Walter B. Smith, Hemmingford Liberal Candidate St. Jean

WALTER SMITH

The Liberal Convention for the new Riding of St. Jean was held in the Napierville Regional School, on Sunday afternoon, May 19th. Mr. Dansereau Secretary of the Liberal Organization of Montreal, presided. Also present were the Regional Director, Mr. Leon Paré, the Honourable Mr. Coté Mr. Ian Watson and Mr. Kenneth Fraser, together with around 500 interested members of the public. There were 207 voting delegates present.

Three names were placed before the voting delegates, Dr. J.G. Lalanne, Mr. Laurent Hanel (both of Iberville) and Mr. Walter B. Smith of Hemmingford. On the first vote Mr. Smith was just 5 votes short of a majority, on the second vote he won the nomination and was accepted as the official Liberal candidate for the newly-formed constituency of St. Jean.

At the close of the Convention Mr. Smith returned to Hemmingford via Lacolle where he was greeted by an enthusiastic group of supporters (to his surprise) led by The Ambassadors Band. (Just in passing, it is interesting to note that this Band, of young people led by an enthusiastic young Bandmaster; won the 1967 Junior Band Championship of the Province of Quebec). After receiving the congratulations of his supporters in Lacolle, Mr. Smith and his party continued on to Hemmingford. The Band came too! And to many in Hemmingford this was the first intimation that a well-known member of the community had been chosen as their Liberal candidate in the forthcoming Federal election.

A group of supporters and friends had gathered at the Hemmingford Golf Club and the Band played tuneful music while escorting Mr. Smith from the village up to the Club. Altogether it was a very pleasant evening. It is interesting to note, also, that Mr. Ian Watson was returned by acclamation as Liberal Candidate for the constituency next door.' It would be extremely useful to the inhabitants of the Chateauguay Valley, particularly the residents of this southern area, if maps could be published showing the new lines of the two new constituencies.

VOLUNTARY LABOR AND CONTRIBUTIONS BOTH NEEDED NOW FOR POOL

The County Civic Centre Committee held a discussion meeting on Monday evening during which time a number of problems disturbing to the committee were aired.

In the matter of the fees, it was pointed out that a misunderstanding had occurred. The family age limit for children under the family ticket is 17 and not 16. Thus the single ticket will be 17 years and over instead of 16 and over as appeared in a previous report.

The committee is concerned somewhat over the slowness of the canvass and the rate that contributions are coming in at this time. The Gleaner was asked to make an urgent appeal to all who intend to contribute to the project to do so now. The committee is anxious to get work done on the building that will be required for the pool for changing, toilets. showering and other such facilities

In this regard, The Gleaner was asked to appeal for volunteers who might be willing to donate some hours of work in the erection of the building. All those so doing would be credited with time so donated as a form of contribution to the Pool project. It was reported that some people have already offered such labor both in an effort to cut down cost and to assist in getting the Pool completed. Those so willing to donate time and labor are asked to give their names to either Tom Vine, Secretary, or to Gaetan Rousselle, Vice-President, as soon as possible in order that this may be evaluated. Mrs. Ann Cameron will be away on other business, so in the meantime contact one or other of these gentlemen.

The Committee is urgently in need of all cash contributions that can be received at this time as many calls are being made on the exchequer for the various final requirements of the Pool. Work on the Pool is temporarily held up awaiting the arrival of material, but this should be underway again soon. Meantime the pressing need is to hear from canvassers and all who would like to make this project the success it deserves to be.

If the volunteer help can be obtained it will no doubt hasten the putting up of the building as the committee will purchase the materials and use the volunteer help to erect it. It may not be complete when this is done, but more will be added as time and money are available. Please help by offering your services and contributions now.

Levesque Predicts A Sovereign Quebec Within Ten Years

On Thursday last the Huntingdon Academy played host to one of the most controversial speakers to visit this region within recent years. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers Association, and the speaker was Rene Levesque, who is rapidly becoming acknowledged as the leader of the Separatist movement in this province.

Highlight of the speech, which held the audience spellbound for nearly an hour and then elicited questions for almost another hour, was Mr. Levesque's revelation that of all the ethnic groups in Canada, the highest standard of living was enjoyed by the English speaking Quebecers. Mr. Levesque intimated further that the reason for this was painfully plain to any who wished to see. "For centuries now we have had an English speaking minority which in effect has been something of a little aristocracy, enjoying its special position at the expense of a French speaking peasantry."

Mr. Levesque went on to say that the only reason this had been tolerated so long was because the French-Canadian has for centuries been poorly educated. But this time had now come to an end.

"In the last ten years the number of French-Canadian students graduated from the high schools of this province has increased by four times, and the end is not yet. And as our people become more and more enlightened, you must not suppose that they will become more satisfied with themselves. They will not. They will demand more and more forcibly why they should now be masters in their own house."

Mr. Levesque, who spoke without the help of any notes or references and punctuated his remarks by lighting cigarettes at frequent intervals, makes no attempt to be winsome with an audience. "I have no illusions about this meeting, "he said. "I know I'm not going to make any converts. But as teachers living in the midst of the most important revolution which has ever taken place in this province, I think you should want to know why I and my followers think as we do."

He went on further to clarify his stand as to what the English speaking minority might expect if and when Quebec was set up as a sovereign state. "I want to go on record as stating emphatically that I believe in equal rights for the English speaking Quebecer, but no special privileges. And in the past you must admit that you have received many special privileges."

Some of the teachers present expressed some disappointment afterward that the speaker did not go into more detail about what he meant by the term "a sovereign state". Mr. Levesque simply indicated that this would be a separate government, with full powers to levy taxes, that it would hope to have a customs union with the rest of Canada, that it would have full control over its own radio and television network and that it would insist upon the right to deal with foreign powers and control its own immigration policy. As for defence, Mr. Levesque was most scathing in his remarks, denouncing the tremendous outlay on our present armed forces and equipment as an unforgivable waste of money and as a prime example of Canada's subservience to the United States.

From the general tenor of his remarks, many in the audience had the impression that Mr. Levesque's attitude was really more anti-American than anti-Canadian. "I honestly think that a separate Quebec," he said, "might offer the best hope for saner and more peaceful relations with English-speaking Canada because it would put an end, once and for all, to bitterness and accusations which have been becoming worse with every passing year. I know that English-speaking Canada is hoping that Mr. Trudeau will be the answer and that having him for a Prime Minister will keep Quebec pacified. Let me tell you now that Mr. Trudeau's idea of a reinforced constitution will not work."

Above Rene Levesque is seen as he addressed the teachers of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers Association at their annual meeting at Huntingdon Academy. It will be noted that he has the cigarette between his fingers as he gesticulates with his hands during his talk.

Big Variety Show, Opener For Ormstown Exhibition Tuesday Evening, June 4

Bobby Hill supplies some background information on the big C.B.C. country music show and broadcast which officially opens the 1968 Ormstown Ex. Tuesday, June 4.

The show is part of a C.B.C. summer radio series entitled "Country Holiday" which is designed to bring Canada's national radio system into closer touch with Canadians in all parts of the country. When Bobby Hill was asked to do a show in the Montreal area he chose. Ormstown, knowing from past experience the importance of the district and the popularity of country music among its people. C. B. C. and the cooperative directors of the Ormstown Ex. gave the green light, and production went into high gear under the direction of senior variety producer Frank Heron.

Nothing has been spared to stage a really top-notch show. Special lighting will be installed by C.B.C. crews to enhance the stage presentation, while sound technicians are putting up additional speakers to ensure that the songs and music will be heard from every seat in the arena.

The talent roster reads like a "who's-who" of country and western music — Bobby Hill and his Canadian Country Boys, Paul Menard, Dougy Traneer, Linda Lou, Jean Carignan, Ronald D. Scott, and, from W.W.V.A., Wheeling, West Virginia, Mac Wiseman, one of America's best-known country artists, Red Smiley and his Cut-Ups, one of the best bluegrass outfits in the business, and country music's number one stage clown, Crazy Elmer.

The entire show comes compliments of the C. B. C., and one of its features will be a Charley Gursky interview with Fair manager Carlyle Dickson boosting Ormstown and its exhibition from coast to coast on the national radio network. As the midway and other fair attractions will be operating June 4, the usual admission will be charged at the grounds, but the two-hour C.B.C. stage show and broadcast is absolutely free.

Date of the broadcast playback will probably be announced at the show. So bring the entire family, get to the arena in time to get a good seat (showtime 8 p.m. sharp), and come prepared to see and hear the best in country music entertainment. The artists will be available after the performance to sign autographs, pictures, etc.

Local Citizens And M.P. Meet Prime Minister Trudeau

Tremendous Entry Livestock For Ormstown Exhibition

Although a lot has not been said in recent weeks regarding the approaching Ormstown Exhibition, the Secretary's office has been a beehive of activity. Carlyle Dickson reports that livestock entries have been pouring in from far and wide.

It should be noted that the Ormstown Exhibition operates the only Class A Horse Show held in the Province of Quebec and the popularity of this event is indicated by the large numbers from over a large area who wish to compete. The office staff now has the entries complete which give us the following figures: nearly 300 show horses including entries from many of the leading show exhibitors in Eastern Canada. Entries have been compiled for 90 draft horses which include six six-horse draft teams, always one of the interesting attractions at Ormstown. 521 head of cattle with the following breakdown — Holsteins, 178; Ayrshires, 83; Jerseys, 74; Herefords, 49; Aberdeen Angus, 37; Shorthorns, 23; 4-H Division, 79; 141 sheep, 27 goats, 28 swine, have also been entered.

Not only can it be said that a large entry has been received in practically every division, but so much so, that it is creating a real problem to find space to house all these animals. Additional horse barns cannot be built in the short time remaining, so other plans have been developed. In the horse division arrangements are being made with some exhibitors who do not show in any class until Saturday, not to bring in their horses until that time and they will possibly be provided with stalls that have been liberated because some exhibitors who have completed their showing, will be permitted to return home.

In the cattle barns, alterations are under way which are expected to provide space for approximately 35 additional animals. Livestock wise, the Ormstown Exhibition is bursting at the seams.

Demand for space in the Industrial Building has been keener than for some years with all of the space being leased before the first of May. A work crew is busy at the present time repairing, painting, white washing and brushing up so that everything will have a bright appearance when the Show opens.

Next week we will give you more interesting information about the leading event of the year in the Chateauguay Valley — The ORMSTOWN EXHIBITION.

REV. REID TAKES OVER FOR REV. BROWN AT HAVELOCK

The Anglican Church in the Hemmingford-Havelock area recently said an affectionate 'Goodbye' to the Reverend Harry Brown, his wife and their two children. Mr. Brown had been in charge of the Parish for two years while studying at the Montreal Diocesan College after several years experience as Captain in the Church Army, including prison work and other special assignments. He has now been appointed to the Parish of Mattawa on the Ottawa River some forty miles east of North Bay. He writes that he is glad to find many French speaking people in the area so that he can continue his French studies.

Sunday, April the 28th, marked the conclusion of what Mr. Brown described in the Parish Register at Hemmingford as "a very happy ministry" A large congregation attended the Morning Service in Hemmingford and in the afternoon Bishop Maguire held a Confirmation Service at the historic Church at Havelock and confirmed a large class of young people from the Havelock-Hemmingford area. After the service an informal and happy reception, organized by the Havelock ladies, was held in the Hemmingford Parish Hall.

Until a permanent appointment is made, the Rev. Anthony M. Reid of Dewittville has been asked by the Bishop to take Sunday Services in both places. Mr. Reid retired from the Bell Telephone after thirty-five years in Engineering and personnel work and entered the Ministry after completing his theological studies. He served in Cartierville and Montebello for some nine years and then made a second retirement to his home in Dewittville on the banks of the Chateauguay River. It should also be mentioned that he will take Services at Edwardstown on the first and third Sundays of the month starting in June.

Homemaker's Helper

(By Charotte Brown)

You want to lose weight but you just keep putting it off? Well, "the best way out of difficuly is through it," and here are a few suggestions about dieting to help you.

First and foremost is a trip to the doctor's office. Weight gain can be associated with a number of medical conditions, and you may require a special diet. Your physician will also advise you of your ideal weight.

Fad diets are out! The only way to lose and to keep weight down is to permanently change your eating habits. Analyse your eating problem — do you eat too many fried foods, have an excessively sweet tooth, turn to sweets and fattening foods when your spirits need lifting, or do you eat too much of everything all of the time?

Variety can add more than spice to your diet — it can add foods which are essential to well-being. A good diet provides not only vitamins and energy but also protein and minerals, essential fatty acids and water. In planning your diet, make sure it contains all of the basic food groups: Meat, milk, vegetable-fruit and bread-cereal. Enriched bread, for example provides niacin, riboflavin, thiamine and iron — all vital to a sound diet!

How many calories? A good reducing diet ranges between 1200 and 1800 calories per day. A weight loss of no more than one to two pounds per week is desirable. Calorie intake varies with age, body build, height, metabolism and activity. A tall person can thus consume more calories than a shorter individual of the same frame without gaining weight.

Remember that just 50 calories a day above the number necessary to sustain your present weight will cause a weight-gain of five pounds in one year or 50 pounds in ten years. Startling isn't it? One pound of body weight is equal to a 3500 calorie intake. You can see how valuable calorie information is to the dieter.

Does exercise result in appetite increase? Yes, if it is the type which takes place on week-ends only. Regular exercise, especially daily, is most effective in assisting the dieter in weight-loss.

Temptation is bound to attack! Be ready for it! Plenty of low-calorie helpers — celery, raw carrots, raw cabbage, lettuce, cottage cheese and yogurt — are your ammunition. If you do yield to temptation, don't give up and under no circumstances give in to an even worse temptation — to give up your diet!

Motivation, patience, determination and will power are the elements of dieting success. To be physically appealing, to enjoy good health, and possibly to live longer are strong motivating forces. But it takes will power to break poor eating habits. Remember, Rome wasn't built in a day — nor were those extra pounds — so be patient. Persevere, and soon you'll be "out of the strain of the doing and into the peace of the done" — you'll be happier and healthier — and what greater rewards are there than these?

Two Persons Killed Four Cars Involved In Accident

A tragedy in which four cars were involved occurred at about 2 a.m. on Monday on Route 3, near St. Timothee. Two persons were killed and six others injured. This collision was caused when Father Cholette, of Dorea, tried to pass two cars; his car hit another coming in the opposite direction which according to reports was travelling without having lights on. The other cars which followed could not avoid the first two and hit them also. Father Cholette was killed; also Mr. Lucien McSween of Valleyfield. The injured are: Mr. and Mrs. McSween, Mr. Gendron and a friend both of Beauharnois, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Laberge of St. Timothee and a nurse who was a passenger in one of the cars. All were taken to the Hotel-Dieu hospital in Valleyfield for treatment. The four cars are a complete loss.

New Vehicles For Mail Deliveries

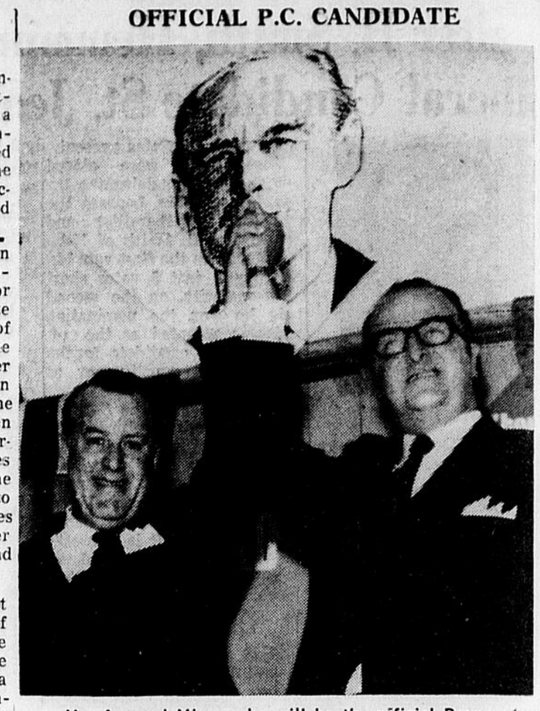

Postmaster General Côté announced today that his Department is testing prototypes of a new vehicle produced in Canada and specially designed for Post Office tasks. If the experimental models are successful, tenders will be called for a large fleet.

The vehicles have been designed for a number of duties, rather than for one or two specific tasks. Immediate plans envisage an expansion of the Post Office programme for the motorization of letter carrier routes. This has been largely necessitated by the recent decision to broaden Letter Carrier Delivery Services to include communities having 2,000 points of call. The new trucks are intended to facilitate delivery of all classes of mail, and to assist Letter Carriers in certain urban and suburban areas.

The Post Office Department fully expects that the cost of acquisition and maintenance will be more than offset by the savings to be accrued from a more efficient vehicle. Versatility, savings and safety have been the primary considerations in design. It is expected that the vehicles on test will reduce the cost of hired-fleet transportation for Letter Carriers, in areas where there is no public transportation; that they will ameliorate handling and delivery of bulky mails; and that they will double as collection vehicles, picking up mail from letter boxes at night.

Final specifications have not yet been set. However, safety features will be extensive. Included will be right-hand steering, a dual-braking system and a separate mechanical brake, large windows for maximum visibility, and a rapid escape exit. Other features are to be a less fatiguing sit-stand driving configuration, large flashing lights, and West Coast mirrors.

