NORTH KOREANS CROSS KUM RIVER IN STRENGTH

World News In Brief

Washington, July 15—(AP)—President Truman prayed for divine guidance in his office yesterday with evangelist Billy Graham of North Carolina. The evangelist said he suggested a prayer while in Truman's office, and the President agreed.

Washington, July 15—(AP)—Fourteen-month-old Wendy Crenshaw tumbled out a third-floor window yesterday into the lap of a man sitting in a chair on the pavement below. The child suffered possible head and internal injuries.

Portsmouth, England, July 15—(Reuters)—Admiral of the Fleet Sir Algernon Willis, commander-in-chief of the Portsmouth naval base, today opened an on-the-spot inquiry into last night's explosions which blew up eight naval ammunition barges in Gosport harbor, wrecked a loading jetty and shattered doors and windows over 100 square miles. Armed police today patrolled the entire dock area of Portsmouth—Britain's principal naval base—while naval intelligence officers combed the devastated area for clues. First information, said the admiralty, suggested that the explosions were caused by an accident.

St. John's, Nfld., July 15—(CP)—Four crew members of the 1931-ton freighter Britamolee battled ashore today to report their ship hard aground in Trepassey bay, on Newfoundland's south coast.

Earlier, the Toronto-registered vessel reported by radio she was ashore at an unknown location and required a powerful tug.

The four crew members rowed ashore at Cape Race. They said the freighter was ashore between Freshwater Point and Mistaken Point.

Washington, July 15—(AP)—President Truman is expected to decide soon to what degree American resources must be mobilized to deal with the Korean crisis.

Decisions respecting future military strength will be speeded by the return today from the Far East of General J. Lawton Collins and Hoyt S. Vandenberg, United States army and air force chiefs of staff.

They conferred with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the United Nations commander in Korea, and are presumably bringing his latest estimates of what the situation requires.

San Diego, Calif., July 15—(AP)—Rear-Admiral Peter K. Fischer, 55, commander of the United States navy's Pacific amphibious force, died yesterday.

Gagging Of Opposition In Argentina Draws Protests

By JOSE ARRIETA
Buenos Aires, July 15—(Reuters)—Renewed protests against what it calls the gagging of the opposition in the Argentine congress have been voiced by the independent newspaper La Prensa.

"There is hardly a session of the chamber of deputies at which the majority does not fall back on some recourse or other aimed at preventing the free discussion of affairs," it said in an editorial. Recalling that last year a Radical deputy had been ruled out of order by the Peronista majority when he had pronounced only the first four words of his speech, La Prensa said this had been going on since 1946 and was becoming "more acute all the time."

Argentina's present chamber of deputies started out with 42 Radicals against 114 Peronistas. The former have since been whittled down to 19.

One of these, their leader Dr. Ricardo Balbin, has been suspended and in prison since last March. La Prensa, Argentina's other widely read independent newspaper, also referred editorially to conditions in the chamber of deputies.

Hard Fighting Continues In Bridgehead Where U.S. Troops Inflict Big Losses

Britain Is Losing Its Isolationism

London, July 15—(Reuters)—The tendency of the British people to develop a frame of mind closely resembling isolationism has been checked by the fighting in Korea.

The jolting effect of Korea on British thinking has reversed a gradual trend here to become preoccupied with domestic affairs, and to care less and less about what was happening abroad.

Meanwhile, the United States, traditional home of isolationism, has become more and more preoccupied with foreign affairs, until today it is her involvement in Korea that is setting the pace of western thought and action in foreign affairs.

Until the cold war blew hot in a distant corner of Asia, even educated thought in Britain presented an outward appearance of insularity. During the last 30 years at least, pre-occupation with the political and social scene at home has been the normal condition.

Munich interrupted it in 1938, but opinion polls showed that soon after the tide turned in favor of the allies in 1942, people had already started thinking actively of domestic affairs, and especially of "post-war reconstruction."

Now that eyes are once more turned overseas, it is interesting to examine the trends that have caused many foreign observers to see isolationist tendencies over here.

This impression was certainly deepened by the British attitude to proposals for closer union in Europe, especially the Strasbourg council and more recently the Schuman plan to integrate Europe's coal and steel resources.

What makes the British domestic scene so vastly interesting, and not least to the British citizens directly concerned, is the peculiar social and political structure of the nation.

At least 70 per cent of the electoral register consists of persons who are members of "the working class." However, no great country has such a simplified social and political make-up.

All electors in all parts of the country are presented with the same choice of party programs, and the successful party is seriously expected to enact its war cries in the form of legislation.

In the absence of any big issue — racial, religious, or regional — the conflict between the Labor and Conservative parties over domestic policy has become narrowed down to the presentation of almost identical measures of social and economic equality, the main difference being that each side claims to be the more capable of executing them. Now, for the first time in seven years, the British people are turning their eyes from their own internal problems, and casting them across the seas to where American troops are fighting the communists in Korea.

Dr. Campora asked the chamber if the sanctions provided in the constitution for disorderly conduct in congress could not be applied.

The chamber voted, by 69 to 19, to appoint a special committee to investigate deputy Santander's behavior. When the relevant issue of "Diario de Sesiones" (Hansard) was published, however, the entire incident was found to have been suppressed.

Dr. Campora told a Radical questioner in the chamber that the alteration of the official record pertained only to his own words.

La Prensa commented: "This is going too far, since if the words belonged to the person who pronounced them, the vote belonged to the house and could not be reversed except by another vote."

But this interesting case of procedure could not be debated because the chairman put an end to the discussion by ruling that the questioner was out of order. The majority assented and the chamber turned to other matters."

MacArthur called the communist bridgehead a setback for the United Nations defenders. But he added that there was "no cause for alarm."

Behind the intensified front-line action, two envelopment movements appeared under way.

MacArthur Says Americans And South Koreans Are Withdrawing In Face Of Superior Forces.

Tokyo, July 15—(AP)—North Korean soldiers drove to a strong foothold on the south side of the Kum river today amid hard fighting that still raged.

But American soldiers hurled back three other Red tries to cross the shallow stream.

The first crossing came after sharp artillery duels and small-arms exchanges across the river.

The North Koreans suffered heavy losses.

Disguised in American fatigue uniforms they infiltrated United States positions.

Gen. MacArthur said the main crossing was made near Samgyo, 20 miles northwest of Taejon, the former provisional capital of South Korea. The fight there still raged and MacArthur said its outcome was not determined.

The Reds were attacking in overwhelming force. Some waded the river. They over-ran one American artillery unit. How the artillerymen fared was not revealed here.

MacArthur said American and South Korean forces were withdrawing before superior forces. He said they were fighting rear-guard actions awaiting reinforcements.

MacArthur called the communist bridgehead a setback for the United Nations defenders. But he added that there was "no cause for alarm."

Behind the intensified front-line action, two envelopment movements appeared under way.

MacArthur reported that the 6th North Korean division, veterans of China war, was engaged in an encircling movement north of the Kum river near Yean, about 40 miles northwest of Taejon.

The Red 5th and 15th divisions were active around Tanyang, Tanyang, 65 miles northeast of Taejon, is the springboard for a possible wide envelopment that might eventually threaten American communication lines running northward from Pusan.

Two other communist divisions, the 2nd and 4th, continued steady pressure against South Koreans in the Chochiwon - Chongju area, about 15 miles directly north of Taejon. A field dispatch said South Koreans in this general area had surrounded a battalion of Red troops.

Field dispatches reported increased guerrilla activity south of the Kum river. Apparently more and more North Koreans have waded the Kum at its waist-deep points.

The allied air offensive was slowed by bad weather for the second consecutive day. American and Australian planes made 190 sorties, however, and blasted targets from the front to Seoul, 90 miles north.

A Far East air force communication said two Russian-made Yak-9 fighters were destroyed on the ground at Kimpo air field near Seoul. In all, pilots reported six tanks destroyed and seven damaged. They said they also destroyed 37 trucks and damaged 55 others.

B-29 Superforts pounded bridges, roads and vehicles near Chongju, 50 miles northeast of Taejon. Others bombed the North Korean east port city of Wonsan for the second day. The communication said results of the strikes were good but that extent of damage was unknown.

The U.S. State Department labelled the Russian claim "fantastic and absurd." It estimated the number of Germans still being held at "at least" 200,000.

Before the Soviet announcement was made, the United States and France accused Moscow of lying about its repatriation claims to hide the fate of hundreds of thousands still unaccounted for. There was speculation that many of them were being used in forced labor battalions, or that they were being trained to form a pro-Soviet east-German army.

The British note today accused Russia of hiding the fate of "tens of thousands" of prisoners, and urged Russia to:

1. Identify and give the whereabouts of the missing.

2. Release the prisoners.

3. Allow the prisoners to return to their homes.

4. Allow the prisoners to be repatriated.

Light tanks of the First Marine Division are loaded aboard an LST in San Diego, Calif. The tanks are part of the equipment of the Korea-bound Leathernecks.

Canadian Ground Troops Not Likely To Take Part In Korean Fighting

Pearson Says Canada Must Be Cautious

Toronto, July 15—(AP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said last night the defence of Korea is of primary concern to Canada, but this country should not throw all its strength into the Pacific area while there is fear of trouble elsewhere.

He called for "cool and far-sighted" consideration, in an address here.

In providing aid under United Nations auspices, Mr. Pearson said, Canada is steering a course away from "alluring" isolationism, panicky bellicosity and the "phony" peace cries of the communists.

This country's position was dictated by the necessity of supporting United Nations action in Korea. That was the only obligation, and it was being discharged from considerations both of national honor and of national safety.

While a few would argue no Canadian interest was involved in Korea, Mr. Pearson said "there could be no reasoning more false."

"The terrible events of the last 20 years," he said, "have shown us that there is no country far away from Canada and that there is no Canadian interest which matches our interest in peace."

"If that interest in peace is risked in Korea or any other place, it becomes a matter of immediate concern to the Canadian people; for Canada, in this jet-propelled, atomic, inter-dependent age, cannot by itself remain secure and at peace in a warring world."

"And so it is a matter of primary Canadian interest, as it is the interest of all free and peaceful people, that the collective police action of the United Nations should succeed."

There was no doubt, Mr. Pearson said, that the Korean situation did involve "a serious threat to general peace," though not in the sense meant by communists and their dupes in Canada and other countries.

The so-called "peace" campaigns of the communists had no genuine peace ideal. If they did, Canadians, Americans and all other free men would back them to the limit.

Sidelights On Korean Conflict

Calgary, July 15. — (AP) — The United Nations will need at least six divisions before they can hope for victory in the Korean war, Field Marshal Viscount Alexander said yesterday.

The Governor-General predicted that the war will last several months, and said it could be prolonged if communist international brigades are used.

"Victory means pushing the North Koreans back to the 38th parallel," he said in a luncheon address.

For the future, a great deal would depend on what Russia does.

