High school music makers place 2nd in Ottawa fete

The Westmount High School Band was beaten by a narrow margin of three points for top honors in the opening day competition of the Ottawa Music Festival Saturday.

Under the direction of Morley C. Calvert, the young musicians placed second in the "A" class, with a score of 90 points as against the 93 points of Ottawa's Tech. band.

Their performance Saturday climaxed weeks of intensive rehearsal on two test pieces, Gossec's "Military Symphony" and Frank Erickson's "Scherzo for Band".

The band will play at the annual meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association Tuesday, which will be attended by His Honor, Mayor J. C. Cushing, with all Westmount aldermen as guests.

The Westmount Junior High School Orchestra, under the baton of Mrs. Sylvia Thomson, also took second place in its classification. Top honors here went to the Montreal Junior Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Lewis Elvin.

Firecrackers cause blaze

Firemen were called to 326 Victoria avenue Monday at 4:26 p.m. when a pile of wood at the rear of the building was ignited by children playing with firecrackers.

One hose was used to put out the blaze, and firemen left the scene at 5 p.m.

An oil-fired hot water heater at 24 Devon avenue exploded due to late ignition on Friday, but damage was negligible.

Elsewhere during the week, the Westmount Fire Department was plagued with two false alarms and four calls for traces of fuel oil leakage.

SOME LIKE IT HOT: The sandbox in Westmount park offers hours of endless fascination if you are one of those lucky individuals who are free and under five. Enjoying the spring sun which shone so readily this week are (l to r) Geoffrey Clarke, Nancy Argue, Audrey Clarke, and Allan Argue. For those who are saddled with the responsibilities of exams, families or just plain work, the warm sun is merely a reminder of days past, when nothing detracted from the important business of making sandcastles.

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

May 9 to 16

Generally fair with bright warm days. Risk of night showers with thunder, and morning fogs or mists to commence the week. High humidity; temperature range 50-75°F or higher in the south and 30-70°F in the north, with 60 sunny hours this week. Showers and snow (2-5") for northern Ontario and Quebec, with gusty winds at this time normal.

Roslyn H&S honors Penrose

G. H. Penrose, principal of Roslyn School, who retires this year after serving as principal of the school since 1934 will be guest of honor at the Roslyn Home and School Association's meeting on Monday, May 25 at 8:30 p.m.

Several presentations will be made to Mr. Penrose and the meeting will afford an opportunity to his former students to see him and say goodbye.

Mayor to report present, future plans for city

Mayor J. C. Cushing will report to citizens on the current state of city affairs, with a look at plans for the future when the Westmount Municipal Association meets Tuesday, 8:15 p.m., at Victoria Hall.

All Westmount citizens are invited to the meeting, at which the Westmount High Schools band will give a recital. Westmount aldermen will be guests at the gathering.

Unified effect of old parties criticized in labor-CCF speech

The two party system is not an operating reality in Canada, charged provincial CCF leader Emile Boudreau at a meeting of the N.D.G. and Westmount CCF clubs Monday.

Boudreau, provincial president of the Social Democratic Party (CCF) and an official of the United Steelworkers of America, stated that the Liberal and Progressive-Conservative parties are in effect a unified force.

Boudreau was replacing the scheduled speaker of the evening, Quebec Federation of Labor vice-president Pat Burke, who was called out of town. Present at the meeting was Mrs. Therese Casgrain, national vice-president of the CCF.

A true two-party system will operate with the realization of the present movement towards unification of the CCF party with labor interests he told members. At present, labor has no well defined political association with any Canadian party such as in England.

However, said Boudreau, although labor is now preparing to aid the CCF party, it is not prepared to dominate or create a "class" party.

He was referring to the Canadian Labor Congress convention of 1956 where the main resolution passed indicated that labor was now ready to take an active part in forming a political force which would balance the power of the two older parties.

"What we need is the co-operation of liberal-minded people who want reform to take place," he said. "The people are fed up because they know there is no real contest in politics any more."

"Major parties are actually supported by the same financial resources, so that regardless of which one is in power the results are the same."

Boudreau felt that Canadians are becoming politically awake, and more aware of what political parties represent rather than who their leaders are.

A provincial convention for the CCF party is scheduled for May 16 to 18 in Montreal.

Sorry

On the weekend our phones were deluged with calls from Westmount residents who complained that they didn't get their copy of the Westmount Examiner last week. We reminded them that The Examiner is now a paid-circulation journal, and if they wish to be sure of their regular copy of The Examiner, they have but to phone HU. 9-1201 and order it... Anticipating just such a situation, we have been using this space in the paper for several weeks, telling the story of the changeover. We know people saw these items. They told us so. But you know how it is. People are busy. People are 'putter-offers'. They intend to do it... and they let it slide. Don't let it slide again... for a regular copy of The Examiner, with all the local news and pictures of Westmount, and the sports news and the social and women's news... just phone HU. 9-1201 for your own subscription, then we won't have to say again... SORRY.

Dr. F. N. Gurd to senior post

Dr. Fraser N. Gurd, 3180 The Boulevard, has been named a senior surgeon of the Montreal General Hospital, it was announced Wednesday by W. W. Ogilvie, president of the hospital.

Son of the late Dr. Fraser B. Gurd, a former surgeon-in-chief at the Montreal General, Dr. Fraser N. Gurd is a graduate of McGill where he obtained the degrees of BA, MD, CM, MSc, and Diploma in Surgery. He served his internship at The Montreal General, Royal Victoria and Johns Hopkins Hospitals. In 1946-47 he held the Harrison Fellowship in Surgery at the University of Pennsylvania.

A Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons (Canada) and of the American College of Surgeons, he is also Diplomate American Board of Surgery. Dr. Gurd has been a member of The General Hospital's medical staff since 1942 and in World War II he served overseas with the 6th Field Ambulance and No. 1 Canadian General Hospital.

Also promoted to the rank of senior surgeon at the same time were Dr. Fred Woolhouse, a member of the General staff since 1946 and consultant to three other Montreal hospitals in plastic surgery; and Dr. Eric A. Macnaughton, of the hospital's ENT department, a gradu-

3 "spectaculars" set for late May

By MAURICE MARIASINE

The month of May promises to be a very busy one at the Unity Boys' Club, with three special attractions scheduled for Club members and other organizations.

On Friday, May 22, Club members, their parents and friends in the community, are invited to attend the Annual Hobby Show Exhibition — articles produced in our Hobby Workshops during the past season will be displayed. "Talents of '59", a two-hour variety show will be presented by the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade and the Ladies Auxiliary will hold their annual food sale.

On Wednesday, May 27, the Eighth Annual Table Tennis Tournament will take place at the Club. The Lions Boys' Club of Montreal will be defending the Unity Boys' Club Trophy which they won last year. Other organizations invited to participate are: Pointe St. Charles Boys' Club, Negro Community Centre, University Settlement, East End Boys' Club, Thunderbird Boys' Club of Verdun, Weredale House, Rosemount Boys' Club, Westmount YMCA, Tyndale House, St. Columba House, St. Andrews Youth Centre and the host Club, the Unity Boys' Club.

On Saturday, May 30, the Sixth Annual Track and Field Meet sponsored by the Unity Boys' Club, will take place with morning and afternoon sessions. The Rotary Club of Westmount Trophy currently held by the Rosemount Boys' Club will be the principal prize. Other prizes will also be awarded to individuals on the merit point system.

The special age categories for boys and girls are as follows: Midget (8, 9, 10 years of age), Junior (11, 12, 13 years of age) and Intermediate (14, 15, 16 years of age). The list of events include: 50 yard dash; running broad jump; hop, step and jump; softball throw; 100 yard dash; 220 yard run; 440 yard relay; running high jump; shot putt; ½ mile run and the special feature of the day, the one mile open. Invitations have been sent to some twelve organizations.

LADIES AUXILIARY

Mrs. S. Simmons, President of the Unity Ladies Auxiliary announced this week, that a special meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on Tuesday, May 12 at 8 p.m. Finalization plans for the forthcoming food sale will be discussed at this meeting and all members are urgently requested to attend.

SPRING BASKETBALL

John McDonough's Hawks and Richard Cesford's Knicks are battling it out for the House League Title in a two-game total point series. In the opening game of the finale, the Hawks defeated Knicks 52-38 and now hold a fourteen point lead—the second game is scheduled for this week. Hawks: John McDonough (14); Rodney Wilson (8); Larry Dallas (6); Keith Gavin (8); Donald Genois (7); Eugene Tabb (9). Knicks: Richard Cesford (4); Ron Otto (8); Ken Annable (8); Vic Carter (7); Donald Laviollette.

The completion of this series will bring down the curtain on basketball activities for this year — the teams will resume next September.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Practices are still being held every Saturday morning at a.m. and Tuesday evening at 6 p.m. Coach Manny Barnoff still needs a few more players to round out his team.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE

The formation of softball house leagues for both boys and girls are currently being discussed. Boys and girls in the following age categories can participate—Juniors: 11, 12 and 13 years of age; Intermediates: 14, 15 and 16 years of age. Those interested are Continued on page 14)

PAUL VAILLANCOURT

Funeral was held from St. Leon de Westmount Church Saturday for Paul Vaillancourt, husband of the former Madeleine Panet Raymond, a partner in the firm of Vaillancourt Ltee., manufacturers, and the first French-Canadian ever to hold the post of chairman of the Red Cross Society, died Wednesday in Hotel Dieu Hospital. He was 68.

Mr. Vaillancourt collapsed while walking on St. James street and was rushed to Hotel Dieu Hospital.

Born in Montreal, he was educated at Mont St. Louis College and soon after his schooling, joined Vaillancourt Ltee., founded by his father.

He subsequently became an executive of the Confectionary Biscuit and Chocolate Industries of Canada, vice-president of the Canadian Club, president of Concerts Symphoniques de Montreal, treasurer of Ste. Jeanne D'Arc Hospital, president of one of the fund raising campaigns of the French Canadian Federation of Charities of which he remained an administrator, and a director of the Montreal City and District Savings Bank.

He also represented the Montreal Chambre de Commerce which assisted in an Unemployment Insurance Investigation. During World War II, he was a member of the regional consulting committee of the Selective Service, the regional consulting committee of the Minister of Labor and a representative of the Wartime Prices and Sales Board. He was also a former member of the University of Montreal.

Mr. Vaillancourt was president of the Quebec Provincial Division of the Canadian Red Cross. In 1952, he was awarded the Cross of Knight of the Legion of Honor by Hubert Guerin, French Ambassador to Canada, in recognition of his services in the field of cultural relations and for aid given to war victims.

In 1957, he was one of three Canadian delegates to the 19th International Red Cross Conference in New Delhi, India. He is credited with having played an important role in discussions on draft rules governing limitations of damages to civilian populations in wartime. Mr. Vaillancourt took an active part in the Canadian decision to boycott the Russian sponsored peace conference in Paris in 1949.

At that time, he took the stand that the Canadian Red Cross refused to participate because it would be supporting a political propaganda effort. He charged that totalitarian countries had

Veteran of 40 years with 'Bell' retires

A 40 year veteran of the telephone industry, Douglas W. Ferrier, 630 Carleton avenue, retired on pension Friday as vice-president of personnel of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

On the eve of his retirement he was honored by his colleagues at a dinner in the Mount Royal Club at which president Thomas W. Eadie presented Ferrier with the President's Wallet. Executive vice-president E. A. Rolph presented a silver cigarette box on behalf of his colleagues.

