POPE CONDEMNS INSURGENT BOMBING

Dual Appeal Is Announced From Vatican

Official Vatican Organ Announces That Pope Pius Has Taken Action Along Lines Requested by Britain and France—Insurgent Forces Apparently Unconcerned at Reported Withdrawal of Italian Volunteers.

Vatican City, March 23.—(AP)—Pope Pius has made two appeals to General Franco to use moderation in the air bombing of civilian populations in the Spanish civil war, Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper, disclosed today.

Great Britain and France asked the Pope to join in appeals to the insurgent General after last week's terrible bombings of Barcelona, the Government capital, in which at least 872 persons were killed.

Osservatore Romano said the Pope made "a warm appeal" to the Spanish insurgent chieftain in February and received "a reassuring reply."

On March 21st, after new bombardments of Barcelona, the Pope ordered Mgr. Antoni Uti, the Holy See's representative in Salamanca, to make a new appeal to the General.

Osservatore Romano said "The Holy See has always done whatever was possible to succor war victims and call combatants to a sense of moderation."

Previously the Vatican had denied reports that Franco had been approached in line with the French and British appeals, which were directed to the Pope and to both sides in the Spanish war in hope of obtaining an agreement for abandonment of air attacks on civilian centres.

SEEKING TO RELEASE TRAPPED INSURGENTS

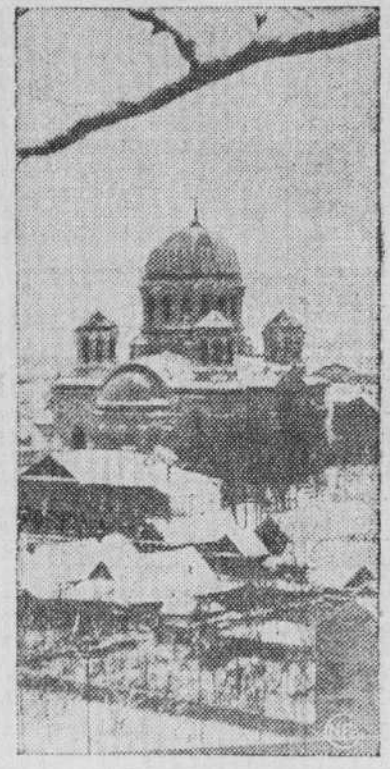

Hendaye, France, March 23.—(AP)—Insurgent guns thundered east and northwest of Hendaye today as General Franco shifted his drive northward to liberate that provincial capital in eastern Spain from its Government "pocket."

Simultaneously, the southern Aragon army dug in along the Alcaniz front with its guns raking the main Valencia-Morelia-Gandesa highway from advantageous positions.

Insurgents discounted effects on their driving force of reports an Anglo-Italian rapprochement would result in withdrawal of thousands of Italian fighters from Spain. In- Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.

Polish-Lithuanian Dispute Stirs All Europe

Anxious Capital
Anxiety ruled Kovno (Kaunas), Lithuania, when Poland issued an ultimatum demanding that steps be taken to mediate the border difficulties which have prevented diplomatic relations between the two countries for years. Pictured above, Kovno is within easy reach of Polish troops if negotiations fail.

Where Border Clash Caused Crisis
Disputed territory ever since the World War has been the area around Vilna (Wilno), shown in northern Poland in the map above. Poles and Lithuanians have argued about the territory, which changed hands repeatedly during the war but finally was seized by Poland in 1919. The Lithuanian constitution, however, still regards Vilna as the nation's capital—a situation which has caused the border to remain closed for years. Poland now demands re-opening of the border and resumption of normal diplomatic relations—or else.

The "Strong Man"
Marshal Rydz-Smigley, above, inspector general of the Polish army and the nation's virtual dictator, hurried to Vilna as popular excitement followed the Polish demands on Lithuania. Rydz-Smigley is heir to the popular adoration accorded to the late Marshal Pilsudski as father of Polish nationalism.

Great Britain To Refuse Commitment Of Military Aid To Czechoslovakia

Attitude of Dominions Believed to Have Played Important Part in Influencing British Government to Confine Pledges of Military Assistance to France and Belgium—Rome Talks Progressing Favorably.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, March 23.—(C.P. Cable)—The cabinet again gathered this morning to put finishing touches to the foreign policy declaration which Prime Minister Chamberlain will make in the House of Commons tomorrow.

After a meeting, Mr. Chamberlain asked the General Council of the Trades Union Congress to meet with him tonight at 10 Downing Street. He is expected to tell organized Labor's "cabinet" that a new quickening of rearmament must parallel Britain's course of action in the troubled international situation.

Broad lines of the Prime Minister's foreign policy declaration are understood to be:

Great Britain cannot dissociate herself from events in Central Europe but there can be no pledge of military support for Czechoslovakia;

Reaffirmation of the British pledge to assist France and Belgium if either is attacked;

No intervention in Spain;

Close collaboration with the French Government to continue;

The Russian proposal for a conference is considered inopportune;

The Rome talks are progressing "favorably" with prospects of an early agreement with Premier Mussolini, on the Mediterranean.

In the excited controversy which for nearly a week has raged round British commitments in Continental Europe the Dominions have played an important if unconscious role. Official statements from the Government have merely been that in accordance with usual procedure the Dominions have been kept informed.

The attitude of any particular Dominion, approving or otherwise, is not indicated. But press commentators all agree in affirming that the Dominions—without giving the name of any particular Dominion—are opposed to any extension of British commitments.

Under the headline "Dominions' Influence on Premier," the foreign editor of the News-Chronicle (Liberal) writes today that "expressions of opinion from the Dominions are being used by Mr. Chamberlain in support of a noncommittal attitude towards Czechoslovakia which the cabinet is being urged to support."

Low Wage Scale In Southern States Flayed By Roosevelt

In Addressing Georgia Audience, President Bluntly Declared that South Must Raise Wages if Prosperity of United States Is to Be Permanently Restored—Declares Good Times Retarded by "Selfish Minority."

Gainesville, Ga., March 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared today that progress and prosperity in the United States "are being held back chiefly because of selfishness on the part of a few."

In an address replete with fresh attacks on "special privilege" and the "feudal system," which he ranked with Fascism, the Chief Executive also bluntly told Georgia and the lower South that their wages were "far too low."

He called for "co-operation along the line" to rebuild the United States on sounder lines.

"We propose to go forward and not back," he said.

Stopping here en route from Washington to Warm Springs, Ga., for a ten-day rest, the President dedicated Roosevelt Square, centre of Gainesville's resurrection from a disastrous tornado two years ago. The Federal Government aided in the rebuilding.

Mr. Roosevelt declared prosperity was being retarded by a "selfish" minority who believe in a "different theory of Government," give little thought to the "one third ill-fed, ill-clad and ill-housed," and regard balancing the budget as more important than appropriating for relief.

"But this nation," he said in talking his audience back to the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover regimes, "will never permanently get on the road to recovery if we leave the methods and the processes of recovery to those who owned the Government of the United States from 1921 to 1933."

He said the "selfish" few had the "same type of mind" as those who "vote against legislation to help social and economic conditions, proclaiming loudly that they are for the objectives but do not like the methods and then fail utterly to offer a better method of their own."

After declaring that buying power means better schools, health, Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.

URGES SIMPLER COLLECTION OF INCOME TAXES

Victoria Chamber of Commerce Would Have All Taxes Collected by Single Agency, Either Federal or Provincial.

(By Carl Reinke, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Victoria, March 23.—(C)—For the benefit of all parties concerned, income taxes should be collected by one department of government, federal or provincial, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce contended in a submission to be presented today before the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations.

The Chamber protested against the expense and inconvenience of maintaining both.

"A burden of distraction and dislocation of business" was borne by the business man through the necessity of preparing two sets of forms and the examination of books and records by both departments, it was contended.

The Okanagan Municipal Association, also appearing before the Commission, submitted an eleven-point case in which it sought the facilities of the Bank of Canada for Continued on Page 2, Col. 5.

TOURIST TRADE PROSPECTS FOR 1938 BRIGHT

War Clouds in Europe Likely to Result in Larger Number of Visitors During the Coming Summer.

Ottawa, March 23.—(C)—Despite the economic recession in the United States and Canada, the Canadian Travel Bureau of the Transport Department, expects the tourist traffic will be as large this year as last when it was estimated at 1,000,000.

The Dominion spent $255,000,000. In 1936 the tourist traffic brought $255,000,000 to Canada.

Inquiries to the Bureau from United States residents between November 30 and March 20 totalled 17,000 compared with 14,000 for the corresponding period a year ago. This would indicate, travel officials declare, that the tourist business this year would at least hold its own. In addition requests from resort and travel bureaus, automobile clubs and transportation companies for literature about Canada is the largest since the Travel Bureau was established here in 1934.

Violent Scenes Witnessed As Quebec House Members Clash

Premier Duplessis Issued Stern Warning Against Repetition of Incidents of Last Evening When Labor Minister and Liberal Member Exchanged Personalities—Legislation Passed for Recovery of Funds that Belong to Treasury.

Quebec, March 23.—(C)—Before Quebec Legislative Assembly members today was a stern reminder from Premier Duplessis to watch their conduct and language in the House and uphold the honor of the "only French Legislature and Province in Canada."

Coupled with a warning that "unworthy spectacles" in the House will not be tolerated, the reminder was issued by the Premier yesterday after the session's most violent flare-up provided by a strongly-worded argument between Labor Minister William Tremblay and Cleophas Bastien, Liberal, Berthier.

The verbal fight, which grew out of discussion by the Labor Minister and the Berthier member of a minor item in the budget estimates, got beyond control of Dr. Marc Trudel, Union Nationale, St. Maurice, chairman of the committee of the whole House studying the estimates, and ended with the Premier, Minister, Trudel and Bastien on the floor at the same time, other members shouting for order and the crowd in the galleries buzzing with excitement.

Order was restored out of the approach when Premier Duplessis motioned the thick-set Labor Minister, a Montreal butcher, to his seat from a position he had taken alongside his front row desk beckoning to the Berthier member and inviting him to "just come over here."

But before Tremblay had returned to his seat and Bastien, a Montreal insurance broker and former school teacher, had been informed by Chairman Trudel he would be reported to the Speaker, Tremblay, representing Montreal-Maisonneuve, had named personalities at the Liberal opposite him.

Bastien sat down challenging the Labor Minister to "repeat your words outside the House" and in turn made personal charges against him.

Premier Duplessis warned the House he would not "tolerate any spectacles like this again" and told Bastien his language had been "unparliamentary—I cannot qualify it." He added if the member did not retract, Continued on Page 2, Col. 7.

STATES ITALY ANXIOUS FOR EARLY CONCLUSION OF ACCORD WITH BRITAIN

London, March 23.—(C)—The Daily Mail (independent) said today Italian Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano may come to London next month to sign the Anglo-Italian agreement now being negotiated in Rome.

Italy, rather than Britain, is now most anxious for early conclusion of the accord, the News Chronicle (Liberal) said.

Under the headline "Dominions' Influence on Premier," the foreign editor of the News-Chronicle (Liberal) writes today that "expressions of opinion from the Dominions are being used by Mr. Chamberlain in support of a noncommittal attitude towards Czechoslovakia which the cabinet is being urged to support."

Billion Dollars Needed For Modernizing U.S. Land Forces

Bolstering the Navy While Permitting Weakness to Exist in Army Will Not Prove Effective in Defending United States, House of Representatives Told—Plans Made for Two Armies Embracing a Million Men.

Washington, March 23.—(AP)—General Malin Craig, United States Army Chief of Staff, has advised the House of Representatives appropriations committee that an expenditure of $1,000,000,000 will be necessary "to bring the army into position to respond effectively to an emergency."

"Bolstering the navy while permitting weakness to exist in the army," he said, "will not be effective" in a defense system where both forces are vital.

Testifying at hearings on the Military Appropriation Bill, approved today by the Appropriations Committee, General Craig said the $1,000,000,000 would be needed to "provide for the shortage in standard essential items of equipment, including clothing, weapons, transportation, and ammunition for a force of 1,000,000 men."

General Craig explained the War Department has a "protective mobilization plan" which involves the accumulation of essential items to meet the requirements of two field armies of 500,000 men each.

The first objective of the plan is the immediate mobilization of 400,000 men. They would include the Regular Army, now of 162,000 men, and National Guard plus a limited number of recruits.

The second objective is the addition of 300,000 men assigned to individual units and 270,000 unassigned enlisted men to be used as replacements or for formation of additional units.

Washington Announces United States Has No Desire to Import Power from Canada—Japanese Immigration Again Figured in Debate in Commons.

Praha, March 23.—(AP)—Czechoslovakia faced a new political situation today with German parties hitherto outside the Nazi ranks climbing on to the bandwagon of Konrad Henlein, leader of the Republic's Nazi Germans.

The resignation of Erwin Zajicek, representing the German Christian Socialist party in the cabinet as Minister without Portfolio, was expected by tomorrow.

Traditional Fanfare Marks German Efforts To Produce Record Ballot

Sunday's Plebiscite Necessary to Convince World that Austria Was Not Crushed by Superior Force, Propaganda Minister Declares in Opening "Election" Campaign.

Berlin, March 23.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler's campaign for "a better than ninety-nine per cent." vote in favor of the Austro-German union was in full swing today with the traditional fanfare marking "elections" in the Reich.

Thousands of cheering Nazis crowded into the floodlighted, Swastika-decorated Sportsplatz last night to hear Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels formally open the campaign with a declaration that "if Germany is not loved in the world, it is respected."

Speaking for two hours, Goebbels traced the course of events leading up to Austria's disappearance from the map of Europe. He explained the plebiscite is necessary to prevent the world from asserting Austria had been crushed by superior force.

"As for us Nazis," he continued, "we are not in the habit of hesitating. We do not sit with folded arms. We act, and will act in Austria. Austrian economy will be freed from all foreign chains."

U.S. Announcement Relegates Power Export To A Minor Political Issue

Transition Cabinet Composed Entirely of Czechs and Slovaks Will Likely Seek Agreement with Nazi Group, Which Has Become Largest Party in Chamber.

Ottawa, March 23.—(C)—Power export, heralded as one of the most contentious questions of the present session of parliament, presents no worries to members of the House of Commons today.

Plucked from the realm of immediate practical concern by an announcement from Washington that the United States had no desire to import power from Canada, the question was of no more interest today than Government bills on the House of Commons order paper concerning the registration of shop

Chinese Communist Guerrillas Endangering Japanese Armies

Army of Half Million Chinese Farmers, Following Doctrine of Leninism, Playing Havoc with Japanese Communication Lines into Central China—French Concession Guard Killed as Chinese Soldiers Endeavored to Escape

With the Chinese Red Army in Central Hopei Province, March 23.—(AP)—An army of 500,000 Chinese farmers, with Bolshevist Leninism for its daily gospel, is making increasingly hazardous the Japanese push into Central China.

Manufacturing their own rough armaments in twelve small arsenals, or capturing them in battle, the troops are directed by Red leaders who have fashioned a socialist state of 7,000,000 Chinese in this province, nominally in Japanese hands.

The army strikes suddenly in guerrilla warfare and in the past four months repeatedly has cut Japanese communications lines in the north central China area.

About 1,000 Japanese in thirty-six garrisons have been wiped out by the Communists say, by sudden attacks. The troops are aided in this guerrilla warfare by a spy network through which Japanese garrison changes are ascertained within a few hours of their accomplishment.

RELIEF FROM PAIN PROVIDED BY CHEMICALS

Intractable Pain Heretofore
Relieved by Drugs Can Be Defeated by Injection of Chemicals into Sensory Nerves.

Toronto, March 23.—(P)—Protection from pain for persons suffering from incurable conditions is offered in researches conducted by Dr. Alfred A. Adson, chief surgeon of the Mayo Foundation Graduate School, in a paper prepared for presentation today before the American College of Surgeons, in convention here.

