

By-Election Sidetracked By City Vote

Indication from Prime Minister St. Laurent yesterday in Ottawa that federal by-elections to fill six House of Commons vacancies were "unlikely before October 25" highlights the fact that Montreal city elections will be held that day, and the Federal government is apparently anxious that there be no possibility of confusion in the campaigning.

The Prime Minister told reporters that he did not intend to announce the date of the by-elections this week, and that rules out Oct. 18 or 25 for the election, due to the time lapse necessary to conform with nomination and election regulations.

However, with the Montreal city campaigning capturing the spotlight throughout October, it is felt locally that the date of the by-elections may go as late as the 15th or 22nd of November with the former date favored.

While former Finance Minister Abbott resigned from his seat here to ae-

R.M.R. Planning A Gala Reunion

The Royal Montreal Regiment — formed here in 1914 — will observe its 40th anniversary November 12th to 14th with a series of special events that will mark the greatest reunion in the history of the unit.

In making the announcement in the magazine "March Past" tribute to the regiment was paid by Lt. Col. J. C. P. McPherson, immediate past officer command.

In a message Mayor Roy Campbell said: "The R.M.R. has been a source of great pride for all residents of Westmount since its inception in 1914, and I am sure that its place in the hearts of all of us is secure."

Formed as the 14th Canadian Battalion, the unit was officially

Fascinating Gems Story Told To Westm't Rotary

"Gems are one of the most fascinating things in the world", Lovell Baker told members of the Westmount Rotary Club at their regular meeting Wednesday at Victoria Hall.

He said that gems, and especially diamonds, can be traced back to before the coming of Christ.

Mr. Baker is vice-president of Henry Birks and Sons Limited, and has travelled the world extensively since 1923 in search of precious gems for his company. He has crossed the ocean more than 50 times, and has travelled more than one-third of a million miles to just about every part of the globe.

In speaking of diamonds, Mr. Baker said that the earliest diamond known to man was found in India in 500 B.C. He said that a diamond is made of one of the simplest substances, carbon, and yet it is one of the very few things which man has not been able to successfully make synthetically.

He told members that at one time diamonds were worn by men only, but that it took a female member of the French royal court to put a stop to this. Since then ladies wear diamonds on all occasions.

South Africa is known as the center of the diamond industry. Almost 125 mines have been discovered in South Africa, Mr. Baker said, but only 10 of these have actually paid for themselves. He said that it was Cecil Rhodes who put the diamond industry on its feet in South Africa, and through him the great DeBeers Consolidated Mining Association was formed. This DeBeers group controls the output of raw gems.

The Association controls all the diamond mines in South Africa except the largest and most recently discovered one belonging to Dr. Don Williamson of Canada. Dr. Williamson went to South Africa in search of gold for a private company, left their employe, and shortly after discovered what is today the largest and most richest diamond mine in the world. Williamson's mine is eight times as large as any mine in the DeBeers group Mr. Baker said.

Diamonds in North

It was Mr. Baker's opinion that someday in the future a diamond mine will be found in the great Canadian north. He said that earth and conditions in some sections of the country up there are the same as those found in diamond country in South Africa.

He told the Rotarians of the simple procedure used to cut a diamond which is the world's hardest substance, Mr. Baker said that the whole procedure is very simple the cutter using only a small paper thin saw blade, diamond dust and olive oil.

"But, simple as it sounds, he said, the entire operation depends on the skill of the diamond cutter."

In concluding his address Mr. Baker reviewed some of the peculiarities of other well known precious stones. He told the Rotarians that although people usually connected certain colors with certain stones that most popular "birth stones" can be obtained in a variety of colors.

SHELVES HOUSEWORK FOR LITERATURE: In a September Chatelaine article entitled "Don't educate your daughter", Phyllis Lee Peterson, 540 Prince Albert avenue, says diplomas won't mean a thing to your girl when she gets down to dishpans and diapers. A college degree, she says, leaves a girl a dunce in the kitchen and is far better off to learn to be a woman. A cook book, she maintains, is way ahead of a chemistry manual.

Expect LCC Rink To Be Completed By Mid-Nov.

Lower Canada College's artificial ice rink is expected to be completed by the middle of November, headmaster D. C. Penton told The Monitor this week.

Construction on the $120,000 structure started in the middle of August. It will be equipped with a roof, but no walls. School authorities have been assured the rink is usable in all weather.

