The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. J. Nourse. The bride-maid was Miss Agnes Lasell, a cousin of the bride. The bride looked very neat and pretty as she walked up the aisle leaning on her father's arm. She was dressed in white muslin, with veil and apply blossoms. After the marriage the bride party accompanied by a number of relatives and friends returned to the home of the bride's father, Mr. Geo. Lasell, where a bounteous repast was awaiting them. The bride's presents were both pretty and useful. A very pleasant evening was spent. The party began to break up at half past ten, but quite a number stayed till after 12 o'clock.

JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF ST. FRANCIS AND ARTHABASKA.

The Montreal Witness publishes the following letter with regard to the above two districts:—

SIR.—While the above subject is under consideration by both the Federal and Provincial Governments, I desire to once more to call attention to the situation of affairs in the judicial districts of St. Francis and Arthabaska in the Eastern Townships.

These districts, as at present constituted, are geographically too extensive, and the costs to litigants are consequently too expensive.

Instead, therefore, of appointing an additional assistant judge at Sherbrooke, let a new judicial district be formed, which will include all the County of Richmond (excepting the Township of Stoke), and include therein the Townships of Durham and Kingsley, and make the town of Richmond the chief-lieu of said district.

This would relieve the present Sherbrooke "congestion," and reduce by about one-half, the now judicial costs to all concerned.

A CIRCUS ROMANCE.

"Why is Miss Ryland so indifferent to men?"

The question was asked by a curious woman who had just left the dashing young equestrienne's apartments at the Ringling Bros.' circus one evening last week.

"And why is she so fond of a black costume?" queried another. "I notice that she rides in somber colors nearly every night."

Behind the answer to these interrogatories lies a story flavored with romance, but unaccompanied by the usual denouement that makes the romance complete. There is sadness at the beginning and end of it and just enough in the middle that is joyful to make the tale pretty. It is a pathetic narrative, on the whole, and interesting, though it does recount the woes of lovers.

Miss Ryland was not born into her art. She is not the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter of circus fame. Her abundant auburn tresses blossomed into radiance under the warm rays of a Mississippi sun, and her muscular brawn was early developed on her father's plantation way down south.

Mr. Ryland was one of the largest cotton growers in his vicinity. He lived three miles from his plantation, on the outskirts of a pretty southern town. His handsome home was the scene of numerous fashionable events, and Elena, his only daughter, was the most admired woman in the place.

In the later eighties a small circus visited the town. Mr. Ryland allowed the management to use part of his spacious grounds for show purposes. Every body in the village was out to see the first and only performance given by the aggregation in the little city, among others Elena Ryland.

In the circus was a young bareback rider, Alfred Julian by name. He had been with the company only a few weeks and was but a mediocre performer. By profession he was an artist, but fame and fortune did not roll his way, and he gave up the pencil for more lucrative employment under the canvas. He was a good looking, educated fellow of 20 years and became quite popular with his fellow performers.

The young man was unfortunate on his appearance that night. In attempting to leap through a hoop and on to his horse's back he missed his footing and fell with terrific force on the box curbing surrounding the ring. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, and it was found that his right arm and leg were broken.

The accident stopped the show. The spectators left their seats and crowded about the ring to learn the extent of Julian's injury. Mr. Ryland was one of the first to reach the youth's side. The circus doctor was summoned and advised that the young man be taken at once to a hospital. There was no hospital in the place, and the only accommodation available was the temporary shelter of the dressing room.

Ryland came to the aid of the management by offering the use of his home to the injured man. The offer was gratefully accepted, and Julian was removed to the magnificent Ryland residence for treatment. The generous, noble hearted plauter went further. He insisted on calling in the family physician to treat Julian, and when the circus left town the next day the bareback rider was resting easy in the most comfortable quarters he had enjoyed since he quit his eastern home three weeks before.

Julian required a nurse. Elena Ryland, sympathetic and loving, gladly took upon herself the task of ministering to the needs of the suffering man. She would be his nurse, she declared, and she performed her duty more faithfully and with greater pleasure than could be expected of any paid servant.

The second day after his fall Julian regained consciousness. He opened his eyes and looked in wonderment on his strange surroundings. He did not speak for several moments. Then he inquired in a soft voice of his fair attendant, "Where am I?"

"You are in a friend's home," Miss Ryland replied. "The circus is gone, but you need not worry for your safety." He did not worry. He suffered excruciating pain and often would have murmured over his lot, but the gentle words of his watchful nurse helped him to bravely bear his troubles in silence.

Slowly he recovered. As he grew better he learned to appreciate the service of his kind attendant. She was more than a sister to him, and her heart was filling with more than a sister's love for a friend in distress.

He asked about his accident and the events following it. He was somewhat humiliated at his ill luck and vowed he would never again enter the circus ring. Miss Ryland was fascinated with his stories of circus life and listened intently to every word that fell from his lips.

The patient was interested in his fair nurse. He fully reciprocated her attachment for him. A feeling stronger than that of friendship endued her to him. He was in love with her, but he dared not tell her. Her station in life, he thought, was so far above his that to dream of such a thing were folly.

The days passed pleasantly for the

PICTURES OF LOVE.

The following are taken from a novel of the hour:

All women have hearts; a few have intellects.

A woman's heart is like one of those toy balloons children play with; it is lighter than air, and most restless when tied to somebody.

A woman's face is invariably a mask in her fancy; like a court masker she can only be recognized by her mouth.

A sincere woman loves; a fickle woman loves to be loved.

A woman almost invariably loves the wrong man.

A woman is often obedient to the man she hates, and obdurate to him she loves.

Love is sometimes a question of preference, more often than a predicament.

In a rule the world and the women rule the men.

Clever men are usually taken in by women; it is the silly women who take men in.

There is but one thing so deceptive as a pretty woman's smile, and that is her words.

Pretty women are not all insincere; some are merely inconsistent.