"There is no sign of it at the moment, but you may find the North Koreans reinforced by communist volunteers from China and Russia, and that will be a rather serious matter."

Tokyo, July 15. — (AP) — Flying Officer Kenneth McLeod of the R.A.A.F. told today how he spotted a group of communist soldiers lying on their backs on the bank of the Kum river yesterday, apparently resting.

"When I gave them a burst, they started running," he said. "It

Ottawa, July 15—(AP)—Canada today awaited official word of a United Nations appeal for more military aid to Korea.

The U.N. appeal, said to stress the need for ground troops, had not been received in Ottawa up to an early hour this morning. Until it is, there is no way of knowing the nature of the call upon Canada, which has sent three destroyers to help the U.N.'s intervention forces in South Korea.

But it became clear that home-defence requirements would be a guiding factor in any decision on sending further forces to Korea. It was believed that while further naval aid, and possibly some air power, might be considered, commitment of Canadian troops from the Dominion's small home-defence force was unlikely.

Canada's present army strength is no more than 22,000 or 23,000 men with only about 30 per cent of them actual fighting men. The backbone of her present ground force is an airborne brigade of about 4,000 men and two armored regiments which at full strength would contain about 800 men each.

In addition she has reserve army units organized in all parts of the country but these are said to be at only about 50 per cent of full strength. Recruiting for the reserve on a voluntary basis is in full swing.

Informed sources said the airborne brigade has always been considered as a "shield" for Canada in event of emergency, a force which might hold off an enemy until the country could mobilize. To send it out of Canada would be a fundamental change of policy.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, in a speech in Toronto last night, said Canada was discharging her obligation to the U.N. and would "continue to discharge it."

He thought it would be "unwise" for Canada to send all her forces to Korea, a step which "might give some satisfaction to those who would like to trouble the waters elsewhere so that they could fish in them."

Most of Canada's Cabinet Ministers are out of the capital but many are within close reach and ready to return at a moment's notice. Prime Minister St. Laurent is at his summer home at St. Patrice, Que., where he is being kept informed on international developments. He is expected in Ottawa for the regular Cabinet meeting next Wednesday at which the Korean situation will be reconsidered.

Should a decision be taken to send further forces to the Pacific beyond perhaps a few more naval ships, Parliament would be recalled to give its approval.

Servicemen Will Get New Ribbon

Ottawa, July 15.—(AP)—There'll soon be a new ribbon on many a serviceman's chest.

The defence department announced today the King has approved a new, distinctly-Canadian decoration for members of the three Canadian armed forces and that it will soon be available.

It will be awarded for 12 years service in either the permanent or reserve forces and is the first purely Canadian decoration for service of this nature. Wartime and pre-war service may be counted.

It will supersede long service and good conduct awards hitherto given to members of the armed forces and which have no distinct Canadian connection.

The new award is a 10-sided silver-gilt device, bearing on its front the effigy of the King, encircled by the Royal title. The reverse bears a naval crown, maple

Pearl Harbor, July 15. — (AP) — The United States naval task force "Yoke" was poised today in Hawaiian waters for what is likely to be a dash to the Orient.

When it would leave was anybody's guess. No navy official would say.

Three Canadian destroyers—the Cayuga, Athabaskan and Sioux—arrived here Thursday and were expected to sail with the task force. The destroyers are Canada's first answer to a United Nations

Tokyo, July 15.—(AP)—United States army authorities today told Tom Lambert, Associated Press correspondent, and United Press correspondent Peter Kalischer that they could not return to the South Korean war front.

Lambert was notified as he was about to board a bus to return to Korea. He had been here briefly on leave.

Col. M. P. Echols, Gen. MacArthur's public information officer, told the Associated Press bureau here that some of Lambert's dispatches had been objectionable because "they gave aid and comfort to the enemy."

He cited as an example a quotation from a front-line soldier that "this is a damned useless war."

Echols was reminded that soldiers on all fronts in the second world war made similar comment. He agreed.

He did not explain why the notification was made so late that the AP bureau here had difficulty getting a replacement for Lambert in Korea.

The United Press office here said it received a similar explanation for the ban against Kalischer.

Lambert, whose dispatches have won wide play in newspapers all over the world, was threatened with expulsion from South Korea a few days ago.

In this instance, too, military authorities said there was no question of security or inaccuracy in his dispatches. Fellow correspondents appealed to the commanding general and the incident was believed closed.

Officials in Washington said at the time they found nothing objectionable in the dispatches.

Any Korean Settlement Must Get United Nations Sanction

London, July 15.—(Reuters)—Military developments in Korea and the considered assessment by Moscow and Peking of the overall strategic position in the Far East after the United States has mobilized itself in that area, are likely to provide the real keys to the prospects of India's latest peace move, observers believe.

From what is known of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's messages to Prime Minister Stalin and State Secretary Dean Acheson, and the considerations which prompted them, the following conclusions appear to emerge:

1. They aim at bringing all parties to accept that the solution to the Korean crisis must be found inside the United Nations with all members of the Security Council, including Russia and China, present and participating.

2. The admission of communist China to the Security Council is the obstacle to a settlement inside the United Nations.

3. The Indian initiative, if accepted by both sides, is based on the twin principles of communist China's admission and a cessation of hostilities in Korea itself.

4. Exchanges between New Delhi and Peking are an important factor in the Indian move.

In the light of what is already known of Britain's exchanges with Russia through the Kelly-Gromyko conversations in Moscow and Soviet reaction to them, observers regard one question arising out of the Indian demarche as of vital importance:

Will the cessation of hostilities in Korea or an agreement between the great powers to bring communist China into the Security Council come first?

Observers are convinced the U.S. would find it hard to follow India's initiative if it means that communist China's admission is a pre-condition of halting the fighting in Korea.

Among the non-communist members of the Security Council there is general acceptance of the view that the aggression of North Korea could never have taken place without the consent of Moscow, and probably also of Peking.

Franconia Takes Water Through Hull

Quebec, July 15.—(AP)—The 20,000-ton liner Franconia sea-sawed with the tides on a rocky reef today, with underwater punctures in her hull. Work crews tried to keep her pumped out.

The powerful salvage tug Traverser, a crew of more than 400 and 1,200 tons of cargo, rammed into the rocks Wednesday night shortly after pulling out of Quebec harbor. Persons who saw the accident said she landed with a "terrible roar."

Divers have been at work in the swirling water at Pointe au Taureau — name of the jutting head of rock where the ship struck — trying to establish the damage and assess the difficulties of refloating the vessel.

A preliminary inquiry ordered by the department of transport was to open today aboard the ship. The hearing would be closed, it was understood.

Yesterday, a big barge towed by the tug Marion-B was grounded on the rocks by treacherous currents while it unloaded the ship's cargo to reduce the ship's weight and give her an easier chance to float.

Grounding of the barge demonstrated that salvage will be difficult.

A tug, presumably to hold the listing ship in place, is constantly tied to the Franconia's stern.

The tides tend to affect the position of the boat. It is one of the tug's jobs to counteract this effect as much as possible.

One report said the gash in the ship's underside is 60 feet long. If an attempt is made to pull the ship from the falls to a point near Pointe au Taureau, the tide must be taken into consideration, as well as winds and currents.

Prof. Carl Faessler of Laval university, a geologist, said he believes the currents are caused by Montmorency Falls on the St. Lawrence north shore, on the other side of the island.

He says the falls have dug a submarine tunnel under the island from the falls to a point near Pointe au Taureau.

So many tourists and curious Quebecers have been coming to look at the Franconia that police have decreed one-way traffic to Ste. Petronille, the parish where the ship is grounded. To return home, motorists must take a long detour.

Bastogne, Belgium, July 15.—(AP)—Belgium will dedicate a monument here tomorrow to the memory of the American soldiers who perished in the battle of the bulge.

In the centre of the $500,000 edifice is a plaque saying, in Latin, "American liberators, the Belgian people remember."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

EXPERT RULES ON INITIAL MELD

"May I have your ruling," asks a New York reader, "on the following situation. I held three aces, three queens, three sixes, and two fives. The discard pile was discarded by the player at my right. This gave me the required count of 120 points for my first meld. However, it was necessary for me to use up my entire hand to make that meld. The opponents claimed that I could not take the pile since the meld left me with no cards in my hand. My partner and I claimed that taking the pile and melding were one and the same transaction; and that since I would have the pile left, I would have plenty of cards after my discard.

"Who is right?"

The meld is perfectly legal. It is quite all right to use every card in your hand for your initial meld when you take the discard pile. The only requirement is that you have at least one card in your hand after you have made your discard.

In this case, the player had the right to put down his entire hand, add the five from the top of the discard pile, and then pick up the rest of the pile. With the pile in his hand, he would then have the right to consider further melds, and so on, just as in the case of any legal meld.

Q—Suppose I freeze the pack with a wild card. The next player discards a king. Can my partner then pick up the pile if she has a pair of kings in her hand? In other words, is there any minimum length of time that a freeze must last before anybody can pick up the pile?

A—Your partner is entitled to take the pile in this situation. This is the minimum length of time that a freeze can last. The player who follows the freeze is not permitted to pick up the wild card; so he must draw from the stock. However, the freezer's partner may pick up the discard pile if she has a pair of natural cards that match the card that is discarded to her.

Q—The other night I held seven sevens, three nines and one deuce. I wanted to meld out, but the count of the hand was only 85, and I needed 120 points. Could I count the canasta bonus of 500 points towards my initial meld?

A—You were entitled to meld out, but not because of the canasta bonus. When you can meld out your entire hand at one play, including a canasta, and provided that you have not melded before and that you do not use any of your partner's melds—you are allowed to do so even if you have less than the minimum count. This is known as melding out "concealed."

You are never entitled to count your canasta bonus as part of your initial meld. A canasta bonus is counted only after the hand has ended.

Q—Do you get a bonus of 100 points if your side makes a meld before the other side melds?

A—No. There is no bonus for melding first.

Q—Do you need two canastas to meld out in two-hand Canasta?

A—This is left up to the players. They should agree beforehand whether one or two canastas are needed to meld out.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

PINZA CONFIDES TO JOHN-SON: JUST A BIG HAM AT HEART

Hollywood—Close-ups and Longshots: M-G-M's "Mr. Imperium" will have Lana Turner playing a western band singer who falls in love with a king—Erskine Pinza—but he'll be sharing the honors with a mule, Lana's No. 1 song will be "My Love and My Mule."

Despite his 21 years with the Met and his "South Pacific" hit, Pinza's greatest ambition has been to be a movie star. He told me: "I am a big ham. Lots of people can sing. But it is personality that counts." Now that he's made the grade, he says:

"I knew it would some day happen. It was fate."

Don Hartmann, who wrote and will direct "Imperium," says positively there will be no mention of "South Pacific" in the film.

Annual Reunion Of Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment Association Set For July 29

The Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment Association will hold its fifth annual reunion in Sherbrooke on the weekend of July 29-30.