OFFICIAL P.C. CANDIDATE

Mr. Armand Miron who will be the official Progressive Conservative candidate for Beauharnois County is seen here with Me Jean-Guy Philie, president of the Progressive Conservative Association in the County of Beauharnois at the convention held last Sunday in Valleyfield.

GLASS — BENEFACTOR TO MAN, WITH CUTTING WAYS

Glass is one of the most versatile and useful substances known to man.

It is hard in its finished form, yet can be molded to any desired shape. It can be clear; it can be opaque. It can contain any liquid, including the strongest acids.

It comes into its most widespread and useful form in modern homes — as windows, which keep out the weather but let in the light and sights.

But there is one big disadvantage.

Glass, when struck, will shatter — and when it shatters it becomes a thousand little daggers and a series of infinitely sharp edges which can slice through human flesh as though it wasn't there.

In that state, glass becomes highly dangerous and, unfortunately, too few people realize just how dangerous it can be.

Automobile manufacturers know the hazard and for years have put safety glass in the windows of cars; stronger glass which, combined with other substances, does not shatter and produce sharp edges when broken.

But the same protection is not in the glass in most homes although many people may think it is.

Glass doors are the greatest hazard and there is an increasing incidence of severe injuries, and even death, resulting from people colliding with and smashing glass doors.

Severe lacerations of the arm, hand and wrist are considered usual in such instances. Disfiguring facial cuts are not uncommon and nasty leg cuts are often reported.

The great danger is the possibility of severing an artery; if this is not promptly treated by someone skilled at least in first aid, the result is likely to be massive hemorrhaging and death.

Severed nerves or tendons may not lead to death, but they will lead to a long course of reconstructive surgery and rehabilitation.

Is any of this worth it, when it is so easy to avoid such injuries?

The installation of safety glass in doors and large windows is the major answer to the problem.

It is also wise with all-glass doors to fit them with bars, or with decorative decals at eye-level (adult and child eye-level).

But on top of all, be careful. Glass is a great friend, but broken glass is nothing but an enemy to the soft flesh of man.

Heat Stains on Table

Heat stains on the highly-polished table can be removed by applying in order the following, and using a separate cloth for each: Kerosene, alcohol, and sweet or linseed oil. Rub the last in well until the spot disappears.

Athelstan

W.M.S. Meeting

The May meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Miss Kimball on Thursday afternoon, May 16 with six members present. Mrs. Smythe led in devotions and Margaret McIntyre led in prayer. Roll call was answered with a scripture verse containing "Word or Words".

As the Manse has been built twenty-five years this summer Mr. and Mrs. Smythe are planning an "at home" on June 12th to which Mrs. Smythe extended a cordial invitation to all. Miss Hattie Shearer gave the lesson "Ministry to special needs in the church in Canada", especially among the young people.

Miss Kimball served refreshments and a social hour was spent.

News from Ormstown

EXHIBITION CENTRE
COVERING THE ACTIVITIES OF THE "LITTLE ROYAL"

Unit 3 United Church Women

Unit 3 of the U.C.W. of St. Paul's Church, Ormstown, met on May 9th., at the home of Mrs. Bruce Hamilton. Mrs. Myrtle MacDonald, Mrs. Jean Lang and Mrs. Jean McClintock were in charge of the meeting for the day. The worship service centered around the theme, "Mother".

Mrs. Thelma Hughes conducted the business meeting. Discussion on final plans for catering for a wedding, and naming helpers for the booth for the Ormstown Fair were the main business items. Articles were brought in by the members for the booth. Delicious refreshments were served by the committee.

Family Night in Ormstown Presbyterian Church

Friday night a large number of Ormstown Presbyterian families turned out to a pot luck supper which was served at seven o'clock. Immediately following the delicious meal, Rev. Howard Smith called the members together and introduced several talented members of the church who gave an impromtu but interesting concert. Every one had a good time and several members were heard to stay, "It's just like the good old days, isn't it?" Rev. Smith expressed the hope that the same type of a family gathering might become possible again at a not too distant date. Among those taking part in the programme were, Donna Story, Sharon McWhinnie, Cathy McEwen, the Coulter family, the combined Hooker, Tannahill families, the McEwen family with Miss Jane McNichol, Miss Nancylyn Cullen. Mrs. Mervin Barrington led the group in a lively sing song.

Presbyterian W.M.S. Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Presbyterian afternoon Adult Group met in the Church Parlor.

Owing to the absence of our President, Miss Elvidge; Mrs. Jas. Anderson conducted the meeting. Mrs. Harold Kerr conducted the Devotional service. After the business part of the meeting, Mrs. Lindsay Cullen gave a very interesting Topic on the "Shakers."

The Shakers is a sect. They became existant in 1775 and lived in New York and Massachusetts States.

Their leader was a women-Ami Lee. Their Motto was "Put your hand to work, and give your hearts to God". They did not approve of marriage nor sex. However Ann was forced to marry Abraham Stanley against her will. She had four children, two died at birth and the other two died in infancy. She felt it was God's punishment to her for having been married. They opened their doors to illigimate children, orphans and poor people. In doing so their Sect was continued through generations. In the middle of the 19th Century, there were 5,000 members. Their mission was to help underprivileged people and children.

Although the Shakers are dying out, mainly because of our 20th century governmental interference, they left their mark on the world. They invited the first patented washing machine, the first centrifrifugal drier, the first circular saw, the first flour sifter, the first nails with heads and the first packaged seeds. They were the first masters of scientific soil conservation and their gardens all looked like bits of paradise. There are still a few Shakers left in Watervliet, N.Y., where Ann Lee is buried and they still believe she watches over them. It seems too bad that we tell ourselves that we are too well informed, too educated to waste our time in a belief, where every day is a Sabbath, every home is a church and every member tries to live his best and where every event of every life is watched over by a guardian angel. The Shakers are dying out much the pity, because they were good for the world.

Mrs. Cullen was thanked by Mrs. Anderson.

Final of Marathon

The wind-up of the Ladies Winter Marathon Bridge and 500 was held recently in the Curling Club in the form of a dessert and coffee party at 6:30 p.m., after which cards were played. The tea table was particularly attractive with glowing tapers and a beautiful floral design of tulips and daffodils supplied by Betty McGerrigle.

The winners during the evening were, for Bridge 1st., Mrs. Angie Barrington; 2nd., Mrs. Virginia Faloon. For 500, the high scorer was 1st., Mrs. Helen Barrington and 2nd., Mrs. Gertrude Longtin.

Everyone seemed to enjoy playing during the winter, though deplored the poor cards and scores at times. The winners were, for Bridge 1st., Mrs. M. E. Barrington, Mrs. Wm. Fearn; 2nd., Mrs. M. R. Stalker and Mrs. Geo. Elliot; 3rd., Mrs. Rollie Anderson and Mrs. Johnnie Campbell. At 500, winners were, 1st., Mrs. Chas. Tobin and Mrs. Gordon Watson; 2nd., Mrs. Chas. Wright and Mrs. Harold Merson; 3rd., Mrs. Helen Smith and Mrs. Willand Hamilton.

Good Food And Good Food Habits Important For Health

Canadians are in danger of becoming a nation of "snackers"... consuming odd meals at odd times, and rarely enjoying the pleasures of sit-down-to-table family meals.

One reason for this trend is the pressure of daily living — the hurried coffee and orange juice breakfast, the gulped doughnut at mid-morning, the grab-a-sandwich lunch, the hurry-up dinner so the family can be off again on its multitudinous activities.

Certainly the snack has a place in many diets, but the danger of snacking is that it will become a way-of-life with resulting nutritional loss leading to dietary disorders which will affect the well-being of all concerned.

Canada's Food Guide is not an easy program to live up to, incorporating as it does recommended nutritional guides for all Canadians. And heading the list of all its excellent suggestions is this one, "Have three meals each day."

How else indeed can one include in a daily diet one serving of potatoes and two servings of other vegetables, preferably yellow or green and often raw? Vegetables are not snack foods, at least in the usual sense of the word. However, with a bow to the snacker, one can provide carrot strips and celery for between-meal munching.

Perhaps the answer to less formal meals is to be found in concentrating on simple to prepare, yet nutritionally valuable foods.

Take the salad front, for example. When you buy salad greens, wash and prepare them for serving. Make sure they are dry and store them, loosely packed, in plastic bags in the crisper of your fridge for instant use at any point in the day. The wide range of bottled, liquid dressings on the market will ensure you an equally fast and tasty accompanying dressing. Slice some cheese into your crisp salad for fast protein food. Keep some hard-cooked eggs ready in the fridge. (Cook eggs in water to which a few drops of vegetable colouring has been added, and you will tint the shell attractively and do away with hazard of finding you've cracked a raw egg for lunch.)

Certainly, the modern homemaker should make use of all acceptable short cuts to good living, but she must guard against those short cuts eliminating the "good" from the "living".

WIDER DIVORCE GROUNDS SHOULD BE ACCOMPANIED BY STRENGTHENED SERVICES

OTTAWA — An Ottawa clergyman, well known in the capital area for his deep interest in the needs of modern youth, thinks that the new legislation before parliament on divorce is negative, not because it isn't good legislation in itself, but because of the terms of reference.

"How negative to put all this effort into working one's way out of marriage, when so little is required to get into the married state", argues Reverend Patrick Playfair, in the latest issue of CANADIAN WELFARE.

"Visionary legislation", he writes, "would concentrate first on the establishment of some groundrules for marriage. It also would call for the implementation of premarital education and family life training somewhere in the structures of our Society and would demand at least as much training for a marriage licence as for a licence to drive a car."

CANADIAN WELFARE is the official English-language journal of the Canadian Welfare Council.

Mr. Playfair, who is an Anglican priest at downtown St. George's Church, sees relief under the new divorce legislation for many unhappy people he knows who have got themselves into an unworkable union. But he also sees new responsibilities for all those who provide pre-marital counselling, for those who issue licences to marry and for those who marry. "With a broadening of the way OUT or marriage, I also see the need for examining the way IN very carefully."

There should be more support for existing agencies doing "ambulance work" with marriages, Mr. Playfair feels, and encouragement of on-going institutes for the study of marriage problems. He points out: "There is enough evidence of public concern in the registration in vast numbers for family life institutes being held in various parts of the country."

PRIME MINISTER TRUDEAU TO VISIT ST. JEAN

The Honorable Pierre Elliott Trudeau will pay a visit to the city of S. Jean on Monday, May 27th., starting at 10.30 a.m. Mr. Walter Smith, official liberal candidate in the St. Jean riding and other dignitaries will welcome Prime Minister Trudeau to St. Jean.

The Brooms

It is a wise practise always to hang the brooms and sweeping brushes up when they are not being used. If they are kept standing on the bristles these will become bent and will not do their work efficiently. If there is no place to hang them, stand them upside down on their handles.

The federal PFRA reports that land for 17 community pastures in the Prairie provinces is being cleared to produce 16,130 acres of grazing.

Editorial Notes..

The Federal Election Warms Up

THE Federal election is warming up among the top leaders as well as the lesser candidates in the small ridings. As we expected and pointed out in our editorial of last week, a big issue is that of the Constitution and Quebec. Prime Minister Trudeau is right out after Mr. Johnson's blood, especially as to his own particular foreign policy attitude.

Opposition Leader Stanfield, believing he sees an opportunity of cashing in on some Quebec votes, has signed up a prominent Union National member to head the Quebec Progressive Conservatives. It is reported that Premier Johnson is getting so provoked at the attacks of Federal Liberals that he is threatening to go out on the hustings in Quebec and rouse up the voters to the side of the Progressive Conservatives.

Meanwhile, quietly, the N.D.P. Party is readying its Quebec campaign with a view to taking at least a few seats in this Province.

Prime Minister Trudeau has said that Quebec being allowed to make its own decisions as to where it will go and whom it shall meet internationally, could cause the disintegration of Canada. That cannot be.

Stanfield could be heading into trouble if he is not careful too. If he places too much confidence on taking sides he could find himself in a difficult box should his party emerge the victor. It would mean that he would have to give concessions to Quebec for the help received and such might be all against the true principles. This will want a lot of explaining both in this Province and the other Provinces of Canada.

As we have said before whichever party is elected, it will have to deal with the problems of Quebec real soon after being established in office. There can be no delays. At no stage can any party afford to take sides with Quebec issues, for there is no place in other parts of Canada for such during the election campaign. There should be impartiality while there should be a genuine desire to see that this matter of constitutional difficulties will be solved as quickly and amicably as possible.

The Party which plays Quebec for the votes it may get out of it will be playing a dangerous game. Under such circumstances, if the votes polled are in preponderance in Quebec showing that the Party could not have possibly won without such help, it will have to pay the piper. Premier Johnson will expect in return that he will obtain what he is looking for much more easily than ever before.

At the same time the voter marking his ballot will have to study the issues carefully and watch the trend, lest he too falls into a trap of political contrivance.

We feel that it would be much better if each Party fought the election on its own issues and attempted to gain votes on a platform which the people would want, rather than one of purely political issues as seems to be bent at present. Canadian Unity should be a must for all parties and right at the outset it looks as if we are watching the greatest attempt at disunity ever devised. Could this be because we have green men on the job? Where are the great statesmen of yesterday?

Unless we are able to develop a few level headed statesmen in this country before long, it is hard to imagine what progress we shall make in the next few years. Our progress for the past few years has been nothing to brag about and unless we can do better our place in the world will be on the decline.

It may be too early to come to any real conclusions, but from the start off, to say the least, we are disappointed. It will be up to the voter to watch his step and be sure he has sized up every situation for its worth for himself and the country. Otherwise, he may find the politicians have the country and will do with it as they wish, once he has given them the mandate. This election probably has far more important issues at stake than any other election before it. The Government that takes over must be strong and of the people and for the people. The strength and unity of Canada will be an important issue and it cannot be sold for votes.

The TV Debate

WE are not sure that we altogether agree with the leaders of the two political parties in this election being brought into debate on a TV program in the near future, as has been suggested by a certain network.

Recently an argument came about that Mr. Trudeau was not wanting to make such an appearance because he was afraid of such a thing. In an interview, Mr. Trudeau said he did not want to enter such a debate unless all leaders of all parties were part of it and equal opportunity was accorded to each and the debate was given a nationwide hookup. He added that if he did not want to appear in a debate with another leader, that was his privilege. If the people thought that his Party was not giving them what was right, then they should not vote for him, it was as simple as that.

We are inclined to agree with Mr. Trudeau. An election is, or should be, a serious business. The participants are not actors staging a show for the amusement of a TV audience. It is doubtful after all is said and done, if much could be gained from such a debate that would give a better insight to the issues. It would probably turn into a wrangle as one another pulled each other's policies apart.

The people want to know what each Party has to offer in the way of solutions to the problems that were being debated in the House prior to the election and they are many. There is much that has to be done which calls for answers in order to set the ship of state on an even keel. Unemployment is on an increase at this time when it should be decreasing. This is the time of year when job openings should be offering. What will happen when the new crop of job seekers enter the market for jobs? The inflationary spiral is still whirling and the cost of living has gone up another point. Food is given as the main reason. The question of medicare is still a matter that has not been settled. According to last word, it will come into effect this year. Under the circumstances are we ready for it? There is unrest as to the constitution which demands settlement. Have we heard one single word of what is to be done about these issues? No.

Yet in face of all this, there are some who would press for some sort of useless debate as a TV spectacular. We have had enough debates in the House over the past few years with the result that nothing has been done and the country has slowly been drifting into inflation which ultimately could turn to depression.

A teacher situation is developing in this Province and could become quite serious if allowed to continue, yet the local government is more concerned with Federal matters than the important Provincial ones. There is talk of turning loose in an effort to defeat Mr. Trudeau and his Party. What is the corcern for the country and what could happen to it? France is a good example — too busy interfering in other affairs to know what is happening right under their noses. Let's keep our minds on the job in hand and forget those things which do not bring the desired accomplishments.

ROUND BYRE and RING

By Frank Napier

Burnside Natalie

We regret to note, by Canadian Ayrshire Review, that one of the great cows of the Ayrshire breed, particularly of this area, died a few weeks ago. That is Burnside Natalie 2, an "Excellent" cow bred and owned by R. R. Ness & Sons, Ltd., Howick, Que. She died from complications following her calving a week or so before.

In addition to an outstanding showring record, including the All Canadian two year old award in 1963, she was one of the best breeding cows in the Burnside herd. She was also one of the best producers in that herd, having completed four lactations with a B.C.A. of 144 milk and 145 fat.

Canadian Ayrshire Record

Congratulations to Roger Beaudry, Granby, Que., on the achievement of his heifer Des Prairies Bess in breaking the Canadian Senior 3-year-old milk record. She produced 19,480 lbs. milk, 824 lbs. fat, 4.23%, in 365 days on twice daily milkings, in fact 900 lbs. more milk than the previous holder of that title. In connection with that record, the report says, in effect, that since she was sick just previous to the commencement of her lactation period, she was housed in a box stall during most of the winter. However, during the summer she was on pasture with the other cows of the herd and received the same dairy ration in proportion to her production Her weight according to her heart girth is 1,350 lbs. She has an "Excellent" Type Classification rating of 91.8%.

On the sire side, she is an A.I. daughter of the famous "Approved Extra Production" sire Selwood Betty's Commander.