Intractable pain which heretofore could only be relieved by drugs can be defeated by injection of chemicals into sensory nerves or by complete severance of the sensory components of nerves involved, between the centre of pain and the brain, Dr. Adson reported.

Persons suffering from such incurable conditions as painful and non-curable cancers and many types of neuralgia may be protected from any sense of pain by the technique evolved by the United States specialist.

In an interview, Dr. Adson explained the "feeling" of a nerve can be destroyed without loss of its motor power and this is what is done.
"It's like this," he said, "suppose there is a neuralgia in the cheek that is giving great pain. You can open the skull, sever the sensory component of the nerve that carries the pain to the brain and make the cheek completely numb. It would be permanently numb, but you would be able to move it."

"The signals to move parts of the body go from the brain down the spinal cord, through those parts up to the brain. A nerve is like a trunk line. You'd only destroy the sensory component."

In this way it was possible to numb completely a body from the neck down so a person might even walk through fire cut off a hand without any sensation of pain.

hydro controversy in provincial politics, which lent interest to the Government measure. For the Prime Minister's bill was similar to one which passed the House unanimously in 1929 but failed to pass the Senate.

Arthur Slaght, (Liberal, Parry Sound) announced he would not proceed with the Ontario private bill he was expected to introduce after the Government measure became law.
He said it would be an act of international discourtesy for Parliament to pass a bill authorizing export in the face of the announced policy of the United States Government.

Notwithstanding his announcement, Mr. Slaght precipitated a lively debate when he charged the Conservative party in Ontario and Conservative members in the Federal House with ganging up to obstruct the Ontario application.

Conservative Leader Bennett, Hon.
C. H. Cahan, (Conservative, St.
Lawrence, St. George) and Hon. Earl Lawson (Conservative, York South) protested they were always prepared to consider any private bill on its merits and were not moved by any animosity towards the Ontario Government.

Describing Mr. Slaght's utterances as most provocative, Mr.
Cahan warned him he would not and his sojourn in the House as pleasant and comfortable as it had been so far if he persisted in im-puting motives to the Opposition.

Robert Finn (Liberal, Halifax), told the House he had decided to vote for the projected Ontario bill as he could see no reason why Ontario should not sell its surplus power in the United States. He described the Washington declaration of policy as disappointing.

Japanese immigration again figured in debate during private members' hour. Gray Turgeon (Liberal, Carleton Place) and Resources Minister Crazer urged A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni) to withdraw his bill to prohibit Japanese immigration, but Mr. Neill "talked out" his own bill and gave no indication of an intention to withdraw.

On a Social Credit want of confidence motion which has been pending for several weeks Mr. Bennett returned to his earlier criticism of changes made in the Bank of Canada weekly statements. He said they failed to show the people how the bank's holdings were divided as between sterling and United States currency and Dominion and provincial short term securities as they had when the Bank was started.

Today the House resumes debate on second reading of Transport Minister Howe's bill to change the name of the Board of Railway Commissioners to the Board of Transport Commissioners and enlarge its powers to include control over inland water and air transportation.

He said Great Britain inform-

SENATE STAND ENDANGERING BLUM CABINET

Opposition to Inflationary Proposals May Lead to New Efforts to Create National Union Government.

Paris, March 23.—(P)—Premier Leon Blum's Popular Front Government came to grips with the conservative Senate for the first time today with the life of his Cabinet depending on passage of bills to replenish the treasury and to finance defence.

Two measures were submitted to the Senate Finance Committee. The first provides 5,000,000,000 francs ($150,000,000) in new loans from the Bank of France to the treasury.
The second would turn over 3,140, 000,000 francs ($94,470,000) surplus from the stabilization fund to the defence fund.

The Chamber has approved the measures.

Senate opposition to what some call inflationary acts aroused talk in the press and parliamentary lobbies of the possibility of a new crisis opening the way to further efforts to form a National Union Government of all parties.

The full Senate, which overthrew
the first Blum Government in June, 1937, by refusing financial decree powers, was summoned to debate the two measures tomorrow.

The War Organization Bill, first discussed sixteen years ago, was described in opening debate yesterday as a defence against the danger of "swift, relentless" and undeclared war.

It was said the French general staff was agreed, since the Ethiopian conquest by Italy, that the next conflict probably would start without a declaration of war.

The bill would provide for "total mobilization" of a few hours notice of every able-bodied man and woman for duty of some sort. Owners of property requisitioned would be indemnified but would be paid a nominal government salary.

could fly so high as to be out of range of present-day anti-aircraft charged sub-stratosphere planes

He said the fact that aviators

Lieut.-Col. Haig Shekjerian, executive officer of the Chemical War-

Col. Shekjerian explained the cost varied with the number manu-

OPENS WAY FOR CONGRESSIONAL INVESTIGATION

President Roosevelt Will Send Congress Full Report on His Ouster of Chairman Arthur
E. Morgan.

Washington, March 23.—(P)—President Roosevelt cleared the way today for a United States congressional investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority by arranging to send congress a full report on his ouster of Chairman Arthur E.
Morgan.

Mr. Roosevelt drafted the message late yesterday after ordering Morgan's removal on three counts and promoting vice-chairman Harcourt
A. Morgan, a native of Strathroy, Ont., to the chairmanship.

Some informed persons said the president might choose James L. Fly, forty-year-old T. V. A. general counsel, to fill the vacancy of the three-man board of the gigantic power, flood control and industrial agency.

Before leaving for Warm Springs, Ga., Mr. Roosevelt told reporters the message would state his legal powers to oust the man he chose five years ago to head the huge new deal project.

Morgan and his friends have challenged that authority, contending the T.V.A. act permits removal only by a congressional resolution. The former chairman, chopping trees at his home in Yellow Springs, Ohio, said on learning of the President's action:

"Well, that's that."
Senator Bridges, (Representative for New Hampshire), a T.V.A. critic, said he was informed Morgan would fight the removal order "to the last ditch."

Senator Morris, (Independent for Nebraska), author of the T.V.A. legislation, said the President could do "nothing else" but remove Morgan, who three times had refused to substantiate charges of dishonesty

Canadian Circles Discourt
Investment Talks

In Canadian circles in London, reports of Dominion intervention in the crisis have been received with astonishment not unmixed with dismay.

It is pointed out that so far as Canada is concerned the position remains as given by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in the House of Commons at Ottawa, namely that Canada has been kept informed. The Canadian Government, it is added, has not expressed any opinion one way or the other.

Robert Boothby, the Member of Parliament whose name has been associated with a Conservative party
"revolt," in a letter to the Daily Telegraph denies there ever was any suggestion of an ultimatum or threat to the Government. Mr.
Boothby adds there are only two clear-cut policies open to Britain:

"The first is a policy of isolation.
Pursued to its logical conclusion it involves breaking our alliance with France and formally abandoning all obligations under the covenant of the League of Nations. The main objection to this policy is that in the long run we should be left without a friend and without a colony, and be reduced to the status of a second rate power."

Demands Strengthened French Friendship

"The only alternative is to make our friendship with France the basis of our foreign policy and co-operate upon that basis with all nations of good will. It should not be forgotten that we have at this moment an absolute military commitment to France. And we all know in our hearts that we should never in any circumstances stand by to watch French people being battered out of existence."

"In this respect our position is precisely the same as it was in 1914.
Must we repeat the fatal mistake
we made then by not declaring where we stand and what we will fight for in time? It would be unfair not only to France but also to Germany and the whole of Europe."

fluenced by the British Government's report that Germany has given assurances to Czechoslovakia that she harbors no aggressive intentions," the News-Chronicle writer adds.

Of the Prime Minister's coming foreign policy statement, the parliamentary correspondent of The Times (Independent) says today:
"It is now generally accepted in all parts of the Commons that he will announce the definite intention of the Government of the United Kingdom, supported by the other governments of the Empire, to enter into no fresh commitments in Europe at this stage."

The political correspondent of the Daily Telegraph (Conservative), with reference to the meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the cabinet, writes:

"Macdonald MacDonald, the Dominions' Secretary, presented to the ministers the point of view of the Dominions.

"I understand he indicated that they are against any embolism in Europe which is not part of our invariable treaty obligations. He was, I gather, able to add, however, that any threat to our vital Empire communications in the Mediterranean would command the unstinted support of the Dominions."

In another column the Daily Telegraph says "The Dominions, it is generally held, have communicated their views to the Government, which are in support of this attitude. The 'attitude' which the Dominions are said to have approved is that Great Britain should not pledge herself to intervene in any case of aggression against Czechoslovakia but that the British ministers are equally agreed on Britain's obligation to send military aid to France and Belgium in the event of unprovoked attack on them."

States. Many who normally would have crossed the Atlantic this summer will visit Canada instead and many travel organizations in the eastern states accordingly are concentrating on directing tourists to New England and the Maritime Provinces.

Canada is also going after the tourist business from the United Kingdom, Transport Minister Howe announced today. An advertising campaign has been started here to encourage Britshers to come to Canada for their holidays.

The tourist business is not all one way. Canadians, per capita, are claimed to be the greatest tourists in the world. They spent in other countries last year $123,000,000 of which about $120,000,000 was in the United States.

Violent Scenes Witnessed As Quebec House Members Clash

tract he would ask the Speaker to name him.

The Big Assembly Chamber was deafened when Speaker Paul Sauve marched to the throne and ordered Bastien to withdraw his injurious words.

In a low voice the member expressed regret for the spectacle he had asserted if he was "not parliamentary" it was because I was provoked."

The Speaker ruled the retraction was not in order and called for another "according to the rules of the House—without comment." He added he would be forced "to take action provided for by the rules" if Bastien did not make a regular withdrawal immediately.

"I withdraw my words," said the Berthier member after consulting T.
D. Bouchard, the Liberal leader who rose right after and protested that Labor Minister Tremblay also should have been required to withdraw "insults he threw at the Berthier member for fifteen minutes."

Bouchard described the scene and uproar which had resulted from simple discussion of a $35,000 Labor Department budget item for publication of collective agreement notices as "regrettable."

"Scenes like this are always repeatable," he said. "The Berthier member was insulted by the Labor Minister but the chairman said nothing. I think both should have been made to withdraw their statements. I think scenes like this would never occur if committee chairmen saw to it that all speakers were always in order."

Casual start of the discussion between the Labor Minister and the tall, spectacled insurance man, came when Bastien asked what was the increase over last year in the grant for notices of collective agreements.
The Labor Minister replied there was an increase of $25,000 and Bastien remarked "despite all talk of economy, $25,000 is given to have newspapers praise the Premier and Labor Minister."

"The Berthier member knows well the money paid for advertisement of the provisions of collective agreements gives full information to laborers affected by them," retorted Tremblay.

He added when an agreement was signed in any region the newspapers in the districts published notices of the agreement's terms thirty days before their operation for the workers' information.

The Labor Minister said by publication of the notices, the Government gave workers "a right to which they are entitled and will keep on giving them their rights."

Bastien replied he had attended a labor rally in Montreal yesterday by 8,000 laborers who "did not praise the Government nor the Labor Minister who while the meeting was on was at home in his mansion."

Tremblay warned the speaker to "take care when you mention my private life. I live in a simple house with my family and I wonder if the Berthier member can say as much."

The discussion became an argument then and grew more heated as it went on. When it was all over Bastien's retraction, the Assembly returned to study of the estimates, voting $2,514,195 for old age pensions.

Before the fuss, the Lower House approved a measure giving the Provincial Government mortgage rights on the property of any person who "has collected for his personal profit interest on public monies."

The bill, which received quick approval, besides giving the Government mortgage rights on the property of former Government officials who benefited from an interest on deposited Government funds, will require as a penalty ten per cent. interest on the amounts drawn until full reimbursement to the provincial treasury.

Charles Larocq, Assistant Attorney-General of Quebec under the Liberals, and Antoine Taschereau, clerk of the Legislative Assembly and brother of former Premier L. A.
Taschereau "took money from the province by pocketing interest on deposited Government funds," charged Premier Duplessis.

He said Taschereau had drawn $30,000 interest which should have gone to the Government and had paid back $15,000 after admitting having taken the money before the Public Accounts Committee.

The Lower House approved a motion by Laurent Barre, Union Nationale, Rouville, for examination of the actual value and titles of seigniorial lands collected on certain property in the Province by the promised establishment of an office to carry out the investigation.

HYDRO AGREEMENTS DEBATED BY HOUSE

Toronto, March 23.—(P)—Legislation, validating new contracts with Quebec power companies, replacing agreements cancelled in 1935, was scheduled to come before the Legislature today. Hon. W. L. Houck, vice-chairman of the Hydro Commission, will open debate on the measure confirming agreements with the Gatineau, Macdonald Quebec and Beauharnois power Companies.

Decision to discuss this bill today was reached late yesterday, following adjournment of the budget debate, after Conservative leader
Leopold Macaulay asked Premier Heppburn to set aside a day for considering the new agreements. The

NOTARY GERVAIS ELECTED TO CENTRE WARD

Obtained Majority Of 116 Over J. R. Sangster

Former Police Committee Chairman Defeated in Close Contest for Centre Ward Seat No. 1 Yesterday—Number of English-Speaking Aldermen Reduced from Three to Two—Business Section Favored Mr. Sangster.

Notary Eugene Gervais was yesterday elected to Centre Ward Seat No. 1 when he polled a majority of 116 votes over J. R. Sangster, a valued member of the City Council for the past six years.

STATEMENT ON ELECTION RESULTS.

Satisfaction with the orderly manner in which the voting was carried on in yesterday's Centre Ward election, when Notary Eugene Gervais was elected over retiring Alderman J. R. Sangster, was expressed today by Mayor Marcus Armitage.

The defeated candidate stated that the results of the voting indicated many citizens had worked on his behalf, and to these he was grateful. "In electing Notary Gervais, the electors made their choice, as they had the privilege to do," he added.

Notary Gervais had no comment to make.

Members of the Police and Fire Department who were summarily dismissed a few weeks ago, but the matter will now likely go uninvestigated unless other members of the Council take up where Mr. Sangster left off.

The Meadow street poll gave Mr. Sangster a majority of fifty-one. He obtained 135 votes as against 84 garnered by Notary Gervais.

Voting in the King street west booth was very close, with 88 ballots marked in favor of Notary Gervais and 87 supporting the ex-alderman.

The results in the other polls were as follows: 68 Marquette street—Gervais, 111; Sangster, 37. 108 Marquette street—Gervais, 111; Sangster, 44. 85 Marquette street—Gervais, 91; Sangster, 81. 135 Marquette street—Gervais, 87; Sangster, 72.

Introducing people to one another is very much like introducing merchandise to consumers... it is best done in a personal way.

The news columns of your daily newspaper are filled with local news... news in which every resident of the city is directly interested... news that is personal and may not interest anyone outside of your own city.

Like a personal introduction... that's the power advertising has when it meets potential customers face to face in the personal medium... the daily newspaper. People read newspapers to learn not merely what's new in news, but also what's new in merchandise and service, and how its effects their personal needs.

It is this personal introduction through a medium keyed to today's requirements which makes sales for both national and local advertisers. For most profitable results, why not see that your advertising messages are personally introduced to your consumers?

FLOOD DANGER IN TOWNSHIPS HELD UNLIKELY

No Fears Felt at Brompton or Windsor Mills as St. Francis River Ice Goes Out—Dynamite Used to Break Jam at Coaticook.

Weakened by the warm spring weather of the past few days, ice in the St. Francis River gave way early this morning and began its onflow to the St. Lawrence.

All indications were that the passage of the ice blocks would be rapid, and barring sudden heavy rains no serious floods are expected in the Eastern Townships. Frank Ruel, manager of the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, said this morning that while the ice had jammed somewhat around the highway bridge at Brompton, no fears were felt for the safety of the span as it was probably the jam would break before tonight.