Love a woman with an intellect if you want to be wretched; marry one if you want to be successful.

The greatness of many a man is merely the possession of a clever wife.

If there be a woman who does not wish to be acquired it is one whose soul is saddened by neglect; one who realises her own repulsiveness.

Every woman deep in her heart loves a hero.

Any fool can fall in love. It takes a wise man to fall on his feet.

NEW GALL LOUSE.

A bulletin on the chermes abletes, or gall-louse, which is infesting the spruce trees of the province, was issued this morning from the Department of Agriculture. After giving a minute description of the insect, which is germinated on the leaf, and then explains the immature bug, the pamphlet declares that poison is useless, though in the larval stage soap emulsion might be of some use, if applied abundantly at the proper time. But without any doubt the cheapest and best plan as yet tried in Ontario is to clip off the galls as soon as they are noticed—say in June, and always before the first of August, while the producers are in the galls, and immediately burn them up.

When a tree is too much infested to be dealt with in this way it should be cut down and burned at once. Of course there is no use doing this after the producers are out of the galls.

Those finding the galls in trees are requested to communicate the fact and all particulars so far as ascertained to the Bureau of Forestry at the Parliament buildings.

Limb Pains.

CONTRACT RHEUMATISM AND YOU WILL SUFFER UNTOLD AGONIES—USE SOUTH AMERICAN RHEUMATIC CURE AND YOU WILL HAVE RELIEF IN A FEW MINUTES, AND A CURE IN THREE DAYS—TESTIMONY PROVES IT.

"I was for three years a great sufferer from rheumatism—pains in my limbs particularly distressing. I had tried almost every known remedy, but received no benefit. I was advised to give South American Rheumatic Cure a trial. I purchased two bottles. When I had used one and a half bottles I was perfectly cured. I consider it a wonderful remedy and take pleasure in recommending it. F. Nugent, Niagara Falls, Ont. Sold by J. L. Mathieu.

Whipped the Four Hundred.

An officer of the steamer Empress of Japan, recently arrived at Vancouver from the Orient, tells of an exciting street fight which he witnessed in the streets of Hongkong prior to the sailing of his vessel. There are many sailors in that harbor attached to the war vessels of various nations, and they imbibe strong national prejudices as they watch the international game in the east. The trouble started in a saloon. The Russian sailors combined with the French and Germans and formed a double line down a narrow street and dared any Johnny Bull or Yankee to pass.

The English and American sailors joined forces and found they mustered 150 to the enemy's 400. Nothing daunted, they seized a lot of jirrikis, formed a wedge with them and rushed on the foreigners with a cheer. They broke the line, smashed the jirrikis and continued the fight with fists and pieces of the debris until, as the informant relates, they had the 400 allies badly whipped. The din was dreadful, but above it rose the shouting of "God Save the Queen," both, of course, to the same tune. The authorities were powerless and appealed to the commanders of the warships, who ordered the men to stop, and the hostilities ceased.

Thus has been begun the much talked of Anglo-Saxon alliance against the world.—Argonaut.

Sarcastic Novelist.

The people who want—and do not scruple to ask for—favors from public men are sometimes so unreasonable as almost to deserve a rude answer. Such an answer, for example, as The Golden Penny quotes:

A certain novelist, not unknown to fame, received from a lady an unstamped letter asking the loan of his book, on the plea that she could not obtain it at the bookeller's in her town. His reply was worded as follows:

DEAR MADAM—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are easily procurable elsewhere—not only of my recent work, but also of postage stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary string to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a piece, I am at your service.

A Brief Lesson in Spanish.

"Commercio" and "incommercio" still prove that the American dealer is unaware that double m's do not exist in the Spanish language.—Mexican Herald.

Tommy—"Come Bridget, play with us. We're playing soldier."

Bridget—"G'wan, yer little imp. Oi ain't no soldier."

Tommy—"No, Bridget, but you're a red cross nurse."

"Young man," said the elderly gentleman to the saucy small boy, "grey hairs should be respected."

"That ain't what my sister says," replied the S. S. B. "She says they should be pulled out."

Does Your Head Ache?

Are your nerves weak? Can't you sleep well? Pain in your back? Lack energy? Appetite poor? Digestion bad? Bolls or pimples? These are sure signs of poisoning.

From what poisons? From poisons that are always found in constipated bowels.

If the contents of the bowels are not removed from the body each day, as nature intended, these poisonous substances are sure to be absorbed into the blood, always causing suffering and frequently causing severe disease.

There is a common sense cure.

AYER'S PILLS

They daily insure an easy and natural movement of the bowels.

You will find that the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla with the pills will hasten recovery. It cleanses the blood from all impurities and is a great tonic to the nerves.

It is early to speak but the crop prospects in Canada generally are most excellent now, and the Eastern Townships offer no exception. The country, indeed, is looking beautiful at present and a successful year may be hoped for in view of the good prices prevailing and likely to prevail.

The elevator monopoly, which has done so much to retard the progress of our Northwest, is likely to be removed shortly by an order-in-council of the Dominion Government. The monopoly has been due simply to a "regulation" of the C. P. R. which prevented the farmers loading cars with wheat direct from their wagons, thus compelling them to pay the elevator toll. The "regulation" should have been upon long ago by an action-at-law as it is plainly beyond the powers of any railway company to make such a rule.

CANADIAN ART

Few visitors to the art galleries of Canada, provided that they have Canadian sympathies, can fail to be struck with the fact that our artists seldom do justice to our own scenery, grand as the scope is in field. On this subject an esteemed correspondent of the EXAMINER writes:—"I suppose the Canadian painters consider that they belong to the impressionist school. This school appears to me to have carried its peculiarities to such a ridiculous excess as to render its work in most instances a caricature of art. We have a characteristic scenery and there is an ample field for good landscape painters if they could find a market for their work. I am not sure that there is a market. Those in Canada who can afford to pay for good pictures buy the works of Dutch, French, and other foreign artists. There seems to be a great deal of fashion in picture buying, and I fancy few buyers have the courage to buy a picture because they like it. Before they buy, the picture must have received the stamp of some art school, or set of so-called critics."

INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS AND EDUCATION.

The bank reports so far issued this year are of a satisfactory character for the operations of the fiscal year concluded, and most hopeful for the immediate future. Some of the banks, it is true, with Conservative leanings, thank Providence and general conditions for the good state of business, although in the past they were apt to attribute good years to the policy of the (Conservative) government and to hope in bad years that a continuance of the same policy would bring about a better state of things. But the fact that at the present moment in Canada, business generally is in a most satisfactory condition is proved and emphasized by the bank reports; and the country is in a fair way of accumulating capital for future enterprise. The development of Canada's resources during the last twenty-five years has been very considerable, but the discoveries of the last two or three years have made it plain that there is a still greater future in store for us in the development of our natural wealth. Besides money capital, the chief requisites for the development are energy, industry, and intelligence, and the greatest of these is intelligence or trained knowledge. Canada is a competitor in the world's markets in three lines, namely, agriculture, mining and (latterly) manufacturing. The best success in any of these is only attainable by the application of intelligence to economic methods and the study of the requirements of the world's markets; and this is best reached by raising the standard all round of a sound education. Germany's industrial success is the living proof of this doctrine. In many lines she can make the best and most articles, and the term "worst" does not by any means imply worthlessness. But Germany studies methods of producing and the wants of her customers; and moreover has a distinct consciousness of the importance of general and sound education in the struggle for industrial supremacy. The subject of education is, in Germany, as serious and momentous as the military system.

DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING.

A very severe electrical storm passed over the district Wed. afternoon, but fortunately it was not felt to any great extent in the city. Quite a commotion was caused on the lines of the Gas & Water Co. and telephone companies by the storm. Several transformers were burned out and a number of consumers were deprived of their light for the evening. Among those was Mr. Clough, of Lennoxville, at whose house a large lawn party was being held in the interests of St. George's Church. The damage could not be repaired and the party had to rely upon their Chinese lanterns, of which fortunately, they had a good supply.

There was a brilliant electrical display about the switchboard instruments in the lighting station. The damage to transformers involves quite a substantial bill for repairs, but everything was in readiness last evening and no further inconvenience was felt.

ST. CHARLES BORROMEE CADETS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER.

June 9th, 1898.

Dear Sir.—Would you please grant me a small space in the columns of your journal to thank the citizens of Sherbrooke for the generous subscription to the fund towards endowing the Cadets with a flag.

Never, I am sure, has such an undertaking of that kind been so universally encouraged. Everywhere we were received with a cordiality which highly procures the interest taken in our young corps.

The cadets, citizens of Sherbrooke, are not insensible that most sympathy, but on account of the fast approaching end of the school year, and of the addition of labor which it naturally imposes upon the students, they cannot testify their gratitude as they would like to, by frequent parades. Vouchsafe, therefore, for the present, to accept the expression of their sentiments.

Yours, etc.

CAPT. RHEAUME.

TO SET ASIDE A DEED TRANSFERRING A CHURCH AT NORTH HATLEY.

In the Superior Court this morning before Judge White—the case of Wilder Reed against R. C. Cull and others was heard. This action is to set aside a deed of a church known as the Union Church at North Hatley. Two years ago this building was burned down a school house, having been transferred by the Union Church trustees to the School Commissioners of North Hatley, G. A. LeBaron having purchased the old building. This Church was built about 30 years ago by the then inhabitants of North Hatley to be used by all Protestant denominations. It is contended by the plaintiff Reed that the trustees had no right to sell the said church, inasmuch as the Union was still in existence, and without the consent of all the churches no dissolution could take place.

Mr. John Leonard for plaintiff, with Mr. Pamment, counsel; for defendant, Mr. C. W. Cate, with Mr. Hurd, counsel.

SHERBROOKE LACROSSE CLUB.

The Lacrosse Grounds are assuming a more finished appearance. The grounds in several portions have already been levelled and the fence is being erected with all due haste. We have been favored with a look of the plans for the grand stand, and certainly the Club deserves credit for catering in such a handsome way for the comfort of lovers of the game for the national game. When the whole is finished the Club need not take a back seat for grounds and accommodation for any club in Canada, and we hope that when they go out to do battle for the championship that they will keep in view the fact that they will have to maintain the reputation of the old days, and show that lacrosse is not yet dead, so far as this section is concerned.

The personnel of the team will be some what changed from last year. There will be at least five new players.

LODGE OF MACCABEES TO BE FORMED IN THE CITY.

Spaniards Suffer Another Defeat!

Fortifications at Camanera Laid in Ruins.

THE INVADING ARMY SAILS.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 8.—Five American warships at half-past five o'clock yesterday morning began to shell the fortifications of Camanera, on the Bay of Guantanamo, which cuts off the southern coast of Santiago de Cuba, east of the city of Santiago.

Many Spaniards are reported to have been killed.

The American fire was most effective, driving the Spanish gunners in consternation from the defence of their work, and then from the town of Camanera, in which they took refuge. The inhabitants of this place also joined in the rout.

The vessels which took part in the bombardment were the cruiser Marblehead, the auxiliary cruisers St. Louis and Yankee and two gunboats. The latter however, paid little attention to the Spanish forts, directing their efforts to cutting the cables which run out of Camanera. These cables cut under the protection of the larger vessels of the fleet. One of the cables severed was that connecting Camanera with the city of Santiago de Cuba.

The American fleet appeared off the entrance of the bay of Guantanamo, just as the rising sun began to redden the horizon, with the Marblehead in the lead. The little squadron sailed into the bay and proceeded to a position which commanded the cable house under the guns of the Spanish fortifications. While the Marblehead, the St. Louis and the Yankee formed in battle order before the forts, and opened fire, the little gunboats darted out from the line and began to grapple for the cable.