Ferrier began his telephone career in 1919 as an assistant traffic engineer at Toronto following overseas service in World War I. In 1923, he was transferred to the traffic department at Montreal and served in several capacities there before returning to Toronto in 1930 as general traffic manager of the newly established western area of the Company.

He retained this post until 1949 when he was named general manager of the Company's eastern area with headquarters in Montreal. Two years later, he was appointed assistant vice-president of operations, and in 1953, became vice-president of personnel and public relations.

Several honors were accorded him during his long career. A former King's Scout, he was among the small group selected to represent Canada at the Coronation of King George V. In 1915, he left the University of Toronto to enlist in the Canadian Field Artillery, and while serving overseas as a combat officer, was awarded the Military Cross.

shown bad faith in the repatriation of war prisoners.

A son of Emilie de Guise and J. A. Vaillancourt, former president of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, he is survived by his wife, the former Madeleine Panet-Raymond; three sons, Raymond, Dr. de Guise and Paul jr.; two brothers, Emile Vaillancourt, a former Canadian Ambassador, and Arthur Vaillancourt; and two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Leduc, widow of Dr. J. A. Leduc, professor of the University of Montreal, and Mrs. Paul St. Germain, wife of Mr. Justice Paul St. Germain.

Ottawa Adventure on tap for student

Jennifer Robinson, 624 Murray Hill, a student at Westmount High School, will soon be starting an "Adventure in Citizenship" which will feature a four-day program in Ottawa, May 11-14 learning how the nation is governed.

The Westmount Rotary Club, one of the many Canadian Rotary clubs which will sponsor a leading "all round" high school student for this adventure, has looked after transportation and registration expenses.

About 190 other selected students from the 10 provinces will participate in the Rotary Club of Ottawa-sponsored project.

In Ottawa, the young men and women will see parliament in session and later tour the parliament in session and later tour the parliament buildings where they will receive Canadian citizenship certificates from Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

They will attend a series of lectures on government and political science at Carleton University and will be shown both the present and future National Capital by the National Capital Commission.

The itinerary will include a visit to Rideau Hall (Governor General Massey's residence) the National Museum, the National Gallery and a detailed tour of the RCMP barracks and crime laboratories.

Students taking part were selected on the basis of scholastic standing, participation in school activities and ability in public speaking. After their adventure in citizenship is over, students are scheduled to describe their experiences and impressions to home-town audiences.

Rheumatic Society drive set May 15

A two-week campaign for $119,000 to aid the work of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society will open May 15, it was announced Tuesday.

Funds will go towards expansion of the Quebec branch of the Society, and research to aid the 50,000 disabled and 115,000 partially disabled Canadians who

Classic burglars
 probably experts

Inspector Lowson of the Westmount Police Force stated that burglars who looted the home of a prominent businessman on Saturday night are probably specialists in their field.

"Although they were armed," he said, "they were careful not to harm the man and his family, whom they had tied up."

Lionel Rudberg, his wife, a 23-year-old daughter and three servants were bound and gagged by thieves who ransacked their home, 46 Belvedere Place, Saturday.

The family and staff, surprised by the four masked gunmen who invaded the Rudberg home about 10 p.m. Saturday were tied with cords ripped from venetian blinds and gagged with adhesive tape.

The bandits, who wore nylon stocking masks, spent one half hour looting the 13-room house of jewelry, cash and other articles. The value of the gems has not been determined but is believed to be considerable.

Police disclosed that about $800 in cash, $380 of which was American currency, was also taken.

The family told police they heard a noise in the basement about 9 p.m. but did not find anything wrong when they investigated. Police believe that the gang gained entry about that time and waited until the household had retired before staging the raid.

who has requested any teenagers or adults willing to volunteer for tagging to contact her.

"All families are vulnerable to mental retardation," the spokesman concluded. "Such children need special help, and every child has a right to it."

Sex adjustment, mental health not associated claim doctors

The sex adjustment of parents and the mental health of children have little to do with one another, contrary to current opinion, two West End doctors reported to the American Psychiatric Association in Philadelphia on Friday.

Both on the staff of McGill University, Dr. Nathan Epstein, psychiatrist, 4342 Sherbrooke street west, and William A. Westley, sociologist, 149 Westminster avenue north, made a four-year study of nine families with adolescent children.

The findings were unexpected, the two researchers stated, but established that in the group of families studied, there was no firm relationship between the parents and the average level of emotional health among their children.

Surprisingly, the opposite seemed to apply more in these families, all of which were white, Protestant, and Anglo-Saxon.

"Other clinical data," the report ran, "supports the finding that some of the best adjusted and integrated families had a poor parental sexual relationship, while some of those with the poorest adjustment had a satisfactory parental sexual relationship."

A more important aspect in the role of parents in the mental health of children was the cooperation and mutual support between parents. A strongly paternal father was found to be a key factor in well adjusted children.

are the victims of rheumatic diseases.

Researchers are interested in discovering the cause and prevention of rheumatic disease, a release from the Society stated. No known drug, diet or other remedy has yet been known to effect an absolute cure, although doctors stress that early diagnosis is the key to successful treatment.

Tagging held
 for retarded

Tomorrow is the official tag day for the Association for the Help of Retarded Children (Quebec) Inc.

The purpose of the drive is to raise funds to continue the work for the School for Retarded Children. "Without help," a spokesman for the Association has stated, "a retarded child cannot live: he will only exist."

Tagging chairman for Westmount is Mrs. G. E. Cross, 431 Clarke avenue, (WE. 5-2517),

Dr. Alfred Lloyd Smith receives pastoral honor

By JANE BARTLETT

In a world where lonely people crowd the doors of psychiatrists' offices, or spin their lives out in solitary toil, Dr. Alfred Lloyd Smith, a good friend and pastor to the hundreds who have been and are members of Dominion Douglas Church for the past 28 years, has a remedy.

Stromness and Cedarville, Ontario."

In 1909 he returned to Victoria College in Toronto to earn his BA in 1913.

In 1914 he received his MA, in 1915 his Bachelor of Divinity, and in 1928 his Doctorate of Divinity. In addition he took the full course at the Ontario College of Education, and is qualified as a public or high school teacher.

Upon graduation he was appointed financial secretary and lecturer at Victoria College, and in 1917 he was invited to be minister of the Elm street Methodist Church in downtown Toronto.

"I loved the pastoral work, and was very happy there," he recalls. "I had been there a year and a half when the board of missions appointed (Continued on page 15)

WE SAY YOU SAY

Westmount waits word on Western

WITH Montreal pouring more and more traffic into Westmount at the dinner-time rush-hour now that Burnside has been opened up, local officials are waiting for word on developments that will force action on the widening of Western avenue.

Official thinking here is that it probably won't happen this year, and maybe not next year.

But come it must — and from the standpoint of motorists, the sooner the better.

Two months ago Westmount's public works officials heard a rumor that there was some action imminent, but a check with Montreal proved the rumor exaggerated.

The whole matter, of course, ties in with the master-plan for island-wide traffic arrangements, and in the long run will probably wind up on the doorstep of Metro.

Next project St. Catherine

WITH expropriation proceedings concluded after two and a half years for the property required to swing the western end of St. Catherine street round in an arc to Claremont, Westmount's engineers are planning the last step in the development.

To complete the project, St. Catherine will be extended west, along what is now York avenue, swinging in a quarter circle to meet the south end of Claremont.

Plan is to call the new segment St. Catherine street, right up to Western avenue.

The move is a good one, and should be and aid to traffic at this point.

Judge underlines right of arrest

Sir:

The increase in major and minor crimes has reached an alarming degree. This applies more particularly to the larger rather than the smaller municipality.

The case with which criminals secure dangerous weapons makes the task of the police officer all the more hazardous. The bandits who rob banks, waylay and assault citizens, and burglarize homes and offices, do not hesitate to shoot the police officer who must in the performance of his sworn duty arrest the culprit, be the risks what they may.

It is forgotten that although the policeman is the guardian of the peace he is nevertheless entitled to the aid of the citizen. The policeman can at all times when in peril, call upon any passing citizen to help him, even though it entails a risk for the citizen.

This is perhaps not generally known since the average layman is not acquainted with certain sections of the criminal code.

A few weeks ago a brave citizen of Westmount held criminals at bay who he found in his garage. His wife in the meantime phoned the police who took the culprits into custody. They are now in prison.

In acting as he did, the Westmount citizen performed a duty incumbent upon every law abiding citizen to carry out.

Section 30 of the Criminal Code reads as follows: "Everyone who witnesses a breach of the peace is justified in interfering to prevent the continuance or renewal thereof and may detain any person who commits or is about to join in or to renew the breach of the peace for the purpose of giving him into custody of a peace officer, if he uses no more force than is reasonably necessary to prevent the continuance or renewal of the breach of the peace or than is reasonably proportioned to the danger to be apprehended from the continuance or renewal of the breach of the peace."

In other words, the citizen, if menaced by an armed criminal, can resort to force with whatever weapon he can find to hold the intruder until the arrival of the police. The threatened officer can call upon the citizens in the Queen's name to help him and any citizen who refuses to come to his assistance is guilty of an offence.

Section 110 of the Code says: "Neglect to aid police or peace officer or refusal without reasonable excuse to "The best friend that every anyone had."

This is a phrase that Dr. Smith has used countless times in referring to Jesus Christ, and a key to his general approach to life.

Last night he received one of the most signal honors that can be accorded to a minister of the democratically organized United Church: an honorary Doctorate of Divinity from the United Theological College.

This public recognition climaxes a 51-year career as a minister, during which Dr. Smith admits his greatest satisfaction has come from his pastoral rather than administrative duties. Yet he has been unable to escape the administrative tasks which fall to an able man, judging by the four and one-half inches of type devoted to him in "Who's Who in Canada, 1957".

He is vice-chairman of the board of governors of the United Theological College; a member of the board of governors of Divinity Hall in Montreal; president of the Greater Montreal Council of Churches, and ex-chairman of the home missions board of the United Church.

Born in Varna, Ontario, October 1, 1886, Dr. Smith was the son of a Methodist minister, the late Rev. Alfred Ernest Smith, BD.

As a youth he worked as a clerk in the Merchants Bank of Acton and Hamilton, and in 1907 embarked upon his study of the Methodist ministry.

"Back in 1908 every young prospective minister had to do two years on a circuit", recalls Dr. Smith. "I spent my two years as a probationer in assist a public officer or peace officer in the execution of his duty in arresting a person or preserving the peace, after having reasonable notice that he is required to do so, is guilty of an indictable offence and is liable to imprisonment for two years."

This embodies the old common law of England which makes every subject of Her Majesty a guardian of the peace.

I have occasion to state that we would give the members of our protection forces every possible co-operation. As a rule the police get more bricks than bouquets.

In view of the attacks upon the police by criminals and hoodlums we should give them the respect and support to which they are entitled. They are officers of the law every bit as much as the judges before whom felons are brought.

The members of the Westmount Police Department must measure up to high standards of efficiency and courage notwithstanding the rare instance of new recruits forgetting their oath of office they merit every consideration from the citizens.

Tribute to a neurosurgeon

By TRACY S. LUDINGTON

THE untimely death of Dr. William Cone, one of the great neurosurgeons of our time, doubtless has brought many of his achievements and personality traits sharply into focus for those who knew him.

