KANSAS CITY (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies headed home today with a 3-2 lead over Kansas City Royals and a chance to wrap up their first world championship Tuesday in Game Six of the 1980 World Series.

The Phillies were leading in the best-of-seven baseball championship after a 4-3 victory Sunday. Mike Schmidt blasted a two-run homer and triggered a two-run rally in the ninth inning with a single.

If the Royals win Tuesday night, the seventh and final game will be played in Philadelphia on Wednesday night.

Gallant Bellemare holds back

By STEPHEN McDOUGALL

ST. JEAN DES PILLES — With the decision by Premier Levesque to postpone elections until spring, Maurice Bellemare, former UN MNA for Johnson county and a minister in the Duplessis cabinet, has decided not to replace Marie Charest as candidate in Johnson riding for the upcoming byelection to be held November 17.

In a brief telephone interview with The Record, the 68-year-old Bellemare said he had no intentions of setting back the political career of his former longtime supporter and riding secretary, who became the first woman Union Nationale candidate in the party's history last September 8.

Charest had declared late last week that she would step aside if her former boss wanted the seat after he announced his intention to re-enter politics if the provincial elections were held this fall. Now Bellemare says he will wait for an expected leadership convention sometime in February, and is sticking to his intention of recruiting Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau to become UN party leader.

"If he doesn't do it," declared Bellemare, "I'll go for it myself."

Bellemare said he wasn't worried about finding a seat to run in, indicating that several strong UN seats were still available.

Bellemare justified his proposed return to politics by pointing out that former UN leader Rodrigue Biron was ruining the party and his demise had now made conditions favorable for Bellemare again.

Bellemare admitted he is glad the elections were put back so that the UN could have more time to court Drapeau.

"It'll give him time to take care of his legal matters, like that Malouf inquiry and that Corridart law suit he's facing," Bellemare said.

East Angus talks going smoothly

By JUDITH KELLOCK-HEWARD

EAST ANGUS — An independent report commissioned by Domtar-East Angus is the basis for talks at the ministerial level between the Ministry of Energy and Resources and company negotiators.

The Cohen report is a detailed technical study of the modernization program estimated to cost $50-million proposed for the East Angus pulp, paper and board mill.

In particular the study considers the needs of the renewal program, including a new furnace to replace the present one, now working at a third over capacity. It includes pollution control measures aimed at reducing present pollution levels by 80 per cent.

Talks will continue for the next three or four months and are expected to result in the signing of a protocol agreement between the Energy and Resources Ministry and Domtar.

Domtar had warned the Environment Ministry earlier this year that it was experiencing difficulty in making its East Angus enterprise profitable and that a program of pollution control that was not cost-effective and on a gradual basis might force them to close the plant.

Environment Ministry spokesman Guy Perras says the talks are taking place in a positive atmosphere and no pullout is expected.

Meanwhile, The Record has learned that a closed meeting between Domtar forestry representatives and the Sherbrooke office of the Environment Ministry was held September 19 on Domtar's wood-cutting practices on Mount Sutton.

The meeting was held to examine the company planning policy in the wood-cutting division over the next 20 years.

Two years ago, pressure of public opinion forced the company to discontinue clear-cutting on Mount Sutton. Domtar announced its use of strip-cutting at a Sherbrooke press conference May 13, which it has used this past summer on Singer Mountain, and past weeks around Fullerton Pond.

Domtar has been criticized for causing much erosion in the area through cutting near stream beds and diminishing the water retention capacities provided by timber growth.

The Environment Ministry has the power to ask for an impact study in private forestry operations only if the project is immense. In this case the company must hire a firm to carry out the study by the beginning of this winter, says environment ministry Sherbrooke bureau official Paul Jeannotte. At that point, the ministry will prepare its commentary on the study before any more cuts are performed in the area.

The impact study is required to study the effects of strip cutting on water quality, as erosion is carried by stream down the mountain into the southeast branch of the Yamaska River. Reduction of the water held in the soil by the trees is also a particular concern.

Environment Minister Marcel Leger is expected to make a statement on the impact study sometime before May, 1981.

CHU, lab pay for hospital death

By CAROLE TREISER

SHERBROOKE — A Lennoxville widow and her family have been awarded $143,059 in damages after a Superior Court judge found the Centre Hospitalier Universitaire and a medical equipment supplier responsible for the death of her husband during open-heart surgery in 1977.

Judge Jean-Louis Peloquin ruled that the CHU and Travenol Laboratories Inc. shared the responsibility in the death of 51-year-old Domtar employee Eugene Clark, who suffered fatal oxygen starvation during the October 4 operation. Clark never regained consciousness.

Though the judge and a team of medical experts couldn't pinpoint why Clark wasn't fed oxygen during surgery, they concluded two possibilities. And in either case, Judge Peloquin ruled a CHU technician and Travenol Laboratories are to blame.

One possibility is that Clark's brain suffocated because of a faulty hook-up between an oxygen tank and a heart-lung machine.

CHU technician Yves Thisdale told the court he calibrated the flow of oxygen from the tank to the apparatus an hour before surgery began. But Thisdale told the judge he had no proof that he followed procedure, because he lost his procedure log. And there were no witnesses when he allegedly checked the apparatus.

The evidence that Thisdale didn't check the apparatus was damning. Experts testified they doubted the oxygen flow was calibrated because Clark suffered cerebral anoxia only minutes after the operation started, indicating the apparatus wasn't working from the outset.

Moreover, two Travenol employees testified that Thisdale admitted to them he didn't test the equipment before the operation started.

Judge Peloquin also heard Thisdale's testimony against Travenol. The technician argued that Clark's life could have been saved despite the possible faulty hook-up, if the heart-lung machine's warning apparatus would have alerted the surgical team that oxygen wasn't being transferred into the patient's bloodstream.

Judge Peloquin heard other testimony that the alarm system never sounded, and he concluded that if Clark did die as a result of a faulty hook-up, then both the CHU and Travenol were to blame.

Testimony also indicated mishandling of the heart-lung machine, which is supposed to connect to the venous system. In Clark's case, however, it was connected to the arterial system.

Thisdale testified that despite instructions that came with the heart-lung machine, he was led to believe by the company that the apparatus could be hooked into either the venous or arterial system. He said he assisted in at least 200 successful operations where the heart-lung machine was connected to the arteries rather than the veins.

Experts explained that hooking the apparatus into the wrong parts of the heart could prove fatal. With this hook-up, they said, arterial blood rather than venous blood flowed through a piece of the heart-lung machine that heated the blood to body temperature.

Because the venal blood bypassed the heating unit when it flowed through the rest of the heart-lung machine, it was thicker than usual. The thick venous blood, they argued, might have clogged the machine and prevented the transfer of oxygen.

A Travenol salesman responsible for the servicing of the heart-lung machine, testified he told Thisdale before the operation that the machine was hooked to the wrong side of the patient's heart. Thisdale responded that this was normal procedure at the hospital and that it had never led to complications.

The judge cited other precedents brought against manufacturers who failed to warn their clientele of all the possible hazards associated with the use of a product.

He said Travenol failed to warn the hospital there were hazards in connecting the heart-lung machine to the arterial rather than the venous system.

Simply advising surgical personnel that they're not following instructions without warning of the possible hazards isn't good enough, the judge ruled.

This is the first time a medical supply company was found in violation of the Consumer Protection Act.

Blast cancels congress

MANILA (Reuter) — All public sessions of a major U.S. tourism congress aimed at boosting the Philippines' tourism potential were cancelled today after a bomb exploded near President Ferdinand Marcos during the opening ceremony.

Marcos was not hurt in the Sunday blast but at least 20 people, including five Americans, were slightly injured when the bomb went off under a chair.

Joseph Stone, president of the American Society of Travel Agents, which organized the congress, said a trade show and all public sessions were cancelled.

Although no group immediately claimed responsibility for the blast, police said antigovernment terrorists were to blame.

Battle of Abadan rages on

As the Persian Gulf war entered its fifth week today, Iraq said its infantry and armor had consolidated an "air-tight siege" of Abadan and Khorramshahr.

But Iran said Abadan's defenders prevented Iraqi tanks from penetrating Khorramshahr's defences and that house-to-house fighting was raging in the city for the fourth straight day.

Iran also announced it has renamed Khorramshahr — which means fertile city in Farsi — to Khuninshar, which means city of blood. It said the name change is in tribute to the "epic resistance" put up against the invading Iraqis by diehard Islamic revolutionary guardsmen.

Meanwhile, leaders of both governments ignored appeals from other Moslem countries for a four-day ceasefire during Islam's holiest holiday, the Feast of the Sacrifice, which began Sunday. The Koran, the Moslem holy book, forbids the spilling of human blood during the period.

Patriation to hog Commons' business

OTTAWA (CP) — The constitution is expected to dominate matters this week in Parliament despite the government's professed eagerness to get on with other business.

The Liberals and New Democrats want to see Prime Minister Trudeau's package sent to a special Commons-Senate committee for study and amendment.

If that happens, the Commons will move on to discussing a new Bank Act, a bill converting the post office into a Crown corporation and freedom-of-information legislation, Government House Leader Yvon Pinard says.

But Opposition House Leader Walter Baker says the Progressive Conservatives have a large number of speakers who intend to contribute to this stage of the debate, which began two weeks ago today.

One Conservative back-bencher said last week he wants his chance to address the issue now because he is not one of the MPs his party selected for the joint committee.

In Fredericton, Opposition Leader Joe Clark says government publications are lying about the content of Prime Minister Trudeau's proposals to bring the constitution to Canada.

Clark, speaking Saturday to the New Brunswick Progressive Conservative Association, said a government document that is supposed to be on display in Canadian post offices says "an amending procedure will ensure that all changes to the constitution can be made in Canada."

Feds to reach M-F decision this week

OTTAWA (CP) — The government appears to be moving closer to a favorable decision — possibly this week — to help beleaguered farm machinery maker Massey-Ferguson Ltd. survive its financial crisis.

Treasury Board President Donald Johnston, member of a special cabinet committee studying the government's options on Massey, said on the weekend, "the government is very disposed to helping upon satisfactory terms and conditions.'"

"But it's a private sector venture that's required. The government is not in the business of running the farm machinery business."

That appears to rule out one government option, direct equity participation in Massey by the federal and Ontario governments.

Industry Minister Herb Gray said Sunday that it's possible an announcement could be made this week.

He refused to confirm or deny indications that the current proposal involves equity guarantees for potential Massey investors of about $200 million by the federal and Ontario governments.

But there are no clear signs that private sector investors are willing to participate in a restructured company, even with a government guarantee to lessen risk.

Massey has been trying to put together a refinancing package of $600 million to offset the company's debt load of $1.5 billion.

Nov. 1 looms close as a critical date for the company. At that time, bankers here and abroad could stiffen the terms of some short-term debts, thereby pushing the company closer to the financial brink.

The government has been working closely with Massey and its principal banker, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, to find a solution to the company's financial difficulties.

Ottawa appointed two financial experts to act for the government in its discussions with Massey. In its talks, the government is trying to determine whether the company can survive, even with government help.

Massey, third biggest farm machinery maker in the world, employs about 6,000 of its 46,000 workforce in Canada.

Peter Lowry, spokesman for Massey, said the company has not had discussions with either the U.S. or United Kingdom governments about possible assistance.

However, Massey has been talking to potential investors in the Canadian business community, but will not disclose names.

Lowry noted, "success there would depend on what the government has to say."

One potential investor candidate is the Canada Development Corp., 49.5 per cent owned by the federal government.

Refusing to say whether CDC is involved in the Massey talks, president and chief executive officer Tony Hampson notes the corporation is oriented to energy and high-technology investments.

CARTER: REAGAN RAISES NUKE RISK

President Carter and Republican challenger Ronald Reagan unloaded heavy salvos at each another's defence policies as the presidential election campaign approached its final two weeks.

In a paid radio speech Sunday, Carter all but accused the former California governor of recommending a nuclear arms strategy which would raise the risk of nuclear war.

