DUNRAVEN WITHDRAWS.

to be that Lord Dunraven found it impossible to get justice for his yacht with such a mob of craft about the course, and he took the simplest way of retreating from the match. This unmanly mobbing has wrecked the match. In England such a difficulty would not arise. The instinct of good behavior here being strong, but when the sovereign people over the water have planked down dollars for a spectacle, they insist upon having a good look at anybody's cost or inconvenience. We hear that there is resentment and discontent at Lord Dunraven's action, but if the American public cannot submit to these dictates of good order which are elsewhere stronger than the police, they have no right to blame an English gentleman for declining to risk the lives of his crew in the hubbub of such a scene. It is very conceivable that neither the nation nor the owners of the Defender greatly value a victory thus abandoned to them. But they will be foolish to pretend that the owner of Valkyrie shirked the contest for which the vessel was built. He wanted it, but he wanted it fair, and having failed to secure the necessary protection, he withdrew from the irrepressible rowdiness of the scene.

The Chronicle's comment is this: "Valkyrie III. people would not risk the lives of her crew among the pitiless swarm. We think they were right. It is better to lose the mark and then contemptuously give up the contest until there is an Act of Congress to keep the course clear, or until some step is taken to insure something like fair conditions. We suppose this will end the rather glacially called the International yacht racing of 1895, and probably all Anglo-American yacht racing on the other side of the Atlantic. We, at all events, can boast that we can show our American friends how to conduct a great sporting event with decency and order. The Daily News says: "Lord Dunraven's withdrawal simply says in effect that there is no opportunity in New York waters for a fair trial of skill. The committee with the best disposition are powerless with the crowds, and the boats do as they like. Lord Dunraven does not care to leave Valkyrie III. or her crew to their tender mercies. It is a most melancholy fiasco and regrettable beyond measure, and the committee will not accept the censure of the American public. Still it is a pity that Valkyrie III. should have been at least one trial of strength that both sides might acknowledge to be perfectly fair. Cannot a race be sailed for love far from the meddling crowd of New York?"

The Times says: "The considerations urged in Lord Dunraven's letter are very weighty and will generally be held to justify his course. The committee evidently felt the force of the complaint, but despite their earnest desire they could not guarantee a clear course. The chief feeling which the fiasco will create, here and undoubtedly also in America will be a deep grief that Lord Dunraven's sportsmanlike effort to promote a friendly international contest should come to a conclusion so lame and impotent. The American sportsman appears to have been deceived by the fairness and sense of honor which should be expected of them. It is to be feared that a long period will elapse before another British yacht sails for the cup. It is a possibility that the result of the recent races will induce the committee to alter the regulations in the conditions for a race. If they assent to Lord Dunraven's proposal that races be held where clear water could be assured, we do not doubt that Lord Dunraven, or some other British challenger, would speedily test the mettle of American builders and yachtsmen once more."

TURF AND TRACK.

The Bel-Air Meeting.
Small fields and a small attendance were the two most impressive features of yesterday's meeting at Bel-Air, but, despite these discouraging circumstances, an excellent day's racing was enjoyed by those who did attend. The races were run without a hitch of any kind. The track was soft and the going heavy, but the events were fairly fast, and the circumstances. The sky was overcast for the greater part of the afternoon, and though no rain fell the atmospheric conditions were distinctly depressing.

The stewards were J. A. Wardlaw, W. C. McIntyre and Duncan McIntyre; Judge, J. H. Wardlaw; starter, Capt. F. G. Johnson; clerk of the course, Geo. Auld; timers, S. Coulson and James Caruthers.
Captain Johnson's starting was noticeably good throughout. He has the happy faculty of making jockeys mind what he says, and while he did not have any difficult work, he performed what he had to perform in a thoroughly businesslike manner.
There were three books open, but either the talent was coy or the bookies were too conservative in their ideas, for anything but a rushing trade in pastebards was done. Dixon catered for the club in the usual satisfactory manner. First Race—Opening dash—Purse $150, of which $30 to second and $20 to third; for ages, weights five lbs. below the scale; winners on this year 3 lbs. extra, twice or more 7 lbs.; non-winners this year allowed 7 lbs.; maidens allowed 10 lbs.; allowances not cumulative; entrance $10, half forfeit; time—1:07.

When the flag dropped, Flamboro, the favorite, went at once to the front, with the nation nor the owners of the Defender greatly value a victory thus abandoned to them. But they will be foolish to pretend that the owner of Valkyrie shirked the contest for which the vessel was built. He wanted it, but he wanted it fair, and having failed to secure the necessary protection, he withdrew from the irrepressible rowdiness of the scene.

Official Statement by Lord Dunraven.
New York, Sept. 12.—The Valkyrie has returned to Bay Ridge. Arthur Glennie, Lord Dunraven's representative, and authorized by Lord Dunraven to speak, stated that the reason for not sailing was interference from excessive crowds. He sent a letter to the American Cup Committee yesterday, as already detailed by the Associated Press, to be opened after the consideration of the protest, saying that if he could be assured of a clear course he would sail, otherwise not. He merely crossed the line to make a race.

The fourth was another good thing for Balbriggan. He got away first and though he once dropped to third place there was never any doubt as to his having the race in hand. The contest for the place was extremely interesting. Revolver and Deverewyck saw-sawed the whole way, but passing under the wire Deverewyck had it by a nose. Three lengths behind was Flamboro. The Rake was hopelessly out of it. Balbriggan finished quite lame, his bad off-side foot having gone back on him.

The Vicar and Lord Motley were even in the betting and even in their race. Busholt at the outside figure showed well for the first mile, leading over all the jumps. The Vicar was kept well in hand just before the jumps behind Motley. Just before turning into the flat Busholt threw up the sponge and Seagram's old horse went into the lead with the pink and apple green of Motley close behind. The Vicar won by a good three lengths, Busholt getting third. Campayne refused the third jump and going back took it again, finishing a long way in the rear.

SEAGRAM'S MUSSULMAN GETS SECOND MONEY.
New York, Sept. 12.—The Coney Island Jockey Club was again a sufferer of the racing interest, as the attendance to-day was the poorest of the meeting. The card, although not of a high class, produced some close and interesting singles. The weather was excessively warm. The track was lightning fast. Summaries:
First race, Futurity course, for 2-year-olds, claiming $100, 10 furlongs, 15 to 1, won; Mussulman, 102 1-2, Perkins, 6 to 1, second; Rake, 108, Simms, even, third. No time taken. Reuses, Premier, Penn Brook, Senator Murphy and Sir Peep II. all ran.

Second race, seven furlongs—Ramapo, 125, Rife, even, won; Peace-maker, 101 1-2, Littlefield, 4 to 1, second; Annette, 104, Littlefield, 5 to 1, third. Time—1:25.
Third race, mile, selling—Patrician, 109, Simms, 9 to 10, won; Araphoe, 102, Chas. Ridd, 3 to 1, second; Kearney, 105, Griffin, 3 to 1, third. Time—1:39 2-5.
Fourth race, mile, on turf—The Swain, 116, Littlefield, 5 to 1, won; Rake, 102, Doggett, 3 to 1, second; Dunbar, 129, Taral, 6 to 1, third. Time—1:42 1-5.

Fifth race, mile and a furlong, selling—Orinda, 104, Clayton, 10 to 1, won; Rake, 102, Doggett, 3 to 1, second; Cass, 107, Perkins, third. Time—1:54 3-5.
Sixth race, Golden Rod Stakes, 7 furlongs, on turf—D. Love, 110, Griffin, 1 to 3, won; Merry Prince, 110, Griffin, 6 to 1, second; Argentine, 105, Chorn, 6 to 1, third. Time—1:23.
Seventh race, Peep O' Day and Roundman also ran.