The fire from the cruisers was rapid and well directed, and was replied to with vigor by the Spaniards. All the men on board the warships worked with enthusiasm, the New York having received on board the Yankee earning their share of laurels at the guns.

THE CABLES WERE CUT.

The bombardment continued until the gunboats cutting the cables had concluded their labors. This was at two o'clock in the afternoon. The fleet then sailed out of the bay and took up a position about three miles from the shore.

As the walls of the fortifications began to tumble upon them the Spanish gunners deserted their posts of duty and fled to the town, which was in a state of high excitement. With the silencing of the forts a still greater panic fell upon the residents of Camanera, who feared the Americans would complete their work by destroying the town, and there was a general movement to places of safety.

SPANIARDS WILL OFFER RESISTANCE.

The Spaniards there apparently are determined to offer desperate resistance to any attempt of the Americans to land troops, and are preparing to make the most effective defence possible under the circumstances. They are resolved at any cost to prevent the town and forts of Camanera from falling into the hands of the enemy. The military commander of the district has issued an order to burn the town if necessary, to prevent the Americans from profiting by its occupation. Similar measures, it is understood, are being taken at Santiago. After the cessation of firing from the forts the fleets concentrated their fire upon the blockhouse at which the cables of the French Cable and Telegraph Company land, and specially demolished it. The cables which connect the blockhouse with Camanera were cut. On account of the cutting of the cable the Spanish telegraphic communication with that place is suspended.

CAPT. GENERAL AUGUSTI PRACTICALLY ADMITS THAT MANILA IS LOST.

Madrid, June 7.—The following communication from Captain-General Augusti, dated at Manila, June 3rd has been published:—"The situation is very grave. Aguinaldo has succeeded in stirring up the country, and the telegraph and railway lines are being cut. I am without communication with the provinces. The province of Cavite has completely rebelled, and the towns and villages are occupied by numerous armed bands. A Spanish column defends the Zapote line to prevent the enemy invading the province of Manila, but the foe has entered the suburbs of Manila, and Moron, so that Manila will thus be attacked by land and sea. "I am striving to raise the courage of the inhabitants and will exhaust every means of resistance, but I distrust the natives and volunteers because there have already been many desertions. I fear and I have already been seized by the enemy. The insurrection has reached great proportions, and if I cannot count upon the support of the country, the forces at my disposal will not suffice to hold the ground against two enemies."

General Corrales, minister of war, and Captain Anon, minister of marine, have gone to the Palace to confer with the Queen Regent as to General Augusti's communication. It is reported that the Spaniards at Manila have also been compelled to take refuge in the fortified part of the town.

Dispatches confirming the landing of American forces at Daqui have been received.

THE INVADING ARMY SAILS.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 8.—Major-General Shafter and a party of 30,000 men started to day for an invasion of Cuba in the vicinity of Santiago. The loading of the transports and the embarkation of the troops was practically completed last night at Tampa, and everything was in readiness when the order was given to move out of the harbor to-day, with the gunboats Helena, Cassin, and Annapolis as convoys and the Hornet acting as rear-guard, the transports, crowded with troops who were aroused to the highest enthusiasm because they were at last starting for the point of actual warfare, the fleet started out of the harbor amid the applause of hundreds who lined the shore.

TWO WERE CANADIANS.

The telegraphic despatch giving the names of the brave companions who accompanied Lieut. Hobbs in his heroic deed of sinking the "Mermaid" contains those of George Charotte and Oscar Deignan. It is now claimed that the men are French-Canadians, whose names have been altered as is often the case, and that they should be made to read George Charotte and Oscar Deignan. The Press even gives a picture of Charotte, and says that he is the son of a French-Canadian woman now living in Lowell, Mass.

BRITISH CONSULATE SECRETARY DRIVEN FROM PUERTO RICO.

New York, June 9.—A despatch from St. Thomas, W. I., to the New York Journal, says:—Suspected of having furnished the United States with information of the mining of San Juan harbor, Walter Bett, secretary of the British consulate at that port, has received his passport and been banished from Puerto Rico by order of Governor-General Macia.

Mr. Bett was imprisoned in a dungeon for fifty-six hours and during that time was subjected to gross mistreatment. British Consul-General Crawford has made formal protest to his government and serious international complications are imminent. General Macias has practically declared war against the British colony in San Juan, and made open accusation that it is responsible for the disclosure of his military plans to the United States Consul-General, Philip Hanna, who is now at St. Thomas.

Mr. Bett, along with 30 others were summoned before General Macias, and put them through a severe examination as to their connection with giving away his plans. Of these 30 others, 20 were continued in prison for 24 hours, but upon Secretary Bett General Macias visited the most of his wrath, and he was practically accused of revealing the military preparations, and kept in a dungeon for fifty-six hours in face of the protests of Consul-General Crawford. When released he was given his passport and ordered to leave Puerto Rico.

Prof. C. W. Holmes and his pupils will give an entertainment in the Art Hall next Wednesday afternoon.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

day, District Magistrate Mulvins, presiding, three brothers, Joseph Leon and Francis Pateneuds were charged with fixed for June the 14th inst.

THE REFRESHMENT BOOTH AT THE PARK.

At the last meeting of the City Council permission was granted to Mr. L. Pichette to erect a refreshment booth and to sell refreshments in the park. It was also stated that no rent would be charged for some time at least as it was thought the cost of erecting the building was a sufficient risk for the proprietor. It was also mentioned that citizens could find shelter there from rain. Any one who had not seen the place would be under the impression that a large and commodious building would be at the disposal of the citizens.
This, however, is not the case, for it is merely a common shed, built something after the style of the small stands along the way to the exhibition grounds. It does not by any means add to the amenity of the park, for it is too small, and the building has erected it without any idea seemingly of the first principles of architecture. Far better would it have been for the city to have erected a nice commodious building that would have been pleasing to the eye as well as a comfort and charged a sufficient rent to, in course of time, pay for it. There would have been no difficulty in securing a tenant and there would be less danger of any infringement of the liquor laws.

evening and teams are now able to cross without very much inconvenience. The erection of the iron work has been completed, and only a portion requires to be painted.