Her dam, a product of the Howick-Huntingdon Ayrshire Club area, is Alderwood Supreme Bess, in turn, a daughter of Cherry Bank Royal Marquis 2, one of the great breeding sires of the former Alderwood Ayrshire herd.

Classified "Excellent, One Star", with a score of 93.3, Supreme Bess was twice the leader of her class at the Royal Winter Fair, and was Reserve All Canadian Ayrshire aged cow in 1965. Her 5 lactations total 84,279 lbs. milk, 3,751 fat, 4.45% in 1,897 milking days, with B.C. As that average 181 milk, 196 fat. Her last three 305 day records have all been over 730 lbs. fat, and she produced 17,702 lbs milk, 730 lbs. fat, 4.14%, in 305 days, at 8 years of age.

Ayrshire Sales

Recent successful Ayrshire Sales included the following. Quebec Provincial Consignment Sale, an average of $583 for 24 head, with a high of $1,500 which was paid by Sydney Mode of Vankleek Hill, Ont., for a 3-year-old daughter of Selwood Betty's Commander. A 4-year-old by the same sire was sold at $1,000.

At the Grenville-Dundas Ayrshire Club Sale, held at Winchester, Ont., 30 bred heifers and cows were sold for an average of $329, and 11 calves for an average of $149. Included in the offering were 18 head from the former Kemptville College of Agriculture, now the Kemptville College of Agriculture Technology. The reason annexed to the latter consignment being that since the College farm is now a research farm they are now unable to maintain more than one breed of cattle.

The top priced animal of the sale was the January 1962 K.A.S. Lucky Bertha at $700.

At the United States National Ayrshire Sale, held May 4 at Cobleskill, N.Y. 28 head sold for an average of $858-22 (U.S.). Included were 9 animals by Selwood Betty's Commander, at an average of $1,092, with the top of that group being a bull calf at $1,500.

Still Clydesdales!

Despite its mechanization, there's still a place both in the hearts and in the farm economy of a considerable number of Scottish farmers for the Clydesdale horse. And in that connection a recent issue of Scottish Farmer says, in part: "Clydesdale enthusiasts turned out in good number at Scotstoun Showground (in Glasgow) for a nostalgic return to the scene of the breed's past glories — and went home much invigorated." The report also says, in effect: "Despite the weather conditions (it was an open air event) some top quality Clydesdales were on show and provided interesting contests. Numbers were a little disappointing in some classes, however, as only just over 30 representatives of the breed paraded."

Since there's perhaps only a handful of people in this area who may be conversant with the Clyde horse, a report of the owners and winners would be of little or even passing interest. That is, perhaps, with the exception of Donald McCormick and the three Ness brothers — J. Earle, P. Bruce and Douglas, and in their instance it would be a case of nostalgic memories. In the case of Donald McCormick, it would be of the Briers Clyde stud of his father's and his own boyhood days; with the Ness Bros. of the Woodside Stud of their grandfather, the late Robert Ness, Sr., and their uncle, the late Albert J. Ness, and they will probably have already seen either the Scotish Farmer or Farming News report of that event. As a matter of fact, the names of most of the owners and winners are mostly unfamiliar to this writer, thereby indicating, to some extent, that few of the studs which built up the Clydesdale breed and had a place in same in its halcyon days are now in existence.

It is noted by the colour markings of the three top winners illustrated in Scottish Farmer, that all of them apparently trace back to the great Dunure Footprint. The champion gelding, Arthur, by Tarraby, Student Prince, and doubtless purebred as well on his dam's side, apparently has the Footprint roanish colour on his body with a three quarter white face and four white legs. The grand champion stallion, winner of the historic Cawdor Cup and the Thomas Clark Memorial Trophy, is apparently a solid bay insofar as his neck and body is concerned, but he has a three-quarter white face, and his four legs are almost solid white. In all three instances they still have the old time Clydesdale large feet.

"However", says the "S.F." report, "the show received great stimulus from the Pony section which grows in entry and spectator-attraction each year." That is, "The Ponies of Britain Show", with some 200 or more keen competitors. There were classes, of different age groups each, for Shetland, Highland, Mountain and Moorland; Ponies; Light Horse (Thoroughbred or part Thoroughbred) Stallions; Riding Pony Young Stock; Riding Ponies under saddle; Donkeys, etc.

Letters to the Editor

Huntingdon, P. Que.
May 18th, 1968.

The Editor,
The Huntingdon Gleaner,

Dear Mr. Editor,

May the writer have the privilege of your column to extend thanks to all who assisted in any way at the Mother's Day Rose Tag Days in aid of the County Civic Centre Centennial Pool Project.

It was indeed gratifying to have the bilingual young folks take baskets of Roses around the town — all cooperating to one end — the Island Swimming Pool!

The Groups and People assisting were — The St. Andrew's Church Explorers under Mrs. Joan Middlemiss; the United Church Explorers under Mrs. N. Beattie; All Star Majorettes whose leader is Mrs. Shirley Campeau; the Girl Guides under leadership of Odette Cote and Father Gareau. Clarence Rabidoux' Boy Scouts; several French girls who volunteered and names known; the four daugh-

Powerscourt

U.C.W. Meeting

POWERSCOURT — Powerscourt U.C.W. held a special meeting in the church on Thursday afternoon, May 16, when 50 ladies from Dundee, Huntingdon, Howick, Gore and Powerscourt attended. The special guests were from Montreal Presbyterial Executive — Mrs. Paul Smith, President, Mrs. Stalker, Vice-President; Mrs. Wasson and Mrs. McOuat. The members held a short meeting after which Mrs. Wood introduced Mrs. Wassan, who gave many interesting facts about the Outreach work of the U.C.W. all across Canada. From this talk the ladies will now have a fuller realization of what the U.C.W. group work means. Mrs. McGowan thanked the speaker. A question and answer period was conducted by Mrs. McOuat and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Stalker offered sugthe various churches for announcing this project.

On behalf of the C.C.C. Committee, the writer feels sure that she is expressing our overall thanks to all who purchased the Roses, as well as to the "workers", whose task is never an easy one, especially the house to house canvassing!

Once again, our thanks to Messrs. Laberge and Lalonde and Mr. R. Dumouchel for the use of the store on Chateauguay Street, which made the Chairman's distribution task much easier having a central place to call for and return baskets.

Now as a FINAL "THANK YOU" to all who contributed in anyway — the TOTAL PROFITS from the SALE OF MOTHER'S DAY ROSES was THREE HUNDRED and THIRTY ($330.00) DOLLARS — thus the Pool Project is that much nearer completion!

The writer also wishes to thank you Mr. Editor for the courtesy of your Paper, for the "write-ups" preceeding the event and for this space.

Yours faithfully,
Kay Williams,
Chairman Rose Tag Day.

This and That in Town

✔ ORMSTOWN — This is the town to watch for the next few weeks. The Ormstown Chamber of Commerce is being re-vitalized, re-formed and re-opened with TANCREDE BOYER president, LUCIEN DANDURAND first vice-president, BILLY GREIG 2nd vice. and JACK TAYLOR treasurer. The '68 Ormstown Exhibition swings into action Tuesday, June 4 and its fun and games amidst serious competition continues from then until the show is over on Saturday, June 8. On the 29th, the Caledonian Society of Montreal is sponsoring the huge Highland Games that everyone has been talking about for the past six months.

✔ RIGHT NOW it's the opening night of the Ormstown Ex we want you to know more about. Every music lover for miles around will want to make plans to be at the Ormstown Arena on June 4th. Top U.S. and Canadian talent will be taking part in the greatest live radio Country Music Show ever produced in the country. CBC radio, in conjunction with Mac Wiseman, president of Wise-O-Man Talent Agency of Wheeling, West Virginia are bringing in top radio, television and recording stars and chances are that YOU (if you're there early enough) will participate in the show or be interviewed. Big-time names are being dropped a mile-a-minute: from Wheeling, West Virginia: RED SMILEY and The Cut-Ups, Crazy Elmer and more. BOBBY HILL and the CANADIAN COUNTRY BOYS, including Ronald D. Scott, Paul Menard, Dougy Traneer, Lovely Linda Lou (Sheila Graham) and Jean Carignan will top off the long list of Canadian artists. Charlie Gursky, nationally renowned sportscaster, and Frank Heron (Small Fry Frolics, Funny You Should say That, Bobby Hill Show, etc.) will be interviewing people in the audience and, before and after the show, the King Reid Midway will be open for further amusement. Frankly folks, we know that at some affairs south of the border more Canadian cars are seen than American, but would you believe that for once we'll bet a cookie that there'll be a steady stream of U.S. cars heading for Ormstown on June 4th? Old-time country music is a hit with almost everyone everywhere, but when the music lovers from Plattsburg, Rouses Point, Mooers, Chateaugay, Ellenburg, Malone, Massena, Fort Covington converge on June 4th at Ormstown . . . well we hope our own fans from Valleyfield, Huntingdon, Chateauguay, Hemmingford, Dundee, Beauharnois (we could go on, but we understand carloads of Montrealers are coming too) and people living next door to Ormstown Arena don't wait until nine o'clock to get in. Seats in the arena for the big musical show are free (see advt.) and admission to the grounds is only a dollar; so once more, be at Ormstown on June 4th real early.

✔ READ ABOUT entry facts for the rest of the Ormstown Ex elsewhere. When the officials start working all hours of the day and night weeks in advance in preparation for the fair it means something extra big and extra special, and they're doing just that. In fact, secretary Carlyle Dickson has been getting a trifle testy at least three weeks in advance this year and that means nothing but more entries and more attractions. In short, this year's Ormstown Ex will be the biggest and best in history. (The day is almost at hand when the annual Ormstown Exhibition will run for a full week).

✔ SORRY ABOUT THIS — but The Gleaner won't be having a booth in the Industrial Building this year because our News Editor and Mrs. Smith expect to be in jolly old England at just about that time. Readers who usually renew their subscriptions at the booth are respectfully requested to send their $4.50 Canadian and $5.50 U.S. direct to The Gleaner Office. (That's right, even with the paper companies on strike and higher prices looming AGAIN, our rates won't be increased by then.)

✔ HEMMINGFORD: Another hole-in-one at the Hemmingford Golf & Country Club. Roger Ste-Marie dood it with a No. 7 iron on the third hole (135 yards). Witnesses were Dr. Denis Clairmont and Mrs. Jacques Lapointe.

✔ GREENFIELD PARK — Nearly 500 Liberal party members enthusiastically endorsed OUR Ian Watson last week as the official Liberal candidate for the new Federal riding of Laprairie. (See elsewhere). Congratulations sir, you certainly have the good wishes of your former constituents even if redistribution makes it impossible for us to have you as our representative in Ottawa as formerly.

✔ HEMMINGFORD AGAIN — Heartiest of congratulations to Walter Smith who has been named official Liberal candidate for the new St. Jean Federal riding. This popular local businessman who is known and respected in many counties won the convention in the second round of balloting at Napierville on Sunday afternoon. In the first round he polled 99 over Dr. Lalande with 90 and Hamel with 18. In the second round, Walter won with a comfortable majority. Congratulations to you too, sir.

✔ PERCH and PIKE — Lake St. Francis fishermen have been pulling in those whopping channel perch and hard-fighting pike about as fast as they can bait their hooks for the last while. Worms or minnows, it doesn't matter. Dore ((wall-eyes to some) are a little more tricky and we're told they're striking best in the late evening. If a Muskie hits, release him — the season won't open for a few weeks yet. St. Anicet Outfitters with their new tackle shop have been on the dead run for the past three weeks and the week-end saw them busier than ever. By the way, perch bait (small minnows) are only one dollar per hundred. Man, at that price it sure doesn't pay to try catching your own.

✔ GREEN, GREEN, THE GROUND'S ALL GREEN — and most farmers have their seed in too. The recent rains have been doing a lot of good but right now it's time to turn off the rain and pour on the sun again.

✔ LONK WEEK-END — It wasn't the best of holiday weather, but that didn't deter thousands of Canadians from going to see what's new at Expo (sorry about that Monsieur le Maire Drapeau, Man and His World) and a good number hailed from the Chateauguay Valley. General concensus is that while many of the sites and sights remain unchanged there are enough completely new ones to make even the most ardent Expo visitor feel that he isn't reliving 1967. Line-ups at most pavilions weren't long in comparison with those of last year. Most people we spoke to had to wait in line only 15 or 20 minutes. The cold wet weather undoubtedly caused many local people to shie away from the opening days of Man and His World but, like last year, cars bearing license plates from every province and from most of the United States could be seen in the parking lots.

✔ THE NATION'S POST OFFICES were closed tight on Monday and as a result news from correspondents was held up. This week's issue of The Gleaner will be printed and on its way to subscribers before some of that news reaches our office. If we wait for it, there will be moans and groans from people who want their Gleaners on time; if we don't, there will be loud wailings from our correspondents who gathered the news and expected to see it in print. Here at the office, we'll "catch it" either way, but we're still hoping to hit a happy medium. Anyhow, we hope P.M. Jim and his staff enjoyed the break.

✔ A NOVEL AND INTERESTING Programme of Song and Dance has been arranged by Betty and Peter Miller of the Speirs-Miller Studios which will take place Saturday, May 25th, at 8.15 P.M. in Howick High School, sponsored by the United Church Women. Ballet, Tap, and Acrobatic will be featured in the "Springtime Revue", also several of Peter Miller's talented soloists will add variety to the program. Betty Speirs-Miller will be Mistress of Ceremonies. The proceeds are in aid of the United Church "Organ Fund."

✔ THE VANIER INSTITUTE of the Family is not associated with the F. H. Vanier Centre. There is absolutely no connection between The Vanier Institute of the Family and the F. H. Vanier Centre which advertizes that it employs methods to, ". . . discover and introduce compatible Canadian men and women", and invites enquiries, and no connection has ever existed between the two. The Vanier Institute of the Family was named after the late General Georges P. Vanier, its founder and first Patron. It is our understanding that the President of the F. H. Vanier Centre is an F. H. Vanier. We have it on the best authority that there never existed any connection between the Vanier family after whom the institute is named and the F. H. Vanier Centre. We also understand that the F. H. Vanier Centre was incorporated before The Vanier Institute of the Family was established.

✔ YES, IT'S TRUE — Mr. René Levesque, M.P. for Laurier and leader of the Mouvement Souverainete Association in this province, was at Huntingdon Academy for almost three hours last Thursday evening, the invited guest speaker of the Chateauguay Valley Teachers' Association. The meeting was closed to the general public for obvious reasons, one being that if they had been aware that such a controversial figure was to address a local group there wouldn't have been a hall (even a barn) large enough in the whole Valley to accommodate the curious. Suffice it to say here that Mr. Levesque is as charming, witty and eloquent, yes and admittedly brilliant as he was before becoming the leader of his break-away party .During his address he stated that one fact determined during the B & B commission was that the wealthiest people of Canada are English-speaking Quebecers.

✔ ASCENSION DAY — Thursday, May 23rd, is Ascension Day. Regular store hours are being observed and banks are open as usual.

✔ REV. FATHER GERARD CHOLETTE, 43 and Mr. Lucien McSween of Valleyfield lost their lives in a traffic accident that occurred Sunday evening on Route 3 near St. Timothée. Father Cholette was formerly one of the officials at Dorea Institute, Franklin Centre.

✔ LAST BUT NOT LEAST — Please don't forget the Nurses' Dance this Saturday evening at the Legion Hall, Fairview Rd. Proceeds to the Ladies' Auxiliary of Huntingdon County Hospital. Good music, good place, good friends. See you there?

LIFE'S LITTLE PROBLEMS

Nothing trivial this week. I'm going to ask, and answer, some questions about the more profound aspects of life. If you don't like the answers, supply your own.

When is a politician, during an election campaign, going to promise the populace the moon, and then remind us out loud that it is we, not some other-worldly essence called The Government, who will have to pay for it.

Answer: When we find out, which may be any day now, that the moon really is made of green cheese, after all.

Why are teen-agers so often so unbearable? Because, like babies, they have learned quickly that the best means of getting attention is to raise a stink, literally and figuratively.

What happens to my socks? Every time my wife washes, I lose one sock. Never a pair; always singles. Just checked my drawer, and I have nine single socks, no two matching. They're about as useful as antlers on a rabbit.

Answer: There is a little man with a bizarre taste in socks built in to these new-fangled automatic washers or dryers. It never happened with the old upright and the clothes-line. At least the dealer could tell you, before you bought the machine.

Solution? Buy all my socks the same color. But this would spoil my image. I've always been noted for my dashing socks: gray, light-gray, dark-gray, dark-blue or black.

Where did this vile canard begin that men are babies when they are sick? They're supposed to be whining, querulous, demanding sympathy. This is poppycock at least in our family. Hugh and I want only to be left alone when we're ill. It's the females who talk endlessly about how they feel, discuss every twinge, demand fresh tea every half-hour and complain about the slowness and sloppiness of the service. After three weeks of it, I know.

Why do black people loot during riots? For the same reason white people do: partly to get something for nothing; partly for the sheer hell of it.

What has Pierre Elliott Trudeau, who is older and has even less hair, got that I haven't? Not much, really. Except a million dollars, a brilliant mind, bags of charm, no family shackles, and a couple of million females who would like to be his mother, wife or in a pinch, sister.

Why are so many draft-dodgers coming to Canada? First, because they don't want to defend the U.S. and rot or be shot 10,000 miles away in a jungle. Second, it's too hot in Mexico and they don't know the language.