Reagan, sensitive to administration efforts to portray him as a warmonger, said Carter had been going too far in his comments on the Republican's views.

"My own views have been distorted in what I can only conclude is an effort to scare people through innuendoes and misstatements of my positions," Reagan said.

The president said Reagan advocates "a very risky gamble" of scrapping the SALT II treaty and threatening a renewed arms race in order to force the Soviet Union to agree to an agreement more favorable to the United States.

Carter said his "four years of sobering experience" led him to believe that the course he was following would diminish the possibility of nuclear war — "and that the departure recommended by my opponent would have the opposite effect."

Reagan said in a television speech that "the cold, hard fact of the matter is that our economic, military and strategic strength under President Carter is eroding."

"We need to remove (the Soviet) incentive to race ahead by making it clear to them that we can and will compete if need be ..." he said, adding that as president he would immediately open negotiations on a SALT III treaty.

US dollar up again

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar rose in value against most major European currencies today as gold prices declined.

—Zurich — 1.6590 Swiss francs, up from 1.6557.

MONTREAL (CP) — Police here admit they are baffled by Friday night's gangland-style shooting of Rocco Violi, the third member of the alleged underworld family to be gunned down since 1977.

Violi, 40, was shot in the heart with one slug from a .308-calibre rifle as he sat reading a newspaper behind his kitchen window.

CANBERRA (AP) — Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser's conservative coalition has won reelection with a sharply reduced majority in the lower house of the Australian parliament but a minority party threatens his control of the Senate.

With more than 80 per cent of the estimated nine million votes counted, computer projections indicate Fraser's Liberal-National Country party coalition will have a majority of 15 to 25 seats in the 125-member House of Representatives compared to the 48-seat edge it took into Saturday's general election.

Armed robbers given 22 months

SWEETSBURG WARD (JM) — Jean Pierre Brien, of Cowansville, and Ronald Coates, of Sutton, were sentenced to 22 months each after pleading guilty to charges of armed robbery, wearing disguises and utilization of firearms in the commission of a crime of violence.

"They stole $2,225 from the Frelighsburg branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on Oct. 8, when they were disguised and armed," Crown attorney Claude Noiseux said. The interests of justice would be well served with 10 months, concurrent among themselves, on the first two charges and 12 months, consecutive on the third. "I also request you impose a five-year restriction under terms of article 98 of the criminal code as well as a three-year probation following their release," he added.

Gilles Dore and Gary Martin told the judge their clients had no prior records, including the juvenile level, and requested he recommend they be incarcerated at the Waterloo Rehabilitation Centre.

"You committed a very serious crime which cannot be condoned," Judge Bernard Legare told the accused. "Normally it would result in a penitentiary term but I have considered your absence of prior records and the sentence of the court is 22 months. Ten months, concurrent, on the armed robbery and disguise charges, and the minimum one year term for utilization of firearms which is consecutive to the others. You are also prohibited from owning or possessing any firearms, ammunition or explosives for five years, and you will be bound over to keep the public peace for three years following your release."

Cukes and vinegar make sweet pickle

RICHMOND (SM) — Richmond's fourth annual Pickle Festival was a total success and surpassed last year's get-together by a good margin, says Chamber of Commerce organizer Yvon Poiriere.

"Our suppers were packed with people both Friday and Saturday night. We could take no more than 500 people each night, and we turned away just as many," said Poiriere.

The local "marinada" is to promote Richmond tourism and encourage local people's most popular kitchen skill — pickling.

And that they did, for some 300 people entered their pickles for the festival judges' approval. Kenneth McLeod of Richmond was judged the best pickler in the sour cucumber category with his Dill pickles.

The runner-ups were: Collete Lalonde of Repentigny in the sweet cucumber category; Lucie Cote of Melbourne for sweet beets; Charles Boisvert of Richmond for sour beets; Jeannine Tanguay from St. Felix de Kingsey for tomato ketchups and Lucie Leclerc of Granby for the fruit ketchups.

Claude Bedard was the lucky winner of the $2000 stereo system door prize Saturday night.

According to Poiriere, next year's festival should be expanded to accommodate more dinner guests, more categories and more attendance at the exhibitions and food markets during the day.

All proceeds will go to fund future Richmond Chamber events in the winter and spring.

DBRSB drops QAPSB tenure challenge

ST. JOVITE (JM) — The potentially contentious issues of tenure of directors-general, adopted at by a past executive meeting of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards and challenged by the District of Bedford Regional Board, was put aside from the table of general business at the QAPSB's annual meeting held at the Gray Rocks Inn last weekend.

The Bedford board requested the motion be re-tabled for general discussion. The clause stipulated it would take a vote of 66 per cent plus one to dismiss a director for cause whereas in the past it took a simple majority of 51 per cent.

"The QAPSB didn't have time to inform us it was a provincial directive," Bedford board chairman E. Bonar Lindsay said. "Once we realized they were being handled with the same type of protection as counterparts in other para-public spheres we withdrew our protest knowing it's almost impossible to contest governmental action."

Lindsay, a past president of the QAPSB, said he was highly pleased with the overall general meeting which took less than three hours on Saturday morning. "General business was conducted in an orderly fashion and I think all the delegates were happy with the outcome."

"From a personal standpoint I was most gratified with the clinic Jim Bissell, the director general of Bedford, and I held introducing new board members to their functions. No longer will they possibly feel like lambs being cast to slaughter when they attend their first meetings."

The QAPSB backed off its projected reorganization plan when individual boards said they hadn't had ample time to consider the overall ramifications and the provincial organization will sit back pending suggestions.

"I was most pleased with the attitude of the PSBGM and the Lakeshore Boards," QAPSB executive director David Wadsworth said. "They represent 38 per cent of the school population and they consented that 109 voters from other boards, who represent less than one half of one per cent of the scholars, had a vote in the proceedings."

The Montreal Island boards' voting power came under heavy attack at the last regular meeting of the Bedford board when one of the commissioners alleged they held 58 per cent of the vote while they were reluctant brides when the federation was formed.

"That situation has been rectified,"; Wadsworth continued. "Although Montreal has 38 per cent of the student population the joint boards have now dropped to 38 votes for greater Montreal plus nine for the suburbs giving greater over-all representation. In effect this gives the island boards 36 per cent of the vote."

"A joint appeal against certain parts of Bill 57 launched by ourselves and La Federation des Commissions Scolaires Catholique de Quebec challenging parts of the British North America Act is still before the court" Wadsworth concluded.

Thanksgiving from animals

We have just had Thanksgiving, a day to offer thanks to the Lord. My gratitude for not being in the midst of wars, bombings, earthquakes and revolutions is immense but is always tinged with an uncomfortable feeling of guilt. Why them? Why not me?

Apart from being aware of my good fortune in this respect and from being thankful for the beauty of our land, I have many reasons to say thank-you. I am filled with thanksgiving for all the children I know, for the generosity of their instant smiles and waves as one passes by. I think it a wonderful thing to have warm water every morning to splash on my sleepy face. I love my first cup of steaming coffee at breakfast and even more the second one carried in to the deep chair before the fireplace. I am grateful for time to sit here unhurried and unharassed, for the windows made bright by the gold of the leaves outside and for the tranquillity of my small home. I am so afraid of taking for granted the richness of life.

This morning I got out a precious little book that a friend once sent me. This seemed a suitable time to reread it. It is made up of two books now, combined in a paperback edition: the poems of Carmen Bernos De Gasztold translated from the French by Rumer Godden. The earlier volume was called Prayers From The Ark and this is now included with a later offering, The Creatures' Choir.

I turned the pages this morning to where various creatures render their praise to God.

The Ladybird:

"Thank You for having made me
so that no one is afraid of me:
a little toy,
a penny toy,
a mite of comfort and laughter."

The Hedgehog:

"I speak of my prickles
but thank you for them.
You at least have understood me,
that is why you made me
such a pinball.
How else can I defend myself?"

The Camel says,

"I give you thanks, Lord,
for this my realm,
wide as my longings
and the passage of my steps.
Carrying my royalty
in the aristocratic curve of my neck from oasis to oasis, one day shall I find again
the caravan of the magi?"

Little House is always inundated with spiders at this time of year. They spin frantically and beautifully, seeking warmth for the winter's rest. The Spider's prayer is thus,

"In the nimble silence of my life,
on the thread of my airy dreams,
in the geometric tracery of my thoughts,
I thank you,
forever, dear God."

As I drew back the drapes from the kitchen window early this morning I was startled to see a fat, grey mouse scrambling wildly up the outside of window. We frightened each other. I thought immediately of Carmen Bernos and her prayer for the mouse.

"I am so little and grey,
dear God,
how can you keep me in mind?
Always spied upon,
always chased.
Nobody ever gives me anything,
and I nibble meagerly at life.
Why do they reproach me with being a mouse?
Who made me but you?
I only ask to stay hidden.
Give me my hunger's pittance safe from the claws of that devil with green eyes.
amen."

OPERATION volcan

Cowansville residents will be invited to identify their belongings as part of a crime prevention blitz.

COWANSVILLE (JM) — Local police have launched a massive anti-burglary and theft program police chief Arthur Jacques announced last week. Katimivak has accepted the police force's offer to participate in Operation Volcan which will offer better protection to residents without putting further dents in the municipal budget.

Katimivak, the Inuit word for meeting place, is a federally funded project which groups 17 to 21-year-olds in public service projects across the country.

"The program is representative of the country with 65 per cent of the volunteers from the English sector and the balance from the French side," Cowansville coordinator Helene Boucher says. "They spend nine months serving and getting to know their neighbors across the breadth of the land. Three months in different sectors allows them to study other cultures and hone their language skills."

Chief Jacques said burglaries and thefts were on the rise across Quebec.

"Those two compose 60 per cent of all crimes committed in the province today and they can possibly be attributed to the sharp increase in the price of gold.

Last year, we had a total of 68 burglaries, 250 cases of theft in excess of $200 and 168 of simple theft.

"We must prevent casual robbers who usually seek out unoccupied single family dwellings or apartments," he says. Once a place has been burglarized it often falls prey again as the criminals know its layout and are aware goods have been replaced. As the incident of crime increases in a neighborhood, overall property values diminish.

"The Katimivak volunteers are well identified with police crests on their caps as well as identification passes and a letter which is signed by the police chief urging the population to take advantage of Operation Volcan. They carry etchers to inscribe the owners' drivers license number on objects such as television sets, stereos, which are frequently stolen.

Once a 'fence' sees the identification mark he will refrain from purchasing for fear of being caught. The driver's license number can be traced in seconds by any police corps across the continent.

"We don't suggest such objects as gold plates be etched as that would diminish their value, but we do urge owners of such objects to photograph them," the chief says.

"The public at large are responsible for crime prevention as much as we are. This is why we strongly urge you to know your neighbors and, if at all possible, set up block organizations which can look after empty homes or apartments. If you are absent when the volunteers call they will leave a message asking you to contact us for a second visit at your convenience.

This will be a most efficient tool in combatting crime," Jacques concludes.

Once the identification has been completed decals warning would-be robbers the goods are identified will be posted. Proof from other similar programs reveals the decals have proven highly effective.

Residents should not hesitate to call us if they think a crime is being committed in their area as all such information is treated confidentially, the source officer says.

Is Ryan creating new ghettos with riding policies?

QUEBEC (CP) — Liberal organizers call it "affirmative action," but critics say party leader Claude Ryan is creating new ghettos in Quebec.

At the centre of the controversy is Ryan's decision to designate certain provincial ridings for women, others for English Quebecers and a couple more for ethnics.

At a recent nomination meeting in Abitibi-Ouest, where Claire Labreche was chosen as the party's seventh woman candidate for the next Quebec election, Ryan said he hopes that at least 10 of the 122 Liberals running are women.

However, women pushing for equality in Quebec like to point out that 52 per cent of Quebecers are women, and feel this entitles them to at least half the ridings.

Lysiane Gagnon, political columnist for the Montreal daily La Presse, has noted that women are under-represented in both the Liberal and Parti Quebecois slates and they tend to be candidates in ridings where they will probably lose.