The western approach now nearing completion will be a great improvement. Altogether the bridge when finished will add considerably to the appearance of that section of the city.

THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS
CHROME IRON MINING COMPANY.

It is the intention of the E. T. Chrome Mining Co., of which reference was made in previous issues of the Examiner, of their seeking incorporation, to erect a plant at once for the concentration of chrome ore at Chromesiding, on the Q. C.
Railway Colerains, Townships, as this is the most central point for all the mines,
for shipping purposes from Little St.
Francis mines owned by Hugh Leonard and others, and which is supposed to be one of the largest deposits of chrome in Canada.

ROYAL PAPER MILLS COMPANY WILL HAVE TO PAY THE WAGES.

Judge White rendered judgment yesterday in the action of Davian against the Royal Paper Mills Co. This was an action arising out of the absconding of Hawthorne, who was under contract to supply the plants with logs and who absconded without paying the men.
Hawthorne got two thousand dollars from the company, but did not turn up at the camp, and has not since been heard of.
The action was for $54 and the court held that the defendants were liable for the amount sued for. There were about 39 cases of a similar nature which depended upon the judgment.

"All the world loves a good cigar." The ever increasing sales of the famous "El Presidente" attest this fact, and prove that the smoking public appreciate the efforts of the manufacturers to furnish the most exquisite Havana filled cigar to-day in the market.
Dainty, delicious and delightful, sells at 10c, and pleases the most fastidious smoker.

DEPUTATION FROM BOARD OF TRADE INTERVIEW C. P. R.
OFFICIALS.

Yesterday Messrs. W. R. Webster,
president, J. S. Mitchell, G. G. Bryant and W. B. Neil, interviewed Mr. Tait of the C. P. R. with regard to the Megantic and Farnham train service. The deputation were very cordially received. A definite answer will be received from Mr.
Tait to-night and the matter will be brought before the Board at an early date.

We understand that the service will be improved on both these sections, but nothing will be given out until the matter has been laid before the Council of the Board.

PETITION TO RAISE THE RAILING
ON COMMERCIAL STREET BRIDGE.

The question of raising and strengthening the railing on the bridge across the Magog on Commercial Street will no doubt be up for discussion at the next meeting of the City Council. A petition is now in circulation and is being numerously signed, praying that the city do this.

There is no question but that some steps should be taken to remedy this. In the first place the railing is too low, and is of too slim a structure to withstand any pressure, and in the second if a substantial railing was added it would not only be a preventative against accident but would also add considerably to the appearance of the bridge. We trust the City Fathers will look into the matter and grant the request of petitioners.

THE SLATER SHOE

Guessing or knowing shoes.

The difference between buying a pair of "Slater Shoes" and a pair of common shoes, is just the difference represented in a sealed letter and an opened one with a responsible signature.

The sealed letter may contain a large cheque, or a bill for notice. The opened letter—well you know just what it is.

The common shoes may be good ones under the finish but how do you know?

"Slater Shoes" bear a pedigree tag which tells exactly the leather they're of, its wear, peculiarities or faults. Goodyear Welted. $3.00, $4.00 and $5.00 per pair.

A PECULIAR BONNET.

An eccentric and not over-wealthy clergyman in the West of Scotland was in the habit of giving so much to the poor that he had scarcely sufficient left to meet the necessities of his own home. One day his wife said to him:—

"John, I'll need to have a new bonnet, for this one is getting awfully shabby."

"I canna afford it," said John.

"Well," she said, "I'm going to get one whether you can afford it or not."

"You must wait a wee," said John.

But she was determined she would not wait, and one day, while he was visiting his flock, she sold a chest of drawers and bought a bonnet that had taken her fancy.

On the following Sunday she was the last to come into the church, instead of the first, as usual, in order that she might show her new bonnet.

When John saw her appear at the door he turned to the congregation and said in a loud voice—

"Make room, please, make room, for here's Mrs. Anderson coming with a chest of drawers on her head."

Her feelings can be better imagined than described.

Pronounced Incurable.

NO CASE OF CATARRH TOO ACUTE OR TOO LONG STANDING BUT DR. AGNEW'S CATARRH POWDER CAN ALLAY AND CURE—WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS IT CURES—TRY IT FIRST AND SAVE EXPERIMENTING.

"Five years ago my little daughter was attacked with catarrh of a very severe type. We used all known Catarrh cures, and treated with medical skill physicians for over three years, and her case was pronounced chronic and incurable. Last winter we heard of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Agnew's Catarrh Powder. A bottle was procured, and I hear state for the benefit and encouragement of all sufferers from this dreadful malady that after using two bottles my child was completely cured, and I consider it my duty to give my testimony for the benefit of like sufferers." Mrs. Geo. Graves, Ingersoll, Ont. Sold by J. L. Mathieu.

IN HONOR OF THE PRESIDENT.

President McKinley is to be given the unique distinction of having a number of a woman's magazine named for him and prepared in his honor. The July issue of the Ladies' Home Journal is to be called "The President's Number." It will show the President on horseback on the cover with the President's new "fighting flag" flying over him; a new march by Victor Herbert is called "The President's March." The State Department has allowed the magazine to make a direct photograph of the original parchment of the Declaration of Independence, and the President's own friends and intimates have combined to tell some twenty new and unpublished stories and anecdotes about him which will show him in a manner not before done. The cover will be printed in the National colors.