Why is it warm and sunny all week, cold and rainy on weekends? Because the weekend is the only time you have a chance to golf or fish, that's why.

Why all the fuss and admiration about the teen-agers marching for money on May 4th? They had a ball. Try to sponsor one into marching around behind a lawnmower, with proceeds going to the underprivileged of the world, and see what response you get.

When are the clots in this country going to stop cutting down avenues of beautiful trees in towns and cities in order to widen roads and create speedways? Never, unless we non-clots start a holy war about it.

When are governments going to get rid of that vast, strangling afterbirth of a bureaucracy? Answer: When there are only 300 people left in the country who are not working for the government

How many people would stop smoking if weeds went up to $2 a pack, or drinking if booze went to $12 a crock? About as many as a one-armed man with a wooden leg could count on his toes and fingers.

Why is teaching school like washing dishes? There's always another stack coming along, unless you want to stop eating.

Any more questions? No? Well, I guess that clears up a lot of things that have been bothering you.

MEN! DO YOU HATE YOUR WIFE? Does she talk all the time about Her Relatives? Does she Nag about Nothing? Is she a Miserly Spendthrift? Is she Too Hard on the Kids or Too Easy on the Kids? Is she always wanting to Talk Things Out? Does she ignore your Sterling Qualities and pick constantly on your eight or ten Little Weaknesses?

LADIES! DO YOU HATE YOUR HUSBAND? Does he talk all the time about Golf and Curling? Does he Grumble about Trivialities? Is he a Miserly Spendthrift? Is he Too Easy on the Kids or Too Hard on Them? Does he always want to avoid Talking Things Out? Does he ignore your Charm, Intelligence and Warmth and pick on inconsequentials like that watermelon that has replaced your little tummy of former days?

Sorry, but this isn't an advertisement. If it were, there'd be a coupon to send in, and we'd get everybody squared around in no time. It's merely a questionnaire.

But if the answer to the first question, in each case, is, "Sometimes", and the answer to all the others is an unqualified, ringing, "Yes!", you're an honest man or woman, and a perfectly normal one, with a good, average marriage going for you.

If your answer is, "No!", there's no point in reading farther, because you're a liar or you should be in heaven and not reading this tripe at all.

I know that I hate my wife sometimes, deeply and bitterly, and I know that she hates me sometimes with the same adverbs. But c'est la guerre, and if you don't think marriage is a guerre, either you aren't married or you aren't bilingual.

On the other hand, there's a shoulder-to-shoulder solidarity in the average marriage that makes up for practically everything. A man and woman who fight constantly, verbally and even physically, will turn like a pair of cobras and hiss and spit at someone who criticizes either of them.

They will forgive each other for the most monstruous insults, the most cutting and vicious remarks, if it's the real thing. They will cherish each other in sickness as well as in health, in poverty as well as in wealth.

I don't know what brought all this on, except that it's snowing and the wind is howling about the house, and I know my Old Lady is lonely in the city and I'm lonely at home.

There's nobody there to tell her that there aren't any ghosts, that the kids will probably turn out OK despite all evidence, and that she's a hell of a good-looking girl when she gets fixed up.

And there's nobody here to tell me that I'm clever, despite my stupidity in some areas, that I'm a good husband and father, despite my lapses, and that my column is readable, if I'd only leave out the vulgarities.

She's so lonely in the city that she can scarcely wait to get home on weekends so we can fight a normal life. And I'm so lonely at home that I can hardly wait to hear the cheerful babble that normally drives me up the curtains.

She misses my cool, my reasonability, my refusal to panic. And I miss her passion, her irrationality, her determination to panic.

She misses my casual attitude toward money and bills. And I miss her furious insistence that the budget should be kept in order.

And I guess that's what this column is all about. You chaps who answered "Yes" to all the questions in the quiz that began it might take another look at old Myrtle and count your blessings, even if there are only a couple of them.

Try it without the Old Girl for four or five months. Tomorrow, for example, I have to shovel the front and back sidewalks, get breakfast and put out the garbage, before I even start the day's work. In the good old days, I'd leave all that to Mum.

And brother, am I getting sick of those frozen chicken pies!

Western Horse Show At Arena Huntingdon On Sunday

The Huntingdon County War Memorial Arena was the scene of a Western Horse Show on Sunday under the direction of the Western Rider Association of Quebec. The horses were Western Quarter Horses and came from Quebec, New York and Ontario, there were over one hundred and twenty five entries.

Many of the classes in this type of show are different from the usual horse shows seen in this area. Some of them like the Barrell Race, the Keyhole and the Flag Race are timed events, so the fans were given plenty of speed and excitement for their money. Mr. Harry E. Hurd of Almond, N.Y. was the judge, Westly Knight of St. Jean, Quebec was the stick announcer.

Eighteen of the twenty-nine classes were restricted to Registered Quarter Horses only, the other eleven classes were open to all comers. With a large entry, and a good crowd on hand for the afternoon and evening show, the show turned out to be very successful for the first try in the Huntingdon Area.

The refrigerator of many faces is a good name for this new RCA VICTOR Refrigerator-Freezer. You can match its doors to cabinets, countertops, walls, draperies or wallpaper . . . the special metal frame that trims the doors is designed to accept thin panels of vinylclad aluminum or steel, Formica-type laminates, brushed aluminum or stainless sheets. Standard 1/4" panels of plywood, masonite or other hardboard will also fit, so you can even match the wood of your cabinet, if you wish. Or choose one of RCA Victor's gorgeous decorator colors: edged avocado, edged copper or white. Whichever color you choose, the tough acrylic enamel finish will keep its beauty for years.

"COUNTRY NOTEBOOK"

BY WALKER RILEY

Paying adult farmers to go back to school sounds, at first thought, like a bit of a joke But it is proving to be a highly successful venture.

For the past month, at Bury in Compton County, sixty men have been attending classes faithfully for five hours a day, five days a week. Financed by the Department of Manpower, it is a co-operative arrangement between that department, the Quebec department of Agriculture, and the regional school board. The regional Director for Adult Education, Stan Rowe, is the man who, in this instance, put the pieces together.

To my knowledge, this is the only English-language group organized so far. But there were several in French during the past winter. There is little doubt, based on this year's success, there will be more in the months ahead. A petition to the local regional Director of Adult Education starts the ball rolling.

It is a no-nonsence group, at Bury. They may be receiving a bit of financial assistance, but it is their time which is being invested, time which could be well spent doing one hundred and one other things, and they are out to wring from the day's instructor every bit of information they can.

When you come to think of it, is there any difference between a farmer being paid while he up-dates the knowledge he needs to keep ahead of the agricultural revolution, to a post-graduate student receiving an assisantship? In the long run, both will repay any debt many times over in their greater contribution to the community. It is an investment in the future.

These classes do have their amusing side. It is nothing short of comical to see how quickly the conditioned responses formed in early school days come back. When the first bell goes, everyone is in place in two minutes. Hands go up to ask questions. When recess is over, instead of gum under the window-sill, cigarettes go into the ash-can.

Why some parts of the country can not grow alfalfa is a perennial mystery. The Eastern Townships is such an area. Many men have the idea that alfalfa won't grow there, no matter what you do. Yet in every county there are a few who do not know that, and are growing beautiful crops of it.

Actually, there are only about six things that could be wrong. But any one of them could be the cause of alfalfa failure.

Soli acidity no doubt is responsible for many failures. Seedlings would be lucky to reach two inches in height if the pH is too low. Alfalfa demands a soil that is 6.0 pH or higher. Agricultural limestone applied according to soil test six months before seeding alfalfa is the answer to that problem.

Failure to inoculate the seed with nitrogen — fixing bacteria is another frequent cause of disappointment when growing alfalfa for the first time. And just any old legume inoculant won't do. It must be specific for alfalfa, and it should say so on the packet the stuff comes in.

A surprisingly common cause of failure is red clover in the mixture. Red clover is a "dog in the manger". In the first year it grows so vigorously it crowds out the seedling alfalfa; in the second year it dies out, but it's too late for the alfalfa. Nine people out of ten, growing alfalfa for the first time, insist on including one or two pounds red clover "for insurance", in case the alfalfa fails. And the failure is thus guaranteed.

A heavy "nurse" crop will do the same kind of damage. All legumes love the sun. Too long under the shade of a good crop of oats weakens the new stand and it dies out over winter. The answer is to pasture the oats, or do without a nurse crop entirely.

Poor drainage will not prevent alfalfa getting a start the first summer. But its chance of surviving the first winter are slim. Land that is naturally well drained or tile-drained is essential for year-after-year survival.

Alfalfa will survive many years if it is given a chance. And there are two prime factors. First, Alfalfa must have plenty of potash. One ton of alfalfa hay removes something like forty-five pounds potash. (One hundred pounds of 10-10-10 supplies ten pounds potash).

The other factor is cutting management. Alfalfa should never be cut, or grazed, before it has reached the bud stage, just before blooming. Nor should it be cut while putting in its winter supplies of starch during September.

More than any other crop we can grow in Quebec, alfalfa has the potenial to reduce feed costs.

The Waffle Iron

Remove grease and discoloration from the grids of the waffle iron by spreading over them a paste of baking soda and water applied with a soft brush. Be sure to clean this mixture off thoroughly before using the iron again.

Broken China

An effective china cement can be easily made by mixing a thick solution of gum arabic in a little boiling water; when this is cold, mix with sufficient plaster of paris and apply immediately to the broken edges of china. Press the pieces firmly together and the china will be well mended.

Baking Industry Biggest User Of Canadian Farmers' Output

An industry with over $444,000,000 gross in a single sales year is big in any business context, Canadian or otherwise. That's the sales volume of Canada's baking industry, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

In 1965, the industry did $444,048,000 worth of business, compared to $289,019,000 ten years earlier. During the same period, total costs of materials and supplies increased by 54 per cent from $133,299,000 in 1955 to $206,265,000 in 1965, while salaries and wages rose 59 per cent, from $83,605,000 to $133,225,000.

In 1955 there were 2,618 bakery establishments in Canada, and in 1965, 2,465 were in operation, a decline of six per cent. There were similarly fewer employees in the industry in 1965 than 10 years earlier — 33,082 compared to 34,416.

While per capita consumption of bread continues to show a decline — 98.1 pounds in 1955 to 89.1 ten years later — it is still the largest single foodstuff produced by the industry. In 1955, 1,527,510,983 pounds of bread valued at $174, 855,332 were produced; ten years later, 1,729,204,356 pounds valued at $242,629,000. rolls and buns are increasingly popular with Canadians. While per capita consumption of these products is not tabulated by DBS, dollar volume showed a striking 121 per cent increase during the ten years in question — $13,428,686 in 1955 to $30,797,000 in 1965.

Doughnuts too have become more and more popular, an increase of 111.6 per cent being seen in dollar sales — $8,729,444 to $18,480,000, while pies, cakes and cookies showed a more modest increase of 57 per cent from $73,876,843 to $116,489,000 and yeast-raised sweet goods, 41 per cent from $14,164,330 to $20,099,000.

According to the Bakery Council of Canada, the industry is one of the country's largest purchasers of Canadian farm products. It purchased $69,095,000 worth of flour in 1965 compared to $56,718,917 ten years earlier. Cream, and milk accounted for $45,130,000 in 1965 and $42,316,650 in 1955. Other ten year comparison figures include: $1,172,000 for butter in 1965; $741,297 in 1955; chocolate and cocoa, $1,576,000 compared to $908,430; fruits, $7,878,000 compared to $6,079,329; margarine, $246,000 compared to $134,308; sugar, $10,068,000 compared to $8,768,769; shortening, $8,688,000 compared to $8,486,853; oils, $1,024,000 to $568,389, and eggs, $5,980,000 to $5,438,109.

The demands of the consumer for individual packaging of her foodstuffs is seen in a 30 per cent increase between 1955 and 1965 of monies spent on waxed paper wrappers, cellulose film, bread cartons and cake boxes — from $22,043,000 to $30,834,000.

Seasoning

Even though you are fond of food that is quite salty, and rather peppery, always stick to the quantity of seasoning mentioned in the recipe. Otherwise the dish may be spoiled for someone who is not so fond of highly-seasoned food.

30 Billions Buy Earthlings Much

NEW YORK (WMNS) — Noting that it may cost about $30 billion to put a man on the moon, scientist Warren Weaver, in his new book Science and Imagination, speculated on what that sum might buy here on earth:

"We could give a 10 percent raise in salary, over a 10-year-period to every teacher in the United States, in both public and private institutions (about $9.8 billion); give $10 million each to 200 of the best smaller colleges ($2 billion); finance seven-year fellowships at $4,000 a person per year for 50,000 new scientists and engineers ($1,4 billion); contribute $200 million each toward the creation of 10 new medical schools ($2 billion); build and largely endow complete universities, with medical, engineering, and agricultural faculties for all 53 of the nations which have been added to the United Nations since its founding ($13 billion); create three more permanent Rockefeller Foundations ($1.5 billion); and still have $100 million left over to popularize science." Make your own list. You might include $100 million a year for as long as needed to provide subsidized family planning help for all the 5,000,000 poor and near-poor women who want and need it, thus giving them hope for the future and making every child a wanted child.

When Do Males Become Stronger Sex?

Winnipeg, Canada (WMNS) — Boys become significantly stronger than girls at about 14 and 15 years of age, according to a study made by Maxwell L. Howell, Ph. D., of the University of Alberta in Edmonton, and reported at the fifth Pan-American Congress on Sports Medicine here.

Strength measurements made for a group of boys and girls were grip, elbow flexion, elbow extension, knee extension, back and leg lift.

He found that the strength of boys tripled for grip and arm—, leg—, and bag-lift strength between 7 and 15, and increased two and a third while leg lift strength quadrupled. The strength of girls doubled in these categories and increased two and a third times.

HEMMINGFORD TEACHER RECEIVES AWARD

The annual meeting of the Chateauguay Valley Teacher's Association was held at Huntingdon Academy on Thursday evening, May 16th. During the business meeting before dinner an interesting ceremony took place. Five teachers from schools in the Valley are retiring this year and to each a presentation was made.

One of the retiring teachers is the well-known and well-loved teacher of Grade 6 in Hemmingford Elementary School, Mrs. Florence Barr. The citation to Mrs. Barr was read by Hemmingford's Principal Robert McKay as follows:

Mrs. Barr, the former Florence Keddy, was born in Hemmingford. She has one sister, Mabel and one brother, Walter. After graduating from Macdonald College in 1925 with an Intermediate Diploma she began her teaching career in Hemmingford.

Marriage in 1929 took her out of the teaching profession until 1941 and it was during this period that her only child Joyce, was born. Upon her return to teaching in 1941 she taught for two years in a small school on Robson Street, known today as Covey Hill Road. Then she returned and has spent the remaining years teaching at the present Hemmingford School. She takes great pride in the fact that she has spent all of the 31 years of her teaching career in the service of the Hemmingford Protestant School Board.

Mrs. Barr has taken an active part in Professional and community affairs. In 1962-63 she served as Secretary of the C.V.T.A. and took the role of Delegate to P.A.P.T. General Meetings in 1963-64. She is a member of the Eastern Star and the Women's Institute and has held responsible positions in United Church Womens' Organizations.

Professional integrity, ability to adjust to innovation, personality plus and a sincere love for young people have combined to make this lady an excellent teacher, a true credit to our profession.

In wishing you good fortune, Mrs. Barr, we hope that the spirit of youth which inspired you to drive a school bus in 1943, and now inspires you to drive a Ford Mustang, will remain with you in the years ahead.

Our congratulations on a job well done.

Following the reading of this citation Past President Miss Ann MacLeish presented Mrs. Barr with the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers' Professional Service Award.

Hemmingford Cercle de Fermieres

The members of the Cercle de Fermieres celebrated Mother's Day at their meeting on Wednesday evening. They attended Mass at Church at 5 p.m. and then returned to the Parish Hall where willing hands had set out a delicious cold buffet. They were joined by Canon L. Corriveau who remained to enjoy the amusing variety programme which was presented after supper. This branch has increased its membership during the past year and now numbers over 40 ladies from the parish. All enjoyed this very pleasant evening.

Farewells and presentations

The Grade 7 pupils of Hemmingford Elementary School bade farewell to their teacher, Mrs. Joan Kyle, at the end of April and a few days before her departure organized a pleasant little surprise. Invited down, on a pretext, to the lower hall, Mrs. Kyle found her pupils assembled there and was presented with gifts for the new arrival expected in the early summer. There was a pretty Carriage Cover, a very useful warming dish for the baby's meals and a warm Receiving Blanket.

Mrs. Kyle was very touched by her pupils' thoughtfulness and thanked them warmly for the lovely gifts.

A supply teacher was engaged to finish the school year but as she was not available until May 21st. Mrs. Kay Petch kindly filled in for the intervening days. Together with their regular subjects the pupils of Grade 7 have been working for the past three weeks on a special project, the History of Hemmingford. They have studied area and aerial maps of the district, loaned by interested observers. Interviewed senior citizens who could tell them much of the early, exciting days. Read and discussed excerpts of the Sellar History and a particularly interesting book brought in by Cathy Campbell, a Journal, written by her great-great grandfather of life in the Chateauguay Valley around 1830 in which he tells of the Fenian raids. Maps were drawn, compositions written and all the information obtained by the members of each small committee (the pupils were divided into committees with a chairman for each) was assembled by the chairmen and the whole project bound in one cover which, it is certain, will be given the place of honour in the Grade 7 library.