I recall the remarkable stature of the man on an occasion when his mettle was tried to the limit, and he measured up to the challenge.

Dr. Cone, in my estimation, was a great man for many reasons, but one added reason was the fact that he became great in the shadow of another great neurosurgeon, Dr. Wilder Penfield. It is never easy to make a mark in any profession while standing alongside one of the great masters.

The occasion I recall was the tragic situation surrounding the fall in a bathtub of Lord Tweedsmuir, then Governor-General of Canada.

He was rushed to Montreal and to the MNI where minutes, it seemed, after arrival on a Friday, he underwent extensive surgery with Dr. Penfield performing an operation. If memory serves me rightly, the patient was almost seven hours on the operating table.

The next day, a Saturday, another operation was deemed necessary. Again it was a long, gruelling performance. Dr. Cone officiated.

When the patient was out of the operating room, Dr. Cone came downstairs to the room in which he had left his hat and coat.

He was obviously exhausted, and under severe strain. In my capacity as a reporter, I drew him into a conversation, hoping for some word on the condition of the Governor-General, which was a very closely guarded secret.

Dr. Cone was polite, understanding, considerate.

He talked about neurosurgery, mainly about the genius of a great neurosurgeon — Dr. Penfield.

MISS M. LAMONT
Principal of The Study

Basic program of The Study not to change at new site

The study is not planning to change its basic program or make any marked expansions when it moves into its new home on 1 Braeside Place next year.

According to Margaret Lamont, headmistress of the school since 1952, "the purpose of the move is to provide adequate accommodation for the number of pupils we have already."

Present facilities are a far cry from the small room on Drummond street which housed the Study's first six pupils but they are still not adequate for the school's needs.

"In the last few years the world around us has been changing rapidly," says Miss Lamont. "Cote des Neiges road is a busy and incredibly noisy thoroughfare, causing too many problems of noise within the school and traffic right outside it."

"As the community spreads, children from the Lakeshore, Westmount and other districts can't go home for lunch because of the difficulty of transportation."

The Study has been in existence since 1915 and moved several times before reaching their present site in 1921. Margaret Gascoigne, who founded and operated the school, established its tradition as a real 'study,' giving lessons in history, english and latin to very young children.

The present building on Seaford road was leased from the late S. H. Ewing, who took a great personal interest in the school's activities and did all he could to improve the building which he himself built nearly sixty years ago.

Even with this help, accommodations proved insufficient, and in 1935 the second building on Cote des Neiges road was added.

One of the most important recent changes at the school is the conversion of a small study room into a library which contains 15,000 books.

Miss Lamont came to The Study in 1952, after serving on the teaching staff of Bishop Strachan's School in Toronto for 22 years.

A graduate of the University of Toronto with a post graduate degree from Oxford University in England, she received her early education in Western Canada. "I attended four schools there," she says, "public school, an experimental model school, and finally Regina College."

The Study numbers many important people among its graduates. One of them is Mrs. Isabel Dobell official Curator of Prints and Documents at the McCord Museum, whose book "Words Without End" is now being translated into German.

Another graduate of whom the school is proud is Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, member of the Department of External Affairs in Ottawa and chief of the section dealing with economic and social activities at the United Nations.

Tax arrears up to March at $445,910

The city of Westmount finance committee reported $46,539 collected in the current year up to and including the month of March. Arrears and interest collected amounted to $18,084, making a total of $64,623.

Tax arrears March 31 amounted to $394,334, being 11.23 per cent of the levy as compared with arrears in 1958, amounting to $445,910 (14.14 per cent of the levy).

Expanding metro areas tax Red Feather services

A strong call for help from Montreal business concerns was made today at the annual meeting of Red Feather Services by C. F. Carsley, President of Welfare Federation of Montreal.

He urged businessmen to give the lead in extending and raising the level of giving to Red Feather's annual drive. Mr. Carsley said it was in the interest of business to see that the base of giving to Montreal's largest annual appeal was broadened each year.

The President said that, in spite of a general recession in 1958, the year had seen a general improvement in the financing and the programs of Welfare Federation's Red Feather services. While planning for this fall's Red Feather campaign was well advanced no one was complacent about its outcome because of the 90 campaigns which are scheduled to appeal to citizens during the year.

The 1958 campaign raised $1,810,000, an all-time high for Red Feather, Mr. Carsley said.

PROVINCIAL GRANTS

Mr. Carsley stated that a provincial government grant of $50,000 divided between the Family Welfare Association and the Children's Service Centre, Red Feather's two largest agencies in the family welfare and child care fields, had been provided in 1958. An additional grant of 6 per cent of all provincial government relief funds administered by Red Feather agencies had also been made. These grants, plus improved giving in the campaign, had done much, stated the President, to reduce Red Feather's financial deficit which had reached critical proportions two years ago.

There was some hope that the six per cent grant for relief administration would be increased this year, together with rate improvements for different categories of public relief.

Mr. Carsley urged the City of Montreal to raise its grant to the four welfare federations to the $400,000 level at which it stood before 1958 when the previous administration reduced it to $350,000. He said that Red Feather had been given to understand by the mayor that the grant would be lifted to its former level and was hopeful that this would take place.

The welfare leader revealed that recently the three English-speaking welfare federations had approached the city for a special grant to compensate them for services performed by their health and welfare agencies which were not covered by the regular annual grant.

Mr. Carsley announced that three Red Feather agencies had just completed moves or were contemplating moves to new quarters, which would private individuals and the provincial government in Verdale Park and the Family Welfare Association was planning a move to new buildings which would enable it to offer much wider family counselling services.

The year 1958 could be termed a constructive year in the financing of Red Feather services, the Budget Committee Chairman said. Even when it was impossible to move outwards because of lack of funds it was still possible to find ways and means of improving agency services to the community.

Deputy PM will speak at YPC meet

The annual meeting of the St. Antoine-Westmount Young Progressive Conservative Association will take place next Wednesday evening at 8:15 in the Westmount Junior High School Auditorium.

The guest speaker on this occasion will be the Honorable Howard Green, Minister of Public Works and Deputy Prime Minister.

Prior to Green's address, the association will hold its election of officers.

The nominating committee will propose the following slate: president; Gavin Ross, vice-presidents; Brian Gallery, Joyce McEwan and James Fraser treasurer; Richard Hutchison, recording secretary; Joanne Allison, corresponding secretary; Timothy Carsley.

This meeting is open to the general public.

This Week IN WESTMOUNT by Valentina Rahr

H. CARL GOLDENBERG, QC, Roslyn avenue, is one of the three Canadians named to serve on a five-member Jamaica Commission of Inquiry into matters connected with the current deadlock in a labor dispute, involving three unions that bargain for sugar workers in the Caribbean Island. 80,000 workers are affected, and the economic welfare of the island is threatened.

The commission was created at the request of the three unions, and will investigate: the causes of the strike; matters arising out of the claims of the unions in regard to the sugar crop workers; and finances. Hearing began on Tuesday in Kingston, and are expected to last about 10 days.

"Children have extremely rich capabilities for personal self-expression before the formal educational processes set in" is the opinion of Dr. Arthur Lismer, director of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts educational department. "The purpose of our school is not so much to discover or nurture artistic talent, but to find out how far the visual arts go in tracing individual character development."

A school run along informal lines, with a policy of voluntary attendance has shown the scope of these capacities. At the closing exhibition, a class of 8-year olds held the attention of parents, and surprising lucid conceptions appeared on the canvases. A student at this class is Charles Gurd, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gurd, Grosvenor avenue, and a pupil at St. George's School.

Mme. Rose Goldblatt, Elm avenue, well known pianist, will be giving a Brahms Recital over CBM on Sunday, May 17. Her two children, Jon, 10, and Nina, 8, pupils of Queen's School, won first prize in the junior two-piano section, at the music festival held at the University of Montreal.

Miss Viola Russell, Cote St. Antoine road, was a leader of the Canadian Girls in Training movement for three years. The group meets regularly at Calvary Church in Westmount. Programs are carried out for girls up to the age of 17. It was reported recently at a CGIT conference held in Toronto, that there are 38,000 girls, with more than 3,500 leaders in Canada. Sponsoring body is the Department of Christian Education of the Canadian Council of Churches.

Executive secretary attends 'Y' meeting

G. Lloyd Welton, executive secretary of the Westmount YMCA, returns today from a special staff training conference for representatives of the YMCA at Far Hills Inn in the Laurentians.

Stated Welton: "This conference is being held to help prepare members of the staff to develop a design for training and supervision of leaders and staff."

At the conference C. Armstrong of the Bell Telephone Company will speak on "Training in Business and Industry." Present at the conference also are Arnold Ward of the Canadian National Council, and Professor Jean Robert Rae of Sir George Williams College.

LEARN TO SWIM

During the past 3 weeks 118 boys and girls (aged 6-12) representing every Westmount School, have been taking Learn To Swim Classes at the Westmount Y pool under the expert direction of Miss Nellie de Vos and Mrs. Alice Crosby.

Half hour instruction classes are being given to 67 boys and girls on Monday and Thursdays and to 51 boys and girls on Tuesday and Friday. These classes will run for another two weeks.

LAST CHANCE

A second course for all ages will start the week of May 11. Although registrations have been coming in very well, there are still a few vacancies and parents wishing to enroll their child, are urged to act quickly to avoid disappointment. No special learn-to-swim classes will be offered again this summer for children under 9 years of age after this second five-week course is completed. Further information may be secured by calling at the Westmount YMCA or phoning WE. 7-3916.

TUNING-UP TIME

The Physical Department is running a spring check-up class on Wednesdays, beginning this week at 7 p.m. for men. A similar class for women starts on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. Classes will consist of exercise, a recreative sport such as badminton, or volleyball followed by a swim or shower. Spring is here—so why not get your spring check-up at Westmount Y and really enjoy your summer activities.

MORE SWIMMING

With summer fast approaching now is the time to brush up your swimming by joining the Y and taking part in its varied swim program consisting of family swims on Friday night or the mixed adult swim periods on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

If you require swim instruction—classes will commence Tuesday, May 12 at 8 p.m. for ladies, and on Wednesday, May 13 at 9 p.m. for men. Should earlier lessons be required, please consult with me at WE. 7-3916. Lessons will be free to all members and $8 for non-members. Courses will run until the end of June. Registration is now open to both men and women.

eration of Liberal Women here. "All Canadian women should be concerned that the rights of married women in Quebec are curtailed by laws based on the old French Civil Code." Mrs. H. F. Reusing, president of St. Antoine - Westmount association, proposed that Liberal women's groups throughout Quebec undertake study programs and form a single front on the issue. Louise Robertson, Roslyn School student, has won honorable mention in the annual essay contest sponsored by the Royal Commonwealth Society of Montreal. More than 2,000 entries were received. Prizes will be presented at the Empire Day Dinner at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel on May 21.

MUSICAL Sharps, Flats and Naturals

A disappearing era

By Frances Goltman

WHAT HAS HAPPENED to the music teachers who give public recitals? Some present private musicales in their studios but these cannot be counted as public demonstrations. There are so few that give concerts open to the public nowadays that one wonders if it is because of some of the following reasons: (1) lack of interest, (2) too much effort to prepare a concert, (3) The teacher does not have enough material for public performance, (4) too expensive, (5) They are afraid to show their work publicly, or (6) most of their class refuse to play.