RILEY GRANNAN MAKES A MOST BEAUTIFUL HAUL.
New York, Sept. 12.—Riley Grannan is himself authority for the statement that he has won more than $125,000 since the beginning of the Saratoga meeting. He is going to slow down now, he says, and stop playing. In spite of this statement he played Henry of Navarre to win more than $40,000 on the sweepstakes which was decided yesterday at Sheephead Bay.
Grannan is said to be more than $200,000 ahead of the game no later than last summer after Henry of Navarre beat Domino and Clifford, but had speculations and unprofitable business investments took nearly all of it, and no later than five weeks ago his property at Lexington, where he had a gorgeous saloon and restaurant, in which he sank $40,000, was attached for liquor and grocery bills.

It is said that Grannan had a total capital of $30 at the Saratoga track on the opening day on July 20.
AMERICAN TROTTERS SCORE IN FRANCE.
Paris, Sept. 12.—Mr. James Gordon Bennett's horse Autrain won the International Prix Polkanthick for harnessed trotters on the Nautilus track yesterday, and his mare Helen Leyburn was second. Six horses ran.

SHABEL WANTS TO RACE AGAIN.

Shabel, who only a few days ago finished a 1,000 mile ride in Toronto, challenges any man in America to race the same distance for $1,000 a side. "I will claim the championship," he says, "I do not hear of men having races of the American riders within four weeks from date."

THE R.Q.T. ROAD RACE.

All Canadian road race entries have been beaten by the list for the R. Q. T. race, to be held on the Kingston Road, Sept. 14, at 3 o'clock sharp. The number totals 200 bona-fide paid entries. The list includes such men as Carman and Radway, of London; McCarthy, Little and Shillinglaw, of Sarnia; Wells, McCarty, McIntosh and Hyslop, of Toronto, and all the other noted road riders of the Dominion. They are all after the span of horses and carriage, the piano and other costly prizes. It is understood that the men who will start the scratch will be Wells, McLeod, McCarthy, Carman and Radway.

There are seven handicappers who wrestle nightly with the problem of placing the men on such marks that the entire race will be a close and interesting one. One handicapper comes from each of the following clubs: Toronto, Wanderers', Athenaeum, Royal Canadian, Ramblers, Tourists and Queen City.

FRED LOUGHEAD AND OTHERS SMASH RECORDS AT SPRINGFIELD.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 12.—Every bicyclist's manuscript with work to-night, writing advertisements and the biggest type will be used to spell the word "Springfield." The tournament is over, and the winning season of 1895 is practically over. Quinn and Eddy Murphy, of Toronto, and all the other noted road riders of the Dominion. They are all after the span of horses and carriage, the piano and other costly prizes. It is understood that the men who will start the scratch will be Wells, McLeod, McCarthy, Carman and Radway.

LIBERAL PROSPECTS.

Mr. H. Bourassa, of Labelle County Expresses His Views.
An able and bright young politician, versed in all the arts and counter-currents that underlie political success and failure, is Mr. Henri Bourassa, of Labelle. Mr. Bourassa arrived at the Hall last evening. He has been at the sea coast for a holiday and never looked better.

Although I went away for a rest," he said, "I met politics on the way back, and had the pleasure of joining Hon. Mr. Laurier and party at Grand Riviere, at New Carlisle and Carleton Place. In the party were Messrs. Paquet, P. X. Lemieux and Talbot, of St. Michel de Bellefleur. You ask what are the signs? Well, I can only say they are most hopeful for a Liberal victory everywhere. The English saying, 'the rats are leaving the ship,' applies well to the Conservative party at present. The work of the Liberal is already in evidence among the constituents and party leaders. Clamor for cash and position are likely to be the chief cry at election time. The Liberal Chief was received at all the meetings with that stern feeling of enthusiasm that is a change of Federal Government was a skull.

One thing I noticed, too, was amongst the farmers, that they felt the loss of a Liberal Government at Quebec they felt that the Talbot Administration was unjust to them; and their hope lay in getting a Liberal Government at Ottawa.

RUGBY.

THE PROSPECTS FOR QUEEN'S COLLEGE.
Kingston, Sept. 12.—The outlook for the Queen's College Rugby team is quite bright for the season of 1895 as it was for last year. Nearly every member of last year's team has signified his intention to be on hand for the fall matches. If they best themselves and get down to solid training, there is little doubt that they will be in the final heat for the championship of Canada.

PRINCETON PLAYERS BEGIN PRACTICE.

The Princeton summer football squad took its final practice yesterday afternoon on the Princeton University field. Fourteen men were present, the greater part of these being candidates for positions behind the line. Two or three, however, will try for line positions. The practice was light, consisting chiefly of kicking and catching. The men will not go into regular training till Monday next. The following men have been selected for work: Capt. Lee, Bannard, Poe, Cochrane, Andrus, Rhodes, Smith, Reiter, Armstrong, Reynolds, Kelly, Townsend, Tucker and Beymer.

ATHLETICS.

TRAINING FOR THE BIG GAMES.
The New York A.C. and Yale athletes at Travers Island, and the London Athletic Club men at Berkeley Oval put in a fair day's work training for the international contests yesterday. The Londoners did less practising than usual.

Williams is showing much better form in his jumping, and is evidently able to clear the bar at a better height than most people think. Robertson is trying hard to better his record of 116 feet in the hammer-throw, and judging from his condition, will probably succeed. Capt. Shaw is not working his men any too hard, as he is not taking any risks with the small number of men at his command.

Williams wants to see Sweeney jump that 4 feet 3-8 inches, and Bailey and Downer want to see whether Crum and his companion can do the 100-yard dash in less than ten seconds. Bradley and Lowner are credited with saying that they saw the best time for a man can go the hundred in, in spite of the fact that they themselves are said to have run a dead heat in 9-4-3 seconds.

New York men were on the field at Travers Island at 5 p.m. yesterday. Orton is now training with the candidates again, but is taking things very easily. It is expected that he will be in trim again in two or three days. Sheldon did not train with the men yesterday. His foot still continues to bother him. Sweeney is showing good form in his jumping, and both he and James Sarsfield Mitchell will appear to advantage at the A.A.U. meet on Saturday.

SYNOD DELEGATES INVITED BY THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

RECEPTION OF REPRESENTATIVES FROM THE UNITED STATES.

The Laws of Marriage—The Authority of the General Synod.

The Synod resumed its session yesterday morning with Very Rev. Dean Carmichael presiding as prolocutor.

A number of reports were received and read by Secretary Dr. L. H. Davidson. A notice of motion to the effect that changes in the rules of order made last session be confirmed was adopted. There was some discussion as to the presence of delegates from Algoma and Canon Dumoulin moved that they be allowed to take their seats. Carried.

Under the head of "Unfinished Business," the question of referring the reports of the Committee on Marriage and Divorce to the General Synod was brought up by Chancellor Bethune.

Long discussions ensued, and there seemed a wide divergence of opinion as to the relative authorities of the two synods. Canon Wardell urged that they should take action on the reports themselves. In his opinion there was no use waiting for legislation to take place in those quarters where legislation should have taken place.

Mr. Wilson of Huron, said that the matter should be referred to the proper authorities with the reports and other useful information. If the General Synod saw fit to wait until England passed upon the reports, they might do so. Archdeacon Smith said it was a waste of time to devote their time to the matter, as they had in the past years if they were to turn to the General Synod now.

If the canon were adopted by the General Synod, it would not be operative, unless referred back and adopted by them. If the matter were referred to the General Synod it would not be finally disposed of so far as their Synod was concerned. Rev. Mr. Fawcett of Lancaster said that the General Synod was not as strong nor intelligent as theirs. (Oh! Oh!) There was danger of the General Synod passing bad legislation a hundred times more than they doing so. (Laughter.) It appeared that the relationship between the two synods was not clearly defined.