The west end Montreal riding of Nelligan has been designated for anglophones, but local Liberals wanted a bilingual candidate named Louis Grenier.

Chief Liberal organizer Pierre Bibeau said that Ryan "talked to" Grenier and persuaded him to leave the field clear for William Shaw, an English rights advocate and former Union Nationale member, and two other candidates, John Labelle and Clifford Lincoln.

But by designating certain ridings for anglophones, Ryan is making it clear that English-speaking Quebecers "need not apply in ridings where the majority of the population speaks French," says Peter Blaikie, a Montreal lawyer and former Conservative candidate.

Bibeau said that only "people of bad faith" are contesting Ryan's plan to designate ridings.

He also noted that Michele Tisseyre, a woman prominent in the Yvette movement which helped Ryan defeat the sovereignty-association referendum in May, wanted to run in Westmount.

"We talked to Mrs. Tisseyre," Bibeau said, and explained to her that Westmount has been designated for an English candidate.

Bibeau admitted that Ryan's conversations with prospective candidates may have hurt some feelings, "but they understood."

Another candidate who has been told he is not wanted is former Quebec premier Robert Bourassa, who was interested in running in Outremont where he lives.

But Bourassa still hasn't given up the possibility of running because "there's still a lot of seats available."

Bibeau said Ryan wants to present a "balanced team," representing all sectors of Quebec society, and that can not be guaranteed by "the normal process of democracy."

The system of designated ridings is a "step forward," he said, noting that under Liberal party statutes "we could have done it by just naming them."

In a lengthy statement on the choosing of candidates Ryan said in 1979 that the choice of Liberal candidates "will mark the culminating point and the sum of the renewal begun in the party since the Nov. 15, 1976, defeat."

However, most sitting members of the caucus are running again, along with two candidates defeated in 1976. The party has only managed to attract a handful of prominent candidates to inject new blood.

The biggest catch so far has been Daniel Johnson, Jr., son of the late Union Nationale premier Daniel Johnson and brother of Parti Quebecois minister Pierre Marc Johnson.

Union leader Jean Halley, Hull Mayor Gilles Rocheleau, Claude Garcia, former deputy minister of social affairs, and Henri-Francois Gautrin, former head of the Quebec NDP, complete the short list of prominent new candidates.

RUFFLED FEATHERS

Ryan ruffled a lot of Liberal feathers when he welcomed Camil Samson into party ranks and persuaded long-time Liberals interested in running in Rouyn-Noranda Temiscaming to step aside.

Samson, a traditionalist Catholic, was the founder of the right-wing Democrate-Creditiste party before becoming a Liberal. He remains head of the Democrate-Creditistes, although Ryan says he will give up his privileges as a party leader soon.

Ryan left himself open to criticism when he laid out criteria in 1979 for selection of candidates for a renewed Liberal party.

In an interview in the October issue of the monthly L'Actualite, Ryan said that he was misunderstood.

"We want people with a certain culture," he said. "You know as well as I do that there are university graduates who have no culture.

"Workers and farmers who have never gone past grade nine, who have read Le Devoir over the years, have reached the level of culture that interests us."

Gerald LeBlanc, a journalist who worked for Ryan when the Liberal leader was publisher of the influential daily Le Devoir, said the gulf between the renewal proposed by Ryan and the reality is typical of the man.

"He sets up noble criteria and then does what he wants," LeBlanc said. "Ryan doesn't like to have people around who challenge him.

"He likes to control everything."

Off the wall

It's been nearly three years since Bill 101 was passed, and we're still discovering surprises in the French Language Charter. The latest came into view last Thursday, at an Office de la Langue Francaise workshop for members of the Association of Quebec Regional English Media. They were talking about anything posted within a commercial establishment, which according to the OLF's three representatives, must be in French only. We asked whether this meant an end to the widespread practice of a store posting clippings of the week's specials taken from local papers, both French and English. The OLF reps said this was advertising and therefore definitely verboten. But wasn't this consumer information, we asked, sparing the store's staff the task of repeating to every shopper without his or her paper in hand the list of specials? Advertising, they said.

This would be bad enough, if it wasn't for something the reps added. Menus could be in any language as long as French was one of them, a major concession to the minorities, they said with straight faces. Even a menu posted in a restaurant's front window could be in English and French and wasn't this just peachy?

It isn't peachy. It's stupid. It makes the OLF look like a bunch of petty bureaucrats who spend their days and our money piddling with the modern equivalent of angels on the heads of pins. Most Quebec anglophones have by now grudgingly admitted that Bill 101 isn't all bad and may even have some raison d'etre in protecting the Quebecois culture from the eroding influences of North America. But semantic interpretations of this nature are the hallmarks of a government so caught up in detail it can't see the underlying ridiculousness of its position.

Name change was no trouble for the Mackenzies

Editor:

In answer to your editorial on Mr. Mrs. Miss and Ms., as far as I am concerned, it is purely my own business what my marital status happens to be. However, I admit there is a problem with more illustrious persons in the public limelight, and I expect special rules will have to be made to apply to them.

When I was young, smoking and dancing — at the Charity Ball to such tunes as Smoke Gets in Your Eyes, (Health and Welfare Canada, where were you then?) and becoming Mrs. Almost Anyone-at-all before the age of twenty — were the symbols of status, in that order.

Nowadays, these three ex-major items are not around too much, smoking dwindles away, the Charity Ball may or may not take place — I don't even know — and marriage at any age has become an option. I do not think an option needs identification.

When you mention titles, it seems fine, at first, but then I started to think about "Dr" John Smith, who you feel should keep his title, and I'm not so sure. The "Dr" part tells us that he went to school, college, medical school and graduated.

Good for Smith.

Somewhere along the line, probably between school and college he married Mary Brown, from down the road. Perhaps she won the English prize at school and maybe the tennis tournament. Nevertheless, off she went cheerfully to join the ranks of officer worker, so that Smith could follow his dream. She probably raised two children, cooked and cleaned and eventually Smith graduated, he got his title, and forever more he is identified. But what about Mary Brown, what happened to her?

For my part, with great good luck, I married a man who happened to have the same surname as my own. I never suffered what must be incredible trauma, by having to replace my name with another. I did not even change "my" Mackenzie to my husband's Mackenzie, nor he to mine. We each in our own minds remained our own Mackenzie.

I have evolved over the years as Katherine Mackenzie, just as I started out, and not as Mrs. Philip Mackenzie, which would seem as absurd to me as Philip calling himself Mr. Katherine Mackenzie. Each person's name is as much a part of him as any other part, and as such I think should be protected, and information concerning it given out only at the discretion of the owner, which, for me, does away with any descriptive title.

What about Milt May?

Editor:

I really enjoyed the interesting article in the Sept. 18 issue of the Record on the Amedee Roy Stadium written by the well-informed Mr. Merritt Clifton.

The names of players that he mentioned that performed in Sherbrooke and went on to be regulars in the Major League teams — such as Tekulve, Gonzalez, Nicosia and the late Dick Brown — brought back many fond memories.

One name that Mr. Clifton overlooked was Milt May, the bat boy whose father was Pinky May. He was sent to the Queen City by the Cleveland Indians to manage the Sherbrooke Indians, anchored by the fine catcher Dick Brown.

May broke in with Pittsburg Pirates, was traded to Houston, then over to the American League to Detroit, then to Chicago White Sox where he played out his option. He became a free agent then signed with San Francisco Giants for a good salary.

Since I moved to Ontario, I enjoy The Record very much. If the government clerks and the post office do not strike I might get the paper the same week.

Reagan campaign chairman was eager lackey to Hughes

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- The secret files of the late eccentric billionaire Howard Hughes raise some troubling questions about Ronald Reagan's campaign chairman, Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev.

The documents, many in Hughes' own handwritting, paint on unflattering picture of Laxalt during his term as governor of Nevada from 1966-70. Laxalt emerges as Hughes' eager lackey, intervening with federal agencies on Hughes' behalf, helping him to grab the lion's share of the state's casino operations and simultaneously dickering for a top job in the Hughes organization as a reward for faithful service.

In some private memoranda, Hughes discusses his intention to back Laxalt "with unlimited support right into the White House in 1972." But the billionaire left Nevada about the time Laxalt's gubernatorial term ended, and neither the White House push nor the cushy job ever materialized. Laxalt's law firm did collect $72,000 in legal retainers from Hughes in the next two years, however.

Laxalt told my associate Gary Cohn he never negotiated with Hughes for a job, and denied that the legal fees constituted a payoff or a conflict of interest. The Hughes documents indicate otherwise.

The documents relating to Laxalt are among thousands reportedly stolen from Hughes' Los Angeles headquarters in 1974 and later obtained by author Michael Drosnin. He is writing a book which will be published next year titled "Citizen Hughes: In His Own Words -- How Howard Hughes Tried to Buy America."

"To make the Laxalt deal work," Hughes wrote in a memo to his Nevada chief of staff, Robert Maheu, "we have to find a means of motivation. When I have a real tough assignment, I search for two ingredients: 1. A man who can do the job if he truly wants to, and 2. A means of furnishing a consideration to this man which will be of such a nature and such an amount as to be well nigh overpowering in its effect upon the man.

"Now Bob, I think Laxalt can be brought to a point where he will just about entrust his entire political future to his relationship with us ... I think we must convince him beyond a shadow of a doubt that I intend to back him with unlimited support right into the White House in 1972."

Maheu gave his boss regular reports on the job negotiations with Laxalt. In December, 1969, he wrote in a memo to Hughes: "Governor Laxalt has started to ask me precisely what his assignment will be in your organization."

In June, 1970, Maheu reported: "Laxalt is very anxious to discuss his future employment with us ...." On another occasion, Maheu wrote: "My guess is that he will hit us for a retainer ...."

Indeed, Laxalt's law firm started receiving money from Hughes shortly after Laxalt left the State House. And Hughes had already paid $180,000 to a law firm in which Laxalt's brother, Peter, was a partner.

The relationship was as beneficial to Hughes as it was to Laxalt. At one point, Hughes became obsessed with halting nuclear testing in Nevada, and he asked Laxalt to intervene with the federal Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). According to AEC records, Laxalt later called an AEC official and demanded: "Why can't you move all your testing to Alaska."

Laxalt's greatest service to Hughes while he was governor was helping the billionaire circumvent normal procedures to obtain casino licenses -- seven in all. In a bizarre twist, it turns out that Laxalt not only had never met Hughes, but had serious doubts that the man was still alive.

A confidential FBI memo dated Dec. 12, 1967, states: "No one, including the Governor of Nevada, has ever personally seen (Hughes) ... There is grave concern among the Nevada gaming authorities and Governor Laxalt that a great hoax could be being perpetrated on the state officials."

The memo states that Laxalt and the commission wanted the FBI to determine "that Howard Hughes is alive and that they are actually licensing a live individual." FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover ordered his men to have "absolutely nothing to do with this."

Despite his doubts, Laxalt subsequently helped Hughes get his last three casino licenses.

Footnote: The secret documents also allege that Laxalt killed major legislation at Hughes' request. We will detail this story in a future column.

DALLAS TAPES: Last year, the House Assassination Committee concluded that President John Kennedy was killed as the result of a conspiracy.

Part of the evidence that led to this conclusion was some acoustical tapes that purportedly picked up four shots in Dealey Plaza, not just the three fired by Lee Harvey Oswald. The tapes were turned over to the Justice Department and nothing has been heard of them since.

But I've learned that Justice turned the tapes over to the National Science Foundation, which in turn directed the National Academy of Science to have the tapes analyzed by a panel of top-level scientists.

The panel expects to have its first report completed by January 1. The results will go directly to Congress.

HOOSIER HOORAH: Sen. Richard Lugar's guerrilla warfare against his Democratic colleague from Indiana, Birch Bayh, continues apace. Republican Lugar recently called in reporters to announce that he had asked Bayh's Senate Intelligence Committee to hold hearings on the "Stealth" aircraft leaks. But he had ignored the customary courtesy of telling Bayh, who learned about the request when the press asked for his reaction.

