Louise Penny hits New York Times Bestseller List

Alanna Fahey

BROME COUNTY NEWS CORRESPONDENT

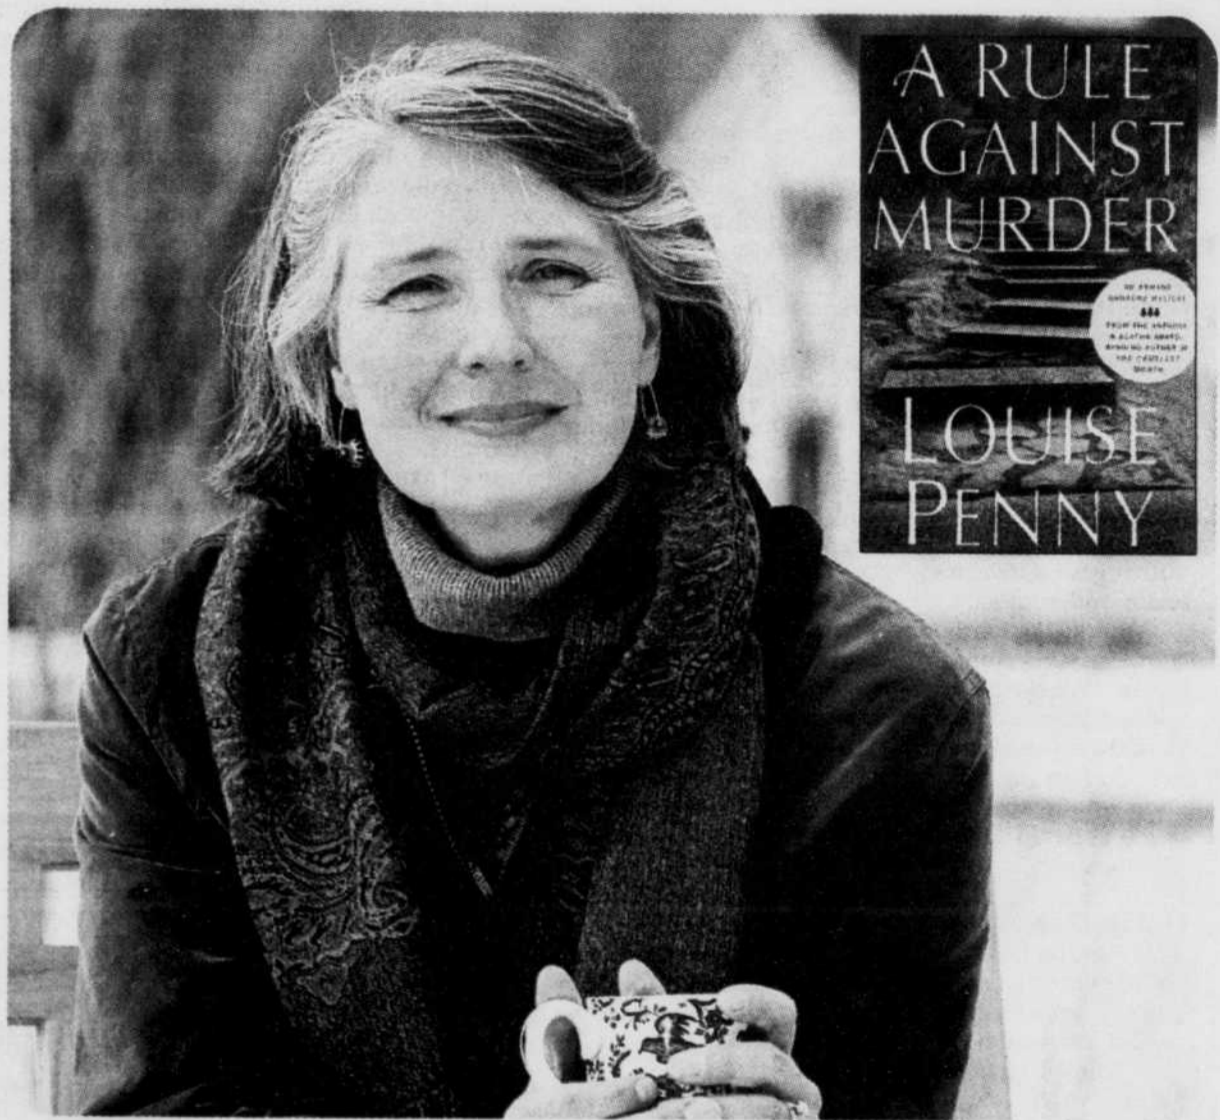

This couldn't have happened to a nicer person. Louise Penny, over the past four years, since the release of her first detective novel 'Still Life', has been gathering accolades, awards, financial success, absolute throngs of adoring mystery fans and she continues to grow in popularity with her recent arrival on The New York Times Best Seller List.