THE QUEBEC MUSIC TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION, presently numbering 90 members (a very small group considering all the teachers in our city, French, English and the many new Canadians who are qualified) has 2 Student Recitals every season. Each teacher is allowed two entries, one pupil in the Junior Recital and one in the Senior, or if they wish, 2 in either concert. It may come as a surprise to readers that it is the same few teachers each season who avail themselves of this opportunity with a sprinkling of others.

THIS YEAR'S two recitals, Junior on Saturday, April 25th and Senior (13 years and over) last Saturday, May 2nd had no publicity in either French or English press, therefore the public could only be informed through mouth to mouth conversation. The press has always inserted a notice when informed but they could not have known about it. Both concerts took place in the Auditorium of the Provincial Conservatory on St. Denis street, a hall that seats around 750 people. The attendance at each event was pathetically small.

Poudriere stages de Benedetti play

"Trente Secondes d'Amour", a modern light comedy by Alde De Benedetti, will be the next production a La Poudriere. The French version of that Italian play which was enjoyed so much by audiences three weeks ago, it will open on Wednesday, May 13, on St. Helen's Island.

The cast will include Nina Diaconesco who recently won honors at the last Drama Festival with her direction and acting of "Le Militaire Fanfaron" by Plante. Miss Diaconesco will also direct this play.

Others in the cast are Pierre Boucher, Georges Carriere, Luce Tricanne, Monique Aubry, Paule Bayard, Felicia Piatti, Marcel Cabay Yves Massicotte and Roland Lepage.

Jean Fournier de Belleval, the theatre's architect, has designed the setting for this production.

Jimmy Tapp to MC show for retarded

A variety show MC'd by TV and radio personality Jimmy Tapp and sponsored by the Menorah Group of the Association for Mentally Retarded Children will be held at 7:15 p.m. Sunday in the Salon Dore of the Queen's Hotel.

The event will be in aid of summer camping for mentally retarded children.

Mrs. Ida Horne is president of the Menorah Group, whose members are from N.D.G., Saint Laurent, Cote Saint Luc and the Town of Mount Royal.

The program was organized by Mrs. Ruth Taylor. Mrs. Howard Wiener is ticket convener.

HOW MANY TEACHERS entered pupils? Only 23 members and of this number, 12 had two students each. I will list them alphabetically with an (x) beside each teacher who entered two students. All entries were pianists with the exception of 2 violin students, a junior and a senior, 9 and 23 years, a soprano, a basso and a quartet of adult singers. Teachers . . . Alice G. Anders, Viola Benson, Fleurette Beauchamp (x), Gerard Boucher, (St. Hyacinthe), Juliette Binette, Phillip S. Cohen (x), Jeanne Daoust (x), Paul de Markey (x) Pointe Claire, Frances Goltman (x), Dorothy Hill, Gilbert Hill (x), Edna-Marie Hawkin, Irene Husaruk, Leon Kofmann, Mrs. Heyninx-Lenssens (x), Alice Postner (x), Doris Parkes, Alice S. Rutenberg (x), Rejane B. Reid (Chateaugay Heights), Karl Steiner (x), Sonia Sinek (x), Daphne Sandercock (x) and Vera B. Slatkin (x).

IT IS INDEED A sad situation when some parents do not even come to hear their own offspring. Fewer high school pupils play because they have so many outside interests and spend so much time watching television that when they are asked by the teacher to play in a recital they are allowed to do as they wish.

YEARS AGO IT WAS AN honor to be asked and a privilege to play in a recital and many parents took it for granted that their child would take part. The old order has certainly changed. Is it for the better? To produce good music students these days is a hard assignment for any teacher considering the fact that the majority of pupils take a half hour lesson once a week and the average student practises very little.

SAYING OF THE WEEK: Concentration is my motto — first honesty, then industry, then concentration. ANDREW CARNEGIE. 1835-1919.

Top stars appear at Forum for 'Place des Arts' show

Producer-director Ken Withers of the Place des Arts Gala Show, slated for the Forum Tuesday, May 12, at 8:30 p.m. is having trouble — but it's the kind of trouble any producer would welcome.

"We planned a big show," says Mr. Withers, "but we never dreamed our fine artists and musical organizations would come forward in such numbers and offer to perform in behalf of the Place des Arts Campaign." The campaign, incidentally, which will ask the public to subscribe $3,500,000, of the $8,500,000, needed to construct the first phase of the city's long-awaited centre for the performing arts, gets underway May 9 and continues through to May 23 inclusive. The Provincial government and the City of Montreal are each contributing $2,500,000 to the project.

As the producer pointed out, the list of stars is growing. Tenor Andre Turp, violinist Ida Haendel and Montreal's own Grands Ballets Canadiens — the latter group directed by Ludmilla Chiriaeff — have now joined the Gala cast. Where at first it was thought that the Montreal Symphony might be available at two-thirds strength, the generosity of the Musicians' Guild and the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry has made it possible to present Dr. Pelletier's fine aggregation with the full 85-complement orchestra. Added to this, Art Morrow's award-winning Jazz Orchestra will provide musical variety and contrast, and the Montreal Elgar and Les Jeunesses Musicales choirs, directed by Gifford Mitchell and Marcel Laurencelle respectively will be heard in choral music, sacred and standard.

Choristers from the Catholic and Protestant schools will add an attractive note of youth to the big Forum program.

Other solo stars include singer Maureen Forrester and pianist Neil Chotem. Miss Forrester, perhaps the finest contralto to emerge on the Montreal scene in many decades, owes an assist to the stork in being able to make the Gala show on schedule. The singing star became the mother of a baby boy last Sunday.

Neil Chotem, heard frequently over the radio and TV networks, is a western Canada product who came to Montreal some 15 years back and forthwith proceeded to carve a permanent niche for himself in the concert scene.

The Gala Show will be an approximately two-hour presentation, and enthusiasm on the public's side is reaching new heights daily with busy Place des Arts staffers filling requests for tickets. With only 11,000 seats available, and admission free, a jam-packed house seems assured, and ticket-seekers are advised to write, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope, as soon as possible. No tickets will be available at the Forum box office, and all requests should be forwarded to Place des Arts headquarters, P.O. Box 740, Montreal.

Canadian music in Israel by Alexander Brott

The recent opening of the new law building of the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, built with Canadian funds, was highlighted by the first concert of Canadian music in Israel directed by Alexander Brott, of 5459 Earncliffe avenue, N.D.G.

Composer Brott, conducting the Kol Yisreal orchestra, performed three short Canadian pieces by Adaskin, Champagne and the composer-conductor himself respectively, as well as Beethoven's Eroica.

Cardiovascular disease caused 53.3 per cent of all deaths in the United States during 1955.

The adult life of the May fly ends within a few hours because this insect cannot digest food.

MUSEUM ART SCHOOL students from three to 14 had their hay-day last week. Their show, "Homes and Habitations," — a series of demonstrations — showed the kind of work the children have been doing in their classes all year. Here Barbara Baig, of 87 Summit Circle; Charles Gurd, of 615 Clarke avenue; and Kathy Van Toeh, of 5263 Bessborough avenue, do some clay-modelling.

Westmount soloists place in festival

A trophy and three first prizes were awarded to four Westmount students Wednesday, the third day of the Ottawa Music Festival.

Gaetane Hinse, a student at the Ecole Normale de Musique in Westmount, won the trophy which is awarded for the winning piano solo compositions by Canadian composers.

Miss Hinse chose Prelude et Fugues by Eugene Hill, Three Sonnets by Harry Somers and Toccata by Bales. Adjudicator Leonard Issacs described her choice as "enterprising."

Marie Dion, another student at Ecole Normale, was second in this class with her choice of Suite Canadienne by James Callihan.

For the first time in the festival, the ladies' vocal classes featured Montreal competitors. Outstanding among all the entries was Micheline McLaughlin, 4300 Western avenue, a pupil at l'Ecole Vincent d'Indy for five and a half years.

She won the operatic solo for dramatic soprano in the morning, and in the evening, together with Lise Lemyre as accompanist, took first place in the lieder class for voice and piano.

First in the pianoforte solo for compositions by J. S. Bach, was Claudette Levasseur. Her choice, Prelude and Fugue in C Major, No. 1, Bk. 1, was praised by Leonard Issacs as "full of rhythm and lively."

$431,017 deficit announced by RVH

An operating deficit of $431,017 for 1958 was announced by Henry W. Morgan, president of the Royal Victoria Hospital, at the recent annual meeting of the board of governors.

The 1958 figure represented an increase of $103,364 over the previous year's deficit, and including $109,000 in bank interest charges.

"We are considering reviewing our administrative methods," Morgan stated, "with the expert assistance of outside management consultants, to ensure that we are operating efficiently and economically."

The main reason for the deficit, Morgan said, is the insufficient reimbursement to the hospital for the treatment of indigent patients. The loss in 1959 represented $1,094,963.

Said the president, "We feel that both provincial and city governments should assume, as they have been pressed many times to assume, their just share."

NEW GOVERNOR

H. Roy Crabtree, 615 Belmont avenue, was the only new governor elected to the board. He succeeded S. M. Finlayson. Other governors are H. W. Morgan, G. Blair Gordon, James Muir, 3495 Holton, J. G. Notman, H. Greville Smith, R. M. Fowler, and R. E. Powell.

Tribute was paid to the late Gordon Ball, president of the Bank of Montreal, who was referred to as "one of the Royal Victoria Hospital's most outstanding governors."

The new president of the Bank of Montreal, G. Arnold Hart, was welcomed as an ex-officio governor. The holder of this position is always a member of the board of governors by hospital charter.

MODERNIZATION

Modernization of the Ross Memorial Pavillion is planned for early 1961 or before that date if possible, Morgan disclosed. Funds for the renovation have already been pledged, he said.

The hospital has to date spent $16,000,000 on its building program, inaugurated in 1952. This includes the new 245-bed wing which officials hope to see occupied by October.

Van rolls back strikes woman

On Saturday at 2.10 a.m. Mrs. H. Schenke, 26, of 4412 St. Catherine street, was struck in the legs by a truck which backed up, but was not seriously injured.

Driver of the truck was Normand Charlebois, 26, employed by Singer's Shops-on-Wheels, who told police that he was parked in front of 4412 St. Catherine street, working in the truck, when a small car parked in the rear which he did not see. He stated that he began to back up when, on hearing noise, he checked to find he had hit the car, which had in turn hit Mrs. Schenke.

New composers' works championed by Goldblatt

By VALENTINA RAHR

Rose Goldblatt, Elm avenue, well-known pianist, has championed the cause of contemporary composers, and has given an impressive number of first performances of new compositions, many of which have been dedicated to her. Extensive travel in Europe include France, England, Ireland, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, and the Baltic States, fostered her interest in the various musical cultures.

"I am interested in new compositions for the sake of what they can offer, rather than just novelty," Mnie Goldblatt told The Examiner. "These compositions are chosen for their appeal to an audience, or their usefulness to a student. New works that are contemporary can be interesting, whether they are by Canadians or not."

A music store owner in downtown Montreal, has been stocking new compositions for years, because a demand for them comes shortly after they are played over the air by Mme. Goldblatt. This pianist has devoted a lot of time and study to contemporary Canadian music and has broadcast a great deal of it. She is thus practised in dealing with the various idioms in which our composers are writing and the range is a pretty wide one.