Lumber industry returns to health

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. lumber industry, stricken for a year by the poor U.S. home building market, is slowly returning to good health.

Helping both the lumber industry and the builders are the changing needs of the post-war U.S. baby boom — the generation now entering its 30s.

That generation lived in rented accommodation, usually multiple dwellings, in the 1970s. This decade, they want single-family homes to accommodate their children.

"Once the recovery in the U.S. is assured, I think the next two, three, four years will be very good ones for the industry," said economist Dick Bryan of the Council of Forest Industries of B.C.

Bryan and his counterpart in the International Woodworkers of America, research director Doug Smyth, both share the same outlook. They say that if about 1.9 million homes are built annually in the U.S. in this decade, there should be a healthy lumber industry.

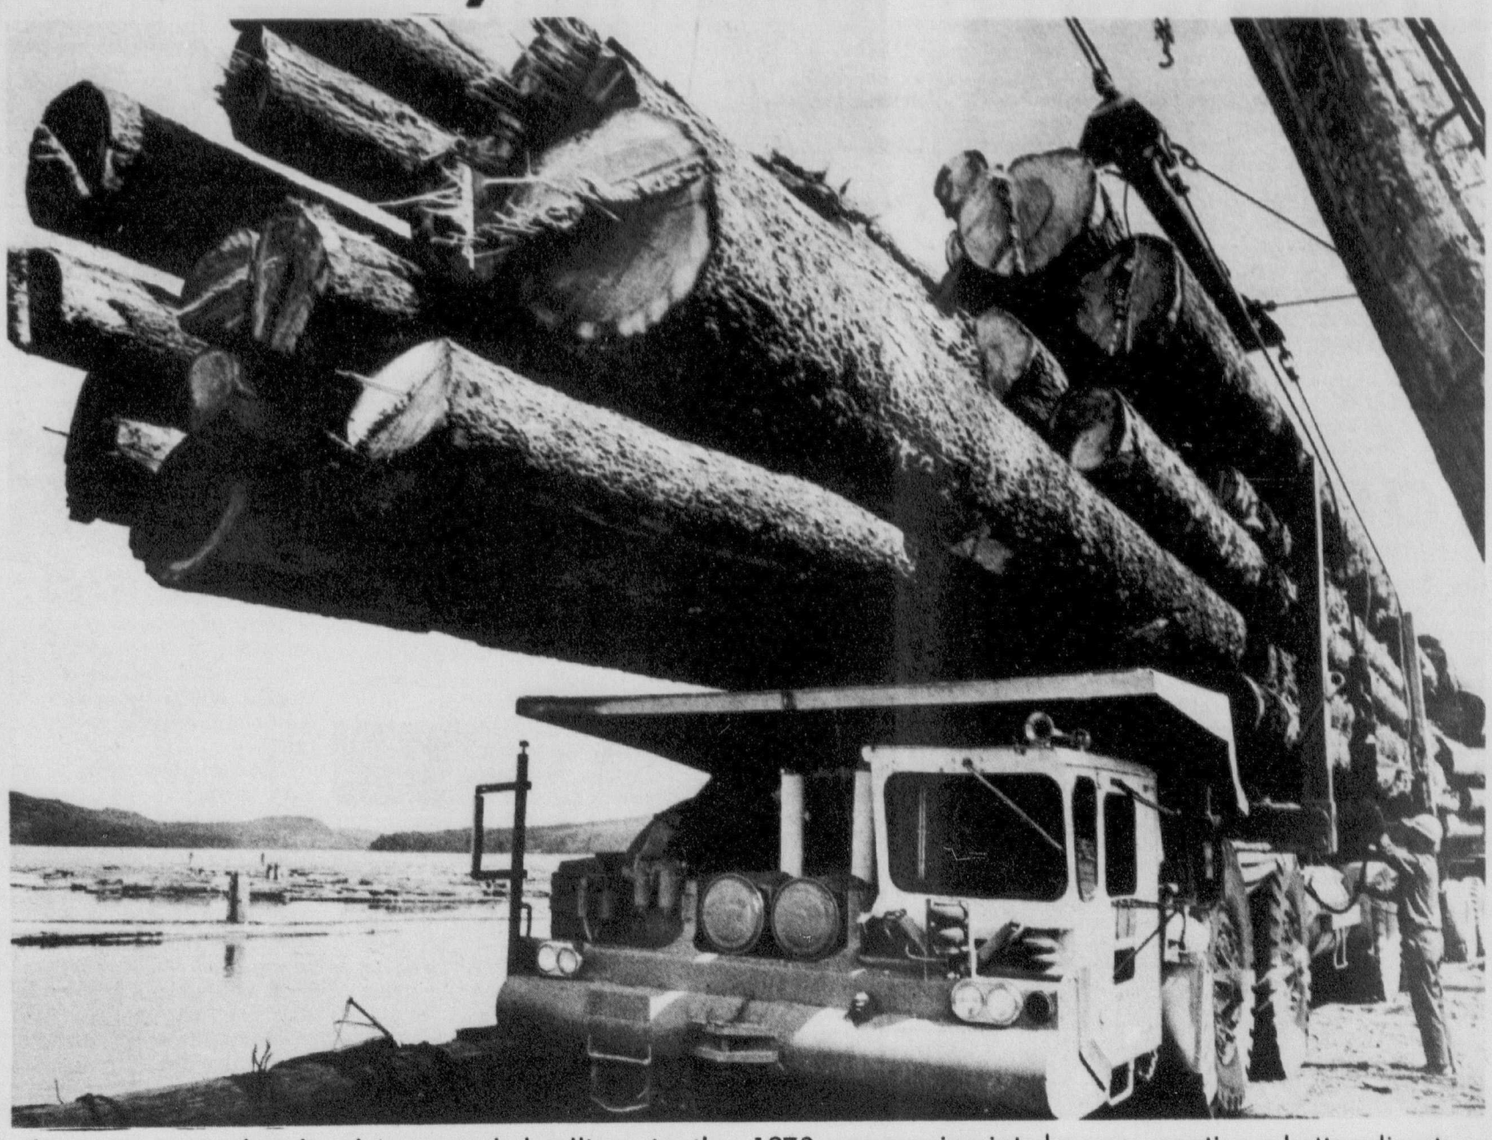
ECONOMIST HOPEFUL

Between 55 and 65 per cent of B.C.'s lumber is sold to the U.S. and Smyth sees hopes of that business increasing.

Almost half the married women in the U.S. work, he said. As well, most people consider a home a good hedge against inflation, which shows no sign of disappearing.

"Especially encouraging is that the inflation rate, the reason the (U.S. Federal Reserve) board has been so busy this year, has showed a really dramtic improvement in the last few months," Smyth said.

Smyth said business at U.S. savings and loans associations, which provide 60 per cent of the mortgages, is booming. Another important indicator is mortgage commitments or an agreement by a lender to make money available at a certain rate in the future.



The generation that lived in rented dwellings in the 1970s are moving into houses, creating a better climate for the lumber industry.

The U.S. recession also has reduced industry's needs for borrowed capital, making more money available for mortgages.

Smyth said home buyers are becoming accustomed to higher mortgages. In 1975 when U.S. builders and the B.C. forest industry, were last idled, people stopped buying homes at mortgages of nine to 10 per cent. This year, they still want homes at 11 to 12 per cent.

"Now, from what we can see, the situation has probably bottomed out, but it's looking like a very slow recovery and somewhat gloomier than we had anticipated six months ago," Bryan said. "We're now looking at probably late in the first quarter or late in the second quarter before a really noticeable improvement takes place."

It's in the second quarter that the companies' bargaining agency, Forest Industrial Relations, and the IWA start negotiations for a new industry-wide contract. The existing contract expires in June.

Smyth said the current curtailment of lumber production never pushed the unemployment rate in the B.C. membership of the IWA above 23 per cent. On average, 11 to 15 per cent were unemployed at any given time.

Production volume fell only six per cent in the first six months of 1980 from the first half of 1979, he said. But the value of production has fallen.

Consumer Chronicle

The coming season will see crowds of hockey enthusiasts back on the ice. The sport attracts increasing numbers of players who now practice almost year round. However, each player, young or old, should remember to use proper safety equipment for the game. Approved helmets and certified masks, in other words those which meet approved safety standards, are essential.

If skull fractures, blindness and broken teeth are to be avoided, helmets and masks must be worn at all times. Adult players will, we hope, follow this elementary safety rule of their own accord, but children must be watched closely. Although coaches and managers at recreational centres and arenas insist on helmets and masks being worn, accidents may occur on outdoor rinks or wherever a maskeshift hockey "arena" has been improvised on a patch of ice.

Just wearing a helmet is not enough; you must also make sure it is fitted to the head so that it does not move. Every helmet has an adjustment mechanism with three positions so as to follow the contour of the skull. Little pads can also be inserted in the helmet. Thus there is no reason why it should not fit the player's head.

For full protection, a helmet should not require any adaptation by the user before the mask can be inserted. Manufacturers design their helmets with slots for attaching a mask and usually provide a list of compatible masks. It is risky to try to attach a mask to a helmet not designed for that type of mask, for the material might crack. Goalies must now wear masks which meet safety standards.

Safety is no place for cheeseparing, and you should not wear a helmet in poor condition. A cracked helmet does not afford adequate protection. Some hockey helmets are manufactured with a polycarbonate plastic which are susceptible to a loss of strength when painted. In the case of doubt it is preferable not to paint hockey helmets when the composition is not known.

By the same token, a helmet approved for a different sport, such as lacrosse or skateboarding, is not substitute for a specially-designed hockey mask. The standards are different and so is the degree of protection.

This advice is offered by Consumer And Corporate Affairs Canada, which is reponsible for preparing and monitoring standards. We hope hockey players of all levels will use the proper equipment and enjoy a safe and happy season.

Borrowers pay under proposed new bank act

OTTAWA (CP) — Borrowers will pay more for loans and banks will find it harder to compete with trust companies for certain funds under recent amendments to the proposed new Bank Act, spokesmen for the Canadian Bankers' Association told the Senate banking committee Wednesday.

Gordon Bell, president of the Bank of Nova Scotia, estimates borrowers will pay about one-half percentage point more under a Commons finance committee recommendation that bank non-cashable term deposits of one year or more continue to be among reserves held by the Bank of Canada at no interest.

The bankers say the reserve requirement, which does not apply to trust companies, makes it more difficult to compete for longer-term funds, increasingly important to banks to minimize financial risks of volatile interest rates.

"While it is clear that the maintenance of a reserve would be in the interests of the trust companies, this reserve would not be in the interest of Canadian consumers or business generally," Bell said.

Earlier, the government supported an end to the reserve requirement on term deposits of more than one year, but compromised with the Commons committee to speed passage of the banking legislation, now three years behind schedule.

The Commons committee report is expected to be debated by the House shortly before the budget is brought down. The report will then go to the Senate. The association hoped to influence the Commons to amend the bill before it goes to the Senate.

SAYS NOT NEEDED

Stan Melloy, president of the Continental Bank of Canada, echoed the association's protest against the reserve amendment. He said the government says it does not need the term deposit reserve either for monetary policy or bank solvency reasons.

The bankers also asked the Senate to oppose a recent Commons committee recommendation to prohibit banks charging for prepayment of loans.

Pierre Bussieres, minister of state for finance, has said the government proposes to eliminate prepayments on all consumer loans except mortgages.

Bell said the direct cost to banks of handling a consumer loan is between $35 and $40 each while the indirect cost is about $100.

Pregnant women drug abuse high

HAMILTON (CP) — The thalidomide disaster of the early 1960s has done little to curb the level of drug use by pregnant women, a Hamilton obstetrician says.

Dr. Richard Stopps told doctors at a refresher course in obstetrics Thursday that the average woman takes four or five drugs, both prescribed and patent, during pregnancy. Four per cent of pregnant women take more than 10 drugs, he said.

