BOMBED BY METEORITE — In photo at left, Malcolm Lee, of Eastman, points to holes in the roof and wall of his barn and holds in his hand a cedar beam that was ripped from the roof by what he believes was a falling meteorite. Above, he digs the suspected meteorite out of a snow bank outside his barn. The rock, which weighed about 15 or 20 pounds, ripped a hole in Mr. Lee's barn roof and wall. Crash in the night heralds arrival of suspected meteorite near Eastman

EASTMAN — It was perhaps two weeks ago that Mrs. Grace Lee received her first visitation from outer space. But it wasn't until Wednesday that her son found what he suspects is a large meteorite that tore a hole in the roof of the barn and ripped out one of the corrugated steel wall sidings.

Mrs. Lee and her son Malcolm live in a 130-year-old, square-cut log house up a back road near Eastman, 20 miles south west of Sherbrooke.

Mr. Lee wasn't home the night that a resounding crash woke his mother from a deep sleep.

WAS TERRIFIED

"It terrified me," she said. "I thought the house had fallen in and I got up to see, but there seemed to be nothing the matter."

At about that same time Magog residents, five miles away, reported hearing a loud boom which was attributed to an airplane.

"I didn't think anything more of it," Mrs. Lee said. "I've heard a few loud bangs at other times in my life for which I couldn't find the reason."

The boom was also reported in Sutton and Stanstead. When Mr. Lee visited the barn Monday, he noticed the neat hole in the roof and saw that one of the cedar beams had been ripped off.

FOUND ROCK

Wednesday's curiosity got the better of him. He checked behind the barn and found, half buried in the snow, a 15- or 20-pound lump of blackened rock with a dark reddish core.

It must have been hot when it hit the ground, he said because it was covered with a coat of ice.

There has been no official word that it was a meteorite, but Mr. Lee is pretty certain. "It doesn't look like any rock from around here, and if someone threw it through our barn I don't want to meet him because he's too strong for me."

The rock is about twice the size of a loaf of bread and is pitted with soft black spots which feel like crumbled cinders.

Last year's fireball spectacular

The meteorite which ripped holes in Malcolm Lee's barn two weeks ago was probably more destructive but hardly as spectacular as the noiseless bright ball of greenish light that streaked across ET skies almost a year ago, on April 25.

Called a fireball and eventually identified as a meteorite, it was sighted by hundreds of Eastern Townships residents and is believed to have fallen in the Huntingdon region.

Jetliner hits motel killing at least 18

NEW ORLEANS — (AP)

— A Delta Air Lines DC-8 jet on a training flight careered into a luxury motel opposite New Orleans International Airport early today and exploded. Nine high school girls from Juda, Wis., were among the 18 persons killed in the flaming crash.

The girls were on a senior class outing, part of a group of 32 from Juda high school who had been in New Orleans since Monday and were scheduled to leave today. Eight of the dead girls were found huddled together in a charred bathroom of the motel. The body of the ninth was blown outside.

Five pilots and a federal inspector were on board the big jet, which sliced through two houses before plunging into the Hilton Inn, across the highway from the airport. All six were killed.

JET BLOWS APART

The cartwheeling jet spilled fuel as it skidded down a rail way track behind the motel, blistering the area. It blew apart when it hit the motel, scattering wreckage for a hundred yards. The nose of the craft remained buried in the wreckage.

The surviving students, many hysterical or in a daze, were placed under sedation by doctors. Some wore Bermuda shorts, others were dressed in blankets.

Police Capt. Marvin Leonard said, "The plane spewed a sea of fuel right to those rooms where those eight kids were staying. That's what killed them. Not the impact from the wreckage."

"There were eight girls in four rooms. You could see where they took refuge in the shower stalls. One girl even took her purse with her."

"They turned on the water, but it didn't do them any good."

HEAT BLOCKS ACCESS

Most guests fled the fiery scene in panic, many in their nightclothes. Some charred rooms were inaccessible for hours because of the heat.

"We saw a real bright light," said Doug Baer, 16, of Park Forest, Ill. "I opened the door and saw all those flames. We just ran. There was a series of explosions and breaking glass. The girls were hysterical, screaming and some throwing up."

The plane—the oldest DC-8 in use by the airline—had been airborne only nine minutes before the crash occurred. It had arrived shortly before with passengers from Chicago. The night was balmy with an almost full moon.

Provincial civil servants riled about reclassification oddities

After a week of studying the new job and employee classification system which went into effect last Thursday, provincial civil servants in the Sherbrooke area, or at least a substantial number of them, have come to the conclusion that for reasons best known to itself the Government is deliberately seeking to aggravate its employees.

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

And aggravation is a mild word to express the feelings of some of the civil servants toward the newly announced classification which creates some rather unusual standards for salaries, promotions and responsibilities.

Naturally, none of the employees concerned wants to be quoted directly on his grievances but enough information can be obtained to show that the new setup is a mess, from the workers' viewpoint anyway.

In one provincial office, the man in charge suddenly finds that he will receive a lower salary than his assistant.

In another department a man who has held the No. 2 position in the local office for more than 10 years is now listed as an employee with one year of experience.

He has been informed that his salary will not be affected, but that he must expect to forego any increments for several years to come until he has earned the "years of experience" required to qualify him for the indemnity he now receives.

Elsewhere a senior employee with the professional qualifications required for his office has been demoted, to serve under a fellow worker with fewer years of experience and lacking the degrees normally considered essential for the post.

The senior employee will receive a nominal increase immediately but must await future salary boosts until his old position becomes vacant through the resignation or retirement of the new incumbent.

Judging from remarks by officials of the Quebec Civil Servants Union, the situation applies all across the province.

The executive of the 30,000-member Union has been meeting in Quebec City this week to study the situation and it is expected that some 10,000 grievance forms will be filled with the Quebec Labor Relations Board or the Quebec Civil Service Commission by the April 10 deadline.

A union spokesman said that the union warned about two weeks ago that if the government did not change its stand and improve labor-management relations a general meeting would be called May 20 to discuss "ultimate methods."

These "ultimate methods" would not be called a strike "but will amount to the same thing."

Already the number of grievances filed exceed 600 and the list is growing daily.

In time for Expo is hope

Drive-in movies and age change planned

MONTREAL — (CP) — Legislation changing the age classification for admission to movie houses in Quebec province and opening the way for drive-in movies will be introduced soon.

Provincial Secretary Yves Gabias, said Wednesday the legislation will be introduced before the opening of Expo 67 April 28 and he hopes it will Under present Quebec law, a person must be 16 before being allowed into theatres unaccompanied.

Children between 10 and 16 are allowed to see special children's showings under supervision.

UNDER 10—NO MOVIES

Children under 10 cannot be legally admitted to any showings at Quebec movie houses.

Under the legislation there would be provision for children under 14 to see "what I would call a family cinema," Mr. Gabias said.

Another category would apply to children between 14 and 18. The age of 18 would be considered the beginning of adulthood.

"If the legislation is passed, the censor's board, or whatever it will be called, will have to take every precaution that films are properly classified," said Mr. Gabias, who is responsible for administering censorship in the province.

The hardest hit shows Wednesday were the soap operas. Six were canceled and replaced with filmed reruns of Weymouth, Bridgeport and Candide Camera. I Love Lucy and The Playhouse of the Stars.

Work was starting on a boom across the 1½-mile Needles Channel between the Isle of Wight and Hampshire. Ships will lay buoys across the channel and a two-foot-deep net of polystyrene will hang between each buoy.

Other harbors which may be blocked off include Portland, Weymouth, Bridgeport and Lyme Regis.

Pearson's 'dream'

CALGARY (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson Wednesday described his "dream" for community development as one with human qualities as well as housing, and said Ottawa is considering ways to help make it come true.

He called for "development of neighborhood centres... which will minimize the pressures of bigness, impersonality and alienation that encourage delinquency, mental illness and other social evils."

US eyes drone

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States army is reportedly keenly interested in acquisition of a Canadian-developed battlefield surveillance drone for use in Vietnam.

The radio-controlled, camera-equipped robot, which cost more than $35,000,000 to develop, goes into production this year for the Canadian Army for $6,600,000.

Was fed up

SHELBURNE, N.S. (CP) — Bruce Moore was unhappy about his wages and discouraged about his future when he stole the fishing trawler Cape Spry last week.

Moore, who manoeuvred the vessel from her cluttered berth at nearby Lockeport and slipped undetected out of the narrow harbor, was sentenced Wednesday to two years for theft.

Watch market

TORONTO (CP) — Eastern Canadian newspaper manufacturers are taking a careful look at market conditions before deciding whether they will match a $3-a-ton price increase announced recently by two Quebec companies.

Industry sources are betting, however, that they will. The increases will put the price of newsprint — one of Canada's most important exports — at $142 a ton in United States funds delivered in New York and up to $138 a ton in Canadian funds in Eastern Canada.

Tanker fire-bombing continues after tides douse burning oil

LAND'S END, England (AP) — The Royal Navy ordered new oil strikes with napalm and bombs today on the broken hulk of the supertanker Torrey Canyon, still clinging to the Seven Stones reef off the southwest tip of England.

Parts of the blistered hulk of the hard-dying tanker still showed above water after surviving two days of bombing aimed at burning off millions of gallons of oil still inside the wreck.

In the last two days navy and RAF planes have pounded the wreck and the oil slick around it with 98 1,000-pound bombs, 2,000 gallons of napalm, 9,900 gallons of aviation fuel and 16 rockets. Each night the rising tide doused the flames.

The navy's intention is not to sink the remains of the tanker but to destroy the oil she retains before it seeps out to increase the already heavy pollution of the beaches of southwest England.

One huge oil slick, from the cargo of 35,900,000-gallons which has been escaping from the tanker since she hit the reef 12 days ago, was reported moving along the English Channel 20 miles south of Plymouth.

HOPE FOR REMOVAL

But local authorities in shore resorts already invaded by the oil said they believed most of

with this note: "Best of luck on a temporary basis—Peter Jennings."

Jennings joined a picket line at ABC headquarters in midtown Manhattan nine minutes before the crash occurred. It had arrived shortly before with passengers from Chicago. The night was balmy with an almost full moon.

The striking union said Huntley was liable to suspension or possibly expulsion.

"I would hate that, but this is the end process of a 30-year conviction that AFTRA is not qualified to act as the bargaining agent for news broadcasters," said Huntley. "I will not allow that conviction to cave in on a given night."

Huntley called AFTRA "a union of singers, actors, jugglers, disc jockeys, announcers and every other type of performer."

He said he had joined the union to appear as a guest on other shows and, in his beginning days in Los Angeles, to announce a symphony program.

In anticipation of possibly a long strike, network officials were lining up supervisory personnel to handle forthcoming live sports attractions such as the Masters golf tournament April 8 and the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs beginning April 9. This weekend's sports shows were not expected to be affected much. Supervisory personnel will fill in for regular announcers.

The hardest hit shows Wednesday were the soap operas. Six were canceled and replaced with filmed reruns of Weymouth, Bridgeport and Candide Camera. I Love Lucy and The Playhouse of the Stars.

Bad year so far for ET maple producers

It looks like a grim year so far for the Eastern Townships maple sugar industry.

Continued cold weather during the first part of the season has kept the sap, lifeblood of the million-dollar industry, from running and sugar farmers have had a hard time of it.

However, warmer weather in the last few days has helped considerably.

One of the larger maple sugar farmers, Rolland Boudreau, R.R. 5, Sherbrooke, just started to boil his sap today. His wife said that so far this year the sap is far poorer than previous years and doesn't even begin to match last season's bumper crop.

"We started to boil sap much earlier last year," she said this morning, "and there was much more sap."

So far, her husband, who taps 17,000 trees has only filled three quarters of his big 5,500 gallon tank with sap.

The condition is pretty general throughout the region, Mrs. Boudreau contends. "We hear the other farmers talk," she said, "and on Sunday we had a farmer from Beauce here and he said it was the same thing."

