Largest Pontiac Protestant Congregation Shawville United Celebrates 121st Anniversary

Shawville United Church, the largest Protestant congregation in Pontiac County, marked its 121st anniversary in special services over the weekend.

Capacity congregations attended the morning and evening services and heard the guest preacher, Rev. James A. Payton of Ganoque.

His morning and evening sermon topics were "The Meaning of the Church" and "The Message of the Church" respectively.

The choir was augmented by a six-piece orchestra during the evening service. Joseph Russell of Montreal was the morning soloist. Rev. H. G. Lester, pastor, conducted the services, assisted during the evening service by Rev. Dr. A. F. Fokes.

The congregation has worshipped in three church buildings and has had 50 ministers since it was organized as a congregation of the former Methodist Church at the Belleville Conference of 1834. Rev. Richard Burney was the first minister.

From 1880 to 1900, the church had attached to it 12 appointments covering the entire township of Clarendon.

During this period two ministers and a number of lay preachers conducted a dozen services each Sunday.

In 1890 the third structure, seating 500 people, was erected. When it was razed in a great fire that destroyed four village blocks in 1906, the church was rebuilt around the remaining walls and has been the place of worship ever since.

Of the 50 ministers who have served the church through the years, five are still living. They are Rev. Fred Tripp, residing in

Montreal; Rev. Mahlon I. Robinson, Toronto; Dr. William E. Wright, presently serving at South

Mountain, Ont., Dr. A. F. Fokes, minister at Starks, Que., who was with the Shawville congregation from 1931 to 1952, and Rev. H. G. Lester, currently serving the congregation.

At the anniversary services an appeal was made for contributions towards the complete redecoration of the church structure which will cost in the vicinity of $1,500.

Special selections were provided by the church choir, under the direction of Miss Kay Woodley. Mrs. Edgar Hodgins was at the organ.

On Monday night an anniversary dinner was held in the church basement. This anniversary dinner proved a great success. The Women's Auxiliary, which catered to about 225 hungry parishioners, did an excellent job, and appreciated the fine support shown. Rev. and Mrs. George Heslop, of Yarm, who were present at the supper, and whose 43rd wedding anniversary fell on Monday, were offered congratulations by Rev. H. G. Lester on behalf of the congregation.

Thursday the 2nd day of June, the Hon. James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries and Member of Parliament for Coast-Capilana, B. C., was Guest Speaker at the 8th Charter Nite of the Pontiac Lions Club, held at McConnery's Hotel in Campbell's Bay. He gave a very interesting talk on the functioning and responsibilities of the Department of Fisheries in Ottawa, concluding his remarks by saying that a fisherman is somewhat like a woman trying to catch a husband, they both have a try different lures.

The Guest Speaker was introduced by the Member of Parliament for the County of Pontiac, Mr. Hugh Proudfoot of Fort Coulonge, and was thanked by Lion Romeo Mousseau of Campbell's Bay.

New Radio-active Area Discovered

Another promising uranium discovery in the Thorne area of Pontiac County which may well prove important, has been reported.

A group of Pontiac men, composed of H. G. Wills, C. H. Cone, Herman Schwartz and Irvin Cone, has announced interesting radio-activity measurements from their properties in Thorne Township.

The group holds 1400 acres, consisting of lots 18 & 19 of Range 2 of Thorne; lots 18, 21, 22 and the north half of 19 and 20 of Range 1 of Thorne; lots 1 to 6 of the East Range of Thorne.

Three radioactivity measurements have been obtained which have been officially rated as .19, .23, and .25 respectively. A heavy response on Geiger Counters has also been recorded along a half mile dike on the Range 2 property. Surface sampling on Range 2

Progress Report On Dunraven

DunRaven Mines Ltd., has received a progress report signed by H. J. Bergmann, consulting engineer, on its graphite property in the Clarendon Thorne area. The report dated May 27, 1955, indicates graphite ore reserves of 4 million tons averaging 4.1% graphite. In addition these are considerable additional tonnages of lower grade material.

A metallurgical examination is being conducted, on graphite ore samples from the property, by the Department of Mines pilot plant at Val d'Or. Flotation, without additional cleaning, produced a concentrate grading 62% graphite. Additional cleaning and refining to get rid of the remaining silica is expected to bring the concentrate up to market specifications. From the tests so far run, it is anticipated that a good quality of flake graphite could be recovered.

Mr. Bergmann states in his report that the ore could be mined by the open pit method. Assuming costs and selling price comparable with those of Black Donald Mine in Ontario (now closed), the ore could be mined for 4 cents per lb. and sold for 7 cents. A mill of 500 ton capacity is mentioned by Mr. Bergmann. Its cost of construction has been estimated by him at $400,000.

Calf Club Judge Dry Mature Cows

The Shawville Calf Club held their first meeting of the year at the home of Arthur Dagg on the evening of May 30th.

There were 26 members present with three visitors. These members judged a class of dry mature cows after which Mr. Dagg gave members a lesson on placing and reasoning.

