniversary spread like wildfire around the boat and the popular member of the judiciary was congratulated on all sides. As a souvenir of the occasion, Mayor Rioux made a brief address in which he stressed Judge White's many fine qualities and wished him many happy returns of the day.

Before the guests disembarked, several guests made brief remarks of appreciation of Mayor Rioux's gesture and referred to the occasion as a splendid opportunity for the different factors in the city's life getting together and obtaining mutual ideas which could be used for the future development and prosperity of Sherbrooke.

Adding to the enjoyment of the excursion were the musical selections provided by a "German band" under the direction of George Sylvestre.

During the morning service, which was a combined service for the church and the Sunday School, Mr. Richard rendered a violin solo entitled "Adoration." "What Are You Worth?" was his subject at the evening service, during which Mrs. Edward Friendship, of Montreal, formerly Miss Eleanor Wheeler, of Sherbrooke, sang "It Was For Me" as a solo.

HOLIDAYS DRAW TO AN END FOR CITY CHILDREN

Classes Already Resumed in Catholic Schools — Registrations Under Way in Protestant Institutions, where Studies Will Begin Tomorrow Morning.

The holiday season for the school children of Sherbrooke has come to an end and fishing lines and baseball bats are giving places to books and activities of the classrooms.

The pupils of the Catholic schools are already back at their desks, while registration is under way today in the Protestant schools, where classes will be resumed tomorrow morning.

Speaking to the Record this morning, Wright Gibson, M.A., principal of the Sherbrooke High School, stated there would be a marked increase in attendance at the High School and he believed a similar situation would be found at the other Protestant schools.

The commencement of the school term is the time for much forethought and planning on the part of pupil, parent and teacher.

For the education of the child is not merely a matter of absorbing the three R's at the end of a teacher's ruler. There are other things in the pupil's life which play an important part, activities generally outside the sphere of the school, but which like music or athletics, are vitally important in the all-round development of the child's character.

Too much stress on any one side of the child's life will almost necessarily result in an impoverishment of another vital aspect. Too many outside activities will result in a lowering of the scholastic record of the child. Too much stress on the academic side may not be to his ultimate advantage.

Intelligent planning and forethought at the commencement of the term, and co-operation between parent and teacher, not only will decrease the number of pupils who at the end of the term find themselves below passing rank, but would add materially to the health, happiness and success of the great majority of the children.

DEATHS REPORTED

MISS MATILDA LETTIE SPON, NASHVILLE, TENN.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 8. — The death occurred at the Highland Heights Sanitarium, Nashville, Tenn., on August 18th, of Miss Matilda Lettice Spon, daughter of the late Francis Nicolas Spon, of Blackheath, and a sister of Mrs. A. M. Gifford, of Lennoxville. Mr. Spon was the leading partner in the firm of E. and F. N. Spon, Limited, scientific publishers of the Haymarket and lived to become the doyen of the London publishers.

Miss M. L. Spon was born on the 26th of September, 1861, in Hackney and was educated at Miss Edmunds' school, Salisbury, and at the Guildhall School of Music. She was early distinguished for her beautiful singing, having a lovely contralto voice, and was a much-sought-after amateur. While spending a year in Germany she was able to work for the Bielefeld Sisters, where she made many close friends. She acted for some time as local secretary of the Deftford Branch of the M.C. S. S. spending her leisure time in various ways for many young girls. After training as a nurse at the Seamen's Hospital, Greenwich, she was for a time on the staff of the Holland Institute of Nurses, Nice, spending a summer at work in the Harz Mountains, Germany. When the smallpox epidemic visited Cardiff, she proved a devoted head of a large ward for men during several months.

In 1903, Miss Spon visited the United States for the second time and was much attracted to the southern States. Having a brother in Fayetteville, Tenn., she finally settled in Nashville as a nursing sister, taking a further course of training in midwifery at the Sloan Institute and most graduate course at St. Luke's Hospital, New York. In Nashville, Miss Spon was long a member of the choir of the Christ Church; she was a local secretary for the G. F. S. and took great interest in church work and social service.

