World News In Brief

Berlin, May 16.—(P)—A report by the American Military Governor disclosed today that Allied technical investigators were nearing the end of their quest after Nazi war secrets, such as the flying bomb, in the western zones of occupation.

British, American and French deputy military governors, the report said, have agreed to close the operations of the Field Information Agency Technical (F.I.A.T.), and the British Intelligence Objectives Sub-committee (B.I.O.S.), two organizations which entered Germany closely behind the Allied armies to seek information on the work of German scientists.

Ottawa, May 16.—(C.P.)—The Agriculture Department has done it again. Now it has standardized the frozen egg. A departmental press release reported today that the department has taken the guesswork out of buying frozen eggs by establishing grading standards which will enable Canadian bakers, who use about $5,000,000 worth of this commodity annually, to order their supplies with confidence.

The standards, devised by government scientists and marketing specialists at the request of the frozen egg industry, will make it possible for the approximately 60 egg-breaking plants in Canada to market frozen eggs of uniform quality. Exports, which now go only to Newfoundland and the British West Indies, will have to measure up to the new regulations, as will any imports.

London, May 16.—(Reuters)—The King, who has been suffering from an attack of laryngitis, was considerably improved today. A report from Buckingham Palace said that the ailment had nearly cleared up. He was handicapped during his long speech yesterday by the throat condition.

London, May 16.—(Reuters)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor disembarked from the liner Queen Elizabeth at Southampton today and left at once by car for Sunninghill, Berkshire, where they will spend two weeks before going to France for the summer.

The Duke's finances will be the subject of a question in the House of Commons Tuesday when Communist Member Philip Piratin will ask Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to give his statistics on what allotment of dollars has been made to the Duke over and above the basic allocation of $300.

Piratin wants the figures for 1945, 1946 and to the nearest possible date in 1947.

London, May 16.—(Reuters)—A government statement on the situation in India which led to the announcement last night that the Viceroy, Lord Mountbatten, would return to Britain for consultations will be made in the House of Commons as soon as possible, Arthur Greenwood, Deputy House leader, announced today.

Greenwood gave this assurance in response to a request from Anthony Eden, deputy leader of the Opposition, who declared that it was important the House should be kept informed of any developments in the Indian situation.

Canada Can Stand In Front Rank Of Atomic Experiment

Hilton, May 16.—(C)—Spurred by word from one of Canada's top physicists that this country "has the opportunity to stand in the front rank of atomic research," more than 200 of the Dominion's top-flight chemists looked eagerly forward today to additional instruction on what their science has done and can do in nucleonics.

"Nucleonics" is the word coined by atomic scientists to describe their fast-growing science, which has manufactured elements alien to nature and probed deeply into their chemical makeup and properties.

Yesterday, after hearing technical discussions by eight scientists from Canada's atomic energy project at Chalk River, Ont., the chemists heard Dr. D. A. Keys, director of the plant, tell them at a dinner speech which has an "atomic pile."

"It has the latest instruments and offers opportunities of doing special kinds of research which no other country in the world has," said Dr. Keys. "We in Canada have the opportunity to stand in the front rank of atomic research."

Mine Hidden In Parked Car At Haifa Killed Policeman

Jerusalem, May 16.—(P)—The Jewish underground concealed a mine in a parked automobile on Mount Carmel in Haifa today, detonated it electrically as a police car passed by and killed a British policeman and wounded three other officers, an official announcement said.

One of the three injured men was described as a Jewish police inspector. Investigators found a wire leading from the parked car in which the mine was hidden to a point 90 feet away. The machine in which the police were riding was smashed and burned by the blast.

The left wing Hashomir Hatzair party, whose Jewish members operate some 300 communal farm settlements in Palestine, called, meanwhile, for "equality for Jews and Arabs under international trusteeship as preparation for a bi-monthly state."

The party issued a proclamation hailing the United Nations speech of Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, calling for partition of Palestine if a dual Arab-Jewish state should be found impossible. The proclamation also demanded that the Jewish agency adopt "more liberal policies."

A long-time proponent of Jewish-Arab co-operation in a bi-national socialist state, the party recently has been active in propagandizing against the violence of the Jewish underground groups and has maintained that it has conducted a number of actual attacks on underground arsenals.

One of the underground groups, the fighters for freedom of Israel, often referred to as the Stern Gang, issued a statement last night in which it pledged that its members would not harm members of the United Nations investigation commission when they visit Palestine.

The other major underground group, Irgun Zvai Leumi, strung banners over power lines in Tel Aviv during the night declaring "our fight goes on" and "gallows do not frighten us."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor, Reports 75 Per Cent of Food Allocated to British Zone Where Food Crisis Is Acute.

By EDWIN SHANKE
Berlin, May 16.—(P)—More than 1,000,000 tons of food was provided Germans by the United States and the United Kingdom during the first 3½ months of 1947 to support the German feeding program against disease and unrest, the latest report of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor, said today.

Approximately 75 per cent of the food was allocated to the British zone, where the food crisis is more acute, and the rest to the United States occupied areas.

While the report covering conditions in the American zone through March gave little hope of improvement in the supply of food before the next harvest, it struck a more optimistic note on industrial recovery and predicted that all the ground lost during the winter should be made up by the end of May.

Continuance until the next harvest of the official 1,550-calorie ration for the normal consumer, which officials admit is a starvation level, depends "on the availability of indigenous food and on adequate imports," Clay reported. He said meat and fat rations were smaller than in any previous period since the beginning of the occupation.

Approximately 3,550,000 children in the British and American zones, meantime, were getting a ration-free meal of 350 calories daily at school in areas in the greatest need of supplementary feeding.

A survey in the United States zone indicated that spring planting

The Day In Parliament

By The Canadian Press

Today
The Commons will consider establishment of a committee on human rights.

The Senate will not sit.

Yesterday
The Commons heard Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (PC-Nanaimo) call for a single chief of staff for the armed forces; heard R. W. Mayhew, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, uphold the financial policies of the government; heard Maurice Hartt (L-Montreal) charge that Norman Jacques (SC-Wetaskin) was a "menace" to Canada; heard Solon Levy, Social Credit leader, say he would read Mr. Hartt out of the party if Mr. Hartt could prove the charge; heard Justice Minister Leask flatly deny a charge that adjustment of the Canadian dollar at parity last July was the result of pressure from the United States; heard E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) suggest establishment of a budget committee on reduction of expenditures.

The Senate did not sit.

LOVE STORY:

Helpless and in terrible pain, Ernest Steele lay trapped for five days in the wreckage of his car near Martinez, Calif. As death from thirst and shock neared, the 26-year-old Navy veteran thought not of himself but of his wife Mae. Steele's right arm was mangled, but with his left he doggedly scratched on the fender of his car the message to his wife: "Don't forget I love you." Finally, two power company linemen found Steele at the bottom of the 35-foot gully into which his car had plunged. Doctors said he would have been dead in a few more hours. These pictures tell the love story of Ernest and Mae Steele. The wife is shown comforting her husband after his rescue. The large picture shows the message Mae Steele will never forget.

Name Of New Liberal Head Kept Secret

Announcement of Election Result at Ontario Convention Unexpectedly Delayed Until Today.

Toronto, May 16.—(C)—Campaign literature and buttons flooded the Ontario Liberal Association convention hall last night as four candidates put in print their intention to stand for leadership of the Liberal party in Ontario. Meanwhile, as anxiety increased with leadership nominations closing this morning, new interest had arisen regarding the election of the association president.

At a formal dinner last night two more candidates distributed their bids for the political leadership but the big question of the evening—"who was elected president, Harry Hamilton, of Sault Ste. Marie, or Norman Hipel, of Toronto?"—remained unanswered. The election which took place at the last minute of the afternoon session was contested by fewer candidates than were expected in pre-convention corridor talk.

Mr. Hamilton, a former president of the association as well as a former Federal Member of Parliament, received the nomination of the official nominating committee. However, a nomination was made from the floor placing Mr. Hipel's name into contention. Mr. Hipel is former Speaker of the Ontario Legislature and former Minister of Labor.

Earlier it had been expected that at least a half dozen nominations would be made, but the delegates gathered around the two contenders and a ballot election ensued.

Announcement of the election result was to have been made at last night's dinner but was unexpectedly delayed until this morning.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Federal Minister of Transport, who took Premier Duggan to task for seeking farmers in Britain at the present moment and said the time was ripe for strong Liberal leadership in the province.

Responsibility for bringing in farmers to Canada was that of the Immigration Department, Mr. Chevrier said.

Bevin Accuses U.S. Press Of Handicapping Big-4-Parley

London, May 16.—(Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Bevin today blamed the United States press for handicapping the progress of talks between the Big Four Foreign Ministers by "hurting it into headlines" the moment they even thought aloud.

Continuing the two-day debate on British foreign policy which he opened yesterday, Bevin deplored the fact that publicity in the press had now reached down to the sub-committee and deputy level of the discussions.

"I am not blaming the Soviet government for that. It was largely due to the United States power of the press. Even the press themselves said that from a news point of view this thing which has developed is of little value."

Bevin declared he hoped that when the crucial decisions on which so much of the world depended were reached "we shall be able to have a frank exchange of views without commitment in order to ascertain each other's Egypt."

Government Extravagance Is Under Fire By E. D. Fulton

Special to the Record

Ottawa, May 16.—Aiming his attack particularly at the National Film Board and at the program of government publicity, E. D. Fulton, Progressive Conservative member for Kamloops, B.C., told the House of Commons yesterday that if the only reason it had failed to reduce spending lay in the fact that the Opposition had provided no workable methods, "then I say that they ought not to continue in office any longer."

Government criticism of the Opposition for not advancing practical suggestions as to spending curbs was replied to by Mr. Fulton in these words: "If that is the answer of the government, I think it is an indication of a fairly weak-minded policy. If they recognize the necessity to reduce expenditures and fail to do it because the Opposition does not suggest methods of reduction, then I say that they ought not to continue in office any longer."

Duplication of services offered by the Dominion, provincial and municipal governments was scored by the speaker as a prime example of how the taxpayers' money was being wasted, and in this connection he advocated decentralization as a means of cutting "extravagance through duplication."

Citing the National Film Board as one of the principal drains on the federal treasury and one which should be examined at length, with a view to the adoption of greater economy, Mr. Fulton also raised the question of Government publicity. A review of the estimates, he said, revealed that there were over 50 separate items for Government publicity with a total expenditure of over $3,000,000, this not including the Canadian Information Service which had a separate expenditure for overseas service. Nineteen separate publicity items were said to exist in the Department.

Reasons for the long-range mission to the east as officially stated were several, including: To improve combat efficiency on the S.A.C.

To find out if it is ready to assemble in formation perhaps as many as 140 Superfortresses comprising a "unified striking force" capable of going anywhere in the world and dropping anything, including atomic bombs.

To demonstrate to the American people that the air force is recovering, even if slowly, from demobilization days.

31 White Men May Die For S.C. Lynching

State Prosecutors Amass Evidence Which They Hope Will Send Band of Whites to Electric Chair.

Greenville, S.C., May 16.—(P)—State prosecutors rounded up today a sordid picture of lynch-murder today, day-evidence which they hope will send some—perhaps all—of 31 white men to South Carolina's electric chair.

The 31, most of them Greenville taxi drivers, are accused of murder in the lynching of Negro Willie Barlow last Feb. 17. His body, slashed and beaten and with the head a bloody pulp from shotgun slugs, was found on a frozen roadside not far from a slaughterhouse.

Detailed statements purported to have been made by 18 self-identified members of the mob, made by the defendants after their arrest, have been tried to sketch in the nocturnal story of events which culminated in the lynching of the Negro victim. Barlow was accused of fatally stabbing a white taxi driver on the night preceding the lynching.

Eight more statements were called up by Prosecutor Sam Watt today to round out the state's case. Seven cab drivers have put the finger on one of their own number as the shotgun executioner. They have identified him as Roosevelt Carlos Hurd, 45-year-old taxi dispatcher.

Statements read by the prosecution in the first three days of the trial repeatedly accused him of firing the fatal volley. One of them described him as "drunk."

Hurd acknowledges he participated in the lynching but insists he did not shoot the Negro.

The prosecution tried to the jury yesterday an alleged statement by Jessie Lee Sammons, 39, who related how he heard "the cutting of cloth and flesh" when the Negro was knifed by two or more lynchers.

Defense Counsel Thomas Worward said Sammons was illiterate. Earlier, the prosecution introduced a statement as that of Franklin Dewitt Shepard, 28, another alleged participant.

LOWDOWN ON STARS IS BUSINESS
Hollywood, May 16.—At last I know the definition of a celebrity. Earl Blackwell of Celebrity Service, Inc., gave me the low-down.

"A celebrity," Blackwell said, "is a person whose name can stand alone without identification." Like Errol Flynn, for instance, Errol is a celebrity. You don't have to say, "Errol Flynn, the actor, who looked at the moon through a post-hole."

Celebrity Service doesn't supply celebrities for cocktail parties or banquets as some people think. Blackwell had a sweet little lady telephone him once. She said:

"I'm giving a little dinner party for some old friends. Could you please send over half a dozen celebrities?"

Celebrity Service, Blackwell said, is an information and research business in which newspapers, radio, big business, film studios, night clubs, and department stores subscribe. It's a clearing house for information about celebrities, with daily bulletins on where they're going, what they're doing, to whom they were or are married, and other vital statistics.

FORGOTTEN WIFE
Blackwell, a frustrated playwright, and Ted Strong, a frustrated novelist, started the service nine years ago in New York when things were tough. Now they have bureaus in New York, Hollywood, and London.

Celebrity Service is very proud of the time a famous film star had a lost weekend in New York and telephoned to ask "Can you tell me where I am?"

"Just a moment, please," said the sweet-voiced Celebrity Service operator. Celebrity Service quickly checked its hotel lists, registered the actor was registered in room 308 of the Waldorf Astoria. And that's where he was.