While no formal agreement has been reached, it is hoped that Montreal schools will make use of the new rink for both hockey games and practice.

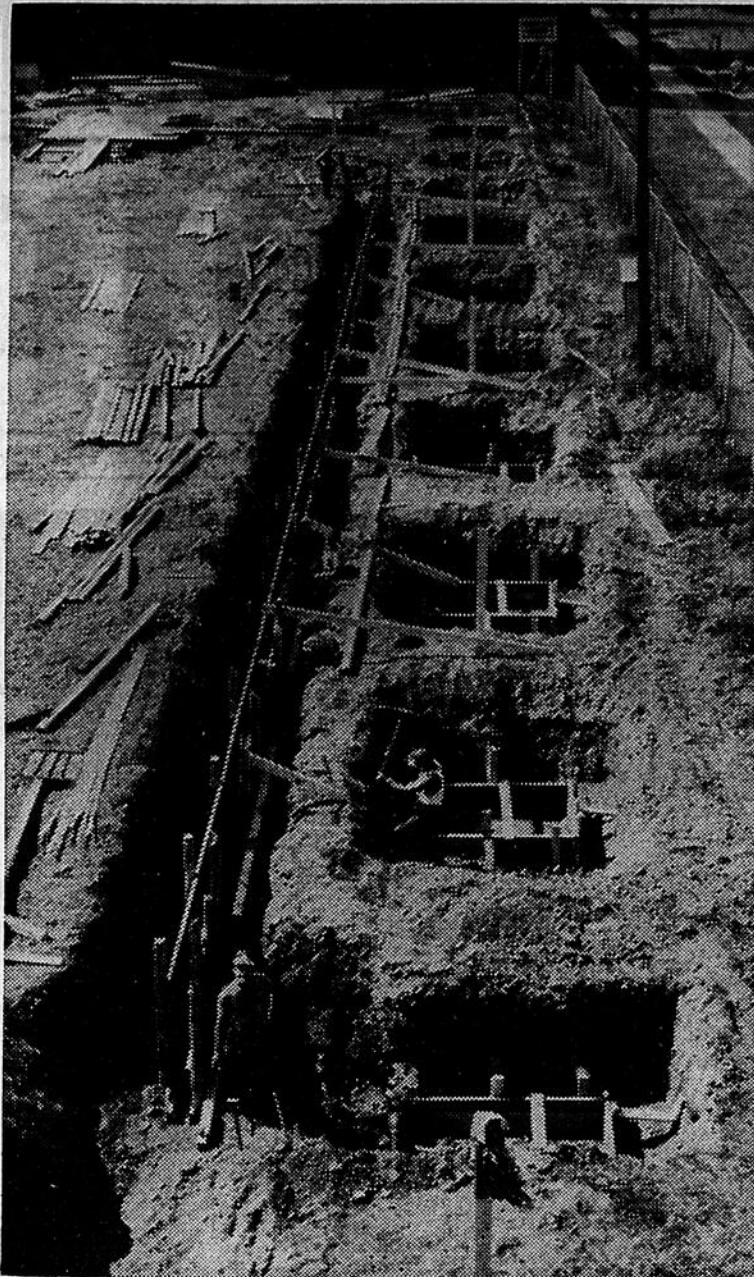

Much discussion took place last year when several high schools found a lack for good ice time at artificial ice arenas. Loyola College opened an artificial rink midway through the winter, and it, along with the LCC arena, will both be available to high schools this winter.

The old shooting range at LCC has been converted into two dressing rooms, equipped with showers.

The storage room is being used to house the freezing equipment.

Workmen are presently preparing the rink for concrete pourings. Construction is by Walter Hyde & Co.

The Silver Star is awarded for gallantry in action which does not warrant award of the Distinguished Service Cross.

CONSTRUCTION ON Lower Canada College's artificial ice rink is expected to be finished by the middle of November. The $120,000 structure is equipped with a roof, and is expected to fill much of the demand by high schools for artificial ice time. —(Photo by Ed Bermingham).

Personality Deterioration Stressed by Speaker at AA

Eddie McC., one of the most active and popular members of Alcoholics Anonymous in Montreal was the guest speaker at the Sunday Afternoon meeting of A.A. in Westmount.

He talked briefly about his family background and described the progressive deterioration of personality which alcoholism produced in him.