About 20 years ago, in the most publicized and widespread case of drug-induced birth defects, thousands of women who took the sedative thalidomide gave birth to babies with deformed limbs.

Nowadays the most widely-used medical drugs are iron, vitamins, painkillers, antacids, anti-nausea products, antibiotics, sedatives, diuretics, antihistamines and decongestants, Stopps said. Alcohol and tobacco top the list of non-medical drugs.

All of these drugs may cause problems in pregnancy, depending on the particular product, the amount used and the stage of pregnancy at which they are taken.

From conception to 13 days, toxic chemicals can kill the embryo. From the 13th to the 56th day, they are more likely to deform the body or cause abnormalities in its organs, and in the last three months of pregnancy they can interfere with growth, weight and maturation.

Stopps said adverse effects on the fetus from alcohol include retarded growth and development both before and after birth and facial and joint abnormalities. The risk increases with the amount consumed, and no "safe" level of drinking during pregnancy has been established.

"You may say the odd drink may not harm the baby, but you're guessing," Stopps said.

Breasts removed erroneously

Jury awards family $2.7 million

NEW YORK (AP) — A jury has awarded $2.7 million to the family of a woman who had both breasts removed because her surgeon erroneously thought she had cancer.

Mary Williams of Queens was 40 years old when the operation was performed June 13, 1973, in Hillcrest General Hospital by Dr. John Cordice.

She died last year of unrelated causes and the money will be shared by her sons, Reginald, 24, of Queens, and Peter, 14, who is living with relatives in Virginia.

Her husband, Henry, died a few months after his wife's operation.

The jury's verdict was returned late Friday in Manhattan's state supreme court and was disclosed Tuesday.

Dr. Cordice testified at the trial that he performed the operation after biopsy reports said she had cancer in both breasts.

Mrs. Williams discovered the error several months later when she went to the Sloan-Kettering Institute for treatment and was told she never had cancer of the breasts.

The report of the biopsies, introduced at the trial, bore the typewritten name of Dr. Benjamin Gordon, assistant to the hospital's chief of pathology. The report was not signed and Gordon and other hospital workers denied any connection with the document.

The award, if the verdict is upheld on appeal, will be paid by the doctor and the hospital, which has since closed.

SCANNER CHECKS FOR CLINICAL DEPRESSION

TORONTO (CP) — It's five years down the road, but there's new hope coming for the 200,000 Canadians who suffer from debilitating, clinical depression — the kind that comes without warning or cause, and plunges hundreds of people every year into suicidal grief.

A machine called a PET Scanner, still being tested, may soon conclusively tell psychiatrists what form of biochemical depression an individual is experiencing.

At present, tests to distinguish different types have only a 70 per cent accuracy rate.

Knowing which form is vital. In suicidal depression, proper diagnosis and quick treatment can literally be a matter of life and death.

The PET Scanner may take away much of the educated guesswork that goes on today in diagnoses. Its name stands for Positron Emission Tomgraphy, and it enables psychiatrists to take a computerized picture of the brain's blood and biochemical systems while they're in operation.

Harvey Stancer, a depression researcher, said that at present "we either have to operate on the brain or wait until the postmortem to see what's going on."

"There's tremendous diagnosis potential with the scanner."

WORKING ON MACHINE

The PET Scanner is being perfected at McGill University in Montreal, but Stancer hopes the University of Toronto will acquire a model in the next few years, despite the staggering $5-to-$6 million cost.

Although the cause of depression remains unknown, psychiatrists believe they have narrowed in on the part of the brain that is at fault.

The deviant behavior of the brain's two "nerve chemicals" — mood-altering norepinephrine and serotonin — are thought to play a major part in many cases.

In theory, the PET Scanner will be able to pinpoint which chemical is instigating the depression, thereby smoothing the way for speedy and specific treatment.

The problem now is that both types of biochemical depression respond differently to anti-depressant drugs, but because they share the same symptoms it's often difficult to distinguish between them.

Ann Landers

Ann fetes 25th anniversary

Dear Readers: Thursday was a special day in my life, my silver anniversary as Ann Landers. On Oct. 16, 1955, my first column appeared in print.

I want to thank you, faithful readers, for stretching my mind in a thousand different directions. You have sent me to psychiatrists, psychologists, physicians, lawyers, clergymen, veterinarians, educators, dentists, to the post office, the fire house, the beauty salon, the nutritionist, and even to the chairman of General Motors. The things you have made me learn!

I have often said, "Everybody knows better than anybody" — and you have proven it time and again. You have laid on the wet noodle when I needed it, but you have been just as quick to praise me when I've been helpful.

Five years ago, when there was trouble in my life, more than 30,000 of you took pen in hand to let me know you cared. Your loving concern and insistence that I keep writing helped me more than you will ever know, I could not bring myself to destroy those letters. They are the only ones I have ever kept.

I never cease to be amazed at the superb writing ability of you non-professionals out there. Many of you could give me lessons! You are sensitive, irascible, sharp-eyed, sharp-tongued, savagely critical and fiercely loyal — the lovin'est, hatin'est cross-section of humanity in all the world. There is no way I could do this job without you.

In the last 25 years I have had several attractive offers to change careers. TV has beckoned. A place in the political arena was "ready." But I have said no, without a moment's hesitation. Newspapers are my medium. They have been good to me, and I will continue to be faithful to them.

Do I have any plans to retire? No, I do not. As long as I have all my marbles, and the energy to do this job, I want to stay at the typewriter. I cannot imagine a life without work, and I know no work as rewarding and exciting as this.

So, thank you for making these past 25 years such good ones. Please keep hold of my hand, and whatever is out there for us, I'm confident we can handle it together.

Much love, Ann Landers

25th anniversary

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Saturday, September 13 at the Eustis Church Hall when Ernest and Connie Hartwell were feted by their family and friends on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Accompanied to the hall by Stuart and Meryl Nutbrown, who had taken them out to supper, they were met at the door by their daughters, Judy and Brenda, who pinned a dark red rose corsage on their mother and a white carnation boutonniere on their father.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The table in the center of the hall displayed a lovely two-tier cake decorated with dark red roses. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Marjorie Suitor. Connie's sister Sue Nichols, was in charge of the guestbook.

Dancing was enjoyed throughout the evening, music was provided by Mrs. Edith Dustin and Mr. Stuart Nutbrown and later by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nutbrown.

Besides the many lovely cards and gifts of currency, which were placed in a decorated box by the door, Ernest and Connie received two lovely anniversary plates.

Ernest Hartwell and Connie McHarg were married in the Eustis Anglican Church on September 14, 1955, by the Reverend E.W. Harrison.

Around 10:30 a delicious lunch was served by Brenda and Judy, assisted by Louise Baldwin, Judy Baldwin, Eva Morton, Leo Beaudoin, Jon Morel and Meryl Nutbrown.

Seated at the head table with Ernest and Connie, the bride and groom of 25 years, were their attendants, Lillian Bennett and Chester Hartwell. Jon Morel, Stanstead, took pictures throughout the evening and presented the film to Ernest and Connie.

Guests were present from Montreal, Greenfield Park, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Compton, Ayer's Cliff, North Hatley, Eustis, Stanstead, Rock Island, Baldwin's Mills, Bishopton, Scotstown, Canterbury, Que., Trenton, Ontario.

Congratulations

An 80th birthday congratulations go out to Doris (Mrs. Wilbur) Fullerton on October 20, 1980. Doris and her husband, Wilbur, have been well known to the many residents of Dunkin as they kept store there for many years. Doris is not too well, but she welcomes all visitors and is a well loved member of the community.

40th anniversary

A family gathering took place over the Thanksgiving weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Pearson, Lennoxville, to honor their sister Hattie and her husband, Harold Pearson of Epsom, N.H., on their 40th wedding anniversary.

A delightful dinner on Sunday was hosted by her brother Robert and his wife Etta, of West Hartford, Conn. at the King George Hotel, where the management went all out to make this a memorable occasion. A corsage and boutonniere of red carnations were pinned on the couple, gifts of niece Ann Louise Pearson of Ottawa and lovely gifts presented by the families including the absent Taylor nieces, Dorothy and Nick Monsour, Eleanor and John Wilson and Marion and Gary Smiley.

Our arriving home from the dinner the couple were surprised to find a room full of family friends including members of the first families to call on the Pearson family when they arrived in Lennoxville in 1905 and settled on the Herbert farm now the Lennoxville Research Station. These were Mrs. Ruby Reed Johnston, Mrs. Wilfred Davey (Alice Mitchell) and William S. Mitchell.

The tea table was covered with a white cut-work banquet cloth and centred with a beautiful anniversary cake, the artistic work of Mrs. Harold Robertson and flanked by red candles in crystal holders. Mrs. C.A. Woodside of Lachine assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

The previous evening the family presented Robert and Etta with an arrangement of flowers and Ann Louise furnished their corsage and boutonniere, it being their 47th anniversary. Both couples were married in the Episcopal Cathedral in Hartford, Conn.

Thanksgiving Day their sister Maude and Ross Taylor of Mattawa, Ont. hosted a bountiful dinner at La Paysanne bringing an end to wonderful weekend.

Dufferin Heights Club News

DUFFERIN — The Dufferin Heights Ladies Gold Club held two very successful projects recently, both benefits for the Club House building fund.

Saturday, October 11 saw some 300 persons in the Club House attending the second annual smorgasbord supper. Many relatives and friends were in the Townships for thanksgiving and came to the supper, in some cases three generations of a family were together.

It was an excellent supper, and the ladies received many compliments for the casseroles, salads, cold turkey and ham and other goodies served from a long table, there was apple crisp for dessert, all emphazing the harvest season.

After all were served Albert bullock came with his recorded music and dancing rounded out the pleasant event.

September 13 the Ladies Club under convenorship of Mrs. Dorcas Pocock and Mrs. Rachel Pellerin a wine and cheese party was held in the Club House and attended by a large number of people.

The refreshment table was centered with an autumn arrangement and members of the committee presided to pour the wines.

That evening also terminated with a dance to the music of Mr. Bullock.

INVERNESS
C.W. McVetty

We citizens of Inverness take much pride in the fact that this little village acts as a lodestone, or magnet to attract so many who were residents of this locality to return here and spend their golden years at the base of what was known as Lambly's hill. Not only does the magnetism govern so many English-speaking seniors, but it also has a firm grip on our French-Canadian friends as well.

Within a very few years we have seen how very true the above observation is. Sometime ago we saw Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McKee move here from Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McKee came here from the Keough Range, Mr. Lorne Kelso moved here from St. Pierre Baptiste, and Mrs. Katharine Cox, of the Keough Range, also located on Gosford Street. Quite recently, Mr. and Mrs. Weston Graham and Mrs. Alice Muir disposed of their properties, and have taken up residence here as well. This welcome invasion of the village was carried on with the same vigor by our colleagues of the French tongue. Miss Adeline Gingras of Montreal, now has a lovely home on Gosford Street, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gingras, of Dosquet, sold his garage and business to his son, and has now purchased the house of his brother, Honore, our trusty mail driver, but Honore, determined not to leave the community has built himself a dream-house near his sugar bush some three miles north of the village.

However, the latest report challenges the performance of homing pigeons. Many of us remember Miss Christine Vachon, a clever and obliging teller in the Royal Bank of Canada here for several years. Christina, now Mrs. Buck has resided for years in various locations as far south as Texas and as far north as some points in N.W.T., now — perhaps you have guessed it? Christine and her husband have purchased the nice home recently vacated by Mrs. Cora Mimnaugh, and plan to spend their retirement years among their relatives and friends here. What greater compliment can be given to the citizens of Inverness than to see our friends of the past coming from far and near to live among us?