A big sugar farmer in Sutton who taps 23,000 trees agrees with her. He reported that the sap ran a little on Tuesday but soon stopped. "Conditions will have to improve fast," he said. "If we are to do well this year in sugaring."

Norman Bowers, manager of Quebec Maple Products in Lennoxville, one of the area's largest buyers, said this morning that he has received little syrup from the farmers. "As far as we are concerned," he said, "we're just waiting for the farmers to have some syrup to sell."

Vermont's maple farmers are worrying too, an Associated Press report from Montpelier says.

The six to eight week harvesting season is nearly half over in Vermont, and officials say that prolonged cold weather has arrested the flow of sap. The Southern half of the state was hardest hit and officials still see a chance for the more northern farmers to salvage their crop if the weather warms up sufficiently in the next week to 10 days.

Warm days and sub-freezing nights make for ideal sugaring conditions and these have been entirely lacking for the first part of the season. "It's just been cold," says Mrs. Boudreau.

CITY'S POPULATION UP 2,000 IN 1966

Sherbrooke's population increased by 2,073 in 1966 to reach a total population figure of 74,126.

In 1965 the city's population was 72,055, according to statistics released by the Sherbrooke city hall.

Since 1961 the population has increased at a rate of 11 per cent per year.

Between 1960 and 1966 the population grew from 64,407 to 74,126.

In 1818 when the name Sherbrooke replaced the name of the founder of Sherbrooke, Hyatt's Mills, the population was 53 persons.

Pleads guilty to charge of disturbing the peace

A 18-year-old Windsor youth will be sentenced today in Court of Sessions on charges of disturbing the peace in a public place.

Louis Lemire pleaded guilty yesterday before Sessions Judge Benoit Turmel to the charges.

Gaston Verville of Sherbrooke was fined $25 in connection with forgetting to purchase Unemployment Insurance stamps for his employees.

Verville told Judge Benoit Turmel that this was the first time in 19 years that he had forgotten to buy the stamps.

Y's Men honor their charter members

One of the oldest service clubs in Sherbrooke is the Y's Men formed on October 5, 1923.

Four of the original charter members at the founding were guests of honor last night at the Magog Hotel where the present members of Y's Men held a Charter Members Night.

Each of the four — Nelson Lohrop, Jack Lunn, Harold McCullough and Hawley Griffith — had some reminiscence to relate but Mr. Griffith, as guest speaker, gave many a historic fact and witty anecdote.

At the very beginning he told the young Y's Men, there were 15 members.

The idea of forming the club came largely through the initiative of Rev. W. P. McVie presentation and said he thought it quite appropriate that a rose in bloom should be presented to a "rose in bloom by a Rosenbloom."

The "Choo Choo Gambl" and the "Gas Works Gambl" — two very successful dances put on by the Y's Men, were nothing as compared to the annual minstrel show, he said.

One year the annual minstrel show had as interlocutor, Glenn Sampson who not only filled the emcee function with ease, but also held the position of First Lieutenant Governor of the District and did an appreciable job of hula dancing in the show, complete with grass skirt.

"He kicked up the skirt and brought down the house" Mr. Griffith said.

"It was about this time that I began to lose my hair and Y's Men Art Kerridge advised me to use beer as a shampoo. I can't say that it did my hair any good, but I certainly had the happiest dandruff in town."

Charges of illegal lock-out dismissed by Sherbrooke judge

Court of Sessions Judge Benoit Turmel yesterday dismissed charges against La Tribune Inc., vice-president of that firm, Jean Louis Gauthier, controller, Norman Simoneau, and Alphonse Gagnon, accused of provoking an illegal lockout in connection with the closing of the La Tribune printing plant on London Street.

Earlier this month the judge rejected the same charges against Quebec Telemedia and Power Corporation.

All parties concerned were accused by the CNTU — The Confederation of National Trade Unions — of having illegally provoked a lock out.

The judge noted that the printing shop had engaged an expert in the printing field to make recommendations. Alphonse Gagnon had been studying the Sherbrooke plant for several months. Mr. Gagnon had stated that the only way the business situation would improve was to modify the working contract with the employees.

The judge noted that a lock out occurs when an employer refuses to give work to employees who have refused a company offer.

The judge ruled that the evidence revealed that the employees knew for two months that the company would close unless there was a change in contract.

The judgment will be appealed by the CNTU, lawyers told reporters after the court hearing.

The proof obtained in the case against Gauthier had been used in the other cases. Earlier this month judge had ruled there was no evidence against Quebec Telemedia, and Power Corporation.

The judge at the time asked what the proof was against Power Corporation. Lawyer for the company and its officers, Edmund Barnard, said that there was no proof at all against that company nor the principal share holder in La Tribune (printing plant), Quebec Telemedia.

Mr. Barnard argued early this month that there was no longer a printing firm in existence by the name of La Tribune and owned by that company.

Seeks speedier justice Lawyers not ready, cases are dismissed

By KARL KRAMER
(Record staff reporter)

A court of Sessions judge yesterday dismissed a case against a Sherbrooke man accused of assault, theft and obtaining money under false pretenses because the lawyer for the plaintiff and the lawyer for the accused were not present in court.

Sessions Judge Benoit Turmel freed Maurice Galipeau on four charges.

Galipeau had not pleaded his case but explained that his lawyer had withdrawn from the case. The clerk of the court, Jean F. Bilodeau, told the judge that the special Crown prosecutor was not in court, either.

The judge, who is at the present time conducting a campaign to have justice move faster in his court room, threw the case out because of the explanations of the accused and the fact that the Crown was not properly represented.

This is the fourth time that Judge Benoit Turmel has refused to consider a court case.

Another similar case came before the courts later yesterday morning.

Reginald Young of Ayer's Cliff pleaded guilty to driving his truck without mud guards. The judge fined him $10 on this count. The judge, however, threw a second charge of operating an automobile without a current licence out of court.

Young told the court that it was his second appearance in court but the special Crown prosecutor was not ready to proceed because he lacked his witnesses.

The judge rejected the case on the grounds of improper preparations by the Crown.

Scouts to hold paper drive for Haskell fund

Lennoxville Scouts will be holding a paper drive on Saturday afternoon the proceeds of which will go towards the Haskell Children's Fund.

The fund was started by the Lennoxville mayor and clergymen to help the family of Donald Haskell who was killed in an auto accident, on March 5.

One hundred dollars was collected from a candy sale last week sponsored by the 1st and 2nd Lennoxville Cubs and an additional $80 was raised at a dance put on by the Anglican Young People's Association of Lennoxville.

U Thant's proposals appear doomed

Hope springs eternal in the human breast, says the old adage. But the none-too-cynical observer may add that sometimes it grows exceedingly thin.

This can be applied to the Vietnam situation where recurring waves of optimism have mounted with repeated reports of negotiations designed to bring about peace talks.

Latest entrant in the peace race is UN Secretary-General U Thant, who has submitted a new plan to the belligerents for bringing an end to the hostilities.

But initial reaction from the parties concerned indicate that the newest effort of U Thant will meet with little more success than his previous attempt or than the results achieved by other parties seeking to bring about a settlement.

Washington has indicated its acceptance of the proposals but indications are that Hanoi wants no part in peace talks at the present time.

Admittedly North Vietnam has not definitely rejected the offer but has advanced so many complaints about it that any favorable results will prove a near miracle.

Two factors may be dominating the North Vietnam thinking — the power struggle in Red China and the political situation in the United States.

Hanoi leaders may be reluctant to take any move to end hostilities until the Chinese picture has cleared.

Should Mao Tse-tung manage to come out on top, North Vietnam might reasonably expect reprisals for showing lack of faith in its Chinese sponsor, while it is unlikely that any new regime that may emerge in China would be unduly critical of Hanoi for continuing hostilities.

And the criticism of President Johnson's by certain United States politicians and groups is giving President Ho the belief that sooner or later Washington will be forced to slacken its efforts in Southeast Asia.

Another about-face by Mr. Pearson

Prime Minister Pearson appears to be on the point of one of those practical political jokes at which he is such an adept — pulling the rug from beneath the feet of one of his key cabinet ministers.

This time the potential victim is none other than Defence Minister Hellyer, who has been battling valiantly to have his defence services integration bill passed through Parliament at the present session.

The one advantage that the Defence Minister has over his predecessors who have been the victims of the Prime Minister's queer sense of humor is that he has been given some warning of what he might expect.

Mr. Pearson did make a statement outside the House that indicates the cabinet's enthusiasm for the unification is cooling rapidly and that certain evidence received in the final hours of the defence committee study of the measure may result in downgrading the importance of the debate.

In some previous rug-pulling episodes, a minister has made a passionate defence of the Government policy in a matter only to be followed by the Prime Minister who blandly announced that the cabinet had changed its mind.

This proclivity by the Prime Minister to change positions in the middle, or near the end, of a parliamentary battle has caused several political crises in the past and it would not be surprising if he finds himself in a new but hidden argument with his Defence Minister.

But of more interest to the tax-paying public than the cabinet arguments is the delay this habit is causing in deciding matters of major public importance.

For weeks the House of Commons has been listening to arguments for and against the unification plan, always under pressure from the Defence Minister that the decision was urgent and that other business must be side-tracked.

Now the country hears that perhaps it would be best to let things cool off — something the voters have believed for months.

Should heed voice from Dark Africa

Tanzania is one of those new countries established in Africa during the past few years and thus it may have much to learn.

But President Nyerere recently offered some advice to his people that could be adopted by Canadians when it comes to the treatment of tourists, when he declared:

"To have visitors is a special honor, and to treat a visitor well and hospitably is an act of good manners. When visitors come to Tanzania, it is an honor to this country, and they should leave with a good opinion of our land. A visitor who comes to Tanzania, stays here for a while and leaves praising this country is a good ambassador for us abroad, and he is an ambassador who costs us nothing."

Canadians could do well to heed his words when they consider the treatment they should hand out to visitors to Expo 67.

Other papers say:

Mild winter produces juicy problem

An unusually mild winter in Florida has made the Northerner's dream come true. There are so many oranges on the trees that tourists are invited to help themselves. Growers are far from euphoric, however. The record-breaking 142.4 million boxes (of 90 pounds each) in the process of being picked in Florida's orange groves means that the crop will be almost 50 percent bigger than last year's and that the price paid to growers has been cut by nearly one-half. But housewives are not complaining, needless to say; the price of a tin of concentrated orange juice... has sunk to about 14 cents and may go lower.

The London Economist

ing to persuade Americans to drink more orange juice and to increase exports to Western Europe. With its advertising budget quadrupled over that of last year, the commission is plugging orange juice nationally on television screens and in major magazines and Sunday newspaper supplements. It will press its campaigns abroad as well, in the hope that lower prices will enable Florida's products to compete in Europe with cheaper supplies from Spain, Israel and South Africa. But in Britain, at least, American frozen orange juice has to contend with a purchase tax of 16.5 percent.

Florida owes its dominance of the American citrus industry to its leadership in developing ways of processing the fruit. Its Valencia oranges are more suited to freezing, chilling and tinning than California's navel oranges which are better eaten fresh. Frozen concentrated orange juice in particular has had phenomenal success. When it began to be produced in Florida in the first winter after the war, 250,000 gallons were frozen. In the bumper season of 1961-62, 116 million gallons were turned out. As the process is refined further, the frozen juice becomes more and more concentrated and, the manufacturers claim, better-tasting...

TODAY IN HISTORY

Louis Riel arrived in Ottawa 93 years ago today—in 1874—to claim the parliamentary seat of Provencher to which he had been twice elected. He was expelled from Parliament because of his organization of the Red River Rising of 1870 and committed to Quebec lunatic asylums for three years, although legally a banished rebel. He returned from the United States in 1884 and led a second rebellion, only to be defeated, captured and hanged the following year.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—a German submarine torpedoed the hospital ship Gloucester Castle in the English Channel; British forces in France occupied Sorel, Heudecourt and Soyecourt.