On Friday last, when Grade 7 again bade farewell to their departing teacher, they did it very gracefully. Three bouquets of beautiful spring flowers, brought and arranged by the pupils were presented to Mrs. Petch by Gisela Schimmelpfeng, Christina Gaese and Robert Maggio and a corsage and card were presented by Bobby Elvidge. Mrs. Petch thanked the pupils sincerely for the lovely flowers and told them how much she had enjoyed her brief stay with them.

Miss F. Gray, who is the niece of the Rev. and Mrs. O. Carmichael, arrives at school on Tuesday to complete the school year. Miss Gray graduated with her Batchelor of Arts degree from the University of New Brunswick last year and took her Teaching Diploma at the University of Toronto this past year. We hope she will enjoy her stay in this community.

Bridal Showers

On Saturday evening a bridal shower was held at the home of Mrs. Bruce Armour. Assisting Mrs. Armour were Mrs. J. Boast and Mrs. Paul Lattin. The guest of honour was Miss Elizabeth Proulx whose marriage to Mr. Ronald Deery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deery, will take place at Notre-Dame-des-Neiges Church on June 1st.

About thirty guests assembled to greet Miss Proulx who, on her arrival, was presented with a pretty corsage and escorted by her hostesses to the seat of honour under an umbrella prettily decorated with turquoise and white ribbons. The decorations on the refreshment table with its shower cake and tall tapers were also in turquoise and white.

The shower was a miscellaneous one and Miss Proulx received many decorative and useful gifts for which she thanked her friends most sincerely and, after opening the gaily wrapped packages, passed them around for all to see.

Among the guests present at this enjoyable affair were friends from Montreal, Hemmingford and Plattsburg. After their marriage the happy couple will reside in Toronto where Ronnie was transferred by his firm last October.

On May 11th. Marjorie and Lynne English were hostesses at a miscellaneous Bridal Shower which took place at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur English of Hemmingford. The bride-to-be is their cousin, Miss Gloria Norman of Chateauguay, Que., whose marriage takes place in the near future.

When Gloria arrived on a visit she was taken completely by surprise to find that the ladies present, about 25 altogether, were waiting to shower her with gifts. She was escorted to a prettily decorated chair over which hung a pink and white sprinkling can festooned with gay balloons. The many gaily wrapped parcels were opened and the beautiful gifts were passed around for all to admire. Card games and a fun-filled evening followed then the Shower cake was cut and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

NITRATES IN BABY FOODS

OTTAWA — Press reports have implied that certain baby foods may constitute a hazard to health because of the presence of nitrates. In order to offset any uneasiness which these reports may have caused among parents, Dr. R.A. Chapman, Director General of Food and Drugs, Department of National Health and Welfare, has issued the following statement:

"The Food and Drug Directorate has recently conducted studies on the nitrate content of baby food distributed in Canada. Certain classes of vegetables, notably spinach and beets, by their very nature normally contain nitrates. The levels, on occasion, may reach 500 to 1500 parts per million as indicated in the press reports. However, the nitrate content of all other classes of baby food is very low and in some cases no nitrates are found.

"While it is well known that a high level of nitrate in drinking water, where large quantities may be consumed, may be harmful to infants, the same dangers do not apply to nitrates in solid foodstuffs. The literature on the toxicity of nitrate in foods was thoroughly reviewed. No cases of toxicity from nitrates in foods have been reported.

"One study has shown that babies 3 to 8 months of age were fed spinach in amounts which would contribute 10 milligrams of nitrate per pound of body weight with no ill-effects. Two ounces of a baby food containing 1,500 parts per million of nitrate — an exceptionally high level — would contribute 9 milligrams per pound in the case of a 10 pound infant.

"Based on the analysis of baby foods for nitrates carried out in the laboratories of the Food and Drug Directorate and upon the literature reports of the toxicity of nitrates, the normal consumption of baby foods available in Canada is not considered to constitute a health hazard."

RED CROSS FINANCES NEED BOOST

Some Red Cross services in Quebec may have to be eliminated or curtailed unless a solution is found to the society's financial problems, outgoing Quebec Division president Andre Marcil said yesterday.

Due to the failure of the 1967 fund campaign "the situation is extremely grave", Mr. Marcil said.

"The lack of funds prevents this society from growing and expanding at a time when there is a vital need for its services in Quebec", he said.

Unless a solution is found, Mr. Marcil went on, "we may be forced to curtail or even eliminate some services".

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Quebec Divisional Council, Mr. Marcil expressed the hope that the 1968 campaign would be a success.

Mr. Marcil was elected for 1968 as Chairman of the Divisional Council.

Frank B. Common, Jr. was elected president to succeed Mr. Marcil. Other officers are W. K. G. Savage, executive vice president; Pierre Boutin, Guillaume Geoffrion and Paul Vaillancourt, vice presidents; and Fernand Picard, honorary treasurer.

DOLLARS and GOOD SENSE

BY WILLIAM J. MARTIN

Dear Sir: I got married recently and both my husband and I are working. Between us we have a pretty good income — enough, in fact, that we could afford to live in a nice home of our own. My husband is acting very proud and insists we live within HIS income. Don't you think he's being very old-fashioned?

MRS. B. D. L.

At the risk of offending the entire membership of the Loyal Order of Working Wives, I have to say that your husband is a very practical young man. The income you contribute undoubtedly makes it possible for you to buy things you couldn't otherwise afford. You can take vacations that without your income would be beyond your reach, and you can lay aside a neat little nest egg for those times in the future when extra money will be a necessity and not a luxury. But don't make any long range financial commitments dependent on your income. Don't plan on that income for longer than six months ahead.

Why? Well, primarily because of the possibility that a visit from the stork will cut off that income. Anticipation of his visit should be a happy experience and not one in which the prospective parents are in a turmoil, wondering how they are going to meet the additional expenses without benefit of a substantial portion of the income they have come to reply upon. And by the way, if you really want to put that income of yours to good use, why not set it aside for the stork's visit? In the meantime, a husband as parctical as yours will surely climb the ladder of success rapidly and before you know it, you'll be in that home of your own — on a safe and sound financial foundation — and perhaps with a nursery.

Dear Sir: I'm new in town and new on the job. In the past I always paid cash for the things I bought. Now I find I can't buy on credit because I don't have a credit rating. How do you get a credit rating when you've never used credit?

NEWCOMER

Someone is going to have to take a chance on you. I suggest you apply for a small loan at your bank or a local consumer finance company. News From Howick

U.C.W. General Meeting

HOWICK — The U.C.W. General meting was held on Tuesday evening, May 14 with about 35 members present. Mrs. W. E. Bradley presided and the committees in charge of the programme were: Stewardship and Recruiting and Literature and Leadership. Mrs. Robert Templeton led the worship service using as a theme the text "Lo, I am with you always."

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Jack Johnson of the teaching staff of the C.V.R.H.S., who gave a most interesting and informative talk on the Moral and Social Development Course being followed at the school. This is a very flexible programme and it may change as the need arises. It is not presented in the traditional manner of lecturing but by the use of research, panel discussion, debates and discussion groups. The important thing is student participation.

The talk which was of particular interest to the mothers of students involved in the course, sparked a lively question period at the close.

Business matters mentioned or discussed during the meeting were Speirs-Miller Springtime Revue; Mrs. Melville Brown is now group leader for Tyros; treasurer reported balance of $830.23 of which $200. will be forwarded to stewards; three more tables will be bought for the Church hall.

The Unit leaders reported on their activities, which included a Tea and Bonanza. A letter will be sent from Citizenship Committee to the Minister of Education expressing the hope that a Junior College for Protestants will be established.

Literature reported that a new set of books had arrived for the library, Leadership Development had several books for sale which included study and worship books. Refreshments were served by Unit B.

The late Mrs. Lucien Lefebvre

Mrs. Lucien Lefebvre (Claire Jenneau) died at her home at Bois des Filion on Tuesday of last week following an illness of two years or more.

The funeral was held ot the parish church, Bois des Filion on Thursday, May 16.

She is survived by her husband, one son Gilles, two daughters, Suzanne and Diane, her mother Mrs. Florina Jenneau of Howick and four sisters Mrs. Paul Tellier of Howick, Mrs. René Dorée of Ste. Martine, Mrs. Réal Simon of Ste. Martine and Sister Yvette Jenneau of Coteau Station. Sympathy is extended to the sorrowing family.

Celebrates 88th Birthday

Jim Crawford, to his surprise, celebrated another birthday on Friday, May 17 — his 88th. We was surprised because his parents and 6 brothers and sisters died many years ago, all much younger in age than the three youngest and surviving members of the family — William 90, Jim 88 and Alice, old enough to vote!

Several old and several new neighbours gathered at the Crawford home at 7 o'clock Friday evening to celebrate the occasion. 8 and 8 candles burned brightly on the cake as the guests sang "Happy Birthday." Dessert was served and everyone enjoyed meeting and talking with new friends.

A belated birthday celebration continued at the Crawford home on Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crawford of Lachine, Tony and Linn Crawford of Montreal and Eric and Joyce (Crawford) Smart, Stephen, Vicki and Timothy of Beaconsfield, arrived with another birthday cake, which was used as dessert at the dinner party.

Jeune Chambre Entertainment

A successful entertainment sponsored by Jeune Chambre de Howick and presented at the St. Jean School on Saturday evening, May 18, was attended by a large audience. The President, Jean Guy Lemieux welcomed the people and called on Marcel Patenaude to act as Master of Ceremonies for the entertaining programme which followed.

There was a monologue "Je le Sais" by Roger Billette; a play "Le Jugement" in which the Judge was Jean Guy Lemieux, others in the cast were Roma Myre, Ginette Mailloux, Jocelyn Jodoin, Albert Billette. Songs composed and sung by Richard Lemay of Ste. Philomene were accompanied on the piano by Mr. Tremblay. An interesting quiz followed "Meneur de Jeux" conducted by J. G. Lemieux. After an intermission there was a skit "Le Bonheur en Menage" with Françoise Billette and Lucie Billette; another Quiz, "Jeux pour L'Assistance" led by Marcel Patenaude; song by Francine Tisseur accompanied by Richard Lemay. These numbers were followed by another play "Invités du Mardi Gras with Jean Billette, Denis Billette, Lise Billette, Denise Arcoite.

Hostesses for the evening were Francine Tisseur and Ginette Mailloux who presented door prizes during the evening to the winners.

Officials from the many Jeune Chambre groups in this part of the county met on the week-end. Those heading the Howick group are anxious to have English and French working together. They were assured that everyone, regardless of race or creed is welcome provided they are bilingual enough to understand meetings which will be conducted in the French language.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hope and Kenny took part in the Shooting Matches at Ticonderoga last weekend. Gladys came first in the ladies class. Kenny entered two classes winning the trophy in one and 2nd prize in the other. Bobby Hope came 3rd in Flintlock class; Douglas Fenn 3rd in Woodchuck. Harold had the highest score in the family party, and placed 4th in a large class.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buchanan on Mother's Day were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin McCartney and family of Chateauguay Centre, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Buchanan and family of Howick and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Buchanan and Darrell of Sudbury who are on holidays at this time.

Bruce Gemmill of Vancouver, B.C., son of Gordon and Helen (Keir) Kemmill, spent the holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert McFarlane and family, before heading back for Kingston, Ont. where he will spend three months in the R.O.T.P.

John and Ann Logan entertained at a dinner party on Sunday of last week when six mothers were among the guests. A decorated cake, made specially for this occasion reminded everyone it was "Happy Mothers' Day". Among the guests were Mrs. Silverman, Eddie and Norma of Montreal, Mrs. Russell Logan and Barbara, Mrs. Robert B. Tolhurst and Mrs. W. E. Bradley, and Robert and Thyra Tolhurst and the four boys.

Don and Estelle Bradley and the children of Montreal visited Mrs. Bradley at her home on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Cora Grass of Montreal was a guest last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Lang. Miss Elsie Younie of Montreal was a weekend visitor at the same home.

Marathon Bridge Club

A happy evening was spent at the home of Miss Isabel Frith, on May 16th, when the Howick Marathon Bridge Club held their closing supper and bridge. Pretty spring flowers decorated the tables and an attractive and enjoyable meal was served.

The prizewinners for the year were: 1st Mrs. W. G. Brown; 2nd Mrs. Norman Simms, 3rd Mrs. T. Gourley. The evening prizes were won by Mrs. Gourley. Mrs. Simms and Mrs. Fletcher Consolation prizes added to the merriment of the party.

The sum of $50.00 was donated to the Women's Auxiliary of the Barrie Memorial Hospital. Members are looking forward to starting their thirteenth year together, in the fall.

YAWNING

Ho-hum.

Time to turn off the TV and go to bed. But the old movie is so interesting . . . sort of.

Ho-hum.

"You're yawning," your wife says. "Time for bed." So you turn off the TV and head for bed.

Chances are your wife was right. The usual yawn is due to drowsiness or fatigue, World Book Encyclopedia says, and is a sign that the body needs sleep.

But suppose you're at work, and it's an especially dull day, and . . .

Ho-hum.

And the boss is looking right at you.

You can't stop it. Yawning is an involuntary reflex. Once it has started, it's almost impossible to stop. You can hold your mouth closed, but the yawning muscles still contract.

People and animals yawn when oxygen is slowly cut off from them, and when the muscles are thoroughly relaxed. A person who yawns often probably is not getting enough oxygen. He may need better ventilation, or exercise.

If you find yourself yawning on the job, drink something or bathe your face in cold water. It will help.

Suggestion also causes yawning. Those who see others yawning are likely to yawn too.

In fact, sometimes even reading about yawning can made you yawn.

Ho-hum.

IAN WATSON UNANIMOUSLY NOMINATED AS LIBERAL CANDIDATE FOR LAPRAIRIE

At an enthusiastic nomination meeting of nearly 500 Liberal party members held in Jubilee Hall of Greenfield Park's civic centre last week, Ian Watson, M.P. received the unanimous support of the gathering as the Liberal candidate for the new Federal riding of Laprairie.

The riding extends along the south shore of the St.Lawrence river from St. Lambert in the east to Chateauguay and Ville de Léry in the West.

An impressive list of personalities shared the platform with Mr. Watson, including Postmaster General Pierre Coté; Gerald Laniel, M.P. for Beauharnois; former M.P. for Chateauguay - Huntingdon - Laprairie, Jean Boucher; Mayor J.K. Stewart of St. Lambert; Alderman Harold Bowden representing Mayor King of Greenfield Park; Mayor Leo Gravel of Brossard; Mayor Rosaire Circé of LaPrairie; Mayor Rosaire Hébert of Côte Ste. Catherine and Mayor Jos Laberge of Chateauguay.

Shortly after the meeting started, Huntingdon's popular M.P.P., Ken Fraser arrived, and was warmly greeted by the meeting. He headed up a delegation from Ian Watson's former Huntingdon riding that included Alderman Gerald Brisebois, Leo and Nelson Brunette, Henry Wallace and Bud Bourgon.

Ken Fraser said: "We came here to pay our respects to a man who ably represented us in Ottawa, who showed himself to be a true friend of the farmer and who will surely do as good a job for the people the LaPrairie as he did for us."

Ian Watson was introduced to the audience by Jean Boucher who paid glowing tribute to the candidate, pointing out the important role he had played in the fight for a Canadian flag and in other measures that came up in Ottawa. Postmaster General Coté also praised Ian Watson as an able representative of the forward-thinking element in Canadian life.

Ian Watson, speaking with equal facility in French and in English, stated that he had always been and intended to remain primarily a representative of the people who elected him to office. He was a "local" politician first and concerned with national issues second. He said that his door had always remained open to people in his constituency who had problems that he could help with, and he would not change that policy. He already had an office in Chateauguay, and another in La Prairie, where he was now residing. He felt that under the leadership of Pierre Elliot Trudeau a whole new era was opening up for Canada and that he would be proud to serve under a leader whose qualities of intellect were allied to a capacity for moving the whole Canadian people from an attitude of indifference towards politics to one of vital concern. "Trudeaumania" he said, "is not simply a phenomenon that moves young people into concern for their country. It touches their parents too, for it calls upon all of us to realize that greatness which awaits us, if only we have the courage and the determination to achieve it, as a united Canada, a Canada in which every one of us, whether English-speaking of French-speaking, can feel truly at home no matter where we may travel in this great land of ours."

He pointed out that the North West Territories and the Yukon, containing 35 percent of the land mass of Canada, and 35 percent of its natural resources, belonged to the people of Canada, whether they spoke French or English whether they lived in Quebec or Newfoundland.

"That is a heritage which no separatist can steal from us", he said, "It belongs to all Canadians."

The predominantly French-speaking audience gave him a standing ovation.

THE WEEK AT SEIGNIORY PARK COUNTRY CLUB

This is the first article of what we hope will be a regular feature in The Chateauguay Gleaner.

Before getting down to a report on activities perhaps an explanation of what Seigniory Park Country Club is would be in order.

The club was built seven years ago as a promotional scheme for a building project, also known as Seigniory Park, and as a commercial venture. The owners of the real estate are Concordia Estates Ltd. who are also the builders, and owners, of Place Bonaventure in Montreal

The owners had decided to cease operations of the Club during the winter season and not to reopen in 1968.

A group of local citizens approached Concordia with a proposal to rent the premises and run the club as a non-profit making community enterprise on a year round basis.