"I had the most wonderful phone call a few days ago. It was from Hope Dellon, my US editor and Andrew Martin, the publisher of St Martin's Minotaur. A terrible blizzard was pounding Quebec City and Michael and I were huddled inside, before the fire, reading. The phone rang and Hope gave me the news I've waited a lifetime to hear - and never really expected to. "You've made the New York Times bestseller list!" I shrieked, of course. Scared Michael to death. A RULE AGAINST MURDER came out January 20th and is the first of my books to make the hardcover NYT list. It's actually the extended list - which names the top 35 fiction books in the US. We're at number 33 for the Feb. 8th list," said Penny.

Penny, who lives in Sutton has been able to pull from her imagination a series of books based in a northern town called, "Three Pines", that has reviewers and readers spellbound by her ability to tell a good story, well. She is currently in Quebec City, doing research for another addition to the mystery series, featuring Detective Armand Gamache. It is his character, urbane, contemplative, astute in observation, that captivates the reader. Penny knows what she is doing. She has the ability to weave a complex murder plot alongside the often trivial world of gossip that almost always, hangs the perpetrator of any crime, whether social or criminal.

Penny who never lets an opportunity pass to thank those people who buy her books said, "It would be impossible to overstate how I feel. Honestly, I'm flabbergasted and thrilled and so, so thankful to you (the book buyers and sellers). I know this only happens because you bought the book and told others about the series. Thank you for giving me an event I will remember for the rest of my life!"

All You Need is Love

Maurice and Tanya Singfield

SPECIAL TO THE RECORD

When you truly love what you're doing, it's not that difficult to do. In fact, it's kinda fun. We have been so fortunate at CIDI that there have been so many people willing and able to put in their time and effort producing shows, doing interviews, digging up guests to interview, doing odd jobs in the office and volunteering their time and talents. It hasn't been so long since we've actually been on air.

If any of you have any ideas or suggestions, we welcome you to participate. Please let us know what you think of our programming so far. CIDI is here to serve you and all our communities and we need your input to make it successful.

What would you like to hear? What do you not want to hear?

So far, we've come up with many different concepts and ideas, different shows and hosts and guests. We have community bulletin board announcements for upcoming local events which are updated every Thursday. If your organization has something coming up, just give us a call and we'll be only too happy to include the announcement (free of charge) to promote your event.

We hope to expand our tower power so that our station will be able to reach a wider audience, but in order to do that, we will have to raise more money. Hopefully sooner rather than later because we have already had numerous inquiries from various people wondering when they would have access to CIDI in their area. Its coming, we're working on it. There is nothing we'd love to see more than to be available to a wider audience.

We are constantly developing new shows and new concepts and thinking about improving everything we do. We have only been on air for three months, and actually, we've done a pretty good job so far, but we always want to make it better. We want to be the best that we can be, why not? Let's not say "Oh, that's good enough!" If we are capable of making it so much better, and with all of our talented and dedicated volunteers we certainly are, then let's go! Let's do it!

Our shows to date are:

1) Ask the Pastor, a one hour show featuring Pentecostal pastor Brent Robillard and Anglican minister Tim Wiebe, addresses the many different issues facing us as a modern day society. Every Sunday at 7 p.m..

2) The burning Bush (Bushy) from the Hall of Flame, with host Ralf Bushenbaum, presents the many different styles of music we as a community have grown up with over the years. Within a two hour time frame, Bushy plays music from the 40s to recent times. Well researched, the show walks us through popular musical history every Friday evening at 7 and Tuesday at 8 p.m..

3) It's on the Record, featuring "the dude with attitude", host David Chapman, takes us on a Magical Mystery Tour of the sixties and the seventies with the odd off-the-cuff piece from recent times. The show refreshes our memories and reflects on what Chapman seems to think are the most important musical sounds of our lives; Californian flower power, psychedelic music, the blues, Woodstock and many forgotten songs. Chapman's two hour show is on every Sunday and Thursday night at 8 PM.

4) The D&A show, featuring local singer songwriter Angel Forrest and her musician-husband Denis Coulombe, presents Forrest and Coulombe's personal musical selections with an enchanting mix of English and French spoken-word programming. Definitely being who we are, the hosts guide us through one hour of stimulating songs and anecdotal experiences. Check them out every Wednesday evening at 9 and Saturday at 8 p.m.