At Windsor Mills the ice above the Canada Paper Co. dam was still solid at noon today, while below the dam the water rose twenty-four inches during the last night.

Officials at Coaticook, scene of damaging floods in past years, were confident there would be no trouble this spring unless heavy rains swell the Coaticook River and the Baldwin Brook. The latter stream was reported high today, but well under flood stage.

Ice jammed in the Electric Light Company pond at Coaticook, forcing the plant to suspend operations for a short time, but dynamiting smashed the pile-up.

OTTAWA VALLEY IN THROES OF SPRING FLOODS

Ottawa, March 23.—The Ottawa Valley was in the throes of its annual spring flood today as recent warm weather resulted in a sudden spring break-up of ice on many rivers in the district.

Most serious situation existed at Quyon, thirty miles northwest of Ottawa, where the turbulent Quyon River swept away a bridge and partially destroyed a dam releasing tons of water.

The western end of the village was under several inches of water just before the dam broke at midnight. The river rose five feet in five minutes.

Although the water dropped four feet overnight, residents felt this was only temporary as there is an ice jam in the lower reaches of the river.

At Shawville, Que., fifty miles northwest of here, a Canadian Pacific Railway train was held overnight when the floods washed out 150 feet of track.

CHATEAUGUAY OVERFLOW BLOCKS HIGHWAYS

Montreal, March 23.—Water blocked highways today along the meandering Chateauguay river in the southwest corner of the province, and homes in several towns and villages in the area, twenty to thirty miles from Montreal, had cellars flooded.

Ice clogged the course of the river flowing north into Lake St. Louis, and it overflowed its banks at Ormstown, Howick, Ste. Martine and Chateauguay.

In Ormstown the water was a couple of feet deep in a hollow where the highway dipped to cross a bridge. The district school bus splashed through safely today but most traffic was rerouted.

Provincial Transport Company reported the Ste. Martine-Howick highway closed to traffic by several feet of water. At Woodlands, near Chateauguay, the St. John River reached flood stage and several inches of water covered New York Central Railway tracks, though train service was uninterrupted.

PADLOCK LAW DISCUSSED AT "Y" SPEAKER'S CLUB

"Dwindling Democracy in the Province of Quebec" was the subject chosen by Gordon Rothney for his address before the "Y" Speaker's Club at its regular meeting, the Padlock Law being the principal topic of his talks.

Firstly, stated the speaker, the law is an atrocious attack on democracy, is unconstitutional and actually encourages the communistic ideas which it is supposed to oppose.

History, he continued, proves that any movement which is persecuted thrives as a result of persecution. He also endeavored to show that

RUMMAGE SALE IS PLANNED BY CHURCH GROUP

Regular Meeting Held by Philathea Society of Lennoxville United Church—Personal and Social Events.

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held in May by members of the Philathea Society of the Lennoxville United Church at their regular meeting held last evening in Douglas Hall, with Mrs. Hugh Wallace, the president, in the chair.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. F. R. Matthews. Apron cut outs were distributed among the members to be made by them for the annual June sale.

At the conclusion of the agenda a pleasant social hour was spent, during which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Hugh Wallace and Mrs. Harry Webster. One new member was welcomed at this meeting.

TALK ON ST. PATRICK

A most interesting talk by Mrs. A. M. Gifford on "St. Patrick" featured yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Dorcas Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Church held at Mrs. Clifford's home on Summer street.

Mrs. Gifford gave a graphic description of a pageant which she attended in Belfast, Ireland, held in connection with the 1500th anniversary of the landing of St. Patrick at Saul, County Down, Ireland.

Mrs. Robert Neill opened the meeting with prayer, and plans were made for a rummage sale early in April.

Work was carried on during the afternoon by the members who are making an outfit for a girl in an Indian School in Western Canada.

Later afternoon tea was served informally by the hostess.

LAST IN BRIDGE SERIES

The last in a series of bridge parties held by members of the Lennoxville Ladies' Curling Club took place last evening at the club rooms. Cards were played at ten tables, the prizes being won as follows: Ladies' first, Mrs. L. V. Parent, second, Mrs. L. M. Watson; gentlemen's first, Donald R. Clark, second, J. E. Thompson.

A beautiful flowering hyacinth used as decoration was later raffled and won by W. S. Richardson.

The year's leads were the committee in charge of the evening, and were: Mrs. Thomas Saunders, Mrs. J. A. Stee, Marie, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. T. D. Borer, Mrs. M. G. Stewart, Mrs. H. Worthen, Mrs. E. Gilbey and Mrs. Helen MacNaughton.

Later refreshments were served, the table being attractively covered with a lace cloth and centered with a lovely hyacinth plant.

ENTERTAINED Y. W. A.

Miss Mina Pargau was hostess to members of the Young Women's Association of the Lennoxville United Church at their meeting last evening under the presidency of Mrs. Kenneth McLeod.

Mrs. Harold Bassett was named as convener of a food sale which was planned for some time next month. Mrs. Bassett will be assisted on this committee by the president and Miss Rita Spry.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games under the direction of Miss Rita Spry.

A dainty buffet lunch was served to the members by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. Bassett. The beautifully appointed table, with its lace cover and centre of shamrocks, was presided over by Mrs. Eric Lennox and Mrs. Kenneth McLeod.

ROAD ACCIDENT BADLY INJURES LOCAL WOMAN

Mrs. Antonin Carrier in Critical Condition from Injuries Received When She Ran into Car While Running Across Street.

Mrs. Antonin Carrier, 8 Biron Lane, East Sherbrooke, is in a serious condition at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital suffering from bruises and lacerations received early last evening when she struck the side of an automobile while running across King street west near the Lansdowne Market.

An employee of Ruben's, the woman was coming from work when the accident occurred. The car, driven by Ehelbert Bourret, 111-1 Brooks street, was travelling in the direction of East Sherbrooke.

Hurrying across the street from the plant where she worked, Mrs. Carrier ran directly into the side of the machine.

Dr. Louis Gagnon, St. Vincent de Paul Hospital interne, said at noon today that the woman's condition was "very serious."

TRYING EXPERIENCE FOR JEWISH COUPLE

London, March 23.—(AP)—A German Jew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Franz Nurvinski, are safe in England after drifting twenty-four hours at sea in a small sailboat which aided their flight from compulsory military service for Nurvinski.

Nurvinski, twenty-two years old, said he fled Germany with his twenty-one year old wife to escape army draft and that they wandered through Austria, Switzerland and France.

Sunday night they fell asleep at Cherbourg in their boat which broke its moorings and drifted into the channel. The steamship Meta picked them up and brought them to Brixham.

RAIL FATALITY HELD ACCIDENT AT JURY PROBE

Verdict of Accidental Death Returned at Inquest in Case of Marguerite Roy, Who Was Run Over by Train.

A jury of six men under Coroner Eugene St. Pierre yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Marguerite Roy, twenty-eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roy who died Monday afternoon in the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital from injuries received earlier the same day when she was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train.

Three witnesses were heard at the inquest—Joseph Emile Pariseau, forty-year-old mechanic whose residence is near the scene of the accident; Alexander Horan, 86 Champlain street, Sherbrooke, engineer of the train which ran over the young woman, and Ernest Darby, forty-five, fireman.

An eye-witness of the tragedy, Pariseau testified he first noticed Miss Roy when, as he glanced out of a window, he saw her separate from several girls with whom she was walking and start down the railway track in the direction of Lennoxville. The other girls crossed the foot-path over the rails.

Soon after starting down the track, Miss Roy turned and looked behind her, but as the approaching train was then hidden by a curve, she continued walking, the witness declared. He also said he heard the engine whistle blow when the engineer sighted Miss Roy, but she apparently did not hear it.

Engineer Horan, at the throttle of the Lake Megantic-bound freight, testified his engine was rounding the curve when he first saw the girl walking between the rails on the left side. He started blowing the whistle when he realized the young woman was apparently unaware of the approaching train and said she had ample time to escape if she had heard the warning. Horan stated the train was travelling eighteen or twenty miles an hour at the time.

When he saw Miss Roy had not heeded the whistle, he threw on the emergency brake and closed the steam, the sixty-year-old engineer testified, but was unable to stop the heavy train in time to avoid the smash. Horan declared he did not see the girl look back.

His testimony was corroborated by Fireman Darby. The report stating the causes of death was given by Dr. E. Deschene.

The jury comprised Napoleon Ruel, Roland Arpin, Alfred LaFrance, D. Aube, Alec McGuire and W. Ruel. W. H. Lynch, K.C., attended the inquest on behalf of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Democratic Spirit Of Irish People Praised

Rev. Thomas Walsh, Loyola University Professor, Told Rotarians More Has Been Done For Freedom and Liberty by Irish than Any Other Race—Claimed Ireland Working for Understanding with England.

Intrinsically a democratic people, the Irish have done more to foster the principles of liberty and freedom than any other race in the five-hundred million British Empire subjects, declared Rev. Thomas Walsh in an address before members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club at their meeting last evening in the New Sherbrooke House. Rev. Walsh, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walsh and a brother of Rotarian T. G. Walsh of this city, is a professor of Loyola University, Montreal.

Speaking of the Irish who came in large numbers to Canada and the United States during the period when migration from their native land was at its peak, Rev. Walsh said they were for the most part poor peasants and brought with them a democracy for which the rest of the Empire should give due credit.

None of the Irish nobility came to the New World during this period, he stated, the nobles going to the Continent where they founded families spread over Europe today, such as the O'Rourke of Russia; the O'Donnells of Spain, and the MacMahons and Hennessys of France.

Taking "What Has Ireland Done For the World?" as his subject, Rev. Walsh pointed out that from the peasantry that flocked to the shores of North America have sprung artists like Macdowell and McNeill Whistler; doctors like MacNeven, Emmet and Murphy; financiers such as Ryan, Corcoran and Mackay, and noted figures in railroading, inventing and the press. In the latter connection, the speaker referred to John Bassett, president of the Sherbrooke Daily Record and the Montreal Gazette.

With regard to the Anglo-Irish conflict, Rev. Walsh maintained that, above everything else, Ireland is working for an understanding with her historic foe. The Irish still insist on full and absolute co-equality with England as a fundamental principle essential to any permanent relationship, but the row is now being fought over a council table.

He believed President De Valera should be given a large share of the credit for this conciliation.

The attitude of the Irish for complete co-equality with England is based on the premise that Ireland, too, is a motherland and should be differentiated from countries such as Canada and Australia, which owe their existence to the British Empire, while this is not the case with Ireland, Rev. Walsh held.

A great deal has been done by Ireland to further her ideals and other nations could profit by these ideals and by the teachings of De Valera, the speaker believed. De Valera is building a conservative and workable people, he said, teaching them that every man must earn a living.

Many Irish still believe they were the first people to discover America, Rev. Walsh told the Rotarians, with Saint Brendan's voyage here in the sixth century. Although this is regarded as a myth in many quarters, an extensive bibliography has been written on it and the historian, De Roo, devoted two volumes to the subject. A number of Irishmen are also said to have sailed with Eric the Red, and it is recorded in the archives of Eric the Red that one "William Ayres, an Irishman of Galway, went with Columbus to America."

In comparison with the rest of the world, Ireland was highly civilized at the coming of St. Patrick, Rev. Walsh stated. Although born of Scotch blood and educated among the French, St. Patrick learned the ways of the Irish and became a part of them.

From him came leaders who revived the civilization of Europe. From the sixth to the ninth centuries Ireland led in a spiritual and intellectual movement which laid the foundations for a new Europe, the speaker declared.

A tribute to the natural beauty of Ireland was paid by Rev. Walsh, who visited the Emerald Isle in 1934. He mentioned particularly the Lakes of Kilmaree, famed in song and story for their enchanting loveliness.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian George Murphy and thanked by Rotarian Leo Foley. President Rosaire Samson presided at the meeting, which was originally scheduled to have been addressed by John Wolfe, who was unable to appear. Others seated at the head table were Rotarian Dick Hawkins and Rev. Canon J. C. McGee.

Tom Watson emphasizes the fact that he doesn't want delay, but intends to get the answer right away, by Long Distance. So a call is put through and a deal, which might have hung fire for days, is closed promptly. As Tom Watson puts it: "With Long Distance there's no room for misunderstanding. It gets results. And the cost? An insignificant part of our operating budget, although we do use it so frequently!"

Eastern Townships' Only English Daily

SHERBROOKE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1938.

One of the sublimest things in the world is plain truth.—Bulwer.

Valuable Tradition Is Shattered.

The election of Notary Eugene Gervais as Centre Ward alderman and the defeat of ex-Alderman J. R. Sangster yesterday creates a regrettable situation, for it deprives Sherbrooke of its claim of being a city where the "bonne entente" spirit was manifest to a degree which was the envy of people in other parts of the Province.

One cannot but feel sorry for ex-Alderman Sangster whose efforts and good work on behalf of the city should have received such scant recognition.

For six years J.R. Sangster represented the Centre Ward. His work at the City Hall was, at all times, above criticism. He was recognized as an able businessman who was ready and eager to place his experience at the service of the city.

When his term of office had expired he was induced by his fellow-citizens, French and English alike, to stand for re-election. This he did in the interests of all concerned. Confined to his bed through illness, he was unable to meet his electors. His opponents worked at top speed and sufficient pressure was brought to bear to bring about his defeat.

As a result of yesterday's voting the English representation on the City Council has been reduced from three to two. This gives the English population of the city but two representatives out of ten. The Centre Ward, which is the business district of the city, has always been given an English representative. Now they have been deprived of this privilege and the control of the Council is further vested in the hands of the French-speaking citizens.

English capital is largely invested in the Centre Ward, but no representative of the English language now sits on the Municipal Council to speak on behalf of this important portion of the city's population.

During the city's Centennial celebration the English-speaking population gave freely of their time and money to the success achieved. The Catholic Federated Charities found a generous response on the part of the English population. The Sacred Heart Hospice and other such institutions have ever found a generous response when they knocked at the doors of the English population.

There is no doubt but that a large number of representative French-speaking citizens will regret the change which yesterday's voting will necessitate in the Centre Ward.

The cutting down of the English representation cannot but weaken the mixed trend of thought and ideas which was so essential to the welfare of the municipal board.

As a result, the City Council is weakened because an experienced man has been taken from the City Hall and an almost unknown person, so far as public life is concerned, has been selected to replace him.

Had a young active citizen been selected to contest the seat held by Mr. Sangster there might have been some argument in his favor. However, this was not the case. The new alderman-elect has had no municipal experience. He is a stranger in civic circles, yet he has been chosen to take the seat of one whose business ability and attention to duties was never questioned.

In the shops and factories, which are controlled by English capital, French-speaking employees have been given steady employment and substantial financial returns for their services.

At all times the French and English have worked steadily and co-operatively for the welfare of the city. Why should it be deemed necessary, at this time, to further reduce the English representation on the City Council, when the control was already safely in the hands of the majority, is hard to explain.

However, the will of the majority has spoken. There is nothing to do but to accept the verdict and trust that the amicable relations between the two groups of the city's population will not be shattered to the extent of harming the welfare and future progress of the city.

Lieut.-Col. Herbert Molson.

Although he was not associated in any way with the Eastern Townships, the passing in Montreal of Lieutenant-Colonel Herbert Molson, C.M.G., M.C., is keenly felt in this section of Quebec Province.

Lieutenant-Colonel Molson was a member of a distinguished Canadian family and he himself had nobly upheld the high traditions and ideals of that family by the generous contribution which he made to the general good of his native Province.

A man of great wealth, Mr. Molson possessed a very generous nature and gave freely to public charities and philanthropies. He was ever ready to support any worthy cause and his generosity did not only manifest itself in restricted spheres in which he was personally interested. To all classes and creeds he gave freely and willingly, providing the appeal was a worthy one.