"Meet you on Freud Avenue"

Streets named for great minds, in alphabetical order, no less

MONTREAL (CP)—Pick a "great mind"—any great mind—but his name has to start with X.

Xerxes? Xenocrates? Xavier Cugat?

Well, now you know why Expo's toponym committee stuck Xenophon Avenue on the penultimate street sign of their island fun-fair world.

The committee has been choosing names for the Montreal world's fair since 1963 and has displayed a definite flair for the job.

There's the Wake Up Jake Saloon, for instance, or the five bandshells — Largo, Allegro, Scherzo, Adagio and Presto.

"Then one day early this year we got instructions to name some of the roads on the site," says toponomist Jean-Louis deLormier.

"I sat down with an encyclopedia and tried to fit the alphabet to the great minds of civilization. We decided the great minds had to be dead and we didn't want any military or controversial figures."

Expo had already designated its north-south streets by the numbers 1 to 72. Mr. deLormier and his committee were to name the 26 east-west roads, which all became avenues.

TWO ARE CANADIANS

Two Canadians were awarded street signs at once — Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir George Etienne Cartier. "It's Confederation year, we had to have them."

"To get those Canadians in,

By ROSEMARY SPEIRS

we threw out a lot of very distinguished names. Cartier especially had a lot of competition. Confucius, Cervantes, Chopin, Cezanne...

Some of the names chosen have at least some relation to their locations.

Danish storyteller Hans Christian Andersen has his on the long avenue which leads visitors in to the fantasy world of the fair.

But whether English author Emily Bronte has much in common with the "power rectifier," trailer-train stop and Cite du Havre public safety station that line her borders, is open to question.

As the only woman qualifying among the "great minds" though, she can hardly afford to be fussy. Besides the committee threw out Bach, Balzac, Brahms and Beethoven to get in that concession to female sensibilities.

CAN'T GET LOST

The avenues are in alphabetical order to help visitors find their way around the maze of pavilions and amusements that make up the site. They start with Andersen Avenue on the north side of the river, cut across the two central islands to the south shore and the Jacques Cartier Auto Park.

"A person hitting Vermeer or Zweig Avenue knows he's pretty well near the end of things," Mr. deLormier explains. "But if he's at Hammarstrjoeld or Ibsen Avenue he's still in the middle."

Some of the choices were clearly politic — chosen as much to spread honors around among the countries as to indicate their stature.

Smetana Avenue, for example, was named for the Czech composer over Shakespeare, Shaw, Spinoza, Schubert and Shostakovich among others.

Then there's Pavlov Avenue: "Pavlov was a psychologist who had one great quality. That is, he was Russian. We had dropped another Russian giant, Dostoyevsky, for Dante, so we had to compensate."

SINGLE AMERICAN

The Russians also have Tolstoi Avenue but there's only one bow to American greatness — Einstein Avenue, running along the north shore of St. Helen's Island.

And India's Gandhi is the only representative of the Far East "due to our ignorance of Oriental civilization." But little Portugal made it by having the only famous name the committee could think of beginning with Q — the explorer Queiroz.

There wasn't much competition for Wagner, Ovid, Yeats or Ulysses either.

Now, who's left? Oh yes, British and French scientists Newton and Lavoisier, French sculptor Rodin, English poet Keats and Bohemian composer Janacek.

And before forgetting one of the best street signs of all: "Meet you on Freud Avenue!"

Law students visit high schools

Attack higher education bars

EDMONTON (CP) — Two University of Alberta law students will visit high schools in the province this spring in a "student-to-student" attack on barriers to higher education.

The pilot study, called the High School Visitation Research Project, will be sponsored by the Students' Union and the provincial department of youth. It will try to interest high school students in further training and to find out why more of them do not continue their schooling.

"The whole idea of high school visitation is to sell the students on post-secondary education," said Dale Enarson, education student and organizer of the project.

The Students' Union had been concerned for five years that qualified students were missing opportunities. But there was little information on which to base action.

The project's researchers will try to discover how well-informed the teenagers are about training facilities and finances, how much encouragement they have from teachers and from home, and how well an expanded visitation program could work.

James Matkin and Garth Dymond, both in their second year of law school, were chosen from a dozen qualified applicants to conduct the study.

They will visit three rural Alberta high schools, an isolated northern school, a small central Alberta school and a southern Alberta school, in April and May. A large Edmonton school will be visited in September.

Armed with information on the province's universities, agricultural colleges and nursing and technical schools, the researchers will co-operate with the schools' guidance services.

Students will be invited to talk voluntarily, "on a very personal basis, outside the authority structure of the school," Mr. Enarson said.

TEN YEARS AGO

MILAN — The March meeting of the Carry-On Society met at the home of Miss Mary MacLeod. In the absence of the president, the meeting was conducted by the first vice-president, Mrs. Willis H. MacDonald.

Mrs. A. W. Murray read the minutes and Mrs. D. A. Nicholson gave the treasurer's report. A bill for supplies was ordered paid.

The buying committee displayed new quilt material, print pieces, towels and face cloths. Mrs. Murray reported that the quilt top made with small plates was not finished.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The Knowlton Landing Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Montie Eldson.

Mrs. Westover brought the meeting to order and, in the absence of the secretary, read the minutes.

The resignation of the secretary, Mrs. Clyde Burbank, was accepted with much regret.

The retiring president, Mrs. G. Westover, thanked the members and officers for their support during the years she has been in office.

Mrs. Claude George was elected president for the new year and Mrs. G. Westover, secretary.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

BEDFORD — The new addition to the plant of the Torrington Company Limited of Bedford was officially opened on Friday.

The opening was in the form of an employees' dance and was largely attended by employees and their friends as well as a large number of citizens of Bedford and out-of-town guests.

The dance was also held to inaugurate the Torrington Quarter Century Club, honoring all employees who have been employed by the company for 25 years or more. Each employee thus honored was presented with a gold watch during the intermission by company president David J. Reid.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — In a letter to the editor last week a Newfoundland reader wrote: "If there is any possible way for Mr. Zink to create distrust of the Soviet Union, he makes the most of it."

As the subsequent disclosure of a huge Soviet spy ring in NATO demonstrated, there is no need for "creating" mistrust. But such jolts do not come every day.

And since it has become fashionable for our politicians and the mass media to feed the public a rosy picture of the Soviet system and its alleged switch from the we-will-bury-you line to a we-are-your-friends song, I think it is the duty of anyone who knows a bit more about the aims and operative methods of Communism than can be gleaned from its propaganda facade, to warn against dangerous self-delusions.

This is what I am trying to do, no matter how unpopular and, as in the case of the Newfoundland reader, misunderstood it may be.

Quite often people who have seen Communist totalitarianism from the inside and share my assessment of its relentless effort to subvert and destroy the free society, tell me: "Why do you bother? You can't make the blind see and the deaf hear. It's impossible to communicate an experience that is outside a person's imagination and defies everything he knows and believes in. You have to accept the fact that an unpleasant truth never had and never will have a chance against a pleasant lie until the truth hits people on the head and smashes their comfortable illusions."

I reject this defeatism which vacates the field of public opinion molding to those who, while aware of what is happening, swim with the tide because standing up to it brings vilification and ridicule.

A cancerous growth

I am firmly convinced that reasoning, based on irrefutable facts, does in the long run pierce the armor of every lie, no matter how fashionable and how thick it seems to be. And while it may be hopeless to try to make the blind see and the deaf hear, it must be possible to make at least some of the deaf see.

My well meaning friends tell me that I am defeating my own purpose by the methods I use. "You are too blunt, too harsh," they say. They accuse me of using a sledgehammer for chasing a mosquito and breaking windows and furniture in the process.

While it is not a mosquito I am after, there may be some validity in this criticism. If I sometimes use blunt and harsh words, it is because I feel strongly about the cancerous growth of confusion that is sapping the will of the free society to fight the disease.

Besides, I don't think the few voices that try to make themselves heard in the din of the propaganda chorus would have a chance if they talked in gentle whispers.

So I shout, especially when almost everybody around sings about "the end of the Cold War" and about a new era of friendly Soviet co-operation with the West.

The last time we regarded the Soviet Union as a trustworthy ally and friend, the Communists helped themselves to half of Europe and were attempting to grab Turkey, Greece and the Middle East before the West woke up to stop them.

Are we going to repeat the same mistake? Have we really forgotten that during the 50 years of its existence, the Soviet Union broke or disregarded close to three scores of treaties and agreements the Kremlin had made with other countries?

Reservations at an all-time high

KNOWLTON — (Staff) — Bruce Bailey, attached to the Quebec Tourism Department here, said that reservations and requests for accommodation are at an all-time high.

Mr. Bailey said, as an example, he had processed 891 letters dealing with fishing and hunting, coincidental in reservation time, during the first twenty days of this month. A year ago he processed some 280 letters during a similar period.

Mr. Bailey added that the Department has received applications through Swissair, for accommodations for 16 Swiss, who want to try and nail a Moose. The trend, that is, seeing Swiss money emigrate, might eventually establish a pattern beneficial to the province, he said.

Mr. Bailey said that the majority of the requests for accommodation were for a three week period. He added that the pattern seemed to indicate one week at Expo 67, the balance in the wilds. Mr. Bailey added that the groups requesting accommodation through his department averaged out between six and seven.

The request for accommodation through lodges and outfitters started last fall. Mr. Bailey added that most outfitters within a 75 mile radius of Montreal, are completely booked during June, July and August this year.

Guaranteed income is government intention

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—It now is being taken almost for granted here that the government intends—not this year or next but eventually—to introduce a program for a guaranteed annual minimum income for all Canadians.

Almost unnoticed, Welfare Minister MacEachen, with the approval of Prime Minister Pearson, has been discussing publicly how such a program might be implemented.

On Jan. 30 in the Commons, Mr. Pearson made a brief statement in reply to an opposition question which indicated that the question is when—not whether—guaranteed annual incomes for all will be established.

He said: "The broader aspects of the matter are still under consideration and will require a great deal of study before a guaranteed income can be implemented in this country."

PLAN IMPLEMENTED

The principle of guaranteed minimum income has already been implemented for at least one group of Canadians—the aged. The minimum is $105 a month or $1,260 a year.

Mr. MacEachen says: "This will give us information which will help us to determine whether such a policy is feasible for the general population."

Payments under a guaranteed annual income program would be based on a single criterion: a person's income. And jecting recipients to various kinds of means tests.

The philosophy of a guaranteed annual income is based to some extent at least on the expectation that leisure time, wanted or not, will increase enormously with the spread of automation.

LISTS APPROACHES

Mr. MacEachen, in a September speech at Summerside, P.E.I., listed some approaches he said might be considered in implementing a guaranteed income plan for all.

—A universal flat-rate benefit payable to every resident of Canada, without test.

—A benefit without test for everyone in the work force.

—A benefit to certain classes such as children, widows, the disabled and the aged.

—"Negative" income tax which would raise a family's income to the amount of deductions provided for under the Income Tax Act.

—Payment of a benefit to everyone who does not have an income of a fixed level. "It seems to me," Mr. MacEachen said in a speech in Vancouver last summer "that the guaranteed minimum income offers, at one and the same time, a more comprehensive approach to social security and a more acceptable anti-poverty measure to assist the disadvantaged members of our country."

"If there was a big enough market for limousines, we'd build limousines"

Earl Brownridge, President of American Motors in Canada, talks about the auto industry and where his company stands.

Rambler American 220 2-door sedan structure of the Rambler American means that they can now get the car they need and want at the price they want to pay: a Canadian-built compact car at a price competitive with the imports!

How could we lower our prices when everything else is going up? We stopped to take a fresh look at the whole problem. Then we decided to eliminate the annual facelift. By trimming away the cost of yearly model changes, we could sell the car for quite a bit less. So we got the full support of our dealers to drop the price of a 220 2-door sedan by $222. And the prices of all other models of the American have come down accordingly.