There are many who remember her refined singing, her eager, unselfish work as sister, her lively interest in her patients, among them the triplets she watched grow, and her keen sympathy in all that went on down to the last.

She had several godchildren and many friends in the United States who loved her so well. Miss Spon was a gracious link with England which was not less dear to her because so far away. She showed sweet courage and patience in a long and painful illness, helped along by the devoted love of friends. There is a note in the southern nature to which her responded warmly and it compensated her for very much that life on the lonely trail does not give.

She will long be remembered both in Nashville and at Craigie Hope, where she lived in her own cottage for some years past.

COLLEGE TOWN GOLFER SCORED A HOLE-IN-ONE

John "Mack" MacDonald Became Eighth Member to Register Ace on Lennoxville Golf Club Course—Co-shared Honors in Mixed Competition Yesterday Afternoon.

John "Mack" MacDonald found it hard today to concentrate on the figures which gazed up at him from the books of the Wellington street branch of the Bank of Montreal. Every total with a "one" in it seemed to have that particular numeral magnified beyond all proportion and "Mack" had a difficult time even on the adding machine.

The reason for this peculiar state of affairs was that "Mack" made a hole-in-one on the Lennoxville Golf Club links yesterday morning. "Mack" does not consider golf as labor and he accordingly decided to celebrate Labor Day by playing a friendly round in the morning and participating in the mixed two-ball foursome in the afternoon. He was successful in both cases, scoring his ace before lunch, and partnered by Miss Audrey Lincoln, annexing first prize in the afternoon competition.

Playing with Miss Lincoln in the morning, MacDonald, a native of Scotland, held his tee shot on the 125-yard No. 9, where six other members of the Lennoxville club had already achieved fame and gained entrance to the "Hole-in-One" Society. "Mack" used a No. 5 mashie and his ball went straight as an arrow, sailing over the yawning traps in front of the green and the trees and rough on either side of the carpet.

Earlier this summer R. Steeves and R. Stevenson had watched their drives off the tee disappear into the cup on No. 3 green, while W. Scott, F. Dinning, W. H. Ames and J. Farrell had also selected this stretch of fairway to realize a golfer's dream. The other hole-in-one artist, H. Capell, scored his ace on the 170-yard No. 5.

In the afternoon MacDonald and Miss Lincoln topped a field of twenty-two competitors in the mixed event. They scored a nine-hole gross aggregate of thirty-three. Mrs. L. M. Watson and Harry Fowles finished second in the net column with thirty-five. Mrs. S. LeHavay and H. W. S. Down annexed third prize with a gross of forty-eight and a net of thirty-five.

STAR-STUDD FIELD SEEKING CANADIAN OPEN

Imposing Array of Canadian and American Shotmakers Prepare to Battle for Golf Crown at Present Held by Gene Kunes.

Toronto, Sept. 8. — Hopeful as ever—and that isn't very hopeful when you get down to it—the Canadian professional golfing brigade is getting set today for another attack on the Canadian open title. The brigade is strictly an offensive unit, like service working properly, while Hibbard found a weakness in Surver's backhand.

The title holder went out ahead by three-one in the first set, saw Surver even the count at three-all and then took three games in a row to go one set up. Surver came from behind to even matters at two-all in the second tie and then lost four consecutive games as Hibbard gained a two-love lead in sets.

Parading the par seventy course, never before tested by such a field of stars, will be such notables as Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomson, Dick Metz, Ed Dudley, Tony Manero, Craig Wood, Jimmy Hines, Sam Parks, Jr., Lawson Little, Leo Diegel, Tommy Armour and Mortie Dutra.