Rose Goldblatt has given programs containing compositions of the old masters also: Schubert, Chopin, Brahms, Siegmeyer, and others. She also gave a first performance of Chopin Nocturne in B Major.

Her natural talent for her instrument, apparent from her childhood when she played for the first time in public at the age of six, her sensitive musicianship, enhanced by her years in Europe and her charm and easy grace on the platform establish her as one of the significant pianists of the day.

She is slender, petite and dark eyed, and greets visitors with a warm smile. Sympathetic and direct, she immediately attracts people. Her simplicity and keen sparkling sense of humor have made her many friends.

Among the new compositions played for the first time in public by Rose Goldblatt are the following: Alexander Brott's piano suite, New York Hall and Ladies Musical in Montreal; Elie Siegmeyer's primo sonata, New York; Oscar Moravitz; Hector Gratton's "A Fairy Tale" and several other compositions; Severen Moisse; Albertine Caron Legris; Jean Coulthard; Irish composer E. J. Moeran; Isadore Freed, American composer, CBC premiere; Otto Joachim, Istvan Anhalt; Erwin Marcus, whose composition was played two months after his death for the first time; Paul Hindemuth's piano concerto played about two months ago for the first time in Canada.

Other compositions dedicated to Rose Goldblatt are Prima Concertino by George Fiala, played on CBC TV Concert Hour; a piano fantasy by Violet Archer; works of Jean Y. Contant, grandson of Alexis Contant, CBC-TV Concert Hour, "Yvonne" and "Valse Caprice"; "Scenes Enfantines" by Albertine Caron Legris, dedicated to Rose Goldblatt and her daughter Nina, and son Jon.

Although she has been constantly busy with radio and television, and has toured the Eastern United States, it is a decade since she has given a recital in this city. She recently played for a Montreal audience again at the Ritz Carlton, when she gave a formidable strong performance on Schumann's Sonata in G Minor, and then lent a rare blend of gentleness and strength as in the Ravel Sonata, and a free unpretentious Mozart.

Other recent appearances have been with the Montreal Little Symphony, The Musica Antica e Nuova Concerts, along with the charming radio series of "Piano Parties" for young people. Rose Goldblatt will present a Brahms recital on radio in May.

"My marriage and my career do not conflict," she states. "As a matter of fact they complement each other because my husband is creative and artistic, and this allows us both to understand each other, and to grow." Married to an industrial designer, their two children attend Queen's School.

Mme. Goldblatt, Canadian born, speaks German, English and French. She received her musical education on both sides of the Atlantic, and won a scholarship for five years study at the Royal College of Music in London, England, later returning to New York to study with Egon Petri.

'Fun and study' idea offered by Summer camp

Two local men, Ron Sharpe and Ross Firth, are launching a new and challenging camp program with the opening of Glendale Family and Adult Camp on Lake Memphremagog, Newport, Vermont, this summer.

The camp, to be divided up into a boy's camp during the month of July and a family and adult camp in August, will feature two special programs, one a "remedial camp" for students who need special tutoring in one or two school subjects and the other a "supplemental exam camp" to prepare students for September exams.

Fully qualified teachers, college graduates trained in Quebec educational requirements, will make up the teaching and tutorial staff, while the curriculum will combine daily educational instruction with a full recreational program of hikes, baseball, track, water skiing, and various other sports.

Academic subjects offered include mathematics, French, Latin, and English. All subjects will be taught following the syllabus put out by the Department of Education, but each student will start at the point best suited to him.

The August adult camp aims to be "a resort holiday in a camping atmosphere." Golf, fishing, and tennis for adults and a separate program for children have been set up. Babysitting will be available for the evenings.

The two owner-directors have gotten their experience in this area. Ron Sharpe was formerly head of the physical education department at Westmount High and is now a supervisor of physical education and senior basketball coach at McGill. Ross Firth, an N.D.G. resident, is a physical education specialist at West Hill High School and McGill.

LOWER CANADA COLLEGE boys — more than 150 — went into action in the Senior Gym Display at the Royal Montreal Regiment Armory on Friday. —Tedd Church Photo

LCC holds gym display

More than 150 senior boys at Lower Canada College went through pole gymnastics, tiger leaps, pyramids, and dives in a spectacular gymnastic display at the Royal Montreal Regiment Armory on Friday.

The exhibition was in honor of the late Major S. C. Cutbush, cadet instructor at Lower Canada College from 1921 to 1948.

Headmaster D. S. Penton, opening the evening spoke of Major Cutbush's sombre character which often to new boys seemed highly austere. He was one of those teachers, however, Penton remarked, who made many boys realize later on "what an important part he had played in forming their characters."

The cadets underwent inspection by Headmaster Penton, Board Chairman T. D. Robertson, and Lt. Col. A. Wood, the Black Watch (RHR of Canada), guest of honor.

The following earned gym trophies: P. R. Marchand, M. F. Yull, and W. B. McLean, form 12; D. M. Hodges, J. G. Lashinger, and P.

UNB fund nears goal

Botanical Congress here in August

By VALENTINA RAIHR

One of the world's largest scientific congresses will be held in Montreal this August. It is the ninth International Botanical Congress. McGill University, University of Montreal and Sir George Williams College will be hosts for ten days to some 6,000 delegates representing over 70 nations including every Iron Curtain country.

2,000 of these scientists will take part in one or more of the 24 working field trips organized for visits to areas of differing botanical interest, both before and after the Congress, across Canada from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. Some 17 field trips will be during the August 1958 period of the Congress to interesting botanical sites near Montreal.

Local arrangements for accommodation and entertainment are in the hands of 17 persons, including representatives from University of Montreal, Montreal Botanical Gardens, McGill University, Macdonald College, Sir George Williams College, and of the Plant Protection Service of Canada.

Apart from housing, this committee is making arrangements for registration, rooms and facilities for lectures, and meetings; for field trips, for exhibitions and displays; transportation between the universities where the meetings are held for the women's and children's programs; and for entertainment in general—in fact for the detailed arrangements which make for a pleasant sojourn in this city as well as a valuable scientific program.

occupied with symposia, contributed papers, demonstration papers, field trips and exhibits — their wives will be taken on tours, and entertained. The children will also be taken care of. A two part program is being especially planned for those children who are under twelve—apart from the teenagers—whose programs will include activities more suitable for this age group.

The Congress has great scientific potential. Representatives of research institutions, universities, and also of agriculture, forestry and all aspects of applied botany, will participate in discussions of problems which are of major importance to all mankind. There will be symposia on topics such as host-parasite relations, forest tree breeding, plant growth, control of plant viruses, and hundreds of others.

Lectures will be both in French and English, and open to the general public, as well as to members of the Congress, on topics such as "Botany and Human Affairs," etc. Personnel from most of the research laboratories in the U.S. and Canada as well as overseas are attracted. These researchers will come from all the leading universities and from governmental agencies such as National Research Council, National Science Foundation, Radiation Laboratories, Agriculture, Forestry, Horticulture, Agronomy, Plant Breeding etc. Plant scientists will comprise the largest group of scientists.

All botanists in Canada in Government, agriculture, forestry etc., are playing a part in the organizing of the Congress.

Navy observes Atlantic battle

The Battle of the Atlantic was observed here Sunday morning with a church parade in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord and Westmount Park Emmanuel Church, and a marchpast at the cenotaph opposite Westmount City Hall.

Taking the salute was Commodore J. Plomer, deputy chief of naval personnel for the Royal Canadian Navy, and Commodore Paul Earl, MP, senior naval officer in the Montreal area. Commodore Earl also threw a wreath into St. Mary's current in the Montreal harbor in the afternoon, during further ceremonies held beneath the clock tower on Victoria Pier. The action marked a solemn tribute to the men who fought and died for supremacy in the Atlantic in World War II.

Taking part in the church parade and marchpast were detachments from HMCS Donnacona, HMCS Hochelaga, College Militaire Royal de St. Jean, the Naval Branch (Quebec No. 7) of the Canadian Legion, the Ex-Men's Association, the Ex-Wrens' Association, and the RCOC and Sea Cadet Corps bands.

The ceremonies marked the opening of Navy Week in Canada, which is sponsored by the Navy League of Canada. During this time Royal Canadian Sea Cadets will be on parade and hold open house. Purpose of the Week is to promote interest in maritime affairs.

Ancient company history outlined by representative

Westmount Rotarians heard the representative of a mining company which is nearly 2,000 years old at their weekly meeting Wednesday.

D. E. Derry, vice-president of Rio-Tinto, Canadian Explorations Ltd. told Rotarians that the company started theoretically at the time of the Roman Empire. It has successfully lived through civil and world wars to survive until the present day, he said.

"With the fall of the Roman's" said Derry "the present company mines were taken over by Spain. In the last century, the company was taken over by some English and Scotsmen."

The Rio Tinto Company now has mines in Canada and Australia and is a big producer of copper, fertilizer, and uranium which it is producing to suit the needs of the age and country, he concluded.

Williams to speak at CMA meeting

W. E. Williams, president and general manager of The Procter & Gamble Company of Canada, Limited, will be the featured speaker at the annual luncheon of the Quebec Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel on May 13.

In his address "The Western Powers and Japan versus Communism", Mr. Williams will discuss what is happening and what may happen in the Far East with China, Russia and Japan as the principal actors. A keen observer of international affairs, Mr. Williams will give his impressions of his recent trip to the Orient and will outline some of the things which it is felt must be done if the Western world is to survive.

COMMEMORATION: COMMODORE PAUL W. EARL, senior naval officer in the Montreal area, casts a wreath on the St. Mary's current in commemoration of those who lost their lives at sea during World War II. Ceremony was at Victoria Pier Clock Tower.

Sports figures agree teenagers the same

Five top figures in the sports world have agreed that today's teenagers are basically much the same as they were in days gone by. The occasion was a "Top Notch Teens' Sports Night" held in St. Thomas Anglican Church Hall on Somerled and Rosedale avenues.

Members of the panel were Sam Etcheverry and Red O'Quinn, football stars, Doug Harvey of Canadiens, Floyd Curry, playing coach of the Royals, and Danny Gallivan, sports announcer.

First question fired at the panel from the audience of over 60 teenagers and adults was "What activities did you have as a teenager, or did you have 'teenagers' then?"

"We had 'teenagers'" was the general consensus of opinion, although recollections of general activities varied.

Curry felt that today's teenagers have everything organized for them, whereas in his day "we had to do a lot of it for ourselves".

Etcheverry recalled the Friday night dance as the big thing in the lives of the young people in his home town. "We used to get around 500 kids out at a time," he said.

"We got into the same scrapes and trouble as teenagers today," added O'Quinn.

GOVERNMENT AID?
All five panelists agreed that the government should subsidize athletics.

Doug Harvey further stated that "the teams who represent our country should go first class at the government's expense".

Sam Etcheverry blamed school budgets and poor coaching for slowing down the development of better football and hockey in Canada. "Equipment is of a poor nature and the coaches are learning along with the players."

Floyd Curry felt that the general standard of football and hockey could be raised if parents got their children away from the television set and out into more sports activities.

"Over the years teenagers have become disinterested in sport," he maintained. "There is a lack of coaches, not as many young hockey players and too much TV. We are spoiling the teenager, and he hasn't any desire left."