He was the youngest of four children. The family were moderately well off and his father, successful in his own career, was ambitious for his children. Wanting all the good things in life for them made him over generous and over indulgent toward them. Eddie was given a good education and was expected to study law. He did not finish his law course. His drinking when he began these studies was, to outward appearance, moderate social drinking, but the compulsion toward drinking was not social and became evident in a very short time. It was not conspicuous in his withdrawal from the company of old friends and in the choice of new ones. In every case the new friends were excessive drinkers and with no other qualities to recommend them. Even the thought of boyhood friends became a source of irritation to Eddie — a number of them were earning a reputation for responsible, constructive activities in business and community life. Eddie's drinking increased and with it his resentments against everything worthwhile grew.

"This phase ended my chances of becoming an honored member of the Bar," Eddie said and added ruefully, "Instead I became a member of the bars of Montreal."

He was sitting in a bar one day when a drinking companion entered. He told Eddie that he had just learned that Eddie's brother was a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, and proceeded to ridicule the brother and A.A.

Eddie had never heard of A.A. and he had never thought of himself or any member of his family as being alcoholic. To him the alcoholic was the shabby, shaky individual, begging on street corners, sleeping on park benches or being tossed out of cheap dives. He began to wonder about his brother. He knew his family had worried about him, that he disappeared from familiar haunts for long periods of time and that his professional standing had suffered due to his drinking. He began to study this brother and was amazed at the change in him. His happiness and contentment with sobriety seemed genuine and he was gaining the respect of the people in his profession and church circles. It was this brother who took Eddie to his first A.A. meeting.

The seven years, in A.A. have brought many good things to Eddie — self respect and the respect of others. Before his father's death, a few years ago, Eddie was with him, reading when he could, listening to the old gentleman talking with so much pride of his two boys and their accomplishments . . . The father who had wanted so much for them lived to see that dream fulfilled.

In closing Eddie gave a more graphic picture of himself than he may have been conscious of doing. He told his listeners that every time he met a sober member of A.A. he felt proud of him because he represented a spiritual experience — another day of constructive living.

"Thank God I share this experience with you."

Westmount Sunday Afternoon Group of Alcoholics Anonymous meets at 3 p.m. every Sunday at 4707 Western Avenue. Inquiries about the A.A. program should be addressed to the group secretary, 305 Lansdowne Ave., Westmount. Several letters have been received by this group lately containing only the name and address of a person. It is assumed some well meaning party has sent the name of an alcoholic they think should join A.A. Sorry, but A.A. can't help an alcoholic until he himself wants that help.

Egan Chambers And Friend In An Informal Pose

Personal Campaign Planned

An intensive personal drive for votes is planned by Egan Chambers, Progressive Conservative candidate for St. Antoine-Westmount, in the federal by-election.