The line-up of home pros who can shoot birdies with the best of them—and have done it in many tournaments—is as imposing as it ever was—Lex Robson, of Islington; Jules Huot, of Kent, Quebec; Willie Lamb, of Lambton; Bobby Alston, of Ottawa; Bobby Burns, of Montreal; Arthur Hulbert, of Thornhill, and Bill Kerr, of Toronto.

The youthful Kunes, from Norristown, Pa., surprise winner last year at Summerlea, Montreal, was expected to open his warm-up over St. Andrew's today, but Gene was far from being the favorite. Since capturing the title he has failed to get past the big guns for another major victory.

Robson, steady, brilliant with his irons and putter, durable as any of them, is held to have as good a chance at St. Andrew's as the defending champion. The Islington pro has done well in the big event before. So have the slender Alston and Lamb.

On the scene a day earlier than the main body, Horton Smith, Thomson, Revolta and Metz will tell the gathering clans today that St. Andrew's is a fairly hazardous layout, full of rough places for the off-line driver.

HIBBARD AGAIN ANNEXED MEN'S SINGLES TITLE

Young Irishman Concluded Successful Defence of Sherbrooke Record Cup by Scoring Four-Set Win Over Fabre Surver in Eastern Townships Tennis Final.

Eastern Townships tennis has yet to uncover and develop the singles player who can take the measure of Johnny Hibbard in tournament play. For two years this young Irishman has ruled Sherbrooke Record Cup competition, clinching the second year of his successful reign Saturday afternoon at the County Club by registering an easier-than-expected triumph over his last challenger, Fabre Surver. Hibbard was taken to four sets by the former Montrealer, but the final issue was seldom in doubt and the title never in danger of laying aside the championship mantle he donned last year.

Hibbard has been defeated a number of times this summer in inter-club play, but like "Bunny" Austin of British Davis Cup fame, has always come through in the pinches. He was hard pressed a few times during the 1936 title play, being carried to an extra set by both Buddy Mackay, of Sutton, and Marcel Gregoire, but the never-say-die spirit which has been characteristic of his success always came to his rescue at crucial moments.

The former St. Patrick's Academy student's triumph on Saturday ranked him with another ex-pupil of the Irish school, Pat Gain, as the only players to annex the Record Trophy two years in succession. The former Richmond star was supreme in 1925 and 1926, coming within one year of obtaining permanent possession of the coveted emblem of men's singles supremacy. Hibbard is now confronted with the task of making a clean sweep of the 1937 tournament to retire as champion a cup which has been in existence since 1920.

From the viewpoint of the many spectators who witnessed the 1936 final the first set was the most exciting of the entire engagement. It was featured by brilliant baseline rallies, intermingled with numerous impossible-looking returns. Neither player visited the net frequently, being content to wait until one of the other netted or drove out of bounds. Hibbard emerged victorious from the majority of these exchanges, Surver developing streaks of wildness which resulted in the loss of several easy points.

Statistics which were taken revealed that only nine of the thirty-five fixtures went to deuce, five of these occurring in the initial set, three in the second and one in the fourth. Surver won four of the seven love games, the three being credited to Hibbard occurring in the final set when the champion lost but one point as he established a four-game lead. Twelve ties were won by four points to two, while seven others saw one or the other player capture only one point.

It was in the service department that Hibbard had a wide edge. The champion was victorious in the tie of his eighteen deliveries, while Surver won eight and lost nine. Hibbard was guilty of committing seven double faults, three of which occurred in the fifth game of the first set, and Surver made six faults and two aces. The unsuccessful finalist was unable to get his ball-like service working properly, while Hibbard found a weakness in Surver's backhand.

The title holder went out ahead by three-one in the first set, saw Surver even the count at three-all and then took three games in a row to go one set up. Surver came from behind to even matters at two-all in the second tie and then lost four consecutive games as Hibbard gained a two-love lead in sets.

For a while in the third set it appeared as though the match would go the full limit. Surver found the range with his fast forehand drives and flashed his best tennis of the afternoon to move out in front at five-two. Hibbard rallied and trailed by only one game when he lost his service and the set as intermission arrived.