J. J. Rayson supported the reference of the matter to the General Synod on the ground that there was no immediate demand for legislation. The four gentlemen of the committee had easily settled a matter upon which all the bishops at Lambeth had debated for four weeks and then could not decide. Dr. Davidson said there was need for immediate action. He cited four instances in the past year when he was asked for an opinion whether the clergy might marry a divorced person, whether the person was guilty or not.

Judge Fitzgerald regretted the impression of antagonism between the two synods. He deprecated such language. The point was simply that as the matter pertained to the whole Dominion it must come before the General Synod. The amendment to the amendment providing that the reports of the Committee on Divorce and Marriage should be sent to the General Synod was finally carried.

The Montreal Diocesan Women's Auxiliary extended an invitation to an "at home" on Friday evening in the Synod Hall. A delegate asked if the prolocutor was not aware that Friday was a day of abstinence, a fast day. The synod was informed that they need not go if they did not wish to. The invitation was accepted.

The reception of the representatives from the American churches next took place. The synod rose while the bishops and lay delegates entered. The former were introduced by His Lordship and Bishop Lewis, who referred briefly to the great honor and pleasure they experienced at being guests of the hosts of the City of Montreal. His Lordship and Bishop Lewis, who referred briefly to the great honor and pleasure they experienced at being guests of the hosts of the City of Montreal.

Right Rev. Dr. Neely, Bishop of Maine, was the first speaker. He said he had come to them with the cordial greetings of his church and with thanks for the hearty reception they had met. He spoke of his early associations with his neighbors of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and said that politicians may decide as they will regarding reciprocity, but churches had settled that matter once and for all (applause). He referred to the division of the church when the U. E. Loyalists came north and mentioned that the first Bishop of Nova Scotia had been rector of Trinity Church, New York. The English mission established in that part of Alaska which had recently been found to belong to the United States, he announced, would be left to the English church in Canada. They would ask the Bishop of Selkirk to act upon the Yukon River and they would compensate him for these services by these missions established by Canada. (Applause.)

Right Rev. Dr. Davies, Bishop of Michigan, said he was heartily in accord with the sentiments just uttered. He, also, had a debt to acknowledge to the Canadian church for services rendered to Detroit early in the century.

Rev. John Brown, D.D., of New York, said he was the bearer of hearty greetings from the American church. On behalf of the American clergy, he presented the same fraternal offering of love and affection as came from the bishops. He referred to the difficult position of the church in Canada between extreme ecclesiasticism on one hand and broadest latitudinarianism on the other, and congratulated them upon the prosperity and solidarity of their church organization.

Rev. Dr. Prault, of Michigan, General John Macdonald, of New York, Mr. Sowden, of Boston, and Dean Carmichael also spoke.

Archbishop Lewis, in closing the reception, returned thanks on behalf of the House of Bishops. He said he might also give some reminiscences as he was the oldest bishop in the Empire, save one, but the hour was late.

The synod resumed its session yesterday afternoon, Very Rev. Dean Carmichael, prolocutor, presiding.

The first item of business considered was a message from the Upper House regarding the repealing of canon 2, now included in canon 4. It produced a discussion on the necessity or otherwise of the oaths and declarations being taken anew by a clergyman changing his call.

It was finally decided, on motion of Canon Young, seconded by Dr. Worrell, that the last clause, providing that "the declaration and oaths, when once taken and subscribed, shall be binding for every license to any curacy or mission in the same diocese, and that it shall suffice to subscribe the declarations and take the oaths before each and every institution," be not concurred in, and that a committee be appointed to give reasons to the Upper House for the action taken.

The motion was carried and the following committee appointed: Archdeacon Roe, Archdeacon Bragstock, Canon Young, Dr. Davidson, Dr. Worrell, Chancellor Walkem.

The motion of Canon Henderson, seconded by Mr. Jenkins, that English students having passed the Cambridge

Eng., preliminary examinations, be exempted from those answering to them in Canada, was carried.

A message from the Upper House, accompanied by a letter and resolution from the Anglican bishops of Japan, and requesting that a joint committee from the Upper and Lower Houses be formed to consult and report to the District and Foreign Missionary Society to-morrow, on the desirability of sending a Canadian bishop to Japan, was concurred in, and Archdeacon Kulbach, Canon Pearson, Canon Van Hille, Rural Dean Bogart, Judge McDonald, A. L. Diamond, Dr. Johnston, M. Wilson and Capt. Carter were appointed, the representatives from the Upper House being the Bishops of Toronto, Huron, Niagara and Fredericton.

A message from the Upper House asking that acting on the memorial of Mr. G. Mercer, of Toronto, a joint committee of the two Houses consisting of representatives from Ontario be appointed to see the Ontario Legislature regarding amendments to the marriage laws, caused a good deal of discussion. Several members of the House were frequently granted without proper inquiry regarding those applying for them. Clergymen on the borders of Ontario frequently performed the marriage ceremony for persons in the United States and vice versa. Other irregularities were mentioned, some delegates being of the opinion that were the rules of the Book of Common Prayer followed, and the economy performed might be in a regular church it would greatly improve matters.

A committee consisting of Judge McDonald, Dr. Davidson, Mr. Diamond, Prof. Worrell and Rev. Mr. Telling was appointed to give reasons to the Upper House for not passing resolutions, the reasons seeming to be that the committee desired by the former body if the letter of the request was observed, would have power to act without the necessity of reporting to the Synod.

A message asking that the Bishop of Algoma be requested to refrain from tendering his resignation in account of the hopes entertained of his improvement in health after a stay in a more favorable climate, was concurred in, and Rev. Canon Dumoulin, Canon Spencer, Dean Carmichael, Chancellor Walkem and Dr. Weidman were appointed to confer with the committee from the Upper House consisting of the Bishops of Montreal, Niagara and Quebec on the necessary arrangements.

A missionary meeting took place in St. George's school room in the evening, addressed by the Bishops of Huron and Nova Scotia, Mr. N. W. Hoyle, Q.C., and a collection was made for Japan missions.

This morning Divine service will be held in St. George's church at 9 a.m., the session of the Synod commencing at 10 o'clock.

NO EXPROPRIATIONS.

The City Allowed to Withdraw Its Petition for Commissioners.

Yesterday City Attorney Roy presented a motion to Chief Justice Tait asking leave, on behalf of the city, to desist from the proceedings in expropriation, which had been begun last week. This morning's proceedings were at the instance of the Council's resolution, which had been moved by Ald. Beauséjour. The City Council wanted all proceedings in expropriation to cease, and Mr. Roy told the chief justice of the resolution of the city aldermen. He said that if the annual expropriations were to be allowed, it would afford an opportunity to interested citizens to cause the expropriation of entire streets—not only the expropriation of vacant lands, but also of buildings. This would entail for the city an expenditure of $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. The city would have to pay for the week to appoint commissioners, but the city wished to desist from that motion.

Mr. J. A. C. Madore opposed the motion of the city attorney, as the statute, under which the expropriation proceeded, is a special statute, and its terms are mandatory; not to proceed would be to cause the city to pay great damages and fines.

Mr. E. N. St. Jean maintained that the city would have to proceed, as the resolution of the Council was irregular.

Mr. W. A. Weir and Mr. P. G. Martin-quest spoke in like terms.