A committee was appointed to make plans for a ball game and weiner roast on June 10th, also a dance on June 30th.

Four members were chosen to attend the Lachute Spring Fair on June 18, with the club paying half the expenses. These members are to take part in junior competition there.

Mr. Dagg was thanked for holding this meeting, by the president, Elwood Hodgins. The meeting was then adjourned.

is now going forward. It is planned to submit samples for assay in the near future.

National Farm Forum Delegates Tour Pontiac Farms

The tour of Pontiac farms went off beautifully on schedule Tuesday. Leaving Pine Lodge, the group visited Charles Russell's, Wyman MacKechnie's, Leonard Horner's, Arthur Dagg's, Gordon Brownlee's, Clarence T. Brownlee's, and Iverson Harris', winding up at Bryson beach for a picnic arranged by the various Pontiac Farm Forums. On the tour, the delegates to the National Farm Forum Convention were able to see a variety of farming methods and a variety of cattle in Pontiac's dairy country.

The delegates included Agronomists from Nova Scotia and British Columbia and agriculturalists from all points between. Also on the tour of Pontiac Farms were a number of CBC officials, a Province of Quebec photographer and a television cameraman from the CBC. It has been suggested that the films of the tour will appear as part of the farm television program at six o'clock over the Ottawa station.

Registered at Pine Lodge for the Convention are: Dr. E. A. Corbett, Toronto, Keith Morrow, Ottawa, J. L. Dewar, Prince Edward Island, Miss Marjorie Nicholson, New Brunswick, Jack McPherson, Toronto, Glenn Smiley, Alberta, Allan DesChamps, British Columbia, Mrs. Lillian McJanet, Manitoba, Prof. D. R. Robinson, Saskatchewan, James Bird, Ontario, Tom Austin, New Brunswick, Keith Russell, Bob Knowles and R. J. James, Toronto, David Kirk, Ottawa, Henry Austin, Cape Breton, Peter Stewart, Nova Scotia, Don Cox and R. E. Morehouse, Nova Scotia, Miss Jean McLeod and Miss Rita Cassidy, Toronto and Mrs. Edito Storr.

Coming in yesterday to join the Convention were James Powers, fieldman for the Federation of Agriculture for Bruce County, Ontario, James Boynton, field man for Grey County, Peter Naughton, fieldman for Simco County, Ray Hergott, in charge of field services for the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, James Jacklin, fieldman, Mrs. Cecil Reynolds, secretary of the Simco County Farm Forum Committee and Gerald Finley from Shinimicas, Nova Scotia.

Norvic Moonlight Cruise Dancing Delights Delegates

The National Farm Radio Forum Convention took a gay turn last night as delegates from every province joined the local planning committee to make up a party of one hundred aboard the SS Norvic. As the Skipper steered his craft around Chats Lake, the passengers sang and danced to the music of George Towell and his three piece band.

Callers were volunteers among the visiting delegates and it was soon discovered that a set called by Don Austin from Cape Breton could be followed in Pontiac by dancers from Alberta, British Columbia and Radford and Manitobans, Ontarians and New Brunswickers all sang the same words to the old favorite songs.

The Three Bears

Out on his fields, at Fort Coulonge, a farmer is piling up a nice record and it's not hay or oats either. In the grey dawn of last Monday morning Farmer Gerald Bonnant headed out to the back hay field to begin the chores but there was something more than quiet cattle enjoying the songs of spring.

A big mother bear and two cubs were carrying out a tour of investigation and Mr. Bonnant hastened back to the kitchen to pick up the gun. Three shots finished three bears to bring the hunter's total up to 16.

Pontiac Advance To Be Discontinued Next Week

Starting next week only one paper per week will be published at the Printshop. The Equity, enlarged to 10 or 12 pages will appear every Thursday.

County Grants Total $5,600

Campbell's Bay—Total grants of $5,600 were approved by the Pontiac County Council on Wednesday at its quarterly meeting with Warden Thomas McGuire presiding. The grants were as follows: Pontiac Community Hospital, $2,500; Chapeau Community Hospital, $1,000; Red Cross, $200; Salvation Army, $400; Hull Social Service, $1,000; Canadian Institute for the Blind, $300; Pontiac Farm Forum, $100; Pontiac Anti-Tuberculosis Association $100.

The lake provided a beautiful surrounding for this very special party and as the surrounding hills became obscured by darkness, a beautiful cover of stars shone brightly to provide still more beauty. Towards the end of the two hour cruise, the moon added herself to the scenery, lighting the way home to Pine Lodge where coffee and cookies await the tired but happy conventioners.

Tonight's banquet is the final gesture of welcome planned by the local committee but the delegates from afar claim they have already gained the most favourable impression possible of this area after visiting our farms on Tuesday and cruising down our river on Wednesday.

On Friday, the Clarendon Women's Institute and the local committee will complete their job as hosts with the material assistance of the CBC as they tour the new television studios in Ottawa with the delegates. This week will not soon be forgotten by the local Farm Forum people and after last night it is unlikely that any of the delegates will soon forget Pontiac.