5) Around Town, a half-hour program of interviews with local politicians and residents, provides a forum for local mayors and members of parliament to speak, and for community members to acquaint themselves with regional history. Hosted by Dewey Durrell and Chuck Christie, the show is a must listen every Monday at 3 p.m., and Wednesday and Saturday mornings at 10 with programs in both English and French.

6) The Marie and Lucie Chronicles, featuring sisters Marie and Lucie Fortin, bring us in touch with Brome Lake life in both official languages. Marie and Lucie have empathy for people who are willing to give of themselves to help others and tend to act in kind when they bring people to CIDI's studio to be interviewed. Having resided in Knowlton for the past five years, they have decided to take the plunge into Brome Lake community life. Nothing seems to escape the interests of these effervescent-chatty siblings as they take their daily strolls on the old railway-bed walking path in Knowlton, called the Douglas Path. You can catch their show on CIDI every Tuesday morning at 10, Wednesday afternoon at 3 and Sunday at 2 p.m..

7) Julie and Company, a half-hour interview show discussing the benefits of living in the Town of Brome lake features bilingual host Julie Taylor, a McGill graduate with a degree in political science. She has two boys, 7 and 11 years of age, and wants to see them grow up strong and healthy, physically and emotionally. Her show airs every Monday at 10 a.m., Wednesday at 3 p.m. and Saturday afternoon at 2.

8) Sunday Classics, with host Gilles Theriault, is a three-hour classical music show broadcast each Sunday morning from 9 'til noon.

9) The Children's Corner, with hosts Klaus Bremer and Violeta Wabant, presents children's stories in English and French every Saturday and Sunday morning at 8, along with a mix of children's music.

Don't forget to check out our "STOP!" battle of the bands TV show, featuring local bands, on Granby, channel Vox cable 9/Videotron every Sunday and Thursday at 8 p.m. We're really proud of it and hope you will enjoy it! The winners from this year's challenge will be revealed shortly.

It would be hard to imagine all of this production taking place at Radio Communautaire Missisquoi without the inspiration that comes from loving what one does. If you wish to get involved creatively in your community please contact us at 1-888-539-2098 or 450-242-9873 and help create the next generation of broadcasting through community radio & television, Internet podcasting and video & radio production.

The recording / broadcasting arts and sciences are here to stay and are the modern-day tools for creating the face and voice of a community. If we want to move forward together we need to gain the confidence that comes from being who we are. Love is all you need.

Wishing everyone a very happy Valentine's Day!

Beach Boys settling on the Lac

Sherbrooke (McD)— The Fête du Lac des Nations is finally able to confirm that renowned California 60s band The Beach Boys will be appearing at this year's Fête on July 16th at 8:30 p.m. The Beach Boys spearheaded the "surf music" phenomenon of the 1960s and emerged as one of America's most popular musical acts. With songs marked by creative rhythms and distinctive harmonies, the Beach Boys were given 12th place in Rolling Stone Magazine's 2004 Top 100 Musical Artists list. Tickets for this event will be available as of today at the Ovation network (www.ovation.qc.ca) or at the Granada Theatre. Those planning to purchase a passport to the Fête will not require additional tickets to the Beach Boys' show, but tickets will be required for those who wish to attend only the concert. Passes will become available in mid-May.

Four Wheel Drive is all about the music

Compilation of popular local artists

Jen Young
SHERBROOKE

Each one of Four Wheel Drive's members has made a name for himself in local bands that almost every Townshipper has heard at one time in the past; Jerry and Joanne, Black Canyon, and Little Foot to name only a few, but according to lead guitarist Philip Patton, 'it's all about the music' for the newly formed group.

"Any music is good music and that's what it's all about," says Patton who has been playing music for at least 22 years locally. "I've got four or five bands on the go, but this one is getting a lot of attention. People are loving Francine."

Patton is referring to lead singer Francine Hamel.

"Francine was playing with Black Canyon in Montreal. She's opened for the likes of George Jones. She was driving to Montreal each weekend and I got to talking with her and asked her if she would want to play with us and now she is. She's got a really cool stage presence and she wins everyone over. She's been singing for a long time. Her dad was into music too, it's in her family."

Four Wheel Drive has been ripping up the local country scene since last spring, most recently last weekend at The Hut in Lennoxville, and Patton says its stellar members bring their expertise to a stage that garners full dance floors.