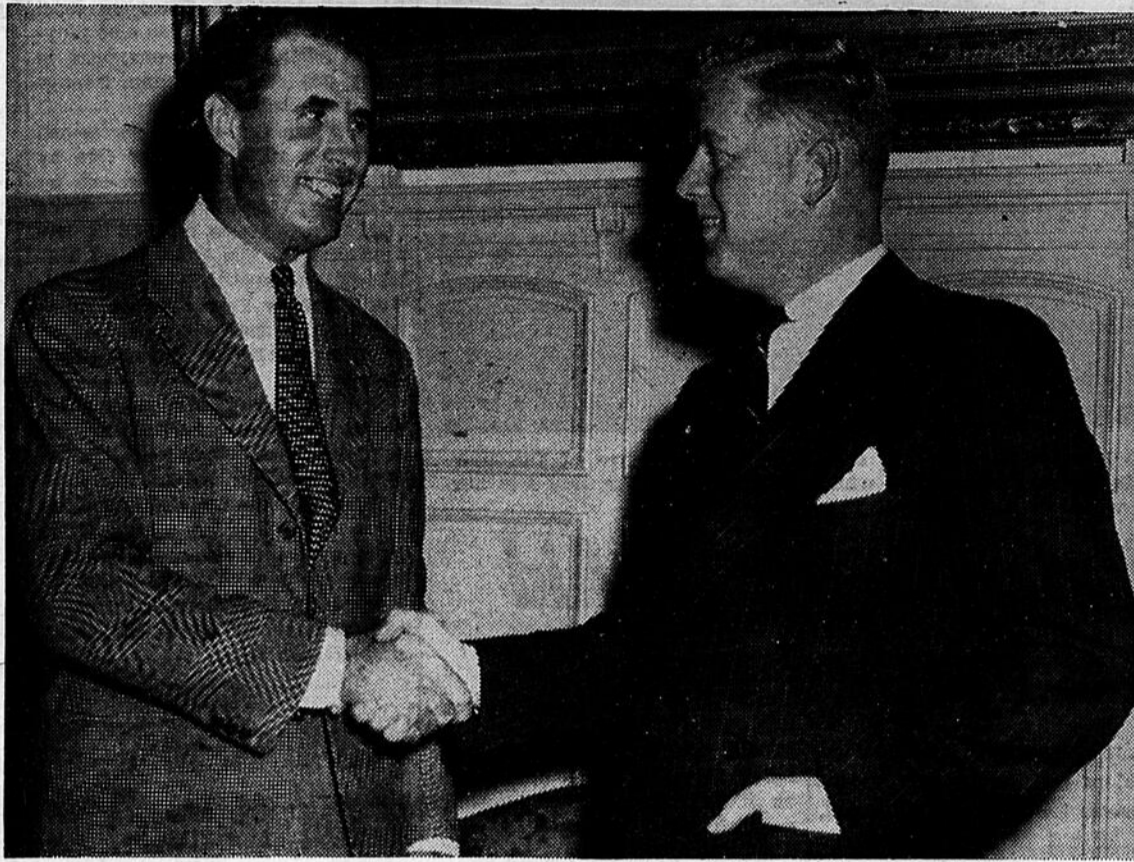

"Canada's Parliament can be strengthened by the election of opposition members," Chambers told The Examiner this week, at a luncheon meeting of party groups of his and the St. Lawrence-St. George ridings in the Windsor Hotel.

George Hees, national president of the PC Association, was also present at the meeting, and is helping Chambers and David de Volpi to map out campaign strategy.

Mr. Hees arrived here Tuesday, and addressed a meeting of campaign workers at the Legion Hall, Mountain street, Wednesday.

Canada must follow the lead of the United States and Britain in making it possible for industry to develop atomic energy for industrial uses, Mr. Hees pointed out at a meeting of campaign workers in the evening.

Speaking at the Legion Hall on Mountain street, he urged the government to introduce an Atomic Energy Bill", designed to enable industry to develop atomic energy for industrial uses."

He referred to atomic energy as "one of the greatest untapped sources of cheap power in this country," he added:

"If we can develop cheap atomic power in the near future, we can go a long way toward lowering our costs to a point where products which are today experiencing serious competition can once again become competitive."

He said the United States bill is a "sound constructive measure which will enable American industry to have cheap atomic power in the shortest possible time."

"Canada cannot afford to lag behind in such a development because it will greatly intensify the serious competition we are now experiencing from American products," he said.

Lorne Webster Heads Hospital Finance Drive

Turner the General Campaign Chairman. Other leaders in the campaign organization include R. G. M. Gammell, Deputy Campaign Chairman; J. A. Cross, Chairman of the Special Appeals Division; and R. J. Kayser and Louis Burggraf, Territorial chairman.

On the battlefields of Europe during the First World War, the regiment lost 1,192 men through action and illness. Another 3,277 were wounded.

The young regimental sergeant-major who gave up a commission to accompany the R.M.R. overseas was RSM C. B. Price, who later became Maj-Gen. C. B. Price. He took command of the regiment in 1920 when it was amalgamated with the Westmount Rifles.

Gen Price, now honorary colonel of the regiment, will be one of the 'old boys' at the reunion along with hundreds of the men who served with him during the two wars.

DON WOODWARD, left, and Remi Cloutier, two of the four outstanding water skiers who will perform at the Red Feather Carnival on Mount Royal Thursday, Sept. 23.

Water-Skiers To Aid Red Feather Drive

Four outstanding Canadian water-skiers will furrow the waters of Beaver Lake, on Mount Royal, soon in aid of Montreal's 1954 Red Feather campaign.

Highlighting the Red Feather Carnival, scheduled for the evening of Thursday, September 23, will be Remi Cloutier, runner-up in the 1954 Provincial water-ski championships, who is one of the few humans who can actually water-ski on bare feet without the aid of skis. He is remembered also as 1948 winner of the downhill snow-ski races at Banff.