Will it work? You bet it will. This is a positive marketing approach and one that has already received considerable praise from economists and governments. This is probably the only price reduction of any consequence to happen in years. And we're proud of the fact.

For those who want more than just basic transportation, American Motors offers

Ambassador DPL — one of the 9 better-built Ambassador models

Rebel SST — one of 9 new intermediate-size models

the luxurious, full-size Ambassador and the spirited, intermediate-sized Rebel.

The Ambassador and the Rebel are not affected by our policy of stabilized styling on the compact American. These cars are designed and built to meet the appearance, performance, comfort and luxury requirements of about 400,000 potential Canadian buyers each year. And we'll continue to give those buyers exactly what they want; fresh and new every model year.

Why do we have these two different policies? Because of the different needs of the two different kinds of car buyers. And we're in the automobile business, to satisfy the needs of the consumer and make a profit. And we fully intend to continue to do both. We build and sell sedans, hardtops, convertibles and wagons by the thousands, and if we felt there was a big enough market for limousines, we'd build limousines, too.

This is a strong and growing company and we're really only at the beginning of a very exciting period in our history. In 1965, sales of our full-size Ambassador tripled. In '66, they rose again. For this year, we know they'll go higher, still. And with the new policy and the lower price for the compact Rambler American, we're sure that sales of that model will double, too. That's real growth for our complete family of cars.

What's coming up from American Motors? That would be telling trade secrets. But this much I can tell you. Idea cars like the AMX will soon become realities. Work is well under way on our cars for the 1970's and they show some of the freshest, most progressive thinking in the industry.

The new policy regarding the compact American is only another of many exciting developments that are going to rock this business. And that bit of "inside" information is not "rumoured" or "reported". It's for real.

IT'S THE ROADS

Most major ski centres in the Eastern Townships have held their snow until now, and last weekend was none the less perfect for skiing. The course was road conditions. Many of the bad spots are on land owned by the ski centres, but biggest percentage of the troublesome areas fall under provincial jurisdiction. Skiing is doing a lot for our tourist industry, and there's no question about it, we have delightful spring skiing in our region. Unfortunately many of the roads and highways leading to some of the ski centres are horrible to say the least. It's about time our skiing and tourist industry was given a little help in this respect. We want better roads to the ski areas!

MISS NATUR-TEKNIK BALL

Some 500 ski instructors rallied at Jay Peak over the Easter weekend for the 12th annual Natur-Teknik Ski Instructors' ten day course. Many candidates will be put through this course, which is being directed by originator of the method, Walter Foeger.

There are not more than 200 ski teachers certified in this method. Director Foeger now has on his ski faculty seven examiners, senior teachers qualified to pass on the merits and ability of candidates.

"We are now well established in the Eastern U.S. with the most active and certainly the most progressive school in the nation", says Foeger. "Natur-Teknik is growing, growing every year because so many people have learned to ski parallel our way".

More than 5000 skiers have now graduated from one of Foeger's eleven ski schools in several states in the Eastern U.S. and Canada.

Start of the school for ski teachers coincides with the Jay Peak Easterfest celebration.

This will be highlighted by an Easter Sunrise ride on the Airtramway to a special morning worship atop Jay Peak, and the Vermont Cup and Jay Trophy races here Friday and Sunday.

The Natur-Teknik course will close with graduation ceremonies Saturday, April 1st, followed by the first annual Miss Natur-Teknik Instructors' Ball in the Jay Tram Haus.

MISS PATROLLER CONTEST

The Canadian Ski Patrol System is holding a "Miss Patroller" contest within the national organization, when finalists will be chosen at the annual general meeting taking place in Ottawa June 2, 3 and 4.

Any patrol leader wishing to enter candidates from their groups can get further details from CSPS Awards Chairman J. W. O'Brien, P.O. Box 481, Stn. A, Toronto, Ont.

LOOKING TO CANADA

With thousands of Canadians skiing throughout Vermont, that state is aggressively going after additional tourist from this part of the continent. Expo '67 in fact puts Vermont on a very important link between the major eastern populated areas of the United States and Montreal, as are the Eastern Townships. The Vermonters however have gone further than we in southeastern Quebec. They've come up with an elaborate publicity drive, supplemented with unlimited aids, such as 500,000 new tourist maps which are being handed out to inquirers.

"Vermont, the Beekoning Country" and "The Scenic Route to Expo '67" are dual promotional themes for 1967 of the Vermont Highway and Tourist Map just released.

I have one of these maps, and assure you, it's really worth while obtaining if you expect to visit our southern neighbors. You can get copies by writing the Vermont Development Dept., Desk M., Montpelier Vermont, 05602.

THANKS

April edition of The Sweep, Canadian Ski Patrol System's national newspaper threw a bouquet to this newspaper, and their praise is indeed appreciated. Reference was made to our January 20th ski edition, which we keep hearing comments on. The CSPS article read as follows:

Major coverage was again given to the Canadian Ski Patrol System in the Sherbrooke Daily Record's annual ski edition. Almost two full pages were devoted exclusively to the patrol, including the lead page of the second section of the 24 page edition.

A refreshing note was the emphasis on the prevention of ski accidents, rather than picturing the patrol as strictly first aiders. Included in the edition was a write up on Simon, the 150 lb. St. Bernard mascot of the CSPS, and an article by Charles Catchpaugh, past president of Eastern Townships zone.

GREAT GO-GO RACE

Mt. Orford's annual "Go-Go Ski School" race for boys and girls held last Saturday was a tremendous success, and saw some 130 children entered.

Top boy scorer for the day was Daniel Gosselin of Magog, and Shirley Fee of Montreal led the girls. The Mario and Nancy trophies went to these two competitors, while first and second place plaques were awarded in 13 classes.

Well organized, the races began at 11 o'clock, finishing a little after one-thirty. Presentations of prizes took place at 4 p.m., when each instructor handed our winners' plaques for his students.

Both Mario and Nancy Poderszsch, who run the school, are to be congratulated for a job well done. I might add, the children then followed their twelve weeks of instruction are skiing wonderfully well.

COWANSVILLE

Mrs. Maurice Poulin has returned home after spending a week in Montreal, guest of her sister, Mrs. Dube.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bonneau, Granby, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bonneau, Waterloo, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Bonneau.

Mrs. A. Tarte, Mr. Lionel Ouimet, Montreal, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Gruenewald. Mrs. Tarte was returning from Santa Barbara, Calif., where she attended the funeral of her brother, Leopold Boisvert, who died suddenly. He was a former Eastern Township man.

Mrs. C. Cloutier went to Manchester, N. H., to attend her cousin's funeral.

Melbourne

Friends of Miss O. Proulx will be pleased to learn that she has returned from the St. Louis Hospital, after being a patient there for a few weeks.

Miss Susan Bayne, nurse in training at the Sherbrooke Hospital, is spending a few days holiday at her home here. Dr. J. Ronald Bayne, Mrs. Bayne and family, Montreal, were weekend guests of Dr. H. C. Bayne and Mrs. Bayne. Mrs. Bayne will accompany them back to Montreal, where she will enter the Queen Mary Hospital.

Messrs. Wayne and Warren Wilkins accompanied by Mr. Gaetan Goyette, Kingsbury, spent the weekend in Montreal. While there they were guests of Messrs. Wilkin's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Philip at St. Hubert.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland Burrill and Miss Nellie Burrill visited Mrs. Arthur Coddington, who is still a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

From germ of idea

Parents Without Partners group grows into international organization

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the popular stories, there is nothing particularly "swinging" about most divorced women. Little of the young "man about town" is left in a divorced man. And there is nothing merry about most widows.

Life for them, by their own admission, can become a personal kind of hell.

But for the last 10 years, a growing number of these people have found a way to cope as singles in a world of marrieds as one parent trying to do the work of two.

During the summer of 1956, a divorced woman, Jacqui Bernard, and a divorced man, Jim Egelson, sat on a Long Island beach with some married friends discussing the problems of bringing up their children.

The two single parents discovered their problems were quite different from those of their married friends—but in many ways, each was quite similar to the other's.

Their germ of an idea became a little newspaper advertisement sandwiched between the lost-and-found column and the death notices in a New York paper. It read:

"Parents without partners: Whether you have your children full time or on visitation, wouldn't you like to know others in the same position — talk over common problems, to develop a fuller life for both yourselves and your children, to read the ad thought it sounded worth checking, and Parents Without Partners was born.

Now, on its 10th anniversary, PWP is an international organization which claims 25,000 members in 50 U.S. states, Canada, Britain and New Zealand.

One program helps its male members adapt to their new bachelorhood. Such a man is Wallace Davis, who now lives in Washington. He was separated and subsequently divorced when he was in his 40s, and moved to Washington.

"I had a bad time adjusting to the city and to living alone," he said. "I got involved in a PWP fathers' group and I became a foster father to the son of a PWP divorcee who helped me fill a huge void. It helped me get my ego back."

Davis treated his PWP son as he would have his own—taking him to ball games, on picnics and listening to his problems.

In doing so, Wallace and those like him also helped PWP mothers who, as Kay Rideout of Brantford, Ont., explained, "find that being both mother and father to the children is just about the hardest thing there is to handle in a broken marriage."

"The next hardest thing," she said, "is trying to cope with your own feelings of isolation and self-pity."

These are precisely the feelings PWP attempts to dispel, says the group's executive director, Ralph Ober.

"These people are lonely and frustrated," he said at PWP's executive offices here.

"They have encountered great alienation. Married friends are reluctant to invite them places because they see the single parent as 'available' and a danger to their own marriages."

"The kids also face alienation. Other kids re told not to play with them and they are constantly reminded of something they don't want to talk or think about."

"To help the children, we have children's groups, youth groups who sponsor events just like any other youth group. I remember one child who had particular problems adjusting to living with just one parent."

"But at an outing with other PWP children, he went running to his mother to tell her, 'Gee, I didn't know there were this many divorced children around.' Knowing he wasn't alone helped him come out of his shell."

At the meetings, the single parents talk with each other about mutual problems and with lawyers, tax experts and educational leaders about technical problems. The groups are beginning to get into drives for divorce and tax reforms.

Other stressed that PWP is not a marriage mill.

"Our purpose isn't to find new partners for our members," he said. "Occasionally, that will happen. It's a nice way to lose members, but basically we exist to help each other cope with present situations — not create new ones."

St. Patrick MC plans salad tea

St. Patrick Mission Circle held its regular meeting in the Canon Fissette Memorial Library, Monday, March 20, with Mrs. Mildred Paquette, president, in the chair, who led the devotional prayer.

The secretary cited a message of thanks and tribute to the founders, the late Miss Geraldine Hebert, published in the annals of Our Lady of the Atonement, Smoky Lake, Alta.

Final plans were made for the Easter Salad Tea to be held in the church hall, Saturday, April 1. Conveners named for this event are: General tea conveners Miss Roberta Tobin; decorations, Miss Margaret Fitzgerald and Mrs. Donna Caron; salad bar, Miss Vera Davis; tickets at table, Miss Flossie Sheridan; food table, Mrs. Beryl Wilson and Mrs. Carol Kinsley; surprise table, Mrs. Mildred Farrell and Miss Lucille Crochetiere; apron and gift table, Miss Gertrude O'Boyle, Mrs. Dalby Grainger.

Tea room, Mrs. Angela Provencher; waitresses, Miss Margaret Fitzgerald; kitchen, Miss Helen Slattery; Mrs. Eva Wieland and Mrs. Donna Caron; tea replenishers, Miss Eva McConnell and Miss Margaret Pelletier; cashier, Miss Evelyn Hebert; publicity, Mrs. Gladys Brownlow and Miss Helen Slattery. Presiding at the tea table: Mrs. John Gendron, Mrs. John Hayes, Mrs. Stanley Ferguson and Mrs. F. Fudskowski. Reception: Mrs. John E. Paquette and Mrs. Alberie Julien.