The largest city of the world is London, lying in four counties and having a population of 4,250,000, equalling the combined populations of Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg and Rome. To walk through all the streets, avenues, lanes and alleys of the city, never traversing the same one twice, would require a ten-mile walk every day for nine years.

In a shop window in Dublin there appeared the following notice:—"Wanted, two apprentices, who shall be treated as one of the family."

There are nearly five hundred young Canadians in Chicago, who are ex-members of the Canadian Militia.

Thin Blood

Where the blood loses its intense red—grows thin and watery, as in anemia, there is a constant feeling of exhaustion, a lack of energy—vitality and the spirits depressed.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda is peculiarly adapted to correct this condition. The cod-liver oil, emulsified to an exquisite fineness, enters the blood direct and feeds its every corpuscle, restoring the natural color and giving vitality to the whole system. The hypophosphites reach the brain and nerve centres and add their strengthening and beneficial effect. If the roses have left your cheeks, if you are growing thin and exhausted from over-work, or if age is beginning to tell, use SCOTT'S Emulsion.

Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion. All druggists; 50c. and $1.00. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Toronto.

Let the Would Be Customer Never Wait Back to Him Again.

Customer—I want some kind of a door spring, one that won't get out of order.

Hardware Dealer—A door spring? Customer—Yes, and one that won't require the strength of an elephant to open.

Customer—Hem! Dealer—And yet it must be strong enough to bring the door all the way to and not leave it swinging open a couple of inches.

Dealer—I see. Customer—And when the door closes I don't want it to ram shut like a catapult, with a jar that shakes the house from its foundations.

Dealer—Yes. You want one that will bring the door all the way to and yet do it gently.

Customer—That's the idea. But I don't want any complicated arrangement that requires a skilled mechanic to attend to it.

Dealer—No, of course not. You want something simple, yet strong and effective.

Customer—That's the talk, something that can be put on or taken off easily, something that will do its work quietly, yet thoroughly, and will be eternally getting out of order.

Dealer—I see. I know exactly what you want, sir, just exactly.

Customer—Well, show me one.

Dealer—We don't keep door springs.

Why She Was Pleased.

She was fairly beaming when they met.

"What's the matter?" asked her best friend.

"George is going to the war," she answered.

"But I don't see anything pleasant about that."

"Well, you see, it's just this way," she explained.

"Nothing short of the shock of being ordered into active service ever would have given him the nerve to propose. That's worth some risk."

Their Lost Private.

The Billville newspapers are advertising for the lost private who escaped from the captivity of the colonels on Wednesday last. He had been captured in a wild state in one of the neighboring swamps and had been placed in charge of the 70 commanding colonels, but in some way he managed to elude them and crawled to freedom through the stovepipe. Now the colonels are ready for hostilities, but have no private to command.—Atlanta Constitution.

Cause For Anxiety.

First Farmer—My boy is lairish so fast at school I'm gettin' worried about him.

Second Farmer—Afeared he'll git brain fever?

First Farmer—No, but I'm afeared he might take a notion to be one o' them unforn'it schoolteachers that can't more'n earn their salt.—Nuggets.

Rather Odd.

"As I understand it," said the man who was learning the language, "a live wire and a dead man usually go together, or a dead wire and a live man."

And, being informed that he had hit it just right, he went off into a corner and pondered at some length peculiar combinations.—Chicago Post.

Looks That Way.

Mrs. Wheeler—Here is a curious typographical error. The title of this new book is printed, "The Viking Age."

Mr. Wheeler—Well, why not? What ought it to be?

Mrs. Wheeler—Why, biking, oughtn't it?—Up to Date.

No Much Strength.

Mrs. J. born—Put down that paragon. The baby should cry a certain amount to strengthen his lungs.

Mr. Firstborn—Yes, but we don't want him to grow up and be a prize-fighter.—San Francisco Examiner.

Seven Time Murderer—Yes, indeed, for I am famous at last. Now I will get into the dime museum.—Schalk.

Day Labor.

Not So Strange.

Sauce—I saw a man in a window making faces today.

Symple—What was he doing that for? Sauce—For a couple of clocks. He is a jeweler.—Tit-Bits.

Slipped Her Memory.

The Wife—Were you ever in a serious runaway, John?

The Husband—You seem to have forgotten that I eloped with you, my dear.

—New York Truth.

The imagination of small boys is worth having. The other night, when Mr. Walling was lying asleep on his library sofa and snoring away for dear life, Mrs. Walling remarked that she wished he would not snore so.

"Pa ain't snorin'," said Tommie Walling. "He's dreamin' about a dog, and that's the dog growlin'."

"I cannot understand," said the bachelor clerk, "why a man's wife is called his 'better half.' 'You would,' said the married clerk, 'if you had to divide your salary with one.'"

MISS MALONEY GOES TO THE DENTIST.

Sure, and did I tell yez how I went to the dentist yesterday! Be aisy now, will yez, and wait a bit, and I'll tell yez all about it. Says I, "Och doothur, doothur dear, it's me tooth that aches intirely, sure it is, and I've a mind to have it drawn out, if ye please, sur." "Does it hurt ye?" he says till me. "Och, hum, then, can ye ax me that, now, an' me all the way down here to see yez about it?" says I. "Shure I haven't slept day nor night these three days. Bedad, haven't I tried all manes to quite the jumping devil? Sure didn't they tell me to put raw whiskey into me mouth, but would it stay there, just tell me now? No, the devil a bit could I kape it in my mouth, though it's far from the likes o' me to be drinkin' the whiskey without extrame provocation, or by accident." So thin the doothur took his iron instruments in a hurry, wid as little concernment of mind as Barney would swape the knives an' forks from the table.

"Be aisy, doothur," says I, "there's time enough, sure you'll not be in a hurry," says I, "when your time comes, I'm thinkin'."