Herbert Molson represented the fourth generation of a family prominent in Canadian history. It was the Molsons who founded the first brewery in Montreal, pioneered the first Canadian steamship line on the St. Lawrence and established one of the earliest banking institutions in the country, as well as assisting materially in the construction of Canada's first railway.

The death of Lieutenant-Colonel Herbert Molson is a distinct loss to Canada, as a whole, and particularly to the Province of Quebec where his name was known and respected and where his good works live after him.

Depriving Children Of Their Pets.

Buried deep in what might have been more important news the other day was a heart-warming little story from Butte, Montana, revealing that no man in that city is willing to start chasing unlicensed dogs for the sake of five dollars a day remuneration the job carries with it.

Police Chief Walter Shay, after advertising for a good dog catcher and receiving absolutely no replies, announced his conviction that Butte must be about "one hundred per cent. for dogs."

That is a fine record for any city. It does not mean that dog catchers cannot be good citizens. The good point of it is that the dog catcher's job goes begging not because no citizen of Butte needs the five dollars a day, but because no citizen is willing to put himself in a position where some act of his might bring heartbreak to a child who could not afford to buy a license for his dog and was to have to part with his beloved pet.

Editor's Note-Book

Mayor Armitage has inaugurated his civic career with a statement that some plan should be devised to provide the moderate-salaried working man with improved housing facilities. This is a timely and wise suggestion and one which it is hoped His Worship will be successful in achieving.

Fortunately, there were no meetings during the Centre Ward electoral campaign to give certain "hot heads" an opportunity of indulging in verbal mudslinging and unburdening themselves of their petty grievances.

An explorer says it's safer in jungles than on city streets. It seems the wild animals don't attack at fifty miles an hour.

Social security experts say poorhouses are closing their doors. And at a time when so many business men are closing their books.

The recession is making people think, says Henry Ford. Here's one business man who believes in miracles.

His Worship Mayor Armitage hopes that his term at the City Hall will be a pleasant and successful one with all aldermen working in the best interests of the city. A splendid thought. There is plenty of work to be done, but there must be co-operation and absence of petty grievances and personal grudges.

Thirty Years Ago Today

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record. March 23rd, 1908.

Charles de la Casiniere, formerly director of the Harmony Band, Sherbrooke, has been in Thetford organizing a band for that village.

Rev. G. E. Read gave a lecture at the Young Men's Christian Association. His subject was: "A King Among Men."

Master Bernard Cleary has returned to Lyndonville, Vt., after spending a week with his grandmother, Mrs. P. McArthur, of Sherbrooke.

Deaths reported: Mr. G. Bourgault, Bromptonville; Miss Maria Pope, Castellar; Israel Lafoe, Stanstead.

George E. Ford, the independent candidate for Cowansville, visited Farnham with Edward Baker, of Dunham. Messrs. Ford and W. U. Cotton held a meeting at Frelighsburg two days, before which was attended by seventy-five electors.

Sheriff Cotton, of Cowansville, spent a day in Montreal.

A. E. Jenne, engineer, has returned to Sutton to resume his old position as fireman on the Sutton-Drummondville train.

SONG OF GRATITUDE

I am enraptured of all blossoming things— Of fields, new-green, and all leaf-laden trees; And gazing at them something in me sings In gratitude for even the least of these And I forget the barren, sunless days That seemed much like a long and dreary night— But words grow futile when I try to praise, This world so full of wonder and delight. —Margaret E. Bruner.

"The Rain It Raineth"

A Review of Neil Tracy's Book.

Every now and then a new and valuable contribution is made to Canadian literature as, from one part or another of the country, a new and promising writer appears upon the horizon of literary endeavor.

Glancing over the pages of Canadian literature, it is surprising how many of the prominent and widely-read Canadian writers of today have had association with the Eastern Townships.

To mention but a few we find the Venerable Archdeacon F. G. Scott, of Quebec City, who was Anglican Rector at Drummondville from 1887 until 1896; Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, M.A., D.C.L., Litt. D., the distinguished Rector of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, New York City, who was educated at the Coaticook Academy and later at Bishop's College, Lennoxville; Louise Mary Bowman, a native of Sherbrooke whose writings have won for her a lasting niche in the hall of Canadian writers; Florence Randall Livesey, who was born at Compton and educated at King's Hall, Compton; Frank Oliver Call, M.A., D.C.L., of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, whose writings are a joy and lasting delight, and many other writers whose names are prominent in the literary field.

And now from the pen of Neil Tracy, youthful Sherbrooke writer, comes a book of delightful poems entitled "The Rain It Raineth."

Letters To The Editor

The Record will be pleased to publish letters of interest from its readers. We reserve the right, however, to reject any letters which we do not feel are in the interest of the general public. Letters must be signed, although a pen name may be affixed. Unsigned letters will not be considered. Opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and the Record is in no way responsible.—The Editor.

DOES NOT AGREE WITH TAXPAYER

To the Editor, Sherbrooke Record.

Dear Sir—Having just read a letter written by a correspondent signed "Taxpayer," wondering why there was not a cop in sight on several occasions, I wish to tell him that I think they are around pretty often.

Motoring to Sherbrooke on Friday evening, around 5:30 o'clock, I had the misfortune to break an axle. I turned to go up King Hill. As I was not acquainted with the City, I backed my car onto the curb. There was no cop in sight. I went to inquire where I could procure a mechanic and when I came back my car was gone. I inquired at two or three garages if they had it and the last one said they would call up the police and they told him they had a Massachussets car up at No. 1 Police Station, so I went up. It was there with everything taken out of it and I had to pay them $2 and they wanted $5 also another $2 to have it towed back to a garage. So apparently they spend their time picking up stranded motorists.

In closing I must say this is a great encouragement for motorists, if they always act like this. In our state I wish the City Police to know an outsider is at least shown consideration in such cases as this. Thanking you for the space in your paper, I remain, Sir, your obedient servant, J. W. PARKER.

A RURAL BOY'S VIEW

To the Editor, Sherbrooke Record.

Dear Sir—In a recent edition of the Record there appeared in this column a letter from Mr. C. Wickstead Armstrong, Sherbrooke, in which he stated that there is a logical argument to be advanced against compulsory education.

As a member of the Quebec rural population, I certainly cannot say that. I only wish that compulsory and free education had seen its debut in Quebec years ago.

In rural districts, education has been neglected shamefully for the simple reason that it was not compulsory. This being so, there were many uneducated people, who did not care whether or not their children attended school.

We speak of the dictators ruling which the author has dedicated to the memory of his father, the late Lt.-Col. Angus W. Tracey, D.V.S., M.R.S.L., V.D.

Within the thirty pages of Mr. Tracey's book are to be found poems of sheer delight, each written in a manner to bring joy to the reader and to make the volume one of lasting appeal.

It is the first sample of Mr. Tracey's writings which we have been privileged to receive, but certainly it is to be hoped he will continue to record his thoughts. He has a rare gift of expression and his writings breathe the soul of the poet.

Lovers of Canadian literature who read "The Rain It Raineth" will find consolation and inspiration within its pages. The book is on sale at the Rosemary Gift Shop.

Only yesterday Mr. Tracy received notification that his name had been included in two new anthologies, namely, "New Voices in Canada," by Allen Creighton, of Toronto, and "An American Anthology of Poetry," now in the process of preparation by Gordon LeClaire, of Montreal.

We are fortunate in having a number of Canadian books autographed by their authors. To this group, small though it may be at present, we proudly add our latest treasure—"The Rain It Raineth," by Neil Tracy.

J. K. F.

In other countries of the world, their cruelty, etc. Are we not, to a certain extent, ruled by dictators? Mammon dictators who feed on the ignorance of the uneducated! I fear these play a too important part in our educational affairs. What a honey-pot they would lose in the event of compulsory education.

Mr. Armstrong speaks of education causing farmers' sons and daughters to drift away from the farm. Truly some do, but those who leave, eventually would at any rate for no one can stay long working at something which does not appeal to them. The farmer needs education as much, or more, than many others, also the plumber, carpenter, etc. In the first place, domestic matters; second, to guard against the money dictators; third, in social life. Politics, in everything I can think of, education is certainly no hindrance. I do believe there are many drifting from the farm at present who would not do so under different financial conditions. Place before them schools, plans for a wider scope of entertainment, educate those who like farming into liking it better and gradually there will arise from the present financial chaos a paradise in comparison. This depression was caused by the Great War and the Great War by ignorance.

Those who think farming in the present conditions is such a pleasant occupation wish many to return to a rural scene. Why don't they themselves pack their clothes and families, buy a farm and make a so-called fortune? Send their children to an elementary school and tie them down for the rest of their lives.

Mr. Armstrong also speaks of the income earned for their families by children from twelve to fourteen years old. Do we still wish to have child-labor? Is not this their childhood? The time during which they should be taught how to meet the storms in later life? Wait till they are equipped to meet them and then they shall fight a good fight.

People are apt to turn to Fascism and other "isms" when they are depressed. So I think it would be better to have them educated out of it. Let each one choose his or her profession; those who should be leaders will be leaders; then and then only can we call Canada a free country. It would also be better for little dictators to endorse compulsory education now than to lose their all under a national dictator.

Rural heads hold just as much as city heads, but they have suffered from lack of education. City folks have high schools but we haven't, we have no choice. I speak as one who knows, a "should be in school guy" victim of the present rural constitution. May sane heads guide the educational system; free and compulsory education right through the high school grades. Don't we deserve a chance? I wish us the best of luck.

Thanks very much for this space in your paper.

Yours truly, GORDON MURRAY, Marsboro, Que.

MOST REMARKABLE TRIAL YET

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The sentencing of 18 alleged Soviet traitors to death, many of them men who had been in the highest official positions, and the imposition of long terms of penal servitude on the remainder, brings to a close the most extraordinary of the several extraordinary Moscow trials.

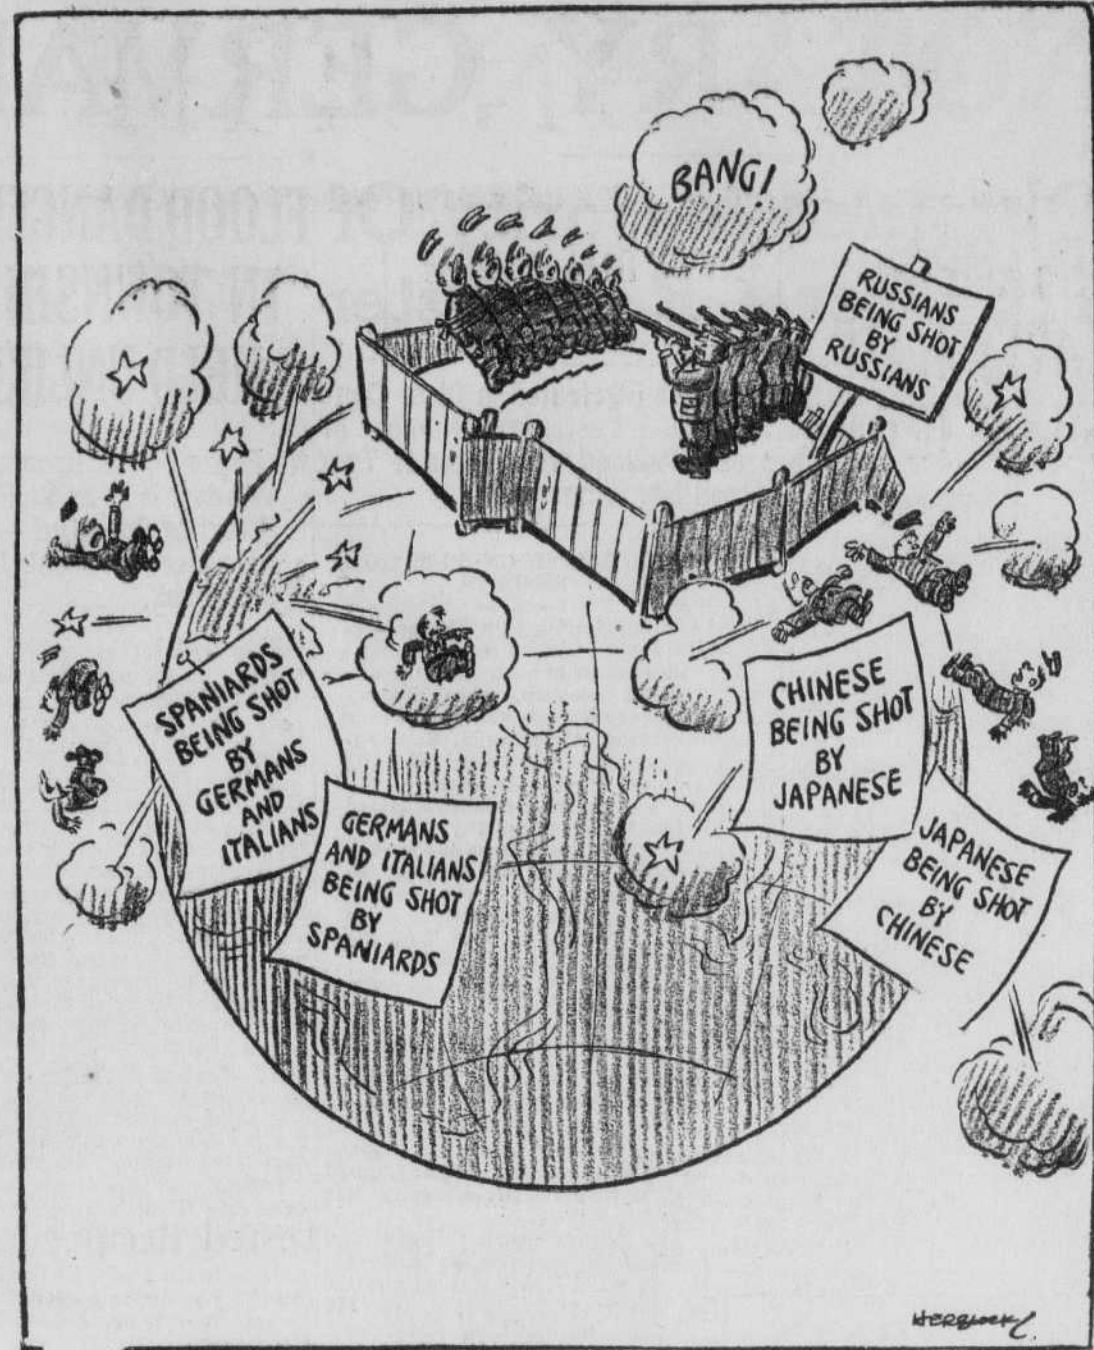

The proceedings have been so grotesque that if they appeared in a work of fiction it would be regarded as too absurd even for fiction. It is human nature for an accused person to plead guilty and stick to his plea to the bitter end, and even if the prosecution "had the goods on him." There is always the hope that the prosecution will not establish its case and he will escape conviction. In these Russian trials the accused not only confessed their guilt, of whatever they are charged with, sometimes after previous denial, but gave complete details against themselves and described themselves in terms of contempt such as only a prosecutor of the most unscrupulous and callous type would employ. It is mass self-accusation of the most puzzling character.

Why these men do this, outsiders cannot comprehend. There has been talk of the use of some hypnotic drug which causes these men to act in the crazy way they do. This has been denied by Russians themselves, but it almost appears as if there is something in the suggestion. There is, however, the undoubted fact that the accused under duress of months of "preparation" for their trials, there are long and frequent interrogations, torture and threats against their families unless they plead guilty.