Members brought in articles for the surprise and apron tables and tickets for the tea were handed out by the treasurer. The meeting then adjourned to reconvene April 17.

For and about Women

Personals

Pourers for the Salad Bar Tea, Church of the Advent Hall, on Saturday, April 1, sponsored by St. Agnes' Guild, are: Mrs. David Price, Mrs. Percy Black, Mrs. L. Morgan and Mrs. A. Britton.

Friends of Mrs. E. L. Rawlings, Belvedere Street North, will be pleased to learn that she has returned home, after spending two months in the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. Chester Stronach, Miss Wanda Knowles and Miss Candy Miller, Baturst, N.B., were Easter weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stronach, Belvedere Street, Lennoxville.

Mrs. Osborne Lake and Miss Vicki Lake, Newmarket, Ont., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Speck, Downs Street, Lennoxville.

Winners at duplicate bridge on Tuesday, March 28 were: V.S. 1. Mrs. Vivian Beaulieu and Mrs. Helene Beaulieu; 2. Mr. and Mrs. T. Ball; 3. Mr. and Mrs. A. Croteau; 4. Mr. S. Bolue and Mr. C. Roy; E.W. 1. J. P. Champagne and Mr. A. Tarran; 2. Mr. T. Beaulieu and Yvan Beaulieu; 3. Dr. Y. Jeannard and Dr. A. Dufour; 4. Mrs. A. Labrecque and Mr. A. Charpentier. Duplicate bridge will again be played at 7:30, Tuesday, April 4, at the Sherbrooke Country Club.

Mrs. Archie Kinnear has returned to her home in Thetford Mines, after spending the Easter holidays with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Worcester, in Lennoxville. Mr. and Mrs. John Kinnear, of Thetford Mines, were also guests at the same home.

Miss Ann Pearson and Miss Lily McGowan, who were Easter weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Pearson, Wilson Street, Lennoxville, have returned to Brockville, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Allan King George Street, spent the Easter holiday weekend with relatives in Kinnear's Mills and Lennoxville.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bedard, Jerby Line, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Donna Lee, to Mr. Charles Lebert Fowler, son of Mrs. Leulah Fowler, of East Hartford, Conn. The wedding is planned to take place on July 5, at East Hartford.

MISS CHERYL MARY ANDREWS and MR. JAMES MAURICE BARRIE, whose engagement is announced. The bride-elect is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Andrews, Brampton, Ont. and Mr. Barrie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice C. Barrie, Richmond, Que.

Singleton-Mitchell vows exchanged

VERDUN — On March 25, at 4 p.m. a quiet wedding took place at the Olivet Baptist Church, Verdun, Que., when Lucille Mae, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Danville, Que., became the bride of Mr. William John Singleton, son of Mrs. John Singleton, of Lisburn, Northern Ireland, and the late John Singleton.

The bride wore an off-white wool dress with British tan and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pale yellow roses. Mrs. Irene Lessard, Danville, Que., sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was in a navy blue and yellow A-line dress with navy blue velvet hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of pale yellow roses. Mr. B. Rider, of Westmount, acted as best man.

Mrs. Mitchell, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue silk knit two-piece suit, pink hat with matching accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. Following the ceremony a dinner for the family and a few close friends was held at the Universities' Women's Club, in Montreal. Pink and white carnations, tulips and stephanotis formed the floral centerpiece for the table, with white tapers on either side. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Singleton left by plane for a honeymoon at Nassau and Miami. On their return they will reside in St. Laurent, Que.

Sheffield plate still best silver buy on antique market says appraiser

TORONTO (CP) — Because one of the 'best buys' because a display of silver being held at a Toronto department store.

"There is a big difference between silver stamped Sheffield and Sheffield plate. The first is very often the place of origin or a trade name."

Sheffield plate was the name given to plate produced by rolling sheets of metal and bonding them to copper.

Modern plate often has copper as a base, but the silver is coated on the base metal in an electroplating bath. Sheffield plate is no longer produced.

Mr. Berman says silver represents a good investment, though prices fluctuate with the interest of collectors. Because the supply is good, it is possible to get a bargain occasionally as Mr. Berman says he did once at a church bazaar which he attended under protest.

"There on a table was a pair of candlesticks by Carter, 1764. I wrote out my cheque for $50 in double quick time because they were worth about 10 times the amount."

A KITCHEN SINK DRAMA! Washing dishes may sound dull, but at least I can get the job done well with DOMINO LIQUID DETERGENT. (It's perfect for gentle clothes, too!) But the most dramatic point about Domino Liquid Detergent is the saving... 365 dishwashing days of savings because it's one of Dominion's own low-priced brands. I surely appreciate these extra savings on one of the necessary staples on my shopping list. But then, it's typical of DOMINO to offer sensible ways to help us cut "food" costs.

THERE'S SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE in Britain... whether you enjoy the "swinging" life and revel in the new fashions, and smart discotheques... or if you prefer the tranquil countryside, the traditions, the pomp and pageantry. Whatever your preference, I know you'll never forget your trip with BOAC. This summer BOAC offers you more transatlantic flights than ever before. You can choose from a total of 57 flights every week by BOAC with Air Canada; so there's almost certain to be a flight at the exact time to fit in with your holiday plans. With BOAC you can fly non-stop to London or stop over in Glasgow and Manchester at no extra fare.

Sicotte fears for life, he tells brutality hearing

MONTREAL (CP) — Louis Sicotte, Crown witness against 15 men accused in a police brutality case, said in court Wednesday he is afraid for his life because of recent anonymous threats he has received.

He made the statement at a preliminary hearing for the 11 policemen and four insurance investigators who face charges of having wounded Sicotte with intent to maim or mutilate while questioning him in October of 1965 about a number of arson cases.

Under cross-examination Wednesday, Sicotte admitted that he knew two murder victims whose bodies were recovered recently from shallow graves.

Police said the victims, Alphonse Bilodeau and Jean Paul Chandonnet, were suspected to have been arson "torches" and that Chandonnet was killed after giving information to the authorities.

Sicotte at first denied that he was afraid after giving information to the police, but later said he had received anonymous threats recently and was afraid for his life.

Said not typical

ROUYN, Que. (CP) — A French-language businessmen's group in this western Quebec centre said Wednesday the opinions of "a tiny group of separatists" do not represent general public opinion in the adjoining cities of Rouyn and Noranda.

The statement by la Chambre de Commerce de Rouyn-Noranda apparently referred to the letters and telephone calls used by separatists to dissuade members of the local clergy from participating in a week of religious thanksgiving.

The thanksgiving has not been explicitly connected with the Centennial Year by officials in Rouyn.

Officials of the committee say a group of about 27 separatist students were responsible for the attempts to warn the clergy off the May events.

A number of the clergy, fearing disrespect and property damage to their churches, have expressed a desire to withdraw from the May ceremonies.

Fire elusive

MONTREAL (CP) — An elusive five-alarm fire in the area of a corridor alongside the CNR's Central Station burned for five hours Wednesday, leaving 10 persons in hospital and bringing some business and traffic in the key downtown area to a halt.

Nine firemen and one CNR employee were taken to hospital as a result of smoke inhalation and scores of others were treated on the scene as they tried to seek out and quell the blaze which fed smoke into the main station concourse and surrounding office buildings.

Asbestos news

Asbestos liberals name their officers

ASBESTOS — The Asbestos Liberal Association appointed Aime Courtemanche, president of the local group, at a recent meeting, held here. Mr. Courtemanche succeeds Fernand Caron who accepted the presidency of the county association.

Noel Legendre was appointed vice-president replacing Raymond Raiche who resigned due to ill health. Edmond Delorme is second vice-president with Gaston Forest, secretary and Romeo Aube, treasurer.

The Catholic School Commission has reported that 2,474 students attend the 82 classes under the commission's jurisdiction, in Asbestos.

Paul Lacombe was elected president of the Catholic Synod of Employees of the Commercial Establishments, replacing Denis Drouin. Denis Gilbert was elected vice-president and Hilaire Cote, secretary-treasurer.

The centennial committee held a public meeting, recently, in the town hall when election of officers was held and a general outline of activities were discussed for celebrating the year's event.

J. O. Poirier vice-president of the local Chamber of Commerce, was elected president of the Centennial committee. Others on the executive committee are, V. Florent Dubois, 1st. vice-president; Mrs. Raoul Roberge, 2nd. vice-president; Ronald Gibbs, 3rd. vice-president; Claire Pellerin, secretary-treasurer; Julien Proulx, Alderman Leopold Frechette, Mrs. Eugene Sinclair, Mrs. M. Storrer, Roger Gauvin and Rejean Coutu, directors.

Paul Harry McKeown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKeown of Asbestos was ordained recently in the chapel of the Notre Dame college, Ayer's Cliff, which was presided over by Msgr. Andre Marie Chimiella, Servite de Marie.

Father McKeown held his first mass on March 19, at 12:30 p.m. in the St. Aime parish church in Asbestos, assisted by Canon Romeo Demers of the same parish.

Patrick Asselin, MP for Richmond-Wolfe will be available to meet the public on Saturday mornings between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. in the following localities, Windsor town hall, Richmond, Caisse Populaire Building, second Saturday; Asbestos town hall, third Saturday; Disraeli town hall, fourth Saturday.

Ponder traffic

QUEBEC (CP) — Transport Minister Fernand Lizotte announced Wednesday that cabinet ministers from the 10 provinces will meet here in May to discuss studies into the possibility of greater uniformity in Canadian traffic laws.

Mr. Lizotte said in a statement the meeting will be held May 11-12 at the conclusion of the annual conference here of the Canadian Highway Safety Council May 8-10.

IT'S A VERY SERIOUS MATTER — This is a scene from the Alfred de Musset play, "On ne Badine pas Avec l'Amour" which is being presented for one night only at the auditorium of the University of Sherbrooke on Saturday night, April 1. Seen are Henri Norbert (left) who plays the baron, and Jacques Thibault (right), the Cure.

A play for April Fool's eve to be presented at the U of S

"One doesn't fool with Love" which is a liberal translation of Alfred de Musset's "On ne Badine pas Avec l'Amour" will be presented at the auditorium of the Central Pavilion, University of Sherbrooke one night only, April Fool's Day.

This play performed by Le Theatre Populaire du Quebec is directed by Jean Valcourt and features such actors as Yves Massicotte and Henri Norbert. Although an attack on the convent life of the times, and involving the frustrated attempts of a lover, the play is full of the free flow of the burlesque.

News flashes from around the world

NEW ORLEANS, La. — (AP) — District Attorney Jim Garrison told reporters Wednesday there have been threats on his life as a result of his investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Texas in 1963.

The FBI notified New Orleans police Tuesday that a woman in Georgia was reported to have threatened Garrison's life. The FBI gave no details.

Garrison, who customarily carries a pistol, would not comment when asked about precautions he might be taking. His house has been under 24-hour guard for weeks.

month exposed U.S. Central Intelligence Agency financing of American students and other groups, says in its April issue, that CIA is using foreign student associations to turn members into spies against their homelands.

The magazine calls the campaign a major one of "recruiting and, when necessary, blackmailing foreign students who are studying in this country."

Six fulltime CIA agents move from campus to campus, the article says, posing as defence department representatives and offering a combination of threats and cash payments "up to $10,000 a year" to "engage in subversion against the student's government."

OTTAWA — (CP) — Cigarette commercials on television and radio should be prohibited or controlled to reduce health hazards, New Democratic MP Barry Mather said Wednesday.

He issued the text of a private member's bill he plans to introduce in the Commons Tuesday, to empower the Board of Broadcast Governors to make regulations controlling or prohibiting cigarette commercials.