Sharing water-ski honors at the big Red Feather event, which will combine sports, music, dancing and other entertainment, will be Remi's wife, Kay Cloutier, who is scheduled to carry a campaign reminder-banner at high speed before what's expected to be a record turnout of spectators of all ages. Remi's brother, Marc, age 19 and already holder of a 67-foot provincial jumping record this year at Lake Lachigan, is also participating. Marc is due to compete in the Canadian championships at Toronto, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Donald Woodward, director of the Canadian Water Ski Association, Montreal's star slalom skier and responsible for training Ste. Agathe's Cloutier brothers, will also perform at the Red Feather Carnival, which will involve activities at Beaver Lake, at the Chalet, the Lookout and elsewhere in Montreal's mountain park.

Still another Red Feather water skier will be Pierre Beaudin, Montreal's 1952 Provincial champion and well-known as an expert water-ski maker.

Miss M. Johnson Studies In Ohio

Miss Marion Johnson, 4643 Sherbrooke street west, has been assigned to central clinic, general hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, for field work placement from September 15, 1954 to June 1, 1955, in connection with her studies at the Smith College School for Social Work, a graduate professional school, where she is studying for her Master of Social Science degree.

Miss F. R. Day, director of the Smith College School for Social Work, announced today that 75 students in the school, which was the first to be established by a women's college for the training of psychiatric social workers in 1918 have been assigned to 35 agencies in 20 cities in 12 states for field work in 1954-55.

One new agency — Fairfax Child Guidance Clinic, Fall Church, Va. — has been affiliated with the school for field work this year. In selecting field agencies, qualified supervision, psychiatric consultation, range of case material, high level of agency practice, interest in research, and good community orientation are considered prerequisites, said Miss Day.

Under the two-year graduate program of the Smith College School for Social Work, students spend three summer sessions of academic work on the Smith campus and two intervening winter sessions in carefully supervised field work. Under a program of advanced standing for students who have had adequate graduate preparation or several years of satisfactory experience in an approved casework agency, students spend two summer sessions at Smith and one intervening winter session in field work. Each student writes a thesis which represents individual research undertaken in relation to some aspects of the field work practice.

Canadian Housing

Construction Falls Off Despite NHA Amendments

The rosy predictions that NHA amendments would bring a great increase in home-building, seem to have fallen flat. Despite lower down payments and longer amortization periods, the number of housing starts is lower than in the corresponding periods of last year, when no such inducements existed.

The amendments came into effect March 22. But DBS reports that as May ended, there were 327 fewer housing units under construction in Canada than there were a year before. Housing starts in May, 1954, totalled 13,398, against 13,606 in May, 1953. In his first five months of 1954, work began on 33,812 houses, against 35,438 in same period last year.

The DBS figures underscore what critics of new NHA legislation said when it was before Parliament — that it completely ignored Canada's real housing problem, which is the high cost of building.

The Canadian economy has become so distorted that industrial shutdowns and lay offs are accompanied by wage increases. Thus, DBS reports, although the employment index in manufacturing fell to 107.3 last April, from 113.1 the previous April, hourly wages in manufacturing reached a record peak of $1.42.

Capital and Labour

This is our war, the war of the populace, We are all fighting, for land, and for home, Labor and Capital, are just one great Brotherhood, Foreman and President, from the same loam.

We speak the same language,
Love the same Liberty,
Not two identities,
But of the same strain;

The challenge, that faces Master, and Workman,

Is, that Freedom, and Liberty, still may remain.

Dorothy Sproule.

East and West

by Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
Rector of Trinity Memorial Church

It has been my very great privilege to attend the Second Conference of the World Council of Churches, meeting at Evanston, Illinois, from August 15th to August 31st. I should like to pass on my impressions of the opening day, for I think a good many people are interested in the coming together of delegates from 161 churches in 48 countries.

My first impression is of earnestness and friendliness. The delegates are here to try to understand one another. They have realized the Truth of St. Paul's words: "There abide these three things, faith, hope, and friendliness, but the greatest of these is friendliness". (That, I think, is the correct translation, rather than "faith, hope and charity".) That does not mean a ready giving up of one's own point of view. The delegates hold to their own traditions but they learn that other traditions have their value and place as well. And it may be that two interpretations of one tradition may be possible.

