

A. H. G.

no 9

35

THE MAIDS OF THE NORTH,
A much admired
 Ballad

Written by

MRS. E. MAFFET,

The Music by

C. F. HAUSMAN.

Philadelphia, Kretschmar & Nunns N^o 70 S^o Third & 196 Chesnut St.

E. Gillingham.

Allegretto
 non troppo.

Con eleganza.

Be-ware of false Lovers for they will de-ceive, They'll tease you and praise you to

The Maids of the North are pretty and fair, They're truly bewitching as

p

make you be-lieve, They'll use eve-ry art your af-fec-tions to try But the all will de-clare, Their eyes shine like diamonds with in-no-cent glee; Their maids will de-feat them and a-way they will fly. Not so with the man who is minds are as noble as noble can be. The Poets de-light to have hon-est and true, He'll ne'er change his old Love for that of the new; He'll something to say, When they meet the sweet Maids so blithe and so gay, Their praise all their vir-tues most dear to his heart, Per-form eve-ry du-ty and in-no-cent smiles so clear to their view, Show a heart that is tender so ne-ver de-part.

kind and so true.

The Maids of the North.

35