Celebrity Service's most embarrassing moment:

A New York newspaper telephoned asking for the name of Tommy Manville's seventh wife. The name was missing in the service's files. So some bright young lady telephoned Manville himself and asked, "What was the name of your seventh wife?"

Manville thought a moment, then said, "Gosh, I don't remember."

Celebrity Service finally got the information by calling the third Mrs. Manville.

OFF-SCREEN PANTOMIME
Humphrey Bogart is "dead," and a small Indian boy is very happy. It happened on location in Mexico for "The Treasure of Sierra Madre." An Indian boy stopped Bogart on the street.

"You Humphrey Bogart?" he asked politely. Bogart said he was. The Indian boy picked up a stick, pointed it at him, made the traditional rat-a-tat machine gun sound, then said, "You dead."

Bogart fell over, grasping his stomach. The Indian boy walked away with a smile that lit up the entire countryside.

Recommended Vegetables
Green-cooked vegetables should be eaten in liberal amounts. Recommended vegetables are spinach, string beans, beets, carrots, greens, squash, peas, asparagus, cauliflower. Other foods may be taken as desired.

Constituted persons need exercise. A daily walk is helpful. The old idea that the failure of elimination in elderly persons was due to weakening of the bowel muscles is no longer believed, as constipation can be just as common in young persons.

Question: My husband finds it difficult to control his bladder. Could this be due to weak kidneys?

Answer: It is more likely due to something wrong with his bladder. He should consult his physician.

KNOWLTON
H. J. McConnell, Optometrist, of Sherbrooke, will be in his office at the Lake View House, Knowlton, on Wednesday afternoon and evening, May 21st next, for examination of eyes and fitting of glasses.

The Doctor Says
EXERCISE CAN REPLACE CATHARTICS
By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

Most important factors in good elimination are exercise and the right amount of fruits and vegetables. Cathartics, enemas, and irritating foods often are responsible for aggravating the condition.

Americans reportedly spend nearly 75 million dollars a year for bowel medicine. In most cases, these remedies not only are unnecessary, but actually they are the cause of much of the difficulty. When the average patient with so-called constipation starts to use cathartics, it quickly becomes necessary for him to continue their use because the bowel cannot function without them.

It is unfortunate that the public has been led to believe that a special habit time is desirable. Many adults can trace their difficulty to infancy. Modern physicians do not recommend "training" children as it is better to anticipate their desires and to co-operate with them.

To overcome constipation, bowel medicine should be stopped. One or two dishes of fruit is to be eaten two or three times a day. Cooked fruits are preferable to fresh fruits, and especially recommended are prunes, apricots, baked apple, apple sauce, rhubarb, pear and peach sauce.

MOVIES FEATURED AT ST. PAT'S TROOP
The regular meeting of the St. Pat's Troop was held on Friday under the leadership of Acting A. S. M. Laurier LaPierre. The meeting opened with flagbreak and inspection. After some instruction and an outside game, Scouts enjoyed a picture show entitled "Suited to a Tea and Tea Pot Town," shown through the George W. Loke Memorial Film Fund. The Beaver Patrol topped off the evening by winning the Honor Pennant. Leader of the Beavers is P. L. Horace Lecours.

Lively Meeting at St. Peter's Scouts
The 5th Sherbrooke Troop held a lively meeting on Friday and a hike to the old Lynx Lair on Saturday. Friday's meeting consisted of a crocodile race, individual patrol instruction, won by the Lion Patrol. All patrols worked on their second class work and Scout Don Hall passed and received his Second Class Badge. In the patrol competition, patrols were all keen and points were close. Boxing was again featured on the camp-fire program which was under A. S. M. Thibault. A game of knot relay was enjoyed, under the direction of A. S. M. Trussler. There were thirty-three Scouts and three leaders present. Next week a treasure hunt is planned for the troop.

Boy Scout Broadcast Is Mystery
This Saturday the Boy Scout Broadcast was a mystery. Everyone thought that the Scoutmaster of ceremonies was late, for when the announcer introduced him there was no reply. However, the Scout Radio Committee has admitted that the whole thing was a put-up job. Rastus was the star of the show, and taking second place were representatives from all the groups to extend a Mother's Day greeting. Comic books are still wanted by the Boy Scouts and any person who has any to spare should call 2181-W and the Scouts will parcel them up and send them to the children of Britain.

LENNOXVILLE SEA SCOUTS TO HOLD DANCE
A grand dance will be held on Friday night in the Lennoxville High School by the Lennoxville Sea Scouts. All proceeds will be used for Sea Scout equipment, boats, etc. Les Beaudin has kindly donated the use of his orchestra for the evening. The public are urged to help the Sea Scouts.

LENNOXVILLE BOY SCOUTS SALVAGE DRIVE
The Lennoxville Troop is still collecting salvage paper every second Saturday. This Saturday is the day. The Lennoxville public are asked to have their paper out on the sidewalk as a truck will be around Saturday morning to pick it up.

THE LENNOXVILLE BOY SCOUTS MOTHERS' AUXILIARY
The May meeting of the Lennoxville Boy Scouts Mothers' Auxiliary was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Kuehner. In the absence of the secretary, the minutes were read by Mrs. Fred Hunting.

The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance after all expenses were met.

It was decided that each member of the Auxiliary should knit two pairs of mitts from wool provided for them. These mitts are to be used in the Lennoxville Boy Scouts usual Christmas baskets for the needy.

Thirty-five dollars were voted towards the Boy Scouts' summer camp.

Plans were made for the rummage sale to be held in May under the convenship of Mrs. Kuehner.

BISHOPTON
Mr. and Mrs. Murray Gilbert were week-end guests of relatives. Mrs. J. L. Clark, were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Vintinner were guests at the home of Mrs. S. C. Clark, in Bury.

The sincere sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Westman in their bereavement.

The Christmas Club was pleasantly entertained by Mrs. McKenzie. There were nine members present. Cards were played at two tables. The prizes were won by Mrs. Gordon Clark and Mrs. Arnold Harding. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. McKenzie assisted by Mrs. Hugh Vintinner. The next meeting will be held on May 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Vintinner.

Mrs. J. L. Clark was a guest of Mrs. R. W. Jenkinson, in Brookbury.

Mrs. C. Helstrom and son, Carl, of Portland, Me., were week-end guests of Mr. A. J. McKenzie and Mrs. H. McKenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Joyce and little Miss Myrna Joyce were guests of relatives in Waterville.

Mr. Benton A. Gilbert celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday on May 12. He entertained several friends for dinner and received many gifts, cards and phone calls of congratulations. During the afternoon cards were played.

Lennoxville Troop and Pack Unite with Guides for Church Parade.
The 1st Lennoxville Troop and Pack united with the Lennoxville Guides and Brownies to attend services at the United Church. With an approximate attendance of 80, the parade formed up at the Lennoxville High School and marched to the church. The Scouts were under the leadership of Scoutmaster John Kindsey, while assistant Cubmasters Saxtree and Blake looked after the Pack. The service, conducted by Rev. N. D. McLeod, was specially suited for Mother's Day.

Fifth Pack Enjoys All-Day Hike
The Fifth Pack went for a hike on Saturday. Beginning with a cross-country run and a baseball game, the Cubs really enjoyed themselves. After the baseball game, a candy trail was laid out, of course, all the Cubs found all the candy. Campfire was held and the boys had their lunch, during which time the Akela disappeared. The pack was told to go out and look for him, and after looking for some time, came back to the campfire to find Akela sitting there waiting for them. Present at the hike were Akela Dick Pearson, D. S. M. Les Humphries and Cubmaster W. Hutchieson, visiting from Montreal. The pack held their annual meeting on Friday.

Moving Picture Seen by Two Packs
Through the George W. Loke Memorial Film Fund (for Scouts and Cubs) the movie, "Cubs Courageous," received a showing here in Sherbrooke, first at the 7th Sherbrooke Pack under Bagheera Earl Beane on Thursday night, then to the 5th Sherbrooke Pack on Friday night. The picture, which was very much enjoyed, showed the running of a Cub pack and several interesting plots in which Cubs were starred. The George W. Loke Memorial Film Fund has been created by his family, in memory of the late G. W. Loke. Mr. Loke was well known in Scouting circles, having over 30 years' experience in Scouting. Films are shown free to any pack or troop that requests them. All requests for films should be made to the District Press Secretary.

Investiture of Sixers at Lennoxville
The 1st Lennoxville Wolf Cub Pack met on Thursday night with an attendance of 26 Cubs. Two newcubs were welcomed into the pack. They were Billy Clarke, who went into the Red Six and Paul Aube who went into the Tawny Six. The main event of the evening was the investiture of the five new sixers in the pack. Since the pack lost six members into the Scouts, a reorganization was necessary. This took place and the following new sixers were appointed: Robert Nichol to be sixer of the Blue Six; Frank Jenne to be sixer of the Red Six; Charlie Frazier to be sixer of the Green Six; Bruce Sterling, sixer, White Six, and Ronald Snow, sixer of the Brown Six. These new sixers were also appointed: Jimmy Wray, Murray Graham, L. Lindskou and Wendall Beattie. Two games were played while the remainder of the evening was taken up with reforming the pack.

The Fifth Pack went for a hike on Saturday. Beginning with a cross-country run and a baseball game, the Cubs really enjoyed themselves. After the baseball game, a candy trail was laid out, of course, all the Cubs found all the candy. Campfire was held and the boys had their lunch, during which time the Akela disappeared. The pack was told to go out and look for him, and after looking for some time, came back to the campfire to find Akela sitting there waiting for them. Present at the hike were Akela Dick Pearson, D. S. M. Les Humphries and Cubmaster W. Hutchieson, visiting from Montreal. The pack held their annual meeting on Friday.

Moving Picture Seen by Two Packs
Through the George W. Loke Memorial Film Fund (for Scouts and Cubs) the movie, "Cubs Courageous," received a showing here in Sherbrooke, first at the 7th Sherbrooke Pack under Bagheera Earl Beane on Thursday night, then to the 5th Sherbrooke Pack on Friday night. The picture, which was very much enjoyed, showed the running of a Cub pack and several interesting plots in which Cubs were starred. The George W. Loke Memorial Film Fund has been created by his family, in memory of the late G. W. Loke. Mr. Loke was well known in Scouting circles, having over 30 years' experience in Scouting. Films are shown free to any pack or troop that requests them. All requests for films should be made to the District Press Secretary.

der the convenship of Mrs. Kuehner.
A report was given on the very successful Cub and Scout Parents' night held on May 2nd.

The next meeting will not be until September.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted in serving by Mrs. Hunting and Mrs. Rowat.

THE LENNOXVILLE BOY SCOUTS MOTHERS' AUXILIARY
The May meeting of the Lennoxville Boy Scouts Mothers' Auxiliary was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Kuehner. In the absence of the secretary, the minutes were read by Mrs. Fred Hunting.

The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory balance after all expenses were met.

It was decided that each member of the Auxiliary should knit two pairs of mitts from wool provided for them. These mitts are to be used in the Lennoxville Boy Scouts usual Christmas baskets for the needy.

Thirty-five dollars were voted towards the Boy Scouts' summer camp.

Plans were made for the rummage sale to be held in May under the convenship of Mrs. Kuehner.

PITCHING HORSESHOES
by Billy Rose

When I go home tonight, I'm going to push a grapefruit in Eleanor's face.

Tell you why.

This afternoon I stopped in for a quick bite at one of those half-restaurant, half-salon places. As I was lining up my chin with a plate of soup, Danny Parrish eased into my booth and plopped down in the seat across from me. He was a little drunk from drinking.

"Talk to me," said Danny. "I got the miseries."

"What's eating on you?" I asked. "With all that lovely money and all that lovely wife, what have you got to brood about?"

"Enough!" said Danny. "The lovely wife packed and walked out on me last night."

"For keeps?"

"I'm afraid so."

"Uh oh," I said. "Who's the other fellow?"

"That's the funny part of it," said Danny. "He's nobody. She ditched me for a mousy little citizen with a shop in the 50's. Peddles picture frames. Doesn't make enough to pay the storage bill for Dorothy's furs."

Four Martinis later I had the rest of the story. During six years of married life, the young broker had treated Dorothy like a million gripping wives dream of being treated. Beau coup pocket money, charge accounts at the top stores, an elegant little house in New York, an elegant big house in Long Island, and the rest of the frou-frou out of the pages of "Town and Country."

In addition, he adored her. Loved to show her off. Head-waiters popped their suspenders bowing when big, good-looking Danny and his "Vogue" cover missus came in.

The broker treated plenty respect from the wise mob, too. Danny had inherited seven-figure sugar and run it up to eight. And Dorothy had chucked all this for 140 pounds of picture-frame peddler!

I asked Danny if he had any theories. "Only this," said the torch-bearer. "I asked if she knew what her life would be like with the new guy. 'No,' said Dorothy, 'and that's what makes it attractive.'"

I left Danny with his Martinis and miseries and walked back to the office. The bust-up of his storybook marriage bothered me. I got to thinking of my own, picked up the telephone and called Eleanor. "Let's take in a show tonight," I said.

"Fine," said the missus.

It wasn't until I hung up that I realized she hadn't even asked me which show. Then I got it. It's part of my business. Where most girls would be thrilled at going to a theatre, another show to my missus is just another show. And that's the way Dorothy must have felt about the goodies in her life. After a while, the charge accounts and station wagons contained no more tingle than a scoop of vanilla does to a soda jerk. The things other girls daydream about she took for granted like her own skin.

When Picture-Frame Pete came along and bought her a hamburger and two bits' worth of violet, her heart did nip-ups. She was getting something unexpected—something above the line of habit. I guess even penguins get bored wearing evening clothes all the time.

Which adds up to a conclusion that may lose me a lot of lady readers. To keep your wife happy, don't be nice all the time. Mix it up a little. Not to the point of being mean—but enough to show her how good the good stuff is when she gets it.