The fourth set was the shortest of the match, Hibbard leading at four-love and five-two before he put the finishing touches to his opponent and romped away with a 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 8-2 decision.

Thus ended the 1936 Eastern Townships tournament with Johnny Hibbard again the men's singles champion; Ashley and John Hibbard tied the tops in men's doubles; Miss Frederica Bradley the best again in ladies singles, and Miss Bradley and John Bassett the class in mixed doubles.

CAPELTON BOYS WHIPPED EAST ANGUS HANDILY

Provincial Intermediate Baseball Champions Started Defence of Title by Eliminating Compton County League Titlists Behind Daudelin's Five-Hit Pitching.

Capeleton, Sept. 8.—Capeleton made the first step of its defence of the provincial intermediate baseball championship a successful one by eliminating East Angus from the 1936 play-offs Sunday afternoon. Supporting Joe Daudelin's five-hit pitching with a savage barrage on two East Angus hurlers, the Miners whipped the champions of the Compton County League by twelve to two in the second fixture of a home-and-home series and qualified to encounter the survivors of the Montreal Police-Chamby series.

Apart from limiting his opposition to five safeties, Daudelin paced the home team's twenty-hit attack with two doubles and a pair of singles in five trips to the plate, driving in three Capeleton runs. McVeigh, O'Connor, Farrell and W. Stafford were credited with three hits apiece, the latter's blows scoring four teammates, while Dore and Harvey divided the other four safeties. The only extra-base blow in the East Angus collection was Calpeau's eighth inning homer with Conway on the path as a result of Capeleton's lone error.

Hurley started on the mound for the visitors and gave up eight hits and seven runs in the three innings he worked—to be charged with the second base to finish the game, but his offerings were no greater mystery to the local slugger's who garnered twelve more safeties for their remaining points. Daudelin, revealing perfect control, struck out eight; Hurley whiffed one and walked two, while Dionne fanned three and issued one pass.

The first game was scoreless, although Capeleton loaded the bases with one out only to have a double play and an infield out spoil their chances of opening the scoring. In the second stanza, however, a single and two errors permitted the home-stayers to again peer the corners. Daudelin forced Farrell at the plate, but W. Stafford clouted a double which cleared the bases.

Three singles, a hit batsman, a base on balls and doubles by Farrell and Daudelin produced four points in the third chapter and marked the end of Hurley's stay on the hill. Dionne kept the Capeleton boys away from the plate in the fourth and fifth cantos, but in the sixth round three singles and doubles—by O'Connor and Daudelin—and an error were productive of two more tallies. Two singles, a base on balls and a double steal were converted into Capeleton's last two runs in the seventh episode.

Blanked for seven innings, East Angus saved themselves from a shutout in the eighth chapter when Galpeau smoked a homer into left field and scored behind Conway, who reached first on Farrell's misplay.

The first game of the second series involving Capeleton will be played here next Sunday.

The score by innings was:
East Angus ..... 000 000 020—2
Capeleton ..... 084 003 20x—12

GRANBY REGISTERED TWO VICTORIES OVER SOREL

Granby leads Sorel by two victories to nothing and Drummondville and the Black Panthers are tied with one triumph each in the Provincial Baseball League play-offs as a result of the four games, played over the holiday week-end.

Galensky's four-hit pitching and faultless fielding by his Granby team mates brought the Eastern Townships their two to nothing triumph over Sorel yesterday, while the Panthers showed two runs across the plate in the eighth inning at Drummondville to nose out the homesters by two to one.

GIANTS SCORED TWO VICTORIES OVER PHILLIES

New Yorkers Snapped Out of Three-Game Losing Streak to Establish Biggest Lead They Have Yet Held in National League Pennant Race—Cards and Cubs Lost Twice.