Singing with Hamel from time to time, but littering the stage with his bass expertise, is former Little Foot's Gerry Goodsell and for those who used to frequent local bars in the 70's and enjoy the stylings of Jerry and Joanne, Bruno Hamel's drumming accents the country venue perfectly.

Patton himself is no stranger to hot venues, especially after his trip to Nashville.

"Yeah, I've been to Nashville. I took a ride for the hell of it and played with guys who play for the big names," he says, adding that the crowds make it all worthwhile. "I just love to play, anything. Any music is good music. A dance floor full of people dancin' and having fun on a Saturday night feels good, but it's really just the music that I do it for."

The guitarist says that they never mix styles though.

"If it's a country night then it's a country night. If it's a rock night, it's a rock night. We play it all, but not in the same gig."

Four Wheel Drive will be playing on March 28th at The Hut for the annual Lennoxville Elementary School fundraiser.

A cultural feast for the senses

On Saturday February 21st at 8 p.m., Centennial Theatre welcomes the Dhoad Gypsies of Rajasthan as they perform for one night only in Quebec before pursuing their Canadian tour. Hailing from the magnificent and colorful folk traditions of the Thar desert in India's northwest Rajasthan state, the Dhoad Gypsies deliver an unrelenting cultural feast for the senses.

Created in 2001 by Artistic Director Rahis Bharti, Dhoad bring to life the passion and epic heroism of their forefathers, transforming the monotony of everyday life with the enchanting sounds of the desert through undulating, haunting vocals, energetic harmonies and heart-stirring rhythms...not to mention snake charmers, vibrant dancers, fire breathers and much more. Bharti's mission to bring to life the spirit and mystical heritage of the land of Rajasthan by creating a religiously and musically diverse group comes full circle in the whirlwind shimmer of a Dhoad performance.

Accompanying Rahis Bharti (dholak, tablas) are Arif Khan (kartels), Amer Khan (dholak), Teepu Khan (tablas), Gulam Ali and Mohammed Bundu (vocals, harmonium). Laxmi, sapersa dancer performs traditional Rajasthani folk dances including the Dance of the Cobra, believed to be the guardian of Spiritual Truths and Ramesh the fakir, who displays his wondrous feats to the music of Dhoad: fire-breathing, walking on broken glass, laying on a bed of nails.

Dhoad Gypsies from Rajasthan are recognized as the cultural ambassadors of Rajasthan and have played 500 concerts, in 40 countries, 5 continents in last 6 years around the world, from Asia, Europe, the United States to Canada. Watch excerpts of their performance by visiting www.centennialtheatre.ca. Tickets are available at the Centennial Theatre Box Office 819-822-9692

New 'Booky' tale rings true

BY BRIAN GORMAN

If there's one thing that sets the "Booky" TV movies apart from others of their type, it's what Stuart Hughes calls "the darkness" that is always lurking around their edges.

"Booky's Crush," airing Sunday, Feb. 15, on CBC Television, is the third in a series of family dramas about the Thomson family living through the Depression in Toronto. Hughes and his real-life wife, Megan Follows, star as the mother and father, Thomas and Francy.

"It has a gentle side, but there's also a harsher edge, an uglier edge," he says of the stories. "There's reference to him taking the belt to the kids. There's reference to parents of some other kids drinking heavily.

"The tensions of poverty are starting to wear thin on the relationships."

Like its predecessors, "Booky Makes Her Mark" and "Booky and the Secret Santa," this movie is based on a series of children's novels by Bernice Thurman Hunter.

"Booky's Crush" tells a pair of parallel stories. A new boy has come to school – someone with a whiff of danger about him – and Beatrice "Booky" Thomson (Rachel Marcus) has fallen hard. Meanwhile, her brother Arthur (Dylan Everett) has begun to display exceptional artistic ability.

This has put him in conflict with his father, a harness maker who has had to abandon his craft, which has no financial potential, for a factory job that pays the bills.

"He's lost his identity," Follows says. "He's not a chocolate-factory worker. He's a harness maker.

"In the books, you really get a sense, because of his work with horses, because of where he comes from, that he has become obsolete. This is another relevant theme to what we experience today."

With the economic collapse, she points out, watching the movie has become "another kind of bittersweetness."

"I think even as we were making 'Booky,' it was beginning to hit the fan, in terms of the global markets and the stock markets starting to dance," she says.

"Who knew that a period piece would become something cut from the headlines, economics affecting families, and the stress and the pressure on families trying to survive in hard times?"

A subplot of "Booky's Crush" involves an old friend of Thomas' (Tom McCamus) who has lost his job and has been dropped like a dirty rag by all his friends, including the Thomsons. We see him at a birthday party, secretly drinking and glaring at his fair-weather friends.