Send her flowers—but not every week. After the third straight week, roses won't thrill her any more than broccoli. If you want to keep her, keep her guessing. You can only make Sweetums happy by giving her something better than she expects, and it's easier to do that if you train her not to expect too much. In proportion, this goes for mill hands as well as millionaires.

But enough of this. The class in popcorn psychology will please stop shooting spitballs at teacher. Around my house, nothing unexpected has happened for months. Remembering the crack-up of Danny and Dorothy, I'm going to change all that.

Tonight when I get home I'm going to push a grapefruit in Eleanor's face.

My lawyer has instructions where to send the body. (Copyright, 1947, by Billy Rose)

Canadian Silk Products, Ltd., Signs Collective Labor Pact

Negotiations have been satisfactorily concluded with the signing of a new collective labor agreement between Canadian Silk Products, Limited, manufacturers of Orient, Beauti-Skin Full-Fashioned Hosiery, and the Full-Fashioned Hosiery Association of Canadian Silk Products, Incorporated.

Company and Association representatives report their complete satisfaction with the terms and working conditions outlined in this revised contract. The spirit of mutual friendly co-operation, that has been exemplified during the past year, and which was very prominent during the negotiation period, greatly assisted the respective committees in finalizing their negotiations with dispatch.

The new agreement retains important clauses of previous contracts and includes several new features. While it has been the practice of this company for over twenty years to grant annual vacations with pay to senior employees, and in recent years all employees of five or more years' seniority have received two weeks' vacation with pay, arrangements have now been completed to include holidays with pay for all employees.

General working hours will continue on a five day (47 1/2 hour) week basis.

Numerous minor changes, improving and clarifying previous conditions, have been accomplished.

Regular night shift employees will receive a 5c per hour premium. Employees on general staffs have received increased hourly earnings and an 8% bonus will be paid to all piece work employees, counterbalancing increased living costs of the past year.

All regular employees will continue to receive the benefits of non-contributory group life insurance and pension fund plans. These plans have been in being in force for five years.

With the increased earnings the average "take-home" pay of

REV. R. C. TAIT PRESIDENT OF LOCAL GROUP

At the regular meeting of the Sherbrooke and District Ministerial Association held in Plymouth Church Hall, Rev. R. C. Tait was unanimously elected president of that body.

A special vote of appreciation for a year of devoted service was accorded the retiring president, Rev. E. A. Wright.

Other officers elected were Rev. John Comfort, vice-president, and W. H. Wolter, secretary-treasurer.

Following a discussion on juvenile delinquency in this city it was agreed to call a meeting in the near future to which some interested laymen would be invited. It is hoped that some specific action will be taken after this meeting.

The matter of Bible study periods in Sherbrooke High and Mitchell Schools came up for discussion. Rev. R. Brown stated that he had contacted the principals and that the matter would be definitely settled in time for the fall school term.

An invitation from the St. Andrew and vicinity Ministerial Association inviting the Sherbrooke Association to attend a joint meeting at Cedar Lodge was accepted with pleasure.

It was agreed that the morning devotion broadcasts over CKTS were filling a need and were appreciated by several listeners. They will be carried on during the summer months and a schedule of speakers will be drawn up by the president.

The annual picnic, which was held last year at Howard's Island, will be held this year on Tuesday, June 18. This outing was greatly enjoyed by the members and their wives and is looked forward to with pleasure.

P. S. IRWIN IS PRESIDENT OF HISTORY CLUB

P. S. Irwin was elected president of the History Club of Bishop's University yesterday afternoon at the club's annual business meeting. Jonathan Robinson was elected secretary-treasurer. Both positions were filled by acclamation following which fourteen students were voted into membership. Retiring club officials, Tom Gibson, president, and D. H. Mills, secretary-treasurer, presided over the meeting.

New members elected to vacancies caused by graduating members were as follows: J. C. Murray, Ray Setlakwe, W. Doherty, E. V. B. Pilgrim, A. L. Salt, G. E. Mallard, C. R. Martin, S. G. T. May, W. L. Rowe, R. S. Jervis-Read, W. D. McVie, F. S. Anderson, J. P. Ouellet and Miss Marjorie Banks.

He slipped into the yard of his home, quietly and, so he thought, unobserved; and was just about to congratulate himself on a highly successful expedition when he noticed that he had been followed.

He dropped his bundles, hurried into the house, rushed upstairs and into bed.

He was simulating sleep when the police came in. Cpl. Gerard McKenzie and Constable F. J. Langshaw, of the Rock Island detachment, and Constable J. P. Romain, of Sherbrooke, acting under instructions of Sgt. J. A. Turgeon in charge of the Mounties in the Eastern Townships, got the object of their investigation out of bed, searched the premises and discovered the cigarettes in the yard.

Sgt. Turgeon said today that the young man had admitted his smuggling activity but that he had not been placed under arrest because the merchandise involved was under $200, and the man in question is known in Rock Island. He is expected to be summoned to court next week to answer to a charge of smuggling under article 203.

7,000 Cigarettes Smuggled On Foot Across Line Are Seized

The smuggling of cigarettes on foot at the Rock Island-Derby Line boundary could become quite a business but for one thing: The R.C.M.P.

A young Rock Island resident found this out during the night after coming across the line loaded down with 26 cartons of American cigarettes—7,000 in all.

The young man, carrying his smuggled merchandise in bundles, got across the border all right and reached his home before anything went wrong.

ST. JOHNS, QUE., C. OF C. VISITS LOCAL FIRM

Sherbrooke was honored yesterday by the visit of a delegation of members of the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce. The delegates, numbering 150, were officially received at the City Hall by Mayor Guy Bryant who extended the visitors the good wishes of the citizens of Sherbrooke and expressed his hope that their visit would be a pleasant one.

Alderman Albert Charpentier then added his own good wishes and paid credit to the Chamber of Commerce for their many worthwhile endeavors.

Edouard Arbour, president of the St. Johns Chamber voiced his thanks on behalf of the St. Johns group for the splendid reception the delegates had received in Sherbrooke and added that they were deeply grateful for the many kindnesses already shown them.

Romeo Alexander, pro-mayor of St. Johns, thanked the Chamber of Commerce on behalf of the St. Johns City Council for the opportunity given him to make the trip of "bonne entente" and said that this visit to Sherbrooke was a particularly pleasant one.

Following a dinner at the Social Club, where members of the Sherbrooke Chamber joined the delegates, the visiting party was invited by J. A. Archambault, president of the local Chamber, to pay a call on the Carnation Milk Company, where delegates were conducted through the factory.

Among the visitors were L. O. Regnier, provincial president of the Chamber of Commerce, Edouard Arbour, president of the St. Johns Chamber, Andre Thibault, vice-president of the St. Johns Chamber, D. A. Marcoux, treasurer and Elzear Lacombe, director. Representing the city of St. Johns were Romeo Alexander, pro-mayor and Adelard Granzer, Alderman.

The party was escorted by Provincial Police officer, Arthur Barre of Montreal, who led the twenty cars forming the parade throughout the length of the trip from St. Johns.

Many of the delegates were accompanied by their wives.

FLEET OF CABS RUN BY VETS START SERVICE

"Although very few people know that we have inaugurated our taxi service, all drivers had a very busy time," one of the operators of the new Veterans Taxi Association Inc. informed the Record this morning.

The ten brand-new 1947 cars arrived in Sherbrooke Wednesday, and were paraded through the streets to bring them to the attention of the public.

The veterans' taxi stand is located at the corner of King Street West and Richmond Street, just over the Paton Bridge. Every driver is a veteran of World War II.

"We will begin painting our cars on Monday," the dispatcher told the Record this morning, "and the Veterans fleet will carry the distinctive colors of the general service badge, black body with grey tops, and the replica of the badge will be emblazoned on the front door on each side, with the telephone number on each rear door."

Household Science Schools To Contribute To Handicraft Show

To a large number of visitors, the contribution of the household science schools to the provincial handicraft exhibition organized by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be a revelation. Many people are unaware of the very existence of these schools. Others are ignorant of the admirable work accomplished, particularly during the last ten years, as their number has increased at the same time as their program has become definitely established on a scientific basis.

Today, the service of household science, of which Miss Evelyn LeBlanc is the leader, can count over a hundred schools, not including post-school instruction. This service is not concerned only with teaching a woman to cook and to look after a house—it goes further than that. The program is prepared with a view to training young girls to be excellent wives and mothers. It encourages initiative, a sense of responsibility, developing the intellectual at the same time as the practical. The strict discipline of school has been relaxed somewhat in order to give students an opportunity to act on their own, thus gaining experience and poise, as well as discretion.

Just about every subject is covered in this regional household science schools, including catenism, liturgy, psychology, cooking, dietetics, French, arithmetic, bookkeeping, English conversation, etiquette, singing, physical culture, sewing, knitting, weaving, embroidery, drawing and painting, domestic dyeing, decorative arts, hygiene, physics, chemistry, anatomy and physiology, agriculture, and many others. Pupils are, of course, given a certain amount of spare time. The regular program is for students of 8th and 9th grades but may be carried over into tenth.

There are two regional household science schools in the Eastern Townships which will be represented at the handicraft exhibition in Sherbrooke. They are those of Sutton and St. Cesaire, under the direction of the Sisters of the

UNAWARE ROOF NEEDS REPAIR

It's a well known fact that many homeowners are not aware their roof is leaking until rain starts trickling through the ceilings or down the walls. Remember, these costly leaks can be caused in countless ways — such as damaged flashings, valleys or roll roofings, worn metal decks and even poorly caulked door and window frames.

One sure way of preventing such destructive leaks is to consult an expert like your Johns-Manville dealer. He can detect trouble before it gets serious and will supply the correct Johns-Manville Roof Coating or Putty, such as J-M Asbestos Fibrous Roof Coating — J-M Asbestos Roof Putty and J-M Caulking Putty, to keep your home leakproof and weather-proof.

HIGH COSTS AND HOUSING

The first concrete nation-wide example of what the combination of high costs of material and the laziness and unwillingness of workers to produce can do to a vital Canadian industry is shown in the statement of Reconstruction Minister C. D. Howe that Housing Enterprises Limited will drop all its plans for further residential construction in 1947.

Housing Enterprises Limited was formed by the insurance companies of Canada, under the sponsorship of the Dominion Government, to erect groups of houses in the low-rental group in Canadian cities. When rising costs made low cost housing an impossibility, Housing Enterprises moved into the medium class field, hoping to relieve the situation of homeless families in the higher income brackets. Now, however, a further lift in costs has made it financially infeasible to construct dwellings of this type so the officials in charge have decided to suspend any new undertakings for one year at least.

Placing the blame, David Keast, an executive of Housing Enterprises said openly to The Canadian Press that "Interference by trades unions, base laziness and an overall cost increase of sixty-five per cent," were the factors which forced the abandonment of the plans.

The action of this Government-promoted enterprise should serve as the strongest possible warning to trade unions and manufacturers. The decision is a reflection of public opinion today which is growing increasingly rebellious at high costs and poor workmanship. The popular saying used to be "A good day's pay for a good day's work." Now this might be paraphrased "As much pay as possible for as little work as possible."

So far, Canadian workers, with the exception of one or two industries, have not succumbed to the infection which has been widespread in the United States. However, the fact that this ambitious housing project has been laid over for one year at least shows that the public is reaching the breaking point and if this example is followed to the same extent, or even in a lesser degree, in other industries, it will ultimately result in men beginning again the weary search for work that was so prevalent in the 1930's.

The standard of wages across Canada is higher today than ever before and all that is needed to give every Canadian the fullest material benefits in this life is for increased production and a greater availability of consumer goods at lower prices. This is possible if labor is ready to work honestly and sincerely and if industry is willing to accept no more than a fair profit on the material it produces.

BRITAIN'S STERLING WAR DEBTS

In the complex financial difficulties facing Great Britain today, one of the most distressing factors is the sterling war debt owed to a number of countries, such as Egypt and India, which must be settled in the near future. The importance of this debt can be realized by the fact that Britain owes $5,000,000,000 to India and $1,800,000,000 to Egypt. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Hugh Dalton, has declared that Britain will be "very tough" in arranging any settlement as it believes that a substantial portion of these debts were incurred for joint war efforts and that it is "unreal, unjust and unsupportable" that Britain bear the entire burden alone.

He finds strong support from former Prime Minister Churchill who declared: "When I consider how we defended and rescued these countries, I certainly feel that the settlement of these obligations, which are quite different from commercial transactions, should be brought into the general line of lend-lease, that great idea of President Roosevelt, the most unsordid act which history records, whereby all in the war together share sufferings and burdens, and go equally into the sunlight at the end."

The Egyptian Finance Minister, however, claims his country is determined to collect the full amount, and if Britain does not pay, the Egyptian Government "would undertake certain action" the nature of which he does not disclose. Indian industrialists, such as the Tata steel works which are the largest in the world, also declare for collecting the debt in full.

Apparently these countries fail to recognize, or do not wish to recognize, that when Britain brought goods and services from them it was part of a common effort to save them from invasion and destruction. India did make a substantial contribution of military effort for her own salvation as well as Britain's which amounted to the same thing, but Egypt's military contribution to her own defence was practically nothing.

When Field Marshal Rommel's powerful Afrika Korps drove through Libya well into Egypt, it was the British "Desert Rats" who stopped them before they reached an Egyptian community of any size. From El Alamein, the British drove the Germans back and out of North Africa altogether, as Egypt was saved from destruction. But for the British army, Egypt have been but another occupied country, and with the Suez Canal in German hands, Hitler might have won the war and Egypt would have been another German colony. This would have ended forever the ambition of Egyptian independence.

Egypt did not lose a single man in the war. Her only contributions to the war in her own defence were to supply some service troops behind the lines, who fled when danger threatened, and to help build some defence works. It was for doing that, that the Egyptian Government claims $1,800,000,000, whereas Britain spent several billions and lost many thousand lives. Egypt, however, still demands her pound of flesh.