The theme of the whole Conference was "Christ, the Hope of the World". On the first Sunday afternoon two addresses were given on the main Theme, one by Prof. Schlink, a member of the Evangelical church in Germany, the other by Prof. R. L. Calhoun, an American Congregationalist. They approached their subject from entirely different points of view, almost contradictory of one another. Yet the impression they left behind was that both points of view needed to be stated, and the value of the World Council is that they could be stated on the same day from the same platform to the same audience. Neither speaker could reconcile the two points of view. Perhaps even the Conference cannot do so at present. But the Conference would have been the poorer if either word had been left unsaid.

The second impression made on me came in the opening service on Sunday morning. There the different Christian traditions from Quaker to Eastern Orthodox, and the different nations from the blonde Swedes to the black Bantu, came together in public worship in a perfectly lovely Methodist church, which holds about 1400 people. There are five presidents of the world Council and each of them along with the pastor of the church had a part of the service. It was opened by the pastor. The service had been prepared by an Anglican, and was printed in English, French and German. The hymn book is printed in about ten languages. The first lesson was read in French by Marc Boegner, a French Protestant, the second lesson was read in Greek by Archbishop Athenagoras of the Greek Orthodox Church; the creed was recited in German by Bishop Eivind Berggrav, of the Church of Norway; the prayers were taken in English by Dr. Bell, Bishop of Chichester; the sermon was preached by the Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the U.S.A., and the benediction was pronounced by Archbishop Athenagoras in Greek. There was nothing incongruous at any point. Rather, the experience of Pentecost when everyone heard them speak in his own tongue the wonderful works of God.

The evening service was held in Chicago on Soldier's Field. In place of a sermon the whole drama of salvation from Creation to the Second Advent was presented by 100 young people in the form of rhythmic dance, accompanied by the recitation of the story. It was a very moving spectacle, portrayed before a reverent audience of 125,000 people.

PROFESSOR ISRAEL BET-TAN, head of the department of homiletics and Midrash of the Hebrew Union College, who will assist in conducting High Holy Day services at Temple Emanu-El. He is also vice president of the central conference of American Rabbis.

Which leads to my third impression of the first day: that the people themselves are tremendously interested in the world Council and have gone to very great lengths in preparing for it. Apparently the world looks to the Church for some lead.

Christian Science

The ability, power, and sinless perfection which characterize man's real nature in God's likeness will be emphasized at Christian Science church services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" includes the following passages from the King James version of the Bible (Ephesians 4:7,13): "But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ . . . Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read: "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God."

The Golden Text is from Genesis: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created him."

BALLGOWN FOR BARBARA MARKHAM, Miss Canada of 1954. It is part of the collection of Couturier designed clothes she will wear in the Miss America contest in September. Silver beads and aquamarines, in pine needle motif, encrust the bodice and peplum which extends into a train. The gown is of all-viscose satin.

Barbara Markham, '54 Miss Canada Shows U.S. Canadian Wardrobe

When Barbara Markham, Miss Canada of 1954, takes part in the Miss America contest September 7 to 11 in Atlantic City, she'll wear an exclusive all-Viscose collection of clothes designed specially for her by the members of the Canadian Association of Couturiers.

Members of the press and radio and representatives of Canada's textile mills, recently saw a preview of the wardrobe given by the Viscose Information Bureau at the Ritz Carlton Hotel.

The original designs, first to be shown by the newly-formed Couturier group, were all fashioned from Canadian-made fabrics. The collection included ball gowns, cocktail dresses, day dresses, suits, coats and lounge wear. Shoes, often made from matching dress fabric, were also Canadian-made as were all the accessories.

Fabrics such as velvet, satin, and faille were chosen for the evening wear with light weight flannels and crepes for the afternoon outfits.

Couturiers who created the costumes were Raoul-Jean Foure, president of the group; Miss France Davies, Miss Marie France, Germaine and Rene, Jacques De Montjoyes, D'Anjou, Louis Phillippe de Seves and Jacques Michel, all of Montreal.

Miss Markham won the right to represent Canada at the Miss America pageant at a contest held last month in Windsor, Ont. The 22 year old Miss, whose home is in Cornwall, Ont., hopes to further her art career abroad next year.

3,500 Girls To Enter Nursing As Classes Start Across Canada

If a girl is in the 18-year age bracket, and has recently graduated from high school, there is one chance in four that she will soon enter one of the 171 schools of nursing in communities across Canada, states the Canadian Nurses' Association. During the next three weeks, roughly 3,500 girls—about half from cities and half from rural areas—are expected to enter the three-year course, as nursing schools open their doors to new classes.