House fire

Sherbrooke firemen from No. 4 station were called out to the scene of a small fire at midnight last night which was quickly controlled. An estimate of damages ran at about $2,000. The cause is undetermined. The house in question belonged to C. E. Devost at 72, 9th Avenue South.

Financial report

By Greenshields

Sales of Great Lake Paper Co. increased 36.2% to a record $63,857,287 in 1966. Net profit of $5,474,377 ($1.52 a share) was 3.9% below $5,897,770 ($1.58) for 1965 due mainly to an 80.5% increase in depreciation and interest charges arising from completion of the kraft pulp mill.

Consumers Gas Co. is acquiring a 31% interest in Underwater Gas Developers Ltd. (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Consolidated West Petroleum Ltd.) for $500,000 cash. E. F. Casie, President of Consolidated West, told the annual meeting.

Underwater Gas Developers owns and operates marine drilling equipment for offshore drilling and related work, primarily in Lake Erie.

Acquisition of controlling interest in Underwater will materially assist in the plans which Consumers Gas has for an accelerated exploration program in Lake Erie to begin this summer.

Metropolitan Stores of Canada Ltd. anticipates continued sales and profit increases in 1967.

A number of new locations for both Metropolitan and Saks are under consideration.

Sales increased 15% to $37,740,336 and net profits 19% to $1,239,840 $1.22 per common share in 1966 from $32,677,338 and $1,041,683 98¢ a share in the previous year.

Holders of 2,927,000 common shares of Quebec Natural Gas Corp. accepted the offer of Northern & Central Gas Co. Ltd. to purchase 2,150,000 shares.

Northern & Central will purchase 2,150,000 shares tendered on a pro-rata basis - 73.4% of the shares tendered by each shareholder.

National Trust Co. is expected to start mailing cheques this week in payment and certificates for shares not purchased will be mailed next week.

Stanstead District Boy Scouts hold successful Klondike Derby

STANSTEAD — The first of some 30 feet from the station what is intended to be an annual event took place at the Howard Aikman property near here on March 18. A Klondike Derby, put on by the Stanstead District Boy Scouts, was a huge success.

Even the weatherman cooperated and gave the boys and their leaders real winter Klondike weather, a blue sky, bright with brilliant sunshine, but with a cold wind from the west and the temperatures hovering in the zeros.

The event took place in a large snow covered field centered with the "North Pole" and seven stations, which represented Klondike towns.

When the 52 Scouts registered they were given a sealed envelope containing their instructions. One was to go to the "North Pole" with compass and get their bearings. In this way each team started in different directions.

The program started about 9:45 a.m. with District Commissioner Howard Aikman declared the mayor, then District Commissioner Michael Goode presided for the flag break ceremony and Mr. Aikman blew the whistle to start proceedings.

START AT DAWSON
Dawson was the start and finishing point. This was the headquarters for the mayor and his councillors. From here one councillor was dispatched to take charge in each of the communities of Fairbanks, Anchorage, Kodiak, Skagway, Fort Yukon and Whitehorse.

Senior Scout Leader Donald Elliott was councillor in charge at Fairbanks, where the Morse code message was received by the Scout teams, then decoded. Messages, such as "Hope you're enjoying yourself," were included.

At Anchorage there were two councillors, Richard Cooper and John Morel, for here with ropes the teams tied knots and a make believe body of water soup and hot chocolate as ever came from any tin can.

In the early afternoon the Scouts formed a horseshoe and the awards were presented by Mr. Aikman and Mr. Aikman.

Harland Hodgman and Tom Black were councillors at Skagway, where the teams built a winter fire, cleared snow, lighted the fire and boiled water, then extinguished the fire.

FIRST AID STATION
Fort Yukon, the first aid station, was in charge of Douglas St. Martin. He had cleared spot in the woods to represent the place where a house had burned and treatment was given to a fire victim for shock and injuries. Then the Scouts placed the victim on their dog sled and brought him into hospital at Dawson. At the hospital the boys were asked test questions and bandages were examined.

Tree identification was the station of Whitehorse. On a good brisk ten-minute walk in the woods in which were ten tagged trees, the boys had to identify the tree marked and write it on a chart.

The dog sleds, previous to the Derby, had been built on a plan suggested by the Derby organizers and the dogs were a team of Boy Scouts. At all times there was a Scout rider on the sleds.

At each station the boys' awards were gold nuggets, which looked like real gold and were dug from the ground by the Stanstead Scouts in advance of the Derby, and believe me, these nuggets meant as much as solid gold ones to the participants.

BEST SOUP EVER
When all the teams had arrived back at Dawson they lined up and were served boiling hot soup and hot chocolate, and a make believe body of water

how good this tasted, the best closed by the lowering of the flag.

The North Hatley team of Jack and Sam Wells, Michael Stoddard, Steve Bassett, Jim Hatley, Gary and Barry Guild, Jacki Ditchburn, Bryan Gaudin, Bruce Chute, Charles Whyte and Buich Meigs, placed first with 35 gold nuggets collected.

Stanstead came in second place with 33 nuggets. Magog was third with 31 pieces, while Beebe and a mixed team placed fourth and fifth. Tom Feeley is leader of the North Hatley Troop.

PERPETUAL TROPHY
Douglas Stoddard is donating a perpetual trophy which this year will be presented to the North Hatley Klondike Derby team.

This Klondike Derby idea originated with Terrence Soutiere, a Queen Scout, who during his four years in Athol, Mass., did much work with the Scouts and previous to this had been active as a Stanstead Troop Scout. He learned about the Klondike Derby in Athol and with the aid of other leaders has worked on this plan since November 1966, putting a great deal of thought and work into it to make it a wonderful day for the Scouts and observers.

Working to set this up with dog sled ride through the woods, Mr. Soutiere were Mr. Aikman then the Senior Scouts of the and the senior leaders, the Stanstead troop, whose snow Derby councillors, Mr. Aikman sculpturing won them first place in the Derby. Mr. Soutiere and Michael Goode were advisors for the day.

Every Scout registered received a shoulder flash, made of white felt in a triangle design with lettering and a Derby pennant marked with 1967, the centennial crest, a dog sled design and Stanstead District Klondike Derby, the creative work of Reginald Martin, of Rock Island.

Philip Poaps, chief cook of the soup and hot chocolate, was assisted by Alden Peacock and E. C. Middleton.

OBSERVERS
While the Scout teams were "on the trail" they were not accompanied by a leader, although several of the leaders came as observers and were entertained at Dawson as honorary citizens.

Cub Scouts with their leaders were also here as observers and registered as honorary from Magog, North Hatley, Beebe and Stanstead, with four sixers chosen to "walk the tree trail" and each were given a gold nugget as a souvenir and a shoulder flash.

As Mr. Aikman broke the horseshoe formation and much to the great happiness of all there came from the woods Fred Robertson and his husky dog team. He gave each of the North Hatley winning team a dog sled ride through the woods.

Mr. Robertson was also presented a pennant in appreciation of his contribution to the day.

This first Klondike Derby was a smashing success and will be repeated again next year and for many years to come it is hoped.

Sixty-six of our export experts abroad are coming home.

You can talk to them personally about your ESP*—Export Sales Potential.

Who are they? Sixty-six senior Canadian Government Trade Commissioners from Trade and Commerce offices throughout the world.

Travelling as a group, they will visit eight major Canadian business centres from April 17 to June 2.

We call it "OPERATION EXPORT 1967". You can arrange individual private meetings whether you are now exporting or just interested in exploring the export possibilities for your product or service.

If you have a specific foreign market in mind, we'll reserve an interview with the Trade Commissioner from that particular territory. If you think your product or service has *Export Sales Potential, but aren't exactly sure where, we'll look into it and schedule suitable interviews for you.

INTERVIEWS—These will take place between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. each workday. You may arrange as many interviews as you wish. The only restriction is one-half hour per Trade Commissioner. All interviews will be private.

HOW TO REGISTER—Interview forms may be obtained from your Provincial Government trade department, your trade association, Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, the nearest Regional Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce, or direct from: Director, Operation Export 1967, Department of Trade and Commerce, Wellington Street, Ottawa.

Complete and mail the form to Director, Operation Export 1967, Department of Trade and Commerce, Wellington Street, Ottawa. You will be advised by mail of the date, time, place and the name of the Trade Commissioner who will meet with you.

NO CHARGE—There is no registration fee or charge for interviewing. (Any travel or living expense a businessman incurs must be borne by him.)

HAVE YOU GOT ESP*? *Export Sales Potential? Don't miss this extraordinary opportunity to develop it into *Export

Selling Power by discussing your prospects with men who can give you first hand information and advice on specific foreign markets. If you have ESP*, the Trade Commissioner and our Trade and Commerce Export Experts in Canada will follow through and help you in a host of ways to capitalize on it.

Sutton Junior Ski School races huge success

Clay loses decision

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay came to his former home town and suffered two setbacks in his fight to stay out of the army Wednesday.

The champ was denied a court order to prevent his induction. And, a draft board in Houston, Tex., the town Clay now calls home, sent him word to appear April 28 for induction.

Lawyer Hayden C. Covington of New York said he would appeal the federal court decision to the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati and to the Supreme Court. He also indicated he might start legal action in Houston before the induction date.

Pugh speaks at Bishop's

Bob Pugh, athletics director of Macdonald College, and former president of the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Athletic Association, the sports body of which Bishop's University is a member, will be guest speaker at the 1967 sports awards dinner at Bishop's.

The athletics banquet will be held Friday evening at 6:30 p.m., on the Lennoxville campus.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentations of the male and female athlete of the year awards, earned by the winners through their participation in intercollegiate competitions, as well as intra-mural sports. As well, players voted as being the most valuable to the team will receive awards in basketball, (male and female), football, hockey, soccer, and skiing.

SUTTON — Top class honors in Sutton Junior Ski School Race held March 25, were won by Louise Fuller and Claude Lacaille, who also had the best times of the day in the closing event of the season for children.

Claude Lacaille mastered the special giant slalom in 33.5 seconds while Louise Fuller had the fastest girls time of 37.0 seconds.

A field of 100 competitors were entered in the 25 gate course set by former Canadian Champion and Ski School Director, Jean Lessard, on Sutton's "Cascade" run. This event was the climax of a progressive 10 week instructional course for juniors.

New Brunswick leading Senior curling event with record of 5-1

MONTREAL (CP)—While the experts refuse to commit themselves on a likely winner for the third annual national seniors curling championships, they agree the picture should be considerably clearer after today's three rounds.

So far, a maverick rink from New Brunswick, playing in its first national competition and skipped by Jim Murphy of Saint John, has garnered the most attention with a surprisingly strong showing. However, Alberta, Ontario, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba also have a chance.

With six of the 11 rounds completed, Murphy leads with a 5-1 record. Alberta's Jack Bury of Calgary's North Hill Club is 4-1 a game in hand.

Two veterans of Canadian and seniors competition who have come on strongly in recent rounds are Carl Asmussen of Kitchener, Ont., and Frank Avery of Vancouver.

This pair got off to slow starts, but both the skips and officials here now believe they are ready to make their bid as both rinks have scored four wins and two losses to date.

Hazen (Ducky) Pond's Saskatchewan rink from Prince Albert and Alex Lawrence of Winnipeg's Charleswood Club both are 3-2 and are conceded an outside chance of finishing first.

Arnold Chisnell of Sudbury, representing Northern Ontario, and Quebec's Stan Ferry from Montreal West, have 2-3 records. Dr. Wen MacDonald of Charlottetown is 2-4. Jack McCarthy of St. John's, Nfld., 1-4 and the Nova Scotia rink of Mel Armstrong from Middleton is winless in six starts.

Murphy had a 1-1 day Wednesday as he bowed 10-2 to Ferry in the morning before beating Saskatchewan 11-4. Alberta, which drew a bye in the evening, whipped Newfoundland 12-5 in fifth-round play.

SETS RECORD

Ontario's Asmussen showed his improved play as he nursed a 7-4 win from Manitoba in a morning match, set a record for the national event when he blanked Newfoundland 15-0 in the evening round.