An association was formed and named The Community Association of Greater Chateauguay and is now headed up by nine directors.

The club consists of a club house with restaurant, a lounge bar and a meeting or activities hall, 6 acres of grounds, changing rooms, toilet facilities, cabanas, barbecues and the largest swimming pool in Eastern Canada. The emphasis in the past has been on the pool, which due to its size and cost, is understandable, but people seemed to forget or overlook the possibilities that the premises had apart from the summer season.

The association therefore has split the operation into two parts. One is the pool activity and the other the club activities. It is intended to plan a program of activities and events throughout the year that will maintain the interest of the members.

These activities will be listed weekly in this column to keep you informed.

At this point I would like to clear up one misconception about the club. It is not run by the Seigniory Park Home owners Association and has no connection with that association in any way whatsoever. Membership is not limited to residents of Seigniory Park but to all residents of Greater Chateauguay.

Progress so far has been encouraging with a tremendous amount of voluntary work being thrown into the project by directors and future staff. The enormous pool has been emptied, scrubbed clean with acid, checked over from end to end and is now ready to be refilled with 600,000 gallons of water.

A fresh coat of paint has been applied to buildings and the club house is in full swing. Art classes are being held every Saturday morning for children under the direction of the YMCA. Entertainment is provided regularly with Ted Sonne and his guitar every Friday night and a Dixie Land Jazz group every Monday evening in the lounge bar. The group were originally looking for somewhere to rehearse and the Monday evening slot was given to them since it was the quietest night. We haven't had a quiet Monday evening since and if you would like to sit in on a genuine jam session — drop in.

On Saturday June 1st — our official opening day, we will kick the season off with a dance that should be remembered for a long time to come.

We are setting up a Bavarian Beer Garden in the woods adjoining the club with picnic tables to seat 300 people. A large fire will be built and the Blau Funken band will provide us with some genuine Bavarian music. Dancing will be on the pool deck and refreshments and food will be served. Other dances during the season will reflect a national character: French, Scottish, Hawaiian, Italian, etc..

Membership is steadily increasing but it is still the intention of the association to limit membership to 500 families. This means that some tardy members who have not renewed will be left out but we cannot exceed our limit without affecting the comfort of other members.

Chateauguay Centre Sub-Division Before Legislative Assembly

Mr. George Kennedy, M.P.P., (Chateauguay County) last week introduced a bill amending the charter of the Town of Chateauguay Centre to the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Kennedy had previously submitted a petition on behalf of Chateauguay Centre requesting that Ward 6 be sub-divided into 3 wards, to be known as Wards 6, 7 and 8.

The present Ward 6 is represented by Alderman Joseph Petrilli, and contains 42% of the total Centre population.

Mr. Kennedy informed the Gleaner last week-end that the bill is scheduled for hearing at 10.30 a.m. tomorrow, May 23rd., in Parliament Building by the Private Members Committee. The bill has already received first reading and was referred to the private bills committee for further study. The Town of Chateauguay Centre and other interested parties were free to make representations for or against the proposed amendments.

Assuming speedy governmental approval, elections for the new Wards 7 and 8 would be held in November Ward 6 is not due for another election until November 1969.

R. A. JOBBER HOME AND SCHOOL ANNUAL MEETING

The annual election of officers took place on May 14, after which Mrs. Stokowski told us about the present system of marking, and the different terms used on report cards. She explained that the Chateauguay Protestant schools had started the ungraded system slowly, because of the new approach required by the administration, teachers, and children righting mistakes as were necessary.

The children are segregated generally into three groups; the above average children, the average children, and the below average children, but she stressed the important thing was that a child be taught to make the best use of his or her ability.

Reading was the subject chosen first in grouping to level. Mrs. Stokowski pointed out that when all children were treated alike the bright child sometimes became a behavior problem, and the slow ones became discouraged. She mentioned that spelling was not just calling out letters, but the child being able to use words in the right context, and to understand their meaning. She mentioned that the ungraded system posed a heavy burden on the teacher, who now has to prepare three or four lessons daily, on one subject. Reporting of progress to parents posed a problem. The ideal would be a personal talk with each child's parents, but this is too time-consuming, and therefore at present only particular problems are discussed in detail. Mrs. Stokowski's talk with us provided the answers to many of the questions which parents have about the ungraded system and report cards. A lively question and answer period followed.

The slate of officers for 1968-69 is as follows:

President: Mrs. Elda Sandford; 1st Vice-President, Program Chairman: Mrs. Jean White; 2nd Vice-President, Membership Chairman: Mrs. Shirley Barnett; School Board Representative: John Darker; Treasurer: Mrs. Maria Klikar; Secretary: Mrs. Virginia Doolan; Parent-Teacher Representative: Mrs. Jane Hender; Publicity: Mrs. Dorothy Smith; Grade Mother Chairman: Mrs. Audrey Moore; Refreshment Chairmen: Mrs. Lil Kemp, Mrs. H. Bouchard.

RECITAL HELD AT THE CULTURAL CENTRE

Forty students of Miss Lorette Marcotte of Chateauguay Centre performed on Sunday, May 19th at the Cultural Centre, in the Annual recital of Piano, Guitar and Voice. For many it was their very first concert and they were just a little bit nervous knowing that parents and friends were sitting in the audience. However they all did very well and we congratulate Miss Marcotte for a job well done in teaching our children.

For some it may well be the start of a musical career and we wish them all every success in whatever vocation they may choose. Those taking part in the concert were as fellows:

Heights Residents Protest Proposed Demolition Of Town Hall

One of the last ever Council meetings of the Town of Chateauguay Heights last week turned into a lively affair as which ratepayers charged that the Council was acting against the wishes of the majority. Mr. Ron Oliver presented a petition signed by some 40 ratepayers requesting that steps be taken to preserve the Town Hall building which has served as a community centre for the past 20 years. The Council had previously advised that the building, representing a fire hazard and urgently in need of costly repairs, should be demolished.

Mayor Jean LaBerge announced that the Council had been approached by a local service club (the Kinsmen) which is interested in purchasing the building. The concensus of the public meeting was that the building should on no account be turned over to any organization outside the Heights.

Mayor LaBerge announced that immediately prior to the meeting, he had received a letter from Mayor Joseph Laberge, requesting the Council to defer any final decision on the future of the building until the Council of the Town of Chateauguay, following amalgamation, could have the opportunity to consider the future of the Recreation Hall in relation to the Town's Parks and Playgrounds programme. Mayor Joseph Laberge stated that the property in question would be a valuable asset to the overall parks programme, which is not yet complete.

Mayor Jean LaBerge indicated that no decision on the future of the building would be taken without further discussions with the Council of the Town of Chateauguay.

The Heights, in the 20 years of municipal existence, fell far behind the rest of Chateauguay in the matter of public services, until the installation two years ago of its water and sewage system. However, the Heights, alone in the Chateauguays, had something which no other nearby community posessed, namely three tennis courts and the adjoining recreation hall. This had been the centre of community life for many years. Apart from being the headquarters of the tennis club, the largest element by far of the Recreation Association, many other functions were held there, including dances, bingos, badminton and art classes.

Mayor Laberge stated that an offer had been received to demolish the building and clear the site for $1,000. It was estimated that to make the building safe and carry out all necessary and urgent repairs would cost $35,000. The building, the brain child of the Heights first Mayor, Mr Larry Melville, had originally cos. $12,000, which cost has by now been fully written off. The building had apparently been sited contrary to municipal by laws, and extends up to the limits of the property. Its very existence today is formalized only by "droit acquis", which might be approximately translated as "squatters rights."

It is understood that whatever decision is finally made as to the disposition of the buildings there is no question but that the tennis courts will remain. The courts several years ago were converted to ashphalt, requiring a minimum of maintenance. The tennis club is currently entering what promises to be one of the most successful seasons to date, with upward of 100 members.

It is expected that amalgamation of Heights and Town will become effective during the latter part of May. The present term of the Heighs Council expires in June, and Mayor and Aldermen could only under the circumstances continue to function legally by an Order-in-Council by the Provincial Government extending the term of office. All amalgamation documents have been filed with the Department of Municipal Affairs in Quebec City. The approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in Council is expected any day. An election for the new Town of Chateauguay in November, 1968, when the Heights will comprise the major part of one ward, Ward 5. Until this election the Town will be governed by a provisional Council on which two members of the present Heights Council will serve. Aldermen John Friedlander and Roland Thauvette have already been delegated to represent the Heights on the provisional Council.

It was reported recently that the Heights ended the financial year of 1967 with a deficit of $25,735. This deficit is attributable to the failure of the Quebec Municipal Commission to honour fully its commitment of a grant to cover 4% interest rebate on the Heights' capital debt. Instead of the promised sum of $34,000, on which the 1967 budget was based, the grant received was only $8,428. The budget deficit represents a 33% shortfall in the budget, which totalled $74,000. Discussions are still being held with the Quebec Municipal Commission regarding the grant. In the meantime, an interim tax bill for 1968 has been sent to ratepayers.

It was reported at the meeting that there have been many instances reported of faults in the Heights' new sewage lines. The Council and its consultants are doing everything possible to correct the situation.

Evaluation Check At Chateauguay Centre

The Council of the Town of Chateauguay Centre recently requested Professional Evaluation Services of Montreal, Que. to make a spot check on the evaluation roll prepared by Mr. Monette.

The independent surveyors reported back to Council that in their opinion the evaluation roll had been properly and well prepared.

Council proceeded to homologate the evaluation roll. Two aldermen, Messrs. Bourcier and Chevrefils voted against the motion.

Progressive Conservatives Choose Candidate Tonight

At a meeting held in the Seigniory Park Country Club last Friday it was decided to hold the Progressive Conservative nomination meeting tonight, Wednesday 22nd. The meeting will nominate the P.C. standard bearer in the June 25th Federal Election in the new Laprairie riding.

The venue will be St. Paul's School Laprairie Boulevard in Laprairie. Leading candidates for nomination are Mr. Albert Jean Labreche, Notary, of Chateauguay, Mr. Richard (Dick) Holden, Lawyer of Laprairie and Mr. Laurier Auger of Chateauguay.

SPORTS CELEBRITIES AT RAMBLERS' DINNER

Under the genial singing Master of Ceremonies Mayor Joseph Laberge, the Chateauguay Ramblers held a fund-raising dinner at the Rustik Restaurant last Thursday evening. Ramblers who were runaway winners of last year's Quebec Senior Football Conference had their trophy on display in the banquet hall.

Seldom has such an array of sporting talent, past and present, been seen in Chat. There were also present many well-known representatives of the press, radio and television, all there to lend a hand to the Chat. Ramblers. It is reported that the future of the club is in some doubt. Although last season was a record one from the playing point of view, and although attendances were good, it has been found that to operate a senior ball club with insignificant help from major football, is just too formidable a task.

Included among the sports celebrities present were Ernie Green, Cleveland Browns halfback, Wally Harris, National Hockey League referee, Larry Fairholm, Barry Randall and the formidable George Dixon and Herb Trawick, all former Alouettes, and Phil Goyette, the New York Rangers Centre. Other notables of the sports world present included Mr. Pierre Proulx, Director of Sports on CFTM TV (Channel 10) and Mr. Louis Chatigny, Commissioner of Sports for the Province of Quebec. Non-sports notables included, Mr. Ian Watson, M.P., Mr. Robert Chateauguay Y.M.C.A. Commits How Many?

We said eight. We went through only two last week... adult art and junior art. By the way, junior art is divided into two groups. The 6-10 year olds attend from 9-10:30 a.m., and the 11-16 year olds from 10:30 to 12:00 noon every Saturday at the Seigniory Park Country Club. It's popular. Twenty children attend.

We must mention here that both children and adults will be represented at the "Y" art display in the Chateauguay Cultural Centre, June 24th to 30th. More about this wondrous display later.

Meanwhile, back to our story.

We cornered Mr. Cornford once again by his YMCA coordinator's badge (almost ripping it off), and pleaded for further information:

Q. — "Have you ever been belted ?" we asked, for openers.

A. — "Not recently," he replied. "Why do you ask ?"

Q. — "I hear some men, women and children are going to be belted shortly, and I was wondering if you were among them."

Q. — "You must be talking about the graduates of our Judo course," he responded, looking sideways at me with an air of unflappable dignity.

Q. — "Where was this course committed ?"

A. — "At the Police Station, where else ?" he commented dryly. "Instructors Mr. and Mrs. J. Wolgen taught Judo Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights at the Town of Chateauguay Police Gym. They'll be awarding belts in June."

Q. — "I'll bet there aren't many arguments in that house" we quipped. "How about those teens that have their brains blown out ?" we questioned.

A. — "You mean the Mind-Out held at the Howard S. Billings Regional High School. That's where adult questions are asked by the teens of today who will be the adults of tomorrow... or of yesterday, "he reflected pensively. "They grow so fast."

Q. — "Does the Mind-Out mean that teens explore ANY questions ?" we queried, "like SEX or POLITICS..."

A. — "Quiet !" murmured Mr. C. "Do you want everyone to know about it ? It's bad enough that I don't know what kind of a relationship a bird has with a bee," he grumbled.

At the Centre's Council meeting of May 7th, Ald. Joseph Petrilli was named Pro-Mayor for the next three months.

Centre Council has authorized Mr. Emile Duquette a permit to construct a cinema in Ward 6, lot 102.

Council asked Professional Evaluation Service of Montreal to make a spot check on valuation roll as prepared by the Centre's Mr. Monette. The company reported back to Council on May 15th, that the valuation roll was very good. The roll was homologated with two aldermen not in favor. See elsewhere for more dtails.

Chalets (or shacks) in the Centre's parks are to be closed because of vandalism.

Centre's Sports Committee met on May 8th.

At the first adjournment of the Council meeting, May 9th the following accounts were approved:
Administration: $322,404.26; Salaries: $65,067.41; and Capital: $385,179.08.

Council has authorized Mr. Roger Sylvestre to go to Europe for six weeks to view and study other Cultural Centres there.

At a meeting on May 14th Centre Council opened tenders for bonds in the amount of $690,000. Three tenders were received; Dominion Securities, rate of net interest, 8.3592, Cliche et Assoc., 8.4489 and Banque Provinciale du Canada 8.5068.

Council authorized Alonzo Belliveau a contract for electrical work in Chevrefils Park re camping.

Council adopted a resolution to ask Lasalle Refuse Inc. not to use the east part of Ste. Marguerite Road to travel to the dump in Caughnawaga. Complaints of heavy dust is the cause.

Centre Council has asked the Town to have their water pump operated manually instead of automatically. This would mean a staff on 24 hour duty.

Provincial Roads Dept. are going ahead with their plans to install traffic lights on Route 3, which is also d'Anjou Blvd Work crews are at present at work at the intersection of Bell St. and also at the corner of St. Joseph Blvd.

By-law 694 was adopted by Council. See public notice.

Town Council met last Tuesday night with arena architect, Mr. John Cooke. We hope to have some further news on the construction of the arena in next week's issue.

At a meeting on May 14, Town Council adopted garbage taxation by-law no. 348.

At the same meeting the bylaw to increase the remuneration of the Mayor and Aldermen was adopted. A public meeting on this by-law number 349 will be held on May 28th from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Town Hall, 5 Station Road

A "Handi-Van" has been purchased for the public works department.

Both Town and Centre Police report things very quiet in their areas during the past week. Minor accidents and routine work are all they can report to The Gleaner this week.

Signs of vandalism are quite evident in the duplexes under construction at the corner of St. Charles and Molson, in the Town of Chateauguay. This building has countless broken windows and we hear from a reliable source that damage inside is extensive, although the buildings were locked up. This vicious "pastime" of the young people (here, we presume) is on the increase in all the three Chateauguays. Nothing is sacred, whether it be churches, homes, schools, other public buildings, street signs, or cars. Town of Chateauguay Police, from time to time have reported to The Gleaner various acts of vandalism and have detained youngsters who admitted responsibility for some of the damage done, but the destruction continues. Some of the twelve-year-olds recently questioned on fire slashing said they "didn't really know" why they did it. Having an Arena is certainly not going to be the answer to this problem. Not all youngsters are sports minded. Police are short staffed considering the continuing growth of the area. It looks as if we must learn to live with this problem because we can see no immediate solution.

THE PRO SHOP

The 1968 Stanley Cup final series is over and a great one it was! Far better than anyone had a right to expect. It was not great hockey in the classic sence but it was entertainment of the type not often seen this year. The St. Louis Blues fought like tigers, holding the Canadians to a one goal margin in each game.

However, do not count us among those who consider the series as being close or that Canadians were in danger at anytime. The bare fact is that when the Montreal team is pressing, they do only what they have to. In spite of heroics of Glenn Hall, it is the feeling here that Toe Blake's boys could have scored 10 goals per game if St. Louis scored 9. In short, the Canadians were money players, no more.

They also have a power house team the like of which has not been seen in the N.H.L. for 30 years. True, they do not have many super scorers but they have depth in every other hockey skill. Every line has its share of star quality. Men who would star on any of the western section teams. You can have your Bobby Hulls and San Mikitas, two men can seldom win a Stanley Cup.

