World News In Brief

Ottawa — (P) — A 1956 deficit appears in prospect for the publicly-owned Canadian National Steamships.

Main government estimates for the coming fiscal year, tabled Thursday in the Commons, included $200,000 to cover a CNS deficit for the current calendar year.

There was no provision for any CNS deficit. The railway company is believed to have at least broken even in 1955.

Sydney, Australia — (Reuters) — A federal arbitration court here Thursday declared illegal the strike of 24,000 Australian dockworkers, now in its fifth day.

Penalties can now be imposed on the striking stevedores for every day the strike continues.

The court acted on an application from shipowners for an interim judgment banning the strike.

Ossining, N.Y. — (AP) — John Francis Roche, 28-year-old slayer of at least four persons, died Thursday night in Sing Sing prison's electric chair.

Roche, one of the most savage killers in the crime history of New York city, spread terror in the spring of 1954 when he raped and murdered two teen-agers within two months in a two block radius. In between he murdered a cabdriver. He was sentenced to death Nov. 30, 1954, for the second of the two sex crimes — The June slaying of 14-year-old Dorothy (Sugar) Westwater.

Gaza — (AP) — Egypt complained to the United Nations mixed armistice commission that an Israeli patrol opened fire on an Egyptian post east of Gaza early Thursday. An Egyptian spokesman said the fire was returned and the exchange continued for half an hour. No casualties were reported.

Toronto — (P) — Toronto police recently placed a recruiting poster for policemen on a sidewalk bulletin board at headquarters. It listed 13 duties expected of policemen. Read the 11th duty: "Prostitution." Red-faced officials Thursday explained the duty meant the investigation and policing of prostitution.

Thus the timing of the Queen's visit is politically significant. It could help promote Commonwealth ideas among the Nigerians.

Ottawa Offers Half Cost Of National Health Insurance

OTTAWA — (CP) — Provincial cabinets will consider a federal government offer to pick up half the bill for the initial parts of a national health insurance program.

The central government proposed to the federal-provincial health insurance conference Thursday to throw in up to $180,000,000 a year for hospital and diagnostic services, but got no immediate acceptances or rejections.

The four-day conference ended with provincial health and finance ministers saying they will lay the federal plan before their governments. No deadline for replies was set.

Under the federal offer, announced simultaneously by Prime Minister St. Laurent in the Commons and by Health Minister Martin to the conference, is a sliding scale of treasury payments to provinces for the services covered.

Under it, the treasury would pay as high as 71 per cent of an individual province's expenses and as low as 45 per cent, depending on how that province's costs relate to the across-the-country average. The high figure is for Newfoundland, the low for British Columbia.

Under the formula, the federal government's general 50-per-cent payment would be made up this way for each province:

Twenty-five per cent based on that province's per capita costs; the remaining 25 per cent based on the national per capita average.

The formula, federal officials said, was designed to avoid great swings in percentage payments between provinces and also to encourage them to hold down costs.

Features of the federal proposal include:

1. It would cover standard ward hospital care and X-ray, laboratory and other—unspecified—diagnostic services.

2. It would take in active illness patients, maternity cases and chronic and convalescent patients, but not mental and tuberculosis cases.

3. Provinces could accept either or both of the hospital and diagnostic services, with the federal government preferring diagnosis for a province taking only one.

4. To get federal aid, a province would have to make the service universally available.

5. The individual province has complete freedom to determine when and how it will participate within the federal limitations.

6. The federal government reiterated its previously announced stand that a majority of the provinces with a majority of the population must enter before Ottawa participates.

This demands one of the big provinces of Ontario and Quebec signing up.

Provinces anxious for a federal-provincial scheme have been Ontario, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta, with Newfoundland unofficially counted in as a likely signer.

However, senior conference spokesmen for Ontario and Quebec were non-committal about their signing prospects, in talking to reporters after the meeting.

Health Minister Paquette of Quebec told a reporter he expects his government will study the federal plan "with the best possible spirit of co-operation."

Montreal — (CP) — Vladimir Nekassoff, 35, today was found guilty of the torture-slaying of 10-month-old Susy Timm. He was sentenced to be hanged.

Miss Jobidon, 23, of Quebec City, was critically injured in the crash that killed the pilot, the co-pilot and one passenger. One other passenger suffered broken legs, but 13 passengers escaped uninjured.

The plane was on a scheduled flight from Knob Lake, Que., to Sept-Isles, iron-ore mining terminal about 350 miles northeast of Quebec City. It crashed on Lake Achouapi, about 196 miles north of Sept-Isles.

The balance covered in the report came from Canada, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and Sweden. They reported a total of $7,223,000 worth of arms exported to Israel and $6,370,000 to the five Arab states.

United Nations, N.Y. — (AP) — The United Nations today published a survey reporting that 10 Western powers have shipped $22,000,000 worth of arms to Israel and her Arab enemies since 1951.

The survey, published in the UN periodical, Commodity Trade Statistics, says Israel got $8,986,000 of the arms and the five Arab states of Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Syria got $13,029,000 worth.

The figures, however, did not include aircraft shipments; Britain's $23,000,000 annual subsidy to Jordan's Arab Legion; any arms from France.

The survey, ending with mid-1955, also made no mention of Communist Czechoslovakia's agreement to sell Egypt $80,000,000 worth of arms. Nor did it mention Israel's plea to the United States and Britain for $50,000,000 worth of arms to keep her in balance with the Red-supplied Arabs.

The survey says the countries involved reported only "ordnance" shipments—"firearms of war, self-propelled guns, tanks, revolvers, pistols, projectiles and ammunition."

U.S. shipments to Israel and the five Arab states were reported at only $359,000 for the 4½-year period—$13,000 to Israel, $249,000 to Lebanon, $86,000 to Iraq, $11,000 to Saudi Arabia and nothing to Egypt or Syria.

Britain said she sent $1,750,000 worth to Israel and $6,313,000 to the Arabs—$3,451,000 to Iraq, $1,406,000 to Egypt, $730,000 to Syria, $726,000 to Lebanon and nothing to Saudi Arabia.

Each of the three governors explained with pride to the Record yesterday that his state shipped a large portion of its native maple crop to the other two, but imported little from anywhere.

Canadian Wheat May Find Russian Market

OTTAWA — (CP) — Federal trade officials are expected to explore the possibilities of a new market for Canadian wheat along Russia's Pacific coast when they get together here next week with a Soviet trade delegation.

The formal negotiations may produce a Canada-Russia "most favored nation" trade agreement.

Trade Minister Howe announced Thursday in the Commons that the Russian delegation will arrive in the capital Tuesday. It is expected to number about six men headed by S. A. Borisov, first deputy minister of foreign trade.

Signing of a most favored nation agreement would mean that Canada would reduce tariffs on the relatively small amount of imports from Russia to make them equal to tariffs prevailing on similar goods from the United States, Britain and other big exporting countries.

All members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade have exchanged most favored nation treatment.

However, a government official said that all trade in Russia is conducted by the state and most favored nation tariffs do not mean the same thing as in Canada. Thus Canada would ask for something additional from Russia under any treaty.

The official did not elaborate but it is believed Canada will propose that Russia buy certain quantities of wheat. Until now Russia has said it cannot make substantial purchases of wheat until it earns dollars through sales to this country.

A possibility exists, however, that the Soviet Union may find it good business to buy Canadian wheat for the Russian population along its Pacific coast. Grain for this area now must be shipped across Asiatic Siberia.

Negotiations are expected to continue for some time before any trade agreement can be worked out. They are a follow-up of talks initiated in Moscow last October by External Affairs Minister Pearson during his visit there.

Canadian negotiators at the talks will be headed by Mitchell Sharp, associate deputy minister of trade, who accompanied Mr. Pearson to Moscow.

It was an invitation for another gun to enter the fray.