No objection can be taken to the British attitude. She saved Egypt and Egyptian lives and the Egyptian Government must appreciate that it must make a contribution to the financial cost, even, perhaps, writing off the entire sum.

CAPITAL NEWS NOTEBOOK

Gen. George C. Marshall may now consider his "honeymoon" as secretary of state well over. He has been openly criticized for not being able to achieve more positive results as a diplomat in China and Moscow. He has had the budget for his department chopped up by Congress. Aid to Greece and Turkey, the general foreign relief bill, and ratification of Axis satellite treaties which Marshall inherited from Jimmy Byrnes have all had tough going. Granting that all these are extremely tough problems for which no one may have the solutions, Marshall is still the man on the job to which the country looks for solutions. When he can't produce, he gets it in the neck in spite of great personal popularity.

More lobbyists are at work in Washington than ever before recorded. Extent of their operations will be shown when report on their first three months' activities is made public by Senate secretary and House clerk. This is new requirement of Congressional Reorganization Act. As of Oct. 1, last year, 205 lobbyists were registered. Jan. 1 the number was 395. May 1 it was 795. What will make news will be detailed reports of expenses which lobbyists must turn in to Congress. Totals will show lobbying is multi-million dollar industry in Washington.

TELLING, NOT ASKING

Gov. Harold E. Stassen's exhortation that President Truman tell Congress just what kind of a labor bill he will sign probably won't be listened to. Two reasons. First, attempts to "dictate" to Congress, as practiced by President Roosevelt, would be greatly resented by Republican majorities, might stiffen their attitude. Second, test votes on amendments to Taft's labor bill in the Senate indicate the unpopularity of Congress would probably go along with the House in over-riding the President if he should veto whatever omnibus bill is passed. In short, Republican majorities, backed by conservative Democrats, are so strong they don't have to ask Truman what he wants. They're telling him.

Only hope which pro-labor forces have left is that Senate and House conferees may deadlock on some of the more controversial provisions of the two labor reform bills. That would result in passage of no labor bill at all, or a greatly watered-down compromise on points they can agree on. As a long-shot bet, this is a possibility.

One reason Assistant Secretary of State William Benton's international information program took such a pasting in the House is that congressmen are suspicious of Benton himself. Republicans associate him with Chester Bowles, whom they didn't like. It was Bowles who recommended Benton to Byrnes. Benton and Bowles were in the advertising business together. They sold out some 18 years ago and have had nothing to do with it since, though the firm still retains their names. Congressmen—who run largely on prejudices, pressures, and hunches—don't take all these factors into consideration. When Benton sent Republican House Appropriations Committee Chairman John Taber an encyclopedia for Christmas, Taber refused it, blasted Benton publicly. That hurt.

PATCH-WORK BOMBER?

That four-engine plane which looked like a B-29 when it was flown over Moscow in the May Day parade may have been an assembly job, made from parts of half a dozen superforts which made forced landings in Russian territory after bombing raids on Japan and Manchuria. All the crews were eventually returned to the U.S., but they weren't allowed to fly their planes out. Some were so badly damaged they couldn't. It is known that Russian purchasing agency recently tried to buy landing gears and spare parts in the U.S. Export license was refused.

Montana's Sen. James E. Murray's new bill to set up Missouri Valley Authority is over. His chance this year, even if he does have Republican Sen. William Langer of North Dakota as co-sponsor. Congressional cuts in Bureau of Reclamation funds are one tip-off of sentiment. Also, U.S. Reclamation Assn., which gets most of its support from Missouri River Valley region, is against Authority idea. On the other hand, prospects for St. Lawrence River development are looking up, thanks to new agreement with Canada on how construction costs shall be shared and repaid. It may not have much chance this year, but Republicans might get behind it in 1948.

With summer just around the corner bringing more children out to play on city streets, and putting more cars on the road, motorists must take the greatest possible care that scenes such as the one above are not duplicated in Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships. Above a little girl is shown with terror etched on every line of her screaming face, while her mother tries to drag her off the street. In the background can be seen the car which has just run over the child, its front gleaming like the snout of some monster, more deadly than any which ever roamed the forest.

Press Comment

The following story was published in Northern Circuit, magazine of the Northern Electric Company, and refers to Reginald Williams, of Lennoxville, who enlisted at the age of seventeen. He had two other brothers in the service.

GREEN LIGHT FOR WILLIE

This is Willie. His real name is Williams, but everybody calls him Willie. When I first saw him he was lying in a bed in the hospital at Ste. Anne's. He wasn't lying in bed as ordinary people do—he was lying flat on his stomach, and he could raise his head sufficiently to look through the bars at the head of his bed. Everything Willie saw through those bars, he saw through those bars. This might have got an ordinary person down. There was only one way Willie could go from there and that was up, and up he went.

I first saw him about eighteen months ago, and in the meantime he has gone up so far he can now look over the bars instead of through them. For a fellow with a wound in the spine which left him paralysed from the waist down, believe you me, that's a long way to go. From where he is now, the green light looks a lot brighter. All the days that made up those eighteen months weren't good days. Many were filled with pain. There were days of injections, and days of operations and days of special treatment. There were days when the green light looked very dim, but it never went out. It never went out because Willie wouldn't let it go out.

His home is at Lennoxville, and he enlisted in Sherbrooke in September, 1940. He moved around Canada, went to Newfoundland, and then to England in 1942. At the time of the invasion of Sicily he landed in Africa with the Armored Corps, went from there to Sicily, and from Sicily to Italy. Willie was one of the boys who ploughed their muddy, bloody way up the long Italian boot. A lot of the blood on the way but Willie made it, almost to the end. They had got through the mountains and were coming out on the flat lands when Willie got hit. By this time he was transferred to the Infantry. His experience as a foot-slogging soldier lasted ten days. That was September 1944, and since that time his feet haven't touched the ground.

The fighting was pretty tough at the time he was hit, and apart from the field dressing his buddies put on, he received no other care until two medical corps privates reached him twenty-two hours later. There were no stretchers available, and they carried him to shelter on an old door. Another day and a night went by before he got to a hospital. They flew him from the north of Italy to a hospital in the south, and there he spent three months before going to England. He spent some months in England at Basingstoke, and arrived back in Canada on the Lady Nelson in May 1945.

Willie is a paraplegic. They didn't have paraplegics in the last war. They just died. The science of medicine has gone a long way in the meantime, and boys don't have to die now because of severed spinal cords.

A paraplegic, by the nature of his injuries, needs the best of care and attention, and when they are in hospital, they get it. When things are normal they can look forward to the time when they can sit up. After that will come a wheel chair, and a wheel chair brings them a new world because they can then propel themselves from one point to another under their own power. After the wheelchair come the calipers—metal braces secured to the legs, which with the aid of crutches, enables them to walk.

After the calipers and the crutches come practice with the green light. A man has to learn to cross the street during the seconds that the green light is showing. That is how the traffic signal head came to be installed in Ste. Anne's. When the man gets to the green light stage he is really making progress. Willie hasn't got there yet but he's on his way.

"How old are you Willie," I said. He looked up with a kind of grin—"I'm twenty-two," he said. If you figure back from twenty-two to the time that Willie enlisted, you can see that he was pretty young at the time. Actually he was just out of school. Just out of school with basketball, hockey, skiing and all the activities which make up the life of a high school boy. After that came soldiering, and soldiering is a pretty active business. You don't take your exercise lying down in the Army. But since that bullet ploughed into his spine two and a half years ago Willie hasn't moved.

This isn't written to make you feel sorry for Willie, because he doesn't want people to feel sorry for him. In some ways he is in a preferred position. He does not have to worry about food, shelter or medical care. A grateful country will provide that, as it should. But perhaps Willie has more coming to him than that. Somewhere ahead of Willie there is a future. How is he going to fit in? How good are people at remembering?

Willie will get by because he has cheerfulness, courage, and the ability to smile even on dull days. On the road which lies ahead of Willie there is a green light, and at the back of the green light are all those who know about Willie and others like him, and who are willing to lend a helping hand. That won't entirely make up for what he's lost, but it will go a long way towards it.

After you've finished reading this you can run the magazine down, walk across the room and look out of the window. It's good to be able to do that.

One day Willie is going to be able to do just that, and it's going to be a great day for Willie.

DICTATORS AND THE PRESS

Brantford Expositor
"Newspaper influence in protecting truth and freedom and in raising the standards of the people's life and outlook transcends that of governments. The daily newspaper is the greatest force and medium in modern civilization in the propagation, development and dissemination of goodwill." So said A. C. Trussler in an address before the Sarnia Optimist Club recently.

The truth of his remarks has been amply demonstrated in recent times. Bitter experience has taught the world that, in order for a dictatorship to enjoy any measure of success, the press of the country must first be controlled or throttled. Freedom of the press was one of the first things to go by the board in the rise to power of Hitler and Mussolini. Likewise, Dictator Stalin no doubt realizes that the continuance of his sway in Russia is dependent on his being able to control and use the newspapers there.

Far to the south of Canada, in the South American country of Argentina, another dictator, President Juan Peron, is attempting to gain full control of the press of his country, and according to current reports it would seem that the newspaper, La Prensa, the last big voice for democracy in that country, is a "marked pigeon."

This journal, published in Buenos Aires, is carrying on a valiant opposition to Peron's militant role, but Vincent de Pascal, writing in Editor and Publisher, says this: "This Argentine Ministry of Information printed posters enjoining the public not to buy the paper or advertise in it. After another signal from Peron, the News Vendors' Union, puppet of the Government, called a halt to La Prensa's subscription deliveries. The next step was the introduction of a bill aimed at making the newsstand price of the paper prohibitive."

Attempts have also been made, Mr. de Pascal adds, to set the newspaper's building on fire, and President Peron, in public and radio addresses, has labelled the paper as an enemy of the Government.

"As far as Peron is concerned," De Pascal continues, "La Prensa may either disappear as the result of terrific pressure from dozens of government bureaus, or it may go up in smoke one night in a huge bonfire set by his bully boys of the 'Partido Peronista.'"

Inasmuch as Argentina is known to be harboring Nazis and others of that ilk, it is to be hoped that La Prensa can continue in opposition to the regime of dictatorship that stems from Peron and his Government. Otherwise Russia and her satellite territories will not be the only countries with "iron curtains" around them.

ONE THAT IS UNIQUE

New York Sun
Experienced newspaper men are wary about characterizing any news story as unique. But a likely candidate for that distinction comes from Somerville, Massachusetts. On the word of the reputable Boston Globe, a crowd came down the chimney at the home of Mrs. John A. McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

EXPERT OVERCOMES DIFFICULT OPENING

Chicago has a new Life Master. John F. Carlin of that city recently became Life Master No. 78. One of the admirable qualities of Carlin's game is that he never gives up, and today's hand is an example.

If Carlin (South) had elected to bid three no trump instead of three spades, North would have had no trouble making that contract. But Carlin had a close decision to make and he selected the three spade bid. Naturally North took him to four spades.

West got off to a terrific opening lead, and of course if Carlin could have guessed right and gone up with dummy's king of diamonds, he would have been a hero. But he made the normal play, low from dummy. East went up with the queen and immediately returned a diamond. West won and the third diamond was ruffed by East.

An opening lead like this one with a tough contract would prove pretty discouraging to the average player.

of the ace-seven-five-two of clubs. In his own hand he retained the king-queen-four of clubs and ten of hearts. On the second to last trump East had to let go the jack of hearts, and when the last trump was played, East found himself hopelessly squeezed. He knew he had to protect the club suit, so he discarded the queen of hearts, hoping that his partner might hold the ten-spot. But Carlin had the ten, and he won the balance of the tricks.

Unification Of Dominion's Three Armed Services Urged

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, May 16.—A spirit of opposition to the unification of Canada's three armed forces under a single chief of staff today was a part of the record of the lengthening Commons budget debate.

It was placed there last night by tall, soldierly Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (PC-Nanaimo) who swung the debate from the field of finance with an address in which he declared the "great lesson" of the Second World War implied the necessity of "unification of planning and direction at the top now."

Gen. Pearkes, military spokesman for the official opposition expressed approval of the government's plans to amalgamate the three defence departments under one minister but said they had not been streamlined enough for modern conditions.

While Gen. Pearkes criticized the government on the defence front, R. W. Mayhew, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott and Liberal member for Victoria, B.C., upheld its financial policies, asserting that the budget had encouraged the Canadian people by showing a surplus and indicating the national income would increase by $1,000,000,000 during next year.

Debate was enlivened when Maurice Hartt, newly-elected Liberal member for Montreal, entered it with a fiery maiden speech in which he charged Norman Jaques, outspoken Social Credit member for Westsaskatoon, with a "menace" to Canada and drew from Solon Low, Social Credit leader, a statement that Mr. Hartt could prove this he would "read" Mr. Jaques out of the party.

Mr. Hartt also tangled with Progressive Conservative members when he charged there never had been a "more treacherous action" than that of Premier Duplessis of Quebec and drew of Ontario in seeking to "encroach" on the rights of the Dominion Government.

At the insistence of John Hackett (PC-Stanstead), Mr. Hartt withdrew the word "traitorous."

He touched on the Cartier by-election, in which he was elected, and charged Premier Duplessis had "financed" Paul Masse, defeated Independent candidate, "to the tune of $50,000."

He said election in 1943 and 1945 of Fred Rose, his predecessor and the Labor Progressive member convicted of espionage, had been an "abortion" and "accident" which resulted from importation into the riding of Communist sympathizers who registered as voters.

Of the sisters of a cloistered Roman Catholic order who registered to vote, Mr. Hartt said

Russian Ex-Communist Pops Up Amid Government Probe of Charges Levelled at Filmhand Personalities

Los Angeles, May 16.—(AP)—With a Russian ex-Communist popping up suddenly in mid-investigation, the probe by a House of Representatives sub-committee on Un-American Activities, Hollywood today took on aspects of a movie spy thriller story.