As a domestic policy these trials are understandable. The accused are suspected of being anti-Stalin, and Stalin will brook no undermining of his authority. To the outside world it increases the fear of unreliability among those who might be willing to co-operate. Russia needs allies, but when one after another of the men in the high and inner councils of the nation become involved in charges of conspiracy over a long term of years, it is impossible to place confidence in anybody at all. The trials weaken the structure upon which it is hoped to build international peace and security.

About 70 leading officials have now been "liquidated." There are so few of the old régime left that it only needs the self-accusation and confession of Stalin himself and the judge and prosecutor to complete one of the most incredible circumstances in human history.

THE DANISH WAY

(Farmer's Advocate)

"If in place of one dollar out for overweight hogs we were cut one half the market price and had either to accept it or take our pigs home, as we understand is done in Denmark, we would pay a little more attention to the weight and finish of our market hogs and the price of Canadian bacon on the British market would then be closer to the price of the uniform bacon offered by Denmark. Our best bacon is equal to the best from Denmark, but we failed to put a uniform product. More drastic grading regulation may be necessary to force producers to do that which is in their best interests.

GET MORE THAN THOSE WHO BACK THEM

(Detroit Free Press)

Americans are frequently told by soap-boxers and other demagogues that two per cent. of their number own eighty or ninety per cent. of their country's wealth. And American workers are told, quite as often, that they are not getting their fair share of the earnings of the corporations which employ them, while the stockholders in these corporations are getting more than their fair share.

The American Federation of Investors has just completed a survey of 110 leading industrial corporations in the United States, with findings that challenge both these allegations.

The stock in these corporations was owned in 1937 by 4,199,666 persons, who received something more than $1,000,000,000 in dividends, although the stockholders in twelve of the corporations got no dividends at all.

An average of 2,454,135 workers were employed by the same corporations during the year.

And their total payroll amounted to more than $4,000,000,000.

The importance of these figures lies in their showing of the wide diffusion of corporate securities among the people, and the revelation that the employees of these typical corporations got four-fifths of their distributed earnings, with only one-fifth left for those who put up the money to finance them.

THE FRENCH PRESS

"WOMEN'S VICTORY" IN FRANCE

(La Presse, Montreal.)

The French women have gained a point which states that in the future it will not be necessary for a woman to swear at the marriage ceremony that she will be obedient to her husband.

To many people, judging from a sane and sound point of view, this conquest on the Napoleon code, as it is termed, will look somewhat doubtful. We feel the truth of the matter is that before long French society, beginning with the women themselves, will feel that it has gained nothing.

In this day and age, we must say, the fear of obedience seems to be trying to make itself felt among all classes. But, and with no mention of women, that independence which we are making so much fuss about will also end up by turning against those who have clamored for it.

In accordance with the natural law there must be authority. If it is broken down or weakened, the result will be discord and confusion, be it in a government, an institution or only in a home.

THREE MAPLE TREES.

Three beautiful maples in our garden look swell, For many years, they have given their sap so well, Their appearance in summer are rare to be found. Their branches and leaves, shading the ground.

They produce in the spring time good sap so clear. Gives drink to the family and friends living near. The stately appearance, those trees stand apart, Are cherished by visitors, who love trees in their heart.

Friends and travellers, who often do come, Find under their foliage, so cool from the sun, A rest for the weary, with such a cool breeze, Are happy and welcome to sit under those trees.

All friends of the gardener, who wish to see Those beautiful trees, as a home for the bee, Come and rest each day as you walk around, For under these trees, good rest can be found.

Productive in spring time, a shade in the summer, The traveller made welcome to hear the bee humming, Beautiful birds in their branches make their nest, And watch the sun going down in the west.

Those trees in the garden adorn all the rest, They tower in splendor, giving shelter of the best. The gardener, so thoughtful, he treats them so well, Provides seats for the aged, he is happy to tell.

Old age, like the trees, does glory in rest, They are contented, who gets a seat of the best. But honor and glory, as they look to the days When peace and happiness they find in their ways.

The maples give sap to our great delight, Far beyond other trees, with foliage so bright. The beech and the oak and elm, so good, From the maple we get our family food.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Author of "You Can," "Up," "Just Among Friends"

On Improving Yourself

The more one knows about the world, people, and things, the more capable one is of appreciating others. We measure others by ourselves and by the standards that we set for ourselves. And we improve ourselves by adopting the ideas, and good standards that others have proved to be good.

To criticize others, however, is to show ignorance on our part, in most cases, for none of us is an expert in the weighing motives. People's hearts are often "closed corporations." Only through understanding do we cement ourselves to our friends.

Recognizing the good qualities in others improves the good qualities in ourselves.

The more a man improves himself as a leader the more he improves every good quality in those who follow his leadership. Lincoln put his bitterest opponents in his cabinet because he recognized their patriotism, at the same time realizing that there could be no division of interests in real leadership.

Every once in a while a newspaper or magazine celebrates an anniversary of its founding, and usually it takes pride in reproducing its first issue, just so its latest readers may see how it has grown and improved.

It would be a good thing for us to celebrate each one of our anniversaries by making a careful note of our character assets—and then each succeeding year to compare for improvement. It would be a good idea, at such a time, to pick our worst faults, or failings, and also write them down, hoping for their elimination by the time of the next accounting!

We all improve ourselves by continually adding to our interests, and by associating with those who have what we lack, but who also see something in us that they lack.

HAVE A SMILE

There was a brave lass of Connecticut Who signalled the train with her petticoat. Which the papers defined, As presence of mind— But deplorable absence of ectic!

"How dare you swear before my wife?" said the indignant husband.

"I'm very sorry sir," replied the other man. "I was unaware your wife wished to swear first."

A Western dentist is said to have a reputation as a teller of amazing stories of adventure. He is, of course, accustomed to having people listen to him open-mouthed.

Nervous Suitor—"Sir, may I have our daughter for my wife?" Proud Father—"I don't know—bring your wife round and let me see her."

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

OIL SHAMPOO LEAVES HAIR SILKY, GLOSSY

Coiffures may change from season to season, but soft, shining, manageable hair is always in style. If you have ever had to make that age-old excuse of women, "I have just washed my hair and can't do a thing with it," it is a sign that you have not been caring for your hair as wisely as you should or that you have not been using the right shampoo.

Change to one of the new oil shampoos that combine an oil conditioning treatment and thorough cleansing in one simple step and leave your hair easily manageable.

These shampoos are made with natural oils that are soluble in water and give a thick foamy lather when massaged into the scalp. The oil helps overcome dryness and dandruff. The latter removes every trace of dirt and grime. Another advantage of the oil shampoos is that they can be used in hard or soft water, even in cold water, with splendid results. Of course, the nicest way to use any kind of a shampoo is to wet the hair first, preferably in warm water, pour on a little of the shampoo and work up a foamy lather. Make sure the lather covers the entire scalp.

Rinse in warm or tepid water. If the hair is very oily or soiled to start with, use a second application of shampoo. Then rinse thoroughly. You will find the hair soft, silky and lustrous, yet manageable enough to hold its curls or waves immediately after the shampoo.

The proper shampoo is only the first step. If your hair has been over-dried, it is over-dry, excessively oily, split and broken, or if there is dandruff, get yourself a corrective tonic and use it faithfully.

Brush more, too. Brushing exercises the scalp and brings a better blood supply to nourish the underlying tissues and the hair roots. Treat the split, broken ends with a pomade or brush a little brilliantine into them.

Remember, you will be getting a new permanent wave soon, and the better the condition of the hair and scalp, the more satisfactory the wave will be. If you have had difficulty getting satisfactory permanents in the past, you might investigate a new method that is being offered in many beauty shops.

A special oil, slightly warmed, is first brushed into the hair and steamed in by means of a heat lamp. The hair absorbs much of this revitalizing oil. When the hair is excessively dry to start with, the treatment is repeated after the wave.

Next the hair is washed with an oily shampoo and hand-dried. Finally the special permanent wave solution is applied and the hair wound either spiral or croquinoles.

Navy Blue Scores Hit In Spring Frocks

The woman who provides herself with a frock like any of the three shown today will have the "just don't see what I ever did without" type. There is nothing against a printed dress, of course, but by way of change try a dress of navy blue in acetate or crepe. It's the real big hit of spring styles.

Appliques, another idea, are recurrent, sometimes in the same fabric and color as the dress and sometimes in contrast color and fabric. These appliques often take leaf forms and are introduced in panel-like sections at the fronts of bodices also in borders on jackets and at hemlines. They offer a pleasant change from printed fabrics used with plain ones.

Hand fagotings are important in afternoon dresses, both printed and plain, that they form attractive decoration for dresses, and also create yoke outlines and control shaping of bodices and sleeves. Sometimes these fagotings reflect contrast colors, pink on black for example, a very feminine expression.

Embroideries, too, are approved as surface decoration, both on day and evening dresses. In daytime dresses they look especially new and different since they frequently appear on dresses in patterned fabrics—dotted crepes and taffetas, for example, also crepes with small patterns, the embroideries, in flat small flower motifs posed on solid color belts, also on brief sleeves.

Among the imports there are nice crepe dresses, with pleated panels that stay put either as long panels that are fastened at the neck and worn like a scarf, or else when caught under the best in more conventional fashion. Nice for women, especially.

The stripe route, is in the bayadere, horizontal direction, and you see narrow bands like ribbons encircling the silhouette; you see dresses in fine lace with this treatment, and you see coats with braid trimming applied in the same way. This horizontal treatment may appear in bodice or skirt, but is newest at the top, that is, from the hips up, by way of defining the corset-fitted silhouette.

ASH RECEIVERS

One thing to notice when taking a last look at a guest room soon to be a new method that is being offered in many beauty shops.

A special oil, slightly warmed, is first brushed into the hair and steamed in by means of a heat lamp. The hair absorbs much of this revitalizing oil.

When the hair is excessively dry to start with, the treatment is repeated after the wave. Next the hair is washed with an oily shampoo and hand-dried. Finally the special permanent wave solution is applied and the hair wound either spiral or croquinoles.

Beauty Tips

Ann Sothern loves to be daring with her make-up. Her latest trick is to use a white eye shadow on her lids. She likes to because, she says, "it gives the eyelids a beautifully sculptured appearance."

Superfluous hair on the arms or legs can sometimes be made less conspicuous by bleaching with a mixture of 2 teaspoons peroxide and 1/2 teaspoon ordinary household ammonia. Never use this mixture near the nostrils. It is considered unwise to use a bleach on the face at all, but many girls do with satisfactory results.

If you buy a cleansing cream, use it only for cleansing. The quick-melting varieties contain a large percentage of mineral oil which is an excellent cleanser, but is not absorbed by the surface skin. Any cleansing cream not removed tends to clog the pores. If your skin needs softening, get a softening or nourishing cream which contains lanoline and other readily absorbed oils, but do not expect it to serve as a cleanser.

Tested Recipes

MEALS MADE ON STEAMER ARE ENTICING

If you are lucky enough to number a good steamer among your kitchen pots and pans, then you are all set to prepare unusual and delightful meals with a minimum of time and effort. There is real economy in a good steamer, too, for you can prepare an entire meal at the same time in one pot and over one heat unit.

Nicest of all, you can serve the tempting semolina puddings that run a close second to pie in masculine appetite-appeal. The following recipes can all be prepared in a steamer cooker:

LAMB SHANKS
5 lower leg joints of lamb
1 onion, chopped
1 pound green beans, split
6 medium potatoes, quartered
1 No. 1 can tomatoes

Have the butcher, cut the bones of the lamb shanks quite short so they resemble overgrown drumsticks or have the meat cut off as you prefer. Brown the lamb with the onion in a skillet. Put these in the bottom section of the steamer. Arrange the potatoes and beans around and on top of the lamb, season the tomatoes well and pour over all. Now mix up the following pudding to cook in the steamer over the lamb.

MOLASSES PUDDING
1 egg
1/2 cup molasses
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup chopped dates

Place the egg in a mixing bowl and beat until foamy, add the sugar and then the molasses. Beat well and add the melted butter. Add the sifted flour a little at a time and add the soda dissolved in the boiling water. Add the dates and nuts. Turn into a greased pudding pan and set in the steamer section over the lamb. Cook over high heat until the tomatoes start to boil, cover, reduce the heat and cook slowly about 1 1/2 hours.

Serve the following sauce with the pudding:

PUDDING SAUCE
6 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat the eggs until stiff. Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually. Beat in the egg yolks, then the vanilla. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and serve on the hot pudding.

VEGETABLE PLATTER

2 cups finely shredded carrots
1/2 pound shredded green beans
1 1/2 cups drained whole kernel corn
2 green peppers
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons grated onion
1 tablespoon minced pimiento
4 slices bread
4 eggs

Prepare the vegetables, place the carrots and beans in the steamer section, putting half on one side and half on the other. Season with salt and steam 20 minutes. Split the peppers lengthwise, remove the seeds and place on top of the other vegetables. Steam 10 minutes longer. Melt the butter in a small frying pan, add the corn, onion and pimiento and cook together 5 minutes, or until slightly brown. Toast the bread cut in circles and but-ter. Poach the eggs and place on the toast. Arrange the string beans and carrots in the center of a diamond-shaped platter. Fill the pepper cases with the corn and place around the vegetables, alternating with the poached eggs on toast. Garnish with squares of butter, paprika and sprigs of parsley.

VARIED VEGETABLE SEASONINGS

Mild-flavored vegetables may be made more interesting by serving with a sweet-sour sauce, a cheese sauce or a thickened brown butter sauce in which a little chopped onion has been sauteed.

Men Prefer Good Grooming to Trump or Fashion Flash

"Men like women in bright colors," one woman said. "No, men like women in dark colors with bright touches," the other woman added. "Don't you mean that all men like all women to look nice?" This from the man in the group.

How neatly he summed it up—for all men do like all women to look nice. And he meant, of course, that if what you have on is becoming to you, really points up your best features and plays down your bad ones, then it is right for you. No need to worry about what Garbo is wearing this season or wish that you had a copy of the dress that some other motion picture star wore in a picture. Stick to what enhances your own personality. There are no hard and fast rules, but even if there were, smart women would find a way to twist the rules to suit themselves.

And he meant, too, much more about posture, perfect grooming, meticulous cleanliness and daintiness than he perhaps realized. Men want women to look nice. This means soft, shining hair—perhaps not dressed in any one of the latest, extreme fashions, but clean and glowing and neat. Men hate untidiness in a woman.

It means, too, clean, carefully pressed clothes, fresh underwear and stockings every morning, dustless hats, spotless blouses and gloves, polished shoes and straight hemlines. Also frequent use of deodorants, a depilatory, a mouth wash.

They want your appearance to be worthy of attention. But they don't want your appearance to be attention-getting. They hate bizarre effects—nails too red and too pointed, perfume poured instead of gently sprayed on, a clatter of metal bracelets when we move an arm. They like jewelry and perfume and neat manures, but they don't want us to overdo the ideas. They want us to look nice—a word which, according to Webster, means "exacting in matters of taste, fastidious."

Social and Personal

Mrs. Passmore and her sister, Miss Copp, of Montreal, are spending a short time in Sherbrooke at the home of Mrs. F. A. Bostome, Quebec street.

Friends of Mr. T. A. Bagley, of East Angus, will regret to hear that he is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he will undergo a minor operation.

The many friends of Miss Margaret Nicholson, Montreal street, will regret to hear of her illness, which has necessitated the cancellation of all classes in the gymnasium at the MacKinnon Memorial for the balance of the week.

Mrs. Harold G. Browne entertained informally at three tables of bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on London street. Her mother, Mrs. F. A. Dorian, was hostess at two tables of bridge on Monday afternoon.

Mr. J. P. Wells, Miss Amy Wells and Mrs. F. H. Rowe, Dominion avenue, and Mr. Douglas Row, Bishop's University, Lennoxville, have returned from Montreal, whither they journeyed to attend the Lemey-Rowe wedding.