Cheese Production In Pontiac

With the announcement that the cheese factory at Eardley will not open this year, another of the well known old landmarks of the area disappears from the local production scene.

The closing of the doors of the Eardley Cheese factory may well mark the end of cheese making in this section of Pontiac-Gatineau. An era which saw the production and sale of Canadian Cheddar, unsurpassed in quality anywhere in Canada.

Recalling some of the large production years during the 54 years of existence of the factory, store keeper and cheese curer Ira Merrifield pointed to the small deliveries of milk last year, and the even smaller deliveries available this year as the reason for closing. "It just wasn't possible to keep going", he said.

William Kennedy, a past president of the cheese factory, advanced several reasons for the small quantities of milk available.

1. Help on the farms is scarce. Farmers have not been able to keep their sons on the farms, especially since the war. With other help being so difficult to get, farmers have been forced to reduce or abandon their dairy herds.

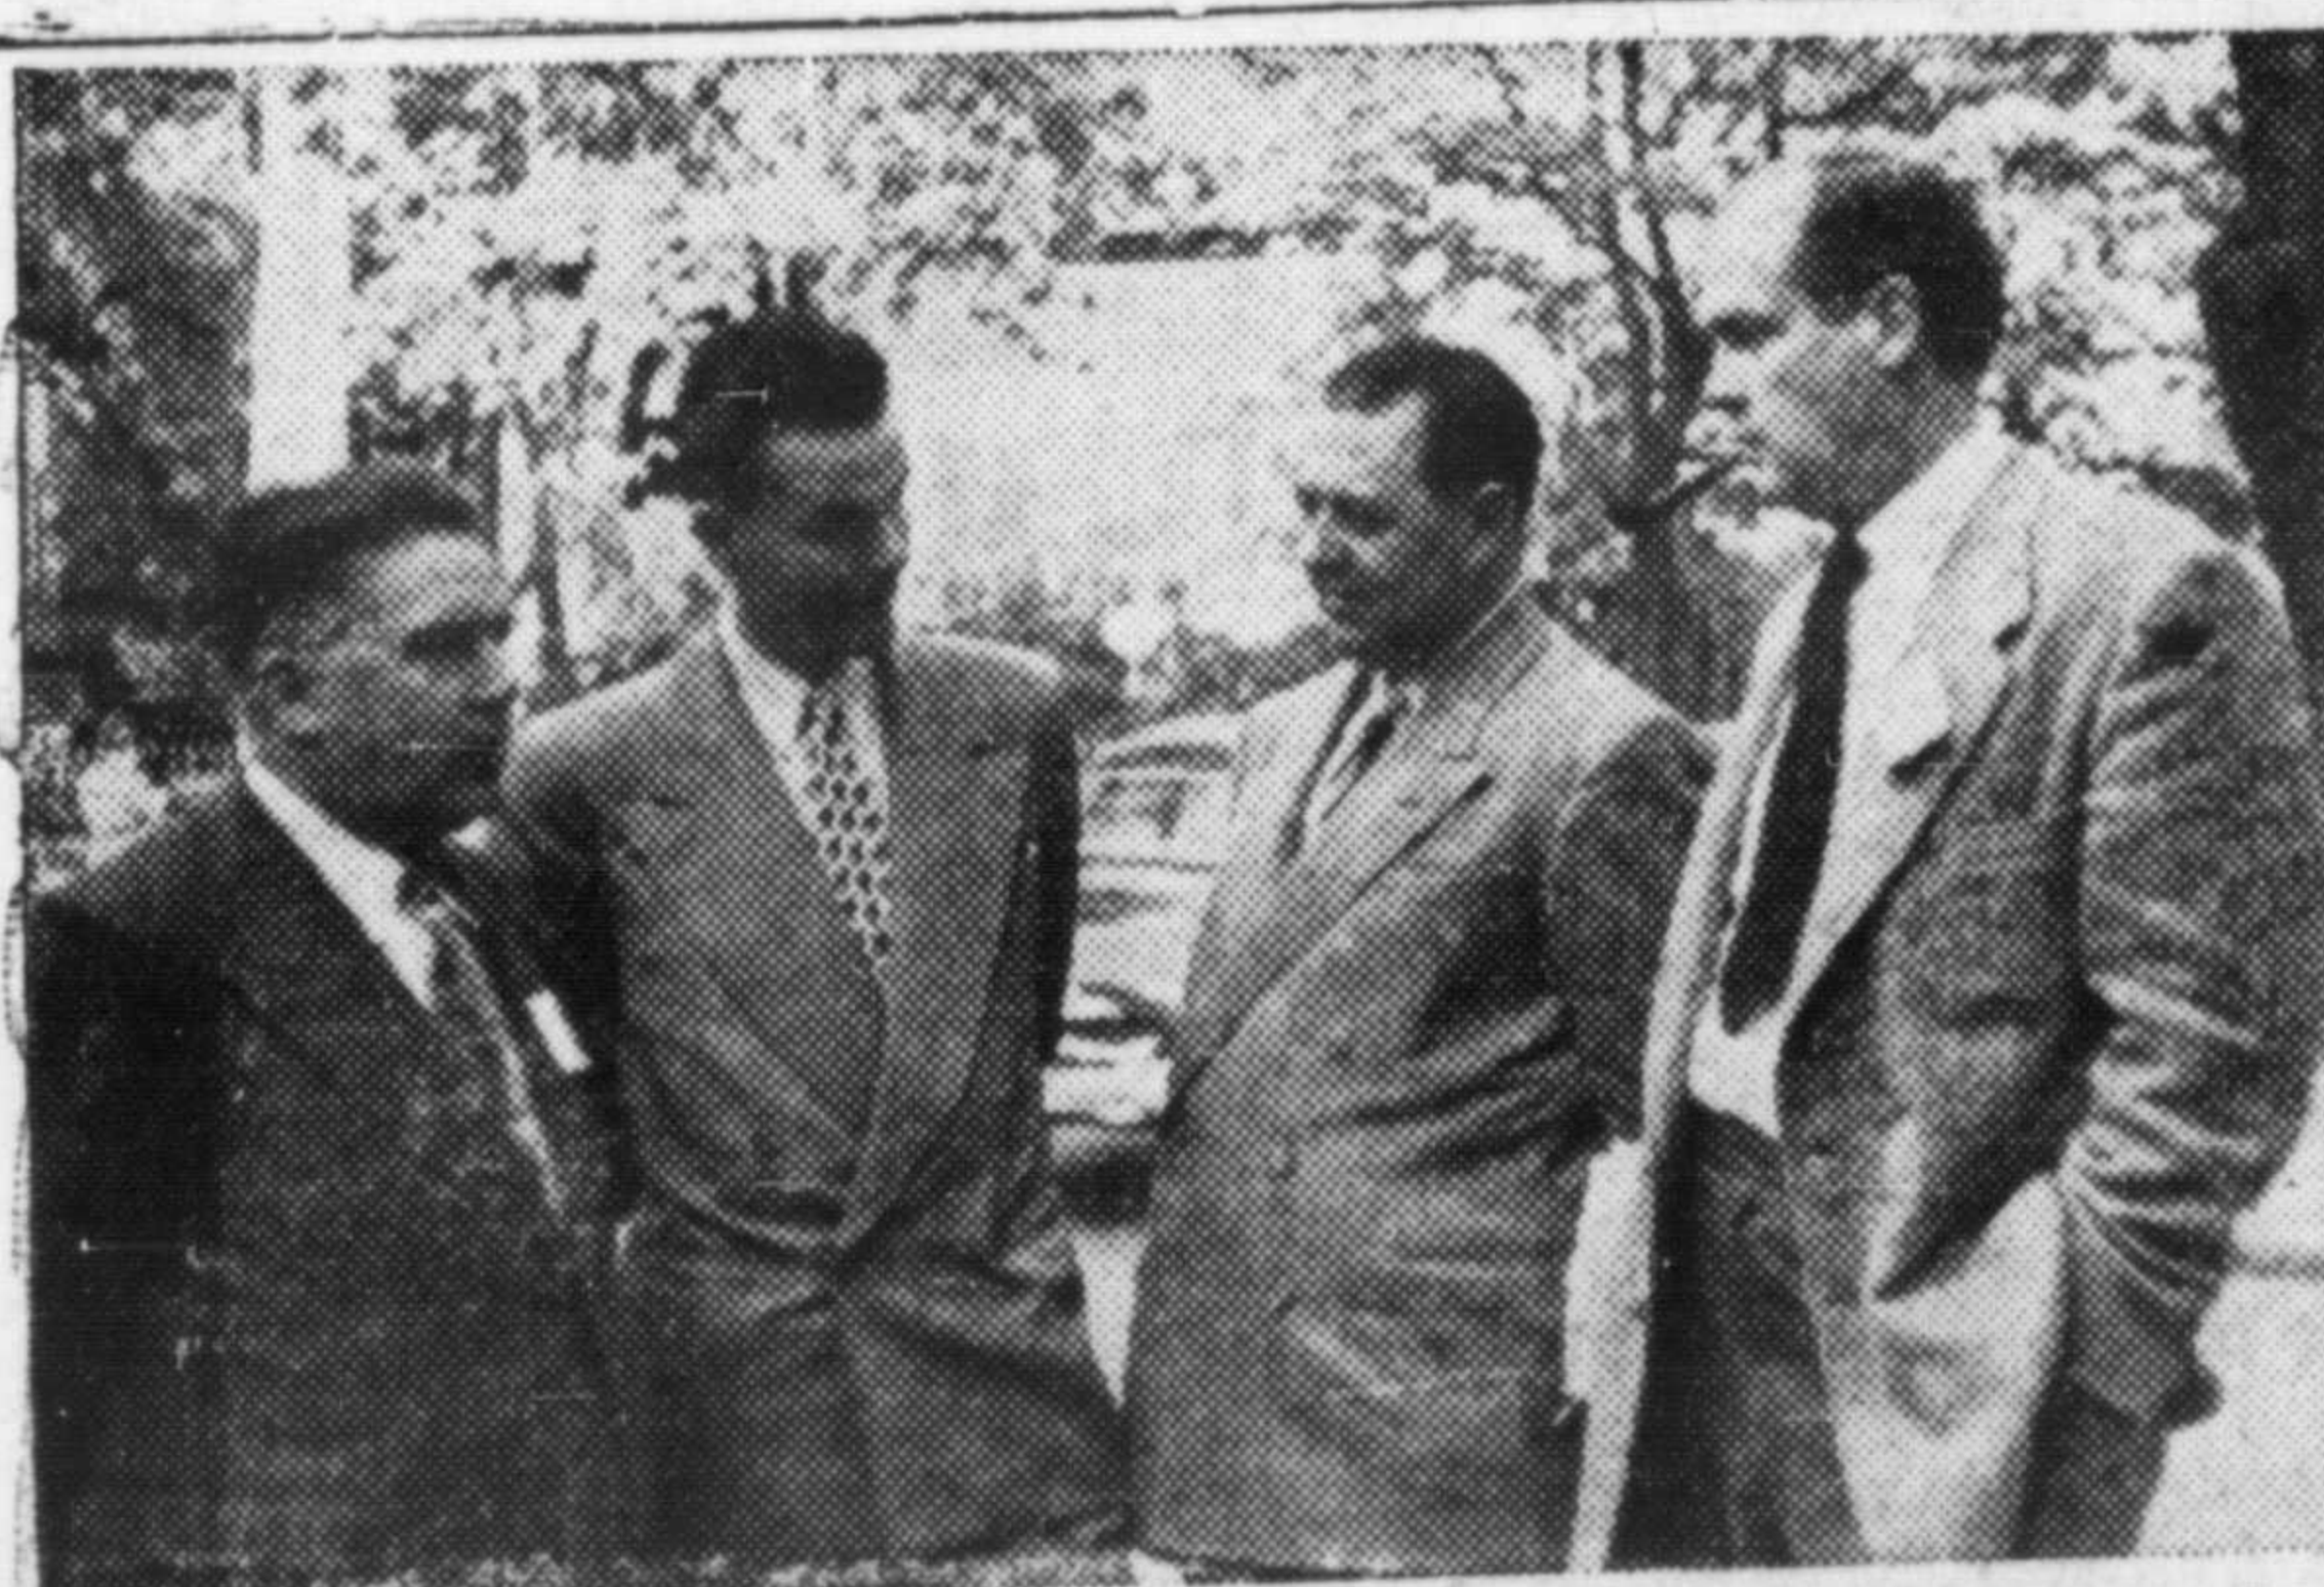