Plans for the reunion, which returns to this city after having been held in Montreal last year, have been drawn up at a series of meetings held here in recent weeks by members of the association.

The Belvedere Street Armory will be the scene of the major part of the program which will get under way on the morning of July 29 when it is expected that some 200 former members of the Second World War armored Regiment will register.

The annual meeting will take place at 3 p.m. at the Armory and will be followed by a group picture and the march to the Cenotaph, the latter to be headed by the Canadian Legion's Pipe Band.

A buffet supper will be held at the Armory at 7 p.m. and the balance of the evening will consist of entertainment and dancing, this part of the program to start at 8:30 p.m.

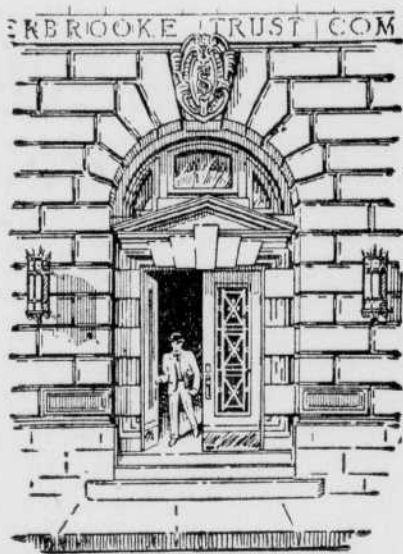

On Sunday, the reunion will be centered around the Canadian Legion Memorial Home, which will be open for the veterans. A program of musical entertainment and films, including one on the Regiment's famous tank "Bomb" and another on the Normandy invasion. This program will start at 2:30 p.m.

With the exception of the business session Saturday afternoon and the Cenotaph parade, the reunion will be a mixed gathering

Penitentiary Terms Given To Three Youths

Justice moved swiftly yesterday and three of five youths involved in an attempted safe robbery from the Wonder Bakery office just 12 hours earlier were sentenced to penitentiary terms by Judge Dorais Panneton.

The trio, Courtney McLean, 20, Robert Kirkpatrick, 20, and taxi driver Thomas Cushman, 21, all of Montreal, were arrested Thursday night, caught in the act of placing the safe in a car in front of the bakery.

Two other youths who were with them fled but police arrested one of them at noon yesterday. His name was not given out immediately, but he was known to be a resident of Sherbrooke. The fifth youth is still at large.

Pleading guilty before Judge Panneton, McLean and Kirkpatrick received three year terms. Cushman was sentenced to two years.

Heavy Loss Caused By Fire At Windsor

Windsor Mills, July 15.—A fire that required aid from the Sherbrooke department before it was extinguished caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the Magasin Cote block here yesterday, gutting a "five and ten-cent" store and apartments on the two floors above.

The blaze, believed to have been caused by faulty wiring in the walls, broke out shortly after noon and was not fully extinguished until last evening.

It swept through the store, owned by Joseph Cote but operated by Mrs. Ovila Chagnon, and the upstairs residence. Made homeless by the fire were:

L. Thibeault, Wilfrid and George Therrien, Mr. and Mrs. E. Desgagne, Alceide Frenette, Roger Vidal and E. Gregory.

HUNTINGVILLE

Mrs. C. Sanborn and daughter, Linda, of Lockmore, N.H., and Mrs. Sanborn and son, Mr. John Sanborn, of California, were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Griffith.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robinson and two daughters, Hilda and Idella, and Mrs. Elwin Aldrich, of Windsor, Vt., were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Aldrich.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lewell, Mr. Carl Lewell and Miss Janet Lewell, of Hawkesbury, Ont., left on Saturday to visit relatives at Portneuf, before returning to their home in Hawkesbury.

Mrs. Blanche Hyatt, of Sherbrooke, was a guest one Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bowers, and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, and family, to Bury, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Harrison, their son, who returned home with them last week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fairbrother were Mrs. Jennie Colby, of East Angus, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walker, of Phillips, Maine, Mrs. Walter Crawford, and daughter, Roberta, of Ives Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbrother spent the week-end in Lowell, Vt., where they attended a reception for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pope and called on Mr. and Mrs. Ora Pope and family, at Westfield, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Hunting, accompanied by Mrs. George Beers and two children, Janet and Arthur, left on Tuesday, for Mrs. Beers' new home in Ottawa. They were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Skilling in Montreal. Best wishes go with Mr. and Mrs. Beers and family to their new home in the Capital City.

Mr. Rodney Jenne, has returned home after a week's visit in Cowansville with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jenne.

Deafened People Nail This Tiny New Hearing Aid!

BY DORIS FOSTER

Cleveland, Ohio — Thousands of folks with limited hearing are happy about this most recent scientific advancement that promises better hearing for many.

The tiny aid, made possible through the development of a top war-secret, is much smaller than former aids, and eliminates the embarrassment of wearing a conspicuous button in the ear. There are no wires or cords exposed to view. Though extremely small, the instrument produces amazing power, and amplifies sound with excellent tone fidelity. The manufacturer, PARAVOX, INC., offers an unusual trial plan that is available to all, without the risk of one penny. Complete details promptly sent to all who will write to Doris Foster, Room 732 2056 E. Fourth Street, Cleveland 15, Ohio.—Adv.

Locals Boys Will Continue Interrupted Trip To United Kingdom By Airplane

George Morgan and Richard Ramsay, the two local boys who were among the 50 Canadian high-school students aboard the grounded liner Franconia, will continue their interrupted journey to England by air.

J. Edward Shortt, local secretary of the Y.M.C.A. who went to Quebec with the Sherbrooke boys and their parents to see the youngsters on their way, said the students will leave by air today, 25 traveling via B.O.A.C. and 25 by Trans-Canada Air Lines.

The parents of all 50 boys gave their consent to the flight. Mr. Shortt said young Morgan and Ramsay and other students whose tour is being sponsored by Canadian-born industrialist Garfield Weston, were in the best of spirits, and literally thrilled by the unfortunate but none-the-less exciting turn of events.

The Franconia ran around on rocks beside the Island of Orleans just a short time after leaving Quebec. No one was injured in the grounding.

In addition to Morgan and Ramsay, two other Sherbrooke boys were aboard, Peter and Brian Wilcock, who were returning for a visit to England, from where they came here with their parents two years ago.

After the grounding, Morgan and one of the Wilcock boys remained until 6 a.m. in the boat which took them off the Franconia. The man in charge of the boat, taking passengers to shore, agreed when they asked if they could stay with him on his trips.

In Quebec, all the boys were quartered in one of the dining rooms of the Chateau Frontenac and on Thursday they enjoyed a tour of the city, arranged by some of the parents.

Mr. Shortt said the first word he and the parents of young Morgan and Ramsay received of the grounding came when they were on their way back to Sherbrooke. They were near Valley Junction when Mr. Ramsay pulled up his stop, to see the ship.

Mr. Ramsay had heard a broadcast about the Franconia. The parents decided to return to Quebec so Mr. and Mrs. Morgan went into Mr. Ramsay's car and Mr. Shortt, who was accompanied by his wife, brought Mr. Morgan's car back to Sherbrooke.

The guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. McFadden, and spent a pleasant afternoon in the spacious garden where the tea tables were attractively centred with baskets of colorful summer flowers, and did full justice to the salad tea which was served following the presentation.

Mrs. H. L. Wallace, president of the Society, who welcomed the members upon their arrival, also thanked Mrs. McFadden, convener of the entertainment committee, for arranging such an enjoyable outing.

Red Cross Workers Are Honored

Present day and wartime workers of the Lennoxville Red Cross Branch were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McFadden, of Lennoxville, at their cottage at Moe's River, on Tuesday.

Honors were conferred upon three valuable members, Mrs. R. H. Fletcher, first president of this group, who reorganized the branch at the outbreak of the last war, was presented with an honorary life membership badge with a citation for efficient service. The presentation was made by Mrs. J. E. Jamieson, a past president.

Service badges and citations were presented to Mrs. M. L. Roberts and Mrs. H. Mayhew for their tireless efforts and willingness to carry on in peacetime work as during the war years. Mrs. Mayhew was unable to be present but her badge was received by her daughter, Mrs. J. Gustin.

Mrs. M. Fowles, works convener, made the presentation to Mrs. Roberts.

The guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. McFadden, and spent a pleasant afternoon in the spacious garden where the tea tables were attractively centred with baskets of colorful summer flowers, and did full justice to the salad tea which was served following the presentation.

Local Chamber Of Commerce Asks Members To Use Vote In Referendum

Members of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce are urged to register their opinion on the projected $1,400,000 public works program of the Sherbrooke City Council when a by-law to cover the cost is presented to the ratepayers on Tuesday. In its letter, the Chamber of Commerce does not register an opinion for or against the proposal, confining itself to an explanation of the by-law and an appeal to the property owners to visit the polls. The letter continues:

This by-law covers a work program of two years. Bodily classified, the money will be used for the following purposes: Construction of sewers, gas and water mains, $373,500; cement sidewalks, $148,050; paving, $336,550; opening, surfacing, grading and widening streets, $120,800; enlarging the municipal incinerator, $20,750; new electric transmission lines and electric plant costs, $148,050; purchase of land, $55,550; purchase of vehicles and equipment, $192,200; completing certain works and purchase of orders under earlier by-laws, $37,400.

If you wish further details on this by-law, you are welcomed to call at the secretariat where a copy of the by-law is at your disposal.

It is your duty as a citizen and property owner of this city to express your opinion on the way the money you pay in taxes will be spent. As a member of this Chamber of Commerce you have proved many times in the past that you have a great interest in your City's welfare and it is hoped that once more you will maintain this enviable reputation.

Be sure to vote yourself to signify your wishes and persuade your friends to do likewise.

EXAMINING SOCIALISM

The Far Eastern crisis has resulted in the virtual overlooking of three important debates to be held in the British House of Commons on the matter of socialized industries. While there has been continuous sniping at the government by the opposition over the performance in these industries, there has not yet been a comprehensive opportunity for a review of the policy or policies of socialization and what they may mean to the country.

Quietly, the government itself has been examining the effects of socialization and looking not only at the actual performance of the several industries concerned but also at the different administrative structures adopted for them, and at the relationships between the government and the industries. And, recently, Mr. Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, told the House of Commons that the government would make time available for three debates during the summer. In the House of Lords, Lord Lindsay of Birker raised the question both of the efficient organization and the public accountability of the Boards. Some, even on the government side of the House, have welcomed the pause before the iron and steel industry is brought into public ownership, as giving an opportunity for learning from past experience before a vast new undertaking is begun. The first of a series of three debates in the Commons may well turn out to be an occasion for going over principles and major policy questions. Not that there will be any question of undoing what has been done. The Conservatives—and, in relation to certain industries, the Liberals—may say that if they were to come into office they would propose to "unscramble the omelette" and return some of the industries to private ownership. On that there is some confusion of doctrine, and the occasion for clarifying it is not now. It will await the next political campaign.