The chief justice said that the question was whether the city had a right to desist from proceedings which had already begun; an article of the Code of Civil Procedure allows a party to a suit to desist from all proceedings on payment of the costs. In this case the city is willing to pay costs, and it would appear that the city could desist. Judge Tait said that he had nothing to do with the motives of the City Council; all he had to do was to say whether they had a right to withdraw their motion of last week, asking for the appointment of commissioners. The courts had not to consider whether the city would suffer damages or not; that is a matter for the city's consideration; and if citizens think themselves injured, they have but to enforce the city to proceed. By giving effect to the determination of the city, asking expropriations would be merely placed in the same position they were in before the city gave notice that the expropriations would be begun.

As several of the lawyers said that they were taken by surprise at the action of the city attorney in withdrawing his petition they asked for further delay.

They were granted till Tuesday to answer, but the chief justice will not allow them all to speak, as it takes too long, and they all repeat the same arguments.

Immortality Increasing.

"Immortality among young girls in the city is on the increase, and how to stop it is a problem, which I cannot solve," was the remark of Deputy Recorder Bourgeois yesterday. Only this week I have had four of them up before me, the oldest 15 years of age. The worst case, however, so far was one yesterday, in which a thirteen-year-old girl was found by a policeman lying insensible on the Lower Lachine Road Wednesday. She told me that she had met a young lad, 15 years of age, who had taken her to Lachine for a drive. He had gone into a saloon and got drunk, but when he asked for some for her the landlord refused. On the road home he threatened to stab her with a large knife. She, afraid of her life, had jumped from the vehicle, and became insensible. She did not know the name of the lad. Investigated, and found she had been twice sent to the Reformatory for immoral character, but by some means got out. What an ill to do with her? If I send her to the Reformatory, she will be old tale will ensue. If I send her to the jail, she is lost forever after mixing with the abandoned characters down there. The reporter could not offer any solution, and thus the matter rests.

Champlain Street Drain.

There was a meeting of the Road Committee this morning. Ald. Prefontaine presided. The committee decided to conform to yesterday's resolution of Council in the matter of the Champlain Street drain. The work on this drain had been begun before the contract had been signed, and Council ordered work to cease. The Road Committee will hold Council responsible for all damages. At the suggestion of Ald. Renneville it was decided not to sign contracts or warrants outside the committee meetings. The committee then rose and visited the exhibition.

Niagara, Ont., Sept. 12. Old St. Marks was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, when Miss Mabel C. Waters, daughter of Mr. D. S. Waters, of New York City, was married to Mr. Peter G. McCarthy, editor of New York Truth. The bride looked charming in a beautiful white silk gown, veil and orange blossoms and was given away by her brother, Mr. C. Waters, of St. Thomas. The bride was assisted by her sisters, Miss Clara and Miss Ethel Reid, of St. Catharines. The groom was attended by Mr. McKelvie, of New York City. The church was beautifully decorated with white marguerites and smilax, a fitting frame for the beautiful bride. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the residence of the bride's father, there to partake of a tasteful wedding supper. They will reside in New York.

NEW BRUNSWICK ITEMS.

The Provincial Elections—Sale of Crown Land—Senator Wood.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 12.—At the Crown land sale at Fredericton yesterday a six mile berth on the Little Southwest Miramichi was knocked down to Ernest Hutchinson, one of the most prominent North shore lumber operators, at $80 per mile. The report is again current that the provincial general elections will be held next month. What lends color to the report is the activity displayed just now by Government members in various sections of the province.

Senator Wood left yesterday on a visit to Manitoba and the Northwest.

ALD. SMITH WOULD SOONER SEE HIS DAUGHTERS COOK.

An Observation at the Meeting of the Protestant School Commissioners.

At the meeting of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners held yesterday, Rev. Dr. McVicar, chairman, presided. There were present Ven. Archdeacon Evans, Rev. Dr. Shaw, Ald. McBride, Costigan, and R. Wilson Smith, Messrs. E. W. Arthy, secretary, and C. J. Bimmore, treasurer.

After routine notice was read from the Government re-appointing Dr. Shaw, whose term of office expired June, 1895. Two vacant commissioners' scholarships were granted to the next names in order of merit.

The granting of Government scholarships was then considered. There were 22 applications for the ten vacancies which, after careful consideration, were granted to Ed. Stone, Frank Simpson, Starr Benson, Douglas O'Hara, George Faulkner, John A. Ryan, Alfred Bright, P. Gomersy, Thos. Kerr, and C. Deprenier.

Resignations from the teachers were then accepted, and leave of absence on account of ill-health was granted to Mr. Smith. It was decided that on account of the large numbers in the junior classes in Lorne and Aberdeen schools, two new classes should be formed.

For the four vacancies on the teaching staff resulting from these changes, there were fifty applications. Mr. Arthy had selected six as best deserving the consideration of the board, and after some deliberation, Messrs. Watson, Loughhead, Emma Williams and Ahern were appointed.

Archdeacon Evans, during the discussion, recommended that the department be improved by the assistant receiving instructions in voice training and drawing.

The suggestion was favorably considered, and Mr. Smith and Miss Ahern were appointed to give one hour per week to the desired instruction.

The decision regarding Rabbi De Solo's salary was reconsidered, and the reduction from $300 to $250 was decided. The St. Gregoire le Thaumaturge school was left in the hands of Dr. Shaw pending the report of the deputation of residents who were to interview the Quebec Government.

The number of scholars registering during the first week was reported as $383. Dr. Shaw asked: Could valuable aid not be received from Mr. Sinclair in cooking school, and a sub-committee, consisting of Archdeacon Evans, Mr. Arthy and Dr. Shaw was appointed to see about selecting an inspector for the cooking school.

Miss Margaret Wilson's application for the position of special French teacher at Aberdeen School, was favorably received and left in the hands of the superintendent.

The request for a couple more typewriters for the senior school provoked the remark from Ald. Smith that he would rather have his daughter cook than typewrite, as there were so many of the latter.

A letter from Rev. J. R. Dobson, requesting that if possible children residing in St. Louis and St. Paul, and neighboring districts, be allowed to attend Mount Royal and Aberdeen Schools, is refused in their districts, was reluctantly refused.

Several minor matters were then discussed, and Ald. Wilson Smith being appointed as successor to Ald. Wilson on all committees the session adjourned.

New Comforts for Railroad Men.

Any innovation is welcome which combines an increase of comfort and economy. Most people will only need to be told once of the windproof qualities of Fibre Chambray, and the warmth it will give to a coat, vest or wrap of any kind to make them want to try it. Then they will find out for themselves that it doubles the warmth of a garment without adding weight. Some sensible person proved this in time to arrange that all the new uniforms for the G.T.R. employees should be interlined with Fibre Chambray, and as a result the wearers of the uniforms will escape many a nipping wind and dangerous chill.

BRITISH ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting Opened at Ipswich—Toronto's Mayor Expected.

London, Sept. 12.—The 65th annual meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science opened yesterday evening at Ipswich. It is customary for the retiring president to introduce his successor, but Lord Salisbury, who was president last year, telegraphed from the Chateau Cecil, near Dieppe, France, that he required rest and was unable to attend the meeting. Lord Kelvin, therefore, introduced the new president, Sir Douglas Galton. Sir Douglas started in to read a lengthy address. He eulogized the late Prof. Huxley and then traced the history of the association from its inception, pointing out the benefits it had conferred upon students and the public in every branch of science. After reading aloud three quarters of an hour Sir Douglas fainted. He soon recovered, but Sir John Evans read the rest of the address. Dr. Percy Frankland, professor of chemistry in Mason College, Birmingham, delivered a lecture on the work of Prof. Pasteur, the distinguished French chemist. He traced the rest of the work and gave him a high meed of praise for all he had accomplished in his chosen fields of work.

The audience numbered 1,200, including many distinguished persons. Among those present were Professors Remsen, of John Hopkins University, Baltimore, and Fred K. Bedall, of Cornell University. The mayor of Toronto is expected to attend the meetings, in view of the probability of the association meeting in that city next year.