Mr. Alfred L. Penhale, of Bedford Mines, left yesterday for Westport, New Jersey, to attend the last obsequies for his aunt, Mrs. Harry Writner, sister of the former's father, the late Col. J. J. Penhale, D.S.O., of Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Allan Bayley, Mrs. Neil Skinner and Mrs. Gordon Loomis were hostesses yesterday afternoon for a meeting of the Church Union Group at the home of Mrs. Lee Audet, Champlain street. The feature of the gathering was Mrs. D. C. McFar's interesting paper on "Fear." At the close of the afternoon, tea was served by the hostesses, spring flowers in a Sheffield bowl adorning the lovely table at which tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. Allan Bayley and Mrs. Neil Skinner.

Under the leadership of Gordon Rothney, the young people of Plymouth Church tackled major problems at their regular meeting in the church hall last evening. "Citizenship" was the topic of the discussion which followed the opening devotional period in charge of the Misses Marion Hall and Gwen Nixon. Political parties, what Canada should do if Great Britain is drawn into war, and the attitude of Canadians under these circumstances, to fight or not to fight, were among the questions discussed. At the close of the discussion the members expressed their personal opinions and the attitude they would assume in the event of war.

Mrs. H. F. Paterson and the Misses Vina and Harriet Brownlow were hostesses for last evening's meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Plymouth Church at the former's home on Marquette street. Miss Ruth Stoddard, the president presided over the short business period, during which several items were disposed of and a gratifying report on the success of the recent food sale sponsored by the Guild was presented. There followed a pleasant social hour at the conclusion of which the hostesses served delicious refreshments, a beautiful lace cloth covering the table, which was attractively arranged with fadollis in a silver basket and matching yellow tapers in silver holders.

Miss Margaret Bateman, R.N., has returned to Theford Mines, after spending a few days in Sherbrooke, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Skinner, Newton street.

Dr. George L. Howe left yesterday for Montreal to attend a meeting of the Society of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province of Quebec, of which he is vice-president.

The Right Reverend Philip Carlington, Lord Bishop of Quebec, and Mrs. Carlington are again in residence at "Bishopoek," Quebec, after spending a week in Montreal, where His Lordship conducted a week's mission in St. Matthias' Church. During their stay in the metropolis the Bishop and Mrs. Carlington were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Norworthy.

Mrs. Arthur E. Scott and her daughter, Miss Pauline Scott, of Quebec, sailed from New York on Saturday via the Panama Canal en route for Santa Barbara, Calif., where they will be guests of the former's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ashe. Later they will journey on to Victoria, B.C., to visit Mrs. Gilbert Ashe and other relatives prior to commencing their journey homeward to the Ancient Capital.

You And Your Child

CHILD'S POOR POSTURE CAN BE CORRECTED

Alies was slouched down in a chair, legs outstretched, with her neck stretched forward awkwardly as she read a book. "Alice, look at your posture," mother corrected quietly, but a note of irritation in her voice did not escape the child. This was the second time mother had spoken. Once Alice straightened up, but this time the ten-year-old argued that she was comfortable.

Bookish children frequently develop poor posture. They remain indoors reading when they ought to be developing their bodies by exercise in the open air. Firm muscles are needed to keep the organs of the body in place. When the muscles are not used, they become relaxed. And the relaxed carriage that results may easily become habitual.

We are not speaking here of the constitutionally weak child who is always tired. That he should droop is natural, but even he may learn to stand better if his mother sees that he has a good sleep at night, and frequent rest between play periods during the day. We are concerned, rather, with the healthy child whose posture suffers because he sits around too much. Good posture is essential to good health at any stage, but particularly when the child is growing.

Parents must devise ways to entice such a child to seek amusement out-of-doors. Invest in a bicycle, a pair of skates, a tennis racket. Encourage membership in the Girl Scout organization or, in the case of a boy, the Boy Scouts.

Children learn to carry themselves well if their parents do. A too-comfortable chair being conducive to slouching, see that the child reads at a desk or table.

Is your kitchen table the correct height? The housewife may find out by placing her hands flat on the top. If she can do this without stooping, the table is of the proper height.

Mr. Roger Belliveau, of Ashcroft, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lowry have returned from a visit at Kingston, Ont., and Montreal for a few weeks.

It Takes Headwork to Cook Cabbage Well

Boiling Too Long Makes Vegetables Unpalatable

Cabbage can get ahead in life if it isn't cooked to death first. Remember that line—too many people stew cabbage until it loses its essential delicacy and becomes no more than a pungent mess.

At present our markets contain several types of cabbage. The regular cabbage in winter is white. In the spring, new cabbage is light green. The Chinese cabbage which is also called celery cabbage, is about as long as a bunch of celery and about three to four inches thick. It has a light green color, at the base it forms a head and towards the top the leaves spread a little and are slightly curly. It may be boiled or eaten raw as cole slaw or it is always a pleasant addition to a salad bowl.

Another variety of cabbage is the Savoy. The heads are a bit flatter than regular cabbage and they are a very dark green in color. The leaves are curly at the ends. Savoy cabbage is usually boiled or may be stuffed.

Boiled Chinese Cabbage

(4 to 6 servings)
Two heads of Chinese cabbage, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, boiling water.

Cut cabbage crosswise, wash well. Fill pot three-fourths full of boiling water, add salt, boil 10 minutes. Drain, add pepper and butter and serve.

Stuffed Savoy Cabbage

(4 servings)
One medium sized Savoy cabbage, 2 cups left-over meat (either veal, pork or ham), 3 tablespoons butter, 1 onion, 1 tablespoon salt.
Melt butter, add finely chopped onion, then add meat which has been put through a meat grinder, mix well. Wash cabbage well, separate leaves at the top and insert meat mixture. Put leaves together, cabbage in a cheesecloth. Fill a pot full of water, bring to a boil, add salt and then cabbage. Boil twenty minutes. Melted butter may be poured over cabbage when it is placed in a serving dish.

Unusual White Cabbage

One medium sized white cabbage, 3 cups milk, 3 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter.

Put cabbage through a coarse food chopper. Soak three-fourths of an hour in cold water to cover. Drain. Put milk and water in a pot, bring to a boil, add cabbage, boil twenty-five minutes. Drain, add salt, pepper and butter. Serve at once.

Boiled Salad Dressing
One cup milk, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 1-2 teaspoon mustard, 1-2 teaspoon paprika, 3-8 cup or 6 tablespoons vinegar.

Beat eggs very thick. Mix all dry ingredients and add to egg mixture. Add eggs gradually to milk, stirring constantly, add vinegar which has been heated and cook ten minutes, stirring all the time. Whipped cream may be added to this recipe if used of fruit salad.

BABY'S HOT LITTLE HEAD IS A DANGER SIGNAL

WHEN your baby's head feels hot to your hand you must do something. And do it quickly. Read what Mrs. Bernard Breen, of Enterprise, does and what results she gets: "My baby's cheeks and hands were so hot I was frightened. I gave him a Baby's Own Tablet at noon and by after supper he was all better." And Mrs. Francis Carroll, of Midland, has this to say: "My little girl was so feverish I was really alarmed. Then I thought of Baby's Own Tablets, so I gave her three every two hours and by night she was up and around."

They are sweet-tasting, easy to take, absolutely safe and harmless. Work quickly and can be given to the most delicate baby. Analyst's certificate in every box.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE
16 NO TRUMP!
Phenomenal Hand Illustrates the Importance of Open-Faced Card in Five-Suit Contract

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
Secretary, American Contract Bridge League

(This is the third and last of a series of articles by Mr. McKenney giving the outlines of the new game of royal or five-suit contract, which has gained considerable popularity in London and Vienna.)

Royal contract, according to those who have played it more than once, tends to make for a greater number of freak distributions, and slams are bid on a much greater proportion of the hands. On the other hand, it is said that a rubber of royal contract usually requires a longer time to play than one of contract. This seems reasonable enough, in view of the greater number of tricks in each hand, and the greater accuracy where the declarer faces questions of strips, squeezes, or other so-called expert plays. No doubt within a few months, if New York follows the fashion set in London, there will be a great deal more data on which to base general principles, if they are found to differ from those accepted as standard in American contract bridge today.

Contract Problem (Solution in next issue)
West is playing the contract at three no trump. He refuses to win the spade until the third round. What defensive play can North make that will defeat the contract?

came from England, and is the prized possession of a New Yorker, who had the pleasure of bidding and making a superb slam against two English experts.

The bidding is phenomenal, and the American, who sat North, had the distinction of taking all 16 tricks at a no trump contract. The key card to this no trump slam was, of course, the exposed ace of royals. So frankish were the East and West hands, that, with the aid of this ace, West would have lost but one trick.

In explanation of his slam bid, the American explained that he could not resist the temptation to bid for the slam in no trump himself, rather than leave it to his English partner.

The opening bid of 10 spades is our forcing bid of two, translated into a somewhat unusual setting. Of course, such hands as this are unusual in royal contract; however, not quite so rare, I understand, as in our game, but I chose the slam to disclose how important any faced card may be in slam bidding.

NEW LOWS FOR YEAR ON WALL STREET TODAY

Losses in Leading Shares Ranged to More Than Three Points Near Second Hour—Bonds Were Mixed.

New York, March 23.—(P)—Many new low prices for the year dotted the stock market list today as liquidation depressed practically all groups. Near the second hour losses in leading shares ranged to more than three points. Heading the decline were such issues as Westinghouse, General Electric, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Air Reduction, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Allis Chalmers, American Smelting and Standard Oil of New Jersey. More selling hit speculative commodities, reacting in turn on stocks. Bonds were mixed. Scattered indications of a little spring business improvement found in financial circles a mingling of hope for further gains and disappointment that the seasonal upturn has not been more vigorous. The "Iron Age" noted incoming steel orders were running ahead of shipments for the first time since the first half of 1937. It observed farm implement makers were contributing more support to steel producers in the Chicago district than any other source.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK MARKET

Montreal, Mar. 23.—Receipts on the Montreal livestock market today were: Cattle 56; calves 247; hogs 146; sheep and lambs, 50; Butter: Cows, international $3 to $4.50 and canners and cutters, cows from $2.25 to $2.75. The few steers sold were at steady prices. Calves were steady. There were no tops. One straight load of medium to medium good calves averaging 130 pounds brought $7. Fair to medium quality calves averaging from $10 to 120 pounds were sold between $6 and $6.50 and lighter kinds of commoner quality around $5.50. A few grassers made $3.50. One lot of forty-eight feed lot lambs of plain to just fair quality averaging around 61 pounds made $7.75. Hogs were steady to strong. Bacon was $10.50 to $10.75, fat and watered. Selects drew one dollar per hog premium, with the usual cut on off grades. Sows were from $7.50 to $8, with a few up to $8.50 and one choice young sow at $8.75.

Country And Dairy Products Prices

Montreal, March 23.—Produce markets were generally steady and unchanged locally, a slightly easier undertone being reported in retail egg markets, however, as offerings picked up. Graded shipments of eggs were reported as moving freely. Butter was steady, and poultry and cheese continued at firm levels, with potatoes unchanged. Dealings on the Canadian Commodity Exchange were of a light nature. On the Canadian Commodity Exchange 100 boxes of Quebec grass seed was sold at 36c. At the close Quebec grass seed was quoted at 36c, New Zealand finest was offered at 36c and New Zealand first quality was offered at the same level. Futures closed steady and unchanged, with no sales reported. At the close March was quoted at 85 1/2-85 3/4, April, 3 1/2c nominal, June 25 1/2-25 3/4. Small lots to the retail trade were quoted by jobbers at 37c for prints and 36 1/2-37c for solids. Spot butter was quoted in the open market at 36c. Graded shipments of eggs were quoted at A-large 25c, A-medium 24c, A-pullets 23c. In retail markets, prices as quoted by jobbers were as follows: A-1 large, 32c; A-1 medium, 30c; A-1 pullets, 28-29c; A-large, 29c; A-medium, 28c; A-pullets, 27c, in cartons. The cheese market was a shade firmer, with white at 15 1/2c and colored at 15 1/4c. New potatoes were $1.60 for Bermudas, and $2.25 to $2.50 for Floridas, per 60-lb. crates, while old potatoes were as follows: P.E.I. Mountains, 90 lbs., 80-85c; 50 lbs., 45-47c; N.B. Mountains, 80 lbs., 85-85c; 50 lbs., 42-45c; Quebec whites, 80 lbs., 55c. The poultry market was quoted to the retail trade by wholesale jobbing houses as follows on A-grade, dressed stock, B-grade being one to two cents per lb. less: Turkeys, 28-29c; milked chickens, 30-31c; selected fowls, 20c to 23c; selected ducks, 18-21c; Brome Lake ducklings, 26c.

WHAT GERMANY GETS THROUGH AUSTRIAN COUP

A tiny little country is Austria — yet it is a rich prize to slake the ambitions of Adolf Hitler and his Nazis. In addition to the fact that Austria is rich in minerals and agricultural products, its domination by Germany was a supreme triumph for Hitler in his campaign to project Nazi principles throughout Central Europe. No wonder, then, that Italy's Benito Mussolini watches the Austrian scene so closely in the animated map above, drawn by NEA artist George Scarbo. He doesn't like to contemplate a Nazi-dominated Austria just across the Alps from his domain. Hitler is caricatured as he sends his goose-stepping troops into Austria to complete the subjugation which reached its climax when Chancellor Schuschnigg resigned. Swastikas fly over every city. What does Hitler get by taking over Austria? About 32,200 square miles of land... populated by 6,760,000 persons... of whom 6,116,000 are Catholics... 235,452 are Protestant... the rest Jews... whose principal occupation is agriculture... growing 1,000,000 acres of rye, 700,000 of oats, 500,000 of wheat, 400,000 of barley... and who produce much timber, minerals and other natural resources... and manufacture machinery, automobiles, textiles, leather goods, furniture and paper.

DENIES PROVINCIAL POLITICAL AMBITION

Vancouver, March 23.—Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Member of Parliament for Kootenay East, said yesterday he had not given "any consideration" to the possibility of entering provincial politics. "It has been suggested frequently but I have not considered it," he told interviewers. (Mr. Stevens has been suggested unofficially as a possible successor to the late Dr. F. P. Patterson as leader of the British Columbia Conservative party.) Mr. Stevens arrived here after a trip abroad. He will leave for Ottawa in a few days. An Oregon man spent twenty years of his spare time drilling a ninety-foot tunnel into the side of a mountain. Recently he found gold in "them thar hills."

SHARP ADVANCE IN U.S. STEEL OUTPUT

New York, March 23.—(P)—The steel mills of the United States, with operations up two points this week to thirty-four per cent of capacity are producing ingots at the highest rate since mid-November. "Iron Age" reported today. "Probably for the first time since the first half of 1937 orders are running in excess of shipments," the publication added. "That much of the current buying is a logical seasonal development is indicated, however, by the fact that the sudden arrival of spring weather throughout the country has expanded sales of wire products, particularly wire fencing, more than any other class of steel products." Lack of substantial buying of steel by the automobile industry and the railroad industry are "keenest disappointments" to steel makers, it was said.