Record Sponsors King Fowler In New York Syrup Contest; Easy Quebec Victory Predicted

By HUGH DOHERTY

Canada's Maple Monarch is going to engage the Yanks in a battle of syrup and sugar.

A 58-year-old farmer from Kingsbury — 25 miles north of Sherbrooke — will carry the Maple Leaf into the firing line against Vermont, New Hampshire and New York states. The reigning Sugar King, and a former Syrup King, he will be sponsored by the Sherbrooke Record.

Last night, Otis A. Fowler, winner of so many Dominion and Provincial maple product championships that he can't remember or count them all, accepted a challenge from New York's Governor Averell Harriman to prove that Quebec maple syrup is still sweeter and lighter than anything the U.S. can produce. He anticipates an easy victory.

Harriman threw down the challenge at his weekly press conference in Albany, N.Y., yesterday when questioned on charges by Sherbrooke producers that most of the maple syrup sold under American labels is imported from Quebec.

He told newsmen yesterday that New York would welcome a Quebec entry in the annual New York State Maple Sugar Festival at Cooperstown, N.Y., on April 6, where New York, Vermont and New Hampshire had intended to fight it out alone for top honors. It was an invitation for another gun to enter the fray.

Fowler has plenty of ammunition to sling. His 4,000-tree sugar bush on Lone Oak Farm has won more maple honors in its two-generation history than any other bush in Quebec. He has reigned as both Sugar and Syrup King at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto on several occasions and was last crowned Syrup King in 1953. His present sugar monarchy embraces both hard and soft sugar.

Yesterday, Harriman joined in a loud chorus with Governor Joseph B. Johnson, of Vermont, and Governor Lane Dwinell, of New Hampshire, to deny that most New England maple syrup was a weak solution of Quebec syrup and cane sugar.

The denial immediately created a puzzle for Quebec producers — what happens to the 1,500,000 gallons of bulk Quebec syrup exported to the three states to augment the combined native production of 1,021,000 gallons?

The 1,500,000 gallons represents 75% of the annual Quebec maple crop which local authorities report is shipped to the U.S. each year.

Yesterday, Dwinell indicated cautiously that the whole maple syrup controversy was an effort to indicate "a pride in our own achievements. I have no desire to offend our good neighbors and friends in Canada, and we are not trying to take for ourselves what is not our own."

Vermont's Johnson stated flatly: "It is not true that Canadian maple syrup is sold here under American labels."

Only New York admitted some importing of Quebec syrup. State Press Secretary Walter Mordant said that "most of the Canadian maple syrup imported here would be a finished product—designated under Canadian labels—and sold through commercial channels." He said that some Quebec syrup was imported into the state in bulk, but that the quantity was not large, and most of it was trans-shipped to Vermont. He added that he didn't know of any New York firm importing large amounts of Canadian syrup for processing under American labels.

Harriman started the whole thing by asking his legislature to designate the sugar maple the official state tree. Johnson and Dwinell claimed the maple for their own states. Eastern Townships producers yesterday were quick to point out that all states imported most of their maple syrup from Quebec.

Each of the three governors explained with pride to the Record yesterday that his state shipped a large portion of its native maple crop to the other two, but imported little from anywhere.

Johnson pointed out: "Why, Vermont maple syrup is on the best menus in New Hampshire and New York." Dwinell expounded: "There is no question about it; New Hampshire produces a large amount of maple syrup that

Oh! Oh!

Maine Stabs Us

A new twist in the maple syrup controversy came from the State of Maine yesterday.

In Augusta, Everett F. Gration, of the State Development Department, charged that Canada gets 750,000 of its 25,000,000 pounds from Maine trees. Canadian crews, he said, come over the border every year to tap and cook the sap.

This, it was discovered, is true. In exchange for an agreement to provide manpower to fight forest fires, Canadians are allowed to tap trees in Maine.

A Canadian official, however, offered the opinion that 750,000 pounds out of a production of 25,000,000 was "insignificant."

Canada Swamps Austria

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy. — (P) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, scoring almost at will, overwhelmed a helpless Austrian team 23-0 today for Canada's second straight victory in the elimination round of the winter Olympic hockey competition.

Winger Paul Knox led the scoring with five goals, three of them in the first period.

The victory, one of the most one-sided in Olympic and world championship hockey virtually assured Canada of advancement to the final six-team round beginning Monday.

Ten players took part in today's onslaught on Alfred Puel, agile Austrian goalie, who managed to stop 53 of the Canadians' 76 shots on goal.

Forwards Bob White, Jim Logan, Charlie Brooker and George Scholes and defenceman Art Hurst scored two goals apiece and single tallies were registered by defencemen Howie Lee and centre Ken Laufman.

Canada led 6-0 at the end of the first period, added 11 in the second to make it 17-0 and then scored six more in the third.

Knox, in addition to his five goals, assisted on two others, while Laufman, doing a great play-making job at centre ice, helped on six goals.

Keith Woodall, 28-year-old goalie from Elmira, Ont., made his first appearance in the nets for the Dutchmen in Europe and had a quiet time, handling only 14 shots.

Today's game had few distinctions beyond the Canadian scoring spree. At no time did the Austrians launch a serious, sustained attack.

Every member of the Canadian team was listed in the scoring column, either on goals or assists, with the exception of the goalie.

Canada's next game is against Italy Saturday and, although they will be facing a number of former Canadians, they are not expected to have much difficulty.

Minnesota. — (AP) — Two Lutheran ministers have been unfrocked and a third declared innocent by a special convention of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest, backing up recommendations of church committees which had tried them on heresy charges.

Voted out of the ministry Thursday night were Rev. Geo. Crist Jr., 31, former pastor at Dunham, Wis., and Rev. Victor K. Wrigley, 36, former pastor at Brookfield, Wis. Both earlier were found guilty of heresy.

Ruled innocent was Rev. John Gerberding, 33, former pastor of Menomonee Falls, Wis., who also was acquitted in his earlier trial. All had been accused of doctrinal deviation on such matters as the virgin birth of Christ and the resurrection of Christ.

The three were asked at the conclusion of their trials to turn in their ordination certificates to synod headquarters, but only Pastor Crist complied. He has been studying at the University of Iowa since his suspension Aug. 2, 1955.

Proposes Help For Students

Ottawa — (P) — A government supporter's proposal that the federal treasury be used to help needy university students finance their education only provoked a lot of talk in the Commons.

A resolution offered Thursday by A. H. Hollingsworth (L-York Centre) requested the government to consider setting up a system of national bursaries and scholarships.

Members of all parties gave the proposal support, including Opposition Leader Drew. Several of Mr. Hollingsworth's fellow Liberal backbenchers spoke on the resolution but not one cabinet minister.

After 17 members discussed it debate was adjourned without a vote being taken. That moved the suggestion to the bottom of a long list of private members' resolutions and it likely will not come up again this session.

RCMP May Get Ayles

Saint John, N.B. — (P) — Two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Thursday were reported preparing to leave the province to be present at the Feb. 1 hearing in Phoenix, Ariz., of Clifford Edward Ayles, wanted on a warrant charging murder.

RCMP in Fredericton neither denied nor confirmed the report. Also unconfirmed was a report that Harold W. Cunningham, Saint John Tuberculosis Hospital business manager who was shot through the neck during robbery of the hospital payroll Oct. 20, would accompany them.

Ayles has been charged by RCMP here with the knife slaying of hospital ambulance driver Allison Graves and the wounding with intent of Cunningham.

The letter is expected to be made public eventually, perhaps when the president and his advisors have had time to prepare a reply.

It is believed to have been discussed at Thursday's meeting of the National Security Council and some word of it has presumably been given to congressional leaders.

According to the best available information, the major purpose of the communication from Bulganin, whom the president met at the "summit" conference in Geneva last July, was to lay out the treaty proposal and suggest that the making of such a pact between the world's two leading atomic powers would contribute to the development of an atmosphere of peace and confidence.