WELL SATISFIED.

Folks Living Under the Shadow of the Mountain Are Pleased.

Hamilton, Sept. 9.—A very large increase has lately taken place in the sale of the specific remedy for complaints of the liver, and Dodd's Kidney Pills are in great demand. There are no complaints either from druggists or the public. The druggists being so near Toronto, to the headquarters for distributing, are never in any danger of running out, and the medicine for long, no matter how large the demand may be, and the public has long been thoroughly satisfied as to the valuable qualities of the pills, and the manner in which they invariably effect a cure.

BETTER DEAD.

A male penitent! That was a rare and exceptional thing at St. Melard. The red light from the lamp suspended above the kneeling figure revealed the short, white blouse, and the coarse shoes of the laborer, one who had clung to his simple peasant faith and the religious habits of his youth, doubtless, and the priest expected nothing more interesting here than he was wont to hear from the lips of the old women. So he went quietly into the confessional, and after talking a great pinch of snuff he pushed aside the heavy curtain which closed the aperture.

"Mr. Priest," began a rough voice, which tried to speak in low tones.

"I am not a priest now. Say your confessor and call me 'father.'"

The man, whose face was hidden from Father Faber, slowly repeated the prayer as if he knew how to say it, and then continued sadly:

"Mr. Priest—no my father, but excuse me if I don't speak as I should, for I haven't confessed in 25 years, nor since I left the country. You know how it is here in Paris. Then I haven't been very bad, and I have always thought 'God is good, and leaves how it all is.' But now I have something on my conscience too heavy to be borne alone, so I must confess it to you, my father. I have killed a man."

The priest started. A murderer! Here was no everyday affair; no murmuring against fate and the other insignificant things he was accustomed to hear from the penitents who absolved without uneasiness. A murderer! That head so near his own had conceived and borne homicidal thought; those hands hunched before the confessional were perhaps still red with blood. In his agitation, not unmixed with fear, he could find only the mechanical words of his office to say:

"Confess, my son, the mercy of God is infinite."

"Listen, then, to the whole story, said the man, in tones full of misery and grief.

"He was large and handsome; I was always clumsy and awkward. There was no better workman than he, while I was always a bungler. He was kind and generous to every one. I was proud of his friendship and felt happy to walk beside him. I loved him because I admired him; he was everything that I lacked. Once here in the city we had the good luck to be employed by the same man, but in the evening he left me alone most of the time; he went out to amuse himself with his comrades. That was natural at his age. He loved pleasure; he was free from all obligations to others. With me it was different. I had to be stingy, for I had to support my old mother in the country, and I sent her all my savings. I took my meals at the fruit woman's where I lodged. Philip ate elsewhere—and in truth it was not a famous kitchen. But the woman was a poor widow and I saw that my patronage helped her; besides I had fallen in love with her daughter, poor Catherine!"

"I lived there three years without being able to tell her of my love for her. After a time my poor mother died, then I was able to save something for myself. When I thought I had enough to start housekeeping I told Catherine of my feelings. She consulted her mother, who respected me as an honest, sober man, and the marriage was arranged. Ah! Then I passed some weeks of happiness. I saw that Catherine wasn't very affectionate toward me, but I knew she had a good heart, and once married I felt that I could win her love by kindness. Now that she had promised to be my wife I wanted Philip to know of my happiness, so I told him. Perhaps you can guess the rest, my father."

"Philip was handsome, gay and amiable; all in fact, that I was not, and, without meaning to do it, Catherine fell in love with him. She had a frank, honest heart, poor girl, and as soon as she knew her feelings she told me of them. It was her birthday, and as a gift for the occasion I had bought a little gold trinket, which I had put in a box with some cotton. We were alone in the room back of the shop. She had just given me my soap. I took the box from my pocket and opening it, showed her the ornament. She burst into tears and said:

"Forgive me Jacques, and keep that for the woman you marry. I can never be your wife, for I love some one else. I love Philip."

"Surely, I had my fill of sorrow then. What could I do as I loved them both? Only what I thought would be for their happiness. Let them marry, and as Philip had no money, I lent him my little store to buy furniture."

"Well, they were married, and everything went well for a time. They had a little boy and I was the godfather. I named him Camille after my mother. Soon after his birth Philip began to change. I had been deceived in him; he wasn't intended for married life. He loved pleasure and frivolity too well. You live among the poor and know by heart the story of the laborer who little by little falls into the habit of drinking, who stays away from home wasting his time and finally gets into a shameful and heaving life in less than two years. Philip had come to that. At first I tried to turn him from his evil course, and sometimes he would be ashamed and promise to reform. Finally my talking made him dislike me, and when he saw me looking sadly around his bare rooms and at Catherine who was pale and thin from suffering, he grew furious. I gave up going to see Catherine and my godson, and as for Philip I met him only once in a while, when we happened to be working on the same scaffolding."

"I had too much love for Catherine and little Camille to lose sight of them entirely. Saturday night, when I knew Philip was out drinking, I walked around by their house, met the child and by questioning him found out how things were going. If they were in want you may believe he didn't go home empty-handed."

"Years have passed, and Philip has grown worse and worse. Catherine, whom I have helped as much as I could, has brought her boy up to manhood, and now he is a fine fellow of twenty, as good as his mother. He isn't a day laborer. He has a good education; he learned to draw at night schools, and now works with an architect, where he gets good wages. Though the house is darkened by the presence of the drunkard, things aren't so bad, for Camille is a good boy, and when I meet Catherine leaning on the arm of her son my heart beats fast with joy."

"But last night when I met the boy and he shook my hand—for he is not ashamed if my jacket is white with plaster—I saw something was wrong."

"What is the matter?" I asked

He replied:

"Last night I had to draw to see whether or not I must enter the army, and I drew No. 10, which sends me to die of fever in the colonies, and which means an absence of at least five years. I must leave my mother alone with my brutal father, who was never so bad as he is now. She will die, godfather! Ah! how the poor have to suffer!"

"I passed a dreadful night. Think of it! The result of twenty years of hard labor swept away in an instant, because a boy had put his hand in a sack and had drawn out an unlucky number. In the morning I was bowed down like an old man. I went to my work on a house we were building on the Arago Boulevard. No matter how much money suffers he must work just the same, you know. So I climbed up to the scaffolding—we had reached the fourth story—and began to lay the bricks. Presently some one touched me on the shoulder. It was Philip! He worked only once in a while now, and he had come to-day to earn something to pay for drink, I suppose."

I hadn't seen him for a long time, and I hardly knew him. He looked withered; his beard was white and his hand trembled; he seemed a decrepit old man.

"Well, said I, 'so your boy drew the unlucky number?'"

"What of it?" said he, with a vicious look. "Are you, too, going to torment me about this along with Catherine and Camille? The boy must do as others do—serve his country. Parbleu! I know well what they think. If I was dead he wouldn't have to go. So much the worse for them. I am still solid on my feet and Camille isn't a widow's son."

The murderous thought came to me as I heard the word, and, seething in my brain all the morning while I was working beside the miserable man, I could see all that Catherine would suffer alone with this drunkard, who was now capable of anything. Eleven o'clock struck and the men went down to the ground to eat their lunches. Philip and I were the last to go. As he stepped on the rung of the ladder he called up to me maliciously:

"You see I have the step of a sailor. Ha! her Camille is far from being a widow's son."

"The hot blood deluged my brain. I seized the ladder with my two hands, and calling out, 'I will make him one!' I flung it into the space."

"He was killed instantly, and every one thought that it was an accident. Now Camille is a widow's son and can stay at home with his mother."