Not only teenagers but adults were criticized by the panel for apathy or lack of team spirit.

"I can remember when there used to be plenty of teams for older fellows," Doug Harvey re-

Many facilities to be offered

The Fraser-Hickson Institute, the following Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30, the library rising at the corner of Somerset and Kensington avenues, is within a few weeks of its opening date.

On May 28 the library celebrates its official opening and called. "Now golf and TV seem to have taken the place of those baseball and hockey teams."

O'Quinn felt it was the older people who tended to become spectators rather than participants. They want to relax in front of the TV sets or on the golf course. I guess it's our modern pace of living."

Just one year ago ground was broken for the building and on last November Governor General Massey attended the Fraser-Hickson cornerstone laying.

Activity at the new library is high. Sir George William student are unloading boxes of about 140,000 books brought over from the Fraser Institute's temporary location at the Presbyterian centre on McTavish. Miss Marger Trenholme, chief librarian, expects to purchase another 10,000 volumes in the course of the year.

Militia units prepare for summer camps stay

Training instructions which will affect more than 2,000 members of the regular army, over 3,000 militiamen and 1,500 cadets all from Quebec Army have been issued by the General Officer Commanding, Major-General J. M. Rockingham. The summer training instructions will also affect nearly 1,000 other members of the militia from other parts of the country. In the main, the training scheme provides for the militiamen to be absorbed in the cadres of regular army units.

MILITIA — Over 1,000 members of militia units of the infantry, the Medical Corps and the Electrical & Mechanical Engineers will go to Camp Valcartier from the 6th to the 13th of June. They will be attached to the 1st and 2nd Battalions Royal 22ème Regiment, the 2nd Field Ambulance and the 3rd Field Workshop respectively. Two-hundred and fifty members of the Medical Corps and the Electrical and Mechanical Engineers from the Maritime Provinces will join the Quebecers for the same period.

Over 500 other militiamen will follow six week courses as recruits, Junior NCO's or signallers; some will attend two weeks of training as Civil Defence Instructors or on band or personnel selection courses.

The Canadian Women Army Corps (CWAC) will attend Camp Valcartier from 4 to 11 July. One hundred and fifty will go from this Command and will be joined by 250 from the Maritime Provinces.

CAMP STE. THERESE—Two hundred and fifty militiamen will be attached to the Ordnance Depot at Ste. Thérèse to practice their specialized functions. This Camp which is national in scope will absorb members of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps who will come from all parts of the country.

TRAINING — Over 350 members of armoured units from Quebec Command and 370 others from Medium and Field Artillery units will train in Camp Gagetown, N.B., between the 6th and the 13th of June.

One hundred soldiers of the Victoria Rifles and the Black Watch will go to the same camp on the same dates.

One hundred and fifty Sappers from the local Engineer units and 100 Grenadier Guards and members of the Royal Montreal Regiment will go to Camp Petawawa, Ont., for seven days between the 30th of May and the 13th of June.

Camp Borden will be host to some 35 members of the Intelligence, while members of the Locating Batteries of this region will go to Camp Shilo.

ARMY CADETS — Over 1,500 army cadets will undergo training for seven weeks starting 6 July. These youths aged 15 to 18 are being chosen among 116 cadet corps to classify themselves at Farnham as Leaders, Cadet Leader Instructors, Signallers, Driver Mechanics and as Rifle Coaches.

Sixty-four cadets chosen from all parts of this Province for their smartness and efficiency will spend three weeks at the National Cadet Camp at Banff, Alta.

REGULAR ARMY — Over 2,000 officers and men, normally stationed at Camp Valcartier or Quebec City, will go to Camp Gagetown, N.B., for the month of July to join the Third Canadian Infantry Brigade to which they belong.

Behind the News

. . . with Tracy S. Ludington

RIGHT DATA, WRONG BOAT: As a daily newspaper of Ourtown related Saturday, this is the 150th anniversary of the first steamboat on the St. Lawrence. However local historians doubtless shuddered when they saw the illustration that accompanied the article. The woodcut was of a crazy mixed-up craft with one funnel and two masts and it bore an accidental likeness to the ship in question only.

* * *

THE Accommodation, first steamship on the St. Lawrence, and launched by John Molson in 1809 was a two-funnel and no-mast effort, with a sizeable cabin in the rear and a covered deck atop the cabin. The woodcut in question showed the ship carrying a smallish flag at the top of the rear mast, while the Accommodation carried a large flag from a short staff in the rear. And her side-paddles were enclosed, somewhat like those of a Mississippi Riverboat, not exposed as shown in the woodcut. In fact, here is a print of the Accommodation.

* * *

PERHAPS it appears quibbling to go back 150 years for a point, but it serves to highlight the fact that this local area has never been far from the centre of activity in the transportation line. Not only did the Accommodation take to the water here, but the first railroad train in Canada ran from Laprairie to St. Johns in 1837 and Laprairie can be seen on a clear day from the top of Westmount mountain.

* * *

JOHAN MOLSON, by the way, had a hand in many things besides his brewery and his steamboat. Molson's College was the first in the city, and Molson's Church was one of the first Anglican houses of worship in Montreal. It has a local tie now, for St. Thomas Church, at Somerled and Rosedale avenues is the modern counterpart. For a long time the church stood at the corner of Amherst and Sherbrooke streets, and less than 20 years ago the local building was erected.

* * *

IN 1786 when John Molson began his operations in this city there was no system of transportation, few roads. In summer one travelled by canoe, caleche or horseback and in winter by sleigh. A journey from Montreal to Quebec City by land took three days. There was no central government in Canada, no coinage. Montreal was the centre of the fur industry, as it is today. Quebec was the leader in lumber and wheat and York, now Toronto, was a mere settlement of farmers and Indian traders.

* * *

THINGS began to happen however, and by 1825 the Lachine Canal, which is now superceded by the Seaway, was opened. Five years later, in 1830, the Royal William, first ocean-going steamer up the St. Lawrence, made the journey to England in 25 days. Sailing vessels usually required three months. The Parliament of Lower Canada stood on McGill street. Notre Dame street still had a decidedly small-town appearance in 1944. The first tram-car, and it was horse-drawn, ran on McGill street in 1863. We've come a long way since 1786.

Dr. Alfred Lloyd Smith (from page 4)

me assistant secretary of home missions, a post which I held until 1926."

He was invited to be minister of Dominion - Douglas Church in 1931, and in the intervening years served in Grace United Church at Brampton, Ontario.

Well educated? "No," said Dr. Smith, "that's one of the things I'm looking forward to when I retire in June." He would like to tackle French first, he says, as he has never been able to pick up the language in all his years in Montreal.

NO PACIFIST

His views on war and peace are very definite.

"I'm not a pacifist," he said in answer to a question. "I regret the necessity for war, but see no alternative to it as the last and abhorrent resource. I believe our leaders abhor war and are doing everything in their power to prevent it."

What about young people of today? "I think they are a wonderfully fine lot — the ones I have been in contact with, anyway. They have the right kind of enthusiasms, are eager to help, and generously disposed."

He reported that the Young People's Union of Dominion Douglas is raising funds to send a thoroughbred bull to a mission in Angola, to improve the livestock there.

Both his sons are doctors—Donald, a former Rhodes Scholar, 1939 a neurologist at the Montreal Neurological Institute and a member of the staff of McGill University; and Walter, a surgeon.

"I would have liked them to enter the ministry if that had been their choice," declared Dr. Smith, "but mainly

I wanted them to do anything that would help people, and in which they would be dealing with people."

Dr. Smith is a good friend of many religious men in the community, including Dr. Harry J. Stern of Temple Emanu-El, whose annual Institute on Judaism he attends yearly.

Hiss feelings on the subject of inter-religious communication were simply summed up by him in the phrase, "all God's children got wings."

Although he was brought up and ordained in the Methodist Church, he is a great supporter of the 1925 union of the Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist churches which resulted in the United Church of Canada.

"Church union was discussed in Canada anywhere between 25 to 40 years before it became an actuality," he surmised. "But now it is represented at international church gatherings in Geneva and the U.S."

"Canada is unique in having begun this movement," he says. "Although we keep our relationship with the mother churches, the United Church has given encouragement to church union in many other lands by showing that it can be done successfully."

Well-travelled, Dr. Smith attended a church congress in Geneva in 1948, and also represented Canada at the inaugural meeting of the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam.

On his 25th wedding anniversary a grateful congregation gave him and his wife a trip to Alaska and San Francisco. He is married to the former Evelyn Cloke of Hamilton, who, in his words, "has been a very great help to me."

Worship III

By

The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.,
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

Worship in the ancient world consisted largely in animal sacrifice. That was true also in Israel, but from the eighth century onwards a new element entered into worship through the activity of the prophets. They did not denounce sacrifice as such, but they made it plain that it must be accompanied by right dealing with God and man. Sacrifice could not take the place of righteousness.

The exile taught the Jews that they could worship without sacrifice at all. When they returned from exile sacrifice was restored but a new form and place of worship came into being beside sacrifice and Temple. The new phenomenon was the Synagogue, where there was no sacrifice and the priest was not essential. Six centuries after the return the Temple was destroyed and sacrifice came to an end, and the religion of Judaism was forced to adapt itself to new forms of prayer, reading, singing and preaching or instruction.

In the meantime, about the year 28 A.D., Jesus, a young Carpenter of Nazareth, began a short career in which people thought of Him as a new prophet; some even believed that He was Elijah returned to earth; but in reality He was more like Moses with His Claim to revise the Law. In that there was no new worship; but at another point He did two things that were new: He took the ceremony of Baptism and made it a sacrament by which men should be joined to Him; and He took the bread and the wine at the Last Supper and made them a sacrament by which men should maintain their life in Him. A new form of worship had come into being.

That does not mean that sacraments are something new. Life is full of sacraments. We cannot live without them. To treat the House of God with reverence is a sacrament. To shake hands with a friend is a sacrament of friendship. One could say that the universe is a sacrament of the majesty of God. Whenever we express an inward truth by an outward act we are performing a sacrament.

Our Lord accepted that fact, but like other facts He transformed it. He added power to the sacrament, and it becomes not only a sign but an effective sign. He took the sign of cleansing with water, and made it an effective sign of forgiveness, and an effective sign of union with Him. So too with the bread and the wine. They are more than signs. They accomplish something in us. That is why Christian worship is different. It has all the elements of other worship—sacrifice in our offering of what we are and of what we have; prayer and Scripture; instruction and intercession; but beyond that a sharing in the very Life of our Master; and as the Master's Life was essentially one of worship—sacrificing to God the honour due to His Name; our life in Him becomes one long, joyous act of worship, because in Him we are reconciled to God. We have been restored in Him to our natural place in the family of God, and therefore we ascribe to Him the position of true worth.

Gibbons-Doig wedding held in St. Andrew's United Church

The marriage of Heather Margaret, daughter of the late Mitchell Hartt Doig and of Mrs. Doig, of Westmount, to Dr. James Eastwood Gibbons, of Montreal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Gibbons, of Smith Falls Ont., took place recently in St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, the Rev. D. M. Grant, DD, officiating. Mr. Eric Adams played the wedding music and white snapdragon and lilies were used to decorate.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Ian Doig, was in a gown of antique delustrated satin, with a fitted bodice having an applied yoke of Rose Point lace and long, fitted sleeves, and a skirt fashioned with a cathedral train, edged with the same lace. Her veil of tulle illusion was held by a bandeau of lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

Miss Susan Doig, as maid of honor for her sister, and Miss Dorothy Johnstone, of Toronto, and Miss Martha McDougall, of Oakland, Calif., as bridesmaids, were in frocks of sea-green silk taffeta, with fitted bodices having short sleeves and bell-shaped skirts, caught with bows. They wore bandeaux of coral geraniums and ivy to match the flowers in their bouquets.