It was the first time in national competition a rink has failed to score at least one point. However, Asmussen said he would have preferred to have seen the Newfoundlanders score.

The game was discontinued after the seventh end.

The Vancouverites also picked up under Avery's able guidance. They trimmed the previously undefeated Pond 10-2 in the fifth round and then dropped Northern Ontario 10-7 in the sixth.

The Sudbury rink had a bye for the early round.

After losing earlier to Ontario, Manitoba won a six-saw evening match 6-4 from P.E.I. Dr. MacDonald's rink won its morning round 13-7 over Nova Scotia, which then lost an extra-end 8-7 decision to Quebec in evening play.

NHL big 10

Phil Goyette of New York Rangers picked up four assists in his club's 10-5 victory over Detroit Red Wings Wednesday night to move into a tie for sixth place in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Goyette, tied for seventh place prior to the game, moved into the tie for sixth place with Bobby Rousseau of Montreal Canadiens. Both players have 16 points each.

Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks leads the parade with 94 points, including a record-breaking 60 assists. Bobby Hull of the Hawks is second with 80 points, including a league high of 32 goals.

Norm Ullman of the Red Wings is third with 68 points, followed by team-mate Gordie Howe with 64. Ken Wharram of the Hawks is fifth, one point behind Howe.

Phil Esposito of Chicago is eighth with 57 points, followed by team-mate Doug Mohns with 56. Alex Delvecchio of Detroit rounds out the top 10 with 55 points.

Glen Adams' Otterburn rink wins Cowansville Bonspiel

FINALISTS — Shown above are the two rinks who met in the finals of the main event of the annual Cowansville Country Club Invitational Bonspiel which was won by the Otterburn Park rink skipped by Glen Adams. They edged Georges Marchand's Granby-St. Paul foursome 10-7. On the left, of the Brock Trophy is the Granby-St. Paul rink, kneeling. E. Breton and Skip Adams.

COWANSVILLE—(Staff)—The fourth annual Invitational men's Bonspiel held at the Cowansville Country Club during Easter week saw Otterburn Park's entry, skipped by Glen Adams, win the Brock trophy in the main event when they edged Granby-St. Paul foursome skipped by Georges Marchand, 10-7.

Cowansville rink, skipped by Joe Ritchie, in the consolation event won the Albany Felt Trophy when they posted a 9-3 upset over a Lennoxville entry skipped by Charlie Warner. Thirty-two rinks from Sutton, Granby, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Otterburn Park, Beloeil and Lacolle played through the week, providing plenty of fine curling for the local fans.

Skip Glen Adams and his foursome have a 500 batting average over the four year history of the event. This was their second victory in the main event. The week long festivities were highlighted with a fine supper Saturday, prior to the finals in both classifications.

Yastrzemski clouts two homers off southpaw Jackson, Pirates stop White Sox, Dodgers win

Carl Yastrzemski often had that left-out feeling when left-handers pitched against the Red Sox, but this spring he is showing signs of becoming the big hit of the Boston Baseball Party.

The left-handed hitter smacked two home runs off southpaw Alvin Jackson Wednesday as the Red Sox nipped St. Louis Cardinals 10-9. He drove in six runs.

Earlier this spring, manager Dick Williams said Yastrzemski, who hit 278 but only .198 against southpaws in 1966, would not be platooned this season.

In other exhibition games Wednesday, Joe Morgan's home run lifted Houston Astros over Atlanta Braves 3-2; Donn Clendenon smacked two homers as Pittsburgh Pirates beat Chicago White Sox 6-4 in 10; Harmon Killebrew's fifth homer of the spring helped Minnesota Twins past Washington Senators 5-0.

New York Mets beat Cincinnati Reds 5-3; Cleveland Indians nipped California Angels 2-1; Detroit Tigers rocked Philadelphia Phillies 6-2; Los Angeles Dodgers edged Kansas City Athletics 3-2 and San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs were rained out.

In the Houston game, Larry Dierker retired 13 straight while working seven innings for the Astros. Tony Cloninger set down 12 straight in a seven-inning stint for Atlanta.

Pittsburgh got three runs from Clendenon's homers but needed three straight singles for a run in the 10th to win it. Chicago's Ken Berry hit a grand slam off Bob Veale in the third.

Dave Boswell, Jim Perry and Al Worthington of the Twins combined to shut out Washington.

The Mets got seven hits, including Ron Swoboda's triple, in scoring all of their runs in the fifth inning. The outburst was at the expense of Cincinnati's Mel Queen, an outfielder trying to make the grade as a pitcher.

Cleveland got two unearned runs in the fifth to overcome California's 1-0 lead fashioned on Rick Reichardt's second-inning homer, and pitchers Gary Bell, Vicente Romo and Dick Radatz made them stand up.

Doubles by George Korincic and Dick McAuliffe and three singles enabled Detroit to break a 1-1 tie with three runs in the eighth.

Los Angeles got its three runs in the first inning two of them on Bob Bailey's homer. The Dodgers lost centre fielder Wil Davis for seven to 10 days. Davis sprained his left ankle while attempting to steal second.

Thetford Canadiens favored over Verdun in QAHA playdowns

THETFORD MINES—Coach Leafs, is one of their better players. Bob Murray, former captain of the Sherbrooke Braves, will be in uniform again tonight for the Canadiens when they clash with the Leafs. Murray had signed earlier with Thetford but according to their league ruling couldn't take part in any games until after the playoffs were ended.

The two teams are deadlocked at a game each. The Leafs copped the first tilt 5-2 but the Canadiens bounced right back in the second game to win 5-3 and even the count. Both games were played in Verdun. Following tonight's tilt the teams will clash again tomorrow night in Thetford with a fifth tilt Sunday if required. The winners will take on Halifax Canadiens in a four-out-of-seven affair.

Coach Morrisseau will have a complete lineup on hand for tonight's big battle and the fans should witness some good hockey before it is all over. With the series tied both clubs will be going after tonight's crucial tilt as the winners will move into the driver's seat in the series.

Carl Brewer is lone Canadian to make 1967 All-Star squad

VIENNA (CP)—Carl Brewer of Toronto was the only member of Canada's national team to make the all-star team picked Wednesday by 123 sports writers covering the 1967 world hockey tournament.

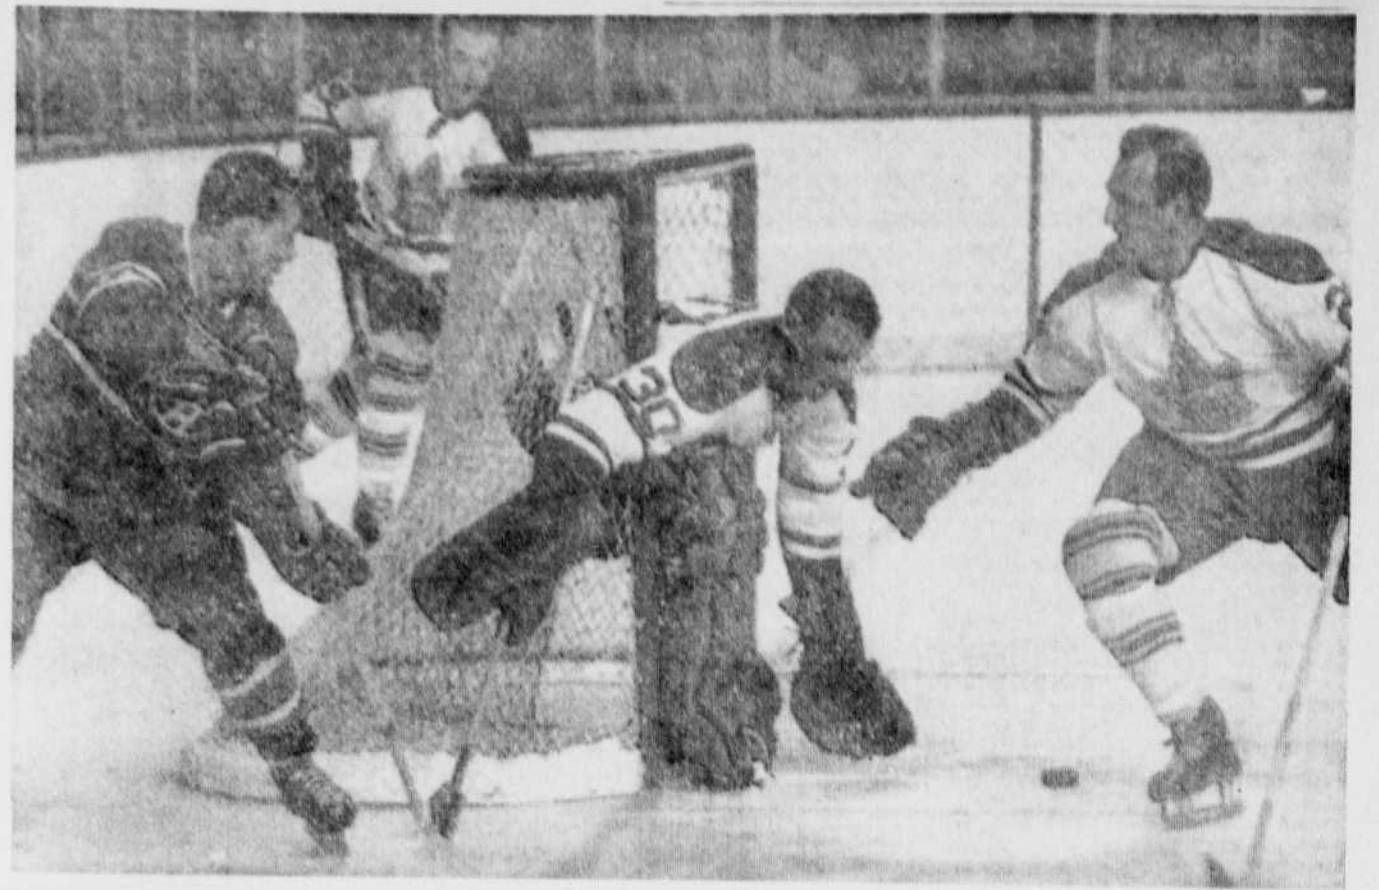

The 28-year-old former defenceman with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League received 103 votes. He scored one goal and was credited with six assists in seven games.

The world champion Russians placed four men on the all-star team. Carl Wetzel of the United States was chosen the best goalie. Anatoly Firsov of Russia, the tournament's leading scorer with 11 goals and 12 assists, and team-mates Alexander Almetov and Veniamin Alexandrov, were named as the best forwards and veteran Alexander Ragulin of Russia joined Brewer at defencemen.

GOT TWO SHUTOUTS

Wetzel, 28-year-old ex-pro from Detroit was the only goalie to register two shutouts—a scoreless tie against East Germany and a 2-0 win over Finland.

Habs move into sole possession on second spot, Rangers in third, Leafs fall off

MONTREAL Canadiens and New York Rangers played leapfrog with Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday night but the three clubs are still battling for second place in the National Hockey League.

The Canadiens and Rangers each won Wednesday night, with the Canadiens pulling away from the Leafs and the Rangers moving up in the race for second place.

The Canadiens took over sole possession of second place by beating the Maple Leafs 5-3 in Montreal while the Rangers vaulted over Toronto in the standings by blasting Detroit Red Wings 10-5 in New York. Montreal now has 73 points, New York 72 and the Leafs 71.

Don Marshall and Rod Gilbert scored three goals apiece and Ken Schinkel two to spark New York. Vic Hadfield and Bob Nevin completed the rout. Norm Ullman scored two goals for Detroit and Bob Falkenberg, Dean Prentice and Floyd Smith one each.

Defenceman Jean-Claude Tremblay played a major role in Montreal's victory by scoring one goal and assisting on goals by Yvan Cournoyer and Leon Rochefort. Jean-Guy Talbot and Gilles Tremblay scored the other Montreal goals. Larry Hillman, Red Kelly and Mike Walton replied for Toronto.