"That is what I did, father, and what I had to confess to you and to God. I repent and pray for pardon, but when I think of the future I shall see Catherine in her black gown leaning on the arm of her son. I shall not regret having done the deed. To prevent that I will emigrate to America."

"As for pay, my father, take the trinket which Catherine refused when she told me of her love for Philip, and which I have always kept in my pocket as the only happy days I have ever known. Take it and sell it. The money shall be for the poor."

Did he rise from his knees absolved from his sin?

One thing is certain. Father Faber did not sell the trinket. After putting its value in the church coffers he suspended before the Virgin's altar, where he often knelt to offer a prayer for the poor man—Boston Home Journal.

Panacea for Returning to His Post.

London, Sept. 12.—Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador to the United States, will sail for New York on the steamer Campana next Saturday. It is his intention to spend a week in Newport after his arrival in America, and open the British embassy in Washington, with its full staff, the first week in October. Sir Julian's return to his post at this time is due to the expiration of his leave of absence. It is thought that the post at Berlin may be offered him, a vacancy occurring there next winter, and if so, Sir Julian will return to Europe.

Fruits of the Traffic.

It is sad what ravages drink play among our citizens, remarked Deputy Recorder Bourque yesterday. Day after day I have from 25 to 50 cases brought before me. I fine them, but many cannot pay and go to jail. That is small satisfaction, as the province has got to maintain them. There should be a home for incurables, because they are no sooner out of jail than they appear before me again. It would cost less to confine them altogether, than perhaps they could be made to earn their living in various ways inside the institution.

WE LEAD....

No matter how much competition, nor their methods of doing business, we still have the satisfaction of leading all comers.

Selling clothing is like yacht racing in this respect, that they both allow of protests. One protests a race on account of some grievance, the other keeps on protesting all the time that his goods are better than his neighbor's, but here is where they differ—make of goods, and a committee of a few, the other to a large and exacting public, and why WE LEAD is because that public by their verdict sustains our protest and declares our clothing superior to any in the market. There is no appeal from such a broad decision and buyers should be guided accordingly. We confine ourselves entirely to the sale of our own make of goods, and have constantly on hand a very large assortment of Men's, Youths', Boys' and Children's clothing. We make a specialty of school suits, which we sell as low as $2.00 in three-piece suits. Our prices start at $3.00 and up to $6.50. Selling as many goods as we do, you can rest assured of finding continually new and attractive patterns. Visitors to the Fair avail yourselves of an opportunity of buying the proper clothing and at right prices.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.
FINANCIAL.

Thursday, Sept. 12.

There was a little firmer feeling in the local stock market this morning, but business was, as one broker expressively put it, "drearily dull." The whole of the forenoon's trading was confined to three stocks, and the whole of the transactions only involved some 283 shares. New Street Railway was a shade firmer at 210-4, but weakened towards noon to 210-3-2 to 210-1-2. Telegraph sold at 166, while Cable made another half point gain to 165-1-2. The rest of the list was neglected. Nothing was done in bank stocks. We hear of no change in the money market, funds offering freely at 4 to 4-1/2 per cent on call.

There seemed to be a little more life in the market at the afternoon session of the board, but prices generally had a slightly lower tendency. Street Railway fell off to 211-1-2 for old stock and 210-3-2 for new, and Richards declined 7-8. There is not much change in the rest of the list. The feature in bank stocks was the sale of 64 shares of Montreal at 224.

The highest, lowest and closing prices, total sales and net changes from yesterday's closing prices for actual sales in the local market were as follows:

Advance in the price of steel rails means big profits to the Illinois Steel Co. and Minnesota Iron Co., and a rise in the stocks of these companies.

There has been a decided rise in the price of steel rails to-day. We understand coal prices have been advanced, and think the realizing movement has expended itself and a goodly part in price.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Messrs. J. S. Bache and Co. report to-day's closing prices in New York by telegraph to Montreal manager, C. D. Monk, 16 St. Sacramento Street:

be part of the opposition plan to "drive the Chicago stock out of business."

Cotton special: At Peoria, Ill., special says Walter Barker, of the American Spirits Manufacturing Co., has announced that bids will be entertained for all or part of the 1914-15 crop of distillery stillage a day to be fed in Peoria, the season of November 1 to July 1. The bids are to be submitted to J. S. Bache, of New York, before September 30. Arrangements have been made for the opening of the House, which is expected in a few weeks.

The decline of 20 points condition in the market, which was left out of the Government report on the week, direct and force attention to B. Q. The stock, however, has declined from 92 1/4, so it has in part discounted this bad news. The decline in the market for the bull market ended last Monday and that we are now in for a swing of several weeks on the bear side. They say the market has had too severe a setback to be able to hold its own. The decline 3 per cent, or 4 per cent. lower on the average before we strike the bull side.

MONTREAL'S SHOW

A MOST SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION—
ENTRIES LARGER THAN USUAL.

Inaugural Speeches by Mayor Villeneuve, Hon. L. Tourville and Others.

The formal opening of the Fourth Provincial Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition took place at twelve o'clock yesterday. As early as nine o'clock, however, small knots of sight-seers sauntered into the grounds, where busy scenes in the various departments were the initial attraction. Many of the exhibitors had been engaged all night preparing their attractions. Everything will most likely be in proper running order to-morrow.

Regarding the different departments a few words might be said. The exhibition in live stock will be considerably larger than it has ever been in previous years. There are 850 head of cattle entered, which figures considerably exceed the number of entries in any previous year. The different classes of cattle include Durhams, or Short Horns; Herefords, Devons, Polled Angus, or Aberdeens; Galloways, Ayrshires, Jerseys, or Alderneys; Gurnseys, Holsteins, grade cattle, and various other breeds. For dairy purposes, fat and export cattle, and breed and Canadian cattle.

The Cattle Department, as well as the remainder of the live stock will not be complete until Monday next.

In the departments of sheep, swine and poultry an excess of entries is also to be chronicled.

The competition in the Sheep Department will embrace the following classes: Cotswolds, Leicesters, Lincoln, Shropshires, Oxford, Hampshire, Dorset, Southdowns, Merinos and Dorset Horn sheep.

The swine exhibits will be classified as follows: Berkshires, Suffolks, Tamworths, Poland China, Chester Whites, Large Yorkshires, Victorias, Jersey Reds, Essex and other large breeds, Improved Yorkshires.

The poultry will be classified as pigeons, fowls, chickens, turkeys, geese and ducks, geese and ducks, and 1885, ornamental breeding pens and exhibits of poultry appliances will also be entered in the Poultry Department.

The Main Building or Crystal Palace is centrally placed and the exhibits are simply magnificent. All the various exhibits are gotten up in a most elaborate manner, and combine to produce a splendid effect. The Machinery Hall is large, and also a cultural implements building. The exhibition of cheese is larger than it has ever been. The Dog Department will probably not have so many entries as at the last exhibition in Montreal, but the entries in this department have up to date reached one thousand. Some very fine specimens are entered in the dog competition, prize essay competition regarding the dairy and farm departments has been well taken up, and several essays have been written on each subject. It will be difficult to find room for the agricultural products, bits, and the authorities are going to be obliged to erect a large tent. The Horse Department is not so large as in 1883, but the specimens will be far superior. The entries are principally heavy draft horses and Canadian horses. The Carriage Department will also be unprecedented from the standpoint of excellence of exhibits.

A notable feature in the main pavilion will be the natural history exhibits. This department will have a grand display, all the latest novelties in Canadian history being included. During the course of a flying visit through this department, the wax works were a central point of interest. The scene of the St. Henri tragedy is represented including a wax head, and in an excellent likeness of the murdered woman, Mrs. Demers; a flagellation at the Montreal jail is also cleverly represented, and the actual scene of a hanging is given.