As Follows says, it adds a slightly ominous tone similar to the one we see in the news today, that "the roller coaster is about to go down."

we'd liketosee

BY ELAYNE LAKEN

"Howie Do It" airs one-hour episodes Fridays on Global Television Network.

Produced by and starring Canadian funnyman Howie Mandel, this new comedy series features practical jokes in the vein of "Punk'd" and "Candid Camera" but pans out a little differently. Instead of being hidden, the cameras are out in the open, and regular folks are brought in and duped into thinking they're auditioning for a big Hollywood movie or participating in a new game show. What they don't realize, however, is that they are indeed the stars of the show.

Mandel; his son, Alex; and "man on the street" Vic venture all over the place, from the great outdoors to nightclubs, to play out the gag. Mandel appears under cover until the big reveal, at which point he steps out to deliver the show pun, "This is how we do it!"

It's a blast from the past – candid camera conundrums coupled with the hit 1995 Montell Jordan song "This Is How We Do It" – which only goes to prove that tried and true methods get our attention.

We like the revival of practical jokes on TV; they seem to have resurfaced lately. We'd like to see Howie take a cue from Ashton Kutcher and prank unsuspecting celebrities.

"HOWIE DO AMERICAN IDOL": Howie serves as a judge on "American Idol" and gives the other judges cause for concern when he lets through all the obviously terrible contenders and passes on the really great ones. To make matters worse, when Howie is called upon for his opinion, his response is devoid of all rationality, until which point he steps up to the microphone and croons, "This is Howie Do It."

"HOWIE DO THE VIEW": When Howie appears on "The View," he doesn't just show up alone – he brings Alex and Vic along, and they have their own parallel talk show. When the real "View" ladies get peeved at Howie and the gang for their unexpected shenanigans, all three men make it very clear: "This is Howie Do It."

"HOWIE DO OPRAH": Howie appears as a guest on "The Oprah Winfrey Show" and distracts the entire episode by repeating everything Oprah says, all the while inventing outlandish stories that have nothing to do with the topic of the day. When Oprah finally snaps, Howie chimes in, "This is Howie Do It!" Will Oprah stand for it? Probably not, but will she really have a choice?

Roselyn Sanchez

BY JACQUELINE CUTLER

Hometown: San Juan, Puerto Rico.
Beauty contests: Was Miss Puerto Rico Petite 1993 and Miss America Petite 1994.
Film: "The Perfect Sleep," "The Game Plan," "Rush Hour 2."
TV: "Fame L.A.," "Nash Bridges," "Kojak."
Hobbies: Reading and playing with her four dogs.
Charity work: Serves as a translator for Operation Smile, a nonprofit group that operates on children with cleft palates.
Cooking skills: "I don't cook," she says. "We eat out all the time. All the services that bring you food, we do that a lot. We go to the supermarket, and we buy things you don't have to cook."

Most women recall the week before their wedding as a crazy-making blur. Roselyn Sanchez of CBS' "Without a Trace," airing Tuesdays, recalls that plus professional anxiety. The plot she had pitched for the show, on which she plays FBI agent Elena Delgado, was picked up, and the director invited her to be more involved in that episode. "This was my biggest episode in four years, and when they called me and said they were going to do it, what am I going to do?" Sanchez says from her Los Angeles home, where her husband of two months, Eric Winter, brings her a salad. "I will do it." She did, and the wedding, with 250 guests from New York, Los Angeles, Panama and Nicaragua, went off well in her native Puerto Rico. She even persuaded Winter to take salsa dancing lessons.

Sanchez, ever the fashionista, had three wedding gowns - one for the ceremony, one for the dancing and one to leave in. Though Winter learned his steps, they hadn't practiced in her dancing gown, which had a problematic train. Being back was wonderful, says Sanchez, 35. She left the island at 21 to study acting in New York. Shortly after arriving in Manhattan, she landed a gig as Pilar on "As the World Turns." "More than anything, it was a big accomplishment," Sanchez says of the role. "I didn't speak English really well, and I enjoyed it because I got along with Shawn Christian, who was playing my boyfriend. You only have one take, and it's so technical." Despite her successes, Sanchez isn't positive acting is her destiny. "It would be revealed to me at some point what it is exactly I want to do," she says. "It will be with dogs and with kids. I am doing it, little by little."