HATLEY

Following the regular meeting of the Hatley Branch of the Women's Christian Union held with Mrs. Maude Pellerin the members were entertained at a real St. Patrick's dinner. The dining room and table had been prettily decorated in keeping with the day. The Guild held their regular meeting in the Guild Hall, where a bountiful dinner to commemorate St. Patrick's Day, was served to a large number of members, school pupils and others, several from a distance. Decorating of the tables and hall gay and bright. Afterwards their business meeting was held. After Lenten service at St. James' Church, conducted by Rev. H. W. Parry, who was assisted by members of the A.Y.P.A., they repaired to the hall where a short business meeting of the A.Y.P.A. was held. Two new members were added to the roll. Mrs. Allan Wheeler is spending a few days in Sherbrooke as guest of her niece, Mrs. George Harrison, and Mr. Harrison. Miss Helen Ayer, of the teaching staff of the Magog High School, spent the week-end at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harriet Ayer. Mrs. Swales, who has been a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Bowen and Mr. Bowen, at North Hatley, has returned to the home of Mr. Ephraim Hodges. Mr. Arthur Hall, of Compton, and Mr. Arthur Hall, of Sherbrooke, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Drew. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, of Rock Island, were week-end guests of Mr. E. A. Hodges. While Mrs. Shuffelbooth, of Hillhurst, was waiting for her son, who was attending the meeting of the A.Y.P.A., she decided to call on Mr. and Mrs. C. Drew, of the F. Hall farm. Returning in some way the horse upon the sleigh and ran away. The sleigh struck a pole and was held there while the horse ran on. Mrs. Shuffelbooth, who was uninjured, was obliged to go to the village for help. After quite a chase, the animal was caught. Mr. Hugh McClary escaped what might have been a serious accident recently when driving from Montreal, the steering gear of the truck refused to work and the truck ran off the road into a field. Fortunately, Mr. McClary was driving slowly, or the results might have been serious. As it was a wrecker was called and towed the truck to a garage where repairs were made. The many friends of Mrs. Christina Davis will be sorry to learn that she is quite ill at her home, and under the care of a doctor. Mrs. Lucy Boyes has been a shut-in for several weeks through illness. Her friends hope she will soon recover. Mr. W. A. McClary continues in poor health, so that his friends are little anxious about him. Mrs. McClary has also been quite ill for a few days but is gaining. Mrs. Harriet Ayer and Miss Alice Ayer were in Stanstead on Sunday and were accompanied home by Miss Eva Bullock and Miss Marilla Bullock, who remained until evening.

EAST ANGUS

The annual meeting of the East Angus Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. A. North with Mrs. Clout assisting. The meeting opened with the Creed followed by the roll call and reading of minutes of the previous meeting. Very interesting correspondence was read by the secretary, after which followed election of officers. The past president, Miss E. McLellan, thanked the members for their co-operation during her term of office. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Christopher King; vice-president, Mrs. Rancey Hayes; secretary-treasurer, Miss Myrtle Linsey; convenor, Mrs. Stuart Coates; education-letter schools, Mrs. D. Kinross; legislation, Miss M. L. Givney; immigration, Mrs. J. Gillespie; child welfare and public health, Miss E. McLellan; national events, Mrs. Gordon Sims; Canadian industries, Mrs. A. North; ways and means, Mrs. T. Rowland; publicity, Mrs. A. North. Following the election, reports from the convenor on ways and means were read on several card parties in aid of the inoculation fund. Delegates were appointed to attend the provincial meetings in Montreal, Mrs. Sims then invited the members to meet with her in April. Lunch was served by the hostess, Miss E. McLellan presiding at the tea table. Assisting were Mrs. Sims and Miss Doris Clout. There once was a man called Skowiski Who fell for an actress—and how! This chap and his Greta, They managed to meet, ah! They're living in Italy nowski.

ROCK ISLAND AND DERBY LINE

The Misses Eva and Merilla Bullock were tea guests on Sunday at the home of Miss Alice Ayer at East Hatley. Mrs. Conrad Charbonneau, of Granby, has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coran. Mrs. Charbonneau was accompanied home by her daughter, Theresa, who has been spending the past five months here with her grandparents. Miss Roberta Fournier was a guest of her sister, Mrs. L. Lanctot, and Mr. Lanctot, at Magog, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Couture, of Sherbrooke, were recent week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Couture. Mr. C. McLaughlin, of Sherbrooke, was a visitor in town recently. Mr. Ralph Seguin, of Lyndonville, Vt., spent the week-end at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gignac. Mr. J. McFadyen has been ill the past two weeks with grippe at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jenkins. The baked bean supper given under the auspices of the Stanstead South Church, on Saturday evening, March 19th, was very well attended and the proceeds were most gratifying.

STILL A CHANCE

London, March 23.—Because no carcasses had been washed ashore containing the evidences of sea monsters, there was no reason to disbelieve in them the Society of Nautical Research was told here.

VALUE OF ADVERTISING STRESSED BY BOVRIL CO.

After Fifty Years of Consistent Advertising, Bovril Company Are Sold on Idea of Soudly-Placed Advertising as Best Medium of Increasing Sales.

Montreal, March 23.—Increased advertising was credited with producing the very considerable 1937 increase in Bovril sales and profits by Lord Luke, K.B.E., chairman and managing director of Bovril Limited at the forty-first annual general meeting of the Company held recently in London. "Bovril has been consistently advertised for something like fifty years," said Lord Luke in his report to shareholders, "and I think you will agree that the Bovril posters and press advertisements rank amongst the most popular and famous. We continue to place great faith in soundly planned advertising, and, as I have just told you, an increase in the amount spent on press and other forms of advertising last year was accompanied by considerable increase in sales." Lord Luke paid high tribute to the late Sir James Crichton-Browne, M.D., L.L.D., F.R.S., recently deceased at the age of ninety-seven after a long illness. The Company's Board of Directors for thirty years. "I do not think it would be possible to exaggerate the value of his services to the Company, or the admiration his qualities of mind and character have inspired in his fellow-directors. Outstanding as he was in medical and scientific achievements, that side of his character was at least equalled by his amazingly wide range of general knowledge, his old-world courtesy and kindness, and his strong sense of devotion to duty." "During the year 1937 we had a considerable increase in sales, not only in this country, but overseas. The sales in this country, of course, were helped by the severe winter, accompanied by a wave of influenza that almost reached epidemic proportions. The fact is that during periods when illness is prevalent, people instinctively turn to Bovril."

MONTREAL TO HAVE GOLDEN GLOVES TOURNAMENT

Montreal, March 23.—Montreal's first Golden Gloves boxing tournament will be held May 2, 3, 5 and 7. It was announced yesterday by the officials of the Crescent Athletic Club. The tournament will mark the end, probably for several years, of provincial championships. Decision was reached this year by the Boxing Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to disperse with the provincial title meet in favor of a Golden Gloves tournament. Outstanding boxers from Ottawa and other out of town points are expected to compete, while Tommy Osborne, British Empire heavyweight titlist, and Joe Gagnon, who topped the flyweight final in the Empire Games, have signified intentions of entering. Pinehurst, N.C., March 23.—(P)—Harry Cooper is shooting better than ever and may win this North and South golf tournament. Baseball players like their steaks? To prove it the caterer at the Hotel Florida in Tampa estimates it takes eighteen steaks to furnish the steaks Cincinnati Reds eat during a training period. In addition the Reds consume approximately 175 pounds of fish per day. Chicago and Detroit still are hoping for the June Louis-Schmelzing match, but they haven't a chance. That fight will be held in the Yankee Stadium, New York, and you can bet your last buck on it. Gold is showing the best form here in old Ed Dudley. He's hitting them on the nose and his short game is something to rave about. Lakeland, Fla.—Mickey Cochran is looking with fond eyes on Detroit Tigers' new southpaw, Harry Eisenstat. "They'll have to hit this guy to beat him," Manager Mike said. "He won't be giving them those base-on-balls hits." The Tigers picked up Eisenstat, a free agent, late last year. Yesterday's exhibition baseball results: Cincinnati (N) 6, Washington (A) 3. New York (A) 7, Brooklyn (N) 0. Louisville (A) 4, Boston (A) 3, (eleven innings). Boston (N) 13, St. Louis (N) 9. Philadelphia (A) 10, New York (N) 2. Memphis (SA) 2, Philadelphia (N) 0. St. Louis (A) 4, San Antonio (TL) 2. Chicago (N) 13, Chicago (A) 1. San Francisco (PCL) 5, Pittsburgh (N) 0. Cleveland (A), New Orleans (SA) rain.

RECORD OF RHODES SCHOLARS DEFENDED

Toronto, March 23.—Canadian Rhodes Scholars have contributed largely to Canada's national life, Daniel R. Michener, Canadian representative of the Rhodes trustees, said last night in commenting upon current opinion expressed by Mayor Jamieson Bone, of Belleville. Mayor Bone was quoted as saying before the convention of the Property Owners' Association of Canada yesterday that "statistics show that out of our 232 Rhodes Scholars, not a single one ever attained national fame or great wealth." "I am not one to say that they have done more than other university graduates," said Mr. Michener, "but on the whole they have done very well." Hon. Norman Rogers, Dominion Labor Minister, was mentioned as one who had attained a measure of national fame. Then, too, Mr. Michener said, there were Hon. Thane A. Campbell, Premier of Prince Edward Island; Hon. J. P. McNair, Attorney General; Hon. P. B. Brunswick; Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, Bishop of Calgary; Mr. Justice Norman S. Macdonnell, of the Ontario High Court; J. M. Macdonnell, general manager of the National Trust Company; T. W. L. MacDermot, headmaster of the University of Toronto; George V. Ferguson, managing editor of the Winnipeg Free Press; and Hon. William Ernest Lundenburg, N.S. former Member of Dominion Cabinet.

ALBERTA DECISIONS ARE COMMENTED UPON

London, March 23.—The Times (Independent) first United Kingdom paper to comment editorially on the Canadian Supreme Court's disallowance of Alberta Social Credit legislation March 4th, yesterday declared the judgments have added a new complication to the constitutional question in Canada. Referring to the Privy Council's decision last year invalidating R. B. Bennett's so-called "new deal" legislation, The Times said: "It (the Privy Council) will now again have the invidious task of determining the frontiers between federal and provincial powers in the Dominion. "It is common ground between all parties in Canada that these frontiers must be revised to enable the Dominion Government and Parliament to deal adequately with problems affecting the Dominion as a whole. "But so far little progress has been made towards agreement either upon the amendments needed or upon the method by which they should be secured."

SPORTING NOTES

TOMMY FARR TO MARRY SHOWGIRL Burbank, Calif., March 23.—Tommy Farr, British Empire heavyweight boxing champion, and his fiancée, Eileen Wenzel, Broadway showgirl, announced their engagement here yesterday on arrival by plane from New York. Tommy and Eileen were reported to be married in New York, said he had no plans for entering pictures immediately "because my face is too messed up, I won't fight again for a while either. I think I deserve a few months' rest after thirty-six fights in three years." Miss Wenzel said she loved England and probably will be married in London about the middle of summer. She will reside in Hollywood with her sisters and has no plans for making a picture. Farr plans to rent a house in Hollywood for about three months. MAPPING REBEL "VICTORY" THRUST

A drive by Spanish insurgents to cut Loyalist Spain in two, and thus almost insure the fall of the government, seemed near success as insurgents captured Alcaniz and Raimundo as shown on the map above, cutting the principal inland road between Barcelona and Valencia. The object of the Rebel drive is to cut eastward and south through the 30 miles of seacoast mountains still between their front lines and the sea, thus isolating from Madrid the province of Catalonia and the city of Barcelona, now the seat of the Loyalist government. The fall of the Loyalist government in that eventuality would be almost inevitable. The snared portions of the map indicate territory now held by the insurgents at the end of 20 months of civil war.

DEATHS REPORTED

MRS. F. G. GALE, WATERVILLE. Waterville, March 23.—The funeral of Mrs. Olga Gale, widow of Francis Gilbert Gale, was held from her late residence to the United Church and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. G. Fulener.

Rev. Dr. G. E. Read, of Sherbrooke, and the Rev. Galen H. Craik, of Rawdon, personal friends of the family for many years, were present, and in most sympathetic addresses, spoke of the loss sustained in the passing of the deceased and of the causes there was to sorrow in her departure, but that we should sorrow not as those without hope, and could look forward with confidence to the renewal of her useful life beyond the grave.

The choir sang two of her favorite hymns, "Hark, Hark, My Soul, Angelic Songs are Swelling," and Whitier's lovely verses "Immortal Love, Forever Full, Forever Flowing Free." The large congregation and the profusion of flowers bore testimony to the high regard in which the late Mrs. Gale was held in the community and among a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

The bearers, all of Waterville, were Dr. P. Colquhoun, Messrs. J. H. Woodside, H. S. Ball, D. L. Johnson, C. O. Swanson and W. W. Baglow. Interment took place in the family lot in Greenwood Cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her loss her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gale, of Waterville, three grandsons, Francis G. Royce L. Jr., and Philip C. Gale, one brother, Mr. Avery W. Laberee, of Bulwer; several nephews and nieces, other relatives and a host of friends. Among relatives and friends attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Laberee, of Bulwer; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cummings, of Sawyerville; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Tilton, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Tilton, of Rock Island; Mrs. F. N. McGee and Messrs. F. W. and Robert McGee, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moore, of Ayer's Cliff; Miss Marian Colquhoun and Mrs. J. D. Campbell, of Montreal.

FUNERAL OF L. D. DIMICK, WEST BOLTON. West Bolton, March 23.—Funeral services for L. D. Dimick, who died suddenly at his home here on March 9th, were held in the Brill Church on Saturday afternoon, March 12th, following prayers at the home. Mr. Dimick had been a member of the Brill Church for many years.

Rev. W. H. Thompson officiated at the services, which were largely attended, reading the nineteenth psalm and taking for his text, "I will lay me down in peace and sleep." A mixed choir rendered the hymns "Rock of Ages," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Asleep in Jesus." Flowers, of which Mr. Dimick was very fond, covered the casket. The bearers were S. Marshall, S. McElroy, Kenneth Rhicard, E. Whitehouse and B. R. Mizener. Interment was in the South Stukely Cemetery.

Although Mr. Dimick had been in poor health for some time, he had apparently been somewhat better in recent months, and his death came as a shock to the community where he was so well and favorably known. On the morning of his death he remarked to Mrs. Dimick that he was not feeling well, but kept at work until about eleven a.m., when he returned to the house. Mr. Dimick had just time to tell his wife that he was suffering from a severe pain around his heart before he dropped dead.

Mrs. Dimick, who was alone in the house at the time, immediately telephoned for help, but a doctor, on arriving, said Mr. Dimick had died instantly.

Mr. Dimick was in his sixty-sixth year and the greater part of his life had been spent in this district. Born in Waterloo, in 1872, he was married to Hattie May Rollins in 1896. They lived in Farnham for some time, later moving to Springfield, Mass., where they resided for five years. Returning to this district, Mr. Dimick purchased the old Rollins farm, now owned by Rufus Salisbury. In 1916 he bought a farm from Rufus McLaughlin, on which he resided at the time of his death.

Forceful in his convictions of what he believed to be right, his opinion could not be swayed, but those who opposed his views could not help but admire him, and he will be greatly missed in the community.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. W. R. Bockus, of Waterloo; three brothers, W. P. Dimick, of South Stukely, Joseph, of Farnham, and Robert, of Granby, besides a large number of nephews and nieces.

Among the many attending the funeral from a distance were T. Besette, Mr. Earl Gray and Mr. G. Bogart, of Burlington; V. Messrs. Horace and Earl Dimick and Hector Harris, of Farnham; Mr. R. Dimick, of Granby; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dimick and Mr. E. Bessette and daughter, of South Stukely; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith and Mr. Lester Rollins, of Granby; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bockus and Miss Beulah Rollins, of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Williams and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Young, of Foster; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bockus and Mr. Ellis Bockus, of Fulford.

MRS. W. A. FYLES, FORMERLY OF FITCH BAY. Fitch Bay, March 23.—Many friends here were saddened by the death of Mrs. W. A. Fyles, wife of Rev. W. A. Fyles, who died at Rougemont Station, on Tuesday, March 15th, where she had been staying since her return from St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal, where she had been undergoing treatments for several months.

Her illness dated from last August when she was obliged to go to Montreal for medical treatment. In the late fall Mr. Fyles closed his home on the Olive Road and moved to Rougemont, where he could be nearer his wife. For a time Mrs. Fyles showed decided improvement. After leaving the hospital, however, she suffered a severe set back, and in spite of all loving care and medical skill, passed away on Tuesday.