The sad news has come to hand that Mrs. Eva Patterson Smith has passed on during her sleep at her home in Montreal, on Sept. 26th, last, in her 78th year. Eva was born to the marriage of Spencer Patterson of Rectory Hill and Barbara Robinson, of the Dublin Range, to lose her two parents within one year following her birth from the dreaded disease tuberculosis. However her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Patterson, gave her a home where she received that special kind of care and love which only grandparents can bestow on their charges. Some years later due to deaths in the Patterson home, her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Robinson, of Montreal, who, in turn gave her another wonderful home until Eva became the bride of Arthur Smith. To this union one baby boy was born, but he died young, as did his father while yet a young man.

As the reader can easily understand Eva's life was a difficult and chequered one suffering from poor health and disappointments throughout her life's span, yet she worked on and on finally serving for thirty-five years as the private secretary of the President of a large importing firm in Montreal until her failing health compelled her to resign.

A very quiet, lady-like person she was a favourite with all her friends, and bore her ill health and losses with true christian resignation. Very few relatives of hers are in this area now, other than the Ralph and Hollis family at Rectory Hill, Willis Longmoore, the McVettys, Mr. and Mrs. Yves Alain, of Windsor, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cox, of Lennoxville. She was truly a wonderful person, and lived a life which was an example and inspiration to all.

We wish sincere sympathy to Mr. Charles Cruickshank, of Cookshire, and all his family in the recent death of a wife and a mother. The Cruickshanks are well known in this area as they entered into the social and fraternal life freely. Mrs. Cruickshank was a very talented person having written a very interesting book on the pioneers in St. Slyvestre and East Broughton, thus providing a valuable link with the past for the benefit of those of the present and future generations.

We are pleased to welcome back Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McKee who have been enjoying a visit with relatives and friends in various places in Ontario and Quebec.

The race is on as Galt defenders go after loose Massey-Vanier ball.

Forces ETIAC grid showdown

MVRHS knocks off Galt 28-21

By ANTHONY ROSS
and DAVID CAMPBELL

LENNOXVILLE — Massey-Vanier Regional High School downed the seemingly-snake-bitten Alexander Galt Pipers 28-21 in ETIAC senior football action as Denis Walker ran for four touchdowns and 167 yards to lead his team to victory Saturday.

Near the end of the first half with the score tied 7-7, Galt quarterback hit David Quig with a strike that he turned into a 40 yard touchdown to put the Pipers in front 14-7.

On the ensuing kickoff, Walker gathered the ball in at his own 30 and headed up the middle. Martin Rumsby threw a key block taking out two defenders and Walker spurted threw the hole 90 yards for a touchdown to tie the score 14-14 at the half.

Galt received the kickoff to start the third quarter and on their first series Quig struck again converting an outside counter into a 50-yard major giving the Pipers back the lead 21-14. Later in the quarter Galt had a chance to add to their lead and perhaps put the game out of reach but they turned the ball over on downs on the Massey-Vanier one yard line.

Winning coach Bob Kay felt this was the turning point of the game. "If they had scored then we would have been down by two touchdowns and the momentum would have been in their favor but stopping that drive gave us a big lift," said Kay.

A few minutes later, Galt fumbled the Massey-Vanier punt and the visitors drove to the Galt one where Walker blasted over for his third score and tie the game at 21-21.

In the fourth quarter, Galt tried a fake punt in their own end but Massey-Vanier held and broke the deadlock with a single point off their own punt. A couple of minutes later, they got the ball back again when the defence held on third down and Walker completed the scoring as he ran in from 18 yards.

The Pipers had a chance to even things up in the last two minutes but a Neeley pass was picked off and Massey-Vanier was able to run out the clock to preserve the win.

Galt coach Dave Shields was pleased with his players' effort and thought it unfortunate they couldn't come out on top. "This has been a tough year. We've lost a lot of close games when we've been ahead and it makes you wonder whether you're jinxed," Shields said.

Kay was happy his team managed to win another close one and remain undefeated in league play. Walker played a super game as did our quarterback Jake Vaughan and quite a few others," commented Kay. "You also have to give credit to Galt because if we hadn't gotten a few breaks like the kickoff return they could easily have won," he concluded.

In junior league play, the Pipers defeated Massey-Vanier 6-0 to wrap up the league title for this season.

Meanwhile, Stanstead College crushed Bishop's College School 34-6 to capture the Senator Howard Trophy and set up a showdown for the ETIAC senior crown with Massey-Vanier.

David Singh lead Stanstead with three touchdowns while Graham Black and Phil Huck added others. Black also kicked two converts and Wayne Beaudin chipped in with two singles. Stanstead won the two-game, total-point series 59-22.

On Friday afternoon, the Galt senior girls' soccer team chalked up yet another win as they doubled BCS 4-2. Galt pulled out to a 3-0 lead after the first half on goals by Sally Bishop, Jane Lynch and Kluane Dobson.

In the second half, B.C.S. powered back with two goals to bring them to within one. After B.C.S. made a bad clearing pass, Suzanne Lemieux had little trouble booting the ball in the open corner.

Galt's field hockey team also had a great day as they romped over B.C.S. to record a 6-0 win.

Danny Parker and Craig Drew each scored two goals to lead the Galt senior boys' soccer squad to a slim 4-3 win over B.C.S. Galt must win one of their remaining two games to make the play-offs.

The Galt juniors also beat BCS, 4-1, while the bantams shut them out 4-0.

Gaels wallop Gaiters

By ANTHONY ROSS

KINGSTON — Two long touchdown runs by Bob Bronk helped the Queen's Golden Gaels defeat the Bishop's Gaiters 30-17 this weekend in Kingston. The Gaels' win, coupled with Concordia's loss to McGill, finalizes the four playoff spots in the OQIFC.

Queen's opened the scoring early as Bronk scored the first of his two TDs by rambling 65 yards to put the Gaels in front 6-0. Bishop's came right back with Peter Knee guiding the offence down the field to enable Doug Bayley to connect for three and cut the home sides lead in half.

The Gaiters scored again to take a 10-6 lead as Knee drove his squad to the end zone with some timely passes to Alan Chastanet. Bishop's capped the drive when Knee hit Chastenet from 10 yards out and Bayley added the extra point.

Queen's came roaring back to score 18 more points before the half ended. Two plays, late in the second quarter, especially hurt the Gaiters. Bronk notched his second major on a 55-yard gallop.

On the next series, Knee was intercepted. The Gaels converted this miscue into another score to take a 24-10 advantage into the dressing room.

Bishop's came back in the second half when Doug McNevan scampered 65 yards for a score to narrow the gap to 24-17 with only a few minutes remaining. The Gaiters looked like they were going to pull this one out of the fire when the offence marched deep into Queen's territory but Knee was intercepted and the Gaels were able to run out the clock.

The story of the game was the running of Bronk and the rest of the Queen's offence. They gained 300 yards on the ground as Bronk accounted for 190 and Tom McCartney added 76 more. Bishop's gained 203 yards rushing and their top ground gainer was McNevan who picked up 100 yards.

Both teams played well before the large homecoming crowd but the Gaels' offensive line was the big difference particularly in the first half. Bishop's coach Bruce Coulter wasn't too upset by his team's loss but he thought his defence could have been more aggressive in the first half. "They have a good team and their offensive line played a better game than we did. Our tackling was a little sloppy at times," said Coulter.

The Gaels' win ties them with Bishop's in third place and assures them both of a playoff spot. The regular season concludes this Saturday and the final games will decide home field advantage for the playoffs.

In other Canadian college grid action this weekend, it was McGill, 37; Concordia, 22; Carleton, 30, Ottawa, 21; St. Francis-Xavier, 12, Mt. Allison, 5; Acadia, 18, St. Mary's, 13; Guelph, 25, Waterloo, 8; Windsor, 23, McMaster, 13; Laurier, 43, York, 12; Western, 31, Toronto 15 and Alberta, 11, Manitoba, 10.

QMJHL: Olympiques outskate Beavers 5-2

SHERBROOKE (AR) — The Sherbrooke Beavers ran into some hard luck and numerous goal posts last night as they bowed to the Hull Olympiques 5-2.

The Beavers remain in third place in the Dilio Division after their loss four points behind Trois Rivieres. The Olympics jumped into a 3-1 lead on goals by Jacques Berthiaume and Jean Poulin (2). Sherbrooke's lone goal was scored by Whitney Richardson.

Hull went ahead 4-2 in the second period as the Beavers began to find the post on a regular basis hitting it four times when they had the Olympique goaltender beaten. Dennis Martin and Guy Yergeau were the other Sherbrooke marksmen in the game.

Christian Thellend's powerplay goal with 12 seconds remaining in the third period vaulted Shawinigan Cataractes past arch-rival Trois-Rivieres Draveurs 6-5 in one of five Quebec Major Junior Hockey League games Sunday night.

The victory moved the Cataractes six points ahead of Trois-Rivieres atop the Dilio Division.

At Shawinigan, the Cataractes took a 3-1 lead in the opening period, but found themselves trailing 5-4 after the second. Pierre Rioux scored his second of the game at 1:56 of the third period to tie the score at 5-5, with Thellend's game-winner coming at 19:48.

At Montreal, Jeff Eatough scored the winner for Cornwall at 3:35 of the third period, while Roy Russell with a pair, Bobby Hull Jr., Fred Boimistruck and Dale Hawerchuk rounded out Cornwall's scoring.

The Juniors' marksmen were Tony Fiore, Taras Zyntynsky and Michel Doyon.

The Black Hawks fell behind 2-0 in the second period after a scoreless opening session, and tied the game in the third before Patrice Masse scored for Quebec with 1:06 to play. Jacques Chouinard, Roger Cote and David Pretty also scored for Quebec.

Andre Chartrain and Chris Valentine, the league's leading scorer with 34 points, got Sorel's goals.

AUBIN'S GOAL TIES NIGHTHAWKS

Normand Aubin has always been able to score goals.

Aubin, the No. 2 draft pick of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League in 1979, scored 91 goals in 63 games last year while playing for Sherbrooke of the Quebec Junior Hockey League.

His first goal as a member of the American Hockey League's New Brunswick Hawks on Sunday night couldn't have come at a better time.

Aubin beat Steve Baker from the slot with just 28 seconds remaining in regulation time as the Hawks rallied to tie New Haven Nighthawks 4-4. The goal came after New Brunswick pulled goaltender Warren Skorodenski with 55 seconds left to play.

In the other AHL game Sunday, Nova Scotia Voyageurs defeated Rochester Americans 8-5.

On Saturday, New Brunswick defeated New Haven 6-3, Nova Scotia downed Hershey Bears 3-1 and Springfield Indians beat Binghampton Whalers 6-4 and Maine beat Adirondack 3-1.

Dan Daoust paced Nova Scotia with two goals with Roland Cloutier, Dan Metivier, Yvan Joly, Guy Charbonneau, Greg Lynott and Craig Laughlin adding singles.

Alan Haworth and Jimmy Jones each had two to lead the Americans, with Jean-Francois Sauve adding the other.