After such prominent film folk as actor Adolphe Menjou, novelist Rupert Hughes and producer Jack Warner put the Communist tag on various filmhand persons and organizations, the sub-committee's inquiry hit a dramatic peak with the entry of Viktor A. Kravchenko, former Soviet official who renounced Communism in 1944.

Hours earlier, a threat on Kravchenko's life was reported to police by his Beverly Hills host, Lee R. Brooks, whose name who may produce an anti-Communist film based on Kravchenko's experiences.

Hollywood was classified by Menjou as "one of the main centres of Communist activity in America, due to the fact that one of the greatest mediums of propaganda is located here," Thomas reported.

Hughes reported he told the committee that the film capital is "lousy with Communists, some of them making $3,000 to $5,000 weekly and whom you couldn't get to go to Russia in a million years."

Thomas said Hughes named specific screen writers and gave the serial number of their Communist party cards. The committee chairman said these names will be made public "at the proper time."

The committee also received names from Warner, studio head, who said, "I told 'em anything I might have known of subversive activities in the film industry."

Brooks told police that he had received a phone call from a woman Wednesday night in which, he said, she threatened to blow up his home to "get that unwanted guest." Police Chief C. H. Anderson said extra protection has been assigned to the area of Brooks' home.

While the hearing was in progress yesterday 50 young men and women who identified themselves as members of the American Youth for Democracy picketed in front of the hotel entrance.

Mr. Fulton suggested a "budget committee" to be made up of an accountant, an engineer and members of the cabinet, be established to advise the government on the reduction of expenditures and to help eradicate duplication, waste and extravagance.

Mr. Raymond expressed belief the government could have granted greater tax relief in view of the $352,000,000 surplus reported for 1946-47. Basic exemptions should London, May 16.—(AP)—The King accepted London's official welcome home from South Africa yesterday by pledging himself to do all he can "by travel and understanding" to promote Empire unity.

Speaking at a Lord Mayor's luncheon in bomb-battered old Guildhall, the King said his South African tour had emphasized two things to him:

"One is the strength for peace and good will the Commonwealth derives from the wide dispersion of its resources—strength which no political system possesses in equal measure—strength which we must do our utmost to enlarge by mutual help for the benefit of all."

"The other is the value of moral unity and understanding whereby our widely distributed strength may be as effective in the tasks of peace as in the ordeal of war."

The King, who with the Queen and Princesses rode to the Guildhall in an open carriage through crowded, cheering streets, wore an admiral's uniform. He said the war and post-war difficulties had given the Commonwealth a "sense of spiritual no less than material partnership."

"That partnership is of priceless value not only to those nations themselves but to the cause of united international effort for better ordering of a distracted world," he added.

EX-PRESIDENT OF LEGION IS GUEST SPEAKER

At the regular dinner meeting of Branch No. 38, in Farnham, the past provincial President of the Canadian Legion, Henri Gonthier, was guest speaker.

He gave a very interesting talk on the present activities of the Legion and also outlined some of the future plans of this organization, which promises to be of great benefit to all former service men.

At the conclusion of his address the speaker was duly thanked by L. E. Finnegan, the branch president.

A short meeting was then held during which it was announced the branch had recently acquired from War Assets the former Staff Training Centre, which would be used as a Memorial Hall.

PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED BY CARNATION CO.

North Hatley, May 16.—Sixteen delegates to the 1st Canadian Field Conference of Carnation Agronomists wound up a two-day agenda here this noon discussing common problems. Meetings were held at the Pleasant View Hotel.

Following a luncheon yesterday, the conference was opened by George Bulkley, of Oconomowoc, Wis., general superintendent of Carnation Company, who spoke on Administering Farm Services. Other speakers in the afternoon were Dr. E. P. Parfitt, of Chicago, Ill., administrator of sanitary standards of the Evaporated Milk Association, and Dr. C. K. Johns, of Ottawa, chief bacteriologist, Experimental Farm, Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Parfitt discussed the history, purpose and administration of his association. Dr. Johns spoke on the topic, Dairy Farm Sanitation, particularly as it pertains to the care of milking machines and its relation to the production of quality milk.

There was a discussion period after each address.

At the evening session, A. C. Smith, of Oconomowoc, assistant vice-president of Carnation Company, addressed the conference on Viewing the Future while Reviewing the Past. He spoke of field service as it applies to the growth of the company in Canada and what the company is looking for in the future.

This morning the conference convened to hear V. P. Melhuish, director of dairy extension work for Carnation Company and L. C. Manley, representative of the field department, head office. Mr. Melhuish spoke on Over-all Field Problems and Mr. Manley on Salesmanship Provocations. P. R. Alleshouse, from the field department at head office, later conducted a question forum.

This afternoon delegates visited the Sherbrooke plant on the Lennoxville road.

Attending the conference with the five representatives from head office and J. P. Coyle, of Toronto, president of Carnation Company Ltd., were John F. Coyle, superintendent, J. A. Parfitt, N. H. Beach, R. C. Bradford and Raymond Kerwin, Sherbrooke; Herman Parsons, Waterloo; W. A. Grindlay, assistant superintendent, M. G. Woolcox and Jack Doan, Almer, Ont.; Charles Lockhead, Kerwood, Ont.; Emerson Wolfe, Holmesville, Ont.

Recent evidence by Canada, Australia and New Zealand of a practical desire to help Britain in her recovery period was further proof of the sense of partnership and "as sovereignty of our Commonwealth and Empire I owe equal duty to all its units. I wish to thank them all from the bottom of my heart for the spirit of comradeship which they have once more so practically shown."

It was the first Royal visit to the Guildhall since the King and Queen were welcomed home from Canada in 1939 and much of the equipment used at the luncheon has been in storage since then.

The Guildhall itself was badly damaged during the war and the great banquet hall has a temporary roof. Shattered stained glass windows have been replaced by boards or isinglass that rattles in the wind.

At Temple Bar, which marks the boundary of the City of London, the Lord Mayor presented the "great sword" to the King. In olden times the city, jealous of its privileges, would let no one, not even a monarch, enter its boundaries without permission. In the ceremony of the presentation of the sword this custom survives today.

The sovereign summed up his impressions of the South African tour in brief, moving phrases. It was one of the longest speeches he has ever made, filling the larger part of an hour.

NORTH HATLEY KENNELS HAVE NEW CHAMPION

The Upperton Kennels of North Hatley which have scored in major dog shows in Canada and the United States during the past season with their Welsh Corgis today have a Canadian champion in their midst.

Johnny, Jack's the Boy, pride of the kennels owned by Reginald Baxter and Cameron Foster, won three points at the Ladies' Canadian Kennel Club show in Montreal, real early in the week to give him a total of ten and his Canadian championship.

Johnny had won three points at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto last November and two points at each of the Province of Quebec Kennel Clubs shows in Montreal on May 3 and 4.

He has been beaten in the ring only once and on that occasion by his son, Crawleyrow, who won best of breed at Toronto.

There is a possibility that Johnny may become an international champion before the summer is out.

Already he has seven points to win his American championship, which requires fifteen points, and June he will be going to the Corgi Specialty Shows in Greenwich and Westchester, Conn., both of which are five-point shows.

Besides winning the best of breed at both Province of Quebec shows and the Ladies' Canadian Kennel Club show this month, Johnny won in the working group against seven other breeds. He was noted out by a pug for the best in show.

Upperton Corn Cob and Upperton Bess from the same kennels were also winners at the three Quebec shows this month. Corn Cob, a six-months puppy was beaten only by his sire, Johnny, taking the reserve winners. Bess won the winners' bitch.

of grains, potatoes and sugar beets will be greater than last year, although the winter kill of crops will make the planned acreage goal more difficult to attain, the report said.

Industrial activity in the zone revived immediately after winter eased and in March production as a whole rose an average of 20 per cent to 35 per cent of the 1936 normal, Gen. Clay said. This 1936 was about one-fifth less than the peak output of last October and November.

any position after hearing the commission's report next fall by saying "the Soviet Union will state its position on the various plans in greater detail when the concrete proposals are prepared and when decisions are to be taken on the future of Palestine."

The commission will spend the summer at its mission and will report Sept. 1 to the Secretary-General so the member states may study its recommendations and take up their study of a future government of Palestine at the regular assembly convening here Sept. 16.

The Arab chiefs here and in the Middle East began today a series of fateful conferences to decide just how far they will co-operate with the commission. They expect to know the answer by the end of the month.

PARKS OPENING TO BE MARKED BY HORSE SHOW

The official opening of Sherbrooke parks on May 24th, Victoria Day, will be highlighted by a horse show under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Riding and Driving Club at Dufresne Park, on Galt Street.

The date was announced today by Alderman Sylvio Rousseau, chairman of the Parks Committee. If the weather is inclement on the Saturday, ceremonies connected with the opening will be postponed to the next day, when the horse show will be held in the Arena if the weather is still unfavorable.

The horse show will be the first of four field days to be held this season by the riding club whose president is Michael T. Stenson.

The fourteen classes, scheduled for the season's first field day held to mark the opening of the summer season in parks and playgrounds drew a crowd of three thousand. Miss Yvette Schiller was outstanding, coming out ahead in both men's and ladies' saddle classes. The pair jumping competition went to Domino and Captain Jack, ridden by Erich Marquardt and Erich Schiller. In the jumping stake the honors were taken by Dark Suzanne entered by J. A. Desfosse and ridden by G. Dumas, while H. L. Blais' Gamin, a newcomer then to big-time competition, pulled a surprise by capturing the open jumping event, with Alme Choquette aboard. Howard Nichol, of Lennoxville, rode his entry, Admiral, to victory in the green horse jumping class. The saddle stake went to Dufferin Boy, owned then by Mrs. J. A. Desfosse, and Lady Helen and Lady Thirion, of S.M.S. Stable, won the saddle pair. M. T. Stenson's Rex won the hack class, Dr. Berube's Sonny Horace, the high steppers, and Eileen Morgan's Star, the pony.

Listed below are the fourteen standard classes for the field days to be held here this season:

Open three-gaited saddle class, open to all saddle horses regardless of their previous winnings.

Specified three-gaited saddle class, open to saddle horses who have never won a first ribbon at any horse show or field day previous to 1947.

Three-gaited saddle pair, open to all saddle horses.

Single pony driving class, open to all ponies under 14.2 driven by a child unassisted and not over 14 years old.

Single pony saddle class, open to all ponies 14.2 and under ridden by a child not over 14 years of age. On high steppers, open to all high steppers.

Combination ride and drive class, open to all saddle horses.

Hack class, open to all horses. Seat and hands class, for riders under 17 years of age (performance of the rider only to be judged in this class).

Green jumpers class, open to all jumpers who never won a first ribbon at any show or field day previous to 1947 in any single jumping class.

Open jumping class, open to all jumpers.

Pair jumping, open to all jumpers in pairs.

Open hunter class, open to all hunters.

Handy hunters class, open to all hunters.

"Oliver for leader" lapel-pins appeared everywhere and the record of the 34-year-old leader of the 13 Liberals in the Legislature was growingly told in a well-printed pamphlet. Allan A. Lamport supporters also distributed campaign literature during the afternoon and in the evening further campaign cards were handed out for Alvin P. Cadieu and W. A. Gunn.

Mr. Cadieu is a Hamilton industrialist, while Mr. Gunn is a former Federal Liberal candidate and organizer for the party. Mr. Lamport, former member of the Legislature, is a Toronto alderman.

Dan W. Lang, of Toronto, was re-elected treasurer of the O.L.A. by acclamation.

German Grain Gap Can Be Filled Easily

But British and United States Taxpayers Will Have to Foot Bill if German Problem to Be Eased.

London, May 16.—(Reuters)—There should be no outstanding difficulty in bridging Germany's grain gap until the next harvest in Europe if British and United States taxpayers are still prepared to pay for it.

Each of the three great exporting countries, Canada, the United States and Argentina, seems to have enough grain to fill the entire western European gap until the next European harvest. Collectively their surplus ludicrously dwarfs Germany's deficit.

Germany's immediate troubles seem to reflect essentially past causes. They may partly be ascribed to imperfect administration but mainly to transport bottlenecks in the United States, Canada and Argentina. Reasons for expecting much better things from now on include:

1. The imminent and huge new wheat harvest in the United States.
2. The imminent harvest in Italy and other southern Euro-

3. Reopening last week of Canadian inland water navigation.

4. The possibility of some improvement in the movement from Argentina, and

5. Perhaps above all the present big price inducement to United States farmers to deliver quickly. The looming problem is not getting the grain or moving it, but paying for it.

The movement problem can be expected to be solved not by appeals from "international food officials" in Washington but by simple adjustments of market prices. All or most of the needed adjustments seem already to have been made. If more price adjustment proves necessary, it can come about simply and almost automatically.

The way to get American farmers to deliver wheat now, when it is most wanted, instead of holding it for the late summer when it may be less wanted, is to offer them a higher price now than in the late summer.

This has already been done, spectacularly and effectively. For wheat for delivery this month, Chicago now bids $2.68 a bushel, compared with only $2.25 for July delivery and $2.18 for September. By unnecessarily holding wheat until July or September, the holder thus loses 43 to 50 cents a bushel, plus his storage and interest charges.

International food officials in Washington now state that Europe's problem can only be solved if the United States carryover on July 1 is reduced to what they describe as the unprecedentedly low figure of 75,000,000 bushels, and that an attempt to do so would threaten a disastrous boom in grain prices.

St. Luke's Women's Guild met at the home of Mrs. G. Dufresne with Mrs. F. Christie and Mrs. F. Cote the hostesses. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Dufresne and the minutes were read by Mrs. H. Pibus. Two presentations were made to Mrs. Willows, a former Guild president, on the eve of her departure to make her home in Montreal. Mrs. F. Christie, on behalf of the W.A., presented Mrs. Willows with a lamp and expressed the regret at her departure. On behalf of the Ladies' Guild Mrs. Campbell made the presentation of a leather handbag, also expressing regret at the loss of a loyal member. Mrs. Willows, in replying, said that she was sorry to leave this place and would miss her Magog friends very much. Refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Cavell, Mrs. Mandigo, Mrs. Charles Styan and Mrs. Clarence Styan. This was a joint meeting of the W.A. and the Guild to honor Mrs. Willows.