Mr. Robert Gibbons, of Kingston, acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Dr. Robert MacDonald, Dr. John Summerby and Dr. Norman Urie, of Ottawa.

Mrs. Doig, the bride's mother, wore a sheath gown of navy blue crepe, with a corn-flower blue hat and had a spray of white geraniums and stephanotis pinned to her handbag.

Mrs. Gibbons, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in powder blue lace. She wore a hat of the same color and a corsage bouquet of Demure roses and pink sweetpeas.

The reception was held at the Montreal Badminton and Squash Club. Later Dr. and Mrs. Gibbons left for Virginia, the bride travelling in a suit of blue and brown tweed and wearing navy blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of gold orchids.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Boyd, Mrs. G. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McKay, Mrs. W. D. Saunders and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, of Smiths Falls, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Gibbons, of Kingston, Ont.; Mrs. Guy Smith,

Venture Club

The Venture Club of Montreal will host a games night at the Salvation Army Eventide Home, May 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Series of five forums to commence May 14

The Activities Committee of the Women's Division of the Combined Jewish Appeal is being developed to interpret organizational structures, the study of family relationships, counselling services and resources available in many necessary services to the community at large.

By popular request the first area for expansion is the subject of "Leadership." Beginning Thursday, May 14 a series of five forums will be held, the theme of which will be "Focus on Leadership." All lectures are free of charge and will be held in the Auditorium of the Jewish Community Services Building, 493 Sherbrooke street west; from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The speaker for the first session, "On Becoming a Leader" is Mr. James T. McCoy, of Bois, McCay and Associates Ltd. Counsel to executive management, lecturer and writer, Mr. McCay has explored a range of methods and procedures accelerating personal growth and is the author of "Management of Time."

Mrs. Morrie E. Coshof, Chairman of the Activities Committee, and vice-chairman, Mrs. I. Meshwork, have urged immediate registration for this informative Institute as facilities are limited. The four sessions to follow will cover other interesting and related subjects and will be held each week — May 21, May 28, June 4, and June 11 — at the same time and place.

CGIT graduation ceremony Saturday

The traditional white dress and slippers will be replaced by the regulation middie blouse and navy skirt in this Graduation Ceremony for the Senior girls of the Canadian Girls in Training groups of the Province of Quebec. Girls along with their families, friends and ministers will gather for this occasion at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, May 9, in Ephraim Scott Memorial Presbyterian Church in Montreal.

At this time all sixteen year old girls who have maintained an active participation in CGIT for the past 4 years, with the approval of their leader and their minister, will leave CGIT to assume the wider, more adult responsibilities offered them in their local church. To mark this occasion they will start a closing worship together, led by Miss Frances Wallace, Chairman of the Provincial CGIT Committee.

The valedictory address, on behalf of the graduates, will be given by the Provincial President of CGIT, Miss Pat McMunn of Cedar Park United Church, Pointe Claire. Addressing the graduates will be Miss Margaret Quigley, Secretary for CGIT in the Council of Christian Education of this province, and the person more affectionately remembered as "Skipper," the director of their summer camps at Cedar Lodge, Magog. The presentation of a diploma and the distinctive silver graduation pin will be made to each girl by Mrs. W. A. Warren and Mrs. Colin Campbell, Vice-Chairmen of the Committee.

Following the service the graduates will be guests of honor at a tea and reception to be held in the adjoining church parlors. Pouring tea for this occasion will be Miss Milly Brisbane and Miss Jean Ferguson.

Alumnae Society

On May 9 at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Montreal High School, the Alumnae Society of the High School for Girls is holding its annual meeting. There will be an interesting program. A film will be shown by a staff member of radio station CJAD called, "Canadian Fashions Around the World." Commentary will be given by Mrs. Donald Mask. Mrs. M. Garber elected head of Women's Voluntary Bureau

The past year has been one of expansion which has only been made possible by the hard work of the president and the Board of Directors, particularly over the previous year at which time we changed our name from Women's Voluntary Services to Women's Voluntary Bureau, Mrs. Ann K. Crowther, executive director of the Bureau told the annual meeting at the YWCA April 22.

During the past year 458 individual volunteers were interviewed by the Bureau. Including groups, recruitment totalled 560 with 415 of that number individuals.

"In the year which ended last March, we had 582 volunteers giving at least 23,000 hours. We have built up our specialist file so that we have many fluent linguists, reliable drivers, graduates in Arts and Science and graduate nurses on our lists," she reported. Volunteers served in 15 local hospitals during the year as well as in 43 other agencies and organizations.

All age groups figured in the volunteers. University students served mostly in youth centres and children's institutions. Business girls provided nearly all evening help, particularly for hospitals. Daytime volunteers were mainly housewives with grown families. The senior age group of volunteers were often retired people who wished to remain active and develop a new interest while helping others.

Mrs. Crowther stressed the importance of great care in handling the initial interview with the volunteer, including a proper interpretation of the volunteer's job.

Some present themselves with a definite idea of what they would like to do and, in a number of cases, they are not suited to the work or the organization they have chosen and, accordingly, are directed elsewhere.

"Many come with an open mind and are prepared to go wherever their special ability can best be used. These people, of course, are much easier to fit into the right niche."

Mrs. M. Garber was elected president, succeeding Mrs. Herbert H. Parker.

Still time left for free lessons

St. John Ambulance headquarters announced this week that there is still time to register for the free classes in artificial respiration being conducted in the West End during "Save-a-Life" Week, which begins Monday.

"Only one two-hour class is necessary to learn artificial respiration," says St. John Ambulance provincial secretary W. D. Simpson, "and the knowledge gained may enable you to save a life."

Details of classes in this area can be obtained by calling VI. 2-9981. St. John Ambulance will also send instructors to service clubs or other organizations interested in learning artificial respiration as a group, provided they have premises available.

Snowdon ball opens Sunday

The Snowdon Fastball League — Canada's premiere mushball loop — kicks off its 16th season on Sunday, with last year's pennant winning Dow club playing host to Pepsi-Cola in the inaugural at Trenholme Park. Pre-game ceremonies will start at 2 p.m.

The Willibrord Park, Verdun, opener is slated for next Tuesday evening under the arclights when Pepsi will play its second straight game, this time against Pinky Stamps.

Three mayors have been invited to attend the opening day ceremonies at Trenholme Park. Mayor Fournier, Mayor Wilson of Verdun and Mayor Cousineau of Saint Laurent are expected to be on hand for the ceremonies under the guidance of league president Gerry Snyder.

Other invited guests included city councillors, Edmund Asselin, Harold Cummings, George Brown and Ross Davidson; Verdun alderman George O'Reilly and R. Jeanneau; Postmaster-general Bill Hamilton and Commodore Paul Earl, N.D.G. MLA and other parks and civic officials.

The game will mark the debut of Les Bagshaw as manager of the Brewers. Bagshaw will also play at his customary second base position and will have either Pete Constable or Bob Pepin at first base; Jacques Belanger at shortstop and Ron Klein at third base.

Soft-shoeing Gilles Legare is expected to toe the slab for the Brewers with Cliff Bowles in reserve. Gilles Labreche will catch and the outfield will be composed of Ab Byan in left, Stan Diamond in centre and Roy Dubois in right.

Pepsi-Cola manager Dave Broadbelt has assigned himself for the backstopping duties, with sling-shot Gil Dupuis on the mound. Dave Barnard, who led the league in homeruns last year, has been shifted from an outfield spot to first base.

Kevin Brady will be at second and versatile Ray Denoncourt will be at shortstop. Puckster Connie Broden has been assigned the hot corner, with Dave Rubin in left field, Al Beaubien in centre and Pete McManamin in right.

Pinky Stamps will unveil an almost completely new lineup for its opener against Pepsi in

Als return to WAG for drills to start June 29

Montreal's Big Four club will continue to do its training from June 29 at Westmount grounds until next October. It had been the club's drill headquarters since pro football was moved from Delorimier Park to Molson Stadium.

The Alouettes were advised that Westmount grounds, once indoor and outdoor headquarters for the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association (MAAA), no longer would be available to the footballers. A high school is to be erected on the property.

Since then Alouettes had been shopping for a new workout location.

First step was to move the club's ticket office to the Notre Dame Sports Centre.

Still no acceptable quarters that included a practice field, showers and easy access for players.

Alouette ticket headquarters are settled at Notre Dame Sports Centre for the next three years, Westmount clubhouse won't be utilized as ticket offices, for the time being at least.

Mt. Royal tennis reunion Saturday

Mount Royal Tennis Club whose courts will be used for two Davis Cup matches this summer, have opened its courts.

The annual Spring reunion is set for May 9 when new members will be welcomed.

On Empire Day, the club will hold a round robin open to men and women. Play starts May 18 in this tournament. The evening will wind up with special fireworks.

Leslie Szemenyei is again in attendance as the club professional.

Officials also announced that the ladies and men's class A and B doubles tournaments would be played in mid-May.

The Match committee has drawn up a special set of rules to govern these tournaments.

Mount Royal play hosts to the Canada vs Australia Davis Cup Tie players and to the winner of this series vs the winner of the Southern Zone the following week.

Plenty of action in ball leagues

Two games are booked for the bantam teams in the Westmount softball league. Indians and Orioles play next Tuesday and next Thursday White Sox meet Yankees.

In the mosquito section, Marlins will take on Sugar Kings today. In the pee wee, Pirates and Braves will meet today. Two games are booked for Monday: Cubs and Phillies and Cards and Giants.

May 13 has another two games on tap: Braves will meet Cubs and Giants will take on Giants.

CONGRATULATIONS ALL AROUND: Les Bagshaw, centre, accepts best wishes from all sides after signing his contract as field manager for Dow Brewers in the Snowdon Major Fastball League this season. At left is Dow's sports promotion manager, Roger Meloche, and at right is the club's business manager, Jack Eagan.

Verdun. New manager Hugh Sutherland will catch with Wally Tysgraber on the mound.

The infield will be composed of Leo Harris at first base, Sid Patterson at second, Pat Donnelly at shortstop and veteran Maurice Racette at third.

Missing, of course, will be all imports such as hurlers Percy McCracken, Huey Hall, and Booker Thomas. Eight years ago the Snowdon League started using import players in a bid to achieve World recognition.

This was achieved two years ago when the Steinberg's club finished third in World competition in Clearwater, Fla. This year the club sponsors tightened their purse-strings and imports were barred.

The RCMP entry, managed by Steve Walker, will not see action until next Thursday when they play Dow at Trenholme Park. RCMP and Pinky Stamps will inaugurate the Saint Laurent season on Monday, May 18 at Saint Laurent's Decelles Park.

Les Bagshaw, a baseball player converted to fastball, has been named field manager of Dow Brewers in the Snowdon Fastball League it was announced.

18 cricket teams
ready for action

Cricket players are looking forward to starting their 1959 Montreal and District league schedule with a great deal of interest.