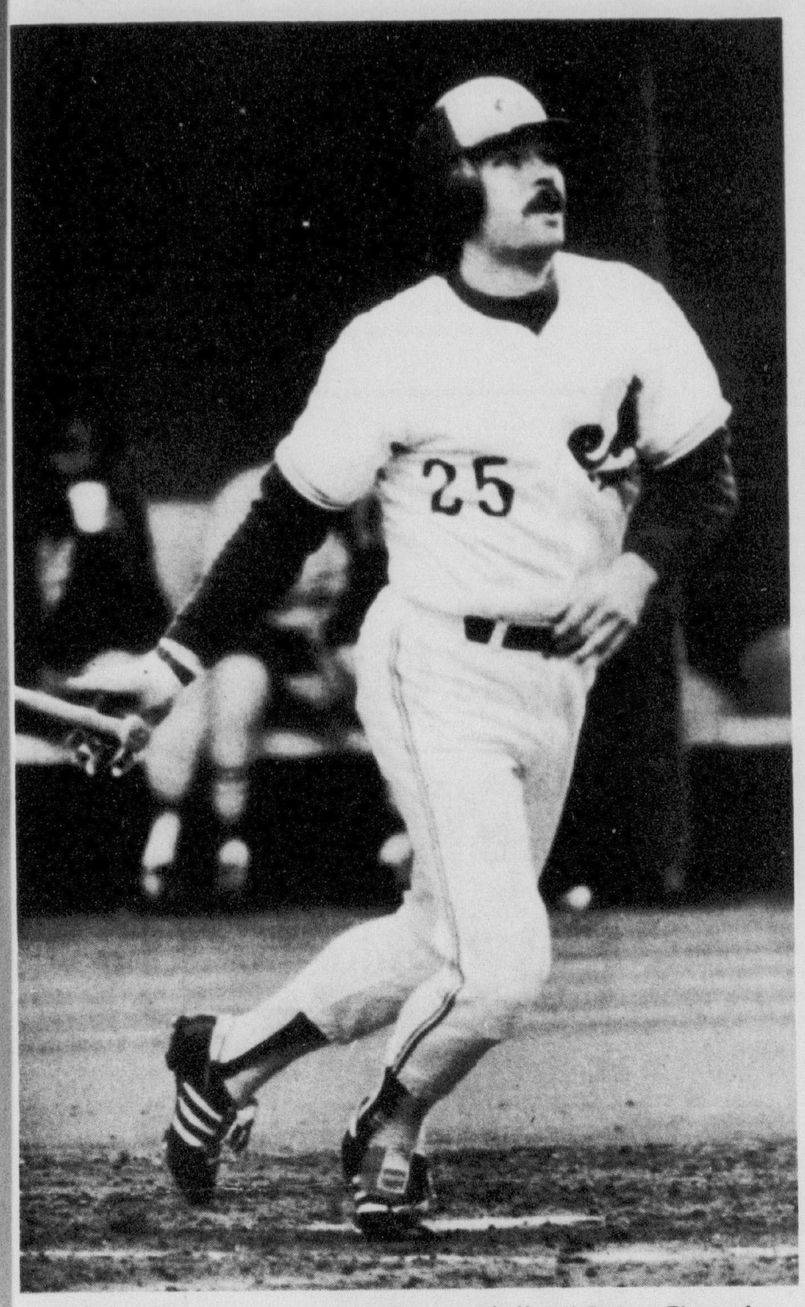
Phillies head home ahead 3-2



DEL UNSER ...former Expos key to Phillies' Game Five win

Unser notches tying double, winning run

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — It now comes down to Steve Carlton and the rest of Philadelphia Phillies' Comeback Gang.

And for that, the Phils can be thankful to a small man with a big bat.

Del Unser, a castoff two years ago when the Phillies latched onto him, performed nobly once again Sunday, sending Philadelphia home with a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven game World Series.

The sixth game of the Series will be played Tuesday night with a seventh game, if necessary, Wednesday night. The Phillies will start left-hander Carlton, baseball's premier pitcher, Tuesday night against Kansas City Royals' righthander Rich Gale.

Carlton may or may not share the spotlight when he has a chance to wrap up the Phillies' first World Series title, but on Sunday, the light of victory shone directly on Unser.

Unser stroked a pinch double, his third hit in six at-bats during the Series, to tie the game at 3-3 in the ninth inning, then scored the winning run for a 4-3 victory that backed the Royals into a deep, dark corner.

"Having to go into Philly and win two, the odds are against you," Unser said. "It's a good feeling going one game up and having Lefty pitching the next game and Rufus (Dick Ruthven) if he's needed, but we'll stick with our one-game-at-a-time philosophy."

TRAILED IN NINTH

The Phillies, who have trailed at one time or another in all five Series games, came into the ninth down 3-2. They faced Kansas City's ace reliever, Dan Quisenberry.

Mike Schmidt, who hit a two-run homer in the fourth, led off with an infield single on a drive that Royals third baseman George Brett dove to his left and knocked down. Philadelphia manager Dallas Green then sent Unser in to pinch hit for Lonnie Smith. That got a lefty hitter against a righty pitcher, but moreover, it brought to bat a man who repeatedly has rallied the Phillies to victory this year.

Unser became a Phillie in 1978 when he was released outright by Montreal Expos. Seven teams drafted him, but none made an offer. Philadelphia decided it could use a 33-year-old journeyman outfielder and acquired him in the re-entry draft.

Unser has more than proven his worth.

He stroked a pinch single that keyed a five-run rally in the eighth inning and tied Game 5 of the National League playoffs with Houston. In the next inning, he doubled and scored the run that got Philadelphia here.

Unser's pinch double in the eighth inning of the second game of the World Series started a winning, four-run rally and caused Schmidt to comment, "He's unreal."

World Series '80

When Quisenberry got his sinker a hair too high on a sunny but cool Sunday afternoon, Unser lashed it toward first baseman Willie Aikens. The ball took a wicked hop and bounced over Aikens's glove, scoring Schmidt all the way from first as Unser motored into second.

BOUNCED OFF GLOVE

Moreland sacrificed Unser to third. After Garry Maddox grounded out, Manny Trillo lashed a line drive that hit Quisenberry's glove and bounced towards third for an infield single that scored Unser.

"He didn't have much time to react."

Rookie Marty Bystrom started for the Phillies, but when 42,369 Royals fans saw their last swing of the World Series, it was Tug McGraw standing on the mound. McGraw went three innings, giving up one hit, a double to Hal McRae. He struck out five, including George Brett twice, but walked four.

On Saturday, Willie Aikens smashed his way into the World Series record book with a pair of home runs that led the Royals to a 5-3 victory over the Phillies in Saturday's fourth game.

Late TD gives Eagles big win over Cowboys

Philadelphia Eagles were going for a field goal, hoping to break a 10-10 tie, when quarterback Ron Jaworski noticed something.

"Ron saw their double coverage on Harold Carmichael and realized he had enough time to see (Charles) Smith coming over," Eagles coach Dick Vermeil said.

Instead of a field goal attempt, Jaworski connected with Smith for a 15-yard touchdown and a 17-10 National Football League victory over Dallas Cowboys on Sunday.

The victory gave the Eagles a one-game lead in the National Conference's Eastern Division with a 6-1 record. Dallas dropped to 5-2.

"Not too many people can stick it in between people like Ron did on that play," Vermeil said. "He showed tremendous poise."

Smith, who scored with 4:27 remaining in the game, called it "the biggest play I've ever made."

"I didn't see the defensive back on the play," said Smith. "I just knew where I was supposed to be.

"I saw Ron looking at me and he really drilled it."

The winning score came three plays after middle guard Charlie Johnson intercepted a pass by Dallas quarterback Danny White.

BILLS UPSET

In other games Sunday, Miami upset Buffalo 17-14, Cleveland edged Green Bay 26-21, Cincinnati blanked Minnesota 14-0, Washington stopped St.Louis 23-0, Seattle downed New York Jets 27-17, Atlanta clobbered New Orleans 41-14, Chicago toppled Detroit 24-7, Kansas City defeated Denver 23-17, New England tripped Baltimore 37-21, Los Angeles beat San Francisco 31-17, San Diego crushed New York Giants 44-7 and Houston downed Tampa Bay 20-14.

Tonight, Oakland is at Pittsburgh.

Oilers 20 Bucs 14

Running back Earl Campbell rushed for a career-high 203 yards on 33 carries, quarterback Ken Stabler hit Mike Barber with a 17-yard touchdown pass and Rob Carpenter ran 10 yards for another score as Houston stopped Tampa Bay.

Dolphins 17 Bills 14

Joe Cribbs, Buffalo's rookie running back, fumbled three times, setting up all of Miami's scoring as the Dolphins snapped a two-game losing streak.

"He's not a fumbler," said coach Chuck Knox, who saw his Bills drop out of the American Conference East lead. "It's just one of those things."

Bears 24 Lions 7

In his first start of the season, quarterback Vince Evans hurled a 64-yard touchdown pass to James Scott and scored once himself, leading Chicago over first-place Detroit.

Patriots 37 Colts 21

Horace Ivory raced 98 yards with a kickoff to give New England the lead for good as the Patriots defeated Baltimore for their fifth consecutive victory and took sole possession of first place in the AFC East.

Rams 31 '49ers 17

Four touchdown passes by Vince Ferragamo powered Los Angeles to its win. The Rams, posting their fifth straight victory, improved their season record to 5-2 while San Francisco, 3-4, lost its fourth straight. The '49ers, who haven't beaten the Rams in San Francisco since 1966, got two short touchdown passes from Joe Montana in the final quarter.

Chiefs 23 Broncos 17

Two touchdown passes by second-year quarterback Steve Fuller, including a go-ahead 46-yarder to wide receiver Henry Marshall late in the third quarter, led Kansas City past Denver. The deciding score came on the last play of the third period when Fuller scrambled out of the pocket to escape Denver's pass rush and found Marshall wide open near the goal line.

Stamps ground Brock, Bombers

Dieter Brock was the target and Calgary's defensive team was right on the mark Sunday, sacking the Canadian Football League's top passer seven times to help the Stampeders hand Winnipeg Blue Bombers their first loss in nine games.

"We knew the only way we could beat them was by sacks," tackle Ed McAleney said after the Stampeders claimed a 31-28 win to keep their Western Conference playoff hopes alive. "As a matter of fact, we had a little game going to see who could get the most sacks."

McAleney dumped Brock twice but defensive end Reggie Lewis did better, knocking the key to the Bombers' explosive offence on his back three times in front of a crowd of 31,441 in Calgary.

"We knew that to stop their offence we had to get to Brock," said Lewis.

"The defensive backs gave us a lot of support," added McAleney. "On many occasions, Brock had to look for his secondary receiver and that gave us a little extra time."

The win evened Calgary's record at 7-7. The Stampeders are fourth in the West, a point behind B.C. Lions who beat Ottawa Rough Riders 27-7 Saturday. In other games Sunday, Hamilton Tiger-Cats edged Toronto Argonauts 25-24 and Edmonton Eskimos clinched first place in the West by shading Saskatchewan Roughriders 29-28.

Winnipeg's loss was its first since mid-August and left the second-place Blue Bombers with a 9-5 record.

Newly-acquired wide receiver Ron Robinson, who got a chance to play when an injury knocked Bob Viccars out of action, caught touchdown passes of 95 and six yards from quarterback Ken Johnson. Willie Armstead caught a 16-yard TD pass and James Sykes — the CFL's top rusher with 1,129 yards after gaining 52 on the ground Sunday — scored on a four-yard run.

Brock, who went over the 4, 000-yard mark in yards passing, hit William Miller with two TD strikes and Eugene Goodlow for another and handed off to Dan Huclack for a fourth. Miller's second TD came with only 19 seconds left and the final result already determined.

"We didn't have a chance to throw the ball in the first half because of the constant pressure by their defence," said Winnipeg coach Ray Jauch. "Right now, we want to clinch second place... which means we have to win one of our last two games."

Tiger-Cats 25 Argos 24

A 54-yard single by Bernie Ruoff on a missed field goal with less than two minutes left in the game assured Hamilton, 7-6-1, of finishing no lower than second in the East.

The Tiger-Cats trailed 24-14 after the third quarter. The big play of the fourth quarter was a 45-yard TD pass from Dave Marler to John Holland that went off the hands of a Toronto defender before falling into Holland's grasp in the endzone.

Eskimos 29 Roughriders 28

"Nobody likes to be embarrassed," head coach Ron Lancaster said of the spunky performance by his Roughriders after Edmonton had jumped to a 13-0 lead in the first quarter.

LENNOXVILLE (AR) — Champlain Cougars jumped to a four-goal lead in the first period and skated to a 9-5 victory over Andre Laurendeau CEGEP in their 'AA' league opener Saturday night at the W.B. Scott Arena.

Martin Leblanc lead the Cougars with three goals and two assists while Robert Webb, Kevin Moore, Jim Moore, Bruce Forbes and Chris Lynn added singles. Patrick Benoit Poirier (3), Francois Pelland and Jean Lantagne replied for Laurendeau.

Champlain coach Rod McKell thought his team played well in the first period but went astray in the second when they didn't react quickly to the puck. They got back on their game in the third as they outscored the visitors 3-1.