Just when it appeared that the leading teams in the National League did not know the meaning of "consistency," the New York Giants righted themselves and as the result today enjoyed the biggest lead they have yet held in the pennant race. Over the week-end the combined efforts of the Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs produced only one victory. Yesterday, however, Bill Terry's home rallied, swept a double-header with the Phillies and took five and six-game leads, respectively, over the Cards and the Cubs, who continued their backsliding by losing two games each.

Snapping out of their three-game losing streak, the Giants whipped the Philadelphia Phillies six to two and fourteen to eleven. Carl Hubbell hurled one of his masterpieces to give the New Yorkers their first game and chalk up his twelfth successive mound victory and his twenty-second triumph of the season. The second engagement was a lambasting affair with Mel Ott's third homer route the day and his thirtieth circuit clout of the campaign driving in the deciding runs.

While the Terrymen were moving further ahead, the Yankees all but clinched the American League pennant as they turned back the Philadelphia Athletics in both ends of a twin bill by scores of four to three and eight to three. The twin triumph placed the Yanks in a position where they need only one more victory to nail the flag to the post at the stadium.

Lee Ross held the Ruppert Rifles to four hits in the first game only to have the Mackmen lose as four errors helped the league leaders to three of their tallies. Lefty Gomez blanked the A's for eight innings but had to call on Johnny Murphy in the ninth frame as the Athletics scored three times. Charley Ruffing went to the mound in the ninth for his nineteenth victory to date. He pitched six-hit ball while the Yanks made the most of their twenty safeties, including Lou Gehrig's forty-third homer of the season and another circuit clout by Jack Sant-gaver.

The Gashouse Gang, even with Dizzy Dean pitching the first game, were no match for the Pittsburgh Pirates losing to the tune of four to one and fourteen to one. Dean was outpitched by the veteran Waite Hoyt, while Mace Brown held the Frischmen to eight blows in the curfew encounter as his mates rapped four St. Louis elbows for eighteen hits, including a home run by Woody Jensen.

The Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds featured another flinty no-decision combat between Gilly Campbell and Bill Jurgens, but the National League champions went down by scores of six to two and eight to four. Approaching the plate with his chest protector and mask on as Jurgens came out of the Chicago dugout to take his turn at bat at the start of the third stanza, Campbell took a wild swing at the Chicago shortstop who retaliated with a blow to the head. No physical damage was done, however. The Reds battered three Chicago pitchers, including Lou Warneke, in the nightcap after winning the curtain-raiser although out-hit by eleven to nine. Derringer and Schott repeated in the opener and in the other National League double bill the Boston Bees and the Brooklyn Dodgers broke even. The Flatbushers won the first fixture in eleven innings by two to one but dropped the nightcap by four to one. Max Butcher and Fred Frank-fer combined to hold the Bees to four hits in the opener, but Brooklyn had to come from behind as Guy Bush kept their ten blows well spaced. Van Mungo hurled five-hit ball and struck out fourteen in the second encounter, but Bill Weir, his southpaw opponent, blanked the Dodgers for eight innings and allowed them only seven safeties.

Battling for second place, the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago White Sox still found themselves all square. The world champions won the first contest by eight to seven and lost the second fixture by the same score. The Bengals won their game with a barrage of seventeen hits off Johnny Whitehead and Clint Browne. Rowe and Rorie Lawson for fourteen safeties, but Gerald Walker's home run with two on in the second inning gave the Cochrane-men their margin of victory. A four-run eighth-inning outburst brought the Sox from behind to win the second tie after Detroit had bombarded Bill Dietrich, Italo Chilingi and Browne. Murphy's relief hurling stayed the Athletics' ninth-inning rally in the first game; Ruffing pitched six-hit ball in the nightcap.

Considering the injury which robbed us of Hank Greenberg at the start of the season, my own illness and the retirement of Alvin Crowder, among other things, I don't think we did so bad this year," the Bengal pilot said. "I think we'll finish second—and next year will be another year and a better one, I'm certain."