Rather will discussion be on how well the socialized industries are working and how to produce under public ownership the spurs to efficiency that are held by the Conservatives to have been lost when they were taken from their earlier ownership.

THE BUSINESS OF BRIGANDAGE

Banditry has long been frowned upon in North America and most Western European countries, with the forces of law and order being active in the battle to suppress such gangs as may arise. However, in Asiatic countries and certain of the Balkan states, brigandage has been recognized as a business. Youths join the ranks of the outlaw bands as apprentices, partly because of the loot they may share, and partly because of the love of adventure.

Italy has also been a country where banditry flourished and today many people in the adjacent island of Sicily breathe easier because of the announcement that the notorious bandit, Salvatore Giuliano has at last been shot and killed after leading a robber band for seven years, during which they killed about one hundred men trying to run them down.

In recent years banditry has not been the attractive proposition it used to be, but it is less than forty years ago since the Italian authorities brought a stop to the notorious Camorra organization which had existed since 1820, and membership was handed down from generation to generation as a professional tradition.

Originally the Cammorists were blackmailers, and they did not balk at murder to obtain money. From that they became plain bandits, and robbed and killed without compunction. Forty years ago the Government decided that the Cammorists must be eliminated, and as the result of a great drive, 37 men were arrested. So violent were they that a great cage, not unlike the kind in which wild animal performances are given in a circus, was erected in the court at Viterbo, and the prisoners were herded inside with a strong guard outside. The trial began in March, 1911, and lasted until July, 1912, after over 300 sittings. Most of them got sentences that meant life imprisonment because of their ages, and that was the end of the Camorra.

SAY WHAT YOU MEAN

Man is not always able to do the things he wishes to do, so it is beyond human ken why a person does not do what he wishes when it is in his power to do so.

How many times do we hear or see the expression "the president wishes to thank . . ." If he wishes to thank someone for his services, why does not he come right out and do so, instead of saying he wishes to thank someone, and dropping it right there.

Another peculiarity about some officials today is that they so often are said to "act as chairman," instead of being actually chairman of the meeting.

"The president wishes to thank" and "the president acted as chairman" may convey the idea they are intended to express, but they are samples of the roundabout and unemphatic way of speaking typical of many people today.

Superfluous words and inexact use of words tend to make speech ambiguous or ineffective. Why not say just what we mean, briefly and clearly?

TEN "MOST BORING BOOKS"

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Many publishers, authors and scholarly people have been invited, or tempted to name a list of what they consider the ten greatest books. Somerset Maugham, no mean writer himself, named a list not long ago, and after he had done so he admitted that he could name another ten, all different from the first list, and yet equally qualified to be regarded as the ten greatest.

The same thing could be said of the ten "most boring books," which were selected for the Columbia University Press by a poll of hundreds of editors, authors, booksellers, librarians, literary critics and readers. The list must have caused a raising of a good many eyebrows and will be strongly repudiated by a host of editors, authors, booksellers, et al. In fact we note several that have been included in lists of the best ten. Another poll could conceivably comprise a completely different list of ten books that are most boring.

It is surprising to find that Rev. John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" heads the list as the No. 1 bore. For more than 250 years it has been read with pleasure and profit by millions of people in many lands, and a book that has done that cannot be that bad. The style in which it is written rivals the Bible. All the books named are classics of long standing, and it is interesting to note that expansion of the list shows that Shakespeare is represented by "As You Like It," which was 31 places removed from the list of the damned. We can think, however, of other Shakespearean plays much more tedious, such as Pericles and Cymbeline.

There has, of course, been a great change in the literary taste of the public over the course of years. In the eras in which the books named were written, the masses of people were not so well educated as they are now, and books that seemed great then would not be hailed as great today. Education has produced far more authors and far more readers, but the paradoxical situation is that while there are far more educated people, even if that means only the ability to read, there is a stupendous output of poor and even trashy books which has depressed the general level of reading standards. The result is that "classic" books make less appeal, and may be condemned as boring by large numbers of readers who like more lurid literature.

SAME OLD STORY

St. Catharines Standard

All during World War II, our tanks were only effective when we had a lot more of them than did the enemy. When our strength in tanks was matched, ours were out-manned and out-gunned by the Germans. Allied tanks were, on the whole, fast and manoeuvrable, but they could be picked off by guns from German tanks long before we were in effective shooting range.

As the fighting wore on, sheer mass of numbers made our tanks a more effective weapon, but still in a straight fight ours were at a disadvantage, unless a rocket-firing fighter-bomber happened to be knocking out the German tanks for us. Five years of cold war and, presumably, preparation have gone by, but still it is the same old story. Every despatch from Korea mentions that our tanks are ineffective against the heavier Russian-type tanks with their long-range armor-piercing guns. It appears that we have not kept pace in military development. If, on the other hand, we have secret new tanks which are better, it is the time to use them, rather than holding them in reserve. The Russians, and many other nations, should be shown now that the United States, as the chief military power of the western world, has strength and can use it well.

From all accounts, American and Australian aircraft are putting up a great show and are highly effective against the enemy. Yet it is disconcerting to read, in the morning newspapers, an article hinting that the reason Canada has not offered air assistance is that we have not the planes to spare.

Is it going to be, all over again, a case of too little and too poor too late, until the weight of mass-produced materials can finally regain lost ground over the dead bodies of our soldiers? With defence budgets so high in all the free countries, there is no excuse for lack of preparedness.

A CITIZEN OF THE WORLD

Ottawa Journal

William Massey Birks, dead in Montreal, was a great Canadian, distinguished in the fields of business, philanthropy, education and social relations, but his interests and his hopes were as broad as the earth. It is significant of his status as a world citizen, and his concern for humanity as a whole, that he was paid honor not only by his own country and by Britain but by the governments of Denmark, Greece, Norway, Poland, Yugoslavia and The Netherlands.

Mr. Birks lived to be 81, and his years were full of good deeds which are his enduring monument. He was chairman of the board of Henry Birks and Sons, Limited, and his deep pride in the family name and business, and the expansion of that business under his wise guidance, was characteristic of his manliness. He was a governor of two Montreal hospitals, a governor of McGill for 40 years, and only recently he saw realized his dream of a divinity faculty in that institution. He was an elder of the Presbyterian-United Church, had been president of the Montreal Canadian Club and the Association of Canadian Clubs, president of the Montreal Board of Trade and of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. He had represented Canada at international gatherings which sought the objective of peace and harmony in the world. He was chairman, after World War II, of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund. These and many other public-spirited activities dominated his useful life into its ninth decade, because every cause calculated to improve the lot of his own or any country had his instant and sympathetic support.

The death of this man who was so genuine, so generous, whose life was a long service to his fellows, will be felt not only in Montreal but wherever his name was known. William Massey Birks, alive, commanded our affection and respect. Dead, he lives on in the memory of millions he had helped.

NO ONE CARES FOR AN OLD-FASHIONED GAL ANY MORE

Rain

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

Is there anything as refreshing as the coolness that follows a summer shower? The air is clean and fragrant as a flower just opened and every blade stands up tall and proud in its new-washed green, piped with silver. Birds bathe in blue puddles and shake from their wings sprays of crystal droplets. All growing things in fields and gardens have taken on a freshness, a vitality that only rain can give. Man, too, feels invigorated and, somehow, cleansed.

Rain is making news headlines. Have you read that in New York lately one group paid a man a handsome sum of money to make rain, and another to make it rain another day.

Are we headed for the day when bulletins will be issued stating that "The national public holidays are as usual guaranteed to be rain-free in all large centres of population. . . ."/>

"Life," is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 16th, 1930.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 27:1, "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For this commandment which I command thee this day, it is not hidden from thee, neither is it far off: I call heaven and earth to record this day against you, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore choose life, that both thou and thy seed may live: that thou mayest love the Lord thy God, and that thou mayest obey his voice, and that thou mayest cleave unto him: for his is thy life, and the length of thy days." (Deuteronomy 30:11-19, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Life is divine Principle, Mind, Soul Spirit. Life is without beginning and without end. The continual contemplation of existence as material and corporeal—as beginning and ending, and with birth, decay, and dissolution as its component stages—hides the true and spiritual Life, and causes our standard to trail in the dust. If Life has any starting-point whatsoever, then the great I AM is a myth. We should remember that Life is God, and that God is omnipotent. Because Life is God, Life must be eternal, self-existent." (Pages 468, 550, 394, 289).

MARRIAGES

ST. CYR—WILLARD

East Angus, July 15.—The marriage of Beryl Eleanor, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Willard, to Mr. Clement St. Cyr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleophas St. Cyr, all of East Angus, took place at ten o'clock, Saturday morning, July 15, at St. Louis Church, Rev. Father Rene Roberge officiating. The wedding music was played by Miss Blanche Roberge and pink and white peonies and red roses were used to decorate the church. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of pale blue sheer trimmed with satin folds, fashioned with a fitted bodice fastened from the waistline to the high round neckline with tiny self-covered buttons, short sleeves and a full skirt. Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a wreath and she carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Mr. St. Cyr, stood as witness for his son and the ushers were Messrs. Mark Gosselin and Jean-Luc St. Cyr.

The bride's mother was dressed in navy blue flowered sheer and she wore grey accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was gowned in grey flowered crepe with navy blue and white accessories and her corsage was of pink roses. Sister of the bride, Mrs. Philip Beauchamp, was in old rose crepe with navy accessories and wore a corsage of dark red roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, on Angus Street, where a buffet lunch was served to seventy guests. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and decorated with bowls of cut flowers. The house was further adorned with pink and white peonies and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Cyr left later by motor for a wedding trip to Quebec City, the Isle of Orleans, Morrisburg, Ont., and many other points of interest. The bride traveled in a three-quarter-length cream gabardine suit, with brick accessories, and she wore a corsage of yellow roses.

On their return they will reside in East Angus.

Out of town guests were from Montreal, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Manywaki, Gorham, N.H., Woodstock, and St. Johnsbury, Vt.

PICHE—BRANDT

Bedford, July 15.—The marriage of Siona Brandt, of Bedford, daughter of the late Rev. E. H. Beat Heat With Fruit Salad

FOR HEAT-WILTED APPETITES try a light bowl of chilled fruit salad topped with molasses cheese sauce.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Fresh fruit salad with an unusual dressing is the kind of novelty that perks up hot weather appetites.

Here's an unusual molasses cheese sauce for your fruit salad:

Molasses Cheese Sauce for Fruit Salad
Beat together one square cream cheese, 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 3 tablespoons light New Orleans type molasses. Sprinkle in chopped nuts. Serve with fruit salads.

For the salad, use melon balls, cherries, grapes, orange and grapefruit sections, arranged in individual bowls, garnished with tender greens. Pass sauce in separate bowl.