2. The Quyon and Macham creameries buy only cream from the dairymen, leaving the skim milk to be fed to stock on the farm. When shipping to the cheese factory, only whey was available for stock feed. "You can't start a calf on whey" said Mr. Kennedy. Farmers prefer therefore to ship to the creameries.

3. Shippers to the cheese factory had to deliver their milk to the factory, whereas the creameries will pick it up at the farm.

The offsetting disadvantage of not shipping to the cheese factory is simply that the price paid to the farmer, per pound of butterfat, is higher for cheese than can be earned from creamery shipments—especially during the early months of the season.

Old timers in the community may well shed a nostalgic tear over the closing of the factory, which has formed a part of their lives for so long. Gourmets in this community and elsewhere may do likewise, in recognition of the passing of the Merrifield-cured cheeses.

To both of these groups we say that all need not be lost. One of the important factors in the decision to close this year was the matter of carrying the milk to the factory. Three creameries are covering the area with cream trucks. One of these, probably the Quyon Co-operative Creamery, might well consider the purchase and operation of the cheese factory in addition to its present undertaking. The problem of milk shipping would be eliminated for the farmer, and could likely be handled by the Co-op at a very small additional cost. This plan would have the added advantage to the Co-op of enabling it to enlarge its patronage, and absorb the resulting additional shipments in a quite profitable undertaking.

Kidd, Toronto, director of Canadian Association for Adult Education, Leonard Harman of United Co-operatives of Ontario and Keith Morrow, Supervisor of CBC Farm and Fisheries Department, Ottawa.

Campbell's Bay School Board

The Protestant Board of School Commissioners of Campbell's Bay met on the first day of June at 8.30 in the Campbell's Bay Intermediate School. Chairman Asa Smith and board members, H. Wilson, H. Brown, C. Moorhead, A. Durrell and Secretary Treasurer, Esther Quaitle, Principal Carl

Jackson and Supervisor Frank Trecartin were also present. Routine monthly bills amounting to $97 were passed for payment. On motion of Com. Brown the board decided to purchase the aquarium, now established in the senior room, from Mr. Jackson for $20.