It appeared unlikely that Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles would be seriously interested in carrying through such a proposition, however courteous the president may respond to it. Both Eisenhower and Dulles are known to be opposed to any measures which in their view would create a false sense of security in the world.

One of the most difficult tasks in this world is to convince a woman that even a bargain costs money.

DOLLIE IS MISSED
By Alma Sioux Scarberry
When Ooofie-Gooofie leaped into Daddie Doofer's grocery store the place was in such an uproar nobody paid any attention to the amazing animal with the blue fur, yellow polka dots, and kangaroo-like pouch. Ooofie looked very worried. When he nuzzled Mommie Doofer's hand and pointed out the door she patted his head absently and said, "Be quiet, Ooofie."

He hadn't liked to leave Dollie alone in the schoolhouse in the big box but when she had told him to go get Mommie and Daddie he had understood and obeyed. Dollie, who was in the box all ready to make believe she was being sawed in half by Dan the Magic Man, had been completely forgotten when Aunt Millie rushed in and said her house had been robbed and to arrest Dan.

And now Hammie and Sammie Spoofer had shown the crowd the blanket and silver knife, fork and spoon they had found in Dan's old rig in Sheriff Gittum Hooper's barn. Aunt Millie had identified her things. Mean old Woolfie Woofie, the boy who wasn't kind to animals, was the only one who laughed about it. He was saying with his mean old laugh, "I told you so. I told you you'd find them things in that there ole wagon. He sure can make things disappear all right. Magic man, ha ha!"

And Sheriff Gittum was roaring, "I told you that there ole feller was guilty. After all, Aunt Millie saw a man in a high silk hat an' a ole long greatcoat runnin' from the scene of the crime. He's the only feller in Dooferville with a silly git-up like that there."

Daddie Doofer sighed sadly and Mommie said, almost crying, "I just can't believe Dan would do a thing like that. He seems so good and kind." And Sammie Spoofer yelled loyally, "We got to get to the bottom of this. Dan NEVER did it." His stepbrother Hammie added, "There's something mighty funny goin' on around here. It just don't make sense."

"Dry up, you little fellers," roared their father with one of his mightiest roars. I guess I know my own business. I ain't no amateur sheriff."
By that time Ooofie-Gooofie was getting pretty desperate. He was pushing Daddie Doofer very hard, and pointing to the door and making strange worried sounds. Suddenly Daddie said, "Where's Dollie, Mommie? She isn't here." Mommie let out a little scream.

Well! It was getting high time somebody remembered Dollie!

Annual Asbestos Concert —

Harmony Band Scores Success

Members of the Asbestos Harmony Band scored an outstanding success at their well-attended annual concert held in the Asbestos Theatre, prolonged applause greeting each number of the program.

Over 40 musicians were assembled on the large stage, under the direction of Yvonne Bolduc, L.Sc., S.E.P. Roger Grimard, president of the Harmony Band, gave the address of welcome in both English and French and introduced both Mr. Bolduc and P. A. Filteau, who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening.

The program opened with O Canada and God Save The Queen, followed by the Military Symphony in four parts, then the Overture to L'italienne a Alger, by Rossini.

The first guest of the evening was Leo Boucher, a well-known singer, who is also assistant leader of the Harmony Band. Besides these occupations, Mr. Boucher is a teacher of music and also is director and teacher of the Asbestos Cadet Band. He directed the band in the Ballet Parisien, by Offenbach, in which the five sections of the orchestra brought the versatility of the band into play.

The guest artist was Marcel Marcotte, of Sherbrooke, conductor of the Sherbrooke Philharmonic Band and also a teacher of music. Mr. Marcotte, a former student at the Quebec Conservatory of Music, chose the Concertino, by C. M. Von Weber, and the band joined in the background music for this work.

The members of the band then swung into David Rose's famous Holiday for Strings. Real Jutra played the trumpet solo, the Londerly Air, accompanied by the band. Real is still in the Arts and Trade School but has already made a mark that many envy. He holds a musical scholarship from the Provincial Band Festival held in Asbestos in June, 1955, and is a member of the Junior Band and also a pupil of Mr. Bolduc. In fact all the winners of scholarships or bursaries have been pupils of Mr. Bolduc.

After the intermission, Mr. Filteau introduced a novel selection for the program, a quartet of clarinets, two clarinets playing the melody and the other two the harmony. In this selection, entitled Blues, by S. Turner Jones, the soloists were G. Letourneau, formerly of the St. Hyacinthe Harmony Band, J. G. Courtois, summer winner of the 1953 scholarship, Emile Dubois, professor of music and teacher of the Junior Band of Asbestos, and Elie Elias, a popular orchestra leader and veteran member of the band.

This ushered in the Bugler's Holiday, by Leroy Anderson, with the solo work being entrusted to Mr. Boucher, Gerald Lambert, a Molson scholarship winner for 1954, and little Marc Bolduc, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bolduc and brother of the director.

Although Marc is only 13 years old he has accomplished a lot. He was a scholarship winner in 1954 and at the Band Festival in June won the Archambault Trophy. The band really showed it could romp through Oklahoma, by Richard Rogers.

The last soloist on the program was the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collard, who was the Molson Trophy winner for 1955. Jerry played an adaptation of the Interlude by J. J. Morrisey which was especially arranged for alto saxophone by Marcel Marcotte.

The program was brought to a close by the spirited Sleigh Ride, by Leroy Anderson, the bandmen really getting into the mood of the piece.

Following the concert, light refreshments were served to the entertainers and guests of the association.

Club Problems Are Discussed At Boundary Rotary

Rock Island — Discussions on membership, attendance, fellowship and programs, featured the regular meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, held at the Del Monty Hotel. President Beverly Haselton presided.

C. R. Darby pointed out that there were 90 major classifications of Rotary and that only about 20 were represented in the local club. He stated that the club should be considering the addition of new members meeting the standards of Rotary and felt that there were several good possibilities to increase the club's membership.

C. R. MacLean said that fellowship was not a matter for a committee, but rather a matter of the attitude of every member of the club. Guests must be made to feel that they belong and that they are welcome. In his opinion, the club was doing very well in that respect, and the regular appearance of members from Sherbrooke and Newport seemed to confirm that opinion.

In reviewing the programs of the preceding six months, E. J. Struthers said that the idea of having one member responsible for the programs for a month had seemed to work out very well. He also said that the club had had speakers from many parts of the world and that they had all been entertaining and instructive.

For the first six months of the present Rotary year, the local club stood third in the District with an attendance average of 90.88 per cent according to the report given by Earl Bushnell. He mentioned the necessity of regular attendance, the value of make-ups, and asked for the members' cooperation in keeping the attendance on a high level.

Paddles At 20 Paces!

To the ramparts men, we're being invaded!

Nothing is sacred anymore, not even the maple tree and maple syrup.

Not only does Governor Averell Harriman want to make Canada's maple tree the official tree of New York State, but our border neighbors in three states are in a great old hassle about which state produces the best maple syrup.

You say this shouldn't bother us much? You ask who cares what they do in New York, Vermont and New Hampshire anyway?

But wait! But wait, indeed! This sort of plagerism must be halted at once. No telling where it could spread. Next thing they'll be thinking they can play hockey.

One thing we'll say about the three governors. They listened politely when it was explained that maple syrup wasn't just a product of the Eastern Townships; that it was something of a traditional delicacy; that sugaring-off time was an integral part of our spring social season.

But there were some doubts — doubts, mind you — when it was suggested that not only did the Eastern Townships produce the BEST maple syrup, but shipped 75 per cent of the "world's biggest" crop of it to the very states that were arguing about it. This could mean war!

Canada's Place

Recent remarks by T. A. Rice, president of The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in which he urged more intensive manufacturing at home and the establishment of branch plants abroad certainly make more pleasant reading to the Canadian people than those made earlier by Mr. Fowler, the general manager of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association in which he envisaged the future role of Canadians as hewers of wood and drawers of water, for the United States and industrial countries of the old world.