The description is wrong. 1. At the tightest period of the First World War, the United States carryover got down to about 20,000,000 bushels.

2. It clearly depends on how much new crop wheat moves between now and July 1.

And if the assertion does prove correct, the necessary reduction in the carryover might be made automatically by the existing structure of prices, which has already reduced the prospective carryover from 250,000,000 to 100,000,000.

Mrs. Frank Corey attended a meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Stanbridge East United Church at the home of Mrs. Stollker. A meeting of the Cemetery Association of this place was held at the Sager home with all members present. Mr. Frank Corey, secretary, presented his report and routine business was transacted. Mr. Archie Sager was forced by ill health to give up the work of caretaker. Plans were completed for the purchase of a power motor. Mr. Herman Riel was engaged as caretaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sager motored to Cowansville. A few of the local young people attended a card party at the Consolidated School in Stanbridge East.

Mr. Hugh Corey has returned to Granby, after spending a short time at his home here.

Mrs. Archie Sager accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Baker, to St. John's.

Those from here who attended the Farm Forum dance, at Freighsburg, included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Baker, Misses Lois Baker, Carol Sager, Jeanne Corey, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Riel, Gerald, June and Hertha Corey and David, Mary Jane and Valance Realife.

Mr. Wilbur Clough has returned to Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Westover and children, of Stanbridge East, were calling on Mrs. Westover's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Tinsley. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sager and Mr. Fred Sager, of Pigeon Hill, were calling at the Sager home.

Mrs. Herman Riel motored to Farnham.

No Wife Like First Wife

Husband-Snatcher Makes Poor Wife
And Man Regrets Change

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man in my middle 30's, supposed to be educated, intelligent and influential; yet I was glib enough to let a woman, who is a home-wrecker and without principle, break up my home and separate me from one of the finest wives a man ever had.

Almost from the very first day of my marriage to this Other Woman, I had an inner conviction that I would some day pay for my folly. My first wife's face kept haunting me, and things have grown worse all the time until now living with this second one is a nightmare. I put on a big front, but inwardly I am dead. I think I have suffered a stab of pain in my heart for every scolding tear my first wife shed over me when she so desperately tried to hold me. My one desire now is to go to her on bended knees and humbly beg her forgiveness.

So I would like to urge all men to think a long time before they decide to chuck the old wife for the new. A woman who will deliberately wreck another's woman's home is worst of the criminals and sooner or later the man she takes from his wife will lose all respect for her. I know whereof I speak.

A REPENTANT MAN.

DESERVE NO SYMPATHY

Answer: When a middle-aged man falls for the wiles of a husband-snatcher, and lets her separate him from the fine woman who has been his faithful companion for 20 years, it doesn't say much for his judgment, nor call for any voice of sympathy. But it is a matter of common occurrence. All of us know plenty of old men who have deserted their faithful old wives for bobby-soxers, and who have paid the bitter price of their folly.

For such marriages are almost invariably failures. Young girls do not marry men old enough to be their grandfathers for love. It is only money or social position that counts with them. And old men soon find out that they have nothing in common with child wives.

A man who had swapped the wife of his youth, who had worked beside him and helped him make his fortune, and who had all memories in common with him, once said to me that he never saw an elderly couple going out so happily together, or sitting in a companion-ship that needed no speech, that he did not feel like bursting into tears, he was so lonely and bored with the frivolous girl he had married.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been a widow for several years, but have recently married. I have three children, a boy of 9, another of 13, and a daughter of 20. My present husband has adopted the two boys and given them his name, but the girl, being of age and not adoptable, goes by her father's name. All of the children are devoted to their stepfather who is very good to them and who wants to adopt the girl, if it can be done.

What I want to know is: Is it proper for the girl to call her stepfather "Dad" as the boys do? Kindly give us your advice.

MRS. J. H. R.

Answer: I presume that the matter of changing the girl's name from her father's to her stepfather's could easily be arranged, but you would have to consult a lawyer about that. However, inasmuch as the girl is 20 and is almost sure to change her name to a husband's name in a few years, why bother about it? It is perfectly all right for her to call her stepfather "Dad" if it pleases him.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Is there any way for the Alcoholics Anonymous to help my husband when he claims that his drinking is justified? Of course, his real reason is that he doesn't want to quit the habit. He is a fine and capable man and could make a success if he would only let liquor alone.

MRS. C. G. L.

Answer: There is no way of reforming a man who doesn't want to be reformed, so I am afraid your husband's case is hopeless.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

Make the Most of Veal Rump

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Now that veal is plentiful in most localities, let's do something delicious about it.

To roast a rump of veal (or any other roast of veal) use low temperature. Sprinkle meat well with salt and pepper and place on a rack in an open pan, preferably one that is a little larger than the roast. Insert a meat thermometer in thickest muscle of the meat, being careful it does not touch bone or fat.

Lay strips of fat over the top of meat and roast in a slow oven (325 deg. F.) until meat thermometer registers 180 deg. F. This will take about 35 to 40 minutes per pound. No basting of the meat is necessary. No water need be added, for at this low temperature, the drippings will not char.

For subtle flavoring, rub the meat well with a clove of garlic, then rub with salt mixed with a little pepper and a few grains of ginger.

Scalloped Veal and Ham Casserole

One cup sliced fresh mushrooms, 2 cups medium white sauce, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups of diced cooked veal, 1 cup diced cooked ham or luncheon meat, 2 cups of cooked green beans, 1 cup of crisp cereal.

Brown mushrooms in a little fat. Mix with white sauce, nutmeg, veal, ham and beans. Pour into greased 2-quart casserole, top with crushed cereal, and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 25 minutes. (Slightly diluted mushroom soup may be used in place of fresh mushrooms.)

SUNDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, country sausage, griddle cakes, butter, honey or syrup, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Veal rump roast, roasted potatoes, brown gravy with mushrooms, buttered peas with small white onions, rolls or bread, butter, cold asparagus salad with tart dressing, vanilla ice cream with crushed strawberry sauce, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Sliced cold veal, creamed new potatoes, vegetable salad, biscuits, butter, jellies and relishes, assorted cookies, tea, milk.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: A woman is introducing her husband to a casual acquaintance whom she would not call by his first name.

Wrong Way: She says, "Mr. Smith, Mr. Brown."

Right Way: She says, "Mr. Smith, I'd like you to meet my husband."

Freddie Hutchinson Wins His Fifth Successive Game To Top A.L. Hurlers

It took him a long time—nine years to be exact—but fearless Freddie Hutchinson, the picture pitcher, finally is beginning to look like the great hurler he was supposed to be when Detroit Tigers handed over $75,000 for his signature.

That was in the winter of 1938 after the then 19-year-old right-hander, in his first try at professional baseball, had won 25 games and lost seven while pitching for Seattle in the Pacific Coast League.

Heralded as another Schoolboy Rowe, then an outstanding American League star with Detroit, Hutchinson suddenly lost his stuff and won only three games in nine decisions for Tigers. He divided that season and the next between Detroit and Buffalo in the International League and in 1941 had a big year with Bisons where he won 26 games and lost seven.

But the war came along and Freddie played baseball under Mickey Cochrane and Bob Feller in the United States Navy and came back last year to have a fairly good season winning 14 and losing 11.

Today Hutchy rates right on top off his performance. He won his fifth successive game last night after losing his first start of the season, defeating Washington Senators at the Capitol City 3-2. No pitcher in the American League has won as many.

Tigers broke a 2-1 tie in the ninth by pushing over the deciding run. Eddie Lake walked and raced to third on George Kell's single. He scored as Roy Cullenbine forced Kell.

The triumph enabled Tigers to retain their one game margin over Boston Red Sox who won their eighth game in their last nine starts as Joe Dobson limited Chicago White Sox to eight hits for a 5-1 triumph. The loss was the first of the season for Orval Grove of Chicago.

Blasting Murry Dickson and Ken Burkhardt for six runs in the third, New York Giants made it five straight over St. Louis Cardinals by whipping the Redbirds at Sportsman's Park 6-4. Triples by Willard Marshall and Walker Cooper led the attack which broke Larry Jansen's second straight win. Ron Northey hammered his fourth homer for the Cards.

Tommy Tatum, purchased Tuesday by Cincinnati from Brooklyn, helped sink his old Dodge mates for the second straight day by lashing a home run as the Reds downed Dodgers 2-0. Ewell Blackwell, last year's shutout leader in the National League, pitched his first whitewash job of the season for his fourth triumph.

All other scheduled games in the majors were postponed by rain and wet grounds.

Mr. Reginald Cote was the fortunate winner of the Dodge car drawn at the Sherbrooke Ball Park on Sunday, May 11. This was sponsored by the Sportsmen's Club of Sherbrooke.

Mrs. M. Alexander, of Richmond, spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Fred O. Smith.

MACKMEN UPSET MIGHTY FELLER OF CLEVELAND

Hats off to Mr. Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball. The venerable 84-year-old gentleman, now in his 47th year as Manager of Philadelphia Athletics, is quietly answering his critics by giving the Athletic fans the best brand of baseball they have seen in more than a dozen years.

His much maligned Mackmen, after a traditionally poor start, have been coming like a house afire of late, they have won six of their last eight games including a 7-6 conquest of the mighty Bob Feller and Cleveland Indians last night to astound baseball observers who almost unanimously picked out a nice soft spot in the American League cellar for them.

They expected to see the same old feeble A's again this year and for a while it appeared they were right for the Mackmen dropped 10 of their first 14 games. But a look at the results showed the A's were giving every club a tussle.

Of the dozen defeats, nine have been by one run and another was lost in extra innings. In only two games this season were the A's decisively beaten.

The A's had to come from behind twice last night to win, scoring the deciding runs in the seventh when Sam Chapman homered off Feller with a man on. The defeat was the third for Feller against four triumphs.

Bullet Bob gave up only four hits, as many as the Indians were able to gather off Bill McCahan and winning pitcher Bob Savage, but the Cleveland fireballer walked 10, five of them in the first frame when the A's scored four times. The A's now have won 10 and lost 12 and are in seventh place but only four games behind the league leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers retained their one game lead over Boston Red Sox by shutting out Washington Senators before 17,983 Capitol City fans in a night game. Hal Newhouser, who had not won a game since he pitched a shutout opening day, ended his four-game losing streak by blanking the Nats with four singles. Pat Mullin continued his terrific hitting for the Bengals with a double and single.

The Red Sox continued their upsurge by winning their seventh game in their last eight starts, trampling Chicago White Sox 19-6.

Ted Williams made two of the Red Sox' 18 hits, both homers. Bobby Doerr of Boston collected four hits, a single, double, triple and homer.

Aided by four runs, three of them in succession in the sixth inning by Charlie Keller, Joe DiMaggio and Johnny Lindell, New York Yankees opened their home swing with a 9-1 triumph over St. Louis Browns. Keller also homered earlier in the game to help Allie Reynolds register his third mound win.

Led by their first base rookie sensation, Earl Torgeson, Boston Braves defeated Chicago Cubs to move within a half game of the National League leading Bruins. Torgeson hammered in five runs on two doubles, a single and his eighth homer of the season. He now has driven in 26 runs, tops for both leagues. Southpaw Warren Spahn, although needing the help of Anton Karl in the sixth, was credited with his fifth win against no defeats.

St. Louis Cardinals found their home field no different from other parks this season as they were blanked by lefty Dave Koslo who pitched New York Giants to a 5-0 win with a neat two-hitter. Buddy Kerr, back in the Giant line-up after being sidelined for several days with an injury, collected four hits in five times at bat. The losing pitcher was Howie Pollet, who dropped his fourth game in five decisions.

With the aid of five walks in the third, the Cincinnati Reds scored four times and went on to defeat Brooklyn Dodgers 7-5 in a night game in Cincinnati. The Dodgers, who used 20 players including six pitchers, almost pulled the game out of the fire by scoring three runs in the ninth but Harry Gumbert, fourth Cincinnati pitcher, replaced Clyde Shoun with two out and the bases loaded and whiffed catcher Bruce Edwards to end the game.

The scheduled Philadelphia-Pittsburgh game at Forbes Field was postponed by rain.

Cheque For $563 Presented To Hospital By Richmond Group

Richmond, May 16.—The Richmond County Women's Institute held its annual meeting in the Memorial Hall in Richmond with fifty-six present.

The meeting was opened at 10:30 a. m. by the county president, Mrs. I. Patrick. Other officers present were Mrs. R. V. Beattie, first vice-president; Mrs. M. Healy, second vice-president; Mrs. R. Kerr, secretary; and Mrs. J. Hawker, treasurer.

The meeting opened with the "Salute to the Flag" and all repeating the "Mary Stewart Collect." One minute's silence was observed in memory of departed members and friends.

The secretary, Mrs. Kerr, read the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer, Mrs. Hawker, gave a splendid report, showing a balance of $700.85 on hand. Roll Call was answered by eight branches.

The conveners reports were next in order, and were given as follows: Agriculture, Mrs. F. Blanchard; Education, Mrs. Watson; the Welfare and Health report was read by Mrs. Watters, in the absence of the convener, Mrs. G. Frank; Home Economics,

Mrs. Church; The National and International report was read by Mrs. F. Wintle, in the absence of the convener, Mrs. H. Armstrong; The War Services report was read by Mrs. F. Nixon, in the absence of the convener, Mrs. Converse; Publicity, Mrs. F. Monahan.

Six out of eight branches belong to the Blue Cross Hospitalization plan. Miss A. Dresser suggested appointing a senior supervisor to help start over nine Junior Institutes. The correspondence was read. Mrs. F. Farguhar gave a very humorous monologue.