Lynn and Moore's goals in the third period which put the game away for the Cougars were scored after excellent efforts by both players. The Cougars next game is Wednesday at home against Granby CEGEP and faceoff is at 8 p.m.

NHL: Flyers nip Habs, snuff jinx

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Yves Preston and Mel Bridgman supplied the scoring punch as Philadelphia Flyers ended a three-game losing streak with a 2-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens in a National Hockey League game Sunday night.

Flyers goaltender Pete Peeters lost a shutout at 17:34 of the third period when Montreal defenceman Gaston Gingras put a 70-foot shot in the net.

Bridgman got the Flyers going with his 100th NHL goal, tipping in a shot from the point by Terry Murray at 1:41 of the second period to give Philadelphia a 1-0 advantage.

Preston scored the winner on a power play at 1:31 of the final period, converting his own rebound with Montreal defenceman Serge Savard in the penalty box.

The Flyers came out shooting, taking 30 shots to Montreal's 13 in the first two periods. Philadelphia finished with 40 shots on goal to the Canadiens' 25.

Citizenship - Mrs. S. Bidner read an article from an Ontario paper, entitled, You have to earn your spurs. This was written by a senior member of a group known as the Cercle de Fermieres. It is a group similar to the Women's Institute. It has a membership of 74,000 ladies.

Your Birthday

October 21, 1980

Someone with whom you have had good luck heretofore will prove fortunate for you again this coming year in several situations. He or she is the type of person who knows how to make grandiose schemes work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone with whom you've dealt previously who has a way of making you feel guilty might maneuver you into a position today where you're far more generous than is sensible. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Friends may not be as optimistic regarding a situation as you are today. Some of their doubts are valid. Take them into consideration.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Find joy in pursuing the goals you establish for yourself today. A glum attitude will make things more difficult than they really are and could even deprive you of victory.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Without being negative, don't count too heavily on luck to get you by today. Some potential obstacles you will have to work out the hard way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unless you're prepared to treat others as generously as you expect them to treat you today, nothing very profitable will occur. To get, you must first give.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When not operating under pressure your judgment is quite keen today. Once you begin to sense opposition, however, you may become very uncertain.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll start out with good intentions tooday, and even a sound plan of attack. However, outside influences beyond your control could lead you astray.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today's problems are such that it'll take two heads to solve them. Don't let pride stand in the way of teaming up with the best person.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Closely supervise any work or service being done for you today. The project could develop in a direction opposite from what you wanted done.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your way of thinking may not be too popular today, so don't be too rigid or opinionated if a good friend tries to tell you how others feel. Listen.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be extremely careful businesswise today. Involvements with the wrong types could prove costly and troublesome, even though the intent of both parties is sincere.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your attitude toward associates is helpful today and that's as it should be. Unfortunately, your good nature may be taken advantage of.

UCW Meeting

WATERVILLE — The regular meeting of the Waterville U.C.W. was held on the afternoon of Oct. 8 at the home of Mrs. O. Knutson.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with the U.C.W. Purpose, followed by the devotional period led by Mrs. L. Spafford, who spoke on "Thoughts On Thanksgiving". She read passages of scripture pertaining to God's bountiful goodness, and went on to say that Thanksgiving has a special purpose. It is not just a time for family get-togethers and feasting on turkey and pumpkin pie. It is a time for giving sincere thanks to God for providing us with a bountiful harvest. The fruits of the earth are His gift to mankind. The Eastern Townships are especially blest with beauty and abundance. Peace and tranquility exist in our area when compared to the unrest and revolutionary movements afoot in many countries of the world. So we should count our blessings and give thanks for the great debt we owe to God. A Thanksgiving poem and prayer brought devotions to a close, and the offering was received.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were accepted. The treasurer reported very satisfactory proceeds from our Sept. rummage sale. A note of thanks from Mr. C. Moore for a card received while in hospital was read by the Sunshine convenor, Mrs. E. Caron, Miss E. Swanson read a letter from the Butters Foundation requesting a donation to that institution. It was voted that $50.00 be forwarded, this to be taken from the In Memoriam Fund. A request for a special donation to the M. and S. Fund was read by the president, but this was discarded as we give as individuals and as a church.

Mrs. Caron agreed to make posters for our Christmas Tea and Bazaar Nov. 5. The opening hour will be 2:30, and the price of the tea is set at $2.50.

It was decided we make a Christmas visit to the Foyer on Dec. 3. Each member is asked to bring a gift, and the group will provide refreshments for the party.

The next meeting will be held on Oct. 22 in the church hall, with Mrs. E. Ball as hostess. Business concluded the president closed the meeting with a prayer.

Tea was served by Mrs. Knutson with Mrs. C. Smith presiding at the tea table.

ACW-UCW tea held

WAY'S MILLS — The home of Carl and Marion Mayhew was the scene of the Way's Mills A.C.W.-U.C.W. Sunshine Tea on Wednesday, October 8. Guests were present from Lennoxville, Waterloo, Stanstead, Coaticook, Hatley, Montreal, Compton, Magog, Massawippi, Ayer's Cliff, North Hatley and New York. All were able to enjoy the autumn colours en route.

The beautiful arrangement of carnations on the tea table was by Nora Foster while the colourful fall flowers were arranged and given by Muriel Cass.

Guests were received by the co-president, Leora Pedersen, assisted by the hostess. The pourers were Gladys Holmes and Blanch Dunn with Jean Boutilier in charge of the diningroom assisted by the servers, Jane McIntyre and Anne Standish.

Lorraine Harrison kept the serving tables well supplied with home-baked breads and cookies. Nora Foster had the kitchen in "apple-pie order" and Mabel Whipple made the excellent tea.

The sales tables, well stocked with useful articles, food, jams, pickles and jellies were supervised by Alyce Pope, Muriel Cass and Thelma Nason.

James Dunn of Waterloo came back to Libbytown to bring his wife and three guests and also to help Carl in assisting the ladies to park their cars.

We are grateful to everyone who helped in any way on this occasion, and hope everyone enjoyed coming as much as we ladies enjoyed having this Sunshine Tea for our two Way's Mills churches.

We were happy to have the clergy so well represented by Canon Harold Church, Rev. Ronald Smith and Stanley Beerworth, for we know these men have many duties which fill their days.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Oswald: "Thirty years ago the North-South bidding of today's hand would have found South at a nice game contract. He would make six and comment that there was no way to bid it. What's more, if the hand were played in duplicate that four-heart contract would be reached at every table."

Alan: "Today, any expert pair that didn't get to six would be disgusted with their bidding. A modern invention called 'The splinter bid' would have been used to show that singleton club in the North hand and 13 HCP opposite 13 would have been enough for the slam."

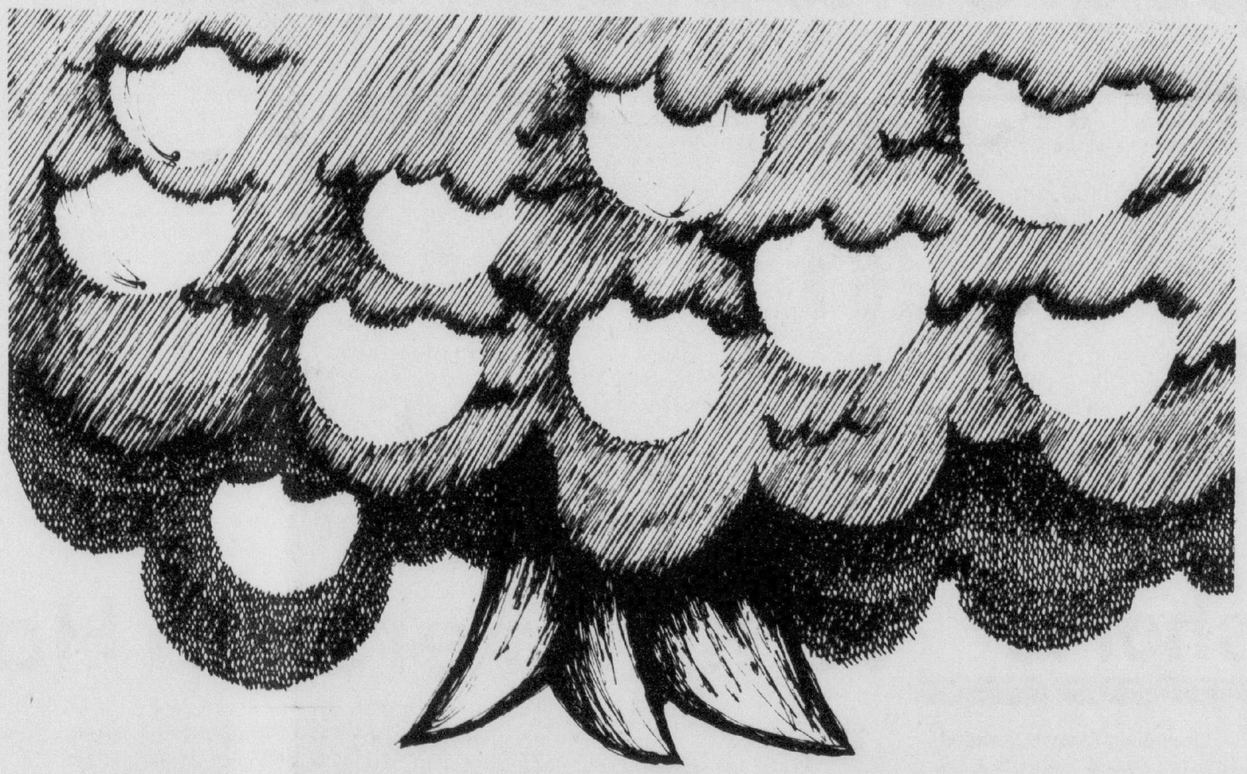
Oswald: "North wants to be in game or higher as soon as he hears the two-heart response to his spade opener. He tells this to his partner plus the additional fact that he has a club singleton by the simple expedient of jumping to four clubs."

Alan: "Three clubs would have been a forcing bid, showing clubs. Four clubs is a splinter."

Oswald: "North's splinter bid tells South that all South's points will be workers. So, South accepts the idea of a slam by cue bidding in diamonds."

Alan: "North has a minimum opener and merely goes to four hearts, but South makes one above game slam try by going to five hearts. North accepts and bids the slam."

Just as we judge a tree by its fruits...



During the last four years, the aim of the gouvernement du Québec in social affairs has been to support the most under-privileged groups of our society. In particular, a lot of energy and public funds has been devoted to improving the living conditions of senior citizens, so that they may remain in their familiar surroundings:

drugs free of charge when prescribed by a doctor or a dentist; free ambulance transportation; an amendment to the Québec Pension Plan so that senior citizens may continue working while receiving their full pension from the gouvernement du Québec; the establishment of twenty (20) new day centers, in addition to the sixty two (62) which will be established within each of the foster centers presently under construction. These day centers offer social and medical services, such as nursing care, personal hygiene, group activities and even meals; an intensive assistance program designed to ensure the maintenance and home care of elderly people. These services are provided either by local community service centers (C.L.S.C.) or by regional social service centers (C.S.S.) with the assistance of volunteer groups; the majority of these centers (C.L.S.C.) as well as a number of private medical clinics offer 24 hour emergency medical services, seven days a week. An efficient way to have rapid access to professional health services.

Accommodation

Since 1976, the Ministère has provided an annual average of 1 231 new beds in reception centers (for a total expenditure of a quarter of a million dollars), compared to only 46 beds annually between 1973 and 1976. To date, 80% of the needs have been met. For these services, precedence is given to physically or mentally handicapped people.

Persons whose needs can no longer be met by home services and who must go to a foster family, rest home, reception center or a long-term hospital center should contact the social service center (C.S.S.) in their area.

IN ALL, THE MINISTÈRE DES AFFAIRES SOCIALES DU QUÉBEC WILL SPEND MORE THAN 1 BILLION DOLLARS THIS YEAR ON SERVICES DESIGNED SPECIFICALLY FOR SENIOR CITIZENS.