Mr. Rice proposes the establishment of the branch plants to serve formerly good export markets now threatened by the low-wage countries; and the intensified Canadian production to provide for the greater processing of more of our own resources for our own needs.

Self-sufficiency in anything can be carried to the point where it is self-defeating. But our import figures show, especially in respect to purchases of finished materials from the United States, that Canada can still go a long way in the development of its industrial production without incurring that risk.

Mr. Rice would have many factories which now are little more than assembly plants broaden out and produce their own components. In some European countries with populations much smaller than ours this is being done. There is no reason why it cannot be done here to a greater degree than at present.

Some of our larger companies, to be sure, are following the pattern already, especially in the automotive industry. The Canadian plants were originally established as assembly factories using parts imported from the United States. But, following an orderly process, they began purchasing or producing in this country more and more of their components until today, in the case of the more popular lines, their products are almost one hundred per cent Canadian. And they have followed an active policy of establishing branch plants abroad.

Their success should serve as an inspiration to other Canadian industries.

Timely Visit

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's visit to Washington will not eliminate policy differences between Britain and the United States on the major issues of the cold war. But if it narrows them in any material way, it will prove worth while.

The existence of differences is natural and should never be cause for alarm. No two peoples ever see world problems in exactly the same light. But it is important to keep differences between allies to a reasonable minimum.

Leaders of both Britain and the United States have always understood this. This is attested by the fact that Eden's current visit is the seventh Anglo-American meeting of government heads since World War II ended.

The moment for another could hardly be more fitting. Communism's political and economic offensive, thwarted in Western Europe, has shifted to the Middle East and South Asia. In both areas it is capitalizing heavily on nationalistic and social ferment.

The situation in the Middle East is gravely aggravated by the danger of an Israeli-Arab conflict. Russia is operating recklessly in this zone, acting as if communism would be the gainer whether or not there is war.

Certainly Eden grasps the peril. We must assume that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles are equally aware of it. Yet the unhappy truth is that the West appears not to have the initiative either in the Middle East or in South Asia.

The need is for new imagination, new boldness. Policies designed for the days when communism was looking elsewhere will no longer do. All free peoples must voice hope that for the sake of the liberty they cherish, Sir Anthony and his American hosts find the beginnings of a fresher, more vigorous approach.

Eden's visit seems sure, too, to bolster his recently sagging prestige at home. He has been charged with many things, a good share of which add up to not doing enough. His trip to America is at least evidence he recognizes the need for action.

A meeting with Dulles and the President may serve as well to clear up any lingering misunderstandings that are left in the wake of Dulles' unfortunate plunge into the verbal jungles in the recent Life magazine article.

No one with the safety of the free world at heart could wish anything but prime success to the participants in this perhaps fateful seventh meeting of American and British leaders.

The Coffin Case

(From The Montreal Star)

The Supreme Court, hearing the Coffin case as if it had been an appeal brought before it in the regular course, has ruled five to two for dismissal of Coffin's appeal against conviction for murder. There is no precedent for the kind of hearing that was held in the Supreme Court, nor for its ruling, which is not a judgment but an advice to the government as to what course the court would have taken if the appeal had come to it through the normal channels. Further action in the Coffin case rests with the government.

The government has been eager to see that justice is done, or rather, that justice is not denied. It is nowhere suggested that when Mr. Justice Abbott denied Coffin's application for leave to appeal he was acting outside the rules of the court. The existing rules of the court permit an application of this kind to go before one judge, whose judgment is final unless he should decide to refer the application to the full bench.

Whatever disposition the government may now make of the Coffin case, it seems certain that it will amend the Supreme Court Act to change this rule as it applies to capital cases. Where a man's life is at stake it seems reasonable that a decision affecting his right of appeal from conviction should not rest in one man's hands. What would serve the ends of substantial justice in ordinary cases may not serve in capital cases in which judicial error, if sentence is carried out, is irrevocable.

GLADYS TAYLOR

WHAT EDEN WILL TALK ABOUT—Map above illustrates the three most important areas of discussion for Sir Anthony Eden when the British Prime Minister arrives in Washington for discussions with Secretary of State Dulles.

Britain Continues Air Leadership

(From the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

Whatever "it" is still is a top secret but when "it" is revealed to the public, the world seems destined for a great surprise. Sir Roy Dobson, managing director of Britain's A. V. Roe and Company, hinted at "it" last week, and the suggestion is that Britain has a new surprise for the world of aviation. And apparently whatever "it" is will be very speedy.

Sir Roy said: "We have an airplane, or something else, which will go through the air very fast—and it is going to get very hot."

Apparently the big problem for the designers is to produce machines that will fly when they really get hot. And from Sir Roy's remarks, it can be presumed that at least part of the great problem has been overcome. In popular terminology, planes have been made which can crack the sound barrier, that is, travel faster than the speed of sound. With increasing emphasis on speed, a new barrier has been determined, known as the great barrier. In simple terms, this refers to a speed at which the friction of the air will develop enough heat to affect the material used in the construction of the aircraft. It would seem that this is not necessarily a fixed speed, but rather one that would vary depending on the type of material built into the plane. Proper design also would be important, since this could have an effect one way or another in reducing the amount of friction.

We do not pretend to know too much about this, but even in the most general terms the possibility is really amazing. In the flight of the Comet III jet liner around the world recently, Great Britain has shown that it is not prepared to take a back seat to anyone in this matter of aircraft production. And in this announcement by Sir Roy Dobson, we find clear indication that Britain fully intends to take a leading part in aircraft development.

One other thought comes to us. Of late, we have heard much comment on the tremendous potential of Russia from a technological standpoint. Without belittling the obvious Russian advances in this respect, we feel that this announcement would indicate that the democracies are not trailing the communists in progress. We must never become complacent, but at the same time we should not under-rate our own abilities in technology nor in any other area of activity.

WATCH THAT SCHOOL BUS!

(From the Ottawa Journal)

Something new will be added to the Ontario Highway Traffic Act as from February 1. After that date all drivers of motor vehicles on highways outside a city, town or village must bring their vehicles to a full stop when overtaking a school bus stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging school children. This rule of the road has been in force for years in many states across the border.

Unlike the regulations in some states with which Ontario law does not provide that motorists coming in both directions must stop for a school bus. Only cars and trucks overtaking the school bus from the rear must stop, the word "overtakes" being used in all the regulations.

Traffic stopped for a school bus may only proceed when the bus resumes motion or when the flashing signals are no longer actuated.

BYGONE DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO

From the Record Files of Wednesday, Jan. 27, 1926.
The announcement from Prince Albert, Sask., that Premier King seemed assured of acclamation in that constituency, had been anticipated in Ottawa today. The Progressives were not expected to put up a candidate against him.

The fate of 54 men, members of the crews of the British freighters Antiope and Lari-star which have been floundering in a storm for the past three days, was still in doubt today.

Somewhat of a sensation was created in the Legislative Assembly yesterday when Hon. Jacob Nicol, provincial treasurer, rose to advance his budget speech by one day. When it was protested that according to law, the public accounts should be brought down eight days after the opening of the Legislature the minister said they were available and would be distributed immediately.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From the Record Files of Monday, Jan. 27, 1936.
Eastern Townships residents, hoping for a break in the frigid weather conditions, were disappointed today as the mercury descended to a record low for the winter of 30 degrees below zero and barometers grimly predicted cooler temperatures tomorrow.

D. Brown Hopkins, for several years one of the leaders on the Coaticook Municipal Council, was unanimously elected Mayor of the Town of Coaticook at municipal nominations here Saturday.

With sorrowful hearts the people of Sherbrooke await the dawning of tomorrow to share in the Empire's parting tribute to its beloved Sovereign King George the Fifth. Since the passing of "George the Beloved" on Monday evening last, Sherbrooke has honored the revered Monarch.