Numerous other legitimate, all of a high standard of excellence, are represented, including miscellaneous manufactures, textile, fabrics, stoves, a department for women's work, domestic manufactures, children's work, and a millinery display.

The following is a list of the chairmen of committees: Finance, N. A. Hurteau; Buildings and Grounds, L. Lyall; Hon. R. A. Turcotte; Cattle, L. A. Tremblay; Sheep, Swine, and Poultry, H. Prevost; Agricultural, Horticultural and Dairy, W. Ewing; Industrial, Machinery and Agricultural Implements, J. W. Satter; Special Attractions, S. J. Doran.

THE FORMAL OPENING.

At 12.45 the Mayor and aldermen arrived and were welcomed by Hon. President Tourville, Mayor Villeneuve, and officers of the Exhibition Company. Among those present were: Mayor Villeneuve, Ald. Renaud, Marsolais, Comaughton, Penny, Cosigan, Grotbe, Turner, Nolan, Jacques, J. I. Tarte, M.P., Hon. John S. Hall, Col. Starke, D. Parizeau, M.P.P., W. E. Ewing and ex-Ald. Martineau. M. P. E. Hon. Mr. Tourville read the following address:

To His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Montreal:
Gentlemen,—On behalf of the Montreal Exposition Co., we have pleasure in welcoming you to the Provincial Exhibition of 1895.

It is a matter of sincere congratulation to note the progress that is being made in the Dominion generally, and especially in the Province of Quebec. While the progress in all departments of agriculture has been satisfactory, the rapid strides made in the dairy industry deserve special attention. The recently established cheese and butter syndicates under the supervision of the Department of Agriculture have achieved great results, and the splendid exhibits in this department present to your view today with sufficient testimony to the growing importance of that branch of industry, while in all other departments we may fairly claim that the Exhibition exceeds any previous effort.

Recognizing the educational influences of exhibitions, the management have brought together a choice selection of the various breeds of live stock, the finest specimens of agricultural and horticultural products and superior examples of mechanical skill, which we trust will meet with your approbation and be deemed worthy of the commercial metropolis of the Dominion.

The excellence of our dairy and agricultural products have secured for Canada an enviable reputation throughout the world, and it is by observing the finest specimens that are displayed in our exhibitions that the farmer and producer are stimulated to make further efforts in this direction, and thus increase the trade of the Province and of the Dominion.

The important position which Montreal occupies at the head of ocean navigation, together with its rapid extension and the many improvements inaugurated and carried into effect by the City Council, has placed us in a leading position among the cities of the continent. All that can tend to increase the prestige and importance of our city will be highly appreciated by its citizens, and the holding of an exhibition which tends to attract large numbers of visitors from all districts, must be regarded as an important factor in extending and promoting the trade of the city.

We take this opportunity to express our gratitude to your honorable Council for the substantial aid and encouragement in the past, and to assure you that your cordial co-operation in our united efforts to secure an annual exhibition of these exhibitions cannot fail to meet with the hearty approval of the citizens of Montreal and the people of the province.

Thanking you, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen for your courtesy in visiting and formally opening the exhibition, we have the honor to be,
Your obedient servants,
L. TOURVILLE,
President.

S. C. STEVENSON,
Man. and Secretary.

Montreal, Sept. 12, 1895.

THE MAYOR'S REPLY.

The Mayor in replying was received with great favor. He said:
"The Council is indeed delighted to be present at the opening of your exhibition. I think, gentlemen, that you have a great deal upon which to congratulate yourself, for there is every evidence at this hour, even before the gates are really thrown open, that you are going to have a grand success."

"You have presented myself and the aldermen with this very nice address, in which you draw our attention to the increasing prosperity of the country. There seems to be no doubt about the hard times passing away and the country rapidly improving financially. Especially is the farming community growing, and as practical exhibitors depend largely for their success upon the farmers I am glad to say that they are a class of men whom you need not be ashamed of. Your address refers to the dairy industry, and its rapid progress in this province. There have been, you know, false reports spread in England, to the effect that Canadian butter and cheese was adulterated. I say it is not so. I am too well aware of the honesty of our farmers to admit the truth of such a ridiculous statement! We think too much of our own good name. Your address refers to the growing prosperity of Montreal and to its importance as a highway to the sea. Yes, it is growing, and it is a city we are proud of. And, let me say to you in concluding my short reply, that the enterprise of the Montreal Exhibition Company has and will have much to do with the city's continued success."

"I am sorry we could not give you a larger grant. I am in favor of the city treasury helping you in such a laudable object, but unfortunately we had to make the amount small. Let us hope that the city officers will be sufficiently well filled to give you more next time."

At the conclusion of the introductory proceedings yesterday the Mayor, accompanied by the aldermen, paid a visit to all the various departments. They were shown the exhibits in the different chambers of horrors all the different wax figures were explained at length by a demonstrator, even to the working of the guillotine, although this feature was a somewhat invidious preliminary before the luncheon. Nevertheless, the sumptuous repast prepared by the Exposition Company was thoroughly enjoyed. Lunch was followed by toasts to the Mayor, Ald. Lyall and others. Very appropriate and witty were the replies, and at the conclusion of luncheon the entire party attended the afternoon invitation performance of attractions.

THE ATTRACTIONS
This portion of the exhibition is under the direction of S. J. Doran, chairman of the Special Attractions Committee. The attractions were remarkably good, and afforded rare enjoyment. Especially fine was the introduction of the famous Ben-Zion-Zion, Royal Turkish troupe of acrobats. They are the whirlwinds of the desert. This troupe was organized in the City of Fez, Morocco, N.W. Africa, specially for the World's Fair. Their acrobatic feats are amazing, and have all the superb finish justly accorded to Arabian acrobats. Their feats were all vigorously applauded, especially that of Abdullah, the famous Moroccan, who, with his eleven men on his shoulders at the same time, other splendid items were given, such as exciting double trappe acts and tumbling races. The Sisters Zola transfixed the audience with their delicate aerial act; an item replete with novelty. Yesterday's performance was merely introductory, as some of the artists had not yet arrived. To-day everything will be in proper running order. This portion of the exhibition will undoubtedly come in for general patronage.

In connection with the performance to-day there will be an extra item which will last about an hour. It will be a sham fight accompanied by full naval manoeuvres by the crews of the Magicienne and Canada will lead the water and the ship will be accompanied by the band of the 8th Fusiliers and their own individual bands. A parade will be made through the principal streets of the city, and on their arrival at the exhibition grounds they will be received by the board of directors of the exhibition, who will conduct them all over the grounds.

The naval manoeuvres and sham fight will commence at three o'clock. To-night the grounds will be illuminated and a splendid display of fireworks will be given.

Both this afternoon and to-night Prince Leo, weather permitting, will make a daring ascent to the clouds, descending by the aid of an enormous umbrella.

A MAGNIFICENT EXHIBIT.

The exhibit which instantly commands attention and which is seen by everyone attending the Fair is that of Messrs. A. & R. Loggie, the renowned canning firm of Loggieville, N.B. It consists of thousands of boxes and cans of their famous Eagle Brand of Canned Smelts, as well as the same brand of Canned Blueberries. It reaches from the centre of the main building in one shaped form and towers above all other exhibits, reminding one of the magnificent displays seen at the great World's Fair, Messrs. Loggie are the only firm in the world who can smelt and blueberries. They have 23 canning factories in various parts of the Province of Quebec, Maritime Provinces and New Brunswick. The idea of their output in these two lines alone may be gleaned from the fact that in the past year they have canned over 250,000 pounds of Smelts and 835 tons of Blueberries, filling 1,000,000 tins of the latter alone. They also do an immense business in Frozen and Fresh Fish. One cannot help but see and admire this exhibit.