BACON'D! Funny or Die, www.funnyordie.com/videos/7dabf82357/bacond-from-kevin-bacon
 The affable Kevin Bacon has been the subject of a trivia game for years, and now he's joined the ranks of Allen Funt and Ashton Kutcher as a public nuisance as well. In this spoof of shows like "Punk'd," Bacon goes around Los Angeles pulling lame pranks like knocking an ice cream cone from a girl's hand and yelling "You've been Bacon'd!" We then get to see the reaction shots, which range from bewilderment to annoyance.

Weather Channel Accused of Pro-Weather Bias, The Onion, www.theonion.com/content/video/weather_channel_accused_of_pro
 Those creative folks at the satirical The Onion are at it again, this time with a bogus report in which a media watchdog group accuses The Weather Channel of having a pro-weather bias. In it, they cite the 4,000 mentions of weather-related topics in an average broadcast day. "You'd think that absolutely nothing was going on in the I-20 corridor other than light showers and isolated T-storms," they protest. QVC, you're next.

celebrity q&a

BY JAY BOBBIN

Tim Roth OF 'LIE TO ME' ON FOX

Q: Your "Lie to Me" character is an expert at reading people's facial "micro-expressions," but since his reputation precedes him, could he also be considered something of a manipulator?

A: He's a trickster, and that comes up a few times in the episodes. We kind of want the audience to be learning things with us along the way.

Q: What were the factors that made you want to tackle an American television series now?

A: I was at a point where I was a bit bored, then I was fortunate enough to have some varied experiences (on such movies as "Funny Games" and "The Incredible Hulk"). This just adds to it, really.

Q: Has it been helpful to you to work with series veterans such as Kelli Williams ("The Practice")?

A: She's been terrific, actually. She laughs at my comments sometimes. I think people are interested in having a film actor around on something like this, so we balance each other out quite well. She has a lot of experience, and now, she's very much involved in the creative process both on and off camera. She's been a real rock for me, just a terrific woman.

Q: Has your fame for such movies as "Reservoir Dogs" and "Pulp Fiction" been hard to get around in pursuing other work?

A: Oh, sure, but I tend to think you're only typecast if you choose to be. You mix it up as much as you can, but if you enjoy playing characters like those, it's not a problem.

Stiller still king of the cranky sitcom dads

Q: My family and I are huge fans of the sitcom "The King of Queens." Would you be able to tell me where I could write and possibly obtain an autograph of Jerry Stiller? My grandson is collecting the DVD issues, and I would like to surprise him.

—Dianne Boivin, Oshawa, Ont.

A: There's no question that the father of Ben Stiller is one of a kind. To many of us, he will always be remembered as the hot-tempered, sputtering Frank Costanza from "Seinfeld." And to others, he's Arthur Spooner from "The King of Queens." Two hit sitcoms in two decades — every 81-year-old comic should be so lucky. You can write to Stiller c/o Hartig-Hilepo Agency, Ltd., 54 West 21st St., Suite 610, New York, NY 10010 U.S.A.

Q: Ron James had a series on TV called "Blackfly." Do you know if the series is available on DVD? —A. Tessier-Griffin, Gatineau, Que.

A: "Blackfly" was a historical sitcom set in 18th-century Canada, and it starred James in the title role of a diminutive troublemaker with infinite ability to annoy British overlords, French-Canadian settlers and American invaders alike. It ran on the Global Television Network for two seasons in 2001-02. As far as we can see it was never released on DVD. And due to its limited ratings success, it's unlikely that it will be.

Send questions of general interest to: Canadian Viewers' Voices c/o Zap2it, PO Box 233, Russell, ON K4R 1C9 or e-mail to justask@tribune.com. Only questions selected for this column will be answered. Personal replies cannot be sent.

Ellis Dove from 'The Beast'

Women everywhere would love to feel Susan Kaufmann's pain. It's her job as costumer of A&E Network's "The Beast," airing Thursdays, to dress Patrick Swayze and Travis Fimmel.

"I know, it's awful, isn't it?" she says, joking about the two handsome stars, who play FBI agents. "The woman who called me (to hire her), I told her, 'You could give Travis a kiss for me.' And, they are just as adorable on the inside."

Playing a youthful undercover FBI agent in Chicago means that Fimmel's character, Ellis Dove, is a bit hip and edgy but not so fashionable that he draws attention to himself.

Kaufmann describes Dove's look as "sexy cool."

"His black leather jacket is Hugo Boss, and I bought so much of his stuff there," she says.

"It's hard in television," Kaufmann says while driving in the snow in Chicago. "When doing that many episodes, sometimes they change six to eight times per show. I didn't want it to look like he had an enormous amount of fashiony clothes. I made a closet for him, and I have him stick to it. One of the things Travis was really wanting was to really wear his stuff out. He wears his jeans four times a week.