Mrs. Patrick introduced Mrs. Conley, of Sherbrooke, first vice-president of the Provincial Women's Institutes, who was representing the Provincial President, Mrs. Smallman. Mrs. Conley first expressed her pleasure at being with the Richmond County W. I. members at their annual meeting. A letter was read from Mrs. Smallman of greetings and good wishes, also expressing her regrets of not being able to attend this meeting. Mrs. Smallman sent some very helpful suggestions to the Women's Institutes. Mrs.

Patrick thanked Mrs. Conley for attending this meeting.

Mrs. W. Pearson, of Lennoxville, past president of the Ascot County W. I., was introduced. Mrs. Pearson expressed her appreciation at being present at this meeting, especially as the first Institute meeting she had ever attended was one in this vicinity. Mrs. Pearson also spoke of the benefits derived from the recent broadcasts, sponsored by the Women's Institutes. She also mentioned the exhibition to be held in Sherbrooke this summer on June 8-15, asking any one who could to attend. Mrs. Pearson was thanked by the president.

The meeting then adjourned for lunch. Two groups of the Chalmers United Church Association served an excellent lunch to sixty people. Mrs. Patrick thanked the ladies for their splendid luncheon. On returning to the Hall and resuming the meeting, the president introduced Mr. Sangster and Mr. Bartlett, of Sherbrooke, who had answered a cheque to be present as this county W. I. was prepared to hand in the cheque donated by the branches, towards a semi-private ward to be built in the New Sherbrooke Hospital. Mrs. J. Hawker, treasurer, handed Mr. Sangster a cheque for $563. Mr. Sangster and Mr. Bartlett thanked the ladies for their generous gift and extended an invitation for all to come and visit their new ward, when it was finished. Pictures were then taken. Mrs. Patrick thanked the gentlemen for coming to the meeting.

Mrs. Parson, president of the Compton County Women's Institutes, who had been introduced in the morning, extended a hearty invitation for all to attend the Compton County Fair. Mrs. Parsons was thanked by the president.

A solo sung by little Willa Watson was much enjoyed. Willa who is only five years old was accompanied by Mrs. Hawker.

The president spoke a few words on retiring from the chair, and thanked all for their splendid co-operation. She then asked Mrs. Conley to take the chair for the nomination and election of officers. The slate of officers drawn up by the convener, Mrs. J. Beattie and her helpers was read in her absence by Mrs. G. Fletcher and was accepted as follows:

President, Mrs. R. V. Beattie; first vice-president, Mrs. Maude Healy; second vice-president, Miss Alice Dresser; secretary, Mrs. R. Kerr; treasurer, Miss M. Fraser.

Mrs. Beattie asked Mrs. Patrick to take the chair for the remainder of the meeting. The conveners re-elected were Mrs. Watson, Education; Welfare and Health, Mrs. Frank; and Publicity, Mrs. Monahan. In Home Economics, Mrs. R. Benard replaces Mrs. Church; in Agriculture, Mrs. Husk replaces Mrs. Blanchard; in National and International Relations, Mrs. Converse replaces Mrs. Armstrong.

Prizes are to be given again to the Richmond County Fair, for the best loaf of white bread and the best loaf of whole wheat bread. Calf prizes are to be given the same as last year; one dollar each, to Grades VII in the rural schools. Also, a prize is offered in the Science classes in St. Francis College High School and in St. Patrick's School. One dollar each to Shipton, Ashes, and Melbourne Ridge School Fair, and ten dollars to the Richmond Library.

Mrs. Patrick introduced Miss W. Ross, science teacher of St. Francis College High School. Miss Ross demonstrated in a very helpful way the work done by pupils in her classes. She also had on display seven articles made by her pupils. Miss Ross was thanked by the president, Miss Norma Knowles rendered a piano solo, which was much enjoyed.

Mrs. Patrick then called upon Mrs. T. P. Ross for a few words. Mrs. Ross spoke very highly of Miss Ross' work with the science classes. She also mentioned the pottery and clay work. Mrs. Ross was thanked by the president.

The date of the convention to be held this summer at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, is June 24-26, and the semi-annual meeting is to be held in Richmond on July 5, at 2 p. m.

A busy meeting was brought to a close with the singing of "God Save The King."

RELIEF COST UP

Calgary.—Indigent relief payments cost this city $4,971 in March and 362 individuals were assisted. In March, 1946, 311 persons were assisted at a cost of $3,919.

SWEETSBURG

The white and rose snapdragons and carnations were to the glory of God and in loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Pickel and Mr. Edward Pickel, and were presented for the altar at Christ Church on Mother's Day, by members of the family residing in Farnham and Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wisdom have returned to their home here, after spending upwards of six months in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Cady and son, Evan, spent the Mother's Day week-end in Ormstown with Mrs. Alice Cady, Mrs. Victoria Cottingham, and Mr. and Mrs. George Cottingham and family.

Friends are glad to know that Mr. Roy Wells is much improved in health and able to drive his car again, after having been confined to his room for two months.

Miss Doris Fuller was a guest of friends at West Brom.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bullock and two daughters, Laura and Lorna Bullock, of Clareville, spent the Mother's Day week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miller, at the Court House.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lyons have moved into the Peron apartment and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Royea are occupying the tenement in the Paul Norris house, which Mr. and Mrs. Lyons vacated.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lyons spent a day in Montreal with Mr. Joseph Moxon, at the Queen Mary Military Hospital.

Father Galbraith of the Redemptorist Fathers, in Montreal, conducted the mission which was held at the Church of St. Rose de Lima, for four days. A vesper service is being held every evening in May and on the second Sunday of each month an Irish priest comes from Montreal to deliver a sermon in English at the masses. On May 11, Rev. Father Mohan, of the Redemptorist Fathers, conducted the masses. The sale of religious articles during the mission netted over $80 and was in charge of Miss May Power and Miss Gwendolyn Hewitt.

On the farm of Mr. J. Hebert between Adamsville and Granby, freak calves were born during the week-end about twenty-four hours apart, both having bull-dog heads and feet like a bear.

Mrs. Raymond Ruiter and daughter, Judith, are spending two weeks with Mrs. Grace Ruiter, having left their home in a boat from the very door-way at Gati-neau, on account of the overflow of the Ottawa and Gatineau Rivers.

Amazing Soapless VEL cleans better, washes faster

VEL gives water amazing new cleaning power—makes it penetrate, lift out dirt, cut grease fast!

VEL dissolves instantly, completely, even when you add cool, hard water.

One big advantage is that VEL's light, foamy suds disappear quickly... the water stays clear. You see what you wash. No heavy clinging suds.

No gummy soap film to cloud glasses, nylons, silks, etc.

VEL contains no harsh, soapy alkalis, works well without hot water, so hands don't get red and sore.

You need very little VEL for most jobs. One or two tablespoonsful is enough to make glasses sparkle, cut grease from dishes. No need to add more when suds disappear for VEL cleans without suds.

VEL WORKS MIRACLES

Eliminates sticky suds—soapy film

Leaves glasses sparkling clean. Keeps silks, nylons brighter, sheerer—Woolens softer, fluffier—clothes snowy-white.

Save time and wash cleaner, by soaking heavily-soiled laundry in a VEL solution for a little while before washing. To remove deep-down, grimy dirt, sprinkle on a little dry VEL, then rub gently.

FARM AND LOCAL NEWS

LITTLE CHANGE IS REPORTED AT LANSDOWNE

Market activities at Lansdowne this morning were slowed down almost to a standstill with prices maintaining a comparatively reasonable level and little change being reported by dealers.

Local beef is still scarce and the appearance of spring lambs on meat counters is now way behind schedule.

Local grown tomatoes were appearing in greater numbers than last week and were retailing for 50 cents per basket, while wax beans, first ones this season, were being sold at 33 cents per pound.

Eggs were still plentiful and no shortage is feared, but one dealer voiced his anticipation of another price increase in the near future, owing to the steadily mounting cost of poultry feed.

FARM FORUMS DISCUSS MILK AT LENNOXVILLE

The Farm Forums of the Counties of Compton, Richmond, Stanstead and Sherbrooke met recently in the Gertrude Scott Hall, Lennoxville, to hear Mr. McInnis of Iroquois, Ont., vice-president of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers Association, discuss the organization of a milk producers' Association. During the course of his remarks, Mr. McInnis said the fact that the farmers of Canada were competing on a world market and must produce as efficiently as possible and then market their produce in the best possible manner. He advocated the setting up of a marketing service for the sale of all farm produce but particular attention was paid to milk being sold to condenseries.

As a result of his talk, the meeting set up a committee to organize the farmers in this district who are shipping milk to condenseries.

The meeting was under the chairmanship of W. G. MacDougall, agronomist, who called on Joseph Galway, secretary of Farm Forums, Macdonald College, to introduce the guest speaker. There was a note of regret as this was the last meeting in this district that Mr. Galway was attending as secretary of Farm Forums for Quebec.

Mr. Galway is being promoted to the post of National Farm Radio Forum secretary. The meeting expressed sincere wishes for his success in his new position.

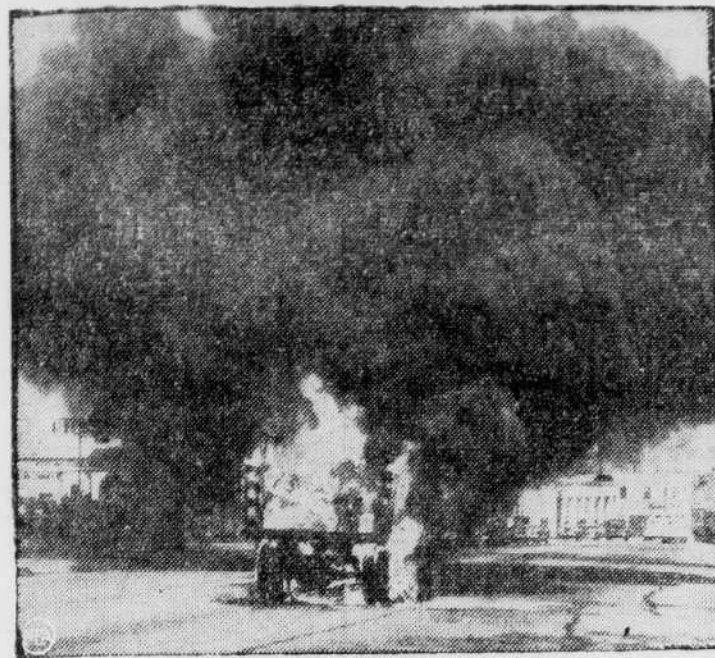

He outlined the work done by the Forums thanked the members for their co-operation and expressed the hope that they would give his successor Floyd Griest, their whole hearted support. There were over 220 people present from the four counties. Everyone was anxious to start the project at hand. After the business meeting, those present adjourned to the basement, where refreshments were served.

Common to just plain quality were selling between $13 and $13.50 with heavier kinds selling around $13.75 to $14. Drinkers or pall fed calves ranged from $11 to $13 and grassers $8.50 to $9.

Hogs were in good demand and most of the sales were made at $22.25 for grade "A" with a few small sales up to $22.50. Sows were mostly $18 dressed.

Veal calves were in very good demand. Good quality veals were mostly $15 with medium kinds from $14 to $14.50. Calves weighing between 90 and 95 pounds of

PRESENTATION MARKS SERVICE AT ASBESTOS

Asbestos, May 15.—At the morning service in the United Church Mr. William Simpson conducted the opening part of the service, owing to the absence of Rev. Mr. Ross, who is on a visit to relatives in Virginia.

Rev. Mr. Foggo, of the United Church, Danville, preached an inspiring sermon taking as his theme, "Mother's Influence in the Home."

Miss Jean Ross and Mrs. Kenneth Smith each sang a beautiful solo.

At the close of the service the congregation as asked to remain and Mr. William Simpson expressed the regret of everyone, at losing Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Gardner and family, all of whom were present, from this place. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner have lived in Asbestos for many years and have always been connected with the work of the church. Their home has always been open for any meetings. They will be greatly missed by everyone. Mr. Simpson wished Mr. and Mrs. Gardner happiness in their future home and asked them to accept a small gift as a token of the esteem of their friends here.

Mr. Gardner accepted the gift of a pressure cooker, and thanked everyone most sincerely for their kindness. He said they were all sorry to leave Asbestos and their many good friends here, and assured everyone that their home would always be open, with a welcome, to anyone from Asbestos.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Gardner, of Toronto, Ont., Miss Patricia Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner, of Danville, were in church with their parents.

Ford's
in '47!

For the motorist who likes to get going, the '47 Ford V-8 offers the pep and pull and rippling power of its V-type engine—the type used in the most expensive cars. Low axle ratios let the engine loaf while the car bustles. Result: smoother travelling, less strain, longer engine life.

And there's the newly styled instrument panel with big new dials for easy reading; new body colours, new front end appearance; new stainless steel body moulding; new heavier bumper guards, and many other new features.

Ford is out in front in beauty—in comfort—in performance. Ask your Ford and Monarch dealer about delivery. We hope soon to be catching up with that long list of patient people who won't be satisfied with anything less than Ford V-8 performance for their money.

ST. JOHNS BRAVES DOWN SHERBROOKE 9-4 AT LOCAL PARK

Failure To Hit Cost Locals Victory As Nine Men Left Stranded On Bases

Failure to hit in the pinches cost the Sherbrooke Ball club a victory yesterday afternoon, when they dropped a 9-4 decision to the Braves of St. John's in a regular fixture of the Provincial Independent baseball loop.

The locals left nine men stranded on bases compared to the Braves' six. Sherbrooke's star hurler, Jean Pierre Roy, ex-Montreal Royals, for nine bingles while Lefty Lettner held St. John to nine hits, including three two-baggers. The Braves got their other hit off "Long" John Harvey, who replaced Lettner in the eighth inning.

Roy sent nine Sherbrooke men down swinging, while Lefty Lettner made five Braves hit the dust. Roy issued four free tickets, Lettner three, and Harvey one.