NOTES.

Twenty-five refreshment booths were located on the grounds of the northern portion of the Exhibition yesterday afternoon. This number does not include a bevy of small stands in the course of construction, and it is safe to say that a person who cannot relieve their thirst or hunger in short course, has no right on earth, much less on the Exhibition grounds.

Prominently situated near the main building are two stands of the Northern Women's Christian Temperance Union, camped under immense tents.

The Horticultural Department is one entire centre of all that is beautiful in the flower line. Magnificent plants are crowded together in endless number and the effect produced is superb. Tall ferns overhanging this flower world, their graceful leafy forming a tasteful background to the bright colors of the smaller plants. A visit through this department well repays the trouble.

The Exhibits from the Northwest and from the Lake St. John district arrived last night and were placed in position.

MRS. FLEMING INDICTED.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Grand Jury cuttle legal knot entangling the case of Mrs. Fleming yesterday by returning an indictment charging her with the murder in the first degree. She will now remain in the Tombs until a jury passes upon the question whether or not she poisoned her mother, Mrs. Evalina Matilda Bliss. This mother was called in the latter days of this month.

VACANCY ON THE BENCH.

JUSTICE FOURNIER RESIGNS FROM THE SUPREME COURT.

MR. GIROUARD, Q.C., A FAVORITE
FOR THE VACANCY.

Hon. Mr. Angers Might Have had the Place Were He Still in Harmony
With the Government.

(Special to the Herald.)

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—Justice Fournier, of the Supreme Court, has now sent his resignation to the Minister of Justice, so the Government will not be put to the trouble of claiming that his letter of six months ago, asking for six months' leave of absence, and stating that he intended resigning in September, was a sufficient resignation. Had Hon. A. R. Angers remained in the Government he would now have an opportunity of receiving a position which his ambitious soul sought for, and which was promised him by the late Sir John Thompson once a vacancy occurred. It is not likely that he will be recognized now, although Sir Adolphe Caron and Mr. Oulmet are dreading that he may be found against them once the political campaign gets hot in Quebec.

Mr. Girouard, Q.C., stood by the Government last session when the political crisis was at its height, and no one would be surprised if his reward should be found in filling the seat on the Supreme Court bench vacated by Mr. Fournier. That Mr. Girouard has ambitions in that direction is a fact, and he is not likely to be disappointed. An appointment will have to be made early, as the court meets next month. There is only a bare quorum now, and there are older men than Mr. Fournier among those who remain.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

A United States Delegate—Election of Officers.

The sessions of the Triennial Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England was preceded yesterday by Holy Communion in Christ Church Cathedral, a practical and earnest sermon was preached by the Lord Bishop of Quebec. The rector, Dr. Norton, and the Rev. W. G. Lewis assisted at the service. The W. A. thanks offering for the wonderful growth of the church in Quebec was made at the service and amounted to over $300.

After the service the delegates and officers adjourned to the School House where, after the opening exercises, the president introduced Mrs. John Wesley Brown, of New York, who came as a fraternal delegate from the Woman's Auxiliary in the United States. Mrs. Brown returned thanks for her reception and asked that delegates be appointed to attend the coming Triennial Meeting to be held in Minnesota next October.

The Rev. George Rogers, of Rupert's Land, was introduced to the meeting and spoke most earnest thanks for the help given to the dioceses in the Northwest by the Woman's Auxiliary, and also of the wonderful growth of the church in Rupert's Land within the last few years.

At 12 o'clock the meeting adjourned to attend the reception of the American delegates at the Provincial Synod. A hearty luncheon was served, and the delegates in the Synod Library by the Montreal members, after which the afternoon session was held.

The report of the Ecumenical Committee provided for a long discussion, and it was finally decided that the Toronto Diocese retain its form of the badge, the Winchester cross, with the motto of the Auxiliary unit, while the other dioceses, speaking of the gradual growth of the Auxiliary in his missionary diocese, and also of the work of the Church there.

The Bishop of Algoma, acting as a deputation from the House of Bishops, gave a most interesting address to the Auxiliary unit, while the other dioceses, speaking of the gradual growth of the Auxiliary in his missionary diocese, and also of the work of the Church there.

Mrs. Tilton, on behalf of the meeting, thanked His Lordship for his address and visit.

The election of officers took place during the afternoon, resulting as follows: President—Mrs. Tilley, Ottawa. Sec. Secretary—Miss Monizambert, Quebec.

Itc. Secretary—Mrs. Denne, Montreal. Treasurer—Mrs. Bell-Irvine, Quebec.

A long and graphic letter from Mrs. Bompas, wife of the Bishop of Selkirk, was read by the corresponding secretary, describing the far-off country, and telling of the evil effects upon the Indians of the bad example of some of the whites.

Miss Turner, who has lately returned from the Blackfoot reserve, gave a most useful address concerning the work and needs in the various Indian reserves in the Diocese of Calgary, speaking particularly of the missionary zeal and good work of the Ven. Archdeacon Tims, and of the evidence of gradual growth of religious truth among those heathen Indians.

In the evening the delegates attended the large missionary meeting held under the auspices of the Provincial Synod in St. George's Hall.

Bishop of Winchester.

The new Bishop of Winchester, who succeeds Mr. Lancelot Charles Duncanson, Dr. Thorold, is a remarkably young man, and owes his appointment entirely to court favor. He may be described as one of the ecclesiastical pets of Her Majesty, and as such has Victoria been of his spiritual ministrations that even on the occasion of her annual trips to the continent she would insist on his going along with her in order to preach on Sunday.

As Bishop of Winchester Dr. Davidson becomes ex-officio the prelate of the Order of the Garter, and wears the badge of that famous knightly order around his neck, both when in his Episcopal robes and also in evening dress. He takes precedence over all bishops, and whereas they in the House of Lords rank after viscounts and before barons, he ranks with the earls. He is a son-in-law of the late Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Tait, to whom he acted as private secretary, as he did also to his successor, the present primate.

His pay as Bishop of Winchester is $30,000 per annum, and he also receives as an official residence Parnum Castle, one of the most magnificent of all those grand old historic country seats of England. The birth is one for life, and in the landed kingdom bishops are proverbially long-lived. Dr. Davidson, of Winchester, being still as active as a lad and as lively as a cricket at the age of 93.

That's just the name for many a music box in Montreal and vicinity. The spring of life is broken, the tinkling tones are still and silent, and the voice of music sounds no more. What was once a source of pleasure is now only a music coffin. We can fix any music box—fix it right—good as new—bring it to life again. We have an expert from Switzerland. Charges reasonable.

Loss by Water and Smoke.

A few minutes to twelve yesterday the workmen in the basement of the wall-paper factory of Watson, Foster & Co., 85 and 87 Grey Nun Street, noticed flames leap up suddenly from a quantity of barrels and packing in one corner. They immediately got out the factory hose, but soon saw that the fire was beyond their control. An alarm was rung from box 32 and soon afterwards a second alarm was turned in. The promptness of the firemen in responding prevented a disastrous fire. The flames had already attacked the first floor and the whole factory was filled with smoke. The employees of the factory, numbering about 70, made their way down by the fire escape. In half an hour the fire was completely under control. The damage from that cause alone will not amount to much. Serious loss, however, was caused by the volumes of smoke and the deluge of water, but just how much Mr. Hugh Watson was unable to say. The factory in which the fire started was occupied by a double wall from the warehouse, No. 92 and 94 Grey Nun Street. The manufactured paper in the warehouse was unharmed, but the raw material, coloring matter, paper, etc., in the factory was nearly all destroyed. The loss will probably amount to $10,000, but it is all covered by insurance.