From San Francisco, Jessica C. McLachlin, an old friend of this column, sends this delicious recipe for veal:

Veal Balalaika
Three tablespoons bacon drippings or other fat, 2 pounds veal steak, cut in small cubes or strips, ¼ cup flour, 1 cup hot water and ¼ cup sauterne or other white table wine or 1½ cups hot water, 1 (4-ounce) can mushroom stems and pieces, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 onion, thinly sliced, 1 teaspoon paprika, salt and pepper to taste, 1 cup sour cream.

Heat bacon drippings in a large heavy skillet with a tight-fitting lid. Add veal and brown slowly on all sides. Stir in flour; add water and wine; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and smooth. Add mushrooms (including liquid), parsley, onion, paprika, salt and pepper.

Cover tightly and simmer gently, stirring frequently, for 45 minutes to one hour, or until veal is tender. Just before serving, stir in sour cream. Taste and add additional salt and pepper if necessary. Serve with buttered noodles.

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs, toasted English muffins, butter, jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Potato and chive soup in cups, crackers, fruit salad with molasses cheese sauce, whole wheat bread, butter, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Veal Balalaika, buttered noodles, garden peas, mixed green salad, French dressing fruit bowl cheese and crackers, coffee, milk.

25th Wedding Anniversary Celebrated

Stanbridge East, July 15.—A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Loiselle on June 9. The occasion was the 25th anniversary of their marriage.

About sixty relatives and friends attended to congratulate, and to present them gifts to commemorate their "Silver Wedding."

During the evening a comucopia, made by Mrs. T. Husband and filled with silver color by the relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Loiselle, was presented to them by Mrs. Cyril Chrysler and Mrs. E. Belduc, and from their friends a purse of money. The address was made by Mrs. F. J. Laraway. Miss Catherine Chrysler, niece of Mrs. Loiselle, entered the living-room, carrying a large flower basket, holding twenty-five American Beauty roses, also given by their friends. This presentation was made by Mrs. Cyril Chrysler.

Mr. and Mrs. Loiselle both thanked their friends and relatives for their kind remembrances and good wishes after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Gardner Chrysler and Mrs. Cyril Chrysler, assisted by Mrs. C. Chabot, Mrs. William Walmsley and Mrs. Amadee Blau, of Cowansville.

The lace-covered dining-room table was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers, caught at the four corners, falling from a large white wedding bell suspended over the table. The three-tiered wedding cake was made by Mrs. E. Brown, decorated with silver trimmings and lily-of-the-valley, with vases of the same flowers on either side. It made a very attractive centerpiece. Tea and coffee were poured by Mrs. George Fortin and Mrs. Roy Fortin.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. Thomas Chrysler, of Exeter, N.H.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Belduc, Sweetsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Loiselle, Mr. and Mrs. John Loiselle, Mr. and Mrs. Amadee Blau, Cowansville; Mr. and Mrs. Elphège Loiselle and son, St. Johns; Mr. and Mrs. J. Paquette, Dunham; Mrs. William Watson, Miss Ruth Watson and Mr. and Mrs. William Walmsley, of Bedford.

Eric Purdy and daughter, Dianne, all of Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent White and daughter, Nancy, of Norville, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Foxworth and children, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Russell Dougherty and son, Jimmie, of Bury; Mrs. Findlay Bennett, of Canterbury; Mr. and Mrs. Clair Flack, of Hagersville, Ont.; and Rev. and Mrs. M. Robinson and daughter, Janette, of Hamilton, Ont.

Mrs. H. R. Hazle, of Toronto, Ont., is the guest of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hazle, Aberdeen Avenue.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Persons, High Street, Lennoxville, were Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams, of Berlin, N.H.; Mrs. Anna Waldron, of Eaton Corner, and Mrs. and Mrs. Forest Fowler, of Moe's River.

Mrs. Dorais Panneton, and her son, Dr. Andre Panneton, Quebec Street, have left for Old Orchard Beach, Me., where they will be guests at the Ocean House, for three weeks.

Miss Sylvia Ross, who is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ross, Quebec Street, will be returning to Montreal, tomorrow. Miss Ursula Ormston, also of Montreal, is arriving today to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ross, for the week-end.

Rev. A. V. Ottwell, of Montreal, who will be Priest-in-charge at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, has arrived with Mrs. Ottwell, and they are staying at St. Peter's Rectory, Dufferin Avenue, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burroughs, Victoria Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lavallee, Queen Street, have returned from a week's motor trip through Ontario, when they were guests for a few days of relatives and friends at London.

Messrs. Gordon Harmer and Robin Stewart, left yesterday for the Muskoka Lake District, where they will be guests at the Glenmount Hotel and will play golf at the Bigwin Inn golf course.

Mrs. Leo Lemieux entertained at a tea on Saturday afternoon, July 1, at her home on McManamy Street, in honor of Miss Aurelie Corbell, prior to her departure for Montreal, where she has been transferred to the new office of the Canadian Silk Products. The lace-covered tea table was centered with mixed pink and white summer flowers in a silver bowl and pink and white candles in silver candelabra. Mrs. J. M. Corbell, mother of the guest of honor, poured, and Mrs. P. O. Harvey and Miss Rue Corbell assisted in serving. Miss Corbell was presented with a gift from her assembled friends, including many of her co-workers at the Sherbrooke office of the Canadian Silk Products.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Holmes and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holmes, of South Bend, Ind., were calling on friends here.

DOROTHY DIX

Social Error

Improper, Unfair To Family, To Invite Boy In After Late Party

Dear Miss Dix: Should a girl ask a boy into her house when he brings her home at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning? The girl maintains there is no opportunity for conversation at the movies and subsequent party and that it is very inhospitable to just say good night at the door. Her mother says it is a social error to have a young man visit her at that hour of the morning and that it will cause gossip. Also, that it is very annoying to those who are asleep in a small house. Which one is right—the girl or her mother? ANNA.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer: The mother, absolutely. It is the height of impropriety for a girl to entertain men visitors at that hour of the morning, and after the neighbors get through saying what they think about it she won't have a shred of character left.

SHE HAS NO EXCUSE
Also, it is the most unmitigated selfishness for her to be willing to break up the rest of a family with her dates. Nor are her reasons for keeping this all-night vigil an excuse for such conduct, for if she so pinned for conversation with the youth she might have stayed at home and indulged in a talk-fast. Furthermore, it is a safe bet that the young man would not regard her failure to drag him in for another hour's talk as a lack of hospitality. He would look upon it thankfully as a reprieve and a chance to get a little sleep.

Many young men don't date girls because the girls are never willing to go home from a place of amusement. They are not satisfied with going to the movies or to the theatre. They always want to go on from there to supper or a night club or take a drive, anything that will keep them up until dawn. At a dance they can't be dragged away until the good-night number is played and then they can always think of somewhere to go from there.

Certainly the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Dumb Animals ought to do something to protect the young men from the girls who won't go home till morning, till daylight doth appear.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I are very anxious to adopt a child, but want to go about it in the best way. Shall we tell the child when it is old enough to understand that it is an adopted child? My husband insists that I go away some place and then return with the child so the neighbors won't know it is not our own. Also he thinks we should keep the child from ever knowing that it is adopted. What is your opinion? MRS. A. B. B.

Answer: I have answered this question a hundred times in this column, but I'll keep on answering it as long as any woman asks it. For I get a glow of vicarious happiness out of even hoping that I may help in putting a baby into the arms of some child-hungry woman and giving some poor little homeless child a home and parents and a chance in life.

First, tell the child that he is adopted before he is old enough really to understand. Then there is never any shock to him in learning about it. He takes it naturally and there is none of the mental upset that adopted children invariably have if they are kept in ignorance of their adoption until they are nearly grown.

Your husband is absolutely wrong in even thinking of such a foolish thing as to try to palm a spurious baby off on your friends and neighbors. It simply can't be done, and if you attempt it it will only make a scandal out of a fine deed. Don't let yourself in for a life of deceit. It will take all of the pleasure you have out of your adopted child if you are forever trying to conceal the fact that it is not your own, and if you are forced to live in continual fear of somebody discovering your secret.

Dear Miss Dix: Please tell me which wife would be the best for an ambitious man, a scolding, thrifty one, or a good-natured, easy-going wife? L. C.

Answer: Well, the thrifty, scolding wife might save more of your money than the good-natured, easy-going one, but she would cause a lot more wear on your disposition, and as between the savings-bank account and peace and comfort in the home I'd take the peace and comfort every time.

Of course, wives help husbands in different ways and there is no doubt that there are gadfly wives who sting into action men who might otherwise be inert and lack ambition. So there you are, and you will have to decide for yourself which type of wife you need—the woman who scolds or the woman who smiles.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column. She has prepared, however, a leaflet, "Hasty Marriage," which describes the dangers of marrying too young. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, P. O. Box 98, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

LAKE MEGANTIC

The June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Knox United Church was held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Miller one Wednesday afternoon. There were seven members and five visitors present. Mrs. Jones conducted the meeting. The hymns were "In Christ There is No East or West" and "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life" and a Psalm was read responsively. Mrs. Miller gave the Scripture reading. A very interesting report on the Presbyterian meeting held in Quebec was given by Mrs. Jones. There were seventy delegates present at this meeting and a very inspiring address was given by Mrs. Inman, the guest speaker. Other talks and reviews were given by the past president. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Jones for her splendid report. A letter was read from Mrs. Trace, of this Children's Home, Lachine, expressing thanks for the sweater received. Finances were discussed and it was decided that each member would pay fifty cents "Vacation Money" as no meetings will be held in July or August. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Miller assisted by Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Greenway.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Erickson and two children, of Avon, Mass., and Mrs. Bernard Sprague, of Randolph, Mass., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Murdo MacDonald for the holiday week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Farwell and children spent the week-end in Wells River, Vt., with relatives. Messrs. Elmer and Dennis Morrison and Billy Latty, of Toronto, Ont., were in town during the week-end.

Those from out of town, who attended the funeral of Mr. J. B. Miller were Mrs. D. Fletcher and two daughters, of Cote St. Luc, Mr. John F. Miller, of Ville St. Pierre, Mr. W. I. Miller, of Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barker and Mr. Hugh Miller, of Brownville, Junction, Me., Mr. Joseph Miller, of East Hereford, Mr. Milton MacDonald, of Sherbrooke, and Miss Mary Black, Scottstown.

Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute July Meeting Featured Apron Contest, Reports And Excellent Addresses

Melboro, July 15. — The July meeting of the Melbourne Ridge Women's Institute was held on Tuesday, July 4, at the home of the Misses Emily and Marion McMorine, with Mrs. Lula Baker and Mrs. Batchelor, the joint hostesses. There were twenty-one members and two visitors in attendance.

Mrs. Henry Fowler, the president, was in the chair and the meeting opened by all repeating the "Mary Stewart Collect" in unison. The motto was "A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the wisest men." Roll call was answered by giving a favorite recipe for a supper dish. The minutes were read and approved, and the correspondence was read. Mrs. Stainthorpe expressed personal thanks for Mr. Stainthorpe, who was remembered by the society.