Mr. Jackson, attending his last Board meeting at Campbell's Bay as Principal, expressed his regret at leaving and stated that he had enjoyed his work at Campbell's

OTTAWA Report: Forum Secretary Addresses Shawville Rotary Club Monday

by Anthony J. Wright

Feeling runs deep here concerning Montreal's new $25 million Canadian National Railways hotel, the Queen Elizabeth. George Drew's latest attack in the House of Commons served to skewer the Government more firmly than ever on the twin horns of its dilemma—the hotel's name and its American management.

French-Canadians feel strongly that any new CNR hotel should bear a name rich in historic tradition, preferably Chateau Maiseneuve, after the founder of Montreal. After all, they argue, Quebec City has the Chateau Frontenac and Ottawa the Chateau Laurier. However, anyone who thinks for a moment will realize that the name Queen Elizabeth, once decided upon, became—for obvious reasons—unchangeable.

Consequently a bad feeling has been brewed between French and English speaking Canadians by the very agency charged with guarding national unity, the Federal Government. And no compromise solution has yet suggested itself.

The second serious complication came into the picture when the CNR decided to turn over management of the hotel to the Hilton chain in the United States. It is no exaggeration to say Canadian pride has been wounded. Anti-American sentiment has been voiced in public and in Parliament.

Such a development couldn't have come at a worse time when you consider that we've just signed an agreement with Washington to allow the U.S. to build and operate the Distant Early Warning radar system across the roof of Canada. We can't defend ourselves alone; we need the help of the American military, but we resent having a hotel named the Queen Elizabeth run by an American multi-millionaire. That's human nature, I guess.

Government leaders realize, only too acutely, of course, that the present situation fosters two nasty brands of nationalism—French vs. English and Canadian vs. American—and their distress is further aggravated by the apparent insolubility of the problem.

Some observers think that Conrad Hilton will get fed up with all the bad publicity he's getting and toss the whole deal back in the lap of CNR Boss Donald Gordon. Whatever happens, a lot of Canadians are going to be left with a bad taste in their mouth.

George Nowlan, the Conservative M.P. for Digby-Annapolis-Kings, N. S., raised a chuckle among Opposition members when he went after the Post Office Department about its recent stamp designs.

He used colorful language with a Maritime tang. He said one of the stamps showed "an Indian squaw nailing a deer hide to a frame while her husband sits smoking a pipe watching her do it," another shows "an Indian or a trapper nailing a beaver hide to a log cabin, but...the beaver skin (is) much larger than the trapper himself," yet another showed "an Eskimo paddling a kayak the size of a toothpick."

Canada's latest four-cent stamp in the wildlife series, said Mr. Nowlan, had him confused. He confessed he couldn't figure out if the sad-looking picture showed a muskox, a mountain goat—or a judge of the Supreme Court!

Biggest exhibitor at this year's Canadian International Trade Fair, which closes June 10, has been Red Czechoslovakia. "This push into Western markets will receive a cold welcome from thinking Canadians," states Dr. Ivan Bujna, the president of the (Free) Czechoslovak Association of Canada.

Canadian trade with Red-dominated countries, Dr. Bujna points out, cannot help but strengthen the economies of countries committed to international communism and thus to the destruction of the Western democracies. The goods offered are part and parcel of the strategy of international communism. They're sold abroad even though they're desperately needed at home.

The Red Cross goods are produced in state factories using forced labor and what can only be described as brutal labor methods. Aside from state factories, it is a known fact that there are thousands of people in Czechoslovakia enslaved in forced labor camps, in mines and on farms, required to work for 12 hours a day without pay to produce for the state.

In view of this, said Dr. Bujna, it is not too dramatic to say these goods are stained with human suffering.

It is to be hoped that Canadian business men will scorn such Red trade offers.

At the regular weekly meeting of Shawville Rotary, held at Pontiac House on Monday night, Floyd Griesbach, National Secretary of Farm Radio Forum, gave the Rotary Club a brief outline of the history and purposes of Farm Forum in Canada.

Started in 1941, Mr. Griesbach said, Farm Forum is a large group of small meeting places, where ideas are informally discussed, and reported upon to a central point. The central point then condenses the findings of the small groups and reports back to each of them on the conclusions reached.

Ideas are the stock-in-trade of Farm Forum. "Farm Forum", the speaker said, "is the place for threshing out ideas and putting them to work."

Farm Forum, as constituted in Canada, is unique. It combines the factors of radio, small group discussion, printed material and reporting back and forth, to provide a service not found anywhere else in the world.

Mr. Griesbach pointed out that after 14 years there are still many problems facing Farm Forum. Three amongst these, he felt, are of particular importance:

1. The services of extension workers have been provided throughout Canada. Some of these workers do not understand the techniques of small group discussions. As a consequence, full advantage cannot be taken of the benefits to be derived from working through the small groups which are the back bone of Farm Forum. Another aspect of this same problem is that Farm Forum groups tend to overlook the opportunities available to them through the extension workers.