Recruitment figures prepared by the CNA indicate that approximately one-quarter of all female high school graduates annually begin training for the much coveted professional "R.N."

"Nursing continues to be the first occupational choice of Canadian girls graduating from high school," said Miss Frances McQuarrie, CNA Nursing Education Secretary who is concerned with recruiting more girls into the profession. Describing reasons for the preference for nursing as a career, Miss McQuarrie said: "Girls are interested in working with people. Moreover, both daughters and parents tend to favour nursing because of the public's high regard for the work of the profession."

"But what we really look for in a girl," she said, "is the desire to serve, and a genuine interest in health improvement."

Today's opportunities for nursing service are wider and more stimulating than at any previous time. In addition to service on hospital staff, nurses work in public health, private duty, industry, airlines, and in remote northern settlements. International openings exist in the World Health Organization, Colombo Plan, the International Red Cross, and other organization.

When a girl enters a nursing school, she may be required to pay a small tuition or registration fee and she may have to buy her textbooks. There is a trend towards supplying uniforms in many schools. The opportunity to enter nursing occurs twice a year, in September and in January or February. Entrance requirements include high school graduation with certain required subjects. They also call for a minimum age of 18 years, except in Ontario where girls are admitted to schools of nursing at 17 years of age.

Toronto in 1953 was visited by more than 5,000,000 tourists and was host to more than 500 conventions.

Disney's "The Living Desert"

2nd Week At The Kent In Technicolor

Music, always an important element in any Walt Disney production, plays an unusual role in "The Living Desert", first True Life Adventure feature which is being held over for a second week at the Kent theatre.

Composer-conductor Paul Smith composed his score for the film, which is Technicolor, to include the various personalities of the creatures shown. All True Life Adventure music, explains Smith, must pace the picture; must point up the action and must make the emotional content more poignant. The music for "The Living Desert" has a sweeping theme evocative of the great locale. Against this the incidents occur episodically. The scorpion's mating is set to square dance music, for that is the pace; the mud pots are set to another mood; the romantic tortoise has a slow moving theme; the burrowing snake an exotic moon-glow melody. Since Nature's actors cannot speak, the music must explain their hopes, characteristics and actions. To express musically, in terms of human understanding, what each might be saying, is the task of Paul Smith, the composer and conductor of Disney's True Life Adventure series.

"The Tale of A Tub" is the American title for the outstanding comedy "The Maggie," which delighted Avenue Theatre audiences for weeks on its recent run.

"Johnny Dark" In Technicolor

Now At The Snowdon, Outremont and Strand

Reuniting Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie, Universal-International's Technicolor production of "Johnny Dark" now at the Snowdon, Outremont and Strand theatres. Don Taylor is co-starred with the handsome young romantic duo and the featured cast is headed by Paul Kelly, Ilka Chase, Sidney Blackmer, Ruth Hampton and Joe Sawyer.

The story of "Johnny Dark" concerns the efforts of a young automotive engineer to create a sports car model for the conservative motor company which employs him. His romance with the young stylist assigned to him, his rivalry with a rough-neck test-driver, and the exciting border-to-border sports car race provide the action. Photographed at roadside level, from helicopter and from higher-flying airplane, the race varies with the panorama of the countryside and piles up thrill after thrill until the finish line is crossed in Mexico.

The added feature at the Snowdon and Outremont, "The Golden Mask" is an exciting, fast-moving adventure story with Van Heflin, Wanda Hendrix and Eric Portman co-starred. "The Golden Mask", shot on actual location in French North Africa, tells the dramatic action story of an archaeological expedition and a gang of international cut-throats both, for different reasons, on the trail of a priceless relic of antiquity buried in the sinister tombs of the desert.

The added feature at the Strand, "Insurance Investigator" starring Richard Denning and Audrey Long is a suspense-charged drama of a in millions.

★ Kim Novak Jean Harlow-like Personality Co-stars

As a result of the hit scored by beautiful Kim Novak, sometimes referred to as a "blonde Ava Gardner" in her film debut "Pushover" with Fred MacMurray and Phil Carey, Columbia has now given her co-star billing with Judy Holiday, Jack Lemmon and Jack Carson in "Phfff," in which she plays a Broadway playgirl wooed by Lemmon after his divorce from Judy. The picture has a tentative release date of November 1st.