Mrs. Fyles, nee Susan Gilmore, was born in Montreal sixty-six years ago. Owing to ill health, Rev. Mr. Fyles was obliged to give up his work in the West some fourteen years ago and Mr. and Mrs. Fyles took up residence on a farm near Olivier, during that time endeavoring themselves to a wide circle of friends.

Mrs. Fyles was a devoted wife and mother, laboring with her husband and giving of her best in the Master's service. A devout Christian she was especially interested in the work of the Women's Auxiliary. During the years of her residence in this vicinity, she was an ever willing helper in St. Matthias Church and Guild.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at 2:45 in St. Thomas Church, Rougemont, and was attended by a large circle of friends and relatives. The clergyman taking part in the service were Rev. Canon Mason, of the Church of the Redeemer, Montreal, Rev. F. R. Farrell, of Abbotford, Rev. J. Atkinson of Magog, and Rev. B. Watson, of this place. The interment was

QUEBEC TAKES LEAD IN PROVINCIAL FINALS

O'Connell Starred In Four To Two Victory

Left Winger and Captain of the Aces Tallied Twice as His Team Beat Out Fighting Sherbrooke Squad—Camille Henri and "Hank" Harris Scored for Red Raiders—"Guidoo" Roy Got Assists on Both Local Markers.

Archie Wilcox, coach of the Sherbrooke Hockey Club, said yesterday that win or lose his Red Raiders would be in there fighting for the full sixty minutes against the Quebec Aces, and the locals did just that as their goal thirty seconds before the final whistle showed. But it needed more than courage alone to win and the fast-skating, smooth-passing Aces chalked up a four to two victory over Sherbrooke before four thousand, two hundred fans at the local Arena last night in the first match of their two-game, total-goal final series for the Provincial championship.

Henri

The Aces established themselves as heavy favorites for the title last night as their victory gives them a substantial lead for the final battle on their home ice, and observers claim that the Quebec Senior League champions will repeat their record of last year and win the Provincial crown to advance in Allan Cup playdowns against Moncton Maroons, the Maritime champions. For all the first period and fifteen minutes of the second "Patsy" Seguin and the hard-checking local defenseman stayed off wave after wave of Quebec attacks, but a goal by Stangle on a solo rush, followed by a marker from Perrault, just before the end of the second stanza, broke down the Red Raiders' rear-guard. Henri tallied for the locals just after the start of the final frame, but Jack O'Connell, captain of the Aces, scored twice in quick succession to put the game away for Quebec. Stary little "Hank" Harris chalked up the final Sherbrooke marker thirty seconds before the end of the match.

Both squads opened up cautiously and relied on defensive tactics to hold out the opposing forwards. Sherbrooke were more than holding their own on the play, but lacked the polish of the Quebec squad. Boldue made some sensational saves in the first period from Roy, Laforest and Harris, while Seguin did some fine work in the Red Raiders' nets. Brennan and Taugher flashed some great defensive hockey and slowed the rushing locals with bruising body checks.

Laforest

The second session featured the same type of hockey as the opening stanza and the players seemed headed for another scoreless frame. But with less than five minutes to go Frank Stangle picked up a loose puck at centre ice and shook himself free. He drifted in around the Sherbrooke defence, cut in fast and scored the first marker of the game on a hard, high shot as Seguin slid out in a vain attempt to save. Quebec kept pressing and half a

YANKEES HAVE CONFIDENCE IN BALL ABILITY

Joe McCarthy Sits in the Sun at Florida and Watches the Champs Go Through Training with Happy Air—No Real Worries About DiMaggio.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 23.—Asking Joe McCarthy about his New York Yankees is something like asking an admiral how he likes the looks of his 16-inch guns. You know the answer. "You know the Yankees have been the all-everything for two straight years and as you watch "Two-Gun" Lou Gehrig and his batting champions frolic in the sun, you realize you're looking at the champs. They have a lacy confident air like they were going through all this training only because it was written in the text books. McCarthy sits in the dugout and chews his tobacco and feels no pain whatsoever. He hasn't a real worry in the world. There's no worry at all about Joe DiMaggio, the eminent San Francisco holdout. McCarthy isn't even discussing the possibility of having to make up a substitute centre fielder. He knows Joe will sign eventually for $25,000, which is a lot of rocks even to a man who owns a fish restaurant.

Colonel Ruppert, beaming from his customary box, said "DiMaggio has his contract. He either can sign it and report to us, or he can stay out-of-baseball. It's immaterial to me. We have plenty of good ball players. I've made him my last and final offer."

THREE CANADIANS IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Clearwater, Fla., March 23.—Joe Kraskauskas and Goodwin Rosen, working well in the baseball training camps, seemed assured today of starting berths with Washington Senators and Brooklyn Dodgers, respectively, thus bringing Canada's representation in the major leagues to three regulars.

400 SEATS RESERVED FOR SHERBROOKE AT QUEBEC ARENA

Albert Reid, vice-president of the Q.A.H.A., announced today that four hundred seats have been reserved at the Quebec Arena for Sherbrooke fans wishing to see tomorrow's tilt between the Aces and the Red Raiders. A special train will be run to Quebec if enough fans are interested to make the trip. The arena tickets will be sold at fifty cents each.

Clearwater, Fla.—Add to the list of Cincinnati Reds' newcomers drawing praise from Manager Bill McKechnie: Anthony Dion Bongiovanni. Given a chance in centre field yesterday when Harry Craft turned up with a sore arm "Bongy" impressed the boys with his fast, sure fielding.

Y. M. C. A. REDS PLAY AGAINST ST. CLEMENTS

Sherbrooke City and District Champions to Meet Montreal Titleholders in Play-Off Match Here Tonight—Girls to Play Curtain Raiser.

With the hockey championship picture fading locally, basketball holds the attention of sport fans tonight. The Y.M.C.A. Reds, who went through to the city title without a loss, play St. Clements, Montreal champions, at the Y.M.C.A. Gym tonight in the second match of a home and home series, with total points to count, in the semi-finals of the Quebec intermediate basketball championships.

The match tonight should be much closer than the tilt in Montreal, and although the locals will probably not overcome their thirty-eight point handicap they should be able to give St. Clements a good hard struggle. As a curtain raiser a regular Ladies' League match will be played at 7:15 p.m. between the Y.W.C.A. Greens and the Sherbrooke High School girls.

ALLAN CUP SURVIVORS

Quebec Aces moved nearer their second straight Provincial title last night by defeating Sherbrooke four to two in the first of a two-game, total-goals series. No teams were eliminated from Allan Cup contention on the night's play, however, as Falconbridge whipped Toronto Goodyears four to nothing and Chatham walloped Preston six to one. Thirteen teams still are in the running as follows:

East: Moncton; Quebec; Sherbrooke; Ontario—Toronto, Falconbridge, Chatham, Port-Cornwall, Maxville.

West: Ontario—Port Arthur, Red Lake; Manitoba—Flin Flon; British Columbia—Trail.

MEMORIAL CUP PLAYDOWNS TONIGHT

East: Quebec final—Quebec Beavers at Verdun Maple Leafs. (First of two-game, total-goal series). Northern Ontario final—Sudbury Cub Wolves versus North Bay Trappers at Kirkland Lake. (Sudden-death game).

West: Western semi-finals—Port Arthur versus St. Boniface at Winnipeg. (Second of best of three, St. Boniface won first). Saskatoon at Edmonton. (Third of best of three, each won one).

ALLAN CUP PLAYDOWNS TONIGHT

West: Western semi-final—Trail versus Flin Flon at Calgary. (First of best of three series).

St. Petersburg, Fla.—St. Louis Cardinals took the day off today at the highest of Manager Frankie Frisch. It was the first day off for the "Gas Housers" in two and a half weeks. They lost thirteen to ten to Boston Bees yesterday.

Los Angeles — Joe Kuhel, first sacker recently obtained from Washington Senators, was to make his first appearance in Chicago White Sox lineup when the Sox meet Chicago Cubs today.

Here's a good tip: A lot of real smart guys around the country are betting on Hollywood Ace to win the Kentucky Derby.

CLOSE CONTEST FOR CROWN IN CARPET LEAGUE

J. Scott's Quartette Holds One-Game Lead in Battle for Mitchell Cup—Three Teams Tied in Second Place and Three in Third.

With the season just drawing to a close, a keen contest is in progress among the teams in the Temple Carpet Bowling League battling for the Mitchell Cup, emblematic of supremacy in the loop. J. Scott's quartette is leading the race on a percentage basis with a one-game edge. Teams skipped by T. Molyneux, W. Davidson and Geo. Parsons are deadlocked for the runner-up position, while squads piloted by G. McLeod, Ralph Cuts and R. Benton are tied in third place.

In the last series of matches, the J. Scott team, J. Scott led his men to a victory over G. Liddell, T. C. Hurn downed the W. Eaves crew, the Phi Mathias group eked out a decision over the W. Wilson trundlers, G. Parsons skipped his team to a triumph over the Ralph Cuts aggregation, and the R. Witley entrants noosed out the G. McLeod squad.

BISHOP'S BEAT LENNOXVILLE IN LADIES' LEAGUE

Co-eds Chalked Up Twenty-Eight to Eight Victory in Regular Basketball Fixture—Dorothy Martin Was Outstanding for Winners.

The Lennoxville Grads girls basketball team suffered a sound twenty-eight to eight trouncing at the hands of the Bishop's University co-eds last night. The game, which was a regular Ladies' League fixture, was played on the College floor.

Bishop's showed far too much strength on their home floor for the Lennoxville team. Led by Dorothy Martin, who accumulated fourteen points, they scored more or less at will. The Grads were held to four baskets, two in each half. Bessie McDougall, little left forward of Bishop's, and Jean Findlay, Grads' centre, were tied with six points each behind Miss Martin in the scoring lists.

The half-time score was ten to four for Bishop's.

Line-ups and individual scoring by halves: Bishop's: D. Martin 4-10, B. McDougall 2-4, B. Brennan 2-2, M. McQuigly 0-2, F. Baker 2-0, E. Everett, R. Richardson. Total 10-18-28.

Lennoxville Grads: J. Findlay 2-4, E. Raycraft 2-0, M. Porter, J. Gallup, E. Titcomb, M. Winkworth. Total 4-4-8.

SHERBROOKE HIGH OVERWHELMED LENNOXVILLE GRADS

Led by the brilliant play of Don Barfield and Bob Kellett the Sherbrooke High School basketball team took the measure of the Lennoxville Grads by the score of fifty-two to nineteen at the Lennoxville gym.

Barfield was high scorer of the match with twenty-three points to his credit, while Kellett also played outstanding basketball to account for twenty-two points. Jim Clowry, with six points, and Vlahakis, with one point, were the other scorers for the High School. MacKelvie, who chalked up seven points, was the best for the Lennoxville lads, while Doug Glass and Byrne, with four points each, were the next highest scorers for the Grads. "Bud" Lane, with three points, and Bozer, with one point, were the other Lennoxville point-getters.

The teams were: Sherbrooke High School; Barfield, J. Clowry, Kellett, Vlahakis, D. Heath, F. Clowry, Faulkner. Lennoxville Grads: Byrne, Lane, MacKelvie, Bozer, Glass. Referee: Bill Hammond.

LENNOXVILLE GIRLS TRIMMED SHERBROOKE HIGH SCHOOL

Playing a great combination game the Lennoxville Grads girls' team trimmed the Sherbrooke High School girls to the tune of thirty-seven to fifteen at the Lennoxville gym.

Jean Findlay, who scored twenty points for the Lennoxville squad, was the outstanding player on the floor and turned in a fine game. Eula Raycraft, with eleven points to her credit, also did well for the winners. Muriel Porter, with six points, was the only other Lennoxville scorer and turned in a good game.

Ella Mullin, with eight points, and E. Mittleman, with seven points, were the only scorers for the Sherbrooke High School girls, and both played good basketball.

The teams were: Lennoxville: The Misses Findlay, Raycraft, Porter, Gallup, Titcombe, Winkworth. Sherbrooke High School: The Misses Mullin, Earnshaw, Brown, Mittleman, Sinclair, Donahue, Martin, Burbank, Cross. Referee: Bill Hammond.

Canadiens And Amerks Winners In Play-Offs

Canadiens Swept to Six to Four Victory Over Chicago Black Hawks—Americans Beat Rangers Two to One After More than Twenty Minutes of Overtime—Toe Blake Tallied Three Times for Habitants.

Montreal, March 23.—So long as Rangers and Americans insist on dragging out their Stanley Cup round at New York, Montreal Canadiens won't have the slightest kick. For Canadiens figure they'll complete an overthrow of Chicago Black Hawks in two straight games at Chicago tomorrow night, then rest up for a hockey-weary New York survivor. Because they aren't in the best physical shape, the Habitants would relish that development.

Canadiens began their bracket of the Cup series last night by defeating Hawks six to four here in a game that was tied four times despite the home club's marked superiority. Meanwhile Americans needed a couple of periods of overtime to knock off Rangers two to one in the New York opener.

Canadiens began their bracket of the Cup series last night by defeating Hawks six to four here in a game that was tied four times despite the home club's marked superiority. Meanwhile Americans needed a couple of periods of overtime to knock off Rangers two to one in the New York opener. Toe Blake, the flyingest of the Flying Frenchmen, sounded the general note among Canadiens afterward: "Gee, if they'll just turn in a couple more overtime games they'll be done out when they declare a winner to play us. We're going to finish up this round fast and we can do the same in the second round if the New York team is tired. Then we should be going like sixty when we play Boston or Toronto in the finals."

VETERAN AMERICANS LEAD IN CUP SERIES

New York, March 23.—(P)—Showing again that play-off hockey is an "old man's game," as distinguished from the regular season brand which puts the accent on youth, New York Americans are out in front in the first round of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup play-offs with their local rivals, the Rangers.

Amerks, who finished second in the circuit's international division, last night conquered Rangers, two to one in an overtime duel that went more than twenty minutes beyond the regular three periods. Since the preliminary rounds are on a two-of-three basis, the victory gave the "Amazing" Amerks a big advantage. They won't be pressing, feeling they have to win, when the second contest is played here tomorrow.

John Sorrell, who bounced from Detroit's floundering Red Wings down to their Pittsburgh farm and back again a couple of times before he was traded to the Amerks late in the season, scored the star-shirt's winning goal after twenty-one minutes, twenty-five seconds of overtime play.

PENCKRAIK AND SANTA LUZ WITHDRAWN AT AINTREE

Aintree, Scotland, March 23.—(P)—Alan Pilkinton's Penckraik and J. Moran's Santa Luz today were scratched from Friday's running of the Grand National steeplechase. These withdrawals left thirty-seven jumpers still eligible.

Baton Rouge, La.—A gala celebration was scheduled for today's game between Philadelphia Athletics and New York Giants. Governor Richard Leche was on hand to make Connie Mack a colonel on his staff and the other colonel, Bill Terry, was eager for a victory over Connie's A's who drubbed the Giants ten to two yesterday.

BLACK HORSE Ale

"GOOD FOR DIGESTION"

BLACK HORSE EXPORT ALE — KINGSBEER LAGER — DAWES CREAM PORTER

The purity of Black Horse Ale is guaranteed so closely that it never comes into contact with air, from the time it leaves the Fermenting Room until YOU open the bottle many months later. Pipes of pure copper carry it from the fermentation process to mellow for about four months in huge enclosed Ageing Vats of specially selected wood, each holding enough Black Horse to fill 350,000 glasses. Safeguards every step of the way assure you "beer at its best" in every bottle of Black Horse... absolute purity, and the mellow, full-bodied, balanced flavour that has made it the largest selling bottled ale in Canada.