"Och, well," says the doothur, "an' ay yez not ready now Miss Maloney, ye may come on the morrow." "Indade, doothur, I'll not stir from this sate wid this auld dead tooth alive in me jaw," says I, so ye may jist prepare, but ye nade not come slashin' at a poor Christian body as ye would wring her neck off first, an' draw her tooth at yez convayience mebbe a quarther of an hour afterward.

"Now clap on yer pinchers, had luck to thin, but mind ye git hold av the right one—sure, ye may aisy see it by the achin' and jumpin'," says I. "Och," says he, "I'll git hold av the right one, an' wid that he jabs a small razor-lookin' weapon into me mouth an' cuts up me gums as av it was nothin' but cold water for hash for breakfast. Says I, "Doothur, thunder an' turf!" for me mouth is full of blood, "What in the devil are after? Dye want to make an anatomy av a livin' crathur, ye graverobber, ye!" says I. "Sit still," says he, jammin' something like a corkscrew into me jaw, an' twistin' the very soul out of me. Shure I sat still, becase the murtherin' thafe made me down wid his knee and the gripe of his iron in me mouth. If you'll believe me, the worst of all was when he gave an awful wring, hard enough to bring a wet blanket as dry as gunpowder. Arrah! didn't I think the judgment day had come to me? Holy fathers! may I never breathe another breath if I didn't see the red fire in the pit! Sure I felt me head fly off me shoulders, an' lookin' up saw somethin' monstrous, bloody in the doothur's wrenchin' iron. "Is that me head ye have got there?" says I. "No, it's only your tooth," says he. "You lie," says I. "God bless you," says he. "Maybe it is me tooth," says I, as me eyes began to open, an' by puttin' me hand up troth I found the outside av me face on, the I felt as if all the inside had been hauled out barrin' the jumpin' pain in the tooth, which had grown to fill the gap.

Och! may the devil take the tooth, an' the bad luck too, if I ever think av it any more. Sure I've had enough of its company, bad cess to the little devil!

THE USE OF FERTILIZERS.

You cannot by the use of commercial fertilizers alone, make your land rich. Indeed, if they are ignorantly applied, the result will be the impoverishment of the soil. If you add ten dollars to your bank account and check out twenty, you know the result. I like manner, when you use a small quantity of your fertilizer it grows a vigorous plant, which enables it to gather fertility from the soil largely in excess of the materials added by the fertilizer. Judiciously used they are a great boon to the farmer. But, I repeat the best method of using the phosphates and potash salts is on the pea and clover crops. It insures as a rule a fine crop of these renovators.

Wells & Richardson Co.

GENTLEMEN:—I think it my duty, without solicitation from an one, to write in the interests of other sufferers, and give you a testimonial in favor of your (to me) almost miraculous remedy, Paine's Celery Compound.

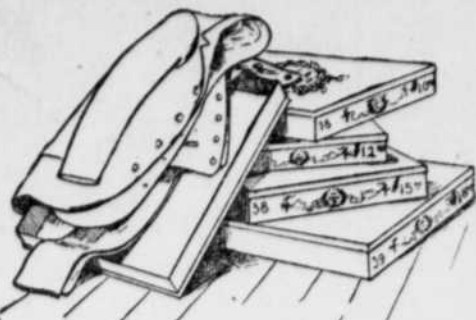

For more than a year I was suffering from the agonizing pains of sciatica, and after trying all that medical skill could devise, and using many remedies, patent and otherwise, I concluded to try the Hot Springs at Banff. I took the treatment thoroughly and carefully for six weeks, and came home at the end of that time racked with pain and weighing 43 pounds less. As this juncture, when hope had almost fled, I heard of Paine's Celery Compound.

It seemed suited to my case, and I sent to my druggist Mr. J. W. Higginbotham, of this place and asked about it. He recommended it to me and I took a bottle. I soon began to feel better, and after taking the second bottle I was a cured man and threw away my crutches.

I keep a bottle on hand in case of any return of the complaint. I am now 68 years old, and I feel as spry and healthy and free from pain as ever I did in my life. I was born in Norfolk, England, and came to Canada when only 3 years old. I was brought up in the township of Cornwall, Ontario, and came to Manitoba eight years ago. Have always been a farmer, and am as able to do hard work as ever I was.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL.

(Special Correspondence to the Examiner.)

Ottawa, June 6th, 1898.

THE PUBLIC ACCOUNTS COMMITTEE.

So much public attention is always given to the regular business of Parliament during the Session of the House that too often the work of the committee is overlooked, and yet it is frequently happens that most important work is done there. Take for example the proceedings of the Public Accounts Committee during the past few weeks. Reference has been previously made to this matter in these letters but the incidents of the Sessions held this week are worthy of some attention also. The matter of the expenditure occurred by the Government in investigating the wholesale and most recently frauds perpetrated in Manitoba during the general election of two years ago was under discussion, and the Conservatives took exception to the spending of $125,000 in legal proceedings because forth only one or two convictions had been secured, though a score of deputy returning officers and others had been placed upon their trial. That the most flagrant corruptions had been systematically practiced is well known, for the whole country was scandalized by the revelations in its courts at the time of the trials; but convictions were impossible to secure because of the partisan sympathies of the juries sworn to try the cases. This is not an ill considered assertion from a prejudiced pen, but the sworn testimony of the prosecuting attorney made under oath before the Public Accounts Committee. To put a stop to such heinous crimes against the liberties of the people—crimes which one witness characterized as "worse than a dozen murders"—any necessary expenditure of public money was justifiable—that the actual result in the matter of convictions and the meting out of punishment to the offenders was not larger is deeply to be regretted, but the Government certainly cannot be held responsible for that.

DRUMMOND COUNTY RAILWAY.