Miss Novak, who is a former Chicago model, is one of the group of new young Columbia contract players who have clicked in their first appearance.

It took Walt Disney five months to produce "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea" which is longest live-action feature in company's history.

Unity Boys' Club

1090 GREENE AVE.
A PROJECT OF WESTMOUNT ROTARY CLUB

By Maurice Mariasine

Unity's summer outdoor program ended Wednesday when over 200 youngsters attended the closing day festivities at Staynor Park. The program consisted of field events, costume, bicycle and pram parade, the presentation of prizes and hot dogs and cokes for everyone.

Throughout the summer, special outings to picnic grounds and beaches were a weekly feature. Periodical industrial tours were also arranged and arts, crafts and sport sessions were conducted regularly.

The summer outdoor program was under the supervision of Russell Skinner and Elizabeth Anderson.

1954-55 REGISTRATION

Now that the excitement of holiday special events and summer program activities are over and Unity members are making last minute preparations for their return to school, club officials are busily engaged making plans for the forthcoming fall and winter season.

During this period of plan formulation, the Unity Boys' Club will be open for registration only. Membership renewals began on September 1, and will continue until September 15, when the new program schedules begin. Only bona-fide members in good standing will be eligible to participate in the program. New members will be accepted providing they are of the specified age, (that is: between 6 and 1 years of age inclusive) and are living in the districts of Westmount and St. Henry. For further particulars please call WI. 5506.

1954-55 PROGRAM

Former members and new members who are planning to join the Unity Boys' Club may be interested to know that this year's plans include a continuation of the extensive sports program conducted last year. Hockey, basketball, volleyball, badminton, baseball, softball, track and field, boxing, wrestling and gymnastics are all included on the forthcoming seasons' program.

It is anticipated that arts, crafts and hobbies will play a prominent part this coming year and tentative plans have already been made to conduct classes in woodwork, leatherwork, model aircraft, lathework, sewing, art work, tap dancing, ballet, dramatics, fretwork, clay modeling, Indian lore, talent group, bottle painting, loom work and creative crafts.

Plans will also include the formation of group clubs, such as pre-teens groups, teen agers and a parents club.

The library will function bi-weekly, the games room will be open daily and movies will be held weekly. Periodic dances, seasonal parties and special events will be conducted as the occasions arise.

Looking into the future, we foresee an active program in store for the youth of Westmount and St. Henry. There are no limitations as to membership and the fees are at purely nominal level — the Unity Boys' Club of Westmount is prepared to serve the boys and girls of the community in the "activity" of their choice.

Westmount Rugger Club
To Meet New York Oct. 30

The big news from the Westmount Rugger club camp came last Saturday when secretary Tom Park announced that the team would meet the New York rugger club on Saturday, October 30, in Montreal.

It is many years since these two squads have played although before World War II it was a regular fixture. It has not yet been decided whether the game will be played at Westmount Park or the Athletic Grounds.

It is expected that a revised fixture list for the Westmount club will be announced within the next ten days. It is likely that the team will meet two Toronto squads this fall although neither fixture has been confirmed as yet.

Training Hard

With the prospect of such an attractive schedule ahead of them the team has been hard at training under the supervision of coach Ian Mair. Last Saturday he put the boys through their longest work-out to date. For the first time this season tackling practice was introduced and with the recent rains softening the ground to a considerable degree it is expected that tackling will now be stressed at all future practices.

Coach Mair is pleased with the team's progress and feels that this year's edition of the Westmount club will be hard to stop. With many of his charges anxious to see the Alouettes home opener against Ottawa tomorrow he has called training for 11 a.m. when he will put them through another extensive drill.

The following Saturday, September 11 will see an inter-squad game, this will give club officials a clear indication of the team's strength and also the chance of looking over the many newcomers to the ranks this year.

Dance Successful

Last Saturday the club held a very successful dance in the Officers' Mess of the R.C.A.S.C. Although the numbers were not as large as usual a good time was had by all. Thanks go to the Commanding Officer and to president Dan Grant for all their help and kindness in making the event a happy one.

Last week's committee meeting spent most of its time discussing the schedule for the coming season which as stated earlier will be released shortly. There is a possibility that the club will use Valois Park for some Sunday games but no definite news had been received from the Park's authorities at press time.