It is the Duffs, Tremblays, Harpers and the Bextrams, who do the big job. And a dozen more like them. They keep the team in there holding off and wearing out the opposition until the Beliveaus Cournoyers and Rousseaus can score Not to mention rookies like Lemaire Vachon and others of course. The total combination is just too much for the rest of the league. Even the up-coming draught will not cost the Champions too dearly. They'll lose three maybe four good men. They have six or seven in the minors

Q. — "I never could figure who are more than ready for the big time

Glenn Hall, probably in his last year summed it all up after the fourth and final game when he said of the Blues, "We feel we played as good as we are capable of playing." It wasn't enough by only one goal in each and every game. That says it all. The kindly old coach, Toe Blake, reserved his annual wish to retire, saying the pressure is too great. Many will dismiss his words, he has repeated them so often. Somewhere about Mid summer he gets his medical clearance and signs again. But, mark this down. This may be the year. The Canadians have several fellows chomping at the bit to take over Toe's job. Not the least of whom is Floyd Curry and what a dramatic switch in leadership temperament that would be. Then there is a dark horse or two presently in the league. Watch the June draught meetings and don't act surprised.

Last week-end, the League announced its annual awards. The automatic ones such as the Vezina to Worsley and Vachon and the Ross to Mikita can book no arguement. The others were ridiculous and the Coaches should pass up this difficult job.

The Hart trophy went to Mikita but belonged to one man, Jean Beliveau. Mikita had more points but with him, the Hawks went nowhere. With a healthy Believeau, the Canadians went from last to first. Stan he man earned the Lady Bing on his ice play but Honorable Mention should go to Johnny Bucyk. For the Norris it should have been J. C. Tremblay, the best if unrecognized defenseman in the N.H.L. The winner, Orr, has the potential but on this year's play, the trophy was Tremblay's. The Calder or Rookie award was a complete mess. It should not have been Jacques Lemaire or even the winner, Derek Saunderson. In our books, another clear cut case can be made for the rookie goaltender, Rogatien Vachon. Once again, that last to first place fight by Canadians was with Vachon in the nets.

Let's look at the all-star team, next week that one out myself", we stated emphatically. "What does the "Y" have planned for this summer ?"

Unfortunately, the reply was inaudible, for Tony was stepping into his air-tight car, but as he rolled down the window we heard the promising rumble, "next week". And that's where we have to leave you folks in suspense... till next week.

Main feature of the dinner was a giant 1½ pound steak served to each guest. Following dinner, host Jules Dumouchel and Mayor Laberge introduced the principal guests of honour. Mayor Laberge showed his customary singing skill in running the skill-testing competition. The popular main winner of the prize valued at $300 was George Parsons, quarter-back in last year's Ramblers team.

At press deadline, the total of the proceeds available to the Ramblers was not known. A Ramblers' spokesman stated that the target was $1,000, and that it was probable close to this sum would be realized.

COME TO THE FAIR

RAIN DAMPENS OPENING BUT IT'S STILL "SON OF EXPO"

by Russ Faughnan

That unfortunate weather may have put a literal damper on the opening days of Man and his World but enough of Expo '67 remains to make it a happy opening for most.

Thousands rushed about the site to view the new and review the old. They were not too disappointed. But let's admit, all was not rosy. Let's get rid of the complaints first. To be sure, there was a certain amount of confusion. The main cause seems to stem from the fact that very few, if any, employees of Expo 67 were brought back to help with the permanent show. They were missed. There was no butter at one restaurant, no beer at another. Lights were missing in some areas and several Pavilions were just not ready. Why? There seems to be one answer. No Mayor of the Fair. No single, all powerful co-ordinator on site. In short, no Phillipe de Gaspe Beaubien. Oh well, you can't have everything. At least not every year.

On the other hand, we enjoyed the opening night. Tremendously. Not just because of Mayor Drapeau's reception (cheese and wine, so dear to the hearts of Chateauguayians), but mostly because of the site itself. It was all there in living color. If this is truly to be a permanent fair, we can count ourselves as the lucky Canadians, we are here.

Naturally, the new Irish Pavilion was the first port of call. It is several weeks away from completion but still very attractive. The main exhibit is a series of films on Irish Industry and life. The main attraction will certainly be the "Abby Tavern" in the basement. It was packed within an hour on opening day. The menu consists of standard foods, Irish stew at $1.75 and brew from the old sod. There is a small group that sounds much like the recently popular "Irish Rovers", singing songs that will rekindle the spirit of Irish nationalism. Very suited to the Quebec mood. And the waitresses, straight from the Old Country, with every Irish charm. Too bad it's so small. This will draw the crowds.

We went across the street to the Kodak Pavilion and were quite disappointed. No motion pictures this year, only stills. Very beautiful but flat.

We also looked in on one of the new restaurants, first up from the Kodak spot. you can eat for $1.95 up to 4 p.m. and for $2.25 thereafter. Not bad considering last year's prices.

The main show has to be La Ronde. This is where it's at. After noting the sparse crowds at the main site, we were surprised at the crowds at La Ronde. There were line-ups for the new scenic railway and it was a pleasure to see smiling faces at the exit. Some change from the Gyrotron. We did not try the latter but from the expressions at the exit, forget it.

Most of those gyp games of chance are gone. There are a few such games with greatly improved odds for the player. One outstanding effort is a no-prize shooting gallery. You are looking at a very authentic western scene. Hit a snake, it rattles and dies. Hit a tin can, it twirles and spins. Hit a window shade on a farm house, it snaps up. All great fun.

The fireworks on opening day were great and it's too bad that they are not a regular feature. The Dancing Waters are back with a new routine, better than ever.

We ended our first visit at the German Beergarden, the George Reis on La Ronde. It has been greatly enlarged and is a study in youth. Noise, noise, noise. The German marching band brought the kids to their feet and sent them around the large area in a "modern" congo line. At one time, there were three such lines, all bumbing into one another. Those older types among them were looking on with some envy. We thought how wonderful it would be to be young enough to enjoy Man and his World in that manner. What a perfect age to be a youth. But then, we might miss the over-all beauty, so, we suppose we are all fortunate, young and old alike. Fortunate indeed just to be able to . . . Come to the Fair.

CHATEAUGUAY MAN IN BILINGUAL BREAKTHROUGH

Mr. J. René Poirier of 33 Vanier Avenue, Chateauguay believes he has found the means of solving Canada's bilingual problem.

Mr. Poirier and his wife have become Canadian distributors of a device, a type of slide rule mechanism guaranteed to translate literally thousands of sentences instant-vice versa.

The Poiriers Act as "J.R.P. Products, Reg'd." — the initials are Mr. Poirier's own, and the device is called "Trans L'Aider" — a bilingual pun. "Trans L'Aider" retails for $2, and Mr. Poirier advises that sales to date are very encouraging.

LETTER FROM

SEIGNIORY PARK

Seigniory Park was saddened last week by the death on Thursday of Mr. Karl Kreutzer of 365 St. Francis. Mr. Kreutzer had been very ill and in hospital for many months, and died at home shortly after his return from hospital. In his early fifties, Mr. Kreutzer and family were one of the first to take up residence in Seigniory Park. Mr. Kreutzer was employed by Dominion Engineering Co. Ltd., and travelled extensively when supervising the installation of machinery in paper mills across Canada. A few years ago he spent over six months on a job in Pakistan. Mr. Kreutzer is survived by his wife and five children, two married daughters, one son aged 21 and two teenage girls who attend the Howard S. Billings High School. Mr. Kreutzer was a Jehovah's Witness, and his main hobby was gardening. The sympathy of the community is offered to the family.

It was just like old times last Friday evening when the local Progressive Conservative Association held a closed meeting in the Clubhouse. No official communique was issued, but it is reported that the choice of a candidate in the coming Federal election lies between Mr. Holden, Mr. Auger and Mr. J. Labrecque.

Elsewhere in this issue you will find what we hope will be the first of a regular weekly series of reports on "The Week at Seigniory Park Country Club". The author is Don Chart, one of a small group who have in recent weeks almost given up the habit of sleeping in favour of voluntary and unpaid work for the club.

Unexpected visitors at the Club after last Tuesday's Heights' Council meeting were Secretary Mrs. Thelma Clarke, Mayor Jean LaBerge and Aldermen Fred Lunn and Rollie Thauvette. Rollie took in a game of darts, and considering he had previously played only a few games in war-time England, put up a very creditable performance.

On the invitation of Mayor Jean Drapeau, I represented the Chateauguay Gleaner at a reception in the VIP Lounge at Place des Nations last Friday, following opening-day ceremonies at Terre Des Hommes. I took the opportunity of a ride in Expo Express (I don't know what else to call it) all the way to La Ronde and back. Due to the miserable weather plus the fact that it was not widely known that Terre Des Hommes was open to the public that day, the crowds, mostly of school children, seemed pathetically small. Paradoxically, there were probably in excess of 10,000 people on the site by 5 p.m., and of course, 10,000 people anywhere else would be a very large crowd indeed. But in the vastness of Expo, (isn't it difficult not to call it Expo?) they seemed no more than a trickle. Imagine sauntering on board the Express and making your choice of a seat!

The Montreal press played up last week's appearance of a pipes and drums band as the opening of the noontime entertainment season on the concourse of Place Ville Marie. That was a most unkind reference, as the first by quite a margin was Chateauguay's own Les Riveraines, the majorette corps, who appeared over a month ago as the highlight to he official opening by Mayor Jean Drapeau of the first Federated Appeal of Greater Chateauguay.

Last week I dropped in to see the Chateauguay Choir at rehearsal in the Cultural Centre. There are three Seigniory Park voices in the choir — two female and one male — and I was greatly impressed by the harmonic blending of the choir in full voice. "Au clair de la lune", stirred memories of school days so many years ago. The group is scheduled to perform in a Terre Des Hommes bandshell on Saturday, June 22nd.

I was flabbergasted last week when someone whose views I respect very highly told me that he had been informed that the group getting things going at the club was not putting up its own money, and that the Seigniory Park Home Owners Association was financing the pre-season expenses. This is of course laughable to those familiar with Home Owners affairs, and I was glad to be able to convince my friend of the absurdity of the story. All pre-opening expenses, including a substantial deposit on the lease, have come from the pockets of a very small group of volunteers.

A former resident of Seigniory Park, Mr. Reginald Blouin, died of a heart attack, sustained while he was changing the tire on his car, last Tuesday. Mr. Blouin, who was 61, lived in Seigniory Park for six years before moving to LaSalle some three weeks ago He is survived by his wife Alice and two married sons. A brother lives on St. Francis Boulevard. The funeral was held on Friday. The sympathy of the community is extended to the family.

Of course, every good columnist must avoid the taint of commercialism, but I hope I may be excused in reporting the advertising campaign put on last week by an enterprising seven-year-old entrepreneur. She sent out the following circular letter: "To Fergus. Monday Circus $2.00 at Seigniory. Kool-aid 1¢ per glass. If rains Circus is cancelled." I do hope rain didn't spoil the fun.

Ian Watson choisi à l'unanimité candidat libéral dans Laprairie

A une assemblée enthousiaste de près de 500 membres du parti libéral tenue au Jubilee Hall du centre civique de Greenfield Park la semaine dernière, Ian Watson, M.P. a reçu l'appui unanime de l'assemblée en tant que candidat Libéral pour le nouveau comté fédéral de Laprairie.

Ce comté s'étend sur la rive sud du Saint-Laurent de St-Lambert à l'est jusqu'à Châteauguay et Ville de Léry à l'ouest.

Une liste impressionnante de personnalités avaient pris place sur l'estrade aux côtés de M. Watson, y compris le Ministre des Postes Pierre Côté; Gérald Laniel, M.P. pour Beauharnois; l'ancien M.P. pour Châteauguay - Huntingdon - Laprairie, Jean Boucher; le maire J.K. Stewart de St-Lambert; le conseiller Harold Bowden représentant le maire King de Greenfield Park; le maire Léo Gravel de Brossard; le maire Rosaire Circé de Laprairie; le maire Rosaire Hébert de Côte Ste-Catherine et le maire Jos Laberge de Châteauguay.

L'arrivée de M. Ken Fraser, M.A.L. pour Huntingdon fut chaleureusement accueillie par l'assemblée. Il était à la tête d'une délégation de l'ancien comté de Huntingdon comprenant le Conseiller Gérald Brisebois, Léo et Nelson Brunette. Henry Wallace et Bud Bourgon.

M. Fraser a déclaré: "Nous sommes ici pour rendre hommage à un homme qui nous a avantageusement représentés à Ottawa, qui s'est montré un vrai ami du fermier et qui en fera sûrement autant pour la population de Laprairie qu'il en a fait pour nous."

Ian Watson fut présenté par Jean Boucher qui a rendu un hommage vibrant au candidat, insistant sur le rôle important qu'il a joué dans la bataille pour le drapeau canadien et autres débats qui ont eu lieu à Ottawa. M. Côté a aussi vanté Ian Watson comme un représentant capable de l'élément avant-gardiste de la vie canadienne.

M. Watson s'exprimant aussi bien en français qu'en anglais, affirma avoir toujours été et vouloir continuer d'être avant tout le représentant du peuple qui l'a élu. Il est un politicien "local" d'abord et intéressé aux questions nationales en second lieu. Sa porte est toujours demeurée ouverte aux gens de son comté ayant des problèmes qu'il pouvait aider à régler et il ne changera pas sa façon d'agir. Il a déjà un bureau à Châteauguay et un autre dans Laprairie, où il réside actuellement. Il croit que sous la direction de Pierre Elliott Trudeau une ère entièrement nouvelle s'ouvre pour le Canada et qu'il sera fier de servir sous un chef dont les qualités intellectuelles sont liées à son pouvoir de réveiller tout le peuple canadien de son attitude d'indifférence envers la politique à un intérêt vital. La "Trudeaumanie" dit-il n'est pas seulement un phénomène qui soulève les jeunes vers un intérêt pour leur pays. Elle touche leurs parents également, car elle nous fait concevoir toute la grandeur qui nous attend si nous avons le courage et la détermination de la réaliser, en tant que Canada uni, un Canada dans lequel chacun de nous, qu'il soit de langue française ou de langue anglaise, puisse se sentir chez lui dans quelque lieu qu'il se trouve dans ce grand pays qui est le nôtre.

Il fit remarquer que les Territoires du Nord-Ouest et du Yukon, qui contiennent 35% de la masse terrestre du Canada et 35% de ses ressources naturelles, appartiennent à tous les habitants du Canada, qu'ils parlent français ou anglais, qu'ils habitent le Québec ou Terre-Neuve.

"C'est un héritage qu'aucun séparatiste ne peut nous voler" dit-il. "Il appartient à tous les canadiens".

L'assistance en majorité de langue française lui a fait une ovation.

On veut une école polyvalente chrétienne

Au cours d'une réunion qui groupait une quarantaine de parents et de jeunes récemment à Ste-Barbe, on a réclamé que les responsables de la nouvelle école polyvalente prenne toutes les mesures nécessaires pour assurer un climat et une formation chrétienne à cette nouvelle école. La discussion a été précédée d'exposés sur la crise actuelle de la foi, sur l'école confessionnelle et la pastorale.

La réunion était organisée par le Comité de Pastorale de l'Atelier Pédagogique de l'Ecole Polyvalente de Huntingdon, en collaboration avec les Dames Chrétiennes et les Chrétiens d'Aujourd'hui. Les organisateurs locaux étaient, en effet, Mmes Elzir Vallée, Gaétan Vallée, et M. et Mme Jean-Paul Lebrun.

D'autres réunions auront lieu dans différentes paroisses pour informer les parents sur l'éducation chrétienne à l'école et obtenir leur point de vue et leur appui pour les recommandations du Comité de Pastorale; ce Comité a justement pour fonction de proposer les conditions d'une éducation vraiment chrétienne dans l'école polyvalente.

D'autres réunions avaient lieu: à l'Ecole de St-Anicet le mercredi 15 mai, à 8:30; aux "4-Vents de l'Amitié" de Ormstown, mardi le 21 mai, à 8.30 p.m.; à St-Louis-de-Gonzague, mercredi le 22 mai, ce soir à 8:30 p.m.; pour les parents de Huntingdon et de St-Stanislas, les dates seront communiquées ultérieurement.

LETTRE A L'EDITEUR

Huntingdon, 18 mai 1968

M. l'Editeur,

Puis-je me servir de cette colonne pour exprimer mes remerciements à tous ceux qui ont aidé à la vente des roses au profit du projet de la piscine du Centre Civique du Comté.

Ce fut vraiment consolant de voir les jeunes des deux groupes ethniques coopérer dans un seul but — la piscine de l'île. Les groupes qui ont aidé sont: St. Andrew's Church Explorers sous la direction de Mme Joan Middlemiss, les United Church Explorers dirigés par Mme N. Beattie, les Etoiles de Notre-Dame sous Mme Shirley Campeau; les Guides dirigées par Odette Côté et l'abbé Gareau; les Scouts de Clarence Robidoux, plusieurs jeunes filles qui ont gardé l'anonymat, les 4 filles de M. et Mme René Lalonde, les 2 fils de M. et Mme Gaétan Rousselle, Géraldine Wattie, L. McCallum, H. Higgins et Debbie, Charlene et Dawn Cameron et leurs amies.

Les places commerciales qui ont prêté leur concours: McCoy's, Thompson's, Salon Luce, Valma's Beauty Salon, Grant's Mmes G. McLean, J. Bennett, Bakery, Banque de Montréal et de Commerce, les usines locales sous la direction de Tom Vine, la Légion Canadienne No. 81 avec Percy McGowan, Ted Buttons et des membres des Dames Auxiliaires et Huntingdon Dry Cleaners. Je désire remercier les responsables des églises qui ont annoncé l'événement.