2. Co-ordination, between local Farm Forum Groups and community organizations, is lacking in many areas. Ideally, Farm Forum should be used to thresh out ideas. When a course of action has been decided upon, the decision should be carried to the appropriate organization for action. The local group would thus be the focal point for community ideas. This would avoid the situation, so common in many places of several groups meeting separately—often on the same night—to attempt to solve the same problem.

3. Co-ordination of Farm Forum with the local newspaper is often lacking. Newspapers should realize, the speaker said, that ideas developed by Farm Forum are news. Furthermore, the more ideas offered to Farm Forum, the better the service Farm Forum can render. Local newspapers should, through editorials, feed in ideas to the Farm Forums. The paper should also be used for reporting the findings of local Farm Forum groups.

Several questions were directed to the speaker.

"What is the goal of Farm Forum?" You get ideas and work with appropriate organizations to get these ideas implemented. Farm Forum deals with local, provincial, national and international situations.

"Are you a policy making group?" No. That is the job of the farmers organizations.

"Are you interested in a sound agricultural policy for Canada?" Yes.

The speaker was thanked by Rotarian W. A. Brown, who stated that Farm Forum was in a good position for making its thoughts known to government. His experience with the Federal Department of Agriculture showed that policy at Ottawa could be changed most easily by "strong...blasts from outside Ottawa, but that before you blast you have to know what you want." Farm Forum is in the proper place to crystallize Discarded iceboxes and other airtight cabinets are a hazard to children when chosen as hiding places in their games.

Do not let your old refrigerator be a menace. If you are discarding it, remove entire door, or at least remove the latch-stop. This is usually fastened with screws on the frame and is easily removed.

If used as a general storage cabinet, drill holes through the body of the refrigerator and remove the gasket around the door or lid, so that anyone caught inside could breathe.

These operations together—though not singly—will unseal the compartment and allow air into the box.

If you have a refrigerator in temporary storage make it safe by taking off the latch-stop.

REMEMBER—the child you save may be your own. Take these precautions today with your discarded refrigerator or freezer!

Supervisor's Notebook

By Frank Trecartin, Supervisor Of Pontiac Protestant Schools

Last week I had a chat with a very prominent business man of our community which I, and I think he too, enjoyed very much. We were talking about school matters and he levelled an adverse criticism, which is fairly common, against our present system of teaching reading. I certainly did not agree with him and he did not really expect me to agree.

The conversation does however, prompt me to say a few words about the reading program, especially at this time when so many parents are looking forward to sending John or Mary off to school for the first time in a short three months.

When your youngster takes a seat in a Grade 1 class-room he will take part in what we call a pre-reading program. You see, children entering school differ in many respects, such as mental age, alertness, physical development, kind and range of experiences and in many other ways and so to prepare them for their early reading experiences the teacher and the pupils will work together in a very wonderful and colorful little book called, "Before We Read."

The program then advances into the Pre-Primer stage with the use of the books, "We Look and See", "We Work and Play", "We Come and Go."

With the Pre-Primer work successfully behind him the young student is guided through, "Fun With Dick and Jane" and "Our New Friends" which contain really wonderful stories say 60 words by sight and so you will be simply amazed at the speed with which the youngster is learning to read because the method is sure and the youngster is keen and interested. But here the critic takes over and says, "What about phonetics?" Don't worry—in the second step of this Pre-Primer stage the child will learn to figure out what each part of the word is doing. He will learn to recognize a new word like "Lane" by simply exchanging the "L" sound for "J" in the word Jane which he already knows. That's phonetics. He'll start with this substitution of initial consonants and continue the process to include middle and final sounds as well. In fact, in the whole latter part of grade one great emphasis is laid upon phonetics and the process is intensified in grade two and continued throughout the grades. When your child is half way through grade one he has a reading vocabulary of 160 words and by the end of grade one that vocabulary is 340 words. He has begun with a sight and say method but he can now handle new words by recognizing the sounds of the various parts of the words. The method of phonetics most definitely has not been forgotten.

CAP'S CORNER

Scouting in Pontiac, and when the word "Scouting is used, it refers to the three branches of Cubbing, Scouting and Rovering, is continuing to grow slowly and steadily with keen desire to get that next badge or promotion. The fact that boys come in to get their proper forms on their eligible birthday, and sometimes before, is sufficient proof that is attractive and contains something that the boys want. In fact often boys come in before they are old enough and have to wait. Often Mothers inquire as to when her boy can join and I have not met a Dad yet who has not said he wants his boy to be a member. This game of Scouting has that something which appeals to the boy's natural desire for the great out-doors; to sit by a camp fire telling stories and singing, cooking their own meals, learning wood-craft and how to look after themselves. It appeals to the younger boys as well as the older; Shaw-ville has the largest Rover Crew registered in Quebec and Pontiac is the only District which has a Crew for each Group. A Cub must be eight, a Scout 12 unless he has two Stars, a Rover 16; there is no age limit.