Mrs. Kerr gave the monthly financial report.

Mrs. Grainger, Miss H. Sims, Mrs. W. Marshall, Mr. E. Noble and Miss Jessie Johnston, are among those who will be given suitable remembrances in the immediate future from the W. I. Two quilts are to be made for Manitoba Relief. The Red Cross Society is furnishing the materials. All the ladies were reminded to attend the County meeting, in Richmond held on July 8th. This branch provided the cookies.

Mrs. Merrill Taber gave a full and very interesting report of the Macdonald College Convention. Mrs. Wilfong gave a report of the Short Course, facts, figures, and fun, part one. Her topic was "Stain and Removal" she will continue in part, at future meetings. Mrs. Arthur Ellis gave an interesting account of her two years' sojourn in Dorset, England, after

THE MUNICIPAL LOAN OF $1,400,000 PROPERTY OWNERS OF SHERBROOKE

Paving is one of the most important improvements of a City. Besides improving the appearance and value of property, the paving of streets reduces and even wipes out maintenance cost of unpaved streets, specially in a hilly City, like Sherbrooke.

By voting "IN FAVOR" of By-Law No. 718, you will insure the paving of the following Streets:

WEST WARD:

Federale Street, from Galt to Acadie St.;
Acadie Street, from Wellington St. South to Federale St.;
Champlain Street, from Kingston St. to Drummond St.;
Royal Street, from C.P.R. to Q.C.R.;
Short Street, from Kitchener St. to Haig St.;
Perry Street, from King George St. to McManamy St.;
DesForges Street, from Drummond St. to Rand Drill St.;
Drummond Street, widening;
Short Street, widening;
Laurier Street, from Galt St. to Wellington St.;
St. Catherine Street, from Drummond St. to the limits;
Larocque Street, from McManamy St. to Union St.;
Cambrai Street, from Belvidere to Courcellette St.;
Leonidas Street, from St. Louis St. towards the west;
Florence Street, from St. Louis St. towards the west;
Alexander Blvd., from McManamy St. towards the south.

EAST WARD:

Brewster Street, from Morkill St. to Park St.;
St. Sacrament Street, from Brewster St. to Mt. Pleasant St.;
King St. East, from Eighth Avenue to Arona St.;
Second Avenue, from Chalifoux St. towards the north;
Bowen St. South, from Woodward St. to Allen St.;
Woodward Street, from Seventh Avenue to Tenth Avenue;
Lafontaine Street, from Murray St. to Seventh Avenue;
Joffre Street, from Bowen St. South to the bridge;
St. Henri Street, from King St. East to Rondeau St.;
Bowen St. North, widening, from King St. East to Morkill St.;
Windsor Street, widening, from King St. East to Bowen St. North;
Mt. Pleasant Street, from Park St. to Curtis Street;
Curtis Street, from Mt. Pleasant St. to King St. East;
Tenth Avenue, from Council St. to King St. East.

SOUTH WARD:

Lansdowne Street, from lot 1242-20 to 1242-33;
Galt Street, between the bridge and the viaduct;

NORTH WARD:

Amherst Street, from Ontario St. to Vimy St.;
Argyle Street, from Prospect St. to Portland St.;
Dominion Street, from Vimy St. to Argyle St.;
Court Street, from Dufferin St. to lot 971;
Durham Street, from Vimy St. to Bryant St.;
Elizabeth Street, from Moore St. towards the north;
Brompton Road Street, widening.

The cost of paving of the above streets will be over $335,000. One-half of this cost is payable by the riparian owners in twenty years, the other half being payable by the City. Outside of the permanent improvements mentioned in previous advertisements, the following works and purchases shall be made:

- Laying of asphalt on the present granite block paving;
- Levelling and stone-basing of several streets;
- Widening of streets and intersections;
- Purchase of land for the opening of streets and other municipal purposes;
- Establishment of parking lots;
- Improvements of parks in the North, East and West Wards;
- The present incinerator will be enlarged and improved to meet present requirements;
- New transmission lines will be erected to take care of the increased demand for electricity;
- Purchase of equipment for the Road, Fire, Police and other departments.

The above works and purchases are rendered necessary by the constant development of the City and have been carefully studied by the Council at several meetings.

Diligenti Quints Are 7 Years Old

Buenos Aires, July 15.—(P)—Argentina's diligent quintuplets today celebrate their seventh birthdays.

They already speak five languages—Spanish, English, French, German and Italian—and are ready to start on the five times five multiplication table.

The two boys and three girls are the children of Franco Dilligenti, a wealthy textile manufacturer, who has spurred all efforts to exhibit the quintuplets publicly.

Each one is having a birthday cake today at the party to which 40 adults and about 80 children have been invited.

The children are Franco, Jr., Carlos, Maria Fernanda, Maria Esther, and Maria Cristina.

Santarem, Portugal, July 15.—(Reuters)—Twelve persons were killed and 24 injured last night when a truck taking workmen home crashed into a post.

Moscow, July 15.—(P)—The army newspaper Red Star said today that reactionary Swedish circles are preparing for a war with Russia.

Lake Success, July 15.—(P)—The United Nations watched anxiously today for replies from 52 members to Secretary-General Trygve Lie's call for all-out fighting aid to stem the Red invasion of South Korea.

Lie expressed his concern over the U.N. situation in Korea at a press conference yesterday. He made it clear that he expects every U. N. member except the dissenting Soviet bloc and communist Yugoslavia to help turn back the North Korean Reds.

Lie does not expect troops from every one of the 52 countries. However, all are expected to chip in some supplies and other evidence of aid.

India, whose delegate recently told reporters that India could not send troops to Korea, was among those asked directly for soldiers.

Arab countries also were asked for help, although observers here differed as to the extent of their support of the Security Council

ATTRACTIVE DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT ON MONTREAL ROAD

Olivier's Curb And Dining Room Service On Montreal Road Is Open

The many future patrons will be glad to hear that the opening of Olivier's new curb and dining room service took place last Wednesday night, July 12. Hours before this event, cars stopped and asked for curb service; several people wandered into the very cool snack bar and ordered the various drinks advertised. Well, a general invitation can now be extended to all.

Situated at the Montreal-Rock Forest road triangle, the drive-in restaurant is among the finest of its kind in this district with respect to beauty, from the shining white walls and red shingled roof to the modern air-conditioned interior, and the service is par excellence.

A competent staff, numbering about 25 people, caters to patrons' requests, aided by modern devices for ensuring quick efficient service. A two-way intercommunication system between the curb, which can accommodate 150 cars, and the kitchen is only one of the speedup methods used, while the latter is equipped with everything from automatic potato peeler and slicer to electric dish-washer, an outstanding example of cleanliness and efficiency.

Snappily attired waitresses will attend to the cars parked in numbered spaces on any of the several

Sawyerville United Church Celebrated Its 100th Anniversary With A Supper July 1 And Special Services July 2

Sawyerville, July 15.—The congregation of Sawyerville United Church celebrated, on Sunday, July 2, the 100th anniversary of the building of the first Methodist Church, in Sawyerville, and the fiftieth anniversary of the erection of the present structure.

The church and the adjoining Sunday School Hall were filled to capacity with some 350 people in attendance at the morning service. Many former residents and friends from neighboring communities joined the Sawyerville people, congregations at Randboro and East Clifton cancelled their services for the day. A number of people, both old and young, from the North Eastern United States returned for the occasion, some after decades of absence from their native soil. One elderly lady reported that she had renewed acquaintances which had lapsed for fifty years.

The preacher at the morning service was Rev. Thomas Knowles, of Huntingdon, Que., who was pastor of the Sawyerville charge from 1924-28. In his sermon, Rev. Mr. Knowles stressed responsibility for the church and the importance of the Christian faith in the world today.

A large local choir led the singing, and special numbers consisted of a quartet (unaccompanied), a solo, and an anthem.

Greetings to the congregation were received from the chairman of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery; the president of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference of the United Church, and from many former members of the congregation.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of peonies, cacti and other flowering and foliage plants.

Refreshments were served afterwards in the basement and Sunday School Hall, and upwards of two hundred people used the opportunity for visiting and renewing old friendships. Congenial groups could be seen around the church steps and lawns well into the afternoon.

For the evening service, the church was well-filled, though the attendance was less than in the morning. The speaker was the Rev. T. D. F. Everett, of Trinity United Church, in Sherbrooke. Rev. Mr. Everett stressed the important contribution which the church had made in the past and was continuing to make in the present. He urged a greater concern for its welfare and a deeper understanding of the faith.

The singing was led by members of Trinity United Church choir, Sherbrooke, with the cooperation of members of the choirs of Sherbrooke Baptist Church and Lennoxville United Church. Miss Thelma Crawford of Lennoxville, sang a solo.

The Sawyerville Baptist minister and congregation expressed their good wishes very concretely by withdrawing their evening service and many members of the Baptist Church joined their United Church neighbors for the occasion.

The celebration began with a ham and salad supper provided by the Women's Association in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Saturday evening. The supper won unqualified

LETTER FROM BRITAIN -

White Horses Of The South

By A. K. ASTBURY

One outstanding feature of the English landscape is the great chain of chalk hills, or downs, which stretch from Salisbury Plain, in the south west, as far as the Yorkshire coast and the English Channel. These hills support little more than great flocks of sheep, for soil is scanty and the shining white chalk (which one can see revealed so plainly in the cliffs facing the English Channel at Dover) is never far below the green turf. But because of this very fact there has grown up a pleasant tradition of cutting away the grass and leaving the chalk showing underneath in the shape of a man, or a horse, or an emblem which can be seen for miles across the countryside. And they are very old, many of these figures. The White Horse of Uffington, cut out of the chalk hills above the main line from London to the west of England, is getting on for a thousand years old. But it is only one of 17 white horses which still remain today. We value these chalk emblems, and the recent ones as well as the old; for many of the newer ones were made by Commonwealth soldiers in World War I. On Salisbury Plain, for instance, there is a kiwi bird 420 feet long cut in 1918 by a New Zealand engineer officer, with the letter NZ below the bird's bill 65 feet high. At Fovant Down, in Wiltshire, there are 14 emblems cut out of the turf, including the badge of the Australian Commonwealth military forces and the map of Australia, also cut out during the first World War.

CARNIVAL

By Dick Turner

At one time it was a regular seven-yearly ritual, accompanied by much festivity, to clean the grass or weeds from these figures on the chalk downs. They used to hold a fair at the scouring of the Uffington White Horse, with prizes for those who could get a bullet out of a barrel of flour with his teeth, could grin best through a horse collar, smoke the most tobacco in an hour (for ladies only) or win a race with the both feet in a sack. Much beer was consumed; it is even recorded that when one chalk figure, the Red Horse of Tysoe, was ploughed up, the license of a local inn had to cut his own horse to bring back his customers!