Sherbrooke lost the services of their star fielder, Normie Dussault, in the eighth inning, when he got slightly heated after plate umpire Ripley had called a strike against him, he pushed the ump and earned himself the hoist. Paul Paquin replaced him in the lineup.

The locals got away to a good start when they pushed across a run in the initial inning. Both sides went down 1-2-3 in the second frame. The third inning saw the Braves push across two runs, when Guerin got a free pass and Rainville blasted a two-bagger followed by Roy who connected with a single, the next three men went out on two infield hits, and a fly ball to deep centre to retire the side.

In the fourth half of the third, they missed a golden opportunity to take the lead in the game when Lettner, worked Roy for a pass. Dussault banged out a single, and got another single, and drove in Lettner. Dube fled out to short. Lettner got on first on an error. Fox followed on a fielder's choice but Dion went out on a fly ball to deep centre field, leaving three men stranded on bases. A safe hit would have meant at least two runs, but the local's first sacker failed to deliver and the side was retired.

The Braves got two more runs in the fourth, and Sherbrooke one, when Nick Shamot got on with a single, stole second, and was sacrificed to third by Larry Frechette, and was driven home by Lefty Lettner. There was no scoring in the fifth, but St. John's got two runs in the sixth on two hits, coupled with a sacrifice and three errors. The best that the locals could do was to get a single.

The lucky seventh saw the Braves go down in quick order, and Sherbrooke came through with two hits, for one run, making the score-board read 6-4 in favor of St. John's. In the eighth, the Braves went down 1-2-3, and Sherbrooke left two men on the bases for their share of the frame.

The ninth inning was the big one for the visitors. Roy got on by a error, then St. John's poked out a two-bagger, to drive him home.

AXIS POWERS NOT INVITED TO 1948 OLYMPICS

Winnipeg, May 16.—(C)—Britain is leaving no stone unturned to make the 1948 Olympic Games among the most successful ever held, but Germany and Japan "will definitely not be invited to participate," Lord Burghley, one-time British Olympic track star and president of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, said in an interview yesterday.

Lord Burghley, who won the 400-metre hurdles at the 1928 Olympic Games in Amsterdam, paused here en route to visit his brother in British Columbia.

He said the British Olympic Games organization committee, of which he is chairman, has invited 53 countries to participate, and there is a chance Russia will be represented.

"They've got an application before the I.A.A.F. now," he added. "Most of the 1948 Olympic events will be held at Wembley Stadium and Empire Pool."

Johnny Greco Favored Over Webb For Canadian Welterweight Bout

Montreal, May 16.—(C)—Joltin' Johnny Greco will rule a 2 to 1 choice tonight when he climbs through the ropes to lay his Canadian welterweight title on the line against dusky Danny Webb, the Dominion's lightweight king.

Greco, a rousing, punishing fighter and veteran of 11 main bouts in New York's Madison Square Garden, will hold a 10-pound pull in the weights in the bout scheduled for 12 rounds.

Johnny will scale just under the 147-pound welter limit while Danny is expected to come in around 137.

As both boys finished up their training campaign, Promoter Raoul Godbout said he expected a capacity crowd of more than 10,000 fans who will pay from $1.50 to a top of $7.50 for ringside seats. The all-time Canadian record gate of $50,000 set last summer when Greco wrestled the welterweight crown from Dave Castiglione, is not expected to be surpassed.

The experts say Greco, a solid body puncher who wades in all the time, usually takes twice as many punches as he lands, will overpower Webb with his extra weight and rushing tactics.

However, other observers point out that Danny outlasted both Gus Mehl and Castiglione, and might upset the odds if the bout goes the limit. Webb thinks Greco doesn't punch any harder than Mell and a tendency to weaken in the late rounds, might not be able to stand the pace.

"Greco doesn't like to box 12 rounds," says the Montreal Negro. "He'll get tired and I'll out-box him."

But Johnny's manager Pitt Audette doesn't hold with that view. "Greco won't weaken tonight," says Audette, "because it won't go 12 rounds. Webb made a bad match for himself... and it won't go five heels."

If Webb should beat Greco, he will become a double champion with both the lightweight and welterweight titles and a victory over hard-hitting Johnny would go far to enhance his stock for future big fights in the United States.

AL GERHEAUSER BLANKS LEAFS AS ROYALS WIN

In Toronto they're beginning to regard Lefty Al Gerheuser of Montreal Royals as something of a menace.

The 29-year-old pitcher who was cast off by Pittsburgh Pirates last year tossed his second shutout of the season—a five-hitter—against the Maple Leafs last night to give the Royals a 4-0 International League victory.

Gerheuser, in the New York Yankee chain from 1935 to 1943, went to Philadelphia Phils in the deal involving Nick Etten and two years later moved to Pittsburgh. That he may get another chance at the majors is indicated by his hurling performances with the Royals to date.

Gerheuser singled in the third frame to score Mike Sandlock, who had doubled. Then the Royal hurler was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Earl Naylor to give Montreal a two-run lead. The Royals capitalized on two leaf errors to score twice more in the sixth.

Jersey City Giants remained safely in the lead by turning back the Chiefs 5-1 at Syracuse in the opener of a three-game series. Norm Jaeger's three-bagger with the bases loaded in the eighth was the capper.

Newark Bears kept right on their neighbors' heels by coming from behind to beat Baltimore 4-3 in the first night game at Newark. Ray Pott yielded a bunt single to Ford Garrison to lead off the game but then shut the door in the Bears' faces until the ninth. Then the Bears exploded with five hits, climaxed by a single by Garrison to get home the winning run. The Orioles had built up a 3-0 lead on two runs in the opening frame and Howie Moss' 12th home run of the season in the third.

Buffalo and Rochester were not scheduled.

Lou Thez, World's Champion, To Meet Fred Von Schat In Main Bout At Arena

Lou Thez, World's National Wrestling Association champion, will hook up with Fred Von Schat, the Austrian-American giant from Milwaukee, tomorrow night in the main bout at the local arena.

Thez, tipping the scales at 225 pounds, fresh from his victory over Felix Miquet, the French titleholder, will have his hands full when he enters the ring to face Von Schat, who is no small man any way that you look at him, and is quite capable of looking after himself. Thez with the aid of his famous drop-kick will try to make short work of Von Schat, but the Giant may have something to say about that.

In the semi-final Manuel Cortez, the Mexican champion, will take on Bob Eckert, a newcomer to the local wrestling circles. Cortez, who eliminated Gentleman Jack Claybourne last week, two falls to one, will try to continue his winning stride and will be out to make short work of Eckert.

Wee Willie Davis, the famous Hollywood movie villain, who tops the scales at 275 pounds and stands 6' 6", will be matched with Andre Asselin, who has been working under Yvon Robert, Montreal's wrestling idol. This match will bring together two new grapplers, and will be their first visit to Sherbrooke.

In the opener Rosaire Lefebvre, of Sherbrooke, will take on Young Paquette, of Magog, in one fall, twenty minutes. Both these boys are from the district, and should prove an interesting match to watch, to note the progress made since they have thrown in their lot in the wrestling world. Sammy Mack will be the official in the ring for all the bouts.

Tee Off For Walker Cup As Amateur Contest Resumed After War Lapse

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 16.—(P)—The United States seeks today to lift Great Britain's proud golf trophy—the Walker Cup, emblematic of the world's team championship in amateur golf—in the first renewal of this classic competition since 1938.

Play gets under way when United States Amateur Champion Ted Bishop and Skeel Riegl tee off against 24-year-old Joe Carr, Irish Amateur King, and his fellow countryman, Cecil Wing.

This combination, regarded as the "first team," will be followed by three other foursomes: Leonard Crawley and Percy Lucas, of Great Britain, vs. Bud Ward and Smiley Quick, of the United States.

Alex Kyle and James Wilson, of Great Britain, vs. Fred Kammer and Willie Turnesa, of the United States.

Dick Chapman and Frank Stranahan, of the United States, vs. Ronnie White and Charlie Stowe, of Great Britain.

They play a quaint game here, handed down from the days when golf balls were scarce. Each player takes turns hitting his team's ball. Four 30-hole, foursomes will be followed by eight singles matches over the same distance tomorrow.

Great Britain's margin of victory nine years ago was seven matches to four, with one halved. Narrowest triumphs were in 1923.

Indianapolis, May 16.—(NEA)—One of the largest medical staffs in Indianapolis Motor Speedway history will be on duty when the annual 500-mile automobile race gets under way May 30. Approximately 200 doctors, nurses and other attendants have been appointed to serve drivers, crew members and spectators. First aid stations will be located in each grandstand with interns on duty. Other medical plans include 12 ambulances and an infield hospital.

Pat Mullin Looms As The One Who Will Replace Greenberg At Detroit

Pat Mullin, toast of Detroit with a .444 batting average, is driving in the runs Hank Greenberg used to knock home.

When Big Hank was waived out of the American League and sold to Pittsburgh Pirates, Tigers fans asked the pointed question: "Who is going to knock in the 127 runs that Hank batted across last season?"

Now Mullin is leading the league with 13 doubles and hitting some 80 points better than anybody else in the majors. Of his 32 hits, 28 have been for extra bases including six homers and he has knocked in 14 runs in 20 games.

Greenberg's place at Detroit is being filled by a promising pitching recruit in Bryan Stephens who limited Washington to eight scattered hits while his mates clubbed Early Wynn and two successors for 14 blows.

Clint Hartung made his debut as a starting pitcher for the Giants, receiving credit for the decision over the Cubs although he needed relief help after 5 1/3 innings. The Giants got away fast on Bobby Thomson's three-run homer and kept going. Johnny Mize tied a National League record by scoring in his 15th straight game.

Harry Breechen, who has won four of the seven games the Cards have been able to rescue, worked his magic on the Boston club with a seven-hitter. Enos Slaughter contributed a pair of doubles and Marty Marion his third homer of the year in the 11th attack on Johnny Sain and three other Brave tossers.

Ralph Kiner, the 1946 National League home run champ, found the range in "Greenberg Gardens" and hit two over the wall in Pittsburgh's romp over Brooklyn, 7-3, and Cincinnati Reds broke out with a flurry of five homers to thump Philadelphia Phillies 11-3.

The Red Sox ran into some tough pitching by Bob Munier of the Browns who curved his way to a one-run edge with the help of Bob Dillinger. The speedy

THE SHOE FITS

Joltin' Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankees outfielder, laces a regular spiked shoe on his left foot for the first time this year at Yankee Stadium, New York. DiMaggio, who had been wearing a special shoe because of an operation on his heel, celebrated the occasion by clouting a homer against St. Louis.

YESTERDAY'S BATTING AND PITCHING STARS

Batting, Pat Mullin, Tigers—Hit two-run homer in second inning for Tigers' only score until the 14th inning when he opened winning rally with single in 4-2 decision over Washington.

Pitching, Harry Breechen, Cardinals—topped St. Louis' losing streak by hurling seven-hitter against Boston for 8-2 decision, his fourth in seven Cardinal victories.

Idol Of Fans And Ballplayers, Ruth Was An Entire Parade, Says Hoyt

By WAITE HOYT

Former American League Pitcher Cincinnati, May 16.—I first met Babe Ruth late in July, 1919, when as a rookie, I reported to the Red Sox.

Ruth at that time was a moon-faced, rather homely, but good-natured young fellow of 25. Babe had a lot on his mind. He was doubling in brass. Mostly he played left field. When he was needed, he pitched. When I arrived on the scene, the fellow who was to become baseball's biggest attraction had clouted 16 home runs. His name was hitting the headlines every day. His world—his oyster—was opening—and the pearls inside dazzled him beyond expression. Ruth was the new sensation and the world paid him homage.

The first big league game I pitched was against Detroit. It went 13 innings. I beat Detroit, 2-1. Ruth made four hits, including two doubles. He was a comfort—that man.

I prefer this to be a short study of the Giggle the ballplayers knew. (Giggle was the ballplayers' translation of his first name, George. Ruth was seldom called Babe by teammates.)

I played with Giggle 10 years and against him four. I have seen him hit 500 home runs. Two of them he hit off me—but those he struck on my behalf far outweighed the loss I suffered from those two.

One of them—the second—was one of his longest. He had been at bat twice with no hits. The third time I had two strikes on him. He knew I was pitching high outside. He kept leaning toward the plate.

I thought I'd cross him with an inside pitch. Now behind the right field fence of Shibe Park in Philadelphia is a street. Beyond that street is a row of houses. Ruth hit his clever pitch—not only over the fence, but over the street and over the houses, to a second street beyond. I had seen him do that too many times so I wasn't exactly amazed—although, as I stood in the pitcher's box, I suddenly realized how opposing pitchers had felt all these years I had played with Ruth.

If you have a young son who is in the first stages of discovery, a youngster who barely knows the name of the President of the United States, whose days are crowded with riotous romping, pleasure and glory—filled with the joy of living—then you have a small edition of Babe Ruth.

The guy just never grew up. The world was his—and his trials and tribulations were too minor for Giggle to worry about. His love was baseball—the fans his friends—the world his playground.

To play on the same club with Ruth was not only a pleasure—it was a privilege—an experience which comes once in a lifetime. Babe was no ordinary man. He was not alone the idol of the fans, he was a superman to ballplayers. He was their man—their guy. He was especially that to those in close association.

Ballplayers who had played against him, and who eventually joined the Yankees, used to say, "I knew how great he was when I played against him, but I never thought I'd see anything like this."

Ruth possessed a magnetism that was positively infectious. When he entered a clubhouse—or a room—when he appeared on a field—it was as if he were a whole parade. There seemed to be flags waving, bands playing constantly. If atomic formulas could be applied to personality, Ruth's measurements were definitely atomic.

Ruth enjoyed the day baseball recently set aside for him, enjoyed it as much, or more, than any home run he had ever hit.

After all the big guy is still a boy at heart—a sincere boy—who actually loved his fans, the players, and everything and everyone connected with the game.

For Quality—Mildness—Value.