Up until recently, the Shawville Pack which registered 38 Wolf Cubs last year, has had its full quota of Scouters; a Cubmaster and an Assistant for every two Sixes. At present there is a shortage of one Assistant. The loss ratio between the Cub Pack and the Scout Troop is less than 1%. The Scout Troop, which also registered a full quota of 32 Scouts, is presently without a Scoutmaster and only has one Assistant who is in charge and assisted by a Rover Instructor. Both good men but not old enough to fill the requirements. A troop requires a Scoutmaster and an Assistant for every two Patrols. The loss ratio from this Troop to the Crew is about 1%. The Crew, which has about 30 members, has a Rover Leader and one ARSL. It however, is a self-governing body and is really a Junior Service Club. A Cubmaster and Scoutmaster, the former may be a lady, must be 21 years of age; Assistants must be 18. A Rover Scout Leader must be 30 and Assistant 25 years old. There should be two Assistants to both the Crew and the Troop and three Assistants for the Pack here in Shawville.

Besides not being in accordance with Policy, Organization and Rules to have less than the above number of Scouters, it is not fair either to the Scouters nor to the boys themselves. Proper training just can not be given to the boys unless there are enough Scouters to do the training. When such is the case, either the boys are not half taught what is required or just a portion of the more industrious boys receive instruction. This is not Scouting with the result hikes and rambles are curtailed, outdoor camp fires are not held and the general efficiency of the whole Group is affected. The result must be the curtailment of recruits and a waiting list formed from which may be accepted into the Pack as there is room available. Up until now we have not formed a waiting list and have taken the boys in as they became old enough, but as much as the writer regrets having to take this stand, until the proper number of Scouters are available to operate a Unit properly, this will have to happen next September. There will be a number of Scouts who will be going to the Crew and Cubs to the Troop to bring the numbers down to where they should be with the number of Scouters on hand.

quite aware of the present situation and have been endeavouring to obtain adult help but without success. The Cubs and Scouts meet once a week, the former for an hour and the latter for a hour and a half. The Rovers have a general meeting once a month. It does not require previous training or knowledge of Scouting to be a Scouter as there are plenty of courses and books available on the subjects. As a matter of fact none of the present Cub Scouters had previous training before joining the Pack, yet this Pack won their part of the Rally, primarily because they had a full quota of Scouters to see to the training. The most essential need in the Troop is a Scoutmaster as the two who are looking after it now are both trained Rovers and Queen's Scouts; one has his plume as a Scouter as he is old enough and the other will be getting his as soon as possible. The point is, there is needed badly on lady who is 18 and one man who is 21. Will

Miss Shirley Anne Silver Weds Mr. Norris M. Eades In Ottawa

Stewarton United Church of Carleton Place, son of Mrs. R.A. Chamberlain of Shawville and the late Mr. H. M. Eades. Rev. Dr. F. S. Milliken performed the ceremony at four o'clock against a background of ferns and baskets of gladioli Mr. Myron McTavish played the wedding music. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. R. B. McGill, as matron of honor, and by Miss Barbara Sparling as bridesmaid. Mr. Michael Bolton was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Herbert Silver, brother of the bride, Mr. David Kirkpatrick and Mr. Robert B. McGill.

For her wedding the bride chose a strapless, waltz length gown of white net over taffeta, with a bouffant skirt appliqued with satin flowers, and a jacket designed with lily point sleeves. A headdress of seed pearls held her veil of tulle illusion and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis. After a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left on a wedding trip to the

Pontiac Teachers Association Meets At Ladysmith Intermediate School

The Pontiac Teachers' Local Association held its Spring meeting at Ladysmith Intermediate School on Friday after noon and evening, June 3. In the afternoon a team captained by Inspector Bill Munroe barely edged out a team captained by Shawville High School Principal John Tolhurst in a fast and furious game of soft ball.

After the strenuous exercise of the afternoon, the teachers assembled in the auditorium of the school where the ladies of the Ladysmith Recreation Committee had prepared a banquet. There was no score kept of which team ate the most but an unofficial survey taken uncovered the fact that principals apparently eat more than teachers do. Keith Hale, Carl Jackson and James Gordon each managed to stow away a great supply of food and vice-principal Ruthven MacLean came very close to breaking their records, and John Tolhurst was so busy eating his second dessert that he almost forgot his privilege of thanking the ladies for their wonderful meal.

The guest speaker, Mrs. David Dickson, was introduced by Mr. Jackson. Mrs. Dickson defined education as that which makes the difference between sensation and perception. She explained the important part that learning plays in remembering and pointed out some of the psychological principles underlying all learning. Miss Ann Lowe thanked the speaker. A short meeting of the Local Association was held after dinner in a classroom above the auditorium. At the business meeting, the new officers were elected as follows: Honorary President, Dr. McDowell, Honorary Vice President, Inspector Bill Munroe, Past President, Robina Richardson, President Ruthven MacLean, Secretary, Miss Frances Murdoch, Assistant Secretary, Anne Lowe, Delegates to the Convention Ruthven MacLean, Keith Hale and Robina Richardson.