"He felt really strongly about that," she continues. "Sometimes actors say that, and halfway through, they say, 'I want more clothes.' He never did. We bought him Dickies. It's what gas station attendants wear. A lot of hip-hop guys wear them. The pants and shirts, he does occasionally look like a gas station attendant. Diesel jeans that looked fairly basic and worn-in and look great on him. We did a lot of the layered T-shirts to keep it youthful and bought some of those at Lucky Brand. It ranged from Urban Outfitters to Barneys."

Like all costumers, Kaufmann finds herself constantly shopping and has picked up pieces at Bloomingdale's and Nordstrom.

His shoes were kept regulation hipster: black, low-top Converse and work boots she picks up at Army and Navy surplus stores.

When asked about Ellis Dove's style, Fimmel says, "I don't give a s— about costume. He wears Dickies. I just make sure nothing matches."

Why would anyone want to wear intentionally mismatched clothes?

"He's just this FBI agent," Fimmel says. "I've been wearing these jeans for the last week, honey. I clean them all the time and just put them back on."

Travis Fimmel

what we learned from tv lately

BY BEVERLY FOSTER SEINBERG

"DA KINK IN MY HAIR"

Discrimination is illegal, but overweight people still experience it in the workplace.

Ordena Stephens

"JAPAN: A STORY OF LOVE & HATE"

Despite what you usually see on television, Japan is not recession-proof.

"PERFECTLY NORMAL"

Beware of charismatic con men with outrageous dreams and schemes.

"AUSCHWITZ: THE NAZIS AND THE FINAL SOLUTION"

The most notorious of the Nazi death camps didn't start out as one; it was originally just a detention site for prisoners of war and dissidents.

"HIGHWAY 61"

Picking up hitchhikers is risky; picking up dead ones is really dangerous.

"LOVE, SEX & EATING THE BONES"

Real women are nothing like the ones in porn. Deal with it.

"MARKETPLACE"

You may need to answer a simple math question to collect a sweepstakes prize, but buying something won't increase your chances of winning.

Erica Johnson

Natalie Brown

"SOPHIE"

Getting out into the swing of things is great for getting your mind off a bad breakup. Just keep in mind that your friends might not want to ride the swing as long as you do.

Garry Owen and Joan Crawford

"MILDRED PIERCE"

Sometimes Daughter Dearest, not Mommie Dearest, is the problem.

"STYLE BY JURY"

A dance instructor who is not in good physical condition isn't going to inspire a lot of confidence in her students.

Bruce Turner

best of...

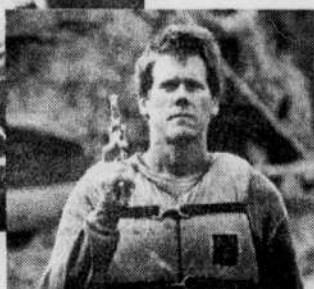

Kevin Bacon

BY JAY BOBBIN

"Footloose" (1984):

Zac Efron is set for the remake, but Bacon was the first to score success as the outsider who brings dancing back to a repressed town.

"The River Wild" (1994):

Bacon sizzles as the chief of the felons who capture a vacationing family led by Meryl Streep.

"National Lampoon's Animal House" (1978):

It wasn't "his" movie, but Bacon's screen debut as the much-paddled "Thank you, sir; may I have another?" fraternity pledge still added much to it.

"Diner" (1982): Bacon's path to stardom got a considerable boost from director Barry Levinson's superbly nostalgic comedy-drama about several Baltimore buddies.

"The Big Picture" (1989): Bacon is terrific as an aspiring filmmaker in this Hollywood satire.

"JFK" (1991): As a figure on the seedier side, Bacon contributes memorably to director Oliver Stone's conspiracy saga.

"A Few Good Men" (1992): A confident Bacon opposed Tom Cruise in the courtroom in mentor Aaron Sorkin's military trial drama.

"Murder in the First" (1995): Bacon is chilling as a killer whose lawyer (Christian Slater) tries to prove Alcatraz was responsible for his homicidal ways.

"Sleepers" (1996): Working again with director Levinson, Bacon scores in another story of longtime friends bound by their shared past.

"Digging to China" (1998): Bacon does superb work as a mentally challenged man befriended by a youngster (Evan Rachel Wood).

"Mystic River" (2003): Another story of troubled friends, handled by another great director (Clint Eastwood), gives Bacon another excellent role.