Au nom du comité du Centre Civique du Comté, je crois exprimer les remerciements de tous pour le travail accompli, tâche qui n'est pas facile surtout pour ceux qui font du porte en porte.

Merci également à MM. Laberge et Lalonde et R. Dumouchel pour l'usage de leur emplacement comme quartier général. Les profits se chiffrent à $330. l'objectif à atteindre en est donc rapproché d'autant. Merci donc à tous les responsables.

Merci, M. l'éditeur pour les articles écrits avant la vente et pour l'espace d'aujourd'hui.

Sincèrement,

Kay Williams, prés. de la vente des roses.

Les jeunes et la foi: Convaincre et non forcer

17. Les jeunes sont jaloux de leur liberté: sollicités par des pensées diverses, voire contradictoires, ils craignent que leur soit ravi le privilège d'être eux-mêmes juges des options qu'ils doivent prendre. Cette crainte est particulièrement manifeste quand ils abordent les questions religieuses et elle explique une bonne part de leur comportement.

18. On ne saurait certes se contenter de condamner les abus auxquels les revendications de liberté peuvent conduire. L'acte de foi doit être de tous le plus libre. Vatican II a insisté avec une vigueur nouvelle sur ce point de la doctrine catholique. "Il est pleinement conforme au caractère propre de la foi, écrit le Concile, qu'en matière religieuse soit exclue toute espèce de contrainte de la part des hommes". Ces mots du Concile signifient que les pouvoirs publics doivent respecter la liberté religieuse des citoyens; ils impliquent aussi que dans l'enseignement même de la foi on ne porte pas atteinte à cette liberté. "Dans la propagation de la foi et l'introduction des pratiques religieuses, poursuit en effet le Concile, on doit toujours s'abstenir de toute forme d'agissements ayant un relent de coercition, de persuasion malhonnête ou simplement peu loyaux, surtout s'il s'agit de gens sans culture ou sans ressources. Une telle manière d'agir doit être regardée comme un abus de son propre droit et une entorse au droit des autres".

19. Les implications de la liberté religieuse dans l'éducation des jeunes doivent être, cependant, bien comprises. La liberté religieuse ne signifie évidemment pas que le jeune croyant pourrait s'abstenir de rechercher la vérité avec sincérité et persévérance, d'adhérer à la vérité dès qu'il la connait et de régler toute sa vie selon les exigences de cette vérité.

20. Quant à l'éducateur, respecter la liberté religieuse ne signifie pas pour lui qu'il néglige d'aider efficacement le jeune dans l'apprentissage de sa liberté ou qu'il renonce à se guider avec le type de fermeté qui s'impose aux divers stades de son développement. Le respect de la liberté religieuse suppose une loyauté intellectuelle totale, un souci de fournir la meilleure information possible, un désir de répondre sans faux-fuyant aux interrogations et aux doutes, mais il exige aussi qu'on enseigne l'unique religion du Christ avec la conviction que nourrit une foi indefectible. Comme le remarquait Martin Buber, le philosophe du dialogue, ce n'est pas endoctriner ou verser dans la propagande que d'offrir la clef du vrai et du juste avec l'assurance qu'on donne le meilleur de soi-même et qu'on rend le plus élevé des services. Le respect de la personne du jeune défend à l'éducateur de violenter la liberté de son disciple, mais ce même respect lui impose aussi d'offrir avec une conviction non dissimulée ce qu'il sait être le meilleur. En dernière analyse, d'ailleurs, l'éducation véritable est-elle autre chose qu'une offrande de soi-même ?

(A suivre)

Questions pour la réflexion :

1. — Que nous dit le Concile sur la liberté religieuse ?

2. — "Respecter la liberté" veut-il dire "laisser faire et ne rien dire" ?

3. — Pourquoi les parents doivent-ils éduquer leurs enfants dans la foi chrétienne, tout en respectant leur liberté?

Messe de minuit rythmée au Voilier

Samedi soir dernier, au Voi- tingdon, les jeunes ont pu se lier de la Jeunesse de Hun- ôétendre par de la danse et des conversations, au son de la musique moderne présentée par l'ensemble "Les Baladins", un orchestre formé de religieux étudiants en pédagogie de Montréal.

Le sommet de la soirée fut une messe célébrée à minuit dans la salle du Voilier, au son de la guitare, de la trompette et des chants rythmés. La messe était concélébrée par les abbés Fafard et Wallot; à l'occasion de la Fête des Mères, des roses furent offertes aux trois mères présentes, par la petite communauté chrétienne rassemblée à la Boite: environ cent personnes participèrent à cette messe rythmée, qui fut très appréciée des jeunes.

Le jour où un petit orchestre et un groupe de chant offriront leurs services, il sera sans doute possible de réaliser de telles messes de minuit plus souvent.

Donné à Huntingdon ce 21e jour de mai 1968.

JEAN OUELLETTE
Président de l'élection

ICI ET LA — dans la Ville

M. Armand Miron, candidat progressiste-conservateur dans Beauharnois

En effet, au cours de la convention progressiste-conservatrice du comté de Beauharnois qui avait lieu dimanche dernier à Valleyfield, M. Miron fut le seul à venir sur les rangs. Il représentera donc son parti au cours des prochaines élections.

Plusieurs partisans de Huntingdon assistaient à l'assemblée qui fut très enthousiaste. Tous appuieront le candidat officiel, homme très actif dans son milieu. M. Miron fait partie de nombreuses organisations locales; il est depuis quelques années, président de la Commission Scolaire Régionale Salaberry. Il est marié et père de deux enfants.

Assemblée annuelle

L'assemblée annuelle de la Caisse Populaire de Huntingdon aura lieu jeudi soir à 8 hres au sous-sol de la Caisse. Tous les sociétaires et le public sont cordialement invités. Quelques visas pour Terre des Hommes seront offerts comme prix de présence.

Tombola

C'est mardi prochain qu'aura lieu à Herdman la tombola annuelle au profit de la paroisse. M. le curé Marcil espère vous voir en grand nombre. (Voir annonce).

Au Voilier

Samedi soir, le 1er juin un chansonnier très connu sera l'artiste invité à la boite à chanson. Il s'agit de Claude Gauthier, nul doute que plusieurs voudront l'entendre et passer une soirée agréable en sa compagnie. Comme toujours un goûter gratuit sera servi à la fin de la soirée.

Accident mortel

Un accident survenu dimanche soir près de Valleyfield a coûté la vie à M. Lucien McSween, 58 ans, de Valleyfield et au Père Gérard Cholette, résidant à Doréa. En plus quatre personnes ont été blessées grièvement dans cet accident impliquant trois voitures.

La Terre des Hommes

Quelques résidents locaux ont profité de la fin de semaine pour se rendre aux îles malgré la mauvaise température. Ils y ont retrouvé malgré de nombreux changements dans les pavillons la même ambiance que l'an dernier et se proposent d'utiliser leurs visas au maximum encore cette année.

A Ormstown

Notre chorale mixte se rendait dimanche dernier à Ormstown pour la messe de onze heures trente. Dimanche prochain, le groupe se rendra à la cathédrale de Valleyfield pour y exécuter le chant. Pour répondre à d'autres invitations, nos représentants iront aussi à des dates non déterminées à Howick, Lachine, Outremont et autres endroits. Ce groupe contribue donc à faire connaître notre milieu et mérite notre appréciation.

L'exposition d'Ormstown

Cet événement annuel qui attire des milliers de visiteurs approche à grands pas. Les responsables s'affairent pour que tout soit prêt à recevoir les foules.

Activités chez les Chevaliers

Quinze membres seront initiés aux 2e et 3e degré de l'ordre les 25 et 26 mai à Châteauguay. Nous pouvons être fiers de nos frères Chevaliers qui ont accompli un beau travail pour renforcir notre Conseil local. Ceci est un message du publiciste Roland Saumier.

Huntingdon Academy News

by Michael Scott

Many events have ocrurred during the last couple of weeks at the Academy.

In sports there was a basketball tournament. There were two teams, boys and girls. The girls, unfortunately lost all of their games. The boys won 1 and lost 4. Softball has started and 15 teams have been organized. Games are being played at noon hour. The girls play in the schoolyard, while the boys play in the park near the school.

Grade 7 English classes put on a play called, "Cinderblossom". They put on their first performance on Friday afternoon for the school in the gymnasium. The second showing is to be on Wednesday evening, for adults. Admission is going to be free. The play is being conducted by Mrs. S. Leaman, the grade 7 English teacher.

Some of the characters are: — Cinderblossom played by Heather Taylor; Friendly One by Donna Laberge; So-so Grumpy by Diane Dear; Prickly Pear by Dawn Ebbet; Sad Lotus by Mona Pringle; Dragon Boy by Peter Cameron; Emperor by Peter Cyngot; Prime Minister by Jamie Henderson; Fairy Godmother by Connie Beattie; Property men by Allan Shearer, Lee Graham and John Watson.

The exchange student plan is completed and all our boys enjoyed their visit to Ste. Anne de la Pocatière. I'm sure that the other boys enjoyed their trip to Huntingdon. Some of the boys had never been away from home before, and some only once or twice. It was a wonderful experience for all.

A school holiday was proclaimed for the pupils on May 20th for Victoria Day. It was unfortunate, that the weather was unpleasant.

The grade fives are going to take a trip to Ottawa to see a museum All are looking forward to the trip. They are to leave on May 24th.

The C.V.T.A. met in the school on Thursday, May 16th. Mr. Réné Levesqhe spoke to the teachers from all over the Valley.

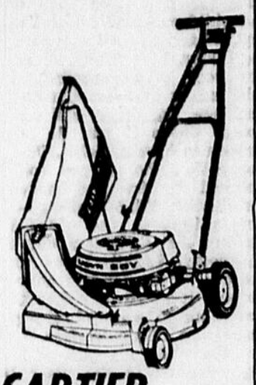

That is about all the news from the Academy this week. Read future Gleaners for more news.

Beaver

We are gad to report that Mr Maitland Platt is feeling improved after his return from the Huntingdon County Hospital.

The lates. story these days is the one about the two tigers who met in the jungle after not having seen each other for some time. Said the first tiger, "Where in the world have you been? — You smell like gasoline."

The business people in every community pay a large percentage of local taxes. Their stocks and stores tell citizens and visitors alike whether the town is a progressive, prosperous community or is in the doldrums. The local and district business firms advertising on this page are doing their utmost these days to promote the interests of the community by stocking a wide variety of goods at reasonable prices. They are entitled to your support, and by supporting them you are helping yourself and your own community. In many instances prices are standard everywhere, so there is actually no object in spending money for transportation to shop in other centres. You'll do your shopping more successfully in your own community with your own local merchants.

J. MELVILLE BROWN & SONS
Howick, Quebec
It was in the Summer of 1957 that J. Melville Brown, who had been a farmer himself for many years was chosen to handle the sales and service for Howick and district, for the complete line of John Deere Farm Machinery. With his knowledge of farming and farm machinery, Mr. Melville Brown was, and still is in a position of being able to help farmers with their farm implement problems.
Today, after twenty-one years in business, Mr Brown's two sons, Ross and Donald are also associated with the firm, and J. Melville Brown & Sons have built up an enviable reputation for sales and service of high quality farm machinery.
Besides handling the complete line of John Deere machinery, this firm has a selection of good used and rebuilt farm equipment. So we might suggest to farmers that if they are in the need of any particular type of machinery, that they visit J. Melville Brown & Sons first. The firm is located on Highway No. 4 just a short way West of Howick.

It Has Occurred To Me

Had a real adventure a short time ago — an appointment with the dentist for one of the children. Arrived in Valleyfield and stopped at a parking meter. Fine. These meters are very accommodating. A label states that for your convenience, the meter will also accept dimes if you do not happen to have a nickel. Very thoughtful. Put in my coin, checked the time and headed for dentist. While waiting — and waiting in the office I realized that an hour wouldn't be enough. Luckily I was not the one in the dentist's chair, because it would be rather incongruous to leap up half way through a filling to dash for the meter. At any rate, while my son was in the chair I went down and fed the monster.

After the appointment we had some shopping to accomplish down town. Drove to main street and found another unoccupied meter, though it was quite far from central, and parked. In the midst of shopping I realized once more that it was feeding time for the hungry meter. (There is also a little notice on these meters that the police will not turn the handle of the meter for you. So after you put in your nickel and turn the handle, don't bother dropping in another in hopes someone will turn the handle when your time runs out.)

Now, I don't know how many of you are brave enough to not bother with all this foolishness, but I've never had a ticket of any kind and have no desire to get one. Also have no idea what the fine is for overparking. Can anyone fathom the reasoning behind a one hour parking meter? Have any of you ever waited to see a doctor, lawyer, or dentist and had your total time run less than an hour? Anyone knows that a leisurely lunch at a restaurant runs to slightly more than an hour from the time you leave the car until you return to it. As for a beauty salon, forget it!

Yes, I found it to be an adventure — a revelation in the non-reasoning of public officials who obviously do not need to use the product of their certain type of logic. Could you tell me what would be unreasonable about a meter that gives one hour for a nickel and two hours for a dime.

On returning to the car for the third time, I gave up and headed home. There's enough aggravation in the world without looking for more.

What Will It Cost?...

tax in order to defray its rising costs. Not the least of these is the tremendous costs of the permanent operation of Man and his World. This would not be anything new for North America. New York has both a state and city tax but we have a unique problem.

Costs of suburban living have risen tremendously. If local residents had also to pay a special tax for the privilege of working in Montreal, the breaking point will probably have been reached.

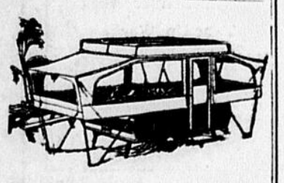

Frankly, I do not think the problem is a real one. I have great confidence in Mr. Drapeau's ability to raise a painless income. For example, his lottery seems destined to be a fair success. The big question seems to be who is going to pay for Man and his World? And the answer is, we are.

However, it will once again be a painless payment. In fact, I will go out on a limb and predict that Man and his World will show a profit, that's right a profit in its first year of operation.

This is not as rash a statement as one might think. Figures have just been released outlining the revenue of Expo 67. Food and beverage alone brought in a gross income of are you ready, over 85 million dollars. Expo took 12% off the top and so made a net profit of almost 10 million for these items alone. If you can imagine it, seven restaurants at Expo had a gross take of more than 2 million each. One Bar-B-Q concession averaged $12,000 per day. You can imagine the kind of profit available from such an income.

The fact is that Mr. Drapeau has cut prices and will of course, have fewer total visitors. Nevertheless, this man of vision will probably show a net profit of several million dollars this year.

No, don't worry about a City income tax for Montreal. Between his lottery and his fair, Mr. Drapeau has found his golden goose. A double barrelled one.

VETVILLE VIEWS

By Nellie Jalbert, Phone 692-2044

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. M. Chambers, Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. Grimsdale, who have all recently been admitted to hospital. Also to Mr. and Mrs. W. Pears, smitten with the flu virus.

If rumours are true, Vetville is to be enlarged.

I was glad to hear that Mrs. Emily Powis is back in Vetville after several months in hospital.

Isn't it nice to be able to sit outside in the sun again. Unfortunately I have to keep one leg propped up because of phlebitis, but 27 years ago both legs were affected.

H. S. BILLINGS HIGH NOTES

by Barbara Allen

Wednesday, Grade 11 and 12 were treated to a talk given by Dean Halla of Plattsburg. He talked of success in life as not necessarily meaning two cars, a $100,000 house full of labor saving gadgets and a backyard swiming pool. Success could in fact mean the realization of a worthwhile goal, one that would benefit others instead of merely making life "easy" for oneself. He urged the student to go out and actively seek worthwhile goals, and then to achieve these goals. One way or one definite asset to a full productive life is a large vocabulary; a vocabulary which encompasses every possible facet of life and thus, can better communicate ideas and thoughts to all others. One of the most successful men Dean Halla knows, is a lobster fisherman in Maine. In the question period after his talk, one student put a question to him asking if his idea of success was a lobster fisherman and if; to be successful, we must emulate the lobster fisherman. The answer, I thought was quite good. Mr Halla replied that for him, the lobster man, success was found in his work, in lobster fishing. However, not everyone finds success in what his neighbor does, likewise everyone does not discover fulfillment in lobster fishing. Success is a highly individual matter. He used this fisherman merely as an example to illustrate the idea of personal success. Thank-you Mr. Wesselow, for arranging these visits and talks for the senior grades.

One point of interest has been brought to my attention recently. Students who employ the grounds of Maplewood Presbyterian Church for smoking and various other activities during noon hour have been abusing the grounds with something akin to deliberate and destructive malevolence. A window has been broken, the shrubbery stamped into the ground in areas, garbage has been strewn all over the yard, not to mention sandwich fillings smeared over the wall and drawings scrawled over the wood and brick. So far damage has come to approximately $145.00 and must be paid by Church members and congregation. It seems to me whoever is causing this has little respect for the feelings of others much less their property. To deface a Church and surroundings is about the lowest thing a person can come to I will not continue on the subject of their obviously neglected upbringing but I will say that I am ashamed that students from H.S. Billings can be so malicious.

Mr. Green once more extended his gracious hospitality to the members of the Junior Boys' Basketball Team and friends at a team celebration party at his farm. It was reportedly a very enjoyable evening.

That's all for now.