RUFFING POWER IS UNNECESSARY

Perhaps today's contract is slightly overbid, but it isn't at all unreasonable. South should make his game contract against normal breaks.

East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts and returns a trump. How should South proceed?

If South can ruff twice in the dummy, he is pretty sure to make 10 tricks. The trouble with such a plan, however, is that South must let the opponents take a club trick before he can ruff a club in dummy. The defenders will then lead a second trump, leaving only one trump in the dummy. Since South cannot manage to ruff twice in dummy with only one trump he must give up this attractive plan.

Because short suits will not work, South must rely on a long suit. The idea is to establish dummy's long diamonds.

At the second trick South can win the trump return in either hand, but he must return a diamond and play low from both hands. If trumps are returned, South wins in his own hand, leads a diamond to the ace, and ruffs a third round of diamonds with a high trump.

This establishes dummy's long suit, and South gets to dummy with a third round of trumps to the jack. This draws all of the outstanding trumps and puts declarer in dummy at the same time. Now he can cash the high diamonds, obtaining all of the tricks he needs for his game contract.

Eight Thoroughbreds Die In Fire At Tropical Park, Miami, Fla.

Miami, Fla. — (AP) — Workmen cleared away the charred ruins of a barn at Tropical Park race track today in the wake of a fire that killed eight thoroughbreds.

Horsemen awaited a final check of survivors to determine which animals were lost in the blaze Thursday afternoon. Only five have been positively identified.

Those known dead included Djedjah's Star and Casba, owned by N. L. Haymaker of Berryville, Va.; Cable Break, owned by H. W. Hayner of Plant City, Fla.; Classy Belle, owned by Jack Goldstein of Louisville, Ky.; and Babco, filly owned by L. T. Torres of San Juan, Puerto Rico. Aladyne, a two-year-old filly owned by Courtney Burton, was reported missing.

About 40 panic-stricken horses charged out of the park and galloped up heavily-travelled Bird road which parallels the track. Traffic was snarled and two minor automobile accidents resulted.

Cross-Country Race To Finn

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy. — (AP) — Veikko Hautilinen, a 31-year-old Finnish lumberman, today became the first champion of the seventh winter Olympic Games when he won the grueling 30-kilometre ski race in one hour, 44 minutes, 36 seconds.

The durable Finn won the 50-kilometre championship in the 1952 games at Oslo.

The 30-kilometre race, 18 miles, 1,128 yards was on the Olympic program this year for the first time.

Sweden's Sixten Jernberg was second in 1:44.30 with Russia's Pavel Koldthin third in 1:45.45. Russia made its debut in the winter Olympics with this event, and Koldthin gained the honor of winning the first medal for the powerful Soviet squad.

Russia's favored Vladimir Kuzin finished well down the list, making it sweet revenge for the winning Finn. Two years ago he was beaten by Kuzin in the world championship.

Value of the horses lost was placed at $50,000 to $75,000. "It was like a wild west show for a while," said police officer Billy Stephens, who helped round up the animals.

"Two of the horses were hit by cars and one of them had to be shot. Most of the rest of them were bleeding badly from cuts and bruises on the legs."

Tom Parker, chief investigator for the Florida state racing commission, said it was impossible to determine the cause of the blaze.

Berra Signs For Record Salary

New York — (AP) — New York Yankee catcher Larry (Yogi) Berra celebrated his seventh wedding anniversary Thursday by signing his 1956 contract, which calls for the highest salary ever paid a catcher in major league baseball.

Berra, the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1951, 1954 and 1955, received an undisclosed raise from his 1955 salary, estimated at $45,000. When writers guessed he will receive $50,000 this year, Berra said that was "close enough."

The figure tops the $42,500 for which catcher Roy Campanella of the Dodgers signed Thursday and only two Yankee players — Babe Ruth and Joe DiMaggio — ever received higher salaries. Ruth's top figure was $80,000 a year while DiMaggio received $100,000.

Berra, who will be 31 years old May 12, said he had little difficulty coming to terms with the Yankees.

Four games are slated over the weekend in the Kouri circuit. Tomorrow evening Windsor will journey to Rock Island while Brompton will be at Sherbrooke. On Sunday Richmond will be at Brompton and Sherbrooke goes to Windsor.

"The city has sent a formal application to the Olympic committee inviting them to hold the Games here," he said.

"We are presently having the subject of an Olympic-size sports stadium studied by the parks and recreation department."

Italians Lead Bobsled Races

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy. — (AP) — Italy's steel-nerved pilots, Umberto Dalla Costa and Eugenio Monti, grabbed commanding leads today at the halfway mark of the two-man bobsled championship of the seventh winter Olympic games.

95th Birthday Celebrated By Cookshire Lady

Cookshire—Mrs. Thomas Kingsley celebrated her 95th birthday on January 24, when, with her husband, she was "At Home" to their relatives and friends from near and far.

Numerous callers were received both afternoon and evening and in the early evening old songs were played and sung. Later, Mr. Kenneth French and Mr. Chicoine provided music for dancing, in which Mrs. Kingsley participated.

This venerable lady was the recipient of many gifts, cards, and long distance phone calls. The proverbial birthday cake was in evidence, and Mrs. Kingsley insisted that she help serve the refreshments.

National Postal Employees' Group To Convene Here

Over 750 delegates from the Yukon to Newfoundland will gather in Sherbrooke Sept. 19 to 22 for the triennial national convention of the Canadian Postal Employees Association.

The national association has 254 sections throughout Canada and each section names delegates according to its membership—one delegate for five to 50 members, two delegates for 75 to 100 members and three for 125 to 150 members.

The local branch has named the following executive to make plans for the convention which will be held at the Hotel Sherbrooke: President, Godfrey Cote; vice-president, Roland Pelouquin; secretary, Albert Foucault; treasurer, Francois Rousseau; publicity, Albert Foucault; reception and souvenir program, Jean Paul Bilodeau; social committee, Marcel Boivert and Denis Proulx; and delegate, Albert Foucault.

In their efforts to make the convention, one of the largest to be held in Sherbrooke, the Sherbrooke branch is urging co-operation of all public services, merchants, Chambers of Commerce, industry, etc., so that the delegates will take away a favorable impression of their visit here.

the most accident-free provinces of the Dominion. Although more accidents happen at intersections than on straight highways, Mr. Cathcart said 62 per cent of the fatal straight road accidents occurred on clear days with excellent driving conditions.

According to statistics that Mr. Cathcart had compiled for the discussion, it was pointed out that the largest percentage of accidents occur in the age group of 21 to 49.

Answering questions based on local problems, Mr. Maddiss explained many small details and technicalities of the law, which make it necessary for officers to enforce the rules.

He said that in the two and a half years he had served with the Lennoxville Police, the citizens had managed to keep fairly accident-free. While a few minor accidents had occurred, only on three occasions in that length of time had it been necessary to call an ambulance to the scene.

During the business meeting which preceded the movie, it was announced that the next Regional Council would be held March 7 at the Sherbrooke Trust Company.

E. E. Denison, principal of the School, who had been ill and in hospital for several weeks, was welcomed back to the Association last night. He announced that the annual prize-giving would be held Friday, Feb. 24 at two in the afternoon for the junior students and Saturday, Feb. 25, at eight o'clock for the seniors.

Precautions Are Wise

By ALICIA HART
If you're of the do-it-at-home beauty school, there are some definite precautions you should take when doing the more complex projects.

This particularly applies to hair coloring, home permanents and nail enameling. The first is to protect yourself adequately. You may need rubber gloves, a plastic bib or shoulder covering, several towels, a plastic or rubber mat for a table, old clothes to wear.

Since these pieces of equipment may be more or less damaged by any of these processes, it's best to use old or worn towels, etc. They should then be washed or wiped off and saved in a separate place until the next time they're needed.

It's best to do all such activities after the kids are in bed and in a location away from that where food is prepared, even though the kitchen may seem like an easy place to do hair coloring.