The Rangers scored on their first two shots at Detroit goalie Roger Crozier with only 64 seconds gone in the game.

Gilbert's three goals marked the first time he has scored in New York since New Year's night. The right winger, who faced a benching less than a month ago when he was in the midst of a scoring slump, was happy with his performance before a packed home crowd of 14,121 and said:

"It was my first hat trick in the Garden in five years with the Rangers. It was a great thrill."

He had managed just five goals in the second half of the season prior to Wednesday night.

Emile Francis, manager-coach of the Rangers, said: "We waited a long time for that kind of night. I was particularly happy for Gilbert. He needed a night like this."

The Rangers led 4-1 going into the second period and 7-2 going into the third period.

CHANGE GOALIES

Crozier played the first period and gave up the first four New York goals. He was replaced by backup goalie George Gardiner at the start of the second period.

Gilbert scored his second of the night on New York's first shot at Gardiner early in the second period. The Rangers had 18 shots at Crozier and 21 at Gardiner. Ed Giacomin played the full game for the Rangers and kicked out 29 of 34 shots.

The Canadiens have lost only one of their last 14 games and have picked up 21 of a possible 28 points.

J. C. Tremblay, a standout on defence for the Canadiens most of the season, drew cheers from the 15,638 spectators and from Montreal coach Toe Blake.

"I just played my usual type of game and I guess I was lucky to come up with three points," said Tremblay. "Like everyone else on the team, I want to finish in second place and that's what all the effort is about."

CAN'T EXPLAIN STREAK

Blake said it is difficult to explain why the team has been going so well lately in posting a string of nine consecutive games without a loss.

"I guess the fact that we're back at full strength would have a lot to do with it," he said. "Then too, we've been getting good performances from just about everybody the forwards, the defence and the goaling."

"We shouldn't overlook the fact that fellows like Leon Rochefort have done a lot for us, so we're getting that consistent effort you need to win."

The teams were deadlocked 2-2 at the end of the first period but Montreal led 4-3 going into the final period. J. C. Tremblay clinched the game for the Canadiens by sinking his goal midway through the third.

Canada suffers 6-0 plastering by Swedes, McLeod sure system of National teams is good one VIENNA (CP)—Coach Jackie McLeod and Gordon Juckes, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, reaffirmed their faith Wednesday in the national team system as the best way to bring the world hockey title back to Canada.

The national team, founded before the 1964 Olympics, failed here for the fourth time in four seasons to become a title-winner. It finished third in the world championship, behind Russia and Sweden. Czechoslovakia was fourth.

"I feel very strongly that this national team idea is right and eventually we will win in Europe," McLeod said after Canada's 6-0 humiliation by Sweden Wednesday in its last game of the tournament.

McLeod and Juckes both said that two national teams should be maintained throughout the season, with the final selection to be made shortly before the championship competition. They also said the long, pre-tournament exhibition tours in Europe should be curtailed.

"It was thought the boys needed more competition, so they played a big exhibition schedule," Juckes said. "But it seems now that maybe the schedule was too heavy."

McLeod thinks Canada can win the Olympic hockey title next winter in Grenoble, France.

"I think we have a strong team. Another thing, the boys won't have to be worrying about written exams two weeks after the tournament."

Ten of the players face university exams after their return to Canada.

The Canadian team exhibited a superb defence here. It fell down only against Sweden, in the final game.

PROVIDED THRILLERS—The Canadians' 2-1 loss to Russia, which clinched the title for the Russians Monday night, and 1-1 tie with the Czechs were two of the most thrilling games in the tournament. What the Canadians lacked in these key games was scoring power.

The team's most famous player, Carl Brewer, former National Hockey League all-star with Toronto Maple Leafs, was picked for the tournament's all-star team. He was the only Canadian to make the grade on a team that included four Russians and U.S. goalie Carl Wetzel, who played junior hockey with Hamilton Red Wings and pro hockey for Edmonton and Sudbury, Ont., teams.

The Canadians clearly suffered from a sense of anti-climax against the Swedes, who raced to a 3-0 lead in the first period, added two more goals in the second and one in the third.

Swedish assistant coach Bertil Ronneberg said the Canadians showed no life on the ice after the first period.

"They didn't check, they didn't fight. The Russian game took everything out of them."

It was a tournament in which most teams tore the form book to shreds. Only the Russians consistently came up to expectations. They won all seven of their games in the eight-country, round-robin tournament, taking the first five easily beating Canada 2-1, and winding up with a 4-2 victory over the Czechs Wednesday.

Sweden finished in a second-place tie with Canada on points, but got the higher place in the standings because it won its game with Canada. It was more than the Swedes deserved on the basis of their overall performance, which began with a 4-3 loss to the United States and a mere 3-1 win over feeble West Germany.

Finland racked Czechoslovakia 3-1 in the biggest upset of the tournament, and the Czechs finished fourth.

The Swedes played their best hockey of the 12-day tournament in beating Canada. The Canadians mounted the first serious attack of the game but Sweden was in charge thereafter.

Turin, Italy—Piero Tomasani, 186, Italy, outpointed Dante Cane, 222½ Italy. Tomasani retained Italian heavyweight title.

Club last season. In the front, left to right, C. Brewer, club chairman, I. Stone, A. Bullock, and S. Galazzo. Standing, same order, L. Leclerc, L.

Stanstead County Fish and Game Club holds "Molson's Night"

BOUNDARY — The annual "Molson's Night" of the Stanstead County Fish and Game Club was held Tuesday evening in the Beebe Town Hall and was the largest attendance in the history of the club with a good percentage of young people able to attend since students were on Easter holidays.

All were welcomed by the President Philip Poaps and Charles Brewer, the chairman of the Club for the Molson's contest of Fish entries.

Germaine Serve, from Molson's Brewery in Montreal, presented a total of $470 in prizes to lucky anglers of the club plus gold, silver and bronze medals. Mr. Poaps, in his opening remarks, said the club, or any such club as the Stanstead County Fish and Game, is able to operate only as long as they have the support of the public. He appealed to them to take membership and to support its projects. He also spoke on the Federation insurance offered to club members for a small fee. The insurance opportunities will soon be available through the club secretary.

Mr. Brewer, in his remarks, noted how fine it was to have members from Vermont at a gathering. He said that in 1967 fishing season there were 280 clubs participating in the Molson's Fishing contest of which 86 were winners while the club copped the gold trophy and cheque for $200. This is the eighth award the club has won and fourth gold trophy.

Mr. Brewer said this has been possible through the co-operation of members in registering their fish, the work of the weighing stations, to whom he voiced appreciation, the Beebe Town Council for the use of their hall for this event, and to Marcel Gosselin and Bob Elliott for their display of wildlife art, in the form of a granite plaque and mounted animals.

Mr. Serve spoke on Molson's interest in water pollution and the campaign they have started in which they hope to have the interest of every club. Pollution, he said, comes from sewerage, industry, and even the farms because the latter is now using so much chemical fertilizer which eventually seeps into the streams cutting off the oxygen needed by fish to breathe.

Needed from the public is the education of the matter, interest, a little push and responsibility of which Molson's is asking all of their affiliates. In another ten to fifteen years, Mr. Serve said, the youngsters of today will not be able to enjoy the fishing their elders do unless something is done at once.

Mr. Serve and Mr. Poaps distributed cheques of $50.00 and gold medals to Mrs. Jean Stone, Beebe, for her entry of a nine pound, twelve ounce rainbow trout; Mrs. Hugo La Penna, Beebe, a 13 pound rainbow; Ivan Stone, Beebe, a seven pound, three ounce brown, and Albert Bullock, Rock Island, a twelve pound, five ounce Brown.

Cheques of $30.00 and a silver medal to Larry Clowery, Stanstead; H. L. Frampton, Greenfield Park; Adrien Bachand, Stanstead; A. E. Swoger, Magog; Ludger Leclerc, Beebe; Leslie Bullock, Beebe; Salvatore Galazzo, Beebe;

Cheques of $15.00 and bronze medals to R. H. Williams, Beebe; Mrs. Leslie Bullock, Beebe; Oscar Reeves, Beebe; George Hatch, Rock Island. These prizes were for Landlocked salmon, brown trout, rainbow trout and others. There were also another 24 Hon-

Reports of conveners are given at annual meeting of Scotstown W.I.

SCOTSTOWN — The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the High School, with Mrs. W. A. Ladd and Mrs. C. M. MacRae as hostesses. The president, Mrs. MacKenzie, conducted the meeting.

Secretary, Mrs. F. B. Mayhew, read the minutes of the previous meeting, and the correspondence. Treasurer, Mrs. A. Ladd, gave her report and the auditor's report. A good sum had been received from Pennies For Friendship.

Each convener read her report, all showing an active session. Pictures, slides and demonstrations had been given, sale of plants and bulbs, and many interesting articles read at the meetings. Picnic meeting, June 14, was held at Mr. and Mrs. Ladd's cottage, and a Christmas party, in December at the Anglican parsonage, were the social highlights of the year.

Christmas stockings were handed out to each member to be filled and returned for the May meeting.

It was decided to cancel the concert for the time being.

Mrs. Bea Atkin held the lucky ticket in the drawing for the souvenir spoon.

Members agreed to collect for the Red Cross drive later.

Mrs. MacKenzie thanked all the officers and members for their support and co-operation during her term of office.

Mrs. Dewar Scott took the chair for the election and installation of officers. The slate of officers, read by Mrs. C. MacRae, chairman of the nominating committee, was as follows:

President, Mrs. Ralph Coleman; first vice, Mrs. Ronald Smith; second vice, Mrs. Leslie Irving; secretary, Mrs. Fraser Mayhe; treasurer, Mrs. William Ladd.

Conveners: Agriculture, Mrs. Helen Hall; education, Mrs. G. MacDonald; home economics, Mrs. Charles MacRae; publicity, Mrs. Philip Boy; welfare and health, Mrs. Bea Atkin.

Delegates were appointed to attend the convention in July also the county convention in May.

It was voted to give a donation of $10 to the Sherbrooke Hospital campaign.

At the close of the business period a game was enjoyed by all. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the hostesses.

Airline hostess heard in talk on Ireland at Granby Kiwanis Club

GRANBY — The Granby Kiwanis club held its regular meeting on March 14 at 6:30 p.m. It was ladies' night and at the same time, was in honor of St. Patrick's Day. The program, planned by Lieut. Governor Jack Fanning was a huge success.

After a short business meeting, in charge of the president, Frank D'Avignon, the guest speaker, Miss Eithne Mulcahy, a hostess from the Irish Air Lines, presented a most interesting talk about Ireland and attractions there, the question and answer interval was enjoyed.

Miss Mulcahy was accompanied by three other Irish air hostesses and, following a general sing - song, the four hostesses sang two Irish songs.

Huntingville LA has successful rummage sale

HUNTINGVILLE — The Ladies Aid meeting was held Mar. 14 at the home of Mrs. Keith Kerr, with Mrs. Lynn Taylor as co-hostess.

Deviations were led by Mrs. Taylor.

A successful report was given on the rummage sale held in Lennoxville.

Get - well cards were sent, also three baby gifts.

The annual Ladies Aid banquet is to be held on April 11. The Grace Christian Home is to be remembered at Easter. Flowers are to be placed in the Huntingville Christian Church on Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hunting spent the weekend in St. Foy, guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. James and Gregory.

Birthday party held at Border

ROCK ISLAND — Bert Chamberlain observed his birthday recently when he was guest of honor at a surprise party, given by his family.

In response to a knock on the door, he was greeted with birthday wishes. A social evening was enjoyed. The guest of honor was presented with gifts. Refreshments included the traditional birthday cake.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Breaky Mosher and family, Tomifobia, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chamberlain, Stanstead, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chamberlain, Rock Island.