More clubs, more players and the first visit of the MCC since 1951 all contribute to making this the heaviest program in 20 years.

Three new teams to join the circuit, Rolls Royce, Mount Royal and Verdun, will each add a second team to make a total of 18 teams divided into two sections: eight in the "A" and 10 in the "B."

The MCC will be sending a team of some of England's finest cricketers here July 29. Two games will be played in Montreal, the first at Lower Canada College on July 31st and the second on August 1st at Rolls Royce on the Cote de Liesse road.

The calibre of cricket in the area has been improving rapidly. George Carter, president of the league executive committee feels that local all-star teams to be selected later will give a good account of themselves against the MCC and in the annual game against Ontario.

Local cricket will begin this coming Saturday with a full slate of matches scheduled for the "B" division. The "A" division openers are scheduled for the following Saturday, May 16.

Bill Gammon heads Masonic bowling league committee

William (Bill) Gammon was elected president of the Montreal Masonic Memorial Temple Bowling league. H. G. Westcott was elected vice-president and Wilf Manning was named second vice-president. The secretary is L. Williams and the treasurer is E. Watson.

At the annual presentation dinner, at which the new officers were announced, prizes were presented. The Stephenson pinfall trophy was won by the Royal Arthur White team with Wilf Manning as captain. It was the eighth time in 10 years that the Royal Arthur lodge has won this shield.

The high average, 159.1, was won by Mel Webster of the winning Royal Arthur team. The three winner was Charlie Morris of John T. Gladstone lodge with 579 and the single, 246, was won by Al Hoult of the Waverley Red team. These marks are all net.

Consolation low averages: George Layfield, St. Andrew's Red, 86.5 in section 'A', and Les Brown, John Gladstone Blue, 84.2, in section 'B'. Most improved player, Bob Davis, Elgin, 13.2 increase over last year's average.

Ionic Blue team won the Forum trophy for section 'B' winner.

Quebec tennis '59 committees

The newly appointed council of the Province of Quebec Lawn Tennis Association have appointed several committees to handle the 1959 season's activities.

The PQLTA president, Jack Davies, will chair the Executive and Finance Committee, with Brendan Macken, Guy Dorval and Brendan Madigan serving with him.

Caledonia wins St. George's event

A five on the 12th end gave Ken Weldon's Caledonia Curling Club rink a 13-8 decision over Francois Goulet of Cap-de-la-Madeleine in the final of the St. George Spring Bonspiel Saturday.

Down 9-8 coming home, Weldon rubbed out a Goulet stone with last rock for his winning five.

With Weldon were lead Bruce Coulter, second Bernie Brunet and third Bill Isaac. Goulet had J. Chartray, J. Desmarais and J. Boullier on his rink.

In semi-final play Weldon defeated I. D. Smith, Town of Mount Royal 9-5 while Goulet eliminated P. Guillemette of Drummondville 9-4.

Ted Hunt's Lachine rink took the consolation honors, 10-6 over Ken McWha of St. Lambert. Hunt defeated Bruce Adair in the semi-final 12-4 while McWha beat Ross MacFarlane of Mount Royal 8-7.

Als sign end from Texas SU

William Glossum, a six-foot end from Texas Southern University, whose sure hands and blinding speed swept him to All-American second team honors last season, and to first team rating in 1957, is heading here for a tryout with Big Four Alouettes.

The 22-year-old Glossum had a brilliant career in college ball to look back on. He is more than a fair punter, but it is in the matter of pass catching that he excels. Last season he caught 35 passes for 629 yards and eight touchdowns.

Quebec Stars beaten by U.S.

Dartmouth College won a 5-3 victory in the first annual Carlings challenge trophy rucker match against the Quebec All-Stars at Verdun Auditorium Stadium Saturday.

The Dartmouth team, winners of the Ivy League rucker championship and fresh from a victorious tour in England and the West Indies, outplayed the local team in just about every department, except the set scrums.

Goose Tatum City visitor, seeks promoters for tour

Reece "Goose" Tatum, the venerable basketball star with the Harlem Globetrotters was a Baseball Stadium visitor last week. Tatum and friends are vacationing in the metropolis and as a sideline Goose was busily jotting down names of potential promoters for his new basketball touring squad the Harlem Magicians.

Upon "retiring" from Abe Saperstein's Globetrotters, Tatum joined forces with Marques Haynes, the champion dribbler and the pair formed the Harlem Magicians. This year they have added "Sweetwater" Clifton, the Knickerbocker star and the Magicians are planning a tour of North America starting next September. Goose has enjoyable memories of his many visits to Montreal and would like to bring the Magicians here next Fall.

There was one instance Tatum recalled when local citizens didn't take kindly to the Trotters' shenanigans. That was when Ben Kerner (the owner of the St. Louis Hawks) undertook the promotion of the Trotters in a contest at The Stadium. It was their only local appearance. However the combination of weather and summer vacations didn't enable Kerner to meet his "nut" and he took quite a financial beating. "Man there were more players than spectators that night," Tatum recalled.

Kerner blew quite a bundle on his two local ventures, but has made it up since as the owner of the St. Louis Hawks, who won the World basketball championship last year.

The selection of Bill Cleevely as manager of the Canadian paddling team for the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome is a good choice. Cleevely has long been a stalwart of the paddling game, from his days as an active paddler to his present position as secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Canoe Association. The trip to Rome is certainly just reward for his many years of effort.

VIVE LES MARBLES — From Hebburn-on-Tyne comes the story of the Hautmont, France soccer team holding nightly practices so that on May 22 they can beat the soccer players of Hebburn—at MARBLES.

And in case the Hebburn-on-Tyne men refuse to play marbles the Hautmont soccer men are also learning to play bridge. But why marbles or bridge between the two football teams when a party from Hautmont visits Hebburn, its English "twin town."

It seems that the English Football Association has banned the projected friendly soccer game between the clubs because the soccer season in England ends May 9.

"Time is too short to teach our soccer players cricket," said a Hautmont councillor, "so we are teaching them together to get expert instruction in bridge and marbles.

"The Tyneside soccer team can choose which game they would like to play, but in any case we are taking our boots and jerseys with us."

And unless the soccer officials rescind their order the clubs will compete in a manly game of MARBLES.

Exhibition June 10

The Quebec Soccer Board of Control have decided to bring the great West Bromwich Albion of the English League here on June 10.

Since Cantalia held Mexico's World Cup team to a scoreless draw and that Hungaria were only nosed 6-5 by Vienna's Admira Wien, they have decided that the opposition shall be a local All Star side at the baseball park.

Local Jewry pays tribute to Allan Bronfman

Bible was secret weapon says Dr. Yigael Yadin

By LOU MILLER

The Bible was the secret weapon of the Israeli Army, during the war of liberation and still is, Dr. Yigael Yadin told 1,500 persons who attended the Negev dinner, honoring Allan Bronfman, 9 Belvedere road, at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel Wednesday night.

Dr. Yadin was a leading general in the Israeli Army (Haganah) during the War of Independence in 1948 and led the Army to many victories.

In 1952 he gave up his Army life and eventually became a professor of archaeology at the Hebrew University and was amongst those responsible for finding the Dead Sea scrolls.

"Every great military general used the Bible or biblical sayings in addressing his troops," Yadin said, "but what general had the great advantage of fighting wars in biblical lands. When I quoted the Bible to my troops they knew they were fighting on the very land the quotes came from. Eleven years ago the Israeli troops fought and won the very same land on which the Bible tells us the story of the Walls of Jericho 3,000 years ago."

"There was no more important morale factor than the Bible in Israel's success story."

Yadin also paid tribute to Mr. Bronfman for his tireless efforts on behalf of Israel, and particularly for his stimulating leadership of Canadian celebrations of Israel's 10th Anniversary.

It also was announced that an agricultural school for hill-farming will be established at Ein Kerem in Israel bearing the name of Allan Bronfman and his family.

The new school located near Jerusalem will cost an estimated $800,000 of which half will be borne by the Israel government and the remainder by the proceeds from the dinner and a significant contribution by Mr. Bronfman himself.

Mr. Bronfman was presented with a scroll to commemorate the dinner by Rabbi Charles Bender, national chairman of the Jewish National Fund, sponsors of the affair.

Other speakers during the dinner were: Chairman Philip Garfinkle, president of the Jewish General Hospital, 1 Douglas avenue; S. Laddie Kert, chairman of the Montreal JNF Council, 214 Cote St. Antoine road; Arthur Lourie, Israeli Ambassador to Canada; Lawrence Freiman, president of the Zionist Organization of Canada and Mr. Bronfman.

Cars collide at Victoria

Mathew Merlin, 45, of 5579 Clanranald avenue, was slightly injured in a collision at Western avenue and Prince Albert avenue when a car driven by Esko Saikkonen, 32, 54 Vinet street, Strathmore, bumped into the rear of his car.

Saikkonen told police that he was proceeding east on Western avenue when he noticed the car in front of him had stopped, and he was unable to avoid collision, even though he had applied his brakes.

Merlin, who complained of a stiff neck, but refused medical attention, stated that he was proceeding east on Western, and was nearing Victoria avenue when an English car in front of him suddenly stopped, and the car behind struck the rear of his vehicle.

Cyclist strikes U-turning taxi

John Kendall, 19, of 5847 Sherbrooke street west, received a bump on the left side of his head, and bruises on his left hand when his motorcycle struck a taxi at 2:45 p.m. Friday.

Kendall stated that he was proceeding west on St. Catherine street west when, as he entered the intersection of Wood avenue, a taxi started to make a U-turn to go east on St. Catherine. The vehicle turned in front of his cycle, he said, upon which he applied his brakes but struck the taxi.

Driver of the taxi was Eddy Lafontaine, 46, of 2437 Rouen street, employed by George Emil Muir, 5135 Place Louis Riel, who told police he was making a U-turn on St. Catherine street when he was struck by the motorcycle.

Wilkins appointed system supervisor

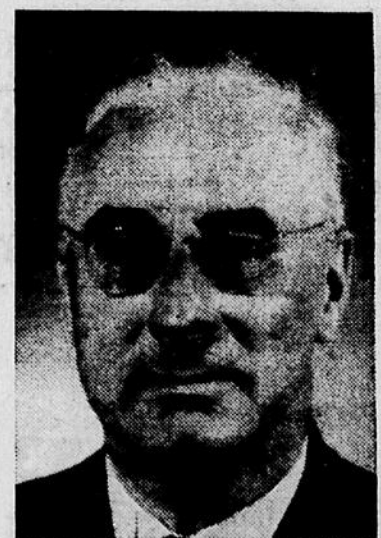

Two appointments in the transportation department have been announced by J. H. Stevenson, chief of transportation of Canadian National Railways.

Arthur K. Wilkins, 5051 Grosvenor avenue, has been appointed system supervisor, station service, succeeding C. F. Allan who has retired after 46 years of service. George A. MacLennan has been named system supervisor, freight loss and damage prevention.

Mr. Wilkins was born in Saint John, N.B. and joined the transportation department of the railroad in 1913. In 1935 he moved to Montreal as chief freight clerk in the office of the chief of transportation and a year later transferred in the same capacity to the station service and weighing department.

Car stolen

Mrs. Yvonne Harper, 46 Belvedere road, reported her 1959 Triumph automobile stolen near 5757 Decelles street on Monday. The car is valued at $2,705.25.