If any of the instructions say "Keep away from eyes (or ears, or mouth) and in case of accident neutralize with..." be sure you've got the first aid necessary on hand before you start.

Be sure that rubber gloves used in hair coloring aren't the ones you wear for washing the dishes.

Princesses Toast Of London High Society

London. — (Reuters) — Three serious-minded young German princesses are fast becoming the toast of high society here although they prefer work to play.

The princesses are the nieces of the Duke of Edinburgh and descendants of Queen Victoria. Princess Margarita of Baden, whose home is in a German castle, Princess Beatrix of Hohenlohe-Landenburg and Princess Christina of Hesse.

All three are blonde, attractive and vivacious—and strictly informal in dress and manners. Where ever they go they cause a stir, but most of the time they are studying and staying at home.

Princess Beatrix and Christina arrived two weeks ago to share a luxurious pink and green apartment chosen for them by their uncle Philip, and furnished with some of his own pieces from Windsor Castle.

The apartment is on the fifth floor of Dolphin Square, Europe's largest block of apartments.

"And all we want to do most nights is come home here and just relax," said Princess Christina, 23-year-old daughter of Princess Sophie, the duke's youngest sister.

Princess Christina, whose first newspaper picture in England—taken as she powdered her nose in a taxi at the station—endured her to the public, is studying restoration of painting under Prof. Anthony Blunt, surveyor of the Queen's pictures.

"We both work eight hours a day and we just feel terribly tired in the evenings. We come home and heat up a few tins and then go straight to bed," said the princess, who came to the front door from the kitchen carrying mustard and a knife.

The slender princess, in drain-pipe slacks, added: "But that is the way we both like it. I do not want anything to interfere with my work, although I like going out to the theatre and parties some times."

Princess Beatrix, a curly-haired blonde with bright brown eyes, is here to study dressmaking at the Royal College of Art. "If it goes successfully I may take it up professionally," she said.

The 20-year-old princess was taught dressmaking and cooking at a Windsor finishing school in 1954.

"I do not know whether I would like to set up here or at home. Everyone has been very kind to us here. We have been to some theatres and to a charity ball."

Asked about suitors, the princesses smiled rather shyly and said: "We have not any yet."

Then they said: "We must not say any more—Uncle Philip would not like it. He has been so kind to us, we would not like to offend him."

The two princesses have so far seen little of Princess Margarita of Baden, who has been in England four years and is regarded as a society beauty.

"She is even busier than we are," Princess Christina said.

Princess Margarita, 22-year-old daughter of the Margrave and Margravine of Baden, lives here in a student nurses hostel.

A blonde with an urchin haircut, she is frequently seen at theatres and concerts although she works round-the-clock shifts at the busy outpatients department of St. Thomas' Hospital where she qualified last year.

Two years ago, "nurse" von Baden took time off to cruise around the Isles of Greece with Europe's kings, queens, princes and princesses. During the trip, organized by King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece and backed by the Greek government, she was voted "prettiest princess" on board.

Couples Should Discuss Problems Before Marriage

Toronto. — (P) — If young couples were more realistic, many broken marriages could be prevented, says a New York marriage counsellor.

Dr. Rebecca Liswood of Brooklyn told the National Council of Jewish Women meeting at Toronto that couples contemplating marriage should discuss marriage problems before the ceremony.

Too often they were so dreamy-eyed during their engagement that they refused to talk about anything on which they were likely to disagree.

A young girl, she said, is apt to have illusions about the kind of husband she is getting and the kind of wife she is going to be. The future husband had similar illusions.

One girl who sought Dr. Liswood's advice thought her marriage would be successful because her husband-to-be was tall, handsome and had a good job.

The girl, she said, was self-centred and egotistical, but because she wouldn't have to worry about money problems she would marry him and try to change his personality.

Girls should accept their future husbands for what they are,

Dr. Liswood said. Unless a girl is prepared to cater to her prospective husband's whims she should not marry him.

Many financial difficulties could be avoided if couples decided during their engagement how much they could afford to pay for rent, electricity, food and entertainment.

A girl whose parents had cared for her until marriage should learn something about budgeting so she would understand that if her husband doesn't provide everything she wants, it may be because he can't afford it, not because he wants to be mean.

In-law relations were as touchy a subject as money. Happy relationships were mostly up to the girl. She should keep in mind that her husband's mother is in competition with her for his affection.

Although the mother may not mean to interfere she often does, Mr. Liswood said. At such times a young wife could afford to be tolerant.

Parties to a mixed marriage might have more difficulty adjusting, but chances for a successful marriage were improved if the couple had the same social, cultural and religious background.

Many couples who thought their differences didn't matter have, however, been surprised after marriage to learn how deep their prejudices were, Dr. Liswood said. A mixed marriage could not be worked out with ease.

"Sweet Talk"

Here's a little "sweet" talk to go along with the afternoon cup of tea or coffee that you share with your next-door neighbor. These Currant Cookies are easy to make and delicious to eat. When you serve them everyone will agree that the best part of the afternoon tea or coffee hour was the food that went with it.

Corn Pudding
1 - 20 ounce can creamed corn
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup enriched bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons butter
Grease a 9 x 5 x 2 1/2 inch baking dish with butter. Place corn in baking dish. Add eggs and mix until well blended. Pour in milk and add sugar and baking powder and salt. Stir well. Sprinkle bread crumbs and then paprika on top of corn mixture. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter. Bake in a 375 deg. F. oven for 45 - 50 minutes. During the last 15 minutes of baking the oven may be raised to 400 deg. F. so the top of the pudding will be well browned.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Before a wife accepts an invitation that includes her husband she should check to see if it is agreeable to him. All she has to do is say to the prospective hostess, "May I check with Jim and see whether or not he has already made plans for that evening?"

But, of course, she should check and call back promptly, so that the hostess won't be kept in suspense.

Square Meal Diet — 4

Skiping Breakfast Can Add Pounds

Here's the fourth of a seven-day series on keeping your weight in check with a "Square Meal Diet," prepared by a consumer specialist for the National Dairy Council. Today a TV star tops off the menu with her own experiences in keeping trim on three square meals a day.

By JANIS PAIGE
Star of TV's "It's Always Jan"

Breakfast used to be the meal I liked least. So I skipped it. But not any more.

Coffee I always had in the morning. And that was all. By noon, I was starved. I'd tuck away a good-sized lunch and a healthy dinner. Late at night, after the show, I'd have a light supper.

It was while I was starting my new television role that I changed my habits. You'd think a leading role in a strenuous TV show would automatically solve any and all weight problems. But that's not so. I found that my weight was going up and I decided to talk to my doctor.

He explained that I needed three balanced meals a day and that a late supper just before going to sleep was not one of these. He suggested I include an egg, cereal or toast, coffee or milk.

"Try it for a week, Miss Paige," he said. "I don't think you'll find it difficult to break the old habit and establish a new one."

He was right. In place of two really staggering meals and a light supper each day, I substituted three light, well-balanced, high-protein meals. Breakfast was none too welcome that first morning, then I grew used to it. Now, I'd definitely miss it.

While I had no real weight problem, I didn't like the ease with which I added pounds. Now, I find it simple to control my weight.

By MRS. DOLORES I. ELLIOTT

LADIES GUILD OF PLYMOUTH CHURCH

The Ladies Guild of Plymouth United Church, met on Tuesday evening in the church parlor, for their regular meeting.

Mrs. Percy Dunbar and Mrs. Gordon Philbrick were hostesses, and Mrs. E. Kennett, president, conducted the meeting.

During the business session, several projects for the future were discussed and a work committee was formed under the supervision of Mrs. G. Dougall. The members of this committee will start making articles for teas and sales in the near future.

A social hour followed, when the hostesses served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Kennett.