Scouring is done just as carefully these days, although it's not made such an occasion for jollification. I am happy to record, for instance (and this item of news is what started me off on the subject of chalk figures) that former members of the Fovant Home Guard who have already restored several other military badges cut in the chalk, are now to clean the emblems left by the Australians in 1916.

A Tenacious Race
I explained at some length just what our downs are like because these used to forest or prairie or mountain might perhaps find it difficult to visualise these great rolling chalk hills which, as far as I know, are not encountered widely outside Europe. But I'm sure I need say nothing in explanation of my next subject, which is bowls. For I see that the Tam o'Shanter Bowling Club of Ayr, in Scotland, is making history (as far as our little island is concerned) by flying from Prestwick for their summer bowling tour in London (I refuse to explain why it's called the Tam o'Shanter Club. If you know you will forgive me; if you do not, you must read the poem of that name by Robert Burns, and you will know the whole story.) I find something striking in the idea that the staid gentlemen who perform on our bowling greens with such dignity should actually trust themselves to one of those new - heavier-than-air machines. Although they certainly start bowling young in Scotland; and his game, next to archery the oldest British outdoor pastime still in vogue, is played on practically every village green there. Or perhaps Scots bowlers are harder than the variety I know!

The Scots are admittedly a tenacious race. The Commander-in-Chief of the Army of the Lebanon was so impressed by Scottish bagpipes that he has asked for an instructor from the Cameron Highlanders' Regimental depot at Inverness to teach men in his army how to play this instrument; while in London the classes in Gaelic run by the London County Council are attended, not only by Scotsmen who wish to learn the language of Celtic Scotland, but by Londoners too. For the Scots to influence Londoners to speak Gaelic is an achievement; but to persuade the Lebanese to play the bagpipes surely beats everything!

The Desire To Learn
And yet one comes across the desire to learn everywhere. At Buxton, for instance, among the Derbyshire hills, the county council has opened a sort of holiday training school to teach townsfolk about the countryside. There are two courses, one for teachers and youth leaders, the other for boys and girls of 16 and upwards. They will be taught camping, hill walking, map and compass work and, for those who wish it, rock climbing; for Derbyshire, with its limestone crags, is a famous district for rock scrambles. They will be taught, too, how to respect country ways, and made to realize that the country may be the townsman's playground, but it is the countryman's bread-and-butter. The "students" will have to make their own beds, tidy up their own quarters and cook their own breakfasts on small spirit stoves (outside, and in the rain, I wonder?). Over 100 people have already applied for the post of warden—who will have to be a mixture of teacher and mountaineer (to say nothing of sergeant major, nurse, master of ceremonies and business-man too, I expect). The cost for those attending will be 30 shillings a week. I am tempted to go myself!

KNOWLTON

The beautiful lawn of "Briarhurst," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Call, were again the scene of a delightful garden party sponsored by the Women's Association of the United Church on Wednesday, July 5. The weather was ideal and the guests were received and welcomed by Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Gray. The many colorful tables and booths were well patronized and many were provided much entertainment for the young children. The various tables were under the supervision of the following: Tea room, Mrs. D. H. Mapes, Jr., and Mrs. Spence with the Misses Joan Clark, Lois Thornton and Beverley Locks serving; fancy work, Mrs. C. C. McClay, Mrs. A. C. Carter and Mrs. Ian W. Crandall; wool, Mrs. R. B. Call, Mrs. H. L. Parkes and Mrs. Warwick Fox; aprons, Mrs. C. C. McCorkill and Miss Edith Nichols; domestic articles, Mrs. George Coote, Mrs. H. Rames, mystery, Mrs. N. M. Harris and Miss Ethel Marsh; candy, Mrs. William Hines and Mrs. C. Lorne Church; dolls, Mrs. Earl B. Mizener and Mrs. C. P. Thornton; fish pond, Mrs. H. Spencer and Miss June Spencer; ponies, Mitchell Call; tickets, Mrs. Carl C. McCorkill; ice cream and soft drinks, Mrs. A. Leroy Bullard. The event was exceptionally well patronized and the proceeds amounted to $565. The Women's Association is most grateful to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Call for their kind hospitality and also to all those who assisted in any way in making the garden party such an outstanding success.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Anglican Church held the closing meeting for the summer at the home of Miss M. Knowlton with an attendance of 12 members, four visitors and the rector. The president, Mrs. Mary R. Knowlton, opened the meeting with prayer, after which the minutes of the May meeting were read and approved. The study period was conducted by Mrs. T. E. R. Nurse and the hostess illustrated some of the Japanese customs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Eldridge, of Knowlton, called on Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Prouty and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Seymour, of Cecil Seymour, of Fulford, called on Mr. and Mrs. Leon West and family. THE ROSENBLOOM REPORTER

Tourists

THIS IS THE HEIGHT of the Tourist Season, and our roads are full of cars with license plates which show their far-away origins.

WE'VE ALWAYS resented the appeals made to local folks to be courteous to tourists because they leave money here and we need U.S. dollars. Decent Canadians want to be helpful to strangers, and they require no other reason or reward. It's just part of our way of living. We all believe that a stranger is a friend that we don't know very well yet. It has been our good fortune, at Rosenbloom's, to do lots of business with U.S. tourists. Of course we welcome the dollars they leave with us, but we consider equally important the many friendships that we've made. Many of them come back loyally year after year. They say that they like Sherbrooke, they find the people friendly, and may we mention modestly that they are very flattering in their comments about Rosenbloom's.

OUR NEW WINDOWS are not complete yet, but we're ready to serve the tourists. We've a good stock of the fine British and domestic woolsens which they appreciate, such as Burberry coats, Hudson's Bay blankets, Jaeger woolsens and Webb's gloves. Soon we'll be able to display all these wonderful quality products as they should be shown, because the new front is coming along quickly. By the time you read this, the new pavement adjoining the sidewalk should be completed, and the ceiling should be all plastered. The brick work is done now. We're told that the woodwork, the glass, the new flooring and the painting shouldn't take much more than two weeks to complete. We think our new front is going to add considerably to the appearance of Wellington Street.

TWO WEEKS AGO in this column we mentioned the E. T. Picnic at Guelph, Ont., on July 1st. We've just received a nice letter from one of the organizers telling us how successful it was, with an attendance of 250. The letter is at our store where anyone interested is invited to see it. We're mighty proud of this excerpt from it: "We all go back to visit, and feel sure that most of us enter your store at least once on our vacation. Ontario has a lot to offer, but will say as yet we have not found a store to come up to yours."

Travel To St. Hyacinthe For Tilt Tonight; Meet Red Sox In Sunday Twin-Bill; Brandt May See Action

Bill Brandt, who arrives in town today, will no doubt be used over the week-end when the locals tangle with St. Hyacinthe this evening and tomorrow when they take on the Red Sox of Granby in a Sunday twin-bill fixture.
Tonight Roland Gladu and his men move into St. Hyacinthe to tangle with Jud Kirke and his surprising bunch of ball-hawks. The Saints seem to have no difficulty in disposing of the Sherbrooke crew and hold more victories over them than any club in the circuit.
The Athletics, fresh from a day off, may surprise the Saints in their own backyard and come through with a victory. Tomorrow the locals take on Granby in a twin-bill. The first game is slated for the afternoon at 2:00 and the second under the lights at 8:30 at the local park.
Manager Gladu will have hurlers Jacques Jeanneau, Jean Bournout, Lou Shapiro and Bill Brandt ready for duty. No doubt one of the youngsters will get tonight's assignment. Tomorrow's game is another twin-bill while St. Johns and Farnham will get together to complete the day's fixture in Molini's loop.

Morning Rain Washed Out All Golf Practice Rounds But Fails To Dampen Bull Sessions Held

Saskatoon, July 15.—(P)—It came up rain today and a lot of practice rounds planned by the elite of amateur golfdom were washed out in a downpour that drenched the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club course—where the Provincial team titles and the Canadian Junior Championship will be decided today.
The show is a preview to the Canadian Amateur Championship opening Monday.
But the rain couldn't dampen the enthusiasm of scores of golfers here for the triple championship play. A lot of golf was played at ball sessions in hotel rooms and out at the clubhouse where the team competitors for the Wellington Cup and the junior entrants were entertained at luncheon by the Saskatoon Board of Trade.
Late in the day a temporary break sent a few late arrivals scurrying for a few holes on the course they hadn't even seen.
Vern Mohs and Jim Harper of the Alberta team were first to defy the weather.
Little Bobby Rae, the 16-year-old New Glasgow youngster who represents Nova Scotia in junior competition, said he wasn't worried about the rain because he has played in plenty of it down East.
Rotund veteran Jud Carter from Halifax nodded solemn assent.
Bobby, called Lugs because of his generous-sized ears, finished a surprising third in the Junior Championship last year at Saint John, N.B., he figures his game is at least a few strokes better for the 36-completion this year.
Bobby and seven other juniors will be gunning for the title vacated by Bob Hall, now a member of the Quebec Provincial team.
Laurie Roland of Vancouver is the favorite for the junior title. Although only 16 he will have plenty of competition from such up-and-coming youngsters as Ron McAlpine of Ontario and Johnny Turner of Quebec.
Allan Boes, veteran captain of the Manitoba team, kept an eye cocked on the heavy clouds and hoped for the best. Boes brought his troupe in late Thursday and got them out for 12 holes before dark. Boes himself fired a 35, one under par, for the out nine.
Pete Kelly, who captains the combined New Brunswick-Prince Edward Island team, showed up with a youthful band including Thane Campbell, the Saint John junior. He predicts his boys will do better than their last-place performance last year, when they were 41 strokes off the winning Ontario team.

Phillies Lose Good Left Arm On July 29 For 14 Days; Simmons Goes Camping With National Guard

Philadelphia, July 15.—(P)—The pennant-driving Philadelphia Phillies are going to lose their good left arm come July 29th. And it will happen right in the middle of the first flag scrap they've had a chance in 35 years.
Young Curt Simmons, the $65,000 bonus southpaw pitching ace, leaves the team in July for a 14-day encampment with the National Guard. It wouldn't be any exaggeration to say that the Phillies—currently leading the National League by two games—conceivably could lose the pennant while he's gone.
There isn't a manager in the senior circuit who can afford to lose a potential 20-game winner in the heat of a hectic flag drive. No one is more aware of this ABC of baseball than Phillies' skipper Eddie Sawyer. Frankly, he was much concerned with this problem as he was with the current Phillies' invasion of the West before the team left here last week.
Simmons already has won 11 games. And the way he's been winning makes it a better than safe wager that the 21-year-old Egypt, Pa., youth will win one or two more before the fateful 29th rolls around.
During the period Curt is a soldier, the Phillies must play 17 games at home, against every team in the League with the exception of Boston Braves. They take on the Cubs three times (Cincinnati in four; Pittsburgh three; St. Louis, their chief contention for the pennant at the moment for first place, in five games; Brooklyn twice and New York Giants three).
It is doubtful whether Simmons can be available for any of these games, especially with the current war situation.