"The Woodsman" (2004): Bacon excels in the tricky part of a pedophile who faces hurdles in rebuilding his life after prison.

"Frost/Nixon" (2008): As the Nixon aide who steered the ex-president's participation in the interviews with David Frost, Bacon is edgy to perfection, directed again by Howard.

Wynonna returns with a tribute album

Wynonna is finally releasing a brand new album titled, Sing: Chapter One. This is her seventh studio album and it's also important to note that it offers cover songs by other artists.

There's only one new song on this album, 'Sing' which was written by fellow musician Rodney Crowell. You can see this new release as her way of paying tribute to artists from multiple genres who have influenced her or who have impacted her life.

Wynonna has been a performer in the music industry for nearly twenty five years but she never sounded so great. This album brings a refreshing sound to her powerful voice.

After such a long absence and with today's music market, where an artist is only as great as his latest hit, is Wynonna taking a chance. Considering that her last hit was 2005's 'Attitude' which didn't reach the Top 10, many will think that she should have released an album filled with new material with potential hits.

Well, this is a stellar record which includes a string of well chosen songs and her renditions are really exceptional. Her trademark vocals are as usual, exquisite. She can still belt out a rocking number or whisper her pain and vulnerability on a softer number. The producers Brent Maher and Don Potter allow each track to have their individuality as they don't confine them all to a cookie-cutter genre.

'That's How Rhythm Was Born' is the first single release and finds Wynonna singing her heart out, giving this Boswell Sisters hit a new life. She delivers with lots of enthusiasm and the music fits in perfectly.

On 'I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry' she shines like a star from the second she starts singing. It is clear that this song is very special to her. You can hear the sadness in her voice as she hits every note. 'I Hear You Knocking' was written by Dave Bartholomew and Pearl King and it remains a well known rhythm and blues tune, even in our times. It has an awesome beat and the slight country twist on the arrangement lets Wynonna really put her own stamp on this classic.

The cover of Merle Haggard's 'Are the Good Times Really Over' places Wynonna right where she belongs. She conveys so much emotion as she sings that song to perfection and beyond.

This Merle Haggard original becomes very actual when the diva sings with conviction: 'I wish a buck was still silver/It was back when the country was strong/Back before Elvis; before the Vietnam War came along/Before The Beatles and "Yesterday"/When a man could still work, and still would/Is the best of the free life behind us now/Are the good times really over for good. I know country music fans will hit the repeat button for that one.

Wynonna's rendition of Stevie Ray Vaughan's 'The House Is Rockin' offers a twist of country. She's still at the top, when she changes gears to perform some good time rock n' roll with a funky groove.

She also covers Bonnie Raitt's infectious 'Women Be Wise', a bluesy warning to all women to keep an eye on their good looking men.

WYNONNA:

There are more quiet moments on the album and nothing sounds more majestic than Wynonna's rendition of the Burt Bacharach classic 'Anyone Who Has a Heart'. She gives a new meaning to every word in the song.

Wynonna once said in an interview, that Nat King Cole's 'When I Fall in Love' is one of her top 5 favourites of all time, and she really puts all her talent into her delivery. She's been there, you can tell.

Her cover of 'Till I Get It Right' will hit every country fan in a good way. It is about a woman, who always seems to find the wrong kind of man, but she consistently tries to remain positive.

Wynonna might not have the tear-stained voice of Tammy Wynette but when it comes to old fashioned country heartbreak, she delivers masterfully. The brand new song 'Sing', is a gorgeous testimony to the therapeutic power of music, it starts off slow then it builds into a great chorus.

Wynonna never restricted herself to an era or genre of songs and on this album, every single song sounds like it was written especially for her. She has entitled this album Sing: Chapter 1. I really hope that she means just that. Hopefully there will be a chapter two!

We'll remember that Wynonna Judd has been one of the most influential women in country music ever since her debut as part of the duo The Judds. They were able to blend country and blues and give fans some outstanding harmonies.

With hits like 'Grandpa (Tell Me Bout The Good Old Days)', 'Mama He's Crazy', 'Love Is Alive', and 'Love Can Build A Bridge', The Judds' won just about every award in the industry.

When her mother Naomi decided to leave because of her health, Wynonna had to go out and find herself as a solo artist. It was hard for her and she battled everything from record companies to personal struggles. Still, with everything, she climbed the charts as a solo artist with several hits including 'No One Else On Earth', 'Girls With Guitars', 'Tell Me Why', and the unforgettable 'She Is His Only Need'.

She's a fighter, a winner and most of all a very talented artist. Going solo made us realize how great she really is.