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Outstanding players in yesterday's major league games were: Johnny Murphy and Red Ruffing, Yankees; Murphy's relief hurling stayed the Athletics' ninth-inning rally in the first game; Ruffing pitched six-hit ball in the nightcap.

Johnny Cochrane, Dodgers, and Bill Weir, Bees: Cochrane drove in the winning run in the eleventh inning of the first contest; latter checked the Dodgers with seven hits in the second fixture as Van Mungo fanned fourteen.

Carl Hubbell and Mel Ott, Giants: Hubbell won twelfth straight game and twenty-second of season in beating the Phillies in the opener, while Ott hit two homers, one in each game.

Jimmy DeShong, Senators, and Rick Ferrell, Red Sox: DeShong kept Boston's eleven hits well spaced in the opener; Ferrell's triple drove in the tying run in the ninth frame of the nightcap.

Waite Hoyt and Paul Waner, Pirates: Hoyt checked the Cards with five hits, while Waner drove out cide their final places in the International League standing.

Each team divided a double-header as the season closed yesterday and as a result they tied for second place, each with eighty-eight victories and sixty-six defeats. To determine their order of going into the post-season play-offs for the Governors' Cup, which also determine the International club to go against the American Association winner, league president Warren C. Giles announced that the one game would be played.

The winner of tonight's contest will oppose the fourth-place Baltimore Orioles in the first play-off, while the loser will face the pennant-winning Buffalo Bisons. Both play-offs are due to start tomorrow unless tonight's game is postponed.

The Red Wings' hopes soared yesterday when they took the first game from Montreal by 6 to 4 behind Bob Weiland's three-hit flinging while Baltimore defeated Newark by 8 to 4. A pair of shutouts reversed the situation, however, and left the clubs deadlocked as Chad Kimsey humbled the Wings by 8 to 0 with six hits and Vito Tamulis blanked the Owls by 7 to 0.

Buffalo's champions were white-washed in both ends of their concluding twin bill by the Toronto Leafs, who won by scores of 5 to 0 and 1 to 0 as Bill Walker and Earl Cook limited them to five hits in the opener and John Pomorski followed up with a six-hitter.

Albany's last-place Senators got faint satisfaction at the finish by shoving over a tenth-inning run to gain a 5 to 4 victory over Syracuse Chiefs, who finished seventh.

COCHRAN HAS HIGH HOPES FOR DETROIT NEXT YEAR

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Take another guess, fans, if you think Mickey Cochrane is disheartened about this season.

Mickey also is so busy looking ahead to 1937 that he says he has not any time for brooding over the "breaks" which went against the Tigers this season and played a part in losing for them the American League pennant and world title.

Considering the injury which robbed us of Hank Greenberg at the start of the season, my own illness and the retirement of Alvin Crowder, among other things, I don't think we did so bad this year," the Bengal pilot said. "I think we'll finish second—and next year will be another year and a better one, I'm certain."

1935 CHAMPION ELIMINATED IN LOCAL TOURNEY

Paul Birn's Defence of East Sherbrooke Men's Singles Title Shattered by Gaetan Cote Over Week-End—Two Other Semi-Finalists Determined.

A new men's singles champion will be crowned when the annual East Sherbrooke tennis championship tournament concludes. This was determined when Gaetan Cote, of the Sherbrooke Country Club, eliminated the 1935 title-holder, Paul Birn, in a quarter-final round encounter. This result, marking the downfall of the third of four seeded players, placed Cote in the round of four and established him as a favorite to succeed to the throne vacated by Birn. The match was hard fought and went the three-set limit before Cote recorded a 10-8, 4-6, 8-6 decision.

To reach the quarter-final Cote had been pressed to a severe limit to overcome Paul Courchesne, while Birn had disposed of Roland Blouin in straight sets. Courchesne had previously qualified to meet Cote by eking out a triumph over Nil Belcourt.