Hot Golf Witnessed In Millar Trophy Tourney

Toronto, July 15.—(P)—A 28-year-old assistant pro with a red-hot putter continued to burn up Islington Golf Course in the second day of play in the Millar Trophy Professional Tournament.
Al Balding of Burlington downed veteran Lionel Ross of Cobourg 6 and 5 in the second round of Eastern Canada's Senior pro match play show.
But the hottest golfer of the day was Jules Huot of Montreal Laval who fired six birds in 18 holes to defeat Murray Tucker, London Sunningdale, 4 and 2. Huot was four under par for the distance and lost only one hole to Tucker.
Bill Kerr of Montreal Beaconsfield, last year's runner-up, set back Stan Horne of Montreal Islemere 2 and 1. Kerr was one up at the end of the front nine and kept ahead for the rest of the way.
Another favorite, Joe Noble of Thornhill, beat Gordon Delast of Weston 2 and 1.

200,000 Fans Witness Soccer Game In Brazil

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, July 15.—(Reuters)—No serious injuries resulted on the field yesterday when Brazil beat Spain 6-1 in a world cup soccer game—but among the 200,000 fans in the stands:
One man died of a cracked head. One died of a heart attack when the first goal was scored.
Four suffered dangerous injuries.
251 went to hospital seriously hurt.
Inc calculable numbers of "walking injured" left with lesser cuts and bruises.
And newspapers reported that a young man listened to the game over the radio with his sweetheart beside him ran amok when the Spaniards scored their single goal, and shot the girl dead.

Joe DiMaggio Sidelined With Strained Muscles

New York, July 15.—(P)—The Yankees' Joe DiMaggio will be sidelined at least three or four days by strained groin muscles, the club doctor said today.
Dr. Sidney Gaynor said "it's not a serious injury but only rest will cure it properly. I may tell him to stay away from the park for three or four days."
Joe hurt himself in the all-star game in Chicago Tuesday.

E. T. OPEN GOLF TITLE AT STAKE TOMORROW

Tomorrow at the Country Club golfers from all over the province will be on hand to compete for E.T. Open golf crown and some very good playing should be witnessed by the followers of the morning and play will continue all day long. In the afternoon the low amateurs and professionals will tee off in quest of honors.
A field of one hundred and sixty-six contestants have forwarded entries for the tourney and the committee expects quite a few post-entries. Last year a record crowd of 172 took part in the event which saw four players end up tied for top place in both the amateur and professional sections.

Don Doe, E. T. amateur champion, and Tommy Hunter, low handicap player from Whitlock Golf Club of Montreal, ended their 18-holes with 75 each. In the play-off Doe managed to edge out his opponent by one stroke. In the professional division Stan Horne, the classy shot-maker from the Islemere Club of Montreal, and Bobby Alston, who plays out of the Glenlea Club of Hull, ended in another stalemate battle with 75's. Horne and Alston didn't play off owing to the fact that Alston had left for home. They split their money.
This year the local club raised the money prizes for the pros and quite a number of the top ranking shot-makers of the province have notified the committee that they will be on hand to battle it out for honors.

The draw appeared in yesterday's Record and with a little break from the weather man the following day, who journey up to the Country Club, will see some of the outstanding professionals and top amateurs in action.
Owing to the large field of the class B and C club swingers will display their wares today commencing at 1.00. The committee decided on this action in order to allow more time for the out-of-town golfers. So don't forget tomorrow at the Country Club for the golfing event of the season and enjoy yourself out under the sun.

Tomorrow afternoon horse loving enthusiasts will have the opportunity of seeing their favorites in action at Magog where Miss Francoise Pouliot is staging a show.
It is the initial attempt of Miss Pouliot in putting on a show and we understand that she has a wonderful layout for the event. There will be sixteen classes on the card and from looking over the list of entries the fans should be in for a good afternoon of pleasure.
Two new classes which have been drawing a lot of interest in horse circles, the Western Parade and Work classes, are listed on the program. These events are really getting very popular and they go over big with the fans. Dr. W. F. Watson, of Toronto, will be the judge, and the fans should see some very good classes before the winners are declared.

This seems to be the week for hockey news. First comes the news that Bill Durnan will definitely retire from the game, and on the heels of that breaks the news of the Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks deal.
The Wings are letting their star goals, Harry Lumley, and one of their top rearguards, "Black Jack" Stewart, plus three unproven rookies go for Metro Prystai, Gaye Stewart, Bob Goldham and Sugar Jim Henry. This deal shouldn't startle anyone as it has been generally known in sporting circles for quite some time. After all somebody had to help the

Jim Konstanty, Who Was A Flop Elsewhere, Scales Heights As Relief Hurler For Philadelphia

Chicago—Casimer James Konstanty played first and third base, the outfield and was a starting pitcher, but nobody heard of him until he went on relief.
Big Jim Konstanty is one of baseball's newest stars. With Joe Page of the Yankees having his rough every other year, the Syracuse alumnus is far and away the finest fireman in the business.
At the halfway mark, Constanty had finished no fewer than 36 of the surprising Phillies' 73 games, or one less than half, a feat all but as remarkable as the extraordinary record accompanying it.
The bespectacled, six-foot one-and-a-half inch, 200-pound Pole of Arcade, hard by Buffalo, had won seven and six, which made him a 17-game winner in Eddie Sawyer's book.
Konstanty's earned-run average was below 3.00 until he chucked a gopher ball to the Braves' Sid Gordon with the bases full in Philadelphia the other night.
"I was a Rockhead for throwing the ball high," he says, very seriously.
In 68 innings, he walked only 17, including those purposely passed or one every four rounds.
Konstanty, 33 now, was a four-letter man at Syracuse, where he also played basketball and boxed. One of the more articulate ball-players, he has bachelor of science and physical education degrees. If the interviewer doesn't watch out, the right-hander will wind up interviewing him.

Managers And Boxing Club Settle Fued

New York, July 15.—(P)—The "war" between the International Boxing Club and the New York Managers' Guild was settled today when the Managers' group accepted the I.B.C. offer of a minimum of $4,500 for the two main event fighters from the club's share of the radio and television receipts.
Because the two were at odds on the amount to be paid the fighters from the radio and television revenue, Madison Square Garden has been without boxing most of the Friday nights this spring and summer.
Last Wednesday's Jake Lamotta—Tiberio Mitri middleweight title bout was held without either radio or television because of the managers' strike.

Denmark Upsets Italy In Davis Cup Match

Copenhagen, July 15.—(P)—Denmark took a surprise 2-0 lead over Italy today in the semi-final round of the European Zone Davis Cup play.
Biggest surprise was the 6-2, 6-2 conquest of Rolando Del Bello of Italy by Torben Ulrich. Del Bello generally is regarded as one of Europe's best singles players. In the day's first match Kurt Nielsen bested Giovanni Cucelli 6-3, 7-3, 0-6, 0-6, 6-4.
Sherbrooke Athletics muffed a wonderful opportunity of taking their first place in Albert Molini's league when they were set back on their heels by fighting Saints of St. Hyacinthe Thursday evening.
Jud Kirke's team, who trailed the whole game, came through with a surprise in the ninth inning when they drove Roche from the mound and then went on to tally five runs to move out in front 7-4 for the first time in the tie.
It was a nice exhibition of drive and fight and it paid dividends.
It looked as though the locals were going to trim the Saints but Kirke's squad turned what looked like sure defeat into a victory. Roche had only permitted four hits until the ninth but his turn of duty was short-lived in the final frame. He pitched to three men, one flied out, the second got a hit and he walked the third putting the tying runs on base and that was all for Mr. Roche. His successors didn't do much better and before the side was retired the Saints had five runs across the plate and had wrapped up the ball game. It was a tough one for Roche to lose.
Amedee Roy, business manager, who has been keeping the wires busy trying to dig up more money for his club, announced that Bill Brandt, member of last year's team, will be back in town tomorrow to lend a helping hand to a much over-worked hurling staff. His presence should no doubt be a great asset to the A's as last year time after time he pulled more than one game out of the fire for the locals with his relief hurling and his famous blooper ball. He couldn't have arrived at a more opportune time.
Manager Roy also announced that Colette and Luebbert had been released to make room for some new arrivals. It seems that there are still more changes contemplated for the local team, which shouldn't do any harm all around. Maybe it will put a little more life in everybody.

Aussies Show Too Much Power For Canadians In Davis Cup Competition, Cop Singles Without Losing A Set

Montreal, July 15.—(P)—Showing too much power and class for their opponents, Australia's Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor yesterday loped through to straight-set victories over Canada in the two opening singles matches of the North American Davis Cup tennis tie.
Sedgman, ace of the four-man Australian team, disposed of Brendan Macken 7-5, 6-2, 6-1. In the second match, Lorne Main of Vancouver bowed to McGregor 6-1, 6-2, 7-5.
Doubles play starts today with the competition concluding Sunday, weather permitting. In the doubles, Henri Rochon and George Robinson, both of Montreal, will be pitted against Jack Bromwich and Sedgman—one of the greatest tennis twosomes in the world today.
Macken and Main didn't fare as well yesterday as Canadian singles players did against Australia here last year. In that tie, Macken defeated Billy Sidwell and Main took one set from the same lean Australian while losing his match. McGregor replaced Sidwell on this year's down-under team while Main drew a Canadian starting assignment over Henri Rochon.
Rochon, Canadian singles champion, was defeated by Sedgman in 1949 in straight sets.
Macken and Main, however, battled bitterly through the best-of-five matches yesterday. Macken, 27, playing his fifth year as a Canadian Davis Cupper, was a 10-1 underdog before his match with Sedgman. The Aussie never appeared flustered and was never seriously threatened—even in the close first set. His bullet service and accurate placements were near perfection.
Macken was faulty in service and seemed unable to cope with Sedgman's trick of racing back and forth from the baseline to the net.
Sedgman had four aces to Macken's none and counted 31 placements to the Montreal's 20. Macken also had 40 nets, 38 outs and six double faults. Sedgman had 29 outs, 30 nets and only three double faults.
In the first set, Macken appeared to have Sedgman figured out and worked him to a 5-5 game score before the Australian singles champion went on to win.
Main, at 20 the baby of the Canadian team, took on a youngster his own age in McGregor. Although figured as a possibility to take a set, Main only showed strength in the third set when he ran the count to 7-5 in the games. He had the score at set point when McGregor used his superior reach and greater weight to run him dizzy.
Main failed to score an ace to McGregor's five and the Vancouver boy scored 13 placements against 39 nets, 44 outs and five double faults. McGregor had 20 placements, 33 nets, 32 outs and four double faults.
McGregor is a newcomer to Davis Cup competition. So is George Robinson, 31, who is regarded as one of Canada's best doubles players. Rochon has been on five Canadian Davis Cup squads.