Homemaking

Yellow cake is good with peanut brittle topping. Place slices of cake in a shallow baking pan. Sprinkle finely broken peanut brittle over slices; then place under low broiler heat for four minutes or until candy melts. Serve immediately with whipped cream garnish.

Herb squares are a good accompaniment for soups, salads or juices. Spread toast squares or small soda crackers with soft butter or margarine and cover lightly with bits of chopped chives or celery seed. Heat in a moderate oven—350 degrees F. for about five minutes.

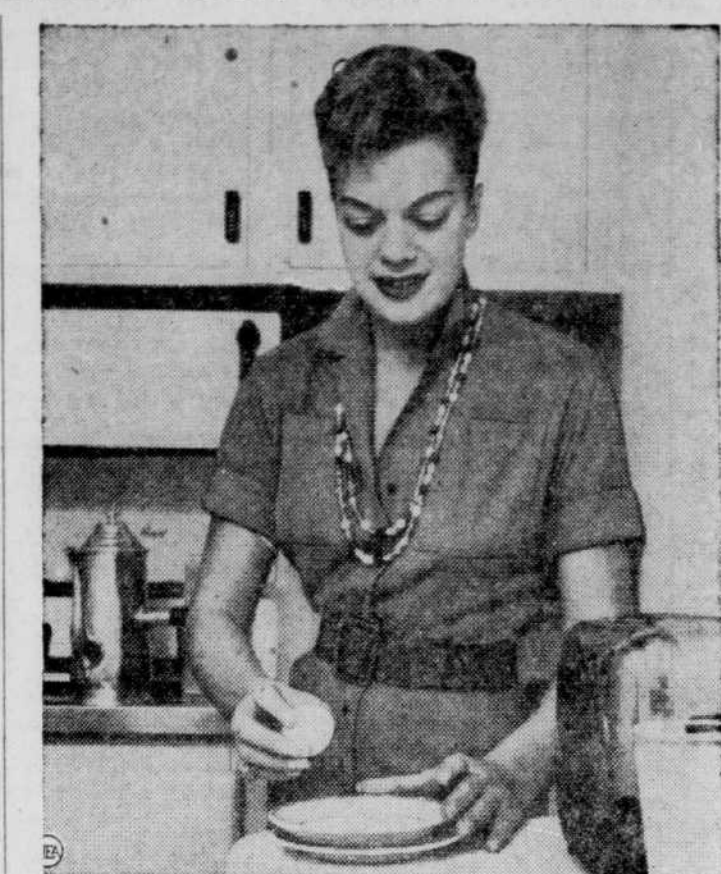

The size and shape of any centerpiece arrangement should fit that of the table and not crowd place settings and food.

Copper or bronze trays or plates, painted trays and wooden or ceramic bowls provide good bases for arrangements of dried leaves, grasses and fruits.

Medicine spilled on the bathroom washbowl or toilet should be washed off right away with soap or detergent.

Lucky Qualities To Have In A Husband

By RUTH MILLETT

Lucky is the wife—

Whose husband has the happy faculty for getting fun out of life right now, today, instead of being such a slave to ambition that his only interest in life is "getting ahead."

Whose husband enjoys his children. (He's a guy who isn't a harsh disciplinarian, sure that they aren't going to amount to anything unless he is forever cracking the whip. Beware the one who is always having to be protected from the children's noise and demands.)

Whose husband likes people as well as she does and doesn't have to be "dragged" to parties or reminded of his responsibilities as a host.

Whose husband is as proud of his wife's accomplishments as she is of his. He isn't ashamed to let others know he is proud of her.

Whose husband can explain things to his wife in the manner of one talking to an equal instead of being impatient or condescending.

Whose husband occasionally does the unexpected and so keeps living with him from becoming cut and dried dull routine.

Whose husband's immediate reaction to trouble isn't, "Why don't YOU do something about that?"

In fact, it's a lucky woman whose husband has only a few of the above mentioned qualities that women set such store by—after they are married.

Will YOU have an independent income?

Now is the time to arrange through a CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITY for the little it will take to brighten the days when you must stop working. You can purchase an Annuity NOW to come due at age 50, 55, 60 or 65, or other ages.

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE — Suppose you are a man of 28 and want an Annuity of $100 a month, beginning at 65. Your monthly premium would be $16.44.

AT AGE 65 the Government will begin paying you $100 a month as long as you live! If you die within 10 years after age 65, the monthly payments will continue to your heirs for the balance of that 10 years.

Thus, you will have paid $7,299.36 for a minimum return of $12,000.00 — which will be even greater if you live past 75!

IF YOU DIE BEFORE 65 the Government will pay your heirs the total sum paid up to the date of your death plus 4% compound interest.

There are several plans to choose from. For detailed information, consult your DISTRICT ANNUITIES REPRESENTATIVE.

Canada Blanks Germany 4-0 In Unspectacular Olympic Opening Tilt

Aces Rally With Three Goals In 43 Seconds To Down Paper Makers; Meteors Edge Waterloo Maroons 5-4

Rallying with three goals within forty-three seconds in overtime last night the Aces posted an 8-5 decision over the Windsor Paper Makers. The victory allowed the Theriault squad to maintain pace with the league leading Meteors of Asbestos, who downed Waterloo 5-4.

Cauette opened the scoring in the first period right after the start but Guillemette and Desrosiers put the Paper Makers out in front but just before the end of the frame M. Goyette evened the count.

In the middle Desrosiers came up with his second tally and then Couture extended Windsor's lead to 4-2. Both goals were registered within a minute. Levesque put the Aces within hailing distance when he batted the disc home with Bergeron sitting out a penalty.

In the final period the roles were reversed with the Aces notching the odd one to tie the count. Parr made it 5-3 for the Paper Makers but Marius Goyette posted his second tally of the evening and in the last minute of play the Aces went all out and finally playing coach Theriault managed to bat home the equalizer at 19:28.

In the overtime the Paper Makers fell apart when the Aces applied the pressure and registered three goals, all within forty-three seconds. Mireault, Levesque and Goyette were the marksmen. Mireault of Magog drew a holding penalty a little later and although the Paper Makers tried their best they just couldn't accomplish anything.

In the other game at Asbestos 1,511 fans were on hand to witness the close battle in which Jules Duval, Waterloo's young goalie, gave an outstanding performance. He played a big part in his team's efforts to overtake the leaders.

Duval came up with some spectacular saves and time after time he robbed Gaston Pelletier when he was in alone. St. Onge and Auger put the Maroons ahead 2-1 at the end of the first period. Tessier notched Asbestos' lone tally. In the middle session Tessier and Pelletier posted markers to give the Meteors a 3-2 advantage but Lefty Auger evened the count to send it into the final stanza 3-3. Cote broke the deadlock and gave Waterloo the lead once again but Pelletier put the teams back on an even keel and then Grenier posted the winning goal with his mate, Ray St. Cyr, sitting out a penalty.

Bishop's University Cagers At Home To Royal Military College; Will Be Gunning For First Win

Bishop's University Gaitors will be seeking their first win in the new year tomorrow afternoon when they tangle with Royal Military College at Bishop's Memorial Gymnasium in a regular Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference "B" Section intercollegiate basketball game.

So far this season Bishop's have lost four games and won one in intercollegiate play. They have also dropped two exhibition contests to the Lennoxville Grads. Their only win came in the season's opener against St. Patrick's College 40-36.

Royal Military College have played five games this season but reports have been received on only one of these games. In this tilt the Cadets downed St. Patrick's College 75-40. This score compared to the Bishop's win over the same college indicates the Gaitors will have a fight on their hands if they intend to break their losing streak.

On the bright side of the Purple and White picture is the recent improvement the team has displayed. The Gaitors played their best game of the season against Loyola last weekend but lost 69-63 in a thrill-packed contest. The return of Jimmy Peters to the lineup will bolster the Gaitors offensively, a department in which they have been noticeably weak.