Another Committee, which has been doing good work has been the Drummond County Railway Special Committee, and excuse for again referring thereto is the fact that for many months Conservative Members of Parliament and Conservative Speakers throughout the country have been making this subject the center of their criticism of the Government. The prominence given to the matter may be taken as an indication of the importance they attached to it, and it is reasonable to assume that they considered it the worst feature of the Government policy up to date. The Government may well be content to accept this estimate and to abide by the consequences, for the Committee reports inability to find the least indication of crookedness or even attempted corruption. To let themselves down as easily as possible the Conservative Members of the Committee have prepared a minority report, which reviews the evidence, admits the untouch of the charge that the Minister of Public Works, La Patrie, with money found by the railway promoters—and this was the grand charge of all which was going to wreck the ministry—refuses to reiterate the other charges, because there is no longer any shred of excuse for doing so, and winds up with declaring that the price Government would have paid was exorbitant—an expression of opinion simply, which was in no way borne out by the evidence. So much for the great Drummond County Railway Scandal.—To let themselves down as easily as possible the Conservative Members of the Committee have prepared the Opposition to bring on such investigations, a few more would settle the fate of the Government and give it a lease of power in perpetuity.

THE FRANCHISE IN THE SENATE.

So the dear old Senate is not going to oppose the Franchise Bill, but only render it "workable and more palatable." Read kind "it"! What should we do without our Senators to fix up things and keep the affairs of state running smoothly? We wonder if the Senate ever heard of a little incident in the History of the Imperial House of Lords—its great prototype, when some 15 years ago it took deprecate to meddle with the Franchise Bill which the popular house had adopted. A tremendous agitation swept through the country, the venerable lords came as near ignominious extermination as they ever had done, and when the next session came round the bill was once more presented and passed without a scratch. Possibly the Senate relies upon the fact that hitherto Canadians have scarcely proved as responsive to great political educational movements, but if they are well advise they will not experiment too often with public patience.

THE GENERAL HITS BACK.

General Gascoigne, the retiring commander of the Canadian Forces, has replied to the vicious assault made upon him in the House by Sir Charles Tupper, and in his answer shows pretty conclusively that the petulant baronet did not exercise very great care in preparing the facts used in his statements. While the General has no reason to be ashamed of his share of the controversy, it does seem to be overlooked that a gentleman possessing the confidence of his sovereign and the esteem of his fellow countrymen generally, should be subject to the attacks of those who have a personal grievance against him because in the course of his official duties he has found it necessary to interfere with arrangements which provided positions of emoluments to the Tupper connections.

SUPERANNUATION ABOLISHED.

The Civil Service Superannuation Scheme which has long been a scandal and a source of indefensible expense to the country has been reformed out of existence, and the Government has once again shown that its pre-election promises were made in dead earnest. In future, the attaches of the public service will have to do as other men do, make reasonable provision out of their quite sufficient salaries for the future and not rely on the indulgent country to not only pay them all they are worth when they are actually working and keep them in affluence when the time arrives that from age or party exigencies they have to make way for others.

NOTES.

The cost of administering the affairs of the Canadian Yukon and establishing a social condition there which is the admiration of the nations is coming pretty high but it is very gratifying to hear that the receipts from that country, have so far, exceeded the cost of Government. Next year we shall be edified with the Conservative criticism of the dreadful expenditures and the vast sums the Government is taking out of the pockets of the people.

THE GROWING FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN AMERICA & ENGLAND.

London, June 7.—The "Chronicle" publishes a preliminary list of the members of an Anglo-American committee, the declared object of which is to promote better relations between Great Britain and the U.S.

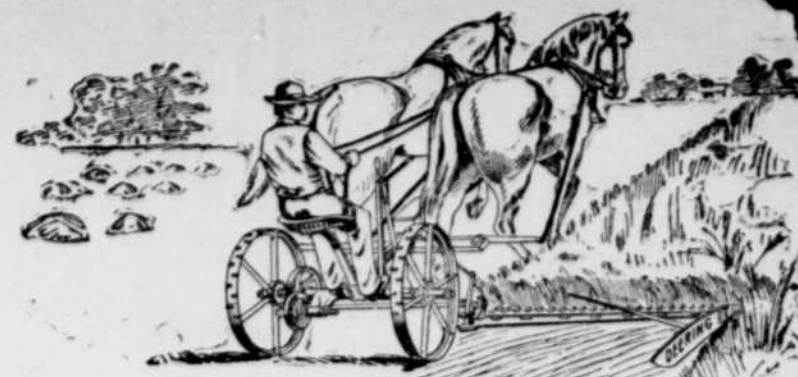

The committee does not aim at a treaty or any other bond of alliance. It aspires only, in the words of Mr. Bryce, to "a constant, cordial co-operation." It excludes from the sphere of operations anything directly concerning the present war, and does not intend to present any kind of public demonstration.

The idea of the promoters is to enroll 10,000 representative men and women in Great Britain.

More than a hundred have already signified their intention of joining the committee, including the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Archbishop of York, the Duke of Fife, the Earl of Jersey, Earl Gray, the Bishops of London, Durham, Winchester, Chester, Hereford, Liverpool, Manchester, Worcester, Ripon and Peterborough; Viscount Peel, Lords Brassey, Coleridge, Fyfe, Kinaird, Lister, Walpole, and Charles Belford, and Messrs. Asquith, Bryce, Bowdler, Northcote, H. M. Stanley, Sir Frederick Pollock, Dr. Broadbent, the Prince of Wales's physician; Lewis Morris, Sir Walter Besant, Ian MacLaren, Anthony Hope, Conan Doyle, Rudyard Kipling and a number of non-conformist clergymen.

Why Ram Lal's Tea Makes

Fast Friends.

Ram Lal's Tea is known to the world as "full flavored" while Ceylon teas are designated "thin". Ram Lal's does not pall on the taste and become flat as do "thin flavored" teas. It is the district in which Ram Lal's Tea is grown and the cleanly process of manufacture that give its delightful "full flavor" while all the bouquet and aroma are retained because it comes to us in six weeks from the time the tea is first plucked.