In spite of a mild controversy coach Clark Kemp will be guiding the fortunes of the Gaitors tomorrow. Kemp missed the last game with Loyola and the boys were forced to coach themselves. There was some speculation as to whether he would be present at the coming game but it has been settled that Kemp will definitely coach.

The Gaitor defense, backboned by stellar guards Warren Lynch and Jack Wood, will have to be at their best to hold down the high-scoring soldiers. Murray and Manson are R.M.C.'s chief threats offensively. Murray counted 26 points in the St. Pat's game and Manson 20.

Bishop's offensive picture took a turn for the better when much-heralded freshman star Mike Tejada finally hit his stride against Loyola. The diminutive rookie from Dominican Republic potted a very neat 21 points against the Warriors and this will probably assure him a birth on the starting team. Other probable starters will be center Don Stringer, forward Murray Greenwood and guards Lynch and Wood.

Game time is 2:30 p.m. and fans are encouraged to come out and see these two teams battle.

Gaitors Travel To Kingston For Hockey Fixture

Lynn MacDougall's Bishop's University Gaitors journey to Kingston today for an Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference "B" Section intercollegiate hockey game against Royal Military College to be played tomorrow afternoon.

The Gaitors will be seeking their first win of the season when they play the Cadets. In their two previous contests Bishop's lost to Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute 14-2 in Troy, New York, and were beaten 7-0 by College Militaire Royale here last week-end.

Bishop's opponents in Saturday's game, are also winless this year. Last year the soldiers trounced the Gaitors 10-2 in a game which saw both Bishop's goalies, Hugh Doherty and Stan Alexander, injured. This year, however, the Cadets have not as strong a team. Sir George William's College downed them 5-2, they lost to College Militaire Royale 9-4 and last Saturday Loyola Warriors overpowered the soldiers 7-2.

Bishop's coach, Lynn MacDougall, worked his boys very hard this week in a series of grueling practices. MacDougall was disappointed with the team's showing against C. M. R. when the poor shape of the Bishop's players was evident. He stressed condition at this week's sessions in the hope that the Gaitors would outthrust R. M. C.

Bad news for the Purple and White supporters came with the announcement that three of Bishop's regulars will be unable to make the trip to Kingston. Forwards Hugh MacDonald, Stu Clarke and defenseman Glynn Edwards will not travel with the team. The squad is depending heavily on the services of Stan Alexander, their goalie. Alexander has been hot for two weeks last week-end against C. M. R. when he stopped 65 shots. The men who Alexander will have to watch closely on the Cadets are Yates and Smith. The two have counted five of R. M. C.'s eight goals this year.

Detroit Red Wings Take Over Sole Possession Of Second Place, Edge Rangers 3-2; Bruins Dump Canadiens

Jolly Jack Adams is looking more like a clairvoyant every day.

It was Adams who prophesied a couple of months ago his Detroit Red Wings would be up around the top of the National Hockey League in no time at all. There were scoffers, naturally. Particularly among the followers of Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers.

Since then the Wings, league champions for the last seven seasons, have been picking up steam. Thursday night they kicked Rangers into third place with a 3-2 victory over the Blueshirts at Detroit. They now are only 12 points behind the league-leading Habs.

In Thursday night's other engagement, Boston Bruins surprised everybody with a 5-1 win over Montreal. It was the second straight Boston triumph against Canadiens.

Gordie Howe's Wings' great right winger, scored a goal and an assist to increase his lead atop the individual scoring race to three points. He has 28 goals and 27 assists for 55 points. Montreal's Jean Beliveau is second with 52 points.

The other Detroit scorers were Bill Dineen and Red Kelly. Andy Bathgate and Andy Hebenton tallied for Rangers.

Detroit's big test comes soon. Fans will get an idea how strong the Wings are when they meet Canadiens in three games next week.

At Boston, the last-place Bruins delighted a crowd of 11,069 fans by unleashing some

Lucille Wheeler Places Fifth In Women's Giant Slalom Race While Germany's Ossi Reichert Cops Event

Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy — (P) — Canada's Lucille Wheeler, a newcomer to the ranks of big-time skiing, placed fifth today in the women's giant slalom race of the winter Olympics.

Times and placings were subject to official confirmation later in the day, but Miss Wheeler, freckle-faced 20-year-old from St. Jovite, Que., was timed in 1:58.6. Unofficial winning time was 1:56.5, set by Germany's Ossi Reichert.

Austria's Josef Frandl was second with 1:57.8 with another Austrian, Dorothea Hochleitner, third with 1:58.2.

Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence, American defending titlist who has had three children since winning both the slalom and giant slalom in 1952, was tied for fourth with Madeleine Berthod, the 25-year-old Swiss girl who had been rated the favorite. They were clocked in 1:58.3.

The course, lightning fast with a thin powder of snow over an icy crust, is 1,700 metres long (about one mile), which means the girls averaged 30 miles an hour down the steep run and hit 50 or more at the bottom.

Three other Canadians entered in addition to Miss Wheeler. Ann Heggveit of Ottawa was far down with a time of 2:05.3. Carolyn Kruger of St. Sauveur, Que., fell and did not finish, and Ginette Seguin of Quebec City also was well behind.

Want Vancouver For '64 Olympics

Vancouver — (P) — A suggestion that Vancouver would be an ideal choice of location for the 1964 Olympic games has drawn little support from sports leaders here. Sydney Dawes, president of the Canadian Olympic Committee, said Thursday in Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy, that Vancouver is an "excellent site" and any bid from Canada would be welcomed by European countries.

But the idea was wet-blanketed here. Fred Rowell, track and field director of the Canadian Olympic Association, said: "A bid from Vancouver would receive serious consideration but I would not be keen on recommending it. 'The city isn't sports-minded enough to see it through. We barely scraped through with the Empire games and we couldn't take any chances with the Olympics.'"

Stan Smith, who was chairman of the Games committee, said: "It would be a terrific task and it would be disastrous for us to undertake it without the moral and financial support of both the federal and provincial governments."

Austrian Model Jacques Plante Confronts Canada In Second Step Towards Olympic Hockey Crown

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO — (CP) — An unspectacular 4-0 victory over Germany by Canada's defending hockey champions and some spectacular acrobatics by an underdog Austrian goaltender as his team held Italy to a 2-2 tie served as a prelude to today's first full-scale activity in the seventh winter Olympics.

Bobsledders and skiers, idle Thursday except for participation in the official opening ceremonies, take part in their first events today when five members of Canada's ski team make their first bid for an Olympic medal.

And eight of the 10 competitors for the hockey title go into action in the second day of preliminary competition which will whittle the field down to six for next week's final round-robin series.

Canada's first shot for individual honors comes in the 30-kilometre cross-country ski event as Clarence Servold of Camrose, Alta., hits the well-broken trail as the last of 58 contestants.

The 23-year-old fire lookout observer is given a good chance of finishing among the leaders but he faces stern competition from Russia's Vladimir Kuzin and a number of other Russians, Finns and Swedes who have dominated previous races over the 18-mile, 1,128-yard distance.

Canada's chances look brighter in the women's giant slalom. Switzerland's Madeleine Berthod ranks as the favorite but Lucille Wheeler, a freckle-faced 21-year-old from St. Jovite, Que., is rated as one of the top contenders.

The Canadian combined champion has been in top form, taking second place in the international combined competition at Kitzbuhel, Austria, two weeks ago.

Another Canadian with an international record is 17-year-old Anne Heggveit of Ottawa, who scored an upset victory in the Holmenkollen giant slalom in Norway two years ago. Recovered from a broken leg last winter, she finished far back in the Kitzbuhel meet, her first big test since the accident.

Two clashes of highly rated contenders feature today's hockey schedule with Czechoslovakia meeting the United States in the opening game and Russia tangling with Sweden tonight. Canada is drawn against Austria while Italy opposes Germany in the other games.

The Canadians had no trouble beating Germany Thursday but they were rusty from a week's idleness since their last exhibition game.
